If an objection has been asserted, unless the court determines that the objection is justified, the court will order that an answer be served [Fed R Civ P 36(a)(6)]. The order may specify that if the answer is not served within a certain time, the matter will be deemed admitted [Asea, Inc. v. Southern Pac. Transp. Co. (9th Cir 1981) 669 F2d 1242, 1247].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsObjections

136 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
C. Moving to Determine Sufficiency of Responses

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.246

23.246 If Answer Is Insufficient, Court May Order Matter Admitted or Answer Amended.

If the court determines that a denial or an explanation of a failure to admit or deny does not comply with the requirements of Fed R Civ P 36, the court may order either that the matter is admitted or that an amended or supplemental response be served [Fed R Civ P 36(a)(6); Asea, Inc. v. Southern Pac. Transp. Co. (9th Cir 1981) 669 F2d 1242, 1247].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsContent & FormCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsResponses

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
C. Moving to Determine Sufficiency of Responses

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.247

23.247 Court May Order Parties to Confer.

The court may defer the final disposition of a request for admission until a pretrial conference [see Fed R Civ P 16] or a designated time prior to trial [Fed R Civ P 36(a)(6)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
C. Moving to Determine Sufficiency of Responses

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.248

23.248 Expenses May Be Awarded.

The court may make an award of expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred in relation to the motion [Fed R Civ P 36(a)(6); see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(4); but see ND Cal Civ LR 7-8, 37-3 (separate sanctions motion required in Northern District)].

Warning:

If the response to the requests for admission was signed in violation of the requirements of Fed R Civ P 26(g)(1), the court may award sanctions, which may include attorney's fees incurred on the motion [see Fed R Civ P 26(g)(3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsResponsesCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
D. Withdrawing or Amending Admissions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.249

23.249 CHECKLIST: Withdrawing or Amending Admissions.

23.249[1] Responding Party's Checklist.

☐ Review to determine whether withdrawal or amendment is desirable:

○ Express admissions, including any partial admission made in response to request for admission.

○ Deemed admissions resulting from failure to serve timely response to requests for admission.

○ Any statement of inability to admit or deny that might be deemed admission because of failure to comply with duty to make reasonable inquiry or failure to comply with other requirements for responses to requests for admission.

○ Any objection that might be deemed admission because of invalidity of objection.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 36(b)

Discussion:
See § 23.250

☐ If withdrawal or amendment of any admission is desirable, determine whether all of the following grounds for withdrawal or amendment are present:

○ Presentation of merits of action will be served by allowing withdrawal or amendment.

○ Withdrawal or amendment will not prejudice propounding party in maintaining action or defense on merits.

○ If trial has already begun, or if admission has been incorporated in court's order following final pretrial conference, withdrawal or amendment is necessary to prevent manifest injustice.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 16(e), 36(b)

Discussion:
See § 23.250

☐ If seeking withdrawal or amendment:

○ Comply with any applicable local requirement to confer with opposing counsel before making motion.

○ Draft notice of motion and motion to withdraw or amend admission, including following:

☐ Statement of grounds for motion.

☐ Request for order allowing withdrawal or amendment of admission.

○ Prepare affidavit or declaration for filing with moving papers, to authenticate text of request and existing admission, and to propose new or amended response to request for admission.

○ Follow standard noticed motion procedure.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 36(b)

Discussion:
See § 23.252

Form:
See § 23.316

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

23.249[2] Propounding Party's Checklist.

☐ If responding party moves for leave to withdraw or amend an admission:

○ Calendar dates for filing and serving opposition to motion and for hearing.

○ Prepare opposition showing that grounds for withdrawal or amendment are not present, arguing as follows:

☐ Withdrawal or amendment will prejudice propounding party in maintaining action or defense on merits.

☐ Presentation of merits of action will not be subserved by allowing withdrawal or amendment.

☐ If trial has already begun, or if admission has been incorporated in court's order following final pretrial conference, denial of withdrawal or amendment will not cause manifest injustice.

○ If appropriate, include in opposition argument that proposed new or amended response would itself be insufficient.

○ Include with opposition papers original request for admission and response, authenticated by supporting affidavit or declaration.

○ Follow standard noticed motion procedure.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(d), Fed R Civ P 16(d), 36(b)

Discussion:
See §§ 23.250, 23.253

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.37

☐ If court grants motion, adjust trial preparation accordingly.

○ Review new or amended response to determine whether further requests for admission should be propounded.

○ If matter on which admission was withdrawn or amended is proven at trial, move for award of expenses of making that proof.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 36(a)(6), 37(c)(2)

Discussion:

See § 23.254

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsWithdrawals

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
D. Withdrawing or Amending Admissions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.250

23.250 Withdrawal or Amendment Must Advance Decision on Merits and Not Prejudice Requesting Party.

A party that made an admission may move for the admission to be withdrawn or amended [Fed R Civ P 36(b)]. The court ordinarily has discretion to permit the withdrawal or amendment of an admission, including a deemed admission [see Hadley v. United States (9th Cir 1995) 45 F3d 1345, 1348], only if the following two circumstances exist [Fed R Civ P 36(b)]:

- The presentation of the merits of the action will be subserved by allowing the withdrawal or amendment.

- The party that propounded the request for admission fails to satisfy the court that withdrawal or amendment will prejudice that party in maintaining the action or defense on the merits.

Example:

A patentee was allowed to amend answers to requests for admission because failure to allow amendment would deny the patentee opportunity to litigate underlying merits of claim, and the alleged infringer would not be prejudiced [Sage Prods., Inc. v. Devon Indus., Inc. (CD Cal 1994) 880 F Supp 718, 741-742].

The prejudice contemplated by Rule 36(b) relates to the difficulty a party may face in proving its case, including problems caused by the unavailability of key witnesses, or the sudden need to obtain evidence with respect to the questions previously deemed admitted [Gallegos v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir 2002) 308 F3d 987, 993].

Distinguish:

Fed R Civ P 36(b) contemplates the withdrawal or amendment of admissions only (including deemed admissions resulting from a failure to respond). Thus, there is no procedure for the responding party to obtain a court order to withdraw or amend other kinds of responses: a denial, a statement of inability to admit or deny, or an objection. However, these responses will not be deemed admissions unless the propounding party brings the matter before the court, usually on a motion to determine the sufficiency of the responses [see, e.g., Asea, Inc. v. Southern Pac. Transp. Co. (9th Cir 1981) 669 F2d 1242, 1245]. In that event, the responding party will have an opportunity to argue for withdrawal or amendment of the response before the court decides whether to deem the matter as admitted [see Fed R Civ P 36(a)(6)].

Strategic Point--Responding Party:

If there is a legitimate doubt about the proper answer to a request, a party should consider responding that the information reasonably available is insufficient to allow the party to admit or deny the request [Fed R Civ P 36(a)(4)].

Judge's Perspective:

The primary consideration in motions to withdraw or amend is avoiding delay. Because prejudice to the propounding party is a key part of the analysis, delay in bringing the motion to withdraw or amend increases the prospect that prejudice will be successfully demonstrated. Moreover, from a practical standpoint, the longer the period from admission to the motion to withdraw, the more the court will expect an explanation for why a motion was not forthcoming earlier.

Cross References:

Procedure for withdrawal and amendment, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 36.13 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Notice of motion to withdraw or amend admissions, see § 23.316.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsWithdrawals

141 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
D. Withdrawing or Amending Admissions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.251

23.251 Stricter Standard for Withdrawal Applies After Entry of Final Pretrial Order.

If the admission has been incorporated in the court's order following the final pretrial conference, or if the trial has already begun, withdrawal or amendment may be permitted only if necessary to prevent manifest injustice [Fed R Civ P 16(e), 36(b); AAA v. AAA Legal Clinic (5th Cir 1991) 930 F2d 1117, 1120 ; see Hadley v. United States (9th Cir 1995) 45 F3d 1345, 1348].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsWithdrawals

142 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
D. Withdrawing or Amending Admissions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.252

23.252 Moving Party's Burden on Motion.

The party moving to withdraw or amend an admission (the responding party to the requests for admission) has the burden of convincing the court that allowing the amendment or withdrawal will subserve the presentation of the merits of the case [Fed R Civ P 36(b); see Hadley v. United States (9th Cir 1995) 45 F3d 1345, 1348].

Example:

That withdrawal of an admission will subserve the presentation of the merits may be established by showing that the admission goes to the heart of the case, such that leaving the admission in place would effectively eliminate a determination on the merits [see Sonoda v. Cabrera (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 1035, 1040].

Judge's Perspective:

The responding party should emphasize that the admission sought to be withdrawn or amended is factually inaccurate. Fed R Civ P 36(b) does not mention the factual inaccuracy of the admission as a factor the court should consider in deciding a motion for withdrawal or amendment. Nevertheless, a strong showing that the admission is inaccurate may help convince the court that withdrawal or amendment would subserve the presentation of the true merits of the case.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsWithdrawals

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
D. Withdrawing or Amending Admissions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.253

23.253 Propounding Party's Burden on Motion.

The party that propounded the request for admission has the burden of convincing the court that it will be prejudiced if the amendment or withdrawal is allowed [Hadley v. United States (9th Cir 1995) 45 F3d 1345, 1348-1349]. Prejudice in this context is not simply that the propounding party will have to convince the factfinder of the truth; rather, it relates to the difficulty the party may face in proving its case [Sonoda v. Cabrera (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 1035, 1039].

Example:

A demonstration of prejudice in this context may consist of a showing that key witnesses have become unavailable between the time that the admission was made and the time of the motion to withdraw the admission [see Sonoda v. Cabrera (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 1035, 1039].

Judge's Perspective:

The court has discretion to combine an order granting a motion to withdraw a deemed admission with an order requiring the responding party to pay the propounding party's costs incurred in opposing the motion. Such an order may be particularly appropriate if denying withdrawal of the admission would significantly impair the responding party's ability to present the case on the merits, while the only substantial prejudice the propounding party would suffer from the withdrawal of the admission is the expense of opposing the motion [see Mid Valley Bank v. North Valley Bank (ED Cal 1991) 764 F Supp 1377, 1391].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsWithdrawals

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
E. Recovering Expenses of Proving Matters Not Admitted

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.254

23.254 CHECKLIST: Recovering Expenses of Proving Matters Not Admitted.

23.254[1] Propounding Party's Checklist.

☐ After trial, if propounding party proved any matter that responding party had failed to admit in response to request for admission, determine whether grounds for award of expenses of proof are present.

○ Verify that expenses were necessarily incurred in proving precise matter as literally framed in request for admission.

○ Ascertain that none of following circumstances is present:

☐ Request for admission was held objectionable on earlier motion to determine sufficiency of responses.

☐ Admission sought was of no substantial importance.

☐ Responding party had reasonable ground to believe that party might prevail on matter.

☐ There was other good reason for failure to admit.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)

Discussion:

See § 23.258

☐ If grounds for expense award appear to be present, move for award as soon as possible after trial.

○ Draft notice of motion and motion, requesting award of reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred in proving matter that responding party had failed to admit.

○ Include the following with motion and supporting papers:

☐ Argument showing that grounds for expense award are present, emphasizing that expenses would not have been incurred if matter had been admitted.

☐ Documentation of expenses, including attorney's fees, authenticated by supporting affidavit or declaration.

☐ Original request for admission and response, authenticated by supporting affidavit or declaration.

○ Follow standard noticed motion procedure.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(d), 37(a)(3)

Discussion:
See §§ 23.255 -23.257

Form:
Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.119

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

23.254[2] Responding Party's Checklist.

☐ If propounding party moves for award of expenses incurred in proving matter at trial:

○ Calendar dates for filing and serving opposition to motion and for hearing.

○ Prepare opposition showing that grounds for award of expenses are not present, advancing and supporting any or all of the following arguments, as appropriate:

☐ Request for admission was held objectionable on earlier motion to determine sufficiency of responses.

☐ Admission sought was of no substantial importance.

☐ Responding party had reasonable ground to believe that party might prevail on matter.

☐ There was other good reason for failure to admit.

☐ Claimed expenses would have been incurred even if matter had been admitted.

☐ Claimed expenses are in excess of reasonable amounts.

○ Follow standard noticed motion procedure.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 36(b)

Discussion:
See §§ 23.255 -23.258

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

145 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
E. Recovering Expenses of Proving Matters Not Admitted

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.255

23.255 Move for Order Requesting Reasonable Expenses.

If the responding party fails to admit the genuineness of a document or the truth of a matter as requested pursuant to Fed R Civ P 36, the propounding party may move for an order requiring the responding party to pay the reasonable expenses, including reasonable attorney's fees, of proving the genuineness of the document or the truth of the matter at trial [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)].

Example:

Plaintiff was entitled to expenses for physician's failure to admit when physician neither provided frank answers, nor set forth why physician could not truthfully admit or deny, and objections to wording of question were unfounded [Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr. (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 933, 937 ; see also Washington State Dep't of Transp. v. Washington Natural Gas Co. (9th Cir 1995) 51 F3d 1489, 1500 (request for attorney's fees denied because responding party could have reasonably believed its failures to admit were justified)].

Distinguish:

Liability for the expenses of proof under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2) may be imposed on the responding party, not against that party's attorney. However, the court may rely on other sources of authority to impose sanctions on an attorney who has played a culpable role in a party's improper response to a request for admission [see, e.g., 28 USC § 1927; Fed R Civ P 11(c), 26(g)(3)].

Cross References:

Form of motion to recover the expenses of proof after a failure to admit, see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, § 25.119. Sanctions generally, see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions.

Judge's Perspective:

The court is likely to interpret expenses of proof quite narrowly. Unlike an award of fees and costs to a prevailing party when authorized by statute, an order of expenses entailed in proving a denied matter is very specific and limited. Accordingly, counsel making the motion must be careful to segregate only the expense items involved in presenting proof on that particular issue. Any commingling of expense entries with other aspects of case presentation may lead to a denial of the motion.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

146 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
E. Recovering Expenses of Proving Matters Not Admitted

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.256

23.256 File Motion As Soon As Possible.

The motion to recover expenses should be filed after the trial [see Fed R Civ P 37, Committee Note of 1970].

Warning:

Counsel should file the motion as soon as possible after trial. Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2) does not specify a deadline for filing, and the Ninth Circuit has not considered the question, but the Seventh Circuit has held that a motion to recover expenses of proof is untimely unless it is filed prior to the entry of judgment and appeal [see Popeil Bros., Inc. v. Schick Elec., Inc. (7th Cir 1975) 516 F2d 772, 778].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

147 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
E. Recovering Expenses of Proving Matters Not Admitted

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.257

23.257 Show How Expenses Were Incurred.

To recover expenses of proof under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2), the propounding party must show that the expenses were directly incurred in proving the matter framed in the request for admission [Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr. (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 933, 939].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
E. Recovering Expenses of Proving Matters Not Admitted

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.258

23.258 Expenses Will Be Awarded Unless Failure to Admit Was Justifiable.

On motion by the propounding party, the court must order the responding party to pay the propounding party's expenses of proof, unless one of the following circumstances exists [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)]:

- The request was held objectionable pursuant to Fed R Civ P 36. Apparently, this provision applies only to a request that was actually held objectionable in a pretrial motion testing the sufficiency of responses to requests for admission [Fed R Civ P 37, Committee Note of 1970; see Fed R Civ P 36(a)].

- The admission sought was of no substantial importance [see Washington State Dep't of Transp. v. Washington Natural Gas Co. (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 793, 806].

- The responding party had a reasonable ground to believe that the party might prevail on the matter [see Washington State Dep't of Transp. v. Washington Natural Gas Co. (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 793, 806 ; Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr. (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 933, 938-939].

- There was other good reason.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsResponsesCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.259

23.259 CHECKLIST: Determining Whether Use of Subpoena Is Appropriate.

☐ Determine whether discovery is sought from a nonparty.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45

Discussion:
See § 23.02[9]

☐ Determine whether formal discovery from nonparty is desirable by asking whether:

- ○ Nonparty is friendly or hostile.
- ○ There is a need to perpetuate testimony for trial.

☐ Determine whether there is a pending action.

Authority:
Sullivan v. Dickson (9th Cir 1960) 283 F2d 725, 727 , cert. denied, 366 US 951 (1961)

Discussion:
See § 23.261[4]

☐ Determine whether discovery cutoff has passed.

Authority:

Integra Lifesciences I, Ltd. v. Merck KgaA (SD Cal 1999) 190 FRD 556, 561

Discussion:

See § 23.261

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.260

23.260 CHECKLISTS: Drafting Subpoenas for Nonparty Discovery.

23.260[1] Subpoena to Compel Testimony.

☐ State name of court from which subpoena is issued, either:

- ○ Court of district where deposition will be held; or
- ○ Court in which hearing or trial will be held.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(i), (2)(A), (B)

Discussion:
See § 23.262[1]

☐ State title of action.

☐ State name of court in which action is pending.

☐ Include civil action number.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(ii)

Discussion:

See § 23.262[2]

☐ Command witness to attend and give testimony, including:

- ○ Advising nonparty organization of duty to designate witness(es).
- ○ Describing subject of testimony "with reasonable particularity."
- ○ If for deposition, state method for recording testimony.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii), (2)(B)

Discussion:
See §§ 23.262[3], [4], [5]

☐ Indicate time and place for deposition, hearing, or trial.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii)

Discussion:
See § 23.262[5]

☐ Include text of Fed R Civ P 45(c), (d).

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iv)

Discussion:
See § 23.262[6]

☐ Include proper signature.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(3)

Discussion:
See § 23.262[7]

☐ Provide reasonable time for compliance.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(i)

Discussion:
See § 23.262[8]

☐ Include appropriate witness fees.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 23.262[9]

Form:
See § 23.317

23.260[2] CHECKLIST: Subpoena to Compel Production.

☐ State name of court from which subpoena is issued, either:

○ Court of district where production will be made; or

○ Court from which testimony subpoena is issued.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(i), (2)(C)

Discussion:
See § 23.263[1]

☐ State title of action.

☐ State name of court in which action is pending.

☐ Include civil action number.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(ii)

Discussion:
See § 23.263[2]

☐ Command production of:

○ Designated documents.

○ Designated electronically stored information.

○ Designated things.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(C)

Discussion:
See § 23.263[3]

☐ Specify form of production of electronically stored information, if appropriate.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(C)

Discussion:
23.263[3]

☐ Command witness in control of items to permit:

- ○ Inspection.
- ○ Copying.
- ○ Testing.
- ○ Sampling.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(D)

Discussion:
23.263[3]

☐ State time and place for production.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii)

Discussion:
See § 23.263[4]

☐ Include text of Fed R Civ P 45(c), (d).

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iv)

Discussion:
See § 23.263[5]

☐ Include proper signature.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(3)

Discussion:
See § 23.263[6]

☐ Provide reasonable time for compliance.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(i)

Discussion:

See § 23.263[7]

Form:

See § 23.318

23.260[3] CHECKLIST: Subpoena to Compel Permission to Inspect Premises.

☐ State name of court from which subpoena is issued, either:

○ Court of district where inspection will be made; or

○ Court from which testimony subpoena is issued.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(i), (2)(C)

Discussion:
See § 23.264[1]

☐ State title of action.

☐ State name of court in which action is pending.

☐ Include civil action number.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(ii)

Discussion:
See § 23.264[2]

☐ Command witness in control of premises to permit inspection.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii)

Discussion:
See § 23.264[3]

☐ Designate time and place for inspection.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii)

Discussion:
See § 23.264[4]

☐ Include text of Fed R Civ P 45(c), (d).

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iv)

Discussion:
See § 23.264[5]

☐ Include proper signature.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(3)

Discussion:
See § 23.264[6]

☐ Provide reasonable time for compliance.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(i)

Discussion:

See § 23.264[7]

Form:

See § 23.319

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
A. Drafting Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.261

23.261 Options and Strategy.

23.261[1] Informal Discovery Available From Nonparties. Parties may obtain discovery from nonparties without the use of the formal requirements of Fed R Civ P 45. Informal discovery against nonparties may help to control litigation costs and conserve time.

Informal discovery may be particularly appropriate at the early stages of the case to develop the facts and to provide insight into what formal discovery needs to be obtained. For example, when a third party is willing to provide an off-the-record interview, the party seeking such discovery will be in a better position to determine if a deposition is needed and, if so, what questions to ask. Of course, such informal contact will be discoverable once formal discovery is requested. Informal discovery also has the benefit of being initiated and conducted without the requirement of notice to adverse parties.

The following are some informal discovery methods:

- Interviews of clients and other witnesses.
- Review of documents and other evidence obtained from clients and other witnesses.
- Review of publicly available information.

Drawback:

Informal discovery obtained from a nonparty witness may not be admissible at trial unless the witness is called to testify at the trial. Further, nonparties might not voluntarily give testimony, produce documents, or otherwise comply with informal discovery requests. In these circumstances, parties should use a subpoena. In addition, counsel should consider serving deposition subpoenas even on friendly witnesses because the party noticing the deposition is responsible for the witness's attendance, and if an unsubpoenaed witness does not attend, the noticing party might be ordered to pay for the other parties' expenses.

Cross References:

Using online resources to obtain public records, see Ch. 21, Discovery Strategy and Planning, § 21.05[6][b].

Detailed discussion of the use of informal discovery against nonparties, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 45, Subpoena (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

23.261[2] Prior to Drafting, Verify That Subpoena May Be Served. In the interest of efficiency, a party should verify--prior to drafting--that the subpoena may be properly served.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of serving subpoenas, see §§ 23.266 -23.273.

23.261[3] Consider Issuing More Than One Subpoena. A subpoena commanding the production of documents, electronically stored information, or things; to permit the inspection, testing, copying, or sampling of specified items; or to permit inspection of premises may be issued with a subpoena to compel testimony at a deposition, hearing, or trial, or may be issued separately [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)].

Consider:

When deposition subpoenas are issued, they are almost always merged with the request for production.

Cross References:

Explanation of the proper court from which to issue subpoenas, see § 23.262[1] (subpoena to compel testimony), § 23.263[1] (subpoena to compel production), and § 23.264[1] (subpoena to permit inspection).

23.261[4] Party May Not Issue Subpoena Absent Pending Litigation. Subpoenas issued pursuant to Fed R Civ P 45 may not be issued absent a pending action [see Sullivan v. Dickson (9th Cir 1960) 283 F2d 725, 727 , cert. denied, 366 US 951 (1961)]. Fed R Civ P 27 governs discovery taken or sought before an action has been filed.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of obtaining discovery prior to the commencement of an action, see §§ 23.03 -23.18.

23.261[5] Party Must Issue Subpoena Before Discovery Cutoff. Subpoenas issued pursuant to Rule 45 are discovery, and therefore must be used within the time period permitted for discovery in the case [see Integra Lifesciences I, Ltd. v. Merck KgaA (SD Cal 1999) 190 FRD 556, 561].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of this requirement, see § 23.268.

23.261[6] Consult Local Rules When Issuing Subpoena. The party issuing a subpoena should consult the local rules and the particular district court for any special requirements that may exist for issuing subpoenas, e.g., whether the district requires the use of an official form of subpoena. This is especially important when an attorney issues a subpoena from a court located in a district in which the attorney does not regularly practice.

Cross References:

Discussion of an attorney's authority to issue a subpoena, see § 23.262[7]. Forms of subpoena, see §§ 23.317 -23.319.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
A. Drafting Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.262

23.262 Essential Components of Subpoena to Compel Testimony.

23.262[1] Subpoena Must Issue From Proper Court. A subpoena for attendance at a deposition properly issues from the court for the district designated as the district in which the deposition is to be taken [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(2)(B)].

When determining the court from which to issue a subpoena to compel testimony, select the court that will properly be able to enforce compliance over the nonparty [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(2)(B); see also Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991 (subpoena for deposition must issue from court in which deposition would be compelled)].

Consider:

A Rule 45 subpoena may be issued from a different district than where the action is pending [see Fed R Civ P 45(a)(2)(B)].

Cross References:

Example describing an attorney's authority to issue subpoenas, see § 23.262[7]. Discussion of determining the proper court in which to file motions to modify, quash, or enforce a subpoena, see § 23.279[2] (modify or quash), and § 23.283[3] (enforce/compel).

23.262[2] Indicate Title of Action, Name of Court in Which Action Is Pending, and Civil Action Number. A subpoena must "state the title of the action, the name of the court in which it is pending, and its civil-action number" [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(ii)].Include this information in the caption, or, if using the official form, as indicated by the form.

23.262[3] Command Witness to Attend and Give Testimony. A subpoena to compel testimony must "command each person to whom it is directed to ... attend and testify" [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii)].

23.262[4] Advise Corporate Witnesses of Subject Matter and Duty to Designate Witness. When a nonparty corporation, partnership, or organization is subpoenaed to give testimony, the subpoena must advise the nonparty organization of its duty to designate one or more officers, directors, managing agents, or other persons who consent to testify on its behalf [Fed R Civ P 30(b)(6)].

Additionally, the subpoena must describe "with reasonable particularity" the matters on which the testimony is being sought [Fed R Civ P 30(b)(6)].

23.262[5] Indicate Time and Place for Deposition, Hearing, or Trial, and Method of Recording Deposition Testimony. A subpoena must command a person to attend and give testimony "at a specified time and place" specified in the subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii)]. A subpoena for attendance at a deposition must state the method for recording the testimony [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(B)].

23.262[6] Include Text of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c) and (d). The entire text of both subsection (c) ("Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena") and subsection (d) ("Duties in Responding to a Subpoena") must be set forth in the subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iv)].

23.262[7] Include Proper Signature. The subpoena must be signed either by the clerk of the court (not the judge) from which the subpoena is issued, or an attorney [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(3)].

Attorneys may issue subpoenas for courts in which they are authorized to practice. Attorneys may also issue subpoenas for courts in the district where the subpoena is compelling a deposition, production, or inspection if the deposition, production, or inspection pertains to an action pending in a court where the attorney is authorized to practice [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(3)].

Example:

If an attorney in an action in District A needs to subpoena a witness for a deposition in District B, the attorney may issue a subpoena on behalf of District Court B, even if the attorney is not authorized to practice law in District B [see Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of an attorney's authority to issue subpoenas, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 45, Subpoena (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

23.262[8] Provide Reasonable Time to Comply. Failure to allow a reasonable time for compliance constitutes grounds to modify or quash a subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(i)]. Generally, what is "reasonable" will be determined on a case-by-case basis, depending on such factors as the witness' need to retain counsel, the burdens and scope of document production, and the witness's work schedule [see, e.g., Donoghue v. County of Orange (9th Cir 1987) 848 F2d 926, 931 (subpoena served one week before trial seeking extensive data pertaining to 20 years of employment records quashed because it would be impossible to comply with request at such a late date)].

Judge's Perspective:

While there is no general rule as to what constitutes "reasonable time," Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B) uses 14 days as a starting point in the sense that it requires objections to be filed in that period unless a response is demanded in a shorter period. While that does not provide an "at least 14 day" production rule, it does underscore that counsel who seeks to obtain testimony in less than 14 days from service of the subpoena should be prepared to show that there are special circumstances that both demonstrate the need for accelerated witness appearance and explain why the requesting party did not serve its subpoena earlier. Courts are often particularly sensitive to burden and inconvenience to third parties who have no direct stake in the outcome of the litigation.

23.262[9] Appropriate Witness and Mileage Fees Must Accompany Subpoena to Compel Testimony. Service of a subpoena to compel testimony requires the tendering to the witness of fees for one day's attendance and the mileage allowed by law [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of witness and mileage fees, see § 23.272.

23.262[10] Subpoena Must Not Be Unduly Burdensome. A subpoena that subjects a person to undue burden may be modified or quashed [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(iv)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of the requirement that a subpoena not be unduly burdensome, see § 23.276[9].

23.262[11] Subpoena Must Not Require Witness to Travel More Than 100 Miles. A subpoena that requires a witness to travel more than 100 miles from where the person resides, is employed, or regularly conducts business may be modified or quashed [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(ii)].

Distinguish:

A person subpoenaed pursuant to Fed R Civ P 45 to give testimony at trial may be required to travel to any place in the state where the trial is held, even in excess of 100 miles [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(ii), (B)(iii)].

The 100 miles is generally measured "as the crow flies," but the case law in California is not clear in this regard [see, e.g., Mark IV Properties, Inc. v. Club Dev. Mgmt. Corp. (Bankr SD Cal 1981) 12 BR 854, 858 (100-mile limitation would have been satisfied whether method of calculation used was "shortest railroad route from residence," "as the crow flies," or "distance measured from residence or regular place of employment")].

Cross References:

Discussion of service of subpoenas, see §§ 23.266 -23.273. Discussion of the 100-mile limit in the context of responding to a subpoena, see § 23.276[5]. Forms of subpoenas to compel testimony, see § 23.317.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
A. Drafting Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.263

23.263 Essential Components of Subpoena to Compel Production.

23.263[1] Subpoena Must Issue From Proper Court. If separate from a subpoena commanding the attendance of a person, a subpoena for production, inspection copying, testing, or sampling must issue from the court for the district in which the production or inspection is to be made [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(2)(C)].

When determining the court from which to issue a subpoena to compel production, select the court that will properly be able to enforce compliance of the nonparty [see Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991; see also Mabe v. San Bernardino County (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1101, 1112 (access to high school records denied for failure to issue subpoena from federal district in which high school was located)].

Consider:

A Rule 45 subpoena may be issued from a different district than where the action is pending [see Fed R Civ P 45(a)(2)(C)].

Cross References:

Example describing an attorney's authority to issue subpoenas, see § 23.262[7]. Discussion of how to determine the proper court in which to file motions to modify, quash, or enforce a subpoena, see § 23.279[2] (modify or quash), and § 23.283[3] (enforce/compel).

23.263[2] State Title of Action, Name of Court in Which Action Is Pending, and Civil Action Number. A subpoena to compel production of documents, electronically stored information, and things must "state the title of the action, the name of the court in which it is pending, and its civil-action number" [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(ii)]. Include this information in the caption, or, if using the official form, as indicated by the form.

23.263[3] Command Production of Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Things. A subpoena to compel production of documents, electronically stored information, and things must "command each person to whom it is directed to ... produce designated documents, electronically stored information, or tangible things in that person's possession, custody or control" [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii)].

A subpoena to produce electronically stored information may specify the form or forms in which electronically stored information is to be produced [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(C)].

23.263[4] Designate Time and Place for Production. A subpoena to produce must command a person to produce and permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling of designated documents, electronically stored information, or things in their possession, custody, or control "at a specified time and place" [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii)].

23.263[5] Include Text of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c) and (d). The entire text of both subsection (c) ("Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena") and subsection (d) ("Duties in Responding to Subpoena") must be set forth in the subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iv)].

23.263[6] Include Proper Signature. The subpoena must be signed either by an attorney or the clerk of the court (not the judge) from which the subpoena is issued [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(3)].

Attorneys may issue subpoenas for courts in which they are authorized to practice. Attorneys may also issue subpoenas for courts in the district where the subpoena is compelling a deposition, production, or inspection if the deposition, production, or inspection pertains to an action pending in a court where the attorney is authorized to practice [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(3)].

Example:

If an attorney to an action in District A needs to subpoena the production of documents and things in District B, the attorney may issue a subpoena on behalf of District Court B, even if the attorney is not authorized to practice law in District B [see Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991].

23.263[7] Provide Reasonable Time for Compliance. Failure to allow a reasonable time for compliance constitutes grounds to modify or quash a subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(i)]. Generally, what is "reasonable" will be determined on a case-by-case basis [see, e.g., Donoghue v. County of Orange (9th Cir 1987) 848 F2d 926, 931 (subpoena served one week before trial seeking extensive data pertaining to 20 years of employment records quashed because it would be impossible to comply with request at such a late date)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of "reasonable time" for compliance, see § 23.262[8].

23.263[8] Subpoena Must Not Be Unduly Burdensome. A subpoena that subjects a person to undue burden may be modified or quashed [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(iv)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of the requirement that a subpoena not be unduly burdensome, see § 23.276[9].

23.263[9] Requesting Production of Electronically Stored Information Requires Special Attention.

23.263[9][a] Subpoena to Compel Production of Electronically Stored Information Implicates Issues of Undue Burden and Cost Shifting. Requesting production of electronically stored information may implicate issues of undue burden and mandatory cost shifting [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B); see, e.g., OpenTV v. Liberate Techs. (ND Cal 2003) 219 FRD 474, 477-478]. In the context of discovery of electronic documents, "whether production of such documents is unduly burdensome or expensive turns primarily on whether it is kept in an accessible or inaccessible format" [OpenTV v. Liberate Techs. (ND Cal 2003) 219 FRD 474, 478 (source code sought found to be stored in an inaccessible format for purposes of discovery where it was expensive and time consuming to make data available in usable form for discovery); see Zubulake v. UBS Warburg LLC (SDNY 2003) 216 FRD 280, 284].

Strategic Point--Compensation for Cost of Production:

If the party seeking production agrees to compensate the third party for any reasonable costs of compliance, burdens such as additional programming required to extract data are less likely to be seen as undue [see, e.g., Gonzales v. Google, Inc. (ND Cal 2006) 234 FRD 674, 683].

Cross References:

Further discussion of the requirement that a subpoena not be unduly burdensome, see § 23.276[9].
Further discussion of electronic discovery and cost shifting, see §§ 23.157 -23.188.

23.263[9][b] Four-Part Test for Subpoena Seeking Identity of Anonymous Nonparty Internet User. A subpoena seeking the identity of an anonymous nonparty Internet user implicates issues of the First Amendment [see Doe v. 2TheMart.com, Inc. (WD Wa 2001) 140 F Supp2d 1088, 1091]. The United States District Court for the Western District of Washington adopted the following four-part test for evaluating whether a civil subpoena that seeks the identity of an anonymous nonparty should issue. The court will consider whether [Doe v. 2TheMart.com, Inc (WD Wa 2001) 140 F Supp2d 1088, 1095]:

- The subpoena seeking the information was issued in good faith and not for an improper purpose;
- The information sought relates to a core claim or defense;
- The identifying information is directly and materially relevant to that claim or defense; and
- Information sufficient to establish or disprove that claim or defense is unavailable from any other source.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of electronic discovery, see §§ 23.157 -23.188.

23.263[10] Prior Notice of Commanded Production of Documents and Things Must Be Served on Each Party. Before issuing a subpoena to compel the production of documents, electronically stored information, and things, notice must be served on each party in the manner prescribed by Fed R Civ P 5(b) [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)].

Cross References:

Further discussion of the prior notice requirement, see § 23.267. Discussion of service under Rule 5(b), see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, § 5.22.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
A. Drafting Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.264

23.264 Essential Components of Subpoena to Compel Permission to Inspect Premises.

23.264[1] Subpoena Must Issue From Proper Court. If separate from a subpoena commanding the attendance of a person, a subpoena for inspection must issue from the court for the district in which the production or inspection is to be made [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(2)(C)].

When determining the court from which to issue a subpoena to compel inspection of premises, select the court that will properly be able to enforce compliance over the nonparty. The court in whose name the subpoena is issued is responsible for the enforcement of the subpoena [see Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991; see also Mabe v. San Bernardino County (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1101, 1112 (access to high school records denied for failure to issue subpoena from federal district in which high school was located)].

Consider:

A Rule 45 subpoena may be issued from a different district than where the action is pending [see Fed R Civ P 45(a)(2)(C)].

Cross References:

Example describing an attorney's authority to issue subpoenas, see § 23.262[7]. Discussion of determining the proper court in which to file motions to modify, quash, or enforce a subpoena, see § 23.279[2] (modify or quash), and § 23.283[3] (enforce/compel).

23.264[2] State Title of Action, Name of Court in Which Action Is Pending, and Civil Action Number. A subpoena must "state the title of the action, the name of the court in which it is pending, and its civil-action number" [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(ii)]. Include this information in the caption, or, if using the official form, as indicated by the form.

23.264[3] Command Permission to Inspect Premises. A subpoena to compel permission to inspect premises must "command each person to whom it is directed to ... permit the inspection of premises ..." [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii)].

23.264[4] Designate Time and Place for Inspection. A subpoena must command a person to permit inspection of premises "at a specified time and place" [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iii)].

23.264[5] Include Text of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c) and (d). Fed R Civ P 45 requires that the entire text of both subsection (c) ("Protecting a Person Subject to a Subpoena") and subsection (d) ("Duties in Responding to a Subpoena") be set forth in the subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(A)(iv)].

23.264[6] Include Proper Signature. The subpoena must be signed either by the clerk of the court (not the judge) from which the subpoena is issued, or an attorney. [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(3)].

Attorneys may issue subpoenas for courts in which they are authorized to practice. Attorneys may also issue subpoenas for courts in the district where the subpoena is compelling a deposition, production, or inspection if the deposition, production, or inspection pertains to an action pending in a court where the attorney is authorized to practice [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(3)].

Example:

If an attorney to an action in District A needs to issue a subpoena to inspect premises in District B, the attorney may issue a subpoena on behalf of District Court B, even if the attorney is not authorized to practice law in District B [see Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991].

23.264[7] Provide Reasonable Time for Compliance. Failure to allow a reasonable time for compliance constitutes grounds to modify or quash a subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(i)]. Generally, what is "reasonable" will be determined on a case-by-case basis [see, e.g., Donoghue v. County of Orange (9th Cir 1987) 848 F2d 926, 931 (subpoena served one week before trial seeking extensive data pertaining to 20 years of employment records quashed because it would be impossible to comply with request at such a late date)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of "reasonable time" for compliance, see § 23.262[8].

23.264[8] Subpoena Must Not Be Unduly Burdensome. A subpoena that subjects a person to undue burden may be modified or quashed [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(iv)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of the requirement that a subpoena not be unduly burdensome, see § 23.276[9].

23.264[9] Prior Notice of Commanded Inspection of Premises Must Be Served on Each Party. Before issuing a subpoena to compel the production of documents and things, a party must serve notice on each other party in the manner prescribed by Fed R Civ P 5(b) [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)].

Cross References:

Further discussion of the prior notice requirement, see § 23.267.

Discussion of service under Rule 5(b), see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, § 5.22.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

155 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
A. Drafting Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.265

23.265 LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Subpoena for Nonparty Discovery.

For all subpoenas in civil cases in California's federal district courts, use your district's version of Official Form AO 88, "Subpoena in a Civil Case."

Cross Reference:

Local District Court Forms, see § 23.321.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
B. Serving Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.266

23.266 CHECKLIST: Serving Subpoenas.

☐ Provide prior notice to all parties (subpoenas to compel production or to inspect premises only).

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 23.267

☐ Verify that subpoena is being served before discovery cutoff.

Authority:
Integra Lifesciences I, Ltd. v. Merck KgaA (SD Cal 1999) 190 FRD 556, 561

Discussion:
See § 23.268

☐ Verify that person serving is at least 18 and is not a party to the action.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 23.269

☐ Verify that manner of service is proper.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 23.270

☐ Verify that service is within prescribed territorial limits.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(b)(2)

Discussion:
See § 23.271

☐ Include proper witness fees (subpoena to compel testimony only).

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 23.272

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

157 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
B. Serving Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.267

23.267 Provide Prior Notice to All Parties (Subpoena to Compel Production or to Inspect Premises Only).

Before issuing a subpoena to compel the production of documents, electronically stored information, and things, notice must be served on each party in the manner prescribed by Fed R Civ P 5(b) [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of service under Rule 5(b), see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, § 5.22.

The prior notice requirement has been interpreted to mean notice prior to service of the subpoena on the nonparty rather than prior to production [see, e.g., McCurdy v. Wedgewood Capital Mgmt. Co. (ED Pa 1998) 1998 US Dist LEXIS 18875, at *24 , citing Biocore Med. Techs., Inc. v. Khosrowshahi (D Kan 1998) 181 FRD 660, 667].

The purpose of providing this notice is "to afford other parties an opportunity to object to the production or inspection, or to serve a demand for additional documents or things," such that the other parties can "monitor the discovery" and "pursue access to any information that may or should be produced" [see Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991].

Distinguish:

Prior notice is not required with respect to a subpoena to compel testimony [see Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991].

Warning:

Failure to serve prior notice of the issuing party's demand for production has been found to constitute a basis for quashing the subpoena [see Firefighters' Inst. for Racial Equal. v. City of St. Louis (8th Cir 2000) 220 F3d 898, 903 , cert. denied, 532 US 921 (2001)].

Judge's Perspective:

While there is no set time period, prior notice should be sufficient to allow the receiving party to have input, for example by objecting to the subpoena [see Biocore Med. Techs., Inc. v. Khosrowshahi (D Kan 1998) 181 FRD 660, 667]. Accordingly, a day before service of the subpoena might not be enough, but three to four days before would likely be sufficient.

Cross References:

Discussion of service of subpoenas, see 23.266 -23.273. Discussion of response to subpoenas, see § 23.276. Form of subpoenas to compel production, see § 23.318.

Further discussion of the prior notice requirement, see § 23.267; 9 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 45.03[4][b][iii] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

158 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
B. Serving Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.268

23.268 Ensure That Subpoena Is Served Before Discovery Cutoff.

Subpoenas issued pursuant to Rule 45 are discovery and must be used within the time period permitted for discovery in the case [see Integra Lifesciences I, Ltd v. Merck KgaA (SD Cal 1999) 190 FRD 556, 561-562]. Thus, subpoenas should not be served before the parties have met and conferred and made a discovery plan pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26(d) & (f), unless the parties have made an agreement otherwise or the court has ordered otherwise.

The time period permitted for discovery is usually set in the Rule 16(b) Scheduling Order.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of the consequences of serving a subpoena inconsistent with discovery deadlines, see § 23.276[1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

159 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
B. Serving Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.269

23.269 Verify That Person Serving Subpoena Is at Least 18 and Is Not a Party to the Action.

A subpoena may be served by any person who is not a party to the action and who is not younger than 18 [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

160 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
B. Serving Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.270

23.270 Ensure That Proper Method of Service Is Used.

Service of a subpoena is made by "delivering a copy to such person" [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)].

It is not clear whether personal service is required in the Ninth Circuit. The Ninth Circuit held a subpoena served by mail and not accompanied by appropriate witness fees to be invalid. However, the court did not rule on the issue of the propriety of the service by mail [Tedder v. Odel (9th Cir 1989) 890 F2d 210, 212 ; *see also Chima v. DOD (9th Cir 2001) 2001 US App LEXIS 25055, at *6-7 , (interpreting Rule 45(b)(1) as requiring personal service; unpublished opinion, generally not citable to court under 9th Cir R 36-3)].

There is disagreement among circuits regarding whether personal service is required, or whether service by mail or electronic means is acceptable. Although Rule 45 does not use the term "personal service," some courts have interpreted the relevant language as permitting only this method of service:

- DC Cir: FTC v. Compagnie de Saint-Gobain-Pont-A-Mousson (DC Cir 1980) 636 F2d 1300, 1312-1313 ("under the Federal Rules, compulsory process may be served upon an unwilling witness only in person").

- 2d Cir: Agran v. City of New York (SDNY 1997) 1997 US Dist LEXIS 2577, at *1 ("the weight of authority is that a subpoena duces tecum must be served personally" and "the Court is without authority to sanction an alternative form of service").

Other courts have held, however, that personal service of a subpoena is not required:

- 2d Cir: First Nationwide Bank v. Shur (EDNY 1995) 184 BR 640, 642 (" 'delivering' a copy of a subpoena, for the purposes of Rule 45, includes any act or series of acts that reasonably assures the entity to which it is addressed fair and timely notice of its issuance, contents, purpose and effect").

- 10th Cir: Western Res., Inc. v. Union Pac RR (D Kan 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 14897, at *9 ("effective service under Rule 45 is not limited to personal service").

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of proper service under Fed R Civ P 45, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, § 45.03[4][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

The serving and filing requirements of Fed R Civ P 5(b) are inapplicable to nonparties because the rule expressly applies only to parties [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(1); see also Lehman v. Kornblau (EDNY 2001) 206 FRD 345, 347].

Warning:

Failure to serve a subpoena properly has been held to constitute sufficient basis to quash the subpoena [see, e.g., Rotter v Cambrex Corp. (ND Ill 1995) 1995 US Dist LEXIS 8561, at *4].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
B. Serving Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.271

23.271 Verify That Service Is Within Prescribed Territorial Limits.

A subpoena may be served [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(2)]:

- At any place within the district of the court by which it is issued; or

- Any place without the district that is within 100 miles of the place of the deposition, hearing, trial, production, inspection, or other activity specified in the subpoena; or

- At any place within the state where a state statute or rule of court permits service of a subpoena issued by a state court of general jurisdiction sitting in the place of the deposition, hearing, trial, production, or inspection specified in the subpoena.

In California, "[a] witness, including a witness specified in subdivision (b) of Section 1987, is not obliged to attend as a witness before any court, judge, justice or any other officer, unless the witness is a resident within the state at the time of service" [CCP § 1989]. The Northern District interpreted CCP § 1989 as permitting statewide service of trial subpoenas [see Collins v. JC Penney Life Ins. Co. (ND Cal 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 5676, at *10].

Further, a nonparty corporation is amenable to service in any forum within which the corporation has minimum contacts [In re Jee (Bankr CD Cal 1989) 104 BR 289, 293].

28 USC § 1783 governs service of subpoenas on witnesses in foreign countries who are nationals or residents of the United States [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(2)]. Service of a subpoena on an individual in a foreign country must conform to Fed R Civ P 4(f) [see Rio Props., Inc. v. Rio Int'l Interlink (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 1007, 1014].

A court may also authorize the service of a subpoena at any other place upon a proper application to the court and cause shown, when so provided by a United States statute [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(2)(C)].

Cross Reference:

Serving individuals in foreign countries, see Ch. 7, Service of Summons, § 7.37.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
B. Serving Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.272

23.272 Enclose Correct Amount of Witness and Mileage Fees (Subpoena to Compel Testimony Only).

Proper service of a subpoena to compel testimony requires that the subpoena be accompanied by payment to the witness of "the fees for 1 day's attendance and the mileage allowed by law" [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1); see also Tedder v. Odel (9th Cir 1989) 890 F2d 210, 211]. The amount of these witness fees is determined by statute [see, e.g., 28 USC § 1821]. Currently, the witness fee for a day of attendance is $40.00.

Warning:

Failure to tender appropriate witness fees with a subpoena to compel testimony may lead to the quashing of the subpoena or to the witness not appearing.

Cross References:

Further discussion of the consequences of failing to serve a subpoena properly, including tender of witness fees, see § 23.276[2]. Form of subpoenas to compel production, see § 23.318.

Discussion of witness fees, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, § 45.03[4][b][ii] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
B. Serving Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.273

23.273 LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Filing and Serving Subpoenas.

23.273[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Use proof of service contained in official form AO-088.

23.273[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

23.273[2][a] Service of Subpoenas Duces Tecum. Subpoenas duces tecum directed to nonparties must be served on all parties to the action [ED Cal Civ LR 250.5(c)].

23.273[2][b] Filing of Subpoenas Duces Tecum. A subpoenas duces tecum and proof of service must not be filed unless and until the subpoena or proof of service is at issue [ED Cal Civ LR 250.5(d)].

23.273[2][c] Proof of Service. Use proof of service contained in official form AO-088.

23.273[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

23.273[3][a] Serve Subpoena Prior to Discovery Cutoff. Discovery requests that call for responses or depositions after the discovery cutoff are not enforceable except by court order upon a showing of good cause [ND Cal Civ LR 26-2].

23.273[3][b] Proof of Service. Use proof of service contained in official form AO-088.

23.273[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Use proof of service contained in official form AO-088.

Cross Reference:

Local District Court Forms, see § 23.321.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
C. Responding to Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.274

23.274 CHECKLISTS: Responding to Subpoenas.

23.274[1] Analyzing Subpoena.

☐ Verify that subpoena is served within discovery cutoff.

Authority:
Integra Lifesciences I, Ltd. v. Merck KgaA (SD Cal 1999) 190 FRD 556, 561

Discussion:
See § 23.276[1]

☐ Verify that subpoena was properly served.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 23.276[2]

☐ Verify that subpoena was issued from proper court.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)(2)

Discussion:
See § 23.276[3]

☐ Verify that subpoena affords reasonable time for compliance.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(i)

Discussion:
See § 23.276[4]

☐ Verify that subpoena does not exceed 100-mile limit on travel.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(B)(iii)

Discussion:
See § 23.276[5]

☐ Determine whether subpoena seeks privileged or protected materials.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(iii)

Discussion:
See § 23.276[6]

☐ Determine whether subpoena seeks trade secrets, confidential research or development information, or commercial information.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(B)(i)

Discussion:
See § 23.276[7]

☐ Determine whether subpoena is directed against a retained or unretained expert.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(B)(ii)

Discussion:
See § 23.276[8]

☐ Determine whether subpoena imposes undue burden.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(iv)

Discussion:
See § 23.276[9]

☐ Determine whether prior notice of production or inspection was served.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 23.276[10]

☐ Determine whether to serve written objections or move to quash or modify subpoena.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2), (3)

Discussion:
See §§ 23.278, 23.279

23.274[2] Drafting Written Objection.

☐ Ensure objection is timely made and served.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)

Discussion:
See § 23.278[1]

☐ Clearly state objection(s) and basis for objection(s).

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(d)(2)

Discussion:
See § 23.278[2]

☐ Determine whether subpoena seeks privileged information.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B), (d)(2)

Discussion:
See § 23.278[2]

☐ Include privilege log if making claim of privilege.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(d)(2)

Discussion:
See § 23.278[2]

23.274[3] Drafting Motion to Modify or Quash a Subpoena.

☐ Determine if subpoena:

○ Fails to allow a reasonable amount of time for compliance.

○ Requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business.

○ Requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial.

○ Requires disclosure of privileged or other protected materials.

○ Subjects a person to undue burden.

○ Is served for an improper purpose.

○ Requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information.

○ Requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A), (B)

Discussion:
See § 23.279

☐ Determine whether subpoena was properly served.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 23.276[2]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
C. Responding to Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.275

23.275 Options and Strategy.

23.275[1] Appropriate Response Depends on Subpoena. The appropriate response to a subpoena depends on how the subpoena is drafted and the discovery that is sought. It is important to determine quickly the appropriate response to the subpoena to ensure the timeliness of the response.

23.275[2] Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Disputes. The subpoenaed party must make a good-faith effort to resolve any issues with the person or party who issued the subpoena. This is a prerequisite to filing a motion to compel or to obtaining a protective order [Fed R Civ P 26(c), Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(B)].

Regarding motions to compel, parties should consult the local district rules as well as individual judge's rules and Standing Orders. Some judges' rules mirror the requirement of Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(B) that a certification of the parties' good-faith efforts to resolve the dispute be attached to the motion. Some judges, however, do not permit resolution of discovery disputes by motion and instead require that disputes be resolved in a conference with the judge.

23.275[3] Good-Faith Effort Generally Not Required for Motions to Modify or Quash Subpoenas. The requirement that counsel meet and confer prior to moving for a protective order or to compel production does not apply to motions to modify or quash a subpoena pursuant to Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A) or (B) [Fed R Civ P 26(c), Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(B)].

It may be advisable, however, to attempt to resolve scheduling conflicts should either a protective order or a motion to compel prove to be necessary. Further, the judge's rules and Standing Orders should be consulted to determine whether it is necessary to meet and confer prior to moving to modify or quash a subpoena.

23.275[4] Service of Written Objections Stays Discovery. Service of written objections to a subpoena automatically stays discovery [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)].Do not, therefore, permit the particular discovery requested by that subpoena after written objections have been served, absent a court order [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)].

Distinguish:

The filing of a motion to modify or quash a subpoena, or a motion to compel, does not automatically stay discovery.

Judge's Perspective:

When the party receiving the subpoena contests the requests contained in the subpoena by objection or motion, most courts will expect that no further response will be provided until the court resolves the issue. If, however, there are aspects of the request to which no objection will be asserted, the subpoenaed party should be prepared to provide a substantive response to that extent promptly after the hearing on any motion to compel or for a protective order.

23.275[5] Choosing Between Written Objections and Motion to Quash. A party resisting a subpoena may either serve written objections [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(1)(B)] or move to quash or modify the subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)]. Written objections may be preferable when it appears likely that the party serving the subpoena will not proceed with the burden and expense of bringing a motion to compel. Alternatively, when the issue will likely be pursued by the party serving the subpoena, the receiving party may elect to bring a motion to quash in order to be in control of the timing of the motion and to frame the questions presented by initiating the briefing process.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

166 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
C. Responding to Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.276

23.276 Analyze Validity of Subpoena and Determine Appropriate Response.

23.276[1] Verify That Subpoena Is Served Within Discovery Cutoff. Subpoenas issued pursuant to Rule 45 are discovery and must be used within the time period permitted for discovery in the case [see Integra Lifesciences I, Ltd v. Merck KgaA (SD Cal 1999) 190 FRD 556, 561-562].

Further, discovery requests that call for responses or depositions after the discovery cutoff may not be enforceable except by court order upon a showing of good cause [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 26-2].

Cross References:

Discussion of moving to modify or quash a subpoena, see § 23.279. Further discussion of discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34.

23.276[2] Verify That Subpoena Was Properly Served. Service of a subpoena is made by delivering a copy of the subpoena to the person named in the subpoena, and, in the case of a subpoena to compel testimony, fees for one day's attendance and mileage as allowed by law [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)].

Although not expressly stated in Rule 45, failure to serve a subpoena properly has been found to constitute grounds to quash or modify a subpoena [see, e.g., Rotter v. Cambrex Corp. (ND Ill 1995) 1995 US Dist LEXIS 8561, at *4]. Additionally, failure to provide the requisite attendance and mileage fees may be grounds to modify or quash a subpoena [see CF&I Steel Corp v Mitsui & Co. (9th Cir 1983) 713 F2d 494, 496].

Moreover, there is no obligation to file a motion to quash if service of a subpoena is defective [see Barnhill v. United States (7th Cir 1993) 11 F3d 1360, 1370 ; Martin v. Howard Univ. (DDC 2002) 209 FRD 20, 20-21 (court upheld witness's refusal to appear].

If the subpoena was not properly served, or if the subpoena to compel testimony was not accompanied by the appropriate fees, attempt informal resolution of the issue. If informal resolution is unsuccessful, then move to modify or quash the subpoena.

Judge's Perspective:

A subpoenaed party that believes service has been improper should usually seek informal resolution of the problem with the subpoenaing party. Through this process, the subpoenaed party can arrange a more convenient time for response or limit the scope of the subpoena, using to its advantage the prospect that, if the other party disagrees, motion practice will be necessary. It is dangerous to ignore the subpoena because if a court ultimately concludes service was proper the subpoenaed party will have more difficulty persuading the court to ameliorate any burden imposed [see § 23.285 (contempt sanction)].

Cross References:

Discussion of service of subpoenas, see §§ 23.266 -23.273. Discussion of witness fees in the context of service of a subpoena, see § 23.272. Instructions regarding moving to modify or quash a subpoena, see § 23.279. Further discussion of discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34.

Further discussion of witness fees, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, § 45.03[4][b][ii] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

23.276[3] Verify That Subpoena Was Issued From Proper Court. To be enforceable, a subpoena must be issued from the proper court [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(2); see also Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991].

Cross References:

Discussion of the proper court from which a subpoena must issue, see § 23.262[1] (subpoena to compel testimony), § 23.263[1] (subpoena to compel production), and § 23.264[1] (subpoena to compel inspection).

If a subpoena is not issued from the proper court, and if informal resolution is unsuccessful, move to quash or modify the subpoena.

Consider:

Counsel should attempt informal resolution to avoid wasted time and expense in fighting over a defect that the subpoenaing party can easily remedy.

Cross References:

Instructions regarding moving to modify or quash a subpoena, see § 23.279. Judge's perspective on the advantage of informal resolution, see § 23.276[2]. Further discussion of discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34.

23.276[4] Verify That Subpoena Affords Reasonable Time for Compliance. A subpoena must provide a reasonable time for compliance [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(i)]. A court will modify or quash a subpoena that fails to provide a reasonable time for compliance [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(i)]. Consider informal resolution before moving to quash or modify the subpoena.

Cross References:

Discussion of what constitutes a reasonable time to respond, see § 23.262[8] (subpoena to compel testimony), § 23.263[7] (subpoena to compel production), and § 23.264[7] (subpoena to compel inspection). Judge's perspective on the advantage of informal resolution, see § 23.276[2]. Instructions regarding moving to modify or quash a subpoena, see § 23.279. Further discussion of discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34.

23.276[5] Verify That Subpoena Does Not Exceed 100-Mile Limit on Travel. A subpoena to compel testimony may not require a nonparty to travel to a place that is more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(ii)]. A court will quash or modify a subpoena that requires a nonparty to travel to a place that is more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(ii)]. Consider informal resolution before moving to quash or modify such a subpoena.

Judge's Perspective:

The advantages of informal resolution [see § 23.276[2]] are particularly salient when the dispute concerns the "100 mile bulge" because that requirement is fraught with ambiguity in terms of how to measure it; a subpoenaed party, therefore, would not want to rely on the assumption that the subpoena was improper and simply ignore it.

Consider:

Though informal resolution may be advisable, most nonparties will insist on the 100-mile limit.

A subpoena that "purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place" in excess of 100 miles from the place where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business provides an "adequate excuse" for failure to obey the subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(e)].

Cross References:

Discussion of the 100-mile limit in the context of drafting a subpoena to compel production, see § 23.262[11]. Instructions regarding moving to modify or quash a subpoena, see § 23.279. Further discussion of discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34.

Further discussion of moving to modify or quash a subpoena based on the 100-mile limit, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, § 45.04[3][b][ii] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

23.276[6] Determine Whether Subpoena Seeks Privileged or Protected Materials. Upon a timely motion, a court will modify or quash a subpoena that seeks disclosure of privileged or other protected matter as to which no exception or waiver applies [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(iii)].

The subpoenaed individual may make written objections in response to a subpoena seeking privileged or other protected matter as to which no exception or waiver applies [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)]. The objections must be express and supported by a description of the documents or things not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claims made in the objections [Fed R Civ P 45(d)(2)].

A nonparty may claim work-product protection when the nonparty "is in substance equally concerned with the outcome of litigation," and the documents sought were created "with an eye toward litigation" [see AT&T v Microsoft (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 8710, at *16].

A motion to modify or quash a subpoena that seeks disclosure of privileged or other protected matter as to which no exception or waiver applies is also a proper response to such a subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(iii)].

Cross References:

Discussion of moving to modify or quash a subpoena, see § 23.279. Further discussion of discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34. Discussion of written objections, see § 23.278.

Further discussion of moving to modify or quash a subpoena based on privilege, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, § 45.04[3][b][iii] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

23.276[7] Determine Whether Subpoena Seeks Trade Secrets, Confidential Research or Development Information, or Commercial Information. On timely motion, a court may modify or quash a subpoena that seeks disclosure of trade secrets, confidential research or development information, or commercial information [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(B)(i)], or the court may issue a protective order [Fed R Civ P 26(c)].

Judge's Perspective:

Protective orders are routinely issued in cases involving trade secrets and other confidential information. If a stipulated general protective order governing discovery has already been issued in the case, the court will often extend its terms to cover subpoenaed material from third parties.

Decision Point:

A party receiving a subpoena should make a motion for a protective order when it seeks constraints and limits on the dissemination and treatment of materials to be produced. When the receiving party seeks to preclude production altogether based on an argument that sensitive material would not be sufficiently probative or relevant to warrant production, then the most appropriate mechanism to use would be a motion to quash. Generally, if there is a reasonable chance of succeeding on a motion to quash, then consider making the motion and then seeking a protective order as a fallback request to the court.

A claim that material is privileged because it seeks trade secrets, confidential research or development information, or commercial information must show that the information sought is a trade secret or confidential and demonstrate that its disclosure might be harmful [see, e.g., Gonzales v. Google, Inc. (ND Cal 2006) 234 FRD 674, 684-685 ; AT&T v Microsoft (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 8710, at *22].

Cross References:

Discussion of moving to modify or quash a subpoena, see § 23.279. Further discussion of discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34.

23.276[8] Determine Whether Subpoena Is Directed Against Unretained Expert. On timely motion, a court may modify or quash a subpoena that seeks disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made without the request of any party [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(B)(ii)].

The Central District issued sanctions pursuant to Fed R Civ P 45(c)(1) against a party attempting to obtain expert testimony from an unretained expert on the grounds that the subpoena was issued for an improper purpose and subjected the recipient to an undue burden [see Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir 2003) 353 F3d 792, 813-815].

Distinguish:

A subpoena may not be modified or quashed on the basis that it seeks such information from a retained expert. The subpoena should be carefully examined to see if it is objectionable on other grounds.

Cross References:

Discussion of moving to modify or quash a subpoena, see § 23.279. Further discussion of discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34.

23.276[9] Determine Whether Subpoena Imposes Undue Burden. On timely motion, a court may modify or quash a subpoena that subjects a person to an undue burden [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(iv)]. If the subpoena imposes an undue burden, attempt to resolve the issue with the attorney who issued the subpoena. If informal resolution is unsuccessful, move to quash or modify the subpoena.

A person subject to a subpoena need not provide discovery of electronically stored information from sources that the person identifies as not reasonably accessible because of undue burden or cost; on a motion to compel discovery or to quash, the person subject to the subpoena bears the burden of making that showing. If that showing is made, the court may still order discovery from those sources if the requesting party shows good cause, considering the limits imposed under Fed R Civ P 26(b)(2)(C). The court may also specify conditions for the discovery [Fed R Civ P 45(d)(1)(D)].

Whether a subpoena imposes an undue burden is a "case specific inquiry," and depends on factors such as [Gonzales v. Google, Inc. (ND Cal 2006) 234 FRD 674, 680-681 ; Concord Boat Corp. v. Brunswick Corp. (SDNY 1996) 169 FRD 44, 53]:

- Relevance [see Moon v. SCP Pool Corp. (CD Cal 2005) 232 FRD 633, 637].
- The subpoenaing party's need for the documents.
- The breadth of the request.
- The time period covered by the request.
- The particularity of the document descriptions.
- The burden imposed.

Example:

In connection with litigation in the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, the federal government moved to compel Google, Inc. to respond to its third-party subpoena requesting production of 50,000 URLs and a sample of 5,000 queries (text of the search string entered by a user) randomly selected from Google's data base for use in a scientific study of the effectiveness of filters. The Northern District found the requested information was relevant. The court rejected Google's argument that the subpoena imposed an undue burden, pointing out that the government agreed to compensate Google for the reasonable costs of producing the information, which Google estimated would require up to eight full time days of engineering time. However, the court determined that producing both the 50,000 URLs and the 5,000 queries would be unreasonably cumulative and duplicative and granted the motion to compel only as to the sample of 50,000 URLs [Gonzales v. Google, Inc. (ND Cal 2006) 234 FRD 674, 680-686].

Common examples of undue burden include [In re Yassai (Bankr CD Cal 1998) 225 BR 478, 484]:

- Untimely service.
- Inability to appear.
- Inability to produce requested documents or things.
- Failure to identify items requested.
- Excessive costs.

Warning:

The party who issues the subpoena, or the party's attorney, is responsible for taking "reasonable steps to avoid imposing undue burden or expense on a person subject to the subpoena." [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(1)]. Failure to take "reasonable steps" may result in the imposition of sanctions, which may include lost earnings and reasonable attorney's fees [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(1); see e.g., Theofel v. Farey-Jones (9th Cir 2004) 359 F3d 1066, 1071 , cert. denied, 543 US 813 (2004) (sanction for subpoena seeking production of "all copies of e-mails sent or received," with no limitation as to time or scope)].

Cross References:

Further discussion of the requirement that a subpoena not be unduly burdensome, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, § 45.04[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Discussion of discovery sanctions, see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions.

23.276[9A] Determine Whether to Object to Form Specified for Production of Electronically Stored Information. A subpoena to produce electronically stored information may specify the form or forms in which electronically stored information is to be produced [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(C)]. An objection may be made to the form specified [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)].

23.276[10] Determine Whether Subpoena Was Served for Improper Purpose. Sanctions may be imposed under Rule 45(c)(3)(A)(iv) if a subpoena was served for an improper purpose [Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir 2003) 353 F3d 792, 814 (in case involving infringement of Mattel's copyright, trademark, and trade dress in Barbie doll, district court found Mattel's Rule 30(b)(6) subpoena "way too broad for the explanation given by [Mattel's counsel]" and "abusively drawn," and that "no attempt had been made to try to tailor the information request to the immediate needs of the case"); see Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(iv)].

It is improper to use subpoenas for the following purposes [Mattel, Inc. v. Walking Mountain Prods. (9th Cir 2003) 353 F3d 792, 814]:

- To annoy or to harass.
- To exert pressure on witnesses not to testify.
- Another purpose not related to obtaining information.

23.276[11] If Subpoena Presents Scheduling Conflict, Attempt Informal Resolution of Conflict. If a subpoena presents a scheduling conflict, contact the party who issued the subpoena and attempt to reschedule the date of the sought deposition, production, or inspection.

The subpoenaed individual should attempt to resolve the conflict informally as soon as possible because, if informal resolution is unsuccessful, he or she must determine the proper response and ensure that the response is timely made and served.

23.276[12] Verify Serving of Prior Notice of Production or Inspection. Prior notice of any commanded production of documents, electronically stored information, and things or inspection of premises must be served on each party to the action in the manner prescribed by Fed R Civ P 5(b) [Fed R Civ P 45(b)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of service under Rule 5(b), see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, § 5.22.

If prior notice was not properly served and informal resolution is unsuccessful, move to quash the subpoena [see Firefighters' Inst. For Racial Equal. v. City of St. Louis (8th Cir 2000) 220 F3d 898, 903 , cert. denied, 532 US 921 (2001) (failure to serve prior notice of demand for production is basis for quashing subpoena)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of the prior notice requirement, see § 23.267.

23.276[13] Choose Method of Resisting Discovery. A subpoenaed nonparty may resist a subpoena by:

- Serving written objections [see 23.278].
- Moving to quash or modify the subpoena [see 23.279].

A party generally may not challenge a nonparty subpoena unless the party claims a personal right or privilege to the subpoenaed documents [see 23.278[4]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
C. Responding to Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.277

23.277 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Responding to Subpoenas.

Responses to subpoenas duces tecum must comply with Fed R Civ P 45(d)(2) and must identify each category in the subpoena as to which no documents are produced because no documents exist in the possession of the person subpoenaed [ED Cal Civ LR 250.5(a)].

Consider:

Compliance with local rules regarding document production under Rule 34 (such as setting forth each request separately) in connection with Rule 45 subpoena motions are not required. Parties, however, may use such rules as a guide for crafting the structure of their Rule 45 motions.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
C. Responding to Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.278

23.278 Making Written Objection to Subpoena.

23.278[1] Written Objections Must Be Timely Made and Served. A person who is commanded to produce or permit inspection, copying, testing, or sampling may serve written objections to inspection, copying, testing or sampling of any or all of the designated materials or of the premises [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)]. The objections must be served within 14 days after service of the subpoena, or before the time specified for compliance in the subpoena if the time for compliance is less than 14 days [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)].

Cross References:

Forms of objections to subpoenas, see § 23.320, and 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 45, Subpoena (Matthew Bender).

Further discussion of the timing of service of written objections, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, § 45.04[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Warning:

Failure to serve written objections to a subpoena within the time specified by Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B) may constitute a waiver of the objections and any privileges that may have been claimed. In unusual circumstances and for good cause, untimely objections may be considered. "Courts have found unusual circumstances where: (1) the subpoena is overbroad on its face and exceeds the bounds of fair discovery; (2) the subpoenaed witness is a nonparty acting in good faith; and (3) counsel for the witness and counsel for the subpoenaing party were in contact concerning the witness' compliance prior to the time the witness challenged the legal basis for the subpoena" [McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 211 FRD 381, 385].

23.278[2] Clearly State Objection and Include Privilege Log If Making Claim of Privilege. If material is withheld on the ground that it is privileged or subject to protection as trial preparation material, the claim must be expressly made and supported by a description of the nature of the material not produced that is sufficient to enable the demanding party to contest the claim [Fed R Civ P 45(d)(2)(A)].

The Southern District has stated that, in the Ninth Circuit, one method of identifying documents to which claims of privilege are asserted is by a document-by-document privilege log; when circumstances warrant, though, the court in its discretion may permit other methods such as a summary of the purportedly privileged documents by category [see In re Imperial Corp. of Am. (SD Cal 1997) 174 FRD 475, 477-478].

The Northern District, however, stated that general objections do not satisfy the requirements of Fed R Civ P 45(d)(2), and on that basis ordered a subpoenaed party to "serve a privilege log listing all documents withheld on the ground of privilege against disclosure and providing information as to each such document sufficient to sustain the burden of asserting the privilege(s)" [Compaq Computer Corp. v. Packard Bell Elecs., Inc. (ND Cal 1995) 163 FRD 329, 338].

Although the written objections must clearly state the basis for each objection, it is not necessary that the privilege log be served with the objections, as long as the log is served within a reasonable time [see Tuite v. Henry (DC Cir 1996) 98 F3d 1411, 1416-1417 (Advisory Committee Notes indicate that purpose of Fed R Civ P 45(d)(2) "is to provide a party whose discovery is constrained by a claim of privilege ... with information sufficient to evaluate such a claim and to resist if it seems unjustified")]. The time deemed reasonable to serve the privilege log will depend on the complexity and extensiveness of the log (e.g., number of items, identification of addresses, etc.).

Cross References:

Discussion of producing a privilege log within a reasonable time, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 45, Subpoena (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Discussion of privilege logs and form, see Ch. 24, Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection, §§ 24.26, 24.103.

23.278[3] Because Objection Stays Discovery, Do Not Permit Party Seeking Discovery to Proceed Without a Court Order. The serving of written objections to a subpoena automatically stays discovery [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)]. The party serving the subpoena, therefore, may not obtain the discovery sought without a court order [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)].

23.278[4] Person Making Objections Must Have Standing to Object to Subpoena. Only the person subject to a subpoena has standing to object to it [In re Seagate Tech. II Sec. Litig. (ND Cal 1993) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 18065, at *2].

Distinguish:

In certain circumstances, persons other than the person at whom a subpoena is directed may move to quash or modify the subpoena, such as when the subpoena violates a case management order [see, e.g., Integra Lifesciences I, Ltd. v. Merck KgaA (SD Cal 1999) 190 FRD 556, 561].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of standing to modify or quash a subpoena, see § 23.279[8].

23.278[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Written Objection to Subpoena. Each objection to a subpoena to compel production must include a statement of reasons and, if appropriate, citation to relevant authority [ED Cal Civ LR 250.5(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
C. Responding to Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.279

23.279 Moving to Modify or Quash Subpoena.

23.279[1] When Subpoena Must Be Modified or Quashed. On timely motion, a court must modify or quash a subpoena that [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(i)-(iv)]:

- Fails to allow a reasonable time for compliance;
- Requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to travel more than 100 miles from where that person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business;
- Requires disclosure of privileged or other protected materials; or
- Subjects a person to an undue burden.

Cross References:

Discussion of what constitutes a reasonable time for compliance, see §§ 23.262[8], 23.263[7], and 23.264[7]. Discussion of the 100-mile limit on travel, see § 23.262[11]. Discussion of subpoenas seeking privileged material, see § 23.276[6]. Discussion of what constitutes an undue burden, see §§ 23.262[10], 23.268[8], 23.264[8], and 23.276[9].

23.279[2] When Subpoena May Be Modified or Quashed. On timely motion, a court may modify or quash a subpoena that [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(B)(i)-(iii)]:

- Requires disclosure of a trade secret or other confidential research, development, or commercial information; or
- Requires disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion or information not describing specific events or occurrences in dispute and resulting from the expert's study made without the request of any party; or

- Requires a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial.

Public policy concerns may weigh in favor of quashing a subpoena. The Northern District of California suggested that the federal government withdraw its subpoenas served on nonparty affiliates of plaintiff for patient's medical records, stating that "allowing disclosure of the records will have a chilling effect on communications between patients and providers" [see Planned Parenthood Fed'n of Am., Inc. v. Ashcroft (ND Cal 2004) 2004 US Dist LEXIS 3383, at *6-*8].

Cross References:

Discussion of subpoenas seeking disclosure of trade secrets or other confidential research, development, or commercial information, see § 23.276[7]. Discussion of subpoenas seeking disclosure of an unretained expert's opinion, see § 23.276[8]. Discussion of subpoenas that seek to require a person who is not a party or an officer of a party to incur substantial expense to travel more than 100 miles to attend trial, see § 23.262[11].

23.279[3] Motion Must Be Timely Made. A court must modify or quash a subpoena "on timely motion" for good cause [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)].

Although the rule does not define "timely," courts in other districts have held that a motion to quash a subpoena is timely if it is made at any time before the date of compliance specified in the subpoena [see, e.g., Nova Biomedical Corp v. i-Stat Corp. (SDNY 1998) 182 FRD 419, 422].

Warning:

If substantial notice was provided, the moving party should not wait until the eve of the compliance date so as not to be susceptible to the charge that the timing was intended to inconvenience unnecessarily the party serving the subpoena or to delay resolution of the dispute. Additionally, the motion must be made promptly so that there is enough time for the motion to be heard and granted before the date of a scheduled deposition [King v. Fidelity Nat'l Bank of Baton Rouge (5th Cir 1983) 712 F2d 188, 191].

23.279[4] Motion Must Be Made in Proper Court. A motion to modify or quash a subpoena should be made in the court that issued the subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)]. Only the court from which the subpoena was issued will quash or modify the subpoena [see Visx, Inc. v Nidek Co. (ND Cal 2002) 208 FRD 615, 616].

23.279[5] Motion Does Not Automatically Stay Discovery. Discovery is not automatically stayed upon the filing of a motion to modify or quash a subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)]. Thus, consider moving to stay discovery or for a protective order when moving to modify or quash a subpoena.

Cross References:

Discussion of motion for protective order, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.35 -22.66. Discussion of motion for stay of discovery, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, § 22.40.

23.279[6] Good-Faith Effort Generally Not Technically Required for Motions to Modify or Quash Subpoenas. The requirement that counsel meet and confer prior to moving for a protective order or to compel production does not apply to motions to modify or quash a subpoena pursuant to Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A) or (B) [Fed R Civ P 26(c), 37(a)(3)(B)].

Consult local rules and individual judges' Standing Orders; some judges require counsel to make an effort to resolve the issue prior to the filing of any discovery motion. Counsel also should attempt to resolve the issue informally in case either a protective order or a motion to compel prove to be necessary, as certification of efforts taken to resolve the dispute is required for either course of action.

Judge's Perspective:

The safest and best course, even absent a specific requirement, is to establish a record that informal resolution was attempted through the meet and confer process.

23.279[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Motion to Modify or Quash Subpoena.

23.279[7][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Prior to the filing of a motion pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26 through 37, counsel are required to confer in good faith to resolve the dispute [CD Cal Civ LR 37-1].

23.279[7][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Motions pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26-37, including motions for protective orders, require a prior attempt at informal resolution, and a Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreement [ED Cal Civ LR 251(b)].

23.279[7][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The court will not entertain either a request or a motion to resolve a disclosure or discovery dispute unless counsel have conferred to attempt to resolve the dispute [ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a)].

23.279[7][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The court will not entertain any motion brought pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26-37 unless counsel have conferred and attempted to resolve the dispute [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)]. A certificate of compliance that the parties have conferred must be filed with the motion [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b)].

23.279[8] Standing to Modify or Quash Subpoena. Generally, only the person served with a subpoena has standing to quash or modify the subpoena [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B), (3)(A)]. However, the Southern District has held that any party to the litigation has the right to move for a protective order when a subpoena is issued in violation of case management orders issued under Fed R Civ P 16 or Fed R Civ P 26 [see, e.g., Integra Lifesciences I, Ltd. v. Merck KgaA (SD Cal 1999) 190 FRD 556, 561]. The Central District has stated that although a party may not object to a subpoena served on a nonparty, the party may either move for a protective order or move to quash a subpoena served on a nonparty [Moon v. SCP Pool Corp. (CD Cal 2005) 232 FRD 633, 637 (granting defense motion to quash subpoena served on nonparty)].

The Northern District has held that a nonparty asserting that the material sought by a subpoena is not relevant to the underlying action has standing to quash the subpoena [see Compaq Computer Corp. v. Packard Bell Elecs., Inc. (ND Cal 1995) 163 FRD 329, 335-336].

District courts in other states have held that a party does not have standing to quash a subpoena served on a third party unless the party seeks to quash based on claims of privilege relating to documents being sought [Thomas v. Marina Assocs. (ED Pa 2001) 202 FRD 433, 434].

Cross References:

Form of notice of motion to quash subpoena, see § 23.320.

Forms of motions to modify or quash subpoenas, see § 23.320, and 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 45, Subpoena (Matthew Bender).

Discussion of formatting, service, and filing requirements for motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers.

General discussion of discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

170 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
C. Responding to Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.280

23.280 Moving for a Protective Order.

23.280[1] When to Move for a Protective Order. An individual objecting to a subpoena should consider making a motion for a protective order [see Fed R Civ P 26(c)]. Consider moving for a protective order simultaneously to (1) moving to modify or quash a subpoena, or (2) serving written objections to a subpoena.

Example:

If the time set for a deposition in a subpoena to compel testimony presents a scheduling conflict, first attempt to resolve the issue informally. If informal resolution is unsuccessful, counsel for the proposed deponent should file a motion for a protective order with the court that issued the subpoena, accompanied by a certification of counsel's attempt to resolve the issue informally [Fed R Civ P 26(c)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of using protective orders, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.35 -22.66.

23.280[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Moving for Protective Order When Served With Motion to Compel. Any party or nonparty against whom a motion under Fed R Civ P 37(a) or 45(d)(1) is being made may notice for hearing at the same time a motion for protective order under Fed R Civ P 26(c) [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective OrdersCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
C. Responding to Subpoenas

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.281

23.281 Producing Documents and Electronically Stored Information in Response to Subpoena.

23.281[1] Materials in "Control" Must Be Produced. The person subject to the subpoena "is required to produce materials in that person's control whether or not the materials are located within the district or within the territory within which the subpoena can be served" [see Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991]. "Control" is defined as "the legal right to obtain documents upon demand" [7-Up Bottling Co. v. Archer Daniels Midland Co. (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 1090, 1107 , cert. denied, 529 US 1037 (2000) ("[P]roof of theoretical control is insufficient; a showing of actual control is required")].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of the nature of "control," see § 23.153[4][b].

23.281[2] How to Produce Documents. A person responding to a subpoena to produce documents must produce the documents as they are kept in the usual course of business, or must organize and label the documents to correspond with the categories in the demand [Fed R Civ P 45(d)(1)(A)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of production of documents, see §§ 23.135 -23.156.

23.281[2A] How to Produce Electronically Stored Information. A subpoena may specify the form or forms in which electronically stored information is to be produced [Fed R Civ P 45(a)(1)(C)]. If the form specified is unobjectionable, production should be made in that form. If the form specified is objectionable, an objection should be made [see Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)]. If a subpoena does not specify the form or forms for producing electronically stored information, the person subject to the subpoena must produce the information in a form or forms in which the person ordinarily maintains it or in a form or forms that are reasonably usable [Fed R Civ P 45(d)(1)(B)], provided that electronically stored information need not be produced in more than one form [Fed R Civ P 45(d)(1)(C)].

23.281[3] Nonparty May Be Entitled to Reimbursement for Costs Incurred in Complying With Subpoena. A nonparty may be entitled to reimbursement for the costs incurred in complying with a subpoena [see United States v. Columbia Broad. Sys., Inc. (9th Cir 1982) 666 F2d 364, 372 , cert. denied, 457 US 1118 (1982)]. The court will consider the following factors [see United States v. Columbia Broad. Sys., Inc. (9th Cir 1982) 666 F2d 364, 372-373 , cert. denied, 457 US 1118 (1982) ; see also Compaq Computer Corp. v. Packard Bell Elecs., Inc. (ND Cal 1995) 163 FRD 329]:

- The scope of the discovery.
- The invasiveness of the requests.
- The need to separate responsive from privileged or irrelevant material.
- The reasonableness of the cost of production.

23.281[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Responding to Subpoenas Duces Tecum. Responses to subpoenas duces tecum must identify each category in the subpoena as to which no documents exist in the possession of the person subpoenaed and must comply with Fed R Civ P 45(d)(2) [ED Cal Civ LR 250.5(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

172 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
D. Enforcing Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.282

23.282 Attempt to Resolve Contested Issues Through Meet and Confer With Counsel.

A motion to compel compliance with discovery requires a certification that the movant has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with the person or party failing to make the discovery in an effort to secure the subpoenaed information or material without court action [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(1)].

Cross References:

Discussion of motions to compel, including local rule coverage, see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, §§ 25.03 -25.27.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
D. Enforcing Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.283

23.283 Moving to Compel.

23.283[1] Filing Motion to Compel After Being Served With Written Objections to Subpoena. If, after serving a subpoena, you are served with written objections to the subpoena, you may move at any time for an order to compel production once you have given notice to the subpoenaed person [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)].

23.283[2] Order Compelling Production Must Protect Nonparty From Significant Expense. An order to compel production must protect a nonparty from significant expense resulting from the inspection and copying demanded [Fed R Civ P 45(c)(2)(B)].

23.283[3] Motion Must Be Made to Proper Court. The court in whose name the subpoena is issued is responsible for its enforcement [see Fed R Civ P 45, Committee Note of 1991; see also Visx, Inc. v Nidek Co. (ND Cal 2002) 208 FRD 615, 616 (in multidistrict litigation, subpoenas duces tecum may only be enforced in district in which subpoenas were issued; plaintiff's motion to enforce subpoenas was denied for being brought in improper court)].

23.283[4] Motion to Compel Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 37(a). A party may move for an order to compel disclosure or discovery against a nonparty [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(1)]. The motion must be made to the court in the district where the discovery is being, or is to be, taken [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(2)]. The motion must include a certification that the party has conferred or has attempted to confer in good faith with the nonparty failing to make the discovery [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of moving for an order compelling disclosure or discovery pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37(a), see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, §§ 25.03 -25.27.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

174 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
D. Enforcing Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.284

23.284 Motion to Compel When Motion to Quash Is Sought by Recipient of Subpoena.

Consider making a motion to compel when, after serving a subpoena, the recipient of the subpoena moves to quash the subpoena; denial of the motion to quash may not, alone, compel compliance [see Pennwalt Corp. v. Durand-Wayland, Inc. (9th Cir 1983) 708 F2d 492, 494 ; see also Diamond State Ins. Co. v. Rebel Oil Co. (D Nev 1994) 157 FRD 691, 695].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

175 of 175 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
D. Enforcing Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.285

23.285 Contempt Sanction for Failing or Refusing to Respond to Subpoena.

A person who fails to obey a subpoena without an adequate excuse may be deemed in contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued [Fed R Civ P 45(e)].

An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place that is more than 100 miles from where the person resides, is employed, or regularly transacts business [Fed R Civ P 45(e)].

Some courts will not consider a contempt sanction based solely on the failure to obey a subpoena. Instead, these courts will require that a motion to compel and a resulting court order compelling discovery be issued as well [see, e.g., Pennwalt Corp. v. Durand-Wayland, Inc. (9th Cir 1983) 708 F2d 492, 494 (denying motion to quash is not enough to make contempt order available; there must be an order to compel)].

Further, a witness who fails to comply with a subpoena may be afforded an opportunity to demonstrate an adequate excuse for the noncompliance [see, e.g., Fremont Energy Corp. v. Seattle Post Intelligencer (9th Cir 1982) 688 F2d 1285, 1287].

Cross References:

Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion. Discussion of the sanctions available under Fed R Civ P 37, see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions. Discussion of contempt sanctions, see Ch. 35, Contempt.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenasCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral Overview

1 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
A. Perpetuation of Testimony

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.286

23.286 Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony.

Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
In the Matter of	)
the Petition of _____	)
[name of petitioner],	)	PETITION TO
to Perpetuate Testimony	)	PERPETUATE TESTIMONY
	)	(Fed R Civ P 27(a))
	)

IN THE MATTER OF _____ [name of petitioner], PETITION FOR PERPETUATION OF

TESTIMONY

This petition of _____ [name of petitioner] for the perpetuation of the testimony respectfully alleges:

1. Petitioner, _____ [name], is a citizen and resident of the State of _____. Potential adverse party _____ [name], is a citizen and resident of the State of _____ and is within the jurisdiction of this court.

2. Petitioner expects to be a party to an action _____ [describe nature of anticipated action, e.g., for breach of contract], as _____ [describe petitioner's interest in prospective action, e.g., plaintiff].

3. Parties who will be adverse to petitioner in the prospective action are:

_____ [list names and addresses, if known, of anticipated adverse parties].

4. The basis of federal jurisdiction for the prospective action is that _____ [describe jurisdictional basis of action, e.g., diversity exists between Petitioner and the prospective adverse party as citizens and residents of different states, and the amount in controversy is more than the statutory minimum of $75,000].

5. The prospective action cannot be filed at this time because _____ [describe reasons prospective action cannot be filed].

6. Petitioner requests that this court issue an order permitting petitioner to perpetuate the testimony of _____ [name], who resides at _____ [address], who will testify as follows: _____ [describe nature of testimony to be perpetuated].

7. It is urgent and necessary that petitioner take the deposition of _____ [name] before the prospective action can be filed because _____ [state reasons for urgency for perpetuating testimony].

WHEREFORE, petitioner prays the court for an order authorizing petitioner to take the deposition of _____ [name] on oral examination for the purpose of perpetuating [his/her] testimony pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 27.
Date: _____.

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Set forth verification or declaration under penalty of perjury.]

NOTES.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 27(a)(1)

Required Elements of Petition:
See § 23.07

Venue Requirement:
See § 23.08[1]

Related Form of Notice of Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony:
See § 23.287

Related Form of Order Authorizing Perpetuation of Testimony:
See § 23.288

Additional Forms of Perpetuation Petitions:
See 6 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 27:1, 27:2 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsPerpetuation of Testimony

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
A. Perpetuation of Testimony

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.287

23.287 Notice of Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony.

Notice of Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	NOTICE OF APPLICATION
vs.	TO PERPETUATE _____
_____ [name],	[TESTIMONY OR EVIDENCE] (Fed. R. Civ. P. 27(a))
Defendant	Date of Hearing: _____
	Time of Hearing: _____
	Courtroom No. _____

To _____ [name of expected adverse party]

_____ [street address, city, state]

Take notice that _____ [name of petitioner], petitioner in the above-entitled matter, will apply to the United States District Court for the _____ District of _____, at _____ [street address], _____ [city, state] at _____ [time], in Courtroom No. _____, for the order to perpetuate certain testimony or other evidence that is more particularly described in the Petition, a copy of which is attached to this Notice.

You may appear and show cause, if you have any, at the time and place described above, why the Order requested in the attached Petition should not be granted. You are not required to appear if you do not oppose the Order set out in the Petition, but if you choose to do so, you are advised to consult with an attorney well in advance of the date set out above in order to be advised of the proper method and manner of opposing the Petition and the Order sought in the Petition.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 27(a)(2)

Requirements for Notice:
See § 23.08

Timing:
See 23.08[5]

Related Form of Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony:
See § 23.286

Related Form of Order Authorizing Perpetuation of Testimony:
See § 23.288

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsPerpetuation of Testimony

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
A. Perpetuation of Testimony

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.288

23.288 Order Authorizing Perpetuation of Testimony.

Order Authorizing Perpetuation of Testimony.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	ORDER GRANTING PETITION
Defendant	)	TO PERPETUATE TESTIMONY
	)
	)

In the Matter of _____ [name], to Perpetuate the Testimony of _____ [name]

ORDER AUTHORIZING PERPETUATION OF TESTIMONY

The petition of _____ [name] for an order authorizing petitioner to take the deposition of _____ [name] on oral examination for the purpose of perpetuating _____ [his or her] testimony pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 27 came on regularly for hearing by the court this date. Petitioner appeared by counsel _____ [name]; expected adverse party _____ [name] appeared by counsel _____ [name]. On proof made to the satisfaction of the court that perpetuation of the testimony may prevent a failure to delay of justice,

IT IS ORDERED that the petition be, and it hereby is, granted and that petitioner is authorized to take the deposition of _____ [name] on oral examination for the purpose of perpetuating [his/her] testimony pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 27. The subject matter of the deposition is limited to _____ [describe subject matter on which deposition may be taken].
Dated: _____

_____

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 27(a)(3)

Contents of Court Order on Petition to Perpetuate Testimony:
See § 23.11

Taking of Deposition After Order Authorizing Perpetuation of Testimony:
See § 23.12

Related Form of Notice of Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony:
See § 23.287

Related Form of Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony:
See § 23.286

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsPerpetuation of Testimony

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
B. Oral Depositions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.289

23.289 Notice of Deposition.

Notice of Deposition.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	NOTICE OF DEPOSITION ON ORAL EXAMINA-)	TION
	)

TO _____ [list all parties or attorneys for parties]:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that _____ [identify party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] will take the deposition, on oral examination, of _____ [identify deponent, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith]. The deposition will be taken on _____ [date], commencing at _____ [time], at _____ [address where deposition will be taken].

[ADD, if deponent is a corporation or other entity]

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the matters on which examination is requested are _____ [specify matters with reasonable particularity]. _____ [Name of deponent organization] must designate and produce at the deposition one or more of its officers, directors, managing agents, or other persons who consent to testify on its behalf as to matters known or reasonably available to the organization. It is hereby requested that _____ [name of deponent organization] provide prompt notification in writing to the undersigned as to the name, address, telephone number, capacity, and job title of each person so designated to testify and the matters on which this person will testify.

[ADD, if deponent is to produce documents or things at deposition pursuant to a subpoena duces tecum]

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that _____ [name of deponent] shall bring and produce at the deposition, at the time and place specified in this notice, _____ [specify materials to be produced pursuant to subpoena or refer to attachment].

[CONTINUE]

The deposition will be taken before _____ [identify deposition officer, or a deposition officer who is authorized to administer an oath]. The testimony will be recorded by _____ [specify, e.g., stenographic means]. If the deposition is not completed on the date specified in this notice, the taking of the deposition will continue from day to day until completed.

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 30(b)

Drafting Notice:
See §§ 23.29, 23.30

Serving Notice:
See § 23.33

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral Depositions

5 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
B. Oral Depositions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.290

23.290 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Take Deposition.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Take Deposition.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR
_____ [name],	)	LEAVE TO TAKE DEPOSITION
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for an order, pursuant to Fed R Civ P 30(a), granting leave to take the deposition of _____ [name of deponent].

[EITHER]

Leave of court is required to take this deposition because _____ [name of deponent] is incarcerated in prison.

[OR]

Leave of court is required to take this deposition because the proposed deposition would result in more than 10 depositions being taken by _____ [party's status and name].

As explained in the Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], prior to filing this motion, the attorney for _____ [party's status and name] sought, but was unable to obtain, a stipulation by the parties for the deposition of _____ [name of deponent].

[OR]

Leave of court is required to take this deposition because _____ [name], the proposed deponent, has already been deposed in this case.

As explained in the Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], prior to filing this motion, the attorney for _____ [party's status and name] sought, but was unable to obtain, a stipulation by the parties for the deposition of _____ [name of deponent].

[OR]

Leave of court is required to take this deposition because _____ [party's status and name] seeks to take this deposition before the parties have agreed to a discovery plan.

As explained in the Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], prior to filing this motion, the attorney for _____ [party's status and name] sought, but was unable to obtain, a stipulation by the parties for the deposition of _____ [name of deponent].

[CONTINUE]

Leave to take the deposition of _____ [name of deponent] should be granted for the following reason(s):

[ADD, if appropriate]

(a) The discovery sought by the proposed deposition of _____ [name of deponent] is not unreasonably cumulative or duplicative, nor is it obtainable from some other source that is more convenient, less burdensome, or less expensive, in that _____ [specify].

[ADD, if appropriate]

(b) _____ [Party's status and name] has not had ample opportunity by discovery in the action to obtain the information sought from the proposed deposition of _____ [name of deponent] because _____ [specify].

[ADD, if appropriate]

(c) The burden or expense of the proposed deposition of _____ [name of deponent] does not outweigh its likely benefit, taking into account the needs of the case, the amount in controversy, the parties' resources, the importance of the issues at stake in the litigation, and the importance of the proposed deposition in resolving the issues, because _____ [specify].

[CONTINUE]

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral Depositions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
B. Oral Depositions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.291

23.291 Objections to Errors or Irregularities in Notice of Deposition or to Deposition Officer.

Objections to Errors or Irregularities in Notice of Deposition or to Deposition Officer.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	OBJECTIONS TO _____
Defendant	)	[IRREGULARITIES IN NOTICE OF DEPOSITION
	)	OR DEPOSITION OFFICER]
	)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that _____ [identify objecting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] objects to the notice of the taking of the deposition of _____ [name], which was served on _____ [date] by _____ [identify party noticing deposition, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones], on the following grounds:

[EITHER]

_____ [State error or irregularity of deposition notice not complying with Fed R Civ P 30(b), e.g., The notice of deposition is accompanied by a request for production, but the date of the deposition does not allow the 30 days' notice required for that request under Fed R Civ P 34].

[Set forth further errors or irregularities, e.g., The notice names a corporation as deponent but does not describe with reasonable particularity the matters on which examination is requested.]

[AND/OR]

The deposition officer identified in the notice of deposition, _____ [name of officer], is disqualified because _____ [specify, e.g., the officer is a relative of an attorney for Defendant Mary Jones].

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 32(d)(1), (2)

Objections to Notice of Deposition:
See § 23.38

Objections to Deposition Officer:
See § 23.39

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral Depositions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
B. Oral Depositions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.292

23.292 Notice of Motion and Motion to Take Deposition by Telephone or Other Electronic Means.

Notice of Motion and Motion to Take Deposition by Telephone or Other Electronic Means.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff
vs.	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO TAKE DEPOSITION BY _____
_____ [name],	[SPECIFY, E.G., TELEPHONE]
Defendant
	Date of Hearing: _____
	Time of Hearing: _____
	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for an order, pursuant to Fed R Civ P 30(b)(7), permitting _____ [party's status and name] to take the deposition of _____ [name of deponent] by _____ [telephone or specify other remote electronic means], because _____ [specify ground for motion, e,g, the deponent is frail and bedridden].

As explained in the Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], prior to filing this motion, the attorney for _____ [party's status and name] sought, but was unable to obtain, a stipulation by the parties for the deposition of _____ [name of deponent] by _____ [telephone or specify other remote electronic means].

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 30(b)(4); CD Cal Civ LR 37-2 (Joint Stipulation); ED Cal Civ LR 251(c) (Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreements); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b) (Certificate of Compliance)

Motion for Deposition by Telephone:
See § 23.31

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral Depositions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
B. Oral Depositions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.293

23.293 Notice of Motion and Motion for Protective Order During Deposition in Progress.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Protective Order During Deposition in Progress.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR PRO-
_____ [name],	)	TECTIVE ORDER
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for a protective order, pursuant to Fed R Civ P 30(d)(4), that the deposition of _____ [name], which commenced on _____ [date] at _____ [time] at _____ [place], pursuant to a notice served on _____ [date], be _____ [specify order sought, e.g., terminated].

[Add if sanctions may be requested in same motion under local rules _____ (Party's status and name) will also move for an award of expenses incurred in bringing this motion.]

The motion will be made on the ground that the deposition is being conducted _____ [specify grounds, e.g., in bad faith and in a manner that is unreasonably annoying and embarrassing to the deponent].

There is a particular and specific need for the protective order in that _____ [specify].

As explained in the Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], prior to filing this motion, the attorney for _____ [party's status and name] sought, but was unable to obtain, a stipulation by the parties to _____ [terminate or limit] the deposition of _____ [name of deponent].

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 30(d)(3); CD Cal Civ LR 37-2 (Joint Stipulation); ED Cal Civ LR 251(c) (Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreements); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b) (Certificate of Compliance)

Grounds for Motion:
See § 23.53[2]

Relief Available:
See § 23.53[3]

Award of Expenses:
See § 23.53[5]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective Orders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
C. Written Depositions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.294

23.294 Notice of Deposition by Written Questions.

Notice of Deposition by Written Questions.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	NOTICE OF DEPOSITION BY WRITTEN QUES-)	TIONS
	)

TO _____ [list all parties or attorneys for parties]:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that _____ [identify party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] will take the deposition, by written questions, of _____ [state name and address of deponent, if known, or describe deponent, if name not known]. The deposition will be taken by _____ [name or descriptive title and address of deposition officer].

The deposition upon written questions will be taken _____ [specify date, time, and place of deposition].

[ADD, if deponent is a corporation or other entity]

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that the matters on which examination is requested are _____ [specify matters with reasonable particularity]. _____ [Name of deponent organization] must designate and produce at the deposition one or more of its officers, directors, managing agents, or other persons who consent to testify on its behalf as to matters known or reasonably available to the organization. It is hereby requested that _____ [name of deponent organization] provide prompt notification in writing to the undersigned as to the name, address, telephone number, capacity, and job title of each person so designated to testify and the matters on which this person will testify.

[ADD, if deponent is to produce documents or things at deposition pursuant to a subpoena duces tecum]

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that _____ [name of deponent] shall bring and produce at the deposition, at the time and place specified in this notice, _____ [specify materials to be produced pursuant to subpoena or refer to attachment].

[CONTINUE]

The testimony will be recorded by _____ [specify, e.g., stenographic means]. If the deposition is not completed on the date specified in this notice, the taking of the deposition will continue from day to day until completed.

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 31(a)(3)

Drafting Notice:
See § 23.33

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsWritten Depositions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
C. Written Depositions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.295

23.295 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Take Deposition by Written Questions.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Take Deposition by Written Questions.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff
vs.	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION
_____ [name],	FOR LEAVE TO TAKE DEPOSITION
Defendant
	Date of Hearing: _____
	Time of Hearing: _____
	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for an order, pursuant to Fed R Civ P 31(a)(2), granting leave to take the deposition by written questions of _____ [name of deponent].

[EITHER]

Leave of court is required to take this deposition because _____ [name of deponent] is incarcerated in prison.

[OR]

Leave of court is required to take this deposition because the proposed deposition would result in more than ten depositions being taken by _____ [moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones].

As explained in the Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], prior to filing this motion, the attorney for _____ [moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] sought, but was unable to obtain, a stipulation by the parties for the deposition by written questions of _____ [name of deponent].

[OR]

Leave of court is required to take this deposition because _____ [name], the proposed deponent, has already been deposed in this case.

As explained in the Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], prior to filing this motion, the attorney for _____ [moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] sought, but was unable to obtain, a stipulation by the parties for the deposition by written questions of _____ [name of deponent].

[OR]

Leave of court is required to take this deposition because _____ [moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] seeks to take this deposition before the parties have agreed to a discovery plan.

As explained in the Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], prior to filing this motion, the attorney for _____ [moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] sought, but was unable to obtain, a stipulation by the parties for the deposition by written questions of _____ [name of deponent].

[CONTINUE]

Leave to take the deposition of _____ [name of deponent] should be granted for the following reason(s):

[ADD, if appropriate]

(a) The discovery sought by the proposed deposition by written questions of _____ [name of deponent] is not unreasonably cumulative or duplicative, nor is it obtainable from some other source that is more convenient, less burdensome, or less expensive, in that _____ [specify].

[ADD, if appropriate]

(b) _____ [Moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] has not had ample opportunity by discovery in the action to obtain the information sought from the proposed deposition by written questions of _____ [name of deponent] because _____ [specify].

[ADD, if appropriate]

(c) The burden or expense of the proposed deposition by written questions of _____ [name of deponent] does not outweigh its likely benefit, taking into account the needs of the case, the amount in controversy, the parties' resources, the importance of the issues at stake in the litigation, and the importance of the proposed deposition in resolving the issues, because _____ [specify].

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 31(a)(2); CD Cal Civ LR 37-2 (Joint Stipulation); ED Cal Civ LR 251(c) (Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreements); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b) (Certificate of Compliance)

Circumstances When Motion for Leave Is Required:

See § 23.85

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsWritten Depositions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
C. Written Depositions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.296

23.296 Objections to Errors or Irregularities in Notice of Deposition, Qualifications of Deposition Officer, or Form of Questions.

Objections to Errors or Irregularities in Notice of Deposition, Qualifications of Deposition Officer, or Form of Questions.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	OBJECTIONS TO _____
Defendant	)	[IRREGULARITIES IN NOTICE OF DEPOSITION
	)	OR DEPOSITION OFFICER
	)	OR FORM OF QUESTIONS]
	)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that _____ [identify objecting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] objects to the notice of the taking of the deposition upon written questions of _____ [name], which was served on _____ [date] by _____ [identify party noticing deposition, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones], on the following grounds:

[EITHER]

_____ [State error or irregularity of deposition notice not complying with Fed R Civ P 31(a), e.g., The notice of deposition sets a date of deposition that does not allow adequate time for the service of cross, redirect, recross questions as required under Fed R Civ P 31(a)(4)].

[Set forth further errors or irregularities, e.g., The notice does not name a particular deponent and does not contain a general description sufficient to identify the person or the particular class or group to which the person belongs.]

[AND/OR]

The deposition officer identified in the notice of deposition upon written questions, _____ [name of officer], is disqualified because _____ [specify, e.g., the officer is a relative of an attorney for Defendant Mary Jones].

[ADD, IF APPROPRIATE]

NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that _____ [identify objecting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] objects to the following question(s) submitted by _____ [identify party propounding questions, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] on the following grounds:

_____ [Set forth question objected to, and specify ground for objection, e.g., The question is vague and asks the deponent, a fact witness, to state a conclusion as to liability instead of specific facts].

[Set forth further questions objected to and grounds for objections.]

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 32(d)(1), (2), (3)(C)

Objections to Notice of Deposition:
See §§ 23.93 -23.95

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral Depositions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
C. Written Depositions

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.297

23.297 Notice of Motion and Motion for Protective Order That Discovery Be Taken by Other Means.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Protective Order That Discovery Be Taken by Other Means.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR PRO-
_____ [name],	)	TECTIVE ORDER
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for a protective order, pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26(c), that the discovery of _____ [name], which is to be taken by deposition upon written questions on _____ [date] at _____ [time] at _____ [place], pursuant to a notice served on _____ [date], be _____ [specify other method for obtaining discovery, e.g., done by interrogatories].

[Add if sanctions may be requested in same motion under local rules _____ (Party's status and name) will also move for an award of expenses incurred in bringing this motion.]

The motion will be made on the ground that good cause exists for the order because _____ [specify, e.g., the deponent is confined to his home due to a broken leg and will be unable to travel to the site of the deposition].

As explained in the Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], prior to filing this motion, the attorney for _____ [party's status and name] sought, but was unable to obtain, an agreement by the parties to _____ [specify, e.g., pursue this discovery by interrogatories].

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-2 (Joint Stipulation); ED Cal Civ LR 251(c) (Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreements); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b) (Certificate of Compliance)

Grounds for Motion:
See § 23.41

Relief Available:
See § 23.41[3]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective Orders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
D. Interrogatories

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.298

23.298 Sample Interrogatories.

Sample Interrogatories.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	INTERROGATORIES
	)
	)

_____ [Identify propounding party, e.g., PLAINTIFF JOHN SMITH]'S _____ [specify interrogatories, e.g., FIRST SET OF INTERROGATORIES] TO _____ [identify responding

party, e.g. DEFENDANT MARY JONES]

_____ [Identify propounding party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] requests that _____ [identify responding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones], answer all of the following interrogatories, in writing and under oath, as required by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 33. Under Rule 33, a copy of your written response to these interrogatories must be served on _____ [name of attorney for propounding party] within 30 days after service, at the address listed in this document.

INSTRUCTIONS

[Instructions are not necessary because the responding party is bound by the procedures for responding set forth in the Rules. If instructions are used, make sure they comport with the Rules; otherwise the responding party will have grounds to object.]

In answering these interrogatories, furnish all information that is available to you. If you cannot answer an interrogatory completely, answer it to the extent possible. If you do not have personal knowledge sufficient to respond fully to an interrogatory, so state, but make a reasonable and good-faith effort to obtain the information by inquiry to other natural persons or organizations, unless the information is equally available to the propounding party.

In answering each interrogatory:

(a) Identify by date, sender, recipient, location, and custodian each document relied on that forms a basis for the answer given or the substance of what is given in the answer to these interrogatories.

(b) State the name of each person to whom the information is a matter of personal knowledge.

(c) Identify each person who assisted or participated in preparing or supplying any of the information given in answer to or relied on in preparing answers to these interrogatories.

(d) If you maintain that any document or record that refers to or relates to anything about which these interrogatories ask has been destroyed, set forth the content of that document, the location of any copies of the document, the date of destruction, and the name of the person who ordered or authorized the destruction.

DEFINITIONS

The following definitions apply for purposes of responding to these interrogatories:

(a) "Communication" means the transmittal of information (in the form of facts, ideas, inquiries, or otherwise).

(b) "Document" is defined according to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 34(a), including, without limitation, electronic or computerized data compilations. A draft or nonidentical copy is a separate document within the meaning of this term.

(c) "To identify a person" means to give, to the extent known, the person's full name, present or last known address, and when referring to a natural person, additionally, the present or last known place of employment. Once a person has been so identified, only the name of that person need be listed in response to subsequent discovery requesting the identification of that person.

(d) "To identify documents" means to give to the extent known, the (i) type of document; (ii) general subject matter; (iii) date of the document; and (iv) author(s), addressee(s), and recipients.

(e) The designation of "Plaintiff," "Defendant," a party's full or abbreviated name, or a pronoun referring to a party, means the party and, where applicable, its officers, directors, employees, partners, corporate parent, subsidiaries, or affiliates. This definition is not intended to impose a discovery obligation on any person who is not a party to the litigation.

(f) "Person" means any natural person or any business, legal, or governmental entity or association.

(g) "Concerning" means relating to, referring to, describing, evidencing, or constituting.

INTERROGATORIES

[Insert numbered interrogatories, taking into account format and numerical limitations imposed by Rule 33 and local court rules. For example:]

1. Identify each person who saw _____ [describe occurrence].

2. State which of the persons in the answer to Interrogatory 1 made written statements concerning _____ [describe subject matter], and further state in whose custody each written statement reposes.

3. Identify each person who was present during _____ [describe occurrence].

4. State which of the persons in the answer to Interrogatory 3 made written statements concerning _____ [describe subject matter], and further state in whose custody each written statement reposes.

5. Identify all persons with knowledge of [describe occurrence].

[Continue in this manner, numbering sequentially].

Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____

_____ [typed name]

Attorney for _____ [propounding party]

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 33(a)

Subject Matter of Interrogatories:

See § 23.114

Timing:

See § 23.117

Drafting Interrogatories:

See § 23.116

Related Form of Motion to Propound Additional Interrogatories:

See § 23.299

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesForm

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
D. Interrogatories

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.299

23.299 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Propound Interrogatories in Excess of Number Permitted by Rule.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Propound Interrogatories in Excess of Number Permitted by Rule.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
	)
	)
_____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND Plaintiff	)	MOTION FOR LEAVE TO
vs.	)	PROPOUND INTERROGATORIES
_____ [name],	)	IN EXCESS OF NUMBER
Defendant	)	PERMITTED BY RULE
	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____

) Courtroom No. _____
)

_____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 33(a), _____ [identify propounding party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith], moves the court for an order permitting Plaintiff to propound interrogatories in excess of the number generally available under Rule 33.

This motion is made on the grounds that _____ [specify need for additional interrogatories, e.g., this is a complex case involving _____, and additional information as to _____ is needed to prepare this case for trial].

Plaintiff's counsel has made a reasonable and good-faith attempt to resolve this issue informally, but the parties were unable to reach an agreement.

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

The additional proposed interrogatories are as follows:

[Insert numbered interrogatories, starting with the next consecutive number following the last number in the previous set of interrogatories to this party. For example:

26. Identify each person who saw _____ [describe occurrence].

27. State which of the persons in the answer to Interrogatory 26 made written statements concerning _____ [describe subject matter], and further state in whose custody each written statement reposes.

[Continue in this manner, numbering sequentially].

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 33(a); CD Cal Civ LR 37-2 (Joint Stipulation); ED Cal Civ LR 251(c) (Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreements); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b) (Certificate of Compliance)

Grounds for Motion:
See § 23.115[b]

Prerequisite to Motion:
See § 23.117[1]

Related Form of Order:
See § 23.300

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesForm

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
D. Interrogatories

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.300

23.300 Order Granting Motion for Leave to Propound Interrogatories in Excess of Number Permitted by Rule.

Order Granting Motion for Leave to Propound Interrogatories in Excess of Number Permitted by Rule.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	ORDER GRANTING MOTION
vs.	)	FOR LEAVE TO PROPOUND
_____ [name],	)	INTERROGATORIES IN Defendant	)	EXCESS OF NUMBER
	)	PERMITTED BY RULE
	)
	)

On consideration of _____ [identify propounding party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith]'s MOTION FOR LEAVE TO PROPOUND INTERROGATORIES IN EXCESS OF NUMBER PERMITTED BY RULE, as provided in Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 33(a):

It appears to the Court that Plaintiff has established the need for additional interrogatories because the information sought is relevant and necessary for the preparation of plaintiff's case:

It further appears that the proposed interrogatories presented to the Court are appropriately drafted to elicit the information needed:

And, it further appears that the parties conferred in a good-faith attempt to resolve this discovery dispute but were unable to do so:

THEREFORE, IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that the Plaintiff is granted leave to propound the additional Proposed Interrogatories as stated in Plaintiff's Motion.
Dated: _____

_____

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 33(a)

Grounds for Motion:
See § 23.115[3]

Prerequisite to Motion:
See § 23.117[1]

Related Form of Motion:
See § 23.299

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesForm

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
D. Interrogatories

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.301

23.301 Response to Interrogatories.

Response to Interrogatories.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	RESPONSES TO INTERROGATORIES
	)
	)

ANSWERS TO _____ [identify propounding party, e.g., PLAINTIFF JOHN SMITH]'S _____ [specify interrogatories, e.g., FIRST SET OF] INTERROGATORIES TO _____ [identify responding party, e.g. DEFENDANT MARY JONES]

Responding Party: _____ [Identify responding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones].

Propounding Party: _____ [Identify propounding party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith].

Defendant Mary Jones responds to the interrogatories served on her by Plaintiff John Smith as follows:

Interrogatory No. 1: [Repeat interrogatory verbatim]?

Response No. 1: _____ [State answer, e.g., My name is Mary Jones; I reside at 1000 Main Street, Farallon City, California, 90000].

Interrogatory No. 2: [Repeat interrogatory verbatim]?

Response No. 2: _____ [If stating an objection, clearly set forth specific ground for it; if invoking a privilege, clearly state which one; and answer any portion of interrogatory that is not objectionable, e.g., Objection on the ground that the subject matter concerns privileged lawyer-client communications, in that the communications consist of information transmitted in confidence from defendant to her lawyer in the course of the lawyer-client relationship. As to that portion of the interrogatory asking the date on which this conversation took place, the answer is _____].

Interrogatory No. 3: [Repeat interrogatory verbatim]?

Response No. 3: _____ [If exercising the option to produce business records in lieu of an answer under Fed R Civ P 33(d), state, e.g.: Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 33(d), the documents from which the answer may be ascertained are identified as investigative reports regarding traffic accidents involving Metro Transit System buses for the years 2000-2002, and these documents may be examined on or after August 2, 2004, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at 9876 Main Street, Farallon City, CA, 90000, or at any other time and place pursuant to stipulation.

[CONTINUE setting forth each interrogatory and the appropriate responses]

_____ [date]

[EITHER, attorney signs if response contains one or more objections]

_____ [Firm Name]

By: _____

[signature]

_____

[typed name]

Attorney for Mary Jones

[AND/OR, party, its agent, or its officer signs, unless response contains only objections]

_____ [signature of responding party or agent or officer]

_____ [typed name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 33(b), (d)

Timing:
See § 23.127

Drafting:
See § 23.129

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesForm

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
E. Requests for Production and Inspection

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.302

23.302 Request for Production of Documents and Tangible Items for Inspection, Copying, or Testing.

Request for Production of Documents and Tangible Items for Inspection, Copying, or Testing.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	_____ [NAME'S]
Defendant	)	_____ [NUMBER, E.G., FIRST]
	)	REQUEST FOR _____
	)	[SPECIFY, E.G., PRODUCTION OF DOCU-
	)	MENTS]

Requesting Party: _____ [requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith]

Responding Party: _____ [responding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones]

SET NUMBER: _____ [Specify number, e.g., One]

_____ [Requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] makes the following requests pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 34. Rule 34(b) states that you must serve a written response to this request, indicating whether you will comply with each request listed in this request below, no later than 30 days after the date this request is served on you].

[State either or both of following forms of request, numbering all requests consecutively]

[Alternative One. Request for documents. Specify separately the documents to be produced by specifically describing each individual document, or specify each category of documents with reasonable particularity.]

DOCUMENTS REQUESTED

_____ [requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] requests that you produce the following [categories of] documents for inspection and copying:

1. _____ [First document or category of documents requested, e.g., The report of Doctor Thomas Jones on the tests performed on Plaintiff John Smith on April 10, 2003, which you specified in Paragraph Number 4 of your Defendants Set One of Answers to Interrogatories in this action, which you filed on September 6, 2003].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 1: _____

2. _____ [Second document or category of documents requested, e.g., all Maintenance Procedure Manuals for Model Number 654321 Vehicles that were in effect and used by Defendant Mary Jones on March 2, 2003].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 2: _____

3. _____ [Third document or category of documents requested, e.g., The written warranty covering Vehicle Identification Number 123456 in Paragraph Number 4 of your Answer to the Complaint].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 3: _____

[Alternative Two. Request for tangible items. Specify separately the things to be produced by specifically describing each individual item, or specify each category with reasonable particularity.]

TANGIBLE ITEMS REQUESTED

_____ [requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] requests that you produce or provide access to the following tangible items within the meaning of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 34(a) for inspection and _____ [specify applicable related activities from among following, e.g.: copying, testing, sampling, photographing, and measuring].

4. _____ [First tangible item to be produced or made available, e.g., The left front tire from Vehicle Identification Number 123456, which blew out on March 2, 2003, as asserted in Paragraph Number 11 of your Answer to the Complaint].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 4: _____

5. _____ [Second tangible item to be produced or made available, e.g., All of the engine parts that you removed for inspection or testing from Vehicle Identification Number 123456 on March 2, 2003, as asserted in Paragraph Number 16 of your Answer to the Complaint].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 5: _____

TIME AND PLACE OF PRODUCTION AND _____ [specify, e.g., INSPECTION AND COPYING or INSPECTION AND TESTING]

_____ [requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] requests that you produce or provide access to the [documents or tangible items] specified in these requests on _____ [date] at _____ [time] at _____ [specify location, e.g., the offices of the attorney for Plaintiff John Smith, whose address is: Law Offices of Tom Doe, 100 North Main St., Suite 200, Farallon City, California 90000, Phone: 555-555-5555.]
Dated: _____

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 34(a)

Requirements for Request for Production:
See §§ 23.137 -23.147

Request for Production of Electronically Stored Information:
See § 23.309

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & Inspection

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
E. Requests for Production and Inspection

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.303

23.303 Request for Permission to Enter on Land or Premises for Inspection, Copying, Testing, or Related Activities.

Request for Permission to Enter on Land or Premises for Inspection, Copying, Testing, or Related Activities.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	_____ [NAME'S]
Defendant	)	_____ [NUMBER, E.G., FIRST]
	)	REQUEST
	)	FOR _____
	)	[SPECIFY, E.G., PERMISSION TO ENTER PROPERTY FOR INSPECTION]

Requesting Party: _____ [requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith]

Responding Party: _____ [responding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones]

SET NUMBER: _____ [Specify number, e.g., Two]

_____ [Requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] makes the following requests pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 34. Rule 34(b) states that you must serve a written response to this request, indicating whether you will comply with each request listed in this request below, no later than 30 days after the date this request is served on you].

[State all requests and number consecutively.]

[Specify separately and with reasonable particularity land or premises where the requesting party wants access.]

REQUEST FOR ACCESS TO PROPERTY

_____ [Requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] requests that you provide access to the following property for inspection and _____ [specify appropriate combination of following terms: surveying or testing or photographing or measuring or sampling].

_____ [Specify the manner in which the related activity will be performed, and whether it will permanently alter or destroy the property or anything on the property, e.g., The soil sampling will be performed by Acme Drilling Co., Inc., Professional Drillers, in accordance with standard soil sampling practice, and will not result in any permanent alteration or damage to the real property.]

1. _____ [Property to which access sought, e.g., The 40 acres of land located in Farallon County, California owned by Defendant Mary Jones and known as the Jones tract, on which the injuries in the complaint took place].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 1: _____

2. _____ [Property to which access sought, e.g., The Jones Manufacturing Plant Records Department, owned by Defendant Mary Jones and located in Farallon County, California, at 555 South Main St., Farallon City, California 90000].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 2: _____

TIME OF INSPECTION AND _____ [specify, e.g., COPYING or TESTING or SAMPLING]

_____ [requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] requests that you produce or provide access to the [property or premises] specified in these requests on _____ [date] at _____ [time].
Dated: _____

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 34(a)

Requests for Entry on Land:
See § 23.137[3]

General forms of requests for production of documents:
See 8 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 34:1-34:5 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & Inspection

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
E. Requests for Production and Inspection

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.304

23.304 Response to Request for Production, Inspection, and Copying of Documents.

Response to Request for Production, Inspection, and Copying of Documents.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	_____ [NAME'S] RESPONSE TO
Defendant	)	_____ [NUMBER, E.G., FIRST]
	)	REQUEST FOR _____
	)	[SPECIFY, E.G., PRODUCTION OF DOCU-
	)	MENTS]

Requesting Party: _____ [requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith]

Responding Party: _____ [responding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones]

SET NUMBER: _____ [Specify number, e.g., One]

_____ [Responding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] makes the following responses to _____ [requesting party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith's Requests for Production Set Number One.], served on _____ [date].

[State responses immediately following a verbatim statement of the complete request.]

DOCUMENT REQUESTS AND CORRESPONDING RESPONSES

1. _____ [First document or category of documents requested, e.g., All Maintenance Procedure Manuals for Model Number 654321 Vehicles that were in effect and used by Defendant Mary Jones on March 2, 2003].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 1: _____ [Specify, e.g., if responding party agrees to request in entirety: Defendant Mary Jones will produce all Maintenance Procedure Manuals for Model Number 654321 Vehicles that were in effect and used by Defendant on March 2, 2003, and that are currently in Defendant's possession, custody, or control].

2. _____ [Second document or category of documents requested, e.g., "The Statement of Retail Prices" compiled by Tom Doe on April 10, 2003, which you referred to in Paragraph Number 4 of your Defendants Set One of Answers to Interrogatories in this action, which you filed on September 6, 2003].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 2: _____ [Specify, e.g., if responding party objects to request in entirety: Defendant Mary Jones objects to Request No. 2 in its entirety because the Statement of Retail Prices requested is protected by the attorney-client privilege].

_____ [Responding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] will produce or provide access to the documents specified in these responses on _____ [date] at _____ [time] at _____ [specify location, e.g., the offices of the attorney for Defendant, Jane Lee, whose address is: Law Offices of Jane Lee, 50 South Main St., Suite 100, Farallon City, California 90000, Phone 555-999-9999].
Dated: _____

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 34(b)

Requirements for Responses to Request for Production:
See §§ 23.149 -23.156

Additional Form of Response to a Request for Production:
See 8 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 34:85 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & Inspection

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
E. Requests for Production and Inspection

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.305

23.305 Notice of Motion and Motion for Protective Order to Avoid Production of Documents.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Protective Order to Avoid Production of Documents.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR PRO-
_____ name],	)	TECTIVE ORDER
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for a protective order pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26(c), _____ [specify protective order sought, e.g., directing that Request No. 8 in the Request for Production and Inspection of Documents, Set Number 1, requested by Plaintiff John Smith and served on Defendant Mary Jones on August 18, 2003, need not be produced] [add if sanctions may be requested in same motion under local rules, and for an order imposing a monetary sanction against Plaintiff John Smith in the amount of $ _____]. The motion will be made on the grounds that _____ [specify grounds, e.g., producing the records in Request No. 8 will result in undue burden and expense for Defendant Mary Jones].

As stated in the attached Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], _____ [specify grounds, e.g., Request No. 8 that Defendant Mary Jones produce all customer contracts she procured during 20 years in business would require that Defendant search through thousands of individual customer files, many of which are in storage facilities located in other states and countries, resulting in an estimated labor cost of 2700 worker hours, which constitutes an undue burden and expense for Defendant].

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); Fed R Civ P 34(b); CD Cal Civ LR 37-2 (Joint Stipulation); ED Cal Civ LR 251(c) (Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreements); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b) (Certificate of Compliance)

Basis for Motion:
See § 23.155

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective Orders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
F. Discovery of Electronically Stored Information

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.306

23.306 Sample Internal Memo Regarding Suspension of Document Retention Policy.

Sample Internal Memo Regarding Suspension of Document Retention Policy.

Date: _____
To: All Employees
From: _____ [name and title, e.g., President Tom Doe]
Re: Suspension of _____ [name of client, e.g., ABC Corporation]'s Retention Policy

[If suit has been filed:]

_____ [Name of client, e.g., ABC Corporation] has been sued by _____ [name of plaintiff, e.g., Plaintiff XYZ Corporation] in connection with _____ [description of dispute, e.g., the infringement of Plaintiff's trademark]. _____ [Name of client, e.g., ABC Corporation] needs to preserve evidence that it believes may be relevant to the claims of _____ [name of plaintiff, e.g., Plaintiff XYZ Corporation] and our defenses. Our normal policy for handling documents and electronic data has been suspended in light of this litigation.

[OR, if litigation is imminent:]

_____ [Name of client, e.g., ABC Corporation] is aware of a dispute with _____ [name of potential plaintiff, e.g., XYZ Corporation] regarding _____ [description of dispute, e.g., the infringement of XYZ Corporation's trademark]. _____ [Name of client, e.g., ABC Corporation] needs to preserve evidence that it believes may be relevant to the claims of _____ [name of potential plaintiff, e.g., XYZ Corporation] and our defenses. Our normal policy for handling documents and electronic data has been suspended in light of this threatened litigation.

[CONTINUE]

Do not alter, destroy, remove, or throw away any of your paper files or records. Do not alter or delete electronic files, including electronic mail, word processing files, databases, spreadsheets, image files, presentations, multimedia, and engineering files relating to the subject matter of the dispute.

The devices subject to this policy include, without limitation, any desktop or laptop computer used by you, regardless of where the computer is; network servers; shared servers, floppy discs, PDAs; voicemail; back-up tapes; and peripheral storage devices.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding the suspension of the document retention policy, please contact me.

[Insert signature block]

NOTES.

Authority:

William T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443, 1455 ; National Ass'n of Radiation Survivors v. Turnage (ND Cal 1987) 115 FRD 543, 557-558

Duty to Preserve Evidence:

See § 23.161

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

22 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
F. Discovery of Electronically Stored Information

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.307

23.307 Sample Request for Preservation of Evidence.

[Set forth heading including date and addressee information]

Re: Preservation of Evidence

Dear _____:

As you are aware, _____ [name of potential defendant, e.g., ABC Corporation] is currently in a dispute with my client, _____ [name of client, e.g., Plaintiff XYZ Corporation], and the dispute may lead to litigation despite my sincere hope that we can resolve the dispute amicably. Because litigation is possible, _____ [name of potential defendant, e.g., ABC Corporation] has an obligation to preserve potentially relevant evidence related to the dispute.

Accordingly, we request that you immediately suspend any retention or destruction policy currently in effect at _____ [name of potential defendant, e.g., ABC Corporation]. In particular, do not alter or destroy any e-mails, electronic files, databases, whether maintained on servers, hard drives, disks, or any other storage devise. Do not destroy, alter, or copy over any back-up tapes. If you are planning to replace hard drives or perform routine systems or program upgrades, please preserve the old hard drives and perform the upgrades so as not to destroy any data. Please also instruct your employees to likewise suspend their practice of deleting or removing electronic or paper materials that relate in any way to the dispute. Any destruction or alteration of any electronic data, even if done pursuant to your retention policy, may result in claims for spoliation of evidence and sanctions.

Thank you for your anticipated cooperation.

[Insert signature block]

NOTES.

Authority:

William T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443, 1455

Knowledge of Imminent Litigation Triggers Duty to Preserve Evidence:

See § 23.161[1]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.308

23.308 Sample Interrogatories Concerning Document Retention Policy and Data Storage.

Sample Interrogatories Concerning Document Retention Policy and Data Storage.

[Include the following definitions for these interrogatories:]

#. "YOU," and/or "CORPORATION" means Defendant _____ [name of defendant, e.g., ABC Corporation] and any other PERSON representing it or acting on its behalf.

#. "PERSON" means, unless otherwise specified, any natural person, firm, entity, corporation, partnership, proprietorship, association, joint venture, other form of organization or arrangement, and government and government agency of every nature or type.

#. "ELECTRONIC INFORMATION SYSTEM" means any disk, including hard disks and floppy disks, CD-ROMs, DVDs, network servers, shared servers, computers, magnetic tape, back-up tape, voicemail, temporary files, and PDAs, whether currently on CORPORATION'S premises or otherwise, e.g., at an employee's home or remote office.

#. "ELECTRONIC DATA" means any information, including files, documents, images, video, metadata or any combination thereof stored, created or used on ANY CORPORATION ELECTRONIC INFORMATION SYSTEM.

[Add these interrogatories to set:]

INTERROGATORY NO. _____:

Describe every policy implemented by YOU to retain ELECTRONIC DATA.

INTERROGATORY NO. _____:

Describe every policy implemented by YOU to destroy ELECTRONIC DATA.

INTERROGATORY NO. _____:

Describe in detail CORPORATION'S use and maintenance of its ELECTRONIC INFORMATION SYSTEMS.

INTERROGATORY NO. _____:

Identify all ELECTRONIC DATA that CORPORATION destroyed, altered, or moved, including timing and circumstances of such destruction, alteration, or movement, as follows: _____ [parameters of request, e.g., all electronic data related to the Plaintiff's trademark].

INTERROGATORY NO. _____:

Identify all individuals responsible for implementation of any policies related to storage and/or retention of ELECTRONIC DATA.

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 33

Use of Interrogatories to Discover Document Retention Policies:
See § 23.162[1]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesForm

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
F. Discovery of Electronically Stored Information

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.309

23.309 Sample Requests for Production of Electronically Stored Information.

Sample Requests for Production of Documents.

[Include the following definitions and instructions for these requests:]

#. "YOU," and/or "CORPORATION" means Defendant _____ [name of defendant, e.g., ABC Corporation] and any other PERSON representing it or acting on its behalf.

#. "PERSON" means, unless otherwise specified, any natural person, firm, entity, corporation, partnership, proprietorship, association, joint venture, other form of organization or arrangement, and government and government agency of every nature or type.

#. "ELECTRONIC INFORMATION SYSTEM" means any disk, including hard disks and floppy disks, CD-ROMs, DVDs, network servers, shared servers, computers, magnetic tape, back-up tape, voicemail, temporary files, and PDAs, whether currently on CORPORATION'S premises or otherwise, e.g., at an employee's home or remote office.

#. "ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION" means any information, including files, documents, images, video, metadata, or any combination thereof stored, created, or used on ANY CORPORATION ELECTRONIC INFORMATION SYSTEM.

#. "RELATE," or any variant thereof, including, but not limited to, the term "relating to," shall be understood to apply if the data or information evidences, mentions, constitutes, contains, summarizes, describes, concerns, refers to directly or indirectly, supports, contradicts, addresses in any way, or otherwise deals with the subject matter described in the Request in which the term "relate," or any variant thereof, appears.

#. "EVIDENCE," or any variant thereof, including, but not limited to, the term "evidencing," shall be understood to apply if the data or information directly or indirectly mentions, discusses, constitutes, concerns, supports, contradicts, refers, or in any way deals with the subject matter described in the Request in which the term appears.

#. "DOCUMENT" means a writing as defined by Federal Rules of Evidence 1001(1), and shall include without limitation ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION, the original (and absent the original then a copy thereof), all file copies and copies not identical to the original of any writing or record of every type, form, and description that is in the possession, custody, or control of the responding party, or that no longer is in the responding party's possession but of that the responding party still has knowledge, whether or not said writings or records are claimed to be privileged or otherwise immune from discovery including by way of illustration and not limitation, the following items, whether said writings or records are on paper, magnetic disk, tape, or other computer or digital storage medium, microfilm, microfiche, floppy, or any other storage or recording medium: _____ [describe any particular items, e.g., e-mails, voicemails, word processing documents, and written memos relating to Plaintiff's trademark].

#. If any document requested herein is withheld pursuant to any objection based on privilege, identify each document for which the privilege is claimed and state:

a. The type of document, including any title or identifying number on it;

b. Its date or origin or preparation;

c. The name of its originator;

d. The name(s) of the addressee(s), if any;

e. A brief summary of its substance; and

f. A factual and legal basis on which a privilege is claimed sufficient to permit the court to adjudicate the validity of the claim.

#. If any document requested to be produced by this request was in your possession, custody, or control, but has since been disposed of, lost, discarded, destroyed, or otherwise become unavailable, please identify which documents were destroyed, identify the person who ordered them destroyed, and state the reason for their destruction.

#. All requests are continuing in nature to the present.

DOCUMENTS REQUESTED

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. _____:

A copy of each version of CORPORATION'S policy RELATED to the retention or destruction of ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. _____:

All DOCUMENTS EVIDENCING policies, guidelines, or practices RELATED to CORPORATION'S retention or destruction policies.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. _____:

A copy of each version of CORPORATION'S guidelines or practices RELATED to its back-up systems.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. _____:

All DOCUMENTS discussing or describing the destruction of ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION, including directories and network logs since _____ [date].

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. _____:

All DOCUMENTS EVIDENCING the storage of ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION since _____ [date].

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. _____:

All logs or records concerning access to CORPORATION'S computer network since _____ [date].

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. _____:

All DOCUMENTS describing the configuration or design of CORPORATION'S internal computer networks.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. _____:

All policies RELATED to storage allocation for individuals, departments, or divisions.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. _____:

All policies RELATED to computer or network use.

REQUEST FOR PRODUCTION NO. _____:

All electronic mail policies.

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 34

Requesting Production of Electronically Stored Information:
See § 23.162[4]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & Inspection

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
G. Physical and Mental Examinations

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.310

23.310 Notice of Motion and Motion Requesting Physical or Mental Examination.

Notice of Motion and Motion Requesting Physical or Mental Examination.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff
vs.	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR ORDER COMPELLING
_____ [name],	_____ [PHYSICAL OR MENTAL]
Defendant	EXAMINATION
	Date of Hearing: _____
	Time of Hearing: _____
	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for an order compelling [name and party designation or description of examinee, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] to appear for and submit to a _____ [describe nature of examination, e.g., physical] examination by _____ [state name of examiner, e.g., Dr. Patricia Brown] who is a duly licensed _____ [describe relevant license, e.g., physician] specializing in _____ [describe specialty of examiner, e.g., neurology].

The examination will concern [one of] the _____ [physical or mental] condition[s] of _____ [name of person examined, e.g., John Smith] that is in controversy in this action, specifically, _____ [describe specific physical or mental condition that is in controversy].

The examination is scheduled for _____ [time, e.g., 10:00 a.m.] on _____ [date] at the offices of _____ [name of examiner], which are located at _____ [street address], _____ [city, state]. The examination will take approximately _____ [number] hours, and will consist of _____ [describe examination and any tests that will be performed].

Grounds for Motion

As shown in the pleadings of this case and in the Affidavits of _____ and _____ [names of affiants], the _____ [describe condition to be examined, e.g., neurological] condition of _____ [name of person to be examined, e.g., John Smith] is in controversy in this action because _____ [describe how condition to be examined is in controversy].

Good cause exists for an examination of this condition because _____ [describe why examination needed].

As explained in the Affidavit of _____ [name of affiant], prior to filing this motion seeking a court order for this examination, the attorney for _____ [name of moving party] discussed this issue with the attorney for _____ [name of party being examined] and sought a voluntary stipulation that _____ [name of person being examined] would voluntarily submit to the examination described in this motion. The attorney for _____ [name of party being examined] refused to agree to this examination.

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 35; CD Cal Civ LR 37-2 (Joint Stipulation); ED Cal Civ LR 251(c) (Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreements); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b) (Certificate of Compliance)

Drafting Motion:
See §§ 23.198 -23.204

Timing:
See 23.200

Grounds for Motion:
See §§ 23.202, 23.203

Related Form of Order:
See § 23.311

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsMental & Physical Examinations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
G. Physical and Mental Examinations

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.311

23.311 Order Granting Motion for Physical or Mental Examination.

Order Granting Motion for Physical or Mental Examination.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	ORDER GRANTING
Defendant	)	MOTION FOR
	)	_____ [PHYSICAL OR MENTAL]
	)	EXAMINATION
	)

ORDER

This cause came on to be heard on motion of _____ [moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] for an order requiring _____ [name and party designation or description of examinee, e.g., Plaintiff John

Smith or Robert Smith, a person in the custody or control of Plaintiff John Smith] to submit to a _____ [describe nature of examination, e.g., physical or mental or vocational or psychological or other] examination. It appearing to the court that the _____ [physical or mental] condition of _____ [name of examinee] is in controversy, and that the motion shows good cause for the examination,

IT IS ORDERED:

1. That _____ [name of examinee, e.g., John Smith] submit to a _____ [describe nature of examination, e.g., physical or mental or vocational or psychological or other] examination, to be conducted by _____ [name of examiner] at _____ [place of examination] on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day]. The examination will include the following: _____ [describe nature and conditions of examination, including any specific procedures].

2. That _____ [name of examinee] fully cooperate in the examination, including answering all inquiries of _____ [name of examiner] that are appropriate to an assessment or diagnosis of the _____ [physical or mental] condition of _____ [name of examinee].

3. That _____ [state persons, if any, permitted to attend examination, and conditions of that attendance, e.g., the personal physician of John Smith will be permitted to attend the examination if John Smith so desires, but no other person, including counsel for any party to this action, will be permitted to attend the examination].

4. That _____ [moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] will bear the costs of the examination.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
Dated: _____.

_____

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
See Fed R Civ P 35

Grounds for Order:
See §§ 23.202, 23.203

Related Form of Motion:
See § 23.310

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsMental & Physical Examinations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
H. Requests for Admission

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.312

23.312 Requests for Admission--Official Form 51.

Requests for Admission--Official Form 51.

The plaintiff _____ asks the defendant _____ to respond within 30 days to these requests by admitting, for purposes of this action only and subject to objections to admissibility at trial:

1. The genuineness of the following documents, copies of which [are attached] [are or have been furnished or made available for inspection and copying].

(List each document.)

2. The truth of each of the following statements:

(List each statement.)
Date: _____

_____ [signature of the attorney or unrepresented party]

_____ [printed name]

_____ [address]

_____ [e-mail address]

_____ [telephone number]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 36(a); Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Forms 2, 51

Timing:
See 23.220

Drafting Requests:
See § 23.222

Service and Filing of Requests:
See §§ 23.224, 23.225

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsContent & Form

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
H. Requests for Admission

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.313

23.313 Requests for Admission--Unofficial Form.

Requests for Admission--Unofficial Form.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
	)	SET _____ [e.g., ONE]
	)

_____ [Identify propounding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] requests _____ [identify party from whom admissions are sought, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] to admit, for the purpose of this action only and subject to all pertinent objections to admissibility that may be interposed at trial, the truth of the following matters:

Under the provisions of Rule 36(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, you are required to respond to these Requests for Admission in writing within 30 days after service of the requests. Your response must be signed as required by Rule 26(g) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. If you fail to respond to these Requests for Admission within the 30-day period, every matter set forth in the requests may be deemed admitted and conclusively established against you for purposes of this action.

REQUEST NO. 1: _____ [State matter on which admission is requested, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith was operating a blue 2002 Lexus, California license number 9XYZ876, at the time of the collision alleged in Paragraph 5 of the Complaint in this action].

REQUEST NO. 2: _____ [State matter on which admission is requested, e.g., Exhibit A attached to these requests is a true copy of Part 1 of the application for Policy No. 2938475, which was signed by Plaintiff John Smith on June 28, 2004].

REQUEST NO. 3: _____ [Set forth request in full, e.g., During the entire six months that the Plaintiff was employed by the Defendant, seven other African-American males over age 40 were employed in the Defendant's field sales department].
Dated: _____

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 36(a)

Official Form:
See § 23.312

Timing:
See 23.220

Drafting Requests:
See § 23.222

Service and Filing of Requests:
See §§ 23.224, 23.225

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsContent & Form

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
H. Requests for Admission

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.314

23.314 Responses to Requests for Admission.

Responses to Requests for Admission.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	RESPONSES TO REQUESTS
Defendant	)	FOR ADMISSION
	)	SET _____ [e.g., ONE]
	)

_____ [Identify responding party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] responds to the Requests for Admission,

_____ [identifying number, e.g., Set One], served on him/her by _____ [identify propounding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] on _____ [date], as follows:

REQUEST NO. 1: _____ [Set forth request in full, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith was operating a blue 2002 Lexus, California license number 9XYZ876, at the time of the collision alleged in Paragraph 5 of the Complaint in this action].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 1: _____ [Admitted or Denied or set forth other response, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith admits that he was operating a blue automobile bearing California license number 9XYZ876 at the time of the collision alleged in Paragraph of the Complaint in this action, but he denies that the automobile was a Lexus or a 2002 model].

REQUEST NO. 2: _____ [Set forth request in full, e.g., Exhibit A attached to these requests is a true copy of Part 1 of the application for Policy No. 2938475, which was signed by Plaintiff John Smith on June 28, 2004].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 2: _____ [Admitted or Denied or set forth other response, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith objects to this request on the ground that the admission sought is irrelevant to the subject matter of this action, because the Plaintiff's claim in this action does not seek any benefits payable under Policy No. 2938475].

REQUEST NO. 3: _____ [Set forth request in full, e.g., During the entire six months that the Plaintiff was employed by the Defendant, seven other African-American males over age 40 were employed in the Defendant's field sales department].

RESPONSE TO REQUEST NO. 3: _____ [Admitted or Denied or set forth other response, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith cannot truthfully admit or deny the matter set forth in Request No. 3, for the reason that during the relevant six-month period, the only co-workers Plaintiff met were his supervisor and three other sales trainees. Further, the Plaintiff has made a reasonable inquiry into this matter by telephoning his former supervisor, but the calls have not been returned].
Dated: _____

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 36(a)

Timing:
See 23.231

Drafting Responses:
See § 23.236

Service and Filing of Responses:

See §§ 23.239, 23.240

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsResponses

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
H. Requests for Admission

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.315

23.315 Notice of Motion and Motion to Determine Sufficiency of Responses to Requests for Admission.

Notice of Motion and Motion to Determine Sufficiency of Responses to Requests for Admission.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO DE-
_____ [name],	)	TERMINE
Defendant	)	SUFFICIENCY OF RESPONSES TO REQUESTS
	)	FOR ADMISSION
	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
		Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [propounding party's status and name, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for the following:

(A) pursuant to Rule 36(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, an order determining the sufficiency of the responses given by _____ [identify responding party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] to the Requests for Admission, _____ [identifying number, e.g., Set One], served on him/her by _____ [identify propounding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] on _____ [date], on the grounds that _____ [specify grounds for motion, e.g., despite the Plaintiff's assertion that he could not admit or deny the request based on the information known to him, sufficient information to enable the Plaintiff to admit or deny the request was readily available to him];

(B) pursuant to Rule 37(a)(4) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, an award of reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, incurring in making this motion; and

(C) an order granting further relief as may be appropriate.

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 36(a), 37(a)(3); CD Cal Civ LR 37-2 (Joint Stipulation); ED Cal Civ LR 251(c) (Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreements); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b) (Certificate of Compliance)

Availability of Motion:

See § 23.244

Relief Available:

See §§ 23.245 -23.248

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsResponses

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.316

23.316 Notice of Motion and Motion to Withdraw or Amend Admission.

Notice of Motion and Motion to Withdraw or Amend Admission.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name], Plaintiff vs. _____ [name], Defendant	)	Civil Action No. _____ NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO _____ [WITHDRAW OR AMEND] ADMISSION Date of Hearing: _____ Time of Hearing: _____ Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for the following:

(A) pursuant to Rule 36(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, an order granting leave to _____ [withdraw or amend] the admission to Request No. _____ [identifying number] given by _____ [identify responding party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] on _____ [date] in response to the Requests for Admission, _____ [identifying number, e.g., Set One], served by _____ [identify propounding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] on _____ [date]; and

(B) an order granting further relief as may be appropriate.

This motion is made on the grounds that an order allowing _____ [withdrawal or amendment] of the admission will subserve the presentation of the merits of the action, and the order will not prejudice _____ [identify propounding party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] in maintaining the _____ [action or defense] on the merits. [If trial has begun or if admission sought to be withdrawn or amended has been incorporated in court's order following final pretrial conference, add: In addition, withdrawal or amendment of the admission is necessary to prevent manifest injustice.]

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 36(b); CD Cal Civ LR 37-2 (Joint Stipulation); ED Cal Civ LR 251(c) (Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreements); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b) (Certificate of Compliance)

Availability of Motion:

See § 23.250

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsWithdrawals

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
I. Nonparty Discovery: Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.317

23.317 Subpoena to Compel Attendance of Witness at Deposition.

Subpoena to Compel Attendance of Witness at Deposition.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	SUBPOENA
	)
	)

TO: _____ [name]

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED TO APPEAR at _____ [location of deposition] on _____ [date] at _____ [time] to testify in the case known as _____ [title of action and civil action number], pending in the United States District Court for the _____ [district] District of _____ [state].

This subpoena has been issued by the United States District Court for the _____ [district] District of _____ [state]. You must appear and give testimony at the time and place designated in this subpoena.

Pursuant to the requirements of Rule 45(a)(1)(A) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, a copy of the provisions of Rule 45(c) and (d) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure are reproduced _____ [below or on the reverse of this subpoena or in the attached document].
Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [printed name]

_____ [firm address]

Attorneys for _____ [name]

[Reproduce or attach text of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c) and (d) in manner indicated in subpoena.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)

Discussion:
See § 23.262

Related Form of Subpoena:
See 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 45, Subpoena (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
I. Nonparty Discovery: Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.318

23.318 Subpoena to Compel Production.

Subpoena to Compel Production.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	SUBPOENA
	)
	)

TO: _____ [name]

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED TO PRODUCE, for inspection and copying, _____ [identify documents and/or electronically stored information or indicate that they are identified in attached Schedule A].

[If requesting electronically stored information, add if appropriate]

Production of the following information is requested in the form specified _____.

[CONTINUE]

PRODUCTION IS REQUIRED at _____ [location] on _____ [date] at _____ [time]. You are not required to appear or testify in this matter.

This subpoena has been issued by the United States District Court for the _____ [district] District of _____ [state] in connection with the case known as _____ [title of action and civil action number], pending in the United States District Court for the _____ [district] District of _____ [state].

You must produce the requested materials described in this subpoena [and its attachments] for inspection and copying and must do so at the time and place designated in this subpoena.

Pursuant to the requirements of Rule 45(a)(1)(A) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, a copy of the provisions of Rule 45(c) and (d) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure are reproduced _____ [below or on the reverse of this subpoena or in the attached document].
Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [printed name]

_____ [firm address]

Attorneys for _____ [name]

[Reproduce or attach text of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c) and (d) in manner indicated in subpoena.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)

Discussion:
See § 23.263

Related Form of Subpoena:
See 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 45, Subpoena (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
I. Nonparty Discovery: Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.319

23.319 Subpoena to Compel Permission to Inspect Premises.

Subpoena to Compel Permission to Inspect Premises.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	SUBPOENA
	)
	)

TO: _____ [name]

YOU ARE HEREBY COMMANDED TO PERMIT INSPECTION OF THE FOLLOWING PREMISES _____ [identify premises or indicate that premises are identified in attached Schedule A] on _____ [date] at _____ [time]. You are not required to appear or testify in this matter.

This subpoena has been issued by the United States District Court for the _____ [district] District of _____ [state] in connection with the case known as _____ [title of action and civil action number], pending in the United States District Court for the _____ [district] District of _____ [state].

You must permit inspection of the premises described in this subpoena [and its attachments] and must do so at the time and place designated in this subpoena.

Pursuant to the requirements of Rule 45(a)(1)(A) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, a copy of the provisions of Rule 45(c) and (d) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure are reproduced _____ [below or on the reverse of this subpoena or in the attached document].
Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [printed name]

_____ [firm address]

Attorneys for _____ [name]

[Reproduce or attach text of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c) and (d) in manner indicated in subpoena.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(a)

Discussion:
See § 23.264

Related Form of Subpoena:
See 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 45, Subpoena (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
I. Nonparty Discovery: Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.320

23.320 Notice of Motion and Motion to Quash a Subpoena.

Notice of Motion and Motion to Quash a Subpoena.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO QUASH
_____ name],	)	SUBPOENA
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that on _____ [date], _____ [movant] will move the Court pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c)(3)(A) _____ [indicate specific subsection of Rule 45(c)(3)(A), e.g., (iii)] to quash a subpoena issued by _____ [name of person or party issuing subpoena]. _____ [State reason for motion, e.g., Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c)(3)(A)(iii) provides that "[o]n timely motion, the court by which a subpoena was issued shall quash or modify the subpoena if it requires disclosure of privileged or other protected matter and no exception or waiver applies"].

Good cause exists to quash the subpoena because _____ [state reasons, e.g., "the materials sought were prepared with an eye toward litigation"].

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)

Discussion:
See § 23.279

Related Forms of Motion:
See 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 45, Subpoena (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

LexisNexis®

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
XI. FORMS
I. Nonparty Discovery: Subpoena

3-23 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 23.321

23.321 Local District Court Forms.

Local district court forms relating to matters addressed in this chapter are shown below.

Central District

Subpoena to Appear and Testify at a hearing or Trial in a Civil Action (AO 88)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Eastern District

Civil Subpoena (AO 88)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Northern District

Subpoena to Appear and Testify at a Hearing or Trial in a Civil Action (AO 88)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.

Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Southern District

Subpoena in a Civil Action (AO 88)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.

Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Cross Reference:

Automated HotDocs(R) and PDF versions of these forms may be accessed and filled in from the online version of this publication, and are also available at www.LexisOne.com/forms.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

37 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
Special Alert to Chapter 24

3- MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Scope

Scope

Editor's Note: The following proposed amendment to Rule 26 will take effect on December 1, 2010, barring any Congressional action. Set forth below is a comparison of the amended rule with the rule as it appeared before the amendment. New matter is underlined; matter to be omitted is lined through. Asterisks indicate unaffected material. The explanatory Advisory Committee Note is also set forth below.

Rule 26. Duty to Disclose; General Provisions Governing Discovery

(a) Required Disclosures.

* * *

(2) Disclosure of Expert Testimony.

(A) In General. In addition to the disclosures required by Rule 26(a)(1), a party must disclose to the other parties the identity of any witness it may use at trial to present evidence under Federal Rule of Evidence 702, 703, or 705.

(B) Witnesses Who Must Provide a Written Report. Unless otherwise stipulated or ordered by the court, this disclosure must be accompanied by a written report--prepared and signed by the witness--if the witness is one retained or specially employed to provide expert testimony in the case or one whose duties as the party's employee regularly involve giving expert testimony. The report must contain:

(i) a complete statement of all opinions the witness will express and the basis and reasons for them;

(ii) the facts or data The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [or other information] considered by the witness in forming them;

(iii) any exhibits that will be used to summarize or support them;

(iv) the witness's qualifications, including a list of all publications authored in the previous 10 years;

(v) a list of all other cases in which, during the previous 4 years, the witness testified as an expert at trial or by deposition; and

(vi) a statement of the compensation to be paid for the study and testimony in the case.

(C) Witnesses Who Do Not Provide a Written Report. Unless otherwise stipulated or ordered by the court, if the witness is not required to provide a written report, this disclosure must state:

(i) the subject matter on which the witness is expected to present evidence under Federal Rule of Evidence 702, 703, or 705; and

(ii) a summary of the facts and opinions to which the witness is expected to testify.

(The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [C] D) Time to Disclose Expert Testimony. A party must make these disclosures at the times and in the sequence that the court orders. Absent a stipulation or a court order, the disclosures must be made:

(i) at least 90 days before the date set for trial or for the case to be ready for trial; or

(ii) if the evidence is intended solely to contradict or rebut evidence on the same subject matter identified by another party under Rule 26(a)(2)(B) or (C), within 30 days after the other party's disclosure.

(The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [D] E) Supplementing the Disclosure. The parties must supplement these disclosures when required under Rule 26(e).

* * *

(b) Discovery Scope and Limits.

* * *

(3) Trial Preparation: Materials.

(A) Documents and Tangible Things. Ordinarily, a party may not discover documents and tangible things that are prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial by or for another party or its representative (including the other party's attorney, consultant, surety, indemnitor, insurer, or agent). But, subject to Rule 26(b)(4), those materials may be discovered if:

(i) they are otherwise discoverable under Rule 26(b)(1); and

(ii) the party shows that it has substantial need for the materials to prepare its case and cannot, without undue hardship, obtain their substantial equivalent by other means.

(B) Protection Against Disclosure. If the court orders discovery of those materials, it must protect against disclosure of the mental impressions, conclusions, opinions, or legal theories of a party's attorney or other representative concerning the litigation.

(C) Previous Statement. Any party or other person may, on request and without the required showing, obtain the person's own previous statement about the action or its subject matter. If the request is refused, the person may move for a court order, and Rule 37(a)(5) applies to the award of expenses. A previous statement is either:

(i) a written statement that the person has signed or otherwise adopted or approved; or

(ii) a contemporaneous stenographic, mechanical, electrical, or other recording--or a transcription of it--that recites substantially verbatim the person's oral statement.

(4) Trial Preparation: Experts.

(A) Deposition of an Expert Who May Testify. A party may depose any person who has been identified as an expert whose opinions may be presented at trial. If Rule 26(a)(2)(B) requires a report from the expert, the deposition may be conducted only after the report is provided.

(B) Trial-Preparation Protection for Draft Reports or Disclosures. Rules 26(b)(3)(A) and (B) protect drafts of any report or disclosure required under Rule 26(a)(2), regardless of the form in which the draft is recorded.

(C) Trial-Preparation Protection for Communications Between a Party's Attorney and Expert Witnesses. Rules 26(b)(3)(A) and (B) protect communications between the party's attorney and any witness required to provide a report under Rule 26(a)(2)(B), regardless of the form of the communications, except to the extent that the communications:

(i) relate to compensation for the expert's study or testimony;

(ii) identify facts or data that the party's attorney provided and that the expert considered in forming the opinions to be expressed; or

(iii) identify assumptions that the party's attorney provided and that the expert relied on in forming the opinions to be expressed.

(The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [B] D) Expert Employed Only for Trial Preparation. Ordinarily, a party may not, by interrogatories or deposition, discover facts known or opinions held by an expert who has been retained or specially employed by another party in anticipation of litigation or to prepare for trial and who is not expected to be called as a witness at trial. But a party may do so only:

(i) as provided in Rule 35(b); or

(ii) on showing exceptional circumstances under which it is impracticable for the party to obtain facts or opinions on the same subject by other means.

(The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [C] E) Payment. Unless manifest injustice would result, the court must require that the party seeking discovery:

(i) pay the expert a reasonable fee for time spent in responding to discovery under Rule 26(b)(4)(A) or (The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [B] D); and

(ii) for discovery under (The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [B] D), also pay the other party a fair portion of the fees and expenses it reasonably incurred in obtaining the expert's facts and opinions.

* * *

Committee Note of 2010

Rule 26. Rules 26(a)(2) and (b)(4) are amended to address concerns about expert discovery. The amendments to Rule 26(a)(2) require disclosure regarding expected expert testimony of those expert witnesses not required to provide expert reports and limit the expert report to facts or data (rather than "data or other information," as in the current rule) considered by the witness. Rule 26(b)(4) is amended to provide work-product protection against discovery regarding draft expert disclosures or reports and--with three specific exceptions--communications between expert witnesses and counsel.

In 1993, Rule 26(b)(4)(A) was revised to authorize expert depositions and Rule 26(a)(2) was added to provide disclosure, including--for many experts--an extensive report. Many courts read the disclosure provision to authorize discovery of all communications between counsel and expert witnesses and all draft reports. The Committee has been told repeatedly that routine discovery into attorney-expert communications and draft reports has had undesirable effects. Costs have risen. Attorneys may employ two sets of experts--one for purposes of consultation and another to testify at trial--because disclosure of their collaborative interactions with expert consultants would reveal their most sensitive and confidential case analyses. At the same time, attorneys often feel compelled to adopt a guarded attitude toward their interaction with testifying experts that impedes effective communication, and experts adopt strategies that protect against discovery but also interfere with their work.

Subdivision (a)(2)(B). Rule 26(a)(2)(B)(ii) is amended to provide that disclosure include all "facts or data considered by the witness in forming" the opinions to be offered, rather than the "data or other information" disclosure prescribed in 1993. This amendment is intended to alter the outcome in cases that have relied on the 1993 formulation in requiring disclosure of all attorney-expert communications and draft reports. The amendments to Rule 26(b)(4) make this change explicit by providing work-product protection against discovery regarding draft reports and disclosures or attorney-expert communications. The refocus of disclosure on "facts or data" is meant to limit disclosure to material of a factual nature by excluding theories or mental impressions of counsel. At the same time, the intention is that "facts or data" be interpreted broadly to require disclosure of any material considered by the expert, from whatever source, that contains factual ingredients. The disclosure obligation extends to any facts or data "considered" by the expert in forming the opinions to be expressed, not only those relied upon by the expert.

Subdivision (a)(2)(C). Rule 26(a)(2)(C) is added to mandate summary disclosures of the opinions to be offered by expert witnesses who are not required to provide reports under Rule 26(a)(2)(B) and of the facts supporting those opinions. This disclosure is considerably less extensive than the report required by Rule 26(a)(2)(B). Courts must take care against requiring undue detail, keeping in mind that these witnesses have not been specially retained and may not be as responsive to counsel as those who have.

This amendment resolves a tension that has sometimes prompted courts to require reports under Rule 26(a)(2)(B) even from witnesses exempted from the report requirement. An (a)(2)(B) report is required only from an expert described in (a)(2)(B).

A witness who is not required to provide a report under Rule 26(a)(2)(B) may both testify as a fact witness and also provide expert testimony under Evidence Rule 702, 703, or 705. Frequent examples include physicians or other health care professionals and employees of a party who do not regularly provide expert testimony. Parties must identify such witnesses under Rule 26(a)(2)(A) and provide the disclosure required under Rule 26(a)(2)(C). The (a)(2)(C) disclosure obligation does not include facts unrelated to the expert opinions the witness will present.

Subdivision (a)(2)(D). This provision (formerly Rule 26(a)(2)(C)) is amended slightly to specify that the time limits for disclosure of contradictory or rebuttal evidence apply with regard to disclosures under new Rule 26(a)(2)(C), just as they do with regard to reports under Rule 26(a)(2)(B).

Subdivision (b)(4). Rule 26(b)(4)(B) is added to provide work-product protection under Rule 26(b)(3)(A) and (B) for drafts of expert reports or disclosures. This protection applies to all witnesses identified under Rule 26(a)(2)(A), whether they are required to provide reports under Rule 26(a)(2)(B) or are the subject of disclosure under Rule 26(a)(2)(C). It applies regardless of the form in which the draft is recorded, whether written, electronic, or otherwise. It also applies to drafts of any supplementation under Rule 26(e); see Rule 26(a)(2)(E).

Rule 26(b)(4)(C) is added to provide work-product protection for attorney-expert communications regardless of the form of the communications, whether oral, written, electronic, or otherwise. The addition of Rule 26(b)(4)(C) is designed to protect counsel's work product and ensure that lawyers may interact with retained experts without fear of exposing those communications to searching discovery. The protection is limited to communications between an expert witness required to provide a report under Rule 26(a)(2)(B) and the attorney for the party on whose behalf the witness will be testifying, including any "preliminary" expert opinions. Protected "communications" include those between the party's attorney and assistants of the expert witness. The rule does not itself protect communications between counsel and other expert witnesses, such as those for whom disclosure is required under Rule 26(a)(2)(C). The rule does not exclude protection under other doctrines, such as privilege or independent development of the work-product doctrine.

The most frequent method for discovering the work of expert witnesses is by deposition, but Rules 26(b)(4)(B) and (C) apply to all forms of discovery.

Rules 26(b)(4)(B) and (C) do not impede discovery about the opinions to be offered by the expert or the development, foundation, or basis of those opinions. For example, the expert's testing of material involved in litigation, and notes of any such testing, would not be exempted from discovery by this rule. Similarly, inquiry about communications the expert had with anyone other than the party's counsel about the opinions expressed is unaffected by the rule. Counsel are also free to question expert witnesses about alternative analyses, testing methods, or approaches to the issues on which they are testifying, whether or not the expert considered them in forming the opinions expressed. These discovery changes therefore do not affect the gatekeeping functions called for by Daubert v. Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, Inc., 509 U.S. 579 (1993), and related cases.

The protection for communications between the retained expert and "the party's attorney" should be applied in a realistic manner, and often would not be limited to communications with a single lawyer or a single law firm. For example, a party may be involved in a number of suits about a given product or service, and may retain a particular expert witness to testify on that party's behalf in several of the cases. In such a situation, the protection applies to communications between the expert witness and the attorneys representing the party in any of those cases. Similarly, communications with in-house counsel for the party would often be regarded as protected even if the in-house attorney is not counsel of record in the action. Other situations may also justify a pragmatic application of the "party's attorney" concept.

Although attorney-expert communications are generally protected by Rule 26(b)(4)(C), the protection does not apply to the extent the lawyer and the expert communicate about matters that fall within three exceptions. But the discovery authorized by the exceptions does not extend beyond those specific topics. Lawyer-expert communications may cover many topics and, even when the excepted topics are included among those involved in a given communication, the protection applies to all other aspects of the communication beyond the excepted topics.

First, under Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(i) attorney-expert communications regarding compensation for the expert's study or testimony may be the subject of discovery. In some cases, this discovery may go beyond the disclosure requirement in Rule 26(a)(2)(B)(vi). It is not limited to compensation for work forming the opinions to be expressed, but extends to all compensation for the study and testimony provided in relation to the action. Any communications about additional benefits to the expert, such as further work in the event of a successful result in the present case, would be included. This exception includes compensation for work done by a person or organization associated with the expert. The objective is to permit full inquiry into such potential sources of bias.

Second, under Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(ii) discovery is permitted to identify facts or data the party's attorney provided to the expert and that the expert considered in forming the opinions to be expressed. The exception applies only to communications "identifying" the facts or data provided by counsel; further communications about the potential relevance of the facts or data are protected.

Third, under Rule 26(b)(4)(C)(iii) discovery regarding attorney-expert communications is permitted to identify any assumptions that counsel provided to the expert and that the expert relied upon in forming the opinions to be expressed. For example, the party's attorney may tell the expert to assume the truth of certain testimony or evidence, or the correctness of another expert's conclusions. This exception is limited to those assumptions that the expert actually did rely on in forming the opinions to be expressed. More general attorney-expert discussions about hypotheticals, or exploring possibilities based on hypothetical facts, are outside this exception.

Under the amended rule, discovery regarding attorney-expert communications on subjects outside the three exceptions in Rule 26(b)(4)(C), or regarding draft expert reports or disclosures, is permitted only in limited circumstances and by court order. A party seeking such discovery must make the showing specified in Rule 26(b)(3)(A)(ii)--that the party has a substantial need for the discovery and cannot obtain the substantial equivalent without undue hardship. It will be rare for a party to be able to make such a showing given the broad disclosure and discovery otherwise allowed regarding the expert's testimony. A party's failure to provide required disclosure or discovery does not show the need and hardship required by Rule 26(b)(3)(A); remedies are provided by Rule 37.

In the rare case in which a party does make this showing, the court must protect against disclosure of the attorney's mental impressions, conclusions, opinions, or legal theories under Rule 26(b)(3)(B). But this protection does not extend to the expert's own development of the opinions to be presented; those are subject to probing in deposition or at trial.

Former Rules 26(b)(4)(B) and (C) have been renumbered (D) and (E), and a slight revision has been made in (E) to take account of the renumbering of former (B).

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.syn

§ 24.syn Synopsis to Chapter 24: Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection

24.01 Scope.

24.02 Objective and Strategy.

24.03 CHECKLIST: Relevance.

24.04 Options and Strategy in Evaluating Relevance.

24.05 Admissibility Is Not Component of Discoverability.

24.06 Material Sought Must Be Relevant to Claim or Defense.

24.07 Relevance Is Broadly Construed but Has Limitations.

24.07[1] Identity of Parties, Witnesses, or Other Persons Is Generally Discoverable.

24.07[2] Existence of Documents or Other Demonstrative Evidence Is Discoverable.

24.07[3] Financial Condition of Party May Be Discoverable.

24.07[4] Discovery of Tax Returns Is Subject to Policy Favoring Confidentiality.

24.08 Matters Affecting Jurisdiction or Venue of Action May Be Discovered.

24.09 Discovery May Not Be Cumulative or Unduly Burdensome.

24.10 Resolving Disputes Over Relevance.

24.10[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: Meet and Confer Required.

24.10[2] District Court Will Determine Relevance.

24.11 Broader Discovery May Be Available by Stipulation or Court Order.

24.12 CHECKLIST: Privileges.

24.13 Options and Strategy When Material Sought in Discovery May Be Privileged.

24.14 Federal Common Law Generally Governs Privileges.

24.15 Federal Common Law May Recognize New Privileges.

24.16 State Privilege Law May Apply.

24.16[1] State Privilege Law Applies in Diversity Cases.

24.16[2] State Privilege Law Applies to State Law Component of Federal Claim.

24.17 Federal Privilege Law Applied in Action Presenting Both Federal and State Claims.

24.18 Federal Statutes May Require or Prohibit Disclosure of Information.

24.19 Discovery of Information in Hands of Federal Government Is Limited.

24.19[1] Federal Common Law or Specific Statutory Law May Govern.

24.19[2] Public Access and Exceptions Under Freedom of Information Act.

24.20 California Statutes May Restrict or Require Discovery.

24.21 Party Asserting Protection of Privilege Has Burden of Proof.

24.22 Nonparty From Whom Discovery Sought May Assert Privilege.

24.23 Avoiding Waiver of Privilege.

24.23[1] Waiver by Failure to Assert Privilege.

24.23[2] Waiver Through Voluntary Disclosure.

24.23[3] Implicit Waiver by Placing Privileged Matter in Controversy.

24.24 Claim of Privilege Must Be Raised in Lieu of Response.

24.24[1] Claim of Privilege Must Be Raised Expressly.

24.24[2] Ground of Privilege Claim Must Be Stated.

24.24[3] Claimant Must Describe Withheld Materials.

24.24[4] Third Parties May Intervene to Raise Claim of Privilege.

24.24[5] Claim of Privilege May Be Asserted After Disclosure.

24.25 Claimant May Move for Protective Order.

24.25[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: Parties Must Meet and Confer.

24.25[2] Claimant Must Show Good Cause.

24.26 Privilege Log Is Valuable Tool.

24.27 LOCAL PRACTICE: Parties Must Meet and Confer.

24.28 Party Seeking Discovery May Move to Compel.

24.29 CHECKLIST: Attorney-Client Privilege.

24.30 Federal Common Law Privilege.

24.31 California Law.

24.32 Client Is Holder of Privilege.

24.32[1] Attorney Is Not Holder of Privilege.

24.32[2] Corporation or Other Artificial Entity May Be Entitled to Claim Privilege.

24.32[2][a] Both Entity and Individual Employees May Invoke Privilege.

24.32[2][b] Privilege Extends to Former Corporate Employees.

24.32[2][c] Privilege Belongs to Successor Corporation After Merger.

24.32[3] Attorney or Other Representative May Claim Privilege on Client's Behalf.

24.33 Privilege Survives Death of Client.

24.34 Privilege Covers Confidential Communications Between Client and Attorney.

24.35 Privilege Covers Communications With Agents.

24.35[1] Communications Between Client and Attorney's Agent.

24.35[2] Communications Between Attorney and Client's Agent.

24.36 Privilege Covers Communications to or Among Clients With Common Interests.

24.36[1] Often Referred to As Joint Defense Doctrine.

24.36[2] Parties' Interest May Be Adverse.

24.37 Identity of Client Is Not Protected by Privilege.

24.38 Privilege Can Apply to Documentary Evidence.

24.38[1] Documents Must Contain Confidential Communications Between Client and Attorney.

24.38[2] Forwarding Documents to Attorney Does Not Make Documents Privileged.

24.38[3] Documents May Be Redacted to Preserve Privileged Components.

24.39 Exceptions to Privilege.

24.39[1] Communications in Furtherance of Crime or Fraud Are Not Privileged.

24.39[1][a] Crime or Fraud May Be by Either Client or Attorney.

24.39[1][b] Party Asserting Exception Bears Burden of Establishing Illegality.

24.39[1][c] Consideration of Evidence and Burden of Proof in Civil Cases.

24.39[2] Suit for Malpractice.

24.39[3] California Statutory Exceptions.

24.40 Waiver of Privilege.

24.40[1] Only Client May Waive Privilege.

24.40[2] Corporate Client May Waive Privilege for Communications of Employees or Agents.

24.40[3] Disclosure to Third Party Waives Privilege.

24.40[4] Compelled Disclosure Does Not Waive Privilege.

24.40[5] Inadvertent Disclosure May Not Constitute Waiver.

24.40[6] Waiver May Extend to Entire Subject Matter.

24.40[7] Limited Waiver Permitted in Absence of Prejudice.

24.40[8] Placing Matter in Controversy Waives Privilege.

24.40A Discovery Order Adverse to Attorney-Client Privilege Is Not Appealable Collateral Order.

24.41 CHECKLIST: Physician-Patient Privilege.

24.42 No Federal Common Law Doctor-Patient Privilege Exists.

24.43 Physician-Patient Privilege Under California Law Applies in Diversity Actions.

24.43[1] "Patient" and "Physician" Defined.

24.43[2] Communication Must Be Confidential and During Professional Relationship.

24.43[3] Patient Is Holder of Privilege.

24.43[4] Physician or Other Representative May Claim Privilege on Patient's Behalf.

24.43[5] Physician Must Claim Privilege If Present When Disclosure Sought.

24.43[6] Placing Medical Condition in Controversy Will Waive Privilege.

24.43[7] Express Statutory Exceptions.

24.44 CHECKLIST: Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege.

24.45 Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege Is Part of Federal Common Law.

24.46 Communications With Licensed Professionals Protected.

24.46[1] Communication Must Be Confidential.

24.46[2] Employee Assistance Programs Are Within Privilege.

24.47 Placing Mental Condition in Controversy Will Waive Privilege.

24.48 Ninth Circuit Does Not Recognize Crime-Fraud Exception.

24.49 Ninth Circuit Does Not Recognize Dangerous Patient Exception.

24.50 Psychologist-Patient Privilege Under California Law.

24.51 Related California Privileges.

24.51[1] Sexual Assault Counselor and Victim.

24.51[2] Domestic Violence Counselor and Victim.

24.51[3] Human Trafficking Victim and Caseworker.

24.52 CHECKLIST: Clergy-Penitent Privilege.

24.53 Privilege Is Part of Federal Common Law.

24.54 Privilege Applies to Spiritual Counseling.

24.55 California Statutory Provisions Apply in Diversity Actions.

24.56 CHECKLIST: Marital Privileges.

24.57 Spousal Privileges Are Part of Federal Common Law.

24.58 Privilege Exists for Confidential Marital Communications.

24.58[1] Claimant Must Be Validly Married at Time of Communication.

24.58[2] Privilege Persists After Marriage Ends.

24.58[3] Privilege Protects Only Communications.

24.58[4] Communication Must Be Confidential.

24.58[5] Privilege Does Not Apply to Criminal Activities.

24.58[5][a] Crime Against Spouse or Child.

24.58[5][b] Joint Crimes of Spouses.

24.58[6] California Law.

24.59 Privilege Exists for Spouse's Adverse Testimony.

24.59[1] Valid Marriage Required at Time of Testimony.

24.59[2] Privilege Holder May Not Be Compelled to Testify Against Spouse.

24.59[3] Termination of Marriage Ends Privilege.

24.59[4] California Law May Apply.

24.60 CHECKLIST: Privilege Against Self-Incrimination.

24.61 Only Natural Persons Have Fifth Amendment Rights.

24.62 Privilege Extends to Testimony Only.

24.63 Reasonable Belief of Potential Prosecution Is Sufficient.

24.64 Civil Litigant May Invoke Fifth Amendment.

24.65 Privilege Must Be Claimed on Question-by-Question Basis.

24.66 California Law Recognizes Privilege Against Self-Incrimination.

24.67 CHECKLIST: Journalist's Privilege.

24.68 First Amendment Protects Journalists.

24.69 Privilege Is Qualified Not Absolute.

24.70 Privilege Applies to Both Confidential and Nonconfidential Information.

24.71 Privilege Applies to Any Information Intended to Be Disseminated to Public.

24.72 Party Seeking Discovery Must Show Requested Material Is Unavailable, Relevant, and Non-Cumulative.

24.73 CHECKLIST: Right to Privacy.

24.74 California Constitution Guarantees Right to Privacy.

24.75 Privacy Interest Is Balanced Against Need for Disclosure.

24.76 Party May Claim Privacy Interest of Non-Party.

24.77 CHECKLIST: Deliberative Process Privilege.

24.78 Federal Common Law Recognizes Qualified Deliberative Process Privilege.

24.79 Privilege Protects Documents and Testimony.

24.80 Privilege Applies to Pre-decisional Documents.

24.81 Privilege Applies to State Agencies.

24.82 Government Agency Must Establish Applicability of Privilege.

24.83 Facts Relied on by Government Are Not Protected.

24.84 Government's Interest Weighed Against Need for Information.

24.85 CHECKLIST: Other Governmental and Law Enforcement Privileges.

24.86 Privilege of Government to Withhold State Secrets.

24.86[1] Privilege Is Absolute.

24.86[2] Privilege Must Be Claimed by Head of Department.

24.86[3] Dismissal of Action May Result.

24.87 Identity of Government Informant May Be Withheld.

24.87[1] Privilege Is Qualified.

24.87[2] Showing of Fairness Required to Overcome Privilege.

24.87[3] Law Enforcement Officer Is Not Informant.

24.88 Government May Withhold Information to Assist Law Enforcement.

24.89 CHECKLIST: Trade Secrets.

24.90 Defining "Trade Secret."

24.91 Limited Disclosure May Be Allowed.

24.92 Party Claiming Trade Secret Must Show Need to Protect Information.

24.93 State Law Requires Pleading of Trade Secret in Misappropriation Case.

24.94 CHECKLIST: Work Product Protection.

24.95 Federal Rule Applies.

24.96 Defining Work Product.

24.96[1] Material to Be Protected Must Be Document or Other Tangible Thing.

24.96[2] Material Must Be Prepared by or for Party, Attorney, or Representative.

24.96[3] Material Must Be Prepared Because of Existing or Anticipated Litigation.

24.96[4] Protection Extends Beyond Confidential Communications.

24.97 Protection Does Not Expire.

24.98 Protection May Apply to Dual-Purpose Documents.

24.99 Either Client or Attorney May Claim Work Product Protection.

24.100 Initial Burden of Proof Is on Party Claiming Work Product Protection.

24.101 Work Product Is Not Absolute Protection.

24.101[1] Material May Be Discoverable on Showing of Substantial Need and Undue Hardship.

24.101[2] Parties Must Distinguish "Fact" and "Opinion" Work Product.

24.101[3] Party Seeking Discovery Must Show Need for Opinion Work Product Is Compelling.

24.102 Waiver of Work Product Protection.

24.102[1] Voluntary Disclosure Waives Protection.

24.102[2] Inadvertent Disclosure May Waive Protection.

24.102[3] Disclosure to Co-Party or Other With Common Interest May Not Constitute Waiver.

24.102[4] Disclosure to Government Agency May Waive Protection.

24.102[5] Disclosure to Expert Witness May Waive Protection.

24.102[6] Placing Material in Controversy Waives Protection.

24.102[7] Claim of Protection May Be Asserted After Disclosure.

24.103 Privilege Log.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
I. STRATEGY

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.01

24.01 Scope.

This chapter covers the scope of available discovery, including:

- What material is sufficiently relevant to be discoverable [see 24.03 -24.09].
- The sources of law and procedure for claiming that materials or information sought through discovery is privileged [see 24.12 -24.28].
- The different grounds for claiming that materials or information sought through discovery is privileged or otherwise undiscoverable, including:
  - Attorney-client privilege [see 24.29 -24.40].
  - Protection for attorney work product [see 24.94 -24.102].
  - Physician-patient privilege [see 24.41 -24.43].
  - Psychotherapist-patient privilege [see 24.44 -24.51].
  - Clergy-penitent privilege [see 24.52 -24.55].
  - Spousal privileges [see 24.56 -24.59].
  - Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination [see 24.60 -24.66].
  - Journalist's privilege [see 24.67 -24.72].

- California Right to Privacy [see 24.73 -24.76].
- Protection of trade secrets [see 24.89 -24.93].
- Governmental and law enforcement privileges [see 24.77 -24.88].

Core Rule:

Fed R Civ P 26(b).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevanceEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
I. STRATEGY

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.02

24.02 Objective and Strategy.

The initial exchange of factual information between the parties is accomplished through mandatory disclosure under the Federal Rules [Fed R Civ P 26(a); see Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures]. Usually, that exchange proves to be insufficient to one or more of the parties. Discovery is the method through which the parties may obtain additional factual information and materials to prove the various claims and defenses asserted in the pleadings [see Hickman v. Taylor (1947) 329 US 495, 500, 67 S Ct 385, 91 L Ed 451 (discussing purposes of discovery)]. The available forms of discovery include deposition [Fed R Civ P 30, 31, 32; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.19 -23.110], interrogatory [Fed R Civ P 33; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.111 -23.134], requests for production or inspection [Fed R Civ P 34; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.135 -23.156], requests for admission [Fed R Civ P 36; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.217 -23.258], and physical or mental examinations [Fed R Civ P 35; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.189 -23.216].

In general, the scope of party-initiated discovery is limited to information that is not privileged, but is "relevant to any party's claim or defense" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1); see 24.06]. A stipulation or court order on a showing of good cause, however, may authorize discovery as to any information relevant to the "subject matter" of the action [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1); see 24.11]. Under either the "subject matter" or "claim or defense" standard, discovery may be sought as to any matter if [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1); see 24.05]:

- The matter is itself admissible in evidence; or
- The matter appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Determining whether to seek information through discovery, or whether to object to such discovery, is a two-step inquiry requiring consideration of the following questions:

- Is the information sought within the scope of the proper relevance standard applicable under Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)?
- Is the information, even though relevant, nevertheless protected from discovery by an available claim of privilege or work product protection?

Strategic Points:

Seeking discovery of information that is clearly irrelevant or subject to a clear claim of privilege may expose the attorney (or client) to discovery sanctions. Similarly, opposing discovery by raising a frivolous claim of irrelevance or privilege may also merit sanctions [Fed R Civ P 37; see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions].

Even if relevant and not privileged, information should not be sought by counsel through discovery if doing so is unreasonable under the circumstances [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(2)].

A party served with a discovery request that the party believes infringes on some evidentiary privilege must raise that objection promptly, either by objecting in lieu of a response to the discovery request [see 24.24], or by seeking a protective order [Fed R Civ P 26(c)]. The former option is often better, as it shifts the onus to the party seeking the discovery to move to compel in order to test the validity of the claim of privilege (although losing on a motion to compel can require you to pay the other side's attorney's fees) [see 24.28]. Always keep in mind the general rule to assert an objection or seek a protective order only when the issue is worth fighting about, and you are very likely to win.

Keep in mind not to use the limited discovery tools to seek information that can be obtained through other means, or that the other side will be required to turn over automatically, such as the mandatory initial disclosures [see Fed R Civ P 26(a); see also Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures, 15.15-15.26].

Strategic Point:

Do not make a discovery request (or an objection) that is broader or more onerous than you are prepared to respond to yourself, because it is very easy for the other party, in response, to make the same request of you.

Judge's Perspective:

The impact of the 2000 amendments to Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1) that added a "good cause" requirement to requests for discovery regarding the "subject matter involved" (as opposed to discovery as of right for "claim or defense of any party") has not fully evolved [see Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1); EEOC v. Caesars Entertainment, Inc. (D Nev 2006) 237 FRD 428, 431-432]. In other words, in practice, will courts view the amendment as a real limitation on available discovery? In any event, counsel seeking "subject matter" discovery should be careful in citing pre-amendment case authority construing the rule that did not include the "good cause" requirement. Conversely, a party opposing discovery of such material will want to point out that pre-amendment case law interpreted a more permissive discovery rule.

Detailed Discussion

/Forms: 6 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 26, Duty to Disclose; General Provisions Governing Discovery (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)

3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, Chs. 501- 514 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

6 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 26, Duty to Disclose; General Provisions Governing Discovery (Matthew Bender).

Cross References:

Motions to compel, see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions § 25.03 -25.12. Protective orders, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see §§ 22.35 -22.66.

For tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory DisclosuresCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
II. DISCOVERY LIMITED TO RELEVANT MATTERS

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.03

24.03 CHECKLIST: Relevance.

☐ Determine propriety of seeking discovery of materials or information, which must be relevant to:

- ○ Claim or defense of any party in the action; or
- ○ Subject matter of action, if stipulation or court order on "good cause" shown permits broader standard of relevance.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.06, 24.11

☐ Consider whether matter to be sought through discovery is relevant based on whether it:

- ○ Has any tendency to make the existence of any material fact more or less probable than it would be without the matter; and
- ○ Is either:
  - ☐ Admissible in evidence; or

☐ Appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1); Fed R Evid 401

Discussion:
See § 24.05

☐ Relevant matter to be discovered may relate to:

○ Existence, description, nature, custody, condition, and location of any books, documents, or other tangible things; and ○ Identity and location of persons having knowledge of any discoverable matter.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 24.07

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevanceEvidenceRelevanceGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
II. DISCOVERY LIMITED TO RELEVANT MATTERS

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.04

24.04 Options and Strategy in Evaluating Relevance.

The scope of discovery is generally limited to information that is not privileged, but is "relevant to any party's claim or defense" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1); see 24.06]. Discovery may be sought as to any matter that is itself admissible in evidence, or appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1); see 24.06].

With this broad standard of the scope of discovery in mind, a party seeking discovery has substantial latitude in framing its discovery requests of both parties and non-parties. This latitude, however, is not infinitely expansive, so that a party preparing a discovery request must have a reasonable basis for believing that the information sought satisfies the test for relevance in that it:

- Relates to a claim or defense of any party [Cacique, Inc. v. Robert Reiser & Co. (9th Cir 1999) 169 F3d 619, 623-624 (sales figures not discoverable when evidence had relevance as to only one potential remedy and plaintiff could not claim that remedy)]; and

- Is either admissible or is reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Warning:

There is a duty to preserve documents and information that are relevant to litigation, or potential litigation, or are reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence. The duty to preserve "pre-exists" the imposition of a discovery ruling and arises once a party has knowledge of a claim [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2); P&G v. Haugen (D Utah 1998) 179 FRD 622, 631].

Cross References:

Managing documents, see Ch. 21, Discovery Strategy and Planning, §§ 21.09 -21.11. Preservation of electronic evidence, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, § 23.161. Sanctions for spoliation of evidence, see Ch. 25. Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, §§ 25.91 -25.106.

Scope of discovery under Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1), see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 26.41 -26.45

(Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevanceEvidenceRelevanceGeneral OverviewEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
II. DISCOVERY LIMITED TO RELEVANT MATTERS

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.05

24.05 Admissibility Is Not Component of Discoverability.

Information or materials sought through discovery need not be admissible at trial. Instead, discoverability is proper if the information is "reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)]. A party seeking discovery of relevant evidence therefore need not establish the admissibility of the evidence, nor is inadmissibility a ground for objection to the discovery [Baker v. CNA Ins. Co. (D Mont 1988) 123 FRD 322, 329-330 (though financial condition of party was not admissible, claim for punitive damages made that information relevant and subject to discovery)].

Distinguish:

The Federal Rules of Evidence provide that several types of relevant evidence are nevertheless inadmissible for certain purposes. For example, an offer to pay medical expenses resulting from an injury is not admissible to prove liability for the injury [Fed R Evid 409]. This restriction, however, is expressly limited to the admissibility of the evidence, and the Evidence Rule in no way restricts the relevance of the information, nor its discoverability.

Cross Reference:

Scope of discovery not keyed to admissibility, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 26.42 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
II. DISCOVERY LIMITED TO RELEVANT MATTERS

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.06

24.06 Material Sought Must Be Relevant to Claim or Defense.

The scope of party-initiated discovery is limited to information that is not privileged, but is "relevant to any party's claim or defense" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)].

Example--Relevant:
When plaintiff sought attorney fees, hours expended by defense counsel on case, hourly rate charged by defense counsel, and total billings and costs were relevant to amount of reasonable fee award and therefore subject to discovery [Real v. Continental Group, Inc. (ND Cal 1986) 116 FRD 211, 212-213].

Example--Not Relevant:
In a suit by tenants against a landlord alleging violations of the Fair Housing Act, the plaintiffs had not made any claim of physical or bodily injury, and had not put their physical condition at issue, so that subpoena served to discover the medical records of the plaintiffs would be quashed as seeking irrelevant evidence [Fitzgerald v. Cassil (ND Cal 2003) 216 FRD 632, 634].

Technically, the "claim or defense" standard applicable under the Federal Rules is more narrow than the traditional standard of relevance to the "subject matter" of the action that was applied before the 2000 amendments to the discovery rules, and continues to apply under California state rules of discovery [CCP § 2017.010]. This earlier standard, however, continues to be recognized, as the rules permit discovery as to any matter relevant to the subject matter of the litigation under a stipulation of the parties or a court order on a showing of "good cause" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1); see 24.02, 24.11].

The scope of relevance and available discovery is the same irrespective of the method of that discovery, whether by:

- Deposition [Fed R Civ P 30, 31, 32; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.19 -23.110];
- Interrogatory [Fed R Civ P 33; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.111 -23.134];
- Requests for production or inspection [Fed R Civ P 34; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.135 -23.156];

- Requests for admission [Fed R Civ P 36; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.217 -23.258]; or

- Physical or mental examinations [Fed R Civ P 35; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.189 -23.216].

Cross Reference:

Claim or defense standard of relevance, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 26.41, 26.43 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
II. DISCOVERY LIMITED TO RELEVANT MATTERS

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.07

24.07 Relevance Is Broadly Construed but Has Limitations.

24.07[1] Identity of Parties, Witnesses, or Other Persons Is Generally Discoverable. Discovery is appropriate as to relevant information relating to the identity and the location of any persons having knowledge of any discoverable matter, including potential witnesses or persons that might become parties to the action [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1); see Walt Disney Co. v. DeFabiis (CD Cal 1996) 168 FRD 281, 283-284]. The fact that the person or witness whose identity is sought might have a claim of privilege or other protection from discovery does not prevent discovery of the person's identity [see Laxalt v. McClatchy (D Nev 1987) 116 FRD 438, 443 (identity of investigator hired by attorney and the identities of the persons contacted by the investigator are discoverable)].

Warning--Class Actions:

Class actions present complicated identification issues [see Hoffman-La Roche, Inc. v. Sperling (1989) 493 US 165, 169-174, 110 S Ct 482, 107 L Ed2d 480 ; 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.41[10] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)].

Strategic Point:

As a practical matter, the use of discovery to obtain the identities of persons having knowledge of relevant facts is superseded to some extent by the mandatory disclosure obligation that requires such information to be exchanged without request [Fed R Civ P 26(a)(1)(A)].

Cross Reference:

Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures.

Required disclosures, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.22 et seq. (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.07[2] Existence of Documents or Other Demonstrative Evidence Is Discoverable. Discovery is appropriate as to relevant information relating to the existence, description, nature, custody, condition, and location of any books, documents, or other tangible things [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)]. Though usually such information will be sought in order to obtain later actual production of the books, documents, or other tangible things, that is not an element of discoverability. Accordingly, even if the books, documents, or other tangible things are themselves privileged or otherwise inadmissible, discovery is appropriate as to their existence, description, nature, custody, condition, and location [see Cox v. E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. (DSC 1965) 38 FRD 396, 398 (party entitled to learn of existence and location of tangible thing even if production of thing cannot be compelled)].

Example:

Though actual production of a document might be resisted on the ground that the document contains attorney work product, discovery into the issue of whether such a document exists is proper [In re Convergent Techs. Sec. Litig. (ND Cal 1985) 108 FRD 328, 334 n20].

Cross Reference:

Discovery of existence or location of tangible things, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.44 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.07[3] Financial Condition of Party May Be Discoverable. If the claims or defenses of the parties directly raise the issue of the financial condition of a party in a way that affects the merits of those claims or defenses, discovery into that party's financial condition is appropriate [G-K Props. v. Redevelopment Agency of San Jose (ND Cal 1976) 409 F Supp 955, 956-960 (dismissing suit for failure to produce financial records as ordered)].

When the plaintiff seeks punitive damages, the ability of the defendant to pay any prospective judgment on punitive damages is relevant to the appropriate amount of that judgment, so that discovery of the defendant's net worth and financial condition is appropriate [e.g., Baker v. CNA Ins. Co. (D Mont 1988) 123 FRD 322, 329-330].

Warning:

California state law requires deferral of any discovery as to the financial condition of the defendant until the plaintiff has established a substantial probability of prevailing on its claim for punitive damages [CC § 3295(c)]. Because this is a rule of procedure, it technically is inapplicable in federal court [see, e.g., Oakes v. Halvorsen Marine Ltd. (CD Cal 1998) 179 FRD 281, 285-286 (§ 3295 is rule of procedure that conflicts with federal rules and is not binding on federal court)]. Nevertheless, some district courts in California have deferred discovery relating to punitive damages until the plaintiff has established a prima facie case for recovery of those damages [see, e.g., Collins v. JC Penney Life Ins. Co. (SD Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 8455, at *23-*24].

24.07[4] Discovery of Tax Returns Is Subject to Policy Favoring Confidentiality. While tax returns and related documents are not absolutely privileged, public policy favors confidentiality to encourage taxpayers to file complete and accurate returns [Premium Serv. Corp. v. Sperry & Hutchinson Co. (9th Cir 1975) 511 F2d 225, 229 ; A. Farber & Partners, Inc. v. Garber (CD Cal 2006) 234 FRD 186, 191]. To order production of these documents when an objection is raised, the court must first find that the returns are relevant to the subject matter of the action, and then must find that there is a compelling need for discovery of the returns because the information contained in them is not otherwise readily obtainable [A. Farber & Partners, Inc. v. Garber (CD Cal 2006) 234 FRD 186, 191 ; Aliotti v. The Vessel Senora (ND Cal 2003) 217 FRD 496, 497-498]. The burden of establishing relevancy is on the party seeking production. Once that burden is satisfied, the burden shifts to the party opposing production to show that the information is otherwise readily obtainable [A. Farber & Partners, Inc. v. Garber (CD Cal 2006) 234 FRD 186, 191].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory DisclosuresCivil

ProcedureDiscoveryRelevanceEvidenceDemonstrative EvidenceGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
II. DISCOVERY LIMITED TO RELEVANT MATTERS

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.08

24.08 Matters Affecting Jurisdiction or Venue of Action May Be Discovered.

The "claim or defense" standard of relevance for discovery purposes includes matters relating to the propriety of subject matter jurisdiction, personal jurisdiction, or venue of the action, so that discovery into the facts underlying a determination of jurisdiction or venue is proper [Oppenheimer Fund, Inc. v. Sanders (1978) 437 US 340, 351 n13, 98 S Ct 2380, 57 L Ed2d 253 (discovery is available to ascertain facts bearing on jurisdiction or venue)]. Because jurisdiction and venue are preliminary issues, it is not uncommon for a federal court to restrict discovery on the merits until those preliminary issues have been resolved [see, e.g., Hayashi v. Red Wing Peat Corp. (9th Cir 1968) 396 F2d 13, 14-15 (noting that plaintiff was not entitled to unlimited discovery on merits until propriety of venue established, even if discovery as to venue was also required)]. If, however, it is clear from the record that jurisdiction or venue is absent, the court may dispose of the action without permitting discovery [see Wells Fargo & Co. v. Wells Fargo Express Co. (9th Cir 1977) 556 F2d 406, 430-431 n24]

Example:

In plaintiff's action under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act alleging torture and expropriation of property by a foreign government, the factual allegations of the plaintiff's complaint were sufficient to state a prima facie claim that the claims fell within certain exceptions to the foreign sovereign's immunity. The plaintiff and the foreign sovereign were entitled to conduct discovery to develop the factual record to determine whether the claims asserted were within the jurisdiction conferred by the FSIA [Siderman de Blake v. Republic of Argentina (9th Cir 1992) 965 F2d 699, 713 , cert. denied, 507 US 1017 (1993)].

Cross Reference:

Discovery of jurisdictional facts or facts relating to venue, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.41[11] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
II. DISCOVERY LIMITED TO RELEVANT MATTERS

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.09

24.09 Discovery May Not Be Cumulative or Unduly Burdensome.

Even if discovery is sought as to relevant evidence, a federal court may nevertheless limit discovery if it determines that [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(2)]:

- The sought material is unreasonably cumulative or duplicative, or is more readily obtainable from some other source;

- The party seeking the information has had ample opportunity to obtain it; or

- After balancing the needs of the case, the amount in controversy, the parties' resources, the importance of the issues at stake in the litigation, and the importance of the sought discovery in resolving those issues, the burden or expense of the proposed discovery outweighs its likely benefit [see Munoz-Santana v. U.S. Immigration & Naturalization Service (9th Cir 1984) 742 F2d 561, 563-564 (district court erred in entering discovery order when cost of further discovery outweighed need for information)].

Examples:

In a property insurance case, the plaintiff sought discovery of all expert reports prepared by the engineer who had examined his home and recommended denial of the plaintiff's claim. The defendant resisted discovery on several grounds, including the burden of compliance. The district court refused to compel production of the reports, concluding that any probative value the reports might have had was purely speculative, and that the burden of compliance on the defendants was substantial, so that discovery was unwarranted under former Fed R Civ P 26(b)(2)(iii) (now see Fed R Civ P 26(b)(2)(C)) [Ricotta v. Allstate Ins. Co. (SD Cal 2002) 211 FRD 622, 624].

Plaintiff's request for every claim file in which an insurance company had denied a claim similar to the plaintiff's claim might have been relevant to the claims of bad faith and misrepresentation, but the cost and burden of compliance was substantial, and insurer had legitimate interest in protecting privacy interest of its insureds, so discovery was denied as overly burdensome [Collins v. JC Penney Life Ins. Co. (SD Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 8455, at *12-*19].

Cross Reference:

Limitation of cumulative or burdensome discovery, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.41[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevanceCivil ProcedureDiscoveryUndue Burdens

48 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
II. DISCOVERY LIMITED TO RELEVANT MATTERS

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.10

24.10 Resolving Disputes Over Relevance.

24.10[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: Meet and Confer Required. Local rules in all four California district courts require the parties to attempt to resolve any matter relating to discovery informally before presenting the dispute to the court by motion [CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of discovery motion practice, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34.

24.10[2] District Court Will Determine Relevance. If the parties are unable to agree on whether information or materials sought through discovery are relevant to the claims or defenses of the parties in the action, the district court may have to resolve the dispute. When a party served with a discovery request has objected to the discovery on the ground of relevance, the sufficiency of that objection may be tested by either: (1) a motion to compel served and filed by the party propounding the discovery request [Fed R Civ P 37(a); see also Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, 25.71 -25.75]; or (2) a motion for a protective order served and filed by the objecting party [Fed R Civ P 26(c)]. Whether a matter is "relevant" for the purposes of discovery is necessarily a fact-specific inquiry, so that the district court enjoys broad discretion to determine relevance [see, e.g., Surfvivor Media, Inc. v. Survivor Prods. (9th Cir. 2005) 406 F3d 625, 635].

Cross Reference:

District court determination of relevance, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.41[7] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective OrdersCivil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
II. DISCOVERY LIMITED TO RELEVANT MATTERS

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.11

24.11 Broader Discovery May Be Available by Stipulation or Court Order.

Discovery may be undertaken as to any matter relevant to the "subject matter involved in the action" under either a stipulation of the parties, or a court order for good cause shown [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)]. As a practical matter, the distinction between the "claim or defense" standard and the "subject matter" standard of relevance generally will not be of significance. If it appears, however, that material sought through discovery falls within the "subject matter" standard of relevance, but might not fall within the "claim or defense" standard, a stipulation to expand the scope of discovery should be considered.

Cross Reference:

Stipulations, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.03 -22.13.

In the absence of a stipulation, the court may expand the scope of permissible discovery to the "subject matter" standard of relevance on a showing of good cause. The court should permit such enhanced discovery whenever doing so would be consistent with the overarching purposes of the discovery rules, i.e., to "promote fair trials, eliminate surprise, and achieve justice" [Oppenheimer Fund, Inc. v. Sanders (1978) 437 US 340, 351, 98 S Ct 2380, 57 L Ed2d 253].

Cross Reference:

Expansion of scope of discovery, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.41[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsStipulationsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
A. Applying Federal and State Privilege Law

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.12

24.12 CHECKLIST: Privileges.

☐ Consider whether a discovery request calls for potentially privileged information under any of the following evidentiary privileges or protections:

○ Attorney-client privilege.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.29 -24.40

○ Attorney work product.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.94 -24.102

○ Physician-patient privilege.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.41 -24.43

○ Psychotherapist-patient privilege.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.44 -24.51

○ Clergy-penitent privilege.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.52 -24.55

○ Marital privileges, including:

☐ Confidential communications privilege.

Discussion:
See § 24.58

☐ Adverse testimony privilege.

Discussion:
See § 24.59

○ Fifth Amendment privilege.

Authority:
US Const, amend V

Discussion:
See §§ 24.60 -24.66

○ Journalist privilege to protect sources.

Authority:
US Const, amend I

Discussion:
See §§ 24.68 -24.72

○ Privacy guarantees of the California constitution.

Authority:
Cal Const, art I, § 1

Discussion:
See §§ 24.74 -24.76

○ Governmental privileges, including:

☐ Deliberative process privilege.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.77 -24.84

☐ State secrets privilege.

Discussion:
See § 24.86

☐ Law enforcement privilege.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.87, 24.88

○ Trade secrets.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.90 -24.93

☐ Consider whether holder has waived or will waive privilege by:

○ Failure to assert privilege.

○ Voluntary disclosure of privileged information.

○ Placing privileged matter in controversy.

Discussion:
See § 24.23

☐ If responding party, assert any available claim of privilege in lieu of discovery response by:

○ Raising claim expressly.

○ Stating ground of claim of privilege.

○ Describing withheld materials.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(A)

Discussion:
See § 24.24

☐ If claim of privilege raised, consider whether propounding party should test claim of privilege by motion to compel discovery.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
A. Applying Federal and State Privilege Law

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.13

24.13 Options and Strategy When Material Sought in Discovery May Be Privileged.

All discovery requests, whether interrogatories, requests for production, requests for admission, or questions asked in depositions should be examined by both the propounding party and the responding party for privilege issues. Review is especially critical for the responding party, as the failure to assert an available claim of privilege in responding to discovery is generally a waiver of the privilege [see 24.24].

In cases in which the sheer volume of materials to be produced makes a quick and comprehensive document review for privilege issues impractical, the responding party may assert generally the attorney-client privilege and work product protection, identify the known documents subject to the privilege on a privilege log, and produce all documents then known to be nonprivileged [see, e.g., United States ex rel. Bagley v. TRW, Inc. (CD Cal 2001) 204 FRD 170, 172-175 (describing defendant's use of privilege log in review of hundreds of thousands of documents)]. As additional documents are discovered and reviewed, they may then be added to the privilege log or produced as appropriate.

When information that has been produced in discovery is later determined by the responding party to be subject to a claim of privilege, the responding party may notify any party that received the information of the privilege claim and the basis for it. After receiving notice, a receiving party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy it, and any copies, and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. A receiving party may present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim and the producing party must preserve the information until the claim is resolved [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(B)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of privilege log, see § 24.26. Form, see § 24.103.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductWaiversEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
A. Applying Federal and State Privilege Law

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.14

24.14 Federal Common Law Generally Governs Privileges.

The scope of available discovery is limited to "nonprivileged matter" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)]. This language generally refers to the evidentiary privileges defined at common law [United States v. Reynolds (1953) 345 US 1, 6, 73 S Ct 528, 97 L Ed 727]. Accordingly, the privileges generally available to a party in federal court, including in discovery proceedings, are those defined by federal common law [Fed R Evid 501; see, e.g., Heathman v. United States Dist. Court for Cent. Dist. of Cal. (9th Cir 1974) 503 F2d 1032,1034 (question of existence and scope of taxpayer's privilege, if any, to withhold tax return information determined by federal law in federal question case)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawApplicabilityCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
A. Applying Federal and State Privilege Law

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.15

24.15 Federal Common Law May Recognize New Privileges.

Federal common law is constantly developing through court decisions. The federal courts may recognize new evidentiary privileges [see Jaffee v. Redmond (1996) 518 US 1, 15, 116 S Ct 1923, 135 L Ed2d 337 (recognizing federal psychotherapist-patient privilege as part of federal common law)]. Such recognition, however, is generally disfavored, as privileges restrict access to proof, and are therefore a potential impediment to the truth-finding function of courts [see University of Pennsylvania v. EEOC (1990) 493 US 182, 199, 110 S Ct 577, 107 L Ed2d 571 (rejecting First Amendment right of academic freedom)].

Warning:

Federal common law does not recognize the following communications as privileged:

- Accountant-client [Couch v. United States (1973) 409 US 322, 335-336, 93 S Ct 611, 34 L Ed2d 548];
- Banker-client [Harris v. United States (9th Cir 1969) 413 F2d 316, 319-320]; and
- Stockbroker-client [King v. E.F. Hutton & Co. (DDC 1987) 117 FRD 2, 7-8].

Cross Reference:

Federal professional privileges, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.50[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Warning:

The Ninth Circuit has not recognized the following privileges:

- Self-critical analysis privilege [Union Pac. R.R. Co. v. Mower (9th Cir 2000) 219 F3d 1069, 1076 ; Granberry v. Jet Blue Airways (ND Cal 2005) 228 FRD 647, 650-651 ; but see Leon v. County of San Diego (SD Cal 2001) 202 FRD 631, 637].

- Parent-child privilege [United States v. Penn (9th Cir 1980) 647 F2d 876, 885].

- Privilege for medical peer review report [Agster v. Maricopa County (9th Cir 2005) 422 F3d 836, 839 (noting that, in addition to other considerations, court was constrained by fact that report bore on death of prisoner)].

Cross Reference:

Proposed and developing privileges, see 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, § 501.04 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsCommon Law

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
A. Applying Federal and State Privilege Law

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.16

24.16 State Privilege Law May Apply.

24.16[1] State Privilege Law Applies in Diversity Cases. In a diversity case in federal court, the substantive law applied, including that as to privileges, is the law of the state [Fed R Evid 501; Liew v. Breen (9th Cir 1981) 640 F2d 1046, 1049 (state law as to attorney-client privilege applied in diversity action)].

Exception:

Because the work product protection is found in a federal rule of procedure [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3)], work product is governed by federal law even in a diversity action. [see 24.95].

Cross Reference:

See § 24.95.

24.16[2] State Privilege Law Applies to State Law Component of Federal Claim. If state law provides the rule of decision as to a component of the claims or defenses asserted, the state law of privilege applies, even in a federal question case [Fed R Evid 501].

Example:

In an action involving the Federal Deposit Insurance Company (FDIC), a federal forum was available only because of the presence of the FDIC as a party, and there was no other federal element to the action. State law therefore supplied all rules of decision, including the applicability and waiver of the attorney-client privilege [FDIC v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. (SD Cal 2000) 196 FRD 375, 377-380].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsChoice of LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsErie DoctrineCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

55 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
A. Applying Federal and State Privilege Law

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.17

24.17 Federal Privilege Law Applied in Action Presenting Both Federal and State Claims.

When an action in federal court presents both state and federal claims, and a claim of privilege is raised as to evidence that relates to both the federal and state claims, federal law controls the application of the privilege [Kerr v. United States Dist. Ct. (9th Cir 1975) 511 F2d 192, 197 ("[i]In federal question cases the clear weight of authority and logic supports reference to federal law on the issue of the existence and scope of an asserted privilege"); Fitzgerald v. Cassil (ND Cal 2003) 216 FRD 632, 635 ; Perrignon v. Bergen Brunswig Corp. (ND Cal 1978) 77 FRD 455, 459]. If, however, the federal law does not conflict with the state law or the federal law is not well-developed, the court may apply the state privilege law as a matter of comity between the two systems [see, e.g., Tennenbaum v. Deloitte & Touche (9th Cir 1996) 77 F3d 337, 340-342 (federal court may consider state privilege law, but rule ultimately adopted, whatever its substance, is not state law but federal common law); United States v. Alperin (ND Cal 2001) 128 F Supp2d 1251, 1253-1255 (applying state law as to psychotherapist-patient privilege in light of paucity of precedent on federal privilege); see also 24.74]. On the other hand, if recognition of the state privilege could frustrate federal policy, the federal court need not follow the state rule, and may apply federal common law [Guadalupe Leon v. County of San Diego (SD Cal 2001) 202 FRD 631, 634-636 (protection of Evid Code § 1157 for medical peer review records would not be applied in federal civil rights action, as restriction of discovery could frustrate vigorous enforcement of federal constitutional rights)].

Cross Reference:

Choice of law as to privileges, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.47[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsChoice of LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsErie DoctrineCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
A. Applying Federal and State Privilege Law

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.18

24.18 Federal Statutes May Require or Prohibit Disclosure of Information.

Though a comprehensive treatment of these provisions is beyond the scope of this publication, applicable federal statutory or regulatory law may prohibit or restrict the discovery of materials in the hands of private parties or state government agencies.

Example:

23 USC § 409 restricts the discovery of any information compiled or collected by state agencies in connection with federal highway safety programs. This statutory protection includes records compiled or collected by the agency for any of the included statutory reasons, but does not extend to any records that remain in the hands of others, even if the agency has collected those records [Pierce County v. Guillen (2003) 537 US 129, 143-147, 123 S Ct 720, 154 L Ed2d 610].

Example:

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act and its accompanying regulations provide protection as to the medical and health records of individuals in the hands of health plans, clearinghouses, or health care providers. In general, that information may be discovered only if: (1) the person who is the subject of the records provides a written authorization form [45 CFR § 164.508(c) (required content of authorization form)]; (2) a court order is obtained; or (3) the party seeking the records complies with certain requisites as to notice of the request and confidentiality of the records [see 45 CFR §§ 164.508, 164.512(e)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
A. Applying Federal and State Privilege Law

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.19

24.19 Discovery of Information in Hands of Federal Government Is Limited.

24.19[1] Federal Common Law or Specific Statutory Law May Govern. A party to a federal action may seek discovery from the federal government, whether or not the government is also a party to the action [e.g., United States v. Procter & Gamble Co. (1958) 356 US 677, 681, 78 S Ct 983, 2 L Ed2d 1077]. The government generally may claim any evidentiary privilege to resist discovery that would be available to a private litigant or nonparty witness [e.g., In re Grand Jury Subpoena Duces Tecum (8th Cir 1997) 112 F3d 910, 917-919 (government may assert attorney-client privilege)], but may also be able to resist discovery based on certain evidentiary privileges available only to it under either federal common law or specific federal statutes.

Example:

Census reports are expressly protected from compelled disclosure [13 USC § 9(a); see Baldrige v. Shapiro (1982) 455 US 345, 361, 102 S Ct 1103, 71 L Ed2d 199 (strong policy of nondisclosure requires that even raw data be protected from discovery)].

Cross Reference:

Federal governmental privileges, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.52 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.19[2] Public Access and Exceptions Under Freedom of Information Act. When there is no specific federal statutory provision applicable to information in the hands of the federal government, the availability of discovery or other disclosure of that information to the public is essentially the same as that established by the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) [5 USC § 552]. FOIA provides generally that all documents should be available to the public, but provides numerous exceptions, including those for: (1) state secrets; (2) personnel rules of agencies, or inter- and intra-agency communications; (3) matters exempted by statute; (4) trade secrets; (5); personnel, medical, or other files when disclosure would constitute an invasion of privacy; (6) investigatory files; or (7) reports on financial institutions.

Cross Reference:

Freedom of Information Act and exceptions, see 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, §§ 509.60 -509.64

(Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsFederal GovernmentClaims By & Against

58 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
A. Applying Federal and State Privilege Law

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.20

24.20 California Statutes May Restrict or Require Discovery.

In a diversity action or other action in which California law provides the substantive law to be applied, California statutory provisions may either restrict or require discovery. Those statutory provisions include:

- Official information [Evid Code § 1040];
- Consumer and employment information [CCP § 1985.3];
- Tax return information [R&T Code §§ 19542-19566];
- Settlement and mediation information [Evid Code §§ 1119, 1152]; and
- Medical staff committees [Evid Code § 1157].

Cross Reference:

California statutory privileges, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, §§ 2.23, 2.40, 2.44 -2.46.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsState & Territorial GovernmentsClaims By & Against

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
B. Asserting Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.21

24.21 Party Asserting Protection of Privilege Has Burden of Proof.

In any case in which an evidentiary privilege is raised as a ground for resisting discovery, the party asserting the privilege bears the burden of establishing its applicability [see Davis v. Fendler (9th Cir 1981) 650 F2d 1154, 1160 ; EEOC v. Safeway Store, Inc. (ND Cal 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 25200, at *2-*3]. A party asserting a claim of privilege in lieu of a discovery response must raise that claim expressly by stating the ground of the claim of privilege, and by describing the withheld materials so that the validity of the claim may be judged [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(A)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of raising claim of privilege in lieu of response, see § 24.24.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

60 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
B. Asserting Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.22

24.22 Nonparty From Whom Discovery Sought May Assert Privilege.

Because discovery is available from nonparties, and such nonparties may also have valid evidentiary privileges, a nonparty may also assert a claim of privilege in responding to a discovery request from a party [see, e.g., SNK Corp. v. Atlus Dream Entm't Co. (ND Cal 1999) 188 FRD 566, 571-576 (deciding validity of claims of attorney-client privilege and work product protection raised by third party served with subpoena duces tecum)]. The nonparty should assert its claim of privilege in the same way as a party or risk waiver of the claim of privilege [see McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 211 FRD 381, 384-385].

Cross Reference:

Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, see §§ 23.259 -23.285.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenasEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.23

24.23 Avoiding Waiver of Privilege.

24.23[1] Waiver by Failure to Assert Privilege. A party asserting a claim of privilege in lieu of a discovery response must raise that claim expressly by stating the ground of the claim of privilege, and by describing the withheld materials so that the validity of the claim may be judged [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(A); see 24.24]. If the privilege holder fails to comply with these requirements, any claim of privilege may be waived. For example, boilerplate objections or blanket refusals inserted into a response to a request for production of documents under Fed R Civ P 34 are insufficient to assert a privilege but a per se waiver does not result if a privilege log is not produced within the 30-day response period. Instead, the district court should engage in a "holistic reasonableness analysis" [Burlington N. & Santa Fe Ry. v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 2005) 408 F3d 1142, 1149]. Moreover, an asserted claim of privilege preserves only those grounds expressly stated, so that a party cannot raise new privilege arguments in response to a motion to compel [Moloney v. United States (D Mass 2001) 204 FRD 16, 21].

Example:

When a responding party does make an objection that places the opposing party on notice of the claim of privilege, the failure of the objection to comply with the formal requirements of Fed R Civ P 26 may, in the court's discretion, be forgiven [e.g., EEOC v. Safeway Store, Inc. (ND Cal 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 25200, at *2-*8 (though initial objection was inadequate, it provided notice of privilege claim and later production of privilege log sufficient to preserve objection given harshness of waiver)].

Exception:

Because national security interests are at issue with respect to the state secrets privilege [see 24.86], the government's failure properly to invoke the privilege may often be forgiven [see, e.g., United States ex rel. Schwartz v. TRW, Inc. (CD Cal 2002) 211 FRD 388, 392-394 (court granted government additional 60 days to raise state secrets privilege despite failure to do so in response to earlier subpoena)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of sufficiency of assertion of privilege in response to a request for production of documents under Fed R Civ P 34, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, § 23.153[1][b].

24.23[2] Waiver Through Voluntary Disclosure. Despite an available claim of privilege or work product protection, a voluntary disclosure of the information or materials may constitute a waiver of the privilege and make the materials subject to discovery [see Commodity Futures Trading Comm'n v. Weintraub (1985) 471 US 343, 105 S Ct 1986, 85 L Ed2d 372 (voluntary disclosure by trustee of bankrupt corporation waived attorney-client privilege with respect to prebankruptcy communications)]. Because the instances of waiver through disclosure are most frequently encountered with respect to the attorney-client privilege and work product protection, these issues are discussed in detail in the discussions of those particular discovery protections in §§ 24.29- 24 .40 and 24.94-24.102.

Strategic Point:

If information later determined to be privileged was inadvertently disclosed in discovery, a procedure exists for the responding party to assert the privilege claim, and, if that claim is contested, for the receiving party to present the information to the court for resolution of the dispute [see Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(B)].

Cross Reference:

Procedure for asserting privilege after disclosure, 24.24[5].

24.23[3] Implicit Waiver by Placing Privileged Matter in Controversy. The general rule is that the mere bringing of an action does not waive any privilege that the plaintiff may enjoy. If, however, the plaintiff's claims put at issue the very matters that the plaintiff wishes to shield from discovery, the privilege will be deemed to be waived [see Rutgard v. Haynes (SD Cal 1999) 185 FRD 596, 598-600 (by claiming malpractice and damages resulting from subsequent settlement of malicious prosecution suit, plaintiff waived attorney-client privilege as to counsel in both original suit and in settlement of malicious prosecution claim)].

Example:

Plaintiff's mental health records were subject to discovery because plaintiff made her emotional health near the time of the defendants' alleged misconduct an issue in the litigation by electing to seek monetary relief for emotional distress [Fritsch v. City of Chula Vista (SD Cal 1999) 196 FRD 562, 568-570].

The same rule applies to privileges raised by a defendant, so that if the defendant places the privileged information at issue, the privilege is waived [Chevron Corp. v. Pennzoil Co. (9th Cir 1992) 974 F2d 1156, 1162-1163].

Cross Reference:

Waiver of privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.47[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductWaiversEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

62 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
B. Asserting Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.24

24.24 Claim of Privilege Must Be Raised in Lieu of Response.

24.24[1] Claim of Privilege Must Be Raised Expressly. If a claim of privilege or work product protection is to be asserted to resist discovery, the party must expressly assert that claim by either an objection to the sought discovery, or by seeking a protective order to prohibit or condition the sought discovery [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(A)].

Cross Reference:

Protective orders, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.35 -22.66.

24.24[2] Ground of Privilege Claim Must Be Stated. Any objection to discovery based on a claim of privilege must expressly disclose the particular evidentiary privilege on which the objector relies [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(A)]. An asserted claim of privilege preserves only those grounds expressly stated, so that a party cannot raise new privilege arguments in response to a motion to compel [Moloney v. United States (D Mass 2001) 204 FRD 16, 21].

Cross Reference:

Procedure for asserting claim of privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.90 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.24[3] Claimant Must Describe Withheld Materials. If a claim of privilege is asserted as an objection to discovery, the objecting party must describe the documents, communications, or things not produced in a manner that, without revealing the actual privileged information, will permit the other parties to assess the applicability of the claimed privilege [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(A)(ii)].

Cross Reference:

Procedure for asserting claim of privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.90 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.24[4] Third Parties May Intervene to Raise Claim of Privilege. Third parties may intervene in a criminal trial to challenge the production of subpoenaed documents on the ground of privilege [United States v. Bergonzi (ND Cal 2003) 216 FRD 487, 492 (granting motion to intervene)].

24.24[5] Claim of Privilege May Be Asserted After Disclosure. If information later determined to be privileged was inadvertently disclosed in discovery, a procedure exists for the responding party to assert the privilege claim and for the receiving party to contest the claim. The responding party may notify any party that received the information of the privilege claim and the basis for it. The notice should be in writing unless the circumstances preclude it. After receiving notice, a receiving party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy it, and any copies, and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. A receiving party may present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim and the producing party must preserve the information until the claim is resolved [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(B)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective Orders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
B. Asserting Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.25

24.25 Claimant May Move for Protective Order.

24.25[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: Parties Must Meet and Confer. Local rules in all four California district courts require the parties to attempt to resolve any matter relating to discovery informally before presenting the dispute to the court by motion [CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)].

24.25[2] Claimant Must Show Good Cause. If a discovery dispute cannot be resolved informally between the parties, a party or other person from whom discovery is sought can make a motion for a protective order, asserting good cause [Fed R Civ P 26(c)]. The court may make any order which justice requires to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden or expense, based on any of the reasons listed in Rule 26(c) [Fed R Civ P 26(c); see Phillips v. GMC (9th Cir 2002) 307 F3d 1206, 1212].

A party asserting good cause bears the burden, for each particular document it seeks to protect, of showing that specific prejudice or harm will result if no protective order is granted [Foltz v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 331 F3d 1122, 1130-1131].

Cross Reference:

Motion for protective order, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.47 -22.49.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective Orders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
B. Asserting Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.26

24.26 Privilege Log Is Valuable Tool.

Counsel should consider maintaining a privilege log as standard practice. With respect to documents, the privilege log should contain [see, e.g., AT&T v. Microsoft (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 8710, at *4-*5]:

- The date the document was prepared;
- The identity of the person or persons who prepared the document;
- The identity of any person or persons to whom the document was disseminated;
- A brief description or summary of the contents of the document;
- The specific privilege or protection allegedly applicable to the document; and
- A description of how each element of the privilege or protection is met as to the document.

The brief description or summary of the document provided in a privilege log should be specific enough for opposing counsel and the court to determine the applicability of the privilege, but should not be so detailed as to reveal the privileged information itself [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(A)].

Example:

A privilege log submitted to claim attorney-client privilege identified: (1) attorney and client involved; (2) the nature and subject matter of the document; (3) all persons or entities shown on the document to have received or sent the document; and (4) the date the document was generated, prepared, or dated. That, coupled with an affidavit as to whom the documents were shown or were intended to be shown met party's burden in demonstrating the applicability of the attorney-client privilege [In re Grand Jury Investigation (9th Cir 1992) 974 F2d 1068, 1071].

Judge's Perspective:

When the attorney is neither the author nor the addressee of a document, but instead merely a "cc" recipient, be prepared to provide more detail to your description of the general nature and subject matter of the item in the privilege log. Courts are prone to be wary of entries that involve counsel only as a "cc" in light of the danger that a party has attempted to create privilege improperly by simply passing the document through counsel's hands. Likewise, in scrutinizing an opponent's privilege log, pay particular attention to such "cc only" entries.

Cross References:

Form of privilege log, see § 24.103. Use of privilege log in establishing a privilege claim, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, § 23.153[1][b].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
C. Opposing Claim of Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.27

24.27 LOCAL PRACTICE: Parties Must Meet and Confer.

Local rules in all four California district courts require the parties to attempt to resolve any matter relating to discovery informally before presenting the dispute to the court by motion [CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral Overview

66 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
C. Opposing Claim of Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.28

24.28 Party Seeking Discovery May Move to Compel.

If a claim of privilege is raised in order to resist discovery, the party propounding the discovery request may bring a motion to compel discovery [Fed R Civ P 37(a)]. The presentation of such a motion, however, should not be automatic. Instead, whether to file a motion to compel requires a balancing of many factors, most notably the importance of the information sought and whether it can be obtained by someone else, as well as the merits of the claim of privilege.

Cross Reference:

Motions to compel, see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, §§ 25.03 -25.12.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.29

24.29 CHECKLIST: Attorney-Client Privilege.

☐ Client Status. Ascertain whether prospective privilege claimant either:

- ○ Was client in attorney-client relationship, or
- ○ Sought legal advice, whether or not attorney was retained.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.30, 24.34

☐ Attorney Status. Ascertain whether person to whom the communication was made:

- ○ Is either:
  - ☐ A member of the bar, or
  - ☐ A bar member's subordinate; and
- ○ That person was acting as a lawyer in connection with the communication.

☐ Communication to Attorney. Ascertain whether allegedly privileged communication made to attorney relates to a fact that was:

- ○ Related by the client, or an employee or agent of the client;
- ○ Made in confidence, i.e., without the presence of any third party; or
- ○ Communicated for the purpose of securing primarily any of the following:
  - ☐ An opinion of law;
  - ☐ Legal services; or
  - ☐ Assistance in some legal proceeding; and
- ○ Not communicated for the purpose of committing a crime or tort.

Discussion:
See § 24.34

☐ Communication by Attorney. Ascertain whether disclosure of communication from attorney to privilege claimant would tend to reveal underlying confidential communication of client to attorney.

☐ Waiver of Privilege. Ascertain whether privilege claimant has waived privilege by:

- ○ Express waiver.
- ○ Disclosure of communication, whether by:
  - ☐ Voluntary disclosure;
  - ☐ Involuntary disclosure; or
  - ☐ Inadvertent disclosure.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3); Fed R Evid 502

Discussion:
See § 24.40

○ Failure to assert privilege.

Discussion:

See § 24.23

○ Implied waiver by placing privileged matter in controversy.

Discussion:
See § 24.40[8]

☐ Claimant:

○ Keep privilege log.

○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.

○ Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.

○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client

PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeExceptionsEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.30

24.30 Federal Common Law Privilege.

The attorney-client privilege is recognized as part of federal common law [e.g., Swidler & Berlin v. United States (1998) 524 US 399, 118 S Ct 2081, 141 L Ed2d 379]. The attorney-client privilege applies only if the following elements are established [Admiral Ins. Co. v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1989) 881 F2d 1486, 1492 ; Space Sys./Loral, Inc. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (ND Cal 1999) 1999 US Dist LEXIS 10602, at *4-*5]:

- The asserted holder of the privilege is or sought to become a client;
- The person to whom the communication was made:
  - Is a member of the bar or the member's agent; and
  - In connection with the communication is acting as a lawyer.
- The communication relates to a fact of which the attorney was informed:
  - By the client;
  - Without the presence of strangers; and
  - For the purpose of securing primarily any of the following:
    - An opinion of law;
    - Legal services; or
    - Assistance in some legal proceeding.

- Not for the purpose of committing a crime or tort.

- The privilege has been:
  - Claimed by the client; and
  - Not waived by the client.

Cross Reference:

Scope of federal attorney-client privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.49 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeScope

69 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.31

24.31 California Law.

Under California law [Evid Code §§ 950-962], a client, whether or not a party, has a privilege to refuse to disclose, and to prevent another from disclosing, a confidential communication between the client and the client's lawyer [Evid Code § 954]. The attorney-client privilege as defined by California law will be applicable in diversity actions, or when state law provides the rule of decision [Fed R Evid 501; see, e.g., Barton v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 2005) 410 F3d 1104, 1108].

Cross Reference:

Scope of California attorney-client privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.16.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeExceptionsEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.32

24.32 Client Is Holder of Privilege.

24.32[1] Attorney Is Not Holder of Privilege. The attorney-client privilege belongs to the client, not the attorney [United States v. Blackman (9th Cir 1995) 72 F3d 1418, 1424].

Cross Reference:

Federal attorney-client privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.49 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.32[2] Corporation or Other Artificial Entity May Be Entitled to Claim Privilege.

24.32[2][a] Both Entity and Individual Employees May Invoke Privilege. A corporation, governmental entity, or other artificial entity recognized as having a separate existence may be a "client" entitled to invoke the attorney-client privilege [Upjohn Co. v. United States (1981) 449 US 383, 389, 101 S Ct 677, 66 L Ed2d 584 (corporation may be holder of attorney-client privilege)]. Employees at all levels of the company may invoke the privilege as long as the communications were made at the behest of corporate superiors for the purpose of obtaining legal advice [Upjohn Co. v. United States (1981) 449 US 383, 389, 101 S Ct 677, 66 L Ed2d 584].

Distinguish:

There is no individual attorney client privilege between corporate counsel and an employee unless it is clearly shown that the employee consulted the corporate counsel in his or her individual capacity and specifically requested personal representation [see Tuttle v. Combined Ins. Co. (ED Cal 2004) 222 FRD 424, 429 (factors to be considered in determining whether individual attorney-client privilege exists between employee and corporate counsel)].

The attorney-client privilege applies to communications by any corporate employee to counsel when the communications concern matters within the scope of the employee's corporate duties, and the employee is aware that the information is being furnished to enable the attorney to provide legal advice or service to the corporation [Upjohn Co. v. United States (1981) 449 US 383, 394, 101 S Ct 677, 66 L Ed2d 584].

The fact that a corporation may contain a large number of employees creates unique issues for purposes of applying principles of the attorney-client privilege. In recognition of the diffuse nature of corporate decisionmaking, courts have routinely found that transmission of information and materials between employees when done in the process of obtaining legal advice does not vitiate the principle [see, e.g., Bank Brussels Lambert v. Credit Lyonnais (SDNY 1995) 160 FRD 437, 442]. At the same time, it follows that just as there are more potential participants in the privileged communication in the corporate context, there are more individuals in a position to waive the privilege through disclosure to third parties.

Example:

E-mails and technical memoranda that were written by employees of defendant software developer concerned matters on which developer sought legal advice of patent counsel, and so were protected by attorney-client privilege [AT&T v. Microsoft (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 8710, at *8-*13].

24.32[2][b] Privilege Extends to Former Corporate Employees. Expressly left open by the Supreme Court's decision in Upjohn is whether the lawyer-client privilege applies to communications by former employees concerning activities during their period of employment [Upjohn Co. v. United States (1981) 449 US 383, 394 n3, 101 S Ct 677, 66 L Ed2d 584]. The Ninth Circuit has held that the Upjohn rationale necessarily extends the privilege to former corporate employees [Admiral Ins. Co. v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1989) 881 F2d 1486, 1493]. Further, the Ninth Circuit has stated that the attorney-client privilege is served by the certainty that conversations between the attorney and client will remain privileged after the employee leaves [In re Coordinated Pretrial Proceedings in Petroleum Prods. Antitrust Litig. (9th Cir 1981) 658 F2d 1355, 1361, n7 , cert. denied, 455 US 990 (1982)].

Example:

When corporate counsel interviewed executives of corporation, and those executives later resigned and refused to be deposed on Fifth Amendment grounds, opposing party could not compel production of the content of the interviews. The interviews were clearly within the executives' corporate duties and were conducted to assist corporate counsel in expected litigation, so that the material was within corporation's attorney-client privilege [Admiral Ins. Co. v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1989) 881 F2d 1486, 1492-1495].

24.32[2][c] Privilege Belongs to Successor Corporation After Merger. After a merger, the attorney-client privilege of the corporation no longer in existence belongs to the successor corporation, because Evid Code § 953(d) provides that the successor of a disappeared corporation becomes the holder of the attorney-client privilege. The privilege may be claimed by the person who was the lawyer at the time of the confidential communication, but that person may not claim the privilege if there is no holder of the privilege in existence, or if otherwise instructed by a person authorized to permit disclosure [Evid Code § 954(c)]. Thus, as long as there is a holder of the privilege in existence at the time disclosure is sought, the attorney has the duty to exercise the privilege unless the holder of the privilege instructs the attorney not to do so [Venture Law Group v. Superior Court (2004) 118 CA4th 96, 103, 12 CR3d 656 ; Dickerson v. Superior Court (1982) 135 CA3d 93, 98, 185 CR 97].

Cross Reference:

Corporate clients, see 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, § 503.22 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

24.32[3] Attorney or Other Representative May Claim Privilege on Client's Behalf. When the client is absent, incapacitated, or otherwise unable to assert an available claim of attorney-client privilege, the attorney or a legally appointed representative of the plaintiff may claim the privilege on behalf of the client [see United States v. Blackman (9th Cir 1995) 72 F3d 1418, 1424-1425 (attorney served with subpoena for records could withhold them based on attorney-client privilege, but only if disclosure would convey substance of confidential communication of client)]. A legally appointed representative may also waive the attorney-client privilege [see Commodity Futures Trading Comm'n v. Weintraub (1985) 471 US 343, 358, 105 S Ct 1986, 85 L Ed2d 372 (voluntary disclosure by trustee of bankrupt corporation waived attorney-client privilege with respect to prebankruptcy communications)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeScopeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeWaiver

71 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.33

24.33 Privilege Survives Death of Client.

The attorney-client privilege survives the death of the client and may therefore be claimed by the decedent's personal representative [see Swidler & Berlin v. United States (1998) 524 US 399, 410-411, 118 S Ct 2081, 141 L Ed2d 379].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.34

24.34 Privilege Covers Confidential Communications Between Client and Attorney.

Any confidential communication between an attorney and an actual or prospective client is privileged when the communication is made for the purpose of securing an opinion of law, legal services, or assistance in some legal proceeding [Barton v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 2005) 410 F3d 1104, 1109-1110 ; Space Sys./Loral, Inc. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (ND Cal 1999) 1999 US Dist LEXIS 10602, at *4-*5 ; Olen Props. Corp. v. Sheldahl, Inc. (CD Cal 1994) 1994 US Dist LEXIS 7125, at *2 ; see also Evid Code § 952 (defining confidential communication under California law)]. Though usually the privilege is invoked as to communications from the client to the attorney, it also applies to communications from the attorney to the client in the course of providing legal advice [United States v. Chevron Texaco Corp. (ND Cal 2002) 241 F Supp2d 1065, 1069].

Example:

Technical information imparted to a patent attorney that does not call for any legal interpretation or opinion, but is shared to assist the attorney in completing a patent application, is nevertheless communicated for use in legal proceedings, and therefore presumptively falls within attorney-client privilege [Advanced Cardiovascular Sys., Inc. v. C.R. Bard, Inc. (ND Cal 1992) 144 FRD 372, 374-377].

Communications between a client and counsel must be made to secure legal advice or assistance. Accordingly, when the communications primarily serve some other purpose, the communications are not protected [McCaugherty v. Siffermann (ND Cal 1990) 132 FRD 234, 238-240].

Example:

When a claims adjuster interviewed police officers to determine whether or not an insurer should pay certain claims, and not for the purposes of offering legal advice, interviews could not be subject to attorney-client privilege [Garcia v. City of El Centro (SD Cal 2003) 214 FRD 587, 590-591].

Cross Reference:

Privileged communications, see 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, § 503.14 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.35

24.35 Privilege Covers Communications With Agents.

24.35[1] Communications Between Client and Attorney's Agent. A client need not invariably communicate directly with his or her attorney in order to ensure that the communication is protected by the attorney-client privilege. If the client communicates with an agent of the attorney, such as an investigator or other professional, and that agent has been hired by the attorney to assist with the legal representation of the client, the attorney-client privilege extends to communications with the attorney's agent [e.g., United States v. Chevron Texaco Corp. (ND Cal 2002) 241 F Supp2d 1065, 1070 n2 (client may communicate with counsel through secretary or paralegal and maintain privilege)].

24.35[2] Communications Between Attorney and Client's Agent. Communications made by an agent or employee of a client to an attorney are within the attorney-client privilege if the communication was made for the purpose of securing legal advice or assistance for the client [see Upjohn Co. v. United States (1981) 449 US 383, 394, 101 S Ct 677, 66 L Ed2d 584].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.36

24.36 Privilege Covers Communications to or Among Clients With Common Interests.

24.36[1] Often Referred to As Joint Defense Doctrine. When parties share a common interest and are therefore pursuing a joint defense strategy, the sharing of privileged information among the parties or their attorneys does not waive the attorney-client privilege of any of the parties [Lectrolarm Custom Sys., Inc. v. Pelco Sales, Inc. (ED Cal 2002) 212 FRD 567, 572-573 (company's disclosure of privileged material to lawyers for its insurer did not waive attorney-client privilege)].

The common interest privilege, frequently referred to as the joint defense doctrine, applies when [United States v. Bergonzi (ND Cal 2003) 216 FRD 487, 495 ; see OXY Res. Cal. v. Superior Court (2004) 115 CA4th 874, 890, 9 CR3d 621]:

- Communication is made by separate parties in the course of a matter of common interest;
- Communication is designed to further that effort; and
- The attorney-client privilege has not been waived.

Rather than being considered an extension of the attorney-client privilege, the common interest doctrine is more appropriately characterized as a non-waiver doctrine, analyzed under standard waiver principles applicable to the attorney-client privilege and the work product doctrine [see Raytheon Co. v. Superior Court (1989) 208 CA3d 683, 687-689, 256 CR 425]. Therefore, a party seeking to rely on the common interest doctrine does not satisfy its burden to justify a claim of privilege simply by demonstrating that a confidential communication took place between parties who purportedly share a common interest. Rather, the party must first establish that the communicated information would otherwise be protected from disclosure by a claim of privilege. The next step in the analysis is to determine whether disclosing the information to a party outside the attorney-client relationship waived any applicable privileges [OXY Res. Cal. v. Superior Court (2004) 115 CA4th 874, 890-891, 9 CR3d 621].

24.36[2] Parties' Interest May Be Adverse. The common interest doctrine does not require a complete unity of interests among the participants, and it may apply where the parties' interests are adverse in substantial respects [United States v. Bergonzi (ND Cal 2003) 216 FRD 487, 495 ; see In re Mortg. Realty Trust (Bankr CD Cal 1997) 212 BR 649, 653].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.37

24.37 Identity of Client Is Not Protected by Privilege.

The attorney-client privilege protects only confidential communications between counsel and the client, so that the mere fact of representation or the conditions of the attorney's employment by the client are not protected from discovery by the privilege [Clarke v. American Commerce Nat'l Bank (9th Cir 1992) 974 F2d 127, 129].

Examples:

The attorney-client privilege did not protect the identities of clients of an attorney charged with promoting an abuse tax shelter. Although disclosure of the clients' identities might eventually result in their becoming IRS targets, the disclosure in itself would not be incriminating [Reiserer v. United States (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1160, 1166].

It was improper for an attorney to instruct the client not to answer a deposition question as to whether legal advice was sought at a particular time, as the question merely related to the fact of seeking advice, and did not seek revelation of nature of confidential communications between client and counsel [Methode Elecs., Inc. v. Finisar Corp. (ND Cal 2001) 205 FRD 552, 556].

Exception:

An attorney may be able to resist divulging the identity of the client or the fact of representation if, under the facts of the case, revealing that information would be tantamount to revealing a confidential communication between the client and the attorney [see Baird v. Koerner (9th Cir 1960) 279 F2d 623, 632-633 ; (client's identity is privileged if revealing that identity would constitute acknowledgment of guilt of offense that lead client to seek legal assistance); see also In re Grand Jury Subpoenas (9th Cir 1986) 803 F2d 493, 496 (explaining and limiting Baird)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeExceptionsEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.38

24.38 Privilege Can Apply to Documentary Evidence.

24.38[1] Documents Must Contain Confidential Communications Between Client and Attorney. The attorney-client privilege attaches to documentary evidence to the extent that the documents contain communications otherwise within the scope of the privilege [AT&T v. Microsoft (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 8710, at *8-*13 (e-mails and technical memoranda seeking legal advice of patent counsel protected)].

Consider:

> Under California law, it is the client's (or prospective client's) expectation of confidentiality that is determinative, not the attorney's. When a communication is made in the course of an attorney-client relationship, it is presumed to have been made in confidence. For example, when a law firm posted a questionnaire on the Internet relating to an antidepressant drug, the Ninth Circuit determined that the disclaimer on that questionnaire, which required those submitting answers to acknowledge that no attorney-client relationship was formed by the submission, did not disclaim the confidentiality of the responses [Barton v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 2005) 410 F3d 1104, 1110-1112].

24.38[2] Forwarding Documents to Attorney Does Not Make Documents Privileged. The application of the attorney-client privilege turns on the nature and purpose of the communications between counsel and client, so that a client cannot create privilege by merely forwarding nonprivileged documents to counsel [Guzzino v. Felterman (WD La 1997) 174 FRD 59, 61 ; see also United States ex rel. Burroughs v. DeNardi Corp. (SD Cal 1996) 167 FRD 680, 683 (relation of facts to attorney so that counsel could file False Claims action did not make facts subject to attorney-client privilege)].

24.38[3] Documents May Be Redacted to Preserve Privileged Components. If documentary evidence contains both privileged and nonprivileged material, the documents may be redacted or otherwise edited to preserve the privileged portions while simultaneously granting access to the nonprivileged portions [see, e.g., Cuno, Inc. v. Pall Corp. (EDNY 1988) 121 FRD 198, 204].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.39

24.39 Exceptions to Privilege.

24.39[1] Communications in Furtherance of Crime or Fraud Are Not Privileged.

24.39[1][a] Crime or Fraud May Be by Either Client or Attorney. The protections of the attorney-client privilege may be overcome by showing that the communications between client and counsel were in furtherance of a future or ongoing crime or fraud [United States v. Zolin (1989) 491 US 554, 562-564, 109 S Ct 2619, 105 L Ed2d 469]. The crime or fraud may be that of either the client, the attorney, or both, and there is no requirement that the attorney be aware of the criminal or fraudulent intent [Clark v. United States (1933) 289 US 1, 15, 53 S Ct 465, 77 L Ed 993].

24.39[1][b] Party Asserting Exception Bears Burden of Establishing Illegality. The party asserting the applicability of the crime-fraud exception to attorney-client privilege bears the burden of establishing the exception [Clark v. United States (1933) 289 US 1, 15, 53 S Ct 465, 77 L Ed 993 ; United States v. Martin (9th Cir 2002) 278 F3d 988, 1001]. Demonstrating that the communications were "in furtherance of an intended or present illegality and that there is some relationship between the communications and the illegality" makes a prima facie case for the crime-fraud exception [United States v. Martin (9th Cir 2002) 278 F3d 988, 1001].

Proof of the exception, however, is not restricted to independent evidence, so that the exception can be proven through an in camera inspection of the allegedly privileged material if the party establishes cause to believe that the exception is potentially applicable [United States v. Zolin (1989) 491 US 554, 570-572, 109 S Ct 2619, 105 L Ed2d 469].

Cross Reference:

Crime-fraud exception to attorney-client privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.49[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.39[1][c] Consideration of Evidence and Burden of Proof in Civil Cases. In civil cases in which outright disclosure of attorney-client communications is requested, the party seeking to preserve the attorney-client privilege against a crime-fraud challenge has the right to introduce countervailing evidence [UMG Recording, Inc. v. Bertelsmann AG (In re Napster, Inc. Copyright Litig.) (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1078, 1093]. The burden of proof the party seeking disclosure of communications under the crime-fraud exception must meet is the preponderance of the evidence [UMG Recording, Inc. v. Bertelsmann AG (In re Napster, Inc. Copyright Litig.) (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1078, 1094-1095].

24.39[2] Suit for Malpractice. When the client sues the attorney for malpractice or some other breach of duty, the attorney-client privilege does not bar discovery or other disclosure of the communications between client and counsel [Rutgard v. Haynes (SD Cal 1999) 185 FRD 596, 597-598].

24.39[3] California Statutory Exceptions. In a diversity case or other case in which the substantive law of California provides the rule of decision, statutory exceptions to the attorney-client privilege as defined by California law may be applicable [see Evid Code §§ 956-962].

Cross Reference:

Exceptions to attorney-client privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.16[6].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeExceptions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.40

24.40 Waiver of Privilege.

24.40[1] Only Client May Waive Privilege. The attorney-client privilege belongs to the client, and so may be waived only by the client, not by the attorney [In re Carter (Bankr CD Cal 1986) 62 BR 1007, 1014 (express instruction to former attorneys to preserve privilege was effective)].

24.40[2] Corporate Client May Waive Privilege for Communications of Employees or Agents. Because the privilege belongs to the corporation, it may be waived by the corporation, even if the employee or officer desires to keep the communications secret, and an employee or former employee bears a substantial burden in establishing that the employee sought and obtained legal advice from corporate counsel in an individual capacity [United States v. Martin (9th Cir 2002) 278 F3d 988, 1000].

Cross Reference:

Corporate employee communications and attorney-client privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.49[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.40[3] Disclosure to Third Party Waives Privilege. Because communications between an attorney and client must be confidential to be protected by the attorney-client privilege, communications that occur in the presence of a third party lack the required element of confidentiality and are not within the privilege [Lovell v. Evergreen Res., Inc. (ND Cal 1990) 1990 US Dist LEXIS 11223, at *17].

The voluntary disclosure may be made by the client directly, or may be made by counsel with the express or implied permission of the client [see Fox v. California Sierra Fin. Servs. (ND Cal 1988) 120 FRD 520, 526-528 (when client permitted attorney to testify before agency as to allegedly privileged matter, privilege was implicitly waived)].

Example--Voluntary Cooperation With Investigation:

When an attorney for a corporation voluntarily cooperated with an investigation by the Department of Labor by submitting and testifying about certain corporate documents, the corporation waived any attorney-client privilege with respect to those documents and any related communications [McMorgan

& Co. v. First Cal. Mortgage Co. (ND Cal 1996) 931 F Supp 703, 707-708].

Exception--Settlement Negotiations:

If a disclosure of privileged material to an opposing party occurs in the context of settlement negotiations and under a stipulation of the parties to preserve privilege, the agreement of the parties is effective and the privilege is preserved [Akamai Techs., Inc. v. Digital Island, Inc. (ND Cal 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 13515, at *7-*20]. The stipulation, however, must be express and must clearly apply to the allegedly privileged material [Atari Corp. v. Sega of Am. (ND Cal 1994) 161 FRD 417, 419-420 (providing videotape to opposing party during settlement negotiations constituted voluntary disclosure that waived attorney-client privilege and work product protection)].

Cross Reference:

Waiver of attorney-client privilege by disclosure, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.49[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.40[4] Compelled Disclosure Does Not Waive Privilege. Waiver of privilege through disclosure is premised on voluntary disclosure, so that if a party is compelled to disclose privileged information, no waiver can be implied from the disclosure [see Transamerica Computer Co. v. IBM Corp. (9th Cir 1978) 573 F2d 646, 651-652 (rigorous discovery schedule required by a court order in prior proceedings required party to produce evidence without adequate opportunity for privilege review)].

24.40[5] Inadvertent Disclosure May Not Constitute Waiver. Fed R Evid 502, enacted on September 19, 2008, protects against the inadvertent waiver of the attorney-client privilege or work product protection. The rule applies in all proceedings commenced after the date of enactment and, if "just and practicable," in all proceedings pending on that date.

Fed R Evid 502 limits waiver as follows [see Fed R Evid 502(a)-(e)]:

- If a party produces a privileged document under circumstances that constitute a waiver of the privilege, that waiver extends to other related information only if the disclosed and undisclosed information "ought in fairness" be considered together.

- Inadvertent disclosure made at the federal level will not operate as a waiver if the holder of the privilege has taken reasonable steps to prevent disclosure and has taken reasonably prompt measures to retrieve the inadvertently disclosed information, including (if applicable) following Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(B).

- Disclosure made in a state proceeding that is not subject to a state-court order concerning waiver does not constitute waiver of the attorney-client privilege or work product immunity in a federal proceeding if: (1) the disclosure would not be a waiver if it had been made in a federal proceeding, or (2) if the disclosure would not be a waiver under the law of the state where the disclosure occurred.

- Federal courts may enter confidentiality orders providing that disclosure of privileged or protected material does not constitute waiver in other state or federal proceedings.

- An agreement on the effect of disclosure of a communication or information covered by the attorney client privilege or work product protection is binding only on the parties to the agreement, unless the agreement is incorporated into a court order.

In making the "fairness" determination required for a broader waiver after an unintended or inadvertent disclosure of information under the attorney-client privilege, courts should consider the totality of the circumstances, including balancing the following factors developed in prior case law [see U.S. ex rel. Bagley v. TRW, Inc. (CD Cal 2001) 204 FRD 170, 177-179 (considering five factors and all relevant circumstances, court found that inadvertent production of privileged documents did not waive attorney-client privilege)]:

- Reasonableness of the precautions taken to prevent inadvertent disclosures;
- Number of inadvertent disclosures;
- Extent of the inadvertent disclosures;
- Promptness of efforts to remedy the inadvertent disclosures; and
- Whether the overriding interest of fairness would be served by relieving the disclosing party of its error.

Cross References:

Fed R Evid 502, see generally 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, Ch. 502 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

Warning:

A lawyer who receives materials that on their face appear to be subject to the attorney-client privilege or otherwise confidential, under circumstances in which it is clear that the materials were not intended for the receiving lawyer, should refrain from examining the materials, notify the sending lawyer, and abide by the instructions of the lawyer who sent them. Thus, part of the duty to prevent and remedy inadvertent disclosure falls on the lawyer in receipt of that inadvertent disclosure [Gomez v. Vernon (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 1118, 1131-1132 , cert. denied sub nom. Beauclair v. Gomez, 534 US 1066 (2001) , quoting, ABA Comm. on Ethics & Prof'l Responsibility, Formal Opinion 368 (1992)].

Cross References:

Procedure for asserting claim of privilege after inadvertent disclosure, 24.24[5]. Inadvertent disclosure, see 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, § 503.42 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.); see generally 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, Ch. 502 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

24.40[6] Waiver May Extend to Entire Subject Matter. Evidence Rule 502(a) provides that any waiver of attorney-client privilege is limited to actual material disclosed and not all material on the same subject, unless the waiver is intentional and fairness requires the disclosed and undisclosed material to be considered together, in which case the waiver extends to all related material [Fed R Evid 502(a)].

24.40[7] Limited Waiver Permitted in Absence of Prejudice. When the party seeking access to privileged information would not be prejudiced, a waiver of attorney-client privilege may be restricted to the particular communications or information as to which the waiver relates [see, e.g., Akamai Techs., Inc. v. Digital Island, Inc. (ND Cal 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 13515, at *20-*28].

24.40[8] Placing Matter in Controversy Waives Privilege. If the claims of a plaintiff put at issue the very matters that the plaintiff alleges are within the protection of the attorney-client privilege, the privilege is waived [see Rutgard v. Haynes (SD Cal 1999) 185 FRD 596, 598-600 (by claiming malpractice and damages resulting from subsequent settlement of malicious prosecution suit, plaintiff waived attorney-client privilege as to counsel in both original suit and in settlement of malicious prosecution claim)]. This same rule applies to clients who are defendants in an action, so that raising advice of counsel as a defense waives any attorney-client privilege as to communications between defendant and counsel on those particular claims [Chevron Corp. v. Pennzoil Co. (9th Cir 1992) 974 F2d 1156, 1162-1163 ; cf. PostX Corp. v. Secure Data in Motion, Inc. (ND Cal 2004) 2004 US Dist LEXIS 24260, at *19 (assertion of good faith defense to antitrust counterclaim did not impliedly waive attorney-client privilege because plaintiff did not use privilege as a sword)].

Example:

In a patent infringement action, the plaintiff responded to the defendant's counterclaim of infringement by raising the defense that its infringement, if any, was not willful because it relied on advice of counsel. The plaintiff therefore waived attorney-client privilege with respect to any communications between counsel and client that bore on the issue of the plaintiff's state of mind [Verizon Cal., Inc. v. Ronald A. Katz Tech. Licensing, L.P. (CD Cal 2003) 266 F Supp2d 1144, 1148-1150].

Distinguish:

Any waiver of the attorney-client privilege resulting from an advice-of-counsel defense in patent litigation does not extend to litigation-related communications after the complaint is filed, at least in cases in which trial counsel did not provide any pre-litigation advice [see Collaboration Props. v. Polycom, Inc. (ND Cal 2004) 224 FRD 473, 475-477], or in cases in which there was separately retained litigation counsel [see Sharper Image Corp. v. Honeywell Int'l Inc. (ND Cal 2004) 222 FRD 621, 643-646]. However, at least one court has held that when opinion and trial counsel are members of the same firm, waiver of attorney-client privilege and the work product doctrine for all communications on the same subject matter as the opinion relied on in the advice-of-counsel defense extends to advice and work product given after the litigation began [see Celerity, Inc. v. Ultra Clean Holding, Inc. (ND Cal 2007) 476 F Supp2d 1159, 1166-1168 (waiver of opinions extended to advice and work product that was given both before and after litigation began)].

Therefore, when the trial counsel's firm is also opinion counsel's firm, a litigant should not presume the privilege of shielding all opinion-related work product and communications to which trial counsel is privy [see Celerity, Inc. v. Ultra Clean Holding, Inc. (ND Cal 2007) 476 F Supp2d 1159, 1166-1168].

Strategic Point--Defendant:

Under some circumstances, a defendant may assert that the plaintiff has impliedly waived the attorney-client privilege. For example, in a patent infringement action the defendant may assert inequitable conduct or fraud on the PTO by the plaintiff and request production of documents that the plaintiff claims are privileged to demonstrate the guilty knowledge of the plaintiff. In such a case, the defendant should first move for in camera review of the contested documents, rather than outright disclosure [see, e.g. Genentech, Inc. v. Insmed Inc. (ND Cal 2006) 233 FRD 556, 558-562 (in camera review granted; if documents contained information probative of inventor's knowledge, they would be relevant to defense of inequitable conduct which could defeat patent infringement case)].

Cross Reference:

Waiver of attorney-client privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.49[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeWaiver

79 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.40A

24.40A Discovery Order Adverse to Attorney-Client Privilege Is Not Appealable Collateral Order.

A court's disclosure order adverse to the attorney-client privilege is not immediately appealable under the collateral order doctrine, because effective appellate review can be had by other means [see Mohawk Indus. v. Carpenter (2009) -- US --, 130 S Ct 599, 175 L Ed2d 458, 468 ("post-judgment appeals generally suffice to protect the rights of litigants and assure the vitality of the attorney-client privilege").

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersAttorney-Client PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesAttorney-Client PrivilegeWaiver

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
B. Physician-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.41

24.41 CHECKLIST: Physician-Patient Privilege.

☐ Determine whether federal statutes or state privilege law applies.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.42, 24.43

☐ Check local discovery rules.

☐ Review California Doctor-Patient Privilege law:

- ○ Check definitions.
- ○ Determine whether a confidential communication was made.
- ○ Determine whether communication was made during professional relationship.
- ○ Ascertain who can raise claim.

Authority:
Evid Code §§ 990-995

Discussion:

See § 24.43

☐ Has medical condition been placed in controversy?

☐ Has there been waiver of the privilege?

Authority:
Evid Code § 996

Discussion:
See § 24.43[6]

☐ Check state law exceptions.

Authority:
Evid Code §§ 997-1006

Discussion:
See § 24.43[7]

☐ Review whether claim has been properly raised:

- ○ Was the claim timely?
- ○ Was the claim expressly raised?
- ○ Were the grounds stated?
- ○ Was there sufficient description of withheld material or testimony?

Discussion:
See § 24.24

☐ Claimant:

- ○ Keep privilege log.
- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.

○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesDoctor-Patient PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesDoctor-Patient PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesDoctor-Patient PrivilegeScope

81 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
B. Physician-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.42

24.42 No Federal Common Law Doctor-Patient Privilege Exists.

The physician-patient privilege is not recognized in the federal common law, federal statutes, or the U.S. Constitution [Whalen v. Roe (1977) 429 US 589, 602 n28, 97 S Ct 869, 51 L Ed2d 64 ; Hutton v. City of Martinez (ND Cal 2003) 219 FRD 164, 166].

In a federal question case in which federal law governs privileges [Fed R Evid 501; see 24.14], any physician-patient privilege that might be recognized by state law is inapplicable when inconsistent with the application of federal law [Galarza v. United States (SD Cal 1998) 179 FRD 291, 293-294 (state doctor-patient privilege inapplicable in Federal Tort Claims Act case); Hutton v. City of Martinez (ND Cal 2003) 219 FRD 164, 166-167 (state law might have protected the officer's medical records but it was inapplicable to a federal civil rights action)].

Exception:

Though federal common law does not recognize any physician-patient privilege, federal statutes or regulations may provide an independent basis for restricting access to medical records [e.g., United States ex rel. Chandler v. Cook County (7th Cir 2002) 277 F3d 969, 981-982 , aff'd on other grounds, 538 US 119 (2002) (permitting mandamus to review discovery order compelling production of patient records from county hospital when federal regulation restricted release of that data)].

Distinguish:

The Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act and its accompanying regulations provide protection as to the medical and health records of individuals in the hands of health plans, clearinghouses, or health care providers. In general, that information may be discovered only if: (1) the person who is the subject of the records provides a written authorization form [45 CFR § 164.508(c) (required content of authorization form)]; (2) a court order is obtained; or (3) the party seeking the records complies with certain requisites as to notice of the request and confidentiality of the records [see 45 CFR §§ 164.508, 164.512(e)].

Cross Reference:

Physician-patient privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.50[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesDoctor-Patient PrivilegeGeneral Overview

82 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
B. Physician-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.43

24.43 Physician-Patient Privilege Under California Law Applies in Diversity Actions.

24.43[1] "Patient" and "Physician" Defined. Under California law, a patient is a person who consults a physician or submits to an examination for the purpose of securing a diagnosis or treatment of a physical, mental, or emotional condition [Evid Code § 991]. A physician is any person authorized or reasonably believed by the patient to be authorized to practice medicine in any state or nation [Evid Code § 990].

Communications between a patient and physician include diagnoses made and advice given by the physician [Evid Code § 992], as well as photos, x-rays, or other diagnostic aides [Binder v. Superior Court (1987) 196 CA3d 893, 897, 242 CR 231 (photos taken as part of diagnosis are within physician-patient privilege)].

Cross Reference:

Physician-patient privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.17.

24.43[2] Communication Must Be Confidential and During Professional Relationship. A confidential communication refers to any information exchanged between a patient and a physician in the course of that relationship and in confidence [Evid Code § 992].

Cross Reference:

California physician-patient privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.17.

24.43[3] Patient Is Holder of Privilege. The California physician-patient privilege permits a patient, as the holder of the privilege, to refuse to disclose, and to prevent another from disclosing, a confidential communication between the patient and the physician [Evid Code § 994].

24.43[4] Physician or Other Representative May Claim Privilege on Patient's Behalf. A person authorized to claim the physician-patient privilege by the patient may claim the privilege [Evid Code § 994(b)]. Similarly, the person who was the physician at the time of the confidential communication may also claim the privilege on behalf of the patient, unless instructed otherwise by the patient or other authorized person [Evid Code § 994(c)].

24.43[5] Physician Must Claim Privilege If Present When Disclosure Sought. The physician who participated in a communication covered by the physician-patient privilege must claim the privilege if the physician is present when disclosure is sought and is authorized to claim the privilege [Evid Code § 995].

Cross Reference:

California physician-patient privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.17.

24.43[6] Placing Medical Condition in Controversy Will Waive Privilege. The California physician-patient privilege is generally inapplicable when the patient is a litigant and has placed his or her medical condition in controversy [Evid Code § 996].

24.43[7] Express Statutory Exceptions. The California physician-patient privilege is subject to numerous statutory exceptions, including:

- Commission of crime or tort [Evid Code § 997];
- Criminal proceedings [Evid Code § 998];
- Damages for patient's conduct [Evid Code § 999];
- Issue of breach of duty [Evid Code § 1001];
- Matters that must be publicly reported [Evid Code § 1006]; and
- Proceedings as to patient's competency [Evid Code §§ 1004, 1005].

Cross Reference:

California physician-patient privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.17.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsErie DoctrineCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesDoctor-Patient PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesDoctor-Patient PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesDoctor-Patient PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
C. Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.44

24.44 CHECKLIST: Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege.

☐ Determine whether federal common law or state privilege law applies.

Discussion:
See § 24.50

☐ Check local discovery rules.

☐ Determine whether there has been a communication with a licensed professional:

- ○ Was communication confidential?

Discussion:
See § 24.46

○ Determine if mental condition of patient is in controversy.

Discussion:
See § 24.47

☐ Review whether claim has been properly raised:

- ○ Was the claim timely?
- ○ Was the claim expressly raised?
- ○ Were the grounds stated?
- ○ Was there sufficient description of withheld material or testimony?

Discussion:
See § 24.24

☐ Determine whether the claim of privilege has been waived.

Discussion:
See § 24.23

☐ Claimant:

- ○ Keep privilege log.
- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR

26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeExceptionsEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeScope

84 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
C. Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.45

24.45 Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege Is Part of Federal Common Law.

Federal common law recognizes the psychotherapist-patient privilege [Jaffee v. Redmond (1996) 518 US 1, 11-15, 116 S Ct 1923, 135 L Ed2d 337].

Cross Reference:

Psychotherapist-patient privilege, see 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, § 504.03 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
C. Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.46

24.46 Communications With Licensed Professionals Protected.

24.46[1] Communication Must Be Confidential. The federal psychotherapist-patient privilege shields from discovery any confidential communications between a patient and a licensed psychotherapist in the course of diagnosis or treatment [Jaffee v. Redmond (1996) 518 US 1, 11-12, 116 S Ct 1923, 135 L Ed2d 337 ; see In re Grand Jury Investigation (D Or 2000) 114 F Supp2d 1054, 1056-1057 (consultation with therapist to obtain VA benefits was not confidential, so no privilege was created)]. The privilege also extends to licensed social workers engaged in psychotherapy [Jaffee v. Redmond (1996) 518 US 1, 15-17, 116 S Ct 1923, 135 L Ed2d 337].

Warning:

The federal psychotherapist-patient privilege does not extend to communications with unlicensed counselors or social workers [see Jane Student 1 v. Williams (SD Ala 2002) 206 FRD 306, 310].

24.46[2] Employee Assistance Programs Are Within Privilege. The federal psychotherapist-patient privilege extends to communications with counselors at worksite Employee Assistance Programs [Oleszko v. State Comp. Ins. Fund (9th Cir 2001) 243 F3d 1154, 1157].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
C. Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.47

24.47 Placing Mental Condition in Controversy Will Waive Privilege.

The federal psychologist-patient privilege is generally inapplicable when the patient is a litigant and has placed his or her mental or emotional condition in controversy [EEOC v. Danka Indus. (ED Mo 1997) 990 F Supp 1138, 1142].

Warning--Ninth Circuit Split:

There is a split of authority in the Ninth Circuit district courts over whether a mere claim of emotional distress is sufficient to waive the privilege, or whether the plaintiff must intend to offer the testimony of the therapist or otherwise rely on the privileged communications in order to waive the privilege [Fitzgerald v. Cassil (ND Cal 2003) 216 FRD 632, 636].

Example--Narrow View of Waiver:

Plaintiffs had not waived the privilege because they stipulated that they would not rely on any treating psychotherapist or other expert to prove their emotional distress damages, and they had not pleaded a claim for intentional or negligent infliction of emotional distress or any specific psychiatric injury or disorder [Fitzgerald v. Cassil (ND Cal 2003) 216 FRD 632, 638-640].

Example--Broad View of Waiver:

Plaintiff waived the psychologist-patient privilege because she made her emotional health near the time of the defendants' alleged misconduct an issue in the litigation by electing to seek monetary relief for emotional distress [Fritsch v. City of Chula Vista (SD Cal 1999) 196 FRD 562, 568-570].

Cross Reference:

Waiver of psychologist-patient privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.50[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient

PrivilegeWaiver

87 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
C. Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.48

24.48 Ninth Circuit Does Not Recognize Crime-Fraud Exception.

The Ninth Circuit has not determined whether the crime-fraud exception applies in this context [United States v. Chase (9th Cir 2003) 340 F3d 978, 992 n8 , cert. denied, (2004) (expressly reserving issue)].

There is authority in other circuits that the federal psychotherapist-patient privilege is subject to the crime-fraud exception, so that communications to a therapist in furtherance of an ongoing or future crime are not protected [see, e.g., In re Grand Jury Proceedings (Violette) (1st Cir 1999) 183 F3d 71, 74].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeExceptions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
C. Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.49

24.49 Ninth Circuit Does Not Recognize Dangerous Patient Exception.

The Ninth Circuit has expressly declined to recognize a dangerous-patient exception to the federal psychotherapist-patient privilege [United States v. Chase (9th Cir 2003) 340 F3d 978, 992 , cert. denied, 540 U.S. 1220 (2004) (admission of psychiatrist's testimony about defendant's threats against FBI agents was harmless error).

Distinguish:

California law recognizes the dangerous patient exception [Evid Code § 1024; see also Tarasoff v. Regents of Univ. of Cal. (1976) 17 C3d 425, 439-440, 131 CR 14 (psychotherapist's duty to disclose to avert danger to others)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeExceptions

89 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
C. Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.50

24.50 Psychologist-Patient Privilege Under California Law.

In a diversity action or other action in which California law provides the substantive law, the psychologist-patient privilege as defined by California statutes will govern. These statutes contain numerous express provisions as to the scope of the privilege, who may claim it, and waiver and exceptions to the privilege [see Evid Code §§ 1010-1026].

Cross Reference:

California psychologist-patient privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.18.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
C. Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.51

24.51 Related California Privileges.

24.51[1] Sexual Assault Counselor and Victim. In addition to a psychologist-patient privilege, California statutes also recognize a privilege of a sexual-assault victim to refuse to disclose confidential communications between the victim and the victim's counselor [see Evid Code § 1035 et seq.].

Cross Reference:

California sexual-assault victim-counselor privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.21.

24.51[2] Domestic Violence Counselor and Victim. California statutes recognize a privilege of a domestic-violence victim to refuse to disclose confidential communications between the victim and the victim's counselor [see Evid Code § 1037 et seq.].

Cross Reference:

California domestic-violence victim-counselor privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.22.

24.51[3] Human Trafficking Victim and Caseworker. California statutes recognize a privilege of a human trafficking victim to refuse to disclose confidential communications between the victim and the victim's caseworker [see Evid Code § 1038 et seq.].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesClergy CommunicationsScopeEvidencePrivilegesDoctor-Patient PrivilegeScopeEvidencePrivilegesPsychotherapist-Patient PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
D. Clergy-Penitent Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.52

24.52 CHECKLIST: Clergy-Penitent Privilege.

☐ Determine whether federal common law or state privilege law applies.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.53, 24.55

☐ Check local discovery rules.

☐ Determine whether there has been a confidential communication with a member of the clergy:

- ○ Was the communication made during spiritual counseling?

Discussion:
See § 24.54

☐ Review whether claim has been properly raised:

- ○ Was the claim timely?
- ○ Was the claim expressly raised?
- ○ Were the grounds stated?

- ○ Was there sufficient description of withheld material or testimony?

Discussion:
See § 24.24

☐ Determine whether the claim of privilege has been waived.

Discussion:
See § 24.23

☐ Claimant:

- ○ Keep privilege log.
- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesClergy CommunicationsGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesClergy CommunicationsElementsEvidencePrivilegesClergy CommunicationsExceptionsEvidencePrivilegesClergy CommunicationsScope

92 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
D. Clergy-Penitent Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.53

24.53 Privilege Is Part of Federal Common Law.

Federal common law recognizes a clergy-penitent privilege [see Trammel v. United States (1980) 445 US 40, 51, 100 S Ct 906, 63 L Ed2d 186 ; Mockaitis v. Harcleroad (9th Cir 1995) 104 F3d 1522, 1532].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesClergy CommunicationsGeneral Overview

93 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
D. Clergy-Penitent Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.54

24.54 Privilege Applies to Spiritual Counseling.

The federal clergy-penitent privilege applies only to communications between a penitent and a clergyperson that are made to the minister in a spiritual capacity to obtain spiritual aid or counseling [see Mockaitis v. Harcleroad (9th Cir 1995) 104 F3d 1522, 1532].

Cross Reference:

Federal clergy-penitent privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.50[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesClergy CommunicationsGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesClergy CommunicationsElementsEvidencePrivilegesClergy CommunicationsScope

94 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
D. Clergy-Penitent Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.55

24.55 California Statutory Provisions Apply in Diversity Actions.

In a diversity action or other action in which California law provides the substantive law to be applied, the California statutes creating and defining the scope of the clergy-penitent privilege will be applicable [Evid Code §§ 1030-1034].

Cross Reference:

California clergy-penitent privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.20.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsErie DoctrineCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesClergy CommunicationsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
E. Privileges From Marital Relationship

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.56

24.56 CHECKLIST: Marital Privileges.

☐ Determine whether federal common law or state privilege law applies.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.57, 24.58[6], 24.59[4]

☐ Check local discovery rules.

☐ Ascertain whether the confidential marital communication privilege applies:

- ○ Was there a valid marriage?
- ○ Was the communication during the marriage?
- ○ Was the communication confidential?
- ○ Does the criminal activities exception apply?

Discussion:
See § 24.58

☐ Ascertain whether the adverse testimony privilege applies:

- Was there a valid marriage at the time of the testimony?
- Is the privilege holder willing to testify against spouse?

Discussion:
See § 24.59

☐ Review whether claim has been properly raised:

- Was the claim timely?
- Was the claim expressly raised?
- Were the grounds stated?
- Was there sufficient description of withheld material or testimony?

Discussion:
See § 24.24

☐ Determine whether the claim of privilege has been waived.

Discussion:
See § 24.23

☐ Claimant:

- Keep privilege log.
- Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawApplicabilityCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesMarital PrivilegesGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesMarital PrivilegesAdverse Spousal TestimonyGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesMarital PrivilegesConfidential CommunicationsGeneral Overview

96 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
E. Privileges From Marital Relationship

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.57

24.57 Spousal Privileges Are Part of Federal Common Law.

Federal common law recognizes spousal privilege [Trammel v. United States (1980) 445 US 40, 51, 100 S Ct 906, 63 L Ed2d 186 ; Wolfle v. United States (1934) 291 US 7, 13, 54 S Ct 279, 78 L Ed 617], which consists of two components:

- The confidential communications privilege; and
- The adverse testimony privilege.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesMarital PrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
E. Privileges From Marital Relationship

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.58

24.58 Privilege Exists for Confidential Marital Communications.

24.58[1] Claimant Must Be Validly Married at Time of Communication. In order to invoke the marital privilege protecting confidential communications between spouses, the privilege claimant must have been validly married under state law at the time of the communications [United States v. Lustig (9th Cir 1977) 555 F2d 737, 747-748 (because Alaska does not recognize common law marriage, defendant cannot claim marital communications privilege)].

Distinguish--Privileges Accorded Registered Domestic Partners Under California Law:
Under California law, registered domestic partners are accorded the same privileges with respect to not testifying against each other and with respect to confidential communications as spouses [see Fam Code § 297.5; see also Evid Code §§ 970 et seq. (privilege not to testify against spouse), 980 et seq. (privilege for confidential marital communications)].

24.58[2] Privilege Persists After Marriage Ends. As long as the parties were married when the confidential marital communications occurred, the privilege protecting those communications persists even if the marriage is later dissolved [Pereira v. United States (1954) 347 US 1, 6, 74 S Ct 358, 98 L Ed 435 ; United States v. Lustig (9th Cir 1977) 555 F2d 737, 747].

24.58[3] Privilege Protects Only Communications. The marital communications privilege applies only to written or verbal communications between the spouses, and so does not apply to conduct or actions of a spouse [United States v. Lustig (9th Cir 1977) 555 F2d 737, 747].

24.58[4] Communication Must Be Confidential. The marital communications privilege applies only to confidential communications between spouses, so that the simultaneous presence of a third party makes the privilege inapplicable [Wolfle v. United States (1934) 291 US 7, 13, 54 S Ct 279, 78 L Ed 617 (letter to wife that was dictated to stenographer could not be within marital communications privilege)].

24.58[5] Privilege Does Not Apply to Criminal Activities.

24.58[5][a] Crime Against Spouse or Child. The marital communications privilege does not apply to communications relating to a crime against the person or property of the spouse, or the person or property of a child of either spouse [United States v. White (9th Cir 1992) 974 F2d 1135, 1137-1138 (in prosecution for murder of child, privilege inapplicable to death threats made by defendant against spouse and victim)].

24.58[5][b] Joint Crimes of Spouses. The marital communications privilege does not apply to communications having to do with present or future crimes in which both spouses are participants [United States v. Marashi (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 724, 730]

24.58[6] California Law. In a diversity action or other action in which California law provides the substantive law to be applied, California statutes as to the marital communications privilege will be applicable [Evid Code §§ 980-986]. California state law is similar to the federal common law marital communications privilege.

Cross Reference:

California marital communications privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, §§ 2.19[1], [3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesMarital PrivilegesConfidential CommunicationsGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesMarital PrivilegesConfidential CommunicationsElementsEvidencePrivilegesMarital PrivilegesConfidential CommunicationsScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
E. Privileges From Marital Relationship

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.59

24.59 Privilege Exists for Spouse's Adverse Testimony.

24.59[1] Valid Marriage Required at Time of Testimony. In order to invoke the marital adverse testimony privilege, the spouse from whom testimony is sought must be validly married under state law at the time of the sought testimony [United States v. Lustig (9th Cir 1977) 555 F2d 737, 747-748 (because Alaska does not recognize common law marriage, defendant was not married and could not claim marital adverse testimony privilege)].

Warning--Sham Marriage:

The marital adverse testimony privilege is inapplicable when the marriage is a sham [United States v. Saniti (9th Cir 1979) 604 F2d 603, 604]. However, the mere fact that the marriage occurred in close proximity to the sought testimony is insufficient to support a determination that the marriage is a sham [In re Grand Jury Proceedings (9th Cir 1985) 777 F2d 508, 509 (fact that couple married after service of grand jury subpoena not sufficient to support finding of sham marriage)].

24.59[2] Privilege Holder May Not Be Compelled to Testify Against Spouse. The marital adverse testimony privilege permits a spouse to elect not to provide adverse testimony against the other spouse in a criminal proceeding. The adverse testimony privilege belongs to the spouse from whom testimony is sought, not to the accused spouse [Trammel v. United States (1980) 445 US 40, 51-53, 100 S Ct 906, 63 L Ed2d 186]. In the Ninth Circuit, the privilege applies even when the spouses are jointly engaged in criminal activity [United States v. Ramos-Oseguera (9th Cir 1977) 120 F3d 1028, 1042 , overruled on other grounds by United States v. Nordby (9th Cir 2000) 225 F3d 1053].

Warning:

Because the adverse testimony privilege belongs to the spouse from whom testimony is sought, the accused spouse may not invoke the privilege to exclude voluntary testimony [Trammel v. United States (1980) 445 US 40, 51-53, 100 S Ct 906, 63 L Ed2d 186].

Cross Reference:

Privilege held by spouse witness, see 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, § 505.04 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

24.59[3] Termination of Marriage Ends Privilege. The marital adverse testimony privilege lasts only as long as the marriage lasts, so that termination of the marriage by death or divorce also terminates the privilege [Pereira v. United States (1954) 347 US 1, 6, 74 S Ct 358, 98 L Ed 435].

24.59[4] California Law May Apply. In a diversity action or other action in which California law provides the substantive law to be applied, California statutes as to the marital adverse testimony privilege will be applicable [Evid Code §§ 970-973]. California state law is similar to the federal common law marital adverse testimony privilege.

Cross Reference:

California marital adverse testimony privilege, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, §§ 2.19[2], [4].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesMarital PrivilegesAdverse Spousal TestimonyGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesMarital PrivilegesAdverse Spousal TestimonyElementsEvidencePrivilegesMarital PrivilegesAdverse Spousal TestimonyScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
F. Fifth Amendment Privilege Against Self-Incrimination

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.60

24.60 CHECKLIST: Privilege Against Self-Incrimination.

☐ Determine whether Fifth Amendment privilege applies:

- ○ Is the claimant a natural person?
- ○ Is the claim for testimony?
- ○ Does the claimant have reasonable expectation of potential prosecution?

Discussion:
See §§ 24.61 -24.63

☐ Check local discovery rules.

☐ Review whether claim has been properly raised:

- ○ Must be claimed on question-by-question basis.

Discussion:
See § 24.65

☐ Claimant:

- ○ Keep privilege log.
- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeScope

100 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
F. Fifth Amendment Privilege Against Self-Incrimination

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.61

24.61 Only Natural Persons Have Fifth Amendment Rights.

The Fifth Amendment and the other provisions of the Bill of Rights establish the rights of individuals, so that only natural persons have Fifth Amendment rights [e.g., Hale v. Henkel (1906) 201 US 43, 69, 26 S Ct 370, 50 L Ed 652 (corporation may not claim Fifth Amendment privilege)].

Warning:

Corporations, associations, partnerships, labor unions, governmental bodies or agencies, and other artificial entities do not have Fifth Amendment rights and may not resist discovery on self-incrimination grounds [United States v. White (1944) 322 US 694, 698, 64 S Ct 1248, 88 L Ed 1542 (labor union); Hale v. Henkel (1906) 201 US 43, 69, 26 S Ct 370, 50 L Ed 652 (corporation)].

Cross Reference:

Fifth amendment privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.51 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeScope

101 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
F. Fifth Amendment Privilege Against Self-Incrimination

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.62

24.62 Privilege Extends to Testimony Only.

The Fifth Amendment privilege protects only against compelled testimony, so that a person may be compelled to engage in certain conduct even if that conduct may produce incriminating evidence [e.g., Schmerber v. California (1966) 384 US 757, 763-764, 86 S Ct 1826, 16 L Ed2d 908 (compelled blood sample)].

A person may be compelled to produce documentary evidence even though the contents of those documents might incriminate the person [e.g., Fisher v. United States (1976) 425 US 391, 409-410, 96 S Ct 1569, 48 L Ed2d 39 ; United States v. Blackman (9th Cir 1995) 72 F3d 1418, 1426-1427 (partner in law firm could not invoke Fifth Amendment as to production of documents belonging to firm)]. The production of the documents themselves, however, may have a testimonial aspect, and to the extent that it does, the privilege protects the individual from compelled production [United States v. Hubbell (2000) 530 US 27, 35-43, 120 S Ct 2037, 147 L Ed2d 24 (testimonial aspects of act of production were necessary step in discovery of evidence)].

Cross Reference:

Fifth amendment privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.51 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
F. Fifth Amendment Privilege Against Self-Incrimination

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.63

24.63 Reasonable Belief of Potential Prosecution Is Sufficient.

The Fifth Amendment provides protection whenever the holder of the privilege has a reasonable belief in the possibility of criminal prosecution, and there is no requirement that such a prosecution be imminent or even likely [In re Master Key Litig. (9th Cir 1974) 507 F2d 292, 293 (privilege does not depend on likelihood, but on possibility of prosecution, so that when statute of limitations had not expired, privilege was properly invoked)].

Warning--Domestic Prosecution Only.

The Fifth Amendment provides protection only as to domestic criminal prosecutions, i.e., prosecution by the federal government, or one of the States or its political subdivisions. If the declarant fears foreign prosecution, the Fifth Amendment provides no protection [United States v. Balsys (1998) 524 US 666, 669, 118 S Ct 2218, 141 L Ed2d 575].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeElements

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
F. Fifth Amendment Privilege Against Self-Incrimination

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.64

24.64 Civil Litigant May Invoke Fifth Amendment.

Although the Fifth Amendment provides protection only from criminal prosecution, a civil litigant may invoke the privilege, including in discovery, to avoid providing evidence that might be used in a subsequent criminal prosecution [e.g., Campbell v. Gerrans (9th Cir 1979) 592 F2d 1054, 1056 (district court abused discretion in dismissing action when plaintiff invoked Fifth Amendment in response to interrogatories)].

Warning--Invocation of Privilege May Have Adverse Consequences in Civil Proceedings.

Though the invocation of the Fifth Amendment may not be used against the claimant in criminal prosecutions, adverse inferences may be drawn from the invocation of the privilege in civil litigation [Baxter v. Palmigiano (1976) 425 US 308, 318-320, 96 S Ct 1551, 47 L Ed2d 810]. If the invocation of the privilege is sufficiently prejudicial to the civil litigation opponent, the claims or defenses of the privilege claimant may be dismissed [Serafino v. Hasbro, Inc. (1st Cir 1996) 82 F3d 515, 517-519].

Cross Reference:

Fifth amendment privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.51 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeScope

104 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
F. Fifth Amendment Privilege Against Self-Incrimination

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.65

24.65 Privilege Must Be Claimed on Question-by-Question Basis.

The Fifth Amendment privilege does not operate as a blanket protection from any questioning or discovery, but instead must generally be asserted on an issue-by-issue basis to be effective [see United States v. Blackman (9th Cir 1995) 72 F3d 1418, 1426 (IRS summons could not be resisted on Fifth Amendment grounds; instead, party must appear as summoned and raise objection to particular questions); Lyons v. Johnson (9th Cir 1969) 415 F2d 540, 541-542 , cert. denied, 397 U.S. 1027 (1970) (complete refusal to cooperate in discovery based on plaintiff's Fifth Amendment rights was improper, so district court properly dismissed action)].

Cross Reference:

Fifth amendment privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.51 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeScope

105 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
F. Fifth Amendment Privilege Against Self-Incrimination

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.66

24.66 California Law Recognizes Privilege Against Self-Incrimination.

California recognizes the existence of the federal and California constitutional privilege against self-incrimination [Evid Code § 940].

Cross Reference:

California privilege against self-incrimination, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, § 2.15.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesSelf-Incrimination PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
G. Qualified Privilege of Journalist to Protect Sources

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.67

24.67 CHECKLIST: Journalist's Privilege.

☐ Determine whether qualified First Amendment privilege applies.

Discussion:
See §§ 24.68, 24.70, 24.71

☐ Check local discovery rules.

☐ Can claim of privilege be defeated by the need for the information?

Discussion:
See § 24.69

☐ Review whether claim has been properly raised:

- ○ Was the claim timely?
- ○ Was the claim expressly raised?
- ○ Were the grounds stated?
- ○ Was there sufficient description of withheld material or testimony?

Discussion:
See § 24.24

☐ Determine whether the claim of privilege has been waived.

Discussion:
See § 24.23

☐ Claimant:

○ Keep privilege log.

○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.

○ Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.

○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeScope

107 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
G. Qualified Privilege of Journalist to Protect Sources

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.68

24.68 First Amendment Protects Journalists.

The federal courts have recognized the propriety of a qualified journalists' privilege that derives from the First Amendment freedom of the press [Shoen v. Shoen (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 1289, 1292 ; cf. Branzburg v. Hayes (1972) 408 US 665, 680-682, 92 S Ct 2646, 33 L Ed2d 626 (news reporter required to testify before grand jury as to confidential source)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
G. Qualified Privilege of Journalist to Protect Sources

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.69

24.69 Privilege Is Qualified Not Absolute.

The privilege of a journalist to protect sources is qualified: the privilege may be overcome by a showing that discovery of the materials sought from the journalist is appropriate under the circumstances [see Herbert v. Lando (1979) 441 US 153, 99 S Ct 1635, 60 L Ed2d 115].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
G. Qualified Privilege of Journalist to Protect Sources

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.70

24.70 Privilege Applies to Both Confidential and Nonconfidential Information.

Though the qualified journalist's privilege is designed generally to protect confidential sources of a journalist, confidentiality is not a prerequisite to the application of the privilege, as the privilege is designed to protect the news-gathering and dissemination process in general, not the specific context of confidential sources [Shoen v. Shoen (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 1289, 1294-1296]. That the information was not intended to be confidential, however, is an appropriate factor for consideration as to whether discovery should be permitted in spite of the privilege [Shoen v. Shoen (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 1289, 1295 ; see Gonzales v. NBC (2d Cir 1999) 194 F3d 29, 35 (when information is not confidential, privilege is overcome by showing relevance to significant issue in case and that information is not readily obtainable from other sources)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeElementsEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeScope

110 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
G. Qualified Privilege of Journalist to Protect Sources

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.71

24.71 Privilege Applies to Any Information Intended to Be Disseminated to Public.

Though the qualified journalist's privilege is often invoked as to members of the print or broadcast media, it is not so limited, and may be invoked by any person collecting information when the person has an intent to disseminate the information to the public [Shoen v. Shoen (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 1289, 1292-1294 (author of investigative book is "journalist" entitled to invoke privilege)].

Cross Reference:

Qualified journalist's privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.48[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
G. Qualified Privilege of Journalist to Protect Sources

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.72

24.72 Party Seeking Discovery Must Show Requested Material Is Unavailable, Relevant, and Non-Cumulative.

A litigant may be entitled to discovery despite a valid assertion of the qualified journalist's privilege by showing that the requested material is: (1) unavailable despite exhaustion of all reasonable alternative sources; (2) noncumulative; and (3) clearly relevant to an important issue in the case [Shoen v. Shoen (9th Cir 1995) 48 F3d 412, 416].

The exhaustion element is applied fairly rigorously, so that the party seeking discovery must have exhausted all reasonable avenues of obtaining the desired information from another source [Shoen v. Shoen (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 1289, 1292-1294 ; Condit v. National Enquirer, Inc. (ED Cal 2003) 289 F Supp2d 1175 (plaintiff required to pursue evidence as to identity of informant before seeking discovery of that information from journalist)].

Cross Reference:

Qualified journalist's privilege, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.48[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesJournalist's PrivilegeExceptions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
H. California Right to Privacy

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.73

24.73 CHECKLIST: Right to Privacy.

☐ Determine whether California constitutional right to privacy applies.

Discussion:
See § 24.74

☐ Check local discovery rules.

☐ Determine whether need for disclosure outweighs privacy interest.

Discussion:
See § 24.74

☐ Review whether claim has been properly raised:

- ○ Was the claim timely?
- ○ Was the claim expressly raised?
- ○ Were the grounds stated?
- ○ Was there sufficient description of withheld material or testimony?

Discussion:
See § 24.24

☐ Determine whether the claim of privilege has been waived.

Discussion:
See § 24.23

☐ Claimant:

- ○ Keep privilege log.
- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawState Constitutional OperationEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
H. California Right to Privacy

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.74

24.74 California Constitution Guarantees Right to Privacy.

In a diversity action or other action in which California law provides the substantive law to be applied, the California constitutional guarantee of privacy may provide protection from discovery as to matters that fall within a "zone of privacy" recognized by that guarantee [Cal Const, art I, § 1]. Matters that fall within the "zone of privacy" include:

- Associational affairs [Britt v. Superior Court (1978) 20 C3d 844, 852-856, 143 CR 695, 574 P2d 766];
- Medical history [Heda v. Superior Court (1990) 225 CA3d 525, 529, 275 CR 136];
- Personnel files [El Dorado Sav. & Loan Ass'n v. Superior Court (1987) 190 CA3d 342, 345-346, 235 CR 303]; and
- Sexual history [Vinson v. Superior Court (1987) 43 C3d 833, 841-842, 239 CR 292, 740 P2d 404].

To the extent that the California Constitution creates a state privilege against disclosure, it is not entitled to legal recognition in a federal question case pending in federal court [Ceramic Corp. of Am. v. Inka Mar. Corp. (CD Cal 1995) 163 FRD 584, 588 ; see Kerr v. United States Dist. Ct. (9th Cir 1975) 511 F2d 192, 197 ("[i]n federal question cases the clear weight of authority and logic supports reference to federal law on the issue of the existence and scope of an asserted privilege")]. However, if a state doctrine promoting confidentiality does not conflict with federal interest, it may be taken into account as a matter of comity [Ceramic Corp. of Am. v. Inka Mar. Corp. (CD Cal 1995) 163 FRD 584, 588 ; see 24.17].

Cross Reference:

California privilege deriving from guarantee of privacy, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Civil Discovery, §§ 2.33 -2.38.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawState Constitutional OperationEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
H. California Right to Privacy

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.75

24.75 Privacy Interest Is Balanced Against Need for Disclosure.

When a party resists discovery based on an applicable privacy guarantee of the California constitution, the privilege is not absolute; instead, the court is to balance the privacy interest of the privilege claimant against the need of the parties for the desired information. If the balance weighs in favor of disclosure, the court should narrowly tailor the discovery to protect the privacy interest to the greatest extent possible [see, e.g., Save Open Space Santa Monica Mountains v. Superior Court (2001) 84 CA4th 235, 252-254, 100 CR2d 725].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawState Constitutional OperationEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

115 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
H. California Right to Privacy

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.76

24.76 Party May Claim Privacy Interest of Non-Party.

A party in receipt of a discovery request that implicates the California constitutional privacy rights of some third party may assert that party's rights [Denari v. Superior Court (1989) 215 CA3d 1488, 1498-1499, 264 CR 261 ; see Cook v. Yellow Freight Sys. (ED Cal 1990) 132 FRD 548, 551-552].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawState Constitutional OperationEvidencePrivilegesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
I. Deliberative Process Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.77

24.77 CHECKLIST: Deliberative Process Privilege.

☐ Determine whether federal common law or state privilege law applies.

Discussion:
See § 24.78

☐ Check local discovery rules.

☐ Is the government withholding documents or testimony that reflects advisory opinions, recommendations, and deliberations:

- ○ Is a government decision making process involved?
- ○ Is the material withheld pre-decisional?
- ○ Does the material related to process not facts?

Discussion:
See §§ 24.80, 24.83

☐ Does the need for the information outweigh the government's interest?

Discussion:
See § 24.84

☐ Review whether claim has been properly raised:

- ○ Formal claim of privilege must be made, after actual consideration by the head of the department;
- ○ Government must provide precise and certain reasons for asserting confidentiality; and
- ○ The claim must identify and describe the information or documents sought to be shielded.

Discussion:
See § 24.82

☐ Determine whether the claim of privilege has been waived.

Discussion:
See § 24.23

☐ Claimant:

- ○ Keep privilege log.
- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:

CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:

See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeDeliberative Process PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesProcedures to Claim PrivilegesEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesWaiver

117 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
I. Deliberative Process Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.78

24.78 Federal Common Law Recognizes Qualified Deliberative Process Privilege.

Under the privilege, a government can withhold documents or prevent testimony that reflects advisory opinions, recommendations, and deliberations comprising part of a process by which government decisions and policies are formulated [Sanchez v. City of Santa Ana (9th Cir 1990) 936 F2d 1027, 1040 ; FTC v. Warner Communications, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 742 F2d 1156, 1161 ; North Pacifica, LLC v. City of Pacifica (ND Cal 2003) 274 F Supp2d 1118, 1120-1121].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeDeliberative Process Privilege

118 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
I. Deliberative Process Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.79

24.79 Privilege Protects Documents and Testimony.

In most cases, the privilege has been invoked to protect documents [North Pacifica, LLC v. City of Pacifica (ND Cal 2003) 274 F Supp2d 1118, 1120-1121]. However, courts have applied the privilege to testimony as well as documents and have made no distinction in the application of the privilege with respect to the two kinds of evidence [see, e.g., Newport Pac., Inc. v. County of San Diego (SD Cal 2001) 200 FRD 628, 636-638 (discussing privilege with respect to depositions of legislative aides to county board); Artfield Builders, Inc. v. Buffalo Grove (ND Ill 1992) 1992 US Dist LEXIS 16328, at *4-*11 (discussing privilege with respect to depositions of village board members)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeDeliberative Process Privilege

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
I. Deliberative Process Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.80

24.80 Privilege Applies to Pre-decisional Documents.

In order to qualify for the privilege, the document must be both pre-decisional and deliberative, meaning it must actually be related to the process by which policy is formulated [Greenpeace v. National Marine Fisheries Serv. (WD Wash 2000) 198 FRD 540, 543].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeDeliberative Process Privilege

120 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
I. Deliberative Process Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.81

24.81 Privilege Applies to State Agencies.

Though the privilege is primarily a creation of federal common law, it has also been applied to state agencies [e.g., J.R. Norton Co. v. Arizmendi (SD Cal 1985) 108 FRD 647, 649 (California state labor agency)] and political subdivisions of the state [North Pacifica, LLC v. City of Pacifica (ND Cal 2003) 274 F Supp2d 1118, 1121 (city council); Newport Pac. Inc. v. County of San Diego (SD Cal 2001) 200 FRD 628, 638 (legislative aides to local planning commission)].

Distinguish:

The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) and its exemptions must be consulted as to discovery of information in the hands of the federal government. Exemption 5 of FOIA [5 USC § 552(b)(5)] is essentially a recognition of the deliberative process privilege as it applies to federal agencies [see Carter v. United States Dept. of Commerce (9th Cir 2002) 307 F3d 1084, 1088-1089].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeDeliberative Process Privilege

121 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
I. Deliberative Process Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.82

24.82 Government Agency Must Establish Applicability of Privilege.

The government bears the burden of invoking the deliberative process privilege and establishing its applicability to the materials sought through discovery [Greenpeace v. National Marine Fisheries Serv. (WD Wash 2000) 198 FRD 540, 543] and must [see United States v. Ernstoff (DNJ 1998) 183 FRD 148, 152]:

- Make a formal claim of privilege, after actual consideration by the head of the department,
- Provide precise and certain reasons for asserting the confidentiality over the information or documents, and
- Identify and describe the information or documents sought to be shielded.

Cross Reference:

Government privilege for deliberative process, 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.52[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeDeliberative Process PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesProcedures to Claim Privileges

122 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
I. Deliberative Process Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.83

24.83 Facts Relied on by Government Are Not Protected.

The mere facts relied on to reach a decision generally fall outside the privilege, though a court should be careful to order disclosure of those facts in a way that will protect the agency's deliberative process relating to those facts [e.g., FTC v. Warner Communications, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 742 F2d 1156, 1161 (memoranda could not be discovered when facts underlying agency's deliberative process could not be severed from analysis itself)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeDeliberative Process Privilege

123 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
I. Deliberative Process Privilege

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.84

24.84 Government's Interest Weighed Against Need for Information.

Because the deliberative process privilege is a qualified privilege, it may be overcome when the party seeking discovery can show a particularized need for the information that outweighs the governmental interest in protecting the materials [Newport Pac. Inc. v. County of San Diego (SD Cal 2001) 200 FRD 628, 638-641 (permitting deposition of legislative aides to board member when plaintiff made required showing of relevance and need)].

Among the factors to be considered in making this determination are [FTC v. Warner Communications, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 742 F2d 1156, 1161-1162 ; North Pacifica, LLC v. City of Pacifica (ND Cal 2003) 274 F Supp2d 1118, 1122]:

- Relevance of the evidence;
- Availability of other evidence;
- Government's role in the litigation;
- Extent to which disclosure would hinder frank and independent discussion regarding contemplated policies and decisions;
- Interest of the litigants and society in accurate judicial fact finding;
- Seriousness of the litigation and the issues involved;
- Presence of issues concerning alleged governmental misconduct; and
- Federal interest in the enforcement of federal law.

Example:

In plaintiff's civil rights action alleging equal protection violations from the conditions placed on a condominium development, the plaintiff sought discovery of materials relating to the city counsel's decisions as to those conditions. The district court agreed that the deliberative process privilege applied, but held that it was overcome by the plaintiff because there was a substantial federal interest in the enforcement of federal constitutional rights, the testimony sought was highly relevant to the developer's equal protection claim, the decision-making process of the city council was central to the litigation, and the information sought might well be relevant in the ascertainment of motive [North Pacifica, LLC v. City of Pacifica (ND Cal 2003) 274 F Supp2d 1118, 1122-1126].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeDeliberative Process Privilege

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.85

24.85 CHECKLIST: Other Governmental and Law Enforcement Privileges.

☐ Privilege to withhold state secrets.

Discussion:
See § 24.86

☐ Privilege to withhold identity of government informer.

Discussion:
See § 24.87

☐ Privilege to withhold law enforcement information.

Discussion:
See § 24.88

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeInformer PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeInvestigative Files PrivilegeEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesState Secrets Privilege

125 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
J. Other Governmental and Law Enforcement Privileges

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.86

24.86 Privilege of Government to Withhold State Secrets.

24.86[1] Privilege Is Absolute. The state secrets privilege is a federal common law evidentiary privilege that permits the government to resist discovery when the sought documents or other information should be shielded to protect state secrets with respect to military interests, national security, or related subjects [United States v. Reynolds (1953) 345 US 1, 7-8, 73 S Ct 528, 97 L Ed 727 ; Kasza v. Browner (9th Cir 1998) 133 F3d 1159, 1165 , cert. denied, 525 US 967 (1998) ; Hepting v. AT&T Corp. (ND Cal 2006) 439 F Supp2d 974, 980]. When the privilege is validly invoked, it is absolute, and no showing of need or burden can justify overriding the privilege [Kasza v. Browner (9th Cir 1998) 133 F3d 1159, 1166 , cert. denied, 525 US 967 (1998) ; United States ex rel. Schwartz v. TRW, Inc. (CD Cal 2002) 211 FRD 388, 393]. Moreover, once a document is found to be a privileged state secret, its contents cannot be proved in any way, including by any individual's memories of the document's contents [Al-Haramain Islamic Foundation, Inc. v. Bush (9th Cir 2007) 507 F3d 1190, 1204-1205] .

Strategy--Plaintiff:

The state secrets privilege, as interpreted by United States v. Reynolds (1953) 345 US 1, 73 S Ct 528, 97 L Ed 2d 727 , protects only the disclosure of the evidence itself; it does not protect against disclosure of the underlying facts, provided they can be proven without resort to the privileged materials. "By invoking the privilege over particular evidence, the evidence is completely removed from the case. The plaintiff's case then goes forward based on evidence not covered by the privilege." Therefore, within the Reynolds framework, dismissal is justified only if specific privileged evidence is itself indispensable to establishing either the truth of the plaintiff's allegations or a valid defense that would otherwise be available to the defendant [Mohamed v. Jeppesen Dataplan, Inc. (9th Cir 2009) 579 F.3d 943, 957-958] .

Cross Reference:

State secrets privilege, see 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, §§ 509.10 -509.13 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

24.86[2] Privilege Must Be Claimed by Head of Department. A claim of state secrets privilege must be made by the head of the department that has control over the matter, after actual personal consideration by the officer. The privilege belongs to the government alone, and can be neither claimed nor waived by a private party [United States v. Reynolds (1953) 345 US 1, 7-8, 73 S Ct 528, 97 L Ed 727]. Even if the government is not a party to the action, the government may intervene to assert the state secrets privilege [United States ex rel. Schwartz v. TRW, Inc. (CD Cal 2002) 211 FRD 388, 393]. Once asserted, the court should afford some deference to the claim of privilege, but must also determine whether the circumstances are appropriate for the claim of privilege, without, of course, forcing disclosure of the very thing the privilege is designed to protect [United States v. Reynolds (1953) 345 US 1, 7-8, 73 S Ct 528, 97 L Ed 727].

Because of the importance of the issues at stake, when the head of the department has not properly claimed the privilege, the court may grant additional time for the government to do so [e.g., United States ex rel. Schwartz v. TRW, Inc. (CD Cal 2002) 211 FRD 388, 393-394 (court granted government additional 60 days to raise state secrets privilege despite failure to do so in response to earlier subpoena)].

24.86[3] Dismissal of Action May Result. If the state secrets privilege applies, and the claims or defenses of the parties cannot succeed without the protected matter, the court may have no choice but to dismiss the action or grant summary judgment [Kasza v. Browner (9th Cir 1998) 133 F3d 1159, 1166 , cert. denied, 525 US 967 (1998) (if plaintiff cannot prove prima facie elements of claim with nonprivileged evidence, then court may dismiss claims as it would with any plaintiff who cannot prove case)].

Distinguish:

A case based on the government's breach of an alleged espionage agreement is categorically barred and must be dismissed on the pleadings without ever reaching the question of the state secrets evidentiary privilege [see Tenet v. Doe (2005) 544 US 1, 125 S Ct 1230, 161 L Ed 2d 82, 92 ; Totten v. United States (1875) 92 US 105, 107, 23 L Ed 605].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesState Secrets Privilege

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
J. Other Governmental and Law Enforcement Privileges

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.87

24.87 Identity of Government Informant May Be Withheld.

24.87[1] Privilege Is Qualified. The government has a qualified privilege to withhold from disclosure the identity of persons who furnish information of violations of law to officers charged with enforcement of that law [Roviaro v. United States (1957) 353 US 53, 59, 77 S Ct 623, 1 L Ed2d 639].

Cross Reference:

Informant identity privilege, see 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, §§ 510.01 -510.09 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

24.87[2] Showing of Fairness Required to Overcome Privilege. The qualified privilege to withhold an informant's identity must be applied in light of the fundamental requirements of fairness. When the disclosure of the informant's identity, or of the contents of the informant's communication, is relevant and essential to a fair determination of an action, the privilege is overcome [Roviaro v. United States (1957) 353 US 53, 60-62, 77 S Ct 623, 1 L Ed2d 639]. When the party seeking disclosure of the identity of an informant fails to demonstrate how the information is relevant or essential to its claims or defenses, the identity of the informant must remain confidential [McCray v. Castro (ND Cal 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 7259, at *25-*26 (raising nothing more than mere suspicion that information might be helpful is insufficient)].

24.87[3] Law Enforcement Officer Is Not Informant. The qualified privilege to withhold an informant's identity applies to private citizens or other parties who assist law enforcement officers, and does not apply to the officers themselves [e.g., Wahad v. FBI (SDNY 1990) 132 FRD 17, 24 (corrections officer)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeInformer Privilege

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
J. Other Governmental and Law Enforcement Privileges

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.88

24.88 Government May Withhold Information to Assist Law Enforcement.

The "official information privilege" is available to protect information collected by a law enforcement agency and may be asserted by the agency in a federal civil rights suit against it [Kelly v. City of San Jose (ND Cal 1987) 114 FRD 653, 660].The government may also refuse to disclose the contents of an investigative file or other documents or information relating to an ongoing investigation if disclosure of the materials would tend to undermine the integrity of the investigation [see In re Sealed Case (DC Cir 1988) 856 F2d 268, 271 (privilege applies both to files themselves, and testimony about their contents)]. This privilege is referred to as the law enforcement investigative privilege. Factors to be considered when evaluating a claim of law enforcement investigative privilege include [see Tri-Star Airlines, Inc. v. Willis Careen Corp. (WD Tenn 1999) 75 F Supp2d 835, 840]:

- Whether disclosure will thwart governmental processes by discouraging citizens from giving the government information;
- The impact upon persons who have given information of having their identities disclosed;
- The degree to which governmental self-evaluation and improvement will be chilled;
- Whether the information is factual or evaluative;
- Whether the party seeking discovery is an actual or potential defendant in any criminal proceeding pending or likely to follow;
- Whether the police investigation has been completed;
- Whether any interdepartmental proceedings have arisen or may arise from the investigation;
- Whether the plaintiff's suit is non-frivolous and brought in good faith;
- Whether the information sought is available through other discovery; and

- The importance of the information sought to the plaintiff's case.

The law enforcement investigative privilege belongs to the government, not the person or entity investigated, so that only the government has standing to assert the privilege [Dean Foods Co. v. Eastman Chem. Co. (ND Cal 2001) 2001 US Dist LEXIS 25447, at *9].

To invoke the official information privilege in response to a discovery request, an agency must submit a declaration or affidavit, under oath or penalty of perjury, from a responsible official within the agency who has personal knowledge of the principal matters to be attested to in the affidavit or declaration at the time it files and serves its response to the discovery request. The declaration must, among other things [Ramirez v. County of Los Angeles (CD Cal 2005) 231 FRD 407, 411 ; Miller v Pancucci (CD Cal 1992) 141 FRD 292, 300]:

- Specifically identify the governmental or privacy interests that would be threatened by disclosure;

- Specifically describe how disclosure of the requested information in the instant case would be harmful;

- Describe how disclosure subject to a carefully crafted protective order would create a substantial risk of harm to significant governmental or privacy interests; and

- Provide a projection of how much harm would be done to the threatened interests if the disclosure were made.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesGovernment PrivilegesOfficial Information PrivilegeInvestigative Files Privilege

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.89

24.89 CHECKLIST: Trade Secrets.

☐ Determine whether federal common law or state privilege law applies.

Discussion:
See § 24.90

☐ Check definition of trade secrets.

Discussion:
See § 24.90

☐ Check local discovery rules.

☐ Is there a possibility of limited disclosure?

Discussion:
See §§ 24.91, 24.92

☐ Review whether claim has been properly raised:

○ Was the claim timely?

- ○ Was the claim expressly raised?
- ○ Were the grounds stated?
- ○ Was there sufficient description of withheld material or testimony?

Discussion:
See § 24.24

☐ Determine whether the claim of privilege has been waived.

Discussion:
See § 24.23

☐ Claimant:

- ○ Keep privilege log.
- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

- ○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.
- ○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:

See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsElementsEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
K. Trade Secrets

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.90

24.90 Defining "Trade Secret."

The term trade secret is quite broadly defined in the common law, and includes any business data or process that gives its holder a better competitive position, and the value of which is dependent on or enhanced by secrecy. The Supreme Court has approved the following formulation of the term [Ruckelshaus v. Monsanto Co. (1984) 467 US 986, 1001, 104 S Ct 2862, 81 L Ed2d 815 , quoting Restatement of Torts, § 757, Comment b)]:

> Any formula, pattern, device or compilation of information which is used in one's business, and which gives him an opportunity to obtain an advantage over competitors who do not know or use it.

In a diversity action or other action in which California law provides the substantive law to be applied, the California definition of "trade secret" may be applicable. That definition provides that a trade secret is information, including a formula, pattern, compilation, program, device, method, technique, or process that: (1) derives independent economic value from not being known generally to the public or other persons; and (2) is the subject of efforts that are reasonable to maintain its secrecy [Evid Code § 1060(a)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsElementsEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsScope

130 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
K. Trade Secrets

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.91

24.91 Limited Disclosure May Be Allowed.

A district court can make any order to protect a trade secret or confidential information by designating the way in which it is disclosed [see Fed R Civ P 26(c); Chan v. Intuit, Inc. (ND Cal 2003) 218 FRD 659, 661-662].

When determining counsel's access to the opposing parties' confidential information, a court should balance the risk of inadvertent disclosure of trade secrets and the risk of impairing the process of litigation by denying discovery [Chan v. Intuit, Inc. (ND Cal 2003) 218 FRD 659, 661-662].

Cross Reference:

Protection of trade secrets, see 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, §§ 508.01 -508.07 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsExceptionsEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsScopeTrade Secrets LawCivil ActionsDiscovery

131 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
K. Trade Secrets

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.92

24.92 Party Claiming Trade Secret Must Show Need to Protect Information.

A party or other person resisting discovery bears the burden of establishing that the information sought constitutes a trade secret, and that the need to protect the information outweighs the need of the parties to obtain the information for the conduct of the litigation [see Valley Indus. Servs., Inc. v EEOC (ND Cal 1983) 570 F Supp 902 (request for protective order as to trade secrets obtained during investigation by Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) denied when Act requires that all information obtained during investigation and conciliation stages of EEOC proceedings be kept confidential)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsGeneral OverviewTrade Secrets LawCivil ActionsDiscovery

132 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
K. Trade Secrets

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.93

24.93 State Law Requires Pleading of Trade Secret in Misappropriation Case.

California law requires that a plaintiff suing for misappropriation of trade secrets must specifically identify the trade secrets it claims the defendant misappropriated before engaging in discovery related to the trade secrets [CCP § 2019.210]. Though this statute could be interpreted as providing merely a pleading rule, the Southern District court has concluded that this is a substantive provision of law that is applicable even in a diversity action in federal court [Computer Econs., Inc. v. Gartner Group, Inc. (SD Cal 1999) 50 F Supp2d 980, 986-990 (because statute does not conflict with federal pleading rules or discovery rules, it may be applied even in diversity action removed to federal court)]. The Northern District has also applied this state-law requirement to a suit based on disclosure of trade secrets in violation of a nondisclosure agreement [Neothermia Corp. v. Rubicor Med., Inc. (ND Cal 2004) 345 F Supp2d 1042, 1043-1044].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsGeneral OverviewEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsElementsEvidencePrivilegesTrade SecretsScopeTrade Secrets LawCivil ActionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.94

24.94 CHECKLIST: Work Product Protection.

☐ Item Status. Ascertain whether allegedly protected material is:

- ○ Embodied in:
  - ☐ Document.
  - ☐ Other tangible thing.
- ○ Prepared or produced by:
  - ☐ Attorney.
  - ☐ Client.
  - ☐ Representative of attorney or client.
- ○ Prepared or produced because of:
  - ☐ Ongoing litigation.
  - ☐ Anticipated future litigation.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3)

Discussion:
See § 24.96

☐ Nature of Materials. Ascertain whether protected material contains:

- ○ Facts.
- ○ Opinions, mental impressions, or conclusions of attorney.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.101[2], [3]

☐ Degree of protection. Ascertain whether protected material can be discovered due to:

- ○ Substantial need for materials.
- ○ Unavailability from other means without hardship.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3)

Discussion:
See § 24.101[1]

☐ Waiver of protection. Ascertain whether protection of material has been waived by:

- ○ Disclosure to adversary, whether:
  - ☐ Voluntary, or
  - ☐ Inadvertent.
- ○ Disclosure to third party, including:
  - ☐ Co-party.
  - ☐ Government agency.

☐ Expert witness.

○ Placing material in controversy.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3); Fed R Evid 502

Discussion:
See § 24.102

☐ Claimant:

○ Keep privilege log.

○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.

○ Consider motion for protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c); CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.25, 24.36

Form:
See § 24.103

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.47

☐ Opponent:

○ Meet and confer to try to resolve privilege issues.

○ Consider motion to compel.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 37-1; ED Cal Civ LR 251(b); ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a); SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 24.27, 24.28

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.03

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductFact Work ProductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductOpinion Work ProductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductScopeCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductWaivers

134 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
V. PROTECTION FOR ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.95

24.95 Federal Rule Applies.

Because the work product protection is found in a federal rule of procedure [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3)], the required elements to invoke the work product protection are defined exclusively by federal law, even in a diversity action [Connolly Data Sys., Inc. v. Victor Techs., Inc. (SD Cal 1987) 114 FRD 89, 95], or other action in which California law provides the substantive law.

Example:

In an action involving the Federal Deposit Insurance Company, a federal forum was available only because of the presence of the FDIC as a party, and there was no other federal element to the action. Though state law therefore supplied all rules of decision, the scope and extent of any work product protection was nevertheless governed by the Federal Rules, not by state law [FDIC v. Fidelity & Deposit Co. (SD Cal 2000) 196 FRD 375, 381].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal Common LawApplicabilityCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
V. PROTECTION FOR ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.96

24.96 Defining Work Product.

24.96[1] Material to Be Protected Must Be Document or Other Tangible Thing. To be eligible for protection as attorney work product, materials sought through discovery must be either "documents" or other "tangible things" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3)(A); see Resolution Trust Corp. v. Dabney (10th Cir 1995) 73 F3d 262, 266 (conduct of attorney could not be work product)]. Moreover, even if a document or tangible thing is work product, the facts contained in the work product are not protected from discovery, though the document may be redacted or otherwise edited if necessary to protect the work product [see Powell v. United States Dep't of Justice (ND Cal 1984) 584 F Supp 1508, 1520 (in context of work product, court must be sensitive to possibility that disclosure of facts in documents will reveal attorney's tactical or strategic thoughts)].

Cross Reference:

Attorney work product restricted to documents and tangible things, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.70[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.96[2] Material Must Be Prepared by or for Party, Attorney, or Representative. To be eligible for protection as attorney work product, materials must be prepared by or for a party, or by or for a party's representative, including an "attorney, consultant, surety, indemnitor, insurer or agent" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3)(A)]. Accordingly, a document prepared by or for a nonparty to an action cannot be work product in that action, even if the nonparty admittedly prepared the document for other related litigation [see In re Cal. Public Util. Comm'n (9th Cir 1989) 892 F2d 778, 781 (nonparty governmental agency could not assert work product protection for documents it prepared for separate administrative action)].

Example:

In a civil rights suit alleging malicious prosecution, discovery was sought of the content of the files of the deputy district attorneys prosecuting the prior actions. The district court denied the motion to quash the subpoenas, concluding that because the County was not a party in the civil rights action, the district attorneys could not assert work product protection for the files [Doubleday v. Ruh (ED Cal 1993) 149 FRD 601, 605-606]. In contrast, the work product privilege of a criminal defendant does apply in a subsequent civil litigation in which the criminal defendant is the civil rights plaintiff [see, e.g., Tennison v. City & County of San Francisco (ND Cal 2005) 226 FRD 615, 619-620].

Exception:

A document or other tangible thing produced by illegal or unethical conduct of a party or attorney will not be protected as attorney work product [e.g., Smith v. WNA Carthage, L.L.C. (ED Tex 2001) 200 FRD 576, 578 (clandestine recordings of witness interviews, whether by party or counsel, are not shielded under work product doctrine)].

Cross Reference:

Attorney work product requires preparation by party, attorney, or representative, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.70[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.96[3] Material Must Be Prepared Because of Existing or Anticipated Litigation. To be eligible for protection as attorney work product, materials must be "prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3)(A)]. This language clearly includes materials prepared for the particular action being litigated. The litigation for which the materials were prepared, however, need not have already commenced; instead, work product protection extends to materials generated because of an identifiable prospect of future litigation [Fox v. California Sierra Fin. Servs. (ND Cal 1988) 120 FRD 520, 524]. Materials produced in the ordinary course of business, however, do not enjoy work product protection merely because they prove to be of value in subsequent litigation [Miller v. Pancucci (CD Cal 1992) 141 FRD 292, 303 (police report prepared as matter of course after citizen complaint was not work product)].

Examples:

When a claims adjuster for a city's insurer interviewed police officers for the purposes of determining whether or not the insurer should pay the plaintiff's claims, the interviews were in the ordinary course of the insurer's business and therefore could not be attorney work product. Subsequent interviews conducted by the same adjuster after denial of the claim, however, were in anticipation of the plaintiff's litigation against the insurer, and so were protected work product [Garcia v. City of El Centro (SD Cal 2003) 214 FRD 587, 593-595].

An attorney's communications with state agencies as to compliance with securities laws were not protected work product when the work was performed to assist in the sale and marketing of the securities, not in anticipation of any litigation over those securities [Fox v. California Sierra Fin. Servs. (ND Cal 1988) 120 FRD 520, 524].

24.96[4] Protection Extends Beyond Confidential Communications. The work product doctrine extends beyond confidential communications between the attorney and client to documents prepared in anticipation of litigation by or for the attorney [United States v. Bergonzi (ND Cal 2003) 216 FRD 487, 492 (noting that there is no requirement, when determining whether the protection applies, that the attorney and client intend to maintain the material in confidence)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductScope

136 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
V. PROTECTION FOR ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.97

24.97 Protection Does Not Expire.

Work product protection, once attached to a document, does not expire merely because the litigation for which the document was produced has come to an end [see FTC v. Grolier Inc. (1983) 462 US 19, 25-28, 103 S Ct 2209, 76 L Ed2d 387]. If a document is created both in anticipation of litigation, and for a distinct, unrelated purpose, the document is not work product when the document would have been prepared irrespective of the prospect of litigation [see Griffith v. Davis (CD Cal 1995) 161 FRD 687, 698-699]. If, however, the other reason is inextricably intertwined with the litigation-related reason, the document is work product [United States ex rel. Bagley v. TRW, Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 212 FRD 554, 560].

Strategic Point:

When a document has been admittedly prepared for multiple reasons, the party trying to invoke work product protection should attempt to show that the prospect of litigation was a substantial factor in the mix of considerations, purposes, or forces that led to preparation of the document [see Jumpsport, Inc. v. Jumpking, Inc. (ND Cal 2003) 213 FRD 329, 330-331].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
V. PROTECTION FOR ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.98

24.98 Protection May Apply to Dual-Purpose Documents.

With respect to dual-purpose documents: a document should be deemed prepared in anticipation of litigation and thus eligible for work product protection under Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3) if in light of the nature of the document and the factual situation in the particular case, the document can be fairly said to have been prepared or obtained because of the prospect of litigation [United States v. Torf (In re Grand Jury Subpoena) (9th Cir 2003) 357 F3d 900, 907].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductScope

138 of 142 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
V. PROTECTION FOR ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.99

24.99 Either Client or Attorney May Claim Work Product Protection.

The work product protection may be claimed either by a party or by an attorney [Doubleday v. Ruh (ED Cal 1993) 149 FRD 601, 606 n5 (counsel who prepare work product are holders of work product immunity in addition to party for whom work product was prepared)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
V. PROTECTION FOR ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.100

24.100 Initial Burden of Proof Is on Party Claiming Work Product Protection.

The party asserting that materials sought through discovery enjoy work product protection bears the initial burden of establishing that the doctrine applies [Garcia v. City of El Centro (SD Cal 2003) 214 FRD 587, 591].

If the party resisting discovery carries its initial burden to show that work product protection is available, the burden of proof shifts, and the party seeking discovery must overcome the work product protection by showing substantial need for the materials and inability to obtain their equivalent without undue hardship [Garcia v. City of El Centro (SD Cal 2003) 214 FRD 587, 591].

Cross Reference:

Burden of proof as to work product protection, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.70[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
V. PROTECTION FOR ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.101

24.101 Work Product Is Not Absolute Protection.

24.101[1] Material May Be Discoverable on Showing of Substantial Need and Undue Hardship. The applicability of the work product doctrine is not an absolute protection of the materials from discovery; instead, discovery is nevertheless available when the requesting party shows that it "has substantial need for the materials to prepare its case and cannot, without undue hardship, obtain their substantial equivalent by other means" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3)(A)(ii)].

The determination as to whether the party requesting discovery has made the necessary showing to overcome work product protection turns primarily on the application of two factors [Fletcher v. Union Pac. R.R. (SD Cal 2000) 194 FRD 666, 671]:

- Whether the sought information is an essential element in the requesting party's case; and
- Whether the party can reasonably obtain the sought information from an alternate source.

Example:

Because evidence that merely corroborates other evidence already in the case cannot be an essential element of the discovering party's case, work product sought merely for corroboration does not meet the "substantial need" test and cannot be discovered [O'Connor v. Boeing N. Am., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 216 FRD 640, 643].

Cross Reference:

Substantial need and undue hardship as to work product protection, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.70[5][b], [c], [d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.101[2] Parties Must Distinguish "Fact" and "Opinion" Work Product. The federal courts recognize a distinction between "fact" work product and "opinion" work product.

Fact word product refers to the work product of an attorney in collecting factual information, [see, e.g., Holmgren v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1992) 976 F2d 573, 576]. "Fact" work product is also known as "ordinary" work product [see, e.g., O'Connor v. Boeing N. Am., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 216 FRD 640, 642].

Opinion word product is any work product that reflects the mental impressions, conclusions, opinions, or legal theories of the attorney [see, e.g., Holmgren v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1992) 976 F2d 573, 576 (document prepared by insurance adjuster as to range of potential damages in litigation was opinion work product).]

Example:

Statement of material facts required to be filed as prerequisite to suit under False Claims Act was opinion work product because the statement revealed the attorney's legal analysis as to which facts were material to the claims presented [United States ex rel. Bagley v. TRW, Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 212 FRD 554, 563-565].

24.101[3] Party Seeking Discovery Must Show Need for Opinion Work Product Is Compelling. When a party seeks discovery of "opinion" work product, the party must make a showing beyond the basic substantial need/undue hardship test that applies to "fact" work product. Instead, the party must show that the "opinion" work product is the pivotal issue in the litigation, and that the need for the material is compelling [Holmgren v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1992) 976 F2d 573, 577-578 ; see Upjohn Co. v. United States (1981) 449 US 383, 401-402, 101 S Ct 677, 66 L Ed2d 584].

Distinguish:

Although some federal courts apply the rule that "opinion" work product is absolutely protected irrespective of the strength of the showing of need of the requesting party, the Ninth Circuit has rejected that rule, instead permitting discovery when the materials are pivotal to the case and the need for the material is compelling [Holmgren v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1992) 976 F2d 573, 577-578].

Cross Reference:

Discovery of "opinion" work product, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.70[5][b], [c], [d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductScope

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.102

24.102 Waiver of Work Product Protection.

24.102[1] Voluntary Disclosure Waives Protection. Because the work product protection is designed to restrict discovery of the protected materials from other parties to the action, voluntarily disclosing that information to an adverse party is fundamentally inconsistent with work product protection and therefore waives the protection as to the disclosed materials [see First Pac. Networks v. Atlantic Mutual Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1995) 163 FRD 574, 582-583 (sharing alleged work product with potential adversary waives protection)].

Cross Reference:

Waiver of attorney work product protection, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.70[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.102[2] Inadvertent Disclosure May Waive Protection. Fed R Evid 502, enacted on September 19, 2008, protects against the inadvertent waiver of work product protection, as well as the attorney-client privilege. The rule applies in all proceedings commenced after the date of enactment and, if "just and practicable," in all proceedings pending on that date.

- If a party produces a privileged document under circumstances that constitute a waiver of the privilege, that waiver extends to other related information only if the disclosed and undisclosed information "ought in fairness" be considered together.

- Inadvertent disclosure made at the federal level will not operate as a waiver if the holder of the protection has taken reasonable steps to prevent disclosure and has taken reasonably prompt measures to retrieve the inadvertently disclosed information, including (if applicable) following Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(B).

- Disclosure made in a state proceeding that is not subject to a state-court order concerning waiver does not constitute waiver of the work product immunity in a federal proceeding if: (1) the disclosure would not be a waiver if it had been made in a federal proceeding, or (2) if the disclosure would not be a waiver under the law of the state where the disclosure occurred.

- Federal courts may enter confidentiality orders providing that disclosure of protected material does not constitute waiver in other state or federal proceedings.

- An agreement on the effect of disclosure of a communication or information covered by the work product protection is binding only on the parties to the agreement, unless the agreement is incorporated into a court order.

Fed R Evid 502 applies to state proceedings and to federal court-annexed and federal court-mandated arbitration proceedings, in the circumstances stated in the rule. The rule applies even if state law supplies the rule of decision [Fed R Evid 502(f); see Fed R Evid 501].

Cross References:

Fed R Evid 502, see generally 3 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, Ch. 502 (Matthew Bender 2d ed.). Forms of stipulated protective orders addressing disclosure of privileged or protected information, see §§ 22.76, 22.77.

Warning:

A lawyer who receives materials that on their face appear to be subject to work product protection or otherwise confidential, under circumstances in which it is clear that the materials were not intended for the receiving lawyer, should refrain from examining the materials, notify the sending lawyer, and abide by the instructions of the lawyer who sent them. Thus, part of the duty to prevent and remedy inadvertent disclosure falls on the lawyer in receipt of that inadvertent disclosure [Gomez v. Vernon (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 1118, 1131-1132 , cert. denied sub nom. Beauclair v. Gomez, 534 US 1066 (2001) , quoting, ABA Comm. on Ethics & Prof'l Responsibility, Formal Opinion 368 (1992)].

Cross References:

Asserting claim of protection after inadvertent disclosure, 24.102[7].

Waiver of attorney work product protection, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.70[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.102[3] Disclosure to Co-Party or Other With Common Interest May Not Constitute Waiver. If a party or attorney discloses attorney work product to a co-party or other third party that has a common interest in the litigation, the disclosure waives work product protection only if it is made under circumstances that create a substantial danger that the disclosure will fall into the hands of an adverse party [Samuels v. Mitchell (ND Cal 1994) 155 FRD 195, 200-201 (revealing work product to accounting firm acting as consultant did not waive protection)].

Cross Reference:

Waiver of attorney work product protection, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.70[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.102[4] Disclosure to Government Agency May Waive Protection. When a party or attorney shares protected work product with a governmental agency, the extent of any waiver of the protection turns on whether or not the disclosure occurred in an adversarial context. If the party's interests are similar to the government's, the "common interest" rule will apply and the work product protection will be preserved [United States ex rel. Burroughs v. DeNardi Corp. (SD Cal 1996) 167 FRD 680, 685-686 (government and private party in action under False Claims Act have common interest, so that disclosure of work product does not waive protection)]. If, on the other hand, the party and the government are in an essentially adversarial position, the disclosure of work product is a waiver of the protection [In re Steinhardt Partners (2d Cir 1993) 9 F3d 230, 234-236 (because SEC and bond trader were in adversarial position when trader provided work product to agency, work product protection waived as to subsequent litigation)].

Cross Reference:

Waiver of attorney work product protection, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.70[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.102[5] Disclosure to Expert Witness May Waive Protection. An opposing party is entitled to discover not only the opinions of a testifying expert witness, but also the basis for those opinions, so that any factual or other information relied on by the expert in forming opinions is subject to discovery [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(4)]. Accordingly, if an attorney communicates work product to a testifying expert, and that information is considered or relied on in forming the expert's opinion, the information is discoverable as part of the basis of the expert's opinion and the work product protection is waived [Intermedics, Inc. v. Ventritex, Inc. (ND Cal 1991) 139 FRD 384, 388-389].

Example:

In a plaintiff's civil rights action, a consulting expert for the plaintiff provided plaintiff's counsel with some analysis of data. The plaintiff then forwarded that analysis on to its testifying expert. When the defendant sought production of the data, the plaintiff objected, arguing work product protection. The court ordered production, holding that when counsel forwards documents prepared by a non-testifying consultant to a testifying expert, they become discoverable, and any work product protection the documents may have had no longer applies [United States v. City of Torrance (CD Cal 1995) 163 FRD 590, 593].

Cross Reference:

Disclosure of attorney work product to expert, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.80[1], [2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

24.102[6] Placing Material in Controversy Waives Protection. Even if materials enjoy protection as attorney work product, the placing of those very materials in controversy in the action waives the work product protection [see United States v. Nobles (1975) 422 US 225, 239, 95 S Ct 2160, 45 L Ed2d 141 (defense decision to call investigator as impeachment witness waived work product protection as to investigator's report)].

24.102[7] Claim of Protection May Be Asserted After Disclosure. If information later determined to be protected as attorney work product was inadvertently disclosed in discovery, a procedure exists for the responding party to assert the protection claim and for the receiving party to contest the claim. The responding party may notify any party that received the information of the protection claim and the basis for it. The notice should be in writing unless the circumstances preclude it. After receiving notice, a receiving party must promptly return, sequester, or destroy the subject information, and any copies, and may not use or disclose the information until the claim is resolved. If the receiving party disclosed the information before being notified, it must take reasonable steps to retrieve it. A receiving party may present the information to the court under seal for a determination of the claim and the producing party must preserve the information until the claim is resolved [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(5)(B)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
VI. FORMS

3-24 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 24.103

24.103 Privilege Log.

Privilege Log.

PRIVILEGE LOG OF:	[name and party designation, if any, of privilege claimant]
Nature of Privilege:	[identify privilege or protection] [cite statutory or other authority for privilege]
Type of Document:	[describe document]
Date of Document:	[date]
Author of Document:	[name and, if appropriate, designation]
Recipient(s) of Document:	[name(s) and, if appropriate, designation(s)]
Custodian of Document:	[name and address of person in possession]
Subject Matter:	[describe subject matter of document in reasonable factual detail so that validity of claim of privilege can be judged]
Application of Privilege:	[describe how each element of the claim of privilege is established with respect to the document]

NOTES.

Authority:
See Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)

Cross Reference:
Preparation of privilege log, see § 24.26

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral Overview

1 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.syn

§ 25.syn Synopsis to Chapter 25: Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions

25.01 Scope.

25.02 Objective and Strategy.

25.03 CHECKLIST: Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

25.04 Options and Strategies for Compelling Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

25.04[1] Parties Should Attempt to Resolve Discovery Disputes Informally.

25.04[1][a] Parties Should Clarify Discovery Requests Without Formal Motion.

25.04[1][b] Proceeding With Discovery Response After Rejection of Informal Request for Clarification.

25.04[2] Counsel Should Weigh Cost and Delay of Motion.

25.05 Local Rules Require Attempt at Informal Resolution of Discovery Disputes Prior to Filing of Discovery Motions.

25.05[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer in Good Faith to Attempt Resolution of Any Discovery Dispute.

25.05[1][a] Good-Faith Attempt at Resolution Required Prior to Filing Motion.

25.05[1][b] Conference Required Within 10 Days of Service of Request.

25.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Stipulation of Discovery Dispute Required Prior to Filing Motion.

25.05[2][a] Written Stipulation of Nonresolution Must Be Filed and Served With Notice of Motion.

25.05[2][b] Form of Stipulation.

25.05[2][c] Counsel Must Exchange Stipulation Portions in Timely Manner.

25.05[2][d] Parties May File Supplemental Memoranda of Law.

25.05[2][e] Court Will Not Consider Discovery Motion Absent Stipulation or Declaration of Noncooperation.

25.05[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer Prior to Filing of Any Discovery Motion, and Must Prepare Joint Statement.

25.05[3][a] Counsel Must Confer Prior to Filing of Motion.

25.05[3][b] Moving Party Must Draft Joint Statement If Disagreement Continues.

25.05[3][c] Moving Party May File and Serve Affidavit of Opposing Party's Refusal to Confer or Prepare Joint Statement.

25.05[3][d] Joint Statement Requirement May Be Waived Under Certain Circumstances and Pursuant to Motion.

25.05[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer in Good Faith to Attempt Resolution of Discovery Disputes Under Rule 37.

25.05[4][a] Counsel Must Confer Prior to Request or Motion Involving Discovery Dispute.

25.05[4][b] Counsel Must Attempt to Settle Dispute During Discovery Event.

25.05[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer in Attempt to Resolve Any Discovery Dispute.

25.05[5][a] Conference Is Prerequisite to Motion.

25.05[5][b] Counsel Must Confer in Person or Telephonically.

25.05[5][c] Certificate of Compliance With Conference Requirement.

25.06 Mandatory Disclosures Under Rule 26.

25.07 Distinction Between Mandatory Disclosure and Discovery.

25.08 Motion for Order Compelling Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

25.08[1] Motion for Order Compelling Mandatory Disclosure.

25.08[1][a] Party May Seek Order Compelling Disclosure and Request Sanctions After Reasonable Notice.

25.08[1][b] Good-Faith Certificate of Attempt at Resolution Required.

25.08[2] Motion to Compel Discovery.

25.08[2][a] Party Seeking Discovery May Compel Discovery Concerning Depositions, Interrogatories, and Requests for Inspection, and May Request Sanctions.

25.08[2][b] Good-Faith Certificate of Attempt at Resolution Required.

25.08[3] Evasive or Incomplete Disclosure, Answer, or Response.

25.09 Seeking Order to Compel With Respect to Specific Discovery Methods.

25.09[1] Failure to Answer Deposition Questions.

25.09[1][a] Moving for Order to Compel Answer.

25.09[1][b] Evaluating Whether to Complete Remainder of Deposition After Deponent Refuses to Answer.

25.09[1][c] Understanding Situations When Deponent May Decline to Answer.

25.09[2] Written Deposition.

25.09[3] Failure to Designate Deponent.

25.09[4] Failure to Respond to Interrogatories or a Request for Production or Inspection.

25.10 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel.

25.10[1] Standing for Motion to Compel Disclosure or Discovery.

25.10[1][a] Any Other Party May Move to Compel Disclosure.

25.10[1][b] Party Seeking Discovery May Move to Compel Discovery.

25.10[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion to Compel Must Be Filed Seven Court Days or Fewer After Discovery Cutoff.

25.10[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Form of Motion to Compel Must Set Forth Each Request and Response.

25.10[4] Moving Party on Motion to Compel Must Provide Reasonable Notice.

25.10[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Required Notice for Any Discovery Motion; Ex Parte Rules.

25.10[5][a] At Least 21 Days' Notice Is Required on Any Discovery Motion.

25.10[5][b] No Ex Parte Motions Are Permitted Absent Proper Showing.

25.10[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Filing of Any Discovery Motion and Hearing on Motion for Any Discovery Motion.

25.10[7] Application Is Made to Court Where Action Is Pending for Party, Court Where Discovery Is Taken for Nonparty.

25.10[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Motion to Compel Is Referred to Magistrate Judge in Charge of Case.

25.11 Court's Determination of Motion to Compel Discovery.

25.11[1] Courts Use Broad Standard to Determine Relevance of Pretrial Discovery.

25.11[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Local Rule 1.1(c) Applies to Motion to Compel, Requiring Just, Efficient, and Economical Determination.

25.12 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

25.13 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

25.14 Protective Orders.

25.14[1] Denial or Partial Denial of Motion May Result in Protective Order.

25.14[2] Seeking Protective Order in Conjunction With Opposition to Motion.

25.14[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal--Responding Party May Serve Notice of Protective Order.

25.15 Factors Supporting Denial of Motion to Compel Discovery.

25.15[1] Relevance Factors Favoring Denial.

25.15[2] Proportionality Factors Favoring Denial.

25.15[3] Good-Faith Requirements Favoring Denial.

25.15[4] Privilege or Work-Product Protection Favoring Denial.

25.16 CHECKLIST: Seeking Imposition of Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

25.17 Court Award of Reasonable Expenses, Including Attorney's Fees, and Entry of Protective Order.

25.17[1] If Motion for Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery Is Granted.

25.17[2] If Motion for Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery Is Denied.

25.17[3] If Motion for Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery Is Granted in Part and Denied in Part.

25.18 Due Process Requirements of Expense-Shifting Sanctions: Opportunity to Be Heard.

25.19 Rebuttable Presumption Favors Party Seeking Expense-Shifting Sanctions.

25.20 Moving Party May Recover Attorney's Fees Incurred in Requesting Expense-Shifting Sanctions.

25.21 CHECKLIST: Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

25.22 If Moving Party Prevails, Responding Party May Raise Failure to Make Good-Faith Effort at Informal Resolution.

25.23 If Moving Party Prevails, Responding Party May Raise Substantial Justification.

25.24 If Responding Party Prevails, Moving Party May Raise Substantial Justification.

25.25 Unsuccessful Party May Raise Other Circumstances That Render Imposition of Sanctions Unjust.

25.26 Substantial Justification Is Determined by Objective Standard.

25.27 Opposing Reasonableness of Amount of Sanctions Requested.

25.28 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(b) Sanctions.

25.29 Person Who Fails to Be Sworn or Deposed May Be in Contempt of Court.

25.30 Party or Party's Representative or Designee Who Disobeys Court Order Is Subject to Sanctions.

25.30[1] Party Who Fails to Obey Discovery Order Is Subject to Sanctions.

25.30[2] Party's Representative or Designee Who Fails to Obey Discovery Order Is Subject to Sanctions.

25.30[3] Party Who Fails to Obey Order to Produce Another for Examination Is Subject to Sanctions Absent Showing of Inability.

25.30[4] Pro Se Litigants Are Subject to Sanctions.

25.31 Underlying "Order" Is Construed Broadly.

25.32 Court That Issued Order Determines Whether Order Was Violated.

25.33 Sanctions Available Under Rule 37(b)(2).

25.33[1] List of Sanctions.

25.33[2] Sanction Precluding Party From Defending Claim Is Severe Penalty Authorized Only in Extreme Circumstances.

25.34 Dismissal and Default Sanctions Are Severe Penalties Imposed Only After Weighing Certain Factors.

25.34[1] Dismissal and Default Sanctions Are Authorized Only in Extreme Circumstances.

25.34[2] Factors for Determining Dismissal or Default.

25.34[3] Determining Whether Court Considered Alternative Sanctions.

25.34[4] When Court Should Explicitly Discuss Alternatives or Warn of Dismissal.

25.34[4][a] Discussion of Alternatives.

25.34[4][b] Warning of Dismissal.

25.34[5] Appellate Courts Will Affirm Dismissal If Four Factors Support Dismissal, or Three Factors Strongly Support Dismissal.

25.34[6] Dismissal and Default Sanctions Reviewed Under Same Standard; Cases Involving Court's Inherent Power Apply.

25.35 Contempt of Court Is Available Under Rule 37(b)(2).

25.35[1] Failure to Obey Order May Be Treated As Contempt of Court.

25.35[2] Protective Order May Be Basis for Contempt Sanction.

25.35[3] Civil and Criminal Contempt Distinguished by Character and Purpose.

25.36 Civil Contempt.

25.36[1] Civil Contempt Consists of Disobedience of Specific Order by Failure to Comply Reasonably.

25.36[2] Civil Contempt May Be Compensatory or Coercive.

25.36[3] Civil Contempt Requires Showing of Violation Absent Good Faith and Reasonable Interpretation of Order.

25.36[4] Standard of Proof Is Clear and Convincing Evidence.

25.36[5] Civil Contempt Is Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

25.36[6] Burden Shifts After Party Is Found to Have Violated Court Order.

25.37 Criminal Contempt.

25.37[1] Purpose of Criminal Contempt Is Punitive.

25.37[2] Criminal Contempt Requires Willful Conduct.

25.37[3] Court Must Provide Notice, and Appoint Prosecutor.

25.37[4] Person Is Entitled to Jury Trial When Federal Law Provides.

25.37[5] Judge Disrespected or Criticized Is Disqualified From Presiding at Contempt Proceeding.

25.37[6] Judge May Punish Person Committing Criminal Contempt in His or Her Presence.

25.37[7] Standard of Proof Is Beyond Reasonable Doubt.

25.38 Monetary Sanctions Are Imposed Under Rule 37(b)(2), Absent Substantial Justification or Other Circumstances.

25.39 Sanction Must Be Specifically Related to Claim at Issue in Discovery Order.

25.40 Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37(b).

25.40[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally.

25.40[2] Determining Jurisdiction for Motion.

25.40[2][a] Motion Seeking Sanctions Against Party May Be Brought in Court Where Action Is Pending.

25.40[2][b] Motion Seeking Sanctions Against Nonparty Deponent Is Brought in Court That Issued Discovery Order.

25.40[3] Time for Filing Motion.

25.40[3][a] Motion Should Be Filed Within Reasonable Time After Violation.

25.40[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion Must Be Made As Soon As Practicable After Notice of Violation, and Served and Filed 14 Days After Judgment Is Entered or Earlier.

25.40[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Form of Motion Must Comply With Local Rules 7-2 and 7-8.

25.40[4][a] Motion Must Comport With Format Requirements of Local Rule 7-2.

25.40[4][b] Motion Must Be Separately Filed.

25.40[5] Content of Motion.

25.40[5][a] Moving Party Must Provide Adequate Description of Alleged Violation.

25.40[5][b] Motion Seeking Expenses Must Show Connection Between Violation and Expenses.

25.40[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Required Affidavits and Declarations in Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37.

25.40[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion Must Be Accompanied by Proposed Order.

25.40[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Required Notice for Any Discovery Motion; Ex Parte Rules.

25.40[6][a] At Least 21 Days' Notice Is Required on Any Discovery Motion.

25.40[6][b] No Ex Parte Motions Permitted Absent Proper Showing.

25.40[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Filing of Discovery Motion and Hearing on Motion for Discovery Motion.

25.40[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Notice of Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37.

25.40[8][a] Motion for Sanctions Based on Disclosure or Discovery Dispute Must Comply With Local Rules 7-2 and 7-8.

25.40[8][b] Motion Must Be Served and Filed at Least 35 Days Before Hearing.

25.41 Court's Determination of Imposition of Sanctions.

25.41[1] Court in Which Action Is Pending May Make Just Orders Regarding Sanctions.

25.41[2] Purpose of Sanctions Is to Prevent Party From Benefitting From Failure to Respond, and to Deter Sanctioned Conduct.

25.41[3] Court Evaluates All Incidents of Party's Misconduct.

25.42 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

25.43 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(b) Sanctions.

25.44 Options and Strategies for Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(b) Sanctions.

25.45 Opposing Imposition of Monetary Sanctions.

25.45[1] Disobedient Party Has Burden of Proving That Failure Was Substantially Justified.

25.45[2] Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Other Circumstances Make Monetary Sanctions Unjust.

25.46 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That an Underlying Order Was Not Issued, or That Party Did Not Disobey Any Order.

25.47 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Requested Sanction Is Unrelated to Particular Discovery Order That Was Disobeyed.

25.48 Opposing Civil Contempt.

25.48[1] Opposing Civil Contempt on Ground of Substantial Compliance With Court Order.

25.48[2] Opposing Civil Contempt on Ground of Impossibility.

25.49 Opposing Severe Sanctions on Ground That Less Severe Sanctions Are Appropriate Under Circumstances.

25.49[1] Party Who Disobeyed Discovery Order May Assert That Sanctions Sought Are Too Severe Under Circumstances.

25.49[2] Imposing Severe Sanctions Is Inappropriate When Party Was Unable to Comply With Discovery Order.

25.49[3] Refuting Requested Amount of Sanctions.

25.50 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions.

25.51 Party Who Fails to Make Mandatory Disclosures or Amended Responses Is Subject to Evidence-Preclusion Sanctions.

25.51[1] Unjustified Failure to Disclose or Amend Information As Required Under Rule 26 Results in Evidence-Preclusion Sanctions.

25.51[2] Evidence-Preclusion Sanction Is Self-Executing.

25.51[3] Making Proper Showing to Obtain Preclusion Order.

25.52 Additional Sanctions Available.

25.52[1] Issue and Evidence Preclusion, Termination, and Monetary Sanctions.

25.52[2] Court May Inform Jury of Failure to Make Disclosure.

25.53 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

25.54 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions.

25.55 Party May Oppose Sanctions on Ground That Failure to Disclose or Supplement Was Substantially Justified.

25.55[1] Failure to Disclose or Supplement Was Substantially Justified.

25.55[2] Reasonable Predisclosure Investigation Justified Failure to Disclose or Supplement.

25.55[3] Unforeseen Relevance of Discovery Material.

25.55[4] Pro Se Party May Show Ignorance of Discovery Requirement.

25.56 Party May Oppose Sanctions on Ground That Failure to Disclose or Supplement Was Harmless.

25.57 Party May Oppose Sanctions on Ground That Factors Weigh Against Sanctions.

25.58 Party May Oppose Severity of Sanctions.

25.59 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions.

25.60 Party Failing to Admit Genuineness of Document or Truth of Matter Later Proved Is Subject to Monetary Sanctions.

25.61 Party May Object, Admit or Deny the Matter, or State That Matter Cannot Be Admitted or Denied.

25.62 Expense-Shifting Sanctions Under Rule 37(c)(2) May Be Imposed Against Party Only.

25.62[1] Sanctions Available Against Party, Not Counsel.

25.62[2] Sanctions Against Attorney May Be Available From Other Sources of Authority.

25.63 Motion for Expense-Shifting Sanctions Based on Party's Unreasonable Failure to Admit.

25.63[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally.

25.63[2] Motion Is Filed After Trial Is Completed.

25.63[3] Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions.

25.64 Appellate Courts Apply "Abuse of Discretion" Standard Regarding Sanction Orders Under Rule 37(c)(2).

25.65 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions.

25.66 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Request Was Objectionable Under Rule 36(a).

25.67 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Admission Sought Was Not Substantially Important.

25.68 Opposing Sanctions on Ground of Reasonable Belief That Party Might Prevail.

25.68[1] Party May Assert Reasonable Belief That It Might Prevail, Whether or Not It Prevailed at Trial.

25.68[2] Reasonableness Is Determined by Objective Test.

25.69 Opposing Sanctions on Ground of Other Good Reason for Failure to Admit.

25.70 Party May Assert Lack of Proof, Unreasonableness of Amount of Sanctions Requested, or Lack of Connection Between Expenses and Objectionable Response.

25.71 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(d) Sanctions.

25.72 Sanctions for Party's Failure to Attend Own Deposition, Serve Answers to Interrogatories, or Respond to Request for Inspection.

25.73 Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37(d).

25.73[1] Motion Based on Failure to Respond to Interrogatories or Request for Inspection Must Include Certification of Good-Faith Attempt to Obtain Response.

25.73[2] Court in Which Action Is Pending Has Jurisdiction Over Motion.

25.73[3] Motion Should Be Filed Promptly After Discovery Failure, and When Circumstances Dictate.

25.73[4] Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions.

25.74 Court Must Order Expense-Shifting Sanctions Against Party or Attorney or Both for Failure to Act, Absent Substantial Justification or Other Circumstances.

25.75 Appellate Courts Apply "Abuse of Discretion" Standard Regarding Sanction Orders Under Rule 37(d).

25.76 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(d) Sanctions.

25.77 Defense Based on Objection to Discovery Must Be Supported by Protective Order Procedure.

25.78 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Failure to Appear or Respond Was Substantially Justified.

25.78[1] Party May Avoid Expense-Shifting Sanctions by Showing Substantial Justification.

25.78[2] Burden of Establishing Substantial Justification Is on Party Opposing Sanctions.

25.78[3] Substantial Justification Is Determined on Case-by-Case Basis.

25.79 Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Ground That Other Circumstances Make Imposition of Sanctions Unjust.

25.79[1] Court May Elect Not to Impose Sanctions Based on Other Circumstances.

25.79[2] Burden of Proof Is on Person Subject to Sanctions.

25.80 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Rule 37(d) Does Not Encompass Particular Conduct.

25.81 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(f) Sanctions.

25.82 Party or Attorney's Failure to Participate in Discovery Plan May Result in Monetary Sanctions.

25.83 Parties and Attorneys Have Duty to Participate in Discovery Plan.

25.84 Court or Party May Raise Issue of Sanctions Under Rule 37(f).

25.85 Party Subject to Sanctions Must Be Afforded Opportunity to Be Heard.

25.86 Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37(f).

25.86[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally.

25.86[2] Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions.

25.87 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

25.88 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(f) Sanctions.

25.89 Opposing Sanctions on Grounds of Procedural Defects.

25.90 Party May Assert That Amount of Sanctions Is Unreasonable or That Expenses Are Unrelated to Failure to Participate in Discovery Plan.

25.91 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence.

25.92 Options and Strategies for Requesting Imposition of Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence.

25.93 Litigants Must Preserve Certain Evidence in Their Control.

25.94 Sanctions May Be Awarded for Spoliation of Evidence Under Inherent Powers of Court.

25.95 Sanctions May Be Awarded Under Rule 37 If Failure to Produce Evidence Because of Spoliation Violated Rule.

25.96 Party That Violates Rule 37 Based on Spoliation Is Subject to Sanctions Available Under Rule.

25.97 Sanctions Available Under Court's Inherent Powers.

25.97[1] Range of Sanctions, Including Dismissal, Are Available Under Court's Inherent Powers.

25.97[2] Requirements for Imposing Severe Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Powers.

25.97[2][a] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Finding of Willfulness, Fault, or Bad Faith.

25.97[2][b] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Consideration of Less Drastic Sanctions.

25.97[2][c] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Nexus Among Sanction, Misconduct, and Matters in Controversy.

25.97[2][d] Prejudice to Opposing Party Is Factor in Determining Imposition of Sanctions.

25.97[2][e] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Consideration of Public Interest and Policy.

25.97[3] Sanction Must Be Commensurate With Degree to Which Evidence Was Compromised or Destroyed.

25.98 Rebuttable Presumption Arises Against Party Responsible for Tampering With Evidence.

25.99 Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions.

25.100 Ruling on Imposition of Sanctions Is Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.

25.101 Court Order for Sanctions Should Specify Authority.

25.102 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Sanctions.

25.103 Options and Strategies for Opposing Imposition of Sanctions for Spoliation.

25.104 Party May Show No Duty to Preserve Evidence.

25.105 Party May Show Undue Burden in Preserving Documents in Certain Form.

25.105A Party May Show Electronically Stored Information Was Lost in Routine Operations.

25.106 Severe Sanctions Sought Under Court's Inherent Power May Be Opposed on Grounds That Requirements for Imposition of Sanctions Are Not Met.

25.107 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 26(g) Sanctions.

25.108 Required Signatures on Disclosures, Requests, Responses, and Objections.

25.108[1] Disclosures, Requests, Responses and Objections Must Be Signed by Attorney or Unrepresented Party.

25.108[2] Signatures on Disclosures, Requests, Responses and Objections Constitute Certification.

25.108[3] Reasonableness of Inquiry Is Judged by Objective Standard.

25.108[4] Unsigned Disclosure, Request, Response or Objection Is Stricken Unless Promptly Signed.

25.109 [Reserved]

25.110 Sanctions Under Rule 26(g).

25.110[1] Person Who Makes Certification in Violation of Rule 26(g) Is Subject to Sanctions.

25.110[2] Sanctions May Include Amount of Reasonable Expenses and Attorney's Fees.

25.111 Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions.

25.111[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally.

25.111[2] Person Subject to Sanctions Must Be Afforded Due Process.

25.111[3] Motion Should Be Filed Soon After Violation Occurs.

25.111[4] Counsel Must Follow Procedures Applicable to Discovery Motions.

25.112 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

25.113 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 26(g) Sanctions.

25.114 Opposing Sanctions on Grounds That Certification Was Substantially Justified, and That Asserted Grounds Are Inapplicable.

25.115 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure.

25.116 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Compliance With Discovery Request.

25.117 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Comply With Court Order.

25.118 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Make Mandatory Disclosures or Failure to Supplement Discovery Responses.

25.119 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Unreasonable Failure to Admit Genuineness of Document or Truth of Matter.

25.120 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Appear or Respond.

25.121 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Participate in Discovery Plan.

2 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
I. STRATEGY

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.01

25.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Motions for an order under Fed R Civ P 37(a) to compel mandatory disclosure or discovery [see 25.03 -25.05; Forms: 25.115, 25.116].

- Expense-shifting sanctions on a motion to compel mandatory disclosure or discovery [see 25.16 -25.27].

- California local district court rules regarding meet-and-confer requirements for discovery disputes [see 25.05].

- Motions for an order for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(b) based on failure to comply with an order compelling mandatory disclosure or discovery [see 25.28 -25.49; Form: 25.117].

- Motions for an order for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1) based on failure to make mandatory disclosure or failure to supplement discovery responses [see 25.50 -25.58; Form: 25.118].

- Motions for an order for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2) based on failure to admit genuineness of a document or truth of matter [see 25.59 -25.70; Form: 25.119].

- Motions for an order for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(d) based on failure to appear at a deposition, or to respond to discovery requests [see 25.71 -25.80; Form: 25.120].

- Motions for an order under Fed R Civ P 37(f) for sanctions based on failure to participate in a discovery plan [see 25.81 -25.90; Form: 25.121].

- Motions for an order for sanctions based on spoliation of evidence [see 25.91 -25.106].

- Motions for an order for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 26(g) based on improper certification of discovery request, response, objection, or disclosure [see 25.107 -25.114].

Core Rules:

Fed R Civ P 26, 37.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

3 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
I. STRATEGY

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.02

25.02 Objective and Strategy.

Fed R Civ P 37 provides a detailed roadmap for the remedies available when an adversary has not been forthcoming in meeting its disclosure or discovery obligations. Remedies offered by the rule include expenses and sanctions, some of which could be severe, including orders of preclusion and advice to the jury of the default.

Determine at the outset whether informal procedures are available, through the district or magistrate judge, to deal with discovery disputes without Rule 37 motion practice. Use of the informal procedures is far preferable for anything but the most egregious offenses. In fact, it is generally unrealistic to expect a formal Rule 37 motion will yield a result justifying the cost and time unless the adversary's conduct is inexcusable or a true obstacle to trial preparation.

Judge's Perspective:

Most judges abhor involvement in discovery issues and are reluctant to order sanctions. First-time offenses will rarely justify sanctions unless egregious. Judges are very appreciative of counsel who resolve discovery problems informally, so do whatever is within reason to work things out with your opponent before seeking court intervention. If all informal procedures fail and a motion is necessary, document all informal efforts made. Wait until you have a sufficient record to demonstrate your efforts at amicable solutions. Avoid name-calling and be straightforward and professional. Always inquire if the judge is willing to hold an informal conference call before filing a formal motion.

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 37, Failure to Make Disclosure or to Cooperate in Discovery: Sanctions (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)

Cross Reference:

For tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication, at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to

Compel

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.03

25.03 CHECKLIST: Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

☐ Determine if grounds for motion to compel mandatory disclosure exist.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26, 37(a)(3)(A)

Discussion:
See § 25.08[1]

Form:
See § 25.115

Grounds:
See §§ 25.06 -25.08

☐ Determine if grounds for motion to compel discovery exist, such as:

- ○ Failure to comply with discovery requests.
- ○ Failure to answer deposition questions.
- ○ Failure to answer interrogatories.

- ○ Failure to produce or permit inspection.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(B)

Discussion:
See § 25.08[2]

Form:
See § 25.116

Grounds:
See §§ 25.08, 25.09

☐ Consider whether motion is advisable, with respect to:

- ○ Costs of motion against value of information.
- ○ Delay caused by motion.

Discussion:
See § 25.04

☐ Follow local rules regarding meet-and-confer requirements.

Discussion:
See § 25.05

☐ If appropriate, prepare motion and serve papers.

- ○ Include the following allegations:
  - ☐ The court has jurisdiction.
  - ☐ The moving party has the right to bring the motion.
  - ☐ The moving party made a good-faith effort at a resolution of issues.
  - ☐ The information is discoverable.
  - ☐ The motion is timely.
  - ☐ Reasonable notice was given.

☐ Follow local rules regarding motion procedures.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(a), (b), 37(a)

Content Note:
Local court rules contain specific requirements for filing of motion papers with respect to documenting prior attempts to resolve discovery disputes, and other requirements.

Warning--Standing Orders:
Be sure to ascertain whether there are any relevant standing orders for the particular judge assigned to hear the dispute. Some judges set forth alternate ways to bring a discovery motion.

Discussion:
See §§ 25.05, 25.10

Forms:
See §§ 25.115, 25.116

Prerequisite:
Good-faith attempt to resolve discovery disputes.

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory DisclosuresCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.04

25.04 Options and Strategies for Compelling Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

25.04[1] Parties Should Attempt to Resolve Discovery Disputes Informally.

25.04[1][a] Parties Should Clarify Discovery Requests Without Formal Motion. Parties should attempt informally to resolve disputes concerning the scope of discovery requests. Consultation between attorneys often results in punctual delivery of clearly discoverable information pursuant to an appropriately framed discovery request.

A party served with an interrogatory or document request that it considers ambiguous or unclear should contact the propounding attorney for clarification, rather than simply objecting. Similarly, a party served with an interrogatory or document request that it considers overly broad, partially irrelevant, or unduly burdensome should contact the propounding attorney in an attempt to reach an agreement reducing the scope of the request.

Any agreement clarifying a discovery request should be reduced to writing. Furthermore, if there is a meaningful chance that the response to an interrogatory might be used at trial, the clarification should be set forth in a revised interrogatory.

Judge's Perspective:

Counsel should focus on the need for the requested discovery and minimize name-calling and personal attacks on the motives of the opposing side. Courts see an enormous number of motions to compel and are generally not receptive to an argument devoted primarily to the accusation that the other side is hiding and deceiving. If that is indeed occurring, place those issues in a separate sanctions motion and concentrate in the motion to compel on why the material or information targeted for discovery is both important and within the scope of discovery. Make sure that the motion is not susceptible to being read as motivated by the desire to inflict pain and burden on the other side as opposed to a sincere need to obtain the requested discovery.

25.04[1][b] Proceeding With Discovery Response After Rejection of Informal Request for Clarification. If an informal request for clarification is rejected, the responding party should note that fact in its responses, set forth in good faith its understanding of the unclear terms, and then, on the basis of that understanding, provide answers.

Similarly, if an informal request to narrow the scope of a document request is rejected, the responding party should note that fact, identify the scope of a request that it would consider appropriate, and then provide the documents responsive to that narrowed request.

25.04[2] Counsel Should Weigh Cost and Delay of Motion. Before filing a motion to compel, counsel should first weigh the importance of the disputed discovery matter against the cost and delay of bringing the motion.

Strategic Points--Moving Party:

A motion to compel would most likely be filed when the information to be disclosed might be helpful to the party seeking the disclosure, but not to the party required to make it. When the information sought is more likely to be helpful to the party with the duty to disclose, the more effective enforcement mechanism is the court's power under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1) to preclude use of the information that was not disclosed [see Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1); see also Fed R Civ P 37(a), Committee Note of 1993)].

The more targeted the discovery request is, i.e., with respect to specific individuals or time periods, the more likely the court will side with the requesting party in compelling discovery. The court ruling on the motion to compel has the discretion to narrow the requests rather than sustain the responding party's objections to them completely. In doing so, the court effectively sustains an objection that the requests are vague, ambiguous, or overbroad in part, and overrules it in part [see Green v. Baca (CD Cal 2003) 219 FRD 485, 490].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory DisclosuresCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.05

25.05 Local Rules Require Attempt at Informal Resolution of Discovery Disputes Prior to Filing of Discovery Motions.

25.05[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer in Good Faith to Attempt Resolution of Any Discovery Dispute.

25.05[1][a] Good-Faith Attempt at Resolution Required Prior to Filing Motion. In the Central District of California, prior to the filing of any motion relating to discovery pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26-37, counsel for the parties must confer in a good-faith effort to eliminate the necessity for hearing the motion or to eliminate as many of the disputes as possible. Counsel for the moving party must arrange for this conference. If both counsel are located within the same county of the Central District, the conference must take place in person at the office of the moving party's counsel, unless the parties agree to meet someplace else. If both counsel are not located within the same county of the Central District, the conference may take place telephonically [CD Cal Civ LR 37-1].

25.05[1][b] Conference Required Within 10 Days of Service of Request. Unless relieved by written order of the court on good cause shown, counsel for the opposing party must confer with counsel for the moving party within ten days of service on him or her of a letter requesting the conference. The moving party's letter must [CD Cal Civ LR 37-1]:

- Identify each issue and/or discovery request in dispute.
- State briefly with respect to each issue/request the moving party's position (and provide any legal authority the moving party believes is dispositive of the dispute as to that issue/request).
- Specify the terms of the discovery order to be sought.

Warning--Sanctions for Noncompliance:

The failure of any counsel to comply with or cooperate in the procedures set forth in CD Cal Civ LR 37-1

through 37-3 may result in the imposition of sanctions [CD Cal Civ LR 37-4; see McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 208 FRD 617, 620 (district court amended discovery order to assure that meet-and-confer process under CD Cal Civ LR 37-1 "is more successful in resolving discovery disputes than it has been to date," and awarded sua sponte monetary sanctions as warning that more drastic sanctions might follow, for failure to comply with court's discovery order)].

25.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Stipulation of Discovery Dispute Required Prior to Filing Motion.

25.05[2][a] Written Stipulation of Nonresolution Must Be Filed and Served With Notice of Motion. In the Central District of California, if counsel are unable to settle their differences with respect to a discovery dispute, they must formulate a written stipulation. The stipulation must be filed and served with the notice of motion [CD Cal Civ LR 37-2].

25.05[2][b] Form of Stipulation. The stipulation of nonresolution must be set forth in one document signed by both counsel. The stipulation must contain all issues in dispute and, with respect to each issue, the contentions and points and authorities of each party. The stipulation must not refer the court to any other documents [CD Cal Civ LR 37-2.1].

If the sufficiency of an answer to an interrogatory is in issue, the stipulation must contain, verbatim, both the interrogatory and the allegedly insufficient answer, followed by each party's contentions as to that particular interrogatory, separately stated. If the allegations made in a prior filing are relevant, a copy of that prior filing should be attached as an exhibit [CD Cal Civ LR 37-2.1].

The specification of the issues in dispute, and the parties' contentions and points and authorities with respect to those issues, may be preceded by an introductory statement from each party, provided that no party's introductory statement exceeds three pages in length. When a party states its contentions with respect to a particular issue, that party must also state how it proposed to resolve the dispute over that issue at the conference of counsel [CD Cal Civ LR 37-2.1].

The title page of the stipulation must state the discovery cutoff date, the pretrial conference date, and the trial date. In addition, a copy of the order establishing the initial case schedule, as well as any amendments, must be attached to the stipulation or to a declaration filed in support of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 37-2.1].

25.05[2][c] Counsel Must Exchange Stipulation Portions in Timely Manner. Following the conference of counsel, counsel for the moving party must personally deliver, e-mail or fax to counsel for the opposing party the moving party's portion of the stipulation, together with all declarations and exhibits to be offered in support of the moving party's position. Unless the parties agree otherwise, within seven days of receipt of the moving party's papers, counsel for the opposing party must personally deliver, e-mail, or fax to counsel for the moving party the opposing party's portion of the stipulation, together with all declarations and exhibits to be offered in support of the opposing party's position. After the opposing party's papers are added to the stipulation by the moving party's counsel, the stipulation must be provided to opposing counsel, who must sign it (electronically or otherwise) and return it to counsel for the moving party, no later than the end of the next business day, so that it can be filed with the notice of motion [CD Cal Civ LR 37-2.2].

25.05[2][d] Parties May File Supplemental Memoranda of Law. After the Joint Stipulation is filed, each party may file a supplemental memorandum of law not later than 14 days prior to the hearing date. Unless otherwise ordered by the court, a supplemental memorandum must not exceed five pages in length. No other separate memorandum of points and authorities may be filed by either party in connection with the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 37-2.3].

25.05[2][e] Court Will Not Consider Discovery Motion Absent Stipulation or Declaration of Noncooperation. The court will not consider any discovery motion in the absence of a joint stipulation, or a declaration from counsel for the moving party establishing that opposing counsel did one of the following [CD Cal Civ LR 37-2.4]:

- Failed to confer in a timely manner in accordance with CD Cal Civ LR 37-1;
- Failed to provide the opposing party's portion of the joint stipulation in a timely manner in accordance with CD Cal Civ LR 37-2.2; or
- Refused to sign and return the joint stipulation after the opposing party's portion was added.

If the declaration accompanies the motion, then CD Cal Civ LR 6-1 (notice and service of motion), 7-9 (requirements for opposing papers) and 7-10 (reply papers) apply [CD Cal Civ LR 37-2.4].

Warning--Sanctions for Noncompliance:

The failure of any counsel to comply with or cooperate in the procedures set forth in CD Cal Civ LR 37-1 through 37-3 may result in the imposition of sanctions [CD Cal Civ LR 37-4].

Cross References:

CD Cal Civ LR 37-1, see § 25.05[1]; CD Cal Civ LR 37-2.2, see § 25.05[2].

25.05[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer Prior to Filing of Any Discovery Motion, and Must Prepare Joint Statement.

25.05[3][a] Counsel Must Confer Prior to Filing of Motion. In the Eastern District of California, a motion made pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26 through 37, including any motion to exceed discovery limitations or motion for protective order, may not be heard unless (1) the parties have conferred and attempted to resolve their differences, and (2) the parties have set forth their differences and the bases for their differences in a Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreement. This rule is subject to exceptions set forth in ED Cal Civ LR 251. Counsel for all interested parties must confer in advance of the filing of the motion or in advance of the hearing of the motion in a good-faith effort to resolve the differences that are the subject of the motion. Counsel for the moving party or prospective moving party is responsible for arranging the conference, which must be held at a time and place and in a manner mutually convenient to counsel [ED Cal Civ LR 251(b)].

25.05[3][b] Moving Party Must Draft Joint Statement If Disagreement Continues. If the moving party is still dissatisfied after the conference of counsel, that party must draft and file a document entitled "Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreement." All parties concerned with the discovery motion must assist in the preparation of, and must sign, the joint statement, which must specify with particularity the following matters [ED Cal Civ LR 251(c)]:

- The details of the conference or conferences;
- A statement of the nature of the case and its factual disputes insofar as they are pertinent to the matters to be decided and the issues to be determined at the hearing;
- The contentions of each party as to each contested issue, including a memorandum of each party's respective arguments concerning the issues in dispute and the supporting legal authorities.

Each specific interrogatory, deposition question, or other item objected to, or concerning which a protective order is sought, as well as the objection, must be reproduced in full. The respective arguments and supporting authorities of the parties must be set forth immediately following each objection. When an objection is raised to a number of items or a general protective order is sought that is related to a number of specific items, the arguments and briefing need not be repeated. If a protective order is sought that is unrelated to specific, individual items, repetition of the original discovery document is not required. All arguments and briefing that would otherwise be included in a memorandum of points and authorities supporting or opposing the motion must be included in this joint statement, and no separate briefing is filed [ED Cal Civ LR 251(c)].

Warning:

Failure to file the Joint Statement on or before three court days before the scheduled hearing will result in the hearing being dropped from the calendar without prejudice [ED Cal Civ LR 251(a)].

25.05[3][c] Moving Party May File and Serve Affidavit of Opposing Party's Refusal to Confer or Prepare Joint Statement. If counsel for the moving party is unable, after a good-faith effort, to secure the cooperation of counsel for the opposing party in arranging the required conference, or in preparing and executing the required joint statement, counsel for the moving party may file and serve an affidavit so stating, setting forth [ED Cal Civ LR 251(d)]:

- The nature and extent of counsel's efforts to arrange the required conference or procure the required joint statement;
- The opposing counsel's responses or refusals to respond to those efforts;
- The issues to be determined at the hearing; and
- The moving party's contentions with regard to the issues, including any briefing in respect to the contentions.

Warning--Refusal to Cooperate May Result in Adverse Order:

Refusal of any counsel to participate in a discovery conference, or refusal without good cause to execute the required joint statement, is grounds, in the discretion of the court, for entry of an order adverse to the party represented by counsel so refusing or adverse to counsel [ED Cal Civ LR 251(d). See ED Cal Gen LR 110].

25.05[3][d] Joint Statement Requirement May Be Waived Under Certain Circumstances and Pursuant to Motion. The requirement set forth above for a Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreement does not apply to the following situations [ED Cal Civ LR 251(e)]:

- When there has been a complete and total failure to respond to a discovery request or order, or
- When the only relief sought by the motion is the imposition of sanctions.

In either instance, the aggrieved party may bring a motion for relief for hearing on 14 days' notice. The responding party must file a response not later than seven days before the hearing date. The moving party may file and serve a reply no fewer than two court days before the hearing date [ED Cal Civ LR 251(e)].

Consider--General Civil Motion Rules Inapplicable to Discovery Motions:

By reason of the notice provisions set forth in ED Cal Civ LR 251(a) and (e), the provisions of ED Cal Civ LR 230 (civil motion calendar and procedure) do not apply to motions and hearing dealing with discovery matters [ED Cal Civ LR 251(f)].

25.05[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer in Good Faith to Attempt Resolution of Discovery Disputes Under Rule 37.

25.05[4][a] Counsel Must Confer Prior to Request or Motion Involving Discovery Dispute. The court will not entertain a request or a motion to resolve a disclosure or discovery dispute unless, pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37, counsel have previously conferred for the purpose of attempting to resolve all disputed issues [ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a)].

Warning--Opposing Counsel Refusing to Confer Is Subject to Sanctions:

If counsel for the moving party seeks to arrange a conference to resolve a disclosure or discovery dispute, and opposing counsel refuses or fails to confer, the judge may impose an appropriate sanction, which may include an order requiring payment of all reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the refusal or failure to confer [ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a)].

25.05[4][b] Counsel Must Attempt to Settle Dispute During Discovery Event. If a dispute arises during a discovery event, the parties must attempt to resolve the matter without judicial intervention by conferring in good faith. If good-faith negotiations between the parties fail to resolve the matter, and if disposition of the dispute during the discovery event likely would result in substantial savings of expense or time, counsel or a party may contact the chambers of the assigned district or magistrate judge to ask if the judge is available to address the problem through a telephone conference during the discovery event [ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(b)].

25.05[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer in Attempt to Resolve Any Discovery Dispute.

25.05[5][a] Conference Is Prerequisite to Motion. In the Southern District of California, the court will not entertain a motion pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26-37 unless counsel have previously met and conferred concerning all disputed issues [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)].

Warning--Counsel Refusing to Confer May Be Sanctioned:

If counsel for the moving party seeks to arrange a conference to resolve a discovery dispute, and counsel for the party against whom the motion will be made willfully refuses or fails to meet and confer, the judge (in absence of a prior order dispensing with such a meeting for good cause) may order a payment of reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37 and SD Cal Civ LR 83.1 [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)].

Pursuant to SD Cal Civ LR 83.1, failure of counsel or of any party to comply with Southern District local rules, with the Federal Rules of Civil or Criminal Procedure, or with any order of the court may be ground for imposition by the court of any and all sanctions authorized by statue or rule or within the inherent power of the court. These sanctions include, without limitation, dismissal of any actions, entry of default, finding of contempt, imposition of monetary sanctions or attorneys' fees and costs, and other lesser sanctions [SD Cal Civ LR 83.1(a)].

For violations of the local rules, or of a specific court order, the court may, in imposing monetary sanctions, order that the monetary sanctions be paid to the nonappropriated fund of the court [SD Cal Civ LR 83.1(b)].

25.05[5][b] Counsel Must Confer in Person or Telephonically. If counsel have offices in the same county, they are to meet in person. If counsel have offices in different counties, they are to confer by telephone. Under no circumstances may the parties satisfy the meet-and-confer requirement by exchanging written correspondence [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)].

25.05[5][c] Certificate of Compliance With Conference Requirement. At the time of filing any motion with respect to Fed R Civ P 26-37, counsel for the moving party must serve and file a certificate of compliance with this rule [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

7 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.06

25.06 Mandatory Disclosures Under Rule 26.

Fed R Civ P 26 imposes on parties the following disclosure obligations [see Fed R Civ P 26(a)]:

- Initial disclosures, including: information about individuals likely to have discoverable information that the disclosing party may use to support its claims or defenses; documents, data compilations, and tangible things that are in the possession, custody, or control of the party and that the disclosing party may use to support its claims or defenses; claims and calculations of damages; and insurance coverage.

- Disclosure of expert testimony, including information regarding the background and qualifications of expert witnesses, and the content of and bases for expert opinions.

- Final pretrial disclosures, including identification of trial witnesses and exhibits, and designation of deposition testimony that will be used at trial.

This rule does not apply to exempt cases, or to the extent otherwise stipulated or directed by the court [Fed R Civ P 26(a)].

Cross Reference:

Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures, see §§ 15.15 -15.34.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory Disclosures

8 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.07

25.07 Distinction Between Mandatory Disclosure and Discovery.

The Fed R Civ P 26(a) requirements apply to information "that the disclosing party may use to support its claims or defenses" [Fed R Civ P 26(a)(1)]. The relevancy standard for discovery in general permits the discovery of any matter, not privileged, "that is relevant to the claim or defense of any party" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)].

Distinguish:

The general discovery standard is broader than the initial disclosure standard because parties may obtain discovery that supports or contradicts the claim or defense of either party, whereas the initial disclosure obligation pertains only to information that the disclosing party may use to support its claims or defenses; it does not apply to information in opposition to the party's claims or defenses, and it applies only to the disclosing party. Furthermore, under the general discovery standard, the court may, for good cause, order discovery of any matter relevant to the subject matter involved in the action [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Different standards for mandatory disclosure and discovery, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.22 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory Disclosures

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.08

25.08 Motion for Order Compelling Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

25.08[1] Motion for Order Compelling Mandatory Disclosure.

25.08[1][a] Party May Seek Order Compelling Disclosure and Request Sanctions After Reasonable Notice. If a party fails to make the required mandatory disclosures [see Fed R Civ P 26(a)], any other party may move to compel disclosure and for appropriate sanctions [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(A); see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)]. The moving party must first provide reasonable notice to other parties and all persons affected [Fed R Civ P 37(a)].

The objective of Rule 37(a) is the prevention of delay and costs to other litigants caused by the filing of groundless motions [see Cunningham v. Hamilton County (1999) 527 US 198, 208-209, 119 S Ct 1915, 144 L Ed2d 184 (monetary sanctions against attorney not immediately appealable)].

A motion to compel pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37 is the proper vehicle to address instances in which the responding party fails to make or cooperate in providing the requested discovery [see Patelco Credit Union v. Sahni (9th Cir 2001) 262 F3d 897, 913].

Cross Reference:

Monetary sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(a)(4), see § 25.17[1].

Distinguish:

Rule 37(a) sanctions to recoup motion costs are limited to expenses incurred in connection with the motion to compel. Fed R Civ P 37(b) sanctions for failure to comply with a court order, by contrast, also include issue preclusion, evidence preclusion, and termination sanctions [see Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1170 ; Liew v. Breen (9th Cir 1981) 640 F2d 1046, 1051].

Example:

Plaintiffs successfully brought a motion to compel the production of an unedited recording from the cockpit voice recorder from the defendant airliner, in an action arising from a crash of the airplane.

Production of a transcript of the CVR was insufficient because is was not complete, and did not reflect noises that might be meaningful to plaintiffs' experts [see McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 208 FRD 617, 620].

25.08[1][b] Good-Faith Certificate of Attempt at Resolution Required. A motion for an order to compel mandatory disclosure must include a certification that the movant has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with the party not making the disclosure in an effort to secure the disclosure without court action [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(1)].

25.08[2] Motion to Compel Discovery.

25.08[2][a] Party Seeking Discovery May Compel Discovery Concerning Depositions, Interrogatories, and Requests for Inspection, and May Request Sanctions. A party, on reasonable notice to other parties and all affected persons, may apply for an order compelling discovery under the following circumstances [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(B)]:

- If a deponent fails to answer a question propounded or submitted under Fed R Civ P 30 or 31.
- If a corporation or other entity fails to make a designation under Fed R Civ P 30(b)(6) or 31(a).
- If a party fails to answer an interrogatory submitted under Fed R Civ P 33.
- If a party, in response to a request for inspection submitted under Fed R Civ P 34, fails to respond that inspection will be permitted as requested or fails to permit inspection as requested.

In these circumstances, the discovering party may move for an order compelling an answer, or a designation, or an order compelling inspection in accordance with the request [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(B)].

Consider--Sanctions for Failing to Supplement Responses:

Parties are also subject to sanctions for failure to supplement prior responses to discovery [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1)].

Cross References:

Sanctions for failure to supplement prior responses to discovery under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1), see §§ 25.51, 25.52.

Grounds for motion to compel disclosure or discovery, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 37.02, 37.03 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Distinguish:

The complete failure to respond with respect to (1) appearance at a party's own deposition, (2) interrogatories, and (3) requests for inspection is subject to the sanction provisions of Fed R Civ P 37(d).

25.08[2][b] Good-Faith Certificate of Attempt at Resolution Required. The motion for an order to compel discovery must include a certification that the movant has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with the person or party failing to make the discovery in an effort to secure the information or material without court action [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(1)].

Warning--Local Rules Require Specific Procedures for Good-Faith Showing:

Local rules in each district provide detailed requirements for counsel's attempt to reach an informal resolution of discovery disputes. These rules are covered in § 25.05.

25.08[3] Evasive or Incomplete Disclosure, Answer, or Response. An evasive or incomplete disclosure, answer, or response is to be treated as a failure to disclose, answer, or respond [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(4)]. Nevertheless, there are different consequences to a complete failure to respond versus an incomplete response:

- The party objecting to an incomplete response must move to compel an adequate response [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3), (4)]; without a court order, sanctions are limited to expenses incurred in making the motion.

- When the party completely fails to respond to discovery, and no motion for protective order is filed, the moving party has a broader array of sanctions available, without the need first to obtain a court order [see Fed R Civ P 37(d)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory DisclosuresCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctions

10 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.09

25.09 Seeking Order to Compel With Respect to Specific Discovery Methods.

25.09[1] Failure to Answer Deposition Questions.

25.09[1][a] Moving for Order to Compel Answer. If a party or witness during an oral deposition refuses to answer a question, and if counsel for the examining party has made a good faith but unsuccessful attempt to resolve the matter without judicial intervention, then the examining party may [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(C)]:

- Suspend the examination and move immediately for a court order to compel an answer.
- Complete the examination regarding other matters, then move for a court order to compel an answer.

Consider:
An evasive or incomplete answer is treated as a failure to answer [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(4)].

Distinguish:
Failure of a party to attend his or her own deposition may be sanctioned under Fed R Civ P 37(d).

25.09[1][b] Evaluating Whether to Complete Remainder of Deposition After Deponent Refuses to Answer. When a deponent refuses to answer a question, the proponent of the question may complete or adjourn the examination before applying for an order to compel discovery [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(C)].

Completing the remainder of the deposition is often advantageous for the following reasons:

- The deponent has an opportunity to reconsider his or her position, and may later provide the answers.
- The information later provided may lead the attorney conducting the deposition to conclude that there is no substantial need for answers to those unanswered questions.

- A court looks more favorably on a motion to compel when it focuses on a few questions, rather than requests an open-ended order to compel questions not yet posed in subject areas not yet reached.

25.09[1][c] Understanding Situations When Deponent May Decline to Answer. A party may instruct a deponent not to answer a question only when necessary to [Fed R Civ P 30(d)(1), (3)]:

- Preserve a privilege.

- Enforce a court-ordered limitation.

- Present a motion for a protective order on the ground that the examination is being conducted in bad faith, or in a manner that unreasonably annoys, embarrasses, or oppresses either the deponent or a party.

Cross References:

Depositions, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.19 -23.75. Privileges, see Ch. 24, Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection, 24.12 -24.93. Protective orders, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see §§ 22.35 -22.66.

25.09[2] Written Deposition. A motion to compel may be used, after exhaustion of good-faith efforts to secure responses by conferring with opposing counsel, to require answers to written questions that are posed to a party or to a nonparty witness through a deposition by written questions [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(B)(i) see Fed R Civ P 31].

Cross Reference:

Depositions by written questions, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, see §§ 23.76 -23.110.

25.09[3] Failure to Designate Deponent. If a business entity or governmental agency served with a deposition fails to designate a deponent in accordance with Fed R Civ P 30(b)(6) or 31(a)(4), the discovering party may bring a motion to compel [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(B)(ii)].

25.09[4] Failure to Respond to Interrogatories or a Request for Production or Inspection. A party that fails to respond or object within the proper time to interrogatories or requests for production or inspection is subject to sanctions [Fed R Civ P 37(d)]. A party that responds evasively or incompletely may be subject to a motion to compel. [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(4) see also Collins v. JC Penney Life Ins. Co. (SD Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 8455, at *5].

A court will not grant a motion to compel production or inspection unless the moving party has properly made and served a Rule 34 request [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(B)(iv)]. The enforcement process of Rule 37 contemplates that the parties have formally resorted to the underlying discovery rule, and the served party must have an opportunity to respond voluntarily to the request for production [see Schwartz v. Marketing Publ'g Co. (D Conn 1994) 153 FRD 16, 21 n12].

Cross References:

Sanctions for failure to respond to discovery, see § 25.72. Evasive response to discovery, see § 25.08[3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsWritten DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.10

25.10 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel.

25.10[1] Standing for Motion to Compel Disclosure or Discovery.

25.10[1][a] Any Other Party May Move to Compel Disclosure. If a party fails to make a disclosure required by Fed R Civ P 26(a), any other party may move to compel disclosure and for appropriate sanctions [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(A)].

25.10[1][b] Party Seeking Discovery May Move to Compel Discovery. Only the party seeking discovery may move to compel compliance when [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(3)(B)]:

- A deponent fails to answer a question.
- A corporation or other entity fails to make a required designation.
- A party fails to answer an interrogatory.
- A party fails to respond to a request for inspection.

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.04 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.10[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion to Compel Must Be Filed Seven Court Days or Fewer After Discovery Cutoff. In the Northern District of California, no motions to compel discovery may be filed more than seven days after the discovery cutoff for fact or expert discovery, respectively. A "discovery cutoff" is the date by which all responses to written discovery are due and by which all depositions must be concluded. Discovery requests that call for responses or depositions after the applicable discovery cutoff are not enforceable, except by order of the court for good cause shown [ND Cal Civ LR 26-2].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

Parties have a continuing duty to supplement both their mandatory disclosures and their responses to formal discovery requests [see Fed R Civ P 26(e)]. A motion to compel brought too soon might negate the beneficial effects of the supplementation rule.

25.10[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Form of Motion to Compel Must Set Forth Each Request and Response. In addition to complying with applicable provisions of ND Cal Civ LR 7-1 et seq., a motion to compel further responses to discovery requests must set forth each request in full, followed immediately by the objections and/or responses. For each request, the moving papers must detail the basis for the party's contention that it is entitled to the requested discovery and must show how the proportionality and other requirements of Fed R Civ P 26(b)(2) are satisfied [ND Cal Civ LR 37-2].

25.10[4] Moving Party on Motion to Compel Must Provide Reasonable Notice. The party applying for an order to compel disclosure or discovery must give reasonable notice to the other parties, and to all other persons affected by the order [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(1)].

Absent a contrary local rule, standing order, or case-specific directive from the assigned judge, counsel must apply to the court for an order compelling disclosures or discovery by motion. Notice of the hearing must be served at least 14 days before the date set for that hearing [Fed R Civ P 6(c)(1); see Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1) (motion requirement)].

25.10[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Required Notice for Any Discovery Motion; Ex Parte Rules.

25.10[5][a] At Least 21 Days' Notice Is Required on Any Discovery Motion. In the Central District of California, a discovery motion may be noticed to be heard on the particular judge's regular Motion Day, which must not be earlier than 21 days after the filing of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 37-3].

25.10[5][b] No Ex Parte Motions Are Permitted Absent Proper Showing. Unless the court in its discretion otherwise allows, no discovery motions may be filed or heard on an ex parte basis, absent a showing of irreparable injury or prejudice not attributable to the lack of diligence of the moving party [CD Cal Civ LR 37-3].

Warning--Sanctions for Noncompliance:

The failure of any counsel to comply with or cooperate in the procedures set forth in CD Cal Civ LR 37-1 through 37-3 may result in the imposition of sanctions. [CD Cal Civ LR 37-4].

25.10[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Filing of Any Discovery Motion and Hearing on Motion for Any Discovery Motion. In the Eastern District of California, a hearing of a motion pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26 through 37, including any motion to exceed discovery limitations or motion for protective order, may be had by the filing of a notice of motion and motion scheduling the hearing date on the appropriate calendar at least 21 days from the date of filing and service. No other documents need be filed at this time [ED Cal Civ LR 251(a)].

The hearing may be dropped from the calendar without prejudice if a Joint Statement re Discovery Disagreement or an affidavit is not filed at least seven days before the scheduled hearing date. If the notice of motion and motion are filed concurrently with the joint statement, the motion must be placed on the next regularly scheduled calendar for the magistrate judge or judge hearing the motion at least seven days thereafter [ED Cal Civ LR 251(a)].

Exception:

The 21-day notice rule and the Joint Statement requirement do not apply (1) when there has been a complete and total failure to respond to a discovery request or order and (2) when the only relief sought by the motion is the imposition of sanctions. In either instance, the aggrieved party may bring a motion for relief for hearing on 14 days' notice [ED Cal Civ LR 251(e)].

Consider--General Civil Motion Rules Inapplicable to Discovery Motions:

By reason of the notice provisions set forth in ED Cal Civ LR 251(a) and (e), the provisions of ED Cal Civ LR 230 (civil motion calendar and procedure) do not apply to motions and hearing dealing with discovery matters [ED Cal Civ LR 251(f)].

Cross Reference:

Joint statement requirement under ED Cal Civ LR 251(e), see § 25.05[3].

25.10[7] Application Is Made to Court Where Action Is Pending for Party, Court Where Discovery Is Taken for Nonparty. An application for an order to compel disclosure or discovery to a party must be made to the court in which the action is pending. An application for an order to a nonparty must be made to the court in the district where the discovery is being, or is to be, taken [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(2)].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.06 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.10[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Motion to Compel Is Referred to Magistrate Judge in Charge of Case. In the Southern District of California, all motions to compel discovery are referred to the magistrate judge assigned to the case. The magistrate judge may waive all or part of the requirements of SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f) in deciding discovery motions [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(e)]. SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f) sets forth deadlines and requirements for motions.

Cross References:

Forms of motion, see §§ 25.115, 25.116. Motion practice rules, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

Forms of motion to compel, see 8 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 37:1-37:23 (Matthew Bender). Motion for order to compel disclosure or discovery, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 37.04 -37.06 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.11

25.11 Court's Determination of Motion to Compel Discovery.

25.11[1] Courts Use Broad Standard to Determine Relevance of Pretrial Discovery. In determining whether information is relevant for purposes of pretrial discovery, courts apply a substantially broader standard than that for relevance during trial [see Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)].

Judge's Perspective:
The standard is not as broad as it used to be.

Even if the material sought is within the broad scope of the potential reach of discovery, a request for discovery must also satisfy the separate and often more demanding requirements that are set forth in Fed R Civ P 26(b)(2) and (g), which may limit the scope of discovery based on the concept of proportionality. These factors include [see Fed R Civ P 26(b)(2), (g)]:

- The needs of the case.
- The amount in controversy.
- The parties' resources.
- The importance of the issues at stake in the litigation.
- The importance of the proposed discovery in resolving the issues.

Cross References:
7 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 37.20 -37.23 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Distinction between mandatory disclosure and discovery, see 25.07. Factors supporting denial of motion to compel discovery, see § 25.15.

25.11[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Local Rule 1.1(c) Applies to Motion to Compel, Requiring Just, Efficient, and Economical Determination. In the Southern District of California, with respect to the disposition of any motion made under Fed R Civ P 26(c) (protective orders) or Fed R Civ P 37(a), the court is guided by the rule of construction contained in SD Cal Civ LR 1.1(c) to secure just, efficient, and economical determination of every action and proceeding [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(d)].

Cross Reference:

Forms of order on motion to compel, see 8 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 37:39-37:50 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevance

13 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.12

25.12 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

The Ninth Circuit reviews discovery rulings for abuse of discretion [Mabe v. San Bernardino County (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1101, 1112]. The imposition of discovery sanctions pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37 is reviewed for abuse of discretion [Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1408 , cert. denied sub nom. Lewis & Co. v. Thoeren, 498 US 1109 (1991)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of Discretion

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
B. Opposing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.13

25.13 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

☐ Determine if grounds to oppose motion to compel exist, such as:

- ○ Information sought is not relevant.
- ○ Proportionality factors favor denial of motion.
- ○ Good-faith requirements favor denial of motion.
- ○ Materials sought are privileged or protected by the work product doctrine.

☐ Prepare and serve response papers.

Discussion:
See §§ 25.14, 25.15

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.37

☐ Determine whether to seek a protective order.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(B); see Fed R Civ P 26(c)

Discussion:

See § 25.14

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory DisclosuresCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersWork ProductGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
B. Opposing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.14

25.14 Protective Orders.

25.14[1] Denial or Partial Denial of Motion May Result in Protective Order. If a motion for an order compelling disclosure or discovery is denied in whole or in part, the court may enter a protective order authorized under Fed R Civ P 26(c) [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(B), (C)].

25.14[2] Seeking Protective Order in Conjunction With Opposition to Motion. A party opposing a motion to compel may also seek a protective order in the event that the motion to compel is granted [see Molski v. Franklin (SD Cal 2004) 222 FRD 433, 436 ; McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 208 FRD 617, 620 (although motion to compel cockpit voice recorder was granted, "a protective order will prevent the dissemination of the CVR tape in a manner contrary to Congress' intent in enacting 49 USC § 1154" (limiting discovery of CVR); if existing protective order was insufficient, parties could draft more detailed one)].

Warning--Sanctions Available Regarding Protective Order:

Expense-shifting sanctions may be awarded in connection with a motion for a protective order, i.e., on a party or nonparty who, without substantial justification, unsuccessfully moved or opposed the motion for a protective order [Fed R Civ P 26(c); see also Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5); Rickels v. City of South Bend (7th Cir 1994) 33 F3d 785, 788]. Note that in the Northern District, sanctions must be sought in a separate motion [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-8].

25.14[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal--Responding Party May Serve Notice of Protective Order. In the Southern District of California, any party or nonparty against whom a motion under Fed R Civ P 37(a) or 45(d)(1) (subpoena to produce documents) is being made may notice for hearing at the same time a motion for protective order under Fed R Civ P 26(c) [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(c)].

Cross Reference:

Protective orders generally, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see §§ 22.35 -22.66.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective Orders

16 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
B. Opposing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.15

25.15 Factors Supporting Denial of Motion to Compel Discovery.

25.15[1] Relevance Factors Favoring Denial. The court should deny a motion to compel if the party opposing the discovery persuades the court that the discovery does not meet the applicable relevance standard.

Ordinarily, any discovery sought must be relevant to "any party's claim or defense" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)].

However, on a showing of good cause by the movant, the court may apply a more lenient relevance standard--that the discovery simply be relevant to "the subject matter involved in the action" [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)].

Judge's Perspective:
Courts are not usually sympathetic to parties who oppose legitimate discovery. If you are in the wrong, admit it and promise to comply quickly to resolve the dispute.

Cross References:

Scope of relevance standard, see Ch. 24, Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection, see §§ 24.03 -24.11.

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.22[2][a], [b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.15[2] Proportionality Factors Favoring Denial. The court should deny a motion to compel if the party opposing the discovery persuades the court that any of the following are true [see Fed R Civ P 26(b)(2)]:

- The discovery sought is unreasonably cumulative or duplicative.

- The discovery sought is obtainable from a more convenient, less burdensome, or less expensive source.

- The party seeking the discovery has had ample opportunity by discovery in the action to obtain the information sought.

- The burden or expense of the proposed discovery outweighs its likely benefit [see also Fed R Civ P 26(g)(1)(B)(iii) (also articulating burden and expense element)].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.22[2][d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.15[3] Good-Faith Requirements Favoring Denial. The court should deny a motion to compel if the party opposing the discovery persuades the court that either of the following is true [Fed R Civ P 26(g)(1)(B)(iii)]:

- The discovery sought is not warranted by existing law or a good-faith argument to change existing law.

- The discovery has been sought for an improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needlessly to increase in the cost of litigation.

Cross References:

Scope of discovery under Fed R Civ P 26, see Ch. 24, Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection, see §§ 24.03 -24.11.

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.22[2][d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.15[4] Privilege or Work-Product Protection Favoring Denial. A motion to compel discovery generally will be denied if the materials sought are privileged or protected by the work-product doctrine, regardless of whether the materials fall within the broad definition of relevance [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1) (privilege); Fed R Civ P 26(b)(3) (work-product doctrine)].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.22[2][c] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryPrivileged MattersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevanceCivil ProcedureDiscoveryUndue Burdens

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
C. Seeking Imposition of Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.16

25.16 CHECKLIST: Seeking Imposition of Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

☐ When motion to compel mandatory disclosure or discovery is granted, request sanctions against party opposing the motion.

○ Prepare documentation for the amount of sanctions requested, including:

☐ Costs incurred in bringing motion.

☐ Attorney's fees.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(A), (C)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.17 -25.20

Forms:
See §§ 25.115, 25.116

☐ When motion to compel mandatory disclosure or discovery is denied, request sanctions against party bringing motion.

- ○ Prepare documentation for the amount of sanctions requested, including:
  - ☐ Costs incurred in bringing motion.
  - ☐ Attorney's fees.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(A), (B)

Discussion:
See § 25.17

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
C. Seeking Imposition of Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.17

25.17 Court Award of Reasonable Expenses, Including Attorney's Fees, and Entry of Protective Order.

25.17[1] If Motion for Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery Is Granted. If the motion for an order compelling disclosure or discovery is granted, or if the disclosure or requested discovery is provided after the motion was filed, the court must, after affording an opportunity to be heard, require the party or deponent whose conduct necessitated the motion or the party or attorney advising the conduct, or both of them, to pay to the moving party the reasonable expenses incurred in making the motion, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(A)]:

- The motion was filed without a prior good-faith effort to obtain the disclosure or discovery without court action; or
- The opposing party's nondisclosure, response, or objection was substantially justified; or
- Other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust.

An award of expense-shifting sanctions does not require that the party against whom the sanctions are sought have acted in "bad faith" [Green v. Baca (CD Cal 2005) 225 FRD 612, 614].

The party against whom an award of expenses is sought has the burden of showing the special circumstances that make his or her failure to comply substantially justified [Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 784].

Judge's Perspective:

First contact opposing counsel to see if he or she will voluntarily reimburse you. This will probably not work.

If you elect to file a motion, state that you have attempted to resolve the issue without court intervention and include the number of hours, costs, etc. that were incurred because of opponent's delay. Do not engage in name-calling or hyperbole. Be forthright and concise.

If the case involves an ongoing relationship between the parties or the opposing attorney is someone with whom you often work, consider forgetting the sanctions request. It's always good to remember the old adage, "What goes around comes around."

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.23 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.17[2] If Motion for Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery Is Denied. If the motion for an order compelling disclosure or discovery is denied, the court may enter any protective order authorized under Fed R Civ P 26(c). The court must, after affording an opportunity to be heard, require the moving party or the attorney filing the motion or both of them to pay to the party or deponent who opposed the motion the reasonable expenses incurred in opposing the motion, including attorney's fees, unless the court finds that the making of the motion was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(B)].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.23 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.17[3] If Motion for Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery Is Granted in Part and Denied in Part. If the motion for an order compelling disclosure or discovery is granted in part and denied in part, the court may enter any protective order authorized under Fed R Civ P 26(c). The court may, after affording an opportunity to be heard, apportion the reasonable expenses incurred in relation to the motion [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(C)].

Cross References:

Protective orders under Fed R Civ P 37(a), see 25.14. Protective orders generally, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see §§ 22.35 -22.66.

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.23[4][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Strategic Point:

Expense-shifting sanctions may be awarded in connection with a motion for a protective order, i.e., on a party or nonparty who, without substantial justification, unsuccessfully moved or opposed the motion for a protective order [Fed R Civ P 26(c); see also Fed R Civ P 37(a)(4); Rickels v. City of South Bend (7th Cir 1994) 33 F3d 785, 788].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective Orders

19 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
C. Seeking Imposition of Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.18

25.18 Due Process Requirements of Expense-Shifting Sanctions: Opportunity to Be Heard.

Before imposing expense-shifting sanctions on a party who unsuccessfully made or opposed a motion to compel mandatory disclosures or discovery, a court must afford the persons or parties to be sanctioned an opportunity to be heard [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(A), (B)].

Courts may comply with the requirement for an opportunity to be heard by either of the following procedures [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(4), Committee Note of 1993]:

- An oral hearing on adequate notice.
- Consideration of written submissions from the affected parties.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

20 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
C. Seeking Imposition of Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.19

25.19 Rebuttable Presumption Favors Party Seeking Expense-Shifting Sanctions.

A rebuttable presumption favors imposing expense-shifting sanctions on the party against whom a motion to compel disclosures or discovery is resolved [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(A); Fed R Civ P 37, Committee Note of 1970].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.23[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

21 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
C. Seeking Imposition of Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.20

25.20 Moving Party May Recover Attorney's Fees Incurred in Requesting Expense-Shifting Sanctions.

Attorney's fees incurred in preparing a request for expense-shifting sanctions are recoverable [Sure Safe Indus. Inc. v. C & R Pier Mfg. (SD Cal 1993) 152 FRD 625, 626].

Cross Reference:

Seeking expense-shifting sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(a)(4)(C), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.23 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
D. Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.21

25.21 CHECKLIST: Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.

☐ If position on motion to compel is unsuccessful, oppose imposition of expense-shifting sanctions based on the following grounds:

- ○ The unsuccessful position was substantially justified.
- ○ Other circumstances make the imposition of sanctions unjust.
- ○ The prevailing party did not make a good-faith attempt at resolving the issues.
- ○ The amount requested is excessive.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(A), (C)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.22 -25.27

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions

to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

23 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
D. Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.22

25.22 If Moving Party Prevails, Responding Party May Raise Failure to Make Good-Faith Effort at Informal Resolution.

If the moving party prevails, the responding party may rebut the presumption in favor of the imposition of expense-shifting sanctions by demonstrating that the moving party failed to make a good-faith effort to obtain the disclosure or discovery prior to filing the motion [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(A)(i); but see Green v. Baca (CD Cal 2005) 225 FRD 612, 614 (no rebuttal of presumption when responding party's conduct was ultimately responsible for extensive court intervention in the discovery process)].

Judge's Perspective:

If you have good cause, state it. Never blame your secretary, paralegal, or associate. If the fault was partly your opponent's, say so without being unpleasant. If it was your fault, admit it, apologize, and don't let it happen again.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

24 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
D. Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.23

25.23 If Moving Party Prevails, Responding Party May Raise Substantial Justification.

If the moving party prevails, the responding party may rebut the presumption in favor of the imposition of expense-shifting sanctions by demonstrating that its nondisclosure, response, or objection was substantially justified [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(A)(ii)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryRelevance

25 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
D. Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.24

25.24 If Responding Party Prevails, Moving Party May Raise Substantial Justification.

If the responding party prevails, the moving party may rebut the presumption in favor of imposition of expense-shifting sanctions by demonstrating that the motion was substantially justified [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(B)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

26 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
D. Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.25

25.25 Unsuccessful Party May Raise Other Circumstances That Render Imposition of Sanctions Unjust.

Regardless of who prevails, the unsuccessful party on the motion to compel may rebut the presumption in favor of the imposition of expense-shifting sanctions by demonstrating that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust [Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(A), (B)].

Example:

If the prevailing party also acted unjustifiably, a court might find that imposing sanctions against the unsuccessful party would be unjust [see Fed R Civ P 37, Committee Note of 1970].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

27 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
D. Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.26

25.26 Substantial Justification Is Determined by Objective Standard.

A party meets the substantial justification standard by demonstrating that the dispute about the matter was "genuine," that is, reasonable lawyers could disagree about the appropriateness of the disputed position [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(4), Committee Note of 1970; see also Pierce v. Underwood (1988) 487 US 552, 565, 108 S Ct 2541, 101 L Ed2d 490 (establishing meaning of substantial justification within context of Equal Access to Justice Act)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to CompelCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

28 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
D. Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.27

25.27 Opposing Reasonableness of Amount of Sanctions Requested.

The provisions for expense-shifting sanctions require that the recoverable expenses be reasonable [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)]. The unsuccessful party to a motion to compel mandatory disclosure or discovery may therefore raise the issue that the amount of expenses sought is unreasonable [see, e.g., Green v. Baca (CD Cal 2005) 225 FRD 612, 614-616].

Consider:

Due process requirements must also be met. See § 25.18.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.28

25.28 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(b) Sanctions.

☐ Determine if party failed to obey a court order for discovery.

○ If the disobedient person is a nonparty deponent, move for contempt sanction.

○ If the disobedient person is a party (or party designee), determine which sanction to seek.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(b)(1), (2)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.29, 25.30

☐ Follow local rules regarding meet-and-confer requirements.

Discussion:
See § 25.05

☐ Follow local rules regarding discovery motions.

Discussion:

See § 25.40

☐ Prepare motion and serve papers.

○ Include the following allegations:

☐ The court has jurisdiction.

☐ A valid order was violated by a person against whom sanctions are sought.

☐ The moving party made a good-faith effort at a resolution of issues.

☐ The motion is timely.

☐ An adequate description of the disobedience and sanction sought was given.

☐ Reasonable notice was given.

☐ The papers and procedures followed comply with local rules.

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, 26.12

☐ If monetary sanctions are requested, prepare documentation for the amount of sanctions requested, including:

○ Costs incurred by the party's failure to obey the order.

○ Attorney's fees.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(b)(1), (2)

Content Note:
Local court rules contain specific requirements for filing of motion papers with respect to documenting prior attempts to resolve discovery disputes, and other requirements.

Discussion:
See § 25.40

Form:
25.117

Standard Procedure Checklists:

Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

30 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.29

25.29 Person Who Fails to Be Sworn or Deposed May Be in Contempt of Court.

If a deponent fails to be sworn or to answer a question after being directed to do so by the court in the district in which the deposition is being taken, the failure may be considered a contempt of that court [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.30

25.30 Party or Party's Representative or Designee Who Disobeys Court Order Is Subject to Sanctions.

25.30[1] Party Who Fails to Obey Discovery Order Is Subject to Sanctions. If a party fails to obey an order to provide or permit discovery, including an order made under Fed R Civ P 35 or 37(a), or if a party fails to obey an order entered under Fed R Civ P 26(f), the court in which the action is pending may make such orders in regard to the failure as are just [see Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)].

Consider:

A Fed R Civ P 37(a) motion is not a prerequisite to Rule 37(b) sanctions. Sanctions are available if a party "fails to obey an order to provide or permit discovery." The order need not be a Rule 37(a) motion to compel order, nor must it be a written one [Professional Seminar Consultants, Inc. v. Sino Am. Tech. Exch. Council, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 727 F2d 1470, 1474].

Distinguish:

If a party or attorney fails to participate in good faith in the framing of a discovery plan, then the sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(f), rather than Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2), apply. Rule 37(f) authorizes only monetary sanctions. The harsher sanctions under Rule 37(b)(2) apply only after an order is entered [see United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 602-603, n3].

Cross References:

Physical and mental examinations under Fed R Civ P 35, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, see §§ 23.189 -23.216. Duty of parties to develop proposed discovery plan under Fed R Civ P 26(f), see Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures, see § 15.14.

Grounds for Rule 37(b) sanctions, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 37.40, 37.42 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.30[2] Party's Representative or Designee Who Fails to Obey Discovery Order Is Subject to Sanctions. If an officer, director, or managing agent of a party, or a person designated under Fed R Civ P 30(b)(6) or 31(a)(4) to testify on behalf of a party, fails to obey an order to provide or permit discovery, including an order made under Fed R Civ P 35 or 37(a), the court in which the action is pending may make such orders in regard to the failure as are just [see Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)].

Cross Reference:

Physical and mental examinations under Fed R Civ P 35, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, see §§ 23.189 -23.216.

25.30[3] Party Who Fails to Obey Order to Produce Another for Examination Is Subject to Sanctions Absent Showing of Inability. A party who has failed to comply with an order under Fed R Civ P 35(a) requiring that party to produce another for examination is subject to issue preclusion, evidence preclusion, and termination sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(i)-(vi) unless the party failing to comply shows that that party is unable to produce the person for examination [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(B)].

Cross Reference:

Physical and mental examinations under Rule 35, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, see §§ 23.189 -23.216.

25.30[4] Pro Se Litigants Are Subject to Sanctions. Pro se litigants are subject to sanctions. However, the determination of appropriate sanctions will necessarily reflect the circumstances surrounding the party's conduct, including absence of counsel and unfamiliarity with procedures, in addition to the party's ability to comply with the order in question.

Example:

In a 42 USC § 1983 action brought by a former prisoner against a law enforcement agency, the plaintiff, who was homeless, indigent, and severely handicapped, attempted to comply with massive discovery requests by the defendants by attending depositions and medical exams, and responding to interrogatories. His failure to comply fully with discovery requests did not rise to the level of flagrant bad faith. After the magistrate judge recommended dismissal, the plaintiff retained counsel. The court of appeals vacated the order of dismissal as too harsh a sanction under the circumstances [see Porter v. Martinez (9th Cir 1991) 941 F2d 732, 733-734].

Cross Reference:

Sanctions under Rule 37(b), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.41 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.31

25.31 Underlying "Order" Is Construed Broadly.

The definition of "order" in Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2) has been read broadly [Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. v. Lakewood Eng'g & Mfg. Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 363, 367 , citing Henry v. Sneiders (9th Cir 1974) 490 F2d 315, 318 , cert. denied, 419 US 832 (1974)].

Example:

Rule 37 sanctions may be imposed on a party for disobedience of a court's request to produce documents in oral proceedings, so long as those proceedings give the party unequivocal notice that a court has asked that certain documents be produced [see Henry v. Sneiders (9th Cir 1974) 490 F2d 315, 318 , cert. denied, 419 US 832 (1974)].

However, the requirement that there be some form of court order that has been disobeyed is an incontrovertible criterion for imposition of Rule 37(b)(2) sanctions. This rule has never been read to authorize sanctions for more general discovery abuse [see Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. v. Lakewood Eng'g & Mfg. Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 363, 367-368].

Cross Reference:

Order need not be formal or written, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.42[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.32

25.32 Court That Issued Order Determines Whether Order Was Violated.

The court that issued the discovery order determines whether a party has violated that order [United States v. National Med. Enters., Inc. (9th Cir 1986) 792 F2d 906, 911].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.44 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.33

25.33 Sanctions Available Under Rule 37(b)(2).

25.33[1] List of Sanctions. Sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2) include:

- An order that the matters regarding which the order was made or any other designated facts must be taken to be established for the purposes of the action in accordance with the claim of the party obtaining the order [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(i)].

- An order refusing to allow the disobedient party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting that party from introducing designated matters in evidence [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(ii)].

- An order striking out pleadings or parts thereof [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(iii)].

- An order staying further proceedings until the order is obeyed [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(iv)].

- An order dismissing the action or proceeding or any part thereof [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(v)].

- An order rendering a judgment by default against the disobedient party [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(vi)].

Cross References:

List of sanctions, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.51. Court discretion in determining motion for sanctions, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.50 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.33[2] Sanction Precluding Party From Defending Claim Is Severe Penalty Authorized Only in Extreme Circumstances. A sanction precluding a defendant from opposing a claim is a severe penalty subject to the same standards applicable to the sanctions of dismissal and default judgment [United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v.

Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 603 (sanction resulted in judgment for plaintiff)].

Example:

When defendants failed to pay previously ordered monetary sanctions imposed for their failure to comply with a discovery order, the district court determined that an appropriate sanction, reasonably related to the subject of discovery that was frustrated by sanctionable conduct, was to preclude the defendants from defending against fraudulent transfer allegations in one claim for relief [In re Heritage Bond Litig. (CD Cal 2004) 223 FRD 527, 531].

Cross Reference:

Standards for imposing dismissal and default sanctions, see § 25.34.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.34

25.34 Dismissal and Default Sanctions Are Severe Penalties Imposed Only After Weighing Certain Factors.

25.34[1] Dismissal and Default Sanctions Are Authorized Only in Extreme Circumstances. The severe sanctions of dismissal and default judgment are authorized only in extreme circumstances [Fjelstad v. American Honda Motor Co. (9th Cir 1985) 762 F2d 1334, 1338].

25.34[2] Factors for Determining Dismissal or Default. The Ninth Circuit has identified the following five factors that a district court must weigh in determining whether to impose the dismissal or default sanction [Thompson v. Housing Auth. of L.A. (9th Cir 1986) 782 F2d 829, 831 , cert. denied, 479 US 829 (1986) (regarding dismissal sanctions); see also Computer Task Group, Inc. v. Brotby (9th Cir 2004) 364 F3d 1112, 1115 ; United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 603 (standards for imposing dismissal sanction apply to imposition of default sanction)]:

1. The public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation.

2. The court's need to manage its docket.

3. The risk of prejudice to the defendants.

4. The public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits.

5. The availability of less drastic sanctions.

Consider:

The first two factors favor imposition of sanctions in most cases, while the fourth cuts against a dismissal sanction. Thus, as a general rule the key factors are prejudice and the availability of lesser sanctions [see Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1412 , cert. denied sub nom. Lewis & Co. v. Thoeren, 498 US 1109 (1991) ; In re Heritage Bond Litig. (CD Cal 2004) 223 FRD 527, 530-531 ;

Anheuser-Busch, Inc. v. Natural Beverage Distribs. (ND Cal 1993) 151 FRD 346, 347 , aff'd, 69 F3d 337 (9th Cir 1995)]. When considering risk of prejudice and less drastic sanctions, the "most critical" factor is whether the discovery violations "make it impossible for a court to be confident that the parties will ever have access to the true facts" [Connecticut Gen. Life Ins. Co. v. New Images of Beverly Hills (9th Cir 2007) 482 F3d 1091, 1097].

Distinguish:

In some published cases, the Ninth Circuit has required a showing of prejudice only when courts are acting under Fed R Civ P 37, which applies when a party disobeys a court order regarding discovery [Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 382 (prejudice is an optional factor when courts are acting under their inherent authority); In re Napster, Inc. Copyright Litig. (ND Cal 2006) 462 F Supp 2d 1060, 1075 n.4 ; cf. Henry v. Gill Indus., Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 983 F2d 943, 948 (prejudice is a "key factor[]" when courts are acting under the authority of Rule 37)]. These cases hold that when acting under its inherent authority, a district court need not consider prejudice to the party moving for sanctions [In re Napster, Inc. Copyright Litig. (ND Cal 2006) 462 F Supp 2d 1060, 1075 & n.4, 1078].

Cross Reference:

Requirements for imposing severe sanctions under court's inherent powers, see 25.97[2][d].

When the drastic sanction of dismissal or default is imposed, the range of discretion is narrowed, and the losing party's noncompliance must be due to willfulness, fault, or bad faith [Fair Hous. of Marin v. Combs (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 899, 905 , cert. denied, 537 US 1018 (2002) ; Henry v. Gill Indus., Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 983 F2d 943, 948 ; see Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)].

Disobedient conduct not shown to be outside the litigant's control meets this standard [Jorgensen v. Cassiday (9th Cir 2003) 320 F3d 906, 912 ; Fair Hous. of Marin v. Combs (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 899, 905 , cert. denied, 537 US 1018 (2002) ; Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1167].

25.34[3] Determining Whether Court Considered Alternative Sanctions. The following factors are of particular relevance in determining whether a district court has considered alternatives to dismissal [Malone v. USPS (9th Cir 1987) 833 F2d 128, 132 , cert. denied sub nom. Malone v. Frank, 488 US 819 (1988)]:

- Did the court explicitly discuss the feasibility of less drastic sanctions and explain why alternative sanctions would be inadequate?

- Did the court implement alternative methods of sanctioning or curing the malfeasance before ordering dismissal?

- Did the court warn the plaintiff of the possibility of dismissal before actually ordering dismissal?

Cross Reference:

When explicit discussion of alternatives or warning is necessary, see § 25.34[4].

25.34[4] When Court Should Explicitly Discuss Alternatives or Warn of Dismissal.

25.34[4][a] Discussion of Alternatives. The Ninth Circuit has indicated a preference for explicit discussion by the district court of the feasibility of alternatives when ordering dismissal [Malone v. USPS (9th Cir 1987) 833 F2d 128, 132 , cert. denied sub nom. Malone v. Frank, 488 US 819 (1988)]. As a general rule, the district court must consider less severe alternatives and discuss them if it elects to dismiss [United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu

Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 604].

However, although an explicit discussion of alternatives is preferred, it is not always necessary [United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 604 ; Malone v. USPS (9th Cir 1987) 833 F2d 128, 132 , cert. denied sub nom. Malone v. Frank, 488 US 819 (1988)]. Under circumstances sufficiently egregious, it may be unnecessary (although still helpful) for a district court to discuss why alternatives to dismissal are infeasible [Malone v. USPS (9th Cir 1987) 833 F2d 128, 132 , cert. denied sub nom. Malone v. Frank, 488 U.S. 819 (1988) (affirming dismissal absent record that district court explicitly discussed alternatives, when plaintiff purposefully and defiantly violated a court order)].

In exceptional cases in which it is clear that no other alternative would have been reasonable, the Ninth Circuit may affirm a dismissal or default judgment despite the absence of a discussion of alternatives [see United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 604]. This is in keeping with the tenet that consideration of less severe penalties must be a reasonable explanation of possible and meaningful alternatives [Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 381].

Example:

In a Title VII case, the district court granted defendant's motion to dismiss plaintiff's action, citing plaintiff counsel's flagrant disobedience, her bad faith and her repeated failure to comply in any respect with the court's pretrial order, and her failure to communicate with the court or opposing counsel in an attempt to clarify or modify the court's pretrial order. The court of appeals affirmed, stating that, under the egregious circumstances present here, when the plaintiff has purposefully and defiantly violated a court order, it is unnecessary (although still helpful) for a district court to discuss why alternatives to dismissal are infeasible [see Malone v. USPS (9th Cir 1987) 833 F2d 128, 129-132 , cert. denied sub nom. Malone v. Frank, 488 US 819 (1988)].

Moreover, in some cases explicit discussion of alternatives is unnecessary if the district court actually tries alternatives before employing the ultimate sanction of dismissal [Malone v. USPS (9th Cir 1987) 833 F2d 128, 132 , cert. denied sub nom. Malone v. Frank, 488 US 819 (1988) ; see also Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1413 , cert. denied sub nom. Lewis & Co. v. Thoeren 498 US 1109 (1991) , citing Malone]. This series of previously imposed sanctions constitutes a "natural progression, much like discipline, with dismissal the last step" [United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 604].

25.34[4][b] Warning of Dismissal. It is advisable for the court to warn a plaintiff about the potential for a dismissal sanction prior to imposition of the sanction.

Example:

Prior to imposing the sanction of dismissal on plaintiffs, the district court and master warned them that continued noncompliance would result in dismissal. It had also denied earlier motions to dismiss and imposed costs on plaintiffs as a lesser sanction [see Allen v. Exxon Corp. (In re Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 429, 433].

Nevertheless, an explicit warning of the possibility of dismissal is not always necessary, at least in a case involving egregious circumstances. A warning must identify the specific conduct that will trigger the sanction, and must identify the specific sanction that the court is contemplating [Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1413 , cert. denied sub nom. Lewis & Co. v. Thoeren, 498 US 1109 (1991) (court warned that specific conduct would result in dismissal, without mentioning subsequent default judgment, but, under circumstances, that warning was sufficient to later impose dismissal and default); United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 605 (discussion of alternatives nevertheless weighed against imposition of sanction of precluding opposition to claim, which resulted in judgment for plaintiff)].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

A record of the district court's explicit discussion of alternatives is the best method of assuring that the consideration of this factor will be preserved for appeal purposes. If the court merely relies on the prior imposition of lesser sanctions to satisfy this factor, however, those "lesser sanctions" should be of the type available under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2), rather than some other punitive type of order. Moreover, those sanctions should be in response to the particular discovery abuse that becomes the basis for the dismissal or other severe sanction [see, e.g., Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 992 (in imposing dismissal sanction under Fed R Civ P 41(b), district court's prior grant of time to amend complaint could not be considered lesser sanction because it was not sanction in response to plaintiffs' failure to obey a court order)]. The moving party otherwise risks a reversal of the dismissal order because of the court's failure to find that the minimum number of factors [see § 25.34[5]] support dismissal.

25.34[5] Appellate Courts Will Affirm Dismissal If Four Factors Support Dismissal, or Three Factors Strongly Support Dismissal. The Ninth Circuit tends to affirm orders of dismissal sanctions if at least four factors support dismissal, or at least three factors strongly support dismissal [Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 992 (affirming imposition of dismissal sanction under the analogous Fed R Civ P 41(b))].

25.34[6] Dismissal and Default Sanctions Reviewed Under Same Standard; Cases Involving Court's Inherent Power Apply. The Ninth Circuit applies the same standards in reviewing the imposition of both dismissal and default sanctions [see United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 603]. Dismissal sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37 are subject to similar considerations as those under a court's inherent power. Therefore, the Ninth Circuit uses both types of cases interchangeably [United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 603 n5 , citing Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 380].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to Comply

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.35

25.35 Contempt of Court Is Available Under Rule 37(b)(2).

25.35[1] Failure to Obey Order May Be Treated As Contempt of Court. In lieu of or in addition to any of the other orders set forth in Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2), a sanction may include an order treating as a contempt of court the failure to obey any orders except an order to submit to a physical or mental examination [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(vii)].

Cross References:

Discussion of contempt, see Ch. 35, Contempt.

Form of motion to hold deponent in contempt, see 8 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 37:60 (Matthew Bender).

See also 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.51[7][a] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.35[2] Protective Order May Be Basis for Contempt Sanction. A protective order is a discovery order subject to the provisions of Fed R Civ P 37, including provision for a contempt sanction [Westinghouse Elec. v. Newman & Holtzinger, P.C. (9th Cir 1993) 992 F2d 932, 935].

Example:

In a patent infringement case, plaintiff used materials produced by defendant during discovery and subject to a protective order as a basis for filing a separate lawsuit against the defendant in state court. The district court held that the defendant, who brought a motion for civil contempt, was entitled to monetary sanctions based on the plaintiff's violation of the protective order [On Command Video Corp. v. Lodgenet Entm't Corp. (ND Cal 1997) 976 F Supp 917, 922-923 (defendant nevertheless failed to provide factual basis for amount of sanctions sought.)].

25.35[3] Civil and Criminal Contempt Distinguished by Character and Purpose. To distinguish civil from criminal contempt, the focus of the inquiry is often not on the fact of punishment, but rather its character and purpose [

Shillitani v. United States (1966) 384 US 364, 369, 86 S Ct 1531, 16 L Ed2d 622 ; Go-Video v. Motion Picture Ass'n of Am. (9th Cir 1993) 10 F3d 693, 695 ; Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 778].

Strategic Point--Early Clarification of Whether Proceeding Is Civil or Criminal in Nature:

The Ninth Circuit has recommended that an early determination be made as to the nature of contempt, so that the proceedings can be conducted in accordance with appropriate rules, statutes, and due process requirements [see Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 777].

Warning--Contempt Sanction May Be Invalidated If Confusion Leads to Prejudice:

A contempt sanction could be invalidated if the district court's confusion as to the nature of the contempt proceeding resulted in prejudice to the contemnor [see Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 777 n1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.36

25.36 Civil Contempt.

25.36[1] Civil Contempt Consists of Disobedience of Specific Order by Failure to Comply Reasonably. Civil contempt is characterized by the court's desire to compel a party's obedience to a specific and definite court order after the party has failed to take all reasonable steps within the party's power to comply [Go-Video v. Motion Picture Ass'n of Am. (9th Cir 1993) 10 F3d 693, 695 ; McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 208 FRD 617, 621]. A contempt adjudication is civil in nature when the sanction imposed is wholly remedial, serves only the purposes of the complainant, and is not intended as a deterrent to offenses against the public [Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 778].

25.36[2] Civil Contempt May Be Compensatory or Coercive. There are two forms of civil contempt: compensatory and coercive. The power to impose a coercive sanction to compel obedience to an order in a civil contempt is limited by the individual's ability to comply with the court's order [Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 778, 781].

25.36[3] Civil Contempt Requires Showing of Violation Absent Good Faith and Reasonable Interpretation of Order. Although a civil contempt need not be willful, and there is no "good faith" exception to the requirement of obedience to a court order, a person should not be held in contempt if his or her action appears to be based on a good faith and reasonable interpretation of the court's order [Go-Video v. Motion Picture Ass'n of Am. (9th Cir 1993) 10 F3d 693, 695].

The moving party in a motion for civil contempt must show clear and convincing evidence that the other party violated the order beyond substantial compliance, and that the violation was not based on a good faith and reasonable interpretation of the order [Wolfard Glassblowing Co. v. Vanbragt (9th Cir 1997) 118 F3d 1320, 1322].

25.36[4] Standard of Proof Is Clear and Convincing Evidence. Civil contempt must be proved by clear and convincing evidence [Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 777].

25.36[5] Civil Contempt Is Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard. Review of civil contempt is limited to the abuse of discretion standard [Go-Video v. Motion Picture Ass'n of Am. (9th Cir 1993) 10 F3d 693, 695].

25.36[6] Burden Shifts After Party Is Found to Have Violated Court Order. After the party seeking sanctions shows by clear and convincing evidence that the party in question violated a specific and definitive court order, the burden then shifts to the contemnors to demonstrate why they were unable to comply [McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 208 FRD 617, 621].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of contempt sanctions generally, see Ch. 35, Contempt.

Discussion of civil contempt sanctions for discovery misconduct, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.51[7][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCivil Contempt

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.37

25.37 Criminal Contempt.

25.37[1] Purpose of Criminal Contempt Is Punitive. The primary purpose of criminal contempt is to punish past defiance of a court's judicial authority, thereby vindicating the court [Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 778 ; McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 208 FRD 617, 621]. The principal beneficiaries of such an order are the courts and the public interest [Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 778].

25.37[2] Criminal Contempt Requires Willful Conduct. A party's disobedience of a court order must be willful to constitute a basis for criminal contempt sanctions [see Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 772 (criminal contempt sanction not available because, among other things, evidence failed to show that party was guilty of willful disobedience of district court's order)].

25.37[3] Court Must Provide Notice, and Appoint Prosecutor. Any person who commits criminal contempt may be punished for that contempt after prosecution on notice [Fed R Crim P 42(a); see Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 772].

The court must give the person notice in open court, in an order to show cause, or in an arrest order. The notice must [Fed R Crim P 42(a)(1)]:

- State the time and place of the trial;
- Allow the defendant a reasonable time to prepare a defense; and
- State the essential facts constituting the charged criminal contempt and describe it as such.

The court must appoint a prosecutor, or another attorney if appropriate, to prosecute the contempt [see Fed R Crim P 42(a)(2)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of contempt sanctions generally, see Ch. 35, Contempt.

Discussion of criminal contempt sanctions for discovery misconduct, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.51[7][c] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.37[4] Person Is Entitled to Jury Trial When Federal Law Provides. A person being prosecuted for criminal contempt is entitled to a jury trial in any case in which federal law so provides, and must be released or detained as Fed R Crim P 46 provides [Fed R Crim P 42(a)(3); Muniz v. Hoffman (1975) 422 US 454, 474-476, 95 S Ct 2178, 45 L Ed2d 319]. A jury trial is required only for a "serious offense" [Codispoti v. Pennsylvania (1974) 418 US 506, 94 S Ct 2687, 41 L Ed2d 912 ; Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 777].

25.37[5] Judge Disrespected or Criticized Is Disqualified From Presiding at Contempt Proceeding. If the criminal contempt involves disrespect toward or criticism of a judge, that judge is disqualified from presiding at the contempt trial or hearing unless the defendant consents. On a finding or verdict of guilty, the court must impose the punishment [Fed R Crim P 42(a)(3)].

25.37[6] Judge May Punish Person Committing Criminal Contempt in His or Her Presence. Notwithstanding any other provision of the Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, the court (other than a magistrate judge) may summarily punish a person who commits criminal contempt in its presence if the judge saw or heard the contemptuous conduct and so certifies. A magistrate judge may summarily punish a person as provided in 28 USC § 636(e). The contempt order must recite the facts, be signed by the judge, and be filed with the clerk [Fed R Crim P 42(b)].

25.37[7] Standard of Proof Is Beyond Reasonable Doubt. Criminal contempt must be proved beyond a reasonable doubt [Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 777].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCriminal Contempt

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.38

25.38 Monetary Sanctions Are Imposed Under Rule 37(b)(2), Absent Substantial Justification or Other Circumstances.

Generally, the court must require the party failing to obey an order or the attorney advising that party or both to pay the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the failure, unless the court finds that the failure was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)].

The court need not find that an attorney acted in bad faith before imposing these sanctions [see, e.g., Toth v. Trans World Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 862 F2d 1381, 1385-1386 (attorney and client jointly and severably liable for expenses, with no discussion of bad faith; imposition of sanction upheld, but case remanded for determination of proper amount)].

The party against whom an award of expenses is sought has the burden of showing the special circumstances that make his or her failure to comply substantially justified [Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 784].

Distinguish:

Compensatory monetary sanctions awarded for failure to obey a discovery order may compensate for a broader range of losses than monetary sanctions in connection with a motion to compel discovery, which are limited to the reasonable expenses incurred in making or opposing the motion [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)(A)].

Warning--Failure to Substantiate Amount of Sanctions May Result in Denial of Sanctions:

Counsel should take care to provide a factual basis to substantiate the amount of sanctions requested. Even if sanctions would be proper under the circumstances, the court may deny them completely if unsubstantiated [see, e.g., On Command Video Corp. v. Lodgenet Entm't Corp. (ND Cal 1997) 976 F Supp 917, 922-923].

Cross Reference:

Monetary sanctions under Rule 37(b), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.51[9] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

40 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.39

25.39 Sanction Must Be Specifically Related to Claim at Issue in Discovery Order.

Due process considerations require that the sanction be specifically related to the particular claim that was at issue in the order to provide discovery [Insurance Corp. of Ireland v. Compagnie des Bauxites de Guinee (1982) 456 US 694, 707, 102 S Ct 2099, 72 L Ed2d 492 ; Navellier v. Sletten (9th Cir 2001) 262 F3d 923, 947].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.40

25.40 Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37(b).

25.40[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally. The four district courts in California require counsel to make a good-faith attempt to reach an informal resolution of a discovery dispute prior to filing a discovery motion.

Cross Reference:

See § 25.05.

25.40[2] Determining Jurisdiction for Motion.

25.40[2][a] Motion Seeking Sanctions Against Party May Be Brought in Court Where Action Is Pending. A motion seeking sanctions against a party for failure to comply with a discovery order, or an order entered under Fed R Civ P 26(f) regarding a discovery plan, may be brought in the court where the action is pending [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

The court is not limited to a finding of contempt, but may fashion an appropriate sanctions order, including sanctions that directly affect the parties' substantive rights [see Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(i)-(vi)].

25.40[2][b] Motion Seeking Sanctions Against Nonparty Deponent Is Brought in Court That Issued Discovery Order. A motion seeking sanctions against a nonparty deponent for failure to comply with a discovery order must be brought pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37(b)(1), in which case only the court that issued the discovery order has jurisdiction over the motion [see Fed R Civ P 37(b)(1)].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

If the court that issued the discovery order against the nonparty is not the court where the action is pending, the only sanction that the court may impose pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37(b)(1) is contempt [see Fed R Civ P 37(b)(1)].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.44 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.40[3] Time for Filing Motion.

25.40[3][a] Motion Should Be Filed Within Reasonable Time After Violation. Fed R Civ P 37(b) does not establish specific time limits for making a motion for sanctions. In the absence of a specific local rule to the contrary, Fed R Civ P 37(b) motions should be filed within a reasonable time after the alleged violation occurred, was discovered, or should have been discovered through reasonable diligence. The amount of time that is reasonable varies with the circumstances, but long delays will significantly reduce the likelihood that the motion will be granted [see Brandt v. Vulcan, Inc. (7th Cir 1994) 30 F3d 752, 756-757].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.43 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.40[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion Must Be Made As Soon As Practicable After Notice of Violation, and Served and Filed 14 Days After Judgment Is Entered or Earlier. Any motion for sanctions, regardless of the sources of authority invoked, must comply with any applicable Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and must be made as soon as practicable after the filing party learns of the circumstances that it alleges make the motion appropriate [ND Cal Civ LR 7-8(c); see ND Cal Civ LR 37-3 (applying Rule 7-8 to motions under Fed R Civ P 37].

Unless otherwise ordered by the court, no motion for sanctions may be served and filed more than 14 days after entry of judgment by the district court [ND Cal Civ LR 7-8(d); see ND Cal Civ LR 37-3 (applying Rule 7-8 to motions under Fed R Civ P 37)].

25.40[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Form of Motion Must Comply With Local Rules 7-2 and 7-8.

25.40[4][a] Motion Must Comport With Format Requirements of Local Rule 7-2. In the Northern District of California, a party moving for an award of attorney's fees or other form of sanction under Fed R Civ P 37 in connection with a dispute about disclosure or discovery must comply with ND Cal Civ LR 7-2 and 7-8 [ND Cal Civ LR 37-3].

ND Cal Civ LR 7-2 states that in one filed document not exceeding 25 pages in length, a motion must contain the following [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b); see ND Cal Civ LR 7-8(a) (requiring compliance with Rule 7-2 for all motions for sanctions)]:

- On the first page in the space opposite the caption and below the case number, the noticed hearing date and time.
- In the first paragraph, notice of the motion including date and time of hearing.
- In the second paragraph, a concise statement of what relief or court action the movant seeks.

- In the succeeding paragraphs, the points and authorities in support of the motion, in compliance with ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(a).

25.40[4][b] Motion Must Be Separately Filed. A motion for sanctions, regardless of the sources of authority invoked, must be separately filed [ND Cal Civ LR 7-8(a), 37-3].

25.40[5] Content of Motion.

25.40[5][a] Moving Party Must Provide Adequate Description of Alleged Violation. A motion for sanctions must describe the alleged violation of the order with enough specificity to enable the accused party to understand the charges, so that he or she is given a fair opportunity to develop a defense. The motion must comport with the requirements of due process. It must be real, reasonable, and afford some opportunity to be heard [see Hathcock v. Navistar Int'l Transp. Corp. (4th Cir 1995) 53 F3d 36, 41-42].

Warning--Both Client and Attorney Subject to Sanctions:

Absent a clear, contrary indication in the moving papers, any motion for sanctions based on an alleged violation of a discovery order places both the party and the party's counsel on notice that the court might assess sanctions against either or both, unless they provide the court with substantial justification for their conduct [DeVaney v. Continental Am. Ins. Co. (11th Cir 1993) 989 F2d 1154, 1160].

25.40[5][b] Motion Seeking Expenses Must Show Connection Between Violation and Expenses. A motion for sanctions seeking an award of expenses, including attorney's fees, should describe the causal connection between the expenses and the alleged violation of the underlying court order [see, e.g., In re Heritage Bond Litig. (CD Cal 2004) 223 FRD 527, 533 (court constrained to award only attorney fees as civil contempt sanctions because aggrieved party did not provide court any basis for award of additional sanctions)]. It should also set forth with particularity the following [Henry v. Gill Indus., Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 983 F2d 943, 946 ; see Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)]:

- The nature of the services rendered.
- The amount of attorney time spent.
- The rates at which the time was billed to the client.

25.40[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Required Affidavits and Declarations in Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37. In the Northern District of California, a motion for an award of attorney's fees or other form of sanction under Fed R Civ P 37 in connection with a dispute about disclosure or discovery must be accompanied by competent declarations that [ND Cal Civ LR 37-3]:

- Set forth the facts and circumstances supporting the motion;
- Describe in detail the efforts made by the moving party to secure compliance without intervention by the court; and
- If attorney's fees or other costs or expenses are requested, itemize with particularity the otherwise unnecessary expenses, including attorney's fees, directly caused by the alleged violation or breach, and set forth an appropriate justification for any attorney-fee hourly rate claimed.

In addition, a motion for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37 must be accompanied by affidavits or declarations pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 7-5 [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(d), 37-3]. Factual contentions made in support of or in opposition to any motion must be supported by an affidavit or declaration and by appropriate references to the record. Extracts from depositions, interrogatory answers, requests for admission, and other evidentiary matters must be appropriately authenticated by an affidavit or declaration [ND Cal Civ LR 7-5(a)].

An affidavit or declaration may contain only facts, must conform as much as possible to the requirements of Fed R Civ P 56(e) (form of affidavit for summary judgment), and must avoid conclusions and argument. Any statement made on information and belief must specify the basis for it. An affidavit or declaration not in compliance with Rule 7-5 may be stricken in whole or in part [ND Cal Civ LR 7-5(b)].

25.40[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion Must Be Accompanied by Proposed Order. Unless excused by the judge who will hear the motion, each motion must be accompanied by a proposed order [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(c), 37-3].

Cross Reference:

Motion papers generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see §§ 26.16 -26.23.

25.40[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Required Notice for Any Discovery Motion; Ex Parte Rules.

25.40[6][a] At Least 21 Days' Notice Is Required on Any Discovery Motion. In the Central District of California, a discovery motion may be noticed to be heard on the particular judge's regular Motion Day, which may not be earlier than 21 days after the filing of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 37-3].

25.40[6][b] No Ex Parte Motions Permitted Absent Proper Showing. Unless the court in its discretion otherwise allows, discovery motions may not be filed or heard on an ex parte basis, absent a showing of irreparable injury or prejudice not attributable to the lack of diligence of the moving party [CD Cal Civ LR 37-3].

Warning--Sanctions for Noncompliance:

The failure of any counsel to comply with or cooperate in the procedures set forth in CD Cal Civ LR 37-1 through 37-3 may result in the imposition of sanctions. [CD Cal Civ LR 37-4].

25.40[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Filing of Discovery Motion and Hearing on Motion for Discovery Motion. When there has been a complete and total failure to respond to a discovery request or order or when the only relief sought by the motion is the imposition of sanctions, the aggrieved party may bring a motion for relief for hearing on 14 days' notice [ED Cal Civ LR 251(e)].

The responding party must respond no later than seven days before the hearing date [ED Cal Civ LR 251(e)].

The moving party may file and serve a reply not less than two court days before the hearing date [ED Cal Civ LR 251(e)].

All discovery motions, including Rule 37 motions for sanctions, are to be heard before the magistrate judge [ED Cal Mag LR 302(c)(1); see Pickern v. Pier 1 Imports (U.S.), Inc. (ED Cal 2004) 339 F Supp 2d 1081, 1091].

Cross References:

Motion practice rules, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

25.40[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Notice of Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37.

25.40[8][a] Motion for Sanctions Based on Disclosure or Discovery Dispute Must Comply With Local Rules 7-2 and 7-8. In the Northern District of California, a motion for an award of attorney's fees or other form of sanction under Fed R Civ P 37 in connection with a dispute about disclosure or discovery must comply with ND Cal Civ LR 7-2 and 7-8 [ND Cal Civ LR 37-3].

25.40[8][b] Motion Must Be Served and Filed at Least 35 Days Before Hearing. Except as otherwise ordered or permitted by the assigned judge or local rules of the Northern District, and except for motions made during the course of a trial or hearing, all motions must be filed, served, and noticed in writing on the motion calendar of the assigned judge for hearing no fewer than 35 days after service of the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(a); see ND Cal Civ LR 7-8(a), 37-3 (requiring compliance with Rule 7-2)].

Cross References:

Form of motion, see 25.117.

Forms of motion for sanctions under Rule 37(b), see 8 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 37:61-37:64 (Matthew Bender).

Motion procedure for sanctions under Rule 37(b), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.43 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.41

25.41 Court's Determination of Imposition of Sanctions.

25.41[1] Court in Which Action Is Pending May Make Just Orders Regarding Sanctions. If a party has failed to comply with a discovery order, the court in which the action is pending may make such orders in regard to the failure as are just [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)]. The specific sanctions set forth in Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(i)-(vi) are illustrative, rather than exclusive.

Example:

The district court may make an order that benefits parties other than those wronged. The dismissal of a case may benefit additional parties if the dismissal applies to them in addition to the party seeking sanctions [see, e.g., Valley Eng'rs, Inc. v. Electric Eng'g Co. (9th Cir 1998) 158 F3d 1051, 1059 , cert. denied, 526 US 1064 (1999)].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.51 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.41[2] Purpose of Sanctions Is to Prevent Party From Benefitting From Failure to Respond, and to Deter Sanctioned Conduct. Sanctions are intended to serve the following purposes [National Hockey League v. Metropolitan Hockey Club, Inc. (1976) 427 US 639, 642-643, 96 S Ct 2778, 49 L Ed2d 747]:

- Ensure that a party will not benefit from its own failure to comply with discovery requests.
- Specifically deter sanctioned conduct, and ensure compliance with discovery orders.
- Generally deter sanctionable conduct in the instant case and in other cases.

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 37.50 -37.51 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.41[3] Court Evaluates All Incidents of Party's Misconduct. In evaluating the propriety of sanctions, the district court evaluates all the incidents of a party's misconduct [see Henry v. Gill Indus., Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 983 F2d 943, 947].

A court may consider prior misconduct when weighing a subsequent sanctions motion when all the conduct is of the same type, e.g., when all the conduct constitutes discovery abuse [Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1412 , cert. denied sub nom. Lewis & Co. v. Thoeren, 498 US 1109 (1991)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.42

25.42 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

The Ninth Circuit reviews discovery rulings for abuse of discretion [Mabe v. San Bernardino County (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1101, 1112]. The imposition of discovery sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37 is reviewed for abuse of discretion [Payne v. Exxon Corp. (9th Cir 1997) 121 F3d 503, 507].

A district court's dismissal of a case with prejudice is reviewed for abuse of discretion. The issue on appeal is not whether the court of appeals would have, as an original matter, imposed the sanctions chosen by the trial court, but, rather, whether the trial court exceeded the limits of its discretion [Toth v. Trans World Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 862 F2d 1381, 1385].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 37.50 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Prerequisite--Final Decision Required for Appeal of Monetary Sanctions Against Attorney:

An award of monetary sanctions against an attorney is not immediately appealable. An attorney sanctioned for such conduct suffers no inordinate injury from a deferral of appellate consideration [Cunningham v. Hamilton County (1999) 527 US 198, 208-209, 119 S Ct 1915, 144 L Ed2d 184)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of Discretion

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.43

25.43 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(b) Sanctions.

☐ If appropriate, seek a protective order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(c)

Discussion:
See § 25.44

☐ Determine if grounds to oppose motion for sanctions exist, such as:

- ○ Failure was substantially justified.
- ○ Other circumstances make monetary sanctions unjust.
- ○ Underlying order was not issued.
- ○ Underlying order was not disobeyed.
- ○ Sanction is unrelated to disobeyed order.

☐ Prepare and serve response papers.

☐ If monetary sanctions are sought, argue the following:

- ○ Other circumstances make the imposition of sanctions unjust.
- ○ The amount requested is excessive.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(b)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.44 -25.47

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective Orders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.44

25.44 Options and Strategies for Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(b) Sanctions.

A party who is unable to comply with a discovery order should promptly inform the court and other parties. The party should explain the circumstances to opposing counsel well before the discovery deadline, and request from the court a modification of the original order. If opposing counsel is uncooperative, the party to whom the order is directed should then file a formal motion for reconsideration or modification of the original discovery order, or for a protective order [see Fed R Civ P 26(c)]. This practice may protect the responding party from the imposition of sanctions, and obviate the need of other parties to incur expenses in the enforcement of discovery orders.

Warning--Belated Compliance Does Not Preclude Imposition of Sanctions:

Belated compliance with a discovery order does not preclude the imposition of sanctions [see National Hockey League v. Metropolitan Hockey Club, Inc. (1976) 427 US 639, 643, 96 S Ct 2778, 49 L Ed2d 747 ; Fair Hous. of Marin v. Combs (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 899, 906 , cert. denied, 537 US 1018 (2002)].

Cross Reference:

Protective orders, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.35 -22.66.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.45

25.45 Opposing Imposition of Monetary Sanctions.

25.45[1] Disobedient Party Has Burden of Proving That Failure Was Substantially Justified. Under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2), the burden of showing substantial justification and special circumstances is on the party being sanctioned [Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1171]. This is appropriate because the court already will have found that the resisting party has violated the discovery order [see Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2), Committee Note of 1970].

Example:

A good-faith dispute concerning a discovery question might, in the proper case, constitute substantial justification under Rule 37(b)(2) [see Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1171].

Consider:

An attorney subject to monetary sanctions must argue that the client's failure to obey the court order was substantially justified, not that the attorney's defense of the client was substantially justified [Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1171].

25.45[2] Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Other Circumstances Make Monetary Sanctions Unjust. The district court may elect not to impose compensatory monetary sanctions if "other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust" [Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(C)].

Example:

"Other circumstances" are likely to arise when a litigant is proceeding pro se, and is not held to the same standards as represented parties, or when the disobedient party is impecunious [see, e.g., Porter v. Martinez (9th Cir 1991) 941 F2d 732, 733-734]. In these circumstances, a court that is reluctant in good conscience to impose a monetary sanction might instead impose another type of sanction, especially when the disobedience is willful, repeated, or particularly egregious, and the administration of justice requires a response from the court.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

47 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.46

25.46 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That an Underlying Order Was Not Issued, or That Party Did Not Disobey Any Order.

Application of Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2) sanctions requires that an order has been issued, and that the order was disobeyed. If an underlying order was not issued, sanctions may be opposed on that ground [see, e.g., Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 379].

Consider:

Although the definition of "order" in Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2) has been read broadly, the requirement that there be some form of court order that has been disobeyed has not been read out of existence [see Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. v. Lakewood Eng'g & Mfg. Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 363, 367-368 ; see also § 25.31].

Similarly, a party who did not disobey any discovery court order is not subject to sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2) [see, e.g., Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1170 (abuse of discretion of court to order $6,000 in sanctions when party did not violate any discovery order)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.47

25.47 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Requested Sanction Is Unrelated to Particular Discovery Order That Was Disobeyed.

A person may oppose the imposition of sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2) on the ground that the sanction sought is unrelated to the particular claim at issue in the discovery that was disobeyed [see United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 602].

The application of Rule 37 sanctions is foreclosed when a party's alleged discovery-related misconduct is not encompassed by the language of the rule [Telluride Mgmt. Solutions, Inc. v. Telluride Inv. Group (9th Cir 1995) 55 F3d 463, 467 (trial judge may not impose Rule 37 sanctions for bringing motion for reconsideration)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.48

25.48 Opposing Civil Contempt.

25.48[1] Opposing Civil Contempt on Ground of Substantial Compliance With Court Order. Substantial compliance with the court order is a defense to civil contempt based on violation of a court order. The defense is not vitiated by a few technical violations when every reasonable effort has been made to comply [Go-Video v. Motion Picture Ass'n of Am. (9th Cir 1993) 10 F3d 693, 695 ; McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 208 FRD 617, 621].

25.48[2] Opposing Civil Contempt on Ground of Impossibility. Generally, impossibility is a complete defense to a charge of contempt. Inability, whether or not self-induced, is a complete defense to a charge of coercive civil contempt [Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 782].

Distinguish--Self-Induced Impossibility in Criminal Contempt:
An exception exists in the criminal context when the impossibility is self-induced [see, e.g., United States v. Bryan (1950) 339 US 323, 330-331, 70 S Ct 724, 94 L Ed 884 ; Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 782].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCivil Contempt

LexisNexis®

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.49

25.49 Opposing Severe Sanctions on Ground That Less Severe Sanctions Are Appropriate Under Circumstances.

25.49[1] Party Who Disobeyed Discovery Order May Assert That Sanctions Sought Are Too Severe Under Circumstances. A party who disobeyed a discovery order and is unsuccessful in defeating the imposition of sanctions entirely may argue that, under the circumstances, sanctions less severe than those sought are more appropriate. If severe sanctions such as dismissal are sought, counsel should argue that the court must entertain, among other factors, the feasibility of less drastic sanctions [see Thompson v. Housing Auth. of L.A. (9th Cir 1986) 782 F2d 829, 831 , cert. denied, 479 US 829 (1986) ; United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 603-605].

Strategic Point--Party Opposing Sanctions:

The party opposing the imposition of serious sanctions on the ground that noncompliance was not willful should provide evidence supporting that assertion. For example, a party claiming that he or she was too ill to comply should provide some credible proof of the illness during the relevant time [see, e.g., Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1168].

25.49[2] Imposing Severe Sanctions Is Inappropriate When Party Was Unable to Comply With Discovery Order. If a party's disobedience of a discovery order is due to its inability to comply with it, and the inability was not fostered by its own conduct or by circumstances within its control, severe sanctions, such as dismissal, are not authorized [Societe Internationale Pour Participations Industrieles et Commerciales v. Rogers (1958) 357 US 197, 210-212, 78 S Ct 1087, 2 L Ed2d 1255 (reversing dismissal when compliance with order mandating disclosure of bank records would be violation of Swiss laws); Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 784 (improper to exclude evidence)].

Warning:

Courts may require the production of meaningful evidence tending to support the necessary finding that a party was unable to comply with a discovery order. Courts are unlikely to accept a party's mere assertion of this claim [see Malautea v. Suzuki Motor Co. (11th Cir 1993) 987 F2d 1536, 1543 , cert. denied, 510 US 863 (1993)].

Strategic Point--Party Opposing Sanctions:

A party unable to comply with a discovery order should inform the court and affected parties at the earliest possible time, thus avoiding the necessity of later responding to a request for imposition of sanctions, and arguing for less severe sanctions.

25.49[3] Refuting Requested Amount of Sanctions. Inasmuch as Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2) provides for the award of reasonable expenses and attorney's fees caused by the failure to obey a court order to provide or permit discovery, the amount requested may be refuted on the ground that the expenses are unreasonable, or that the expenses were incurred outside of the context of the failure to obey the court order [see Toth v. Trans World Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 862 F2d 1381, 1385-1386].

Example:

Attorney time before and during a hearing in which a court order is imposed is not attorney time incurred on account of the failure to obey that order [Toth v. Trans World Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 862 F2d 1381, 1386].

Strategic Point--Object to Amount of Requested Sanctions Before Sanctions Award Made:

A party subject to the imposition of monetary sanctions should refute a disputed itemization of expenses and fees prior to the court's award for those sanctions [see, e.g., Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 784].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ComplyCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCivil Contempt

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IV. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT DISCOVERY RESPONSES
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.50

25.50 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions.

- ☐ Determine if party who failed to disclose information proffered that evidence.
- ☐ Raise the issue with the court.
- ☐ If necessary, prepare the motion, and serve the papers.
- ☐ Prepare documentation for the amount of sanctions requested, including:
  - ○ Costs incurred by the party's failure to properly disclose evidence.
  - ○ Attorney's fees.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(c)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.51, 25.52

Form:
See § 25.118

Standard Procedure Checklists:

Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IV. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT DISCOVERY RESPONSES
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.51

25.51 Party Who Fails to Make Mandatory Disclosures or Amended Responses Is Subject to Evidence-Preclusion Sanctions.

25.51[1] Unjustified Failure to Disclose or Amend Information As Required Under Rule 26 Results in Evidence-Preclusion Sanctions. A party that without substantial justification fails to disclose information required by Fed R Civ P 26(a), or to supplement or amend a prior discovery response as required by Fed R Civ P 26(e), is not, unless the failure is harmless, permitted to use as evidence at a trial, at a hearing, or on a motion any witness or information not so disclosed [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1); see Zhang v. American Gem Seafoods, Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 339 F3d 1020, 1028 ; Yeti by Molly Ltd. v. Deckers Outdoor Corp. (9th Cir 2001) 259 F3d 1101, 1106-1107]. This applies to expert evidence as well [see Olson v. Montana Rail Link, Inc. (D Mont 2005) 227 FRD 550, 552-553 ;].

A party who has made a disclosure under Fed R Civ P 26(a) is under a duty to supplement at appropriate intervals that disclosure to include information later acquired under the following circumstances [see Fed R Civ P 26(e)(1)]:

- If ordered by the court.

- If that party learns that in some material respect the information so disclosed is incomplete or incorrect, and if the additional or corrective information has not otherwise been made known to the other parties.

Cross References:

Duty of disclosure under Fed R Civ P 26(a), see 25.06 and Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures, §§ 15.11, 15.15- 15 .25, 15.27-15.33. Duty of supplemental disclosure under Fed R Civ P 26(e), see Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures, 15.26, 15.34.

Grounds for sanctions under Rule 37(c)(1), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.60 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.51[2] Evidence-Preclusion Sanction Is Self-Executing. The drafters described the evidence-preclusion sanction for a party's failure to make mandatory, voluntary disclosures as "self-executing" and "automatic," indicating an intent that evidence-preclusion sanctions are to be imposed without need for a motion [see Fed R Civ P 37(c), Committee Note of 1993; see also Olson v. Montana Rail Link, Inc. (D Mont 2005) 227 FRD 550, 553].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.60[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.51[3] Making Proper Showing to Obtain Preclusion Order. Before evidence will be precluded, the following must occur [see Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1)]:

- The party seeking to invoke the sanction must first prove that the opposing party violated Fed R Civ P 26(a) or 26(e) by failing to disclose the evidence in question.

- The party to be sanctioned must have an opportunity to demonstrate that its failure to disclose was substantially justified or harmless [see, e.g., Fonseca v. Sysco Food Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 374 F3d 840, 846 (pro se plaintiff not given proper notice that declaration of witness disclosed after deadline would be excluded unless he filed motion to show good cause for late disclosure)].

Consider:

An evidence-preclusion sanction may be tantamount to dismissal with prejudice, or entry of a default judgment. Many courts are reluctant to exclude evidence that is important to the merits of the case without a showing of substantial and largely irremediable prejudice, and bad faith, willfulness, or some other substantial fault.

Strategic Point--Party Seeking Sanctions:

Be prepared to object if the opposing party attempts to proffer the nondisclosed witness or information at a hearing or on a motion. Be prepared to prove that this proffer is in violation of Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1), and request additional time if necessary. If objection is not made at the hearing, be prepared to follow a formal motion procedure.

Cross References:

General motion procedures, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice. Discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34.

Sanctions under Rule 37(c)(1), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.60 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory DisclosuresCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IV. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT DISCOVERY RESPONSES
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.52

25.52 Additional Sanctions Available.

25.52[1] Issue and Evidence Preclusion, Termination, and Monetary Sanctions. In addition to or in lieu of the evidence-preclusion sanction [see 25.51], the court, on motion and after affording an opportunity to be heard, may impose other appropriate sanctions. In addition to requiring payment of reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the failure, these sanctions may include any of the issue-preclusion, evidence-preclusion, and termination sanctions authorized under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(3)(A)(i)-(vi) [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1)(C)].

Cross References:

Sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(3)(A)(i)-(vi) see §§ 25.33 -25.35. Local rules requiring good-faith attempt at informal resolution, see 25.05. Motion procedures for sanctions under Rule 37, see §§ 25.40[4] -[8]. General motion procedures, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice. Form of motion, see § 25.118.

Forms of motion for sanctions under Rule 37(c)(1), see 8 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 37:70, 37:75 (Matthew Bender).

Other sanctions available for failure to comply with mandatory disclosure or supplemental-response requirements, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.61 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.52[2] Court May Inform Jury of Failure to Make Disclosure. Sanctions for failure to make disclosures may include informing the jury of the failure to make the disclosure [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

54 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IV. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT DISCOVERY RESPONSES
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.53

25.53 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

The Ninth Circuit reviews discovery rulings for abuse of discretion [Mabe v. San Bernardino County (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1101, 1112]. The imposition of discovery sanctions pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37 is reviewed for abuse of discretion [Payne v. Exxon Corp. (9th Cir 1997) 121 F3d 503, 507 ; Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1408 , cert. denied sub nom. Lewis & Co. v. Thoeren, 498 US 1109 (1991)].

The Ninth Circuit gives particularly wide latitude to the district court's discretion to issue sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1) [see Yeti by Molly Ltd. v. Deckers Outdoor Corp. (9th Cir 2001) 259 F3d 1101, 1106].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of Discretion

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IV. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT DISCOVERY RESPONSES
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.54

25.54 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions.

☐ Determine if grounds to oppose preclusion exist, such as:

- ○ Failure was substantially justified.
- ○ Failure was harmless.
- ○ Factors weigh against sanctions.
- ○ Sanctions are too severe.

☐ If appropriate, prepare and serve response papers.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.55 -25.57

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, 26.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

56 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IV. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT DISCOVERY RESPONSES
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.55

25.55 Party May Oppose Sanctions on Ground That Failure to Disclose or Supplement Was Substantially Justified.

25.55[1] Failure to Disclose or Supplement Was Substantially Justified. If a party shows that its failure to disclose or amend information required by Fed R Civ P 26(a) or 26(e) was substantially justified, then sanctions may not be imposed [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1); see, e.g., Wechsler v. Macke Int'l Trade, Inc. (CD Cal 2004) 221 FRD 619, 621].

Example:

A party's position in failing to disclose or supplement may be substantially justified if it appears that it is based on a genuine discovery dispute [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(4), Committee Note of 1970].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.62 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.55[2] Reasonable Predisclosure Investigation Justified Failure to Disclose or Supplement. A party's predisclosure investigation may be considered by the court in determining whether that party's failure to comply with Fed R Civ P 26(a) or 26(e) was substantially justified [see Fed R Civ P 26(a)(1); see also Fed R Civ P 26(a), Committee Note of 1993].

25.55[3] Unforeseen Relevance of Discovery Material. A party may be substantially justified in not disclosing evidence if that party could not have been expected to foresee its relevance.

Example:

A party may not be barred from calling an undisclosed witness or from using an undisclosed document if the need for the witness's testimony or for the evidence is based on developments during trial that could not reasonably have been anticipated [see Fed R Civ P 26(a), Committee Note of 1993].

25.55[4] Pro Se Party May Show Ignorance of Discovery Requirement. When the party failing to comply with disclosure or amendment requirements is proceeding pro se, that party's lack of knowledge of the requirements may indicate that the failure was substantially justified [see Fed R Civ P 37(c), Committee Note of 1993].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.62 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IV. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT DISCOVERY RESPONSES
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.56

25.56 Party May Oppose Sanctions on Ground That Failure to Disclose or Supplement Was Harmless.

A party may oppose sanctions on the ground that the failure to disclose as required by Fed R Civ P 26(a) or 26(e) was harmless [see Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1)].

Examples:

The inadvertent omission from a Fed R Civ P 26(a) disclosure of the name of a potential witness known to all parties, and the failure to list as a trial witness in a disclosure mandated by Fed R Civ P 26(a)(3) a person so listed by another party, may be harmless [see Fed R Civ P 37(c), Committee Note of 1993].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.63 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IV. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT DISCOVERY RESPONSES
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.57

25.57 Party May Oppose Sanctions on Ground That Factors Weigh Against Sanctions.

A party may oppose the imposition of sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1) on the ground that the factors considered by the court weigh in its favor [see, e.g., F.D.S. Marine, LLC v. Brix Maritime Co. (D Or 2001) 211 FRD 396, 400 ("all of the above factors favor leniency")].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IV. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT DISCOVERY RESPONSES
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.58

25.58 Party May Oppose Severity of Sanctions.

A party subject to sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(1) may assert that the sanction sought is too severe under the circumstances.

Example:

In a class action discrimination suit filed against a county, the defendants failed to produce many requested documents until shortly before and after the trial ended. Although the plaintiff sought an extreme sanction of default judgment, the district court noted that the defendants' conduct was not willful, but rather grossly negligent. As a more appropriate sanction, the court ordered that the trial be reopened, with all costs for the extended trial imposed on defendants [see L. Tarango Trucking v. County of Contra Costa (ND Cal 2001) 202 FRD 614].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.59

25.59 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions.

☐ Determine if party failed to admit the genuineness of any matter that was later proved.

☐ Review local rule requirements.

Discussion:
See §§ 25.05, 25.40

☐ If appropriate, prepare motion and serve papers.

○ Prepare documentation for the amount of sanctions requested, including:

☐ Costs incurred in making proof.

☐ Attorney's fees.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.60 -25.63

Form:

See § 25.119

Standard Procedure Checklists:

Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.60

25.60 Party Failing to Admit Genuineness of Document or Truth of Matter Later Proved Is Subject to Monetary Sanctions.

If a party fails to admit the genuineness of any document or the truth of any matter as requested under Fed R Civ P 36, and if the party requesting the admissions thereafter proves the genuineness of the document or the truth of the matter, then the requesting party may apply to the court for an order requiring the other party to pay the reasonable expenses incurred in making that proof, including reasonable attorney's fees [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)].

The court must make the order unless it finds that [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2); see [Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr. (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 933, 936 (Rule 37(c)(2) mandates an award of expenses unless exception applies)]:

- The request was held objectionable pursuant to Fed R Civ P 36(a) [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)(A)];
- The admission sought was of no substantial importance [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)(B)];
- The party failing to admit had reasonable ground to believe that the party might prevail on the matter [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)(C)]; or
- There was other good reason for the failure to admit [Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)(D)].

The test is not whether a party prevailed at trial, but whether the party acted reasonably in believing that he or she might prevail [Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr. (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 933, 937 , citing Fed R Civ P 37(c), Committee Note of 1970].

Consider--Expert's Opinion of Trial Outcome Not Reliable:

The Ninth Circuit does not adopt a per se rule that reliance on an expert opinion provides a reasonable ground for a party to believe he or she would prevail at trial [Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr. (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 933, 937].

Example:

Reasonable expenses of a plaintiff include those incurred in the pursuit of alternate theories of liability against other defendants occasioned by the sanctioned defendant's failure to admit a request relating to causation [see Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr. (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 933, 939 (sanctions of $205,800 upheld)].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 37.70 -37.74 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

62 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.61

25.61 Party May Object, Admit or Deny the Matter, or State That Matter Cannot Be Admitted or Denied.

A party who does nothing in response to a properly framed request for admission is deemed to have admitted the matter. A party who elects to respond to the request for admission may do any of the following [Fed R Civ P 36(a)]:

- Object to the request and set forth the basis for the objection.
- Admit the matter.
- Deny the matter.
- State that the matter cannot be admitted or denied, setting forth the reasons in detail.

Cross Reference:

Requests for admission, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, §§ 23.217 -23.258.

Distinguish:

Fed R Civ P 36 provides no remedy if a party responding to a request for admission provides a straightforward yet unjustified denial, or a statement that is proper in form but ultimately insufficient in asserting that the party cannot either admit or deny the matter. In these situations, Fed R Civ P 37(c) provides post-trial relief requiring the responding party to pay the requesting party's expenses incurred in making the necessary proof at trial [see Fed R Civ P 37(c), Committee Note of 1970].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsEffectCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsObjectionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsResponses

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.62

25.62 Expense-Shifting Sanctions Under Rule 37(c)(2) May Be Imposed Against Party Only.

25.62[1] Sanctions Available Against Party, Not Counsel. Expense-shifting sanctions for unreasonably denying or unreasonably refusing to admit or deny a legitimate request for admission may be imposed only on parties, and not on counsel [Johnson Int'l Co. v. Jackson Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (8th Cir 1994) 19 F3d 431, 438 n8].

25.62[2] Sanctions Against Attorney May Be Available From Other Sources of Authority. A court concluding that an attorney played a culpable role in a party's improper response to a request for admission must look to other sources of authority to impose sanctions against the attorney, which may include the following:

- Other provisions of Fed R Civ P 37.
- Fed R Civ P 26(g), which authorizes sanctions for discovery certifications made in violation of Fed R Civ P 26(g).
- Fed R Civ P 11(c), which permits sanctions for violations of the obligation to conduct a reasonable inquiry into the law and facts.
- 28 USC § 1927, which authorizes sanctions against an attorney who "multiplies the proceedings in any case unreasonably and vexatiously."
- A district court's inherent authority [see, e.g., Natural Gas Pipeline Co. v. Energy Gathering, Inc. (5th Cir 1993) 2 F3d 1397, 1410-1411 , cert. denied, 510 US 1073 (1994)].

Cross References:

Fed R Civ P 26(g) sanctions, see 25.107 -25.112. Fed R Civ P 11(c), see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions. 28 USC § 1927, see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, §§ 34.03 -34.15.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

64 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.63

25.63 Motion for Expense-Shifting Sanctions Based on Party's Unreasonable Failure to Admit.

25.63[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally. The four district courts in California required counsel to make a good-faith attempt to reach an informal resolution of a discovery dispute prior to filing a discovery motion.

Cross Reference:

See § 25.05.

25.63[2] Motion Is Filed After Trial Is Completed. The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure do not specify any time frame within which a motion seeking expense-shifting sanctions for a party's unreasonable failure to admit must be filed. However, Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2) is intended to provide post-trial relief. Filing of the motion prior to the completion of trial would therefore be inappropriate.

As a practical matter, it is necessary to complete a proceeding before a court could conclude that the moving party had proved the truth of the matter for which an admission was requested, because a court must consider all rebuttal evidence before it may determine what has been proved.

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.75 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.63[3] Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions. Local district court rules typically contain special requirements governing the preparation of papers supporting and opposing discovery motions, and the service of papers.

Cross References:

Motion procedures for sanctions under Rule 37, see 25.40[4] -[8]. General discovery motion procedures, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34. General motion procedures, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

Motion for sanctions under Rule 37(c)(2), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 37.70, 37.75 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

65 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.64

25.64 Appellate Courts Apply "Abuse of Discretion" Standard Regarding Sanction Orders Under Rule 37(c)(2).

Appellate courts apply an "abuse of discretion" standard when reviewing rulings by district courts on motions for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2) [Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr. (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 933, 936]. The imposition of discovery sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37 is reviewed for abuse of discretion [Payne v. Exxon Corp. (9th Cir 1997) 121 F3d 503, 507].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.76 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of Discretion

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.65

25.65 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions.

☐ Determine if grounds to oppose the motion for sanctions exist, including:

- ○ The unadmitted matter was not proved.
- ○ The motion is premature.
- ○ The request was objectionable pursuant to Fed R Civ P 36(a).
- ○ Admission was of no substantial importance.
- ○ There was reasonable ground to believe the party would prevail on the matter.
- ○ There was other good reason for failure to admit.
- ○ The sanction requested is excessive.
- ○ The papers and procedures followed did not comply with local rules.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 36(a), 37(c)(2)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.66 -25.70

☐ Prepare and serve response papers.

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, 26.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.66

25.66 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Request Was Objectionable Under Rule 36(a).

A party seeking to avoid sanctions may overcome the presumption in favor of the imposition of sanctions by asserting that the request for admission is objectionable under Fed R Civ P 36(a) [see Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)(A)].

Example:

Requests for admission that are irrelevant do not merit an award of expenses. In one case, the following types of requests for admission could not be the basis for a sanctions award under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)(A): (1) requests involving an issue that was found irrelevant in a summary judgment motion; (2) requests involving a theory of liability that had been rejected by the court; and (3) requests "not substantially important to the litigation" [Read-Rite Corp. v. Burlington Air Express, Inc. (ND Cal 1998) 183 FRD 545, 547].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsObjectionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsResponsesCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

68 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.67

25.67 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Admission Sought Was Not Substantially Important.

A party seeking to avoid sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2) may overcome the presumption in favor of the imposition of sanctions by asserting that the admission sought was of no substantial importance [see Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)(B); see, e.g., Avery Dennison Corp. v. Allendale Mut. Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2002) 310 F3d 1114, 1118].

Courts decide whether a particular admission sought was of substantial importance on a case-by-case basis, taking into account all surrounding circumstances. Courts consider whether the propounding party was required to prove the fact that was the subject of the requested admission to prevail on a claim or defense. If the fact was not essential, directly or indirectly, to the party's success, it may not be of substantial importance [see Washington State Dep't of Transp. v. Washington Natural Gas Co. (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 793, 806].

Strategic Point--Party Served With Requests for Admission:

A party responding to requests for admission should admit to the fullest extent possible, and explain in detail why other portions of a request may not be admitted. Frank answers to the extent possible will obviate the need for sanctions under Rule 37(c)(2) [see Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr. (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 933, 936].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.68

25.68 Opposing Sanctions on Ground of Reasonable Belief That Party Might Prevail.

25.68[1] Party May Assert Reasonable Belief That It Might Prevail, Whether or Not It Prevailed at Trial. A party seeking to avoid sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2) may overcome the presumption in favor of the imposition of sanctions by asserting that it had reasonable ground to believe that it might prevail on the matter [see Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)(C)].

The test for determining whether this exception to the presumption applies is not whether a party prevailed at trial, but whether that party acted reasonably in believing that it might prevail [Washington State Dep't of Transp. v. Washington Natural Gas Co. (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 793, 805 ; see Fed R Civ P 37(c), Committee Note of 1970].

25.68[2] Reasonableness Is Determined by Objective Test. The test of reasonableness is objective. Courts will reject a party's attempt to invoke the exception that it believed it might prevail if the party presents insufficient evidentiary support to permit a rational jury to render a favorable verdict in that party's favor.

Examples:

This exception has been invoked successfully in the following circumstances:

- Cases involving substantially conflicting evidence [see, e.g., Board of Dirs. v. Anden Group (ED Va 1991) 136 FRD 100, 107].

- Good-faith arguments about how to resolve important and unsettled questions of law, or of the application of law to fact [see, e.g., Comeaux v. Brown & Williamson Tobacco Co. (9th Cir 1990) 915 F2d 1264, 1275].

- Complicated technical issues, particularly when there is no agreement among the experts [see, e.g., Washington State Dep't of Transp. v. Washington Natural Gas Co. (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 793, 806].

Strategic Point--Party Opposing Sanctions:

The Ninth Circuit does not adopt a per se rule that reliance on an expert opinion provides a reasonable ground for a party to believe he or she would prevail at trial [Marchand v. Mercy Med. Ctr. (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 933, 937].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

70 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.69

25.69 Opposing Sanctions on Ground of Other Good Reason for Failure to Admit.

A party seeking to avoid sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2) may overcome the presumption in favor of the imposition of sanctions by asserting that it had other good reason for failing to admit [see Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2)(D)].

Example:

Although this exception to the presumption is rarely invoked, it may be applicable when the request for admission addresses complicated technical or statistical matters that would be the subject of expert analysis, about which the responding party could not have developed a reliable position concerning the truth of the matters asserted based on readily available information, but would have had to use extraordinary efforts to gather and analyze that information [see Fed R Civ P 37(c), Committee Note of 1970].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.74 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.70

25.70 Party May Assert Lack of Proof, Unreasonableness of Amount of Sanctions Requested, or Lack of Connection Between Expenses and Objectionable Response.

Even if sanctions might be appropriate under Fed R Civ P 37(c)(2), an award of expenses is limited by reasonableness. The moving party must therefore make a sufficient showing of the basis for the amount of sanctions requested, the reasonableness of the expenditures, and the justification for the expense with respect to the specific response in question.

Examples:

Only one of the defendant's responses was evasive. Plaintiff's counsel, however, attempted to recover the price of his 12-day trip to England during which he took 11 depositions. The court found the expense not reasonably related to the response in question. Rather, the evidence showed that the plaintiff had been planning to travel to England to take depositions prior to serving the defendant with the first set of requests for admission [see Read-Rite Corp. v. Burlington Air Express, Inc. (ND Cal 1998) 183 FRD 545, 547-548].

The defendant's recoverable expenses were limited to the expenses incurred as a result of plaintiff's and plaintiff counsel's disobedience of the court orders in question, to the exclusion of extraneous items that the defendant itemized, e.g., expenses incurred for the preparation and filing of a discovery plan, and numerous other expenditures incurred prior to the attainment of the court order [see Toth v. Trans World Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 862 F2d 1381, 1386 (affirming imposition of sanctions, but remanding for determination of allowable expenses)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.71

25.71 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(d) Sanctions.

☐ Determine if grounds for motion for sanctions exist, e.g.:

- ○ Person failed to appear at deposition.
- ○ Person failed to respond to discovery request.

☐ Review local rule requirements for sanction motions.

Discussion:
See §§ 25.05, 25.40

☐ If appropriate, prepare motion and serve papers, including following allegations:

- ○ The court has jurisdiction.
- ○ The moving party made a good-faith effort at a resolution of the issues.
- ○ The motion is timely.

- ○ An adequate description of the failure to comply and the sanction sought was given.
- ○ The papers and procedures followed comply with local rules.

☐ If monetary sanctions are requested, prepare documentation for the amount of sanctions requested, including:

- ○ Costs incurred by party's failure to comply with discovery requirements.
- ○ Attorney's fees.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(d)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.72 -25.75

Form:
See § 25.120

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

73 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.72

25.72 Sanctions for Party's Failure to Attend Own Deposition, Serve Answers to Interrogatories, or Respond to Request for Inspection.

If a party or an officer, director, or managing agent of a party or a person designated under Fed R Civ P 30(b)(6), 31(a)(4) to testify on behalf of a party fails to fulfill any of the following discovery obligations, the court in which the action is pending on motion may make such orders in regard to the failure as are just [Fed R Civ P 37(d)(1)(A)]:

- To appear before the officer who is to take a deposition, after being served with a proper notice.
- To serve answers or objections to interrogatories submitted under Fed R Civ P 33, after proper service of the interrogatories.
- To serve a written response to a request for inspection submitted under Fed R Civ P 34, after proper service of the request.

Cross References:

Depositions, interrogatories, and requests for inspection, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery.

Grounds for motion under Rule 37(d), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 37.90 -37.93 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Among others, the court may take any action authorized under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(A)(i)-(vi) which include issue-preclusion, evidence-preclusion, and termination sanctions [see Fed R Civ P 37(d)].

Cross References:

Sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(3)(A)(i)-(vi) see §§ 25.33 -25.35; 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.96 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

74 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.73

25.73 Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37(d).

25.73[1] Motion Based on Failure to Respond to Interrogatories or Request for Inspection Must Include Certification of Good-Faith Attempt to Obtain Response. Any motion specifying a failure to respond to interrogatories or a request for inspection must include a certification that the movant has in good faith conferred or attempted to confer with the party failing to answer or respond in an effort to obtain an answer or response without court action [Fed R Civ P 37(d)(1)(B)].

25.73[2] Court in Which Action Is Pending Has Jurisdiction Over Motion. A motion for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(d) must be brought in the court where the action is pending [Fed R Civ P 37(d)(1)(A)].

25.73[3] Motion Should Be Filed Promptly After Discovery Failure, and When Circumstances Dictate. A motion under Fed R Civ P 37(d) should be filed promptly after the discovery failure, and when circumstances dictate. The rule does not establish a specific time limit within which a motion for sanctions must be filed [see Fed R Civ P 37(d)]. The nature of the sanctions sought may affect the timing of the motion.

Examples:

If the sanctions sought would affect litigation of the merits of the action, the motion must be filed before those merits are reached. If the moving party seeks an order deeming a fact established, prohibiting another party from supporting or denying a claim or defense, or striking pleadings, the motion must be filed before the hearing or trial of those matters.

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

A party should seek relief promptly after the discovery failure and the parties' unsuccessful efforts to resolve the matter. At that time, the parties' memories will be freshest, documentary evidence is least likely to have been lost or destroyed, and intervention by the court may limit any negative ripple effects of the discovery failure.

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.99 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.73[4] Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions. Local district court rules typically contain special requirements governing the preparation of papers supporting and opposing discovery motions, and the service of papers.

Cross References:

Motion procedures for sanctions under Rule 37, see §§ 25.40[4] -[8]. General discovery motion procedures, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34. General motion procedures, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice. Form of motion, see 25.120.

Forms of motion for sanctions under Rule 37(d), see 8 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 37:80-37:83 (Matthew Bender).

Motion for sanctions under Rule 37(d), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 37.95 -37.99 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

75 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.74

25.74 Court Must Order Expense-Shifting Sanctions Against Party or Attorney or Both for Failure to Act, Absent Substantial Justification or Other Circumstances.

In lieu of or in addition to any order, the court must require the party failing to act or the attorney advising that party or both to pay the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the failure unless the court finds that the failure was substantially justified or that other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust [Fed R Civ P 37(d)(3)].

Expense-shifting sanctions may be imposed against an attorney even if the attorney did not act in bad faith [Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1171 (involving Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2) sanctions, and acknowledging same language as Rule 37(d))].

Distinguish:

Courts may look to other sources of authority to impose more severe sanctions against an attorney, including the following:

- Fed R Civ P 26(g), which authorizes sanctions for improper discovery certifications.
- 28 USC § 1927, which authorizes sanctions against an attorney who "multiplies the proceedings in any case unreasonably and vexatiously."
- A district court's inherent authority [see, e.g., Natural Gas Pipeline Co. v. Energy Gathering, Inc. (5th Cir 1993) 2 F3d 1397, 1410-1411 , cert. denied, 510 US 1073 (1994)].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.92 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

76 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.75

25.75 Appellate Courts Apply "Abuse of Discretion" Standard Regarding Sanction Orders Under Rule 37(d).

Appellate courts apply a deferential "abuse of discretion" standard in reviewing Fed R Civ P 37(d) sanction awards [Telluride Mgmt. Solutions, Inc. v. Telluride Inv. Group (9th Cir 1995) 55 F3d 463, 466]. The imposition of discovery sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37 is reviewed for abuse of discretion [Payne v. Exxon Corp. (9th Cir 1997) 121 F3d 503, 507].

Cross Reference:

Sanctions under Rule 37(d), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.96 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of Discretion

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.76

25.76 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(d) Sanctions.

☐ If monetary sanctions are sought, consider the following arguments:

- ○ The failure to comply with the request was substantially justified.
- ○ Other circumstances make the imposition of sanctions unjust.
- ○ The moving party did not make a good-faith attempt at a resolution of issues.
- ○ The amount requested is excessive.

☐ Prepare and serve response papers.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(d)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.79, 25.80

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

78 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.77

25.77 Defense Based on Objection to Discovery Must Be Supported by Protective Order Procedure.

The failure to act as described in Fed R Civ P 37 may not be excused on the ground that the discovery sought is objectionable unless the party failing to act has a pending motion for a protective order as provided by Fed R Civ P 26(c) [Fed R Civ P 37(d)(2)].

Warning:

Disagreement with the court is not an excuse for failing to comply with court orders [see, e.g., Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1411 , cert. denied sub nom. Lewis & Co. v. Thoeren, 498 US 1109 (1991)].

Cross References:

Protective orders, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.35 -22.66.

Pending protective order with respect to Rule 37(d), see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.94 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Strategic Point--Party Opposing Sanctions:

No motion for a protective order is necessary if the party from whom discovery is sought files a timely objection to the discovery. A party that neither objects nor seeks a protective order is vulnerable to sanctions [see, e.g., Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1411 , cert. denied sub nom. Lewis & Co. v. Thoeren, 498 US 1109 (1991) (plaintiff sanctioned with dismissal based on failure to respond to discovery requests did not object to request for production of documents until after discovery was overdue)]. The only safe course available to a party who intends to do nothing in response to a patently objectionable discovery demand is to file a motion for a protective order before the date on which a response to the discovery is due.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryProtective Orders

79 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.78

25.78 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Failure to Appear or Respond Was Substantially Justified.

25.78[1] Party May Avoid Expense-Shifting Sanctions by Showing Substantial Justification. A litigant may avoid the expense-shifting sanctions of Fed R Civ P 37(d) if the court finds that the failure was substantially justified [see Fed R Civ P 37(d)(3)].

25.78[2] Burden of Establishing Substantial Justification Is on Party Opposing Sanctions. The burden of establishing substantial justification is on the party who failed to respond to discovery pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37(d) [Telluride Mgmt. Solutions, Inc. v. Telluride Inv. Group (9th Cir 1995) 55 F3d 463, 466 ; see Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1171 (involving Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2) sanctions and acknowledging same language as Rule 37(d))].

25.78[3] Substantial Justification Is Determined on Case-by-Case Basis. The determination of whether there is substantial justification is case-specific. A party may likely meet its burden by showing that its failure to appear or respond was attributable entirely to factors beyond that party's control, at least when the party tried in good faith to warn its opponent that it would not be able to comply within the prescribed time frame [see, e.g., Speidel v. Bryan (D Or 1996) 164 FRD 241, 244].

Consider:

The focus of the substantial justification inquiry is on the original failure to respond to the discovery request, rather than on subsequent efforts by the party or the party's attorney to defend against the motion for sanctions [see Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1171].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.79

25.79 Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Ground That Other Circumstances Make Imposition of Sanctions Unjust.

25.79[1] Court May Elect Not to Impose Sanctions Based on Other Circumstances. The district court may elect not to impose expense-shifting sanctions if "other circumstances make an award of expenses unjust" [see Fed R Civ P 37(d)(3)].

Consider:

If an attorney is subject to sanctions, Fed R Civ P 37(d) requires the court to consider the attorney's behavior, rather than that of the client [see Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1172].

25.79[2] Burden of Proof Is on Person Subject to Sanctions. The burden of demonstrating other circumstances is on the party who failed to respond to the discovery request [see Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1171].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.94 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.80

25.80 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Rule 37(d) Does Not Encompass Particular Conduct.

A party subject to sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(d) may oppose the imposition of sanctions if the rule is inapplicable by its terms. The application of Rule 37(d) is limited to its literal scope [see, e.g., Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. v. Lakewood Eng'g & Mfg. Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 363, 368]. The Ninth Circuit has strictly construed the language of Fed R Civ P 37(d) [Estrada v. Rowland (9th Cir 1995) 69 F3d 405, 406].

Examples:

A party who appears at his or her deposition but refuses to answer questions does not violate Fed R Civ P 37(d) [Estrada v. Rowland (9th Cir 1995) 69 F3d 405, 406]. The proper remedy for such conduct is a court order to testify under Fed R Civ P 37(a) [Estrada v. Rowland (9th Cir 1995) 69 F3d 405, 406].

Fed R Civ P 37(d) does not apply to a nonparty who fails to appear at his or her own deposition [Pennwalt Corp. v. Durand-Wayland, Inc. (9th Cir 1983) 708 F2d 492, 494 n4].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.81

25.81 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(f) Sanctions.

☐ Determine if grounds for sanctions exist, e.g., if a party fails to participate in the development and submission of a discovery plan.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(f)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.82 -25.86

☐ Review local rules regarding meet-and-confer requirements and bringing sanction motions.

Discussion:
See §§ 25.05, 25.40

☐ Raise the issue of noncompliance with the court.

☐ If necessary, prepare motion and serve papers.

○ Prepare documentation for the amount of sanctions requested, including:

☐ Costs incurred by party's failure to comply with discovery requirements.

☐ Attorney's fees.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(f)

Discussion:
See § 25.86

Form:
See § 25.121

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, § 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.82

25.82 Party or Attorney's Failure to Participate in Discovery Plan May Result in Monetary Sanctions.

If a party or a party's attorney fails to participate in the development and submission of a proposed discovery plan as required by Fed R Civ P 26(f), the court may, after opportunity for hearing, require that party or attorney to pay to any other party the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, caused by the failure [Fed R Civ P 37(f)].

Distinguish:

Fed R Civ P 37(f) applies only to the failure to participate in good faith in the framing of a discovery plan. If the pretrial scheduling order was entered before a violation involving the discovery plan is committed, then Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2), rather than Fed R Civ P 37(f), applies. In that case, the disobedient party or attorney is exposed to the imposition of more severe sanctions pursuant to Fed R Civ P 16(f), which governs failure to obey a pretrial or scheduling order, and Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2), which governs failure to comply with a discovery order [see United States ex rel. Wiltec Guam, Inc. v. Kahaluu Constr. Co. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 600, 602-603, n3].

Cross References:

Sanctions under Rule 37(b)(2), see §§ 25.33 -25.35.

7 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 37.110 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.83

25.83 Parties and Attorneys Have Duty to Participate in Discovery Plan.

Except in actions exempted by local rule or court order, parties must develop a proposed discovery plan in every civil action. The proposed plan should reflect the parties' views and proposals concerning the following [see Fed R Civ P 26(f)]:

- What changes should be made in the timing, form, or requirement for disclosures under Fed R Civ P 26(a), including a statement as to when disclosures pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26(a)(1) were made or will be made.

- The subjects on which discovery may be needed, when discovery should be completed, and whether discovery should be conducted in phases or be limited to or focused on particular issues.

- Any issues relating to disclosure or discovery of electronically stored information, including the form or forms in which it should be produced.

- Any issues relating to claims of privilege or work product protection, including, if the parties agree on a procedure to assert such claims after production, whether to ask the court to include that agreement in an order.

- What changes should be made in the limitations on discovery imposed under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or by local rule, and what other limitations should be imposed.

- Any other orders that should be entered by the court under Fed R Civ P 16(b) and (c) or 26(c).

Cross References:

Rule 26(f) conferences, see Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures, §§ 15.03- 15 .14.

Duties concerning proposed discovery plan, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.111 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.84

25.84 Court or Party May Raise Issue of Sanctions Under Rule 37(f).

Counsel should be prepared to raise the opposing party's failure to participate in good faith under Fed R Civ P 37(f). Although the court may award sanctions under this rule on its own, nothing precludes a party from raising the issue.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

86 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.85

25.85 Party Subject to Sanctions Must Be Afforded Opportunity to Be Heard.

A judge who is considering imposing an expense-shifting sanction for failing to participate in good faith under Fed R Civ P 37(f) must afford the person subject to sanctions an opportunity to be heard [Fed R Civ P 37(f)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.86

25.86 Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37(f).

25.86[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally. The four district courts in California require counsel to make a good-faith attempt to reach an informal resolution of a discovery dispute prior to filing a discovery motion.

Cross Reference:

See § 25.05.

25.86[2] Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions. Local district court rules typically contain special requirements governing the preparation of papers supporting and opposing discovery motions, and the service of papers.

Cross References:

Motion procedures for sanctions under Rule 37, see 25.40[4] -[8]. General discovery motion procedures, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34. General motion procedures, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

88 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.87

25.87 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

The Ninth Circuit reviews discovery rulings for abuse of discretion [Mabe v. San Bernardino County (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1101, 1112]. The imposition of discovery sanctions pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37 is reviewed for abuse of discretion [Payne v. Exxon Corp. (9th Cir 1997) 121 F3d 503, 507 ; Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1408 , cert. denied sub nom. Lewis & Co. v. Thoeren, 498 US 1109 (1991)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of Discretion

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.88

25.88 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(f) Sanctions.

☐ Determine if grounds to oppose the motion for sanctions exist, such as:

- ○ There was no opportunity to be heard.
- ○ The sanction request is excessive.
- ○ The papers and procedures followed did not comply with local rules.

☐ Prepare and serve response papers.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(f)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.89, 25.90

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, § 26.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.89

25.89 Opposing Sanctions on Grounds of Procedural Defects.

A party subject to sanctions under Fed R Civ P 37(f) may raise procedural defects, such as the following:

- Lack of opportunity to be heard.
- Violation of local court rules.

Cross References:

Requirement of opportunity to be heard, see § 25.85. Local court rules, see §§ 25.05, 25.40.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.90

25.90 Party May Assert That Amount of Sanctions Is Unreasonable or That Expenses Are Unrelated to Failure to Participate in Discovery Plan.

The sanctions allowable under Fed R Civ P 37(f) must be reasonable expenses caused by the party's failure to participate in a discovery plan. A party opposing sanctions may therefore assert that the amount of sanctions is unreasonable, or that the expenses sought are unrelated to the party's failure to act pursuant to this rule.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

92 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.91

25.91 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence.

☐ Determine if grounds for sanctions exist, e.g., if a party destroyed evidence.

☐ If appropriate, prepare motion and serve papers.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(b), (d)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.93 -25.97

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, § 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.92

25.92 Options and Strategies for Requesting Imposition of Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence.

A party concerned that certain evidence in the possession of an opposing party may be compromised or destroyed may move the court for a preservation order at the earliest opportunity during litigation [see, e.g., Wm. T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443, 1447].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

Among other advantages, this practice will establish the duty of the opposing party to preserve particular evidence, an issue that may otherwise be disputed in later sanction proceedings [see, e.g., Wm. T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443, 1447 (representations made by plaintiff's counsel of the existence of particular documents in defendant's possession were embodied in Preservation Order, requiring defendant to maintain them)].

Spoliation of evidence is the destruction or alteration of evidence. Although a party need not have acted in "bad faith" to be held responsible for spoliation of evidence [see Glover v. BIC Corp. (9th Cir 1993) 6 F3d 1318, 1329], a party must have had notice that documents were relevant or potentially relevant to litigation before the documents were destroyed for spoliation of evidence to have occurred [United States ex rel. Aflatooni v. Kitsap Physicians Serv. (9th Cir 2002) 314 F3d 995, 1001 ; Akiona v. United States (9th Cir 1991) 938 F2d 158, 161].

Judge's Perspective:

Spoliation of evidence is a situation in which money sanctions may not be the appropriate remedy. If the evidence was critical or even material to proving your case, consider seeking an equitable remedy such as dismissal, judgment in your favor, or exclusion of the opponent's evidence. Be direct about the relevance of the missing evidence. Don't disparage the other side, and be ready to document your proof.

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.120 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.93

25.93 Litigants Must Preserve Certain Evidence in Their Control.

While a litigant is under no duty to keep or retain every document in its possession once a complaint is filed, it is under a duty to preserve what it knows, or reasonably should know, is relevant in the action, is reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence, is reasonably likely to be requested during discovery, and/or is the subject of a pending discovery request [National Ass'n of Radiation Survivors v. Turnage (ND Cal 1987) 115 FRD 543, 556-557 , citing Wm. T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443 ; see also Zubulake v. UBS Warburg LLC (SDNY 2003) 220 FRD 212, 216].

Example:

In a case involving a dispute between a vitamin store and a vitamin manufacturer, in which the manufacturer asserted that the store was using its products in bait-and-switch schemes and maintaining insufficient inventory of its products in the furtherance of various antitrust violations, the defendant was under a duty to preserve, at minimum, the following records: store order books, 10 to 16 weeks previous; biweekly order strips for each store, two to three months previous; store invoices, two to four weeks previous; and computer tapes containing full store-order information, four months previous [see Wm. T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443, 1448].

Distinguish:

Good faith destruction of documents in the normal course of business is not spoliation. A business or government entity is not required to keep records in perpetuity, and if a party without notice of litigation or potential litigation has destroyed records in the normal course of business, such as in conformance with a document retention and storage accommodation policy that accords with any applicable regulations or laws, there is no spoliation of evidence [State of Idaho Potato Comm'n v. G&T Terminal Packaging, Inc. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 708, 720 ; United States ex rel. Aflatooni v. Kitsap Physicians Serv. (9th Cir 2002) 314 F3d 995, 1001 ; Akiona v. United States (9th Cir 1991) 938 F2d 158, 161].

Cross Reference:

Preservation duties with regard to electronic evidence, see § 23.161.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
EvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.94

25.94 Sanctions May Be Awarded for Spoliation of Evidence Under Inherent Powers of Court.

Sanctions may be imposed against a litigant who is on notice that documents and information in its possession are relevant to litigation, or potential litigation, or are reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence, and who destroys those documents and information [National Ass'n of Radiation Survivors v. Turnage (ND Cal 1987) 115 FRD 543, 556-557 , citing Wm. T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443].

Violation of a discovery rule that is rooted in the failure to preserve evidence may be sanctioned pursuant to the inherent powers of the court [see, e.g., National Ass'n of Radiation Survivors v. Turnage (ND Cal 1987) 115 FRD 543, 556-557].

Example:

In a case brought by military veterans against the Veterans' Administration arising from their exposure to ionizing radiation while in the military service, the defendant government agency engaged in wholesale destruction of documents relevant to the case. The district court found that the defendant's failure to institute a reasonable procedure to inform its employees of the relevant discovery requests, its failure to produce clearly responsive documents and information, and its subsequent submission of papers, pleadings, and motions based on asserted facts directly refuted by the nonproduced material, violated the requirements of Fed R Civ P 11 and 26(g), and required the imposition of sanctions, for which the court employed its inherent powers [see National Ass'n of Radiation Survivors v. Turnage (ND Cal 1987) 115 FRD 543, 556-557].

Consider:

In the appropriate case, a district court may award sanctions for spoliation of evidence under both the inherent powers of the court and the appropriate rules of court [see, e.g., Wm. T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443, 1455-1456 (sanctions under inherent powers of court and Fed R Civ P 37)].

Cross References:

Sanctions available under court's inherent powers, see § 25.97.

See also 7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.120 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

96 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.95

25.95 Sanctions May Be Awarded Under Rule 37 If Failure to Produce Evidence Because of Spoliation Violated Rule.

Sanctions may be awarded for spoliation of evidence if it results in the failure to produce discoverable matter that is within the purview of Fed R Civ P 37.

Example:

If a party brings a motion to compel production, and the court on that motion orders the responding party to produce discovery, the responding party will be in violation of Fed R Civ P 37(b) and subject to the sanctions of that rule if it destroys the material that it was ordered to produce, because the destruction will result in a violation of the court order [see, e.g., Wm. T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443, 1447].

Distinguish:

If a party destroys documents when the omitted documents and information should have been disclosed in particular discovery responses, the omissions are sanctionable under Fed R Civ P 26(g). To the extent that the documents destroyed were specifically responsive to outstanding discovery requests, sanctions are also appropriate under Fed R Civ P 11 insofar as the destroyed documents contradicted the facts asserted in applicable pleadings, papers, or motions, and Fed R Civ P 26(g) insofar as particular discovery responses failed to include the documents [National Ass'n of Radiation Survivors v. Turnage (ND Cal 1987) 115 FRD 543, 555, 559 n4].

Strategic Point--Responding Party:

Absent exceptional circumstances, sanctions may not be imposed under the federal rules when a party fails to provide electronically stored information lost as a result of the routine, good-faith operation of an electronic information system [Fed R Civ P 37(e)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

97 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.96

25.96 Party That Violates Rule 37 Based on Spoliation Is Subject to Sanctions Available Under Rule.

A party that fails to preserve evidence in such a manner as to violate a federal or local rule is subject to the sanctions provided in that rule, including the most severe sanctions of default and dismissal [see, e.g., Wm. T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443, 1456].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

A party's destruction of relevant evidence permits an inference that the evidence would be unfavorable to the party [see, e.g., Harkins Amusement Enters., Inc. v. General Cinema Corp. (DC Ariz 1990) 132 FRD 523, 524].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.97

25.97 Sanctions Available Under Court's Inherent Powers.

25.97[1] Range of Sanctions, Including Dismissal, Are Available Under Court's Inherent Powers. A range of sanctions is available for spoliation of evidence under the court's inherent powers [see, e.g., Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. v. Lakewood Eng'g & Mfg. Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 363, 368 (exclusion of evidence); see also 25.94]. Courts are invested with inherent powers that are governed not by rule or statute, but by the control necessarily vested in courts to manage their own affairs so as to achieve the orderly and expeditious disposition of cases [Chambers v. NASCO, Inc. (1991) 501 US 32, 43-49, 111 S Ct 2123, 115 L Ed2d 27].

The following types of sanctions are examples of those imposed under this authority:

- Exclusion of evidence [see, e.g., Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. v. Lakewood Eng'g & Mfg. Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 363, 368].

- Dismissal [see, e.g., ; Leon v. IDX Sys. Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 464 F3d 951, 958 Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 380].

- An award of attorney's fees against a party or counsel who has acted in bad faith, vexatiously, wantonly, or for oppressive reasons [Leon v. IDX Sys. Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 464 F3d 951, 961].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.121 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.97[2] Requirements for Imposing Severe Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Powers.

25.97[2][a] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Finding of Willfulness, Fault, or Bad Faith. In cases in which the drastic sanctions of dismissal or default are ordered, the range of discretion for a district court is narrowed, and the losing party's noncompliance must be due to willfulness, fault, or bad faith [Leon v. IDX Sys. Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 464 F3d 951, 958]. A finding of any of these circumstances may justify the sanction of dismissal [Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 381].

25.97[2][b] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Consideration of Less Drastic Sanctions. Before imposing a drastic sanction such as dismissal under its inherent powers, the district court must first consider the availability of less drastic sanctions, explicitly discuss the feasibility of those less drastic sanctions, and explain why those less drastic alternatives are inappropriate [Leon v. IDX Sys. Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 464 F3d 951, 958, 960]. The consideration of less severe penalties must be a reasonable explanation of possible and meaningful alternatives [Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 381 ; Anderson v. Air West, Inc. (9th Cir 1976) 542 F2d 522, 525].

25.97[2][c] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Nexus Among Sanction, Misconduct, and Matters in Controversy. The most critical criterion for the imposition of a severe sanction is that the misconduct penalized must relate to matters in controversy in such a way as to interfere with the rightful decision of the case [Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 381 ; Fjelstad v. American Honda Motor Co. (9th Cir 1985) 762 F2d 1334, 1338]. This factor is rooted in due process concerns [Insurance Corp. of Ireland v. Compagnie des Bauxites de Guinee (1982) 456 US 694, 705-707, 102 S Ct 2099, 72 L Ed2d 492 ; Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 381]. There must be a nexus between the party's actionable conduct and the merits of the case [Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 381 ; Fjelstad v. American Honda Motor Co. (9th Cir 1985) 762 F2d 1334, 1342].

25.97[2][d] Prejudice to Opposing Party Is Factor in Determining Imposition of Sanctions. The existence and degree of prejudice to the wronged party is a factor in the determination of whether to impose a severe sanction such as dismissal [Leon v. IDX Sys. Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 464 F3d 951, 958] . In some published cases, the Ninth Circuit has referred to this factor as optional [see, e.g., Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 382]; *Nursing Home Pension Fund v. Oracle Corp. (ND Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 66740, at *18-20 (even assuming prejudice is required, it would be quite difficult for plaintiffs to demonstrate how they were harmed by evidence to which they do not have access); In re Napster, Inc. Copyright Litig. (ND Cal 2006) 462 F Supp 2d 1060, 1075 n.4].

25.97[2][e] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Consideration of Public Interest and Policy. Before imposing a harsh sanction such as dismissal, the district court must consider the public interest in expeditious resolution of litigation, the court's own need to manage its dockets, and the public policy favoring disposition of cases on the merits [Leon v. IDX Sys. Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 464 F3d 951, 958].

25.97[3] Sanction Must Be Commensurate With Degree to Which Evidence Was Compromised or Destroyed. In the Ninth Circuit, the particular sanction levied under the court's inherent power depends on [see, e.g., Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. v. Lakewood Eng'g & Mfg. Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 363, 369]:

- The degree to which the evidence was altered, lost, or destroyed.
- The degree of the responsible party's culpability.
- Surrounding circumstances such as the parties' previous ability to view or test that evidence prior to its spoliation.

Examples:

When evidence of tampering was equivocal at best, the charge of tampering was brought to the jury's attention, and the parties had had a chance to inspect the evidence prior to the alleged tampering, the sole sanction of a rebuttable presumption against the responsible party was proper [Wong v. Swier (9th Cir 1959) 267 F2d 749, 759-760].

When the plaintiff insurer destroyed an electric heater and a boat prior to filing an action against the heater manufacturer for subrogation based on the allegation that the heater cause a fire in the boat, the proper sanction was exclusion of evidence regarding the alleged defect in the heater [see Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. v. Lakewood Eng'g & Mfg. Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 363, 369].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ComplyCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.98

25.98 Rebuttable Presumption Arises Against Party Responsible for Tampering With Evidence.

When a party tampers with evidence, a rebuttable presumption arises against that party [see Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. v. Lakewood Eng'g & Mfg. Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 363, 369 ; Wong v. Swier (9th Cir 1959) 267 F2d 749, 759-760]. The inference may be overcome by evidence in the record giving a satisfactory explanation, even when actual tampering occurred [Wong v. Swier (9th Cir 1959) 267 F2d 749, 759-760].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewEvidenceInferences & PresumptionsPresumptions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.99

25.99 Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions.

Local district court rules typically contain special requirements governing the preparation of papers supporting and opposing discovery motions, and the service of papers.

Cross References:

General discovery motion procedures, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34. General motion procedures, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

Sanctions based on spoliation of evidence, see 7 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 37.120, 37.121 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

101 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.100

25.100 Ruling on Imposition of Sanctions Is Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.

A district court's ruling on the imposition of spoliation sanctions is reviewed for abuse of discretion [Leon v. IDX Sys. Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 464 F3d 951, 957-958].

Cross Reference:

7 Moore's Federal Practice, § 37.122 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of DiscretionEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.101

25.101 Court Order for Sanctions Should Specify Authority.

A court order for sanctions, especially for severe sanctions such as dismissal, should specify that it is based on either or both the court's inherent powers or a specified rule. An order imposing sanctions but omitting the grounds for them creates confusion if the sanctions are challenged [see, e.g., Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 379 (parties on appeal who failed to specify whether dismissal was based on inherent power or Rule 37 caused confusion); but see Unigard Sec. Ins. Co. v. Lakewood Eng'g & Mfg. Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 363, 367-368 (although district court's exclusion of expert testimony was based on Fed R Civ P 37, court of appeals affirmed result based on court's inherent power)].

Examples:

An order of dismissal based on unclear grounds creates problems in analyzing the ruling on appeal [see, e.g., Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 379 ("The parties generate quite a bit of confusion about what grounds the district court used to enter its dismissal against [defendant]. [Plaintiff] argues that the dismissal was entered, alternatively, under the court's inherent powers or under Fed R Civ P 37(b)(2)(C) ... .").

By contrast, a clear order facilitates the appellate process [see, e.g., Anheuser-Busch, Inc. v. Natural Beverage Distribs. (ND Cal 1993) 151 FRD 346, 348 , aff'd, 69 F3d 337 (9th Cir 1995) ("We find that the district court acted well within its discretion in dismissing [defendant]'s counterclaim pursuant to its inherent power. We therefore need not address whether dismissal was appropriate under the alternate authority of Rule 37.")].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ComplyCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.102

25.102 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Sanctions.

☐ Determine if grounds to oppose the motion for sanctions exist, e.g.:

- ○ The sanction requested is excessive.
- ○ The papers and procedures followed did not comply with local rules.
- ○ No duty to preserve evidence existed.
- ○ Preserving documents in requested form created undue burden.
- ○ Electronically stored information was lost as a result of the routine, good-faith operation of an electronic information system.

☐ Prepare and serve response papers.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(b), (d)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.104 -25.106

Standard Procedure Checklists:

Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

104 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
B. Opposing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.103

25.103 Options and Strategies for Opposing Imposition of Sanctions for Spoliation.

Counsel may avoid being subject to sanctions for spoliation by taking care to preserve all evidence or potential evidence in his or her control.

Cross Reference:

Duty to preserve evidence, see § 25.93.

Strategic Point--Party Opposing Sanctions:

If a party has an arguable duty to preserve certain evidence, but has reasons to dispose of that material, the party should apply to the court for permission to destroy or discard it, rather than gamble that the destruction or discard will not result in a dispute or the imposition of sanctions [see, e.g., Wm. T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443, 1447 (defendant was culpable for failing to obtain permission to destroy records, among other acts of malfeasance in destroying needed evidence)].

Judge's Perspective:

If it was inadvertent, explain how it happened, suggest why other documents, etc. will serve the same purpose, and offer to make other similar evidence available if you have any. The most important issue will be to convince the judge that the destruction was not intentional. Your personal credibility will really be on the line, and past experience in that court will be especially relevant.

Cross Reference:

Preservation duties with regard to electronic evidence, see § 23.161.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

105 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
B. Opposing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.104

25.104 Party May Show No Duty to Preserve Evidence.

A party may oppose the charge of spoliation of evidence by showing that it had no duty to preserve the documents.

When appropriate, a party that destroyed potential evidence should show that he or she did not do so in response to the litigation, perhaps by indicating that the evidence was destroyed prior to litigation and before the party could have any reasonable indication that litigation would be brought relative to that evidence [see, e.g., Akiona v. United States (9th Cir 1991) 938 F2d 158, 161 , cert. denied, 503 US 962 (1992)].

A party should only be penalized for destroying documents if it was wrong to do so, and that requires, at a minimum, some notice that the documents are potentially relevant [Akiona v. United States (9th Cir 1991) 938 F2d 158, 161 , cert. denied, 503 US 962 (1992)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
B. Opposing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.105

25.105 Party May Show Undue Burden in Preserving Documents in Certain Form.

A party may refute that it wrongfully destroyed documents in a certain form, by showing that it did preserve the same information in an alternate form, and that retaining the documents in the form requested created an undue burden on that party [see Wm. T. Thompson Co. v. General Nutrition Corp. (CD Cal 1984) 593 F Supp 1443, 1446-1447].

Strategic Point--Seek Relief From Burdensome Requests:

A party will have a stronger argument that a particular discovery request is burdensome if it seeks relief from the particular request at the earliest possible opportunity [see, e.g., Allen v. Exxon Corp. (In re Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 429, 433 (plaintiff sanctioned with dismissal argued that discovery was unduly burdensome, but "there is no record (and no claim) that they ever sought relief from any of the discovery requests")].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDiscoveryUndue BurdensEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
B. Opposing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.105A

25.105A Party May Show Electronically Stored Information Was Lost in Routine Operations.

Absent exceptional circumstances, a court may not impose sanctions under the federal rules on a party for failing to provide electronically stored information lost as a result of the routine, good-faith operation of an electronic information system [Fed R Civ P 37(e)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
B. Opposing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.106

25.106 Severe Sanctions Sought Under Court's Inherent Power May Be Opposed on Grounds That Requirements for Imposition of Sanctions Are Not Met.

In opposing the imposition of severe sanctions for spoliation of evidence under the court's inherent power, a party may assert any of the following:

- The absence of willfulness, fault, or bad faith.
- The lack of nexus among the sanction, misconduct, and matters in controversy.
- The absence of prejudice to the opposing party.
- The availability of less severe sanctions.

Example:

Severe sanctions imposed pursuant to the court's inherent powers may be opposed on the ground that the court failed to consider less severe sanctions [see, e.g., Halaco Eng'g Co. v. Costle (9th Cir 1988) 843 F2d 376, 381].

Cross References:

Imposition of sanctions under court's inherent power, see § 25.97.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewEvidenceRelevanceSpoliation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IX. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 26(g) FOR IMPROPER CERTIFICATION OF DISCOVERY REQUEST, RESPONSE, OBJECTION, OR DISCLOSURE
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.107

25.107 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 26(g) Sanctions.

☐ Determine whether the certified discovery request, response, objection, or disclosure was made under any of the following conditions:

- ○ The document is in some way inconsistent with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
- ○ The document is in some way not warranted by existing law.
- ○ The document is in some way not warranted by a good-faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law.
- ○ The document was interposed for an improper purpose, such as:
  - ☐ Harassment.
  - ☐ Unnecessary delay.
  - ☐ Needless increase in litigation costs.
- ○ The document is unreasonably or unduly burdensome or expensive in light of the following considerations:

- ☐ The needs of the case.
- ☐ The discovery already completed.
- ☐ The amount in controversy.
- ☐ The importance of the issues at stake.

○ Determine, if possible, whether the improper certification was made without substantial justification.

○ Follow the applicable informal dispute resolution rules.

Discussion:
See § 25.05

○ If appropriate, prepare and serve the moving papers.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(g)

Discussion:
See §§ 25.108 -25.111

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IX. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 26(g) FOR IMPROPER CERTIFICATION OF DISCOVERY REQUEST, RESPONSE, OBJECTION, OR DISCLOSURE
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.108

25.108 Required Signatures on Disclosures, Requests, Responses, and Objections.

25.108[1] Disclosures, Requests, Responses and Objections Must Be Signed by Attorney or Unrepresented Party. Every disclosure under Rule 26(a)(1) or (a)(3), and every request, response, or objection made by a party represented by an attorney must be signed by at least one attorney of record in the attorney's individual name, along with the attorney's address, e-mail address, and telephone number. An unrepresented party must sign the disclosure, request, response, or objection and state the party's address, e-mail address, and telephone number [Fed R Civ P 26(g)(1)].

25.108[2] Signatures on Disclosures, Requests, Responses and Objections Constitute Certification. The signature of the attorney or party on a disclosure, request, response, or objection constitutes a certification that, to the best of the signer's knowledge, information, and belief, formed after a reasonable inquiry, the request, response, or objection is:

- Consistent with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and warranted by existing law or a good-faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law, or for establishing new law [Fed R Civ P 26(g)(1)(B)(i)];

- Not interposed for any improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needless increase in the cost of litigation [Fed R Civ P 26(g)(1)(B)(ii)]; and

- Not unreasonable or unduly burdensome or expensive, given the needs of the case, the discovery already had in the case, the amount in controversy, and the importance of the issues at stake in the litigation [[Fed R Civ P 26(g)(1)(B)(ii)].

25.108[3] Reasonableness of Inquiry Is Judged by Objective Standard. The signing attorney must certify that a reasonable inquiry has been made with respect to the factual and legal basis for any discovery disclosure, request or response [Fed R Civ P 26(g)]. The reasonableness requirement is measured by an objective standard. There is no required showing of bad faith [National Ass'n of Radiation Survivors v. Turnage (ND Cal 1987) 115 FRD 543, 555 , citing Fed R Civ P 26, Committee Note].

Example:

In the context of a corporation, a memorandum should be sent to all corporate employees requesting information regarding the existence and location of documents pertaining to particular topics relevant to the litigation [see McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 208 FRD 617, 621].

Cross Reference:

6 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 26.150 -26.154 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

25.108[4] Unsigned Disclosure, Request, Response or Objection Is Stricken Unless Promptly Signed. If a request, response, or objection is not signed, it will be stricken unless it is signed promptly after the omission is called to the attention of the party making the request, response, or objection. A party is not obligated to take any action with respect to it until it is signed [Fed R Civ P 26(g)(2)].

Cross Reference:

6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.152 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory Disclosures

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IX. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 26(g) FOR IMPROPER CERTIFICATION OF DISCOVERY REQUEST, RESPONSE, OBJECTION, OR DISCLOSURE
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.109

[Reserved]

25.109[Reserved]

112 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IX. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 26(g) FOR IMPROPER CERTIFICATION OF DISCOVERY REQUEST, RESPONSE, OBJECTION, OR DISCLOSURE
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.110

25.110 Sanctions Under Rule 26(g).

25.110[1] Person Who Makes Certification in Violation of Rule 26(g) Is Subject to Sanctions. If without substantial justification a certification is made in violation of Fed R Civ P 26(g), the court, on motion or on its own initiative, must impose on the person who made the certification, the party on whose behalf the disclosure, request, response, or objection is made, or both, an appropriate sanction [Fed R Civ P 26(g)(3)].

Distinguish:

Fed R Civ P 26(g) contains sanction provisions parallel to those found in Fed R Civ P 11. The primary distinction is that Rule 26 applies exclusively to discovery requests and responses, while Rule 11 applies to any paper, pleading, or motion. Rule 11 is therefore reserved for those papers, pleadings, and motions for which there are no other applicable sanction provisions [see National Ass'n of Radiation Survivors v. Turnage (ND Cal 1987) 115 FRD 543, 555 , citing Fed R Civ P 26, Committee Note of 1983].

Consider:

Although Rule 11 may not be used to preempt the application of Rule 26(g) to discovery responses and requests, its interpretation nonetheless guides the application of Rule 26(g) [see National Ass'n of Radiation Survivors v. Turnage (ND Cal 1987) 115 FRD 543, 555 , citing Fed R Civ P 26, Committee Note of 1983].

25.110[2] Sanctions May Include Amount of Reasonable Expenses and Attorney's Fees. The sanction for a Rule 26(g) violation may include an order to pay the amount of the reasonable expenses incurred because of the violation, including a reasonable attorney's fee [Fed R Civ P 26(g)(3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IX. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 26(g) FOR IMPROPER CERTIFICATION OF DISCOVERY REQUEST, RESPONSE, OBJECTION, OR DISCLOSURE
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.111

25.111 Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions.

25.111[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally. The four district courts in California require counsel to make a good-faith attempt to reach an informal resolution of a discovery dispute prior to filing a discovery motion.

Cross Reference:

See § 25.05.

25.111[2] Person Subject to Sanctions Must Be Afforded Due Process. The sanctioning process must comport with due process requirements. The kind of notice and hearing required depends on the facts of the case and the severity of the sanction being considered. In most cases, the court is aware of the circumstances, and only a brief hearing should be necessary [see Oregon RSA No. 6 v. Castle Rock Cellular Ltd. P'ship (9th Cir 1996) 76 F3d 1003, 1007-1008 (notice and opportunity to be heard may be required under both Rule 26 and court's inherent powers); Fed R Civ P 26(g), Committee Note of 1983].

25.111[3] Motion Should Be Filed Soon After Violation Occurs. The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure do not specify any time frame within which a motion seeking Fed R Civ P 26(g) sanctions must be filed.

The motion should be filed as soon as possible after it becomes clear that a certification was made in violation of Fed R Civ P 26(g) without substantial justification. In some cases, this determination may not be possible until the action has terminated.

25.111[4] Counsel Must Follow Procedures Applicable to Discovery Motions. A motion for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 26(g) must comply with procedures applicable to discovery motions generally.

Cross References:

Local court rules applicable to all discovery motions for sanctions, see § 25.40. Procedures for all discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, §§ 22.14 -22.34. General motion procedures, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

Obtaining sanctions for Rule 26(g) violation, see 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.154 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

114 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IX. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 26(g) FOR IMPROPER CERTIFICATION OF DISCOVERY REQUEST, RESPONSE, OBJECTION, OR DISCLOSURE
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.112

25.112 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.

The Ninth Circuit reviews discovery rulings for abuse of discretion [Mabe v. San Bernardino County (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1101, 1112]. The Ninth Circuit uses an objective standard to determine whether a party or attorney has responded or objected to a discovery request for an improper purpose [Oregon RSA No. 6 v. Castle Rock Cellular Ltd. P'ship (9th Cir 1996) 76 F3d 1003, 1007].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of Discretion

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IX. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 26(g) FOR IMPROPER CERTIFICATION OF DISCOVERY REQUEST, RESPONSE, OBJECTION, OR DISCLOSURE
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.113

25.113 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 26(g) Sanctions.

☐ Determine whether the grounds asserted in the moving papers are justified under Fed R Civ P 26(g)(1)(B)(i), (ii), or (iii).

○ If not, draft objections refuting the facts asserted in the moving papers.

○ If so, draft opposition papers explaining the substantial justification for the request, response, objection, or disclosure.

☐ Determine whether the moving party has complied with local rules concerning dispute-resolution procedures.

☐ Prepare and serve papers in opposition to the motion.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(g)

Discussion:
See § 25.114

Standard Procedure Checklists:
Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.14; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion

Practice, see § 26.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
IX. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 26(g) FOR IMPROPER CERTIFICATION OF DISCOVERY REQUEST, RESPONSE, OBJECTION, OR DISCLOSURE
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.114

25.114 Opposing Sanctions on Grounds That Certification Was Substantially Justified, and That Asserted Grounds Are Inapplicable.

To oppose a motion for Fed R Civ P 26(g) sanctions, a party should attempt to show that the certification was substantially justified, and argue facts showing that the asserted grounds for imposition of sanctions are inapplicable. The showing will depend on the grounds claimed by the moving party, and the specific facts of the case [see Fed R Civ P 26(g)].

Example:

If the moving party has asserted that a certified discovery request was unduly burdensome, the party opposing sanctions should argue facts showing that the request was appropriate given the needs of the case, the discovery had in the case, the amount in controversy, and the importance of the issues at stake in the litigation [see Fed R Civ P 26(g)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.115

25.115 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure.

Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION
_____ [name],	)	TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE
Defendant	)	(Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a), 37(a))
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for:

[EITHER, if requesting attorney's fees in motion to compel (Central, Eastern, and Southern Districts)]

(1) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 26(a) and Rule 37(a)(3)(A), requiring _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] to make the mandated disclosures as described in _____ [specify, e.g., the Affidavit of John Doe, attached hereto as Exhibit A], on the ground that _____ [state basis of motion, e.g., Mary Jones failed to make the necessary disclosures related to expert testimony]; and

(2) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 37(a)(5), awarding to _____ [party designation and name of moving party] the expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred in bringing this motion.]

[OR, if attorney's fees will be requested in separate motion (Northern District--see ND Cal Civ LR 7-8, 37-3)]

An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 26(a) and Rule 37(a)(3)(A), requiring _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] to make the mandated disclosures as described in _____ [specify, e.g., the Affidavit of John Doe, attached hereto as Exhibit A], on the ground that _____ [state basis of motion, e.g., Mary Jones failed to make the necessary disclosures related to expert testimony].

[CONTINUE]

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name of declarant], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(a)

Meet and Confer Requirements Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05

Additional Moving Papers Required Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05[2] (Central District-Joint Stipulation); see § 25.05[3] (Eastern District-Joint Statement Re Discovery Disagreement); see § 25.05[5][c] (Southern District-Certificate of Compliance)

Nature of Motion:
See 25.08[1]

Requirements Under Local Rules:
See § 25.10

Northern District Format Requirements:
See § 25.10[3]

Related Forms:
For responses, orders, and other forms related to motions to compel, see 8 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms §§ 37:1-37:59 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMandatory DisclosuresCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresMotions to Compel

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.116

25.116 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Compliance With Discovery Request.

Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Compliance with Discovery Request.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION
Plaintiff vs.	)	TO COMPEL COMPLIANCE WITH
_____ [name],	)	DISCOVERY REQUEST
Defendant	)	(Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a), 37(a))
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____
	)

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for:

[EITHER, if requesting attorney's fees in motion to compel (Central, Eastern, and Southern Districts)]

(a) An order pursuant to _____ [specify federal rule authorizing method under which discovery was sought] and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 37(a)(3)(A), _____ [specify desired relief, e.g., requiring plaintiff to answer certain questions propounded to plaintiff at plaintiff's deposition that plaintiff refused to answer, as described in the Affidavit of Jane Smith attached hereto as Exhibit A, and set forth in the attached Exhibit B], on the ground _____ [state basis of motion, e.g., that plaintiff refused to answer these questions, all of which are material and relevant to issues herein, and answers should be required]; and

(b) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 37(a)(5), awarding to _____ [party designation and name of moving party] the expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred in bringing this motion.

[OR, if attorney's fees will be requested in separate motion (Northern District--see ND Cal Civ LR 7-8, 37-3)]

An order pursuant to _____ [specify federal rule authorizing method under which discovery was sought] and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 37(a)(3)(B), _____ [specify desired relief, e.g., requiring plaintiff to answer certain questions propounded to plaintiff at plaintiff's deposition that plaintiff refused to answer, as described in the Affidavit of Jane Smith attached hereto as Exhibit A, and set forth in the attached Exhibit B], on the ground _____ [state basis of motion, e.g., that plaintiff refused to answer these questions, all of which are material and relevant to issues herein, and answers should be required].

[CONTINUE]

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ (Statement or Stipulation),] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(a)

Meet and Confer Requirements Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05

Additional Moving Papers Required Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05[2] (Central District-Joint Stipulation); see § 25.05[3] (Eastern District-Joint Statement Re Discovery Disagreement); see § 25.05[5][c] (Southern District-Certificate of Compliance)

Nature of Motion:
See § 25.08[2]

Requirements Under Local Rules:
See § 25.10

Northern District Format Requirements:
See § 25.10[3]

Related Forms:
For responses, orders, and other forms related to motions to compel, see 8 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms §§ 37:1-37:59 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to Compel

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.117

25.117 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Comply With Court Order.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Comply With Court Order.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR
Plaintiff vs.	)	SANCTIONS
_____ [name],	)	FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH COURT OR-
Defendant	)	DER
	)	(Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a), 37(b)(2))
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
		Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for:

(a) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure,

[CHOOSE ONE OF THE FOLLOWING, AS APPROPRIATE]

Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(i), that the following facts be established as proven: _____ [specify],

[OR]

Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(ii), that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be forbidden from offering any evidence at _____ [trial or other proceeding at which evidence is taken] supporting the following claims: _____ [specify],

[OR]

Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(ii), that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be prohibited from introducing in evidence the following matters: _____ [specify],

[OR]

Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(iv), that all further proceedings on behalf of _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be stayed and that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought]'s action be stricken from the trial calendar [and that the action be dismissed],

[OR]

Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(v), that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought]'s [complaint or other pleading seeking affirmative relief] be dismissed,

[OR]

Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(vii), that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be adjudged in contempt of this court,

[CONTINUE]

on the ground that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] has failed to comply with this court's order of _____ [date], requiring _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] to _____ [specify terms of order]; and

(b) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 37(b)(2), that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be required to pay the expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by _____ [party designation and name of moving party] as result of _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought]'s failure to comply with the order.

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint Stipulation,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(b)

Meet and Confer Requirements Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05

Additional Moving Papers Required Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05[2] (Central District-Joint Stipulation); see § 25.05[5][c] (Southern District-Certificate of Compliance)

Local Rule Requirements:
See § 25.40

Timing:
See § 25.40[3]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.118

25.118 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Make Mandatory Disclosures or Failure to Supplement Discovery Responses.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Make Mandatory Disclosures or Failure to Supplement Discovery Responses.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name], Plaintiff vs. _____ [name], Defendant	Civil Action No. _____ NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR SANCTIONS FOR _____ [FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURES OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT RESPONSES] (Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(c)(1)) Date of Hearing: _____ Time of Hearing: _____ Courtroom No. _____

_____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for:

(a) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 37(c)(1), that _____ [specify sanction sought, and party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones be forbidden from offering any evidence at trial with respect to any of the following witnesses or information: _____ (specify)], on the ground that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] has failed to _____ [make mandatory disclosures or supplement discovery responses] as required by _____ [Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 26(a) or Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 26(e)] as described in the Affidavit of _____ [name], attached hereto as Exhibit A, and set forth in the attached Exhibit B; and

(b) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 37(c)(1), that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be required to pay the expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by _____ [party designation and name of moving party] as result of the failure by _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] to comply with this requirement.

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ Stipulation,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(a), (e), 37(c)

Meet and Confer Requirements Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05

Additional Moving Papers Required Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05[2] (Central District-Joint Stipulation); see § 25.05[5][c] (Southern District-Certificate of Compliance)

Basis for Motion:
See §§ 25.50 -25.53

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.119

25.119 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Unreasonable Failure to Admit Genuineness of Document or Truth of Matter.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Unreasonable Failure to Admit Genuineness of Document or Truth of Matter.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff vs.	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT _____
_____ [name],	[GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER]
Defendant	(Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(a), 37(c)(2))
	Date of Hearing: _____
	Time of Hearing: _____
	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for:

(a) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 36 and Rule 37(c)(2), that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be required to pay the expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by _____ [party designation and name of moving party] in proving the _____ [genuineness of those documents or truth of those matters] described in the Affidavit of _____ [name] attached hereto as Exhibit A, and set forth in the attached Exhibit B, on the ground that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] unreasonably failed to admit the _____ [genuineness of those documents or truth of those matters] as requested under Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 36; and

(b) An order granting _____ [party designation and name of moving party] such other incidental relief as may be appropriate.

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ Stipulation,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 36, 37(c)

Meet and Confer Requirements Under Local Rules:

See § 25.05

Additional Moving Papers Required Under Local Rules:

See § 25.05[2] (Central District-Joint Stipulation); see § 25.05[5][c] (Southern District-Certificate of Compliance)

Timing:

See § 25.63

Basis for Motion:

See §§ 25.59 -25.64

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.120

25.120 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Appear or Respond.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Appear or Respond.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR
Plaintiff vs.	)	SANCTIONS
_____ [name],	)	FOR FAILURE TO _____
Defendant	)	[APPEAR OR RESPOND]
	)	(Fed. R. Civ. P. 37(b)(2), 37(d))
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for:

(a) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure,

[CHOOSE ONE OF THE FOLLOWING, AS APPROPRIATE]

Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(i) and Rule 37(d), that the following facts be established as proven: _____ [specify],

[OR]

Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(ii) and Rule 37(d), that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be forbidden from offering any evidence at trial supporting the following defenses: _____ [specify],

[OR]

Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(ii) and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 37(d) that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be prohibited from introducing in evidence the following matters: _____ [specify],

[OR]

Rule 37(b)(2)(A)(vi) and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 37(d) that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought]'s _____ [answer or other pleading setting forth affirmative defense] be stricken and that judgment by default in favor of _____ [party designation and name of moving party] for the relief demanded in the complaint be entered,

[CONTINUE]

on the ground that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] has failed to _____ [specify sanctionable failure, e.g., answer or object to interrogatories as described in the Affidavit of John Doe attached hereto as Exhibit A, and set forth in the attached Exhibit B]; and

(b) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 37(d), that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be required to pay the expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by _____ [party designation and name of moving party] as result of _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought]'s failure to comply with the requested discovery.

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint Stipulation,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.

Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 37(b), (d)

Meet and Confer Requirements Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05

Additional Moving Papers Required Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05[2] (Central District-Joint Stipulation); see § 25.05[5][c] (Southern District-Certificate of Compliance)

Timing:
See § 25.73[3]

Basis for Motion:
See §§ 25.71 -25.75

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

123 of 123 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
X. FORMS

3-25 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 25.121

25.121 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Participate in Discovery Plan.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Participate in Discovery Plan.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN (Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(f), 37(g))
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____
	)

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for an order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 26(f) and Rule 37(g), that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] be required to pay the expenses, including attorney's fees, incurred by _____ [party designation and name of moving party] as the result of _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought]'s failure to participate in discovery planning as described in the Affidavit of _____ [name] attached hereto as Exhibit A, and set forth in the attached Exhibit B, on the ground that _____ [party designation and name of party against whom relief is sought] failed to participate in good faith in the development and submission of a proposed discovery plan as required under Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 26(f).

[As required by local rules and/or individual judge's rules, detail any pre-motion efforts by the parties to meet and confer in good faith to resolve the discovery dispute.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Joint _____ Stipulation,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 26(f), 37(g)

Meet and Confer Requirements Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05

Additional Moving Papers Required Under Local Rules:
See § 25.05[2] (Central District-Joint Stipulation); see § 25.05[5][c] (Southern District-Certificate of Compliance)

Basis for Motion:

See §§ 25.81 -25.87

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconduct

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.syn

§ 26.syn Synopsis to Chapter 26: Pretrial Motion Practice

26.01 Scope.

26.02 Objective and Strategy.

26.03 CHECKLIST: Determining Governing Law.

26.04 Rules Governing Motion Practice.

26.04[1] Motion Defined.

26.04[2] Federal Rules Govern Motion Practice.

26.04[3] Local Rules Must Be Consulted.

26.04[4] Individual Judges' Rules Must Be Consulted.

26.05 CHECKLIST: Making Pretrial Oral Motions.

26.06 Before Trial, Oral Motions Are Restricted to Officially Recorded Hearings.

26.07 LOCAL PRACTICE: Restrictions on Oral Motions.

26.07[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.07[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.07[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.08 CHECKLIST: Using Stipulations in Lieu of Motions.

26.09 Using a Stipulation in Lieu of Motion.

26.09[1] Stipulations Under the Federal Rules.

26.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Stipulations.

26.09[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.09[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.09[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.10 CHECKLIST: Making Ex Parte Applications.

26.11 Use Ex Parte Applications to Seek Expedited Relief.

26.11[1] Ex Parte Application Typically Proceeds Without Notice to Other Parties.

26.11[2] Contents of Ex Parte Application.

26.11[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Ex Parte Applications.

26.11[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.11[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.11[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.11[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.12 CHECKLIST: Making Noticed Motions.

26.12[1] CHECKLIST: Preliminary Determinations.

26.12[2] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion Papers.

26.12[3] CHECKLIST: Filing and Serving Motion Papers.

26.13 Options and Strategy for Noticed Motions.

26.14 Moving Party Must Comply With Pre-Motion Procedures.

26.15 LOCAL PRACTICE: Preliminary "Meet and Confer" Requirements Under Local Rules.

26.15[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.15[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.15[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.15[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.16 Notice of Motion Is Essential Element of Motion Papers.

26.16[1] Notice of Motion Functions to Inform Court and Parties.

26.16[2] Notice of Motion Must Specify Relief Sought.

26.16[3] Motion Must State Its Grounds With Particularity.

26.16[4] Individual Judges' Rules May Have Additional Requirements for Notice of Motion.

26.16[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Content of Notice of Motion.

26.16[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.16[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.16[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.16[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.17 Moving Party May Combine Motion and Notice of Motion in One Paper.

26.17[1] Federal Rules Permit Combination Motion and Notice of Motion.

26.17[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Combining Motion and Notice of Motion.

26.17[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.17[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.17[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.17[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.18 Formatting Motion Papers.

26.18[1] Motion Papers Must Be Properly Formatted.

26.18[2] Clerk May Not Reject Improperly Formatted Papers.

26.18[3] Motion Papers Must Contain Signature, Address, and Telephone Number.

26.19 Motion Must Be Accompanied by Supporting Papers.

26.19[1] Federal Rules Do Not Specify Papers Required in Support of Motion.

26.19[2] Notice of Motion Should List Supporting Papers.

26.19[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Papers Required in Support of Motion.

26.19[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.19[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.19[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.19[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.20 Preparing Memorandum of Law.

26.20[1] Purpose of Memorandum of Law.

26.20[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Memorandum of Law.

26.20[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.20[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.20[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.20[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.21 Preparing Supporting Affidavits or Affidavit Substitutes.

26.21[1] Purpose of Supporting Affidavits.

26.21[2] Affidavit Substitutes.

26.21[3] Affidavits May Not Be Served Separately From Motion.

26.21[4] Affidavit Requirements.

26.21[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Affidavits or Affidavit Substitutes.

26.21[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.21[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.21[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.21[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.22 Submitting Evidence in Support of Motion.

26.23 Timing of Notice, Service, and Filing.

26.23[1] Minimum Five-Day Notice Requirement Under Federal Rules Has Important Exceptions.

26.23[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Timing Rules for Noticed Motions.

26.23[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.23[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.23[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.23[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.23[3] Day-Counting Rules for Computing Advance Notice Period.

26.23[3][a] Notice Period Must First Be Ascertained From Rules.

26.23[3][b] Day on Which Moving Papers Served Is Not Included.

26.23[3][c] Notice Period Extended If Last Day Is on Weekend or Legal Holiday.

26.23[3][d] Three-Day Extension If Service by Specified Method.

26.24 Moving Party Must Review Court's Requirements for Setting Motion on Calendar.

26.25 LOCAL PRACTICE: Continuing the Hearing of a Motion.

26.25[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.25[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.25[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.25[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.26 Shortening Notice Period.

26.26[1] Federal Rule Allows Court to Shorten Advance Notice Otherwise Required.

26.26[2] Consider Pre-Motion Conference When Prompt or Immediate Court Intervention Is Necessary.

26.26[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Shortening Notice Period.

26.26[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.26[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.26[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.26[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.27 All Parties Except Defaulting Parties Must Be Served With Motion Papers.

26.28 Serving Motion Papers on Attorney of Represented Party.

26.29 Manner of Serving Motion Papers.

26.30 Proof of Service Required.

26.31 Filing Complete When Motion Papers Timely Filed With Clerk.

26.32 Filing Motions by Fax or Other Electronic Means.

26.32A LOCAL PRACTICE: Mandatory Electronic Filing in ED Cal.

26.32B LOCAL PRACTICE: Mandatory Electronic Filing in SD Cal.

26.33 Delivering Courtesy Copies to Assigned Judge.

26.33[1] Consult Individual Judges' Rules.

26.33[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.33[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.34 LOCAL PRACTICE: Withdrawing Motion.

26.34[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.34[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.34[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.34[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.35 Making Motion for Enlargement of Time.

26.35[1] Seeking Additional Time to Act.

26.35[2] Request Made Prior to Expiration of Time Period.

26.35[3] Request Made After Expiration of Time Period.

26.35[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Motions to Enlarge Time.

26.35[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.35[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.35[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.35[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.36 Making Motion for Reconsideration.

26.36[1] Motion Used to Correct Manifest Errors of Law or Fact.

26.36[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Motion for Reconsideration.

26.36[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.36[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.36[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.36[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.37 CHECKLIST: Responding to Noticed Motions.

26.38 Options and Strategy.

26.39 LOCAL PRACTICE: Contents of Responding Papers.

26.39[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.39[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.39[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.39[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.40 Formatting Opposition Papers.

26.41 Opposition Papers Must Be Timely Filed and Served.

26.41[1] Papers Must Be Filed Within Reasonable Time After Service.

26.41[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Deadline for Serving and Filing Opposition Papers.

26.41[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.41[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.41[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.41[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.41[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Extension of Deadline for Serving and Filing Opposition Papers.

26.41[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.41[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.41[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.41[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.42 Proof of Service Is Required.

26.43 Failure to Submit Timely Opposition Papers May Result in Default.

26.43[1] Court May Grant Unopposed Motion.

26.43[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Failure to Submit Opposition Papers.

26.43[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.43[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.43[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.43[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.44 CHECKLIST: Making Cross-Motions or Counter-Motions.

26.45 Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion Filed in Response to Motion.

26.45[1] Cross-Motions and Counter-Motions Generally.

26.45[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Cross-Motions and Counter-Motions.

26.45[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.45[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.45[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.45[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.46 Combining Opposition With Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion.

26.47 Serving and Filing Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion.

26.48 Seeking Enlargement of Time Within Which to Respond to Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion.

26.49 CHECKLIST: Replying to Opposition Papers.

26.50 Reply Papers.

26.50[1] Purpose of Reply Papers.

26.50[2] Federal Rules Do Not Address Reply Papers.

26.50[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Reply Papers.

26.50[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.50[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.50[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.50[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.51 CHECKLIST: Orally Arguing Motions.

26.52 Options and Strategies.

26.53 Orally Arguing Noticed Motions.

26.53[1] Local Rules and Individual Judges' Rules Govern Oral Argument.

26.53[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Oral Arguments.

26.53[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.53[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.53[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.53[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.54 CHECKLIST: Orders.

26.55 Preparing Party May Be Required to Prepare Order.

26.55[1] Local Rules or Individual Judge's Rules May Require Prevailing Party to Prepare Order.

26.55[2] Contents of Order.

26.55[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Orders.

26.55[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

26.55[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

26.55[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

26.55[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

26.56 Notice of Motion and Motion--General Form.

26.57 Declaration in Support of or in Opposition to Motion--General Form.

26.58 Notice of Motion and Motion to Enlarge Period to Do Act Made Before Expiration of Period.

26.59 Application and Order Shortening Time for Service of Motion.

26.60 Request for Oral Argument on Motion.

26.61 Notice of Motion and Motion for Reargument or Reconsideration.

26.62 Stipulation--General Form.

26.63 Stipulation Withdrawing Motion.

26.64 Order Granting or Denying Motion--General Form.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
I. STRATEGY

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.01

26.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Determining the governing procedural law of federal motion practice [see 26.03, 26.04].
- Oral motions [see 26.05 -26.07].
- Stipulations in lieu of motions [see 26.08, 26.09; Form 26.62].
- Ex parte applications [see 26.10, 26.11].
- Preparing, filing, and serving papers for noticed motions [see 26.12 -26.33; Forms 26.56 -26.59].
- Withdrawing a motion [see 26.34; Form 26.63].
- Moving for an enlargement of time to perform a specific act [see 26.35; Form 26.58].
- Moving for reconsideration [see 26.36; Form 26.61].
- Responding to noticed motions [see 26.37 -26.43].
- Cross-motions or counter-motions [see 26.44 -26.48].
- Replying to opposition papers [see 26.49, 26.50].
- Orally arguing motions [see 26.51, 26.53; Form 26.60].
- Orders [see 26.54, 26.55; Form 26.64].

Core Rules:

Fed R Civ P 5, 6, 7, 10, 11.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
I. STRATEGY

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.02

26.02 Objective and Strategy.

Motion practice is a key element of federal litigation. Rarely is a federal case tried without substantial pretrial motion practice, and a judge often forms his or her opinion of the parties, their positions, and their attorney based on the motion practice, especially when substantial motions, such as those for preliminary injunctions or summary judgment, have been made.

When making a motion, counsel must weigh factors such as the odds of winning, the damage that may result by losing, and the cost/benefit analysis of the relief sought. The motion papers should reflect this analysis. As with all litigation papers, counsel should not assume that motion papers will be read from beginning to end in a single sitting. Ensure that your motion papers are succinct and well-organized.

The trend toward expedited handling of issues, by which the court renders decisions on oral presentations at a pretrial conference, or based on letter briefs submitted in advance of a pretrial conference, has changed motion practice considerably. If the assigned judge requires a pre-motion conference and is willing to accept correspondence in advance of such a conference (not all districts may use this procedure), the prospective motion proponent and opponent must realize that their communications with the court may substitute for formal motion practice.

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

1 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 5, Serving and Filing of Pleadings and Other Papers (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

1 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 6, Computing and Extending Time; Time for Motion Papers (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 7, Pleadings Allowed; Form of Motions and Other Papers (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 10, Form of Pleadings (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 11, Signing Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers; Representations to the Court; Sanctions (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

1 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 5, Serving and Filing Pleadings and Other Papers (Matthew Bender).

1 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 6, Computing and Extending Time; Time for Motion Papers (Matthew Bender).

1 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 7, Pleadings Allowed; Form of Motions and Other Papers (Matthew Bender).

4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 10, Form of Pleadings (Matthew Bender).

4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 11, Signing Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers; Representations to the Court; Sanctions (Matthew Bender).

Cross References:

Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers; Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion.

For tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
II. DETERMINING GOVERNING LAW

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.03

26.03 CHECKLIST: Determining Governing Law.

☐ The following Federal Rules of Civil Procedure govern motion practice in general:

- ○ Rule 5 for service and filing of motions.
- ○ Rule 6 for timing of motions.
- ○ Rule 7(b) for form of motions.
- ○ Rule 11 for signing motions.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5, 6, 7(b)(1), 11

Discussion:
See § 26.04[2]

☐ Other federal rules govern specific types of motions (e.g., motions for summary judgment), and may prescribe different time requirements than the general requirements under Rule 6.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 6

Discussion:

See § 26.04[2]

☐ Local rules govern the details of motion practice, including:

- ○ Advance notice of motions.
- ○ Timing of opposition and reply papers.
- ○ Papers required or permitted to be submitted in support of or in opposition to the motion.
- ○ Formatting requirements for motion papers.
- ○ Service and filing of papers.

Discussion:
See § 26.04[3]

☐ Individual judges' rules and procedures, known as standing orders, often include provisions governing motion practice, including:

- ○ Pre-motion conference requirements.
- ○ Procedures for obtaining ex parte orders.
- ○ Availability of oral argument.
- ○ Times and days of week for motion calendars.
- ○ Courtesy copies.
- ○ Page limitations.
- ○ Guidelines as to appropriate stipulations.

Authority:
18 USC §§ 2072, 2075; Fed R Civ P 83(b)

Discussion:
See § 26.04[4]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion

PracticeTime Limitations

5 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
II. DETERMINING GOVERNING LAW

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.04

26.04 Rules Governing Motion Practice.

26.04[1] Motion Defined. A motion is an application to the court for an order [Fed R Civ P 7; Parker v. United States (9th Cir 1997) 110 F3d 678, 682 n9].

26.04[2] Federal Rules Govern Motion Practice. The following Federal Rules of Civil Procedure apply to motions generally:

- Rule 5 for service and filing of motions.
- Rule 6 for timing of motions.
- Rule 7(b) for form of motions.
- Rule 11 for signing motions.

In addition, specific types of motions may be regulated by the particular federal rule or statute governing the relief requested.

The substance of the motion, not its form or nomenclature, controls its disposition [Andersen v. United States (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 804, 807 , cert. denied, 538 US 977 (2003)]. Even if a party has improperly labeled a motion, courts will generally construe it as the proper type for the purpose it was made [Singleton v. University of Cal. (ND Cal 1995) 1995 US Dist LEXIS 329, at *4, n2].

Judge's Perspective:
Despite courts' efforts to construe a motion as intended, mislabeling can and often does raise questions of attorney competence. It is therefore still important to use care in all matters of motion preparation, including the labeling.

26.04[3] Local Rules Must Be Consulted. Local district court rules generally control the details of motion practice, including:

- Advance notice of motions [see 26.23].
- Timing of opposition and reply papers [see 26.41, 26.50].
- Papers required or permitted to be submitted in support of or in opposition to the motion [see 26.19 -26.22].
- Formatting requirements for motion papers [see 26.18].
- Service and filing of papers [see 26.27 -26.33].

26.04[4] Individual Judges' Rules Must Be Consulted. Judges may establish their own practical rules and procedures, provided those rules and procedures are consistent with federal law, rules adopted under 18 USC §§ 2072, 2075, and local rules [see Fed R Civ P 83(b)].

Judges' individual rules and procedures, frequently referred to as standing orders, often include provisions governing motion practice, including:

- Pre-motion conference requirements.
- Procedures for obtaining ex parte orders.
- Availability of oral argument.
- Times and days of week for motion calendars.
- Courtesy copies.
- Page limitations.
- Guidelines as to appropriate stipulations.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesGeneral Overview

6 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
III. MAKING ORAL MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.05

26.05 CHECKLIST: Making Pretrial Oral Motions.

☐ Determine whether the motion can be made orally:

○ Oral motion generally permissible if made during hearing that is officially recorded.

○ Review local rules and individual judges' rules, which may restrict availability of oral motions.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1); Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. Co. (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 425, 427

Discussion:
See § 26.06, 26.07

☐ If oral motion not available, consider alternatives such as stipulation, ex parte written motion, or noticed motion.

Discussion:
See §§ 26.08 -26.33

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & Form

7 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
III. MAKING ORAL MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.06

26.06 Before Trial, Oral Motions Are Restricted to Officially Recorded Hearings.

Oral motions have limited availability in federal pretrial civil practice. In general, motions must be made in writing, unless interposed during a hearing or trial that is officially recorded [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)(A); Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe Ry. Co. (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 425, 427 ; United States v. Vulpis (2d Cir 1992) 961 F2d 368, 371].

An oral motion need not be supported by a writing [see, e.g., Kingvision Pay-Per-View v. Lake Alice Bar (9th Cir 1999) 168 F3d 347, 350 ; Meriwether v. Coughlin (2d Cir 1989) 879 F2d 1037, 1042].

Distinguish:

An oral motion is to be distinguished from an oral argument, which may be available in connection with a written motion [see § 26.53].

Warning:

Oral motions are generally authorized by judges only in the course of a trial or in the course of pretrial proceedings, where the issues do not require briefing, there is no prejudice to the opposing party, and the opposing party consents. Counsel should never rely on being able to present an oral motion.

Judge's Perspective:

Although oral motions are permitted and are sometimes used for a motion to amend a complaint, add a party, or dismiss a party, their use is not encouraged. Some judges consider oral motions appropriate only if they arise during another proceeding.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & Form

8 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
III. MAKING ORAL MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.07

26.07 LOCAL PRACTICE: Restrictions on Oral Motions.

26.07[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Unless otherwise provided by rule or court order, no oral motions will be recognized and every motion must be presented by notice of motion [CD Cal Civ LR 6-1].

26.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Except as otherwise provided in the local rules or as ordered or allowed by the court, all motions must be noticed on the motion calendar of the assigned judge or magistrate judge [ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)].

26.07[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. All motions must be made in writing, except for motions made during the course of a trial or hearing [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(a)].

26.07[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. All motions require moving papers [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d.1)]. When there has been an adverse appearance, a written notice of matter requiring the court's ruling is necessary, unless otherwise provided by rule or court order [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & Form

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
IV. USING STIPULATIONS IN LIEU OF MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.08

26.08 CHECKLIST: Using Stipulations in Lieu of Motions.

☐ Determine whether the stipulation may serve as a substitute for seeking an order from the court by way of motion.

☐ Federal Rules expressly authorize stipulations in some situations:

- ○ Amendment of pleadings under Rule 15(a).
- ○ Stipulations during pretrial conference under Rule 16.
- ○ Discovery stipulations under Rule 29.
- ○ Voluntary dismissal under Rule 41(a)(1).
- ○ Stipulations for verdicts of less than unanimous juries or juries of less than six persons under Rule 48.
- ○ Stipulations that master's findings are final under Rule 53(f)(3).
- ○ Stipulations extending time to file responsive affidavits on motion for new trial under Rule 59(c).

○ Stipulated protective orders.

☐ Consult with opposing counsel and draft written stipulation.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1), 15(a), 16, 29, 41(a)(1), 48, 53(f)(3), 59(c); CD Cal Civ LR 7-1; ED Cal Gen LR 143, 144; ND Cal Civ LR 6-1, 7-12; SD Cal Civ LR 7.2

Discussion:

See § 26.09

Forms:

See § 26.62, 26.63

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsStipulationsCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsStipulationsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
IV. USING STIPULATIONS IN LIEU OF MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.09

26.09 Using a Stipulation in Lieu of Motion.

26.09[1] Stipulations Under the Federal Rules. Even when not expressly authorized, a stipulation may serve as a substitute for seeking an order from the court by way of motion. Though there is no general federal rule governing stipulations, the Federal Rules expressly authorize stipulations in some situations:

- Fed R Civ P 15(a) (amendment of pleadings on "written consent" of adverse party).
- Fed R Civ P 29 (permissible discovery stipulations).
- Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1) (voluntary dismissal on filing of signed stipulation for dismissal).
- Fed R Civ P 48 (stipulations for verdicts of less than unanimous juries or juries of less than six persons).
- Fed R Civ P 53(f)(3) (parties may stipulate that master's findings are final).

Fed R Civ P 6(b) generally authorizes the court to extend the time to act, if a request is made before the original time or its extension expires. This general rule governs extending the time to file opposing affidavits on a motion for a new trial, based on written stipulation [see Fed R Civ P 59, Committee Note of 2009 (explaining deletion of provision of former Fed R Civ P 59(c))].

In addition, the entire pretrial process contemplates stipulations. For example, Fed R Civ P 16 concludes with the requirement that at least one attorney for each party participating in each pretrial conference have authority to enter into stipulations and to make admissions regarding all matters that the participants may reasonably anticipate to be discussed [Fed R Civ P 16(c)].

Warning:

Most stipulations expressly mentioned in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure must be made in writing, or must be in writing and filed with the court [see, e.g., Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1) (stipulated dismissal)]. Even when a stipulation is not expressly required by a rule to be in writing, it is always the best practice to put the stipulation in writing (except, perhaps, when the stipulation is already reflected in a pretrial order). Keep in mind that judges may have standing orders governing the use of discretionary stipulations.

Cross References:

Detailed discussion of discovery stipulations, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.11, 22.12. Forms, see 26.62, 26.63.

Discussion of stipulations made during pretrial conferences, Ch. 16, Case Management Conferences. Discussion of discovery stipulations, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.11, 22.12.

26.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Stipulations.

26.09[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Stipulations will be recognized as binding only when made in open court, on the record at a deposition, or when filed in the proceeding. Written stipulations affecting the progress of the case must be filed with the court, be accompanied by a separate order as provided in CD Cal Civ LR 52-4.1, and will not be effective until approved by the judge, except as authorized by statutes or the Federal Rules [CD Cal Civ LR 7-1].

Exception:

A stipulation extending the time within which to answer or otherwise respond to the initial complaint in an action by not more than 30 days does not need to be approved by the judge but must be filed. Note that this exception applies only to stipulations regarding answers or responses to initial complaints--it does not apply to answers or responses to crossclaims, counterclaims, third-party complaints, or amended or supplemental pleadings [CD Cal Civ LR 8-3].

26.09[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The following requirements apply in the Eastern District:

Form of stipulations. Except for stipulations entered into during the course of a deposition and set forth in the transcript, stipulations must be [ED Cal Gen LR 143(a)]:

- In writing, signed by all counsel or parties in propria persona who have appeared in the action and are affected by the stipulation, except as otherwise required by Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1) (voluntary stipulated dismissal) and filed; or
- Made in open court and noted by the courtroom deputy clerk in the minutes or by the court reporter in the notes; or
- Recited in a pretrial or other court order.

Stipulations not in conformity with these requirements will not be recognized unless necessary to prevent manifest injustice [ED Cal Gen LR 143(a)].

Requirement of court order. Stipulations are not effective unless approved by the Court, except as otherwise provided in by the local rules or Federal Rules of Civil, Criminal, or Appellate Procedure. A proposed order must be submitted with a written stipulation and may consist of an endorsement on the stipulation of the words, "IT IS SO ORDERED," with spaces designated for the date and signature of the judge or magistrate judge [ED Cal Gen LR 143(b)].

Extensions on stipulation. Unless the filing date has been set by court order, an initial stipulation extending time for no more than 28 days to respond to a complaint, crossclaim, or counterclaim, or to respond to interrogatories, requests for admissions, or requests for production of documents may be filed without approval of the Court if the stipulation is signed on behalf of all parties who have appeared in the action and are affected by the stipulation. All other extensions of time must be approved by the court and no open extensions of time by stipulation of the parties will be recognized [ED Cal Gen LR 144(a)].

26.09[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The following requirements apply in the Northern District:

Format. Every stipulation requesting judicial action must be in writing signed by all affected parties or their counsel. A proposed form of order may be submitted with the stipulation and may consist of an endorsement on the stipulation of the words "PURSUANT TO STIPULATION, IT IS SO ORDERED," with spaces designated for the date and the signature of the judge [ND Cal Civ LR 7-12].

Restriction on stipulations varying Case Management Conference date. Any stipulation that would vary the date of the Case Management Conference has no effect unless approved by the assigned judge before the date set for the conference [ND Cal Civ LR 16-2(e)].

When stipulation is permissible without court order. Parties may stipulate in writing, without a court order, to extend the time within which to answer or otherwise respond to the complaint, or to enlarge or shorten the time in matters not required to be filed or lodged with the court, provided the change will not alter the date of any event or any deadline already fixed by court order. Such a stipulation must be promptly filed pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 5-1 et seq. [ND Cal Civ LR 6-1(a)].

When court order is necessary. A court order is required for any enlargement or shortening of time that alters an event or deadline already fixed by court order or that involves papers required to be filed or lodged with the court. A request for a court order enlarging or shortening time may be made by written stipulation pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 6-2 or motion pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 6-3. Any stipulated request or motion that affects a hearing or proceeding on the court's calendar must be filed no later than 14 days before the scheduled event [ND Cal Civ LR 6-1(b)].

26.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Except as otherwise provided, stipulations will be recognized as binding on the court only when approved by the judge [SD Cal Civ LR 7.2(a)].

A stipulation must close with the heading "ORDER." Beneath the heading, the sum and substance of that to which there has been a stipulation must appear. The document must close with blank lines for the date and the judge's signature, below which the words "Judge of the District Court" must appear. Any stipulation that extends time or provides for a continuance must contain the reason for the change of date [SD Cal Civ LR 7.2(b)].

At a minimum, any order page to be signed must contain the document name, case title, and name of requesting party as a header or footer [SD Cal Civ LR 7.2(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersMastersGeneral OverviewCivil

ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsStipulationsCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsStipulations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
V. MAKING EX PARTE APPLICATIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.10

26.10 CHECKLIST: Making Ex Parte Applications.

☐ Consider whether relief sought (extension of time, for example) can be accomplished by stipulation or noticed motion.

☐ Determine whether the relief sought can actually be provided by an ex parte order and does not need to be noticed.

☐ Determine whether immediate relief is actually necessary and if so, identify immediate danger or irreparable harm.

☐ Consult local rules to determine if notice must be given to adverse party and for other requirements for ex parte applications.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 6(b), (c); CD Cal Civ LR 7-19, 7-20; ED Cal Gen LR 144(c), (e); ND Cal Civ LR 1-5(d), 7-10; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.5), 83.3(h)

Discussion:
See § 26.11

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesGeneral Overview

12 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
V. MAKING EX PARTE APPLICATIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.11

26.11 Use Ex Parte Applications to Seek Expedited Relief.

26.11[1] Ex Parte Application Typically Proceeds Without Notice to Other Parties. An ex parte application typically involves contact with the court without the advance knowledge or contemporaneous participation of all other parties [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 1-5(d)].

Judge's Perspective:

In general, judges do not like ex parte applications, unless the movant can show very good cause and reasonable attempts to contact the other party. Courts typically require the applicant to notify the adverse party of the application unless the applicant can justify why the adverse party should not be notified. Justifications include a good faith belief that, otherwise, evidence will be destroyed, the party will flee, or money will be placed out of reach. The judge will want to know specifically why the applicant did not notify the other party. Ex parte applications are commonly used in intellectual property piracy cases.

Consider:

A common use of ex parte applications is to change time periods for specific acts. Ex parte applications can be used to extend the time within which an act is required or allowed to be done, if the prescribed time period has not yet expired [Fed R Civ P 6(b)(1); see, e.g., ED Cal Gen LR 144(c)]. Similarly, they can be used to shorten the time within which an act is required or allowed to be done [see, e.g., ED Cal Gen LR 144(e)].

26.11[2] Contents of Ex Parte Application. To some degree, the papers required for an ex parte motion will be similar to those required for a noticed motion [see Mission Power Eng'g Co. v. Continental Cas. Co. (CD Cal 1995) 883 F Supp 488, 492 , aff'd, 103 F3d 139 (9th Cir 1996)]. Review local rules [see 26.11[3]] for the requirements in each district.

The ex parte papers should show the court [Mission Power Eng'g Co. v. Continental Cas. Co. (CD Cal 1995) 883 F Supp 488, 492 , aff'd, 103 F3d 139 (9th Cir 1996)]:

- That the moving party's cause will be irreparably prejudiced if the underlying motion is heard according to regular noticed motion procedures; and

- That the moving party is without fault in creating the crisis that requires ex parte relief, or that the crisis occurred as a result of excusable neglect.

Warning:

Many ex parte motions are denied, not because the underlying request is unwarranted, but because the papers do not show that bypassing the regular noticed motion procedure is necessary.

26.11[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Ex Parte Applications.

26.11[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. An application for an ex parte order must be accompanied by a memorandum containing [CD Cal Civ LR 7-19]:

- If known, the name, address, telephone number, and e-mail address of counsel for the opposing party.

- The reasons for seeking an ex parte order.

- Supporting points and authorities [see 26.20[2][a]].

The applicant must lodge the proposed ex parte order [CD Cal Civ LR 7-19].

The attorney applying for the order must make a good faith effort to advise counsel for all other parties, if known, of the date, time, and substance of the proposed ex parte application and to advise the court in writing of efforts to contact other counsel and whether any other counsel, after this advice, opposes the application or has requested to be present when the application is presented to the court [CD Cal Civ LR 7-19.1]

If the judge to whom the application is made finds that the interest of justice requires that the ex parte application be heard without notice (which in the instance of a TRO means that the requisite showing under Fed R Civ P 65(b) has been made), the judge may waive the notice requirement [CD Cal Civ LR 7-19.1, 7-19.2]

Any order lodged in connection with a motion or application must comply with the local rules setting forth general requirements for orders [CD Cal Civ LR 7-20; see CD Cal Civ LR 52-4 et seq. (requirements for orders)].

26.11[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The court may, in its discretion, grant an initial extension of time ex parte on the affidavit of counsel that a stipulation extending time cannot reasonably be obtained, explaining the reasons why a stipulation cannot be obtained and the reasons why the extension is necessary. Except for one such initial extension, ex parte applications for extensions of time will not ordinarily be granted [ED Cal Gen LR 144(c)].

Applications to shorten time must set forth by affidavit of counsel the circumstances claimed to justify the issuance of an order shortening time. Ex parte applications to shorten time will not be granted except on affidavit of counsel showing a satisfactory explanation for the need for the issuance of such an order from other counsel or parties in the action. Stipulations for the issuance of an order shortening time require the approval of the judge or magistrate judge on whose calendar the matter is to be heard before such stipulations will be given effect. Any proposed order shortening time must include blanks for the court to designate a time and date for the hearing and for the filing of any response to the motion [ED Cal Gen LR 144(e)].

26.11[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Unless otherwise ordered by the assigned judge, a party may file an ex parte motion (a motion filed without notice to opposing party), only if a statute, federal rule, local rules, or standing order, authorizes the filing of an ex parte motion in the circumstances and the party has complied with the applicable provisions allowing the party to approach the court on an ex parte basis. The motion must include a citation to the statute, rule, or order that permits the use of an ex parte motion to obtain the relief sought [ND Cal Civ LR 7-10; see United States v. Moyer (ND Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 63995, at *11, *14-*15 (defendant complied with LR 7-10, even though he failed to cite Fed R Civ P 60 and 62 as grounds for his ex parte request for stay; he "clearly and sufficiently noticed all parties" that he was proceeding under Fed R Civ P 60, by unequivocally requesting that court vacate prior order more than ten days after it issued, due to excusable neglect, fraud, or legal mistake)].

26.11[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. All applications to a judge for ex parte orders must be made by a party appearing in propria persona or by an attorney of the court [SD Cal Civ LR 83.3(h.1)].

An application for an order may not be made ex parte unless it appears by affidavit or declaration (1) that within a reasonable time before the application the party informed the opposing party or the opposing party's attorney when and where the application would be made; or (2) that the party in good faith attempted to inform the opposing party and the opposing party's attorney but was unable to do so, specifying the efforts made to inform them; or (3) that for reasons specified the party should not be required to inform the opposing party or the opposing party's attorney [SD Cal Civ LR 83.3(h.2)].

All applications for orders shortening time under the local rules must be submitted ex parte, be accompanied by a proposed order, and be served on all opposing parties [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.5)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsTime LimitationsExtensionsCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.12

26.12 CHECKLIST: Making Noticed Motions.

26.12[1] CHECKLIST: Preliminary Determinations.

☐ Determine whether or not to make noticed motion by weighing the following:

- ○ Benefits of prevailing on the motion vs. detriment that would result from losing the motion.
- ○ Probability of success on the motion.
- ○ Whether the relief sought can be obtained by stipulation rather than by motion.
- ○ Whether other motions have been filed, and if so, whether numerous motions will create an unfavorable impression with the judge.
- ○ The likely financial costs of making the motion.
- ○ Any preliminary procedures required by the Federal Rules, local rules, or individual judge's rules that must be followed prior to filing the motion.

☐ If making noticed motion, first review and comply with all procedural prerequisites under district court rules and individual judge's rules (e.g., "meet and confer" requirements).

Discussion:
See § 26.14, 26.15

☐ Review applicable timing requirements for filing and serving motions under Federal Rules of Civil Procedure and local district court rules (also addressed in Checklist at 26.12[3]).

Discussion:
See § 26.23

☐ If chosen motion date is important, call judge's courtroom deputy to make sure courtroom is not dark on date (e.g., because of judge's planned vacation).

26.12[2] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion Papers.

☐ Combine motion and notice of motion in a single paper, unless local rules direct otherwise.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1); ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(2); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)

Discussion:
See § 26.17

☐ Make sure that format of heading and caption comply with local rule requirements.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7, 10, 84

Discussion:
See § 26.18[1]

☐ Prepare notice of motion and motion so that it provides notice to the court and to the parties of:

○ Relief sought.

○ Date and time when the motion will be heard, often referred to as the return date of the motion.

○ Where the motion will be heard.

○ The statute or rule, if any, on which the motion is predicated.

○ The papers that are submitted in support of the motion, including titles and dates of supporting papers.

Warning:
A motion must state the grounds on which it is made.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1); CD Cal Civ LR 7-4; ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(3)

Discussion:
See § 26.16

☐ Have notice of motion and motion signed by at least one attorney of record in attorney's individual name, and include signer's address, e-mail address, and telephone number in signature block.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 11(a)

Discussion:
See § 26.18[3]

☐ Understand Rule 11 implications of signature:

○ Signature certifies that to the best of the signer's knowledge, information, and belief, formed after reasonable inquiry, that document is not being presented for improper purpose and has basis in law and fact.

○ Sanctions (monetary and non-monetary) may be imposed on attorney if motion is later found to have been brought in bad faith.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 11(b), (c)

Discussion:
See § 26.18[3]

☐ Prepare memorandum of law, which should include:

○ Statement of the issues presented.

○ Statement of the facts.

○ Legal argument applying controlling law to facts.

○ Table of contents and table of authorities.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 7-5; ED Cal Civ LR 230(b); ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(4), 7-4(a); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)

Discussion:
See § 26.20

Warning:

Local rules may require supporting points and authorities to be included in the same document as the notice of motion and motion [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4].

☐ If desired, prepare sworn affidavits or declarations under penalty of perjury in support of motion.

Authority:
28 USC § 1746; Fed R Civ P 6(d), 43(e), 56(e), 78; CD Cal Civ LR 7-7, 7-8; ED Cal Gen LR 101, 133(g), 142; ED Cal Civ LR 230(h); ND Cal Civ LR 7-5(a), (b); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)

Discussion:
See § 26.21

☐ Prepare other supporting documentary evidence in support of motion.

○ Supporting documents may include such items as depositions, responses to written discovery, transcripts from other proceedings, and stipulations.

○ Authenticate supporting documents by affidavit or declaration of an individual having first-hand knowledge of the documents.

○ Attach supporting documents as an exhibit to the authenticated affidavit or affidavit substitute.

○ Label with an exhibit tab.

Discussion:
See § 26.22

26.12[3] CHECKLIST: Filing and Serving Motion Papers.

☐ Timing: Ensure that noticed motion is timely filed and served:

○ Ascertain minimal advance notice requirements under local rules, generally at least 21 days before hearing date.

○ Ascertain minimal advance notice requirements under Federal Rules, generally at least five days before hearing date, unless otherwise provided in court order or federal rule.

Warning:
Although you should be familiar with the notice period required by the Federal Rules for your specific motion, local court rules typically require a longer notice period than the Federal Rules, and are the source of the timing [compare, e.g., Fed R Civ P 6(c)(1) (14 days) with CD Cal Civ LR 6-1 (28 days)]. District courts enforce the local rules as to timing requirements, not the federal rules. The importance of reviewing the local court rules in this area cannot be overstated [see 26.23].

○ Consult district court rules to determine when motion actually must be filed:

☐ Local district court rules typically extend notice period beyond what would be required under Federal Rules.

☐ Each district court in California has different rules in this area.

☐ If you wish to shorten or increase the notice period required under district court rules, review district court rules for applicable procedures, discussed below.

○ Apply Rule 6's calculation rules to notice period:

☐ Day on which the moving papers are served should not be included toward the minimum advance notice requirement, but the last day should be included.

☐ If the last day of the notice period falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, or day when the court is inaccessible due to weather or other conditions, the notice period is extended until the next court day.

☐ If the notice period is less than 11 days, intervening Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays are excluded.

☐ If service is made by any of the following methods, the time to respond is extended by three days:

○ Service by mail.

○ Service to the clerk of the court based on no known address.

○ Electronic or other means of service consented to in writing under Rule 5(b)(2)(E) or (F).

○ Consult both district court rules and individual judge's rules to determine how and when to have motion placed on court's calendar.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5, 6

☐ If continuance of hearing date will be needed, consult applicable district court rules.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 7-11, 7-16; ED Cal Gen LR 144; ND Cal Civ LR 6-1(a), 7-3, 7-7; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(g)

Discussion:
See § 26.18

☐ If seeking expedited hearing date:

- ○ Make an ex parte application for cause shown.
- ○ Consider a pre-motion conference when prompt or immediate court intervention is necessary.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 6(c); CD Cal Civ LR 6-1, 7-1, 7-11, 52-4.1; ED Cal Gen LR 144(e); ND Cal Civ LR 6-1(b), 6-2, 6-3; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.5)

Discussion:
See § 26.25

☐ If seeking to extend or enlarge the time for a motion:

- ○ Check Federal Rules and local rules to see if extension is allowed.
- ○ Note that some time limitations may not be extended by the court:
  - ☐ Motions for judgment as a matter of law under Rule 50(b).
  - ☐ Motions to amend or expand the court's findings under Rule 52(b).
  - ☐ Motions for new trial under Rule 59(b), (d).
  - ☐ Motions to alter or amend judgments under Rule 59(e).
  - ☐ Motions for relief from judgment under Rule 60(b).
- ○ If a request to enlarge time is available and is made prior to the expiration of the period originally prescribed or as extended by previous order, the court may grant the request without motion or notice.
- ○ If a request to enlarge time is made after the expiration of the specified period:
  - ☐ Request must be by motion.
  - ☐ Motion may be granted in the court's discretion if the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 6(b); ED Cal Gen LR 144; ND Cal Civ LR 6-3

Discussion:
See § 26.35

☐ Serve motion papers:

○ Serve all parties, except for parties in default for failing to appear.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5

Discussion:
See § 26.27

○ Serve motion papers on the attorney of a represented party, unless direct service on the party is ordered by the court.

○ Serve motion papers directly on all parties not represented by counsel.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(b)

Discussion:
See § 26.28

○ Serve motion papers by any of the following methods:

☐ Hand delivering a copy to the person being served.

☐ Leaving a copy at the person's office with a clerk or other person in charge:

○ If there is no one in charge, leaving a copy in a conspicuous place in the office [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(B)(i)].

○ If the office is closed or there is no office, leaving a copy at the person's dwelling house or usual place of abode with someone of suitable age and discretion residing there [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(B)(ii)].

☐ Mailing a copy to the last known address of the person served.

☐ Leaving a copy with the clerk of the court if the person served has no known address.

☐ Delivering a copy by any other means, including electronically, as consented to in writing by the person being served.

☐ Delivering a copy through the court's transmission service with written consent of the person being served, and pursuant to local rule authorizing such service.

○ Ascertain when service will be considered complete:

☐ Service by hand delivery or delivery to person's office is effective on delivery.

☐ Service by mail is complete on mailing.

☐ Service by electronic means is complete on transmission.

Warning:

Service by electronic means is not effective if the party making service learns that the attempted service did not reach the person to be served.

☐ Service by other consented means under Rule 5(b)(2)(F) is complete when the person making service delivers the copy to the agency designated to make delivery.

○ Service by any of the following methods extends the time to respond by three days:

☐ Service by mail.

☐ Service to the clerk of the court based on no known address.

☐ Electronic or other means of service consented to in writing under Rule 5(b)(2)(E) or (F).

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(b), 6(d)

Discussion:
See § 26.29

☐ Prepare certificate of service with the court for each motion that is required to be served:

○ Include date of service.

○ Include explicit certification by the serving party that service was made.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(d)

Discussion:
See § 26.30

☐ Review district court's electronic filing policy, and ascertain whether motion papers will be filed electronically.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(d)(3); CD Cal Civ LR 5-4; ED Cal Gen LR 133; ND Cal Civ LR 5-4; ND Cal Gen Order 45; SD Cal Civ LR 5.3

Discussion:
See § 26.32

☐ File motion papers with the court, within a reasonable time after service.

Warning:
Be sure that filing complies with timing requirements under local rules, as noted above.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(d)

Discussion:
See § 26.31

☐ Include certificate of service with filing.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(d)

Discussion:
See § 26.30

☐ Ascertain and comply with requirements for courtesy copies.

○ Consult individual judge's rules.

○ If courtesy copies are to be filed, they should be filed with the clerk and contemporaneously delivered to chambers.

Discussion:
See § 26.33

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.13

26.13 Options and Strategy for Noticed Motions.

Before making a noticed motion, the party seeking relief should consider the following:

- The potential benefit from prevailing on the motion
- The potential damage from not making, or from losing the motion.
- The probability of success on the motion.
- Whether the relief sought can be obtained by stipulation rather than by motion [see 26.08, 26.09].
- Whether other motions have been filed, and if so, whether numerous motions will create an unfavorable impression with the judge.
- The likely financial costs of making the motion.
- Any preliminary procedures required by the Federal Rules, local rules, or individual judge's rules that must be followed prior to filing the motion.

15 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.14

26.14 Moving Party Must Comply With Pre-Motion Procedures.

Before filing a motion, the party seeking relief must comply with any preliminary procedures required by the Federal Rules, local rules, or individual judge's rules.

Example:

Before filing a motion for an order compelling disclosure or discovery, the movant must in good faith confer or attempt to confer with the party not making the disclosure in an effort to secure the disclosure without court action [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(1); CD Cal Civ LR 7-3].

Warning:

Some judges by standing order require leave to file certain motions, such as discovery motions or motions to dismiss prior to the Case Management Conference. Check individual judge's rules.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMotions to CompelGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

16 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.15

26.15 LOCAL PRACTICE: Preliminary "Meet and Confer" Requirements Under Local Rules.

26.15[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. In all cases not listed as exempt in CD Cal Civ LR 16-12, and except in connection with discovery motions and applications for temporary restraining orders or preliminary injunctions, counsel contemplating the filing of any motion must first contact opposing counsel to discuss thoroughly, preferably in person, the substance of the contemplated motion and any potential resolution [CD Cal Civ LR 7-3].

Timing:

If the proposed motion must be filed within a specified period of time under the Federal Rules (e.g., a Rule 12(b) motion within 20 days of service of summons and complaint or Rule 59(a) motion within 10 days of entry of judgment), then the conference must take place at least 5 days prior to the last day for filing the motion. Otherwise, the conference must take place at least ten days prior to the filing of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 7-3].

If the parties are unable to reach a resolution that eliminates the necessity for a hearing, counsel for the moving party must include in the notice of motion a statement to the following effect: "This motion is made following the conference of counsel pursuant to L.R. 7-3 which took place on _____ [date]" [CD Cal Civ LR 7-3].

Separate meet-and-confer requirements apply with respect to discovery motions [see CD Cal Civ LR 37-1].

Cross References:

Discussion of meet-and-confer requirements for discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, 22.17 and Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, § 25.04.

26.15[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The Eastern District local rules set forth meet-and-confer requirements for discovery motions [see ED Cal Civ LR 251(b)], but otherwise do not require the parties to meet and confer prior to making noticed motions.

Cross References:

Discussion of meet-and-confer requirements for discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, § 22.17 and Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, § 25.04.

26.15[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The Northern District local rules do not set forth meet-and-confer requirements for noticed motions. However, under the Federal Rules, motions to compel discovery or Rule 26 disclosure are subject to a meet-and-confer requirement [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(1)].

Cross References:

Discussion of meet-and-confer requirements for discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.17 and Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.04.

26.15[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The Southern District local rules set forth meet-and-confer requirements for discovery motions [see SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(a)], but otherwise do not require the parties to meet and confer prior to making noticed motions.

Cross References:

Discussion of meet-and-confer requirements for discovery motions, see Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion, see § 22.17 and Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.04.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.16

26.16 Notice of Motion Is Essential Element of Motion Papers.

26.16[1] Notice of Motion Functions to Inform Court and Parties. The notice of motion serves to provide notice to the court and to the parties of [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)]:

- Relief sought.
- Date and time when the motion will be heard, often referred to as the "return date" of the motion.
- Where the motion will be heard.
- The statute or rule, if any, on which the motion is predicated.
- The grounds on which the motion is made.
- The papers that are submitted in support of the motion.

26.16[2] Notice of Motion Must Specify Relief Sought. A notice of motion must set forth the relief or order sought [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)(C); see also Monforton v. United States (9th Cir 1995) 1995 US App LEXIS 14656, at *2-*3 (unpublished opinion; generally not citable to court under 9th Cir R 36-3)].

Warning:

The relief requested should be tailored to the facts of the motion and should not be stated too broadly or the movant will risk denial of the motion. The papers submitted in support of the motion must justify the relief.

Cross Reference:

Form, see 26.56.

26.16[3] Motion Must State Its Grounds With Particularity. A written motion must state with particularity the grounds on which the motion is made [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)(B)]. Though appropriate, the motion does not need to contain a citation to a rule of civil procedure [Monforton v. United States (9th Cir 1995) 1995 US App LEXIS 14656, at *2-*3 (unpublished opinion; generally not citable to court under 9th Cir R 36-3)].

26.16[4] Individual Judges' Rules May Have Additional Requirements for Notice of Motion. Counsel must check individual judges' rules. For example, some judges will not permit oral argument of a motion unless oral argument is requested either in the notice of motion or in the opposing papers.

26.16[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Content of Notice of Motion.

26.16[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The notice of motion must contain a concise statement of the relief or court action the movant seeks [CD Cal Civ LR 7-4].

26.16[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The ED Cal has no specific local rule on specifying the relief sought in the notice of motion.

26.16[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The motion document must contain a concise statement, in the second paragraph, of what relief or court action the movant seeks [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(3)].

26.16[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The SD Cal has no specific local rule on specifying the relief sought in the notice of motion.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

18 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.17

26.17 Moving Party May Combine Motion and Notice of Motion in One Paper.

26.17[1] Federal Rules Permit Combination Motion and Notice of Motion. Under the Federal Rules, the motion and notice of motion may be combined in one paper [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)].

26.17[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Combining Motion and Notice of Motion.

26.17[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The CD Cal has no specific local rule governing combining the motion and notice of motion.

Strategic Point:

In the Central District, the easiest way to do this is to attach the motion and notice of motion to the memorandum of law. The motion and notice of motion are numbered using Roman numerals (i, ii, iii), and the memorandum of law is numbered using Arabic numerals (1, 2, 3).

26.17[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The ED Cal has no specific local rule governing combining the motion and notice of motion.

26.17[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. In one filed document not exceeding 25 pages, the motion must contain notice of the motion, including the date and time of the hearing. This must appear in the first paragraph [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(2)].

Warning:

Rule-bending motion practice is unacceptable. Do not attempt to evade the 25-page limit by filing multiple "motions" that could have been combined into one. For example, within one day of each other, a counterdefendant filed three separate "motions" challenging different causes of action in the same counterclaim. The three motions totaled 58 pages. Although the court declined to impose sanctions, the counterdefendant was cautioned not to engage in that practice again [Burger v. Kuimelis (ND Cal 2004)

325 F Supp2d 1026, 1030-1031].

26.17[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Each motion or other request for ruling by the court must be accompanied by a separate motion and notice of motion, along with another separate document captioned "Memorandum of Points and Authorities in support of [the motion]." In addition, when appropriate, a separate statement of material facts must be supplied [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)].

Strategic Point:

In the Southern District, the customary way to do this is to group the motion and notice of motion together in one document that is separate from other documents (e.g., points and authorities, exhibits).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.18

26.18 Formatting Motion Papers.

26.18[1] Motion Papers Must Be Properly Formatted. Motion papers must be formatted in the same manner as pleadings. A motion paper must contain a caption setting forth [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(2), 10(a)]:

- Name of the court.
- Title of the action.
- Docket number.
- Designation as to nature of the motion.

A heading is also required, setting forth the name of the attorney, bar number, office address, telephone number and fax, and the party being represented [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(a); ED Cal Gen LR 131(a); ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(1); SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.1)].

Warning:

Consult local rules, as each district may have additional requirements, as to formatting motions and supporting papers [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 11-3; ED Cal Gen LR 130, 131; ND Cal Civ LR 3-4, 7-2; SD Cal Civ LR 5.1, 7.1]. For example, the Central and Northern Districts also require the attorney's e-mail address [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(a); ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(1)]. The Central District requires the bar number and jurisdiction where the attorney is admitted to practice, when the attorney is a registered legal service attorney appearing pursuant to CD Cal Civ LR 83-2.3.5 [CD Cal Civ. LR 11-3.8(a)].

Cross References:

Local rules on formatting motions and other papers, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.03 -5.14. Forms, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.32 -5.43.

26.18[2] Clerk May Not Reject Improperly Formatted Papers. The clerk may not refuse to file a motion solely because it is not presented in proper form as required by the Federal Rules or by any local rule or practice [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(4), 83(a)(2), (b)]. Fed R Civ P 5(e) mandates that the clerk accept such documents despite a technical violation [McClellon v. Lone Star Gas Co. (5th Cir 1995) 66 F3d 98, 101 ; Dielsi v. Falk (CD Cal 1996) 916 F Supp 985, 990].

Judge's Perspective:

In spite of the dictates of Rule 5, courts may differ, based on local practice and local rules, on the format of papers they will accept for filing. Clerks generally are somewhat flexible as to the format of documents, but the clerk and the court nonetheless can be empowered to reject nonconforming motions [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-4].

26.18[3] Motion Papers Must Contain Signature, Address, and Telephone Number. Written motions must be signed in accordance with Rule 11 [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(3), 11]. Under Rule 11, every written motion and other paper must be signed by at least one attorney of record in the attorney's individual name, or by the moving party personally if not represented by an attorney [Giebelhaus v. Spindrift Yachts (9th Cir 1991) 938 F2d 962, 966]. If applicable, the signature block must also state the signer's address, e-mail address, and telephone number [Fed R Civ P 11(a)].

The signature on a motion and other signed papers presented to the court certifies among other things, that to the best of the signer's knowledge, information, and belief, formed after a reasonable inquiry, that the document is not being presented for any improper purpose and that it has a basis in law and in fact [Fed R Civ P 11(b)].

Motion papers not properly signed will be stricken unless remedied as soon as called to the attention of counsel or the pro se litigant [Fed R Civ P 11(a)]. A violation of Rule 11 by the responsible attorney or party is sanctionable [Fed R Civ P 11(c)].

A district court, by local rule, may permit or require pleadings, motions, and other papers to be filed, signed, or verified by electronic means [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(3)].

Warning:

Consult local rules, as each district may have additional requirements, as to signatures and signature blocks [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 11-1, 83-2.5.2; ED Cal Gen LR 131; ND Cal Civ LR 3-4; SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j)]. Consult local rules regarding electronic or facsimile signatures [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 11-2; ED Cal Gen LR 131; ND Cal Civ LR 5-4; ND Cal Gen Order 45; SD Cal Civ LR 5.3(d); SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 2(f)].

Cross References:

Local rules on signatures and signature blocks, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.10. Signature block forms, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.33. Discussion of Rule 11 sanctions, see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

LexisNexis®

20 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.19

26.19 Motion Must Be Accompanied by Supporting Papers.

26.19[1] Federal Rules Do Not Specify Papers Required in Support of Motion. The Federal Rules require notice of the hearing on the motion to be provided to all parties [see Fed R Civ P 5(a)], but otherwise do not specify the papers required in support of a motion. Consult local rules for the papers required to be submitted in support of a motion or opposition to a motion [see 26.19[3]].

In general, a party's moving papers must consist of the following:

- Notice of motion [see 26.16].
- Memorandum of law [see 26.20]
- Supporting affidavits or affidavit substitutes [see 26.21].
- Supporting evidence attached to the moving papers as exhibits [see 26.22].

26.19[2] Notice of Motion Should List Supporting Papers. The notice of motion should list the papers that are submitted in support of the motion. The list should include the title and date of the supporting papers.

Cross Reference:

Form, see 26.56.

26.19[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Papers Required in Support of Motion.

26.19[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The notice of motion must be served and filed with a brief but complete memorandum in support of the motion and the points and authorities on which the moving party will rely, along with the evidence on which the moving party will rely in support of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 7-5].

Warning:

The court may decline to consider any memorandum or any other paper not filed within the deadline set by order or local rule. Failure to file any paper required in support of a motion, or failure to file it within the deadline, may be deemed consent to the denial of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 7-12].

26.19[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The moving party must file with the clerk a notice of motion, motion, accompanying briefs, affidavits, if appropriate, and copies of all documentary evidence that the moving party intends to submit in support of the motion [ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)].

Warning:

Motions defectively noticed will not be set for hearing. On the filing of a defectively noticed motion, the clerk will immediately notify the moving party of the defective notice and of the next available dates and times for proper notice. The moving party must then file and serve a new notice of motion setting forth a proper time and date [ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)].

26.19[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Except as otherwise ordered or permitted by the assigned judge or the local rules, and except for motions made during the course of a trial or hearing, all motions must be filed, served, and noticed in writing on the motion calendar of the assigned judge for hearing not less than 35 days after service of the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(a)].

Each motion must be accompanied by affidavits or declarations pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 7-5 [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(d)].

Note that Northern District rules require supporting points and authorities to be included in the same document as the notice of motion and motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4].

26.19[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Each motion or other request for ruling by the court must be accompanied by a separate motion and notice of motion and another separate document captioned "Memorandum of Points and Authorities in support of [the motion]." Where appropriate, a separate statement of material facts must be supplied [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)].

In addition to the affidavits required or permitted by Fed R Civ P 6(d) and 56, copies of all documentary evidence that the movant intends to submit in support of the motion, or other request for ruling by the court, must be served and filed with the notice of motion [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.2.a)].

Warning:

A movant's failure to file papers required under the local rules may be deemed as a waiver of the motion [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.2.b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.20

26.20 Preparing Memorandum of Law.

26.20[1] Purpose of Memorandum of Law. The Federal Rules do not require the filing of a memorandum of law, but local rules generally do. A memorandum of law would generally include:

- Statement of the issues presented.
- Statement of the facts.
- Legal argument applying controlling law to facts.
- Table of contents and table of authorities.

26.20[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Memorandum of Law.

26.20[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The notice of motion must be served and filed with a brief but complete memorandum in support and the points and authorities on which the moving party may rely, along with the evidence on which the moving party will rely in support of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 7-5].

26.20[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The moving party must file with the clerk a notice of motion, motion, accompanying briefs, affidavits, if appropriate, and copies of all documentary evidence that the moving party intends to submit in support of the motion [ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)].

26.20[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. In one filed document not exceeding 25 pages, a motion must contain, directly following the notice of motion and a concise statement of what relief or court action the movant seeks, the points and authorities in support of the motion in compliance with ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(a) [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)].

In addition to complying with the applicable provisions of ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a), a brief or memorandum of points and authorities filed in support, opposition, or reply to a motion must contain [ND Cal Civ LR 7-4]:

- On the first page of the space opposite the caption and below the case number, the noticed hearing date and time;
- If in excess of 10 pages, a table of contents and a table of authorities;
- A statement of the issues to be decided;
- A succinct statement of the relevant facts; and
- Argument by the party, citing pertinent authorities.

26.20[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Each motion of other request for ruling by the court must be accompanied by a separate motion and notice of motion and another separate document captioned "Memorandum of Points and Authorities in support of [the motion]." When appropriate, a separate statement of material facts must be supplied [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)].

Cross Reference:

Submitting evidence in support of motion, see § 26.22.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.21

26.21 Preparing Supporting Affidavits or Affidavit Substitutes.

26.21[1] Purpose of Supporting Affidavits. Affidavits in support of a motion should set forth the evidence demonstrating the need for the relief sought. Affidavits, together with a supporting memorandum of law, often serve as the sole basis for the court's ruling [see Fed R Civ P 78].

Supporting affidavits should address each of the factors for the relief sought, and should be as detailed as possible. Every affidavit should explain the basis for the affiant's knowledge, and should give sufficient personal information to make the affiant credible as a person. It is helpful to present the information to the court in the same fashion as if the affiant were testifying on the witness stand.

Warning:

It is important that affidavits be concise, as the papers may be read hurriedly. They should be well organized, with headings and indices that will assist the court in understanding the facts justifying the relief. All relevant documents should be submitted as exhibits and exhibit tabs should be used to assist the judge in reading the papers.

26.21[2] Affidavit Substitutes. In lieu of an affidavit, which must be sworn before a notary public or other person empowered to administer oaths, a motion may be supported by an unsworn declaration, certificate, verification, or statement, subscribed as true under penalty of perjury, and dated [Park v. Oxford Univ. (ND Cal 1997) 35 F Supp2d 1165, 1166 , aff'd without opinion, 165 F3d 917 (9th Cir 1998)]. It should take substantially the following form [28 USC § 1746]:

- If executed within the United States, its territories, possessions, or commonwealths: "I declare (or certify, verify, or state) under penalty of perjury that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on _____ [date]. _____ [signature]."

- If executed outside the United States: "I declare (or certify, verify, or state) under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States of America that the foregoing is true and correct. Executed on _____ [date]. _____ [signature]."

26.21[3] Affidavits May Not Be Served Separately From Motion. If a motion is supported by affidavits or affidavit substitutes, the affidavits or substitutes must be served together with the motion [Fed R Civ P 6(c)(2)].

26.21[4] Affidavit Requirements. Affidavits must [see, e.g., Fed R Civ P 56(e)(1)]:

- Be made on personal knowledge.
- Set forth facts admissible in evidence.
- Show that the affiant is competent to testify to the matters stated in the affidavit.

26.21[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Affidavits or Affidavit Substitutes.

26.21[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Declarations must contain only factual, evidentiary matter and must conform as far as possible to the requirements of Fed R Civ P 56(e) [CD Cal Civ LR 7-7].

Cross Reference:

Rule 56(e) requirements, see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, see § 29.11[3].

Factual contentions involved in any motion and opposition to motions must be presented, heard, and determined on declarations and other written evidence (including documents, photographs, deposition excerpt, etc.) alone, except that the court may, in its discretion, require or allow oral examination of any declarant or any other witness [CD Cal Civ LR 7-6].

On motions and for orders to show cause re preliminary injunctions, motions to be relieved from default and other motions where an issue of fact is to be determined (e.g., civil contempt, but excluding motions contesting venue and personal jurisdiction), not later than 14 days prior to the hearing, a party desiring to cross-examine any declarant who is not beyond the subpoena power of the court and who is reasonably available to the party offering the declaration may serve by hand (or facsimile) and file a notice of request to cross-examine the declarant. If the party offering the declaration disputes that the declarant is within the subpoena power of the court and reasonably available to the offering party, such party must serve and file an objection to the notice of request to cross-examine not later than 11 days prior to the hearing. The offering party will be under no obligation to produce the declaration unless the court has granted the request to cross-examine by written order not later than three days prior to the hearing. No declaration of a declarant with respect to whom such a request has been granted will be considered unless such declarant is personally present and available at the hearing for such cross-examination as the court may permit. The court may, in the alternative, order that the cross-examination be done by deposition taken on two days' notice with the transcript being lodged five days prior to the hearing. The court may impose sanctions pursuant to the local rules against any party or counsel who requests the presence of any declarant without a good-faith intention to cross-examine the declarant [CD Cal Civ LR 7-8].

26.21[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. An affidavit includes a declaration prepared in accordance with federal law [ED Cal Gen LR 101; see 28 USC § 1746].

An affidavit submitted in support of any motion must [ED Cal Gen LR 142(a)]:

- Identify the affiant, the party or parties on whose behalf it is submitted, and the motion to which it pertains [see ED Cal Gen LR 133(h)];
- Be served on all other parties and filed with the motion, opposition, or reply to which it relates, unless accompanied by an affidavit of counsel purporting to show good cause for the separate filing of it;

and

- Identify and attach documents and exhibits offered in support of or in opposition to the motion, unless such documents and exhibits are already in the record and specifically referred to in the motion or opposition.

When deposition testimony is referenced in or appended to an affidavit, the party filing the affidavit must ensure that a courtesy hard copy of the original of the entire deposition has been submitted to the clerk for use in chambers. Alternatively, counsel may submit an electronic copy of the deposition in lieu of the courtesy paper copy to the e-mail box of the judge or magistrate judge and concurrently e-mail or otherwise transmit the deposition to all other parties [ED Cal Gen LR 133(j), 142(b)].

Factual contentions involved in pretrial motions must be initially presented and heard on affidavits, except that the court may in its discretion require or allow oral examinations of witnesses [ED Cal Civ LR 230(h); see ED Cal Gen LR 142].

Unless otherwise permitted or required by local rule, an affidavit filed by an attorney must be submitted in electronic format [ED Cal Gen LR 138(c)(1)].

26.21[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Factual contentions made in support of or in opposition to any motion must be supported by an affidavit or declaration and by appropriate references to the record. Extracts from depositions, interrogatory answers, requests for admission, and other evidentiary matters must be appropriately authenticated by an affidavit or declaration [ND Cal Civ LR 7-5(a)].

An affidavit or declaration may contain only facts, must conform as much as possible to the requirements of Fed R Civ P 56(e), and must avoid conclusions and argument. Any statement made on information or belief must specify the basis of the statement. An affidavit or declaration not in compliance with the local rule may be stricken in whole or in part [ND Cal Civ LR 7-5(b)].

26.21[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. In addition to the affidavits required or permitted by Fed R Civ P 6(c) and 56, copies of all documentary evidence which the movant intends to submit in support of the motion, or other request for ruling by the court, must be served and filed with the notice of motion [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.2.a)].

Cross References:

Form of declaration, see § 26.57.

Affidavit in support of or in opposition to motion, see 1 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 7:200 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsAffidavitsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

23 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.22

26.22 Submitting Evidence in Support of Motion.

Documents, such as deposition transcripts, responses to written discovery, transcripts from other proceedings, stipulations, and other documentary evidence such as photographs may be submitted in support of a motion if they are authenticated by an affidavit or affidavit substitute of an individual having first-hand knowledge of the documents [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-6]. The documents should be attached as an exhibit to the authenticated affidavit or affidavit substitute, and should be clearly labeled with an exhibit tab.

Facts established by supporting affidavits and documents may be supplemented with judicially noticed facts [see Banco de Espana v. Federal Reserve Bank (SDNY 1939) 28 F Supp 958, 973 , aff'd, 114 F2d 438 (2d Cir 1940)].

Cross References:

Discussion of affidavits, see § 26.21. Formatting exhibits, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.12.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsAffidavitsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

24 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.23

26.23 Timing of Notice, Service, and Filing.

26.23[1] Minimum Five-Day Notice Requirement Under Federal Rules Has Important Exceptions. Under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, a written motion and notice of the hearing of the motion generally must be served at least 14 days before the hearing date [Fed R Civ P 6(c)(1)].

Warning:

Although you should be familiar with the notice period required by the Federal Rules for your specific motion, local court rules typically require a longer notice period than the Federal Rules, and are the source of the timing [compare, e.g., Fed R Civ P 6(c)(1) (14 days) with CD Cal Civ LR 6-1 (28 days)]. District courts enforce the local rules as to timing requirements, not the federal rules. The importance of reviewing the local court rules in this area cannot be overstated.

Exception--Rule Providing Different Notice Period:

The 14-day notice period does not apply when another Federal Rule of Civil Procedure provides the applicable time period [Fed R Civ P 6(c)(1)(B)]. Examples include:

- Two days' notice, or shorter notice as the court may prescribe, may be given to the adverse party by a party attempting to dissolve a temporary restraining order that had been granted without notice to the moving party [Fed R Civ P 65(b)].

- A motion to obtain a default judgment against a party who has appeared in the action must be served on the opposing party at least seven days prior to the hearing on the motion [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)].

- A motion to compel discovery must be made on "reasonable notice" to other parties and all persons affected by the motion [Fed R Civ P 37(a)].

- A motion to serve supplemental pleadings must be made on "reasonable notice" and "just terms" [

Fed R Civ P 15(d)].

Exception--Court Order Providing Different Notice Period:

The 14-day period does not apply when a court order sets a different time [Fed R Civ P 6(c)(1)(C)].

Strategic Point:

A party may, for good cause, apply ex parte for a court order providing a different time period [Fed R Civ P 6(c)(1)(C)].

Exception-Local Rules Providing Different Notice Period:

Local rules generally extend the notice required for motions beyond the five days provided in Rule 6(c) [see 26.23[2]].

Warning:

Be sure to check local rules and individual judge's rules to ascertain the timing requirements for filing and service of motions. These requirements can vary from district to district, and from judge to judge. Also, note that computation of the notice period must take into account the Federal Rules' day-counting provisions [see 26.23[3]].

Cross References:

For discussion of the uncertainty stemming from the elimination of the minimum notice requirement in Rule 56(c), see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[2][c] -[e] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

26.23[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Timing Rules for Noticed Motions.

26.23[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The notice of motion must be filed with the Clerk not later than 28 days before the date set for hearing, and must be served on each of the parties electronically or, if excepted from electronic filing, either by deposit in the mail or by personal service [CD Cal Civ LR 6-1].

If mailed, the notice of motion must be served not later than 31 days before the Motion Day designated in the notice [CD Cal Civ LR 6-1].

If served personally, or electronically, the notice of motion must be served not later than 28 days before the Motion Day designated in the notice. The Court may order a shorter time [CD Cal Civ LR 6-1].

The clerk will place the motion on the Motion Day calendar for hearing on the day for which the motion is noticed [CD Cal Civ LR 6-1].

Each Monday, commencing at 10:00 a.m. is a "Motion Day" on which motions will be heard unless set for another day or hour by order of the Court. If Monday is a national holiday, any motion noticed for that day will be considered noticed for the next succeeding motion calendar of the judge before whom the motion is calendared without special order or further notice [CD Cal Civ LR 78-1].

Warning:

Practitioners forget that, in the Central District, while service by hand must be accomplished 21 days before the hearing date, filing is permitted 20 days before the hearing date. The usual practice is to serve and file motions on the same day, but keep in mind that it is not absolutely necessary to do so.

26.23[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. A matter must be set for hearing on the motion calendar of the judge or magistrate judge to whom the action has been assigned or before whom the action has been assigned or before whom the motion is to be heard not less than 28 days after service and filing of the motion [ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)].

Motions defectively noticed will be filed, but not set for hearing. The clerk will immediately notify the moving party of the defective notice and of the next available dates and times for proper notice, and the moving party must file and serve a new notice of motion setting forth a proper time and date [ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)].

26.23[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Except as otherwise ordered or permitted by the assigned judge or the local rules, all motions must be filed, served, and noticed in writing on the motion calendar of the assigned judge for hearing not less than 35 days after service of the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(a)].

26.23[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. When there has been an adverse appearance, a written notice of matter requiring the court's ruling will be necessary, unless otherwise provided by rule or court order. All hearing dates for any motion must be obtained by the law clerk of the judge to whom the case is assigned [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1)].

Unless the court shortens time and except as otherwise specified in SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.6) (Social Security cases), any notice of motion, application, or notice of other matter requiring the court's ruling, plus all necessary supporting documents, will require a minimum filing date of 28 days before the date for which the matter is noticed [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1)].

Example:

The notice of motion and supporting documents for a motion to be heard on a Monday must be filed and served no later than the fourth Monday prior to the Monday hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1)]. If the fourth Monday before the hearing is a holiday, however, the notice of motion and supporting documents would be due five Fridays before the hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1)].

26.23[3] Day-Counting Rules for Computing Advance Notice Period.

26.23[3][a] Notice Period Must First Be Ascertained From Rules. Calculating the advance notice period for a noticed motion requires:

- Determining the advance notice period applicable to the specific motion by reference to the applicable federal rules, local district court rules, and individual judge's rules [see 26.23[1], [2]]; and

- Applying Rule 6's rules for computation of notice periods, discussed below.

26.23[3][b] Day on Which Moving Papers Served Is Not Included. In computing the advance notice requirements for motions, the day on which the moving papers are served should not be included toward the minimum advance notice requirement [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(1)(A)]. In computing the advance notice requirements for motions, the last day of the notice period is included, unless the last day is a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(1)(C)].

26.23[3][c] Notice Period Extended If Last Day Is on Weekend or Legal Holiday. If the last day of the notice period falls on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, the notice period continues to run until the end of the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday or legal holiday [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(1)(C)]. Legal holidays include New Year's Day, Birthday of Martin Luther King, Jr., Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Columbus Day, Veterans Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day, and any other day appointed as a holiday by the President or the Congress, or by the state in which the district court is held [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(6); see CCP § 135 (judicial holidays);

Gov Code § 6700 (state holidays); see also Dwyer v. Duffy (9th Cir 2005) 426 F3d 1041, 1044 (day after Thanksgiving is legal holiday under Fed R Bankr P 9006, which is modeled on Fed R Civ P 6)]. The "last day," for electronic filing means midnight at the court's time zone [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(4)(A)]. The "last day" for filing by other means is when the clerk's office is scheduled to close [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(4)(B)]. The "next day" is determined by continuing to count forward after the "event" (in this case, service of the complaint, or after the request for waiver was sent [see Fed R Civ P 6(a)(5)].

26.23[3][d] Three-Day Extension If Service by Specified Method. If service is made by any of the following methods, the time to respond is extended by three days [Fed R Civ P 6(d)]:

- Service by mail.
- Service to the clerk of the court based on no known address.
- Electronic or other means of service consented to in writing under Rule 5(b)(2) (E), or (F).

The three additional days are calendar days, and not business days [see, e.g., I UE AFL-CIO Pension Fund v. Herrmann (2d Cir 1993) 9 F3d 1049, 1054 , cert. denied, 513 US 822 (1994)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.24

26.24 Moving Party Must Review Court's Requirements for Setting Motion on Calendar.

Individual judges' rules generally govern the procedure for placing the motion on the judge's calendar. Some judges may hear motions on the same day and time once each week, and do not require permission before serving and filing the motion. Other judges may require the moving party to telephone chambers to schedule the motion.

Consider:

If it is important to have the motion heard on a particular date, call the judge's courtroom deputy to make sure the courtroom is not dark on that date (e.g., because of the judge's planned vacation).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.25

26.25 LOCAL PRACTICE: Continuing the Hearing of a Motion.

26.25[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Unless an order for continuance specifies otherwise, the entry of an order continuing the hearing of a motion automatically extends the time for filing and serving opposing papers and reply papers to 21 and 14 days, respectively, preceding the new hearing date. A stipulation to continue must provide the date the opposition and reply papers are due to be filed with the court [CD Cal Civ LR 7-11].

Cross References:

Requirements for stipulations in Central District, see § 26.09[2][a]. Motion for extension of time, see § 26.35.

26.25[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. All applications to the court for extensions of time must set forth the total period of extensions already obtained by the parties as to the particular matters for which the extension is sought [ED Cal Gen LR 144(b)].

The court may, in its discretion, grant an initial extension ex parte on the affidavit of counsel that a stipulation extending time cannot reasonably be obtained, explaining the reasons why the stipulation cannot be obtained and the reasons why the extension is necessary. Except for one initial extension, ex parte applications for extension of time will not ordinarily be granted [ED Cal Gen LR 144(c)].

Counsel must seek to obtain a necessary extension from the court or from other counsel or parties in the action as soon as the need for an extension becomes apparent [ED Cal Gen LR 144(d)].

Cross Reference:

Motion for extension of time, see § 26.35.

26.25[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Counsel are responsible for being informed of the hearing date on a motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-7(c)].

Except for cases in which the court has issued a temporary restraining order, a party who has filed a motion may file a notice continuing the originally noticed hearing date for that motion to a later date if [ND Cal Civ LR 7-7(a)]:

- No opposition has been filed; and
- The notice of continuance is filed prior to the date on which the opposition is due pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(a).

After an opposition to a motion has been filed, the noticed hearing date may be continued to a subsequent date as follows [ND Cal Civ LR 7-7(b)]:

- When the parties affected by the motion have not previously stipulated to continue the hearing date, unless the hearing date has been specially set by the judge, the parties affected by the motion may stipulate in writing pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 6-1(a) to continue the hearing date; or
- On the assigned judge's order:
  - On the court's own motion; or
  - To permit a party time to respond to summary judgment papers [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-7(b)(2)(B) (referencing former version of Fed R Civ P 56 and ND Cal Civ LR 56-1)].

Unless the order for continuance specifies otherwise, the entry of an order continuing the hearing of a motion automatically extends the time for filing and serving opposing papers or reply papers to 21 and 14 days, respectively, preceding the new hearing date, unless the date for filing the papers has already passed prior to the date of the order for continuance [ND Cal Civ LR 7-7(d)].

Cross References:

Motion for extension of time, see § 26.35.

26.25[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Any request for continuance of a noticed matter must be made as soon as possible to the judge to whom the matter is assigned. Prior to seeking the continuance, the party must contact all opposing parties or their counsel to determine whether they would agree to the continuance [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(g.2)].

Cross Reference:

Motion for extension of time, see § 26.35.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersContinuancesGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.26

26.26 Shortening Notice Period.

26.26[1] Federal Rule Allows Court to Shorten Advance Notice Otherwise Required. The court may shorten the advance notice otherwise required for a motion. Such an order may be made on ex parte application, on a showing of good cause [Fed R Civ P 6(c)(1)(C)]. If the parties can reach an agreement on shortening the notice period, parties may shorten the notice period by stipulation.

Cross References:

Stipulations, see §§ 26.08, 26.09. Ex parte relief, see §§ 26.10, 26.11. Timing of notice, serving, and filing, see § 26.23. Form, see § 26.59.

26.26[2] Consider Pre-Motion Conference When Prompt or Immediate Court Intervention Is Necessary. If prompt or immediate court intervention is necessary by reason of a discovery or other procedural dispute, counsel should consider the pre-motion conference as a substitute for the motion itself. Counsel writes a letter to the court, requesting an immediate pre-motion conference, setting forth the relief needed, and the arguments and facts in support. Because the request is for a conference to be held as soon as possible, the letter induces the opposing counsel to promptly respond with the facts and arguments in opposition. Some judges prefer a request for a telephone conference. In these cases, the request can be done over the telephone, such as in the middle of a deposition.

Warning:

The court's willingness to participate in any variety of informal procedures, such as telephone conferences, should be ascertained in advance of such issues arising. For example, in the Central District, unless the judge's local rules permit such action or unless the judge has invited it in comments to counsel from the bench, do not attempt to schedule an informal conference except in emergency circumstances and only if all parties' counsel consent.

26.26[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Shortening Notice Period.

26.26[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Any written stipulation affecting the progress of the case [CD Cal Civ LR 7-1]:

- Must be filed with the court;
- Must be accompanied by a separate order as provided in CD Cal Civ LR 52-4.1; and
- Will not be effective until approved by the judge, except as authorized by statute or the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

26.26[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Key provisions of the Eastern District Rules include the following:

Counsel's affidavit required. Applications to shorten time must set forth, by counsel's affidavit, the circumstances claimed to justify the issuance of an order shortening time [ED Cal Gen LR 144(e)].

Ex parte applications require additional showing. Ex parte applications to shorten time will not be granted except on counsel's affidavit showing a satisfactory explanation for the need for the issuance of such an order and for the failure of counsel to obtain a stipulation for the issuance of such an order from other counsel or parties in the action [ED Cal Gen LR 144(e)].

Stipulations require judicial approval. Stipulations for the issuance of an order shortening time require the approval of the judge or magistrate judge on whose calendar the matter is to be heard before such stipulations will be given effect [ED Cal Gen LR 144(e)].

Include blanks in order. Any proposed order shortening time must include blanks for the court to designate a time and date for the hearing and for the filing of any response to the motion [ED Cal Gen LR 144(e)].

26.26[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Key provisions of the Northern District Rules include the following:

When stipulation is permissible without court order. Parties may stipulate in writing, without a court order, to extend the time within which to answer or otherwise respond to the complaint, or to enlarge or shorten the time in matters not required to be filed or lodged with the court, provided the change will not alter the date of any event or any deadline already fixed by court order. The stipulation must be promptly filed pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 5-1 et seq. [ND Cal Civ LR 6-1(a)].

When court order is required to change time. A court order is required for any enlargement or shortening of time that alters an event or deadline already fixed by court order or that involves papers required to be filed or lodged with the court (other than an initial response to the complaint). A request for a court order enlarging or shortening time may be made by written stipulation pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 6-2 or by motion pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 6-3.

Timing:

Any stipulated request or motion that affects a hearing or proceeding on the court's calendar must be filed no later than 14 days before the scheduled event [ND Cal Civ LR 6-1(b)].

Format and content of stipulated request for changing time. The parties may file a stipulation, conforming to ND Cal Civ LR 7-12, requesting an order changing time that would affect the date of an event or deadline already fixed by court order, or that would accelerate or extend time frames set in the local rules or in the Federal Rules. The stipulated request must be accompanied by a declaration that [ND Cal Civ LR 6-2(a)]:

- Sets forth with particularity, the reasons for the requested enlargement or shortening of time;
- Discloses all previous time modifications in the case, whether by stipulation or court order; and
- Describes the effect the requested time modification would have on the schedule for the case.

Action by court on stipulated request. After receiving a stipulated request under ND Cal Civ LR 6-2, the judge may grant, deny, or modify the requested time change [ND Cal Civ LR 6-2(b)].

26.26[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. All applications for orders shortening time under the local rules must be submitted ex parte, be accompanied by a proposed order, and be served on all opposing parties [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.5)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

28 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.27

26.27 All Parties Except Defaulting Parties Must Be Served With Motion Papers.

All written motions, except for those to be heard ex parte, must be served on all parties to the action [Fed R Civ P 5(a); Lehman v. Kornblau (EDNY 2001) 206 FRD 345, 346-347 , aff'd, 2003 US App LEXIS 9809 (2d Cir 2003) , cert. denied, 540 US 1219 (2004) (rule does not apply to nonparties)]. Parties in default for failing to appear need not be served with motion papers [Fed R Civ P 5(a)(2)].

Supporting or opposing papers must be served with the written motions and must be served on each party [Fed R Civ P 5].

Warning:

It is imperative to consult local rules, because each district has additional requirements as to serving motions on parties [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 5-3, 5-4, 6-1; ED Cal Gen LR 135; ED Cal Civ LR 230; ND Cal Civ LR 7-1 et seq.; SD Cal Civ LR 5.1-7.1].

Cross Reference:

Detailed discussion of local rules on service of papers, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.15 -5.23.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

29 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.28

26.28 Serving Motion Papers on Attorney of Represented Party.

Service of motion papers must be made on the attorney of a represented party, unless direct service on the party is ordered by the court [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(1)]. Service must be made directly on all parties not represented by counsel [Fed R Civ P 5(b); McKinney v. Waterman S.S. Corp. (1st Cir 1991) 925 F2d 1, 5 ; cf. Irwin v. Department of Veterans Affairs (1990) 498 US 89, 93, 111 S Ct 453, 112 L Ed2d 435 (no material difference between service received by attorney or by attorney's office)].

Warning:

Consult local rules, as each district may have additional requirements, as to serving motion papers [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 5-3-5-4, 6-1; ED Cal Gen LR 135, ED Cal Civ LR 230; ND Cal Civ LR 7-1 et seq.; SD Cal Civ LR 5.1-7.1].

Cross Reference:

Local rules on serving written motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.18.

30 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.29

26.29 Manner of Serving Motion Papers.

Service of motion papers is made by any of the following methods [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)]:

- Hand delivering a copy to the person being served [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(A)].
- Leaving a copy at the person's office:
  - With a clerk or other person in charge, or if there is no one in charge, leaving a copy in a conspicuous place in the office [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(B)(i)].
  - If the office is closed or there is no office, leaving a copy at the person's dwelling house or usual place of abode with someone of suitable age and discretion residing there [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(B)(ii)].
- Mailing a copy to the last known address of the person served [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(C)].
- Leaving a copy with the clerk of the court if the person served has no known address [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(D)].
- Delivering a copy electronically, if consented to in writing by the person being served [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(E)].
- Delivering a copy by any other means consented to in writing by the person being served [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(F)].
- Delivering a copy through the court's transmission service with written consent of the person being served, and pursuant to local rule authorizing such service [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(3)].

Service by mail is complete on mailing [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(C)]. Service by electronic means is complete on transmission [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(E)], and service by other consented means is complete when the person making service delivers the copy to the agency designated to make delivery [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(F)]. Service by electronic means is not effective if the party making service learns that the attempted service did not reach the person to be served [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(E)].

If service is made by any of the following methods, the time to respond is extended by three days [Fed R Civ P 6(d)]:

- Service by mail.
- Service to the clerk of the court based on no known address.
- Electronic or other means of service consented to in writing under Rule 59(b)(2)(E) or (F).

Warning:

Consult local rules, as each district may have additional requirements, as to the manner of serving motion papers and deadlines [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 5-3, 5-4, 6-1, 7-4; ED Cal Gen LR 135; ND Cal Civ LR 5-5; SD Cal Civ LR 5.2, 7.1].

Cross Reference:

Local rules on permissible methods of service of papers, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.15 -5.23.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.30

26.30 Proof of Service Required.

Motions and all papers following the complaint (except for discovery and mandatory disclosure papers) that are required to be served must be filed with the court with a certificate of service. The certificate of service must be filed within a reasonable time after service [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(1)]. Though the Federal Rules do not provide specific requirements for the certificate of service, at a minimum the certificate should contain the following [Fed R Civ P 5(d)]:

- Date of service [Bowers v. E.J. Rose Mfg. Co (9th Cir 1945) 149 F2d 612, 614 , cert. denied sub nom. Fischer v. Bowers, 326 US 753 (1945)];
- Manner of service; and
- Certificate by the serving party that service of the pleading or paper was made.

Warning:

Consult local rules, as each district may have additional requirements, as to proof of service [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 5-3, 5-4, 6-1; ED Cal Gen LR 135; ND Cal Civ LR 5-6; SD Cal Civ LR 5.2, 7.1].

Cross References:

Local rules on proof of service, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.23. Certificate of service forms used in the California federal districts, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.37, 5.38.

32 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.31

26.31 Filing Complete When Motion Papers Timely Filed With Clerk.

Except for discovery and mandatory disclosure papers, all papers after the complaint that are required to be served on a party, must be filed with the court, along with a certificate of service, within a reasonable time after service [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(1)].

Warning:

Consult local rules, as each district typically specifies the deadline for filing motion papers [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-12, 7-13; ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(a), 7-3(a); SD Cal Civ LR 1.1(e.16), 7.1(e.1)].

Cross References:

Local rules on filing motion papers with court, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.24 -5.28.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsClerks of CourtGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

33 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.32

26.32 Filing Motions by Fax or Other Electronic Means.

Filing by facsimile or other electronic means may be allowed or required by local rule. The means of such filing must be consistent with technical standards, if any, that the Judicial Conference of the United States establishes. A paper filed by electronic means in compliance with local rule constitutes a written paper [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(3)].

Example:

In the Northern District of California, "electronic filing" refers to the process of logging in to the court web site and completing a transaction which includes the uploading of the document comprising the filing to the court's system. Sending a document by email does not constitute an electronic filing [ND Cal Gen Order 45].

Warning:

Consult local rules, as each district typically specifies how electronic filing must be done, if allowed or required [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 5-4; ED Cal Gen LR 133; ND Cal Civ LR 5-4; ND Cal Gen Order 45; SD Cal Civ LR 5.3; SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual].

Cross References:

Electronic filing, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.29 -5.31. Local rules on electronic signatures, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.31.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsClerks of CourtGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

34 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.32A

26.32A LOCAL PRACTICE: Mandatory Electronic Filing in ED Cal.

In the Eastern District, electronic filing is mandatory for attorneys unless it is specifically excused by the court or by local rule [ED Cal Gen LR 133(a)]. In exceptional circumstances and for specific documents, an attorney may apply for permission to file paper documents [ED Cal Gen LR 133(b)(1)]. The application must be submitted as a stipulation [see ED Cal Gen LR 143], or if a stipulation cannot be obtained, as a written motion. Points and authorities are not required and no argument or hearing will normally be held. The application can also be made in scheduling conference and pretrial conference statements when the need is foreseen [ED Cal Gen LR 133(b)(3)]. The decision whether or not to permit paper filing is in the sole discretion of the assigned judge or magistrate judge [ED Cal Gen LR 133(b)(1)].

Distinguish:

Parties appearing in propria persona must file paper documents unless they have been given court permission to file electronically [ED Cal Gen LR 133(a), (b)(2)]. All paper filings by a party appearing in propria persona will be scanned by the clerk's office and the electronic record will become the official court record [see ED Cal Gen LR 133(a), (b)(3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsClerks of CourtGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.32B

26.32B LOCAL PRACTICE: Mandatory Electronic Filing in SD Cal.

In the Southern District, electronic filing is mandatory for attorneys unless otherwise expressly provided in the rules or as ordered by the court [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual (1)(b)]. An attorney may apply to the court for permission to file documents in paper form; good cause must be shown to file and serve using non-electronic filing [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual (1)(f)].

Distinguish:

Pro se litigants, unless otherwise authorized by the court, must file paper documents with the clerk's office which will scan and electronically file the documents. A pro se litigant may move for leave to electronically file documents [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual (2)(b)].

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.33

26.33 Delivering Courtesy Copies to Assigned Judge.

26.33[1] Consult Individual Judges' Rules. Individual judges' rules must be consulted regarding courtesy copies. Some judges require courtesy copies, while others will not accept them. Counsel should want the court to have the opportunity to understand their positions at the earliest time, in advance of argument.

If the judge permits the delivery of courtesy copies, those copies should be filed with the clerk and contemporaneously delivered to chambers.

Warning:

Consult individual judges' rules, as each specifies requirements for courtesy copies, if allowed.

Cross Reference:

Importance of consulting individual judges' rules, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.24 -5.27.

26.33[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. In the Eastern District, if an electronically filed document, excluding attachments or exhibits, exceeds 25 pages, counsel must provide a courtesy paper copy to chambers. A courtesy paper copy must also be provided for attachments or exhibits that total in excess of 50 pages. The courtesy paper copy must be prominently labeled as such in capital letters on its face sheet and must be mailed or otherwise sent to the appropriate courtroom deputy clerk no later than the next business day following the electronic filing [see ED Cal Gen LR 133(f)].

26.33[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. In the Southern District, if an electronically filed civil document exceeds 20 pages, including attachments and exhibits, counsel must provide a courtesy paper copy addressed to the attention of the assigned judicial officer. The next business day after the electronic filing, the courtesy copy must be either post-marked and mailed directly to the judge or hand-delivered to the clerk's office. A copy of the notice of electronic filing must precede the first page of the courtesy copy [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual (2)(e)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.34

26.34 LOCAL PRACTICE: Withdrawing Motion.

26.34[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Any moving party who does not intend to press the motion or who intends to withdraw it before the hearing date must, not later than noon on the Tuesday preceding the hearing date, notify opposing counsel and the court clerk [CD Cal Civ LR 7-16].

26.34[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The Eastern District has no local rule prescribing procedure for noticing the withdrawal of a motion.

26.34[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Within 7 days after service of an opposition, the moving party may file and serve a notice of withdrawal of the motion. On the filing of a timely withdrawal, the motion will be taken off the calendar. Otherwise, the court may proceed to decide the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-7(e)].

26.34[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Any movant who does not intend to proceed with a motion or other request for ruling by the court must notify opposing counsel and the judge before whom the matter is pending as soon as possible [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(g.1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.35

26.35 Making Motion for Enlargement of Time.

26.35[1] Seeking Additional Time to Act. A party may seek to enlarge time when additional time is needed for a specific act, beyond the period of time fixed by [Fed R Civ P 6(b)]:

- The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
- A notice given under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure (e.g., a notice of motion).
- A court order.

Consider:

The procedural mechanisms available to enlarge time depend on whether the originally prescribed period has already expired [Fed R Civ P 6(b)(1); see § 26.35[2], [3]].

Exceptions:

Courts may not grant enlargements of time to make the following motions, except to the extent and under the conditions stated in the governing rules [Fed R Civ P 6(b)(2)]:

- Motions for judgment as a matter of law under Rule 50(b).
- Motions to amend or expand the court's findings under Rule 52(b).
- Motions for new trial under Rule 59(b), (d).
- Motions to alter or amend judgments under Rule 59(e).
- Motions for relief from judgment under Rule 60(b).

26.35[2] Request Made Prior to Expiration of Time Period. If a request to enlarge time is available and is made prior to the expiration of the period originally prescribed or as extended by previous order, the court may grant the request without motion or notice [Fed R Civ P 6(b)(1)(A)].

26.35[3] Request Made After Expiration of Time Period. A request to enlarge time made after the expiration of the specified period must be made by motion, and may be granted in the court's discretion if the failure to act was the result of excusable neglect [Fed R Civ P 6(b)(1)(B)].

The standard for excusable neglect is a four-part test that takes account of all relevant circumstances surrounding the party's omission. These include [see Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd. P'ship (1993) 507 US 380, 395, 113 S Ct 1489, 123 L Ed2d 74]:

- The danger of prejudice to the other party;
- The length of the delay and its potential impact on judicial proceedings;
- The reason for the delay, including whether it was in the reasonable control of the movant; and
- Whether the movant acted in good faith.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of excusable neglect standard under Rule 6(b)(2), see 1 Moore's Federal Practice, 6.06[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

26.35[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Motions to Enlarge Time.

26.35[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The CD Cal has no specific local rule governing Rule 6(b) motions for enlargement of time.

26.35[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Unless the filing date has been set by court order, an initial stipulation extending time for no more than 30 days to respond to a complaint, crossclaim, or counterclaim, or to respond to interrogatories, requests for admissions, or requests for production of documents may be filed without approval of the Court if the stipulation is signed on behalf of all parties who have appeared in the action and are affected by the stipulation. All other extensions of time must be approved by the court and no open extensions of time by stipulation of the parties will be recognized [ED Cal Gen LR 144(a)].

All applications to the court for extensions of time must set forth the total period of extensions already obtained by the parties as to the particular matters for which the extension is sought [ED Cal Gen LR 144(b)].

The court may, in its discretion, grant an initial extension ex parte on the affidavit of counsel that a stipulation extending time cannot reasonably be obtained, explaining the reasons why a stipulation cannot be obtained and the reasons why the extension is necessary. Except for one such initial extension, ex parte applications for extension of time will not ordinarily be granted [ED Cal Gen LR 144(c)].

Counsel must seek to obtain a necessary extension from the court or from other counsel or parties in an action as soon as the need for an extension become apparent. Requests for court-approved extensions brought on the required filing date for the pleading or other document are viewed by the court in disfavor [ED Cal Gen LR 144(d)].

26.35[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. A motion to enlarge or shorten time may be no more than five pages in length and must be accompanied by a proposed order and by a declaration that [ND Cal Civ LR 6-3(a)]:

- Sets forth with particularity, the reasons for the requested enlargement or shortening of time;
- Describes the efforts the party has made to obtain a stipulation to the time change;
- Identifies the substantial harm or prejudice that would occur if the court did not change the time;
- If the motion is to shorten time for the court to hear a motion, the motion describes the moving party's compliance with ND Cal Civ LR 37-1(a), when applicable, and describes the nature of the underlying dispute that would be addressed in the motion and briefly summarizes the position each party had taken;
- Discloses all previous time modifications in the case, whether by stipulation or court order; and
- Describes the effect the requested time modification would have on the schedule for the case.

A party filing a motion to enlarge or shorten time must deliver a copy of the motion, proposed order, and supporting declaration to all other parties on the day the motion is filed [ND Cal Civ LR 6-3(b)].

Unless otherwise ordered, a party who opposes a motion to enlarge or shorten time must file an opposition not to exceed 5 pages, accompanied by a declaration setting forth the basis for opposition, no later than four days after receiving the motion. The objecting party must deliver a copy of its opposition to all parties on the day the opposition is filed [ND Cal Civ LR 6-3(c)].

After receiving a motion to enlarge or shorten time and any opposition, the judge may grant, deny, modify the requested time change or schedule the matter for additional briefing or a hearing [ND Cal Civ LR 6-3(d)].

26.35[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The SD Cal has no specific local rule governing Rule 6(b) motions for enlargement of time.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsTime LimitationsExtensionsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersContinuancesGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.36

26.36 Making Motion for Reconsideration.

26.36[1] Motion Used to Correct Manifest Errors of Law or Fact. A motion for reconsideration is appropriate only in limited circumstances, such as when [Nunes v. Ashcroft (9th Cir 2004) 375 F3d 805, 807-808 ; Brown v. Kinross Gold, U.S.A. (D Nev 2005) 378 F Supp2d 1280, 1288]:

- New evidence is discovered;
- There is an intervening change in the controlling law; or
- The initial decision was clearly erroneous or manifestly unjust.

A motion for reconsideration is not is not avenue to relitigate issues and arguments on which the court already has ruled [Brown v. Kinross Gold, U.S.A. (D Nev 2005) 378 F Supp2d 1280, 1288].

Such situations rarely arise and the motion for reconsideration should be equally rare [Cf. Page v. Something Weird Video (CD Cal 1996) 960 F Supp 1438, 1440 n2 (plaintiff contravened local rule by repeating oral or written argument, but motion granted to correct a clear error of law)].

Leave of court may be required by local rule before any party may file a motion for reconsideration [see, e.g., Mosbarger v. Superior Court Judges (ND Cal 1996) 1996 US Dist LEXIS 997, at *5].

Warning:

A motion for reconsideration is not the proper vehicle for revisiting issues that were decided. The party moving for reconsideration must show more than a disagreement with the court's decision; the court will not grant the motion unless there is a need to correct a clear error of law or prevent manifest injustice [Lerner v. Sartori (D Ariz 1999) 1999 US Dist LEXIS 16054, at *2 , aff'd mem., 229 F3d 1158 (9th Cir 2000)]. Violations are subject to sanctions [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(c)].

26.36[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Motion for Reconsideration.

26.36[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. A motion for reconsideration of the decision on any motion may be made only on the ground of [CD Cal Civ LR 7-18]:

- A material difference in fact or law from that presented to the court before such decision that in the exercise of reasonable diligence could not have been known to the party moving for reconsideration at the time of such decision; or
- The emergence of new material facts or a change of law occurring after the time of such decision; or
- A manifest showing of a failure to consider material facts presented to the court before such decision.

No motion for reconsideration may in any manner repeat any oral or written argument made in support of or in opposition to the original motion [CD Cal Civ LR 7-18].

26.36[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Whenever any motion has been granted or denied in whole or in part, and a subsequent motion for reconsideration is made on the same or any alleged different set of facts, counsel must present to the judge or magistrate judge to whom such subsequent motion is made an affidavit or brief, as appropriate, setting forth the material facts and circumstances surrounding each motion for which reconsideration is sought, including [ED Cal Civ LR 230(j)]:

- When and to what judge or magistrate judge the prior motion was made;
- What ruling, decision, or order was made on the prior motion;
- What new or different facts or circumstances are claimed to exist which did not exist or were not shown on such prior motion, or what other grounds exist for the motion; and
- Why the facts or circumstances were not shown at the time of the prior motion.

26.36[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Before the entry of a judgment adjudicating all of the claims and the rights and liabilities of all the parties in a case, any party may make a motion before a judge requesting that the judge grant the party leave to file a motion for reconsideration of any interlocutory order made by that judge on any ground set forth in ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(b). No party may notice a motion for reconsideration without first obtaining leave of court to file the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(a)].

A motion for leave to file a motion for reconsideration must be made in accordance with the requirements of ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(a). The moving party must specifically show [ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(b)]:

- That at the time of the motion for leave, a material difference in fact or law exists from that which was presented to the court before entry of the interlocutory order for which reconsideration is sought. The party must also show that in the exercise of reasonable diligence the party applying for reconsideration did not know such fact or law at the time of the interlocutory order; or
- The emergence of new material facts or a change of law occurring after the time of such order; or
- A manifest failure by the court to consider material facts or dispositive legal arguments which were presented to the court before such interlocutory order.

No motion for leave to file a motion for reconsideration may repeat any oral or written argument made by the applying party in support of or in opposition to the interlocutory order which the party now seeks to have reconsidered. Any party who violates this restriction will be subject to appropriate sanctions [ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(c)].

Judge's Perspective:

In general, judges do not like to see motions for reconsideration, which is one reason the local rules governing them are so stringent. Counsel should not attempt any type of end-run around compliance with the reconsideration rules.

Unless otherwise ordered by the assigned judge, no response needs to be filed and no hearing will be held concerning a motion for leave of to file a motion to reconsider. If the judge decides to order the filing of additional papers or that the matter warrants a hearing, the judge will fix an appropriate schedule [ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(d)].

26.36[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Whenever any motion or any application or petition for any order or other relief has been made to any judge and has been refused in whole or in part, or has been granted conditionally or on terms, and a subsequent motion or application or petition is made for the same relief in whole or in part on the same or any alleged different state of facts, it will be the continuing duty of each party and attorney seeking such relief to present to the judge to whom any subsequent application is made an affidavit of a party or witness or certified statement of an attorney setting forth the material facts and circumstances surrounding each prior application, including inter alia [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(i.1)]:

- When and to what judge the application was made;
- What ruling or decision or order was made on the application;
- What new or different facts and circumstances are claimed to exist that did not exist, or were not shown, on such prior application.

Except as may be allowed under Rules 59 and 60 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, any motion or application for reconsideration must be filed more within 28 days after the entry of the ruling, order, or judgment sought to be reconsidered [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(i.2)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 26.61.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions to Alter & AmendGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VII. RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.37

26.37 CHECKLIST: Responding to Noticed Motions.

☐ Determine whether to oppose the motion, analyzing possible grounds for opposition, including:

- ○ Procedural deficiency of the moving papers (proper notice, etc.).
- ○ Inadmissible, inadequate, or incompetent evidence in the moving papers.
- ○ Inaccurate statement of law in the moving papers.
- ○ Inaccurate or omission of statement of the facts.
- ○ Inaccurate application of the law to the facts.

☐ Check local rules for determining requirements for opposition papers, including:

- ○ Grounds for opposition.
- ○ Page limitations.
- ○ Format requirements.

- ○ Service requirements.
- ○ Time limitations for serving and filing.

☐ If not opposing the motion, consult local rules for requirements for filing a statement of nonopposition.

☐ If extension of deadline for serving or filing opposition papers is needed, consult local rules.

☐ Serve opposition papers and file with court, along with certificate of service.

Authority:
28 USC § 1291; Fed R Civ P 5(b), 6(c), 7(b)(2), 10(a), 59(d); CD Cal Civ LR 5-3-5-4, 6-1, 7-6, 7-7, 7-9, 7-11, 11-3; ED Cal Gen LR 130, 131, 133, 135, 143, 144; ED Cal Civ LR 230; ND Cal Civ LR 3-4, 5-5-5-6, 7-2, 7-3, 7-4, 7-7(d); SD Cal Civ LR 5.1, 7.1

Discussion:
See §§ 26.38, 26.39

☐ If not opposing the motion, consult local rules for requirements for filing a statement of nonopposition.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 7-7, 7-9; ED Cal Civ LR 230(c); ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(b); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.a)

Discussion:
See § 26.39

☐ Failure to file timely opposition papers may result in court deeming motion unopposed.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 7-12, 7-13; ED Cal Civ LR 230(c); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.2), 7.1(f.3.c)

Discussion:
See § 26.43

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VII. RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.38

26.38 Options and Strategy.

Unless you file a notice of nonopposition, counsel should file an opposition to a motion. Failure to file one of these will injure your reputation with the court.

42 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VII. RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.39

26.39 LOCAL PRACTICE: Contents of Responding Papers.

26.39[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Each opposing party must serve on all other parties and file with the clerk either [CD Cal Civ LR 7-9]:

- The evidence on which the opposing party will rely in opposition to the motion and a brief but complete memorandum that must contain a statement of all the reasons in opposition to it and the points and authorities on which the opposing party will rely; or

- A written statement that the party will not oppose the motion. Evidence presented in all opposing papers must comply with the requirements of CD Cal Civ LR 7-6, 7-7, 7-8.

26.39[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Opposition, if any, to the granting of the motion must be in writing and must be filed in duplicate with the clerk. Opposition must be served on opposing counsel [ED Cal Civ LR 230(c)].

A responding party who has no opposition to the granting of the motion must serve and file a statement to that effect, specifically designating the motion in question [ED Cal Civ LR 230(c)].

No party will be entitled to be heard in opposition to a motion at oral argument if opposition to the motion has not been timely filed by that party [ED Cal Civ LR 230(c)].

26.39[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Any opposition to a motion must be served and filed. The opposition may include a proposed order, affidavits or declarations, as well as a brief or memorandum under ND Cal Civ LR 7-4. Pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(b), the brief or memorandum may not exceed 25 pages of text [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3].

If the party against whom the motion is directed does not oppose the motion, that party must file with the court a Statement of Nonopposition [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(b)].

Before the noticed hearing date, counsel may bring to the court's attention a relevant judicial opinion published after the date the opposition or reply was filed by serving and filing a Statement of Recent Decision, containing a citation to and providing a copy of the new opinion--without argument. Otherwise, once a reply is filed, no additional memoranda, papers, or letters may be filed without prior court approval [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(d)].

In addition to complying with the applicable provisions of ND Cal Civ LR 3-4 (general requirements re filed papers), a brief or memorandum of points and authorities filed in support, opposition, or reply to a motion must contain [ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(a)]:

- On the first page of the space opposite the caption and below the case number, the noticed hearing date and time;
- If in excess of 10 pages, a table of contents and a table of authorities;
- A statement of the issues to be decided;
- A succinct statement of the relevant facts; and
- Argument by the party, citing pertinent authorities.

Unless the court expressly orders otherwise pursuant to a party's request made prior to the due date, a brief or memorandum filed with opposition papers may not exceed 25 pages of text and the reply brief or memorandum may not exceed 15 pages of text [ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(b)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of memorandum of law, see § 26.20.

26.39[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Unless otherwise provided by rule or court order, a party opposing a motion, or other request for ruling by the court must file a written opposition. If such party chooses not to oppose the motion, the party must file a written statement that the party does not oppose the motion or other request for ruling by the court [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.a)].

The opposition must contain a brief and complete statement of all reasons in opposition to the position taken by the movant, an answering memorandum of points and authorities, and copies of all documentary evidence on which the party in opposition relies [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.b)].

If an opposing party fails to file the papers in the manner required by SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.2), that failure may constitute a consent to the granting of a motion or other request for ruling by the court [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VII. RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.40

26.40 Formatting Opposition Papers.

The same basic format requirements for moving papers apply to opposition papers [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)(2); 10(a)].

Warning:

Consult local rules, as each district may have additional requirements, as to formatting motions and opposition papers [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 11-3; ED Cal Gen LR 130, 131, 133; ND Cal Civ LR 3-4, 7-2(b); SD Cal Civ LR 5.1, 7.1].

Cross References:

Format requirements for motions, see § 26.18. Local rules on formatting motions and other papers, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.03 -5.14.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VII. RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.41

26.41 Opposition Papers Must Be Timely Filed and Served.

26.41[1] Papers Must Be Filed Within Reasonable Time After Service. The Federal Rules provide that opposition to a motion must be served at least seven days before the hearing, unless the court permits them to be served at some other time [Fed R Civ P 6(c)(2)]. However, all the local district court rules provide that the motion papers must be served much further in advance [see 26.23[2]], though the deadlines may be modified by stipulated motion schedule, with the court's approval. There are many reasons for counsel to agree on the motion schedule that accommodates the needs of all counsel for sufficient time to properly address the motion.

Service of opposition papers under Fed R Civ P 5(b) is accomplished by a number of methods. For the manner of serving motion papers, see 26.29.

Papers in opposition to a motion for a new trial must be filed within 28 days after service of the motion, but that period may be extended [see Fed R Civ P 59(d)].

26.41[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Deadline for Serving and Filing Opposition Papers.

26.41[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Each opposing party must serve on all other parties and file with the clerk all opposition papers or statement not opposing the motion, not later than 10 days after service of the motion in the instance of a new trial motion and not later than 21 days before the date designated for the hearing of the motion in all other instances [CD Cal Civ LR 7-9].

26.41[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Opposition, if any, to the granting of the motion must be in writing and must be filed and served not less than 14 days preceding the noticed (or continued) hearing date [ED Cal Civ LR 230(c)].

26.41[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Any opposition to a motion must be served and filed not less than 21 days before the hearing date [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(a)].

If the party against whom the motion is directed does not oppose the motion, that party must file with the court a Statement of Nonopposition within the time for filing and serving any opposition [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(b)].

26.41[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Except as otherwise specified in SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1) [see 26.23[2][d]], each party opposing a motion, application, or order to show cause must file that opposition or statement of nonopposition with the clerk and serve the movant or the movant's attorney not later than 14 calendar days prior to the noticed hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.2)].

Example:

For a motion to be heard on a Monday, the opposition papers must be filed and served no later than two Mondays prior to the noticed hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.2)].

26.41[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Extension of Deadline for Serving and Filing Opposition Papers.

26.41[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Unless the order for continuance specifies otherwise, the entry of an order continuing the hearing of a motion automatically extends the time for filing and serving opposing papers and reply papers to 21 and 14 days, respectively, preceding the new hearing date. A stipulation to continue must provide the date the opposition and reply papers are due to be filed with the court [CD Cal Civ LR 7-11].

26.41[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Requests for continuances of hearings on the motion calendar, on stipulation or otherwise, must be made to the judge or magistrate judge on whose calendar the matter is set, at least 7 days before the scheduled hearing date. All stipulations for continuance must be submitted for approval to the court [ED Cal Civ LR 230(f); see ED Cal Civ LR 143, 144].

26.41[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Unless the order for continuance specifies otherwise, the entry of an order continuing the hearing of a motion automatically extends the time for filing and serving opposing papers or reply papers to 21 and 14 days, respectively, preceding the new hearing date, unless the date for filing the papers has already passed prior to the date of the order for continuance [ND Cal Civ LR 7-7(d)].

26.41[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Any request for continuance of a noticed matter must be made as soon as possible to the judge to whom the matter is assigned. Prior to seeking such continuance, the party seeking the continuance must contact all opposing parties or their counsel to determine whether they would agree to such continuance [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(g.2)].

Cross References:

Serving motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.15 -5.23. Filing motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.24 -5.28.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VII. RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.42

26.42 Proof of Service Is Required.

Opposition papers must be filed with the clerk of the court, together with proof of service [Fed R Civ P 5(d)].

Warning:

Consult local rules, as each district may have additional requirements, as to proof of service [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 5-3, 5-4, 6-1; ED Cal Gen LR 135; ED Cal Civ LR 230(c); ND Cal Civ LR 5-6, 7-2; SD Cal Civ LR 5.2, 5.3, 7.1.]

Cross References:

Local rules on filing requirements, see §§ 26.24 -26.26. Proof of service of motions, see § 26.30. Local rules on serving motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.18[3]. Local rules on methods of service, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.22. Local rules on proof of service of motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.23[2].

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VII. RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.43

26.43 Failure to Submit Timely Opposition Papers May Result in Default.

26.43[1] Court May Grant Unopposed Motion. Failure to file a timely opposition may be construed as consent to the granting of a motion or some other request [Martinez v. Stanford (9th Cir 2003) 323 F3d 1178, 1181]. Such a failure to submit opposition papers may result in the court granting the motion [*see Velasquez v. California (9th Cir 2003) 2003 US App LEXIS 12797, at 2 (unpublished appellate opinion; generally not citable to court under 9th Cir R 36-3); General Brands, Inc. v. S.S. Gulf Spirit (SDNY 1991) 1991 US Dist LEXIS 125, at *2]. Moreover, failure to appear at the motion hearing, either personally or through counsel, will likely result in default [Jackson v. Sturkie (ND Cal 2003) 255 F Supp2d 1096, 1099].

Cross References:

Responding to motions, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12. Defaults, see Ch. 27, Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default.

26.43[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Failure to Submit Opposition Papers.

26.43[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The court may decline to consider any memorandum or other paper not filed within the deadline set by order or local rule. The failure to file any required paper, or the failure to file it within the deadline, may be deemed consent to the granting or denial of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 7-12].

A party filing any document in support of, or in opposition to, any motion noticed for hearing after the time for filing it has expired, is also subject to sanctions [CD Cal Civ LR 7-13].

26.43[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. No party will be entitled to be heard in opposition to a motion at oral arguments if opposition to a motion has not been timely filed by that party [ED Cal Civ LR 230(c)].

26.43[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The ND Cal has no specific rule governing the failure to submit opposition papers.

26.43[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The clerk's office is directed not to file untimely motions and responses without the consent of the judicial officer assigned to the case [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.7)].

If the opposing party fails to file the paper in the manner required by SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.2), that failure may constitute a consent to the granting of a motion or other request for ruling by the court SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.c)].

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VIII. MAKING CROSS-MOTIONS OR COUNTER-MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.44

26.44 CHECKLIST: Making Cross-Motions or Counter-Motions.

☐ In opposing a motion, decide if there is a cross-motion or counter-motion to be filed.

☐ Consult local rules and individual judges' rules to determine if cross-motion or counter-motion is allowed.

☐ Consider combining opposition with cross-motion or counter-motion.

☐ Serve cross-motion or counter-motion.

☐ File cross-motion or counter-motion.

Authority:
ED Cal Civ LR 230(e)

Discussion:
See §§ 26.45 -26.48

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VIII. MAKING CROSS-MOTIONS OR COUNTER-MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.45

26.45 Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion Filed in Response to Motion.

26.45[1] Cross-Motions and Counter-Motions Generally. The terms cross-motion and counter-motion are interchangeable. A cross-motion or counter-motion is a motion filed in response to a different motion, and which seeks a separate order regarding issues related to the subject matter of the original motion [Reiffin v. Microsoft Corp. (ND Cal 1998) 1998 US Dist LEXIS 10518, at *4-*6 , rev'd and remanded on other grounds, 214 F3d 1342 (Fed Cir 2000)].

Example:
In response to a motion for a protective order pursuant to Fed R Civ P 26(c), the opposing party may elect to file a cross-motion or counter-motion for an order compelling disclosure or discovery pursuant to Fed R Civ P 37.

The Federal Rules do not specifically address cross-motions or counter-motions. Technically, a cross-motion or counter-motion is just another independent motion.

Warning:
Consult local rules, as well as individual judges' rules to determine whether cross-motions and counter-motions are permitted.

Judge's Perspective:
In general, cross-motions are not commonly used. Judges typically try to coordinate the briefing on the cross-motion in a rational way. Many judges disfavor cross-motions because the briefing can become very clumsy and burden the court.

Cross References:
Making noticed motions, see §§ 26.12 -26.33. Local rules on formatting motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.03 -5.14. Filing motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.24 -5.28. Responding to motions, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under

Rule 12.

26.45[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Cross-Motions and Counter-Motions.

26.45[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The CD Cal has no specific rule governing crossclaims or counter-motions.

26.45[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Any counter-motion or other motion that a party may desire to make that is related to the general subject matter of the original motion must be served and filed with the clerk in the manner and on the date prescribed for the filing of opposition. In the event such counter-motion or other motion is filed, the court may continue the hearing on the original and all related motions so as to give all parties reasonable opportunity to serve and file oppositions and replies to all pending motions [ED Cal Civ LR 230(e)].

26.45[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The ND Cal has no specific rule governing crossclaims or counter-motions.

26.45[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The SD Cal has no specific rule governing crossclaims or counter-motions.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

49 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VIII. MAKING CROSS-MOTIONS OR COUNTER-MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.46

26.46 Combining Opposition With Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion.

If a cross-motion or counter-motion is permitted to be filed, the cross-motion or counter-motion may also serve as opposition to the original motion provided the papers clearly state their dual purpose.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VIII. MAKING CROSS-MOTIONS OR COUNTER-MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.47

26.47 Serving and Filing Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion.

If a cross-motion or counter-motion is permitted to be filed, the cross-motion or counter-motion should be served and filed prior to the deadline for filing opposition papers.

Cross References:

Serving motions, see §§ 26.27 -26.30. Filing motions, see §§ 26.31 -26.33.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VIII. MAKING CROSS-MOTIONS OR COUNTER-MOTIONS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.48

26.48 Seeking Enlargement of Time Within Which to Respond to Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion.

If opposition to a cross-motion or counter-motion cannot reasonably be made within the time otherwise required, an enlargement of time should be sought.

Cross References:

Seeking enlargement of time, see § 26.35. Form, see § 26.58.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
IX. REPLYING TO OPPOSITION PAPERS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.49

26.49 CHECKLIST: Replying to Opposition Papers.

☐ Check local rules and individual judges' rules governing reply papers.

☐ Draft concise and persuasive reply brief, dealing only with the matters that warrant a reply and avoid redundancy.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 7-10; ED Cal Civ LR 230(d); ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(c); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.3)

Discussion:
See § 26.50

☐ Check local rules governing motions for reconsideration.

☐ A motion for reconsideration may be appropriate if:

- ○ The court has patently misunderstood a party, has made a decision outside the adversarial issues presented to the court by the parties;
- ○ The court has made an error not of reasoning but of apprehension; or
- ○ There is a controlling or significant change in the law or facts since the submission of the issue to the court.

Authority:

CD Cal Civ LR 7-18; ED Cal Civ LR 230(j); ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(a); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(i.1)

Discussion:

See § 26.36

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
IX. REPLYING TO OPPOSITION PAPERS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.50

26.50 Reply Papers.

26.50[1] Purpose of Reply Papers. Reply papers represent an opportunity to the moving party, since it is the rare motion proponent who can anticipate every argument made by the opponent. The method by which the opponent presents opposition typically sharpens the issue, making a reply that deals with the sharpened issue a necessity. However, reply papers may only address issues raised in the moving papers. It is improper to introduce new facts or a different legal argument in the reply brief [Lujan v. National Wildlife Fed'n (1990) 497 US 871, 894-895, 110 S Ct 3177, 111 L Ed2d 695 ; United States ex rel. Giles v. Sardie (CD Cal 2000) 191 F Supp2d 1117, 1127]. Generally, once reply papers are filed, no additional papers may be filed without prior court approval [Palo Alto Town & Country Vill., Inc. v. Deutsche Lufthansa AG (ND Cal 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 11085, at *21 , aff'd, (9th Cir 2004) 2004 US App LEXIS 3762].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

The fact that there is a body of law as to which side opens and closes to a jury demonstrates that there is an advantage to having the first and last word on any issue; a reply gives the moving party the last word. In general, a reply should always be filed, even if it is extremely short. If leave must be sought to file a reply, the request for leave should itself reflect the reply points counsel would make.

Warning:

Consult individual judges' rules to determine whether reply briefs will be accepted. Some judges permit reply papers only in limited situations.

Judge's Perspective:

Most judges want to receive a reply brief, because knowing a reply will be filed forces the moving party to really focus on the critical points in the motion. In fact, sometimes judges read the reply brief first--it generally is shorter, more concise, and therefore allows the judge to separate key points from insignificant ones.

Cross References:

Making noticed motions, see §§ 26.12 -26.33. Local rules on formatting motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.03 -5.14. Local rules on serving motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.15 -5.23. Local rules on filing motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.24 -5.28. Responding to motions, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12.

26.50[2] Federal Rules Do Not Address Reply Papers. The Federal Rules do not address reply papers. If the motion opponent seeks more time than the minimum within which to oppose the motion, the motion proponent typically bargains for a schedule that includes time for service of reply papers.

26.50[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Reply Papers.

26.50[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. A moving party may, not later than 14 days before the date designated for the hearing of the motion, serve and file a reply memorandum, and declarations or other rebuttal evidence. Absent prior written order of the court, the opposing party may not file a response to the reply [CD Cal Civ LR 7-10].

26.50[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Not less than seven days preceding the date of hearing, the moving party may serve and file a reply to any opposition filed by the responding party [ED Cal Civ LR 230(d)].

26.50[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Any reply to an opposition must be served and filed by the moving party not less than 14 days before the hearing date. The reply may include affidavits or declarations, as well as a supplemental brief or memorandum under ND Cal Civ LR 7-4. Pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(b), the reply brief or memorandum may not exceed 15 pages of text [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(c)].

Before the noticed hearing date, counsel may bring to the court's attention a relevant judicial opinion published after the date the opposition or reply was filed by serving and filing a Statement of Recent Decision, containing a citation to and providing a copy of the new opinion--without argument. Otherwise, once a reply is filed, no additional memoranda, papers, or letters may be filed without prior court approval [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(d)].

26.50[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Except as otherwise specified in SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1) [see 26.23[2][d]], any reply memorandum must be filed and served not later than seven days before the day for which the matter is noticed [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.3)].

Example:

For a Monday hearing, the reply papers must be filed and served no later than by the Monday prior to the hearing. If the Monday prior to the Monday hearing is a holiday, however, then the reply papers would be due two Fridays prior to the hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
X. ORALLY ARGUING THE MOTION

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.51

26.51 CHECKLIST: Orally Arguing Motions.

☐ Check local rules and individual judges' rules regarding oral motions.

☐ Determine whether motion would benefit from oral arguments.

☐ If available, determine if telephonic conference is preferable for oral arguments.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 78; CD Cal Civ LR 7-14, 7-15; ED Cal Civ LR 230(g), (i); ND Cal Civ LR 7-6; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d)

Discussion:
See § 26.53

55 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
X. ORALLY ARGUING THE MOTION

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.52

26.52 Options and Strategies.

In preparing for oral argument, keep in mind that your objective is to determine if the judge intends to rule against your client and, if so, to work to change the judge's mind. Don't just repeat what is contained in your papers. Try to get the judge to engage in a dialogue. Be concise and do not waste time with grand speeches. A thoughtful, scholarly style usually works better than efforts at showmanship.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentHearingsOral ArgumentsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

56 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
X. ORALLY ARGUING THE MOTION

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.53

26.53 Orally Arguing Noticed Motions.

26.53[1] Local Rules and Individual Judges' Rules Govern Oral Argument. The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure do not address oral argument of motions. Instead, local rules and individual judges' rules generally regulate oral argument [see Fed R Civ P 78]. Oral arguments may include telephonic conferencing [see, e.g., SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d.2)]. District courts have wide discretion in deciding whether oral testimony is to be heard in support of a motion [Miles v. Department of Army (9th Cir 1989) 881 F2d 777, 784].

Consider:

Notwithstanding contrary local rules, some judges will routinely hear oral argument, and attorneys may want to argue. Check judges' individual rules first to see whether they dispense with oral argument. Even if the attorney believes that the client has won the motion on the papers, it is questionable whether arguments should be foregone. While motions may be won or lost on the papers in an ultimate sense, argument affords the platform for the judge's questions that may reflect the court's misunderstanding of some fact or position. Oral argument should not merely paraphrase the written brief, but should provide illumination where required. Additionally, argument may cause a more careful rereading of the papers.

Distinguish:

An oral argument of a noticed motion is to be distinguished from an oral motion [see 26.06].

Cross Reference:

Form, see 26.60.

26.53[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Oral Arguments.

26.53[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Counsel for the moving party and the opposing party must be present on the hearing date and must have such familiarity with the case as to permit informed discussion and argument of the motion. Failure of any counsel to appear, unless excused by the court in advance pursuant to CD Cal Civ LR 7-15 or otherwise, may be deemed consent to a ruling on the motion adverse to that counsel's position [CD Cal Civ LR 7-14].

Counsel may, with the consent of the court, waive oral argument. Counsel who have agreed to waive oral argument must advise the court clerk of such agreement by no later than noon on the fifth day preceding the hearing date. The court clerk must advise the parties by no later than noon on the court day preceding the hearing date as to whether the court has consented to the waiver of oral argument. The court may dispense with oral argument on any motion except where an oral hearing is required by statute, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, or the local rules of the Central District [CD Cal Civ LR 7-15].

26.53[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. On the call of the motion, the court will hear appropriate and reasonable oral argument. Alternatively, the motion may be submitted on the record and briefs on file if the parties stipulate to it, or if the court so orders, subject to the power of the court to reopen the matters for further briefs or oral arguments or both. Any party that believes that extended oral argument, more than 10 minutes per side or 20 minutes in the aggregate, will be required, that party must notify the courtroom deputy clerk so that the hearing may be rescheduled if deemed appropriate by the court [ED Cal Civ LR 230(g)].

Absent notice of intent to submit the matter on the briefs, failure to appear may be deemed withdrawal of the motion or of opposition to the motion, in the discretion of the court, or may result in the imposition of sanctions [ED Cal Civ LR 230(i)].

26.53[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. No oral testimony will be received in connection with any motion, unless otherwise ordered by the assigned judge [ND Cal Civ LR 7-6].

26.53[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Southern District requirements include the following:

Written and Oral Argument. Motions are determined based on the moving papers referred to in the local rules and on oral argument. A judge may, in the judge's discretion, decide a motion without oral argument [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d.1)].

Argument by telephonic conference. At the discretion of the court, argument concerning a noticed motion may be conducted through the use of a telephone conference call, the call to be arranged, initiated, and paid for by the party proposing a telephonic method of oral argument. If such telephonic argument is approved by the court, the matter may be taken off the regular motion hearing calendar, and reset for a date and/or time more convenient to the court and the parties [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d.2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentHearingsOral ArgumentsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
XI. ORDERS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.54

26.54 CHECKLIST: Orders.

☐ Check local rules and individual judge's rules regarding preparing an order, especially for:

- ○ Time limitations.
- ○ Page limitations.
- ○ Certificate of service.

☐ At minimum, proposed order should contain:

- ○ Case caption, including case number.
- ○ Title of order.
- ○ Recitation of papers considered in connection with motion (for appellate purposes).
- ○ Factual findings, if required.
- ○ Statement of specific relief granted.

○ Name and space for signature of judge.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 58; CD Cal Civ LR 52-4, 52-4.1, 58-10; ED Cal Gen LR 137(a); ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(c), 7-11, 7-12

Discussion:
See § 26.55

Form:
See § 26.64

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
XI. ORDERS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.55

26.55 Preparing Party May Be Required to Prepare Order.

26.55[1] Local Rules or Individual Judge's Rules May Require Prevailing Party to Prepare Order. An "order" is any directive by the court other than a judgment, including oral and telephonic as well as written directives, including those transmitted by electronic means [see, e.g., ED Cal Gen LR 101].

Local district court rules or individual judges' rules may require the prevailing party to prepare a proposed order in accordance with the court's ruling.

26.55[2] Contents of Order. The Federal Rules are silent as to the required contents of an order. In the absence of any local district court rule, the order should include the following:

- Case caption, including case number.
- Title of order.
- Recitation of papers considered in connection with motion (for appellate purposes).
- Factual findings, if required.
- Statement of specific relief granted.
- Name and signature of judge.

26.55[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Orders.

26.55[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Each order must be prepared by the attorney directed to do so by the court. The order must comply with the requirements of CD Cal Civ LR 58-10. Within five days of the ruling, the attorney preparing the order must serve it on all parties and lodge it with the clerk [CD Cal Civ LR 52-4; see also CD Cal Civ LR 58-10 (signature line for judge)].

A separate order must be electronically filed with any stipulation, application, motion or request of the parties requiring an order of the court. The pertinent elements requested in the stipulation must be set forth in the order [CD Cal Civ LR 52-4.1].

26.55[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Prevailing party submits proposed order. Subject to Fed R Civ P 58, and unless the court otherwise directs or permits, whenever the court makes an oral order (except intermediate orders in the courts of a hearing), the prevailing party must serve on all other parties and lodge a proposed written order embodying all provisions of the orally announced order. Unless all counsel have approved the order as to form, counsel preparing the order must serve it on all other parties and wait seven days before lodging the proposed order with the court. Counsel submitting a proposed order to the court must provide a certificate reflecting service and expiration of the five days [ED Cal Gen LR 137(a)].

Counsel not preparing the order must have seven days after service of a copy of the proposed order within which to apply to the court for correction or modification of the proposed order to reflect accurately the ruling of the court or to submit an alternative order. If the proposed order is approved by the court, it must be signed and filed [ED Cal Gen LR 137(a)].

Electronically lodged proposed orders. Proposed orders submitted electronically are to be submitted through the district's Case Management/Electronic Case Filing (CM/ECF) system. In addition to electronically filing the proposed order in.pdf format, a separate proposed order in Word or Word Perfect format must be e-mailed to the e-mail box of the assigned judge or magistrate judge. The electronic submission effects service on all parties unless counsel has not consented to electronic service or the party is appearing in propria persona. Unless the proposed order is contained in a stipulation, a proposed order submitted electronically cannot be combined with a motion or request [ED Cal Gen LR 137(b)].

Service. Copies of all written orders signed and filed by the court, conventionally or electronically, whether drafted by counsel or by the court, must be served forthwith by the clerk on all counsel who have appeared in the action. A certificate of service by the clerk must accompany the order as served and must be attached to the order as filed [ED Cal Gen LR 137(f)].

26.55[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Unless excused by the judge who will hear the motion, each motion must be accompanied by a proposed order [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(c)].

A motion for an order concerning a miscellaneous administrative matter may not exceed five pages, must set forth specifically the action requested and the reasons supporting the motion, and must be accompanied by a proposed order or by either a stipulation under ND Cal Civ LR 7-12 or by a declaration that explains why a stipulation could not be obtained. The moving party must deliver the motion and all attachments to all other parties on the same day as the attachment is filed [ND Cal Civ LR 7-11(a)].

Any opposition to, or support for, a Motion for Administrative Relief may not exceed five pages, must set forth succinctly the reasons, must be accompanied by a proposed order, and must be filed no later than four days after the motion has been filed. The opposition or support and all attachments to it must be delivered to all other parties the same day it is filed [ND Cal Civ LR 7-11(b)]. Unless otherwise ordered, the motion is deemed submitted for immediate determination without hearing on the day after the opposition is due [ND Cal Civ LR 7-11(c)].

26.55[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Effective August 31, 2009, former SD Cal Civ LR 52-1, governing findings of fact, conclusions of law, orders and judgments, was repealed [see SD Cal Gen Order 575].

Cross References:

Serving orders, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.15 -5.23. Form of order, see § 26.64.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.56

26.56 Notice of Motion and Motion--General Form.

Notice of Motion and Motion--General Form.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION
_____ [name],	)	Date of Hearing: _____
Defendant	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____
	)

Notice of Motion

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that _____ [name of moving party] will make this motion on for hearing before this court on _____ [date], at_____[time, e.g., 10:00 a.m.], or as soon thereafter as the matter can be heard, in Courtroom No._____of the United States Courthouse located at _____ [street address, city, and state].

Relief Sought

_____ [Name of moving party], _____ [plaintiff or defendant], moves the court for an order _____ [describe relief sought, e.g., dismissing the Complaint].

Grounds for Relief

The grounds for this motion are that _____ [specifically state all grounds on which motion is based, e.g., the Complaint fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted because it seeks a monetary judgment against a Department of the state government of the State of California and, as explained in the attached Memorandum of Points and Authorities in support of the motion, the Eleventh Amendment precludes federal courts from rendering any monetary judgment against State governments or even entertaining suits for monetary relief against State governments].

Record Supporting Motion

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]
Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys for _____

[Attach together with any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations]

[Attach certificate of service]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5, 7(b), 10; CD Cal Civ LR 7-4; ED Cal Civ LR 230(b); ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f)

Prerequisite to Motion:
See §§ 26.14, 26.15

Content of Notice of Motion:
See § 26.16

Combining Motion and Notice of Motion in One Paper:
See §§ 26.15[5], 26.17

Formatting Motion Papers:
See § 26.18

Supporting Papers and Evidence:
See §§ 26.19 -26.22

Timing of Notice, Service, and Filing:

See § 26.23

Service and Filing:
See §§ 26.27 -26.33

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.57

26.57 Declaration in Support of or in Opposition to Motion--General Form.

Declaration in Support of or in Opposition to Motion--General Form.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)	DECLARATION IN
_____ [name],	)	_____ [SUPPORT OF OR
Defendant	)	OPPOSITION] TO MOTION
	)	FOR _____
	)

DECLARATION OF _____ [NAME]

I, _____ [name of declarant], declare:

1. My name is _____ [name of declarant]. I am over 18 years of age. I reside at _____ [street address] in _____ [city, state]. I am fully competent to make this Declaration and I have personal knowledge of the facts stated in this Declaration. To my knowledge, all of the facts stated in this Declaration are true and correct.

2. I am _____ [status in case, e.g., the plaintiff or a defendant or the attorney for third-party defendant _____ (name) or an independent witness or an expert in _____ (field of expertise) hired by the attorney for _____ (name of party)] in this matter. I make this Declaration in _____ [support of or opposition to] the Motion for _____ [describe motion, e.g., an Order of Dismissal pursuant to Rule 12(b)(6)].

3. _____ [First factual statement, e.g., Attached to this Declaration as Exhibits "1," "2," and "3" are true and correct copies of a "Settlement Agreement," a "Release of Liability," and a negotiable "Draft" in the amount of $ 150,000.]

4. _____ [Second factual statement, e.g., The originals of the documents referred to in Paragraph 2 were signed by me and by the Plaintiff in this matter in my presence.]

5. _____ [Third factual statement, e.g., At the time of the signing, one _____ (name), an Attorney-at-Law, was present. _____ (He or She) negotiated the settlement reflected in the documents referred to in Paragraph 2. In my presence, I heard _____ (him or her) explain to the Plaintiff in this matter that if the Plaintiff signed the documents and cashed the Draft, the Plaintiff would be forever barred from any suit in connection with _____ (describe transaction that is subject of suit).]

6. _____ [Fourth factual statement, e.g., I have been informed by _____ (name) of the _____ (name) Bank that the Draft referred to in Paragraph 2 was presented by the Plaintiff and that the Plaintiff was paid on this Draft and that my account charged with the full amount of the Draft.]

[Continue with all relevant factual statements]

[Alternative One. If executed inside of the United States, or any territory, possession, or commonwealth of the United States]

I declare under penalty of perjury that the foregoing Declaration is true and correct. I have executed this Declaration on _____ [date], at _____ [city, state].

[Alternative Two. If executed outside of the United States]

I declare under penalty of perjury under the laws of the United States that the foregoing Declaration is true and correct. I have executed this declaration on _____ [date], at _____ [city, state].

_____ [signature of declarant]

_____ [typed name]

NOTES.

Authority:

28 USC § 1746; Fed R Civ P 7(b), 10; CD Cal Civ LR 7-7; ED Cal Gen LR 142(a); ND Cal Civ LR 7-5; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)

Drafting Affidavits or Affidavit Substitutes:

See § 26.21

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
XII. FORMS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.58

26.58 Notice of Motion and Motion to Enlarge Period to Do Act Made Before Expiration of Period.

Notice of Motion and Motion to Enlarge Period to Do Act Made Before Expiration of Period.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO EN-
vs.	)	LARGE PERIOD OF TIME
_____ [name],	)	Fed R Civ P 6(b)
Defendant	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], will move this court to extend the time to _____ [specify act for which extra time needed, e.g., exchange the reports of its expert witness] from _____ [current date] to _____ [date desired].

The extra time is needed because _____ [specify reason, e.g., plaintiff's main expert has been ill and unable to consult with plaintiff's counsel on the report until yesterday. It is now apparent that the report may not be completed until after the time specified for the exchange].

[Optional provision. Stipulation sought before motion made]

Prior to the making of this motion, counsel for _____ [name of moving party] attempted to secure a stipulation to the extension of time sought, but counsel for _____ [name of other party] refused to stipulate to an extension of time.

[Optional provision. Motion sought ex parte but informal notice given]

Prior to presenting this request to the court, counsel for _____ [name of moving party] telephoned counsel for _____ [name of other party] and informed _____ [him or her] that this motion would be presented to the court on _____ [date] at _____ [time].

There have been no previous extensions of time obtained from _____ [name of other party] or granted by the court.

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 6(b); ED Cal Gen LR 144; ND Cal Civ LR 6-3

Motions for Enlargement of Time:
See § 26.35

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.59

26.59 Application and Order Shortening Time for Service of Motion.

Application and Order Shortening Time for Service of Motion.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)	APPLICATION AND
_____ [name],	)	ORDER SHORTENING
Defendant	)	TIME FOR SERVICE
	)	OF MOTION
	)

Application for Order

_____ [Name of moving party], _____ [plaintiff or defendant], desires to file a motion for _____ [specify motion for which shortened service requested, e.g., amendment of the complaint in this action]. A copy of the proposed motion is attached to this application for an Order Shortening Time. _____ [Name of moving party] desires that the motion be heard on _____ [date desired for motion hearing], in order that _____ [reason why motion should be heard at particular time, e.g., it may be heard at the same time as _____ (name)'s motion to intervene or before the deadline for pretrial motions set by the court's scheduling order].

It is impossible to give the full amount of written notice required by _____ [authority that sets amount of notice required, e.g., Rule 6(d) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or Local Rule] for this motion to be heard on _____ [date desired for motion hearing]. As explained in the attached Affidavit of _____ [name], _____ [name of moving party] was _____ [unable or was unaware of the need] to make this motion at an earlier time.

Service of this motion by _____ [specify type of service contemplated, e.g., personal delivery on the attorney for _____ (name)] no later than _____ [time, e.g., 4:00 p.m.] on _____ [date] will be reasonable and fair notice of this motion.
Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys for _____

ORDER SHORTENING TIME

Good cause appearing,

IT IS ORDERED that _____ [name of moving party]'s Motion _____ [describe motion, e.g., to Amend the Complaint] may be served by means of _____ [method of service authorized, e.g., personal delivery to the offices of counsel for _____ (name of opposing party)] no later than _____ [time, e.g., 4:00 p.m.] on _____ [date].

A copy of this Order Shortening Time must be served along with the Motion.

_____ [Name of responding party] will have until _____ [time, e.g., 5:00 p.m.] on _____ [date] to serve and file a response to the Motion.
Dated: _____

_____

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 6(c); CD Cal Civ LR 7-1; ED Cal Gen LR 144(e); ND Cal Civ LR 6-1, 6-2; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.5)

Shortening Notice Period:

See § 26.26

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
XII. FORMS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.60

26.60 Request for Oral Argument on Motion.

Request for Oral Argument on Motion.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)	REQUEST FOR
_____ [name],	)	ORAL ARGUMENT
Defendant	)
	)
	)

Nature of Request

_____ [Name of moving party], _____ [plaintiff or defendant], submits this written request for oral argument on the Motion _____ [type of motion, e.g., to Dismiss the Complaint for failure to state a claim for relief] currently scheduled to be submitted to the court on _____ [date of "submission" or last permissible brief]. This written request is being submitted _____ [with the motion or with _____ (name of moving party)'s opposition to the motion].

_____ [Name of moving party] further moves that oral argument be set _____ [specify when oral argument to be set, e.g., on _____ (date) at _____ (time) or on the date that the motion would otherwise be submitted or on a date mutually agreement between the parties and certified by the clerk as convenient to the court].

Grounds for Request

The grounds for this Request are that _____ [specifically state all grounds on which motion is based, e.g.,

1. Oral argument will permit the parties to argue the factual circumstances surrounding this case and this motion to a greater extent than possible given the court's 10-page limit on briefs that may be filed in support of and in opposition to motions.

2. Extensive affidavits have been filed in support of and in opposition to the motion, but the significance of all the facts that have been put before the court cannot possibly be fully explained in 10-page briefs.

3. At the time that plaintiff and defendant jointly filed for permission to file briefs in excess of the page limit, this court denied the motion with the suggestion that any of the parties could make a motion like the present one for oral argument on the motion].

Notice of Ex parte Request

Counsel for _____ [name of opposing party] has been informed that this ex parte request for oral argument would be presented to this court on _____ [date] at _____ [time] or thereabouts.

[Alternative One. Opposing counsel will or will not oppose request]

Counsel for _____ [name of opposing party] states that _____ [he or she] _____ [will or will not] oppose this request.

[Alternative Two. Opposing counsel joins in request]

Counsel for _____ [name of opposing party] has authorized the author of this request to represent to the court that _____ [he or she] joins in the request for oral argument.

Supporting Papers

This Request is based on the pleadings and papers on file in this action, including all of the papers and affidavits filed in connection with the currently pending Motion for _____, on this written Request, and on whatever argument and evidence may be presented to the Court in connection with this Request.
Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys for _____

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 78; CD Cal Civ LR 7-14, 7-15; ED Cal Civ LR 230(g), (i); ND Cal Civ LR 7-6; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d)

Oral Arguments:
See §§ 26.51, 26.53

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.61

26.61 Notice of Motion and Motion for Reargument or Reconsideration.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Reargument or Reconsideration.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)	NOTICE OF MOTION
vs.	)	AND MOTION FOR
_____ [name],	)	RECONSIDERATION
Defendant	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____
	)

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for an order permitting reargument on the motion _____ [describe relief sought, e.g., to compel production of documents] that this court considered and _____ [granted or denied] on _____ [date].

The grounds for this motion are that:

1. _____ [Specifically state first ground that was not and could not have been presented on prior consideration of motion, e.g., The author of the documents in question has just returned from Europe and John Smith is now in a position to present an affidavit from the author that will show beyond question that the documents were commissioned by an attorney for use in connection with this litigation and that these documents had no connection with or legitimate use in the business of John Smith.]

2. _____ [Specifically state second ground that was not and could not have been presented on prior consideration of motion, e.g., Since the motion was briefed, the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals has decided a case directly on point that resolves the issue on this motion in a manner contrary to the decision of this court. A copy of the slip opinion is attached to the Affidavit of Tom Doe.]

[Continue with any other grounds that support both reconsideration of court's initial determination and that support court determination of substance of motion in favor of party seeking reconsideration]

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 7-18; ED Cal Civ LR 230(j); ND Cal Civ LR 7-9; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(i)

Motions for Reconsideration:
See § 26.36

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.62

26.62 Stipulation--General Form.

Stipulation--General Form.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)	STIPULATION
Defendant	)
	)
	)

STIPULATION TO _____ [describe subject, e.g., EXTEND TIME TO ANSWER]

By the signatures of their counsel to this Stipulation, the parties to this action agree and stipulate that _____ [describe exact stipulation of the parties, e.g., Defendant _____ (name of defendant) will have until _____ (date) to answer the Complaint in this matter, but this stipulation does not extend the time to serve or file any motion under Rule 12, which is waived unless made in the time that Defendant _____ (name of defendant) would have had to answer but for this stipulation].

Dated: _____

For Plaintiff _____ [name of plaintiff]

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys for _____

For Defendant _____ [name of defendant]

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys for _____

[Optional provision. Use if court approval required or desired]

Court Order

SO ORDERED.
Dated: _____

_____

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 15(a), 29, 41(a)(1), 48, 53(f)(3), 59(c); CD Cal Civ LR 7-1, 8-3; ED Cal Civ LR 143, 144(a); ND Cal Civ LR 6-1, 7-12; SD Cal Civ LR 7.2(c)

Stipulations in Lieu of Motions:

See §§ 26.08, 26.09

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.63

26.63 Stipulation Withdrawing Motion.

Stipulation Withdrawing Motion.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)	STIPULATION
_____ [name],	)	WITHDRAWING
Defendant	)	MOTION
	)
	)

STIPULATION TO WITHDRAW MOTION

By the signatures of their counsel to this Stipulation, the parties to this action agree and stipulate that:

1. The motion for _____ [type of motion, e.g., summary judgment] filed by _____ [name of moving party] on _____ [date of filing] and currently set for hearing on _____ [date of hearing] is withdrawn and that the hearing may be dropped from the court's calendar.

2. _____ [Add, if desired, exact agreement that eliminates need for determination of motion: In lieu of the order sought by this motion, the parties have agreed that plaintiff will voluntarily dismiss its common-law fraud complaint and will proceed in this action solely on the basis of the claimed statutory violations set out in the complaint. An amended complaint reflecting the changes described in this stipulation will be filed no later than _____ (date) and the answer to the original complaint in this matter will be deemed the answer to the amended complaint.]

3. The parties have secured the permission of the Court, in advance of the Stipulation, to drop the motion from the Court's calendar. The parties acknowledge that the Court has conditioned its permission to drop the pending motion by the representation of both parties to the Court that the motion will not be renewed or refiled, and that all matters in dispute in the dropped motion have been fully and finally settled.

SO STIPULATED:

Dated: _____

For Plaintiff _____ [name of plaintiff]

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys for _____

For Defendant _____ [name of defendant]

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys for _____

[Optional provision. Use if court approval required or desired]

Court Order

SO ORDERED.
Dated: _____

_____

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 15(a), 29, 41(a)(1), 48, 53(f)(3), 59(c); CD Cal Civ LR 7-1, 7-16, 8-3; ED Cal Civ LR 143, 144(a); ND Cal Civ LR 6-1, 7-7(e), 7-12; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(g.1), 7.2(c)

Stipulations in Lieu of Motions:
See § 26.08, 26.09

Withdrawing Motions:
See § 26.34

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
XII. FORMS

4-26 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 26.64

26.64 Order Granting or Denying Motion--General Form.

Order Granting or Denying Motion--General Form.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)	ORDER _____ [GRANTING
_____ [name],	)	OR DENYING] MOTION FOR
Defendant	)	_____
	)
	)

This matter came on for hearing on _____ [date], on _____ [plaintiff or defendant] _____ [name of party]'s duly-noticed motion for _____ [type of motion, e.g., dismissal on the grounds that the complaint in this action fails to state a claim on which relief may be granted]. [Add if motion was decided after oral argument: _____ (Name of attorney) of the firm of _____ (name of plaintiff law firm) appeared and argued in support of the motion. _____ (name of attorney) of the firm of _____ (name of defense firm) appeared and argued in opposition to the motion.] The court has read the papers submitted in support of and in opposition to the motion, and considered the arguments of counsel and the authorities cited to the court.

The court has concluded that _____ [general nature of conclusion, e.g., the Complaint does not and cannot be amended to state a claim on which relief may be granted] on the grounds that _____ [brief summary of grounds for ruling, e.g., it seeks a monetary from a Department of the State government of the State of California, and this type of action is completely barred by the Eleventh Amendment to the United States Constitution]. Therefore,

IT IS ORDERED THAT:

1. The motion of _____ [plaintiff or defendant] _____ [name of moving party] is _____ [GRANTED or DENIED].

2. _____ [First consequence of grant or denial, e.g., The case will be dismissed and _____ (name of moving party) is ordered to prepare a written form of judgment of dismissal or The case will proceed to trial as scheduled].

3. _____ [Second consequence of grant or denial, e.g., Defendant will be awarded costs of suit or _____ (name) will be precluded from testifying as an expert witness in this matter].

[Continue stating all consequences of grant or denial of motion]

[Optional provision. Use if Rule 11 sanctions might flow from decision on motion]

4. _____ [Name of party or attorney or both] will appear and show cause on _____ [date] why sanctions should not be imposed on _____ [him or her or it or them] pursuant to Rule 11 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure for having filed a _____ [frivolous or legally meritless or factually insupportable] _____ [complaint or motion or opposition to this motion].

a. _____ [Name of party or attorney or both] will have until _____ [date] to file papers with this court showing each and every reason that _____ [he or she or it or they] reasonably believed that the _____ [complaint or motion or opposition] had _____ [arguable legal merit or evidentiary support or a purpose other than the creation of unnecessary delay or increased expense].

b. The sanction to be applied, if any, will be determined following the hearing on _____ [date].

[Continue with form as follows]

Dated: _____

_____

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 58; CD Cal Civ LR 52-4, 52-4.1, 58-10; ED Cal Gen LR 137(a); ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(c), 7-11, 7-12

Orders:

See § 26.54, 26.55

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.syn

§ 27.syn Synopsis to Chapter 27: Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default

27.01 Scope.

27.02 Objective and Strategy.

27.02[1] Reviewing Definitions.

27.02[1][a] "Default" and "Defaulting Party."

27.02[1][b] "Entry of Default."

27.02[1][c] "Default Judgment."

27.02[2] Default Judgments Are Disfavored.

27.02[3] Relationship Between Entry of Default and Default Judgment: Two-Step Process.

27.02[3][a] Default Has No Effect Until Entered.

27.02[3][b] Entry of Default Is Prerequisite to Default Judgment.

27.02[4] Distinguish Default As Sanction.

27.03 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Entry of Default and Default Judgment.

27.04 Failure to Respond to Pleading Results in Default.

27.04[1] Party Must Timely Respond or Defend.

27.04[2] Answer or Reply May Be Sufficient Response.

27.04[3] Motion to Dismiss or for Summary Judgment Constitutes Defending.

27.05 Obtaining Entry of Default by Clerk.

27.05[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Clerk Will Enter Default.

27.05[2] Applicant Must Show Defaulting Party Failed to Plead or Defend.

27.05[3] No Specific Form Is Required for Entry of Default.

27.05[4] Notification of Defaulting Party Is Not Required.

27.05[5] Clerk Will Enter Default on Proper Application.

27.06 Effects of Entry of Default.

27.06[1] Adversary Admits Allegations Regarding Liability.

27.06[2] Adversary Does Not Admit Amount of Damages.

27.06[3] Default Is Waiver of Most Affirmative Defenses.

27.06[4] Default Is Waiver of Compulsory Counterclaims.

27.06[5] Entry of Default is Not Final Order.

27.07 Clerk May Enter Default Judgment Under Particular Circumstances.

27.07[1] Claim Is for Sum Certain.

27.07[2] Party Failed to Appear.

27.07[3] Defaulting Party Is Not Minor, Incompetent, or Military Personnel.

27.07[4] Defaulting Party Is Not Government.

27.07[5] All Defendants Have Defaulted in Multi-Defendant Case.

27.08 Plaintiff Must Apply for Entry of Default Judgment by Clerk.

27.08[1] Submit Application and Supporting Material.

27.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Declaration Must Accompany Application.

27.08[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Apply Within 30 Days After Entry of Default.

27.08[4] Notice to Defaulting Party Is Not Required.

27.08[5] Clerk Will Enter Judgment on Proper Application.

27.08[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Attorney's Fees.

27.09 Obtaining Entry of Default Judgment by Court.

27.09[1] Submit Application and Supporting Papers.

27.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Declaration Must Accompany Application.

27.09[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Apply Within 30 Days.

27.09[4] No Notice Is Required to Defaulting Party Who Has Not Appeared.

27.09[5] Provide Notice to Parties That Have Appeared.

27.09[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Notice of Submission of Claim of Unliquidated Damages.

27.09[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Separate Document Required.

27.10 Court May Order Hearing.

27.10[1] Court's Discretion.

27.10[2] Evidentiary Hearing on Damages May Be Required.

27.10[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Proving Damages by Declarations.

27.10[4] Hearing Generally Is Not Required to Establish Liability.

27.10[5] Court May Use Jury.

27.10[6] Defaulting Party May Participate in Hearing.

27.11 Court Has Discretion to Grant or Deny Default Judgment.

27.12 Factors Considered by Court.

27.13 Damages and Other Relief Are Limited to Demand in Pleadings.

27.14 Defaulting Party's Financial Condition Cannot Be Considered.

27.15 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Attorney's Fee Schedule.

27.16 Special Requirements Exist for Particular Defaulting Parties.

27.16[1] Minors or Incompetents.

27.16[2] Members of Military.

27.16[3] United States.

27.16[4] Foreign State.

27.16[5] Multi-Defendant Case.

27.17 Effect of Entry of Default Judgment.

27.17[1] Default Judgment Is Final Judgment.

27.17[2] Default Judgment Has Claim-Preclusive Effect.

27.17[3] Default Judgment Lacks Issue-Preclusive Effect.

27.18 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Relief From Default.

27.19 Moving to Set Aside Default.

27.19[1] Recognize That Default Is Disfavored.

27.19[2] Argue That Entry of Default Was Improper.

27.19[3] Good Cause to Set Aside Default Must Exist.

27.19[4] Bring Motion Within Reasonable Time.

27.19[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Cross-Examination of Declarant.

27.19[6] Prepare for Imposition of Conditions.

27.20 Opposing Application for Default Judgment.

27.20[1] Defaulting Party's Argument.

27.20[2] Opposing Amount of Damages Claimed.

27.20[3] Contesting Liability of Certain Government Defendants.

27.20[3][a] United States.

27.20[3][b] Foreign Government.

27.21 Grounds for Vacating Default Judgment.

27.21[1] Mistake, Inadvertence, Surprise, or Excusable Neglect.

27.21[2] Void Judgment.

27.21[3] Extraordinary Circumstances.

27.21[4] Fraud.

27.21[5] Defaulting Party's Active Military Status.

27.22 Moving to Vacate Default Judgment.

27.22[1] File Timely Motion.

27.22[1][a] Motion Generally Must Be Filed Within Reasonable Time.

27.22[1][b] Motion Based on Excusable Neglect Must Be Filed Within One Year.

27.22[1][c] No Time Limit for Motion Based on Void Judgment.

27.22[1][d] Ninety-Day Limit for Motion by Former Member of Military.

27.22[2] Motion Must Set Forth Grounds for Relief.

27.22[3] Defaulting Party Has Burden of Proof.

27.22[4] Court May Impose Conditions in Setting Aside Default Judgment.

27.23 Application to Clerk for Entry of Default.

27.24 Declaration in Support of Application to Clerk for Entry of Default.

27.25 Application to Clerk for Entry of Default Judgment.

27.26 Declaration in Support of Application to Clerk for Entry of Default Judgment.

27.27 Default Judgment Entered by Clerk.

27.28 Notice of Application and Application for Entry of Default Judgment by Court.

27.29 Declaration in Support of Application to Court for Entry of Default Judgment by Court.

27.30 Declaration Regarding Military Status of Defaulting Party.

27.31 Default Judgment Entered by Court.

27.32 Notice of Appearance.

27.33 Notice of Motion and Motion to Set Aside Default.

27.34 Notice of Motion and Motion to Set Aside Default Judgment.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
I. STRATEGY

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.01

27.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Nature and effect of default [see 27.04, 27.06].
- Obtaining entry of default [see 27.05; Forms: 27.23, 27.24].
- Obtaining entry of default judgment [see 27.07 -27.09; Forms: 27.26 -27.31].
- Moving to set aside default [see 27.19; Form: 27.33].
- Opposing entry of default judgment [see 27.20].
- Moving to vacate default judgment [see 27.21, 27.22; Form: 27.34].

Core Rules:
Fed R Civ P 54(c), 55, 60(b).

Detailed Discussion/Forms:
10 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 55, Default; Default Judgment (Matthew Bender).

11 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 60, Relief From a Judgment or Order (Matthew Bender).

10 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 54, Judgment; Costs; Ch. 55, Default; Default Judgment (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 60, Relief From a Judgment or Order (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultRelief From Default

70 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
I. STRATEGY

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.02

27.02 Objective and Strategy.

27.02[1] Reviewing Definitions.

27.02[1][a] "Default" and "Defaulting Party." Generally, a party is in "default" if it has failed to plead or otherwise respond in timely fashion to a pleading seeking affirmative relief against the party [see Fed R Civ P 55(a)]. In this chapter, unless the context indicates otherwise, a party that is in default is called the "defaulting party." For ease of reference, the party asserting a claim against the defaulting party is called the "plaintiff." However, in any given case the party asserting a claim against the defaulting party might actually be a defendant who filed a counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party complaint.

Example--Failure to Respond to Complaint:

If a summons and complaint have been served on a defendant, who then fails to respond to the complaint within the allotted time [see Fed R Civ P 12(a), (b)], the defendant is in default.

Examples--Failure to Respond to Other Pleadings:

Although most defaults arise from the failure to respond to complaints, a default may also occur from a failure to respond to other pleadings demanding affirmative relief, such as a counterclaim, a crossclaim or a third-party complaint. For example, a plaintiff may be in default for failing to respond to a counterclaim [see Fed R Civ P 13].

27.02[1][b] "Entry of Default." "Entry of default" occurs when the clerk of the court enters a party's default on the clerk's record of the case [Fed R Civ P 55(a)]. To secure the entry of default, the plaintiff typically applies to the clerk [see Fed R Civ P 55(a)].

Cross Reference:

Entry of Default, see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, § 55.11 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

27.02[1][c] "Default Judgment." A "default judgment," or "judgment by default," is a final judgment against the defaulting party [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)], entered by the clerk of the court or the assigned judge [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1), (2)].

Cross References:

Criteria for determining whether to apply to the clerk or to the court for entry of a default judgment, see § 27.07.

Procedure for applying for entry of a default judgment, see § 27.08 and 27.09; forms, see §§ 27.27 -27.29.

27.02[2] Default Judgments Are Disfavored. Default judgments are generally disfavored, and whenever it is reasonably possible, cases should be decided on their merits [In re Hammer (9th Cir 1991) 940 F2d 524, 525]. For this reason, counsel should be sure that taking a default judgment against an opponent is the best way to proceed under the circumstances.

Applying the general terms of Fed R Civ P 60(b) to default judgments, the Ninth Circuit has emphasized that default judgments are appropriate only in extreme circumstances; a case should, whenever possible, be decided on the merits. If there has been no merits decision, appropriate exercise of district court discretion under Rule 60(b) requires that the finality interest should give way fairly readily, to further the competing interest in reaching the merits of a dispute [TCI Group Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 691, 695-696].

Judge's Perspective:

Winning by default can be fast and cheap. But there is always the risk that the judgment will be set aside and you will have to start over. Time will have been lost, and you may lose credibility with the court.

Cross Reference:

Court's discretion, see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, § 55.20[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

27.02[3] Relationship Between Entry of Default and Default Judgment: Two-Step Process.

27.02[3][a] Default Has No Effect Until Entered. A party's default has no legal effect until an adversary takes action to secure entry of the default or to obtain a default judgment [see Fed R Civ P 55(a), (b)].

Because a default has no effect until entered, a defaulting party may still file and serve pleadings and motion papers until the default has been entered [see Hudson v. North Carolina (SD W Va 1994) 158 FRD 78, 80].

Warning:

If a responsive pleading or motion is filed on the same day as an application for entry of default, default may nevertheless be entered if the application for entry of default was filed first [see McManus v. American States Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2000) 201 FRD 493, 499].

27.02[3][b] Entry of Default Is Prerequisite to Default Judgment. Entry of default is a prerequisite to obtaining a default judgment [Original San Francisco Toymakers, Inc. v. Trendmasters, Inc. (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 18557, at *12 ; see Fed R Civ P 55(a), (b)].

27.02[4] Distinguish Default As Sanction. A party's misconduct during the litigation may justify the entry of default as a sanction [Fed R Civ P 16(f), 37(b)(2)(A)(vi)]. In addition, courts have inherent equitable powers to enter default judgments for failure to prosecute, contempt of court, or abusive litigation practices [Yusov v. Yusuf (9th Cir 1989) 892 F2d 784, 787 ; TeleVideo Sys., Inc. v. Heidenthal (9th Cir 1987) 826 F2d 915, 917-918].

Cross References:

Default as sanction for discovery conduct, see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, see § 25.34. Court's inherent authority to impose sanctions, see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.16 -34.25.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsCompulsory CounterclaimsCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.03

27.03 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Entry of Default and Default Judgment.

☐ Determine whether adverse party is in default by failing to plead or otherwise respond in timely fashion to pleading seeking affirmative relief.

○ Review pleadings to determine whether claim for affirmative relief has been asserted against adverse party in any of following:

☐ Complaint or amended complaint.

☐ Third-party complaint or amended third-party complaint.

☐ Counterclaim or amended counterclaim.

☐ Crossclaim or amended crossclaim.

○ If any pleading asserts claim for affirmative relief against adverse party, either:

☐ Review proof of service to ascertain date on which that pleading was served on adverse party.

☐ If pleading is complaint or third-party complaint, verify that service of process was waived by adverse party.

○ Review office file and court clerk's docket to determine whether adverse party has served responsive pleading or motion within applicable time limit, including any extensions of time ordered by court.

○ If adverse party has timely served responsive pleading or motion, determine whether court has found adverse party in default as sanction for misconduct in litigation.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 4(d), 12(a), 16(f), 37(b)(2)(A)(vi), 55(a), 81(c)

Discussion:
See § 27.04

☐ If adverse party is in default, prepare written application to clerk for entry of default, including following:

○ Affidavit or declaration setting forth following:

☐ That defaulting party was properly served with pleading seeking affirmative relief.

☐ That defaulting party has failed to serve or file responsive pleading or motion.

☐ That applicable time for serving responsive pleading or motion, including any extensions, has expired.

○ Exhibits supporting application, such as:

☐ Copy of pleading seeking affirmative relief that was served on defaulting party.

☐ Copy of proof of service.

☐ Copies of any court orders extending time to respond.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(a)

Discussion:
See § 27.05

Forms:
See § 27.23, 27.24

☐ File application for entry of default.

☐ Contact clerk's office to verify that default has been entered.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(a)

Discussion:
See § 27.05

☐ If pleading against defaulting party also asserts claims against other party that has not defaulted, consider whether application for judgment against defaulting party should be delayed until adjudication of remaining party's liability.

○ Consider that if judgment against the defaulting party would be logically inconsistent with possible judgment in favor of other defending party, court will not enter default judgment until after liability of other defending party has been determined.

○ Consider that even if liability of defaulting party is independent of liability of nondefaulting party, court has discretion to defer action on application for default judgment to avoid risk of inconsistent damages determinations.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)

Discussion:
See § 27.16[5]

☐ Determine whether to apply to clerk or to court for entry of default judgment.

○ Clerk can enter default judgment only if:

☐ Claim against defaulting party is for sum certain or sum that can by computation be made certain.

☐ Default resulted from failure to appear, as opposed to misconduct during litigation.

☐ Defaulting party is not minor or incompetent person.

☐ Defaulting party is not currently serving in armed forces.

☐ Defaulting party is not United States or its officer or agency.

☐ When claim is asserted against multiple parties, all have defaulted.

○ If clerk has authority to enter default judgment, or if existence of clerk's authority is not clear, consider requesting that court enter judgment, so as to minimize possibility that judgment will eventually be set aside.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 54(b), 55(b), (d), (e); 50 USC app § 521

Discussion:
See § 27.08

☐ If applying to clerk for entry of default judgment, prepare written application, including following:

○ Supporting affidavits and declarations establishing all of following:

☐ When and against which party default was entered.

☐ Identification of pleading to which default was entered.

☐ Default was entered for failure to appear.

☐ Defaulting party is not minor or incompetent person.

☐ Defaulting party is not United States or its agency or officer.

☐ Defaulting party is not in military service.

☐ Defaulting party is not foreign state or political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of foreign state.

☐ Amount due, which cannot exceed amount prayed for in pleading to which default was entered.

☐ Itemization of costs claimed.

○ Proposed form of judgment.

Authority:
28 USC § 1608(e); 50 USC app § 521; Fed R Civ P 54(c), (d), 55(b), (d); CD Cal Civ LR 55-1

Discussion:
See § 27.08

Forms:
See §§ 27.25 -27.27

☐ File application and supporting documents with clerk, complying with any local rules that specify time for filing application.

○ Consider providing defaulting party with notice of application, even though notice is not required, so as to minimize possibility that judgment will eventually be set aside.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1); SD Cal Civ LR 55.1

Discussion:
See § 27.08

☐ If applying to court for entry of default judgment, prepare written application, including following:

○ Supporting affidavits and declarations establishing all of following:

☐ When and against which party default was entered.

☐ Identification of pleading to which default was entered.

☐ Whether defaulting party is minor or incompetent person.

☐ Whether defaulting party is United States agency or officer.

☐ Either (1) defaulting party is not in military service, (2) defaulting party is in military service, or (3) plaintiff is unable to determine whether defaulting party is in military service.

☐ Whether defaulting party is foreign state or political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of foreign state.

☐ Existence of facts underlying equitable factors that weigh in favor of entry of default judgment.

☐ Explanation of amount of damages claimed, which cannot exceed amount prayed for in pleading to which default was entered.

☐ Itemization of costs and any attorney's fees claimed.

☐ That notice has been served on the defaulting party, if required.

○ Memorandum of law explaining that equities weigh in favor of granting default judgment, considering such factors as:

☐ Possibility of prejudice to plaintiff if default judgment is denied.

☐ Substantive merits of claim against defaulting party, including whether defaulting party has meritorious defense.

☐ Sufficiency of pleading asserting claim against defaulting party.

☐ Sum of money at stake in action.

☐ Possibility of dispute concerning material facts.

☐ Whether default was willful or was due to excusable neglect.

☐ Whether default was technical or de minimis.

☐ Strong public policy favoring decisions on merits.

○ Proposed form of judgment.

Authority:
50 USC app § 521; Fed R Civ P 54(c), 55(b)(2), (d); CD Cal Civ LR 55-1

Discussion:
See § 27.09

Form:
See §§ 27.28 -27.31

☐ File application and supporting documents with clerk, complying with any local rules that specify time for filing application.

○ Serve notice of application.

☐ If defaulting party or defaulting party's representative has appeared in action, provide defaulting party with written notice of application at least seven days before hearing on application, and file proof of service.

☐ If defaulting party is minor or incompetent person, follow standard noticed motion procedure, providing notice of application to defaulting party's guardian or other representative.

☐ Even if service of notice of application is not required, consider providing defaulting party with notice, so as to minimize possibility that judgment will eventually be set aside.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2); SD Cal Civ LR 55.1

Discussion:
See § 27.09

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

☐ Prepare for and attend hearing on application to court for entry of default judgment.

○ Prepare to present evidence establishing damages, which may not exceed amount demanded in pleading.

○ Prepare to present evidence establishing liability if either:

☐ Defaulting party is United States or its agency or officer.

☐ Defaulting party is foreign state or political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of foreign state.

☐ Court exercises its discretion to require proof of liability.

○ Prepare to present evidence on other issues as required by court.

Authority:
28 USC § 1608(e); Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2), (d)

Discussion:
See § 27.10

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.04

27.04 Failure to Respond to Pleading Results in Default.

27.04[1] Party Must Timely Respond or Defend. A party is in default when it does not timely plead or otherwise defend, as provided by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, in response to a pleading that seeks affirmative relief against the defaulting party [Fed R Civ P 55(a)].

If a party responds to an initial pleading but does not timely respond to an amended pleading, it will be in default [see Fed R Civ P 15(a), 55(a)].

Cross References:

Answers, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see §§ 8.06 -8.13.

Motions to dismiss, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see §§ 8.14 -8.22.

Time for responding to complaint, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.05.

27.04[2] Answer or Reply May Be Sufficient Response. Required responsive pleadings are an answer to a complaint, counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party complaint; the court may also order a reply to an answer [Fed R Civ P 7(a)].

27.04[3] Motion to Dismiss or for Summary Judgment Constitutes Defending. To "otherwise defend," so as to avoid being in default, a party may bring a motion to dismiss under Fed R Civ P 12(b) or a motion for summary judgment under Fed R Civ P 56 [Rashidi v. Albright (D Nev 1993) 818 F Supp 1354, 1356 , aff'd, (9th Cir 1994) 39 F3d 1188].

Examples--Motions Under Rule 12:

Motions that constitute "otherwise defending" include the following:

- A motion to dismiss on grounds of lack of subject-matter jurisdiction, lack of personal jurisdiction, improper venue, insufficiency of process, insufficiency of service of process, failure to state a claim on which relief can be granted, or failure to join a party under Fed R Civ P 19 [Fed R Civ P 12(b)].

- A motion for a more definite statement [Fed R Civ P 12(e)].

- A motion to strike [Fed R Civ P 12(f)].

Example--Insufficient Response:

Actions other than motions to dismiss or for summary judgment may not be sufficient to avoid default. For example, filing a notice of appearance will not prevent the entry of default against the party [Eitel v. McCool (9th Cir 1986) 782 F2d 1470, 1471].

Cross References:

Motions for summary judgment, see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment. Motions to dismiss, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see §§ 8.14 -8.22.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.05

27.05 Obtaining Entry of Default by Clerk.

27.05[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Clerk Will Enter Default. If an answer, or motion to dismiss, is not filed within the original or extended time, the clerk will enter a default and serve notice of the default on the parties. If plaintiff fails to move for default judgment within 30 days, the clerk will promptly prepare an order for filing by the assigned judge directing the plaintiff to show cause why the complaint should not be dismissed without prejudice [SD Cal Civ LR 77.2(d)].

27.05[2] Applicant Must Show Defaulting Party Failed to Plead or Defend. In applying for entry of default by the clerk, a party must show the clerk, by affidavit or otherwise, that the defaulting party has failed to plead or otherwise defend in accordance with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [Fed R Civ P 55(a)].

Default may be entered if no responsive pleading or motion was filed before the filing of the application for entry of default, even if a late responsive pleading or motion is filed later the same day [see McManus v. American States Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2000) 201 FRD 493, 499]. On the other hand, because a default has no effect until it is entered, a defaulting party may still file and serve pleadings and motion papers until the default has been entered [see Hudson v. North Carolina (SD W Va 1994) 158 FRD 78, 80].

27.05[3] No Specific Form Is Required for Entry of Default. No specific form or content is required for an application for entry of default, other than that the defaulting party's failure to plead to otherwise defend must be shown "by affidavit or otherwise" [Fed R Civ P 55(a)]. The plaintiff should file a written application requesting entry of default, accompanied by the following:

- An affidavit or declaration [see 28 USC § 1746] of a person with actual knowledge setting forth the following facts:
  - The defaulting party was properly served with the complaint or other pleading seeking affirmative relief.

- The defaulting party has failed to serve or file a responsive pleading or motion.
- The applicable time for serving a responsive pleading or motion, including any extensions, has expired.

- The following exhibits:
  - A copy of the pleading seeking affirmative relief that was served on the defaulting party.
  - A copy of the proof of service.
  - Copies of any court orders extending the time to respond.

Cross Reference:

Time limits for filing responsive pleadings and motions, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.05.

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

If the case is one in which the clerk is authorized to enter a default judgment [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1)], the plaintiff should consider preparing and filing an application for a default judgment concurrently with the application for entry of default. This may reduce the time and cost of obtaining the desired relief.

Cross References:

Form of application for the entry of a default, see § 27.23. Discussion of when the clerk may enter a default judgment, see § 27.07. Form of application for the entry of a default judgment by the clerk, see § 27.25.

27.05[4] Notification of Defaulting Party Is Not Required. There is no requirement that the plaintiff notify the defaulting party of the application for entry of default [see Fed R Civ P 55(a); Hawaii Carpenters' Trust Funds v. Stone (9th Cir 1986) 794 F2d 508, 512].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

If there has been contact with the defaulting party or the attorney for the defaulting party, such as discussions regarding settlement or an extension of time to plead, counsel for the plaintiff should consider providing notice of the application for entry of default. The default may be less vulnerable to being set aside if the defaulting party had notice of the application.

Judge's Perspective:

Notice should always be given. Many judges will ask about it. Failure to give notice may make it easier to have the default set aside later.

27.05[5] Clerk Will Enter Default on Proper Application. If the application for entry of default makes the required showing, the clerk must enter the default into the clerk's record of the case [Fed R Civ P 55(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsCourtsClerks of CourtGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.06

27.06 Effects of Entry of Default.

27.06[1] Adversary Admits Allegations Regarding Liability. Once a default has been entered, the allegations in the plaintiff's pleading regarding liability are deemed admitted by the defaulting party, who will not be permitted to introduce evidence to controvert those allegations [Fed R Civ P 8(d); Geddes v. United Fin. Group (9th Cir 1977) 559 F2d 557, 560].

Exceptions:

If the defaulting party is the United States or an officer or agency of the United States, a default judgment may not be entered unless the plaintiff adduces evidence establishing liability [see Fed R Civ P 55(e)]. Similarly, the plaintiff must adduce evidence of liability if the defaulting party is foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state [28 USC § 1608(e)].

Distinguish:

On a motion for default judgment, the defaulting party will not be precluded from challenging the legal sufficiency of the adverse party's allegations, and a default judgment will be denied if those allegations are insufficient to state a claim [Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of N. Am. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 1261, 1267 ; Alan Neuman Prods., Inc. v. Albright (9th Cir 1988) 862 F2d 1388, 1392-1393].

27.06[2] Adversary Does Not Admit Amount of Damages. The entry of a default does not constitute an admission of damages, which must be proved when the plaintiff seeks a default judgment [Fed R Civ P 8(b)(6), 55(b)(2); Geddes v. United Fin. Group (9th Cir 1977) 559 F2d 557, 560].

27.06[3] Default Is Waiver of Most Affirmative Defenses. Once a default has been entered, the default is treated as a waiver of affirmative defenses, such as comparative fault [see Greyhound Exhibitgroup, Inc. v. E.L.U.L. Realty Corp. (2d Cir 1992) 973 F2d 155, 158-159].

27.06[4] Default Is Waiver of Compulsory Counterclaims. Once a default has been entered, the defaulting party is precluded from raising, in the present action or in a future action, any claim that is so closely connected to the claim against the defaulting party that it constitutes a compulsory counterclaim [see Greyhound Exhibitgroup, Inc. v.

E.L.U.L. Realty Corp. (2d Cir 1992) 973 F2d 155, 159-160].

27.06[5] Entry of Default is Not Final Order. The entry of a default is an interlocutory event that is not appealable [Hawaii Carpenters' Trust Funds v. Stone (9th Cir 1986) 794 F2d 508, 512]. A party may not obtain direct appellate review of the entry of default; rather, the party must first file a motion in the trial court to set aside the default [Investors Thrift v. Lam (In re Lam) (9th Cir 1999) 192 F3d 1309, 1311 ; see Fed R Civ P 55(c)].

Cross Reference:

Motions to set aside default, see § 27.19.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsFederal GovernmentClaims By & Against

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.07

27.07 Clerk May Enter Default Judgment Under Particular Circumstances.

27.07[1] Claim Is for Sum Certain. The clerk may enter a default judgment against the defaulting party on application by the plaintiff when the claim against the defaulting party is for a sum certain or a sum that can by computation be made certain [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1); see 27.06[2]; Combs v. Coal & Mineral Mgmt. Servs., Inc. (DDC 1984) 105 FRD 472, 474 (claim is for a sum certain or an amount that can be made certain if the claimed damages are liquidated or if they can be determined by a simple computation that does not require the clerk to exercise any discretion)]. No doubt can exist as to the exact amount the plaintiff is entitled to as a result of the defendant's default [Franchise Holding II, LLC v. Huntington Restaurants Group, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 375 F3d 922, 928-929 (claim was for sum certain when plaintiff presented clerk with documents setting forth formula and figures necessary to compute amount despite defendant's dispute of those figures)].

27.07[2] Party Failed to Appear. The clerk may enter a default judgment against the defaulting party on application by the plaintiff when the default resulted from the defaulting party's "failure to appear," as opposed to misconduct during the litigation [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1); see 27.06[3]; Franchise Holding II, LLC v. Huntington Restaurants Group, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 375 F3d 922, 927-928 ; Eitel v. McCool (9th Cir 1986) 782 F2d 1470, 1471 ("appearance" consists of filing a responsive pleading or motion, filing a notice of appearance, or otherwise making a formal appearance)].

27.07[3] Defaulting Party Is Not Minor, Incompetent, or Military Personnel. The clerk may enter a default judgment against the defaulting party on application by the plaintiff when the defaulting party is not a minor [see Hutton v. Fisher (3d Cir 1966) 359 F2d 913, 915] or an incompetent person [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1)], or when the defaulting party is not currently serving in the military [see 50 USC app § 521].

27.07[4] Defaulting Party Is Not Government. The clerk may enter a default judgment against the defaulting party on application by the plaintiff when the defaulting party is not the United States or an officer or agency of the United States [see Fed R Civ P 55(d)] or the defaulting party is not a foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state [see 28 USC § 1608(e)].

27.07[5] All Defendants Have Defaulted in Multi-Defendant Case. The clerk may enter a default judgment against the defaulting party on application by the plaintiff when, if there are multiple defendants, all of the defendants are in default [see Fed R Civ P 54(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsCourtsClerks of CourtGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.08

27.08 Plaintiff Must Apply for Entry of Default Judgment by Clerk.

27.08[1] Submit Application and Supporting Material. To obtain the entry of a default judgment by the clerk [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1)], the plaintiff should submit the following to the clerk:

- An application for entry of a default judgment.
- A proposed form of judgment.
- Supporting affidavits and declarations, including:
  - An affidavit or declaration identifying the defaulting party and the pleading to which default was entered, and establishing the date of entry of default and the fact that the default was entered for a failure to appear [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1)].
  - A statement of the amount due, which cannot exceed the amount prayed for in the plaintiff's pleading [see Fed R Civ P 54(c), 55(d)].
  - An affidavit or declaration showing that the defaulting party is not in the military service [50 USC app § 521].
  - An affidavit or declaration showing that the defaulting party is not a minor or incompetent person [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)].
  - An affidavit or declaration showing that the defaulting party is not the United States or an agency or officer of the United States [see Fed R Civ P 55(d)].

- An affidavit or declaration showing that the defaulting party is not a foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state [see 28 USC § 1608(e)].

- An itemization of the costs claimed [see Fed R Civ P 54(d), 55(b)(1)].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

If there is any question regarding the clerk's authority to enter a default judgment, it is preferable to apply directly to the court for entry of the default judgment. A court, having considered and granted a default judgment, can be expected to be less willing to vacate its own prior order than to vacate a default judgment entered by the clerk.

The plaintiff should consider filing the application for a default judgment concurrently with the application for entry of default. This may reduce the time and cost of obtaining the desired relief.

Warning:

The amount of the default judgment cannot exceed the amount prayed for in the plaintiff's pleading [see Fed R Civ P 54(c)].

Cross Reference:

Forms for the entry of a default judgment by the clerk, see §§ 27.23 -27.25.

27.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Declaration Must Accompany Application. An application to the clerk for a default judgment must be accompanied by a declaration that includes all of the following [CD Cal Civ LR 55-1; see Philip Morris USA v. Castworld Prods., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 219 FRD 494, 498]:

- When and against which party the default was entered.

- The identification of the pleading to which the default was entered.

- A statement that the defaulting party is not an infant or incompetent person.

- A statement that the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act; see 50 USC App § 521 et seq.) does not apply.

Warning:

The Central District of California has stated that Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2) and CD Cal Civ LR 55-1 provide that notice is required to be given if the party appeared in the action, and that this information must be set forth in the application for default judgment [see Philip Morris USA v. Castworld Prods., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 219 FRD 494, 498].

27.08[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Apply Within 30 Days After Entry of Default. The plaintiff must apply for a default judgment within 30 days after the entry of default. Failure to meet this deadline will result in the issuance of an order to show cause why the pleading against the defaulting party should not be dismissed [SD Cal Civ LR 55.1].

27.08[4] Notice to Defaulting Party Is Not Required. A party applying to the clerk for a default judgment need not give notice of the application to the defaulting party, because notice need not be given to parties that have not appeared [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1); Dow Chem. Pac. Ltd. v. Rascator Maritime, S.A. (2d Cir 1986) 782 F2d 329, 336 ; Walker & Zanger (West Coast) Ltd. v. Stone Design, S.A. (CD Cal 1997) 4 F Supp2d 931, 935].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

Counsel should consider giving notice of the application for a default judgment to the defaulting party, even though it is not required [see Taylor Made Golf Co. v. Carsten Sports, Ltd. (SD Cal 1997) 175 FRD 658, 661]. The default judgment may be less vulnerable to being set aside if the defaulting party had notice of the application.

Distinguish:

The Central District of California has stated that that Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2) and CD Cal Civ LR 55-1 provide that notice is required to be given if the party appeared in the action [see Philip Morris USA v. Castworld Prods., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 219 FRD 494, 498 n2]. The Southern District has no such requirement.

27.08[5] Clerk Will Enter Judgment on Proper Application. On submission of a proper application and supporting documents, the clerk will enter judgment for principal, interest, and costs [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1); SD Cal Civ LR 77.2; see 28 USC §§ 1920, 1923(a)].

27.08[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Attorney's Fees. If a promissory note, contract, or statute applicable to the claim on which a default judgment is entered provides for the recovery of reasonable attorney's fees, the fees may be included in the judgment entered by the clerk, since the precise amount of fees is calculated according to a schedule established by local court rule [see CD Cal Civ LR 55-3]. An attorney claiming a fee in excess of the schedule may file a written request at the time of entry of the default judgment to have the attorney's fee fixed by the court [CD Cal Civ LR 55-3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsCourtsClerks of CourtGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.09

27.09 Obtaining Entry of Default Judgment by Court.

27.09[1] Submit Application and Supporting Papers. To obtain the entry of a default judgment by the court [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)], the plaintiff should submit the following:

- An application for entry of a default judgment.
- A proposed form of judgment.
- Supporting affidavits and declarations, including:
  - An affidavit or declaration identifying the defaulting party and the pleading to which default was entered, and establishing the date of entry of default [see Fed R Civ P 55(a)].
  - A statement of the amount due, which cannot exceed the amount prayed for in the plaintiff's pleading [see Fed R Civ P 54(c)].
  - An affidavit or declaration showing that either (1) the defaulting party is not in military service, (2) the defaulting party is in military service, or (3) the plaintiff is unable to determine whether the defaulting party is in military service [50 USC app § 521(b)(1)].
  - An affidavit or declaration indicating whether the defaulting party is a minor or incompetent person [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)].
  - An affidavit or declaration indicating whether the defaulting party is an agency or officer of the United States [see Fed R Civ P 55(d)].

- An affidavit or declaration indicating whether the defaulting party is a foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state [see 28 USC § 1608(e)].

- Affidavits or declarations establishing the existence of facts underlying equitable factors that weigh in favor of the entry of a default judgment.

- An itemization of the costs and any attorney's fees claimed [see Fed R Civ P 54(d), 55(b)(2)].

- An affidavit or declaration establishing that notice has been served on the defaulting party, if required [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)].

Warning:

The failure to file an affidavit or declaration concerning the defaulting party's military status does not affect the jurisdiction of the court, and any decision rendered by the court on the merits is voidable, not void [see 50 USC app § 521(b); Scheidegg v. Department of Air Force (DNH 1989) 715 F Supp 11, 14 ; Sarfaty v. Sarfaty (ED Pa 1982) 534 F Supp 701, 704].

27.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Declaration Must Accompany Application. An application for a default judgment must be accompanied by a declaration that includes all of the following [CD Cal Civ LR 55-1; see Philip Morris USA v. Castworld Prods., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 219 FRD 494, 498]:

- When and against which party the default was entered.

- The identification of the pleading to which the default was entered.

- Whether the defaulting party is an infant or incompetent person, and if so, whether that person is represented by a general guardian, committee, conservator, or other representative [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)].

- That the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940 (now known as the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act; see 50 USC App § 501 et seq.) does not apply.

- That notice has been served on the defaulting party, if required [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)].

27.09[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Apply Within 30 Days. The plaintiff must apply for a default judgment within 30 days after the entry of default. Failure to meet this deadline will result in the issuance of an order to show cause why the pleading against the defaulting party should not be dismissed [SD Cal Civ LR 55.1].

27.09[4] No Notice Is Required to Defaulting Party Who Has Not Appeared. A defaulting party that has not appeared in the action generally need not be given notice of the application for a default judgment, because notice is required to be given only to parties that have appeared [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2); Walker & Zanger (West Coast) Ltd. v. Stone Design, S.A. (CD Cal 1997) 4 F Supp2d 931, 935].

Distinguish:

If the defaulting party is a minor or incompetent person, his or her representative must appear in the case and must therefore receive notice of the application for a default judgment [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)]. If the defaulting party is a member of the military, the court may not enter a default judgment without first appointing an attorney, who presumably will appear in the action and be entitled to receive notice of the application for a default judgment [50 USC app § 521(b)(2); Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

Counsel should consider giving notice of the application for a default judgment to the defaulting party, even if notice is not required [see Taylor Made Golf Co. v. Carsten Sports, Ltd. (SD Cal 1997) 175 FRD 658, 661]. The default judgment may be less vulnerable to being set aside if the defaulting party had notice of the application.

27.09[5] Provide Notice to Parties That Have Appeared. A party that has appeared in the action must be served with written notice of the application for a default judgment at least seven days before the hearing on the application [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2); see Philip Morris USA v. Castworld Prods., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 219 FRD 494, 498].

A defaulting party's informal act may constitute a sufficient "appearance" in the action to entitle the party to receive notice of the application for default judgment, even though it may not constitute an "appearance" for other purposes [H.F. Livermore Corp. v. Aktiengesellschaft Gebruder Loepfe (DC Cir 1970) 432 F2d 689, 691]. To constitute an "appearance," a defendant's informal act must at least respond in some way to the plaintiff's claim and give a clear indication that the defendant intends to pursue a defense [Direct Mail Specialists, Inc. v. Eclat Computerized Techs., Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 840 F2d 685, 689-690].

Warning:

Failure to provide the required notice to a party that has appeared is a serious procedural irregularity that usually will result in denial or vacatur of the default judgment [Wilson v. Moore & Assocs., Inc. (9th Cir 1977) 564 F2d 366, 369].

Cross Reference:

Notice requirements, see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, § 55.21 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Examples--Informal "Appearance" Triggering Notice:

The following kinds of informal conduct have been found to constitute an "appearance" sufficient to entitle the defaulting party to receive notice of the application for default judgment:

- Mailing a motion to dismiss to opposing counsel, even though the motion was not accepted for filing by the court clerk [see Sun Bank of Ocala v. Pelican Homestead & Sav. Ass'n (5th Cir 1989) 874 F2d 274, 276].

- Retaining counsel who began settlement negotiations and showed plaintiff's counsel (but did not file or serve) a motion for more time to plead [see Muniz v. Vidal (1st Cir 1984) 739 F2d 699, 700-701].

- Making an appearance in a closely related case, such as when a bankruptcy trustee actively litigates in the underlying bankruptcy case an issue that is also material in an adversary proceeding brought in the bankruptcy court [Civic Ctr. Square, Inc. v. Ford (In re Roxford Foods, Inc.) (9th Cir 1993) 12 F3d 875, 881].

Examples--Informal "Appearances" Insufficient to Trigger Notice:

The following kinds of conduct have been found insufficient to constitute an appearance:

- A statement, made by the president of the defendant corporation the day after service of the complaint, that the matter would be referred to the defendant's attorney, because the letter does not indicate an intent to defend [Direct Mail Specialists, Inc. v. Eclat Computerized Techs., Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 840 F2d 685, 689-690].

- Correspondence from the defendant corporation's president to the plaintiff's attorney, because there were no settlement negotiations and the correspondence provided the defendant with actual, unqualified notice that a delay in formally answering the complaint would result in default [Wilson v. Moore & Assocs., Inc. (9th Cir 1977) 564 F2d 366, 369].

- A letter written to the plaintiff, without notifying the court, asserting the defendant's position that the court lacked jurisdiction to hear the action, because the defendant never appeared before the court or expressed an intention to defend the lawsuit [Walker & Zanger (West Coast) Ltd. v. Stone Design S.A. (CD Cal 1997) 4 F Supp2d 931, 935].

- A motion for an extension of time to respond to the complaint, if the motion does not manifest a clear purpose to defend the action, such as by reserving the option of asserting an affirmative defense based on insufficiency of service [Benny v. Pipes (9th Cir 1986) 799 F2d 489, 492-493].

27.09[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Notice of Submission of Claim of Unliquidated Damages. If the amount claimed in an application for a default judgment is unliquidated, the applicant may submit declarations to prove the amount of damages, notice must be given to the defaulting party of the amount requested, and the defaulting party may submit opposing declarations on the amount of damages [CD Cal Civ LR 55-2].

27.09[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Separate Document Required. A proposed default judgment must be submitted as a separate document in compliance with Fed R Civ P 58 [CD Cal Civ LR 58-11]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.10

27.10 Court May Order Hearing.

27.10[1] Court's Discretion. The court has discretion to order a hearing or reference to take an accounting, determine damages, establish the truth of any averment by evidence, or investigate any other matter, if the court deems it necessary to enter a requested default judgment or to carry it into effect [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)].

Before entering a default judgment, the court has an affirmative duty to determine that it has jurisdiction over both the subject matter and the parties. Thus, the court has discretion to conduct a hearing to resolve any doubt about whether it has jurisdiction to enter a judgment against the defaulting party [Tuli v. Republic of Iraq (9th Cir 1999) 172 F3d 707, 712-713].

Cross Reference:

Court's discretion, see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, § 55.20[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

27.10[2] Evidentiary Hearing on Damages May Be Required. If the damages cannot be computed and are not liquidated, they ordinarily must be established by the plaintiff in an evidentiary hearing [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2); see Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1414 ; see also Geddes v. United Fin. Group (9th Cir 1977) 559 F2d 557, 560].

Depending on the circumstances, the court may accept proof of damages that only approximates the actual damages. For example, in a trademark infringement case, a relaxed standard of proof may be applied when the measure of damages is based on the amount of profits of a defaulting defendant that is not cooperating in the damages determination [Taylor Made Golf Co. v. Carsten Sports, Ltd. (SD Cal 1997) 175 FRD 658, 663].

Exception:

If there is a basis in the record for the calculation of damages, an evidentiary hearing need not be held [Davis v. Fendler (9th Cir 1981) 650 F2d 1154, 1161-1162 ; see CD Cal Civ LR 55-2].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

Even under circumstances in which a reasonably approximate damages award is appropriate, the court will insist that the plaintiff produce evidence to support the award. For example, if lost profits are an element of damages, the plaintiff must produce competent factual evidence in support of the requested award; personal opinions unsupported by specific evidence will not suffice [see Original San Francisco Toymakers, Inc. v. Trendmasters, Inc. (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 18557, at *19].

Cross Reference:

Establishing damages, see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, § 55.22 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

27.10[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Proving Damages by Declarations. If the amount claimed in an application for a default judgment is unliquidated, the applicant may submit evidence of the amount of damages by declarations. Notice must be given to the defaulting party of the amount requested, and the defaulting party may submit opposing declarations on the amount of damages [CD Cal Civ LR 55-2].

27.10[4] Hearing Generally Is Not Required to Establish Liability. Once a default has been entered, the allegations in the plaintiff's pleading regarding liability generally are deemed admitted by the defaulting party, and the plaintiff need not prove liability in order to obtain a default judgment [Fed R Civ P 8(b)(6); Geddes v. United Fin. Group (9th Cir 1977) 559 F2d 557, 560].

Warning--Court's Discretion:

The court has discretion to require the plaintiff to submit proof on liability issues [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2); see TeleVideo Sys., Inc. v. Heidenthal (9th Cir 1987) 826 F2d 915, 917-918].

Exception--United States As Defendant:

If the defaulting party is the United States or its officer or agency, the court may not enter a default judgment until the plaintiff has established a claim or right to relief (i.e., liability) by evidence satisfactory to the court [Fed R Civ P 55(e)]. This rule does not prevent the court from entering a default judgment as a sanction for litigation misconduct once the plaintiff has presented a prima facie case [Giampaoli v. Califano (9th Cir 1980) 628 F2d 1190, 1193-1196].

Exception--Foreign State As Defendant:

The plaintiff must adduce evidence of liability if the defaulting party is foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state [28 USC § 1608(e)].

27.10[5] Court May Use Jury. Because the Seventh-Amendment right to trial by jury does not encompass the determination of damages in connection with a default judgment [Adriana Int'l Corp. v. Thoeren (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 1406, 1414 ; Henry v. Sneiders (9th Cir 1974) 490 F2d 315, 318], a jury will be used in connection with the determination of damages only if a statute confers a right to jury trial for the particular claim involved or if the court exercises its discretion to impanel a jury [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2); see also Coleman v. Smith (7th Cir 1987) 814 F2d 1142, 1145].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

The plaintiff should consider requesting that the court exercise its discretion to impanel a jury. A jury may be more receptive to damages claims in certain kinds of cases, such as personal-injury cases or cases involving claims for punitive damages.

27.10[6] Defaulting Party May Participate in Hearing. The defaulting party is entitled to present evidence and be heard at the hearing on the amount of damages [see, e.g., Sony Corp. v. Elm State Elecs., Inc. (2d Cir 1986) 800 F2d 317, 321].

Distinguish:

Although the defaulting party may contest damages, it may not use a damages hearing to raise issues of liability. Therefore, the defaulting party cannot argue that damages should be reduced because of the comparative negligence of the plaintiff, and it cannot dispute proximate cause, if the plaintiff's pleading properly alleges negligence and proximate cause [Greyhound Exhibitgroup, Inc. v. E.L.U.L. Realty Corp. (2d Cir 1992) 973 F2d 155, 159]. Similarly, although the defaulting party may attempt to prove mitigation of damages, it may not seek a setoff of damages by alleging a matter that would establish a compulsory counterclaim [Greyhound Exhibitgroup, Inc. v. E.L.U.L. Realty Corp. (2d Cir 1992) 973 F2d 155, 159-160].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDiscretionCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.11

27.11 Court Has Discretion to Grant or Deny Default Judgment.

The existence of a default does not compel the district court to enter a default judgment [see Draper v. Coombs (9th Cir 1986) 792 F2d 915, 924-925]. Rather, an application for a default judgment is left to the sound discretion of the district court [Alan Neuman Prods., Inc. v. Albright (9th Cir 1988) 862 F2d 1388, 1392 ; see Philip Morris USA v. Castworld Prods., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 219 FRD 494, 498 (defendant's default does not automatically entitle a plaintiff to a court ordered judgment)].

Applying the general terms of Fed R Civ P 60(b) to default judgments, the Ninth Circuit has emphasized that they are appropriate only in extreme circumstances; a case should, whenever possible, be decided on the merits. If there has been no merits decision, appropriate exercise of district court discretion under Rule 60(b) requires that the finality interest should give way fairly readily, to further the competing interest in reaching the merits of a dispute [TCI Group Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 691, 695-696].

Judge's Perspective:

Default judgments are generally disfavored, and whenever reasonably possible, a case should be decided on its merits [see Pena v. Seguros La Comercial, S.A. (9th Cir 1985) 770 F2d 811, 814].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDiscretionCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

80 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.12

27.12 Factors Considered by Court.

The factors considered by a court in ruling on an application for a default judgment include the following [Eitel v. McCool (9th Cir 1986) 782 F2d 1470, 1471-1472 ; see Lasheen v. Loomis Co. (ED Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 56032, at *9-*15]:

- The possibility of prejudice to the plaintiff if a default judgment is denied.
- The substantive merits of the claim against the defaulting party.
- The sufficiency of the complaint or other pleading asserting the claim against the defaulting party.
- The sum of money at stake in the action.
- The possibility of a dispute concerning material facts.
- Whether the default was the result of excusable neglect.
- Whether the default was technical or de minimis [see Draper v. Coombs (9th Cir 1986) 792 F2d 915, 924-925].
- The strong public policy favoring decisions on the merits.

Example--De Minimis Default:
The court may deny a default judgment if the default is de minimis, such as when the defaulting party's answer is filed on the same day as a motion for a default judgment [see Draper v. Coombs (9th Cir 1986) 792 F2d 915, 924-925].

Example--Excusable Neglect:
If a defaulting defendant reasonably believed that the case had been settled prior to the deadline for filing an answer to the complaint, the court is within its discretion to deny a default judgment based on an answer filed soon after the settlement agreement was dissolved. In such a case, the defaulting party's failure to answer within the deadline is the result of excusable neglect [Eitel v. McCool (9th Cir 1986) 782 F2d 1470, 1472].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDiscretionCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.13

27.13 Damages and Other Relief Are Limited to Demand in Pleadings.

If the court grants a default judgment, the judgment may not be different in kind from, or exceed in amount, what was prayed for in the plaintiff's demand for judgment [Fed R Civ P 54(c); see Philip Morris USA v. Castworld Prods., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 219 FRD 494, 501 (in granting motion for default judgment in trademark infringement action, plaintiff awarded statutory damages, injunctive relief, attorney's fees and costs; court noted that these remedies "d[id] not differ from the relief prayed for in the complaint")]. The court may award punitive damages if such an award is demanded in the plaintiff's pleading and is supported by the evidence [see Action S.A. v. Marc Rich & Co. (2d Cir 1991) 951 F2d 504, 509].

In an appropriate case, the court may grant a judgment that reasonably approximates the actual damages, even if the proof of damages is not precise. For example, in a trademark infringement case, a relaxed standard of proof may be applied when the measure of damages is based on the amount of profits of a defaulting defendant that is not cooperating in the damages determination [Taylor Made Golf Co. v. Carsten Sports, Ltd. (SD Cal 1997) 175 FRD 658, 663].

Warning:

Even if the defaulting party appears and participates in the damages hearing, the plaintiff should not attempt to prove damages that differ from the amount demanded in the pleading, or that are based on a different claim from what was alleged in the pleading, unless the plaintiff is willing to have the court set aside the default. Generally, the court will not allow an amendment of the claims asserted in the pleading without reopening the case to give the defendant an opportunity to respond to the new matter [see Fong v. United States (9th Cir 1960) 300 F2d 400, 406, 413].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsCivil ProcedureRemediesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral Overview

82 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.14

27.14 Defaulting Party's Financial Condition Cannot Be Considered.

In determining the amount of a default judgment, the court may not consider evidence of the defaulting party's financial condition [Geddes v. United Fin. Group (9th Cir 1977) 559 F2d 557, 560].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral OverviewEvidenceRelevanceGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.15

27.15 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Attorney's Fee Schedule.

If a promissory note, contract, or statute applicable to the claim on which a default judgment is entered provides for the recovery of reasonable attorney's fees, the fees are to be calculated according to a schedule established by local court rule [see CD Cal Civ LR 55-3]. An attorney claiming a fee in excess of the schedule may file a written request at the time of entry of the default judgment to have the attorney's fee fixed by the court [CD Cal Civ LR 55-3; see Philip Morris USA v. Castworld Prods., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 219 FRD 494, 502 (granting motion for default judgment in trademark infringement action, attorney's fees awarded because trademark infringement found to be "deliberate and willful" under section 1117(a) of the Lanham Act)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesReasonable FeesCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesStatutory AwardsCivil ProcedureRemediesDamagesGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

84 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.16

27.16 Special Requirements Exist for Particular Defaulting Parties.

27.16[1] Minors or Incompetents. A court may not grant a default judgment against a minor or incompetent person unless the person is represented in the action by a general guardian, committee, conservator, or other similar representative who has appeared in the action [Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)].

Warning:

An incompetent person need not have been formally adjudged incompetent to be protected against the entry of a default judgment while unrepresented. If the court has information that a party is incompetent, the court may not enter a default judgment against that party without first appointing a guardian ad litem, who must receive notice of the application for a default judgment [see Zaro v. Strauss (5th Cir 1948) 167 F2d 218, 220].

27.16[2] Members of Military. Unless an affidavit or declaration is filed showing that the defaulting party is not a member of the military, if the defaulting party is not already represented by an attorney, the court may not grant a default judgment until the court has appointed an attorney to represent the defaulting party and protect his or her interest [see 50 USC app § 521].

The court may require, as a condition of granting a default judgment against a defaulting party who might be a member of the military, that the plaintiff post a bond conditioned to indemnify the defaulting party, if in the military, against any loss or damage that he or she may suffer by reason of the judgment if the judgment is eventually set aside in whole or in part [50 USC app § 521(b)(3)].

The court may render any order or judgment that it finds necessary to protect the rights of a defaulting party who is a member of the military [50 USC app § 521(b)(3)].

27.16[3] United States. Although liability for purposes of a default judgment is usually established if the plaintiff's pleading states a claim, if the defaulting party is the United States or an officer or agency of the United States, the plaintiff must establish its claim by evidence satisfactory to the court [Fed R Civ P 55(d)].

27.16[4] Foreign State. If the defaulting party is a foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state, the plaintiff must establish its claim by evidence satisfactory to the court [28 USC § 1608(e)].

27.16[5] Multi-Defendant Case. If all defendants have defaulted, a default judgment against all of them may be obtained in accordance with the procedures applicable when there is only one defendant [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)].

If there are multiple defendants, but only some of them have defaulted, the court may award a default judgment against the defaulting parties only on an express determination that there is no just reason for delay and on an express direction for the entry of the judgment [Fed R Civ P 54(b)]. In deciding whether there is reason for delay, the court will consider whether a judgment against the defaulting defendants would be inconsistent with an eventual judgment in favor of the other defendants [see Frow v. De La Vega (1872) 82 US 552, 554, 21 L Ed 60 ; Shanghai Automation Instrument Co. v. Kuei (ND Cal 2001) 194 F Supp2d 995, 1005-1010].

Warning:

If the theory of recovery is such that the defaulting defendant cannot be liable unless a nondefaulting defendant is liable, a default judgment will not be entered until after the liability of the nondefaulting defendant has been determined [Frow v. De La Vega (1872) 82 US 552, 554, 21 L Ed 60]. Thus, whenever a judgment against the defaulting defendant would be logically inconsistent with a possible judgment in favor of a nondefaulting defendant, a default judgment will not be entered until after the liability of the nondefaulting defendant has been determined [Frow v. De La Vega (1872) 82 US 552, 554, 21 L Ed 60 ; Nielson v. Chang (9th Cir 2001) 253 F3d 520, 532].

Examples:

A decision on an application for a default judgment should be deferred in the following situations:

- If multiple defendants are alleged to be jointly (but not severally) liable, and one defendant defaults, then that defendant's default may be entered--barring that defendant from contesting liability--but a decision on an application for a default judgment will be deferred until after the liability of the nondefaulting defendants has been determined. If the nondefaulting defendants are later found not liable, then to ensure consistency the court will not enter judgment against the defaulting defendant. If the nondefaulting defendants are later found liable, then the court will enter judgment against the defaulting defendants as well [Frow v. De La Vega (1872) 82 US 552, 554, 21 L Ed 60 ; Nielson v. Chang (9th Cir 2001) 253 F3d 520, 532-533].

- If a defaulting corporate defendant is alleged to be the "alter ego" of a nondefaulting individual defendant such that the individual defendant would be vicariously liable for a judgment against the corporation, and if the suit asserts the same claims against both defendants, a default judgment should not be entered against the corporation. In such a situation, a default judgment against the corporation would be inconsistent with an eventual judgment in favor of the individual defendant [see Harrell v. DCS Equip. Leasing Corp. (5th Cir 1992) 951 F2d 1453, 1459].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsFederal GovernmentClaims By & AgainstMilitary & Veterans LawServicemembersGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.17

27.17 Effect of Entry of Default Judgment.

27.17[1] Default Judgment Is Final Judgment. A default judgment is a final, appealable judgment [Recreational Props., Inc. v. Southwest Mortgage (5th Cir 1986) 804 F2d 311, 313].

Warning:

Even though a default judgment is a final judgment, the party against whom the judgment was entered may not appeal to obtain relief from the judgment on the basis of insufficient service unless that party has first made a motion to the trial court to set aside the default judgment [Consorzio Del Prosciutto di Parma v. Domain Name Clearing Co. (9th Cir 2003) 346 F3d 1193, 1195 ; see Fed R Civ P 55(c), 60(b)].

Cross Reference:

Grounds and procedures for obtaining relief from a default judgment, see § 27.21 and 27.22.

27.17[2] Default Judgment Has Claim-Preclusive Effect. Even though the defaulting party is precluded from contesting liability, a default judgment is considered a final judgment on the merits for purposes of the claim-preclusion (res judicata) doctrine [Riehle v. Margolies (1929) 279 US 218, 225, 49 S Ct 310, 73 L Ed 669].

27.17[3] Default Judgment Lacks Issue-Preclusive Effect. Because liability issues ordinarily are not actually litigated in a case of default, a default judgment does not preclude litigation of those issues in a subsequent case [In re Gottheiner (9th Cir 1983) 703 F2d 1136, 1139-1140 ; see Klingman v. Levinson (7th Cir 1987) 831 F2d 1292, 1296].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultDefault JudgmentsCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultRelief From DefaultCivil ProcedureAppealsReviewabilityPreservation for Review

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.18

27.18 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Relief From Default.

☐ Immediately on learning that client is alleged to be in default, file notice of appearance, so as to be entitled to receive notice of further proceedings in case.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)

Discussion:
See § 27.04

Form:
See § 27.32

☐ If default (but not default judgment) has been entered, determine whether grounds exist to set aside default, based on following:

○ Improper entry of default, because prerequisites for entry of default were not satisfied, for example:

☐ Because of defective service of pleading on party against whom default was entered.

☐ Party against whom default was entered had in fact served or filed timely responsive pleading or motion.

○ Good cause exists to set aside default, considering:

☐ Defaulting party has meritorious defense.

☐ Plaintiff would suffer minimal or no prejudice from setting aside of default.

☐ Defaulting party was not culpable in allowing default to occur.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(c)

Discussion:
See § 27.19

☐ Prepare written motion to set aside default.

○ Specify circumstances constituting good cause to set aside default.

○ File motion within reasonable time.

○ Follow standard noticed motion procedure.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(c)

Discussion:
See § 27.19

Form:
See § 27.33

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

☐ If application for default judgment is pending, determine whether grounds exist to oppose entry of default judgment.

○ Consider whether following factors weigh against entry of default judgment:

☐ Lack of prejudice to plaintiff if default judgment is denied.

☐ Substantive merits of the claim against the defaulting party.

☐ Sufficiency of the complaint or other pleading asserting claim against defaulting party.

☐ Sum of money at stake in action.

☐ Possibility of dispute concerning material facts.

☐ Whether default was result of excusable neglect.

☐ Whether default was technical or de minimis.

☐ Strong public policy favoring decisions on merits.

○ Consider whether amount of damages sought by plaintiff is supported by evidence.

○ Consider whether evidence supports plaintiff's allegations regarding liability, if defaulting party is any of following:

☐ United States or officer or agency of United States.

☐ Foreign state or political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of foreign state.

○ If claim against defaulting party is joined with other claims against nondefaulting parties, consider whether circumstances weigh in favor of denying or delaying default judgment until after liability of nondefaulting parties is determined.

Authority:

28 USC § 1608(e); Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2), (d)

Discussion:

See § 27.20

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.37

☐ If default judgment has been entered, determine whether grounds exist to vacate default judgment.

○ Consider whether default was result of excusable neglect, in light of following factors:

☐ Culpability of defaulting party's conduct.

☐ Existence of meritorious defense.

☐ Possible prejudice to plaintiff if default judgment is set aside.

○ Consider whether default judgment is void, based on any of following circumstances:

☐ Lack of subject-matter jurisdiction.

☐ Lack of personal jurisdiction over defaulting party.

☐ Insufficient service of process.

☐ Defaulting party's lack of actual notice of claim.

☐ Plaintiff's failure to give required notice of application for entry of default judgment.

○ Consider whether other grounds for relief from default judgment exist, such as:

☐ Mistake, surprise, inadvertence.

☐ Extraordinary circumstances.

☐ Fraud.

☐ Defaulting party's active military status.

Authority:
50 USC app § 521; Fed R Civ P 55(c), 60(b)

Discussion:
See § 27.21

☐ If default judgment has been entered, move to set aside default judgment.

○ Prepare written motion establishing grounds for relief from default judgment.

○ File motion in timely manner, based on following:

☐ Generally, motion must be filed within reasonable time after entry of default judgment.

☐ If ground for motion is mistake, inadvertence, surprise, excusable neglect, newly discovered evidence, fraud, misrepresentation, or other misconduct of adverse party, reasonable time may not exceed one year after entry of default judgment.

☐ If ground for motion is defaulting party's active military service when default judgment was entered, motion must be filed within 90 days after termination of defaulting party's service.

☐ Motion to set aside void judgment is not subject to any time limit.

○ Follow standard noticed motion procedure.

Authority:
50 USC app § 521; Fed R Civ P 55(c), 60(b)

Discussion:
See § 27.22

Form:
See § 27.34

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultRelief From Default

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
III. OBTAINING RELIEF FROM DEFAULT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.19

27.19 Moving to Set Aside Default.

27.19[1] Recognize That Default Is Disfavored. In exercising its discretion on a motion to set aside a default, the court will resolve any doubts in favor of granting the motion, based on the general preference for resolving cases on their merits [McManus v. American States Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2000) 201 FRD 493, 499-500].

27.19[2] Argue That Entry of Default Was Improper. The court may set aside a default if the pleading on which default was entered was not properly served on the party against whom default was entered, or if that party did in fact serve a timely responsive pleading or motion [see Fed R Civ P 55(a)].

Cross Reference:

Deadlines for responding to pleadings, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.05.

27.19[3] Good Cause to Set Aside Default Must Exist. The court may set aside a default for "good cause" [Fed R Civ P 55(c)]. In determining whether "good cause" exists, the court will consider the following [Mendoza v. Wight Vineyard Mgmt. (9th Cir 1986) 783 F2d 941, 946]:

- Whether the defaulting party has a meritorious defense.
- Prejudice that would be suffered by the plaintiff if the default is set aside.
- The defaulting party's culpability in allowing the default to occur.

The court may deny the motion based on any one factor [Franchise Holding II, LLC v. Huntington Restaurants Group, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 375 F3d 922, 926]. The "good cause" standard for setting aside the entry of default is the same as the "excusable neglect" standard for setting aside a default judgment [see Fed R Civ P 50(c), 60(b)(1); Franchise Holding II, LLC v. Huntington Restaurants Group, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 375 F3d 922, 926 ; TCI Group Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 691, 696].

Example:

Good cause did not exist for setting an entry of default when defense counsel blamed the failure to timely file an answer on the installation of a new computer system in his office which caused data, including the office calendar and filing deadlines, to be lost. The court concluded that the failure to timely file an answer was culpable conduct, and noted that counsel (1) failed to provide satisfactory explanations for, among other things, why he had no back up or copies; and (2) ignored communications from plaintiff's counsel advising him the deadline had passed and offering a two-day extension. Defendants also failed to demonstrate a potentially meritorious defense [Cohen v Murphey (ND Cal 2004) 222 FRD 416, 417-418].

Cross Reference:

Good cause standard, see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, § 55.50[1][a] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

27.19[4] Bring Motion Within Reasonable Time. A motion to set aside the entry of default, under Fed R Civ P 55(c), must be brought within a reasonable time [Dow Chem. Pac. Ltd. v. Rascator Maritime, S.A. (2d Cir 1986) 782 F2d 329, 336].

Warning:

If the defaulting party files a late responsive pleading, the court may treat the filing as a motion to set aside the default [McMillen v. J.C. Penney Co. (D Nev 2002) 205 FRD 557, 558].

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

27.19[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Cross-Examination of Declarant. On motions to be relieved from default and other motions for which an issue of fact is to be determined, not later than 14 days before the hearing, a party desiring to cross-examine any declarant who is not beyond the subpoena power of the court and who is reasonably available to the party offering the declaration may serve by hand (or facsimile) and file a notice of request to cross-examine the declarant... . The court may, in the alternative, order that the cross-examination be done by deposition taken on two days' notice with the transcript being lodged five days before the hearing [CD Cal Civ LR 7-8]

27.19[6] Prepare for Imposition of Conditions. In granting a motion to set aside a default, the court may require the defaulting party to post security for costs or for the amount of the eventual judgment [Powerserve Int'l, Inc. v. Lavi (2d Cir 2001) 239 F3d 508, 514-516 ; see Nilsson, Robbins, Dalgarn, Berliner, Carson & Wurst v. Louisiana Hydrolec (9th Cir 1988) 854 F2d 1538, 1546-1547]. The court may also require the defaulting party to pay reasonable expenses incurred by the plaintiff in securing the default and in opposing the motion to set aside the default [see Coon v. Grenier (1st Cir 1989) 867 F2d 73, 79].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDiscretionCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultRelief From Default

88 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
III. OBTAINING RELIEF FROM DEFAULT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.20

27.20 Opposing Application for Default Judgment.

27.20[1] Defaulting Party's Argument. The defaulting party can argue that the court should exercise its discretion and refuse to grant the application for a default judgment. The existence of a default does not compel the district court to enter a default judgment [see Draper v. Coombs (9th Cir 1986) 792 F2d 915, 924-925]. Moreover, default judgments are generally disfavored, and whenever reasonably possible, a case should be decided on its merits [see Pena v. Seguros La Comercial, S.A. (9th Cir 1985) 770 F2d 811, 814].

The factors considered by a court in ruling on an application for a default judgment include the following [Eitel v. McCool (9th Cir 1986) 782 F2d 1470, 1471-1472]:

- The possibility of prejudice to the plaintiff if a default judgment is denied.
- The substantive merits of the claim against the defaulting party.
- The sufficiency of the complaint or other pleading asserting the claim against the defaulting party.
- The sum of money at stake in the action.
- The possibility of a dispute concerning material facts.
- Whether the default was the result of excusable neglect.
- Whether the default was technical or de minimis [see Draper v. Coombs (9th Cir 1986) 792 F2d 915, 924-925].
- The strong public policy favoring decisions on the merits.

27.20[2] Opposing Amount of Damages Claimed. Even if the defaulting party lacks a basis to oppose, or elects not to oppose, a default judgment, the defaulting party may contest the amount of unliquidated damages claimed by the plaintiff [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2); CD Cal Civ LR 55-2].

Cross Reference:

Damages limited to demand in pleadings, see § 27.13.

27.20[3] Contesting Liability of Certain Government Defendants.

27.20[3][a] United States. Although a defaulting party generally is barred from contesting liability [see Fed R Civ P 8(b)(6)], if the defaulting party is the United States or an officer or agency of the United States, the plaintiff must establish its claim by evidence satisfactory to the court [Fed R Civ P 55(d)]. In such a case, the defaulting defendant may contest liability as if the default had not occurred.

27.20[3][b] Foreign Government. Although a defaulting party generally is barred from contesting liability [see Fed R Civ P 8(b)(6)], if the defaulting party is a foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state, the plaintiff must establish its claim by evidence satisfactory to the court [28 USC § 1608(e)]. In such a case, the defaulting defendant may contest liability as if the default had not occurred.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDiscretionCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultRelief From Default

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
III. OBTAINING RELIEF FROM DEFAULT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.21

27.21 Grounds for Vacating Default Judgment.

27.21[1] Mistake, Inadvertence, Surprise, or Excusable Neglect. The district court may relieve a party from a judgment or order for reason of "mistake, inadvertence, surprise, or excusable neglect," provided that the party moves for relief not more than a year after the judgment was entered [Fed R Civ P 60(b); TCI Group Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 691, 696-697].

A showing of lack of culpability sufficient to meet the Fed R Civ P 55(c) "good cause" standard for setting aside default is ordinarily sufficient also to demonstrate the "excusable neglect" or "mistake" criteria under Fed R Civ P 60(b)(1). There is therefore no reason to require that those 60(b)(1) criteria be established separately [Meadows v. Dominican Republic (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 517, 521]. That is, if a defendant's conduct was not "culpable," then the failure to respond to a lawsuit is ordinarily "excusable," and in the interests of substantial justice, the better course may well be to vacate the default judgment and decide the case on the merits [see American Alliance Ins. Co. v. Eagle Ins. Co. (2d Cir 1996) 92 F3d 57, 61]. If, however, the defendant presents no meritorious defense, then nothing but pointless delay can result from reopening the judgment [see Hawaii Carpenters' Trust Funds v. Stone (9th Cir 1986) 794 F2d 508, 513]. Similarly, if reopening the judgment would actually prejudice the plaintiff who has diligently pursued the claim, then the interest in finality should prevail [TCI Group Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 691, 696-697].

Whether a party's neglect is excusable is essentially an equitable determination based on all relevant circumstances, including (1) the danger of prejudice to the adverse party; (2) the length of any delay caused by the neglect and its effect on the proceedings; (3) the reason for the neglect, including whether it was within the reasonable control of the moving party; and (4) whether the moving party acted in good faith [Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd. P'ship (1993) 507 US 380, 394-396, 113 S Ct 1489, 123 L Ed2d 74].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of mistake, inadvertence, surprise, and excusable neglect, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, § 60.41 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)

Examples--Excusable Neglect:

A negligent or intentional failure to respond to a pleading may be deemed excusable if the defaulting party offers a credible, good-faith explanation negating any intention to take advantage of the adverse party, interfere with judicial decisionmaking, or otherwise manipulate the legal process [TCI Group Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 691, 697-698]. For example, excusable neglect has been found in the following circumstances:

- In an intra-family lawsuit over the proceeds of life insurance, a widow's failure to file a responsive pleading was excusable neglect, because the widow was unfamiliar with legal matters, was distraught because of the recent death of her spouse, was in a psychiatrist's care for severe depression, was taking several strong psychoactive medications, and was in the process of selling her home and moving herself and her two children to another state [TCI Group Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 691, 697-699].

- A failure to respond to a complaint because the defendants believed the court lacked subject-matter jurisdiction under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act [see 28 USC §§ 1330, 1601 et seq.] was excusable neglect. The defendants' conduct was not culpable because it did not hinder judicial proceedings as to which subject matter jurisdiction was unchallenged [Gregorian v. Izvestia (9th Cir 1989) 871 F2d 1515, 1522].

- A failure to respond to a complaint because the defendant was leaving the country for medical treatment was found to be excusable neglect, because the defendant's default was for understandable reasons and was in no way designed to obtain a strategic advantage in the litigation [Falk v. Allen (9th Cir 1984) 739 F2d 461, 464 (per curiam)].

- That the defaulting party's attorney suffered from an incapacitating mental condition was found sufficient to excuse a default [Tri-Continental Leasing Corp. v. Zimmerman (ND Cal 1980) 485 F Supp 495, 497].

Examples--Neglect Not Excusable:

A negligent or intentional failure to respond to a pleading may be deemed culpable or inexcusable if there is no explanation of the default that is inconsistent with a devious, deliberate, willful, or bad-faith failure to respond, especially if the defendant was sophisticated or experienced enough to understand the legal process [TCI Group Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 691, 698-699]. For example, inexcusable conduct has been found in the following circumstances:

- Defendant's conduct was culpable because defendant provided the opposing party with an incorrect address, precluding normal service of process, and because defendant failed to secure replacement counsel, as required by local rules, even though defendant had clear notice of the need to obtain counsel [Employee Painters' Trust v. Ethan Enters., Inc. (9th Cir 2007) 480 F3d 993, 1000].

- The defendants' conduct in allowing a default was culpable because they ignored the summons and complaint despite frequent consultations with their lawyers during the time for filing an answer, and because they filed false affidavits claiming they had not been served [Kingvision Pay-Per-View Ltd. v. Lake Alice Bar (9th Cir 1999) 168 F3d 347, 350].

- A defendant insurance company's conduct was culpable because it had provided its customers and state regulators with an incorrect address, precluding service of process on the company [Pena v. Seguros La Comercial, S.A. (9th Cir 1985) 770 F2d 811, 815].

- A defendant's conduct was found culpable, because the defendant did not admit who he was and refused to accept service from the process server and then retained counsel to check the court's docket for a return of service [Alan Neuman Prods., Inc. v. Albright (9th Cir 1988) 862 F2d 1388, 1390].

- A defendant corporation's failure to respond to a complaint was not excusable, even though the complaint had been lost by a commercial courier that was supposed to deliver it from the defendant's agent to the defendant's claims office, because the defendant had taken no steps to establish minimum internal procedural safeguards to ensure receipt of the complaint, and when the complaint was not delivered, the defendant never attempted to obtain another copy of it [Rogers v. Hartford Life & Accident Ins. Co. (5th Cir 1999) 167 F3d 933, 938-939].

- The conduct of foreign defendants in defaulting was found culpable because they were aware of the relevant law, were fully informed of the legal consequences of failing to respond, and were sufficiently sophisticated to protect their interests [Meadows v. Dominican Republic (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 517, 522].

- The conduct of a foreign defendant was found culpable because it demonstrated that it was sufficiently sophisticated and familiar with the U.S. legal process by retaining local counsel to protect its interests in other matters [Richmark Corp. v. Timber Falling Consultants, Inc. (9th Cir 1991) 937 F2d 1444, 1449].

- That the defaulting party's attorney was busy generally will not excuse the attorney's neglect in allowing the default to occur. The Supreme Court has stated that "[i]n assessing the culpability of respondents' counsel, we give little weight to the fact that counsel was experiencing upheaval in his law practice" at the time of the filing deadline [Pioneer Inv. Servs. Co. v. Brunswick Assocs. Ltd. P'ship (1993) 507 US 380, 398, 113 S Ct 1489, 123 L Ed2d 74].

- A pro se litigant's default was not excusable neglect, because she had had adequate time before her response was due to retain counsel or file a request for an extension of time to respond, both of which were within her abilities, and because she consistently ignored court orders and hearing dates up to the moment the default judgment was entered [Jones v. Phipps (7th Cir 1994) 39 F3d 158, 163-164].

Cross Reference:

Challenging default judgment, see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, § 55.50[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

27.21[2] Void Judgment. A default judgment may be set aside if it is void, that is, if the rendering court lacked jurisdiction of the subject matter or of the parties, or if it acted in manner inconsistent with due process of law [Fed R Civ P 60(b)(4); see O'Rourke Bros. v. Nesbitt Burns, Inc. (7th Cir 2000) 201 F3d 948, 951].

Distinguish:

A void judgment is not synonymous with an erroneous judgment. Even gross errors do not render a judgment void [O'Rourke Bros. v. Nesbitt Burns, Inc. (7th Cir 2000) 201 F3d 948, 951]. Rather, a judgment is void if the rendering court was without power to enter it [United States v. Walker (1983) 109 US 258, 266, 3 S Ct 277, 27 L Ed 927].

Examples:

A default judgment is void if one of the following circumstances exists:

- The district court lacked subject-matter jurisdiction [United States v. Forma (2d Cir 1994) 42 F3d 759, 762].

- The district court lacked personal jurisdiction over the defaulting party [Veeck v. Commodity Enters., Inc. (9th Cir 1973) 487 F2d 423, 426].

- Proper service of the summons and complaint on the defendant was not made [Peralta v. Heights Med. Ctr., Inc. (1988) 485 US 80, 85-87, 108 S Ct 896, 99 L Ed2d 75 ; Mason v. Genisco Tech. Corp. (9th Cir 1991) 960 F2d 849, 851]; see SEC v. Internet Solutions for Business Inc. (9th Cir 2007) 509 F3d 1161, 1165 ("signed return of service constitutes prima facie evidence of valid service which can be overcome only by strong and convincing evidence")].

- The defendant never received actual notice of the action before the answer was due [Peralta v. Heights Med. Ctr., Inc. (1988) 485 US 80, 85-87, 108 S Ct 896, 99 L Ed2d 75 ; Walker & Zanger (West Coast) Ltd. v. Stone Design S.A. (CD Cal 1997) 4 F Supp2d 931, 934].

- The defendant was not provided with notice of the application for a default judgment, if required [see Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2); see also Walker & Zanger (West Coast) Ltd. v. Stone Design S.A. (CD Cal 1997) 4 F Supp2d 931, 934].

Warning:

The issues of improper service and lack of personal jurisdiction will be waived if the defendant appears to contest the amount of damages at the hearing on the application for a default judgment, unless the defendant expressly reserves those issues [see Jackson v. Heiser (9th Cir 1940) 111 F2d 310, 312-313 ; Trustees of Cent. Laborers' Welfare Fund v. Lowery (7th Cir 1991) 924 F2d 731, 733-734].

Cross Reference:

Void judgments, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, § 60.44 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

27.21[3] Extraordinary Circumstances. In addition to several specific grounds for relief, a court may grant relief from a judgment for "any other reason that justifies relief" [Fed R Civ P 60(b)(6)]. This provision has been held to apply only if there are reasons for relief other than those set out in the more specific clauses of Fed R Civ P 60(b), and only if the asserted ground for relief amounts to "extraordinary circumstances" [see Liljeberg v. Health Servs. Acquisition Corp. (1988) 486 US 847, 863-864, n11, 108 S Ct 2194, 100 L Ed2d 855 ; Klapprott v. United States (1949) 335 US 601, 604-609, 69 S Ct 384, 93 L Ed 266].

Relief under Fed R Civ P 60(b)(6) requires both an injury to the defaulting party and circumstances beyond that party's control that prevented the proper prosecution or defense of the action [United States v. Washington (9th Cir 2005) 394 F3d 1152, 1157 ; see, e.g., Harvest v. Castro (9th Cir 2008) 531 F3d 737, 749 (state was not entitled to relief under Fed R Civ P 60(b)(6), allowing it more time to retry petitioner, because state failed to demonstrate that there were any "circumstances beyond its control," and state's counsel acknowledged that his error was "professionally inexcusable")].

Example--Extreme Misconduct by Attorney:

Ordinarily, a party will be bound by the negligent acts or omissions of his or her counsel. However, the Ninth Circuit has held that an attorney's extreme negligence or egregious misconduct may constitute extraordinary circumstances warranting relief from default under Fed R Civ P 60(b)(6) [Community Dental Servs. v. Tani (9th Cir 2002) 282 F3d 1164, 1168-1170]. In one case, for example, a default judgment was entered after the defendant's attorney had "virtually abandoned" the defendant by failing to proceed with the defense. Specifically, the attorney had failed to sign a stipulation offered by the plaintiff to extend the time to file an answer, filed the answer late, failed to serve a copy of the answer on the plaintiff despite a direct court order to do so, failed to attend various proceedings in the case, and falsely told the defendant that the case was proceeding properly. The Ninth Circuit held that, considering all the circumstances, the attorney's gross negligence entitled the defendant to relief from the default judgment [Community Dental Servs. v. Tani (9th Cir 2002) 282 F3d 1164, 1171-1172].

27.21[4] Fraud. The court has discretion to vacate a default judgment that was entered through the fraud, misrepresentation, or other misconduct of an opposing party [Fed R Civ P 60(b)(3)].

27.21[5] Defaulting Party's Active Military Status. Under the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act, a judgment rendered against a defaulting party while he or she is in the military service, or within 60 days after he or she leaves the service, must be reopened on application of the defaulting party or his or her representative if both of the following circumstances exist [50 USC app § 521(g)(1)]:

- The defaulting party was materially affected by reason of the military service in making a defense to the action; and

- The defaulting party has a meritorious or legal defense to the action or some part of it.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultRelief From DefaultCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentExcusable Neglect & MistakesExcusable NeglectCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentExtraordinary CircumstancesCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentVoid Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
III. OBTAINING RELIEF FROM DEFAULT

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.22

27.22 Moving to Vacate Default Judgment.

27.22[1] File Timely Motion.

27.22[1][a] Motion Generally Must Be Filed Within Reasonable Time. A motion to set aside a default judgment generally must be brought within a reasonable time [Fed R Civ P 55(c), 60(b)].

27.22[1][b] Motion Based on Excusable Neglect Must Be Filed Within One Year. The "reasonable time" within which the motion must be made cannot exceed one year after the entry of the default judgment if the ground for setting aside the judgment is excusable neglect or the related grounds of mistake, surprise, and inadvertence [Fed R Civ P 60(b)].

Warning:

Even if a motion to set aside a default judgment based on excusable neglect is filed within one year after the entry of judgment, the motion may still be deemed untimely if the delay in making the motion was unreasonable [see, e.g., White v. American Airlines, Inc. (10th Cir 1990) 915 F2d 1414, 1425].

27.22[1][c] No Time Limit for Motion Based on Void Judgment. A motion to set aside a default judgment because it is void may be brought at any time [Meadows v. Dominican Republic (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 517, 521].

Cross Reference:

Void judgment, see § 27.21[2].

27.22[1][d] Ninety-Day Limit for Motion by Former Member of Military. If the motion to set aside the default judgment is made under the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act, based on the defaulting party's status in the military service when the judgment was entered, the motion must be brought not later than 90 days after the termination of the defaulting party's service [50 USC app § 521(g)(2)].

Cross Reference:

Grounds for setting aside a default judgment under the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act, see § 27.21[5].

27.22[2] Motion Must Set Forth Grounds for Relief. A motion to set aside a default judgment should assert and document the applicable grounds for relief [see Fed R Civ P 60(b)]. The motion should include an application to set aside the entry of default under Fed R Civ P 55(c).

Cross Reference:

Form, see 27.34.

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12.

Warning:

Because some defenses (personal jurisdiction, improper venue, insufficient process, or insufficient service) may be waived if not asserted at the first opportunity [see Fed R Civ P 12(h)(1)], a motion to set aside a default judgment generally should assert all of the applicable defenses that the defaulting party has against the plaintiff's claim for relief [see Fed R Civ P 12(g) (motion to dismiss under Rule 12 may be joined with any other motion); American Ass'n of Naturopathic Physicians v. Hayhurst (9th Cir 2000) 227 F3d 1104, 1107 (party who by motion invites court to pass on threshold defense should bring forward all the Rule 12(h)(1) defenses he then has and thus allow the court to do a reasonably complete job); see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, § 8.15[3]].

27.22[3] Defaulting Party Has Burden of Proof. The defaulting party has the burden of proving the existence of conditions that justify setting aside the default judgment [Cassidy v. Tenorio (9th Cir 1988) 856 F2d 1412, 1415]. However, the burden on a party seeking to vacate a default judgment is not extraordinarily heavy [TCI Group Life Ins. Plan v. Knoebber (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 691, 700].

The court's discretion in deciding a motion to set aside a default judgment is guided by three general considerations [Direct Mail Specialists, Inc. v. Eclat Computerized Techs., Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 840 F2d 685, 690]:

- Since Fed R Civ P 60(b) is remedial in nature, it must be liberally applied.
- Default judgments are generally disfavored, and cases should be decided on their merits.
- If a party seeks timely relief from a default judgment and has a meritorious defense, any doubt should be resolved in favor of granting the motion to set aside the default judgment.

27.22[4] Court May Impose Conditions in Setting Aside Default Judgment. In granting relief from a default judgment, the court may impose "just terms" [Fed R Civ P 60(b)].

Examples:

In granting a motion to set aside a default judgment, the court may require the defaulting party to post security for costs or for the amount of the eventual judgment [Powerserve Int'l, Inc. v. Lavi (2d Cir 2001) 239 F3d 508, 514-516 ; Nilsson, Robbins, Dalgarn, Berliner, Carson & Wurst v. Louisiana Hydrolec (9th Cir 1988) 854 F2d 1538, 1546-1547]. The court may also require the defaulting party to pay reasonable expenses incurred by the plaintiff in securing the default and in opposing the motion to set aside the default judgment [Coon v. Grenier (1st Cir 1989) 867 F2d 73, 79].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

If the defaulting party seeks to set aside the default judgment, the plaintiff may have a sensitive decision to make, depending on the circumstances of the case. If the default is not obviously willful and not egregious, and if the plaintiff cannot show specific prejudice, it may be counterproductive to resist reinstating the action. In such a case the default probably will be set aside [see Direct Mail Specialists, Inc. v. Eclat Computerized Techs., Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 840 F2d 685, 690], and resistance may cause the court to perceive the plaintiff as seeking an unfair or disproportionate benefit. On the other hand, the plaintiff should consider seeking terms and conditions for the setting aside of the default that are fair and justified under the circumstances.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultRelief From DefaultCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentExcusable Neglect & MistakesExcusable NeglectCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentVoid Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.23

27.23 Application to Clerk for Entry of Default.

Application to Clerk for Entry of Default.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	APPLICATION FOR ENTRY OF DEFAULT
	)
	)

To the Clerk of the United States District Court for the _____ District of California:

_____ [Identify party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] requests that the Clerk enter the default of _____ [identify defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] for failure to plead or otherwise defend in a timely manner as provided by Rule 55 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

This request is based on the attached _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], which shows the following:

(1) The _____ [e.g., Defendant] was served with the _____ [e.g., summons and complaint] pursuant to Rule 4(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure on _____ [date], as evidenced by the proof of service on file with this court.

(2) The _____ [e.g., Defendant] has failed to plead or otherwise respond to the _____ [e.g., complaint].

(3) The applicable time limit for responding has expired.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [e.g., Plaintiff John Smith]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(a)

Grounds for Entry of Default by Clerk:
See § 27.04

Application for Entry of Default by Clerk:
See § 27.05

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsCourtsClerks of Court

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.24

27.24 Declaration in Support of Application to Clerk for Entry of Default.

Declaration in Support of Application to Clerk for Entry of Default.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	DECLARATION IN SUPPORT OF APPLICATION
	)	FOR ENTRY OF DEFAULT
	)

I, _____ [name of declarant], declare as follows:

1. I am _____ [e.g., the Plaintiff or the attorney for the Plaintiff] in this action.

2. On _____ [date of service], _____ [defaulting party's status and name, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] was properly served with the _____ [e.g., summons and complaint] in this action in accordance with Rule 4(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, as evidenced by the proof of service on file with this court, a true and correct copy of which is attached to this declaration.

3. _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] has failed to serve or file a pleading or otherwise respond to the _____ [e.g., complaint].

4. The applicable time limit for responding to the _____ [e.g., complaint] has expired, as follows: _____ [Set forth facts showing that applicable time limit under Fed R Civ P 12(a), as extended by agreement of the parties or by court order under Fed R Civ P 6(b), has expired, e.g., Under Rule 12(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Defendant Mary Jones was required to plead or otherwise respond to the complaint by June 1, 2004, but has failed to do so. The time to plead or otherwise respond to the complaint has not been extended by any agreement of the parties or any order of the Court].

I declare under penalty of perjury [if executed outside United States or its territories, add: under the laws of the United States of America] that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on _____ [date]

_____ [signature of declarant]

_____ [typed or printed name of declarant]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1746; Fed R Civ P 55(a)

Grounds for Entry of Default by Clerk:
See § 27.04

Application for Entry of Default by Clerk:
See § 27.05

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsCourtsClerks of Court

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.25

27.25 Application to Clerk for Entry of Default Judgment.

Application to Clerk for Entry of Default Judgment.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	APPLICATION FOR ENTRY OF DEFAULT
	)	JUDGMENT
	)

To the Clerk of the United States District Court for the _____ District of California:

_____ [Identify party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] requests the entry of a default judgment against _____ [identify defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones], pursuant to Rule 55(b)(1) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, in the amount of $_____.

In support of this request, _____ [e.g., the Plaintiff] has attached the following:

_____ [Affidavit(s) or Declaration(s)] of _____ [name(s)] showing the following:

(1) That a default was entered against _____ [e.g., the Defendant] on _____ [date].

(2) _____ [e.g., The Plaintiff's] claim against _____ [e.g., the Defendant] is for a sum certain or a sum that can by computation be made certain.

(3) _____ [e.g., The Defendant] is not a minor or an incompetent person.

(4) _____ [e.g., The Defendant] is not currently serving in the military.

(5) _____ [e.g., The Defendant] is not an officer or agency of the United States.

(6) _____ [e.g., The Defendant] is not Defaulting party is not a foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state.

(7) The amount of judgment to be entered, which is the principal amount due and owing to _____ [e.g., the Plaintiff], plus interest and costs that have been or will necessarily be incurred in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [e.g., Plaintiff John Smith]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1)

When Clerk Is Authorized to Enter Default Judgment:
See § 27.07

Application for Entry of Default Judgment by Clerk:
See § 27.08

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsCourtsClerks of Court

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.26

27.26 Declaration in Support of Application to Clerk for Entry of Default Judgment.

Declaration in Support of Application to Clerk for Entry of Default Judgment.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	DECLARATION IN SUPPORT OF APPLICATION
	)	FOR
	)	ENTRY OF DEFAULT JUDGMENT

I, _____ [name of declarant], declare as follows:

1. I am _____ [e.g., the Plaintiff or the attorney for the Plaintiff] in this action.

2. A default has been entered against _____ [defaulting party's status and name, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] for failure to appear in this action by responding to the _____ [e.g., complaint] after being properly served. The default was entered by the Clerk on _____ [date].

3. _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not a minor or an incompetent person.

4. _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not currently in the military service [if appropriate, add:, as further evidenced by the attached Declaration Regarding Military Status of Defaulting Party], and therefore the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act does not apply.

5. _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not an officer or agency of the United States.

6. _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not a foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state.

7. As stated in the _____ [e.g., complaint], _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] owes _____ [me or the Plaintiff] $_____, itemized as follows:

[Specify principal amount, reflecting any credits for payments received, plus interest and costs, e.g.:]

Principal amount due:	$$_____
Less credits for payments made:
1. Payment of _____ [date]	$_____
2. Payment of _____ [date]	$_____
3. Payment of _____ [date]	$
Total amount of payments:	$_____
For a net principal amount due of:	$_____
Plus accrued interest at a per diem rate of _____ [rate] per cent for _____ [number of days] from the due date of _____ [date] to the present date of _____ [date]:	$_____
plus $_____ /day from the present date until entry of judgment.
Plus costs and taxable disbursements:
1. Filing fee:	$_____
2. Cost of process server:	$_____
3. Motion fees/entry of default	$_____
4. Motion fees/this motion	$
Total costs and disbursements:	$_____
Total amount of judgment to be entered:	$_____

8. The amounts described above are justly due and now owing, and no part has been paid except as set forth above.

I declare under penalty of perjury [if executed outside United States or its territories, add: under the laws of the United States of America] that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on _____ [date]

_____ [signature of declarant]

_____ [typed or printed name of declarant]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1608(e), 1746; 50 USC app § 521; Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1); CD Cal Civ LR 55-1

When Clerk Is Authorized to Enter Default Judgment:
See § 27.07

Application for Entry of Default Judgment by Clerk:
See § 27.08

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsCourtsClerks of Court

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.27

27.27 Default Judgment Entered by Clerk.

Default Judgment Entered by Clerk.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	DEFAULT JUDGMENT
	)
	)

On _____ [date], _____ [party seeking default judgment, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] applied for a default judgment against _____ [defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones].

Based on the application and the accompanying _____ [specify, e.g., affidavits or declarations], it appears that:

1. _____ [Defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] has failed to appear in this action by timely pleading or responding to, or otherwise defending against, the _____ [e.g., the complaint] in this action after being properly served with that _____ [e.g., complaint]. Accordingly, default was entered against _____ [defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] under Rule 55(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure on _____ [date].

2. _____ [Defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not a minor, an incompetent person, or a current member of the military service.

3. _____ [Defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not a foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state.

4. _____ [Defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is indebted to _____ [party seeking default judgment, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] for the principal sum of $_____ [principal amount due] based on _____ [identify basis for claim of sum certain or for computation of amount due, e.g., the promissory note referred to in the complaint].

THEREFORE, judgment is hereby entered under Rule 55(b)(1) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure against _____ [defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] in the principal amount of $_____, along with prejudgment interest in the amount of $_____, accruing from _____ [date principal first became due] at the annual rate of _____ [specify legal or contractual rate of prejudgment interest] percent, and costs in the amount of $_____ [amount of costs taxed by clerk], for a total judgment of $_____.

IT IS SO ORDERED.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature of clerk]

_____ [typed or printed name of clerk]

Clerk of the Court

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1608(e); 50 USC app § 521; Fed R Civ P 55(b)(1); CD Cal Civ LR 58-11

Clerk's Power to Enter Default Judgment:
See § 27.07

Applying to Clerk for Entry of Default Judgment:
See § 27.08

Form of Application to Clerk for Entry of Default Judgment:
See § 27.23

Form of Default Judgment Entered by Court:
See § 27.31

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsGovernmentsCourtsClerks of Court

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.28

27.28 Notice of Application and Application for Entry of Default Judgment by Court.

Notice of Application and Application for Entry of Default Judgment.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF APPLICATION AND APPLICATION
_____ [name],	)	FOR ENTRY OF DEFAULT JUDGMENT
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will apply to this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for a default judgment, pursuant to Rule 55(b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, against _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones].

At the hearing, _____ [e.g., the Plaintiff] will show the following:

[If defaulting party failed to appear]

1. _____ [e.g., The Defendant] failed to appear in this action.

[OR, if defaulting party has appeared]

1. _____ [e.g., The Defendant] has been served with notice of this application on _____ [date] by _____ [specify method of service], as required by Rule 55(b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, as shown by the attached proof of service.

[CONTINUE]

2. Default has been entered against _____ [e.g., the Defendant] on _____ [date] for failure to respond to _____ [e.g., the complaint].

3. _____ [e.g., The Plaintiff] is entitled to a judgment in the amount of $ _____, as detailed in the attached _____ [affidavits(s) or declaration(s)].

4. _____ [e.g., The Defendant is currently serving in the military or The Defendant is not currently serving in the military or The Plaintiff cannot determine whether the Defendant is currently serving in the military].

[If appropriate, add]

5. _____ [e.g., The Defendant] is not a minor or an incompetent person.

6. _____ [e.g., The Defendant] is not an officer or agency of the United States.

7. _____ [e.g., The Defendant] is not foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state.

[CONTINUE]

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

This application is based on this Notice of Application and Application, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of application and application; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)

Contents of Application:
See § 27.09

Notice Requirements:
See § 27.09

Hearing on Application:
See § 27.10

Court's Ruling on Application:
See §§ 27.11 -27.13

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.29

27.29 Declaration in Support of Application to Court for Entry of Default Judgment by Court.

Declaration in Support of Application to Court for Entry of Default Judgment.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	DECLARATION IN SUPPORT OF APPLICATION
	)	TO COURT FOR ENTRY OF DEFAULT JUDG-)	MENT

I, _____ [name of declarant], declare as follows:

1. I am _____ [e.g., the Plaintiff or the attorney for the Plaintiff] in this action.

2. A default has been entered against _____ [defaulting party's status and name, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] for failure to plead to or otherwise defend against the _____ [e.g., complaint] after being properly served. The default was entered by the Clerk on _____ [date].

[If defaulting party failed to appear]

3. _____ [e.g., The Defendant] failed to appear in this action.

[OR, if defaulting party or defaulting party's representative has appeared]

3. _____ [e.g., The Defendant] has been served with notice of the accompanying Application for Default Judgment on _____ [date] by _____ [specify method of service], as required by Rule 55(b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, as shown by the attached proof of service.

[CONTINUE]

[Indicate whether defaulting party is minor or incompetent person, e.g.:]

4. _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not a minor or an incompetent person.

[Indicate whether defaulting party is in military service, e.g.:]

5. _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not currently in the military service [if appropriate, add:, as further evidenced by the attached Declaration Regarding Military Status of Defaulting Party], and therefore the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act does not apply.

[Indicate whether defaulting party is officer or agency of United States, e.g.:]

6. _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not an officer or agency of the United States.

[Indicate whether defaulting party is foreign state or related entity, e.g.:]

7. _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not a foreign state or a political subdivision, agency, or instrumentality of a foreign state.

[CONTINUE]

8. As stated in the _____ [e.g., complaint], _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] owes _____ [me or the Plaintiff] $_____, itemized as follows: _____ [specify principal amount, reflecting any credits for payments received, plus prejudgment interest if appropriate].

9. The amounts described above are justly due and now owing, and no part has been paid except as set forth above.

10. To date _____ [I have or the Plaintiff has] incurred costs of suit in the amount of $ _____, itemized as follows: _____ [specify] [if appropriate, add:, plus attorney's fees in the amount of $_____, itemized as follows: _____ (specify)].

I declare under penalty of perjury [if executed outside United States or its territories, add: under the laws of the United States of America] that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on _____ [date]

_____ [signature of declarant]

_____ [typed or printed name of declarant]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1746; Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2); CD Cal Civ LR 55-1

Contents of Application:
See § 27.09

Notice Requirements:
See § 27.09

Hearing on Application:
See § 27.10

Court's Ruling on Application:
See §§ 27.11 -27.13

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.30

27.30 Declaration Regarding Military Status of Defaulting Party.

Declaration Regarding Military Status of Defaulting Party.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	DECLARATION REGARDING MILITARY
	)	STATUS OF DEFAULTING PARTY
	)

I, _____ [name of declarant], declare as follows:

1. I am _____ [e.g., the attorney for the Plaintiff] in this action. I am making this declaration pursuant to the requirements of the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act.

[Choose one of the following, as appropriate.]

2. _____ [Defaulting party's status and name, e.g., Defendant ABC Enterprises] is a legal entity, specifically a _____ [identify type of entity, e.g., a corporation, rather than a natural person, and therefore is not a member of the military service.

[OR]

2. Following an investigation that included _____ [set forth steps taken to investigate defendant's military status], I have determined that, to the best of my knowledge, _____ [defaulting party's status and name, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not in the military service.

[OR]

2. Following an investigation that included _____ [set forth steps taken to investigate defendant's military status], I am unable to determine whether _____ [defaulting party's status and name, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is in the military service. [Add if desired: I therefore request that the Court appoint an attorney to represent _____ [e.g., the Defendant], as required by the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act.

[OR]

2. Following an investigation that included _____ [set forth steps taken to investigate defendant's military status], I have determined that _____ [defaulting party's status and name, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is currently serving in _____ [specify branch of military service, e.g., the United States Navy] and is not represented by counsel. I therefore request that the Court appoint an attorney to represent _____ [e.g., the Defendant], as required by the Servicemembers Civil Relief Act.

[CONTINUE]

I declare under penalty of perjury [if executed outside United States or its territories, add: under the laws of the United States of America] that the foregoing is true and correct

Executed on _____ [date]

_____ [signature of declarant]

_____ [typed or printed name of declarant]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1746; 50 USC app § 521

Contents of Application for Entry of Default Judgment:

See § 27.09

Special Requirements for Default Judgment Against Member of Military:

See § 27.16[2]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsMilitary & Veterans LawServicemembersGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.31

27.31 Default Judgment Entered by Court.

Default Judgment Entered by Court.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	DEFAULT JUDGMENT
	)
	)

On _____ [date of hearing or other consideration of application for default judgment], the Court considered the application of _____ [party seeking default judgment, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] for a default judgment against _____ [defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] under Rule 55(b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

After considering the papers submitted in support of [if applicable, add: and in opposition to] the application, and the papers on file in this action, [if hearing was held, add: as well as the evidence offered at the hearing on the application], the Court finds as follows:

1. _____ [Defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] has failed to appear in this action by timely pleading or responding to, or otherwise defending against, the _____ [e.g., the complaint] in this action after being properly served with that _____ [e.g., complaint]. Accordingly, the clerk entered default against _____ [defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] under Rule 55(a) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure on _____ [date].

[Choose one of the following, as appropriate]

2. _____ [Defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is not a minor, an incompetent person, or a current member of the military service.

[OR]

2. _____ [Defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is _____ [a minor or an incompetent person or a current member of the military service] and was represented in this action by _____ [name of guardian, representative, or attorney], who was served with _____ [e.g., the complaint] in this action and with notice of this application [if hearing was held, add: and of the hearing on the application].

[CONTINUE]

3. _____ [Defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] is liable to _____ [party seeking default judgment, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] for damages in the amount of $ _____.

THEREFORE, it is ordered that judgment be entered under Rule 55(b)(2) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure against _____ [defaulting party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] as follows:

_____ [state terms of judgment, e.g., That Plaintiff John Smith recover from Defendant Mary Jones the sum of $_____, together with costs in the amount of $_____, and attorney's fees in the amount of $_____, for a total judgment of $ _____].

IT IS SO ORDERED.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature of Judge]

_____ [typed or printed name of Judge]

United States District Judge

NOTES.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2); CD Cal Civ LR 58-11

Applying to Court for Entry of Default Judgment:

See § 27.09

Form of Default Judgment Entered by Clerk:
See § 27.27

Form of Application to Court for Entry of Default Judgment:
See § 27.28

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.32

27.32 Notice of Appearance.

Notice of Appearance.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	NOTICE OF APPEARANCE BY ATTORNEY FOR )	_____ [DEFENDANT or THIRD-PARTY DEFENDANT]
	)

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that I have been retained by, and hereby appear for, _____ [identify party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] in this action.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [e.g., Defendant Mary Jones]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(b)(2)

Effect of Appearance by Defaulting Party:
See § 27.09[5]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultDefault JudgmentsCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.33

27.33 Notice of Motion and Motion to Set Aside Default.

Notice of Motion and Motion to Set Aside Default.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO SET
_____ [name],	)	ASIDE DEFAULT
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for the following:

(A) pursuant to Rule 55(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, an order setting aside the default entered in this action on _____ [date] against _____ [moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones], on the grounds that _____ [specify, e.g., entry of default was improper because Defendant was never served with the complaint in this action or there is good cause to set aside the default, in that the Defendant's default was the result of excusable neglect, the Defendant has a meritorious defense, and setting aside the default would not prejudice the Plaintiff]; and

(B) an order granting further relief as may be appropriate.

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(c)

Local Practice--Clerk Can Sign Order:
ND Cal Civ LR 77-2(b); SD Cal Civ LR 77.2(b)

Grounds for Granting Motion:

See § 27.19[2],[3]

Time for Making Motion:

See § 27.19[4]

Supporting Memorandum and Affidavits:

See 10 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 55:41-55:43

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultRelief From Default

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-27 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 27.34

27.34 Notice of Motion and Motion to Set Aside Default Judgment.

Notice of Motion and Motion to Set Aside Default Judgment.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO SET
_____ [name],	)	ASIDE DEFAULT JUDGMENT
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for the following:

(A) pursuant to Rules 55(c) and 60(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, an order setting aside the default judgment entered in this action on _____ [date] against _____ [moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones], on the grounds that _____ [specify, e.g., the default judgment is void because the court lacks subject-matter jurisdiction over this action or the Defendant's default was the result of excusable neglect, the Defendant has a meritorious defense, and setting aside the default would not prejudice the Plaintiff]; and

(B) an order granting further relief as may be appropriate.

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 55(c), 60(b)

Grounds for Granting Motion:
See § 27.21

Time for Making Motion:
See § 27.22[1]

Contents of Motion:
See § 27.22[2]

Court's Ruling on Motion:
See § 27.22[4]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultRelief From DefaultCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.syn

§ 28.syn Synopsis to Chapter 28: Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial

28.01 Scope.

28.02 Objective and Strategy.

28.03 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Involuntary Dismissal.

28.04 Involuntary Dismissal Under Rule 41(b).

28.04[1] When Defendant May Move for Dismissal.

28.04[2] When Dismissal Constitutes Adjudication on Merits.

28.04[3] "Lack of Jurisdiction" Exception Interpreted Broadly.

28.05 LOCAL PRACTICE: Involuntary Dismissal Under Rule 41(b).

28.05[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Dismissal of Actions.

28.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Dismissal for Want of Prosecution and Failure to Comply With Local Rules.

28.06 Party Opposing Counterclaim, Crossclaim, or Third-Party Claim May Move for Dismissal.

28.07 Procedure for Dismissal Motion.

28.08 Court May Dismiss Action Sua Sponte.

28.09 Dismissal for Failure to Prosecute.

28.10 Dismissal for Failure to Amend Complaint After Dismissal With Leave to amend.

28.11 Dismissal for Failure to Comply With Rules Regarding Pleading Requirements.

28.12 Rule 41(b) Applies to Class Actions.

28.13 Factors Considered in Dismissal As Sanction.

28.13[1] Five Factors Considered.

28.13[2] Prior Warning.

28.13[2][a] Prior Warning Is Considered.

28.13[2][b] Prior Warning May Be Required for Sua Sponte Dismissal.

28.13[2][c] Express Warning Not Required for Dismissal Following Motion.

28.13[3] Public's Interest in Expeditious Resolution.

28.13[4] Court's Need to Manage Docket.

28.13[5] Risk of Prejudice to Defendant.

28.13[5][a] Prejudice Results From Impairment of Defendant's Ability to Proceed or Threatened Interference.

28.13[5][b] Failure to Prosecute Alone Justifies Dismissal.

28.13[5][c] Unreasonable Delay Results in Rebuttable Presumption of Prejudice.

28.13[5][d] Burden of Production Shifts to Defendant Following Plaintiff's Excuse.

28.13[5][e] Dismissal Reviewed for Both Prejudice and Delay.

28.13[6] Importance of Disposition on Merits.

28.13[7] Less Drastic Alternatives.

28.13[7][a] Court Should Consider Alternatives.

28.13[7][b] Court Need Not Exhaust All Alternatives.

28.13[7][c] Pursuit of Alternatives Prior to Disobedience of Court Order Is Insufficient.

28.13[7][d] Explicit Discussion of Alternatives Is Not Necessarily Required.

28.13[8] Dismissal Is Extreme Penalty.

28.13[8][a] Dismissal Is Appropriate Only in Extreme Circumstances.

28.13[8][b] Harshness of Dismissal With Prejudice Is Directly Proportionate to Likelihood of Plaintiff's Success.

28.14 Dismissal May Result Whether Delay Is Caused by Attorney or Client or Both.

28.15 Effect of Dismissal.

28.15[1] Dismissal Operates As Adjudication on Merits.

28.15[2] Judgment on Merits Not Necessarily Entitled to Claim-Preclusive Effect.

28.15[3] Claim-Preclusive Effect of Federal-Court Judgment in Federal-Question Case Determined by Supreme Court.

28.15[4] Federal Common Law Governs Claim-Preclusive Effect of Dismissal by Federal Court Sitting in Diversity.

28.15[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Effect of Dismissal.

28.15[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Effect of Dismissal.

28.16 Dismissal of Complaint Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.

28.17 CHECKLIST: Opposing Involuntary Dismissal.

28.18 Options and Strategies for Opposing Involuntary Dismissal.

28.19 Motion Fails to State Grounds for Dismissal or Is Otherwise Insufficient.

28.20 Plaintiff Did Not Violate Rule or Court Order, or Should Not Be Harshly Penalized.

28.21 Delay Was Reasonable or Justified.

28.22 Less Drastic Alternatives.

28.23 Prior Warning.

28.24 Defendant or Opposing Counsel Contributed to Malfeasance.

28.25 Degree of Plaintiff's Personal Responsibility for Malfeasance Is Relatively Slight.

28.26 Pro Se Litigants.

28.26[1] Inartful Pleadings of Pro Se Litigant Liberally Construed.

28.26[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Pro Se Party's Address and Telephone Number Required.

28.27 Dismissal Considered Too Early in Proceedings.

28.28 Dismissal Is Excessively Harsh.

28.29 Factors Insufficient to Oppose Dismissal.

28.30 Notice of Motion and Motion to Dismiss for Failure to Prosecute, or Failure to Comply With Court Order or Federal Rules.

28.31 Dismissal Order for Failure to Prosecute.

28.32 Dismissal Order for Failure to Comply With Order.

104 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
I. STRATEGY

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.01

28.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Involuntary dismissals under Rule 41(b) [see 28.05 -28.14; Forms: 28.30 -28.32].
- Effect of involuntary dismissals [see 28.15].
- Appellate review of dismissals [see 28.16].
- Opposition to involuntary dismissals [see 28.18 -28.28].

Core Rule:
Fed R Civ P 41(b).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to Prosecute

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
I. STRATEGY

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.02

28.02 Objective and Strategy.

Counsel should consult local rules regarding dismissal of actions. In the Central District, civil suits pending for an unreasonable amount of time without action may be dismissed. In the Southern District, actions or proceedings pending for more than six months without action may be dismissed [see 28.05[1], [2]].

Because a dismissal with prejudice is a severe sanction, the moving party should describe in detail how the plaintiff has failed to satisfy its obligations and has prejudiced the other parties. A moving party arguing that plaintiff has unreasonably delayed the action should show how the delay has resulted in actual prejudice. Additionally, the motion to dismiss is more likely to be granted if the plaintiff has engaged in a pattern of improper conduct, especially if the plaintiff has violated previous court orders. Otherwise, the moving party should consider lesser sanctions, such as attorney's fees [see 28.07].

The moving party should ensure that the dismissal order specifically states whether dismissal is with or without prejudice to avoid any confusion [see 28.15[5], [6]].

To avoid dismissal, plaintiff's counsel should emphasize that the plaintiff will be damaged by not being allowed to remedy the harm caused to the defendant; the plaintiff's conduct was not improper, was an isolated instance, or was caused by circumstances outside the plaintiff's control; the conduct was the fault of the plaintiff's counsel; or the defendant has not been prejudiced. When appropriate, consider agreeing to a lesser sanction or asking that the dismissal be without prejudice [see 28.18].

Plaintiff may also argue that the court did not provide notice or warning of an imminent dismissal, although an express warning is not required following a noticed motion [see 28.23].

Counsel for the plaintiff should consider reporting discovery disputes or delays to the court, regardless of any agreement of the parties. Otherwise, the court might dismiss the action sua sponte irrespective of any agreement [see 28.08].

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

8 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 41, Dismissal of Actions (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 41, Dismissal of Actions (Matthew Bender).

Cross Reference:

For tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication, at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ProsecuteCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsHearingsCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsMotionsCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.03

28.03 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Involuntary Dismissal.

☐ Consider moving for involuntary dismissal of claimant's action or claim based on claimant's failure to [Fed R Civ P 41(b), (c)]:

- ○ Prosecute the case.
- ○ Comply with Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
- ○ Comply with court orders.

☐ Include in motion for involuntary dismissal:

- ○ A request for order dismissing claimant's action or claim pursuant to Rule 41(b).
- ○ A clear statement of ground for dismissal.
- ○ A statement that claimant was on notice that failure would result in dismissal, if accurate.
- ○ An explanation of relevant factors supporting dismissal, such as:
  - ☐ Public interest favors expeditious resolution of litigation.

☐ Balancing court's interest in managing docket with claimant's interest in receiving due process tips in favor of dismissal.

☐ Plaintiff's conduct has prejudiced defendant.

☐ Sanctions less drastic than dismissal would be ineffective.

○ Supporting authority.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 41(b), (c)

Discussion:

See §§ 28.05 -28.14

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Forms:

see §§ 28.30 -28.32

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ComplyCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ProsecuteCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsMotions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.04

28.04 Involuntary Dismissal Under Rule 41(b).

28.04[1] When Defendant May Move for Dismissal. A defendant may move for dismissal of an action or of any claim against the defendant if the plaintiff [Fed R Civ P 41(b)]:

- Fails to prosecute.
- Fails to comply with the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
- Fails to comply with an order of the court.

In ruling on the motion to dismiss, the court will balance the interests of efficient docket management with the public policy of deciding cases on their merits [Mann v. Lewis (8th Cir 1997) 108 F3d 145, 147 ; Campbell v. Apt. Inv. & Mgmt. Co. (ND Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 70227, at *4].

Cross Reference:

Factors considered in dismissal, see § 28.13.

28.04[2] When Dismissal Constitutes Adjudication on Merits. Unless the court in its order for dismissal otherwise specifies, a dismissal under Fed R Civ P 41(b) and any dismissal not provided for in Fed R Civ P 41 operates as an adjudication on the merits, except for a dismissal for [Fed R Civ P 41(b); see Semtek Int'l Inc. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2001) 531 US 497, 501, 121 S Ct 1021, 149 L Ed2d 32]:

- Lack of jurisdiction [see 28.04[3]].
- Improper venue.
- Failure to join a party under Fed R Civ P 19.

The preclusive effect of judgments rendered by a federal court hearing a state law claim (diversity or supplemental jurisdiction) is governed by federal common law. With respect to some questions, such as the effect of a dismissal on statute of limitations grounds, the content of federal common law will be borrowed from the law of the state in which the federal court sits [see Semtek Int'l Inc. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2001) 531 US 497, 508-509, 121 S Ct 1021, 149 L Ed2d 32 ; 18 Moore's Federal Practice, § 130.02 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)]. Under California law, a dismissal on limitations grounds is not a dismissal on the merits [Ritchey v. Upjohn Drug Co. (9th Cir 1998) 139 F3d 1313, 1319].

"Adjudication on the merits" applies to dismissals based on other rules, such as Fed R Civ P 12(b) [see Stewart v. U.S. Bancorp (9th Cir 2002) 297 F3d 953, 956-957].

Cross References:

Failure to join party under Fed R Civ P 19, see Ch. 4, Determining Parties to Action, see §§ 4.41 -4.51. Voluntary dismissal under Fed R Civ P 41(a), see Ch. 30, Voluntary Dismissal. Dismissal under Fed R Civ P 12(b), see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see §§ 8.14 -8.22.

28.04[3] "Lack of Jurisdiction" Exception Interpreted Broadly. The Supreme Court has read broadly Fed R Civ P 41(b)'s "lack of jurisdiction" exception to involuntary dismissals constituting an adjudication on the merits, giving the concept of jurisdiction meaning beyond its traditional personal and subject matter usages. The exception encompasses dismissals based on a plaintiff's failure to comply with a precondition requisite to the court's determining the merits of the substantive claim [Costello v. United States (1961) 365 US 265, 285, 81 S Ct 534, 5 L Ed2d 551 ; see Stewart v. U.S. Bancorp (9th Cir 2002) 297 F3d 953, 956-957 (applying provision of Rule 41(b) to dismissal under Fed R Civ P 12(b))].

Example:

The government's denaturalization complaint was dismissed because of its failure to attach an affidavit of good cause. Because the affidavit was a precondition to the court's ability to go forward on the merits, the dismissal was deemed to be for "lack of jurisdiction" and without prejudice [see Costello v. United States (1961) 365 US 265, 285, 81 S Ct 534, 5 L Ed2d 551 ; see also Stewart v. U.S. Bancorp (9th Cir 2002) 297 F3d 953, 956-957 (discussing Costello, and applying provision of Rule 41(b) to dismissal under Fed R Civ P 12(b))].

Cross Reference:

Effect of dismissal, see § 28.15.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ComplyCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ProsecuteCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsMotionsCivil ProcedureJudgmentsPreclusion & Effect of JudgmentsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.05

28.05 LOCAL PRACTICE: Involuntary Dismissal Under Rule 41(b).

28.05[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Dismissal of Actions. In the Central District of California, civil suits that have been pending for an unreasonable period of time without any action having been taken may, after notice, be dismissed for want of prosecution [CD Cal Civ LR 41-1].

If any action dismissed under CD Cal Civ LR 41-1 is reinstated, the court may impose such sanctions as it deems just and reasonable [CD Cal Civ LR 41-3].

If any action dismissed under CD Cal Civ LR 41-1 is refiled as a new action, the party filing the later action must comply with the requirements of CD Cal Civ LR 83-1.2.2 [CD Cal Civ LR 41-4; see CD Cal Civ LR 83-1.2.2 (requirements for refiling actions)].

If a party, without notice to the court, fails to appear at the noticed call of any action or proceeding, the matter is subject to dismissal for want of prosecution [CD Cal Civ LR 41-5].

A party proceeding pro se must keep the court and opposing parties apprised of the party's current address and telephone number, if any, and e-mail address, if any. If mail directed by the clerk to a pro se plaintiff's address of record is returned undeliverable by the Postal Service and if, within 15 days of the service date, the plaintiff fails to notify, in writing, the court and opposing parties of his or her current address, the court may dismiss the action with or without prejudice for want of prosecution [CD Cal Civ LR 41-6].

28.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Dismissal for Want of Prosecution and Failure to Comply With Local Rules. Actions or proceedings pending in the District Court for the Southern District of California for more than six months, without any proceeding or discovery having been taken during this period, may, after notice, be dismissed by the court for want of prosecution, at the calling of a calendar prepared for that purpose by the clerk [SD Cal Civ LR 41.1(a)].

Failure to comply with the provisions of the local rules for the Southern District of California may also be grounds for dismissal under SD Cal Civ LR 41.1 [SD Cal Civ LR 41.1(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesSelf-RepresentationGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ProsecuteGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.06

28.06 Party Opposing Counterclaim, Crossclaim, or Third-Party Claim May Move for Dismissal.

The provisions of Fed R Civ P 41 apply to the dismissal of any counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party claim [Fed R Civ P 41(c)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Rule 41's applicability to counterclaims, crossclaims, and third-party claims, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.60 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsImpleaderCivil ProcedureDismissalsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.07

28.07 Procedure for Dismissal Motion.

Rule 41 does not set forth any particular procedure for a defendant's motion for dismissal [see Fed R Civ P 41(b)].

Cross References:

Motion procedure generally, including local rules, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

The moving party should clearly state the ground for dismissal. A motion is inappropriate if the moving party offers no theory, argument, supporting authority, or evidence to augment a motion, beyond merely stating that it is made under Rule 41(b). If the court's presumed basis is not what defendant intended, then defendant's lack of clarity in articulating a cognizable basis is equally problematic. Either way, the failure to adequately support the motion in this context is fatal [see Florens Container v. Cho Yang Shipping (ND Cal 2002) 245 F Supp2d 1086, 1089 (denying motions to dismiss and transfer venue brought alternatively)].

A hearing to determine the necessity of the dismissal and the credibility of the plaintiff's explanation is generally held [see Colon v. Mack (2d Cir 1995) 56 F3d 5, 7], depending on the particular judge.

Cross Reference:

Procedure for involuntary dismissal, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.50[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

Because a dismissal with prejudice is a severe sanction, the moving party should marshal as much evidence as possible concerning the plaintiff's conduct that has led to the motion. The moving party should describe all of the various ways the plaintiff has failed to satisfy its obligations (e.g., ignoring statutory or court imposed deadlines, failing to attend hearings, not opposing motions, not providing discovery or witnesses for depositions) and has prejudiced the other parties (e.g., losing the opportunity to obtain testimony because a witness died before the plaintiff would make the witness available for a deposition, causing other parties to incur fees to force the plaintiff's compliance with deadlines, wasting the time of other parties' executives who appeared for depositions that the plaintiff noticed but then failed to attend). The motion to dismiss is more likely to be granted if the court understands that the plaintiff has engaged in a pattern of improper or dilatory conduct, especially if the plaintiff has violated previous court orders, and if the other parties have been prejudiced by this conduct. If the motion is based merely on one or two instances of misconduct or one missed deadline, the court is less likely to dismiss the case. In that situation, the moving party has a greater chance of success if it moves for some kind of lesser sanctions, such as its attorney's fees for having to force the plaintiff's compliance.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsMotions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.08

28.08 Court May Dismiss Action Sua Sponte.

A court may sua sponte dismiss an action under Fed R Civ P 41(b) [see, e.g., Moore v. United States (ND Cal 2000) 193 FRD 647, 652-653]. The authority of a court to dismiss sua sponte for lack of prosecution has generally been considered an inherent power, governed not by rule or statute but by the control necessarily vested in courts to manage their own affairs to achieve the orderly and expeditious disposition of cases [see Link v. Wabash R.R. Co. (1962) 370 US 626, 630-631, n4, 82 S Ct 1386, 8 L Ed2d 734 ; Henderson v. Duncan (9th Cir 1986) 779 F2d 1421, 1423].

A sua sponte dismissal may be vulnerable to reversal if the court does not first consider less drastic alternatives and/or give the plaintiff a warning and an opportunity to rectify its conduct [see, e.g., Oliva v. Sullivan (9th Cir 1992) 958 F2d 272, 274]. However, the absence of notice as to the possibility of dismissal or the failure to hold an adversary hearing does not necessarily render a sua sponte dismissal void [Link v. Wabash R.R. Co. (1962) 370 US 626, 632, 82 S Ct 1386, 8 L Ed2d 734].

Warning--Plaintiff:

Regardless of the desirability of resolving discovery disputes and delays via agreement of the parties, counsel for the plaintiff should consider reporting discovery issues to the court. Otherwise, the court might dismiss the action sua sponte irrespective of any agreement.

Cross References:

Warning factor, see § 28.13[2]. Less drastic alternatives, see § 28.13[7].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to Prosecute

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.09

28.09 Dismissal for Failure to Prosecute.

Federal actions must be prosecuted with reasonable diligence [Television Signal Corp. v. City & County of San Francisco (ND Cal 2000) 193 FRD 645, 647]. The failure to prosecute diligently is sufficient by itself to justify a dismissal, even in the absence of a showing of actual prejudice to the defendant from the failure [Morris v. Morgan Stanley & Co. (9th Cir 1991) 942 F2d 648, 651].

In dismissing a case for lack of prosecution, the court must find unreasonable delay [In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1451 ; see Campbell v. Apt. Inv. & Mgmt. Co. (ND Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 70227, at *3-*4 (plaintiffs failed to respond to discovery, provided no explanation for failure, did not participate in settlement, did not communicate with their own counsel, and generally refused to participate in any meaningful way)]. Financial difficulties do not excuse a plaintiff's delay [In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1451-1452].

Example:

In an adversarial bankruptcy proceeding, the trustee who filed the proceeding took no action for four years. The trustee's excuse for the delay was based on insufficient funds to proceed with discovery, and the assertion that his attorney was on a contingency basis and thus was unable or unwilling to advance the costs of discovery. The court of appeals held that financial difficulties do not excuse a plaintiff's delay [see In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1451-1452, 1456].

Willful delay in serving a complaint is a particularly serious failure to prosecute [see Television Signal Corp. v. City & County of San Francisco (ND Cal 2000) 193 FRD 645, 647 (granting dismissal without prejudice, however, under Fed R Civ P 4(m) [timeliness of service of summons and complaint], and denying motion to dismiss under Fed R Civ P 41(b)); see Fed R Civ P 4(m)].

A reviewing court will give deference to the district court to decide what is unreasonable because it is in the best position to determine what period of delay can be endured before its docket becomes unmanageable [In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1451].

Cross References:

Service of summons and complaint, see Ch. 7, Service of Summons. Further discussion of dismissal for failure to prosecute, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.51 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Defendant's claim, in opposing dismissal, that delay was reasonable, see § 28.21.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ProsecuteCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsMotions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.10

28.10 Dismissal for Failure to Amend Complaint After Dismissal With Leave to amend.

If a plaintiff fails to amend the complaint after the district judge dismisses the complaint with leave to amend, the resulting dismissal is typically considered a dismissal for failing to comply with a court order rather than for failing to prosecute the claim [see Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 986-987, n4]. Dismissal under Rule 41(b) for failure to comply with a court order is appropriate only when the plaintiff has done nothing in response to a dismissal with leave to amend. When the plaintiff chooses not to amend, and clearly communicates that choice to the court, a Rule 41(b) dismissal is inappropriate because there has been no disobedience [see Edwards v. Marin Park, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 356 F3d 1058, 1065].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

The plaintiff has the right simply to allow the complaint to be dismissed [see Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 986-987, n4]. If the plaintiff wishes to expedite the case by choosing not to amend, that election should be clearly communicated to the district court. The district court should then enter a final judgment dismissing the claim with prejudice under Rule 12(b)(6), not Rule 41(b). This is important because of the differing standards on review: the Ninth Circuit reviews a Rule 41(b) dismissal for abuse of discretion, whereas a Rule 12(b)(6) dismissal is reviewed de novo [see Edwards v. Marin Park, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 356 F3d 1058, 1065].

Distinguish:

A plaintiff's failure to file an amended complaint is not disobedience of a court order dismissing a complaint with leave to amend if the original dismissal was erroneous [see Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 992-993 (upholding dismissal of complaint under Fed R Civ P 9(b))].

Example:

Following the judge's tentative ruling to grant the defendants' motion to dismiss, plaintiffs and defendants stipulated to allow plaintiffs 60 days to amend. The judge agreed to the stipulation, and the clerk relayed the information to the parties. Although the judge's minute order dismissing the complaint with 60 days' leave to amend was entered in the clerk's civil minutes, no written order ever issued.

Plaintiffs never filed an amended complaint. The court of appeals concluded that the minute order, under the circumstances of this case, was an "order" within the meaning of Fed R Civ P 41(b), and plaintiffs' noncompliance with the order gave the district court judge the discretion to dismiss the complaint. Because the plaintiffs were aware of the requirements of the court's minute order, the order unequivocally gave the litigants notice of the requirements of the court's order. Furthermore, because of plaintiffs' consent to the tentative ruling, the judge was not obligated to provide them with the reason for the dismissal [see Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 986-989, n2 , n7].

Cross Reference:

Dismissal for failure to comply with court order, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.52 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsLeave of CourtCivil ProcedureDismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to Comply

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.11

28.11 Dismissal for Failure to Comply With Rules Regarding Pleading Requirements.

A district court may dismiss a complaint under Fed R Civ P 41(b) based on a plaintiff's failure to file a short and plain complaint stating the court's basis for jurisdiction and the basis for relief as required by Fed R Civ P 8(a) [Moore v. United States (ND Cal 2000) 193 FRD 647, 651].

Cross Reference:

Pleading requirements under Rule 8, see Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, see §§ 6.03 -6.17.

Example:

The district court sua sponte dismissed, with leave to amend, the initial complaint and first amended complaint, because the plaintiff's pleadings were too vague. The court then dismissed with prejudice the second amended complaint because the plaintiff failed in three opportunities to cure the deficiencies and set forth a short and plain statement of the claims alleged, thereby failing to obey the court's orders to do so [see Moore v. United States (ND Cal 2000) 193 FRD 647, 652-653].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to Comply

115 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.12

28.12 Rule 41(b) Applies to Class Actions.

Rule 41 applies to dismissal of class actions [see, e.g., Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 986-989, n2, n7].

Cross Reference:

Involuntary dismissal of class actions, see 5 Moore's Federal Practice, § 23.64[2][d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureClass ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.13

28.13 Factors Considered in Dismissal As Sanction.

28.13[1] Five Factors Considered. To dismiss a case as a sanction, the district court must consider five factors [Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 990-992 ; Television Signal Corp. v City & County of San Francisco (ND Cal 2000) 193 FRD 645, 647]:

- The public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation [see, e.g., In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1452];
- The court's need to manage its docket [see, e.g., In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1452];
- The risk of prejudice to the defendants [see, e.g., In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1452-1453];
- The public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits [see, e.g., In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1454]; and
- The availability of less drastic alternatives [see, e.g., McHenry v. Renne (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 1172, 1178-1179].

The court of appeals may affirm a dismissal when at least four factors support dismissal, or when at least three factors strongly support dismissal [Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 990-992 . Although it is preferred, it is not required that the district court make explicit findings to show that it has considered these factors [Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 990-992 ; In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1451]. The appellate court may review the record independently to determine if the district court has abused its discretion [Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 990-992].

Example:

In a habeas corpus petition proceeding, three factors weighed in favor of dismissal (expeditious resolution, docket management, prejudice), and two factors weighed against dismissal (court failed to weigh alternatives, public policy favoring disposition on merits). The court of appeals stated it was a "close case," but affirmed dismissal because the district court did not abuse its discretion [see Pagtalunan v. Galaza (9th Cir 2002) 291 F3d 639, 643 , cert. denied, 538 US 909 (2003)].

Consider--Factors Regarding Court-Imposed Deadline:

The dispositive factors to be considered in determining whether to dismiss a plaintiff's case as a sanction for violating a court-imposed deadline are usually prejudice and the availability of less drastic sanctions [see Pagtalunan v. Galaza (9th Cir 2002) 291 F3d 639, 644 , cert. denied, 538 US 909 (2003) (Schroeder, C.J, dissenting opinion, citing Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 991-992)].

28.13[2] Prior Warning.

28.13[2][a] Prior Warning Is Considered. Before dismissing a complaint, a district court may be required to warn the plaintiff of an imminent dismissal, depending on the circumstances, such as whether counsel is on notice that the case will be dismissed [see, e.g., Oliva v. Sullivan (9th Cir 1992) 958 F2d 272, 274].

28.13[2][b] Prior Warning May Be Required for Sua Sponte Dismissal. A sua sponte dismissal may be vulnerable to reversal if the court does not first consider less drastic alternatives and/or give the plaintiff a warning and an opportunity to rectify its conduct [see, e.g., Oliva v. Sullivan (9th Cir 1992) 958 F2d 272, 274].

However, the absence of notice concerning the possibility of dismissal or the failure to hold an adversary hearing does not necessarily render a sua sponte dismissal void. Not every order entered without notice and a preliminary adversary hearing offends due process [Link v. Wabash R.R. Co. (1962) 370 US 626, 632, 82 S Ct 1386, 8 L Ed2d 734 (circumstances justified dispensing with the necessity for advance notice and hearing)].

Example:

The appellate court reversed a district court's sua sponte dismissal of a case because it failed to warn the plaintiff before dismissal: The dismissal order indicated that the district judge was primarily concerned with the time the case had been on the docket and the inconvenience of rescheduling his calendar. While these are legitimate concerns, they do not relieve the district judge of the obligation to warn the plaintiff that dismissal is imminent [see Hamilton v. Neptune Orient Lines, Ltd. (9th Cir 1987) 811 F2d 498, 500 (also failing to consider alternative sanctions)].

28.13[2][c] Express Warning Not Required for Dismissal Following Motion. An express warning regarding the possibility of dismissal is not required when dismissal follows a noticed motion under Fed R Civ P 41(b) [see, e.g., In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1455-1456 ; Morris v. Morgan Stanley & Co. (9th Cir 1991) 942 F2d 648, 652].

28.13[3] Public's Interest in Expeditious Resolution. The public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation favors dismissal [Pagtalunan v. Galaza (9th Cir 2002) 291 F3d 639, 642 , cert. denied, 538 US 909 (2003) ; Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 990].

28.13[4] Court's Need to Manage Docket. The trial judge is in the best position to determine whether the delay in a particular case interferes with docket management, and the public interest [Pagtalunan v. Galaza (9th Cir 2002) 291 F3d 639, 642 , cert. denied, 538 US 909 (2003)]. A reviewing court also gives deference to the district court in determining when its docket may become unmanageable [In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1452].

The court's need to manage its docket is usually reviewed in conjunction with the public's interest in expeditious resolution of litigation to determine if there is unreasonable delay [see In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1452].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of alleviating calendar congestion, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.51[3][h] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

28.13[5] Risk of Prejudice to Defendant.

28.13[5][a] Prejudice Results From Impairment of Defendant's Ability to Proceed or Threatened Interference. To prove prejudice, a defendant must establish that plaintiff's actions impaired defendant's ability to proceed to trial or threatened to interfere with the rightful decision of the case [Pagtalunan v. Galaza (9th Cir 2002) 291 F3d 639, 642 , cert. denied, 538 US 909 (2003) ; Malone v. USPS (9th Cir 1987) 833 F2d 128, 131].

Prejudice usually takes two forms:

- Loss of evidence.
- Loss of memory by a witness.

A district court in the exercise of its discretion should consider whether these losses have occurred and, if so, whether they are significant because not every loss, and particularly not every loss of memory, will prejudice the defense of a case. Whether the prejudice is significant will depend on whether the plaintiff's actions impair the defendant's ability to go to trial or threaten to interfere with the rightful decision of the case [In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1453].

Example:

In an adversarial bankruptcy proceeding, the trustee who filed the proceeding took no action to prosecute for four years. The defendant showed actual prejudice based on the following facts: (1) during the pendency of the actions, the defendant trustee could not sell the property that was the subject of the dispute, preventing him from closing that bankruptcy; (2) courts presume injury because witnesses move away and then memories fade, evidenced in this case by the death of one of the beneficiaries; and (3) the delay prevented the bankruptcy court from giving the debtor immediate relief [see In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1453-1454].

28.13[5][b] Failure to Prosecute Alone Justifies Dismissal. When considering prejudice to the defendant, the failure to prosecute diligently is sufficient by itself to justify a dismissal, even in the absence of a showing of actual prejudice to the defendant from the failure [In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1452-1453].

28.13[5][c] Unreasonable Delay Results in Rebuttable Presumption of Prejudice. The law presumes injury from unreasonable delay. However, this presumption of prejudice is rebuttable [In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1452-1453].

Strategic Point--Defendant:

The defendant can optimize the chances for dismissal by showing that the defendant was tangibly prejudiced by the delay.

28.13[5][d] Burden of Production Shifts to Defendant Following Plaintiff's Excuse. When a plaintiff's excuse for its delay is not frivolous, the burden of production shifts to the defendant to show some actual prejudice. If the defendant does so, the plaintiff must then persuade the court that the claims of prejudice are either illusory or relatively insignificant when compared to the force of the excuse. At that point, the court must exercise its discretion by weighing the relevant factors of time, excuse, and prejudice [In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1453].

28.13[5][e] Dismissal Reviewed for Both Prejudice and Delay. The court of appeals considers prejudice and delay together to determine whether there has been sufficient delay or prejudice to justify a dismissal of the plaintiff's case [In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1453].

28.13[6] Importance of Disposition on Merits. In determining whether dismissal is warranted, courts weigh the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits (and therefore disfavoring dismissal) against the plaintiff's delay and the prejudice suffered by the defendant (favoring dismissal) [see In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1454 ; see also Pagtalunan v. Galaza (9th Cir 2002) 291 F3d 639, 643 , cert. denied, 538 US 909 (2003)].

Distinguish:

Although the strength or weakness of the plaintiff's case may be a factor in determining the harshness of dismissal in a particular case, the appellate court should not closely scrutinize the merits of an action when reviewing an order of dismissal. Even if the plaintiff has an obviously strong case, dismissal would be appropriate if the plaintiff has clearly ignored its responsibilities to the court in prosecuting the action, thus prejudicing the defendant [see In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1454].

In cases implicating important public policy concerns, the court should weigh the public interest in the case and the preference for disposing of cases on their merits prior to granting dismissal [Dahl v. City of Huntington Beach (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 363, 366 (case brought under 42 USC § 1983)].

28.13[7] Less Drastic Alternatives.

28.13[7][a] Court Should Consider Alternatives. Although a district court is not required to examine every conceivable sanction (see 28.13[7][b]), it should explore meaningful alternatives to dismissal. A sua sponte dismissal will be vulnerable to reversal if the court does not first consider less drastic alternatives or give the plaintiff a warning and an opportunity to rectify its conduct [see, e.g., Oliva v. Sullivan (9th Cir 1992) 958 F2d 272, 274 ; Hamilton v. Neptune Orient Lines, Ltd. (9th Cir 1987) 811 F2d 498, 500 (judge's understandable pique at calendar delay did not excuse his failure to consider alternative sanctions)].

Example:

In a case in which the court's sua sponte dismissal of a complaint resulted primarily from the attorneys' failure to complete discovery and lack of attorney-client cooperation, the district court might better have imposed the defense witness costs on the plaintiff or his attorneys to cure any prejudice the defendant might have suffered from the delay [see Hamilton v. Neptune Orient Lines, Ltd. (9th Cir 1987) 811 F2d 498, 500].

Cross References:

Availability of lesser sanctions, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.51[3][i] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Opposition to motion based on availability of less drastic alternatives, see § 28.22[1].

28.13[7][b] Court Need Not Exhaust All Alternatives. The district judge should first consider less drastic alternatives, but need not exhaust them all before finally dismissing a case [McHenry v. Renne (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 1172, 1178-1179]. There is no requirement that every single alternate remedy be examined by the court before the sanction of dismissal is appropriate. The reasonable exploration of possible and meaningful alternatives is all that is required [Morris v. Morgan Stanley & Co. (9th Cir 1991) 942 F2d 648, 652].

Example:

In a case in which the complaint was dismissed under Fed R Civ P 12(e) (motion for more definite statement) and Fed R Civ P 41 (for violation of Fed R Civ P 8, regarding rules of pleading), the district court judge had used less drastic alternatives, including permitting plaintiffs to replead twice. He considered the less drastic alternative of allowing plaintiffs to replead again, but decided based on plaintiffs' violation of his previous orders that repleading would be futile [see McHenry v. Renne (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 1172, 1178-1179].

28.13[7][c] Pursuit of Alternatives Prior to Disobedience of Court Order Is Insufficient. The Ninth Circuit has rejected a line of cases implicitly accepting the pursuit of less drastic alternatives prior to disobedience of a court's order as satisfying the requirement that the district court explore the availability of less drastic alternatives before ordering dismissal [see Pagtalunan v. Galaza (9th Cir 2002) 291 F3d 639, 643, n4 , cert. denied, 538 US 909 (2003) , citing Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 992].

28.13[7][d] Explicit Discussion of Alternatives Is Not Necessarily Required. Explicit discussion by the district court of the feasibility of alternatives to dismissal is preferred in the Ninth Circuit. Nevertheless, under "egregious circumstances," such as a willful violation of a pretrial order, explicit discussion is not necessary for an order of dismissal to be upheld [Malone v. USPS (9th Cir 1987) 833 F2d 128, 133 ; see also In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1454-1455 (four-year delay considered egregious)].

28.13[8] Dismissal Is Extreme Penalty.

28.13[8][a] Dismissal Is Appropriate Only in Extreme Circumstances. Dismissal is the most severe penalty, and is authorized only in extreme circumstances [Dahl v. City of Huntington Beach (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 363, 367 (failure to pay sanctions and uncivil conduct by counsel not enough to warrant dismissal)].

Cross References:

Discussion of dismissal as drastic measure, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.50[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Discussion of court's need to consider less drastic alternatives, see § 28.13[7].

28.13[8][b] Harshness of Dismissal With Prejudice Is Directly Proportionate to Likelihood of Plaintiff's Success. The harshness of a dismissal with prejudice is directly proportionate to the likelihood that plaintiff would prevail if permitted to go forward to trial. Because harshness is a key consideration in the district judge's exercise of discretion, the court may consider the strength of a plaintiff's case before determining whether dismissal with prejudice is appropriate [McHenry v. Renne (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 1172, 1179].

Example:

In a case in which the complaint was dismissed pursuant to Fed R Civ P 12(e) (motion for more definite statement regarding vague, ambiguous pleading) and Fed R Civ P 41 (for violation of Fed R Civ P 8 regarding rules of pleading), the district judge, considering the strength of the plaintiffs' case, determined that much of the complaint failed to state claims on which relief could be granted, or would be barred by statutes of limitation and immunities. Dismissal with prejudice was not too harsh because if the complaint were not dismissed under Rule 8, most of it would be dismissed anyway without ever reaching the merits [see McHenry v. Renne (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 1172, 1179].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsAppellate Review

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.14

28.14 Dismissal May Result Whether Delay Is Caused by Attorney or Client or Both.

If attorney and client blame each other for delays occasioned by one or both, some sanction is required. The appellate court will support trial judges who impose substantial sanctions on a lawyer who contributes to a default, and will affirm a dismissal if a proper warning is left unheeded [see Hamilton v. Neptune Orient Lines, Ltd. (9th Cir 1987) 811 F2d 498, 500 (reversing sua sponte dismissal with no warning or discussion of alternatives); see also Link v. Wabash R.R. Co. (1962) 370 US 626, 633-634, n10, 82 S Ct 1386, 8 L Ed2d 734 (no merit to contention that dismissal of petitioner's claim because of his counsel's unexcused conduct imposes unjust penalty on client; clients have been held to be bound by their counsels' inaction when consequences have been serious)].

Dismissal has been upheld on the basis that the plaintiff voluntarily chose the attorney as the plaintiff's representative in the action, and may not now avoid the consequences of the acts or omissions of this freely selected agent [see Link v. Wabash R.R. Co. (1962) 370 US 626, 633-634, n10, 82 S Ct 1386, 8 L Ed2d 734].

One of the factors considered in determining the appropriateness of dismissal with prejudice is whether it would unfairly penalize the plaintiff for the conduct of plaintiff's counsel. Although a party may be penalized for the actions of that party's counsel, the degree of a plaintiff's personal responsibility for malfeasance is relevant to the propriety of dismissal [see, e.g., Dahl v. City of Huntington Beach (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 363, 366-367 (inappropriate to impose dismissal, and in effect entire penalty, on clients for recalcitrant behavior by their counsel and opposing counsel)].

Example:

A case brought under 42 USC § 1983 was dismissed under Fed R Civ P 16(f) (regarding disobedience of scheduling order) and Fed R Civ P 41(b) on the following grounds: (1) plaintiff's attorney failed to pay sanctions in the manner prescribed by the court; (2) one attorney failed to pay sanctions altogether; and (3) both parties failed to file a timely joint exhibit and witness list. Dismissal was improper because (1) public policy strongly favored resolution of the dispute on the merits; (2) dismissal severely penalized only one of two parties guilty of discovery abuse; and (3) dismissal severely penalized plaintiffs for their counsels' bad behavior [see Dahl v. City of Huntington Beach (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 363, 366-367].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of plaintiff's responsibility for counsel's conduct, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, §

41.51[3][g] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ProsecuteCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.15

28.15 Effect of Dismissal.

28.15[1] Dismissal Operates As Adjudication on Merits. Unless otherwise specified in the court order for dismissal, a dismissal--other than a dismissal for lack of jurisdiction, for improper venue, or for failure to join a party under Fed R Civ P 19--operates as an adjudication on the merits [Fed R Civ P 41(b)].

Cross References:

§ 28.04[2], 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.50[7][a] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

28.15[2] Judgment on Merits Not Necessarily Entitled to Claim-Preclusive Effect. A judgment on the merits is not necessarily a judgment entitled to claim-preclusive effect. The phrase "adjudication on the merits" does not bear that meaning in Fed R Civ P 41(b). Rule 41(b) sets forth nothing more than a default rule for determining the import of a dismissal.

Rule 41(b)'s use of the term "adjudication on the merits" refers to a dismissal "with prejudice," which the Supreme Court interpreted to mean that the plaintiff is barred from returning later, to the same court, with the same underlying claim [see Semtek Int'l Inc. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2001) 531 US 497, 505, 121 S Ct 1021, 149 L Ed2d 32]. Such a bar against refiling in the same court is a necessary condition, but not a sufficient one, for claim-preclusive effect in other courts. Therefore, the claim-preclusive effect of a dismissal is determined not by whether the dismissal would be characterized as "on the merits" under Rule 41(b), but rather by whether the dismissal meets the conditions for claim preclusion under applicable law [see Semtek Int'l Inc. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2001) 531 US 497, 501-505, 121 S Ct 1021, 149 L Ed2d 32].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of when dismissal is "on the merits" for preclusion purposes, see 18 Moore's Federal Practice, § 131.30[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Discussion of claim preclusion under California law, see 43 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 491, Res Judicata (Matthew Bender).

28.15[3] Claim-Preclusive Effect of Federal-Court Judgment in Federal-Question Case Determined by Supreme Court. States cannot give a federal-court judgment in a federal-question case whatever claim-preclusive effect they would give their own judgments, but must accord them the effect that the Supreme Court prescribes. Even when states are allowed to give federal judgments (notably, judgments in diversity cases) no more than the effect accorded to state judgments, that disposition is by direction of the Supreme Court, which has the last word on the claim-preclusive effect of all federal judgments [Semtek Int'l Inc. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2001) 531 US 497, 507, 121 S Ct 1021, 149 L Ed2d 32 (emphasis in original); see Houben v. Telular Corp. (7th Cir 2002) 309 F3d 1028, 1034].

28.15[4] Federal Common Law Governs Claim-Preclusive Effect of Dismissal by Federal Court Sitting in Diversity. Federal common law governs the claim-preclusive effect of a dismissal by a federal court sitting in diversity [Semtek Int'l Inc. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2001) 531 US 497, 508, 121 S Ct 1021, 149 L Ed2d 32]. Federal common law adopts the claim-preclusive rule of the state where the federal court is sitting, because there is no need for national uniformity in this set of cases [Semtek Int'l Inc. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2001) 531 US 497, 508-509, 121 S Ct 1021, 149 L Ed2d 32 ; see Houben v. Telular Corp. (7th Cir 2002) 309 F3d 1028, 1034]. However, an exception exists when state law is incompatible with federal interests [see Semtek Int'l Inc. v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (2001) 531 US 497, 509, 121 S Ct 1021, 149 L Ed2d 32 ; see Houben v. Telular Corp. (7th Cir 2002) 309 F3d 1028, 1034].

Cross References:

See 18 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 130.01, 130.30, 131.21; Ch. 133, Intersystem Preclusion (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Claim preclusion under California law, see 43 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 491, Res Judicata (Matthew Bender).

28.15[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Effect of Dismissal. Unless the court provides otherwise, any dismissal pursuant to CD Cal Civ LR 41-1 will be without prejudice [CD Cal Civ LR 41-2].

Consider:

Because there is inconsistency between the federal and local rules, ensuring that the dismissal order specifically states whether dismissal is with or without prejudice will eliminate confusion.

28.15[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Effect of Dismissal. A dismissal for want of prosecution will be without prejudice, unless otherwise ordered [SD Cal Civ LR 41.1(a)].

Consider:

Because there is inconsistency between the federal and local rules, ensuring that the dismissal order specifically states whether dismissal is with or without prejudice will eliminate confusion.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsPreclusion & Effect of JudgmentsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.16

28.16 Dismissal of Complaint Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.

The district court's dismissal of a complaint is reviewed for abuse of discretion [Pagtalunan v. Galaza (9th Cir 2002) 291 F3d 639, 640 , cert. denied, 538 US 909 (2003) (dismissal for failure to comply with order requiring submission of pleading within designated time); Yourish v. California Amplifier (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 983, 986 (failure to obey court order, based on violation of Fed R Civ P 9(b))]. The trial court's exercise of discretion should not be disturbed unless there is a definite and firm conviction that the court below committed a clear error of judgment in the conclusion it reached on a weighing of the relevant facts [Pagtalunan v. Galaza (9th Cir 2002) 291 F3d 639, 640-641 , cert. denied, 538 US 909 (2003) ; Morris v. Morgan Stanley & Co. (9th Cir 1991) 942 F2d 648, 652].

In determining whether an abuse of discretion has occurred, the court of appeals considers the following factors [Hamilton v. Neptune Orient Lines, Ltd. (9th Cir 1987) 811 F2d 498, 500]:

- The plaintiff's diligence.
- The trial court's need to manage its docket.
- The danger of prejudice to the party suffering the delay [see In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1452-1453].
- The availability of alternate sanctions.
- The existence of a warning to the party occasioning the delay.

Cross Reference:

Appellate review of involuntary dismissals, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.53 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of Discretion

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.17

28.17 CHECKLIST: Opposing Involuntary Dismissal.

☐ Determine grounds for opposing dismissal, including:

○ Motion is improperly brought, or fails to state grounds for dismissal.

○ Plaintiff did not violate a court order; or has a reasonable explanation for its conduct that warrants a lesser penalty.

○ Plaintiff did not delay prosecution, or did not delay prosecution unreasonably.

○ The relevant factors weigh against dismissal.

○ The malfeasance was either wholly or in part the fault of defendant and/or defendant's counsel.

○ The relative fault of plaintiff is relatively slight compared to plaintiff's attorney and/or opposing parties or counsel.

○ Plaintiff is pro se, and held to a lower standard of compliance with pleading requirements.

○ Dismissal is being considered too early in proceedings under the circumstances.

- Dismissal is a harsh sanction, appropriate only in the most extreme circumstances, and not appropriate in this case.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 41(b), (c)

Discussion:

See §§ 28.18 -28.28

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.18

28.18 Options and Strategies for Opposing Involuntary Dismissal.

Courts will be reluctant to dismiss a case unless the plaintiff's conduct has been egregious. To avoid dismissal, emphasize that the plaintiff will be damaged by not being allowed to remedy the harm caused by the defendant; the plaintiff's conduct was not improper, was an isolated instance, or was caused by circumstances outside the plaintiff's control; the conduct was the fault of the plaintiff's counsel and so the plaintiff should not be punished; the plaintiff had no warning that the case was in danger of being dismissed; and the defendant has not been prejudiced in any way by the conduct. Specific facts supported by detailed declarations and other evidence is more convincing to a court than general statements in the opposing papers. If it appears that the court is seriously considering dismissal, consider agreeing to a lesser sanction or asking that the dismissal be without prejudice.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersDismissals Without PrejudiceCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.19

28.19 Motion Fails to State Grounds for Dismissal or Is Otherwise Insufficient.

Plaintiff may oppose a motion to dismiss if defendant has failed to articulate cognizable grounds for the motion [see, e.g., Florens Container v. Cho Yang Shipping (ND Cal 2002) 245 F Supp2d 1086, 1089 (failure to specify basis for motion to dismiss)].

Cross Reference:

List of grounds for opposing motion to dismiss, see § 28.17. Motion procedures generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsMotions

123 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.20

28.20 Plaintiff Did Not Violate Rule or Court Order, or Should Not Be Harshly Penalized.

If the defendant brings a motion for dismissal based on the violation of an order, the plaintiff may oppose it on the ground that the plaintiff did not violate the order specified in the motion [see, e.g., Idema v. Dreamworks, Inc. (CD Cal 2001) 162 F Supp2d 1129, 1138 n15, 1188 (denying motion for dismissal with prejudice because dismissal without prejudice was appropriate based on motion to dismiss under Fed R Civ P 12(b) for violation of Fed R Civ P 15(a), regarding amendments to pleadings)]. The plaintiff should provide the court with a full explanation of the circumstances, or alternatively should indicate that violation of the order did not occur.

Cross References:

Alternatives to dismissal, see § 28.22. Pro se litigants, see § 28.26. Harshness of dismissal, see § 28.28.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ComplyCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.21

28.21 Delay Was Reasonable or Justified.

In dismissing a case for lack of prosecution, the court must find unreasonable delay [In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1451-1452]. A plaintiff faced with dismissal because of delay in prosecuting the case must establish a sufficient reason for the delay, and should set forth all pertinent facts on that issue. This approach may be particularly successful early in the proceedings [see, e.g., Tolbert v. Leighton (9th Cir 1980) 623 F2d 585, 587].

Examples:

In an adversarial bankruptcy case, the trustee who filed the proceeding took no action to prosecute for four years. When faced with dismissal, that trustee could have remedied the situation by presenting to the court a reason for his conduct that outweighed the prejudice to the opposing trustee's bankruptcy estate [see In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1455].

In a personal injury case originally filed in state court, the appellate court reversed the dismissal, stating: When a delay has not been unreasonable, when the defendant has suffered no actual prejudice, or when the plaintiff has cured the lapse in state court and been diligent in prosecuting his action following removal, the policy in favor of deciding cases on their merits should prevail over those favoring dismissal [see Nealey v. Transportacion Maritima Mexicana, S.A. (9th Cir 1980) 662 F2d 1275, 1284].

Cross Reference:

Unreasonable delay factor, see § 28.09.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to Prosecute

125 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.22

28.22 Less Drastic Alternatives.

The court should consider less drastic alternative sanctions for plaintiff's conduct before dismissing a complaint under Fed R Civ P 41(b) [see, e.g., McHenry v. Renne (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 1172, 1178-1179]. When appropriate, the plaintiff should raise the court's failure to consider less drastic alternatives, particularly when the court sua sponte dismisses a case without any prior indication [see In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1455].

Example:

The court of appeals reversed a dismissal because the district court sua sponte dismissed the case without considering alternative sanctions or giving a warning. Nothing in the record demonstrated that counsel was on notice that the case would be dismissed. Moreover, the facts were not so egregious as to obviate the need for explicit discussion of alternatives [see Oliva v. Sullivan (9th Cir 1992) 958 F2d 272, 274].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

In response to a motion for dismissal, suggest a reasonable alternative to dismissal [see, e.g., Mir v. Fosburg (9th Cir 1983) 706 F2d 916 (requesting in opposition papers that district court impose discovery and trial schedule that will lead expeditiously to hearing on the merits)]. If the court issues an order to show cause why the case should not be dismissed, the plaintiff can argue that the court must first consider less drastic measures. If the court simply dismisses the case without any opportunity for the plaintiff to submit papers or be heard, the plaintiff could file a motion for reconsideration and make the less drastic alternatives argument.

Cross Reference:

Alternate sanctions factor, see § 28.13[7].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

126 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.23

28.23 Prior Warning.

A plaintiff opposing dismissal should consider whether the court has provided any notice of the dismissal. Before dismissing a complaint under Fed R Civ P 41(b), a district court may be required, under the circumstances, to warn the plaintiff of an imminent dismissal [see, e.g., Oliva v. Sullivan (9th Cir 1992) 958 F2d 272, 274]. In particular, a sua sponte dismissal will be vulnerable to reversal if the court does not first consider less drastic alternatives and/or give the plaintiff a warning and time in which to rectify its conduct [see, e.g., Oliva v. Sullivan (9th Cir 1992) 958 F2d 272, 274].

Distinguish:

An express warning regarding the possibility of dismissal is not required when dismissal follows a noticed motion under Fed R Civ P 41(b) [see, e.g., In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1455-1456 ; Morris v. Morgan Stanley & Co. (9th Cir 1991) 942 F2d 648, 652].

Cross Reference:

Warning factor, see § 28.13[2].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsAppellate Review

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.24

28.24 Defendant or Opposing Counsel Contributed to Malfeasance.

If appropriate, the plaintiff may redirect the blame for the malfeasance in question to the defendant, and argue that dismissal is therefore unwarranted under the relevant factors. This may arise, for example, if the delay involves a discovery dispute, and both parties' counsel, as well as opposing parties, prevented its resolution. If the malfeasance in question was jointly caused by both parties' counsel, then plaintiff may argue that dismissal penalizes only one party, and is therefore too harsh a sanction [see, e.g., Dahl v. City of Huntington Beach (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 363, 366-367].

Cross Reference:

Relevant factors, see § 28.13.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.25

28.25 Degree of Plaintiff's Personal Responsibility for Malfeasance Is Relatively Slight.

Although a party may be penalized for the actions of its counsel, the degree of a plaintiff's personal responsibility for malfeasance is relevant to the propriety of dismissal [see, e.g., Dahl v. City of Huntington Beach (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 363, 366-367].

Examples:

Dismissal is not proper solely on the ground that counsel failed to pay a monetary sanction imposed against counsel [Dahl v. City of Huntington Beach (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 363, 367].

It is an abuse of discretion to dismiss a case for failure to prosecute when (1) the only evidence of dilatoriness is the failure of plaintiff's attorney to attend a pretrial conference; (2) the court has not warned that failure to attend will create a risk of dismissal; and (3) the case is still "young" [see Tolbert v. Leighton (9th Cir 1980) 623 F2d 585, 587].

Cross Reference:

See § 28.14.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.26

28.26 Pro Se Litigants.

28.26[1] Inartful Pleadings of Pro Se Litigant Liberally Construed. Federal courts must construe liberally the "inartful pleading" of pro se litigants [Boag v. MacDougall (1982) 454 US 364, 365, 102 S Ct 700, 70 L Ed2d 551 (per curiam)]. Allegations of a pro se litigant's complaint, however inartfully pleaded, are held to less stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers [Hughes v. Rowe (1980) 449 US 5, 9, 101 S Ct 173, 66 L Ed2d 163]. This principle is particularly important in civil rights cases, especially with respect to an incarcerated pro se litigant [Eldridge v. Block (9th Cir 1987) 832 F2d 1132, 1137].

The Ninth Circuit recognizes that "the important goals served by lenient treatment of pro se litigants must necessarily yield to prejudice suffered by the courts and other parties" [Vongrabe v. Sprint PCS (SD Cal 2004) 312 F Supp2d 1313, 1319].

A pro se plaintiff may oppose dismissal on the ground that any deficiency in pleadings can be cured by a deadline extension in which to file amended or supplemental pleadings, and that because plaintiff is not an attorney, he or she is entitled to more leeway than a party represented by counsel for this purpose [see Eldridge v. Block (9th Cir 1987) 832 F2d 1132, 1137-1138].

28.26[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Pro Se Party's Address and Telephone Number Required. A party proceeding pro se must keep the court and opposing parties apprised of the party's current address and telephone number, if any, and e-mail address, if any. If mail directed by the clerk to a pro se plaintiff's address of record is returned undeliverable by the Postal Service and if, within 15 days of the service date, the plaintiff fails to notify, in writing, the court and opposing parties of his or her current address, the court may dismiss the action with or without prejudice for want of prosecution [CD Cal Civ LR 41-6].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesSelf-RepresentationPleading StandardsCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.27

28.27 Dismissal Considered Too Early in Proceedings.

When appropriate, a plaintiff may raise the point that the case is still "young," and that, in light of all relevant factors, dismissal is inappropriately harsh at that time [see, e.g., Raiford v. Pounds (9th Cir 1981) 640 F2d 944, 945 ; Tolbert v. Leighton (9th Cir 1980) 623 F2d 585, 587].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral Overview

131 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.28

28.28 Dismissal Is Excessively Harsh.

As the most severe penalty, dismissal is authorized only in extreme circumstances [Dahl v. City of Huntington Beach (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 363, 367 ; Raiford v. Pounds (9th Cir 1981) 640 F2d 944, 945]. A party may oppose a motion for dismissal on the ground that dismissal is too harsh a sanction [see, e.g., Television Signal Corp. v. City & County of San Francisco (ND Cal 2000) 193 FRD 645, 647 ("strong sanction of involuntary dismissal is too harsh" after considering all factors; dismissal without prejudice for violation of Fed R Civ P 4(m) (timeliness of service of summons and complaint) is more appropriate)].

Example:

It is an abuse of discretion to dismiss a case for failure to prosecute when (1) the only evidence of dilatoriness is the failure of plaintiff's attorney to attend a pretrial conference; (2) the court has not warned that failure to attend will create a risk of dismissal; and (3) the case is still "young" [see Tolbert v. Leighton (9th Cir 1980) 623 F2d 585, 587].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

In response to a motion for dismissal, suggest a reasonable alternative to dismissal [see, e.g., Mir v. Fosburg (9th Cir 1983) 706 F2d 916 (requesting in opposition papers that district court impose discovery and trial schedule that will lead expeditiously to hearing on the merits)].

Cross References:

Alternatives to dismissal, see § 28.13[7], 28.22.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.29

28.29 Factors Insufficient to Oppose Dismissal.

The following factors are not sufficient reason to avoid dismissal when other factors support dismissal:

- The plaintiff is an innocent party who will be made to suffer for the errors of counsel [see, e.g., Hamilton v. Neptune Orient Lines, Ltd. (9th Cir 1987) 811 F2d 498, 500 ("Regardless of where the blame should lie, we will not enter the business of resurrecting lawsuits gone astray because of ruptures in the attorney-client relation"; but see Dahl v. City of Huntington Beach (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 363, 366-367 (failure of attorney to pay sanctions not ground for dismissal); see also 28.14, 28.24].

- Financial difficulties caused the plaintiff's delay [see In re Eisen (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 1447, 1451-1452].

Example--Inadequate Excuse for Delay:

In a habeas corpus petition proceeding in which the court of appeals upheld a second dismissal with prejudice for want of prosecution, the petitioner claimed that his delay in timely filing a first amended petition was due to his inability to obtain counsel. However, the substance of the petitioner's motion was already completed, and he merely needed to transfer the substance from the wrong forms to the correct forms that were provided by the court, and to delete "et al." from the caption. Arguably, no attorney was even needed. Additionally, the petitioner offered no clear explanations of actions he took during the relevant time periods. Under the circumstances, the petitioner inexcusably delayed prosecution [see Pagtalunan v. Galaza (9th Cir 2002) 291 F3d 639, 643 , cert. denied, 538 US 909 (2003) (district court explicitly warned of dismissal with prejudice if petitioner failed to file timely amended petition)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.30

28.30 Notice of Motion and Motion to Dismiss for Failure to Prosecute, or Failure to Comply With Court Order or Federal Rules.

Notice of Motion to Dismiss for Failure to Prosecute, or Failure to Comply With Court Order or Federal Rules.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR DIS-
_____ [name],	)	MISSAL
Defendant	)	(Fed R Civ P 41(b))
	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for an order under Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 41(b) _____ [state with particularity any other legal basis for motion, including any applicable local rules]:

(1) Dismissing this action with prejudice [and with costs to defendant] on the ground that [either plaintiff has failed to prosecute the action with due diligence or plaintiff has failed to comply with the order of this court, dated _____, requiring plaintiff to _____ (set forth order) or plaintiff has failed to comply with Fed R Civ P _____ (set forth rule violated by plaintiff and facts showing failure to comply with rule)]; and

(2) granting _____ [moving party] such other relief as may be appropriate.

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41(b), (c)

Motion for Dismissal:
See § 28.07

Related Forms of Order:
See §§ 28.31, 28.32

Related Forms of Motion:
See 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 41:50, 41:52, 41:54, 41:55

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ComplyCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ProsecuteCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsMotions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.31

28.31 Dismissal Order for Failure to Prosecute.

Dismissal Order for Failure to Prosecute.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	DISMISSAL WITH PREJUDICE
Defendant	)	(Fed R Civ P 41(b))
	)
	)

On _____ [date], _____ [name of moving party], _____ [party designation, e.g., Defendant], moved the Court to dismiss _____ [the action or the Counterclaim or the Crossclaim of _____ (name) or as appropriate] pursuant to Rule 41(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The moving party claimed that there has been a continuous and substantial failure to prosecute this _____ [action or claim] and that dismissal with prejudice was the appropriate remedy.

The court has heard the arguments of counsel, considered the papers filed in favor and in opposition to the motion, and reviewed the authorities cited by the parties. The court has separately filed findings that there has been a continuous and prejudicial failure to prosecute, and concludes that no lesser remedy is an appropriate response to this failure. Therefore,

IT IS ORDERED that

1. The motion to dismiss is GRANTED;

2. This _____ [action or Counterclaim or as appropriate] is fully and finally dismissed, with prejudice [add, if entire action dismissed; and

3. Defendant is awarded costs of suit pursuant to Rule 54(d)(1) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure].
Dated: _____

_____ [signature]

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41(b), (c)

Related Form of Motion:
See § 28.30

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to Prosecute

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-28 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 28.32

28.32 Dismissal Order for Failure to Comply With Order.

Dismissal Order for Failure to Comply With Order.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	DISMISSAL WITH PREJUDICE
Defendant	)	(Fed R Civ P 41(b))
	)
	)

On _____ [date], _____ [name of moving party], _____ [party designation, e.g., Defendant], moved the Court to dismiss the action pursuant to Rule 41(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The moving party claimed that there had been a deliberate and prejudicial failure on the part of _____ [name of opposing party] to comply with this court's orders and, in particular, with this court's order of _____ [date].

The court has heard the arguments of counsel, considered the papers filed in favor and in opposition to the motion, and reviewed the authorities cited by the parties. The court has separately filed findings that there has been an intentional, prejudicial, [and contumacious] failure to comply with this court's order of _____ [date], and concludes that no lesser remedy is an appropriate response to this failure. Therefore,

IT IS ORDERED that

1. The motion to dismiss is GRANTED;

2. This action is fully and finally dismissed, with prejudice;

3. Defendant is awarded costs of suit pursuant to Rule 54(d)(1) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [add if contempt proceedings are contemplated or pending for failure to comply with order; and

4. This court retains jurisdiction over this matter for the purpose for finding that [counsel for] _____ [name of opposing party] is guilty of contempt for failing to comply with this court's order and issuing an appropriate order in response to any contempt finding.
Dated: _____

_____ [signature]

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41(b), (c)

Related Form of Motion:
See § 28.30

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to Comply

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
Special Alert to Chapter 29

4- MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Scope

Scope

Editor's Note: The following proposed amendment to Rule 56 will take effect on December 1, 2010, barring any Congressional action. Set forth below is a comparison of the amended rule with the rule as it appeared before the amendment. New matter is underlined; matter to be omitted is lined through. Asterisks indicate unaffected material. The explanatory Advisory Committee Note is also set forth below.

Rule 56. Summary Judgment

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(a)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [By a Claiming Party.] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [A party claiming relief may move, with or without supporting affidavits, for summary judgment on all or part of the claim.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(b)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [By a Defending Party.] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [A party against whom relief is sought may move, with or without supporting affidavits, for summary judgment on all or part of the claim.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(c)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [Time for a Motion, Response, and Reply; Proceedings.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(1)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [These times apply unless a different time is set by local rule or the court orders otherwise:]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(A)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [a party may move for summary judgment at any time until 30 days after the close of all discovery;]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(B)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [a party opposing the motion must file a response within 21 days after the motion is served or a responsive pleading is due, whichever is later; and]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(C)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [the movant may file a reply within 14 days after the response is served.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(2)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [The judgment sought should be rendered if the pleadings, the discovery and disclosure materials on file, and any affidavits show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(d)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [Case Not Fully Adjudicated on the Motion.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(1)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [Establishing Facts.] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [If summary judgment is not rendered on the whole action, the court should, to the extent practicable, determine what material facts are not genuinely at issue. The court should so determine by examining the pleadings and evidence before it and by interrogating the attorneys. It should then issue an order specifying what facts--including items of damages or other relief--are not genuinely at issue. The facts so specified must be treated as established in the action.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(2)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [Establishing Liability.] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [An interlocutory summary judgment may be rendered on liability alone, even if there is a genuine issue on the amount of damages.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(e)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [Affidavits; Further Testimony.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(1)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [In General.] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [A supporting or opposing affidavit must be made on personal knowledge, set out facts that would be admissible in evidence, and show that the affiant is competent to testify on the matters stated. If a paper or part of a paper is referred to in an affidavit, a sworn or certified copy must be attached to or served with the affidavit. The court may permit an affidavit to be supplemented or opposed by depositions, answers to interrogatories, or additional affidavits.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(2)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [Opposing Party's Obligation to Respond.] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [When a motion for summary judgment is properly made and supported, an opposing party may not rely merely on allegations or denials in its own pleading; rather, its response must--by affidavits or as otherwise provided in this rule--set out specific facts showing a genuine issue for trial. If the opposing party does not so respond, summary judgment should, if appropriate, be entered against that party.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(f)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [When Affidavits Are Unavailable.] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [If a party opposing the motion shows by affidavit that, for specified reasons, it cannot present facts essential to justify its opposition, the court may:]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(1)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [deny the motion;]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(2)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [order a continuance to enable affidavits to be obtained, depositions to be taken, or other discovery to be undertaken; or]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(3)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [issue any other just order.]

The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [(g)] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [Affidavit Submitted in Bad Faith.] The material within the following brackets is overstruck in the original. [If satisfied that an affidavit under this rule is submitted in bad faith or solely for delay, the court must order the submitting party to pay the other party the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, it incurred as a result. An offending party or attorney may also be held in contempt.]

Rule 56. Summary Judgment

(a) Motion for Summary Judgment or Partial Summary Judgment. A party may move for summary judgment, identifying each claim or defense--or the part of each claim or defense--on which summary judgment is sought. The court shall grant summary judgment if the movant shows that there is no genuine dispute as to any material fact and the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. The court should state on the record the reasons for granting or denying the motion.

(b) Time to File a Motion. Unless a different time is set by local rule or the court orders otherwise, a party may file a motion for summary judgment at any time until 30 days after the close of all discovery.

(c) Procedures.

(1) Supporting Factual Positions. A party asserting that a fact cannot be or is genuinely disputed must support the assertion by:

(A) citing to particular parts of materials in the record, including depositions, documents, electronically stored information, affidavits or declarations, stipulations (including those made for purposes of the motion only), admissions, interrogatory answers, or other materials; or

(B) showing that the materials cited do not establish the absence or presence of a genuine dispute, or that an adverse party cannot produce admissible evidence to support the fact.

(2) Objection That a Fact Is Not Supported by Admissible Evidence. A party may object that the material cited to support or dispute a fact cannot be presented in a form that would be admissible in evidence.

(3) Materials Not Cited. The court need consider only the cited materials, but it may consider other materials in the record.

(4) Affidavits or Declarations. An affidavit or declaration used to support or oppose a motion must be made on personal knowledge, set out facts that would be admissible in evidence, and show that the affiant or declarant is competent to testify on the matters stated.

(d) When Facts Are Unavailable to the Nonmovant. If a nonmovant shows by affidavit or declaration that, for specified reasons, it cannot present facts essential to justify its opposition, the court may:

(1) defer considering the motion or deny it;

(2) allow time to obtain affidavits or declarations or to take discovery; or

(3) issue any other appropriate order.

(e) Failing to Properly Support or Address a Fact. If a party fails to properly support an assertion of fact or fails to properly address another party's assertion of fact as required by Rule 56(c), the court may:

(1) give an opportunity to properly support or address the fact;

(2) consider the fact undisputed for purposes of the motion;

(3) grant summary judgment if the motion and supporting materials--including the facts considered undisputed--show that the movant is entitled to it; or

(4) issue any other appropriate order.

(f) Judgment Independent of the Motion. After giving notice and a reasonable time to respond, the court may:

(1) grant summary judgment for a nonmovant;

(2) grant the motion on grounds not raised by a party; or

(3) consider summary judgment on its own after identifying for the parties material facts that may not be genuinely in dispute.

(g) Failing to Grant All the Requested Relief. If the court does not grant all the relief requested by the motion, it may enter an order stating any material fact--including an item of damages or other relief--that is not genuinely in dispute and treating the fact as established in the case.

(h) Affidavit or Declaration Submitted in Bad Faith. If satisfied that an affidavit or declaration under this rule is submitted in bad faith or solely for delay, the court--after notice and a reasonable time to respond--may order the submitting party to pay the other party the reasonable expenses, including attorney's fees, it incurred as a result. An offending party or attorney may also be held in contempt or subjected to other appropriate sanctions.

Committee Note of 2010

Rule 56 is revised to improve the procedures for presenting and deciding summary-judgment motions and to make the procedures more consistent with those already used in many courts. The standard for granting summary judgment remains unchanged. The language of subdivision (a) continues to require that there be no genuine dispute as to any material fact and that the movant be entitled to judgment as a matter of law. The amendments will not affect continuing development of the decisional law construing and applying these phrases.

Subdivision (a). Subdivision (a) carries forward the summary-judgment standard expressed in former subdivision (c), changing only one word--genuine "issue" becomes genuine "dispute." "Dispute" better reflects the focus of a summary-judgment determination. As explained below, "shall" also is restored to the place it held from 1938 to 2007.

The first sentence is added to make clear at the beginning that summary judgment may be requested not only as to an entire case but also as to a claim, defense, or part of a claim or defense. The subdivision caption adopts the common phrase "partial summary judgment" to describe disposition of less than the whole action, whether or not the order grants all the relief requested by the motion.

"Shall" is restored to express the direction to grant summary judgment. The word "shall" in Rule 56 acquired significance over many decades of use. Rule 56 was amended in 2007 to replace "shall" with "should" as part of the Style Project, acting under a convention that prohibited any use of "shall." Comments on proposals to amend Rule 56, as published in 2008, have shown that neither of the choices available under the Style Project conventions--"must" or "should"--is suitable in light of the case law on whether a district court has discretion to deny summary judgment when there appears to be no genuine dispute as to any material fact. Compare Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 255 (1986) ("Neither do we suggest that the trial courts should act other than with caution in granting summary judgment or that the trial court may not deny summary judgment in a case in which there is reason to believe that the better course would be to proceed to a full trial. Kennedy v. Silas Mason Co., 334 U.S. 249 * * * (1948))," with Celotex Corp. v. Catrett, 477 U.S. 317, 322 (1986) ("In our view, the plain language of Rule 56(c) mandates the entry of summary judgment, after adequate time for discovery and upon motion, against a party who fails to make a showing sufficient to establish the existence of an element essential to that party's case, and on which that party will bear the burden of proof at trial."). Eliminating "shall" created an unacceptable risk of changing the summary-judgment standard. Restoring "shall" avoids the unintended consequences of any other word.

Subdivision (a) also adds a new direction that the court should state on the record the reasons for granting or denying the motion. Most courts recognize this practice. Among other advantages, a statement of reasons can facilitate an appeal or subsequent trial-court proceedings. It is particularly important to state the reasons for granting summary judgment. The form and detail of the statement of reasons are left to the court's discretion.

The statement on denying summary judgment need not address every available reason. But identification of central issues may help the parties to focus further proceedings.

Subdivision (b). The timing provisions in former subdivisions (a) and (c) are superseded. Although the rule allows a motion for summary judgment to be filed at the commencement of an action, in many cases the motion will be premature until the nonmovant has had time to file a responsive pleading or other pretrial proceedings have been had. Scheduling orders or other pretrial orders can regulate timing to fit the needs of the case.

Subdivision (c). Subdivision (c) is new. It establishes a common procedure for several aspects of summary-judgment motions synthesized from similar elements developed in the cases or found in many local rules.

Subdivision (c)(1) addresses the ways to support an assertion that a fact can or cannot be genuinely disputed. It does not address the form for providing the required support. Different courts and judges have adopted different forms including, for example, directions that the support be included in the motion, made part of a separate statement of facts, interpolated in the body of a brief or memorandum, or provided in a separate statement of facts included in a brief or memorandum.

Subdivision (c)(1)(A) describes the familiar record materials commonly relied upon and requires that the movant cite the particular parts of the materials that support its fact positions. Materials that are not yet in the record--including materials referred to in an affidavit or declaration--must be placed in the record. Once materials are in the record, the court may, by order in the case, direct that the materials be gathered in an appendix, a party may voluntarily submit an appendix, or the parties may submit a joint appendix. The appendix procedure also may be established by local rule. Pointing to a specific location in an appendix satisfies the citation requirement. So too it may be convenient to direct that a party assist the court in locating materials buried in a voluminous record.

Subdivision (c)(1)(B) recognizes that a party need not always point to specific record materials. One party, without citing any other materials, may respond or reply that materials cited to dispute or support a fact do not establish the absence or presence of a genuine dispute. And a party who does not have the trial burden of production may rely on a showing that a party who does have the trial burden cannot produce admissible evidence to carry its burden as to the fact.

Subdivision (c)(2) provides that a party may object that material cited to support or dispute a fact cannot be presented in a form that would be admissible in evidence. The objection functions much as an objection at trial, adjusted for the pretrial setting. The burden is on the proponent to show that the material is admissible as presented or to explain the admissible form that is anticipated. There is no need to make a separate motion to strike. If the case goes to trial, failure to challenge admissibility at the summary-judgment stage does not forfeit the right to challenge admissibility at trial.

Subdivision (c)(3) reflects judicial opinions and local rules provisions stating that the court may decide a motion for summary judgment without undertaking an independent search of the record. Nonetheless, the rule also recognizes that a court may consider record materials not called to its attention by the parties.

Subdivision (c)(4) carries forward some of the provisions of former subdivision (e)(1). Other provisions are relocated or omitted. The requirement that a sworn or certified copy of a paper referred to in an affidavit or declaration be attached to the affidavit or declaration is omitted as unnecessary given the requirement in subdivision (c)(1)(A) that a statement or dispute of fact be supported by materials in the record.

A formal affidavit is no longer required. 28 U.S.C. § 1746 allows a written unsworn declaration, certificate, verification, or statement subscribed in proper form as true under penalty of perjury to substitute for an affidavit.

Subdivision (d). Subdivision (d) carries forward without substantial change the provisions of former subdivision (f).

A party who seeks relief under subdivision (d) may seek an order deferring the time to respond to the summary-judgment motion.

Subdivision (e). Subdivision (e) addresses questions that arise when a party fails to support an assertion of fact or fails to properly address another party's assertion of fact as required by Rule 56(c). As explained below, summary judgment cannot be granted by default even if there is a complete failure to respond to the motion, much less when an attempted response fails to comply with Rule 56(c) requirements. Nor should it be denied by default even if the movant completely fails to reply to a nonmovant's response. Before deciding on other possible action, subdivision (e)(1) recognizes that the court may afford an opportunity to properly support or address the fact. In many circumstances this opportunity will be the court's preferred first step.

Subdivision (e)(2) authorizes the court to consider a fact as undisputed for purposes of the motion when response or reply requirements are not satisfied. This approach reflects the "deemed admitted" provisions in many local rules. The fact is considered undisputed only for purposes of the motion; if summary judgment is denied, a party who failed to make a proper Rule 56 response or reply remains free to contest the fact in further proceedings. And the court may choose not to consider the fact as undisputed, particularly if the court knows of record materials that show grounds for genuine dispute.

Subdivision (e)(3) recognizes that the court may grant summary judgment only if the motion and supporting materials--including the facts considered undisputed under subdivision (e)(2)--show that the movant is entitled to it. Considering some facts undisputed does not of itself allow summary judgment. If there is a proper response or reply as to some facts, the court cannot grant summary judgment without determining whether those facts can be genuinely disputed. Once the court has determined the set of facts--both those it has chosen to consider undisputed for want of a proper response or reply and any that cannot be genuinely disputed despite a procedurally proper response or reply--it must determine the legal consequences of these facts and permissible inferences from them.

Subdivision (e)(4) recognizes that still other orders may be appropriate. The choice among possible orders should be designed to encourage proper presentation of the record. Many courts take extra care with pro se litigants, advising them of the need to respond and the risk of losing by summary judgment if an adequate response is not filed. And the court may seek to reassure itself by some examination of the record before granting summary judgment against a pro se litigant.

Subdivision (f). Subdivision (f) brings into Rule 56 text a number of related procedures that have grown up in practice. After giving notice and a reasonable time to respond the court may grant summary judgment for the nonmoving party; grant a motion on legal or factual grounds not raised by the parties; or consider summary judgment on its own. In many cases it may prove useful first to invite a motion; the invited motion will automatically trigger the regular procedure of subdivision (c).

Subdivision (g). Subdivision (g) applies when the court does not grant all the relief requested by a motion for summary judgment. It becomes relevant only after the court has applied the summary-judgment standard carried forward in subdivision (a) to each claim, defense, or part of a claim or defense, identified by the motion. Once that duty is discharged, the court may decide whether to apply the summary-judgment standard to dispose of a material fact that is not genuinely in dispute. The court must take care that this determination does not interfere with a party's ability to accept a fact for purposes of the motion only. A nonmovant, for example, may feel confident that a genuine dispute as to one or a few facts will defeat the motion, and prefer to avoid the cost of detailed response to all facts stated by the movant. This position should be available without running the risk that the fact will be taken as established under subdivision (g) or otherwise found to have been accepted for other purposes.

If it is readily apparent that the court cannot grant all the relief requested by the motion, it may properly decide that the cost of determining whether some potential fact disputes may be eliminated by summary disposition is greater than the cost of resolving those disputes by other means, including trial. Even if the court believes that a fact is not genuinely in dispute it may refrain from ordering that the fact be treated as established. The court may conclude that it is better to leave open for trial facts and issues that may be better illuminated by the trial of related facts that must be tried in any event.

Subdivision (h). Subdivision (h) carries forward former subdivision (g) with three changes. Sanctions are made discretionary, not mandatory, reflecting the experience that courts seldom invoke the independent Rule 56 authority to impose sanctions. See Cecil & Cort, Federal Judicial Center Memorandum on Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 56(g) Motions for Sanctions (April 2, 2007). In addition, the rule text is expanded to recognize the need to provide notice and a reasonable time to respond. Finally, authority to impose other appropriate sanctions also is recognized.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.syn

§ 29.syn Synopsis to Chapter 29: Summary Judgment

29.01 Scope.

29.02 Objective and Strategy.

29.03 CHECKLISTS: Preparing Motion for Summary Judgment and Supporting Papers.

29.03[1] CHECKLIST: Determine Propriety of Summary Judgment Motion.

29.03[2] CHECKLIST: Prepare Written Summary Judgment Motion.

29.03[3] CHECKLIST: Prepare Supporting Motion Papers.

29.03[4] CHECKLIST: Timely File and Serve Summary Judgment Motion.

29.04 Options and Strategy.

29.04[1] Either Party May Move for Summary Judgment.

29.04[2] Advantages of Summary Judgment Process.

29.04[3] Disadvantages of Summary Judgment Process.

29.04[4] Consider Client Consultation or Approval.

29.05 Determine Whether Summary Judgment Motion Is Appropriate.

29.05[1] Criteria for Deciding Whether to File Motion.

29.05[2] Summary Judgment Is Appropriate When There Are No Genuine Issues of Material Fact.

29.05[3] Movant Must Be Entitled to Judgment As Matter of Law.

29.05[4] Moving Party Bears Initial Burden of Proof on Motion.

29.05[5] Summary Adjudication May Be Available.

29.05[6] Court May Sanction Filing of Groundless Motion or Bad-Faith Affidavit.

29.05[7] Distinguish Between Summary Judgment and Other Dispositive Motions.

29.05[7][a] Distinguish Motions to Dismiss for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

29.05[7][b] Distinguish Motions to Dismiss for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction or Improper Venue.

29.05[7][c] Distinguish Motions to Strike.

29.05[7][d] Distinguish Motions to Dismiss for Failure to State Claim.

29.05[7][e] Distinguish Motions for Judgment on Pleadings.

29.05[7][f] Distinguish Motions for Judgment As Matter of Law.

29.06 Timely Assert Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.06[1] Either Party May Move for Summary Judgment at Any Time Until 30 Days After Close of Discovery.

29.06[2] [Reserved].

29.06[3] Most Effective Time to Make Motion Depends on Circumstances of Case.

29.07 Prepare Required Motion Papers.

29.07[1] Motion Must Be in Writing.

29.07[2] Typical Papers to Be Filed.

29.07[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Papers to Be Filed May Vary.

29.07[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

29.07[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

29.07[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

29.07[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

29.07[4] Motion Must Contain Grounds for Motion and Relief Sought.

29.07[5] Request or Waive Oral Argument As Desired.

29.07[6] Properly Format Motion.

29.08 Draft and Attach Brief or Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Motion.

29.08[1] Draft Brief or Memorandum of Points and Authorities Supporting Motion.

29.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Brief or Memorandum Requirements.

29.08[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

29.08[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

29.08[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

29.08[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

29.08[3] Properly Format Memorandum or Brief.

29.09 Draft and Attach Statement of Undisputed, Uncontroverted, or Material Facts When Required.

29.09[1] Draft Statement of Undisputed, Uncontroverted, or Material Facts If Required.

29.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Statement Requirements May Vary.

29.09[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

29.09[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

29.09[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

29.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

29.09[3] Properly Format Statement.

29.10 Draft and Attach Proposed Judgment or Order As Required.

29.10[1] Draft Proposed Judgment or Order.

29.10[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Proposed Judgment or Order Requirements.

29.10[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

29.10[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

29.10[3] Properly Format Proposed Judgment or Order.

29.11 Draft and Attach Supporting Affidavits.

29.11[1] Affidavits Supporting Motion Are Permissible but Not Required.

29.11[2] Movant May Attach Declaration in Lieu of Affidavit.

29.11[3] Supporting Affidavits Must Meet Requirements of Rule 56(e).

29.11[4] Affidavit Must Be Based on Personal Knowledge.

29.11[5] Affidavit Must Contain Specific Admissible Facts.

29.11[6] Affidavit Must Show Affiant Is Competent to Testify to Matters in Affidavit.

29.11[7] Attach, File, and Serve Sworn or Certified Copies of All Papers Referred to in Affidavit.

29.11[8] Affidavits Made in Bad Faith or for Delay Are Subject to Sanction.

29.11[9] Properly Format Affidavit or Declaration.

29.12 Attach Other Evidence Supporting Summary Judgment Motion.

29.12[1] Attach Evidence Supporting Summary Judgment.

29.12[2] Required Evidentiary Showing on Motion Depends on Burden of Persuasion at Trial.

29.12[3] Evidence Must Be Admissible.

29.12[4] Types of Evidence Court May Consider.

29.12[4][a] Attach Pleadings As Relevant.

29.12[4][b] Attach Deposition or Excerpts As Relevant.

29.12[4][c] Attach Answers to Interrogatories As Relevant.

29.12[4][d] Attach Admissions on File As Relevant.

29.13 Timely Serve and File Motion.

29.13[1] Timely Serve Motion on Opposing Party.

29.13[2] Timely File Motion With Court.

29.13[2][a] Movant Must File Motion Within Reasonable Time After Service.

29.13[2][b] Counsel May Be Required to Confer Before Filing Motion.

29.13[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Additional Service and Filing Requirements.

29.13[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

29.13[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

29.13[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

29.14 CHECKLISTS: Responding to Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.14[1] CHECKLIST: Preparing Opposition to Summary Judgment Motion.

29.14[2] CHECKLIST: Preparing Objections to Movant's Evidence.

29.14[3] CHECKLIST: Moving for Continuance to Permit Further Discovery.

29.14[4] CHECKLIST: Filing and Serving Opposition Papers.

29.15 Options and Strategy.

29.16 Draft Opposition to Summary Judgment Motion.

29.16[1] Properly Supported Motion Shifts Burden to Nonmovant to Go Beyond Pleadings in Opposing Summary Judgment.

29.16[2] Opposition Papers Should Include Evidentiary Materials Beyond Pleadings.

29.16[3] Materials Establishing Genuine Issue of Fact Must Appear in Both Opposition and Court File.

29.16[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Opposition Requirements May Vary.

29.16[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

29.16[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

29.16[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

29.16[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

29.16[5] Draft and Attach Statement of Genuine Issues or Disputed or Controverted Facts As Required.

29.16[5][a] Draft Statement When Permitted or Required.

29.16[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

29.16[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

29.16[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

29.16[5][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

29.16[6] Draft and Attach Memorandum of Points and Authorities As Required or Desired.

29.16[7] Draft and Attach Proposed Order If Desired.

29.16[8] Request Oral Argument If Desired.

29.17 Compile and Attach Evidence in Opposition to Motion.

29.17[1] Opposition Evidence Must Set Forth Specific Facts Showing Genuine Issue for Trial.

29.17[2] Opposition Evidence Must Be Admissible.

29.17[3] Draft and Attach Opposing Affidavits.

29.17[3][a] Draft and Attach Affidavits or Declarations in Opposition to Motion.

29.17[3][b] Rules Governing Supporting Affidavits Apply to Affidavits Opposing Motion.

29.17[3][c] Nonmovant May Not Rely on Its Own Conclusory or Sham Statements in Affidavit to Create Issue of Material Fact.

29.17[3][d] Court May Grant Continuance If Affidavit Indicates Nonmovant Lacks Facts to Oppose Motion.

29.17[4] Attach Other Evidence Opposing Motion.

29.18 Draft and Attach Objections to Movant's Evidence.

29.19 Move for Continuance to Permit Further Discovery.

29.19[1] Move for Continuance for Further Discovery.

29.19[2] Motion Must Identify Information Sought and Show Its Existence.

29.19[3] Timely File and Serve Motion for Continuance Before Summary Judgment Hearing.

29.19[4] Show That Evidence Sought Exists and Would Prevent Summary Judgment.

29.19[5] Trial Court's Determination of Motion Is Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.

29.20 Properly File and Serve Opposition Papers.

29.20[1] Timely File Opposition Papers With Court.

29.20[1][a] Opposing Party Has 21 Days From Service of Motion to File Response to Motion.

29.20[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

29.20[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

29.20[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

29.20[1][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

29.20[2] Properly Serve and File Opposition Papers.

29.21 CHECKLIST: Preparing Reply to Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.22 Options and Strategy.

29.23 Movant May Reply to Opposition Papers.

29.23[1] Draft, Serve, and File Reply to Opposition If Desired.

29.23[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

29.23[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

29.23[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

29.23[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

29.24 Reply Generally Should Not Present New Material.

29.25 Reply May Include Objections to Nonmovant's Evidence in Opposing Motion.

29.26 CHECKLISTS: Court Determination of Motions for Summary Judgment.

29.26[1] CHECKLIST: Determining Motions for Summary Judgment.

29.26[2] CHECKLIST: Challenging Court's Determination of Motion for Summary Judgment in Trial Court.

29.27 Options and Strategy.

29.28 Court May Hold Hearing on Motion.

29.28[1] Trial Court May Hold Oral Hearing Before Deciding Motion.

29.28[2] Hearing May Include Taking Oral Testimony in Limited Circumstances.

29.28[3] Rule 56 Does Not Require Hearing Before Determination of Motion.

29.28[4] District Court May Not Preclude Requests for Oral Argument or Deny Nonmovant's Request for Hearing Unless It Denies Motion.

29.29 General Standards Governing Trial Court's Determination of Motion.

29.29[1] Court Must Properly Apply Burdens of Proof on Motion and at Trial.

29.29[1][a] Moving Party Bears Initial Burden of Proof, Which Varies Depending on Which Party Has Burden of Proof at Trial.

29.29[1][b] If Movant Meets Initial Burden on Motion, Burden Shifts to Nonmovant to Present Specific Facts Showing Genuine Issue for Trial.

29.29[2] Court Must Determine Whether Case Presents Genuine Issue of Material Fact for Trial.

29.29[3] Applicable Substantive Law Defines Materiality of Fact Issues.

29.29[4] Court May Only Consider Admissible Evidence in Ruling on a Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.29[5] Court Must View Evidence in Light Most Favorable to Nonmovant, and Must Draw Reasonable Inferences in Nonmovant's Favor.

29.29[5][a] Court Must View Evidence in Light Most Favorable to Nonmovant.

29.29[5][b] Court Must Draw All Reasonable Inferences in Nonmovant's Favor.

29.30 Court Must Review Cross-Motions for Summary Judgment Separately.

29.31 Court May Issue Order Granting Summary Adjudication.

29.31[1] Court May Grant Summary Adjudication on Portion of Case.

29.31[2] Areas in Which Summary Adjudication Is Available.

29.31[3] Cases Not Fully Adjudicated on Motion May Be Tried on Remaining Issues.

29.31[4] Normally, Summary Adjudication May Not Be Appealed Immediately.

29.32 Court Granting Summary Judgment Must Enter Separate Judgment.

29.32[1] Court Must Enter Judgment.

29.32[2] Court Is Not Required to Make Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law.

29.33 Denial of Summary Judgment Motion Ordinarily Is Nonappealable Interlocutory Order.

29.34 Parties May Challenge Ruling on Summary Judgment Motion in Trial Court.

29.34[1] Movant May Renew Summary Judgment Motion After Denial.

29.34[2] Either Party May Seek Reconsideration of Ruling on Summary Judgment Motion.

29.34[2][a] Party May Move for Reconsideration Under Rule 59(e) or Rule 60(b).

29.34[2][b] Rule 59(e) Motion Must Be Based on New Evidence, Clear Error, or Change in Law.

29.34[2][c] Rule 60(b) Motion Must Be Based on Mistake, Surprise, Excusable Neglect, New Evidence, Fraud, Void Judgment, or Other Reason Justifying Relief.

29.34[2][d] Motion for Reconsideration Must Be Brought at Proper Time.

29.34[2][e] Timely Motion for Reconsideration May Toll Time for Appeal.

29.34[2][f] District Court May Consider Rule 60(b) Motion Despite Appeal.

29.35 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Appellate Review of Grant or Denial of Summary Judgment.

29.36 Options and Strategy.

29.37 File Notice of Appeal From Summary Judgment As Required by Appellate Rules.

29.37[1] Appellate Court Must Have Jurisdiction Over District Court Decision.

29.37[1][a] Appellate Court Has Jurisdiction Over All Final Decisions of District Courts.

29.37[1][b] Summary Adjudication Generally Results in Nonappealable Interlocutory Order.

29.37[1][c] Order Denying Summary Judgment Generally Is Not Final Appealable Order.

29.37[1][d] Order Denying Summary Judgment May Be Reviewed After Trial on Merits If District Court Would Have Been Required to Grant Motion But for Error of Law.

29.37[2] Timely File Notice of Appeal to Avoid Waiver.

29.37[3] Party May Not Raise New Issues on Appeal to Obtain Reversal of Trial Court's Summary Judgment Determination.

29.38 Appellate Review of Summary Judgment Determination Is Not Deferential.

29.38[1] Appellate Court Reviews Summary Judgment Order De Novo Using Same Standard Used by Trial Court.

29.38[2] Appellate Court Must Determine If There Are Genuine Issues of Material Fact and Whether District Court Correctly Applied Relevant Substantive Law.

29.38[3] Appellate Court May Affirm Grant of Motion on Any Ground Supported in Record.

29.38[4] Appellate Court Reviews Trial Court's Evidentiary Rulings in Summary Judgment Context for Abuse of Discretion.

29.38[5] Appellate Court Reviews Trial Court's Rulings on Motions to Reconsider on Abuse of Discretion Standard.

29.39 Appellate Court May Remand Case If Trial Court Fails to Make Reasons for Granting Summary Judgment Clear on Record.

29.40 Notice of Motion and Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.41 Notice of Motion and Motion for Summary Adjudication.

29.42 Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.43 Statement of Undisputed or Uncontroverted Facts.

29.44 Affidavit in Support of Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.45 Proposed Order Granting Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.46 Affidavit in Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.47 Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.48 Statement of Genuine Issues or Controverted or Disputed Facts.

29.49 Proposed Order Denying Motion for Summary Judgment.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
I. STRATEGY

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.01

29.01 Scope.

This chapter contains discussion of and forms for use in making and responding to motions for summary judgment in California's federal district courts. It includes:

- Motions for summary judgment [see 29.03 -29.13; Forms: 29.40, 29.41].
- Memorandums of points and authorities in support of motions for summary judgment [see 29.08; Form: 29.42].
- Statements of undisputed, uncontroverted, or material facts [see 29.09; Form: 29.43].
- Affidavits or declarations in support of motions for summary judgment [see 29.11; Form: 29.44].
- Other evidence in support of motions for summary judgment [see 29.12].
- Oppositions to motions for summary judgment [see 29.14 -29.20; Forms: 29.46 -29.49].
- Statements of genuine issues or disputed or controverted facts [see 29.16; Form: 29.48].
- Memorandums of points and authorities opposing motions for summary judgment [see 29.16; Form: 29.47].
- Other evidence in opposition to motions for summary judgment [see 29.17].
- Affidavits opposing motions for summary judgment [see 29.17[3]; Form: 29.46].
- Objections to movant's evidence in support of motion for summary judgment [see 29.18].
- Motions for continuance to permit further discovery [see 29.19].

- Replies to opposition to motions for summary judgment [see 29.21 -29.25].
- Court determination of motions for summary judgment [see 29.26 -29.34; Forms: 29.45, 29.49].
- Appellate review of trial court action on motions for summary judgment [see 29.35 -29.39].

Core Rules:
Fed R Civ P 7, 10, 11, 56.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentStandardsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
I. STRATEGY

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.02

29.02 Objective and Strategy.

A party seeking relief in federal court, or a party against whom relief is sought, may move for summary judgment in that party's favor [see Fed R Civ P 56(a), (b)]. A moving party may also seek an order granting a "partial summary judgment," or summary adjudication, of a portion of the claims or relief sought [see Fed R Civ P 56(a), (b), (d)]. In essence, the filing of a summary judgment motion requires the trial court to decide if the evidence presents sufficient disagreement to require submission to a jury, or is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 251-252, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202]. The court must grant the motion if the movant establishes through pleadings and other material on file that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact, and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)].

Thus, the purpose of summary judgment is to avoid unnecessary trials when there is no dispute as to the facts before the court [Northwest Motorcycle Ass'n v. United States Dep't of Agric. (9th Cir 1994) 18 F3d 1468, 1471 ; see Lobster v. Sierra Pac. Power Co. (D Nev 1998) 12 F Supp2d 1105, 1108]. Summary judgment assists trial courts in isolating and disposing of factually unsupported claims or defenses [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 323-324, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265]. As such, summary judgment is an integral part of the federal rules designed to secure the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every action [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 327, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; Independent Ink, Inc. v. Trident, Inc. (CD Cal 2002) 210 F Supp2d 1155, 1161].

A grant of summary judgment is a final adjudication on the merits [Rand v. Rowland (9th Cir 1998) 154 F3d 952, 957 , cert. denied, 527 US 1035 (1999)]. An adverse party may appeal a summary judgment just as it might appeal a final judgment following trial [see 28 USC § 1291; Jackson v. S.I. Hayakawa (9th Cir 1979) 605 F2d 1121, 1125 n3 , cert. denied, 445 US 952 (1982) (summary judgment is judgment on merits for res judicata purposes)].

A court may grant summary adjudication on specific issues without granting summary judgment as to the entire claim for relief to narrow the issues for trial [Sebastian Int'l, Inc. v. Russolillo (CD Cal 2001) 151 F Supp2d 1215, 1217 ; First Nat'l Ins. Co. v. FDIC (SD Cal 1997) 977 F Supp 1051, 1055], eliminating useless facts and issues over which there is no controversy that would tend to confuse and complicate a lawsuit [Lies v. Farrell Lines, Inc. (9th Cir 1981) 641 F2d 765, 769 ; Peliculas y Videos Internacionales, S.A. de C.V. v. Harriscope of Los Angeles, Inc. (CD Cal 2004) 302 F Supp2d 1131, 1133].

In contrast to a full summary judgment, a summary adjudication order determining liability but not remedies, or disposing of fewer than all claims, is generally not a final appealable order [Idaho Watersheds Project v. Hahn (9th Cir 2002) 307 F3d 815, 824]. A summary adjudication may be appealed prior to the final judgment in the entire case only if the losing party can invoke the provisions of Rule 54(b) to secure a separate, final judgment [see Fed R Civ P 54(b)] or, perhaps, in an extremely rare case, if the district court will certify the case for a discretionary interlocutory appeal under Section 1292(b) [see 28 USC § 1292(b)].

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

11 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 56, Summary Judgment (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 7, Pleadings Allowed; Form of Motions (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2 Moore's Manual: Federal Practice and Procedure, Ch. 17, Summary Judgment (Matthew Bender).

1 Moore's Manual: Federal Practice and Procedure, Ch. 9, Pleadings and Motions in General (Matthew Bender).

Cross References:

Counterclaims and crossclaims, see Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies. Third-party actions, see Ch. 12, Third-Party Actions. Intervention, see Ch. 14, Intervention. Motion practice generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice. Format, filing, and service of motion papers, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers.

For tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication, at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewAppealabilityCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentPartial Summary JudgmentsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentStandardsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.03

29.03 CHECKLISTS: Preparing Motion for Summary Judgment and Supporting Papers.

29.03[1] CHECKLIST: Determine Propriety of Summary Judgment Motion.

☐ If appropriate, consider moving for partial summary judgment on:

- ○ Issues representing less than whole case;
- ○ Issue of liability alone; or
- ○ Less than full relief requested.

☐ Consider whether:

- ○ Case is appropriate for summary judgment by determining whether:
  - ☐ Case presents dispositive question of law.
  - ☐ Nonmovant cannot prove essential element of its case on which it has burden of proof at trial.
  - ☐ Nonmovant's evidence fails to meet applicable evidentiary standard, so that reasonable trier of fact could not return verdict for nonmovant.
- ○ Case is ripe for summary judgment.

- ○ Estimated length of trial or amount in controversy justify summary judgment process.
- ○ Parties would benefit more from engaging in serious settlement discussions.
- ○ Motion for summary adjudication would avoid trial of significant portion of case.
- ○ Filing motion or affidavit is groundless or in bad faith, which may subject movant to sanctions.
- ○ Movant can meet initial burden of proof on motion.

Authority:
28 USC § 1291; Fed R Civ P 11, 56

Discussion:
See § 29.04, 29.05

29.03[2] CHECKLIST: Prepare Written Summary Judgment Motion.

☐ Include in motion papers:

- ○ Notice of motion specifying date, time, and location of hearing on motion.
- ○ Motion specifying which party seeks summary judgment, claims involved in motion, and legal and factual grounds for motion.
- ○ Supporting affidavits, if any.
- ○ Proposed order granting summary judgment as requested by movant.
- ○ Proof of service.

☐ Fulfill writing requirement by filing:

- ○ Written notice of hearing on motion.
- ○ Combined notice of motion and motion setting forth required contents (better practice).

☐ At minimum, set forth in motion:

- ○ Grounds for motion, including:

- ☐ Theories on which movant proceeds;
- ☐ List of pleadings and papers on which movant relies; and
- ☐ Statement that movant makes motion pursuant to Rule 56.

○ Relief or order sought.

○ Request for or waiver of oral argument on motion as desired.

☐ Fulfill additional requirements imposed by local rule:

○ Central District: Prepare, file, and serve:

- ☐ Notice of motion for summary judgment;
- ☐ Proposed statement of uncontroverted facts and conclusions of law;
- ☐ Memorandum of points and authorities supporting motion;
- ☐ Any evidence supporting motion; and
- ☐ Proposed judgment, or proposed order if movant seeks summary adjudication.

○ Eastern District: Prepare for filing:

- ☐ Motion for summary judgment;
- ☐ Notice of motion;
- ☐ Statement of undisputed facts, or joint statement;
- ☐ Copies of all evidentiary documents cited in moving papers;
- ☐ Supporting affidavits, if any; and
- ☐ Proof of service of motion papers.

○ Northern District: Prepare for filing:

- ☐ Notice of motion and motion;
- ☐ Statement of relief or action sought by movant;
- ☐ Points and authorities in support of motion;
- ☐ Proposed order; and
- ☐ Any supporting affidavits or declarations.

○ Southern District: Prepare for filing:

- ☐ Motion for summary judgment;
- ☐ Separate notice of motion;
- ☐ Separate memorandum of points and authorities in support of motion;
- ☐ Copies of all documentary evidence movant intends to submit in support of motion;
- ☐ Separate statement of material facts if desired; and
- ☐ Any supporting affidavits.

☐ Properly format motion, following:

○ Rules applicable to formatting pleadings generally.

○ Applicable local rules.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 11, 56(a), (c), (e); CD Cal Civ LR 7-4, 7-5, 56-1, 56-4; ED Cal Civ LR 230(g), 260(c); ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)-(d), 7-5; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d.1), (f.1), (f.2.a)

Discussion:
See §§ 29.07[1] -[6]

Forms:
See § 29.40, 29.41

☐ Draft and attach proposed judgment or order as required, e.g.:

- ○ Central District: Serve and file proposed judgment or order with notice of motion.
- ○ Northern District: Attach proposed order to motion unless excused by judge hearing motion.

☐ Properly format proposed judgment or order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56; CD Cal Civ LR 56-1, 56-4; ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(c)

Discussion:
See § 29.10

Form:
See § 29.45

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

29.03[3] CHECKLIST: Prepare Supporting Motion Papers.

☐ Draft and attach affidavits to support factual contentions in motion. Prepare supporting motion papers.

☐ Ensure that supporting affidavits:

- ○ Are made on personal knowledge;
- ○ Set forth specific facts that would be admissible in evidence; and
- ○ Affirmatively show that affiant is competent to testify to matters in affidavit.

☐ Attach declaration in lieu of affidavit if it meets:

- ○ Content and format requirements of federal law.
- ○ Affidavit requirements of Rule 56(e).

☐ Attach affidavit to motion for filing with court and service on opponent.

☐ Attach to affidavit sworn or certified copies of all documents referred to in the affidavit.

☐ Avoid making affidavits in bad faith or for delay.

Authority:
28 USC § 1746; Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56(a), (b), (e); Fed R Evid 601, 602, 703; CD Cal Civ LR 7-6, 7-7; ED Cal Gen LR 101; ED Cal Civ LR 260(a); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.2.a)

Discussion:
See § 29.11

Form:
See § 29.44

☐ Draft and attach brief or memorandum of points and authorities supporting motion as required by local rule:

- ○ Northern District: Include memorandum of points and authorities in body of motion.
- ○ Southern District: Attach separate memorandum of points and authorities to motion.
- ○ Central District: Serve and file separate memorandum and points and authorities in support of motion.
- ○ Eastern District: File accompanying brief with notice of motion and motion.

☐ Set forth in brief or memorandum:

- ○ Issues or grounds on which summary judgment is sought.
- ○ Brief procedural history of case, including:
  - ☐ Filing date;
  - ☐ Claims presented;
  - ☐ Discovery undertaken or attempted;
  - ☐ Any dispositive motions filed in case and disposition of those motions; and
  - ☐ Listing of any other motions pending.
- ○ A statement of facts relevant to the issues to be decided in the case.
- ○ Concise legal argument on the grounds supporting summary judgment, with cites to relevant authority.

☐ Properly format supporting memoranda and briefs by following:

○ Rules applicable to formatting briefs and memoranda generally.

○ Applicable local rules.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56; CD Cal Civ LR 7-5(a); ED Cal Civ LR 230(b); ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(4), 7-4; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1), (f.2)

Discussion:
See § 29.08

Form:
See § 29.42

☐ Draft and attach statement of undisputed, uncontroverted, or material facts supporting motion as required by local rules.

○ Central District:

☐ Lodge and serve proposed statement of uncontroverted facts and conclusions of law with notice of motion.

☐ Set forth material facts as to which movant contends there is no genuine issue.

○ Eastern District:

☐ Attach statement of undisputed facts to motion.

☐ If an interested party, file joint statement of stipulated facts.

☐ Enumerate material facts relied on and cite to pleadings or evidence relied on to establish that fact.

○ Southern District: Supply separate statement of material facts with motion.

○ Northern District:

☐ Submit separate or joint statement of undisputed facts only if required by assigned judge.

☐ If judge orders submission of joint statement, confer and submit with other parties joint statement on or before date set by judge.

☐ If nonmovant refuses to join in statement, file motion with separate declaration of counsel explaining why parties are not filing joint statement.

☐ Properly format statement:

○ Follow rules applicable to motion papers generally.

○ Quote particular evidence relied on when appropriate.

○ Cite to exact location of evidence in record by using page, paragraph, and line cites when possible.

○ Attach admissible excerpts to accompanying affidavit or declaration.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56; CD Cal Civ LR 56-1; ED Cal Civ LR 260; ND Cal Civ LR 56-1; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)

Discussion:
See § 29.09

Form:
See § 29.43

☐ Attach evidence supporting summary judgment motion to:

○ Inform court of basis for motion; and

○ Identify portions of record supporting assertion of no triable issue of fact.

☐ Determine initial burden of proof on motion, depending on burden of persuasion at trial:

○ If moving party bears burden of persuasion at trial, support motion with credible evidence showing no genuine issue of material fact.

○ If nonmoving party has burden of persuasion at trial, either:

☐ Submit affirmative evidence negating essential element of nonmoving party's claim; or

☐ Demonstrate that nonmovant's evidence is insufficient to establish essential element of nonmovant's claim.

☐ Ensure that evidence contained in attached material is:

- ○ Based on personal knowledge.
- ○ Based on specific facts that are admissible in evidence.
- ○ Properly authenticated.

☐ Consider use in motion of:

- ○ Pleadings.
- ○ Depositions.

☐ Authenticate by identifying names of deponent and action, and including reporter's certification that it is true record of deponent's testimony.

☐ If attaching deposition excerpt to motion, attach cover page of deposition and reporter's certification.

☐ If possible, submit complete deposition with relevant portions highlighted.

☐ File important depositions with court clerk.

- ○ Answers to interrogatories.
- ○ Admissions on file.
- ○ Affidavits, if any.
- ○ Documents obtained through discovery.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 30(f)(1), (2), 56(c), (e); Fed R Evid 901, 902

Discussion:
See § 29.12

Form:
See § 29.44

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

29.03[4] CHECKLIST: Timely File and Serve Summary Judgment Motion.

☐ Timely assert motion for summary judgment:

○ Any time until 30 days after close of discovery.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 56(a), (b), (c), (f)

Discussion:
See §§ 29.06[1] -[3]

☐ Timely serve summary judgment motion on opposing party.

○ Comply with any time rules in local rules or court order.

○ If default provisions of Fed R Civ P 6 apply, serve notice of motion at least 14 days before hearing.

☐ Add three days for service by mail, electronic, or alternate means of delivery.

☐ Include certificate of service with moving papers filed with court.

○ If appropriate, request that trial court enlarge Fed R Civ P 6's 14-day period:

☐ For good cause shown on request by party within original 14-day period.

☐ On showing of excusable neglect when party seeking extension brings motion after expiration of 14-day period.

○ File with certificate of service.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(C), 6(b)-(d)

Discussion:
See § 29.06

☐ Timely file summary judgment motion with trial court.

○ Determine if deadline is set by trial court in case management order.

- File motion with court within reasonable time after service.
- File motion papers with court clerk.

☐ Follow applicable local rule requirements:

- Northern District: File and notice motion for hearing no less than 35 days after service of motion.
- Southern District: File motion no less than 28 days before the date for which matter is noticed for hearing.
- Eastern District: Courts set motion hearing no less than 28 days after movant serves and files motion.
- Central District: Confer with opposing party before serving and filing summary judgment motion.

☐ If appropriate, seek conference before filing motion even when not required.

Consider:

A conference, even if not required, can resolve matters that would otherwise take up space in the motion, and may foster settlement. Unless the shock of receiving a summary judgment motion is central to a particular litigation strategy, a prefiling conference generally does not put the movant at much of a disadvantage. A few extra days for opposing counsel to anticipate the motion often fails to outweigh the potential benefits of the conference.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 5(d), 56(c); CD Cal Civ LR 7-3; ND Cal Civ LR 7-2; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1); ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)

Discussion:

See § 29.13

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentNoticesCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.04

29.04 Options and Strategy.

29.04[1] Either Party May Move for Summary Judgment. A party seeking to recover on a claim, counterclaim, or crossclaim, or to obtain a declaratory judgment may move for a summary judgment in the party's favor on all or any part of the claim [see Fed R Civ P 56(a)]. Similarly, a party defending against such a claim or declaratory judgment may move for a summary judgment in his or her favor [see Fed R Civ P 56(b)]. Thus, either the plaintiff or the defendant may move for summary judgment [Nissan Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Fritz Cos. (9th Cir 2000) 210 F3d 1099, 1102].

29.04[2] Advantages of Summary Judgment Process. Perhaps the most important advantage of filing a summary judgment motion is the potential for avoiding the time and expense of litigation [see Rand v. Rowland (9th Cir 1998) 154 F3d 952, 957 , cert. denied, 527 US 1035 (1999) (summary judgment results in final adjudication)]. Even when a trial court grants summary adjudication on less than all the claims or relief requested, the movant succeeds in disposing of some of the claims or relief requested [see Fed R Civ P 56(d)].

In addition, filing a summary judgment motion may require the nonmovant to mount a paper trial at an early stage in the proceedings, often before significant discovery has been conducted. Thus, the motion may provide the movant with a preview of the nonmovant's case or with previously undisclosed evidence. A party who does not succeed on a summary judgment motion may, nevertheless, succeed in alerting the opposing party or the judge to weaknesses in its opponent's case, which may ultimately lead to settlement or to a favorable final judgment.

29.04[3] Disadvantages of Summary Judgment Process. Though parties considering filing a summary judgment motion often consider the potential savings involved in avoiding litigation, they may fail to balance those savings against the expense of preparing summary judgment materials. Preparation of motions, briefs, affidavits or declarations, and other summary judgment papers may require significant time and expense for both parties. The process may be especially onerous for plaintiffs, who may lack the financial resources of some defendants. Counsel must also balance the costs of bringing a summary judgment motion with the likelihood of success. The traditional view of summary judgment is that it is a "drastic remedy" and should not be granted unless the moving party is clearly entitled to it [see, e.g., Ness v. Marshall (3d Cir 1981) 660 F2d 517, 519]. On the other hand, courts will not hesitate to grant a properly supported motion for summary judgment [see Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 327, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L

Ed2d 265 (summary judgment is not "disfavored procedural shortcut")].

The effect of the summary judgment process on settlement is unpredictable. Parties facing a potential ruling on a summary judgment motion may be spurred to take settlement negotiations to a more serious level. In other cases, the fact that a summary judgment motion has been prepared and is pending may lower the possibility of pretrial settlement. In these cases, movants may be reluctant to engage in serious settlement discussions until after a ruling on the motion.

For those who win (and for the court with a congested calendar), summary judgment is a powerful tool, not merely for weeding out totally meritless claims, but also for disposing of cases that may have some merit and a fatal flaw as well. The value of the summary judgment process must also be evaluated in terms of summary adjudication, which can be a powerful case management tool, "whittling down" cases only to those claims that are truly in dispute and only those parties truly interested in the matter. There are substantial risks and disadvantages for those who lose summary judgment motions, however. A party opposing summary judgment who loses the motion may lose his or her day in court altogether, or may have to try the case with substantial claims resolved against him or her. A moving party who loses a motion for summary judgment:

- May be out a considerable amount of money spent in preparing the motion;
- May have revealed more of the strategy for the case than was intended or was desirable;
- May be in a weaker negotiating posture, now that opponents know that the movant cannot resolve certain contentions as a matter of law; and
- May have irritated the judge with a meritless motion (or received sanctions for a frivolous motion).

Cross References:

Discussion of summary adjudication, see §§ 29.05[5], 29.31. Discussion of continuance to seek discovery, see §§ 29.17[3][d], 29.19. Discussion of settlement generally, see Ch. 31, Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment.

29.04[4] Consider Client Consultation or Approval. Counsel considering a summary judgment motion should usually consult with and seek approval from the client. A summary judgment motion can be expensive and can alter the nature of the litigation; counsel should discuss estimated costs of the summary judgment motion, the likely outcome, the reasons for bringing the motion, and any potential drawbacks or adverse consequences.

Cross Reference:

Client consultation for summary judgment motion, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.32[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentPartial Summary Judgments

142 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.05

29.05 Determine Whether Summary Judgment Motion Is Appropriate.

29.05[1] Criteria for Deciding Whether to File Motion. A party contemplating filing a summary judgment motion should consider whether:

- The case is appropriate for summary judgment. Summary judgment is appropriate when the case presents a dispositive question of law [City & County of San Francisco v. United States (9th Cir 1997) 130 F3d 873, 877]; the nonmovant cannot prove an essential element of its case for which it has the burden of proof at trial [Cleveland v. Policy Mgmt. Sys. Corp. (1999) 526 US 795, 805-806, 119 S Ct 1597, 143 L Ed2d 966]; or the nonmovant's evidence fails to meet the applicable evidentiary standard, so that a reasonable trier of fact could not return a verdict in its favor [see Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 249, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202].

- The case is ripe for summary judgment. Motions filed before the parties conclude discovery may be premature, in that it is likely that the nonmovant will respond by initiating discovery to challenge the movant's case [see Fed R Civ P 56(f)]. As a practical matter, it is often counterproductive for the movant to disclose strategies and evidence before this discovery is taken.

- The estimated length of trial and the amount in controversy justifies the summary judgment process. The time and expense of the summary judgment process may not be justified if the case can be tried in a week or less, or involves a relatively small amount in controversy.

- The parties would benefit more from engaging in serious settlement discussions.

- A successful summary adjudication motion would avoid trial of a significant portion of the case. Parties should resist filing motions for summary adjudication of less than the complete case unless a successful motion would significantly reduce the time and expense of trying the remaining issues or claims.

Judge's Perspective:

It is important to know the assigned judge's views and attitudes to motions for full and partial summary judgment. The parties can learn these views by looking at the judge's past performance. However, the best method for learning the judge's views may be to bring up the topic at case management or status conferences. At case management and status conferences, parties should suggest and explore what issues might be appropriate for resolution on motion for summary judgment. If the judge is a strong proponent of these motions, the judge might suggest or explore issues appropriately resolved on summary judgment. Discussing these matters, and being prepared to discuss these matters, at case management and status conferences permits the judge to order tiered or phased discovery to address discrete issues first, in order to see if summary disposition can then be utilized.

Cross References:

Further discussion of when summary judgment is appropriate, see § 29.05[2].

See also, 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.32 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.05[2] Summary Judgment Is Appropriate When There Are No Genuine Issues of Material Fact. Summary judgment is appropriate if the record, read in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, demonstrates the absence of a genuine issue of material fact [Celotex Corp., v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 322, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; National Am. Ins. Co. of Cal. v. Certain Underwriters at Lloyd's London (9th Cir 1996) 93 F3d 529, 533]. The rule does not require that there be an absolute absence of any factual dispute between the parties. Rather, there must be no genuine issue of material fact [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 247-248, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202 ; Hanon v. Dataproducts Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 976 F2d 497, 500].

A fact is "material" if it is necessary to prove or defend against a claim [National Am. Ins. Co. of Cal. v. Certain Underwriters at Lloyd's London (9th Cir 1996) 93 F3d 529, 533]. Courts determine whether a fact is material by looking to the governing substantive law. If the fact may affect the outcome of the case, it is material [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 248, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202].

An issue or dispute about a material fact is "genuine" if the evidence is such that a reasonable jury could return a verdict for the nonmoving party [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 248, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202 ; Hanon v. Dataproducts Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 976 F2d 497, 500]. If the record as a whole could not lead a rational trier of fact to find for the nonmoving party, there is no genuine issue for trial [Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp. (1986) 475 US 574, 587, 106 S Ct 1348, 89 L Ed2d 538 ; Hanon v. Dataproducts Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 976 F2d 497, 500].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of "genuine issues of material fact," see § 29.29[2].

29.05[3] Movant Must Be Entitled to Judgment As Matter of Law. A party seeking a summary judgment must establish that he or she is entitled to judgment as a matter of law [see Fed R Civ P 56(c); Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 322, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265]. A party is entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law if there is no genuine issue as to any material fact [see Fed R Civ P 56(c); Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 325, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of meaning of "genuine issue of material fact," see § 29.05[2].

29.05[4] Moving Party Bears Initial Burden of Proof on Motion. The party seeking summary judgment bears the initial burden of production on the motion [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 325, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265]. To meet this burden, the moving party generally must make a showing that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2)]. When the movant makes a properly supported motion, the nonmoving party may not rest on allegations or denials in its pleading. Rather, the nonmovant must respond with affidavits or other evidence setting forth specific facts showing a genuine issue for trial. If the nonmovant does not so respond, the court should enter summary judgment against the nonmovant if appropriate [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)(2)].

Cross References:

Further discussion of burden of proof on motion, see 29.29[1]. Discussion of evidence appropriately used to support motion, see § 29.12.

Discussion of burdens of production and persuasion on summary judgment, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.13 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.05[5] Summary Adjudication May Be Available. A party may move for summary judgment on a portion of an action rather than the action as a whole [see Fed R Civ P 56(a), (b)]. Courts may issue an order granting summary adjudication on issues representing less than the whole case; on the issue of liability alone, even when there is a genuine issue as to the amount of damages; or on less than the full relief requested [see Fed R Civ P 56(c), (d)]. Summary adjudications typically result in interlocutory orders rather than in final judgments. Such orders generally are not appealable before entry of a final judgment in the case [Williamson v. UNUM Life Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir 1998) 160 F3d 1247, 1250 ; see 28 USC § 1291 (federal appellate courts have jurisdiction in appeals from all final decisions of district courts)].

Cross References:

Further discussion of summary adjudication, see § 29.31. Form of motion for summary adjudication, see § 29.41.

29.05[6] Court May Sanction Filing of Groundless Motion or Bad-Faith Affidavit. The trial court may impose sanctions on an attorney, firm, or party filing a motion for summary judgment for an improper purpose, such as to harass, to cause unnecessary delay, or to increase the cost of litigation needlessly [see Fed R Civ P 11(b), (c)]. Such sanctions may also be applied to an attorney, firm, or party filing papers in opposition to the summary judgment motion [see Fed R Civ P 11(a)-(c)]. Similarly, any party presenting an affidavit in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay may, on motion by the offended party, be found guilty of contempt and ordered to pay the opposing party's attorney fees and expenses [see Fed R Civ P 56(g)].

Cross References:

Discussion of sanctions for filing of groundless motions generally, see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions; Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions; Ch. 35, Contempt.

Discussion of sanctions for frivolous summary judgment motions, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.33 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.05[7] Distinguish Between Summary Judgment and Other Dispositive Motions.

29.05[7][a] Distinguish Motions to Dismiss for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction. Lack of subject matter jurisdiction may be asserted in a motion to dismiss before a response to a plaintiff's complaint is filed [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1)]. But because lack of subject matter jurisdiction cannot be waived, it may be raised by a party or by the court at any time [see Fed R Civ P 12(h)]. In contrast, motions for summary judgment must be asserted before trial [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(A) (general rule is that motions for summary judgment may be asserted until 30 days after the close of all discovery)].

Ordinarily, a court is free to hear evidence regarding jurisdiction and to rule on the issue prior to trial. In such circumstances, the standard applicable to summary judgment motions does not apply. No presumptive truthfulness attaches to the plaintiff's allegations, and the existence of disputed material facts does not preclude the trial court from evaluating and ruling on the jurisdictional claims [Augustine v. United States (9th Cir 1983) 704 F2d 1074, 1077 ; Ricotta v. California (SD Cal 1998) 4 F Supp2d 961, 972 , aff'd mem., 173 F3d 861 (9th Cir 1999) , cert. denied, 528 US 864 (1999)]. This changes when the jurisdictional question depends on resolution of factual issues going to the merits. In that case, the court is bound by the summary judgment standard in deciding the motion to dismiss, because resolution of jurisdictional facts is akin to a decision on the merits [Thornhill Publ'g Co. v. General Tel. & Elecs. Corp. (9th Cir 1979) 594 F2d 730, 733-735 ; Noel v. United States (ND Cal 1995) 893 F Supp 1410, 1417].

Unlike summary judgment, successful motions under Rule 12(b)(1) usually result in dismissal of the claim without prejudice [see, e.g., Freeman v. Oakland Unified Sch. Dist. (9th Cir 1999) 179 F3d 846, 847]. A court lacking subject matter jurisdiction does not have the power to grant summary judgment or any other motion on the merits [California Save Our Streams Council, Inc. v. Yeutter (9th Cir 1989) 887 F2d 908, 913].

Cross References:

Discussion of Rule 12(b)(1) motions generally, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8 .17.

Distinction between summary judgment motion and motion for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.30[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.05[7][b] Distinguish Motions to Dismiss for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction or Improper Venue. A motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction challenges the court's authority to command the defendant's personal obedience or to impose obligations on the defendant that are enforceable by other courts [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(2); Burnham v. Superior Court (1990) 495 US 604, 609-610, 110 S Ct 2105, 109 L Ed2d 631].

Unlike summary judgment, which results in a final adjudication on the merits [Rand v. Rowland (9th Cir 1998) 154 F3d 952, 957 , cert. denied, 527 US 1035 (1999)], a successful motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction or improper venue usually results in dismissal of the claim without prejudice [see, e.g., Offshore Sportswear, Inc. v. Vuarnet Int'l, B.V. (9th Cir 1997) 114 F3d 848, 850 (dismissal for improper venue is not on merits and does not preclude re-filing in forum where venue is proper)]. Thus, courts may permit the nonmovant to proceed with the case by correcting defective service, joining or dropping parties, amending the complaint, or re-filing the litigation in a different forum [see, e.g., Offshore Sportswear, Inc. v. Vuarnet Int'l, B.V. (9th Cir 1997) 114 F3d 848, 851].

Trap:

A party filing a motion for summary judgment before filing a motion to dismiss for improper venue tacitly admits that the court has personal jurisdiction, that venue is properly laid there, and that the court should dispose of the case on its merits. Accordingly, a movant who files a summary judgment motion before, rather than in the alternative with, a motion to dismiss for improper venue waives its venue objections [Misch v. Zee Enters., Inc. (9th Cir 1989) 879 F2d 628, 631-632].

Cross References:

Discussion of Rule 12(b) motions generally, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8 .14 et seq. Discussion of motions for voluntary dismissal, see Ch. 30, Voluntary Dismissal. Discussion of motions to dismiss for improper venue, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see § 2.58.

Distinction between summary judgment motion and motion for lack of personal jurisdiction, see 11

Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.30[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.05[7][c] Distinguish Motions to Strike. A party may move to strike an insufficient defense or redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or scandalous matter from any pleading [see Fed R Civ P 12(f)]. Motions to strike may be used to make trial of the action less complicated, or to streamline resolution of the action [Hart v. Baca (CD Cal 2001) 204 FRD 456, 457]. In that sense, they are similar to motions for summary adjudication.

However, a motion to strike does not challenge the merits of the matter or claim at issue. Moreover, when granted, the pleader is generally given leave to amend [see, e.g., Silva v. M/V First Lady (SD Cal 1998) 28 F Supp2d 581, 582]. In contrast, a motion for summary adjudication may challenge the merits of particular claims, defenses, or requests for relief [see Fed R Civ P 56(a), (b), (d)]. A summary adjudication results in dismissal of a claim, defense, or request for relief with prejudice [see, e.g., Fontana v. Haskin (9th Cir 2001) 262 F3d 871, 876].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Rule 12(f) motions to strike generally, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.26.

29.05[7][d] Distinguish Motions to Dismiss for Failure to State Claim. A motion to dismiss a complaint for failure to state a claim on which relief can be granted challenges the sufficiency of the opponent's pleadings [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(6)]. A party generally asserts Rule 12(b)(6) motions before filing an answer to the plaintiff's complaint. Although there are no limits on the earliest date a party may move for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(A)], a party usually files a summary judgment motion after participating in at least some discovery in the case [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1), Committee Note of 2009; Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 326, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265].

In ruling on a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, courts must accept as true the well-pleaded allegations in the complaint or answer [see Lujan v. National Wildlife Fed'n (1990) 497 US 871, 890, 110 S Ct 3177, 111 L Ed2d 695]. Accordingly, a Rule 12(b)(6) motion is not an appropriate method for challenging unsupported claims or defenses. In contrast, a party may appropriately challenge unsupported claims through a summary judgment motion [see Fed R Civ P 56(c), (e)].

In addition, in ruling on a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, the trial court generally may not consider material beyond the pleadings [Lee v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir 2001) 250 F3d 668, 688-689]. If a party presents matters outside the pleadings that the court does not exclude, the court must treat the motion as one for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 12(b), 56]. Thus, a summary judgment motion is the only pretrial motion that permits the court to consider evidence outside the pleadings in deciding the merits of the case.

Dismissals under Rule 12(b)(6) generally are without prejudice [see Balistreri v. Pacifica Police Dep't (9th Cir 1988) 901 F2d 696, 701]. In contrast, a summary judgment is with prejudice [Wyatt v. Terhune (9th Cir 2003) 315 F3d 1108, 1119-1120 , cert. denied sub nom. Alameida v. Wyatt, 540 US 810 (2003)]. Thus, a complaint dismissed under Rule 12(b)(6) can usually be amended, while a summary judgment is a final adjudication on the merits [Rand v. Rowland (9th Cir 1998) 154 F3d 952, 957 , cert. denied, 527 US 1035 (1999)].

Cross References:

Discussion of motions to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.21.

Distinction between summary judgment motion and motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.30[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.05[7][e] Distinguish Motions for Judgment on Pleadings. A party may move for judgment on the pleadings after the pleadings are closed [see Fed R Civ P 12(c)]. Thus, unlike motions for summary judgment, a motion for judgment on the pleadings may not be served prior to the filing of an answer [see Fed R Civ P 12(c), Fed R Civ P 56]. The standard applicable to Rule 12(b)(6) motions also applies to Rule 12(c) motions [Dworkin v. Hustler Magazine (9th Cir 1989) 867 F2d 1188, 1192 ; Gutierrez v. RWD Techs., Inc. (ED Cal 2003) 279 F Supp2d 1223, 1224 (citing Moore's)].

A motion for judgment on the pleadings generally may not be based on matters outside the pleadings. If a party presents matters outside the pleadings that the court does not exclude, the motion for judgment on the pleadings is converted into a Rule 56 summary judgment motion [Fed R Civ P 12(c); Qwest Communications Corp. v. City of Berkeley (ND Cal 2002) 208 FRD 288, 291].

When granting a motion for judgment on the pleadings, the court may grant leave to amend. The court may also dismiss a claim for relief rather than grant judgment on the pleadings [Carmen v. San Francisco Unified Sch. Dist. (ND Cal 1997) 982 F Supp 1396, 1401 , aff'd on other grounds, 237 F3d 1026 (9th Cir 2001) ; Moran v. Peralta Cmty. Coll. Dist. (ND Cal 1993) 825 F Supp 891, 893]. In contrast, summary judgment is with prejudice, and results in a final adjudication on the merits [see Wyatt v. Terhune (9th Cir 2003) 315 F3d 1108, 1119-1120 , cert. denied sub nom. Alameida v. Wyatt, 540 US 810 (2003) (prejudice); Rand v. Rowland (9th Cir 1998) 154 F3d 952, 957 , cert. denied, 527 US 1035 (1999) (final adjudication on merits)].

Cross References:

Discussion of standard governing Rule 12(b)(6) motion, and conversion of motion to summary judgment motion, see § 29.05[7][d].

Discussion of motions for judgment on pleadings generally, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8 .27 et seq.

Distinction between summary judgment motion and motion for judgment on the pleadings, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.30[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.05[7][f] Distinguish Motions for Judgment As Matter of Law. A court must grant a motion for judgment as a matter of law after a party has been fully heard at trial on an issue, if there is no legally sufficient evidentiary basis for a reasonable jury to find for the party on that issue [Reeves v. Sanderson Plumbing Prods., Inc. (2000) 530 US 133, 149, 120 S Ct 2097, 147 L Ed2d 105 ; see Fed R Civ P 50(a)]. This standard mirrors the standard governing summary judgment motions, and the inquiry under each is the same [Reeves v. Sanderson Plumbing Prods., Inc. (2000) 530 US 133, 150, 120 S Ct 2097, 147 L Ed2d 105].

However, the motions must be made at different times in the proceedings. Parties generally assert summary judgment motions before trial [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)]. Motions for judgment as a matter of law generally must be made after trial has begun, but before the case is submitted to the jury [see Fed R Civ P 50(a)(2)].

Example:

Just before trial was scheduled to begin, defendants filed a motion for judgment as a matter of law under Rule 50, including only limited evidentiary support. The district court permitted the plaintiff to file a response and he did so, including no evidence. On the first day scheduled for trial, the court heard argument on the motion and granted it. The Ninth Circuit ruled that granting a motion for judgment as a matter of law at the outset of trial, before the presentation of any evidence, was inappropriate [McSherry v. City of Long Beach (9th Cir 2005) 423 F3d 1015, 1019-1022].

Accordingly, the record available to the court in deciding the motions differs. Courts determine a summary judgment motion based on the pleadings and evidence assembled before trial [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2)]. Courts determine motions for judgment as a matter of law based on evidence admitted at trial [see Fed R Civ P 50(a)(1)].

Cross References:

Discussion of motions for judgment as matter of law, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 50, Judgment as Matter of Law in Jury Trials; Related Motion for a New Trial; Conditional Ruling. Distinction between summary judgment motion and motion for judgment as a matter of law, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.30[7] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentBurdens of Production & ProofGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten Motions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.06

29.06 Timely Assert Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.06[1] Either Party May Move for Summary Judgment at Any Time Until 30 Days After Close of Discovery. Either party may move for summary judgment "at any time" until 30 days after the close of all discovery [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(A)]. In fact, a plaintiff may move for summary judgment as early as the commencement of the action. However, if the motion seems premature, the court has the power to extend the time to respond [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1), Committee Note of 2009]. Further, when an opposing party objects to a motion as premature, the court may defer ruling on the motion and may grant a continuance to permit further discovery [see Fed R Civ. P 56(f)(2)]. In addition, if a plaintiff or other "claiming party's" motion for summary judgment is filed before a responsive pleading is due from a party affected by the motion, the time for responding to the motion is extended from the normal 21 days after the motion is served to 21 days after the responsive pleading would otherwise be due [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(B); Fed R Civ P 56, Committee Note of 2009].

Warning:

The timing provisions of Rule 56(c) will not apply if "a different time is set by local rule or the court orders otherwise" [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)]. In fact, it is not unusual for courts to issue scheduling orders under Rule 16(b) that set a general deadline for all motions and specific deadlines for important "dispositive" motions such as motions for summary judgment [see 3 Moore's Federal Practice, § 16.13[1][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)]. Local rules are also useful when local docket practices are incompatible with general Rule 56 timing provisions.

Cross References:

Seeking continuance to conduct further discovery, see § 29.19. Discussion of counterclaims and crossclaims generally, see Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies.

Discussion of Rule 56 timing, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)]. Discussion of time for defendant to make motion, 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)].

29.06[2] [Reserved].

29.06[3] Most Effective Time to Make Motion Depends on Circumstances of Case. The most effective time to make a motion for summary judgment depends on the circumstances of the case. For example, when the issue presented is one of law requiring little discovery, the moving party may assert the motion early to avoid unnecessary time and expense in connection with the action. In contrast, if the issues presented involve questions of fact or mixed questions of law and fact requiring discovery, it may be counterproductive to seek summary judgment before the issues have been narrowed and the record developed [see, e.g., Okinawa Dugong v. Rumsfeld (ND Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 3123 (denying pre-discovery defense motion for summary judgment)].

Strategic Point--Nonmoving Party:

When a party files a summary judgment motion early in the litigation, before the opposing party has a realistic opportunity to pursue discovery relating to its theory of the case, the district court may grant a continuance to permit the party to obtain affidavits, take depositions, or conduct discovery [Burlington N. Santa Fe Ry. Co. v. Assiniboine & Sioux Tribes of Fort Peck Reservation (9th Cir 2003) 323 F3d 767, 773 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(f)]. Further, if the motion seems premature, the court has the power to extend the time to respond [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1), Committee Note of 2009].

Consider:

Moving for summary judgment before the issues have been narrowed may increase the risk that a grant of summary judgment will be reversed on appeal based on inadequacy of discovery on the crucial issues [see, e.g., Burlington N. Santa Fe Ry. Co. v. Assiniboine & Sioux Tribes of Fort Peck Reservation (9th Cir 2003) 323 F3d 767, 773-774 (vacating summary judgment and ordering discovery when movant brought motion less than one month after filing suit and no discovery had taken place)].

Cross References:

Discussion of motions for continuance to conduct discovery related to motion for summary judgment, see § 29.19. Discussion of discovery generally, see Ch. 21, Discovery Strategy and Planning, and Ch. 24, Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentTime Limitations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.07

29.07 Prepare Required Motion Papers.

29.07[1] Motion Must Be in Writing. In the Ninth Circuit, oral motions for summary judgment are neither authorized nor recognized [Cool Fuel, Inc. v. Connett (9th Cir 1982) 685 F2d 309, 311]. A party seeking summary judgment typically must file a written motion with the court [see Fed R Civ P 56(c); Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)]. The movant may meet the writing requirement by filing a written notice of the hearing of the motion [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)(A)].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

Appellate courts have, on occasion, "rescued" movants who failed to file written motions for summary judgment by noting the district court's power to enter summary judgment sua sponte against a moving party, provided that the losing party has had a full and fair opportunity to ventilate the issues involved in the matter [Gospel Missions of Am. v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 548, 553 , cert. denied, 540 US 948 (2003)]. However, the Ninth Circuit has taken a very strict view of when a district court has the ability to grant summary judgment sua sponte [see Verizon Del., Inc. v. Covad Communs. Co. (9th Cir 2004) 377 F3d 1081, 1092 ("Before a court makes a sua sponte grant of summary judgment, 'a litigant must be given reasonable notice that the sufficiency of his or her claim will be in issue.' " Buckingham v. United States (9th Cir 1993) 998 F2d 735, 742 . When the court dismissed Covad's counterclaims, Verizon had not yet responded to Covad's counterclaims. Nothing in the record suggests that Covad had reasonable notice that the sufficiency of its counterclaims would be in issue. The district court erred by entering a sua sponte grant of summary judgment on Covad's counterclaims")]. Notice need not be explicit. "A party is 'fairly appraised' that the court will in fact be deciding a summary judgment motion if that party submits matters outside the pleadings to the judge and invites consideration of them" [United States v. 14.02 Acres (9th Cir 2008) 530 F3d 883, 894 , quoting In re Rothery (9th Cir 2008) 143 F3d 546, 549 (defendant met this condition by submitting two declarations outside the pleadings in support of his opposition to government's motion and he had fair opportunity to contest issues decided in motion)]. However, the safest practice is for a party seeking summary judgment to file and serve a written motion.

Cross References:

Form of notice of motion and motion for summary judgment, see § 29.40. Discussion of motion practice in general, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

29.07[2] Typical Papers to Be Filed. Typically, a party asserting a motion for summary judgment files the following motion papers with the district court clerk's office [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1), 56(a), (c), (e)]:

- A notice of motion specifying the date, time, and location of the hearing on the motion;
- A motion specifying which party seeks summary judgment, the claims involved in the motion, and the legal and factual grounds for the motion;
- Any supporting affidavits; and
- A proposed order granting summary judgment as requested by the moving party.

Local rules may impose additional or different requirements on the materials to be filed [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 56-1 (moving party must lodge statement of uncontroverted facts and conclusions of law and proposed judgment)]. Therefore, counsel must become familiar with and must adhere to the local rules applicable in the district where the case involved is filed.

Cross References:

Discussion of local practice requirements on summary judgment motion papers to be filed, see § 29.07[3]. Discussion of use of declarations in support of summary judgment motions in lieu of affidavits, see § 29.11[2].

Discussion of motion practice generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice. Discussion of filing motion papers generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.03 et seq.

29.07[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Papers to Be Filed May Vary.

29.07[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The Central District requires that a party seeking summary judgment serve and file with the court [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-5, 56-1]:

- A notice of motion for summary judgment;
- A memorandum of points and authorities in support of the motion;
- A proposed statement of uncontroverted facts and conclusions of law;
- Any evidence on which the moving party will rely in support of the motion; and
- A proposed judgment.

Exception--Summary Adjudication:

If the movant seeks a partial summary judgment under Fed R Civ P 56(d), the moving party must submit a proposed order rather than a proposed judgment [see CD Cal Civ LR 56-4].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of summary adjudication, see § 29.31.

29.07[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. In the Eastern District, a party seeking summary judgment must file [see ED Cal Civ LR 230(b), 260(a)]:

- A motion for summary judgment;
- A notice of motion;
- A "statement of undisputed facts";
- Copies of all evidentiary documents cited in the moving papers; and
- Supporting affidavits, if appropriate.

However, entire depositions are not to be filed through the Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system. If the motion for summary judgment refers to a deposition, the attorney must ensure that a courtesy hard copy of the original of the entire deposition so relied on has been submitted to the clerk for use in chambers on or before the filing of the motion. Alternatively, an electronic copy in lieu of the courtesy paper copy may be submitted by email to the judge or magistrate judge and concurrently emailed, or otherwise transmitted, to all other parties [ED Cal Gen LR 133(j); see ED Cal Civ LR 250.1(a), ED Cal Civ LR 260(e)].

In lieu of, or in addition to, a statement of undisputed facts, the parties may file a joint stipulation setting forth a statement of stipulated facts to which all the interested parties agree [see ED Cal Civ LR 260(c)].

29.07[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. In the Northern District, the moving party must file [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)-(d)]:

- A notice of motion and motion;
- A statement of the relief or action sought by the moving party;
- Points and authorities in support of the motion;
- A proposed order; and
- Any supporting affidavits or declarations.

The movant need not file a separate statement of undisputed facts or a joint statement of undisputed facts unless required by the judge [see ND Cal Civ LR 56-1(a)]. If the judge does order a joint statement of undisputed facts, the parties must confer and submit a joint statement on or before the date set by the judge. The court may impose sanctions for failing to file a joint statement of undisputed facts [see ND Cal Civ LR 56-1(b)].

29.07[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. No specific local rules govern summary judgment motions in the Southern District. Rather, the parties must adhere to federal and local rules governing motion practice generally [see Fed R Civ P 7(b); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1]. Thus, a movant in the Southern District must submit [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1), (f.2.a)]:

- A motion for summary judgment;
- A separate notice of motion;

- A separate memorandum of points and authorities in support of the motion; and
- Copies of all documentary evidence the movant intends to submit in support of the motion.

Warning:

A movant's failure to file any papers required under SD Cal Civ LR 7.1 may be deemed a waiver of the motion [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.2.b)].

If appropriate, the moving party may also submit a separate statement of material facts [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)], and any supporting affidavits [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.2.a), Fed R Civ P 56(c)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of motion practice in Southern District generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers.

29.07[4] Motion Must Contain Grounds for Motion and Relief Sought. At a minimum, a motion for summary judgment must state with particularity the grounds for the motion, and the relief sought [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)]. A motion for summary judgment is made "with particularity" when it [California Dep't of Toxic Substances Control v. Interstate Non-Ferrous Corp. (ED Cal 2003) 298 F Supp2d 930, 938]:

- States the theory on which the movant proceeds;
- Lists the pleadings and papers on which the movant relies; and
- States that the movant makes the motion pursuant to Rule 56 authorizing summary judgment.

Local rules may impose additional content requirements. Therefore, counsel should become familiar with and should adhere to local rules in the district in which the case is filed.

Cross References:

Discussion of local rules pertaining to summary judgment filing requirements, see § 29.07[3].
Discussion of drafting motion papers generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers.

29.07[5] Request or Waive Oral Argument As Desired. Trial courts are empowered to determine summary judgment motions without holding an oral hearing [see Fed R Civ P 78, 83]. In addition, district courts may provide by local rule that a party desiring oral argument on a motion for summary judgment must request oral argument or risk waiver [Mahon v. Credit Bureau of Placer County Inc. (9th Cir 1999) 171 F3d 1197, 1200 ; see Fed R Civ P 78, 83]. For example, trial courts in the Eastern District will permit oral argument on a summary judgment motion if requested by a party or if ordered by the court [see ED Cal Civ LR 230(g)].

When local rules require that a party request oral argument, the court may deem the absence of such a request as a waiver of oral argument [Jasinski v. Showboat Operating Co. (9th Cir 1981) 644 F2d 1277, 1280 ; Mahon v. Credit Bureau of Placer County Inc. (9th Cir 1999) 171 F3d 1197, 1200]. Local rules may also provide a procedure for waiving oral argument [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-15].

Strategic Point:

Consult the rules in the relevant district to determine whether the court automatically provides a hearing on the summary judgment motion or whether counsel must specifically request a hearing. However, the safest practice is to request a hearing in the motion or opposition papers. Because summary judgment motions are dispositive, counsel should request oral argument on the motion in most cases.

Consider:

One way to make the request is to include the statement: "Oral Argument Requested" on the title page of the motion or opposition, under the date and time for the hearing on the motion.

Cross References:

Further discussion of hearing on motion, see § 29.28. Discussion of requests for oral argument and hearings on motions generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.51 et seq.

29.07[6] Properly Format Motion. The rules applicable to formatting of pleadings generally also apply to motions for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)(2)]. For example, a motion for summary judgment must contain a caption, and must be signed in accordance with Fed R Civ P 11 [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)(2)]. Local rules may impose additional format requirements [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-4 (required contents of notice of motion)]. Therefore, counsel must become familiar with and must adhere to the local rules in the district in which the case is filed.

Cross References:

Form of notice of motion and motion for summary judgment, see § 29.40. Discussion of motion formatting generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.03 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentNotices

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.08

29.08 Draft and Attach Brief or Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Motion.

29.08[1] Draft Brief or Memorandum of Points and Authorities Supporting Motion. Though not explicitly required by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [see Fed R Civ P 56], local rules in California require moving parties to file a brief or memorandum of points and authorities in support of the motion [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(4)]. Counsel must therefore become familiar with and follow local rules in the district in which the case is filed.

In general, a brief or memorandum in support of a summary judgment motion should contain the following:

- The issues or grounds on which the party seeks summary judgment.
- A brief procedural history of the case, including the filing date; the claims presented; discovery undertaken or attempted; any dispositive motions filed in the case and the disposition of those motions; and a list of any other motions pending.
- A statement of facts relevant to the issues to be decided in the case.
- Concise legal argument on the grounds supporting summary judgment, including cites to relevant authority and to specific evidence supporting the argument.

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

Counsel should not overstate or exaggerate the evidence supporting the motion and risk losing credibility with the judge. Counsel also should acknowledge facts favoring the opponent, while demonstrating that those facts do not preclude a grant of summary judgment. Counsel should not misstate the law, although counsel has more leeway in stretching legal arguments than in misstating facts [see Golden Eagle Distrib. Corp. v. Burroughs Corp. (9th Cir 1986) 801 F2d 1531, 1539].

Cross References:

Discussion of local requirements regarding briefs and memoranda of points and authorities in support of motions, see § 29.08[2]. Form of memorandum of points and authorities in support of motion, see § 29.42.

Discussion of briefs and memoranda supporting motions generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.20.

Discussion of memorandum of law in support of summary judgment motion, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[4][d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Brief or Memorandum Requirements.

29.08[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. No specific rules govern summary judgment motions in the Central District. However, the district has promulgated rules governing motions generally [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-5]. A moving party must serve and file with the notice of motion a brief but complete supporting memorandum, and the points and authorities on which the moving party relies [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-5(a)].

29.08[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. A moving party must file accompanying briefs with the court clerk along with the notice of motion and motion for summary judgment [see ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)].

29.08[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. In the Northern District, motions for summary judgment must be noticed as required by the rules regarding motions generally [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-2]. Thus, movants must include points and authorities supporting the summary judgment motion in the motion itself [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(4)]. The district has also promulgated specific rules regarding the content and length of the points and authorities [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-4].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Northern District requirements regarding content and length of memoranda of points and authorities, see § 29.08[3].

29.08[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. No specific rules govern summary judgment motions in the Southern District. However, the district has promulgated rules governing motions generally. These rules require that movants file a supporting separate memorandum of points and authorities with each motion [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)]. Failure to file the required papers may be deemed a waiver of the motion [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.2.b)].

Cross References:

Further discussion of Southern District motion requirements generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice; Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers.

29.08[3] Properly Format Memorandum or Brief. The rules applicable to formatting of motion papers generally also apply to memoranda and briefs supporting motions for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)]. Local rules may also impose format requirements [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-4 (form and contents of memorandum of points and authorities)]. Counsel must therefore become familiar with and must adhere to the local rules in the district in which the case is filed.

Example:

Unless the court orders otherwise, a brief or memorandum filed in the Northern District must not exceed 25 pages of text [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(b)]. Such briefs or memoranda must contain the following [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(a)]:

- On the first page, in the space opposite the caption and below the case number, the noticed hearing date and time;
- A table of contents and a table of authorities if the brief or memorandum exceeds 10 pages;
- A statement of the issues to be decided;
- A succinct statement of the relevant facts; and
- Argument by the party with cites to pertinent authorities.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of formatting of memorandum or brief in support of motions generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.03 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsMemoranda of LawGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.09

29.09 Draft and Attach Statement of Undisputed, Uncontroverted, or Material Facts When Required.

29.09[1] Draft Statement of Undisputed, Uncontroverted, or Material Facts If Required. Though not explicitly required by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [see Fed R Civ P 56], all California local districts other than the Northern District automatically require a party filing a motion for summary judgment to file an accompanying statement of undisputed, uncontroverted, or material facts [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 56-1; ND Cal Civ LR 56-1(a)]. When required, such statements must be considered by the district court in making its decision on the motion for summary judgment [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 56-3 (court consideration of statement and opposition in determining motion)].

In general, these statements list the material facts relied on by the moving party in support of the motion. The statements also cite the portion of the pleadings, affidavits, depositions, interrogatory answers, admissions, or other evidence relied on to establish the specific fact [see ED Cal Civ LR 260(a)].

Warning:

When a party referring to evidence in a statement fails to cite locator information that is sufficient to enable the court to find the material, the trial court may exclude the evidence involved [see Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 774-775 (failure to cite page and line numbers of deposition)].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

In drafting a statement of undisputed, uncontroverted, or material facts, counsel should assist the trial court in finding and verifying the facts by:

- Quoting the particular evidence relied on when appropriate;

- Citing the exact location of the evidence in the record by using page, paragraph, and line cites when possible; and

- Attaching admissible excerpts to an accompanying affidavit or declaration.

Strategic Point--Joint Statements:

Courts will appreciate joint or stipulated statements of undisputed facts whenever the parties can make them. Courts will find these particularly helpful in complicated commercial cases in which there may be a lot of technical information, such as patent or contract disputes.

Joint statements are easiest when the central issue is based on a contract, in that all parties should be able to agree on the language of the contract and on the circumstances of formation. If opposing counsel is recalcitrant, however, attempting to obtain a joint statement can be very time-consuming.

Cross References:

Discussion of local requirements regarding statements of fact, see § 29.09[2]. Form of statement of undisputed, uncontroverted, or material fact, see § 29.43.

29.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Statement Requirements May Vary.

29.09[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. A moving party in the Central District must lodge and serve a proposed "Statement of Uncontroverted Facts and Conclusions of Law" with each notice of motion for summary judgment. The proposed statement must set forth the material facts as to which the moving party contends there is no genuine issue [CD Cal Civ LR 56-1].

Cross Reference:

Form of statement, see § 29.43.

29.09[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Each motion for summary judgment or summary adjudication must be accompanied by a "Statement of Undisputed Facts" [see ED Cal Civ LR 260(a)].

Instead of filing a separate statement, interested parties may jointly file a statement of stipulated facts to which those parties agree. The stipulating parties may state that they enter into their stipulations only for the purposes of the motion for summary judgment, and that they do not intend the joint stipulation to be otherwise binding [see ED Cal Civ LR 260(c)].

A statement of undisputed facts must discretely enumerate each of the specific material facts relied on in support of the motion. The statement also must cite to the particular portion of any pleading, affidavit, deposition, interrogatory answer, admission, or other document relied on to establish the specific fact [see ED Cal Civ LR 260(a)].

Cross Reference:

Form of statement, see § 29.43.

29.09[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Unless required by the assigned judge, the moving party must not submit either a separate or a joint statement of undisputed facts [see ND Cal Civ LR 56-1(a)].

Consider:

Filing a statement without a court order may lead to an order striking the statement on motion by the opposing party.

If the judge orders submission of a joint statement of undisputed facts, the parties must confer and submit a joint statement on or before the date set by the judge. If the nonmoving party refuses to join in the statement, the court must permit the moving party to file the motion along with a separate declaration of counsel explaining why the parties are not filing a joint statement. The judge has discretion to impose sanctions for failure to file a joint statement [see ND Cal Civ LR 56-1(b)].

29.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. When appropriate, a moving party in the Southern District must supply a separate statement of material facts with the motion [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)].

29.09[3] Properly Format Statement. The rules applicable to formatting of motion papers generally also apply to statements of uncontroverted, undisputed, or material supporting motions for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)]. Local rules may also impose format requirements [see, e.g., ED Cal Civ LR 260(a)]. Counsel should therefore become familiar with and should adhere to the local rules in the district in which the case is filed.

Cross References:

Form of statement of undisputed, uncontroverted, or material fact, see § 29.43. Discussion of formatting papers supporting motions generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.03 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.10

29.10 Draft and Attach Proposed Judgment or Order As Required.

29.10[1] Draft Proposed Judgment or Order. Though not explicitly required by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [see Fed R Civ P 56, 7(b)], several districts in California require a party filing a motion for summary judgment to file with the motion a proposed judgment or order for the court's use in ruling on the motion [see , e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 56-1, 56-4]. Counsel must therefore become familiar with and must adhere to the local rules in the district in which there case is filed.

Cross References:

Discussion of local rule requirements regarding attaching proposed orders or judgments, see § 29.10[2].
Form of proposed order, see § 29.45.

29.10[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Proposed Judgment or Order Requirements.

29.10[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. A moving party in the Central District must serve and file a proposed judgment with each notice of motion for summary judgment [see CD Cal Civ LR 56-1]. A movant seeking summary adjudication on a portion of the case or relief sought must submit a proposed order instead of a proposed judgment [see CD Cal Civ LR 56-4].

29.10[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. All summary judgment motions filed in the Northern District must be accompanied by a proposed order unless excused by the judge hearing the motion [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(c)].

29.10[3] Properly Format Proposed Judgment or Order. The rules applicable to formatting of motion papers generally also apply to proposed judgments or orders supporting motions for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)].

Judge's Perspective:

When the rules do not require the submission of a proposed order, counsel should determine the court's preferences in these matters. Some judges strongly prefer that counsel do not submit proposed orders and rarely refer to counsel's proposals in drafting their orders. Other judges are quite receptive to and appreciative of suggestions by counsel in the form of proposed orders, including proposed findings. These not only assist the court in drafting the order, but preparing the proposed order helps focus counsel's attention on precisely what relief is as stake and what facts and evidence are and are not disputed on the motion.

Whenever proposed orders are submitted, they should be submitted in a format that makes them truly useful to the court. For example, in e-filing cases in the Northern District, proposed orders are e-mailed to chambers in Microsoft Word or WordPerfect format, so the judge can modify the proposed order easily and conveniently to his or her liking. In other courts, it is also possible to submit proposed orders in easily modifiable form, such as with an additional copy being submitted on disk. Once again, the judge's preferences should be sought out and followed in these matters.

Cross Reference:

Form of proposed order, see § 29.45.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.11

29.11 Draft and Attach Supporting Affidavits.

29.11[1] Affidavits Supporting Motion Are Permissible but Not Required. A moving party may provide evidence supporting a summary judgment motion by attaching sworn affidavits [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)]. However, there is no express or implied requirement that a moving party support its summary judgment motion with affidavits or other similar materials to negate the opponent's claims [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 323, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; Sibbald v. Johnson (SD Cal 2003) 294 F Supp2d 1173, 1175]. Indeed, when the nonmoving party bears the burden of proof at trial on a dispositive issue, the movant may properly support the motion by relying only on the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 324, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265].

Exception:

When the movant makes factual contentions in the motion for summary judgment, those contentions must be supported by an affidavit or declaration and by appropriate references to the record [Republic W. Ins. Co. v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (ND Cal 2003) 241 F Supp2d 1090, 1095 ; see ND Cal Civ LR 7-5(a)].

Cross Reference:

Use of declaration in lieu of affidavit, see § 29.11[2].

29.11[2] Movant May Attach Declaration in Lieu of Affidavit. In lieu of an affidavit, a summary judgment motion may be supported by an unsworn declaration [Jack v. Trans World Airlines, Inc. (ND Cal 1994) 854 F Supp 654, 658 ; see 28 USC § 1746; ED Cal Gen LR 101 (for purposes of local rules, "affidavit" includes declaration prepared in accordance with 28 USC § 1746)]. Indeed, some federal district courts in California require parties to support their summary judgment papers with declarations rather than affidavits [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-6, 7-7]. However, to be valid, declarations must meet the content and format requirements of federal law [see 28 USC § 1746]. They must also meet the summary judgment requirements imposed on affidavits [see Fed R Civ P 56(e); United States v. Ritchie (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 903, 909 (court considering conversion of Rule 12(b)(6) motion to summary judgment motion could not consider declaration in support of summary judgment because it was not based on personal knowledge under Fed R Civ P 56(e))].

Cross References:

Discussion of content of affidavits and declarations, see §§ 29.11[3] -[7]. Discussion of affidavits and declarations generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.21.

29.11[3] Supporting Affidavits Must Meet Requirements of Rule 56(e). Affidavits in support of a motion for summary judgment must [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]:

- Be made on personal knowledge;
- Set forth facts that would be admissible in evidence; and
- Affirmatively show that the affiant is competent to testify to the matters stated in the affidavit.

In addition, if the affidavit refers to any papers or to parts of papers, the moving party must attach or must serve sworn or certified copies of all the papers with the affidavit [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)].

The trial court may strike or to refuse to consider affidavits not complying with Rule 56(e) [see Sheet Metal Workers' Int'l Ass'n Local Union No. 359 v. Madison Indus., Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 1186, 1193 (trial court's striking of affidavit for failing to comply with Fed R Civ P 56(e) reviewed for abuse of discretion); School Dist. No. 1J v. AC&S, Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 1255, 1262 , cert. denied, 512 US 1236 (1994) (court did not abuse its discretion is refusing to consider affidavit due to failure to comply with Fed R Civ P 56(e))]. Generally, formal defects in a summary judgment affidavit are waived absent an objection or motion to strike [Pfingston v. Ronan Eng'g Co. (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 999, 1003 ; Scharf v. United States Attorney Gen. (9th Cir 1979) 597 F2d 1240, 1243].

Cross References:

Discussion of use of declarations in support of summary judgment motions in lieu of affidavits, see § 29.11[2]. Discussion of opposing affidavit requirements, see § 29.17[3]. Discussion of drafting and formatting of affidavits generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.21.

29.11[4] Affidavit Must Be Based on Personal Knowledge. If the moving party attaches a supporting affidavit, the affidavit must be made on personal knowledge [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. Without this foundation, the affiant's allegations are inadmissible at trial [Norita v. Commonwealth of the N. Mariana Islands (9th Cir 2003) 331 F3d 690, 697 ; see Fed R Evid 602 (witness may not testify to matter unless evidence is introduced sufficient to support finding that witness has personal knowledge of matter)].

Whether the affiant meets the personal knowledge requirement may be inferred from the contents of the affidavit itself [Barthelemy v. Air Lines Pilots Ass'n (9th Cir 1990) 897 F2d 999, 1018]. For example, an affiant's personal knowledge reasonably can be inferred from his or her position and from the nature of his or her personal participation in the matters sworn to in the affidavit [see Barthelemy v. Air Lines Pilots Ass'n (9th Cir 1990) 897 F2d 999, 1018]. If the affidavit make clear that the affiant relies on information from others rather than firsthand participation or experience, the court may properly refuse to consider the affidavit [see Block v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir 2001) 253 F3d 410, 419 (court properly refused to consider affidavit when contents indicated affiant relied on information from others who were unsworn or whose sources of information were unclear)].

Distinguish--Expert Opinion:

The personal knowledge requirement does not negate an expert witness's right under Fed R Evid 703 to form an opinion based on data made known to the expert that is not within his or her personal knowledge, or that is not admissible in evidence [Doe v. Cutter Biological, Inc. (9th Cir 1992) 971 F2d

375, 385]. However, the expert's affidavit must back up these opinions with specific facts [see United States v. Various Slot Machs. (9th Cir 1981) 658 F2d 697, 700].

An affidavit based on "information and belief" does not comply with Rule 56(e) [Independent Ink, Inc. v. Trident, Inc. (CD Cal 2002) 210 F Supp2d 1155, 1162 ; see Bank Melli Iran v. Pahlavi (9th Cir 1995) 58 F3d 1406, 1412 , cert. denied, 516 US 989 (1995) (declaration in opposition to summary judgment motion)]. Similarly, assertions in affidavits prefaced by "I understand" or "I believe" do not comply with Rule 56(e) [Cermetek, Inc. v. Butler Avpak, Inc. (9th Cir 1978) 573 F2d 1370, 1377 ; see Mickelsen v. Albertson's, Inc. (D Idaho 2002) 226 F Supp2d 1238, 1241-1242 (use of "I believe")].

29.11[5] Affidavit Must Contain Specific Admissible Facts. A trial court may consider only admissible evidence in ruling on a motion for summary judgment [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. Affidavits in support of a motion for summary judgment should not merely restate conclusory allegations from the pleadings, but must set forth specific facts that would be admissible in evidence [see Fed R Civ P 56(e); Lujan v. National Wildlife Fed'n (1990) 497 US 871, 888-889, 110 S Ct 3177, 111 L Ed2d 695 (object of Fed R Civ P 56(e) is not to replace conclusory allegations of complaint or answer with conclusory allegations of affidavit)].

In general, courts may not consider unsworn affidavits in support of summary judgment motions, because they would not be admissible as evidence [see Fed R Civ P 56(e); Hollingsworth Solderless Terminal Co. v. Turley (9th Cir 1980) 622 F2d 1324, 1335 n9 ; Republic W. Ins. Co. v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (ND Cal 2003) 241 F Supp2d 1090, 1095]. However, an unsworn declaration that is made under penalty of perjury made in accordance with the requirements of 28 USC § 1746 is an always acceptable substitute for formal, sworn affidavits [see 28 USC § 1746]. Whether formal affidavits or declarations under penalty of perjury are used is often a matter of local practice. In California district courts, it is quite normal for parties to submit declarations under penalty of perjury rather than sworn affidavits.

Distinguish:

At the summary judgment stage, the court does not focus on the admissibility of the affidavit or declaration in terms of its form. Rather, it focuses on the admissibility of its contents [Fraser v. Goodale (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1032, 1036 , cert. denied sub nom. United States Bancorp v. Fraser, 541 US 937 (2004)]. Thus, although the facts underlying an affidavit or declaration must be admissible in evidence, the affidavit or declaration itself need not be in a form that would be admissible at trial [see Hughes v United States (9th Cir 1992) 953 F2d 531, 543].

Material that has been deemed improper under Fed R Civ P 56(e) when included in a summary judgment affidavit or declaration includes:

- Hearsay [see, e.g., Self-Insurance Inst. of Am., Inc. v. Software & Info. Indus. Ass'n (CD Cal 2000) 208 F Supp2d 1058, 1067 (opinions or impressions of state of mind of another person are inadmissible hearsay); but see Orsini v. O/S Seabrooke O.N. (9th Cir 2001) 247 F3d 953, 960 (statements by other crew members recited in injured seaman's affidavit in Jones Act suit were not inadmissible hearsay because statements were relevant to seaman's state of mind)];

- Conclusory allegations not supported by facts [see, e.g., Reiffin v. Microsoft Corp. (ND Cal 2003) 270 F Supp2d 1132, 1145-1146 (legal conclusions)];

- Allegations of ultimate facts [see Hansen v. United States (9th Cir 1993) 7 F3d 137, 138 ; River Colony Estates Gen. P'ship v. Bayview Fin. Trading Group, Inc. (SD Cal 2003) 287 F Supp2d 1213, 1220]; and

- Speculatory statements [see Seagate Tech., Inc. v. St. Paul Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1998)

11 F Supp2d 1150, 1153].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of use of declarations in support of summary judgment motions in lieu of affidavits, see § 29.11[2].

29.11[6] Affidavit Must Show Affiant Is Competent to Testify to Matters in Affidavit. An affidavit supporting a motion for summary judgment must affirmatively show that the affiant is competent to testify to the matters stated in the affidavit [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. The court may infer competence to testify from the affidavit itself. For instance, affiants' competence reasonably may be inferred from their position and the nature of their participation in the matters on which they swear [see Barthelemy v. Air Lines Pilots Ass'n (9th Cir 1990) 897 F2d 999, 1018].

Warning:

Counsel should exercise caution in attaching affidavits in support of a client's motion for summary judgment. Attorney affidavits also must meet the requirements of Fed R Civ P 56(e) [see, e.g., Inamed Corp. v. Kuzmak (CD Cal 2002) 275 F Supp2d 1100, 1116-1117 , aff'd mem., 2003 US App LEXIS 9535 (Fed Cir 2003)]. Accordingly, such affidavits are insufficient unless based on personal knowledge on which the attorney is competent to testify [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. Typically, attorneys have personal knowledge only of matters occurring immediately before or during litigation. They are not competent to testify on matters occurring before becoming involved with the case. Moreover, an attorney may not acquire personal knowledge based on hearsay from clients or others [see, e.g., Sea-Land Serv., Inc. v. Atlantic Pac. Int'l, Inc. (D Haw 1999) 61 F Supp2d 1102, 1110 (court disregarded information taken from website and inserted in counsel's summary judgment affidavit because counsel lacked personal knowledge of matters, which were impermissible hearsay)]. Attorney affidavits or declarations have other, practical risks. For example, attorneys must take care to avoid waiving attorney-client privilege or work product in statements made in affidavits or declarations.

29.11[7] Attach, File, and Serve Sworn or Certified Copies of All Papers Referred to in Affidavit. Attach for filing and serve with the affidavit sworn or certified copies of all papers referred to in the affidavit [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. The trial court may exclude an affidavit that cites documentary evidence as a source of a factual contention without attaching the document [see School Dist. No. 1J v. AC&S, Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 1255, 1262 , cert. denied, 512 US 1236 (1994)]. Local rules also may require copies of documentary evidence submitted in support of the motion to be served and filed with the motion or notice of motion [see, e.g., SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.2.a); ED Cal Civ LR 260(a) (filing required)].

Warning:

Though papers attached to motions for summary judgment need not be in a form that is admissible in evidence [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 324, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; Curnow v. Ridgecrest Police (9th Cir 1991) 952 F2d 321, 323 , cert. denied, 506 US 972 (1992)], the evidence contained in the papers must be admissible for the court to properly consider the papers in determining the summary judgment motion [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)].

Cross References:

Admissibility requirements in connection with evidence submitted in support of motion, see § 29.12[3].

Discussion of supporting materials introduced by or affixed to affidavit, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[4][c] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.11[8] Affidavits Made in Bad Faith or for Delay Are Subject to Sanction. If it appears to the court that a party has presented an affidavit under Fed R Civ P 56 in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay, the court must order sanctions against the party employing the offending affidavit. The court may order the guilty party to pay reasonable expenses incurred by the other party as a result of filing the affidavit, including reasonable attorney fees. The court may also adjudge an offending party or attorney guilty of contempt and require them to pay damages [see Fed R Civ P 56]. In addition to, or in lieu of, imposing monetary sanctions, the court may order the offending affidavit stricken [see, e.g., Langlois v. Deja Vu, Inc. (WD Wash 1997) 984 F Supp 1327, 1339, n7 (trial court struck offending affidavit in large part but refused to order costs and fees because it could not conclude that counsel intentionally made inaccuracies or that affidavit was made solely to delay proceedings)].

29.11[9] Properly Format Affidavit or Declaration. The rules applicable to formatting of motion papers generally also apply to affidavits supporting motions for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)]. To be valid, a declaration must be made in a dated writing in substantially the form set forth in 28 USC § 1746. It also must be signed by the declarant, who must declare under penalty of perjury that its contents are true [see 28 USC § 1746].

Cross References:

Discussion of affidavits and declarations generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.21.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsAffidavits

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.12

29.12 Attach Other Evidence Supporting Summary Judgment Motion.

29.12[1] Attach Evidence Supporting Summary Judgment. To meet its initial burden of showing it is entitled to summary judgment, the moving party must inform the district court of the basis for its motion, and must identify the portions of the record supporting the assertion that there is no triable issue of fact [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 323, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2)]. In making this showing, the movant may rely on the following evidence, which the court must consider in determining whether there is a genuine issue of material fact [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2)]:

- Pleadings;
- Depositions;
- Answers to interrogatories;
- Admissions on file; and
- Affidavits, if any.

Omitted from this list is documentary evidence obtained through discovery. Nevertheless, courts routinely consider such documents in determining summary judgment motions [see, e.g., Fraser v. Goodale (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1032, 1036 , cert. denied sub nom. United States Bancorp v. Fraser, 541 US 937 (2004) (trial court could properly consider diary attached to nonmoving party's deposition); Los Angeles News Serv. v. CBS Broad., Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 305 F3d 924, 935 , amended by 313 F3d 1093 (2002) (per curiam) (trial court could properly consider videotape in support of summary judgment motion); Snead v. Metropolitan Prop. & Cas. Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1080, 1089 , cert. denied, 534 US 888 (2001) (court considered physicians' notes and letters in determining summary judgment motion in discrimination suit based on disability)].

Strategic Point--Movant:

Consider compiling a "chambers copy" of the portions of the record filed with the motion that counsel wants the judge to review in determining the summary judgment motion, especially when the evidence filed with the motion is voluminous. The chambers copy is separate from the official copy of the evidence filed with the motion. The chambers copy should include a table of contents and index tabs to assist the court in locating the documents referred to in the motion. It should also contain locator information assisting the judge in finding the document in the official court records.

Cross References:

Discussion of general admissibility requirements for evidence supporting summary judgment motion, see § 29.12[3].

Discussion of discovery documents relevant to summary judgment motion, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[4][c][iii] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.12[2] Required Evidentiary Showing on Motion Depends on Burden of Persuasion at Trial. Rule 56 imposes a burden of production on the moving party. This requires an initial showing that the moving party is entitled to summary judgment [see Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 323, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; Nissan Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Fritz Cos. (9th Cir 2000) 210 F3d 1099, 1102]. The manner in which the moving party may make this showing depends on which party bears the burden of persuasion at trial on the challenged claim [see Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 327, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 (Brennan, J., dissenting)].

If the moving party bears the burden of persuasion at trial, that party must support its motion with credible evidence showing there is no genuine issue of material fact and that it is entitled to judgment as a matter of law [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2); Wilborn v. Ashcroft (SD Cal 2002) 222 F Supp 2d 1192, 1197 , aff'd mem., 2003 US App LEXIS 15117 (9th Cir 2003) ; Nixon-Egli Equip. Co. v. John A. Alexander Co. (CD Cal 1996) 949 F Supp 1435, 1441].

In contrast, if the nonmoving party has the burden of persuasion at trial on a dispositive issue, the moving party may satisfy its initial burden on the motion in one of two ways. The moving party may either (1) submit affirmative evidence negating an essential element of the nonmoving party's claim; or (2) demonstrate that the nonmoving party's evidence is insufficient to establish an essential element of the nonmoving party's claim [Nissan Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Fritz Cos. (9th Cir 2000) 210 F3d 1099, 1102]. If the nonmoving party is unable to muster sufficient evidence to make out its claim, trial would be useless, and the moving party is entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law [see Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 322, 327, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265].

Cross References:

Discussion of court's application of burden of proof, see 29.29[1].

Discussion of burdens of production and persuasion on summary judgment motion, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.13 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.12[3] Evidence Must Be Admissible. In ruling on a motion for summary judgment, trial courts may consider only admissible evidence [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. Thus, supporting evidence attached to a summary judgment motion must be admissible before the court may consider it [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773].

Distinguish:

At the summary judgment stage, the trial court does not focus on the admissibility of the form in which the evidence is offered. Instead, the court focuses on the admissibility of its contents. If the contents of the evidence offered could be presented in an admissible form at trial, the court may consider the evidence in determining the summary judgment motion [see Fraser v. Goodale (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1032, 1036-1037 , cert. denied sub nom. United States Bancorp v. Fraser, 541 US 937 (2004) (plaintiff's diary)].

As part of the admissibility requirement, evidence must be based on personal knowledge and must set forth facts that are otherwise admissible in evidence [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773-774 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. In addition, such evidence must be properly authenticated [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 774 ; see Fed R Evid 901, 902]. The trial court may not consider unauthenticated documents in ruling on motions for summary judgment [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e); Fed R Evid 901, 902]. A party may satisfy the authentication requirement with evidence sufficient to support a finding that the matter in question is what its proponent claims [Fed R Evid 901(a)]. This foundation need not be established through personal knowledge, but may be established in any matter permitted by the Federal Rules of Evidence [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 774 n8 ; see Fed R Evid 901(b) (methods of authentication); Fed R Evid 902 (self-authenticating documents need no extrinsic foundation)].

Example:

Documents authenticated through personal knowledge must be authenticated by a person through whom they could be admitted into evidence [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773-774]. This can be accomplished by attaching the documents to an affidavit or declaration meeting the requirements of Fed R Civ P 56(e). The affiant or declarant must be a person through whom the exhibits could be admitted into evidence, such as a witness who wrote, signed, or used the document, or who saw others do so [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773-774 ; see Fed R Evid 901(b)(1)].

Strategic Point--Opposing Party:

On receiving the motion papers, carefully review the evidence relied on by the movant. File and serve written objections to any evidence that is inadmissible, is not properly authenticated, or would otherwise be improperly considered in ruling on the motion. During the hearing on the motion, request and obtain the court's ruling on each objection.

Cross References:

Discussion of authentication requirement and depositions, see § 29.12[4][b]. Discussion of requirements imposed on affidavits under Fed R Civ P 56(e), see § 29.11[3]. Discussion of objections to movant's evidence, see § 29.18. Discussion of hearing on motion, see § 29.28.

Further discussion of admissibility requirement, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.14[1][d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.12[4] Types of Evidence Court May Consider.

29.12[4][a] Attach Pleadings As Relevant. Pleadings are included in the list of materials the trial court must consider in determining whether to grant a summary judgment motion [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2)]. However, pleadings generally are not "proof" for summary judgment purposes [see McGuire v. CBS, Inc. (9th Cir 1968) 399 F2d 902, 906 (Fed R Civ P 56(e) precludes using pleadings as evidence of probative value to create issue for trial); Benson v. Long Term Disability Income Plan for Employees of Xerox (CD Cal 1999) 108 F Supp2d 1074, 1079 n2 , aff'd mem., 242 F3d 380 (9th Cir 2000) (allegations in complaint are not evidence and cannot defeat summary judgment motion)]. Rather, the pleadings serve as a basis for framing the issues in the case. However, a statement in a complaint, which is a judicial admission binding on the plaintiff [see American Title Ins. Co. v. Lacelaw Corp. (9th Cir 1988) 861 F2d 224, 226], can be used by the defendant to establish the lack of a material issue of fact [see, e.g., Matthews v. Xerox Corp. (SD Cal 2004) 319 F Supp2d 1166, 1171-1173].

Distinguish:

A verified complaint may be used as an opposing affidavit under Fed R Civ P 56. However, to function as an opposing affidavit, the verified complaint must be based on personal knowledge and must set forth specific facts admissible in evidence [Schroeder v. McDonald (9th Cir 1995) 55 F3d 454, 460 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of use of verified complaint as affidavit in opposition to motion for summary judgment, see § 29.17[3][b].

29.12[4][b] Attach Deposition or Excerpts As Relevant. Sworn deposition testimony may be used by a party in moving for summary judgment. The court considers such testimony as an affidavit under Fed R Civ P 56(e). A movant may use deposition testimony to support its summary judgment motion if it is made on personal knowledge and sets forth facts that are admissible in evidence [Gulf USA Corp. v. Federal Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2001) 259 F3d 1049, 1056 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. Deposition testimony taken in a separate proceeding may also be considered if it meets these requirements [Gulf USA Corp. v. Federal Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2001) 259 F3d 1049, 1056].

A party may authenticate a deposition or a deposition extract in a motion for summary judgment by identifying the names of the deponent and of the action and including the reporter's certification that the deposition is a true record of the testimony of the deponent [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 774 ; see Fed R Evid 901(b); Fed R Civ P 56(e), 30(f)(1)]. If the movant attaches a deposition excerpt to the motion, authentication may be accomplished by attaching the cover page of the deposition and the reporter's certification [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 774].

Warning:

It is not sufficient for a party merely to submit an affidavit from counsel identifying the names of the deponent, the reporter, and the action, with a statement that the deposition is a true and correct copy. Such an affidavit lacks foundation even if the affiant-counsel was present at the deposition [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 774].

Drawback:

A party who designates and appends a portion of a deposition to a summary judgment motion should be aware that the court may consider only the attached portion in ruling on the motion. The court may not consider the remainder of the transcript unless it is also filed with the motion [see Carmen v. San Francisco Unified Sch. Dist. (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1026, 1029-1031 (district court is not required to comb through complete record in considering motion for summary judgment)]. Furthermore, a deposition that is not filed with the trial court may not be considered part of the record in any subsequent appeal [see Barcamerica Int'l USA Trust v. Tyfield Imps., Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 289 F3d 589, 594 (though movant filed portions of depositions with summary judgment motion, portion to which nonmovant objected was merely "lodged" with trial court and was not part of appellate record)].

Strategic Point:

Rather than submit a heavily excerpted deposition that does not provide the court with the context of the statements, submit the complete deposition with relevant portions highlighted. In addition, file important depositions with the court clerk. If counsel provides a "chambers copy" of the transcript, it could contain only the relevant portions, noting that the full transcript is already filed with the clerk. The edited "chambers copy" would save the judge from having to search a voluminous transcript.

Cross Reference:

Using deposition evidence in summary judgment motion, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.14[2][a] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.12[4][c] Attach Answers to Interrogatories As Relevant. A movant may attach answers to interrogatories to a motion for summary judgment to show there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the movant is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law [see]. As with depositions and other evidence submitted in support of a summary judgment motion, interrogatory answers must be appropriately authenticated by an affidavit or declaration see [Fed R Civ P 56(e)(1); Republic W. Ins. Co. v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (ND Cal 2003) 241 F Supp2d 1090, 1095-1096 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)].

Cross Reference:

Using interrogatories in summary judgment motion, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.14[2][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.12[4][d] Attach Admissions on File As Relevant. A movant may attach to a motion for summary judgment any admissions on file with the court to show there is no genuine issue as to a material fact and that summary judgment is proper as a matter of law [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)(1)]. As with depositions and other evidence submitted in support of a summary judgment motion, admissions must be appropriately authenticated by an affidavit or declaration [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)(1); Republic W. Ins. Co. v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (ND Cal 2003) 241 F Supp2d 1090, 1095-1096].

Strategic Point:

A motion for summary judgment may rely on default admissions resulting from the opponent's failure to answer requests for admission. No prior motion to establish the admissions is necessary because Fed R Civ P 36 is "self-executing" [see Switchmusic.com, Inc. v. U.S. Music Corp. (CD Cal 2006) 416 F Supp2d 812, 817 ; Cook v. Allstate Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2004) 337 F Supp2d 1206, 1210].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of using admissions in summary judgment motion, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.14[2][d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsAffidavitsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsDiscovery Materials

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.13

29.13 Timely Serve and File Motion.

29.13[1] Timely Serve Motion on Opposing Party. Before its amendment in December 2009, Rule 56(c) specifically required 10 days' notice for any summary judgment. The post-2009 version of Rule 56 eliminates any reference to minimum notice of summary judgment motions and replaces the pre-2009 minimum notice provisions with specific deadlines for responding to summary judgment motions [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)]. Therefore, the direct basis for court rulings that minimum notice is required for a valid summary judgment has disappeared. The only authority remaining in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure regarding minimum notice of summary judgment motions is:

- The default provisions of Fed R Civ P 6, which state that, in the absence of a local rule or court order to the contrary, a party making a written motion must serve notice of that motion at least 14 days before the hearing [Fed R Civ P 6(c)(1)]. Three days must be added to the 14-day time period if the moving party serves the motion or notice of motion by mail, serves the court clerk, or perfects service by electronic or another delivery method [see Fed R Civ P 6(d), 5(b)(2)(C)-(F)]. A certificate of service must be included in the papers filed with the court [see Fed R Civ P 5(d)(1)]. The district court has discretion to enlarge the 14-day period, for good cause shown, on request by a party made before the original 14-day period has expired. The court may also enlarge the 14-day period after its expiration, on a motion showing excusable neglect [see Fed R Civ P 6(b)(1)].

- The provisions of Fed R Civ P 12(d), which require a court to convert a Rule 12 motion to a summary judgment motion whenever a party to the motion presents matter outside of the pleading to the court and the court decides not to exclude considering it [Fed R Civ P 12(d)]. In these circumstances, the court must give the parties some kind of minimum notice before converting the motion and ruling on it as if it were a summary judgment motion. The court must give the parties "a reasonable opportunity to present all the material that is pertinent to the motion" [Fed R Civ P 12(d)].

Warning:

In practice, California district courts may require a longer period in their local rules. It is critical to comply with those rules, as well as the judge's standing orders.

Cross References:

Timing of summary judgment motions, see § 29.06. Further discussion of serving motions papers generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.18. Discussion of motion practice in general, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12 et seq.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of computing time to serve motions generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.18[3].

29.13[2] Timely File Motion With Court.

29.13[2][a] Movant Must File Motion Within Reasonable Time After Service. A party serving a motion or notice of motion for summary judgment on an opposing party also must file the motion or notice, and supporting papers and documents, with the court within a reasonable time after service [see Fed R Civ P 5(d)(1)]. The movant must also file with the court a certificate of service [see Fed R Civ P 5(d)(1)]. In general, filing with the court is accomplished by filing the motion papers with the court clerk [see Fed R Civ P 5(e)].

Consider:

The deadline for filing motions for summary judgment may be set by the district court in a case management order [see, e.g., Fredenburg v. Contra Costa County Dep't of Health Servs. (9th Cir 1999) 172 F3d 1176, 1180, n5]. Counsel should therefore take notice of and abide by any deadline in the case management order.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of filing motions generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.25.

29.13[2][b] Counsel May Be Required to Confer Before Filing Motion. In some district courts, counsel must confer with the opposing party before serving and filing a motion for summary judgment. Counsel should therefore become familiar with and should follow the local rules in the relevant district. Conferring in advance of filing a summary judgment motion is always good practice, even when not required. It may eliminate the need for a motion on some issues or, at the very least, lead to a stipulation as to which facts are and are not disputed.

Example:

In the Central District, counsel contemplating filing a motion for summary judgment must first contact opposing counsel to discuss the substance of the contemplated motion and any potential resolution. The conference must take place at least ten days before the movant files the motion. If the parties fail to reach a resolution eliminating a need for the motion, counsel for the movant must include in the notice of motion a statement that the motion follows a conference of counsel, and the date on which the conference took place [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-3].

29.13[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Additional Service and Filing Requirements.

29.13[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. In the Eastern District, a motion for summary judgment will be set for hearing on the motion calendar no less than 28 days after the movant serves and files the motion [ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of time for filing motions generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.18[3].

29.13[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Typically, a motion for summary judgment in the Northern District must be filed, served, and noticed for hearing on the motion calendar of the assigned judge no less than 35 days after service of the motion [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(a)].

29.13[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. A moving party in the Southern District generally must file a notice of motion and all supporting documents at least 28 days before the date for which the matter is noticed for hearing [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentNoticesCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

LexisNexis®

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.14

29.14 CHECKLISTS: Responding to Motion for Summary Judgment.

29.14[1] CHECKLIST: Preparing Opposition to Summary Judgment Motion.

☐ Draft opposition to motion for summary judgment.

○ When properly supported motion shifts burden to nonmovant to go beyond pleadings in opposing summary judgment, respond with affidavits or other evidence setting forth specific facts showing genuine issue for trial.

○ Include in opposition papers evidentiary materials, such as:

☐ Pleadings;

☐ Depositions;

☐ Answers to interrogatories;

☐ Admissions on file; and

☐ Any affidavits.

○ Submit evidence of sufficient caliber or quantity to allow rational trier of fact to produce a verdict in nonmovant's favor.

- Ensure that material establishing genuine issue of fact appears in both opposition to motion and in district court file.

- Focus court's attention on specific admissible facts in pleadings and other evidentiary records demonstrating genuine issue of material fact by:

  - [ ] Filing statement of genuine, disputed, or controverted facts with court, if permitted, with cites to documentary sources for facts.

  - [ ] Attaching sworn or certified copies of documents referred to in opposition.

  - [ ] Ensuring documents referred to in opposition are filed with court as part of record.

- [ ] For typical opposition papers, consider including:

  - Affidavits, declarations, and other evidence in opposition to motion;

  - Brief or memorandum of points and authorities in opposition;

  - Any objections to movant's evidence;

  - Proposed order denying summary judgment; and

  - Motion for continuance to conduct further discovery if appropriate.

- [ ] Serve and file according to applicable local rules:

  - Central District:

    - [ ] Evidence on which opposing party relies in opposing motion;

    - [ ] Brief, but complete, memorandum containing reasons for opposing motion, and points and authorities on which nonmovant relies; and

    - [ ] Statement of genuine issues setting forth material facts to be litigated.

  - Eastern District:

    - [ ] Response to movant's statement of undisputed facts;

- ☐ Separate statement of disputed facts;
- ☐ Brief or memorandum of points and authorities;
- ☐ Proposed order; and
- ☐ Any evidence in opposition to motion.

○ Northern District:

- ☐ Affidavits or declarations in opposition to motion;
- ☐ Brief or memorandum; and
- ☐ Proposed order.
- ☐ Statements of disputed fact only if required by assigned judge.

○ Southern District:

- ☐ Brief, but complete, statement of reasons in opposition to motion;
- ☐ Answering memorandum of points and authorities; and
- ☐ Copies of all documentary evidence on which nonmovant relies.

☐ Request oral argument or hearing on motion if desired by indicating request on title page of opposition papers.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 56(c), (e), (f); CD Cal Civ LR 7-9, 56-2; ED Cal Civ LR 230(c), (g), 260(b); ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(a), 7-4; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d.1), (f.3.c)

Discussion:
See §§ 29.16[1] -[4], [8]

Forms:
See §§ 29.46 -29.49

☐ Draft and attach statement of genuine issues, or statement of disputed or controverted facts, as required by local rule.

○ Central District: Serve and file "Statement of Genuine Issues" with opposing papers that:

☐ Is contained in separate document;

☐ Concisely sets forth all material facts nonmovant contends are genuine issues necessitating litigation; and ☐ Responds to and controverts movant's factual statements with admissible evidence filed with opposition to motion.

○ Eastern District:

☐ Reproduce facts listed in movant's statement of undisputed facts;

☐ Admit any undisputed facts; and

☐ Deny any disputed facts, and include citation to particular evidence relied on in support of denial.

☐ If desired, file concise "Statement of Disputed Facts" including all additional material facts about which nonmovant contends there is genuine issue precluding summary judgment or adjudication, with sources in record.

☐ File with court all evidentiary documents cited in opposition to motion.

○ Northern District: Submit separate or joint statements of undisputed facts only if required by assigned judge.

○ Southern District: File and serve statement of reasons in opposition to motion.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 56-2, 56-3, 56-4; ED Cal Civ LR 260(b); ND Cal Civ LR 56-1; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.b)

Discussion:
See § 29.16[5]

Forms:
See § 29.48

☐ Draft and attach brief or memorandum of points and authorities, as required by local rule.

○ Central District: File and serve memorandum or brief in opposition (mandatory).

○ Other districts: File and serve memorandum or brief in opposition (optional).

☐ Properly format brief or memorandum:

- ○ Follow rules applicable to opposition papers generally.
- ○ Consult local rules for additional requirements.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56; CD Cal Civ LR 7-9; ND Cal Civ LR 7-4

Discussion:
See § 29.16[6]

Forms:
See § 29.47

☐ Determine whether to draft and attach proposed order.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56; ND Cal Civ LR 7-4

Discussion:
See § 29.16[7]

Forms:
See § 29.49

☐ Compile and attach admissible evidence in opposition to motion demonstrating that:

- ○ Fact in contention is material, in that it may affect outcome of suit under governing law; and
- ○ Dispute is genuine, in that reasonable jury considering evidence could return verdict for nonmoving party.

☐ Draft and attach affidavits or declarations in opposition to motion that:

- ○ Are made on personal knowledge;
- ○ Set forth facts that would be admissible in evidence; and
- ○ Affirmatively show affiant is competent to testify to matters stated in affidavit.

☐ Attach for service sworn or certified copies of all papers referred to in affidavit.

☐ Seek continuance or other just order when lacking facts to oppose motion.

○ Submit affidavits indicating why movant cannot present facts essential to justify opposition to summary judgment motion; or

○ As a safer alternative, make timely motion for continuance, identifying relevant information sought and basis for believing information sought actually exists.

☐ Attach other evidence opposing motion, including:

○ Pleadings;

○ Depositions;

○ Answers to interrogatories;

○ Admissions on file; and

○ Documentary evidence obtained through discovery.

Authority:
28 USC § 1746; Fed R Civ P 56(c), (e), (f); Fed R Evid 101

Discussion:
See § 29.17

Form:
See § 29.46

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

29.14[2] CHECKLIST: Preparing Objections to Movant's Evidence.

☐ File written objections to admissibility of movant's evidence submitted in support of summary judgment motion, or motion to strike evidence if time permits.

☐ Include in written objections:

○ Specific ground for objection;

○ Location of evidence objected to, including page and line numbers when possible, in movant's documents or in court's records; and ○ Brief argument supporting each objection, with citation of relevant authority.

☐ Object to evidence submitted in support of summary judgment:

○ Preferably before hearing on motion.

○ At hearing if unavoidable, but ask court for permission to file memorandum supporting objection after hearing.

Authority:
Fed R Evid 103(a)(1); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1)

Discussion:
See § 29.18

29.14[3] CHECKLIST: Moving for Continuance to Permit Further Discovery.

☐ Make timely motion for continuance:

○ Pointing to specific information that would be revealed by further discovery;

○ Showing that evidence sought actually exists;

○ Explaining relevance of evidence to case;

○ Explaining how discovery of evidence would counter summary judgment motion; and ○ Detailing nonmovant's efforts to pursue discovery diligently before seeking continuance.

☐ Set forth facts supporting motion in accompanying affidavit.

☐ Timely file and serve motion for continuance before summary judgment hearing, as directed by rules governing filing and service of motions generally.

☐ Satisfy movant's burden by offering sufficient facts showing that evidence sought exists and that it would prevent summary judgment.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5, 6, 56(f)

Discussion:
See § 29.19

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

29.14[4] CHECKLIST: Filing and Serving Opposition Papers.

☐ Timely file opposition papers with court as required by applicable local rules.

○ Central District: File and serve opposition no less than 14 days before date designated for hearing of motion.

○ Eastern District: File opposition with court clerk no less than 14 days preceding noticed or continued hearing date.

○ Northern District: Serve and file opposition no less than 21 days before hearing date.

○ Southern District: Serve and file opposition no later than 14 calendar days prior to noticed hearing.

☐ Properly serve opposition papers on opposing party.

○ Serve opposition materials on moving party prior to hearing on motion.

○ Serve opposition materials in manner dictated by federal rules generally.

☐ Properly file opposition papers with court.

○ File within reasonable time after service.

○ File with court by filing opposition papers with court clerk.

○ File certificate of service with court.

☐ Consult local rules for additional service or filing requirements.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(b), (d)(1), 56(c), (f); CD Cal Civ LR 7-9, 7-13, 83-7; ED Cal Civ LR 230(c); ND Cal Civ LR 7-2, 7-3; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.2), (e.4)

Discussion:
See § 29.20

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionMemoranda in OppositionCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionSupporting MaterialsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

152 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
III. RESPONDING TO MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.15

29.15 Options and Strategy.

When a moving party properly supports a motion for summary judgment, the nonmoving party must go beyond the pleadings to designate specific facts showing there is a genuine issue for trial [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 322-324, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)(2)]. A nonmovant must respond to the summary judgment motion by filing with the court a written opposition to the motion. Opposition papers may include a brief or memorandum of points and authorities, a statement of genuine issues or of disputed or controverted facts, and documentary evidence supporting the opposition to the motion [see Fed R Civ P 56(c), (e)].

To avoid summary judgment, the evidence presented by the nonmovant must be such that a reasonable trier of fact could return a verdict in the nonmovant's favor [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 248-249, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202 ; FTC v. Stefanchik (9th Cir 2009) 559 F3d 924, 929] . A nonmovant's "bald assertions or a mere scintilla of evidence" are both insufficient to withstand summary judgment [FTC v. Stefanchik (9th Cir 2009) 559 F3d 924, 929] . The nonmovant may rely on evidence such as depositions, answers to interrogatories, admissions on file, and any affidavits [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2)]. The evidence submitted must be of a quality that could be admissible at trial [Fraser v. Goodale (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1032, 1036 , cert. denied sub nom. United States Bancorp v. Fraser, 541 US 937 (2004)].

Though not required by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, local rules in two of the four districts in California require the nonmovant to file a statement of genuine issues or of disputed or controverted facts [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 56-2; ED Cal Civ LR 260(b)]. Such statements are an important tool in the opposing party's arsenal. A thorough, well-supported statement of genuine issues, or of disputed or controverted facts, will assist the nonmoving party in making the required showing that the case presents genuine issues of material fact requiring litigation [see CD Cal Civ LR 56-2].

Opposition papers may also include the nonmovant's objections to the evidence relied on by the movant in support of the motion. In addition, if the nonmovant lacks sufficient information to respond to the summary judgment motion, the nonmovant may request a continuance to permit further discovery before the court rules on the motion [see Fed R Civ P 56(f)(2)].

Warning:

Because of the complexity of the summary judgment rule, combined with the lack of legal sophistication of pro se prisoners, a trial court must provide prisoners with notice in ordinary, understandable language of their rights and obligations under Rule 56. The court must inform pro se prisoners of their right to file counter-affidavits or other responsive evidentiary materials, and must alert them that failure to do so may result in entry of summary judgment against them [Wyatt v. Terhune (9th Cir 2003) 315 F3d 1108, 1114 & n6, cert. denied sub nom. Alameida v. Wyatt, 540 US 810 (2003)].

Cross References:

Discussion of drafting opposition papers, see § 29.16. Discussion of objecting to movant's evidence, see § 29.18. Discussion of motions for continuance to permit further discovery, see § 29.19. Forms for use in opposing summary judgment motion, see §§ 29.46 -29.49.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentBurdens of Production & ProofNonmovantsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionSupporting Materials

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
III. RESPONDING TO MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.16

29.16 Draft Opposition to Summary Judgment Motion.

29.16[1] Properly Supported Motion Shifts Burden to Nonmovant to Go Beyond Pleadings in Opposing Summary Judgment. Once a moving party properly supports a summary judgment motion with affidavits and evidence, the nonmovant may no longer rest on the allegations or denials in its pleadings. Instead, the nonmovant must respond with affidavits or other evidence setting forth specific facts showing that a genuine issue for trial exists [Fed R Civ P 56(e)(2); see Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 323-324, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; Fairbank v. Wunderman Cato Johnson (9th Cir 2000) 212 F3d 528, 531]. If the nonmovant fails to make this showing, the court should grant summary judgment if appropriate [Fed R Civ P 56(e)(2)].

Strategic Point--Opposing Party:

To survive summary judgment, the nonmoving party must produce evidence of sufficient caliber or quantity to allow a rational trier of fact to produce a verdict in its favor [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 254, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202]. No genuine factual issue exists for trial when a nonmoving party rests on mere allegations or denials, or merely shows some metaphysical doubt [Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp. (1986) 475 US 574, 586, 106 S Ct 1348, 89 L Ed2d 538]. Although all reasonable inferences that may be drawn from the facts must be drawn in favor of the opposing party [see 29.29[5][b]], inferences "are not drawn out of the air:" the opposing party must produce the factual predicate from which an inference may be drawn [E. J. Gallo Winery v. Andina Licores S.A. (ED Cal 2006) 440 F Supp2d 1115, 1124-1125].

Warning:

The only ground on which a party may resist a summary judgment motion, and on which a court must deny the motion, is that the movant has failed to meet its burden of demonstrating the absence of triable issues of fact. A court may not grant summary judgment merely because there is no opposition, even when the failure to oppose violates a local rule [Martinez v. Stanford (9th Cir 2003) 323 F3d 1178, 1182 (construing SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.c))]. Similarly, a nonmovant's failure to timely file opposition papers does not justify entry of summary judgment without regard to whether genuine issues of material fact exist [see Cusano v. Klein (9th Cir 2001) 264 F3d 936, 950].

Cross References:

Discussion of evidence on which opposition may rely, see § 29.16[2]. Discussion of time for filing opposition, see § 29.20[1].

Discussion of nonmovant's burden, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.13[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.16[2] Opposition Papers Should Include Evidentiary Materials Beyond Pleadings. In opposing a properly supported motion, a nonmovant may use any of the evidentiary materials listed in Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2), except the pleadings alone [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 324, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265]. Thus, typical opposition papers may include:

- Affidavits, declarations, and other evidence in opposition to the motion;
- A brief or memorandum of points and authorities in opposition;
- Any objections to the movant's evidence;
- A proposed order; and
- A Rule 56(f) motion for continuance to conduct further discovery if appropriate.

Local rules may impose additional requirements, such as the filing of a statement of genuine, disputed, or controverted facts [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 56-2 (statement of genuine issues)]. Counsel must therefore become familiar with the local rules in the relevant district.

Cross References:

Discussion of local requirements on opposition to summary judgment, see § 29.16[4]. Discussion of statements of genuine, disputed, or controverted facts, see § 29.16[5]. Discussion of attaching evidence in opposition to summary judgment motion, see § 29.17. Discussion of motion for continuance for further discovery, see § 29.19.

Discussion of evidence in opposition to motion for summary judgment, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.13[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.16[3] Materials Establishing Genuine Issue of Fact Must Appear in Both Opposition and Court File. Though there is a split among the circuits on this issue, trial courts in the Ninth Circuit do not have an obligation to search the entire case file for evidence establishing a genuine issue of fact [compare Bias v. Moynihan (9th Cir 2007) 508 F3d 1212, 1219 (court "does not have a duty to search for evidence that would create a factual dispute"), with Stepanischen v. Merchants Despatch Transp. Corp. (1st Cir 1983) 722 F2d 922, 930 (declining to relieve court of duty to search record; encouraging adoption of local rules to reduce burden of such searches)]. Rather, the trial court may limit its review to the documents submitted for purposes of summary judgment, and to those parts of the record specifically referenced in the summary judgment papers [Carmen v. San Francisco Unified Sch. Dist. (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1026, 1030]. This is true even when the non-moving party is proceeding in pro se [see Bias v. Moynihan (9th Cir 2007) 508 F3d 1212, 1219 (affirming summary judgment for defendants where pro se plaintiff "failed to present any evidence in opposition" and expressly rejecting pro se litigant's argument that district court "should have searched the entire record to discover whether there was any evidence [to] support[] her claims" because she was proceeding without counsel)]. Accordingly, whatever establishes a genuine issue of fact must appear in both the district court file and in the party's opposition to the motion [Carmen v. San Francisco Unified Sch. Dist. (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 1026, 1029].

Exception:

When confronted with simultaneous cross-motions for summary judgment, district courts do have an independent duty to review each cross-motion and its supporting evidence to evaluate whether an issue of fact remains precluding summary judgment [Fair Hous. Council of Riverside County, Inc. v. Riverside Two (9th Cir 2001) 249 F3d 1132, 1136-1137].

Strategic Point--Opposing Party:

Opposition papers must focus the court's attention on specific, admissible facts in the pleadings and other evidentiary records that demonstrate a genuine issue of material fact. One way to accomplish this, as permitted under local rules, is to file a statement of genuine, disputed, or controverted facts with the court, with cites to the documentary sources for those facts. Also attach to opposition papers sworn or certified copies of the documents referred to in the opposition. Make sure those documents are filed with the court as part of the record.

Cross References:

Discussion of statements of genuine, disputed, or controverted facts, see § 29.16[5]. Discussion of evidence in opposition to summary judgment motion, see § 29.17. Discussion of court consideration of cross-motions for summary judgment, see § 29.30.

29.16[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Opposition Requirements May Vary.

29.16[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. A nonmovant opposing a summary judgment motion in the Central District must serve and file [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-9; CD Cal Civ LR 56-2]:

- The evidence on which the opposing party relies in opposing the motion;
- A brief but complete memorandum with the party's reasons for opposing the motion, and the points and authorities on which the nonmovant relies; and
- A statement of genuine issues setting forth material facts to be litigated.

A nonmovant choosing not to oppose the motion must file a written statement to that effect [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-9].

Cross References:

Discussion of time for filing and service of opposition, see § 29.20[1]. Discussion of memorandum in opposition to motion, see § 29.16[6]. Discussion of evidence in opposition to motion, see § 29.17. Discussion of statement of genuine issues or disputed or controverted facts, see § 29.16[5].

29.16[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. A party opposing summary judgment in the Eastern District must file and serve [see ED Cal Civ LR 230(c), 260(b)]:

- A response to the movant's statement of undisputed facts;
- A separate statement of disputed facts;

- A brief or memorandum of points and authorities;
- A proposed order; and
- Any evidence in opposition to the motion.

However, entire depositions are not to be filed through the Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system. If the opposition refers to a deposition, the attorney must ensure that a courtesy hard copy of the original of the entire deposition so relied on has been submitted to the clerk for use in chambers on or before the filing of the opposition. Alternatively, an electronic copy in lieu of the courtesy paper copy may be submitted by email to the judge or magistrate judge and concurrently emailed, or otherwise transmitted, to all other parties [ED Cal Gen LR 133(j); ED Cal Civ LR 260(b)].

In the alternative, a party not opposing the motion must serve and file a statement to that effect [see ED Cal Civ LR 230(c)].

Cross References:

Discussion of statement of disputed facts, see § 29.16[5]. Discussion of time for filing and service of opposition, see § 29.20[1]. Discussion of brief or memorandum in opposition to motion, see § 29.16[6]. Discussion of evidence in opposition to motion, see § 29.17.

29.16[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Opposition to summary judgment motions in the Northern District may include [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(a)]:

- Affidavits or declarations in opposition to the motion;
- A brief or memorandum under ND Cal Civ LR 7-4; and
- A proposed order.

The Northern District prohibits the filing of statements of disputed fact unless required by the assigned judge [see ND Cal Civ LR 56-1(a)]. A nonmovant who does not oppose the motion must file a statement of nonopposition with the court within the time for filing and serving an opposition [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(b)].

Cross References:

Discussion of time for filing and service of opposition, see § 29.20[1]. Discussion of memorandum or brief in opposition to motion, see § 29.16[6]. Discussion of proposed order, see 29.16[7]. Discussion of affidavits or declarations in opposition to motion, see § 29.17[3].

29.16[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. No specific rules govern oppositions to summary judgment motions in the Southern District. However, the district has promulgated rules governing oppositions to motions generally [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3)]. Thus, a party opposing a motion in the Southern District must file a written opposition including [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.a), (f.3.b)]:

- A brief, complete statement of all reasons in opposition to the motion;
- An answering memorandum of points and authorities; and
- Copies of all documentary evidence on which the nonmovant relies.

A nonmovant choosing not to oppose the motion must file a written statement to that effect [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.a)].

Warning:

The Southern District permits district courts to construe an opposing party's failure to file opposition papers within 14 calendar days before the hearing on a motion as consent to granting of the motion [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.c)]. However, the Ninth Circuit has rejected application of this rule in granting summary judgment solely because of a nonmovant's failure to timely file an opposition to the motion. Local rules do not excuse a moving party's affirmative duty to demonstrate entitlement to summary judgment as a matter of law [Martinez v. Stanford (9th Cir 2003) 323 F3d 1178, 1182].

Cross References:

Discussion of time for filing and service of opposition, see § 29.20[1]. Discussion of memorandum in opposition to motion, see § 29.16[6]. Discussion of evidence in opposition to motion, see § 29.17.

29.16[5] Draft and Attach Statement of Genuine Issues or Disputed or Controverted Facts As Required.

29.16[5][a] Draft Statement When Permitted or Required. Though not required by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, local rules in two California federal districts require a party opposing a summary judgment motion to file and serve a statement of genuine issues, or of disputed or controverted facts, in response to the movant's statement of undisputed facts [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 56-2; ED Cal Civ LR 260(b)].

Strategic Point--Opposing Party:

A well-drafted and supported statement of genuine issues or of disputed or controverted facts is essential in making the required showing that the case presents genuine issues of material fact requiring litigation [see CD Cal Civ LR 56-2]. Thus, carefully craft a statement that:

- Responds to each factual allegation in the movant's statement of undisputed or uncontroverted facts by admitting or denying the facts as stated by the movant, with explanations of any partial denials or admissions;
- Sets forth in detail any additional material facts in dispute; and
- Provides the court with necessary citations to the evidentiary record supporting those factual contentions.

Also ensure that sworn or certified copies of all documents and other paper evidence relied on in the statement are attached to the opposition papers, and that sworn or certified copies of the documents are filed with the court as part of the court's record of the case.

Cross Reference:

Local requirements regarding statements of disputed or genuine facts, see § 29.16[5][b] et seq.

29.16[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Any party opposing a summary judgment motion in the Central District must serve and file with the opposing papers a "Statement of Genuine Issues." The statement must be contained in a separate document, and must concisely set forth all material facts the nonmovant contends are genuine issues necessitating litigation [see CD Cal Civ LR 56-2]. These requirements also apply to oppositions to motions for summary adjudication [see CD Cal Civ LR 56-4].

In determining the summary judgment motion, the trial court will assume the material facts are as claimed and adequately supported by the moving party, except to the extent that the nonmovant (1) includes the material facts in its statement of genuine issues; and (2) controverts the facts set forth in the movant's statement by declaration or other written evidence filed with the opposition to the motion [see CD Cal Civ LR 56-3]. Accordingly, the nonmovant's statement must contain a response to each of the movant's factual statements, and must cite admissible evidence disputing the movant's factual statements. Failure to do so may result in the court's adoption of the facts as stated in the movant's statement of uncontroverted facts [see CD Cal Civ LR 56-3; Federal Ins. Co. v. Burlington N. & Santa Fe Ry. Co. (CD Cal 2003) 270 F Supp2d 1183, 1186-1187 ; but see Cook v. Allstate Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2004) 337 F Supp2d 1206, 1211-1212 (although local rule should be followed, failure to submit statement of genuine issues as required by local rule not fatal because Federal Rules of Civil Procedure require only submission of affidavits)].

Cross References:

Discussion of movant's statement of uncontroverted facts, see § 29.16[5]. Form of statement of genuine issues, see § 29.48.

29.16[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. A party opposing a motion for summary judgment or summary adjudication in the Eastern District must [see ED Cal Civ LR 260(b)]:

- Reproduce the facts listed in the movant's statement of undisputed facts;
- Admit any undisputed facts; and
- Deny any facts it disputes, and include a citation to the particular portion of any pleading, affidavit, deposition, interrogatory answer, admission, or other document relied on in support of the denial.

In addition, a nonmovant may file a concise "Statement of Disputed Facts," including the source in the record for the disputed facts, and all additional material facts as to which the nonmovant contends there is a genuine issue precluding summary judgment or adjudication. The nonmovant also is responsible for filing with the court all evidentiary documents cited in the opposition papers [see ED Cal Civ LR 260(b)].

However, entire depositions are not to be filed through the Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system. If the opposition refers to a deposition, the attorney must ensure that a courtesy hard copy of the original of the entire deposition so relied on has been submitted to the clerk for use in chambers on or before the filing of the opposition. Alternatively, an electronic copy in lieu of the courtesy paper copy may be submitted by email to the judge or magistrate judge and concurrently emailed, or otherwise transmitted, to all other parties [ED Cal Gen LR 133(j); ED Cal Civ LR 260(b)].

Cross References:

Discussion of movant's statement of uncontroverted facts, see § 29.16[5]. Form of statement of disputed facts, see § 29.48.

29.16[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. In the Northern District, the parties may not submit separate or joint statements of undisputed facts unless required by the judge [see ND Cal Civ LR 56-1]. It appears that this prohibition applies as well to a nonmovant's statement of disputed facts. Discussion of what facts are and are not disputed must be addressed as part of the brief.

Cross References:

Discussion of movant's statement of undisputed facts, see § 29.16[5]. Form of statement of disputed facts, see § 29.48.

29.16[5][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The Southern District has not promulgated specific rules regarding opposition to summary judgment. However, the district does require a nonmovant to file and serve a statement of reasons in opposition to motions in general, which may serve a purpose similar to a statement of disputed or genuine fact [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.3.b)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of opposing motions in Southern District generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.39[4].

29.16[6] Draft and Attach Memorandum of Points and Authorities As Required or Desired. Though not explicitly required by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [see Fed R Civ P 56], local rules in California may require or permit nonmovants to file a brief or memorandum of points and authorities opposing a summary judgment motion. Among the four California federal districts, only the Central District requires the filing or service of memorandum or brief in opposition [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-9].

Example--Central District:

No specific local rules require memoranda of points and authorities in response to summary judgment motions in the Central District. However, the district's general rules regarding opposition to motions require nonmovants opposing motions to serve and file a memorandum stating the basis for opposing the motion, with points and authorities on which the opposing party relies [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-9].

The rules applicable to content and formatting of motion papers generally also apply to memoranda and briefs supporting motions for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)]. In addition, local rules may also impose additional requirements [see , e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-4]. Therefore, counsel must become familiar with and must adhere to the local rules in the district in which the case is filed.

Cross References:

Form of memorandum in opposition to motion, see § 29.47. Further discussion of requirements for opposition briefs or memoranda generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.37.

29.16[7] Draft and Attach Proposed Order If Desired. Neither the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure nor local rules require nonmovants to include in the opposition papers a proposed order [see Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56]. However, at least one district permits the inclusion of a proposed order in the opposition papers [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-3].

Cross References:

Discussion of attaching proposed judgment or order to motion papers, see § 29.10. Form of proposed order denying motion for summary judgment, see § 29.49.

29.16[8] Request Oral Argument If Desired. District courts may provide by local rule that a party desiring oral argument on a motion for summary judgment must request such argument [Mahon v. Credit Bureau of Placer County Inc. (9th Cir 1999) 171 F3d 1197, 1200 ; see, e.g., ED Cal Civ LR 230(g) (oral argument on summary judgment motion permitted if requested by party or ordered by court)].

If a nonmovant requests oral argument, the trial court should not grant summary judgment motions without first holding a hearing [Dredge Corp. v. Penny (9th Cir 1964) 338 F2d 456, 460-461 ; Partridge v. Reich (9th Cir 1998) 141 F3d 920, 926]. However, failure to conduct a hearing is reversible error only if there is a showing of prejudice [Partridge v. Reich (9th Cir 1998) 141 F3d 920, 926].

Cross References:

Further discussion of hearing on motion, see § 29.28. Discussion of requests for oral argument on motions generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.53.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentBurdens of Production & ProofNonmovantsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionSupporting Materials

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
III. RESPONDING TO MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.17

29.17 Compile and Attach Evidence in Opposition to Motion.

29.17[1] Opposition Evidence Must Set Forth Specific Facts Showing Genuine Issue for Trial. The evidence tendered by the nonmovant must demonstrate that [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 248-249, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202 ; Capizzi v. County of Placer (ED Cal 2001) 135 F Supp2d 1105, 1108]:

- The fact in contention is material, in that it may affect the outcome of the suit under governing law; and

- The dispute is genuine, in that a reasonable jury considering the evidence could return a verdict for the nonmoving party.

To show the existence of a genuine issue, the nonmovant must present some evidence establishing each element of the claims on which the nonmovant bears the burden of proof at trial. In addition, the nonmovant must produce at least some significant probative evidence tending to support its pleadings [Smolen v. Deloitte, Haskins & Sells (9th Cir 1990) 921 F2d 959, 963]. A mere scintilla of evidence supporting the opposing party's position is insufficient. There must be evidence on which a jury could reasonably find for the opposing party [see Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 252, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202]. Merely questioning the credibility of a witness for the moving party is insufficient to create an issue of fact [see, e.g., Bodett v. Coxcom, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 366 F3d 736, 740 n3].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of nonmovant's burden, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.13[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.17[2] Opposition Evidence Must Be Admissible. The trial court may only consider admissible evidence in ruling on a motion for summary judgment [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. Thus, evidence opposing summary judgment must be admissible under the rules governing admission of evidence [Hal Roach Studios, Inc. v. Richard Feiner & Co. (9th Cir 1989) 896 F2d 1542, 1550 ; see Fed R Evid 101 (Federal Rules of Evidence apply in all proceedings before United States courts)]. Although a nonmovant need not produce evidence in a form that would be admissible at trial, the evidence itself must be admissible for the court to consider it in deciding the motion [see Fed R Civ P 56(e); Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 324, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; Curnow v. Ridgecrest Police (9th Cir 1991) 952 F2d 321, 323 , cert. denied, 506 US 972 (1992)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of court determination of motion based on admissible evidence, see § 29.29[4].

29.17[3] Draft and Attach Opposing Affidavits.

29.17[3][a] Draft and Attach Affidavits or Declarations in Opposition to Motion. A party opposing a summary judgment motion may attach affidavits or declarations in opposition to the motion [see 28 USC § 1746; Fed R Civ P 56(e)(1)]. Affidavits or declarations are not required if the opposition raises only legal arguments; but that is rarely the case. In most cases, the relevance of legal arguments depends on establishing the facts of the case. Similarly, affidavits or declarations might not be required if it is clear that the moving party failed to establish even a prima facie case for granting summary judgment. But pointing that out without reference to factual contentions might be impossibly difficult. Any factual contention raised in an opposition to the motion must be supported by an affidavit or declaration [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-5(a)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of affidavit requirement to support opposition to summary judgment motion, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[8][c] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.17[3][b] Rules Governing Supporting Affidavits Apply to Affidavits Opposing Motion. The rules applicable to affidavits supporting motions for summary judgment apply with equal force to affidavits submitted in opposition to summary judgment. Thus, opposing affidavits or declarations must [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)(1)]:

- Be made on personal knowledge;
- Set forth facts that would be admissible in evidence; and
- Affirmatively show that the affiant is competent to testify to the matters stated in the affidavit.

Example:

A plaintiff's verified complaint may be considered as an affidavit in opposition to summary judgment if it is based on personal knowledge and sets forth specific facts admissible in evidence [Lopez v. Smith (9th Cir 2000) 203 F3d 1122, 1132 n14].

In addition, the nonmovant must attach to and serve with the affidavits sworn or certified copies of all papers referred to in the affidavit [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)(1)].

Consider:

When a party opposing summary judgment fails to comply with the formalities of Fed R Civ P 56(e), the court has discretion to deal leniently with the deficiency [School Dist. No. 1J v. AC&S, Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 1255, 1261 ; Reiffin v. Microsoft Corp. (ND Cal 2003) 270 F Supp2d 1132, 1144]. However, the leniency does not stretch so far that Rule 56(e) becomes meaningless [Reiffin v. Microsoft Corp. (ND Cal 2003) 270 F Supp2d 1132, 1144)].

Most courts tend to be more lenient toward unsophisticated parties and less experienced attorneys, and particularly with pro se parties. They are inclined, generally, to be stricter with experienced attorneys representing sophisticated clients. Courts tend to be least lenient with parties or attorneys who have a record of ignoring procedural rules.

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of affidavit requirements, see § 29.11.

29.17[3][c] Nonmovant May Not Rely on Its Own Conclusory or Sham Statements in Affidavit to Create Issue of Material Fact. A nonmoving party who relies only on its own affidavits to oppose a summary judgment motion cannot create an issue of material fact by making conclusory allegations unsupported by factual data in the affidavit [Hansen v. United States (9th Cir 1993) 7 F3d 137, 138].

Similarly, a party may not create a genuine issue of fact sufficient to survive summary judgment by filing an affidavit flatly contradicting the party's earlier sworn testimony [Cleveland v. Policy Mgmt. Sys. Corp. (1999) 526 US 795, 806, 119 S Ct 1597, 143 L Ed2d 966 ; see Kennedy v. Allied Mut. Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1991) 952 F2d 262, 266]. When faced with such statements, the trial court should require an explanation of any apparent inconsistency [see Cleveland v. Policy Mgmt. Sys. Corp. (1999) 526 US 795, 807, 119 S Ct 1597, 143 L Ed2d 966]. The court may refuse to consider the affidavit if, after a hearing on the issue, it finds the affidavit is "sham" testimony that flatly contradicts earlier testimony in an attempt to create an issue of fact and avoid summary judgment [Kennedy v. Allied Mut. Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1991) 952 F2d 262, 266-267].

Distinguish:

A nonmoving party is not precluded from elaborating on, explaining, or clarifying prior testimony elicited by opposing counsel on deposition. Minor inconsistencies resulting from an honest discrepancy, a mistake, or newly discovered evidence do not afford a basis for excluding an opposition affidavit [Messick v. Horizon Indus. Inc. (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1227, 1231].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of affidavit requirements, see § 29.11.

29.17[3][d] Court May Grant Continuance If Affidavit Indicates Nonmovant Lacks Facts to Oppose Motion. When it appears from the nonmovant's affidavits that the party cannot present facts essential to opposing the summary judgment motion, the court may deny the motion [Fed R Civ P 56(f)(1)], or may order a continuance to permit affidavits to be obtained, depositions to be taken, or other discovery to be had [Fed R Civ P 56(f)(2)]. The court may make other just orders [Fed R Civ P 56(f)(3)]. To invoke Fed R Civ P 56(f), the nonmovant must submit affidavits indicating why the nonmovant cannot then present facts essential to justify opposing the summary judgment motion [see Carpenter v. Universal Star Shipping, S.A. (9th Cir 1991) 924 F2d 1539, 1547 , cert. denied, 506 US 955 (1992)]. The party seeking a continuance must also demonstrate due diligence in pursuing discovery before the summary judgment motion [Pfingston v. Ronan Eng'g Co. (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 999, 1005].

Consider:

The safer practice is to make a timely motion for a continuance identifying the relevant information sought and the basis for believing the information sought actually exists [see, e.g., Chance v. Pac-Tel Teletrac Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 242 F3d 1151, 1161].

Cross References:

Further discussion of motions for continuance to permit further discovery prior to ruling on motion, see § 29.19.

See also 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[8] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.17[4] Attach Other Evidence Opposing Motion. In addition to affidavits, a nonmoving party may submit with the opposition papers pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)(1)]. The nonmovant may also attach for the court's consideration other documentary evidence obtained through discovery [see, e.g., Fraser v. Goodale (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1032, 1036 , cert. denied sub nom. United States Bancorp v. Fraser, 541 US 937 (2004) (diary attached to nonmoving party's deposition)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of evidence parties may rely on in supporting or opposing summary judgment motion, see § 29.12.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentBurdens of Production & ProofNonmovantsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionSupporting MaterialsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentStandardsGeneral Overview

LexisNexis®

155 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
III. RESPONDING TO MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.18

29.18 Draft and Attach Objections to Movant's Evidence.

A trial court may only consider admissible evidence in ruling on a motion for summary judgment [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. A party objecting to evidence must file written objections or a motion to strike the evidence as part of its opposition papers [see Pfingston v. Ronan Eng'g Co. (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 999, 1003]. Failure to object or to move to strike the evidence may result in waiver of the evidentiary defects [see FDIC v. New Hampshire Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1991) 953 F2d 478, 484].

Strategic Point--Opposing Party:

Either moving to strike or objecting to the evidence preserves objections to inadmissible evidence offered by the moving party in supporting a summary judgment motion [see Pfingston v. Ronan Eng'g Co. (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 999, 1003]. However, filing objections with the opposition to the motion may be more practical than filing a motion to strike, because a motion to strike may require several weeks' notice before the court may hear the motion [see, e.g., SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1) (motion requiring court's ruling requires minimum filing date of 28 days before the date for which matter is noticed)]. Counsel may object to evidence submitted in support of summary judgment before or at a hearing on the motion. However, the safest approach is to make written objections before the hearing by including them with the opposition papers. This permits the court to review the objections before the hearing, and preserves objections for appeal. However, counsel must consult each judge's standing orders. Some judges might impose a meet and confer requirement before the filing of objections. Counsel making an oral objection at the hearing should consider asking the court for permission to file a memorandum supporting the objection after the hearing.

Written objections should contain the following [see Fed R Evid 103(a)(1)]:

- The specific ground for the objection;

- The location, in the movant's documents or in the court's records, of the evidence objected to, including page and line numbers when possible; and

- A brief argument supporting each objection, with citation of relevant authority.

Strategic Point--Opposing Party:

On summary judgment, evidentiary objections to improper foundation or authentication are clearly supported by Ninth Circuit precedent, as are hearsay objections [Burch v. Regents of the Univ. of Cal. (ED Cal 2006) 433 F Supp2d 1110, 1120-1122]. However, counsel should bear in mind that "routinely rais[ing] every objection imaginable" may alienate the court [Burch v. Regents of the Univ. of Cal. (ED Cal 2006) 433 F Supp2d 1110, 1119, 1122]. For example, objections to evidence on the ground that it is irrelevant, speculative, and/or argumentative, or that it constitutes an improper legal conclusion may be superfluous in the summary judgment context. Likewise, objections as to form may be misguided [see Burch v. Regents of the Univ. of Cal. (ED Cal 2006) 433 F Supp2d 1110, 1119].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of hearing on objections or motion to strike, see § 29.28[1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsObjections & Offers of ProofObjections

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
III. RESPONDING TO MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.19

29.19 Move for Continuance to Permit Further Discovery.

29.19[1] Move for Continuance for Further Discovery. When it appears from a nonmoving party's affidavits that the nonmovant cannot present facts essential to opposing a summary judgment motion, the court may order a continuance to permit further discovery, or may make other orders as just [see Fed R Civ P 56(f)(2)]. Thus, Fed R Civ P 56(f) provides a device for litigants to avoid summary judgment when they have not had sufficient time to develop affirmative evidence [United States ex rel. Aflatooni v. Kitsap Physicians Serv. (9th Cir 2002) 314 F3d 995, 1000]. A party who requires further discovery before the court rules on a summary judgment motion must make a timely application for a continuance under Fed R Civ P 56(f) [Employers Teamsters Local Nos. 175 & 505 Pension Trust Fund v. Clorox Co. (9th Cir 2004) 353 F3d 1125, 1129].

Strategic Point:

When a moving party files a summary judgment motion early in the litigation, before the opposing party has had any realistic opportunity to pursue discovery relating to its theory of the case, district courts should grant a Rule 56(f) motion fairly freely [Burlington N. Santa Fe Ry. Co. v. Assiniboine & Sioux Tribes of Fort Peck Reservation (9th Cir 2003) 323 F3d 767, 773-774 (vacating summary judgment and ordering discovery when movant brought summary judgment motion less than month after filing suit, no discovery had taken place, and court noted possible existence of documentation or witness testimony dispositive of pivotal question in suit)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of continuance for further discovery, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[8] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.19[2] Motion Must Identify Information Sought and Show Its Existence. To prevail under Fed R Civ P 56(f), a party opposing a motion for summary judgment must make a timely application specifically identifying relevant information, and the basis for believing that the information sought actually exists [Employers Teamsters Local Nos. 175 & 505 Pension Trust Fund v. Clorox Co. (9th Cir 2004) 353 F3d 1125, 1129 ; VISA Int'l Serv. Ass'n v. Bankcard

Holders of Am. (9th Cir 1986) 784 F2d 1472, 1475]. The motion will be denied if it appears that it is only "generically relevant" [see, e.g., Family Home & Fin. Ctr., Inc. v. Fed. Home Loan Mortg. Corp. (9th Cir 2008) 525 F3d 822, 827 (plaintiff failed to show how evidence was "essential" to oppose summary judgment)], or that its basis is merely speculation [see, e.g., In re Deep Vein Thrombosis (ND Cal 2005) 356 F Supp2d 1055, 1065 (two sentences in on-line magazine article did not support contention that airplane manufacturer controlled entire production of passenger seats)]. The facts supporting the motion must be set forth in an accompanying affidavit [United States ex rel. Afflatooni v. Kitsap Physicians Serv. (9th Cir 2002) 314 F3d 995, 1000 ; Cook v. Allstate Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2004) 337 F Supp2d 1206, 1209].

Strategic Point--Party Seeking Discovery:

To be successful, the motion for continuance and accompanying affidavits and proof must [see Employers Teamsters Local Nos. 175 & 505 Pension Trust Fund v. Clorox Co. (9th Cir 2004) 353 F3d 1125, 1129 ; United States ex rel. Afflatooni v. Kitsap Physicians Serv. (9th Cir 2002) 314 F3d 995, 1000]:

- Point to specific information that would be revealed by further discovery;
- Make a showing that the evidence actually exists;
- Explain the relevance of the evidence to the case;
- Explain how discovery of the evidence would counter the movant's summary judgment motion; and
- Detail the nonmovant's efforts to diligently pursue discovery before seeking the continuance.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of motion practice generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

29.19[3] Timely File and Serve Motion for Continuance Before Summary Judgment Hearing. A Rule 56(f) motion must be brought before the summary judgment hearing [United States ex rel. Afflatooni v. Kitsap Physicians Serv. (9th Cir 2002) 314 F3d 995, 1000]. File the motion with the court and serve the motion on the opposing party as directed by the rules governing filing and service of motions generally [see Fed R Civ P 5, 6]. Failure to comply with this requirement is a proper ground for denying relief [United States ex rel. Afflatooni v. Kitsap Physicians Serv. (9th Cir 2002) 314 F3d 995, 1000].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of filing and service of motions generally, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers.

29.19[4] Show That Evidence Sought Exists and Would Prevent Summary Judgment. The burden is on the party seeking additional discovery to proffer sufficient facts showing that the evidence sought exists and that it would prevent summary judgment [Employers Teamsters Local Nos. 175 & 505 Pension Trust Fund v. Clorox Co. (9th Cir 2004) 353 F3d 1125, 1129-1130 ; Chance v. Pac-Tel Teletrac Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 242 F3d 1151, 1161 n6].

Consider--Detailed Showing Is Critical:

To show the existence of the evidence sought, the motion and proffered facts should list and describe the specific information sought, and should indicate, if possible, where the evidence is located or may be found. A nonmovant seeking a continuance must also explain in detail how discovery of the specified evidence would counter the defendants' summary judgment motion.

Example:

In an action brought by the Cheyenne Arapaho Tribes to quiet title to land originally designated as part of the reservation and later set apart as a military installation, the district court did not abuse its discretion in denying the Tribes' request for jurisdictional discovery to oppose dismissal on the ground that the claim was barred by the statute of limitation. Although the Tribes identified documents suggesting that the army intended to continue using the land for military purposes, they failed to specify how the requested discovery would alter the court's determination that the statute of limitations had long since run and extinguished their claim [Cheyenne Arapaho Tribes of Oklahoma v. US (9th Cir 2009) 558 F3d 592, 596-597] .

29.19[5] Trial Court's Determination of Motion Is Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion. District courts have wide latitude in controlling discovery. An appellate court will not overturn lower court rulings in the absence of a clear abuse of discretion [United States ex rel. Afflatooni v. Kitsap Physicians Serv. (9th Cir 2002) 314 F3d 995, 1000]. Appellate courts review the district court's decision on a Rule 56(f) motion for continuance on an abuse of discretion standard [United States Cellular Inv. Co. of Los Angeles v. GTE Mobilnet, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 281 F3d 929, 934]. A district court denial of further discovery is not an abuse of discretion if the party seeking a continuance has failed to diligently pursue discovery in the past, or if that party fails to show how the information sought would preclude summary judgment [Employers Teamsters Local Nos. 175 & 505 Pension Trust Fund v. Clorox Co. (9th Cir 2004) 353 F3d 1125, 1129 ; Cook v. Allstate Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2004) 337 F Supp2d 1206, 1209].

Example--Diligence:

A court might abuse its discretion in denying a motion for continuance if the party seeking the continuance had outstanding discovery requests with the cutoff date for discovery several months away. In contrast, when the trial court has already postponed ruling on the summary judgment motion for over a year to give the nonmovant time to obtain discovery, yet the nonmovant failed to do so, an appellate court may properly conclude there was a lack of diligence precluding a finding that the district court abused its discretion [see Nidds v. Schindler Elevator Corp. (9th Cir 1996) 113 F3d 912, 921 , cert. denied, 522 US 950 (1997)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of review of trial court rulings on summary judgment and accompanying motions, see § 29.38.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentHearingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionMotions for Additional DiscoveryCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentTime Limitations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
III. RESPONDING TO MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.20

29.20 Properly File and Serve Opposition Papers.

29.20[1] Timely File Opposition Papers With Court.

29.20[1][a] Opposing Party Has 21 Days From Service of Motion to File Response to Motion. Unless a local rule or court order provides otherwise, a party opposing a motion for summary judgment must file its response to the summary judgment motion within 21 days after being served with the motion [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(B)]. There is one exception: if a summary judgment motion is filed before a responsive pleading is due from a party affected by the motion, the time for responding to the motion is within 21 days after the motion is served, or 21 days after the responsive pleading is due, whichever is later [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(B); see Fed R Civ P 56, Committee Note of 2009].

Warning:

The Rule 56(c)(1)(B) deadline for responding to a summary judgment motion is only a default provision. The rule expressly authorizes local rules and court orders to set different deadlines for filing a response [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1) ("These times apply unless a different time is set by local rule or the court orders otherwise")].

Strategic Point--Opposing Party:

To avoid the possibility of sanctions for late filing or service of opposition papers, counsel should make every effort to meet the deadlines imposed by the local rules in the district in which the case is filed.

Warning:

Parties are not permitted to file late affidavits in support of opposition to a motion for summary judgment without invoking Fed R Civ P 56(f) and indicating why they cannot timely file the required affidavits [Carpenter v. Universal Star Shipping, S.A. (9th Cir 1991) 924 F2d 1539, 1547 , cert. denied, 506 US 955 (1992)]. Reliance on the Federal Rules to contravene local rules or even a judge's standing orders is always risky and, even when permitted by law, will not be viewed with favor by the judge from whom one is seeking a favorable ruling.

Cross References:

Discussion of motions for continuance under Fed R Civ P 56(f), see § 29.19.

Discussion of time for filing papers opposing summary judgment, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.20[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. A party opposing a summary judgment motion must file and serve its opposition to the motion in the Central District no less than 21 days before the date designated for the hearing of the motion [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-9]. The court may sanction a party filing an opposition to a motion noticed for hearing after the time for filing has expired [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-13, 83-7].

29.20[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. An opposition to a motion must be filed with the court clerk no less than 14 days preceding the noticed or continued hearing date. Additional time must be added for service by mail or by other means [see ED Cal Civ LR 230(c)].

29.20[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. In general, the opposition to a motion in the Northern District must be served and filed no less than 21 days before the hearing date [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(a)].

29.20[1][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. In general, each party opposing a motion in the Southern District must file its opposition or statement of nonopposition with the clerk and must serve the movant or the movant's attorney no later than 14 calendar days prior to the noticed hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.2)]. Service of opposition papers by mail increases the amount of time required for service by three days [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.4)].

29.20[2] Properly Serve and File Opposition Papers. Service should be accomplished in the manner dictated by Fed R Civ P 5(b).

In general, a party opposing a motion must file opposition papers with the court within a reasonable time after service on the movant and any other parties [see Fed R Civ P 5(d)]. The nonmovant must also file with the court a certificate of service [see Fed R Civ P 5(d)]. Filing with the court generally is accomplished by filing the opposition papers with the court clerk [see Fed R Civ P 5(d)(2)].

Local rules may impose additional service or filing requirements. Counsel must, therefore, become familiar with and adhere to the rules in the district in which the case is located.

Cross References:

Discussion of papers opposing summary judgment, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[3][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionSupporting MaterialsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

158 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
IV. REPLYING TO OPPOSITION

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.21

29.21 CHECKLIST: Preparing Reply to Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.

☐ Draft reply to opposition to motion for summary judgment if desired, in accordance with Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(C), unless a local rule or court order provides otherwise.

- ○ Central District: Serve and file reply memorandum and declarations or other rebuttal evidence in response to nonmovant's opposition papers.
- ○ Eastern District: Movant may serve and file reply to any opposition filed by responding party.
- ○ Northern District: Serve and file reply to opposition papers, including affidavits or declarations, and supplemental brief or memorandum.
- ○ Southern District: Serve and file reply memorandum in response to opposition by nonmovant.

☐ Include new material that could have been raised in moving papers only under limited circumstances, such as in response to potentially dispositive argument by nonmovant.

☐ File written objections to opposing party's evidence (or motion to strike evidence) to preserve objections, containing:

- Specific ground for objection;
- Cites to location of evidence in opposing party's documents or in court records;
- Brief argument supporting each objection; and
- Citation of relevant authority.

☐ Timely serve and file reply.

- Follow federal rules governing computation of time generally.
- Follow applicable local rules:
  - ☐ Central District:
    - File and serve reply no later than seven calendar days before date set for hearing motion.
    - Include Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays in calculating deadline for filing reply.

☐ Eastern District: Serve and file reply to any opposition filed by responding party no less than seven days preceding hearing on motion.

☐ Northern District: Serve and file reply no less than 14 days before hearing date for motion.

☐ Southern District: File and serve reply memorandum no later than seven days before date noticed for hearing.

☐ Respond to reply only if ordered to do so by trial court.

- Central District: File response to reply only if court issues prior written order.
- Northern District:
  - ☐ Once movant files reply, no additional memoranda, papers, or letters may be filed without court's approval.
  - ☐ Before noticed hearing date, counsel may serve and file statement of recent decision citing and providing copies of relevant judicial opinions published after filing of opposition or reply.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 6, 56(e); Fed R Evid 103(a)(1); CD Cal Civ LR 7-10; ED Cal Civ LR 230(d); ND Cal Civ LR 7-3, 7-4; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.3), (h)

Discussion:

See §§ 29.23 -29.25

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentTime LimitationsEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsObjections & Offers of ProofObjectionsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
IV. REPLYING TO OPPOSITION

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.22

29.22 Options and Strategy.

Unless a local rule or court order provides otherwise, the movant may file a reply within 14 days after the response is served [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(C)]. While an opposing party has an "obligation" to respond to a motion for summary judgment that is "properly made and supported" [see Fed R Civ P 56(e)(2)], the rule provides an opportunity to file a reply to a response, but sets out no obligation to do so or consequences for failing to do so [see Fed R Civ P 56]. Local rules in California federal districts also permit movants to file a reply brief or memorandum in response to the nonmoving party's opposition to a summary judgment motion [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-10; ED Cal Civ LR 230(d)]. The movant's goal in filing a reply brief is to convince the court that no material issue of genuine fact exists for trial, notwithstanding the nonmovant's attempts to suggest otherwise in its opposition. The reply brief should address each of the arguments raised in the opposition. The reply may also include objections to the evidence asserted by the nonmovant in support of the opposition.

The contents of the reply depend largely on what is contained in the opposition to the motion. For example, if the nonmovant files an opposition to the movant's statement of undisputed facts, the reply should respond to each of the opposition points, with an explanation of how the opposition is incorrect on each point. If the opposing party files his or her own statement of disputed facts, the reply brief should respond by identifying how each fact listed is not relevant or material to a genuine issue in the case. If the opposition files evidence that is inadmissible, include with the reply papers objections to the evidence or a motion to strike [see Pfingston v. Ronan Eng'g Co. (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 999, 1003].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

Even though filing reply papers is permissive, the moving party should almost always take advantage of the opportunity to respond to the nonmoving party's arguments and evidence by filing a reply.

Cross References:

Local rules governing filing of replies, see § 29.23. Discussion of replies generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.50.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentBurdens of Production & ProofMovantsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsMemoranda of LawEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsObjections & Offers of ProofObjectionsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

160 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
IV. REPLYING TO OPPOSITION

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.23

29.23 Movant May Reply to Opposition Papers.

29.23[1] Draft, Serve, and File Reply to Opposition If Desired. Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(C) permits a moving part to file a reply to the nonmovant's opposition to the summary judgment motion. Unless a local rule or court order provides otherwise, the movant may file a reply within 14 days after the response is served [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(C)].

Local rules in all California federal districts also permit a moving party to serve and file a reply to the nonmovant's opposition to the summary judgment motion [see, e.g., ED Cal Civ LR 230(d)]. Local rules may also impose specific requirements regarding the content and format of replies, and the time within which they must be served and filed [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(c)]. Federal rules governing computation of time generally also apply in computing the time within which to file and serve a reply [see Fed R Civ P 6].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

To facilitate the reply to a nonmovant's statement of undisputed facts, counsel may wish to employ a three-column format. The first column lists the undisputed facts set forth in the movant's original statement of undisputed facts. The second column lays out the points made in the opposition. The third column should demonstrate how each issue or fact remains undisputed, and should cite to the evidence in the record.

In general, a nonmovant may not respond to a reply brief or memorandum unless ordered to do so by the trial court [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-10].

Cross References:

Local rules governing filing of replies, see §§ 29.23[2] -[5]. Discussion of replies generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.50.

29.23[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. A moving party may serve and file a reply memorandum and declarations or other rebuttal evidence in response to the nonmovant's opposition papers. A movant must file and serve the reply no later than 14 days before the date designated for the hearing of the motion [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-10].

Unless the court issues a prior written order otherwise, the opposing party may not file a response to the reply [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-10].

29.23[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. No less than seven days preceding the date of the hearing, the moving party may serve and file a reply to any opposition filed by a responding party [see ED Cal Civ LR 230(d)].

29.23[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. A moving party may serve and file a reply to opposition papers in the Northern District. The reply may include affidavits or declarations, and a supplemental brief or memorandum under ND Cal Civ LR 7-4. However, the reply brief or memorandum may not exceed 15 pages of text. The movant must serve and file the reply no less than 14 days before the hearing date [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(c)].

Generally, once the movant files a reply, no additional memoranda, papers, or letters may be filed without the trial court's approval. However, before the noticed hearing date, counsel may serve and file a Statement of Recent Decision citing and providing a copy of any relevant judicial opinions published since the filing of the opposition or reply [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(d)].

29.23[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The Southern District permits a moving party to file and serve a reply memorandum in response to the opposition by the nonmovant. In general, the movant must file and serve a reply memorandum no later than seven days before the date for which the matter is noticed for hearing [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.3)].

Example:

For a Monday hearing, reply papers must be filed and served no later than the Monday a week prior to the hearing. If the Monday prior to the Monday hearing is a holiday, reply papers would be due two Fridays prior to the hearing [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.3)].

Reply memorandums may not exceed 10 pages in length without leave of court [see SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(h)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsMemoranda of LawCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentTime LimitationsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

161 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
IV. REPLYING TO OPPOSITION

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.24

29.24 Reply Generally Should Not Present New Material.

In general, a reply brief or memorandum should not contain new issues, evidence, or argument that the movant could have raised in its moving papers. A trial court may properly strike new material included in a reply that the movant did not include in its original statement of facts [see, e.g., Chale v. Allstate Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 353 F3d 742, 750]. The court has discretion to consider issues newly raised in a reply [see, e.g., Glenn K. Jackson Inc. v. Roe (9th Cir 2001) 273 F3d 1192, 1202]. However, the court should not consider new evidence presented in a reply without giving the nonmovant an opportunity to respond [Provenz v. Miller (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 1478, 1483 , cert. denied, 522 US 808 (1997)].

Exception:

A trial court does not abuse its discretion when it considers new information raised for the first time in a reply brief in response to a potentially dispositive argument by the nonmovant, especially when denying the movant the opportunity to counter the argument would effectively strip the movant of the right to counter the nonmovant's opposition to the summary judgment motion [see El Pollo Loco, Inc. v. Hashim (9th Cir 2003) 316 F3d 1032, 1040].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDiscretionCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentEvidenceCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentNoticesCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsMemoranda of Law

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
IV. REPLYING TO OPPOSITION

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.25

29.25 Reply May Include Objections to Nonmovant's Evidence in Opposing Motion.

A reply may include the moving party's objections, if any, to the admissibility of evidence submitted by the nonmoving party in opposition to the summary judgment motion [see, e.g., Fraser v. Goodale (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1032, 1036 , cert. denied sub nom. United States Bancorp v. Fraser, 541 US 937 (2004)]. A trial court may only consider admissible evidence in ruling on a motion for summary judgment [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. A moving party objecting to a nonmovant's evidence should file written objections or a motion to strike the evidence [Pfingston v. Ronan Eng'g Co. (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 999, 1003]. Failure to object or to move to strike the evidence may result in waiver of evidentiary defects [see FDIC v. New Hampshire Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1991) 953 F2d 478, 484].

Written objections to evidence relied on by the nonmovant should contain the following [see Fed R Evid 103(a)(1)]:

- The specific ground for the objection;
- The location, in the movant's documents or in the court's records, of the evidence objected to, including page and line numbers when possible; and
- A brief argument supporting each objection, with citation of relevant authority.

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of objecting to evidence in connection with summary judgment, see § 29.18.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentEvidenceCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral OverviewEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsObjections & Offers of ProofObjections

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.26

29.26 CHECKLISTS: Court Determination of Motions for Summary Judgment.

29.26[1] CHECKLIST: Determining Motions for Summary Judgment.

☐ Trial court may hold hearing before determining summary judgment motion.

○ Trial courts may issue local rules permitting determination of motions without oral hearing, on brief written statements of reasons in support and opposition.

☐ All California federal districts permit trial courts to determine motions without oral argument.

☐ Trial courts in these districts have discretion to decide whether oral argument would be of material assistance in determining summary judgment motions.

○ Trial court may not prevent party from requesting oral argument, or deny request for oral argument by party opposing motion unless court denies motion.

☐ If court orders hearing on summary judgment motion, it may permit brief oral argument by counsel for parties.

○ Court may question counsel.

○ Rather than repeat facts or argument presented in briefs or memoranda, counsel should highlight main points and evidence.

○ Counsel may object to evidence relied on by other party in making or opposing motion.

○ Trial court may take oral testimony on summary judgment motion.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 1, 43(c), 56(c)(2), 78, 83; CD Cal Civ LR 7-15; ED Cal Civ LR 230(g); ND Cal Civ LR 7-1(b), 7-6; SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d.1)

Discussion:
See § 29.27, 29.28

☐ Court must properly apply burdens of proof on motion and at trial.

○ Moving party bears initial burden of proof on motion to show absence of any genuine issue of material fact.

○ Showing required to meet initial burden depends on which party has burden of proof at trial.

☐ If moving party does not have burden of proof at trial, present evidence negating essential element of nonmovant's claim, or demonstrating that nonmovant cannot meet its burden at trial.

☐ If moving party has burden of proof at trial, establish all essential elements of claim or defense to warrant summary judgment in its favor.

○ If movant meets initial burden on motion, burden shifts to nonmovant to present specific facts showing genuine issue of material fact for trial.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 56(c), (e)

Discussion:
See § 29.29[1]

☐ Court may only consider admissible evidence in ruling on motion.

☐ In determining whether case presents questions of material fact under applicable substantive law, court must view evidence in light most favorable to nonmoving party by:

○ Believing evidence of opposing party.

○ Drawing all reasonable inferences that may be drawn from facts before court in favor of opposing party.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 56(c), (e); Fed R Evid 101

Discussion:
See §§ 29.29[2] -[5]

Form:
See § 29.45

☐ Court must evaluate each cross-motion for summary judgment separately to determine if nonmovant presents genuine issues of material fact for trial.

○ If parties filing cross-motions agree that all underlying material facts are reflected in written record, trial judge may convert cross-motions into submission of case for trial on written record, and may decide factual issues.

Authority:
Chevron USA, Inc. v. Cayetano (9th Cir 2000) 224 F3d 1030, 1038 n6 , cert. denied, 532 US 942 (2001)

Discussion:
See § 29.30

☐ Court may issue order granting summary adjudication on portion of case.

☐ Trial court may grant summary adjudication on:

○ Issues representing less than whole case.

○ The issue of liability alone, even when there is genuine issue as to amount of damages.

○ Less than full relief requested.

☐ Case not fully adjudicated on motion may be tried on remaining issues.

○ At hearing on motion, court must examine pleadings and evidence before it, and may interrogate counsel.

○ Court must issue order specifying facts appearing without substantial controversy, including extent to which damages or other relief is not in controversy.

☐ Order must deem facts specified as established on trial of action.

☐ Order may direct further proceedings in action as are just.

☐ Court must then conduct trial accordingly.

☐ In general, summary adjudications are interlocutory orders not appealable before entry of final judgment in case.

Authority:
28 USC § 1291; Fed R Civ P 56(a)-(d)

Discussion:
See § 29.31

☐ Court granting summary judgment must enter separate judgment.

○ Counsel should check with court clerk to ensure trial judge signs and enters separate judgment.

○ Counsel may request that court enter separate judgment.

☐ Moving party typically should submit to court and serve on nonmovant proposed judgment consistent with court's order.

○ Court may require parties to agree on proposed judgment to be submitted.

○ If parties cannot agree, court may require nonmovant to file and serve written opposition to proposed judgment.

Authority:
28 USC § 1291; Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(B), (d), 58, 79(a); Fed R App P 4(a)(7)(B)

Discussion:
See § 29.32[1]

☐ Court must state reasons for granting summary judgment somewhere in record if:

○ Underlying holdings would otherwise be ambiguous or unascertainable; or

○ Movant presents multiple grounds for summary judgment, and reasons for court's decision are not otherwise clear from record.

☐ Reviewing court may vacate summary judgment and remand for statement of reasons if movant presents multiple grounds for summary judgment, and reasons for court's decision are unclear.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 52(a)(3)

Discussion:
See § 29.32[2]

☐ Denial of summary judgment motion ordinarily is nonappealable interlocutory order.

☐ On denying summary judgment, court generally must issue order specifying facts appearing without substantial controversy to narrow issues for trial.

Authority:
28 USC § 1292; Fed R Civ P 56(d); ND Cal Civ LR 56-2

Discussion:
See § 29.33

29.26[2] CHECKLIST: Challenging Court's Determination of Motion for Summary Judgment in Trial Court.

☐ Consider renewing summary judgment motion despite initial denial by showing:

- ○ Different set of facts; or
- ○ Some other reason justifying renewal of motion, e.g.:
  - ☐ Intervening change in controlling law;
  - ☐ The availability of new evidence or an expanded factual record; or
  - ☐ The need to correct clear error or prevent manifest injustice.

Discussion:
See § 29.34[1]

☐ Consider seeking reconsideration of ruling on summary judgment motion under either:

- ○ Rule 59(e) (motion to alter or amend judgment); or
- ○ Rule 60(b) (motion seeking relief from final judgment, order, or proceeding); or
- ○ Both rules.

☐ Consult applicable local rules for additional requirements, including:

- ○ Requirement that parties obtain leave of court before filing motion for reconsideration.
- ○ Rules governing form and content of motions for leave to file motion for reconsideration.
- ○ Rules governing bases on which motions for reconsideration may be brought.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 56(g), 59(e), 60(b); Fed R App P 4; CD Cal Civ LR 7-18; ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(a), (b)

Discussion:

See § 29.34[2]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentHearingsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
V. COURT DETERMINATION OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.27

29.27 Options and Strategy.

Summary judgment procedure, an integral part of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, facilitates the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every action [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 327, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; TransWorld Airlines, Inc. v. American Coupon Exch., Inc. (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 676, 684 ; see Fed R Civ P 1]. For example, when the ultimate facts in dispute are destined for decision by the court rather than by a jury, the court and the parties should not go through the motions of a trial if the court will eventually decide the case on the same record [TransWorld Airlines, Inc. v. American Coupon Exch., Inc. (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 676, 684 ; Chevron USA, Inc. v. Cayetano (9th Cir 2000) 224 F3d 1030, 1038 n6 , cert. denied, 532 US 942 (2001)].

However, courts must not rush to dispose summarily of cases unless it is clear that more complete factual development could not possibly alter the outcome, and that the credibility of the witnesses statements or testimony is not at issue. This is of special concern in novel, complex, or otherwise difficult cases of public importance. Even when the expense of further proceedings is great and the moving party's case seems likely to succeed, speculation about the facts must not take the place of investigation, proof, and direct observation [TransWorld Airlines, Inc. v. American Coupon Exch., Inc. (9th Cir 1990) 913 F2d 676, 684-685 ; Chevron USA, Inc. v. Cayetano (9th Cir 2000) 224 F3d 1030, 1038 n6 , cert. denied, 532 US 942 (2001)].

Trial courts may hold a hearing on the summary judgment motion before determining the motion. However, courts are empowered to determine motions without an oral hearing [see Fed R Civ P 78, 83; see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-15]. In the absence of an objection or request for oral argument by the nonmoving party, oral argument may be waived [see Mahon v. Credit Bureau of Placer County Inc. (9th Cir 1999) 171 F3d 1197, 1200]. Though a district court may not preclude a party from requesting oral argument or deny a request for oral argument by a nonmovant unless the court denies the motion, a court's failure to grant a hearing on a summary judgment motion does not constitute reversible error absent a showing of prejudice [Partridge v. Reich (9th Cir 1998) 141 F3d 920, 926].

The key inquiry for the trial court in deciding a summary judgment motion is whether the case presents a genuine issue of material fact for trial [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2); Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 248-250, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202]. The court must grant summary judgment when, viewing the facts in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, there is no genuine issue of material fact, and the moving party is entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law [Arpin v. Santa Clara Valley Transp. Agency (9th Cir 2001) 261 F3d 912, 919 ;

see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2)]. In determining whether a given factual dispute requires submission to a jury so that summary judgment would be improper, the trial court must be guided by the substantive evidentiary standards applicable in the case [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 255, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202]. In ruling on a summary judgment motion, the court may only consider evidence that would be admissible at trial [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Supreme Court's 1986 "trilogy" of summary judgment decisions and the increased availability of summary judgment, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.03 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentHearingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentHearingsOral ArgumentsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentStandardsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
V. COURT DETERMINATION OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.28

29.28 Court May Hold Hearing on Motion.

29.28[1] Trial Court May Hold Oral Hearing Before Deciding Motion. The trial court may hold a hearing on the summary judgment motion before determining the motion. However, a hearing is not always required. Trial courts are empowered to issue local rules permitting determination of motions without oral hearing, on brief written statements of reasons in support and opposition [see Fed R Civ P 78, 83].

If the court does order a hearing on the motion, it may permit brief oral argument by counsel for the parties [see, e.g., ED Cal Civ LR 230(g) (party must notify court clerk if party believes extended oral argument of more than 10 minutes per side is required)]. During the hearing, the court may question counsel about the motion, opposition, briefs or memoranda, and the evidence supporting or opposing summary judgment.

Strategic Point:

During oral argument on the motion, rather than repeat facts or argument presented in the brief or memorandum, counsel should concentrate on highlighting the main points, and the evidence--or lack of evidence--in the record supporting those points, and on responding to the court's questions.

Counsel wishing to object to evidence relied on by the opposing party in making or opposing the motion may do so at the hearing on the motion [see, e.g., Strand v. General Elec. Co. (D Haw 1996) 945 F Supp 1334, 1342-1343 & n5]. If counsel has not filed and served written objections or a motion to strike the evidence prior to the hearing, failure to object at the hearing may result in waiver of the objections to the evidence [see FDIC v. New Hampshire Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1991) 953 F2d 478, 484 (waiver occurred when movant failed to object to evidence submitted in opposition to summary judgment motion until oral argument on appeal)].

Cross References:

Discussion of requesting oral argument on motion, see § 29.07[5]. Discussion of determination of motion without hearing, see § 29.28[3]. Discussion of hearings on motions generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial

Motion Practice, see § 26.53.

Discussion of hearings on summary judgment motion, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.15 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.28[2] Hearing May Include Taking Oral Testimony in Limited Circumstances. District courts have discretion to take oral testimony on a summary judgment motion under Fed R Civ P 43(c). However, courts must do so sparingly and with great care. In addition, taking oral testimony on a summary judgment motion may not lead to a finding on a genuinely disputed fact, but only to a determination as to which facts are not genuinely disputed [Thompson v. Mahre (9th Cir 1997) 110 F3d 716, 720 , cert. denied, 522 US 967 (1997)].

Local rules may impose additional constraints on oral testimony in connection with the court's determination of a summary judgment motion. For example, the Northern District provides that no oral testimony will be received in connection with any motion, unless otherwise ordered by the assigned judge [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-6].

29.28[3] Rule 56 Does Not Require Hearing Before Determination of Motion. Trial courts are empowered to issue local rules permitting determination of motions without oral hearing, on brief written statements of reasons in support and opposition [see Fed R Civ P 78, 83]. All California federal districts have promulgated local rules permitting trial courts to determine motions without oral argument [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-15; ED Cal Civ LR 230(g); ND Cal Civ LR 7-1(b); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d.1)]. Trial courts in these districts have discretion to decide whether oral argument would be of material assistance in deciding summary judgment motions, and to hold such hearings accordingly [see, e.g., UMG Recordings, Inc. v. Sinnott (ED Cal 2004) 300 F Supp2d 993, 996 n3 ; Nichols v. Unum Life Ins. Co. of Am. (ND Cal 2003) 287 F Supp2d 1088, 1089].

When a local rule permits the district court to order a summary judgment motion submitted without oral argument, in the absence of objection or request for oral argument, oral argument is waived [see Mahon v. Credit Bureau of Placer County Inc. (9th Cir 1999) 171 F3d 1197, 1200 (construing former ED Cal Civ LR 78-230(h) now ED Cal Civ LR 230(g))]. District courts also may provide by rule that a party desiring oral argument on a motion for summary judgment must request it, and that, in the absence of such a request, the court may deem oral argument waived [see Dredge Corp. v. Penny (9th Cir 1964) 338 F2d 456, 461-462 (construing former Fed R Civ P 56(c), Fed R Civ P 78, and Fed R Civ P 83); Mahon v. Credit Bureau of Placer County Inc. (9th Cir 1999) 171 F3d 1197, 1200]. However, even when waiver occurs, a district court may abuse its discretion if it refuses to hear oral argument when a party would suffer unfair prejudice as a result [Mahon v. Credit Bureau of Placer County Inc. (9th Cir 1999) 171 F3d 1197, 1200].

Cross References:

Discussion of requesting oral argument on motion, see § 29.07[5]. Discussion of hearings on motions generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.53.

29.28[4] District Court May Not Preclude Requests for Oral Argument or Deny Nonmovant's Request for Hearing Unless It Denies Motion. A district court may not, by rule or otherwise, preclude a party from requesting oral argument, nor may the court deny a request for oral argument by a party opposing the motion, unless the court denies the motion [Dredge Corp. v. Penny (9th Cir 1964) 338 F2d 456, 461-462 ; Jasinski v. Showboat Operating Co. (9th Cir 1981) 644 F2d 1277, 1280]. However, the scope of this holding is not absolute [Houston v. Bryan (9th Cir 1984) 725 F2d 516, 517]. Accordingly, though a trial court technically errs by not granting a nonmovant's request for oral argument before granting the summary judgment motion, the court's failure to grant an oral hearing on a summary judgment motion under such circumstances does not constitute reversible error absent a showing of prejudice [Partridge v. Reich (9th Cir 1998) 141 F3d 920, 926].

No prejudice results in refusing to grant oral argument if a party has an adequate opportunity to provide the trial court with evidence and a memorandum of law, because any error may be rectified by an appeal of the summary judgment [

Lake at Las Vegas Investors Group, Inc. v. Pacific Malibu Dev. Corp. (9th Cir 1991) 933 F2d 724, 729 , cert. denied, 503 US 920 (1992)]. Thus, a district court may decide a summary judgment motion without oral argument if the parties have the opportunity to submit their papers to the court [Partridge v. Reich (9th Cir 1998) 141 F3d 920, 926].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of hearings on motions generally, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.53.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentHearingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentHearingsOral ArgumentsEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsObjections & Offers of ProofObjectionsGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
V. COURT DETERMINATION OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.29

29.29 General Standards Governing Trial Court's Determination of Motion.

29.29[1] Court Must Properly Apply Burdens of Proof on Motion and at Trial.

29.29[1][a] Moving Party Bears Initial Burden of Proof, Which Varies Depending on Which Party Has Burden of Proof at Trial. The initial burden on summary judgment rests on the moving party to show the absence of any genuine issue of material fact [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 323, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265]. However, the showing required to meet that initial burden depends on which party has the burden of proof at trial. If the moving party does not have the burden of proof at trial, it carries its initial burden of proof on the motion either by (1) presenting evidence negating an essential element of the nonmoving party's claim, or (2) demonstrating that the nonmovant cannot meet its burden of proving an element of a claim or defense at trial [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 323, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; Nissan Fire & Marine Ins. Co. v. Fritz Cos. (9th Cir 2000) 210 F3d 1099, 1106].

In contrast, if the moving party bears the ultimate burden of proof at trial, that party must establish all the essential elements of his or her claim or defense to warrant summary judgment in its favor [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 323, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265 ; Hendrickson v. Amazon.Com, Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 298 F Supp2d 914, 915]. Thus, when the moving party has the burden of proof at trial--as does a plaintiff on a claim for relief, or the defendant on an affirmative defense--the moving party must make a showing sufficient for the court to hold that no reasonable trier of fact could find other than for the moving party [Center for Biological Diversity v. Abraham (ND Cal 2002) 218 F Supp2d 1143, 1153]. This means that the moving party must establish all the essential elements of the claim or defense to warrant judgment as a matter of law in that party's favor [Pecarovich v. Allstate Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2003) 272 F Supp2d 981, 985].

Example:

A defendant asserting an affirmative defense on a vicarious liability claim must establish all elements of that defense to prevail on its motion for summary judgment [see Hendrickson v. Amazon.com, Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 298 F Supp2d 914, 915].

For summary judgment to be granted, the moving party must meet its burden regardless of whether any opposition is filed [see Fed R Civ P 56(e); Atlantic Mut. Ins. Co. v. Yasutomi Warehousing & Distrib., Inc. (CD Cal 2004) 326 F Supp2d 1123, 1126].

29.29[1][b] If Movant Meets Initial Burden on Motion, Burden Shifts to Nonmovant to Present Specific Facts Showing Genuine Issue for Trial. If the moving party meets its initial burden, the nonmoving party must then set forth, by affidavit or as otherwise provided in Fed R Civ P 56(e), specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 250, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202 ; Bias v. Moynihan (9th Cir 2007) 508 F3d 1212, 1218 (to avoid summary judgment, non-moving party is "required to present significant, probative evidence tending to support h[is] allegations")]. If the nonmovant presents specific evidentiary facts, the court must determine if the evidence presented by the nonmovant raises genuine issues of material fact that must be determined at trial [*see Willis v. Ritter (SD Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 23905, at *17-18] . If the nonmovant fails to respond with specific facts showing a genuine issue for trial after adequate time for discovery, the court must grant the motion for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 56(e); Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 323, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265].

Cross References:

Discussion of genuine issue of material facts standard, see § 29.29[2].

Discussion of shifting of burden to nonmovant, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.13[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.29[2] Court Must Determine Whether Case Presents Genuine Issue of Material Fact for Trial. The key inquiry for the trial court in deciding a summary judgment motion is whether the case presents a genuine issue of material fact for trial [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2); Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 248-250, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202]. The court must grant summary judgment when, viewing the facts in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party (1) there is no genuine issue of material fact, and (2) the moving party is entitled to summary judgment as a matter of law [Arpin v. Santa Clara Valley Transp. Agency (9th Cir 2001) 261 F3d 912, 919 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2)]. However, summary judgment is not appropriate when, although the facts are undisputed, contradictory inferences may reasonably be drawn from those undisputed facts [Braxton-Secret v. A.H. Robins Co. (9th Cir 1985) 769 F2d 528, 531].

Distinguish:

The "genuine issue as to any material fact" standard required by Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2) applies in all actions. However, certain types of cases may present special issues for the court to consider. For example, summary judgment is rarely granted in negligence cases because the issue of whether the defendant acted reasonably is ordinarily a question for the trier of fact [Christensen v. Georgia-Pac. Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 279 F3d 807, 813]. Similarly, summary judgment is granted sparingly in complex antitrust cases, because they typically present factual issues such as the reasonableness of restraints, predatory price-fixing, motive, and intent [see Poller v. CBS (1962) 368 US 464, 473, 82 S Ct 486, 491, 7 L Ed2d 458 ; American Ad Mgmt., Inc. v. GTE Corp. (9th Cir 1996) 92 F3d 781, 788] and is generally disfavored in trademark disputes because of their intensely factual nature, particularly with respect to likelihood of confusion [KP Permanent Make-Up, Inc. v. Lasting Impression I, Inc. (9th Cir 2005) 408 F3d 596, 602, 608].

A dispute is "genuine" only if a jury applying the substantive law's evidentiary standard could reasonably find for either the plaintiff or the defendant [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 255, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202 ; River Colony Estates Gen. P'ship v. Bayview Fin. Trading Group, Inc. (SD Cal 2003) 287 F Supp2d 1213, 1220]. The mere existence of a scintilla of evidence in support of the nonmoving party's position is not sufficient [Arpin v. Santa Clara Valley Transp. Agency (9th Cir 2001) 261 F3d 912, 919]. When the record, taken as a whole, could not lead a rational trier of fact to find for the nonmoving party, there is no genuine issue for trial [Matsushita Elec. Indus.

Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp. (1986) 475 US 574, 586-587, 106 S Ct 1348, 89 L Ed2d 538 ; UMG Recordings, Inc. v. Sinnott (ED Cal 2004) 300 F Supp2d 993, 997].

A material issue of fact is a question that a jury must answer to determine the rights of the parties under the applicable substantive law [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 248, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202 ; River Colony Estates Gen. P'ship v. Bayview Fin. Trading Group, Inc. (SD Cal 2003) 287 F Supp2d 1213, 1220]. Only disputes over facts that may affect the outcome of the suit under governing law properly preclude entry of summary judgment [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 248, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202 ; Chevron USA, Inc. v. Cayetano (9th Cir 2000) 224 F3d 1030, 1039 , cert. denied, 532 US 942 (2001)]. Factual disputes that are irrelevant or unnecessary do not count in determining whether to grant the motion [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 248, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202].

Cross References:

Discussion of impact of substantive evidentiary standard in deciding motion, see § 29.29[3].

Discussion of "genuine issue as to any material fact" requirement, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.11 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.29[3] Applicable Substantive Law Defines Materiality of Fact Issues. In determining whether a given factual dispute requires submission to a jury so that summary judgment would be improper, the trial court must be guided by the substantive evidentiary standards applicable in the case [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 255, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202]. The inquiry involved in ruling on a motion for summary judgment necessarily implicates the substantive evidentiary standard of proof that would apply at the trial on the merits [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 252, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202]. Accordingly, the judge must decide whether a reasonable jury, measuring the evidence presented on the motion against the substantive evidentiary standard applicable at trial, could find for the nonmoving party [see Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 254, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202].

Examples:

If a defendant in a typical, preponderance-of-the-evidence civil case moves for summary judgment based on the lack of proof of a material fact, the judge must ask whether a reasonable jury could find by a preponderance of the evidence that the plaintiff is entitled to a verdict based on the evidence presented. In a case in which the First Amendment mandates a clear-and-convincing evidentiary standard, the trial judge must consider whether a reasonable factfinder could conclude, for example, that the plaintiff had shown actual malice with convincing clarity [see Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 252, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of "materiality," see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.11[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.29[4] Court May Only Consider Admissible Evidence in Ruling on a Motion for Summary Judgment. In ruling on a summary judgment motion, the court may consider the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with any affidavits in the case [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2)]. Courts also routinely consider other types of evidence obtained through discovery in ruling on summary judgment motions [see, e.g., Fraser v. Goodale (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1032, 1036 , cert. denied sub nom. United States Bancorp v. Fraser, 541 US 937 (2004) (trial court could properly consider diary attached to nonmoving party's deposition); Los Angeles News Serv. v. CBS Broad., Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 305 F3d 924, 935 , amended by 313 F3d 1093 (2002) (per curiam) (trial court could properly consider videotape in support of summary judgment motion)].

However, in ruling on the motion, the trial court may only consider admissible evidence [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA

(9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(e)]. The standards governing admissibility are those set forth in the Federal Rules of Evidence [Orr v. Bank of Am., NT & SA (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 764, 773 ; see also Fed R Evid 101 (Federal Rules of Evidence apply in all proceedings before United States courts)].

Nevertheless, at the summary judgment stage, the court does not focus on the admissibility of the form in which the evidence is presented. Instead, the court focuses on the admissibility of its contents. It is sufficient if the contents of the evidence would be admissible at trial, even if the form in which the evidence is offered may be inadmissible [Fraser v. Goodale (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1032, 1036 , cert. denied sub nom. United States Bancorp v. Fraser, 541 US 937 (2004)]. If the contents of the evidence could be presented in an admissible form at trial, the court may consider the contents of that evidence in determining the summary judgment motion [Fraser v. Goodale (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1032, 1037 , cert. denied sub nom. United States Bancorp v. Fraser, 541 US 937 (2004)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of evidence court may consider on summary judgment motions generally, see § 29.12.

29.29[5] Court Must View Evidence in Light Most Favorable to Nonmovant, and Must Draw Reasonable Inferences in Nonmovant's Favor.

29.29[5][a] Court Must View Evidence in Light Most Favorable to Nonmovant. In determining whether a case presents any questions of material fact under the applicable substantive law, the trial court must view the evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party [see Citizens for Better Forestry v. USDA (9th Cir 2003) 341 F3d 961, 969 (standard of appellate review of trial court's summary judgment determination is same as trial court's standard in determining motion)]. This requires the trial court to believe the evidence of the opposing party, and to draw all reasonable inferences that may be drawn from the facts before the court in favor of the opposing party [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 255, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202 ; UMG Recordings, Inc. v. Sinnott (ED Cal 2004) 300 F Supp2d 993, 997].

Accordingly, when considering a summary judgment motion, the judge does not weigh conflicting evidence with respect to a disputed material fact. Nor does the judge make credibility determinations with respect to statements made in affidavits, answers to interrogatories, admissions, or depositions. These determinations are within the province of the factfinder at trial [Dominguez-Curry v. Nevada Transp. Dep't (9th Cir 2005) 424 F3d 1027, 1035-1036 ; T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pacific Elec. Contractors Ass'n (9th Cir 1987) 809 F2d 626, 630].

If the nonmovant produces direct evidence of a material fact, the court may not assess the credibility of this evidence, nor weigh it against any conflicting evidence presented by the movant [T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pacific Elec. Contractors Ass'n (9th Cir 1987) 809 F2d 626, 631]. The nonmoving party's evidence must be taken as true. Even when direct evidence produced by the moving party conflicts with direct evidence produced by the nonmoving party, the judge must assume the truth of the nonmovant's evidence with respect to that fact [T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pacific Elec. Contractors Ass'n (9th Cir 1987) 809 F2d 626, 631 ; Leslie v. Grupo ICA (9th Cir 1999) 198 F3d 1152, 1158].

Distinguish:

A Rule 36 admission trumps conflicting evidence on a summary judgment motion [Cook v. Allstate Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2004) 337 F Supp2d 1206, 1214 (quoting Moore's)].

Cross References:

Further discussion of drawing reasonable inferences in favor of nonmovant, see § 29.29[5][b].

Discussion of judicial avoidance of factfinding and credibility determinations, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.11[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.29[5][b] Court Must Draw All Reasonable Inferences in Nonmovant's Favor. In ruling on a motion for summary judgment, the trial court must believe the nonmoving party's evidence, and must draw all reasonable inferences in the nonmovant's favor [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 255, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202]. In drawing inferences in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, the court may draw inferences from underlying facts not in dispute, such as background or contextual facts. The court may also draw inferences from underlying facts on which there is conflicting direct evidence, but on which the judge must assume may be resolved at trial in favor of the nonmoving party [T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pacific Elec. Contractors Ass'n (9th Cir 1987) 809 F2d 626, 631].

However, assuming the existence of the underlying facts, the court may not draw an inference as to another material fact in favor of the nonmoving party unless it is reasonable in view of other undisputed background or contextual facts. In addition, the court must not draw such inferences unless they are otherwise permissible under the governing substantive law. This inquiry ensures that a genuine issue of material fact exists for the factfinder to resolve at trial [T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pacific Elec. Contractors Ass'n (9th Cir 1987) 809 F2d 626, 632].

Consider:

If the motion is denied because material questions of fact remain, further discovery may resolve those issues [see, e.g., Okinawa Dugong v. Rumsfeld (ND Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 3123 (denying pre-discovery defense motion for summary judgment)].

Cross References:

Further discussion of witness credibility in ruling on summary judgment motions, see § 29.29[5][a].
Further discussion of fact finding in ruling on summary judgment motions, see § 29.29[5][b].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentBurdens of Production & ProofMovantsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentBurdens of Production & ProofNonmovants

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
V. COURT DETERMINATION OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.30

29.30 Court Must Review Cross-Motions for Summary Judgment Separately.

The mere fact that both parties file cross-motions for summary judgment does not necessarily mean there are no disputed issues of material fact. Nor does it necessarily permit the judge to render judgment in favor of one side or the other [Starsky v. Williams (9th Cir 1975) 512 F2d 109, 112 (citing Moore's ); Buckley v. Gomez (SD Cal 1997) 36 F Supp2d 1216, 1220 , aff'd mem., 168 F3d 498 (9th Cir 1999)]. In ruling on cross-motions for summary judgment, the court must evaluate each motion separately to determine if the nonmovant presents genuine issues of material fact for trial [see ACLU of Nev. v. City of Las Vegas (9th Cir 2003) 333 F3d 1092, 1097 , cert. denied, 540 US 1110 (2004) ; Buckley v. Gomez (SD Cal 1997) 36 F Supp2d 1216, 1220 , aff'd mem., 168 F3d 498 (9th Cir 1999)].

Consider:

If the parties filing cross-motions agree that all underlying material facts are reflected in the written record, the trial judge may decide factual issues and essentially convert the cross-motions for summary judgment into submission of the case for trial on the written record [see Chevron USA, Inc. v. Cayetano (9th Cir 2000) 224 F3d 1030, 1038 n6 , cert. denied, 532 US 942 (2001) ; Starsky v. Williams (9th Cir 1975) 512 F2d 109, 111 (suggesting circumstances were unique to case)]. However, such fact-finding is not appropriate on an undeveloped factual record [Chevron USA, Inc. v. Cayetano (9th Cir 2000) 224 F3d 1030, 1038 n6 , cert. denied, 532 US 942 (2001)]. Accordingly, the trial court should exercise great caution when considering converting cross-motions into submission of the case for trial on the written record. Parties who object to this procedure should make there objections clear. This conversion procedure is, in practice, very rare. It will work best when there is a single dispositive issue, such as the statute of limitations or the interpretation of a contract clause. Its also crucial that both sides concede that there are no material issues of fact that are disputed on the dispositive issue, and that adequate notice of the conversion has been given.

Even when a nonmovant does not file a cross-motion for summary judgment, the court may, at least theoretically, grant summary judgment for the nonmoving party sua sponte. This may happen only if it is apparent from the record that there is no genuine issue of material fact, that the moving party has had a full opportunity to ventilate the issue, and that the nonmovant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law [Stoll v. Runyon (9th Cir 1999) 165 F3d 1238, 1243, n1 ; Superior Eng'g & Elecs. Co. v. Sanders (9th Cir 1987) 833 F2d 823, 825]. The Ninth Circuit has taken a very strict view of when a district court has the ability to grant summary judgment sua sponte [see Verizon Del., Inc. v. Covad

Communs. Co. (9th Cir 2004) 377 F3d 1081, 1092 ("Before a court makes a sua sponte grant of summary judgment, 'a litigant must be given reasonable notice that the sufficiency of his or her claim will be in issue.' Buckingham v. United States (9th Cir 1993) 998 F2d 735, 742 . When the court dismissed Covad's counterclaims, Verizon had not yet responded to Covad's counterclaims. Nothing in the record suggests that Covad had reasonable notice that the sufficiency of its counterclaims would be in issue. The district court erred by entering a sua sponte grant of summary judgment on Covad's counterclaims")].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of cross-motions for summary judgment, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.10[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentCross-MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentStandardsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
V. COURT DETERMINATION OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.31

29.31 Court May Issue Order Granting Summary Adjudication.

29.31[1] Court May Grant Summary Adjudication on Portion of Case. A trial court may grant summary judgment on a part of an action rather than the action as a whole. The court may also grant a partial summary judgment while denying a summary judgment motion on the case as a whole [see Fed R Civ P 56(d)(1)]. Because such orders generally are not final judgments disposing of all the issues in the case, the phrase "partial summary judgment" is a misnomer [Lies v. Farrell Lines, Inc. (9th Cir 1981) 641 F2d 765, 769 n3 (citing Moore's ); Allstate Ins. Co. v. Madan (CD Cal 1995) 889 F Supp 374, 379]. Thus, courts often refer to such partial orders as "summary adjudications" [see, e.g., Kendall-Jackson Winery, Ltd. v. E. & J. Gallo Winery (9th Cir 1998) 150 F3d 1042, 1048-1049].

Cross References:

Discussion of procedure for trying remaining issues, see § 29.31[3]. Discussion of appealability of summary adjudication orders, see § 29.37[1][b]. Form of motion for summary adjudication, see § 29.41.

General discussion of summary adjudication, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.40 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.31[2] Areas in Which Summary Adjudication Is Available. A trial court may grant summary adjudication on:

- Issues representing less than the whole case [see Fed R Civ P 56(d)];
- The issue of liability alone, even when there is a genuine issue as to the amount of damages [Fed R Civ P 56(d)(2)]; or
- Less than the full relief requested [see Fed R Civ P 56(d)].

Despite the language of Fed R Civ P 56(a) and (b), there appears to be uncertainty in the Ninth Circuit on the question of whether a party may move for summary adjudication on less than a whole claim [see Watson Labs., Inc. v. Rhone-Poulenc Rorer, Inc. (CD Cal 2001) 178 F Supp2d 1099, 1122-1123 (recognizing conflict between districts); California Dep't of Toxic Substances Control v. Interstate Non-Ferrous Corp. (ED Cal 2003) 298 F Supp2d 930, 939 (though Fed R Civ P 56(c) allows interlocutory judgment on question of liability, Fed R Civ P 56(d) does not authorize entry of judgment on part of claim or granting of partial relief)]. It also appears that there is a split among the federal circuit courts on the question of whether a party may move for summary adjudication on less than a whole claim [compare, e.g., Barker v. Norman (5th Cir 1981) 651 F2d 1107, 1123 (summary judgment may be proper on some causes of action or issues in multi-cause or multi-issue case but not as to others) with SEC v. Thrasher (SDNY 2001) 152 F Supp2d 291, 295-296 (party is not entitled to partial summary judgment on nondispositive fact issues that are elements of claims rather than claims themselves; issue of liability is only nondeterminative issue that may be disposed of on summary judgment)].

Consider--Multi-Claim, Multi-Party Cases:

Even if summary adjudication is limited to entire claims, it still has a vital role in multi-claim cases. Furthermore, summary adjudication may deal with entire claims as to particular parties in multi-party cases. In these cases, courts will look to see distinct and separable claims that can be resolved without leading to duplicative efforts.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of summary adjudication in federal circuit courts of appeal, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.40[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.31[3] Cases Not Fully Adjudicated on Motion May Be Tried on Remaining Issues. In ruling on a summary judgment motion or a motion for summary adjudication, if the court does not render a judgment on the whole case or for all the relief requested, so that trial is necessary, the court may hold a hearing to ascertain which material facts exist without substantial controversy and which are actually controverted in good faith. At the hearing on the motion, the court must examine the pleadings and the evidence before it, and also may interrogate counsel [see Fed R Civ P 56(d)(1)].

Thereafter, the court must issue an order specifying the facts appearing without substantial controversy, including the extent to which damages or other relief is not in controversy. The order must deem facts so specified as established on trial of the action, and may direct any further proceedings in the action as just. The court must then conduct the trial accordingly [see Fed R Civ P 56(d)(1)].

29.31[4] Normally, Summary Adjudication May Not Be Appealed Immediately. In general, summary adjudications under Fed R Civ P 56 are interlocutory orders rather than final judgments. Thus, they typically are not appealable before entry of a final judgment in the case [Williamson v. UNUM Life Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir 1998) 160 F3d 1247, 1250 ; see 28 USC § 1291 (federal appellate courts have jurisdiction in appeals from all final decisions of district courts)]. However, there are exceptions [see, e.g., Southwest Marine, Inc. v. Danzig (9th Cir 2000) 217 F3d 1128, 1135 , cert. denied, 532 US 1007 (2001) (specific statute authorizes interlocutory appeal); California v. Campbell (9th Cir 1998) 138 F3d 772, 777 , cert. denied, 525 US 822 (1998) (decision is conclusive in that it resolves important questions separate from merits that are unreviewable on appeal from final judgment)].

There are two possible exceptions to the rule that summary adjudications are not appealable immediately:

- Separate Rule 54(b) Final Judgment. If the case involves multiple claims for relief or multiple parties, and if a summary adjudication fully disposes of a single claim or disposes of all claims as to one of several parties, the court has discretion to enter a separate final judgment on the summary adjudication. A court may direct the entry of a separate, final judgment as to one or more (but fewer than all) of the claims or parties, if the court expressly determines that there is "no just reason for delay." If the court does not make the express determination and if the court does not expressly direct entry of a separate, final judgment, the summary adjudication remains unappealable. The summary adjudication does not terminate the action as to any of the claims or parties, and is subject to revision at any time before entry of a final judgment that does resolve all all of the claims and the rights and liabilities of all of the parties [Fed R Civ P 54(b)].

Warning:

The Ninth Circuit has opined that in a routine case when the facts on all claims and issues entirely overlap and successive appeals are essentially inevitable, a district court should not enter a final judgment under Rule 54(b) on a summary adjudication: this will only lead to the duplication of proceedings and overall delay in the final disposition of the case [Wood v. GCC Bend, LLC (9th Cir 2005) 422 F3d 873, 883 (routine employment discrimination action)].

- Discretionary 1292(b) Interlocutory Appeal. A summary adjudication is like any other nonappealable interlocutory order. If the district judge who makes the ruling is of the opinion that: (1) the "order involves a controlling question of law as to which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion" and (2) an immediate appeal "may materially advance the ultimate termination of the litigation," the district judge may certify that opinion in writing. If the losing party who desires an immediate appeal of the summary adjudication obtains the written certification just described, he or she may apply to the appropriate United States Court of Appeals for permission to appeal. The application must be made within 10 days of the district court's order, and the Court of Appeals has discretion as to whether it will permit or refuse the appeal [28 USC § 1292(b)].

Cross References:

Further discussion of appealability of summary adjudication order, see § 29.37[1][b]. Discussion of separate Rule 54(b) final judgments for orders disposing of some claims or some parties, see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, § 54.10 et seq. (Matthew Bender 3d ed.). Discussion of discretionary interlocutory appeals under Section 1292(b), see 19 Moore's Federal Practice, § 203.30 et seq. (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewAppealabilityCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentPartial Summary Judgments

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
V. COURT DETERMINATION OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.32

29.32 Court Granting Summary Judgment Must Enter Separate Judgment.

29.32[1] Court Must Enter Judgment. A trial court's order granting a summary judgment motion is not a judgment. Only when the judgment is set forth in a separate document and properly entered on the civil docket by the court clerk is there an entry of judgment that tells the parties they may appeal [see Fed R Civ P 58, 79(a); Radio TV Espanola S.A. v. New World Entm't, Ltd. (9th Cir 1999) 183 F3d 922, 930]. The separate document requirement exists so the parties will know exactly when the judgment has been entered and when they must begin preparing post-verdict motions or an appeal [Casey v. Albertson's Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 362 F3d 1254, 1257-1258 , cert. denied, 543 US 870 (2004) ; but see Fed R App P 4(a)(7)(B) (failure to set forth judgment or order in separate document under Fed R Civ P 58(a) does not affect validity of appeal from that judgment or order)].

Consider:

Satisfaction of the "separate document rule" is not a prerequisite to appeal of an order granting summary judgment even when the court fails to enter a separate judgment [see Casey v. Albertson's Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 362 F3d 1254, 1258 , cert. denied, 543 US 870 (2004)]. A ruling is final for purposes of 28 USC § 1291 if it (1) is a full adjudication of the issues, and (2) clearly evidences the judge's intention that it be the court's final act in the matter. Moreover, parties may be deemed to waive the separate document requirement by not objecting to the taking of an appeal in the absence of a separate judgment [see Casey v. Albertson's Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 362 F3d 1254, 1258 , cert. denied, 543 US 870 (2004)].

Typically, a trial court granting summary judgment requires the moving party to submit to the court and to serve on the nonmovant a proposed judgment consistent with the court's order. The court may require the parties to agree on the proposed judgment to be submitted. If they cannot, the court may require that the nonmovant file and serve a written opposition to the proposed judgment within a certain date after the court signs the order. It may also require the movant to submit a reply after being served with the opposition [see, e.g., Gibson v. County of Riverside (CD Cal 2002) 181 F Supp2d 1057, 1099].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

Submit a proposed judgment to the court with the moving papers, or provide the court with the proposed judgment at the hearing on the motion. In addition, check with the court clerk to ensure that the judge has signed and entered a separate judgment in the action. If necessary, request that the court enter a separate judgment [see Fed R Civ P 58(d)].

Cross References:

Form of order granting summary judgment motion, see § 29.45. Appeal from grant of summary judgment, see § 29.37.

Further discussion of entry of judgment, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 58, Entry of Judgment (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.32[2] Court Is Not Required to Make Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law. In general, the district court need not make findings of fact and conclusions of law when deciding a summary judgment motion [Couveau v. American Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 218 F3d 1078, 1081 n3 (per curiam); see Fed R Civ P 52(a)]. However, when its underlying holdings would otherwise be ambiguous or unascertainable, the court does have the burden of stating its reasons for granting summary judgment somewhere in the record [Couveau v. American Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 218 F3d 1078, 1081 n3 (per curiam)]. Indeed, when a movant presents multiple grounds for summary judgment, and the reasons for the district court's decision are not otherwise clear from the record, a reviewing court may vacate a summary judgment and remand for a statement of reasons [Couveau v. American Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 218 F3d 1078, 1081 (per curiam)].

Consider:

If the case presents multiple grounds for summary judgment, or the reasons for the district court's decision may not be clear from the record, counsel should draft a proposed judgment or order that includes a concise statement of the reasons for granting summary judgment.

Cross Reference:

Form of order granting summary judgment motion, see § 29.45.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewAppealabilityCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
V. COURT DETERMINATION OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.33

29.33 Denial of Summary Judgment Motion Ordinarily Is Nonappealable Interlocutory Order.

Ordinarily, a trial court order denying a motion for summary judgment is interlocutory in nature. Such orders generally are not appealable until a final judgment is entered in the case [Demshki v. Monteith (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 986, 988].

Exception:

Courts do permit interlocutory appeals under limited circumstances, including interlocutory appeals permitted by statute [see, e.g., 28 USC § 1292], or when the court denies a motion for summary judgment or summary adjudication based on the defense of qualified immunity [see, e.g., Rodis v. City & County of San Francisco (9th Cir 2009) 558 F3d 964, 968] .

On denying summary judgment of the case as a whole, the court must, if practicable, issue an order specifying any facts that appear without substantial controversy, in order to narrow the issues for trial [see Fed R Civ P 56(d)]. Similarly, on denial of a motion for summary adjudication on particular claims or defenses, a party may request that the court find particular facts to be established without controversy [see Williams v. Sinclair (9th Cir 1975) 529 F2d 1383, 1390 , cert. denied, 426 US 936 (1976)]. The obligation imposed on the court to specify the uncontroverted material facts is technically compulsory [Department of Toxic Substances Control v. Interstate Non-Ferrous Corp. (ED Cal 2000) 99 F Supp2d 1123, 1125 ; see Fed R Civ P 56(d)]. However, a court may decline to do so if it finds the requirement impracticable [see Chiron Corp. v. Genentech, Inc. (ED Cal 2002) 268 F Supp2d 1139, 1148 n6 ; see also Department of Toxic Substances Control v. Interstate Non-Ferrous Corp. (ED Cal 2000) 99 F Supp2d 1123, 1125 (court may decline if it determines identifying indisputable facts would not materially expedite adjudicative process)].

Strategic Point:

If the court denies the motion for summary judgment, consider requesting that the court include such findings in its order. However, before doing so, the party requesting the findings must be certain that it knows enough at the summary judgment stage about all of the facts it wants and does not want established at trial.

Warning:

Local rules may provide that statements by the court in an order denying summary judgment or summary adjudication do not constitute issues deemed established for purposes of trial unless the court so specifies [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 56-2]. Counsel should therefore become familiar with the local rules in the relevant district, and should be prepared to request that the court explicitly state that it deems its statements to constitute issues deemed established for purposes of trial.

Cross References:

Discussion of appeal of court orders on motion for summary judgment or adjudication generally, see §§ 29.37 -29.39. Discussion of renewing motion for summary judgment, see § 29.34[1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewAppealabilityCivil ProcedureAppealsAppellate JurisdictionInterlocutory Orders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
V. COURT DETERMINATION OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.34

29.34 Parties May Challenge Ruling on Summary Judgment Motion in Trial Court.

29.34[1] Movant May Renew Summary Judgment Motion After Denial. An order denying summary judgment is an interlocutory decree [Nightlife Partners, Ltd. v. City of Beverly Hills (CD Cal 2004) 304 F Supp2d 1208, 1214-1215]. A denial is not res judicata or "law of the case" precluding renewal [Advanced Semiconductor Materials Am., Inc. v. Applied Materials, Inc. (ND Cal 1996) 922 F Supp 1439, 1442]. Accordingly, a moving party may renew a motion for summary judgment, notwithstanding denial of an earlier motion, by showing a different set of facts or some other reason justifying renewal of the motion [Advanced Semiconductor Materials Am., Inc. v. Applied Materials, Inc. (ND Cal 1996) 922 F Supp 1439, 1442 ; see Nightlife Partners, Ltd. v. City of Beverly Hills (CD Cal 2004) 304 F Supp2d 1208, 1214-1215].

A renewed or successive summary judgment motion is especially appropriate if one of the following grounds is present [Nightlife Partners, Ltd. v. City of Beverly Hills (CD Cal 2004) 304 F Supp2d 1208, 1215]:

- An intervening change in controlling law;
- The availability of new evidence or an expanded factual record; or
- The need to correct a clear error or prevent manifest injustice.

29.34[2] Either Party May Seek Reconsideration of Ruling on Summary Judgment Motion.

29.34[2][a] Party May Move for Reconsideration Under Rule 59(e) or Rule 60(b). A party may appropriately bring a motion for reconsideration of summary judgment under either Fed R Civ P 59(e) or 60(b) [Hinton v. NMI Pac. Enters. (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 391, 395 , cert. denied, 511 US 1083 (1994)]. A Rule 59(e) motion is a motion to alter or amend the judgment. A Rule 60(b) motion seeks relief from a final judgment, order, or proceeding [School Dist. No. 1J v. AC&S, Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 1255, 1262 , cert. denied, 512 US 1236 (1994)]. Generally, a post-order motion requesting a substantive change in an order, as opposed to a clerical change, is considered a Rule 59(e) motion, if filed within 28 days of entry. Otherwise it is considered a Rule 60(b) motion [Am. Ironworks & Erectors, Inc. v. N. Am. Constr. Corp. (9th Cir 2001) 248 F3d 892, 898-899 ; see, e.g., United States v. Moyer (ND Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist

LEXIS 63995, at *13-*14].

Consider:

A party seeking reconsideration may file a motion invoking both rules [see, e.g., Lolli v. County of Orange (9th Cir 2003) 351 F3d 410, 414]. Counsel should consider doing so if the facts support a motion to reconsider under both rules.

Warning:

Local rules impose additional requirements on motions for reconsideration. For example, the Northern District requires parties to obtain leave of court before filing a motion for reconsideration [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(a)], and has promulgated rules governing the form and content of motions for leave to file a motion for reconsideration [see ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(b)]. The Central District also has strict rules governing the bases on which motions for reconsideration may be brought [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-18]. Counsel must, therefore, become familiar with and adhere to the local rules in the district in which the case is filed.

Many counsel feel that a Rule 59 motion is a "red flag" to the court that one's reconsideration motion seeks extremely rare relief, and that a Rule 60 motion has a similar stigma. These counsel recommend that motions for reconsideration be based solely on the local rules governing such motions.

Cross References:

Discussion of Rule 59(e) motion, see § 29.34[2][b]. Discussion of Rule 60(b) motion, see § 29.34[2][c]. Discussion of time to file motion for reconsideration, see § 29.34[2][d].

Further discussion of Rule 59, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 59, New Trial; Altering or Amending a Judgment (Matthew Bender 3d ed.). Further discussion of Rule 60, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 60, Relief From a Judgment or Order (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.34[2][b] Rule 59(e) Motion Must Be Based on New Evidence, Clear Error, or Change in Law. A motion for reconsideration may be brought under Fed R Civ P 59(e) [Backlund v. Barnhart (9th Cir 1985) 778 F2d 1386, 1388]. However, Rule 59(e) offers an extraordinary remedy, to be used sparingly in the interests of finality and conservation of judicial resources [Carroll v. Nakatani (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 934, 945 (citing Moore's)]. Thus, a Rule 59(e) motion for reconsideration should not be granted absent the following highly unusual circumstances [see Duarte v. Bardales (9th Cir 2008) 526 F3d 563, 567] :

- The moving party presents the court with newly discovered evidence;
- The trial court committed clear error; or
- There is an intervening change in the controlling law.

Example:

The district court abused its discretion by entering final judgments and by refusing to vacate the final judgments under Fed R Civ P 59(e) and 60(b)(6), in a class action brought by participants in an employee stock ownership plan, because a genuine issue of material fact about whether defendants breached their fiduciary duty under ERISA precluded summary judgment [Pilkington v. Cardinal Health, Inc. (In re Syncor ERISA Litig.) (9th Cir 2008) 516 F3d 1095, 1102-1103] .

Accordingly, a Rule 59(e) motion may not be used to raise arguments or present evidence for the first time when they could reasonably have been raised earlier in the litigation [United Nat'l Ins. Co. v. Spectrum Worldwide, Inc. (9th Cir 2009) 555 F3d 772, 780-781] . The trial court may properly refuse to consider evidence that was available prior to the court's initial ruling on the summary judgment motion [see Novato Fire Prot. Dist. v. United States (9th Cir 1999) 181 F3d 1135, 1142, n6 , cert. denied, 529 US 1129 (2000)]. Moreover, a motion relying on the same facts or arguments relied on by an earlier motion denied by the court may be treated as a "bad faith" motion justifying an award of sanctions [see Fed R Civ P 56(g)].

Cross References:

Discussion of time to file motion for reconsideration, see § 29.34[2][d].

Complete discussion of Rule 59(e) motions for reconsideration generally, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 59, New Trial; Altering or Amending a Judgment (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.34[2][c] Rule 60(b) Motion Must Be Based on Mistake, Surprise, Excusable Neglect, New Evidence, Fraud, Void Judgment, or Other Reason Justifying Relief. A party may file a motion for reconsideration under Fed R Civ P 60(b). However, to obtain reconsideration under Rule 60(b), the moving party must show [Backlund v. Barnhart (9th Cir 1985) 778 F2d 1386, 1388 ; see Fed R Civ P 60(b)(1)-(6)]:

- Mistake, surprise, or excusable neglect;
- Newly discovered evidence;
- Fraud or other misconduct;
- A void judgment;
- A satisfied or discharged judgment; or
- Any other reason justifying relief from operation of judgment.

Relief under the "any other reason" provision of Rule 60(b)(6) may be granted only when extraordinary circumstances prevent a party from taking timely action to prevent or correct an erroneous judgment. Though the timeliness of a Rule 60(b)(6) motion depends on the facts of each case, a party seeking reconsideration on this basis generally may not obtain relief if the party has ignored normal legal recourses. Thus, a trial court normally will not grant Rule 60(b)(6) relief unless the moving party shows both injury and that circumstances beyond its control prevented timely action to protect its interests [United States v. Alpine Land & Reservoir Co. (9th Cir 1993) 984 F2d 1047, 1049 , cert. denied, 510 US 813 (1993)].

Example:

An attorney's gross negligence may constitute "extraordinary circumstances" sufficient to warrant relief under Rule 60(b)(6) [see Community Dental Servs. v. Tani (9th Cir 2002) 282 F3d 1164, 1169 (involving Rule 60(b)(6) motion for reconsideration of default judgment)].

Cross References:

Discussion of time to file motion for reconsideration, see § 29.34[2][d].

Complete discussion of Rule 60(b) motions for reconsideration generally, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 60, Relief from a Judgment or Order (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.34[2][d] Motion for Reconsideration Must Be Brought at Proper Time. To be timely, a Rule 59(e) motion for reconsideration must be filed within 28 days after entry of the judgment at issue [Feldman v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 322 F3d 660, 665 , cert. denied, 540 US 875 (2003) ; see Fed R Civ P 59(e)]. A Rule 60(b) motion to reconsider must be brought within a reasonable time. For motions brought based on mistake, newly discovered evidence, or fraud under Rule 60(b)(1)-(3), the motion must be made within a reasonable time, not to exceed one year after entry of judgment [see Fed R Civ P 60(b)].

In determining whether a motion brought under Rule 60(b)(4)-(6) is filed within a reasonable time, the court may consider factors such as the interest in finality, the reason for the delay, the practical ability of the litigant to learn earlier of the grounds relied on, and the prejudice to the parties [see Ashford v. Steuart (9th Cir 1981) 657 F2d 1053, 1055 (motion for reconsideration of denial of leave to proceed in forma pauperis)].

Distinguish:

Generally, a post-order motion requesting a substantive change in an order, as opposed to a clerical change, is considered a Rule 59(e) motion, if filed within 28 days of entry. Otherwise it is considered a Rule 60(b) motion [Am. Ironworks & Erectors, Inc. v. N. Am. Constr. Corp. (9th Cir 2001) 248 F3d 892, 898-899 ; see, e.g., United States v. Moyer (ND Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 63995, at *13-*14].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of effect on appeal of timely filing of motion for reconsideration, see § 29.34[2][e].

29.34[2][e] Timely Motion for Reconsideration May Toll Time for Appeal. A summary judgment cannot be disturbed after expiration of the 30-day time for appeal [see Fed R App P 4(a)(1)]. However, filing a timely motion for reconsideration under Rule 59(e) tolls the time for filing a notice of appeal until the district court rules on the motion [Feldman v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 322 F3d 660, 665 , cert. denied, 540 US 875 (2003) ; see Fed R App P 4(a)(4)(A)(iv)].

In contrast, a motion for reconsideration under Rule 60(b) does not affect the finality of a judgment or suspend its operation [see Fed R Civ P 60(b)]. Thus, filing a motion for reconsideration under Fed R Civ P 60(b) does not toll the 30-day period for filing an appeal [Backlund v. Barnhart (9th Cir 1985) 778 F2d 1386, 1388].

Distinguish:

A motion for reconsideration brought under both Fed R Civ P 59(e) and 60(b) does toll the 30-day period for appealing a summary judgment order [see Lolli v. County of Orange (9th Cir 2003) 351 F3d 410, 414 ; Fed R App P 4].

Cross References:

Discussion of time to file Rule 59(e) motions, see § 29.34[2][d].

Discussion of Rule 59(e) motions for reconsideration generally, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 59, New Trial; Altering or Amending a Judgment. Discussion of Rule 60(b) motions for reconsideration generally, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 60, Relief from a Judgment or Order (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.34[2][f] District Court May Consider Rule 60(b) Motion Despite Appeal. Timely notice of appeal generally will divest a court of jurisdiction over an action, including divesting the district court of the power to hear a Rule 60(b) motion [see Lewis v. Alexander (6th Cir 1993) 987 F2d 392, 394] .

Cross Reference:

Discussion of appellate jurisdiction generally, see 19 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 201, Appellate Jurisdiction in the Federal System (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

However, if a timely Rule 60(b) motion is made for relief that the district court lacks authority to grant because of an appeal that has been docketed and is pending, the district court may [Fed R Civ P 62.1(a)]:

- Defer consideration of the motion;
- Deny the motion; or
- State either that it would grant the motion if the court of appeals remands for that purpose, or that the motion raises a substantial issue.

If the district court states that it would grant the motion or that the motion raises a substantial issue, the movant must promptly notify the clerk of the court of appeals [Fed R Civ P 62.1(b); Fed R App P 12.1(a)]. In such a case, the court of appeals may remand for further proceedings, but it retains jurisdiction unless it expressly dismisses the appeal [Fed R App P 12.1(b)]. The district court may decide the motion if the court of appeals remands for that purpose [Fed R Civ P 62.1(b)]. If the court of appeals remands but retains jurisdiction, the parties must promptly notify the clerk of the court of appeals when the district court has decided the motion on remand [Fed R App P 12.1(b)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Rule 62.1 generally, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 60, Relief from a Judgment or Order, Ch. 62.1, Indicative Ruling on a Motion for Relief That is Barred by a Pending Appeal (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentStandardsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudgmentsRelief From JudgmentMotions to Alter & Amend

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VI. OBTAINING APPELLATE REVIEW

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.35

29.35 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Appellate Review of Grant or Denial of Summary Judgment.

☐ File notice of appeal from summary judgment as required by appellate rules.

○ Confirm that judgment is final and appellate court has jurisdiction over district court decision:

☐ Trial court must grant and enter judgment as required under federal rules; and ☐ Decision must dispose of all claims against all parties.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1291, 1292(a)(3), (b); Fed R Civ P 58, 79(a)

Discussion:
See § 29.37[1]

☐ Timely file notice of appeal to avoid waiver.

○ File notice of appeal with district clerk within 30 days after trial court enters judgment or order appealed from.

○ Confirm that:

☐ Trial court has set forth judgment in document separate from order granting motion; and ☐ Trial court clerk has properly entered judgment on civil docket.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 58(a), 59(e), 79(a); Fed R App P 4(a)(1)(A) , (4)(A)(iv) , (7)(B)

Discussion:
See § 29.37[2]

☐ Address request for appellate relief to appropriate standard of review, noting that:

○ Appellate court generally reviews summary judgment order de novo using same standard used by trial court.

○ Appellate court must determine, viewing evidence in light most favorable to nonmovant, whether:

☐ There are any genuine issues of material fact; and

☐ District court correctly applied relevant substantive law.

○ Appellate court may affirm grant of motion on any ground supported in record, including a ground not relied on by district court.

○ Appellate court reviews trial court's evidentiary rulings in summary judgment context for abuse of discretion.

○ Appellate court reviews trial court's rulings on motions for reconsideration on abuse of discretion standard.

☐ Appellate court may remand case if trial court fails to make reasons for granting summary judgment clear on record.

Authority:
Fed R Evid 103(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 29.38, 29.39

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate

ReviewAppealabilityCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureAppealsAppellate JurisdictionFinal Judgment Rule

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VI. OBTAINING APPELLATE REVIEW

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.36

29.36 Options and Strategy.

In general, federal courts of appeals have jurisdiction over appeals from all final decisions of the federal district courts [see 28 USC § 1291]. A trial court's grant of a summary judgment motion is a final decision for purposes of appeal once the trial court enters judgment as required by the federal rules, providing the judgment disposes of all claims against all parties [see 28 USC § 1291; Fed R Civ P 58, 79(a)]. Ordinarily, counsel must file a notice of appeal with the district clerk within 30 days after the trial court enters the summary judgment or order appealed from, or appeal is waived [see Fed R App P 4(a)(1)(A)].

Appellate review of trial court decisions on summary judgment is not deferential: Appeals courts typically review a grant of summary judgment de novo [Welles v. Turner Entertainment Co. (9th Cir 2007) 503 F3d 728, 733] . Viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, the appellate court determines whether there are any genuine issues of material fact and whether the district court correctly applied the relevant substantive law [San Jose Christian Coll. v. City of Morgan Hill (9th Cir 2004) 360 F3d 1024, 1029-1030]. An appeals court may affirm a grant of summary judgment on any ground supported by the record, even one not relied on by the district court [United States ex rel. Ali v. Daniel, Mann, Johnson & Mendenhall (9th Cir 2004) 355 F3d 1140, 1144].

In contrast to an order granting summary judgment, summary adjudication orders, orders granting partial summary judgment and generally are not appealable final orders [Williamson v. UNUM Life Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir 1998) 160 F3d 1247, 1250]. If all of the claims against one of several parties have been resolved by the courts order, or if a separable claim has been entirely disposed by the courts order, it is possible for the district court to enter a separate, appealable judgment for the affected claims or parties under Rule 54(b). The matter is totally in the discretion of the district court. The district court may expressly determine that "there is no just reason for delay" in entering a final judgment as to the affected claims or parties, and may expressly direct the entry of a separate final judgment as to these matters [Fed R Civ P 54(b)]. If the court does so, there will be a final judgment from which to appeal. If the court does not do so, appeal must wait until the final judgment in the case as a whole.

A party adversely impacted by a summary adjudication order may attempt to obtain review of the trial court's orders by voluntarily dismissing the remaining claims without prejudice. This is not advisable. Voluntarily dismissing the remaining claims without prejudice does not necessarily render the summary adjudication order appealable. If the appellate court finds evidence that a party is attempting to manipulate appellate jurisdiction by manufacturing finality, it may refuse to hear the case [see, e.g., Adonican v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir 2002) 297 F3d 1106, 1107].

In contrast to any order granting a summary judgment, an order denying a motion for summary judgment is completely interlocutory and not appealable [see Pacific Union Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists v. Marshall (1977) 434 US 1305, 1306, 98 S Ct 2, 54 L Ed2d 17]. Unlike a summary adjudication order that does completely dispose of some claims or all of the claims against some parties, there is no basis for the court to enter a separate Rule 54(b) final judgment in the case [see Fed R Civ P 54(b)]. An interlocutory order denying summary judgment might be the subject of a discretionary appeal, however. Any interlocutory order may be immediately appealable if the district court certifies that (1) "the order involves a controlling question of law as to which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion," and that (2) "an immediate appeal from the order may materially advance the ultimate termination of the litigation." If the certification is obtained, the losing party may apply to the court of appeals within 10 days of the order, and the court of appeals may, in its discretion, agree to hear the interlocutory appeal [28 USC § 1292(b)]. Furthermore, although it is highly unlikely in connection with most orders denying summary judgment, a party may attempt to secure an immediate appeal by invoking the "collateral order" doctrine. Appellate courts will entertain an appeal from an interlocutory order that conclusively determines an issue in the trial court if that order resolves an important question of law that is independent of the subject matter of the litigation and that is also effectively unreviewable on appeal [see, e.g., Demshki v. Monteith (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 986, 988].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewAppealabilityCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewStandards of ReviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentTime Limitations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VI. OBTAINING APPELLATE REVIEW

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.37

29.37 File Notice of Appeal From Summary Judgment As Required by Appellate Rules.

29.37[1] Appellate Court Must Have Jurisdiction Over District Court Decision.

29.37[1][a] Appellate Court Has Jurisdiction Over All Final Decisions of District Courts. In general, federal courts of appeals have jurisdiction of appeals from all final decisions of the federal district courts [see 28 USC § 1291]. For purposes of appellate jurisdiction, a final judgment is a decision by the district court that ends the litigation on the merits and leaves nothing for the court to do but execute the judgment [Williamson v. UNUM Life Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir 1998) 160 F3d 1247, 1250]. When a trial court grants a motion for summary judgment and enters judgment as required under the federal rules, the judgment is a final decision for purposes of appeal, providing it disposes of all claims against all parties [see 28 USC § 1291; Fed R Civ P 58, 79(a)].

In contrast, orders granting partial summary judgment generally are not appealable final orders because they do not dispose of all claims and do not end the litigation on the merits [Williamson v. UNUM Life Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir 1998) 160 F3d 1247, 1250]. Similarly, an order denying summary judgment generally is a nonappealable interlocutory decree [see Pacific Union Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists v. Marshall (1977) 434 US 1305, 1306, 98 S Ct 2, 54 L Ed2d 17 ; Nightlife Partners, Ltd. v. City of Beverly Hills (CD Cal 2004) 304 F Supp2d 1208, 1214-1215].

Cross References:

Discussion of appeal of summary adjudication, see § 29.37[1][b]. Discussion of appeal of order denying summary judgment, see § 29.37[1][c].

29.37[1][b] Summary Adjudication Generally Results in Nonappealable Interlocutory Order. Ordinarily, summary adjudications under Fed R Civ P 56 are interlocutory orders rather than final judgments. As such, they are not appealable before entry of a final judgment in the case [Williamson v. UNUM Life Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir 1998) 160 F3d 1247, 1250 ; see 28 USC § 1291 (federal appellate courts have jurisdiction in appeals from all final decisions of district courts)]. A final judgment is one that ends the litigation on the merits and leaves nothing for the court to do but execute the judgment [Catlin v. United States (1945) 324 US 229, 233, 65 S Ct 631, 89 L Ed 911 ; California v. Campbell (9th Cir 1998) 138 F3d 772, 776 , cert. denied, 525 US 822 (1998)].

Examples:

An order that determines liability but not damages is not a final decision, nor is an order adjudicating less than all claims [California v. Campbell (9th Cir 1998) 138 F3d 772, 776 , cert. denied, 525 US 822 (1998)].

Exceptions:

Interlocutory appeal of a summary adjudication order may be appropriate under special circumstances, including when:

- Separate Rule 54(b) final judgment entered. If the case involves multiple claims for relief or multiple parties, and if a summary adjudication fully disposes of a single claim or disposes of all claims as to one of several parties, the court has discretion to enter a separate final judgment on the summary adjudication. A court may direct the entry of a separate, final judgment as to one or more (but fewer than all) of the claims or parties if the court expressly determines that there is "no just reason for delay." If the court does not make the express determination and if the court does not expressly direct entry of a separate final judgment, the summary adjudication order remains unappealable. It does not terminate the action as to any of the claims or parties, and is subject to revision at any time before entry of a final judgment that does resolve all of the claims and the rights and liabilities of all of the parties [Fed R Civ P 54(b)].

- District judge certifies order for discretionary 1292(b) interlocutory appeal. A summary adjudication is like any other nonappealable interlocutory order. If the district judge who makes the ruling is of the opinion that: (1) the "order involves a controlling question of law as to which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion," and (2) an immediate appeal "may materially advance the ultimate termination of the litigation," the district judge may certify that opinion in writing. If the losing party who desires an immediate appeal of the summary adjudication obtains the written certification just described, he or she may apply to the appropriate United States Court of Appeals for permission to appeal. The application must be made within 10 days of the district court's order, and the Court of Appeals has discretion as to whether it will permit or refuse the appeal [28 USC § 1292(b)].

- Specific statute authorizes appeal. The losing party may bring an immediate interlocutory appeal of a summary adjudication order when a specific statute authorizes an interlocutory appeal [see, e.g., Southwest Marine, Inc. v. Danzig (9th Cir 2000) 217 F3d 1128, 1135 , cert. denied, 532 US 1007 (2001) (involving interlocutory appeal under 28 USC § 1292(a)(3))].

- Collateral order doctrine supports interlocutory appeal. The losing party may immediately appeal a summary adjudication order when the order conclusively resolves important questions: (1) that are separate from the merits, and (2) that are effectively unreviewable on appeal from a final judgment in the underlying action [Swint v. Chambers County Comm'n (1995) 514 US 35, 42, 115 S Ct 1203, 131 L Ed2d 60 ; California ex rel. Cal. Dep't of Toxic Substances Control v. Campbell (9th Cir 1998) 138 F3d 772, 777 , cert. denied, 525 US 822 (1998)].

Cross References:

Further discussion of appealability of summary adjudication order, see § 29.31[4].

Discussion of separate Rule 54(b) final judgments for orders disposing of some claims or some parties, see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, § 54.10 et seq. Discussion of discretionary interlocutory appeals under Section 1292(b), see 19 Moore's Federal Practice, § 203.30 et seq. (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Warning:

A party adversely impacted by a summary adjudication order does not necessarily render the order appealable by voluntarily dismissing the remaining claims without prejudice. Though dismissal without prejudice can be a final, appealable order, there must not be evidence that one or both of the parties attempted to manipulate appellate jurisdiction by artificially manufacturing finality [James v. Price Stern Sloan, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 283 F3d 1064, 1066 ; see, e.g., Adonican v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir 2002) 297 F3d 1106, 1107 (parties entered into agreement that plaintiff would voluntarily dismiss her remaining claims after order granting partial summary judgment, but would have option to re-file dismissed claims within 30 days after appellate court decision on partial summary judgment)].

29.37[1][c] Order Denying Summary Judgment Generally Is Not Final Appealable Order. Parties may not appeal district court orders before the entry of a final judgment [California ex rel. Cal. Dep't of Toxic Substances Control v. Campbell (9th Cir 1998) 138 F3d 784, 786 , cert. denied, 525 US 874 (1998) ; see 28 USC § 1291]. Thus, a litigant generally may not appeal an interlocutory order denying summary judgment [Demshki v. Monteith (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 986, 988 ; see 28 USC § 1291].

However, an order denying a summary judgment motion may be immediately appealable if the district court certifies that the order involves a controlling question of law as to which there is substantial ground for difference of opinion, and that an immediate appeal may materially advance the ultimate termination of the litigation [see 28 USC § 1292(b)]. In addition, appellate courts will entertain an appeal from an interlocutory order that (1) conclusively determines the issue in the trial court, (2) resolves an important question independent of the subject matter of the litigation, and (3) is effectively unreviewable on appeal from a final judgment [Demshki v. Monteith (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 986, 988].

Examples:

An interlocutory order denying summary judgment on the basis of Eleventh Amendment immunity has been held reviewable, since the central benefit of Eleventh Amendment--the right not to stand trial--is effectively lost if the case erroneously proceeds to trial [Demshki v. Monteith (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 986, 988]. Similarly, denial of a defendant's motion for summary judgment on the grounds of qualified immunity is reviewable to the extent the order turns on an issue of law [Mitchell v. Forsyth (1985) 472 US 511, 527, 105 S Ct 2806, 86 L Ed2d 411 ; Kennedy v. City of Ridgefield (9th Cir 2006) 439 F3d 1055, 1060].

29.37[1][d] Order Denying Summary Judgment May Be Reviewed After Trial on Merits If District Court Would Have Been Required to Grant Motion But for Error of Law. While generally appellate review of the denial of a summary judgment motion is not available after a full trial on the merits, that general rule does not apply when the district court made an error of law in denying the motion and, if that error had not been made, the district court would have been required to grant the motion [Banuelos v. Constr. Laborers' Trust Funds for S. Cal. (9th Cir 2004) 382 F3d 897, 902 ; Pavon v. Swift Transp. Co., Inc. (9th Cir 1999) 192 F3d 902, 906].

29.37[2] Timely File Notice of Appeal to Avoid Waiver. In general, a notice of appeal must be filed with the district clerk within 30 days after the trial court enters the judgment or order appealed from [Fed R App P 4(a)(1)(A)]. After expiration of the 30-day time for appeal, a summary judgment cannot be disturbed [see Fed R App P 4(a)(1)].

Exceptions:

Filing a timely motion for reconsideration under Fed R Civ P 59(e) tolls the time for filing a notice of appeal on a grant of summary judgment until the district court rules on the motion for reconsideration [Feldman v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 322 F3d 660, 665 , cert. denied, 540 US 875 (2003) ; see Fed R App P 4(a)(4)(A)(iv)]. However, filing a premature post-judgment motion under Fed R Civ P 59 does not accelerate the deadline for a notice of appeal before a separate judgment has been entered [see ABF Capital Corp. v. Osley (9th Cir 2005) 414 F3d 1061, 1064-1065].

The district court may extend the time to file a notice of appeal for up to 30 days if the motion is made within 30 days after the time for appeal has expired and the moving party shows excusable neglect or good cause [Fed R App P 4(a)(5)]; see Mendez v. Knowles (9th Cir 2009) 556 F3d 757, 764-767 (habeas petitioner was entitled to extension on grounds of excusable neglect; petitioner acted in good faith, delay was only one day, and respondent conceded it would not be prejudiced)].

For purposes of filing a timely notice of appeal, a trial court enters judgment on an order granting a summary judgment when [Radio TV Espanola S.A. v. New World Entm't, Ltd. (9th Cir 1999) 183 F3d 922, 930 ; see Fed R Civ P 58, 79(a)]:

- The court has set forth the judgment in a document separate from the order granting the motion; and
- The court clerk has properly entered the judgment on the civil docket.

However, a trial court's failure to set forth a judgment or order in a separate document under Fed R Civ P 58(a) does not affect the validity of an appeal from that judgment or order [see Fed R App P 4(a)(7)(B)]. Satisfaction of the "separate document rule" is not a prerequisite to appeal of an order granting summary judgment [see Casey v. Albertson's Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 362 F3d 1254, 1258 , cert. denied, 543 US 870 (2004)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of motions for reconsideration, see § 29.34[2].

29.37[3] Party May Not Raise New Issues on Appeal to Obtain Reversal of Trial Court's Summary Judgment Determination. The parties may not raise new issues on appeal to secure a reversal of a lower court's summary judgment determination. Issues not raised by the parties for initial consideration by the trial court are waived [see BankAmerica Pension Plan v. McMath (9th Cir 2000) 206 F3d 821, 825 , cert. denied sub nom. McMath v. Montgomery, 531 US 952 (2000)]. Similarly, a party may not revisit on appeal theories that it raised but abandoned at summary judgment in the district court [USA Petroleum Co. v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (9th Cir 1994) 13 F3d 1276, 1284].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewAppealabilityCivil ProcedureAppealsAppellate JurisdictionFinal Judgment Rule

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VI. OBTAINING APPELLATE REVIEW

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.38

29.38 Appellate Review of Summary Judgment Determination Is Not Deferential.

29.38[1] Appellate Court Reviews Summary Judgment Order De Novo Using Same Standard Used by Trial Court. In general, appellate courts review a grant of summary judgment de novo, using the same standard applied by the trial court. The appellate court must determine, viewing the evidence in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party, whether there are any genuine issues of material fact and whether the district court correctly applied the relevant substantive law [San Jose Christian Coll. v. City of Morgan Hill (9th Cir 2004) 360 F3d 1024, 1029-1030].

De novo review means the court must consider the matter anew, as if it had not been heard before, and as if no decision previously had been rendered. However, the only issues before the court for review are questions of law [see Ness v. Commissioner (9th Cir 1992) 954 F2d 1495, 1497 (nonsummary judgment case)].

Exception:

In some instances, the appeals court must apply a different standard in reviewing a trial court's determination of a summary judgment motion. For example, when the trial court has granted summary judgment on the basis of a laches defense, the appeals court reviews the trial court's application of the laches doctrine to the facts for abuse of discretion, while it reviews other aspects of the district court's decision, such as whether the trial court inappropriately resolved any disputed material facts in reaching its decision, under the de novo standard that traditionally governs summary judgment review [In re Beaty (9th Cir 2002) 306 F3d 914, 921].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of appellate court's standard of review for summary judgment order, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.41[3][a] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.38[2] Appellate Court Must Determine If There Are Genuine Issues of Material Fact and Whether District Court Correctly Applied Relevant Substantive Law. In reviewing the trial court's decision, the appeals court must determine whether there are any genuine issues of material fact, and whether the district court correctly applied the relevant substantive law [Universal Health Servs., Inc. v. Thompson (9th Cir 2004) 363 F3d 1013, 1019]. In making this determination, the appeals court must not weigh the evidence or determine the truth of the matter. Rather, the court must only determine whether the case presents a genuine issue for trial [Southern Cal. Painters & Allied Trade Dist. Council No. 36 v. Best Interiors, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 359 F3d 1127, 1130].

Cross References:

Further discussion of meaning of genuine issues of material fact, see § 29.29[2]. Discussion of importance of applicable substantive law, see § 29.29[3].

29.38[3] Appellate Court May Affirm Grant of Motion on Any Ground Supported in Record. The appellate court may affirm a grant of summary judgment on any ground supported by the record, including a ground not relied on by the district court [United States ex rel. Ali v. Daniel, Mann, Johnson & Mendenhall (9th Cir 2004) 355 F3d 1140, 1145]. Thus, in reviewing an order granting summary judgment, an appeals court is not limited to a consideration of the grounds on which the district court decided the issue. If the district court's order can be sustained on any ground supported by the record that was before the district court at the time of the ruling, the appellate court is obliged to affirm the district court [Jewel Cos., Inc. v. Pay Less Drug Stores Northwest, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 1555, 1564-1565].

Cross Reference:

11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.41[3][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.38[4] Appellate Court Reviews Trial Court's Evidentiary Rulings in Summary Judgment Context for Abuse of Discretion. A trial court's evidentiary rulings in determining a summary judgment motion are reviewed for abuse of discretion [General Elec. Co. v. Joiner (1997) 522 US 136, 142, 118 S Ct 512, 139 L Ed2d 508 ; Sea-Land Serv., Inc. v. Lozen Int'l, LLC. (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 808, 813]. The fact that a trial court's ruling on admissibility of evidence is "outcome determinative" for purposes of granting summary judgment does not compel a finding that the trial court's ruling should be subjected to a more searching standard of review [General Elec. Co. v. Joiner (1997) 522 US 136, 143, 118 S Ct 512, 139 L Ed2d 508]. Even when a district court has abused its discretion, reversal is appropriate only when the court's error is prejudicial [Sea-Land Serv., Inc. v. Lozen Int'l, LLC. (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 808, 813 ; see Fed R Evid 103(a)].

Cross Reference:

11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.41[3][d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

29.38[5] Appellate Court Reviews Trial Court's Rulings on Motions to Reconsider on Abuse of Discretion Standard. An appeals court reviews for abuse of discretion a district court's denial of a motion to reconsider an order granting summary judgment [School Dist. No. 1J v. AC&S, Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 1255, 1262 , cert. denied, 512 US 1236 (1994) ; Leslie v. Grupo ICA (9th Cir 1999) 198 F3d 1152, 1157].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewStandards of ReviewCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewDe Novo Review

176 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VI. OBTAINING APPELLATE REVIEW

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.39

29.39 Appellate Court May Remand Case If Trial Court Fails to Make Reasons for Granting Summary Judgment Clear on Record.

When a movant presents multiple grounds for summary judgment, and the reasons for the district court's decision are not otherwise clear from the record, a reviewing court may vacate a summary judgment and remand for a statement of reasons [Couveau v. American Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 218 F3d 1078, 1081 (per curiam)].

Cross Reference:

11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.41[3][e] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentAppellate ReviewGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAppealsRemands

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VII. FORMS
A. By Moving Party

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.40

29.40 Notice of Motion and Motion for Summary Judgment.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Summary Judgment.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)	DEFENDANT'S NOTICE OF MOTION AND MO-
_____ [name],	)	TION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT
Defendant	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, in Room _____ of the United States Court House, located at _____ [address], Defendant _____ [name], through counsel, will and does request that this Court grant Defendant's motion for summary judgment dismissing _____ [specify, e.g., all counts of the Plaintiff's Complaint].

Defendant files this motion for summary judgment pursuant to _____ [authority, e.g., Federal Rules of Civil Procedure 56(b)], on the ground that: _____ [specify bases for summary judgment]. Accordingly, the Plaintiff's case presents no genuine issue as to any material fact. Summary judgment is warranted as a matter of law.

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, _____ [specify evidence and other material submitted in support of motion] and any other matters Defendant may present to this Court at the hearing on this motion.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 11, 56

Discussion:
See § 29.05, 29.07

Timing:
See § 29.13

Format Requirements:

See § 29.07[6]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentNotices

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VII. FORMS
A. By Moving Party

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.41

29.41 Notice of Motion and Motion for Summary Adjudication.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Summary Adjudication.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)	PLAINTIFF'S NOTICE OF MOTION
vs.	)	AND MOTION FOR SUMMARY
_____ [name],	)	ADJUDICATION
Defendant	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____
	)

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date], at _____ [time], or as soon thereafter as counsel can be heard, in Room _____ of the United States Court House, located at _____ [address], Plaintiff _____ [name], through counsel, will and does request that this Court grant Plaintiff's motion for summary adjudication on _____ [specify portion of case on which movant seeks summary adjudication].

Plaintiff files this motion for summary adjudication pursuant to _____ [specify authority, e.g., Federal Rules of Civil Procedure Rule 56(a) and Central District of California Civil Local Rule 56-1], on the ground that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact, and that Plaintiff is entitled to summary adjudication as a matter of law, in that: _____ [specify bases for summary adjudication].

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

Plaintiff's motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, _____ [specify evidence and other material submitted in support of motion, e.g., the pleadings and other papers filed in this action, the Plaintiff's Memorandum of Points and Authorities, the attached declarations of John Smith and Jean Smith, the proposed Statement of Uncontroverted Facts and Conclusions of law, the May 21, 2004 deposition of Defendant Mary Jones, and any others matters that Plaintiff may present to the Court at the time of the hearing on this motion.]
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 11, 56(a), (d)

Discussion:
See § 29.05[5], 29.07

Format Requirements:
See § 29.07[6]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentWritten MotionsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentNotices

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VII. FORMS
A. By Moving Party

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.42

29.42 Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Motion for Summary Judgment.

Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Motion for Summary Judgment.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORIT-
_____ [name],	)	IES IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY
Defendant	)	JUDGMENT
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
		Courtroom No. _____

I. INTRODUCTION

[Describe background of case and summarize reasons why summary judgment is appropriate.]

II. STATEMENT OF FACTS

[Set forth concise statement of facts relevant to motion.]

III. ARGUMENT

[Set forth argument in support of summary judgment, with cites to relevant authority.]

IV. CONCLUSION

[Summarize argument and requested relief.]

Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56(a); CD Cal Civ LR 7-5(a); ED Cal Civ LR 230(b); ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(4), 7-4

Discussion:
See § 29.08

Format Requirements:
See § 29.08[3]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsMemoranda of Law

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VII. FORMS
A. By Moving Party

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.43

29.43 Statement of Undisputed or Uncontroverted Facts.

Statement of Undisputed or Uncontroverted Facts.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	NO. _____
Plaintiff	)	DEFENDANT'S (PROPOSED)
vs.	)	STATEMENT OF _____
_____ [name],	)	[UNCONTROVERTED FACTS AND CONCLU-
Defendant	)	SIONS OF LAW OR SPECIFY TITLE REQUIRED
	)	UNDER LOCAL RULES]
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
		Courtroom No. _____

After considering the papers supporting and opposing Defendant's motion for summary judgment, and the oral argument of counsel, the Court determines that the following facts have been established as uncontroverted:

_____ [UNCONTROVERTED or UNDISPUTED] FACTS

[Set forth undisputed facts in separately numbered paragraphs or in dual column format, with citation to record where facts may be found by page and line number when possible.]

Based on the above _____ [Uncontroverted or Undisputed] Facts, the Court makes the following conclusions of law:

CONCLUSIONS OF LAW

[Set forth legal conclusions in separately numbered paragraphs, with citation to authority as necessary.]

Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56(a); ED Cal Civ LR 260(a); but see ND Cal Civ LR 56-1

Discussion:
See § 29.09

Format Requirements:
See § 29.09[3]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VII. FORMS
A. By Moving Party

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.44

29.44 Affidavit in Support of Motion for Summary Judgment.

Affidavit in Support of Motion for Summary Judgment.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	_____ [AFFIANT'S]
_____ [name],	)	AFFIDAVIT IN SUPPORT OF Defendant	)	DEFENDANT'S MOTION FOR
	)	SUMMARY JUDGMENT
	)

_____ [Name of affiant], being duly sworn, deposes and states:

1. I am _____ [set forth facts showing affiant's capacity to testify about matters set forth].

2. I have personal knowledge of the matters stated in this affidavit as a result of _____ [describe basis for affiant's personal knowledge of facts in affidavit].

3. _____ [Set forth factual matters to which affiant has personal knowledge as relevant to motion for summary judgment in separately numbered paragraphs as necessary].

_____ [signature of affiant]

_____ [typed name of affiant]

Sworn to and subscribed before me on _____ [date].

_____

Notary Public

My commission expires _____ [date].

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1746; Fed R Civ P 56(e)(1); CD Cal Civ LR 7-6, 7-7; ED Cal Gen LR 101; ED Cal Civ LR 260(a); SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.2.a)

Discussion:
See § 29.11

Format Requirements:
See § 29.11[9]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsAffidavits

182 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VII. FORMS
A. By Moving Party

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.45

29.45 Proposed Order Granting Motion for Summary Judgment.

Proposed Order Granting Motion for Summary Judgment.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	_____ [MOVANT'S] PROPOSED
_____ [name],	)	ORDER GRANTING SUMMARY
Defendant	)	_____ [JUDGMENT OR ADJU-
	)	DICATION]
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
		Time of Hearing: _____
		Courtroom No. _____

This is a _____ [type of action, e.g., suit for damage to real property] brought by Plaintiff _____ [name] against Defendant _____ [name]. Defendant moves the Court for summary _____ [judgment or adjudication] pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 56. The Court reviewed the moving and the opposition papers _____ [add, if applicable: and, on _____ (date), held a hearing on the motion]. Based on the submissions and the arguments, Defendant's motion for summary _____ [judgment or adjudication] is GRANTED.

I. PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

[Set forth procedural background of action as relevant to motion in separate, numbered paragraphs, with cites to record as necessary.]

II. LEGAL STANDARD

[Set forth applicable legal standard, e.g.:]

The Court renders summary judgment if the pleadings, depositions, answers to interrogatories, and admissions on file, together with the affidavits, if any, show that there is no genuine issue as to any material fact and that the moving party is entitled to a judgment as a matter of law [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(2)]. A fact is "material" if, according to the underlying substantive law, it is relevant to an element of a claim or a defense and its existence might affect the outcome of the suit [T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pacific Elec. Contractors Ass'n (9th Cir 1987) 809 F2d 626, 630].

The moving party bears the initial burden of establishing that there is no genuine issue of material fact [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 323, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265]. The burden on the moving party may be discharged by pointing out to the district court that there is an absence of evidence to support the nonmoving party's case [Celotex Corp. v. Catrett (1986) 477 US 317, 325, 106 S Ct 2548, 91 L Ed2d 265]. If the moving party has properly supported its motion, the burden shifts to the nonmoving party, who may not rest on the mere allegations plead. Rather, the nonmoving party must set forth specific facts showing that there is a genuine issue for trial [Fed R Civ P 56(e)], proffering more than a mere scintilla of evidence [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 251, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202], and showing more than some metaphysical doubt as to the material facts [Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co. v. Zenith Radio Corp. (1986) 475 US 574, 586, 106 S Ct 1348, 89 L Ed2d 538].

There is no issue for trial unless sufficient evidence in favor of the nonmoving party would allow a jury to return a verdict for that party. If the evidence is merely colorable or is not significantly probative, the court may grant summary judgment [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 249-250, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202]. The court's ultimate inquiry is whether a rational, reasonable jury might return a verdict in the nonmoving party's favor based on the specific facts set forth combined with the undisputed, background, and contextual facts [T.W. Elec. Serv., Inc. v. Pacific Elec. Contractors Ass'n (9th Cir 1987) 809 F2d 626, 631].

The Court does not make findings of fact at this stage. The inquiry performed is the threshold inquiry of determining whether there is the need for a trial; in other words, whether there are any genuine factual issues that properly can be resolved only by a finder of fact because they may reasonably be resolved in favor of either party [Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc. (1986) 477 US 242, 250, 106 S Ct 2505, 91 L Ed2d 202] Consequently, the Court draws all inferences in the light most favorable to the nonmoving party and presumes that the nonmoving party's evidence is true. If the nonmoving party adduces direct evidence of a fact, the Court does not weigh it against the moving party's conflicting evidence, but rather submits it to the trier of fact for resolution [Eisenberg v. Insurance Co. of N. Am. (9th Cir 1987) 815 F2d 1285, 1289]. Conversely, on summary judgment the Court decides pure questions of law, such as the interpretation of an unambiguous contract [City of Santa Clara v. Watkins (9th Cir 1993) 984 F2d 1008, 1012 , cert. denied sub nom. City of Palo Alto v. O'Leary, 510 US 1041 (1994)].

III. ANALYSIS

[Apply legal standards to facts in case, with each issue treated in separately-numbered paragraphs.]

IV. CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above, Plaintiff's motion for summary _____ [judgment or adjudication] is GRANTED.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
Dated: _____

.....
.....

_____

U.S. DISTRICT COURT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56; CD Cal Civ LR 56-1, 56-4; ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(c)

Discussion:
See § 29.10

Format Requirements:
See § 29.10[3]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.46

29.46 Affidavit in Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.

Affidavit in Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	_____ [AFFIANT'S]
_____ [name],	)	AFFIDAVIT IN OPPOSITION TO
Defendant	)	MOTION FOR
	)	SUMMARY JUDGMENT
	)

_____ [Name of affiant], being duly sworn, deposes and states:

1. I am _____ [set forth facts showing affiant's capacity to testify about matters set forth].

2. I have personal knowledge of the matters stated in this affidavit as a result of _____ [describe basis for affiant's personal knowledge of facts in affidavit].

3. _____ [Set forth factual matters to which affiant has personal knowledge as relevant to motion for summary judgment in separately numbered paragraphs as necessary].

_____

[Signature of affiant]

[Typed name of affiant]

Sworn to and subscribed before me on _____ [date].

_____

Notary Public

My commission expires _____ [date].

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1746; Fed R Civ P 56(e)

Discussion:
See § 29.17[3]

Timing:
See § 29.20[4]

Format Requirements:
See § 29.11[9]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionSupporting Materials

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VII. FORMS
B. By Nonmoving Party

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.47

29.47 Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.

Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	MEMORANDUM OF POINTS AND AUTHORITIES IN OPPOSITION TO MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
		Courtroom No. _____

I. INTRODUCTION

[Describe background of case and summarize reasons why summary judgment is inappropriate.]

II. STATEMENT OF FACTS

[Set forth concise statement of facts relevant to motion and opposition.]

III. ARGUMENT

[Set forth argument in opposition to summary judgment, with cites to relevant authority.]

IV. CONCLUSION

[Summarize argument opposing summary judgment and set forth relief requested.]

Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56; CD Cal Civ LR 7-9; ND Cal Civ LR 7-4

Discussion:
See § 29.16[6]

Format Requirements:
See § 29.08[3]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionMemoranda in Opposition

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.48

29.48 Statement of Genuine Issues or Controverted or Disputed Facts.

Statement of Genuine Issues or Controverted or Disputed Facts.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	_____ [NONMOVANT'S] STATE-
_____ [name],	)	MENT OF _____ [GENUINE IS-
Defendant	)	SUES OR DISPUTED FACTS OR CONTROVER-
	)	TED FACTS]
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
		Time of Hearing: _____
		Courtroom No. _____

Pursuant to Local Civil Rule _____, _____ [nonmovant] submits this Statement of _____ [Genuine Issues or Disputed Facts or Controverted Facts] in response to _____ [movant's] Statement of _____ [Genuine Issues or Undisputed Facts or Uncontroverted Facts] filed on _____ [date].

RESPONSES

_____ [Nonmovant] responds to the respective numbered paragraphs of _____ [movant's] Statement of _____ [Genuine Issues or Undisputed Facts or Uncontroverted Facts] as follows:

[Set forth nonmovant's response to each paragraph in movant's statement, e.g.,]

1. Undisputed.

2. Disputed. _____ [Nonmovant] oversaw and directed all leasing activities from _____ [his or her] office at _____ [address]. See _____ [name of evidence], Page _____, Line _____.

3. Undisputed.

4. Disputed to the extent that _____ [specify]. _____ [Deponent's] Deposition, Page _____, Line _____.

5. Admitted to the extent that _____ [specify]. _____ [Declarant's] Declaration of _____ [date], Page _____, Paragraph _____. Disputed to the extent that _____ [specify]. _____ [Affiant's] Affidavit, Page _____, Paragraph _____.

[Continue as necessary.]

_____ [NONMOVANT'S] STATEMENT OF ADDITIONAL MATERIAL FACTS

[Set forth nonmovant's statement of additional disputed facts in separately numbered paragraphs, with cites to record.]

Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56; CD Cal Civ LR 56-2, 56-4; ED Cal Civ LR 260(b); ND Cal Civ LR 56-1

Discussion:
See § 29.16[5]

Format Requirements:
See § 29.09[3]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionSupporting Materials

186 of 186 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
VII. FORMS
B. By Nonmoving Party

4-29 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 29.49

29.49 Proposed Order Denying Motion for Summary Judgment.

Proposed Order Denying Motion for Summary Judgment.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	NO. _____
vs.	)	_____ [NONMOVANT'S] PROPOSED ORDER DENYING SUMMARY
_____ [name],	)	_____ [JUDGMENT OR ADJUDICATION]
Defendant	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

This is a _____ [type of action, e.g., suit for damage to real property] brought by Plaintiff _____ [name] against Defendant _____ [name]. Defendant moves the Court for summary _____ [judgment or adjudication] pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 56. The Court reviewed the moving and the opposition papers _____ [add, if applicable: and, on _____ (date), held a hearing on the motion]. Based on the submissions and the arguments,

Defendant's motion for summary _____ [judgment or adjudication] is DENIED.

I. PROCEDURAL BACKGROUND

[Set forth procedural background of action as relevant to motion and opposition in separate, numbered paragraphs, with cites to record as necessary.]

II. LEGAL STANDARD

[Legal standards applicable to case, see 29.45]

III. ANALYSIS

[Apply legal standards to facts in case, with each issue treated in separately-numbered paragraphs.]

IV. CONCLUSION

For the reasons set forth above, Defendant's motion for summary _____ [judgment or adjudication] is DENIED.

IT IS SO ORDERED.
Dated: _____.

_____

U.S. DISTRICT COURT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b), 56

Discussion:
See § 29.16[7]

Format Requirements:
See § 29.10[3]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionSupporting Materials

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.syn

§ 30.syn Synopsis to Chapter 30: Voluntary Dismissal

30.01 Scope.

30.02 Objective and Strategy.

30.03 CHECKLISTS.

30.03[1] CHECKLIST: Obtaining Voluntary Dismissal by Filing Notice of Dismissal.

30.03[2] CHECKLIST: Obtaining Voluntary Dismissal by Filing Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal.

30.04 Options and Strategies for Voluntarily Dismissing Action Without Court Order.

30.05 Voluntary Dismissal by Notice of Dismissal or Stipulation.

30.06 Plaintiff's Right to Dismiss Voluntarily Is Absolute.

30.07 Plaintiff May Dismiss Action Against Some or All Defendants.

30.08 Dismissal Is Without Prejudice Unless Otherwise Stated; "Two Dismissal Rule."

30.09 Rule 41 Applies to Counterclaim, Crossclaim, or Third-Party Claim.

30.10 Notice of Voluntary Dismissal.

30.10[1] Filing, Not Merely Service, Is Required.

30.10[2] When to File Notice of Dismissal.

30.11 Effect of Voluntary Dismissal.

30.11[1] Dismissal Is Effective on Filing.

30.11[2] Court Loses Discretion to Act.

30.11[3] Filing Automatically Terminates Action Without Prejudice As to Defendants Who Are Subject of Notice.

30.12 Drafting Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal.

30.12[1] When to Use Stipulation.

30.12[2] Content, Execution of Stipulation.

30.12[3] Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal Must Be Filed.

30.12[4] Stipulation Connected to Settlement May Incorporate Settlement Terms.

30.13 Appellate Review Following Notice of Dismissal.

30.13[1] Parties May Appeal Final Decisions.

30.13[2] Voluntary Dismissal Without Prejudice Is Ordinarily Not Final Judgment.

30.13[3] Whether Dismissal Is Final Appealable Judgment Depends on Its Effect.

30.13[4] Plaintiff May Usually Appeal From Voluntary Dismissal With Prejudice.

30.14 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Voluntary Dismissal by Court Order.

30.15 Options and Strategies for Voluntarily Dismissing Action When Dismissal by Notice or Stipulation Is Unavailable.

30.16 Court May Order Payment of Costs of Previously Dismissed Action.

30.17 Court Order for Dismissal Is Required If Dismissal by Notice or Stipulation Is Unavailable.

30.18 Terms and Conditions of Dismissal.

30.18[1] Court May Order Dismissal on Terms and Conditions Proper or Necessary to Avoid Prejudice.

30.18[2] Recovery of Costs As Condition of Dismissal.

30.19 If Counterclaim Is Pleaded Prior to Service of Motion to Dismiss, Defendant May Object to Dismissal of Action Pending Adjudication of Counterclaim.

30.20 Dismissal Pursuant to Court Order Is Without Prejudice Unless Otherwise Specified.

30.21 Rule 41 Applies to Counterclaim, Crossclaim, or Third-Party Claim.

30.22 Motion for Voluntary Dismissal.

30.22[1] Motion Is Addressed to Court's Sound Discretion.

30.22[2] Motion Should Be Granted Unless Defendant Will Suffer Some Plain Legal Prejudice.

30.22[3] Factors for Determining Existence of Legal Prejudice.

30.22[4] Factors Not Creating Plain Legal Prejudice.

30.23 Court May Order Payment of Costs of Previously Dismissed Action.

30.24 Court May Not Circumvent Limitation Regarding Request for Jury Trial Under Rule 39 by Dismissing Case Under Rule 41(a)(2).

30.25 Review of Order for Voluntary Dismissal.

30.26 Order on Motion for Voluntary Dismissal Is Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.

30.27 Notice of Voluntary Dismissal.

30.28 Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal.

30.29 Notice of Motion and Motion for Voluntary Dismissal.

30.30 Order of Dismissal.

30.31 Local District Court Forms.

2 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
I. STRATEGY

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.01

30.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Notice of voluntary dismissal without court order [see 30.05, 30.13; Form: 30.27].
- Stipulation of voluntary dismissal without court order [see 30.05, 30.09, 30.12, 30.13; Form: 30.28].
- Motion for voluntary dismissal by court order [see 30.17 -30.26; Forms: 30.29, 30.30].

Core Rule:
Fed R Civ P 41.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsStipulations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
I. STRATEGY

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.02

30.02 Objective and Strategy.

Voluntary dismissal is appropriate when, for a variety of reasons including strategic or tactical reasons, a plaintiff wants to dismiss his or her claim or claims, or wants to dismiss a party or parties from the action. Because voluntary dismissal is without prejudice, a plaintiff may choose to voluntarily dismiss when wishing to replead a claim in a different forum. In addition, voluntary dismissal prevents an adjudication on the merits, and thus the plaintiff avoids the possibility of an adverse result and being bound by that result in future cases under the doctrine of res judicata. Voluntary dismissal is also appropriate if the parties have settled the claim or claims.

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

8 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 41, Dismissal of Actions (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 41, Dismissal of Actions (Matthew Bender).

Cross Reference:

For tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication, at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesDismissals Without PrejudiceCivil ProcedureJudgmentsPreclusion & Effect of JudgmentsGeneral Overview

4 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.03

30.03 CHECKLISTS.

30.03[1] CHECKLIST: Obtaining Voluntary Dismissal by Filing Notice of Dismissal.

☐ Determine whether plaintiff wishes to dismiss claim, in light of consequences of dismissal.

☐ Confirm that plaintiff has not dismissed action based on or including same claim in any court on prior occasion.

☐ File notice of dismissal with the clerk before:

- ○ Defendant serves an answer or motion for summary judgment.
- ○ Service of a responsive pleading to a counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party claim or, if no responsive pleading will be filed, before introduction of evidence at the trial or a hearing.

☐ Include in notice of voluntary dismissal a statement that:

- ○ The claimant dismisses the action or party.
- ○ The dismissal is without prejudice, unless there is reason to dismiss with prejudice.

☐ Serve a copy of the notice of voluntary dismissal on all parties.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)

Discussion:
See §§ 30.05 -30.11, 30.15, 30.16

Form:
See § 30.27

30.03[2] CHECKLIST: Obtaining Voluntary Dismissal by Filing Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal.

☐ File a stipulation of voluntary dismissal, signed by all parties appearing in the action, with the court clerk.

☐ Include in the stipulation:

- ○ A statement that the parties stipulate to a voluntary dismissal of the action or party.
- ○ A statement that the dismissal is without prejudice, unless there is a valid reason to dismiss with prejudice.
- ○ Incorporation of the settlement terms, if the dismissal is in conjunction with a settlement.
- ○ Provisions concerning costs, fees, or other conditions.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41

Discussion:
See §§ 30.05, 30.09, 30.12 -30.16

Form:
See § 30.28

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesDismissals Without Prejudice

5 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.04

30.04 Options and Strategies for Voluntarily Dismissing Action Without Court Order.

A party may voluntary dismiss an action without prejudice for a variety of reasons, including:

- To correct defects that could harm the plaintiff's action. For example, a party may wish to gather more evidence to support the claims, or redraft the pleadings before filing.

- To forum shop in order to defeat or preserve federal diversity jurisdiction, or to sue in a forum where the laws are more advantageous to plaintiff.

- For strategic purposes. For example, a party may want to delay discovery or a trial, refile the complaint to include a jury demand, or eliminate a defendant to facilitate settlement.

- A plaintiff who fears that he or she may be at risk for Rule 11 sanctions or a suit for abuse of process or malicious prosecution may want to voluntarily dismiss the case.

A party may also want to seek a voluntary dismissal with prejudice when:

- The case lacks merit.

- The plaintiff is unable to pursue litigation for financial or other reasons.

- The defendant is judgment-proof.

Cross Reference:

Reasons for dismissing action, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.11. Purposes and uses of voluntary dismissal, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 41.10 -41.13. Methods of voluntary dismissal, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 41.20, 41.21. Voluntary dismissals without court order, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 41.30 -41.34 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesDismissals Without Prejudice

6 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.05

30.05 Voluntary Dismissal by Notice of Dismissal or Stipulation.

Subject to the provisions of Fed R Civ P 23(e), 23.1(c), 23.2, and 66, and any statute of the United States, a plaintiff may dismiss an action without order of court by filing [Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)(A)]:

- A notice of dismissal at any time before service by the adverse party of an answer or a motion for summary judgment, whichever first occurs; or

- A stipulation of dismissal signed by all parties who have appeared in the action.

Certain actions, such as class actions, may not be dismissed without court approval. For further discussion of these actions, see 30.15.

The provisions of Fed R Civ P 41 control over inconsistent state law [see Harvey's Wagon Wheel, Inc. v. Van Blitter (9th Cir 1992) 959 F2d 153, 155].

Cross References:

When to file notice of dismissal, see § 30.11[1]. Absolute nature of dismissal right, see § 30.06. Notice of dismissal, see § 30.10.

Rule controls over inconsistent state law, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.02 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesDismissals Without PrejudiceCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsStipulations

7 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.06

30.06 Plaintiff's Right to Dismiss Voluntarily Is Absolute.

The plaintiff's right to file a notice of dismissal is absolute only when the defendant has not yet served an answer or a summary judgment motion. Once the plaintiff files the voluntary dismissal, the defendant has no recourse and the court lacks jurisdiction to act in any manner [see Commercial Space Mgmt. Co. v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 1999) 193 F3d 1074, 1078-1080].

Warning:

A plaintiff's right to file a notice of dismissal is absolute when the defendant has not yet served an answer or a summary judgment motion. It is important to keep in mind that when Rule 12(b)(6) motions to dismiss are supported by materials that are outside the pleadings, the court will treat the motion to dismiss as a motion for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)]. Therefore, until the court converts the motion from a motion to dismiss to a motion for summary judgment, a plaintiff may still file a notice of dismissal pursuant to Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1) [see Swedberg v. Marotzke (9th Cir 2003) 339 F3d 1139, 1146].

Cross Reference:

Absolute nature of voluntary dismissal right, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.33[2]. For a discussion of motions to dismiss that are converted to summary judgment motions, see 2 Moore's Federal Practice, § 12.34[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesDismissals Without Prejudice

8 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.07

30.07 Plaintiff May Dismiss Action Against Some or All Defendants.

Rule 41(a)(1) provides that "the plaintiff may dismiss an action," but does not provide that fewer than all claims or all defendants may be dismissed. However, the plaintiff may choose to dismiss some or all of the defendants through a Rule 41(a)(1) notice [Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1); see Wilson v. City of San Jose (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 688, 692 ; Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1506 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

While Rule 41(a)(1) allows the dismissal of all claims against any one or more defendants, the plaintiff cannot use Rule 41(a)(1) to voluntarily withdraw individual claims against a defendant remaining in the case. Withdrawals of individual claims against a defendant remaining in the case are governed by Rule 15 [see General Signal Corp. v. MCI Telecomms. Corp. (9th Cir 1995) 66 F3d 1500, 1513 ; Ethridge v. Harbor House Rest. (9th Cir 1988) 861 F2d 1389, 1392].

Cross Reference:

For discussion of amending pleadings under Rule 15, see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesDismissals Without Prejudice

9 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.08

30.08 Dismissal Is Without Prejudice Unless Otherwise Stated; "Two Dismissal Rule."

Unless otherwise stated in the notice of dismissal or stipulation, the dismissal is without prejudice, except that a notice of dismissal operates as an adjudication on the merits when filed by a plaintiff who has once dismissed in any court of the United States or of any state an action based on or including the same claim [Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)(B); see, e.g., Lake at Las Vegas Investors Group, Inc. v. Pacific Malibu Dev. Corp. (9th Cir 1991) 933 F2d 724, 726-728]. This "two dismissal rule" means that a notice of dismissal operates as an adjudication on the merits if the plaintiff has previously dismissed an action based on or including the same claim [Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)].

Thus, unless otherwise stated, the dismissal is ordinarily without prejudice to the plaintiff's right to commence another action for the same cause against the same defendants [Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1506 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

Distinguish:

The "two dismissal rule" rule applies only to notices of voluntary dismissal, not to stipulations of voluntary dismissal [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)(A)] and not to dismissals by court order under Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2) [see Estate of Migliaccio v. Midland Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2006) 436 F Supp2d 1095, 1101-1103 (citing Moore's)].

The preclusive effect of the second dismissal, if any, is for determination in a subsequently filed action that implicates the "two dismissal" rule [Commercial Space Mgmt. Co. v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 1999) 193 F3d 1074, 1079-1080]. This holding is based on the absolute right of the plaintiff to dismiss an action and the absence of any remaining court role once the dismissal notice is filed [see Commercial Space Mgmt. Co. v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 1999) 193 F3d 1074, 1078-1080].

Claims twice dismissed by a plaintiff may be barred under the "two dismissal rule" even if the defendants named in the third action were not named in the earlier actions; the defendants need only be "substantially the same" as those against whom claims were twice dismissed in order to claim benefit of Rule 41(a) res judicata [see Abreu v. Ramirez (CD Cal 2003) 284 F Supp2d 1250, 1255].

Cross References:

Detailed discussion of "two dismissal rule," see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.33[7] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Plaintiff's absolute right of dismissal, see § 30.06.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesDismissals Without PrejudiceCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesTwo-Dismissal RuleCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsStipulations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.09

30.09 Rule 41 Applies to Counterclaim, Crossclaim, or Third-Party Claim.

The provisions of Fed R Civ P 41 apply to the dismissal of any counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party claim [Fed R Civ P 41(c)].

A voluntary dismissal by the claimant alone must be made before a responsive pleading is served or, if there is none, before the introduction of evidence at the trial or hearing [Fed R Civ P 41(c)].

Cross References:

Form of notice of dismissal of counterclaim, see 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 41:60 (Matthew Bender).

Dismissals regarding counterclaims, crossclaims, and third-party claims, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.60 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsImpleaderCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.10

30.10 Notice of Voluntary Dismissal.

30.10[1] Filing, Not Merely Service, Is Required. A plaintiff must file a notice of dismissal for the dismissal to be effective. Mere service is not sufficient [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)(A); Wilson v. City of San Jose (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 688, 693]. Service is also unnecessary. Notice to the defendants is not required to effectuate the dismissal [see Diamond v. United States (5th Cir 1959) 267 F2d 23, 25 , cert. denied, 361 US 834 (1959) ; see also Wilson v. City of San Jose (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 688, 692 n5 (requirement to "serve" notice of dismissal was changed to "file" in 1948)]. However, it makes sense to serve defendants as a common courtesy.

If the defendant has been served with the complaint, the plaintiff should serve the defendant with a notice of voluntary dismissal. Although service is not required to effectuate the dismissal, Rule 5(a) requires that once a party has been served, any paper filed in court must be served on that party [Fed R Civ P 5(a)]. Service may also avoid a collateral motion by the defendant for costs, attorney's fees, or other relief for the plaintiff's failure to serve a notice of dismissal if those costs or fees could have been avoided.

30.10[2] When to File Notice of Dismissal. The plaintiff enjoys an absolute right to file a notice of dismissal at any time before the defendant has served an answer or a motion for summary judgment, whichever comes first [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)(A)(i); see also Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1506 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

Distinguish:

To dismiss the action, the plaintiff must file a notice of dismissal with the court before the defendant serves an answer or motion for summary judgment [Wilson v. City of San Jose (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 688, 692]. By serving an answer or summary judgment motion, the defendant extinguishes the plaintiff's right to dismiss; the mere filing of the answer or summary judgment motion does not prevent the plaintiff from dismissing [see Lockary v. Kayfetz (9th Cir 1990) 917 F2d 1150, 1157 ; see also Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1386 (motion to dismiss under Fed R Civ P 12 is not answer or, unless accompanied by proper affidavits, motion for summary judgment)].

Similarly, a claimant who has asserted a counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party claim may file a notice of dismissal at any time before a responsive pleading is served, or, if there is no responsive pleading, at any time before the introduction of evidence at the trial or hearing [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1), (c)].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff and Defendant:

If a case is transferred prior to the service of an answer or motion for summary judgment by the defendant, the plaintiff should file a notice of dismissal in the transferor court before the case is filed in the transferee court. During the time between entry of the transfer order and the receipt of the case file in the transferee court, the transferor court remains the forum in which pleadings may be filed. If the rule were otherwise, a plaintiff would have no forum in which to file a notice of dismissal between the time that the transfer order is entered and the date on which the papers are received by the transferor court. Conversely, during this same time, a defendant could foreclose the plaintiff from dismissing the action simply by serving an answer [see Wilson v. City of San Jose (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 688, 692-694].

Cross References:

Absolute nature of right to dismiss, see § 30.06.

Discussion of procedure for notice of dismissal, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.33[5]. Discussion of dismissal of counterclaims, crossclaims, and third-party claims, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.60 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

A plaintiff who wishes to dismiss an action after the defendant has answered or moved for summary judgment must seek a court order [Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2)].

Cross Reference:

Voluntary dismissal by court order, see § 30.14 et seq.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.11

30.11 Effect of Voluntary Dismissal.

30.11[1] Dismissal Is Effective on Filing. A dismissal by the plaintiff without court order is effective on filing. No court order is required [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1); Commercial Space Mgmt. Co. v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 1999) 193 F3d 1074, 1077 ; Wilson v. City of San Jose (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 688, 692]. The voluntary dismissal is self-executing, meaning that it is effective at the moment the notice is filed with the clerk [Commercial Space Mgmt. Co. v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 1999) 193 F3d 1074, 1077 n4].

30.11[2] Court Loses Discretion to Act. The proper filing of a notice to dismiss an action leaves no role for the court to play [Commercial Space Mgmt. Co. v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 1999) 193 F3d 1074, 1077 ; American Soccer Co. v. Score Am. First (9th Cir 1999) 187 F3d 1108, 1110]. The court therefore has no discretion to exercise once a Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1) dismissal is filed [Commercial Space Mgmt. Co. v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 1999) 193 F3d 1074, 1077].

Exception:

The court retains jurisdiction over collateral matters, such as sanctions and attorney's fees [see, e.g., Cooter & Gell v. Hartmarx Corp. (1990) 496 US 384, 396, 110 S Ct 2447, 110 L Ed2d 359 ; Greenberg v. Sala (9th Cir 1987) 822 F2d 882, 885 ; Frances Kenny Family Trust v. World Sav. Bank FSB (ND Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 2403 (joint and several award against plaintiffs and their attorney of $77,000 in fees and costs after entry of judgment)].

Cross Reference:

Detailed discussion of effect of filing notice of dismissal, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.33[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

30.11[3] Filing Automatically Terminates Action Without Prejudice As to Defendants Who Are Subject of Notice. Filing a notice of voluntary dismissal automatically terminates the action as to the defendants who are the subjects of the notice. Unless otherwise stated, the plaintiff may commence another action for the same cause against the same defendants. The dismissal leaves the parties as though no action had been brought [Wilson v. City of San Jose (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 688, 692 ; Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1506 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.12

30.12 Drafting Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal.

30.12[1] When to Use Stipulation. A plaintiff may use a stipulation of voluntary dismissal in several situations. It is most commonly used in connection with a settlement. It is also used when the plaintiff cannot dismiss by a mere notice, and the defendants are willing to stipulate to dismissal. Finally, it is used when the time for filing a notice of dismissal has lapsed. For example, either the defendant has filed an answer or motion for summary judgment, or--with respect to a counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party claim--a responsive pleading has been served, or evidence has already been introduced at the trial or hearing. Unlike a notice to dismiss under subdivision (i) of Rule 41(a)(1), parties may stipulate to dismiss an action under subdivision (ii) at any time [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)(A)(ii)]. A stipulation of dismissal must be signed by all plaintiffs and all defendants who have appeared in the action [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)(A)(ii)].

Cross Reference:

Time to file notice of dismissal, see § 30.10[2].

30.12[2] Content, Execution of Stipulation. A stipulation of dismissal must be signed by all parties who have appeared in the action [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)(A)(ii)]. It must also state unequivocally that the parties have agreed to a dismissal [see Vuitton et Fils, S.A., v. J. Young Enters., Inc. (9th Cir 1979) 609 F2d 1335, 1337 (in case of ambiguity, court should solicit clarification from parties)].

Consider:

In multi-party litigation, the parties may stipulate to dismiss some, but fewer than all, of the defendants [McNamara v. Edwards (9th Cir 1993) 1993 US App LEXIS 27233, at *1-*2 (unpublished opinion; generally not citable to court under 9th Cir R 36-3)]. Note that a stipulation that purports to dismiss the entire action without the consent of all parties may be deemed ineffective [Alholm v. American Steamship Co. (D Minn. 1996) 167 FRD 75, 79]. In that case, if one or more defendants refuse to stipulate to dismissal, the plaintiff should resort to a motion to dismiss.

A stipulation for dismissal should recite whether it is with or without prejudice, and whether the parties are to bear their own costs and attorney's fees, unless there is no agreement on the issue [see Intermedics, Inc. v. Ventritex, Inc. (ND Cal 1991) 775 F Supp 1269, 1288-1290]

Cross References:

Form and content of stipulation, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.34[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).
Effect of stipulation, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.34[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

30.12[3] Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal Must Be Filed. A stipulation of dismissal is not self-executing, meaning that the stipulation must be filed with the court in order to effectuate the dismissal.

Exception:

An oral stipulation in open court may effectuate the dismissal [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)(A)(ii); see also Coleman v. Barnhart (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 20480, at *14 n2 (stating that although the parties' dismissal stipulation was signed by the parties and not the judge, the stipulation "had the legal force of a voluntary dismissal without the signature of a judge")].

Cross Reference:

Procedure for dismissal by stipulation, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.34[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

30.12[4] Stipulation Connected to Settlement May Incorporate Settlement Terms. A district court has no power to enforce a settlement agreement that is only stated in the record and recited in a stipulation and order of dismissal executed by the parties and the court. Unless the terms of the settlement are terms of the court order itself, or unless the order expressly provides that the court retains jurisdiction over the settlement agreement, the court does not have jurisdiction to enforce the settlement. Although the parties may stipulate to the court's reserving jurisdiction, the district court must issue an order specifically retaining jurisdiction, which it may be willing to do only under certain circumstances or for a specific period of time. Accordingly, a party seeking dismissal in connection with a settlement should include a statement in the stipulation incorporating the terms of the settlement, and ensure that the order of dismissal incorporates the terms of the settlement or expressly retains jurisdiction over its terms [see Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am. (1994) 511 US 375, 381-382, 114 S Ct 1673, 128 L Ed2d 391].

Cross Reference:

See 8 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 41.34, 41.60 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsStipulations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.13

30.13 Appellate Review Following Notice of Dismissal.

30.13[1] Parties May Appeal Final Decisions. Parties may appeal final decisions of the district courts [see 28 USC § 1291; see also Duke Energy Trading & Mktg., L.L.C. v. Davis (9th Cir 2001) 267 F3d 1042, 1048 , cert. denied, 535 US 1112 (2002)].

30.13[2] Voluntary Dismissal Without Prejudice Is Ordinarily Not Final Judgment. A voluntary dismissal without prejudice is ordinarily not a final judgment from which the plaintiff may appeal [see Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1507 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

30.13[3] Whether Dismissal Is Final Appealable Judgment Depends on Its Effect. Whether a dismissal following a notice of dismissal constitutes a final judgment for purposes of appellate jurisdiction under 28 USC § 1291 depends on the effect of the dismissal in the case [see, e.g., Duke Energy Trading & Mktg., L.L.C. v. Davis (9th Cir 2001) 267 F3d 1042, 1048-1049 , cert. denied, 535 US 1112 (2002)].

Example:

In a case brought by an energy supplier against the governor of California and a public utility, the governor filed a motion to dismiss on sovereign immunity grounds and, in the alternative, moved for summary judgment. The codefendant utility did not file an answer or move for summary judgment. The district court dismissed the claims against the governor on sovereign immunity grounds. The plaintiff then filed a notice of dismissal without prejudice pursuant to Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1) with respect to claims against the codefendant and filed a timely appeal. The governor contended that the court of appeals lacked appellate jurisdiction because the district court's dismissal of the claims against him was not a final judgment, in that claims against the codefendant remained at that time. The court of appeals stated that Rule 41(a)(1) grants plaintiffs an absolute right to dismiss without prejudice claims against one or more defendants. Because the plaintiff's exercise of its right to dismiss the codefendant left nothing for the court to do but execute the judgment. The district court's judgment constituted a final decision for purposes of 28 USC § 1291 [see Duke Energy Trading & Mktg., L.L.C. v. Davis (9th Cir 2001) 267 F3d 1042, 1048-1049 , cert. denied, 535 US 1112 (2002)].

The court of appeals may analyze the effect of the voluntary dismissal in determining whether it should be treated as a dismissal with or without prejudice, for purposes of establishing appealability. The wording on the notice of dismissal or related documents is therefore not necessarily determinative [see, e.g., Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1508-1509 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

Example:

After the dismissal of plaintiffs' state-law claims in federal court, the plaintiffs filed a new complaint in state court. When the defendants removed that action to federal court and the district court refused to remand, the plaintiffs filed a notice purporting to dismiss the action without prejudice. The district court subsequently entered an order dismissing with prejudice as to some of the defendants. The plaintiffs then sought to challenge the district court's refusal to remand the second complaint. The court of appeals concluded that the action should be treated as having been dismissed with prejudice as to all defendants and it therefore had jurisdiction over the appeal. The court concluded that the plaintiffs' notice of voluntary dismissal under Rule 41(a)(1) purported to dismiss the entire action without prejudice. On appeal, plaintiffs maintained that their complaint was indeed dismissed without prejudice as to all defendants. If correct, plaintiffs would not be limited in their ability to bring another suit for the same cause; and there would consequently be no final judgment from which to appeal. The appellate court would therefore have no jurisdiction to consider the plaintiffs' challenge to the district court's order denying their motion to remand. However, the plaintiffs' notice under Rule 41(a)(1) was intended to permit them to appeal the underlying order they considered determinative. Before the district court ruled on the plaintiffs' motion to remand, the parties entered into stipulations providing that, if the motion were denied, the plaintiffs would dismiss their complaint "with plaintiffs preserving any and all appeal rights in the state action." This stipulation made clear that the parties intended to afford plaintiffs the right to appeal the denial of the motion to remand. Protecting the plaintiffs' right to appeal could only be accomplished through a dismissal with prejudice. Moreover, under the facts, the plaintiffs would have nothing to gain by filing a voluntary dismissal without prejudice. The appellate court stated that all the parties intended the dismissal to permit an appeal; and therefore treated the Rule 41(a)(1) notice as a dismissal with prejudice, concluding it had jurisdiction to consider the denial of plaintiffs' motion to remand [see Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1497, 1506-1509 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

Consider:

In determining whether a plaintiff may appeal from a voluntary dismissal under Rule 41(a)(1), the appellate court looks to cases that have considered the appealability of voluntary dismissals pursuant to Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2) [see Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1507 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

30.13[4] Plaintiff May Usually Appeal From Voluntary Dismissal With Prejudice. A voluntary dismissal with prejudice, even one based on an agreed or stipulated judgment, operates as an adjudication on the merits [McMahon v. Pier 39 Ltd. P'ship (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 22178, at *10]. The appealability of a voluntary dismissal ordinarily depends on whether the action was dismissed with or without prejudice. The plaintiff may appeal a voluntary dismissal only when it is with prejudice to its right to commence another action for the same cause or it is otherwise subject to prejudicial terms or conditions [Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1507 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996) (not discussing dismissals designed to facilitate appellate review of jurisdictional or procedural rulings that do not bar filings in other courts or refilings in district court)].

A voluntary dismissal without prejudice is not adverse to the plaintiff's interests. The plaintiff is free to seek an adjudication of the same issue at another time in the same or another forum. The converse is true with respect to a voluntary dismissal with prejudice. By obtaining such a dismissal, the plaintiff submits to a judgment that serves to bar its claims forever [Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1507 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996) (also discussing practical reasons for the distinction); see also Classic Auto Refinishing, Inc. v. Marino (9th Cir 1999) 181 F3d 1142, 1144].

Consider:

A dismissal with prejudice is appealable, whether voluntary or involuntary [Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1507 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureAppealsAppellate JurisdictionFinal Judgment Rule

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.14

30.14 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Voluntary Dismissal by Court Order.

☐ If voluntary dismissal is sought, determine whether circumstances of case require that dismissal be obtained through court order, e.g.:

- ○ One defendant has already filed an answer or a motion for summary judgment, and plaintiff is unable to obtain a stipulation of dismissal from all parties.
- ○ Claimant seeks to dismiss a counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party claim, but responsive pleading has been served, or evidence has already been introduced at the trial or hearing, and claimant is unable to obtain a stipulation of dismissal from all parties.
- ○ Action is of a type that may not be dismissed without court order, e.g.,:
  - ☐ Class actions.
  - ☐ Actions in which receiver has been appointed.
  - ☐ Shareholder derivative suits.
  - ☐ Actions for which court approval is required pursuant to federal statute.

☐ If court order is required for voluntary dismissal:

- ○ Use noticed motion procedure to obtain court order.
- ○ State unequivocally in moving papers that dismissal is sought without prejudice.
- ○ Be prepared to oppose defense arguments that dismissal will result in legal prejudice.

☐ Note that court may condition voluntary dismissal without prejudice on payment of costs.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 23, 23.1, 23.2, 41, 66

Discussion:
See §§ 30.15 -30.26

Forms:
See §§ 30.29, 30.30

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureClass ActionsDerivative ActionsVoluntary DismissalsCivil ProcedureClass ActionsVoluntary DismissalsCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersConditionsCivil ProcedureRemediesReceivershipsReceiversAppointments

16 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.15

30.15 Options and Strategies for Voluntarily Dismissing Action When Dismissal by Notice or Stipulation Is Unavailable.

When dismissal by notice or stipulation is unavailable, a plaintiff may wish to dismiss the action by court order. The plaintiff must obtain court approval to dismiss after service of an answer or summary judgment motion. The court exercises its discretion in determining whether to allow dismissal, and considers factors including whether dismissal is appropriate at all, whether the dismissal should be with or without prejudice, and whether any terms or conditions should be imposed on the dismissal.

The following types of actions may not be voluntarily discontinued without court approval:

- Class actions [see Fed R Civ P 23(e), 41(a)(1); see, e.g., Bader v. Electronics for Imaging, Inc. (ND Cal 2000) 195 FRD 659, 661-663 (court granted motion by class action plaintiffs for voluntary dismissal under Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2))].

- Actions in which a receiver has been appointed [Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1), 66].

- Shareholder derivative actions [see Fed R Civ P 23.1] and actions related to unincorporated associations [Fed R Civ P 23.2].

- Actions in which court approval is required pursuant to federal statute [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)].

Cross Reference:

8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.32 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureClass ActionsDerivative ActionsVoluntary DismissalsCivil ProcedureClass ActionsVoluntary DismissalsCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDiscretionCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersDismissals Without PrejudiceCivil ProcedureRemediesReceivershipsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.16

30.16 Court May Order Payment of Costs of Previously Dismissed Action.

If a plaintiff who has once dismissed an action in any court commences an action based on or including the same claim against the same defendant, the court may make an order for the payment of costs of the action previously dismissed and may stay the proceedings in the action until the plaintiff has complied with that order [Fed R Civ P 41(d)]. Costs may be imposed when the plaintiff has brought a second identical, or nearly identical, claim and has requested identical, or nearly identical, relief [see Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1387].

Although neither is mandatory, federal courts enjoy broad discretion to order stays and payment of costs [Fed R Civ P 41(d); Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1386]. Thus, before filing a second action following a voluntary dismissal, counsel should consider whether the court is likely to order payment of costs incurred by defendant in defending the first action.

Strategic Point--Defendant:

Rule 41(d) is intended to serve as a deterrent to forum shopping and vexatious litigation [see Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1386].

Example:

The district court for the Central District of California has rejected a restrictive reading of Rule 41(d) to exclude the imposition of fees in cases in which a plaintiff files the second action immediately before a Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1) voluntary dismissal. In this case, the plaintiff clearly initiated the California action only because she planned soon thereafter to dismiss the existing action in the Southern District of New York, which she did only three weeks later. The court refused to "create a gaping loophole to Rule 41(d) that would effectively vitiate its impact in these circumstances," noting also that the plaintiff in this case did not argue that the Court should do so [see Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1387].

Rule 41(d) does not require a showing of subjective bad faith [Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1388 (awarding costs when plaintiff failed to present persuasive explanation for course of litigation, and defendants incurred needless expenditures as a result)].

A defendant is entitled to recover only costs for work that is not useful in continuing litigation between the parties [Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1388 , citing Koch v. Hankins (9th Cir 1993) 8 F3d 650, 652 (involving costs and fees under Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2))]. Because the purpose of an award of costs as a condition of a Rule 41(a)(2) voluntary dismissal without prejudice is the same as that of an award of costs under Rule 41(d), once dismissal has already occurred and the second litigation is commenced, the same standard for the type of costs awarded should apply [see Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1388].

Consider--Attorney's Fees:

The District Court for the Central District of California has also allowed the recovery of attorney's fees under Rule 41(d) [see Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1388-1392 (court noted dearth of case law or analytical discussion, but awarded total of $21,000 in costs and attorney's fees when plaintiff requested $55,000)].

Cross References:

Forms of payment of costs of previously dismissed action, see 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 41:70- 41:81 (Matthew Bender).

Costs of previously dismissed action, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.70 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).
Costs and fees under Rule 41(a)(2), see § 30.18.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersDismissals Without PrejudiceCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesDismissals Without PrejudiceCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.17

30.17 Court Order for Dismissal Is Required If Dismissal by Notice or Stipulation Is Unavailable.

Except as provided in Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1), the plaintiff may not seek voluntary dismissal except upon order of the court and upon the terms and conditions the court deems proper [Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2); see Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1386 n5].

The plaintiff must seek a court order in the following circumstances [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)]:

- The plaintiff seeks to dismiss the action, but one defendant has already filed an answer or a motion for summary judgment, and the plaintiff is unable to obtain a stipulation of dismissal from all parties.

- The claimant seeks to dismiss a counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party claim, but a responsive pleading has been served, or evidence has already been introduced at the trial or hearing, and the claimant is unable to obtain a stipulation of dismissal from all parties.

- The action is of a type that may not be dismissed without court order.

Once the defendant files an answer or a motion for summary judgment, the plaintiff may no longer voluntarily dismiss without a court order under Rule 41(a)(1), but must file a motion for voluntary dismissal under Rule 41(a)(2) [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)].

Distinguish:

Unlike a Rule 41(a)(1) notice of dismissal, a Rule 41(a)(2) motion requires court approval [see Fed R Civ P 41(a); Wilson v. City of San Jose (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 688, 692 ; Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1506 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

Cross Reference:

Voluntary dismissal by court order, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, § 41.40 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersDismissals Without Prejudice

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.18

30.18 Terms and Conditions of Dismissal.

30.18[1] Court May Order Dismissal on Terms and Conditions Proper or Necessary to Avoid Prejudice. The dismissal may be conditioned on terms that are proper or necessary to avoid prejudice to the defendant [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2); United States v. Berg (ED Cal 1999) 190 FRD 539, 543 ; Koch v. Hankins (9th Cir 1993) 8 F3d 650, 652].

The plaintiff has a reasonable period of time within which either to refuse the conditional voluntary dismissal by withdrawing the motion for dismissal or to accept the dismissal despite the imposition of conditions [Beard v. Sheet Metal Workers Union, Local 150 (9th Cir 1990) 908 F2d 474, 476 (remanding to give plaintiff opportunity to choose)].

Cross Reference:

See § 30.08.

A court-ordered dismissal under Rule 41(a)(2) must dismiss all claims against any one or more defendants and cannot be used to dismiss individual claims against a defendant remaining in the case [Hells Canyon Pres. Council v. United States Forest Serv. (9th Cir 2005) 403 F3d 683, 688].

30.18[2] Recovery of Costs As Condition of Dismissal. A district court may condition a dismissal under Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2) on the payment of costs [see, e.g., Koch v. Hankins (9th Cir 1993) 8 F3d 650, 652].

The awarding of costs applies to voluntary dismissals without prejudice. The purpose of awarding costs on a voluntary dismissal without prejudice is to compensate the defendant for the unnecessary expense that the plaintiff's litigation has caused the defendant. The defendant may have to defend again at a later time, and incur duplicative legal expenses. By contrast, costs and fees are not appropriate when a plaintiff obtains a voluntary dismissal with prejudice, because in that case the defendant may not be made to defend again [see Esquivel v. Arau (CD Cal 1996) 913 F Supp 1382, 1388 n10 (discussing costs under Fed R Civ P 41(d), and analogizing both standards)].

A defendant is entitled to recover, as a condition of dismissal, only costs or attorney's fees for work that is not useful in continuing litigation between the parties [Koch v. Hankins (9th Cir 1993) 8 F3d 650, 652]. If the district court decides it should condition dismissal on the payment of costs and attorney's fees, the defendants should be awarded attorney's fees only for work that cannot be used in any future litigation of the claims [see Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 97].

Example:

If a plaintiff is granted a voluntary dismissal without prejudice to pursue a related action against the defendant in another forum, the defendant is not entitled to reimbursement of costs and legal fees incurred in preparing work product that may be useful in the continuing litigation. In that case, the district court must make a finding as to the amount of recoverable costs by differentiating between work product that was rendered useless because of the dismissal, and that which might be of use in the continuing litigation [Koch v. Hankins (9th Cir 1993) 8 F3d 650, 652].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 30.30.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersConditions

20 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.19

30.19 If Counterclaim Is Pleaded Prior to Service of Motion to Dismiss, Defendant May Object to Dismissal of Action Pending Adjudication of Counterclaim.

If a counterclaim has been pleaded by a defendant prior to the service on the defendant of the plaintiff's motion to dismiss, the action may not be dismissed against the defendant's objection unless the counterclaim can remain pending for independent adjudication by the court [Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsGeneral Overview

21 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.20

30.20 Dismissal Pursuant to Court Order Is Without Prejudice Unless Otherwise Specified.

A suit may be dismissed with or without prejudice [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2); see, e.g., United States v. Berg (ED Cal 1999) 190 FRD 539, 543]. Unless otherwise specified in the order, a dismissal under Rule 41(a)(2) is without prejudice [Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2); see Bader v. Electronics for Imaging, Inc. (ND Cal 2000) 195 FRD 659, 663].

In this limited sense, the rule has a "default position," but this default position applies to the interpretation of a silent order, not to the district court's discretionary decision in the first instance [Hargis v. Foster (9th Cir 2002) 312 F3d 404, 407].

Warning--Inadvertent Acquiescence to Dismissal With Prejudice:

If the plaintiff files a motion for voluntary dismissal, it should state clearly and unequivocally that it seeks dismissal without prejudice. If the motion for voluntary dismissal is silent with respect to whether the dismissal is requested with or without prejudice, the court may make its own determination in that regard, dismissing with prejudice when the plaintiff wishes otherwise. That is, the "default position" of dismissal without prejudice does not apply unless the court makes no determination of its own accord on that issue [see Hargis v. Foster (9th Cir 2002) 312 F3d 404, 407]. In addition, if a motion for voluntary dismissal lacks unequivocal language, a court of appeal may conclude that the dismissal is with prejudice even though the parties may have stipulated that it was without prejudice [see Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1508-1509 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

Example:

Plaintiff moved for voluntary dismissal without specifying a dismissal with or without prejudice. If the court had remained silent on this point, the dismissal would have been without prejudice. Instead, the court dismissed the claims with prejudice. Because the motion did not preclude this determination, the appellate court found that the district court had not abused its discretion [see Hargis v. Foster (9th Cir 2002) 312 F3d 404, 407].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersDismissals With PrejudiceCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersDismissals Without Prejudice

22 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.21

30.21 Rule 41 Applies to Counterclaim, Crossclaim, or Third-Party Claim.

The provisions of Fed R Civ P 41 apply to the dismissal of any counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party claim [Fed R Civ P 41(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsImpleaderCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.22

30.22 Motion for Voluntary Dismissal.

30.22[1] Motion Is Addressed to Court's Sound Discretion. A motion for voluntary dismissal under Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2) is addressed to the district court's sound discretion [Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 96 ; United States v. Berg (ED Cal 1999) 190 FRD 539, 543]. The court's order will not be disturbed unless the court has abused its discretion [Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 96].

30.22[2] Motion Should Be Granted Unless Defendant Will Suffer Some Plain Legal Prejudice. A motion for voluntary dismissal should be granted unless the defendant shows it will suffer some plain legal prejudice as a result [Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 96 , citing Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1169 ; United States v. Berg (ED Cal 1999) 190 FRD 539, 543].

Cross Reference:

Motion procedures, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

30.22[3] Factors for Determining Existence of Legal Prejudice. Plain legal prejudice may be shown when actual legal rights are threatened or when monetary or other burdens appear to be extreme or unreasonable [United States v. Berg (ED Cal 1999) 190 FRD 539, 543]. Legal prejudice is prejudice to some legal interest, claim, or argument [Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 97].

Factors to consider in determining legal prejudice include [see Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 97 ; United States v. Berg (ED Cal 1999) 190 FRD 539, 543]:

- The defendant's effort and expense involved in preparing for trial.
- Excessive delay and lack of diligence on the part of the plaintiff in prosecuting the action.
- Insufficient explanation of the need for dismissal.

- The fact that summary judgment has been filed by the defendant.

- Whether dismissal without prejudice would result in the loss of a federal forum, the right to a jury trial, or a statute-of-limitations defense.

The prejudice resulting from uncertainty over title to land is also a valid consideration [United States v. Berg (ED Cal 1999) 190 FRD 539, 543].

Example:

A district court properly identified legal prejudice when the dismissal of a party would have rendered the remaining parties unable to conduct sufficient discovery to untangle complex fraud claims and adequately defend themselves against charges of fraud [see Hyde & Drath v. Baker (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1162, 1169 ; see also Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 96]

30.22[4] Factors Not Creating Plain Legal Prejudice. Plain legal prejudice does not occur when the defendant merely faces the threat of a second lawsuit or a tactical disadvantage [United States v. Berg (ED Cal 1999) 190 FRD 539, 543 ; see Smith v. Lenches (9th Cir 2001) 263 F3d 972, 976 (plain legal prejudice does not result from plaintiff's tactical advantage); Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 96 (threat of future litigation that causes uncertainty is insufficient to establish plain legal prejudice); Bader v. Electronics for Imaging, Inc. (ND Cal 2000) 195 FRD 659, 661].

Uncertainty because a dispute remains unresolved is not legal prejudice [Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 97].

Example:

A defendant was held not to have suffered legal prejudice as a result of a voluntary dismissal when he had made only an initial appearance in the case, and appeared to have engaged in only minimal effort and expense to defend the case. Although he had recently retained counsel, there had been no recent filings [see United States v. Berg (ED Cal 1999) 190 FRD 539, 543].

Plain legal prejudice does not result merely because the defendant will be inconvenienced by having to defend in another forum [see Smith v. Lenches (9th Cir 2001) 263 F3d 972, 976].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDiscretionCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersMotions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.23

30.23 Court May Order Payment of Costs of Previously Dismissed Action.

If a plaintiff who has previously dismissed an action in any court commences an action based on or including the same claim against the same defendant, the court may order the payment of costs of the action previously dismissed and stay the proceedings in the action until the plaintiff has complied with the order [Fed R Civ P 41(d)].

Cross Reference:

See § 30.14.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral Overview

25 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.24

30.24 Court May Not Circumvent Limitation Regarding Request for Jury Trial Under Rule 39 by Dismissing Case Under Rule 41(a)(2).

A district court may not employ the broad discretion granted in Fed R Civ P 41 to accomplish indirectly what cannot be accomplished directly under Fed R Civ P 39(b). In the Ninth Circuit, the district court is not permitted under Rule 39(b) to excuse an inadvertent failure to request a jury trial. Further, a district court may not circumvent the explicit limitation on its power under Rule 39(b) by dismissing a case pursuant to Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2) [Russ v. Standard Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1997) 120 F3d 988, 990 (agreeing with Second, Third, and Tenth Circuits, including Noonan v. Cunard S.S. Co. (2d Cir 1967) 375 F2d 69, 72)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureTrialsJury TrialsJury Demands

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.25

30.25 Review of Order for Voluntary Dismissal.

Although the procedure for obtaining a voluntary dismissal under Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1) is different from the procedure for obtaining voluntary dismissal under Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2), the rules regarding appealability are generally the same [see Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1506 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)]. The plaintiff might appeal a voluntary dismissal in order to obtain appellate review of other orders in the case preceding the dismissal that might be determinative of their claims and that could not otherwise be reviewed, such as rulings on pretrial discovery.

A voluntary dismissal with prejudice under Rule 41(a)(1) has the same effect as a voluntary dismissal with prejudice under Rule 41(a)(2). By the same token, a voluntary dismissal without prejudice under Rule 41(a)(1) has the same effect as a voluntary dismissal without prejudice under Rule 41(a)(2) [see Concha v. London (9th Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1493, 1506-1507 , cert. dismissed, 517 US 1183 (1996)].

Cross Reference:

See § 30.13.

Consider--Mootness:

If parties stipulate to dismiss so that they can take their dispute to an appellate court, the parties fully expect and intend to continue their litigation in that forum. Hence, there is still an actual, ongoing dispute and the case has not lost its quality as a present, live controversy. In that situation, the voluntary dismissal does not moot the case [see Oregon Bureau of Labor & Indus. ex rel. Richardson v. U.S. W. Communications, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 288 F3d 414, 416-417 (involving stipulation for voluntary dismissal with prejudice under Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2))].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersGeneral Overview

27 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.26

30.26 Order on Motion for Voluntary Dismissal Is Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.

A court's order on a motion for voluntary dismissal under Rule 41(a)(2) is addressed to the district court's sound discretion. The court's order will not be disturbed unless court has abused its discretion [Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 96]. The district court's determination of the terms and conditions of dismissal under Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2) is reviewed for abuse of discretion [Koch v. Hankins (9th Cir 1993) 8 F3d 650, 652].

The district court abuses its discretion when it bases its decision on an erroneous view of the law, or a clearly erroneous assessment of the facts [Westlands Water Dist. v. United States Dep't of Interior (9th Cir 1996) 100 F3d 94, 96].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersMotionsCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of Discretion

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
IV. FORMS

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.27

30.27 Notice of Voluntary Dismissal.

Notice of Voluntary Dismissal.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	NOTICE OF DISMISSAL
	)	Fed. R. Civ. P. 41(a)(1)
	)

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 41(a)(1), Plaintiff

_____ [name] dismisses this action, in its entirety, without prejudice.

Defendant _____ [name] _____ [has or has not] been served with process, and has not filed an answer or motion for summary judgment. Plaintiff has not dismissed any other action based on or including the same claim or claims as those presented in this action.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for Plaintiff _____ [name of Plaintiff]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)

Filing of Notice:
See § 30.10[1]

Timing of Notice:
See § 30.10[2]

Form of Motion to Strike Notice of Dismissal:
See 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 41.3

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsNoticesDismissals Without Prejudice

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
IV. FORMS

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.28

30.28 Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal.

Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	STIPULATION OF DISMISSAL
	)	(Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1))
	)

IT IS HEREBY STIPULATED AND AGREED, pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 41(a)(1), by and between Plaintiff _____ [name of Plaintiff] and all Defendants who have appeared in this action, as follows:

1. This action was commenced on _____ [date].

2. The action is not a class action; a receiver has not been appointed; and the action is not governed by any statute of the United States that requires an order of the court for dismissal.

3. This action is hereby dismissed, in its entirety, without prejudice.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [name and designation of party]

[Repeat signature block, as appropriate]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)

Stipulation for Voluntary Dismissal: See § 30.12

Related Forms of Stipulated Dismissal: See 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, 41:10-41:14 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsStipulations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
IV. FORMS

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.29

30.29 Notice of Motion and Motion for Voluntary Dismissal.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Voluntary Dismissal.
_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR VOL-
_____ [name],	)	UNTARY DISMISSAL
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for an order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 41(a)(2) _____ [state with particularity any other legal basis for motion, including any applicable local rules]:

(a) Dismissing this action in its entirely; and

(b) Granting Plaintiff _____ [name] such other relief as may be appropriate.

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2)

Motion for Voluntary Dismissal:
See § 30.22

Related Motion Forms:
See 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms see §§ 41:20-41:23 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersMotions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
IV. FORMS

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.30

30.30 Order of Dismissal.

Conditional Order of Dismissal Based on Payment of Costs.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	ORDER DISMISSING ACTION
Defendant	)	(Fed. R. Civ. P. 41(a)(2))
	)
	)

_____ [Name of moving party], _____ [party designation, e.g., Plaintiff], filed a motion to dismiss this action without prejudice. The court has reviewed the papers submitted in favor of and opposed to the motion, and considered the arguments made by and authorities cited by counsel. Being so informed,

IT IS ORDERED that:

1. The motion to dismiss without prejudice is GRANTED.

2. Within _____ [number] days of the date on which this order is signed, _____ [name of moving party] pays to _____ [name of opposing party] the sum of $ _____ for costs, fees, and other expenses incurred in this action.
Dated: _____

_____ [signature]

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41(a)(2), (d)

Related Motion:
See § 30.29

Related Forms of Orders:
See 9 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 41:41, 41:42 (Matthew Bender)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsCourt OrdersDismissals Without Prejudice

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
IV. FORMS

4-30 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 30.31

30.31 Local District Court Forms.

Local district court forms relating to matters addressed in this chapter are listed below.

Central District

Dismissal of Parties Designated by a Fictitious Name (CV-5)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Notice of Dismissal Pursuant to F.R.Civ.P. 41(a) or (c) (CV-9)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Cross Reference:

Automated HotDocs(R) and PDF versions of these forms may be accessed and filled in from the online version of this publication, and are also available at www.LexisOne.com/forms.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.syn

§ 31.syn Synopsis to Chapter 31: Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *

31.01 Scope.

31.02 Objective and Strategy.

31.03 CHECKLIST: Preparing for Settlement.

31.04 Options and Strategy.

31.05 Parties Should Consider Advantages and Incentives of Settlement at Early Stage of Litigation.

31.05[1] Settlement Provides Certainty.

31.05[2] Settlement Offers Expeditious Resolution.

31.05[3] "Bar Order" Can Shield Defendants from Additional Liability.

31.06 Parties Must Consider Mandatory Settlement Procedures Utilized by Court.

31.06[1] Court Backlogs Necessitate Mandatory Procedures.

31.06[2] All District Courts Require Mandatory Settlement Procedures or Court-Annexed Alternative Dispute Resolution.

31.06[3] Failure to Participate May Be Partial Basis for Default Judgment.

31.07 LOCAL PRACTICE: Mandatory Settlement Procedures and Conferences.

31.07[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Mandatory Settlement Procedures.

31.07[1][a] Settlement Procedure Required.

31.07[1][b] Parties Must Select Settlement Procedure or Submit to Court-Ordered Procedure.

31.07[1][c] Settlement Procedures Require Presence of Parties, Counsel Expected to Try Case.

31.07[1][d] Counsel Must Exhaust All Possibilities of Settlement Before Trial.

31.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Mandatory Settlement Conference.

31.07[2][a] Mandatory Settlement Conference Required.

31.07[2][b] Person Capable of Resolution Generally Must Attend; Special Requirements When United States Is a Party.

31.07[2][c] Pretrial Statement on Settlement Possibilities Required.

31.07[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Mandatory ADR.

31.07[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Mandatory Early Neutral Evaluation and Settlement Conferences.

31.07[4][a] Court Requires Mandatory Early Neutral Evaluation.

31.07[4][b] Judicial Officer May Require Additional Steps If No Settlement.

31.07[4][c] Court May Order Post-Verdict Mandatory Settlement Conference.

31.07[4][d] Court May Order Non-Binding Mini-Trial or Summary Jury Trial.

31.08 Options for Third-Party Facilitation of Settlement.

31.08[1] Parties May Seek Settlement With No Intermediary.

31.08[2] Parties May Choose Nonjudicial Mediator.

31.08[3] Trial Judge May Serve As Settlement Officer.

31.08[4] Potential Issues Arising From Trial Judge's Dual Role.

31.08[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Role of Trial Judge in Settlement.

31.08[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

31.08[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

31.08[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

31.08[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

31.09 Preparation for Settlement Discussions Must Be Thorough.

31.09[1] Items for Consideration.

31.09[2] Understanding Client Objectives.

31.09[3] Injecting Reality Into Client Expectations.

31.09[4] Understanding Opponent's Objectives.

31.09[5] Valuing the Case.

31.10 Attorney's Ethical Duties and Considerations During Settlement.

31.10[1] Obtaining Client's Authority to Settle.

31.10[2] Communicating Offers and Demands to Client.

31.10[3] Refraining From Communicating With Represented Parties.

31.10[4] Avoiding Conflicts of Interest.

31.11 Maintaining Confidentiality.

31.12 Admissibility at Trial of Evidence Concerning Efforts to Settle.

31.13 CHECKLISTS: Making an Offer of Judgment.

31.13[1] Checklist for Party Making Offer.

31.13[2] Checklist for Party Responding to Offer.

31.14 Options and Strategy.

31.15 Rule 68 Is a Means to Shift Costs or Achieve Settlement.

31.15[1] Rule 68 Encourages Settlement.

31.15[2] Offer of Complete Relief May Moot Action.

31.15[3] Rule 68 Offer Cannot Preclude Class Certification.

31.15[4] Offeror Must Make Offer at Least 14 Days Before Date Set for Trial.

31.15[5] Computing Time to Make Offer.

31.16 Plaintiff May Incur Post-Offer Costs Even If Successful.

31.17 Offeror May Offer, Recover Costs Under Rule 68.

31.17[1] Rule 68 Includes Costs and Some Fees.

31.17[2] In Diversity Cases, State Law May Affect Recovery.

31.17[2][a] Preliminary Erie Determination Required.

31.17[2][b] Expert Witness Fees Procedural Under Erie.

31.17[2][c] Attorney's Fees and Costs Are Substantive Under Erie; Offeree's Counsel Must Examine State Law.

31.17[3] After Offer of Judgment, Plaintiff's Ability to Recover Post-Offer Attorney's Fees Depends on Underlying Statute.

31.17[3][a] Plaintiff May Not Recover Post-Offer Attorney's Fees When Statute Defines Fees As Costs.

31.17[3][b] Plaintiff Possibly May Recover Post-Offer Attorney's Fees When Statute Defines Fees Separately From Costs.

31.17[4] Attorney's Fees As Part of the Costs May Be Awardable to the Offeror.

31.18 Offer Does Not Need to Refer to Costs to Be Valid.

31.19 Plaintiff Must Win Judgment for Rule 68 to Apply.

31.20 Court Determines Whether Judgment Is More Favorable.

31.21 Only Defending Parties May Make Rule 68 Offers.

31.22 Defending Party Serves Offer of Judgment in Writing on Adverse Party.

31.23 Offer May Be Conditional on Acceptance by All Parties.

31.24 Offer of Judgment Must Be Made at Least 14 Days Before Date Set for Trial.

31.25 When Party Found Liable, It May Make Offer of Judgment If Served At Least 14 Days Before Date Set for Hearing.

31.26 Offerors May Make Subsequent Offers of Judgment.

31.27 Ordinary Contract Principles Govern Offer of Judgment.

31.27[1] Effect of Ambiguity in Offer of Judgment.

31.27[2] Ambiguities Regarding Availability of Fees Will Be Construed Against Offeror.

31.27[3] Seeking Modification or Clarification of Offer of Judgment.

31.28 Offer of Judgment May Be Stricken.

31.28[1] Motion to Strike Is Appropriate for Procedural or Substantive Defects.

31.28[2] Deadline for Filing Motion to Strike.

31.28[3] Procedure for Filing Motion to Strike Offer of Judgment.

31.29 Rejected Offer of Judgment Is Withdrawn; Inadmissible As Evidence at Trial.

31.30 Period for Acceptance of Offer Is 14 Days.

31.31 Acceptance Must Be Unconditional and Written.

31.32 File Offer and Acceptance.

31.33 CHECKLIST: Drafting Settlement Agreement.

31.34 Options and Strategy.

31.35 Consider Types of Settlements Available.

31.35[1] Lump Sum.

31.35[1][a] Lump Sum Settlement Involves Single Check or Cash Payment.

31.35[1][b] Advantages of Lump Sum Settlement.

31.35[1][c] Disadvantages of Lump Sum Settlement.

31.35[2] Structured Settlements.

31.35[2][a] Structured Settlement Typically Involves Periodic Payments for Set Length of Time.

31.35[2][b] Advantages of a Structured Settlement.

31.35[2][c] Disadvantages of Structured Settlement.

31.35[3] Partial Settlements.

31.35[4] Sliding Scale Settlements.

31.35[4][a] Sliding Scale Settlements Defined.

31.35[4][b] "Mary Carter" Agreements.

31.35[4][c] Pierringer Releases.

31.35[4][d] "Cede-back" Arrangements in Mandatory Punitive Damages Class Actions.

31.35[5] Consent Decrees.

31.36 Common Settlement Agreement Provisions.

31.36[1] Identification of Parties.

31.36[2] Recitation of Disputed Matters.

31.36[3] Recitation of the Parties' Obligations.

31.36[4] Release Provisions.

31.36[5] Other Settlement Provisions.

31.36[6] Signatures.

31.37 Post-Settlement Notification and Filing Requirements Under Local Rules.

31.37[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: Duty to File Notice of Settlement.

31.37[1][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

31.37[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

31.37[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

31.37[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

31.37[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Juror Costs Will Be Assessed If No Timely Notice of Settlement.

31.37[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

31.37[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

31.37[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

31.37[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

31.38 Oral Settlement May Be Put on Record.

31.39 Action Not Terminated Until Dismissal Filed or Judgment Entered.

31.40 Judicial Approval of Settlement.

31.41 CHECKLISTS: Enforcing Settlement Agreement.

31.41[1] Enforcing Settlement.

31.41[2] Opposing Enforcement of Settlement.

31.42 Options and Strategy.

31.43 Party Seeking Enforcement Must Show Settlement Agreement Is Legally Valid.

31.43[1] Construction of Settlement Agreement.

31.43[1][a] Settlement Agreement Is an Enforceable Contract.

31.43[1][b] Settlement Agreement Interpreted According to State Contract Law.

31.43[1][c] Void Terms Will Not Be Enforced.

31.43[2] Complete Agreement Must Have Existed Between Parties.

31.43[2][a] Both Parties Must Have Agreed to Terms of Settlement or Authorized Counsel to Settle Dispute.

31.43[2][b] Client May Grant Authority to Make Binding Settlement on Its Behalf.

31.43[2][c] Client's Signature on Agreement Not Required.

31.43[3] Court May Have to Hold Evidentiary Hearing on Question of Formation of Contract.

31.44 Court Must Have Jurisdiction to Enforce Settlement Agreement.

31.44[1] Independent Basis of Jurisdiction Must Exist.

31.44[2] Federal Arbitration Act May Govern If Agreement Provides for Arbitration.

31.44[3] Courts Can Retain Jurisdiction Over Class Actions, Multiparty Settlements.

31.45 Enforcing Settlement Agreement.

31.45[1] Enforcement While Case Still Pending Before Court.

31.45[2] Post-Dismissal Enforcement of Settlement Agreement.

31.45[2][a] Post-Dismissal Enforcement Possible Only If Court Retains Jurisdiction.

31.45[2][b] Party Seeking Enforcement May Bring Separate Action.

31.45[2][c] If Jurisdiction Retained, Party May Be Able to Bring Contempt Proceedings.

31.45[3] Injunctions to Enjoin Inconsistent Actions May Be Available.

31.45[4] Party May Raise Settlement Agreement Bar to Further Litigation in a Motion to Dismiss.

31.46 Opposing Enforcement of Settlement Agreement.

31.47 Appeal of Enforcement of Settlement Agreement.

31.48 Offer of Judgment.

31.49 Acceptance of Offer of Judgment.

31.50 Local District Court Forms.

34 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
I. STRATEGY

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.01

31.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Preparation for settlement and settlement conferences, including required steps designed to lead to settlement prescribed by the local rules in all the districts [see 31.03 -31.12].

- Offers of judgment and responses to offers of judgment under Rule 68 [see 31.13 -31.32].

- Drafting settlement agreements, including the different types of settlements available and potential issues as to their validity [see 31.33 -31.40].

- Approaches for enforcing settlement agreements as well as how to oppose enforcement [see 31.41 -31.47].

- Forms for making and responding to offers of judgment [see 31.48, 31.49].

Core Rules:
Fed R Civ P 16, 68.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentAcceptancesCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of OffersCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentRejectionsCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
I. STRATEGY

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.02

31.02 Objective and Strategy.

Settlement negotiations and any resultant settlement terms are key to effective representation of a client. Very few actions proceed to trial. Moreover, with the increasing backlog in the federal courts, the districts have developed mandatory procedures for encouraging settlement between parties.

Approaches to preparing for settlement will, of course, differ for each party. Counsel for plaintiff will wish to develop the case to maximize the risk to the defendant and highlight all damages, including those that may be less obvious. Counsel for the defendant will seek to develop the facts and theories that will most undercut the plaintiff's case.

A settlement valuation assessment should be maintained from the outset. That assessment should be regularly reviewed as the case progresses so that the risks to one's client are minimized. Attorneys should not simply permit their clients to assume that their most favorable view of the case will prevail, because those clients may not settle at opportune times and may become embittered when an eventual settlement or judgment is not what they expected.

The local rules in each of the districts require some sort of early procedure aimed at a settlement-oriented assessment of the case. Often they permit further procedures at the request of the parties. Counsel should takeadvantage of these procedures, and of Fed R Civ P 68's provision for Offers of Judgment, to achieve early resolution of the case.

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

13 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 68, Offer of Judgment (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)

11 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 68, Offer of Judgment (Matthew Bender)

Cross Reference:

For Tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsClient RelationsEffective Representation

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.03

31.03 CHECKLIST: Preparing for Settlement.

☐ Consider benefits of settlement:

- ○ Certainty.
- ○ Expeditious resolution.
- ○ Availability of a "bar order."

☐ Consider types of settlement procedures:

- ○ Direct negotiations between parties.
- ○ Negotiations with a nonjudicial third party as intermediary.
- ○ Negotiations with a judicial officer other than the trial judge as intermediary.
- ○ Negotiations before trial judge.

☐ Evaluate use of trial judge as settlement officer:

○ Review advantages and disadvantages:

☐ Advantage: Trial judge will be most familiar with case and better able to facilitate settlement.

☐ Disadvantage: Trial judge will be made familiar with facts or assertions not evidence in the proceeding.

○ Review local rules to determine whether assigned judge may serve as settlement officer.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 16-15; ED Cal Civ LR 240, 270; SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(a)

Discussion:
See § 31.08[5]

☐ Review mandatory settlement procedures available in district court.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 16-2.9, 16-15, 16-15.2, 16-15.5; ED Cal Civ LR 270, 271, 281; ND Cal Civ LR 16-8, 16-10; SD Cal Civ LR 16.1, 16.3

Discussion:
See § 31.07

☐ Prepare for settlement meeting:

○ Be able to articulate:

☐ Issues in controversy.

☐ Facts surrounding disputed issues.

☐ Law applicable to facts and issues in controversy.

☐ Client's objectives.

☐ Objectives of opposing party and counsel.

☐ Monetary value of case.

○ Understand client objectives:

☐ Minimum needs.

- [ ] Ideal goals.

- ○ Prepare client for settlement by providing an assessment of:
  - [ ] Likelihood of success at trial.
  - [ ] Amount of damages likely to be awarded.
  - [ ] Time and expense likely to be incurred if no settlement takes place.
  - [ ] Physical and emotional toll on client.
  - [ ] Likely difficulties in enforcing a judgment against the opponent.
  - [ ] Likelihood of an appeal by opponent.
- ○ Understand opponent's objectives.
- ○ Value the case, including:
  - [ ] Present economic damages.
  - [ ] Future damages.
  - [ ] Non-monetary damages and to what extent the case includes such damages.
  - [ ] Economic cost of protracted litigation.
  - [ ] Whether the plaintiff or defendant will be viewed as sympathetic.
  - [ ] Venue in which the case will be heard, and whether the venue is favorable to client's type of case.
  - [ ] Defendant's ability to pay or comply with judgment.
  - [ ] Ability and expertise of the attorneys involved.

- [ ] Comply with ethical duties:

- ○ Obtain client's authority to settle.
- ○ Communicate offers and demands to client.
- ○ Refrain from communicating with represented parties.
- ○ Avoid conflicts of interest in settlement negotiations.

Authority:
Evans v. Jeff D. (1986) 475 US 717, 728 n14, 106 S Ct 1531, 89 L Ed2d 747 ; Wien Air Alaska, Inc. v. Bachner (9th Cir 1988) 865 F2d 1106, 1110 ; Inamed Corp. v. Kuzmak (CD Cal 2002) 275 F Supp2d 1100, 1119 ; ABA Model Rules of Prof Conduct 1.2(a); Cal Rules Prof Conduct, Rules 2-100, 3-300, 3-510(A)

Discussion:
See §§ 31.09, 31.10

☐ Maintain confidentiality of settlement negotiations:

- ○ Seek a written agreement specifying confidentiality.
- ○ Be familiar with local rules on settlement confidentiality.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 16-14; ED Cal Civ LR 240, 270

Discussion:
See § 31.11

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsClient RelationsConfidentiality of InformationLegal EthicsClient RelationsConflicts of InterestLegal EthicsClient RelationsEffective RepresentationLegal EthicsProfessional ConductOpposing Counsel & Parties

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

37 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.04

31.04 Options and Strategy.

Federal courts favor settlement before trial [see Fed R Civ P 16(c), Committee Note of 1993; Fed R Evid 408, Committee Note of 1975]. Litigation settlements offer parties and their counsel relief from the burdens and uncertainties inherent in trial [Franklin v. Kaypro Corp. (9th Cir 1989) 884 F2d 1222, 1225 , cert. denied sub nom. Franklin v. Peat Marwick Main & Co., 498 US 890 (1990)].

Most judges do not stay discovery or other pretrial proceedings based on the pendency of settlement discussions--the litigation itself can provide a powerful motivation for settlement [Manual for Complex Litigation 4th, § 13.12]. Counsel should generally approach settlement and litigation simultaneously. Nonetheless, in view of the advantages of settlement over trial, parties should plan and schedule both discovery and pretrial motions so that the prospects of settlement can be made as clear as early in the litigation as possible. In other words, if the depositions of specific witnesses are taken early, or if certain issues are resolved by means of pretrial motion at an early stage in the litigation, the parties may be able to assess settlement prospects more realistically. Because all California district courts require either mandatory settlement procedures or court-annexed ADR procedures, the parties can expect court assistance in identifying and scheduling relevant discovery and pretrial motions.

Backed up with the ability to follow through, the following litigation techniques may lead to productive settlement discussions [see Manual for Complex Litigation 4th, § 13.13 (2004)]:

- Ask for a firm trial date;
- Seriously evaluate and consider all potential forms of ADR in addition to formal, court-sponsors settlement conferences, particularly use of mediators;
- After exhaustion of other ADR procedures, or in lieu of them, ask for settlement conference, usually before a separate judge;
- Consider the exchange of settlement conference statements and offers with other parties in advance of the conference;

- Make sure that parties, not just counsel, participate in settlement discussions;
- Make sure that insurance carriers who may provide coverage are involved;
- If experts have been identified, consider if the presence of experts would be useful at the conference; and
- Ask for severance and early trial of issues that could lead to resolution of the entire matter.

Preparing for Settlement Discussion Using Online Resources:

Many resources are available online for researching recent verdicts and settlements that can help you propose a reasonable demand for damages or assess your opponent's demand. The nature of the injury and other factual patterns can guide you to online resources featuring both California or national recovery profiles. For example, helpful resources at lexis.com include:

- Legal tab> Area of Law--By Topic> Litigation Practice and Procedure> Find Briefs, Motions, Pleadings & Jury Verdicts> Jury Verdicts and Settlements, Combined
  - Sample Search: To find examples of federal verdicts or settlements in a products liability action involving injuries from a "rollover" accident, try this search: court (united states or u.s.) and product liability and rollover or roll over
  - Sample Search: To find examples of federal court verdicts or settlements in a wrongful death action based on misdiagnosis, try this TOPIC segment search: court(united states or u.s.) and topic (wrongful death and misdiagnos! or diagnos!)
- Legal tab> Area of Law--By Topic> Litigation Practice and Procedure> Find Briefs, Motions, Pleadings & Jury Verdicts> Jury Verdicts & Experts> What's It Worth? A Guide to Personal Injury Awards and Settlements. (Select "Continue With Your Search.")
  - Sample Search: For a national perspective in helping to assess the damages demand for, e.g., an ankle injury, try an INJURY segment search, such as: injury (brok! or fractur! /2 ankle).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.05

31.05 Parties Should Consider Advantages and Incentives of Settlement at Early Stage of Litigation.

31.05[1] Settlement Provides Certainty. In litigation, the adverse consequences of a potential defeat provide the parties with an incentive to settle in advance of trial, because settlement provides certainty [Delta Air Lines, Inc. v. August (1981) 450 US 346, 352, 101 S Ct 1146, 67 L Ed2d 287].

31.05[2] Settlement Offers Expeditious Resolution. Trial courts have a natural desire to clear court dockets of complex litigation in as expeditious a manner as possible [Franklin v. Kaypro Corp. (9th Cir 1989) 884 F2d 1222, 1225 , cert. denied sub nom. Franklin v. Peat Marwick Main & Co., 498 US 890 (1990)].

31.05[3] "Bar Order" Can Shield Defendants from Additional Liability. A "bar order" is another incentive for settlement in complex litigation. A "bar order" will prohibit contribution from settling defendants of any amount in excess of their proportionate share of fault or liability as determined by the trier of fact. Use of a "bar order" is permissible in the Ninth Circuit, so long as the Court instructs the jury to determine the percent of culpability of settling and nonsettling defendants without mention or reference to any settlement agreement or bar order [see Franklin v. Kaypro Corp. (9th Cir 1989) 884 F2d 1222, 1231 , cert. denied sub nom. Franklin v. Peat Marwick Main & Co., 498 US 890 (1990)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEffects

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.06

31.06 Parties Must Consider Mandatory Settlement Procedures Utilized by Court.

31.06[1] Court Backlogs Necessitate Mandatory Procedures. Because of the serious case backlog in the federal court system, judicial intervention in the settlement process is considered a necessity. Federal courts have joined in the general movement seeking methods other than litigation for resolving disputes. As a result, a party filing suit in federal court today will be asked to consider settlement through either mandatory settlement procedures or some form of court-annexed alternative dispute resolution ("ADR").

Cross Reference:

Discussion of alternative dispute resolution in the Ninth Circuit, see Ch. 32, Court Annexed ADR.

31.06[2] All District Courts Require Mandatory Settlement Procedures or Court-Annexed Alternative Dispute Resolution. California district courts require either mandatory settlement conferences or steps toward Alternative Dispute Resolution as a means of early resolution of disputes.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of mandatory dispute resolution procedures, see § 31.07.

31.06[3] Failure to Participate May Be Partial Basis for Default Judgment. A plaintiff may seek default judgment against a defendant that has failed to plead or otherwise defend an action [Fed R Civ P 55(a)]. At least one California District Court has found that failure to attend a mandatory settlement conference, along with the failure to otherwise participate in litigation, can be grounds for issuing a default judgment [Original San Francisco Toymakers, Inc. v. Trendmasters, Inc. (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 18557, at *14].

Warning:

In addition, sanctions may be imposed for failure to comply with a settlement conference order made pursuant to Fed R Civ P 16(f) [see, e.g., Pitman v. Brinker Int'l, Inc. (D Ariz 2003) 216 FRD 481, 487 (attorney's fees and costs awarded to plaintiff for defendants' noncompliance with Rule 16 settlement conference order)].

Cross Reference:

Requesting default judgment, see Ch. 27, Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default, see §§ 27.03 -27.17.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultDefault JudgmentsCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultEntry of Default JudgmentsCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMandatory ADRCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorDiscourtesies

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.07

31.07 LOCAL PRACTICE: Mandatory Settlement Procedures and Conferences.

31.07[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Mandatory Settlement Procedures.

31.07[1][a] Settlement Procedure Required. Local Rule 16-15.1 makes settlement proceedings mandatory [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.1].

Timing:

The parties must file a Notice of Settlement Procedure Selection signed by counsel for both sides no later than 14 days after the entry of the Fed R Civ P 16(b) scheduling order [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.2].

31.07[1][b] Parties Must Select Settlement Procedure or Submit to Court-Ordered Procedure. Local Rule 16-15.4 provides a series of suggested settlement procedures that the court may order the parties to participate in if they do not choose a settlement procedure and file a timely Notice of Settlement Procedure Selection [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.4].

31.07[1][c] Settlement Procedures Require Presence of Parties, Counsel Expected to Try Case. Regardless of the settlement procedure selected, and unless otherwise ordered or excused by the trial judge or the settlement officer, the settlement proceeding must include:

- In camera presentation of a confidential written statement of the case to the settlement officer [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(a)].
- Appearance by a party or a person with full authority to settle the case [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(b)].
- Appearance by the attorney expected to try the case [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(c)].

Timing:

The parties must have participated in the settlement procedures selected by the court no later than 45 days before the final Pretrial Conference, unless otherwise ordered by the court [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.2].

As I recall, from writing a few chapters for a CA practice guide, last year, I can use the word "Consider" (as one step below "warning."

Consider:

Each party must have made a thorough analysis of the case before the settlement proceeding and must be fully prepared to discuss all economic and non-economic factors relevant to a full and final settlement [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(d)].

Warning:

If the parties do not select an alternative settlement procedure, the trial judge may participate in facilitating settlement [see CD Cal Civ LR 16-15].

31.07[1][d] Counsel Must Exhaust All Possibilities of Settlement Before Trial. Counsel for the parties must meet before the pretrial conference and must "exhaust all possibilities of settlement" [CD Cal Civ LR 16-2.9].

31.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Mandatory Settlement Conference.

31.07[2][a] Mandatory Settlement Conference Required. A settlement conference must be held in all actions unless the court orders otherwise on objection of a party or for other good cause shown [ED Cal Civ LR 270(a)]. Counsel must notify the court when the settlement conference is set if the litigation is unusual or complex and if there is a need to provide additional time or make other special arrangements to ensure that the settlement conference will be meaningful [ED Cal Civ LR 270(a)]. The judge or magistrate judge assigned to try the action will not conduct the settlement conference unless all parties affirmatively so request and waive in writing any claim of disqualification on that basis [ED Cal Civ LR 270(b); see ED Cal Civ LR 240(a)(16)].

Cross References:

Discussion of the Eastern District's Voluntary Dispute Resolution Program, assigned on agreement of all parties under ED Cal Civ LR 271, see Ch. 32, Court Annexed ADR.

Potential issues arising from Trial Judge's dual role, see § 31.08[4].

31.07[2][b] Person Capable of Resolution Generally Must Attend; Special Requirements When United States Is a Party. When the United States is not a party, counsel must be accompanied at the Settlement Conference by a person capable of disposition of the action or must be authorized to settle the matter at the Settlement Conference on any terms [ED Cal Civ LR 270(f)(1)].

When the United States is a party, the attorney for the United States must obtain the approval of the United States Attorney to compromise any matter within the authority delegated to the United States Attorney by rule or regulation of the Attorney General. If this delegated authority is limited by the opposition of another federal agency, a responsible and knowledgeable representative of that agency must attend the conference [ED Cal Civ LR 270(f)(2)].

Further requirements apply in cases in which the approval of officials of the Department of Justice in Washington, D.C., is required [see ED Cal Civ LR 270(f)].

31.07[2][c] Pretrial Statement on Settlement Possibilities Required. The parties must file a pretrial statement that covers, among other things, whether settlement negotiations between the parties, or a court settlement conference under ED Cal Civ LR 270, or both would be helpful [ED Cal Civ LR 281(b)(16)].

31.07[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Mandatory ADR. Parties must confer regarding the possibility of settlement. In cases assigned to the ADR Multi-Option Program, unless otherwise ordered, counsel and client must serve and file an ADR Certification. Separate certifications may be filed by each party [ND Cal Civ LR 16-8(b)]. To file the necessary certification, counsel and client must have [ND Cal Civ LR 16-8(b)]:

- Read the Northern District's handbook entitled "Dispute Resolution Procedures in the Northern District of California";
- Discussed the available dispute resolution procedures; and
- Considered whether their case might benefit from any of the available dispute resolution options.

In cases assigned to the ADR Multi-Option Program, unless otherwise ordered, counsel must also file either a "Stipulation and [Proposed] Order Selecting ADR Process" or a "Notice of Need for ADR Phone Conference" on a court-established form [ND Cal Civ LR16-8(c)]. The judge will enter a Case Management Order that may address deadlines for the commencement and completion of any ADR processes [ND Cal Civ LR 16-10(b), 16-10(b)(1)]. If the judge sets subsequent Case Management Conferences, the parties must address whether using some form of ADR would be appropriate in the Joint Case Management Statement required before each subsequent conference [ND Cal Civ LR 16-10(d)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of the Northern District's ADR Procedures, see Ch. 32, Court Annexed ADR.

31.07[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Mandatory Early Neutral Evaluation and Settlement Conferences.

31.07[4][a] Court Requires Mandatory Early Neutral Evaluation. A mandatory Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE) conference for counsel and the parties takes place within 45 days of the filing of an answer, before the assigned judicial officer supervising discovery [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1)]. This appearance must be made with the authority to discuss and enter into settlement [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1)]. Attendance may be excused only for good cause shown and by permission of the court [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1.c)].

Timing:

An ENE conference may take place at the request of a party before the filing of an answer if the judicial officer deems such a conference appropriate [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1)]. The request must be in writing and sent to the parties and counsel for the parties whose addresses are known to the requesting counsel [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1)].

Cross Reference:

Rule against communicating with represented parties, see § 31.08[3].

31.07[4][b] Judicial Officer May Require Additional Steps If No Settlement. If no settlement is reached at the ENE conference, the judicial officer may (1) refer cases the officer believes would benefit and those in which the parties agree to a non-binding arbitration or mediation to occur within 45 days, or (2) hold a case management conference within 30 days [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.2.a), (c.2.b)].

31.07[4][c] Court May Order Post-Verdict Mandatory Settlement Conference. A post-verdict Mandatory Settlement Conference may be ordered by the trial judge after the entry of a verdict by a court or jury [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(g)].

31.07[4][d] Court May Order Non-Binding Mini-Trial or Summary Jury Trial. A district or magistrate judge may order a non-binding mini-trial or summary jury trial when the judge finds, after a hearing, that the potential judgment does not exceed $250,000, and that the use of this procedure will probably resolve the case [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(f)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMandatory ADRCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionSummary Jury TrialsCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.08

31.08 Options for Third-Party Facilitation of Settlement.

31.08[1] Parties May Seek Settlement With No Intermediary. Before pursuing more formal procedures involving intermediaries, the parties may wish to engage in settlement negotiations on their own. Such procedures avoid the potential expense of a third party mediator.

Warning:

While not permitted to prove the existence or amount of liability, efforts to settle may be introduced by opposing counsel for other purposes [see Fed R Evid 408].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of admissibility of settlement discussions, see § 31.12.

31.08[2] Parties May Choose Nonjudicial Mediator. If an intermediary for settlement purposes is required, counsel can select a nonjudicial third party or judge other than the trial judge. Two districts now provide explicitly for nonjudicial settlement officers [see CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.4 (Settlement Procedure No. 2), ND Cal ADR LR 2-5]. In the Northern District of California, for example, the nonjudicial mediator may be either an individual privately selected and compensated by the parties or a lawyer/mediator from the court's panel who conducts at least the initial mediation session free of charge [ND Cal ADR LR 2-5, 6-3(b)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of the issues raised by the trial judge acting as settlement officer, see § 31.08[4].

31.08[3] Trial Judge May Serve As Settlement Officer. The trial judge may, with the parties' consent, act as the settlement officer as well; although some judges will not agree to do so even when the parties consent. The advantage to such a procedure is that the judge will be familiar with the case and thus can facilitate settlement discussions.

Cross References:

Disadvantages of this procedure, see § 31.08[4]. Discussion of the treatment of trial judges as settlement officers under the local rules, see § 31.08[5].

31.08[4] Potential Issues Arising From Trial Judge's Dual Role. In non-jury trials, district judges rarely participate in settlement discussions. Occasionally, however, if a party requests, some district judges may consent to serve as settlement officer if all of the other parties consent to such involvement. In this event, the parties will have a difficult choice. Before giving or withholding consent, each party must explore how comfortable they will be with involving the judge in settlement negotiations if those negotiations fail and the case must be tried. Even if the case will be tried with a jury, the decision involves weighing the potential dangers of allowing the district judge to hear and participate in settlement negotiations against potential awkwardness in withholding consent. Most attorneys and judges believe that it is preferable to have the court appoint a magistrate judge or another district judge to conduct the settlement conference. On the other hand, these judicial officers rarely have all of the time that may be needed for the settlement process. Given the number of highly skilled attorneys and former judges serving as neutrals, many lawyers prefer a nonjudicial mediator if the parties are truly serious about settling.

Drawbacks:

One primary disadvantage to the trial judge's acting as a settlement officer are that she or he will be introduced to the parties' confidential thought processes about the case, and may become familiar with evidence that may not be introduced at trial. A second disadvantage is that the judge may form opinions about the merits of the case based on ex parte communications with the opposing party or counsel. Finally, a party must monitor negotiation strategy in a way that would not occur with a different settlement officer. A party runs the risk of being perceived by the judge as "unreasonable" in connection with positions taken in settlement negotiations. The party is left to wonder if the judge has or will arrive at such a perception, and whether this perception might adversely influence the judge in pretrial rulings and at trial.

31.08[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Role of Trial Judge in Settlement.

31.08[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Unless the parties choose one of several optional settlement procedures, "the judge assigned to preside over the civil case (the trial judge) may participate in facilitating settlement" [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15].

31.08[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Unless all parties affirmatively request that the judge or magistrate judge assigned to the case or to try the action participate in the conference and waive in writing any claim of disqualification on that basis, "the assigned Judge or Magistrate Judge shall not conduct the settlement conference" [ED Cal Civ LR 270(b); see ED Cal Civ LR 240(a)(16)]. The local rules further provide for the filing of a status conference statement that may include the prospects for settlement, "provided ... that ... counsel shall specify whether they will stipulate to the trial Judge or Magistrate Judge acting as settlement Judge and waive any disqualification by virtue thereof" [ED Cal Civ LR 240(a)(16)].

31.08[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. On written stipulation of the parties, the assigned judge, in the exercise of his or her discretion, may conduct a settlement conference [ND Cal ADR LR 7-2].

31.08[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The judge conducting the settlement conference will be disqualified from trying the case unless all the parties agree to waive the restriction [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(c)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of the difference between the ENE and Settlement Conference procedures in the Southern District, see § 31.07[4].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediationsCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsJudges

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.09

31.09 Preparation for Settlement Discussions Must Be Thorough.

31.09[1] Items for Consideration. As with the rest of the litigation process, success in settling a case requires extensive preparation. Settlement discussions are most likely to be productive after theparties have identified the legal issues and obtained and evaluated the critical evidence on those issues. Therefore, prior to settlement discussions counsel must research, understand, and be able to articulate:

- Issues in controversy.
- Facts surrounding the controverted issues.
- Law applicable to the facts and issues in controversy.
- Client's objectives and priorities [see 31.09[2], [3]].
- Objectives of the opposing party and opposing counsel [see 31.09[4]].
- Monetary value of the case.
- Any obstacles to settlement, such as historical animosity between the parties or counsel.

Careful selection of the person who will conduct settlement conferences or mediation sessions is very important. It is in all parties' interest to agree on and request a specific judge or magistrate judge, or a particular neutral, to assure that they will get the combination of skills, time, and commitment necessary for success. The parties' confidence in the settlement officer or mediator substantially increases the chances of meaningful preparation for and success resulting from the settlement discussions. During the selection or after the court selects the settlement officer or nonjudicial mediator, counsel should consult with others who have had experience in settlement conferences or mediation sessions with this judge or mediator.

31.09[2] Understanding Client Objectives. Counsel should understand the client's objectives, for example:

- At a minimum, what must the client obtain to settle the case?
- Ideally, what would the client wish to achieve in settling the case?

Money--rather than principle--usually matters most to clients, but clients may have non-monetary goals as well. For example, a client alleging gender-based discrimination may be willing to accept a smaller monetary settlement in exchange for the ability to publicize the fact and terms of the settlement.

Be prepared to look for innovative solutions such as structured pay-outs, payment in kind, future commercial relations, concessions, apologies, admissions, establishment of training and recruitment programs, or correction of a defect. Be wary of hidden personal goals that will interfere with settlement. Revenge and spite do not promote compromise.

For example, in an environmental action, non-monetary objectives may dominate, and counsel should look for creative ways to use monetary settlements (paid to neutral third entities) to achieve environmental compliance or improvements.

31.09[3] Injecting Reality Into Client Expectations. Counsel must be prepared to inject reality into client objectives. Unrealistic expectations prevent wise settlements. Before engaging in settlement discussions, provide the client with an honest assessment of:

- The likelihood of success at trial.
- The amount of damages likely to be awarded.
- The time and expenses likely to be incurred if the case settles later or goes to trial.
- The physical and emotional toll litigation may exact on the client.
- The amount of the client's time or, in the case of corporate clients, the amount of the client's executives' time, consumed by litigation.
- The difficulties of enforcing a judgment against the opposing party or parties.
- The likelihood of an appeal by the opposing party if the client prevails at trial or on summary judgment.

Counsel must also prepare the client for the settlement process itself. In particular, counsel needs to educate the client as to various negotiations strategies that may shape offers presented to the client or reactions to the offers presented by the client. The client needs to understand the importance of not abandoning the settlement process through over-reaction when obstacles appear.

31.09[4] Understanding Opponent's Objectives. Understanding an opposing party's thoughts and feelings regarding a case may be as important as analyzing the legal issues. The opposing party's real objectives in the litigation may not always be what they seem on the face of the pleadings, or from what opposing counsel says. Neitherthe opponent nor opposing counsel may not have thought through every need the opponent has in connection with the case, even some needs that may be crucial to a resolution of the matter.

Accordingly, counsel should be alert for indications of the real objectives of the opposing party in initiating or defending against litigation. The potential for a successful settlement increases when at least some of the objectives of all the parties are met by the terms of a proposed settlement. Furthermore, a proposed settlement may be presented more convincingly when the proponent is in a position to fully explain all of the advantages of the proposed settlement to the opponent.

31.09[5] Valuing the Case. After evaluating the facts, issues, litigation history, and law applicable to the case, counsel must--except in cases involving primarily injunctive relief--determine its monetary value. Although every case is unique, some general factors to be considered in attempting to place monetary value on the claims at issue include:

- Present economic damages suffered by the plaintiff, including:
  - Lost income.
  - Medical or other bills.
  - Lost profits.
  - Replacement costs.
  - Interest.
- Future damages reasonably certain to be incurred by the plaintiff, including the present value of future damages.
- Non-monetary damages such as pain and suffering, or loss of goodwill, incurred by the plaintiff.
- Whether the plaintiff will be seen as sympathetic by the court or jury.
- Whether money damages will compensate the plaintiffs at all (e.g., in a suit for injunctive relief).
- Any possible set-offs that may apply, by way of counterclaims, mitigation, or otherwise.
- The economic cost to the plaintiff of protracted litigation.
- The defendant's ability to pay, both actual and apparent.
- Availability of insurance.
- Case venue: Whether in an area known to be "liberal" or "conservative" in terms of awards.
- The reputation, ability, and expertise of the attorneys in the case.

For insight into the potential value of the case, review cases reported in jury verdict reporters with similar fact patterns (remaining aware that the value of jury verdicts can be reduced directly or indirectly by the trial judge or on appeal). Examples of such reporters include the Association of Trial Lawyers of America ATLA Record, LRP's Jury Verdict and Settlement Summaries, and Shepard's Verdicts, Settlements, and Tactics. Counsel should also consider discussing the case discreetly (client confidences and privileged communications must be preserved) with attorneys experienced in the type of litigation involved to get an idea of how those attorneys would value the case.

These factors should be continually reviewed as the case progresses. Discovery results and motion practice can dramatically affect the valuation of a case.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsClient RelationsEffective Representation

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.10

31.10 Attorney's Ethical Duties and Considerations During Settlement.

31.10[1] Obtaining Client's Authority to Settle. The decision to settle a case rests with the client, not the attorney. A client does not automatically bestow the authority to settle a case merely by retaining counsel.

An attorney must have either actual or apparent authority from the client to settle a case [Wien Air Alaska, Inc. v. Bachner (9th Cir 1988) 865 F2d 1106, 1110 ; Inamed Corp. v. Kuzmak (CD Cal 2002) 275 F Supp2d 1100, 1119]. Generally, a third party may rely on the apparent authority of the attorney unless he or she has reason to believe that the attorney does not have authority to negotiate a settlement [Cristobal v. Siegel (9th Cir 1993) 26 F3d 1488, 1495].

31.10[2] Communicating Offers and Demands to Client. An attorney must communicate "all amounts, terms, and conditions of any written offer of settlement made to the client" in any non-criminal matter [Cal Rules Prof Conduct, Rule 3-510(A)].

Warning:

To avoid subsequent problems with clients and litigation over apparent, rather than actual authority, it is best to communicate all offers of settlement to the client.

31.10[3] Refraining From Communicating With Represented Parties. While representing a client, an attorney must not communicate directly or indirectly about the subject of the representation with a party the member knows to be represented by another lawyer in the matter, unless the attorney has the consent of the other lawyer [Cal Rules Prof Conduct, Rule 2-100(A)]. "Party" includes officers, directors, and managing agents, as well as (in certain instances) employees, of corporations [Cal Rules Prof Conduct, Rule 2-100(B)]. The prohibition does not apply to communications with public officers, boards or bodies [Cal Rules Prof Conduct, Rule 2-100(C)].

Warning:

When representing a corporation, bear in mind that contact of an adverse party by any of the corporation's departments may violate the prohibition against ex parte contact, particularly if the contact is made with the knowledge and acquiescence of the legal department and may result in information that can be used in the corporation's litigation strategy [see, e.g., Partida v. Union Pac. R.R. Co. (CD Cal 2004) 221 FRD 623, 629].

31.10[4] Avoiding Conflicts of Interest. An attorney is not to allow his or her own interests, financial or otherwise, to influence the attorney's professional advice. Accordingly, an attorney is required to evaluate a settlement offer on the basis of the client's interest, without regard to the attorney's own interest in obtaining a fee [see Evans v. Jeff D. (1986) 475 US 717, 728 n14, 106 S Ct 1531, 89 L Ed2d 747 (citing ABA Model Code Prof Responsibility EC 7-7-EC 7-9; ABA Model Rules Prof Conduct 1.2(a))].

A conflict regarding a settlement and attorney's fees may arise when the defendant seeks to settle claims for attorney's fees and the merits with one lump sum [see Manual for Complex Litigation 4th, § 13.24]. Negotiating the merits and the claim for attorney's fees may violate the California Rules of Professional Conduct, which forbid an attorney from obtaining a pecuniary or security interest adverse to the client unless [Cal Rules Prof Conduct, Rule 3-300]:

- The transaction is a reasonable one, fully disclosed to the client;
- The client has been advised of its ability to seek the advice of an independent attorney and has an opportunity to do so; and
- The client thereafter consents in writing to the terms of the transaction or acquisition.

Decision Points:

Counsel working for a contingent fee may be able to avoid the trap of losing all or some fees for the litigation by dealing with the settlement contingency in the engagement letter. The engagement letter may provide that settlement will not bar counsel from recovering fees, or that client's recovery will come only after a reasonable attorney's fees have been recovered. Such an agreement should comply with Cal Rules Prof Conduct, Rule 3-300.

When attorney's fees are a separate issue, counsel may avoid conflicts and facilitate settlement by negotiating the merits first, and fees only after reaching a resolution in principle on the merits [cf. Manual for Complex Litigation, 4th § 13.24 (simultaneous negotiation "problematic," but not absolutely prohibited)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsClient RelationsAttorney FeesContingency FeesLegal EthicsClient RelationsConflicts of InterestLegal EthicsClient RelationsEffective RepresentationLegal EthicsProfessional ConductOpposing Counsel & Parties

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.11

31.11 Maintaining Confidentiality.

Settlements would be a rare occurrence if statements, offers, arguments, concessions, and other negotiation stances could be held against parties attempting to settle a case. Therefore, offers of compromise and conduct and statements made in compromise negotiations are not admissible as evidence to prove liability for or the invalidity of a claim [Fed R Evid 408]. However, in order to encourage settlements, courts have provided additional protection. Local rules generally require confidentiality for virtually all aspects of settlement proceedings as well. Statements of offers made, or conduct observed, in settlement proceedings may not be disclosed or reported except to the extent that all parties consent or a court authorizes or compels disclosure [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.8; ND Cal ADR LR 7-5; SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(h); see ED Cal Civ LR 270(d) (settlement conference statement is confidential)].

Cross Reference:

Admissibility of settlement offers or conduct at trial. See § 31.12.

The confidentiality of settlement negotiations applies regardless of the process or procedure used in an attempt to reach a settlement. It is not just conduct, writings made for, and statements made at, formal court settlement conferences that are confidential. For example, the State of California has enacted a comprehensive statute guaranteeing the confidentiality of the mediation process [see Evid Code § 1119; see also Rojas v. Superior Court (2004) 33 C4th 407, 415, 15 CR3d 643, 92 P.3d 260, 93 P3d 260 ("One of the fundamental ways the Legislature has sought to encourage mediation is by enacting several 'mediation confidentiality provisions' ")]. Parties should expect similar protection in the California federal district courts.

Settlement agreements are another matter. Settlement agreements are usually memorialized on the record, and often result in an order of dismissal or, sometimes, even in a judgment. The terms of a judgment based on a settlement agreement, whether reached by settlement or by trial, are usually matters of public record. If the terms of a settlement resulting in the dismissal of a case have been put on the record, those terms are a matter of public record in most cases. Once the settlement process has concluded, the court has no reason for preserving confidentiality.

However, the parties may negotiate a confidentiality provision as part of a settlement, and a court generally, but not always, has the discretion to approve and enforce such a provision if the settling parties can demonstrate good cause for it [see Phillips v. GMC (9th Cir 2002) 307 F3d 1206, 1212]. If the parties intend to include a confidentiality provision in their settlement agreement, and if, as is common, the settlement agreement is placed on the record by the settlement judge at the conclusion of the settlement conference, the parties should request the court to seal the transcript.

Negotiation of a confidentiality clause on behalf of a large, corporate client can be a tricky business. It is very dangerous for a corporation to promise confidentiality on the part of every employee. Therefore, when representing a large corporation, counsel should specify exactly who is bound by the confidentiality obligation.

In addition, if a confidentiality provision is included in a settlement agreement, it may be impossible to enforce. Actual damages for breach of a confidentiality obligation may be hard to measure and hard to prove. It may be better for parties to also negotiate a liquidated damages provision as a means of enforcement of a confidentiality provision, the damages being triggered in the event of an unauthorized disclosure.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEffectsContracts LawTypes of ContractsSettlement AgreementsEvidenceRelevanceCompromise & Settlement NegotiationsLegal EthicsClient RelationsConfidentiality of Information

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.12

31.12 Admissibility at Trial of Evidence Concerning Efforts to Settle.

Evidence concerning efforts to settle or compromise a dispute is generally inadmissible to prove the existence or amount of liability or the invalidity of a claim [Fed R Evid 408].

However, otherwise discoverable evidence is not excludable merely because it is presented in the course of settlement negotiations. Likewise, exclusion is not required when the evidence is offered for another purpose, such as proving bias or prejudice of a witness, negating a contention of undue delay, or proving an effort to obstruct a criminal investigation or prosecution [Fed R Evid 408]. Proving apparent authority to settle may be a reason for admitting evidence of settlement discussions [see, e.g., Lockwood v. Wolf Corp. (9th Cir 1980) 629 F2d 603, 609]. Evidence of settlements by other parties may be admissible in order to allow the jury to reduce an award for damages already received [see Manual for Complex Litigation 4th, § 13.21].

Warning:

Efforts to settle can often be introduced by opposing counsel as evidence for reasons other than those prohibited by Rule 408, doing the damage the Rule intended to protect against. If this is unavoidable, counsel may wish to request a limiting instruction to the jury.

Cross Reference:

Inadmissibility of evidence concerning settlement or compromise, see 2 Weinstein's Federal Evidence, Ch. 408, Compromise and Offers to Compromise (Matthew Bender 2d ed.)

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEffectsEvidenceRelevanceCompromise & Settlement Negotiations

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.13

31.13 CHECKLISTS: Making an Offer of Judgment.

31.13[1] Checklist for Party Making Offer.

☐ Review general requirements for offer, including:

- ○ Offer must be made by party defending against a claim.
- ○ Offer must be in writing.
- ○ All parties must be served with offer.
- ○ Offer must include costs, either explicitly or implicitly.

Timing:

Offer must be made more than 10 days before trial begins

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(a)(1)(E), 6(d), 68(a)

Discussion:
See § 31.15, 31.16, 31.17, 31.18

☐ Confer with client and consider conditions and provisions of offer, including:

- ○ Condition of acceptance by all offerees.

○ Condition of inclusion of costs and attorney's fees.

☐ In lump sum amount.

☐ In addition to offer.

○ Condition of exclusion of post-offer attorney's fees.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(a)(1)(E), 6(d), 68(a); Marek v. Chesny (1985) 473 US 1, 9, 105 S Ct 3012, 87 L Ed2d 1 ; Lang v. Gates (9th Cir 1994) 36 F3d 73, 77 , cert. denied sub nom. Yagman & Yagman, P.C. v. Gates, 513 US 1017 (1994)

Discussion:
See § 31.18, 31.23

☐ Draft offer specifically to include costs and to include or exclude attorney's fees.

○ Follow format requirements for documents to be filed with the court.

○ "With costs to date" language is sufficient when underlying statute refers to attorney's fees as part of costs.

○ Language barring any award of attorney's fees may be required when underlying statute does not include attorney's fees as part of costs.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 68(a); Marek v. Chesny (1985) 473 US 1, 9, 105 S Ct 3012, 87 L Ed2d 1 ; Nusom v. Comh Woodburn, Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 122 F3d 830, 833-834

Discussion:
See § 31.17, 31.18

☐ Serve offer of judgment on all adverse parties.

☐ Be aware that judgment to an individual party may not be sufficient to obtain dismissal and avoid class certification.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(a)(1)(E), 6(d), 68(a) Kremnitzer v. Cabrera & Rephen, PC (ND Ill 2001) 202 FRD 239, 243

Discussion:
See § 31.15[3], 31.22

☐ File any accepted offer of judgment.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 68

Discussion:
See § 31.32

☐ Seek costs (and potentially attorney's fees) for any unaccepted offer of judgment; bar costs and fees from offeree.

○ Judgment must be for offeree.

○ Judgment must be less favorable than offer, including award of any pre-offer costs and fees.

○ Ordinary contract principles will govern interpretation of offer.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 68(b), (d)

Discussion:
See § 31.17, 31.19, 31.20, 31.27

31.13[2] Checklist for Party Responding to Offer.

☐ Ensure offer of judgment served pursuant to Rule 5 on all adverse parties.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(a)(1)(E), 6(d), 68(a)

Discussion:
See § 31.22

☐ Review offer of judgment:

○ Terms, including:

☐ Proposed judgment.

☐ Costs.

☐ Attorney's fees.

○ Effect, under:

☐ Federal law.

☐ State law in a diversity action.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 68

Discussion:
See § 31.17, 31.18

☐ Decide whether to accept, seek clarification of offer of judgment, or move to strike.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(a)(1)(E), 6(d), 68

Discussion:
See § 31.27[3], 31.28

☐ If appropriate, move to strike offer of judgment.

Timing:
Preferably, move to strike within 14 days of service of offer

○ For procedural or substantive defects.

○ Follow procedure for making motions to court.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 68; Klawes v. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (ED Wis 1983) 572 F Supp 116, 118 ; Boorstein v. New York (SDNY 1985) 107 FRD 31, 35

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Discussion:
See § 31.28

☐ If appropriate, serve and file any accepted offer of judgment:

Timing:
Within 14 days of service of offer

○ Acceptance must be in writing.

○ Acceptance must be unconditional.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 68(a)

Discussion:
See § 31.31, 31.32

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsMotions to StrikeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentAcceptancesCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of OffersCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentRejectionsCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsClient RelationsEffective Representation

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

47 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.14

31.14 Options and Strategy.

A party defending against a claim may use an offer of judgment to generate interest in settlement discussions and to shift costs--and potentially attorney's fees--to a claimant who the defending party perceives is unwilling to consider realistic settlement offers or discussions.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.15

31.15 Rule 68 Is a Means to Shift Costs or Achieve Settlement.

31.15[1] Rule 68 Encourages Settlement. Rule 68 provides that at least 14 days before the date set for trial, a party "defending against a claim" can serve on the adverse party an offer to allow judgment to be taken against the defending party for the money or property or as otherwise specified in the offer, "with the costs then accrued." If within 14 days after the service of the offer the adverse party serves written notice that the offer is accepted, either party may then file the offer and notice of acceptance [Fed R Civ P 68(a)]. An offer not accepted is "considered withdrawn" [Fed R Civ P 68(b)], and evidence of it is not admissible except in a proceeding to determine costs. If the judgment finally obtained by the offeree is not more favorable than the offer, the offeree must pay the costs incurred after the making of the offer [Fed R Civ P 68(d)].

The purpose of Rule 68 is to encourage settlement and avoid litigation [Marek v. Chesny (1985) 473 US 1, 6-7, 105 S Ct 3012, 87 L Ed2d 1]. Only offers made pursuant to the Rule are subject to its cost-shifting provisions [Berkla v. Corel Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 302 F3d 909, 922].

31.15[2] Offer of Complete Relief May Moot Action. An offer of judgment that satisfies all of the plaintiff's claims can be construed to moot an action when the making of the offer eliminates any federal claim for relief [see Greisz v. Household Bank (7th Cir 1999) 176 F3d 1012, 1015 ; Holstein v. Chicago (7th Cir 1994) 29 F3d 1145, 1147 (offer of relief apparently made outside Rule 68's provisions)].

31.15[3] Rule 68 Offer Cannot Preclude Class Certification. Courts have been reluctant to permit defendants to use Fed R Civ P 68 in class action litigation. In other words, courts have been reluctant to permit defendants to terminate a class action by offering complete individual relief to a plaintiff who has also prayed for class certification and class relief. Permitting a defendant to do so would permit the defendant to "pick off" strong, capable class representatives and give defendants the ability to permit class actions to go forward only in the most defendant-friendly circumstances [see Nasca v. GC Servs Ltd P'ship (SDNY 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 16992, at *9 (citing Deposit Guarantee Nat'l Bank v. Roper (1980) 445 US 326, 339, 100 S Ct 1166, 63 L Ed2d 427)]. Therefore, most courts have concluded that a claim of a plaintiff who is seeking class relief may not be mooted by a Rule 68 offer for complete individual relief once a motion for class certification is pending [see, e.g., Kremnitzer v. Cabrera & Rephen, PC (ND Ill 2001) 202 FRD 239, 243]. A few courts have also concluded that a claim of a plaintiff who is seeking class relief may not mooted by a Rule 68 offer for complete individual relief if the offer is made so early in the litigation that the plaintiff has not had a reasonable opportunity to file a motion for class certification [see, e.g., McDowall v. Cogan (EDNY 2003) 216 FRD 46, 47-48].

Cross Reference:

Extensive analysis of how and when Rule 68 offer of individual relief may moot class action, 5 Moore's Federal Practice, § 23.64[1][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

31.15[4] Offeror Must Make Offer at Least 14 Days Before Date Set for Trial. The offer must be made at least 14 days before the date set for the trial [Fed R Civ P 68(a)].

31.15[5] Computing Time to Make Offer. In calculating the time within which to make a Rule 68 offer, the day on which the offer is served is not included [see Fed R Civ P 6(a)(1)(A)]. Every other day, included intermediate Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays, as well as the last day of the period, is included in the calculation [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(1)(B), (C)]. However, if the last day is a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday, the period continues to run until the end of the next day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(1)(C)]. If the clerk's office is inaccessible on the last day of filing, the time for filing is extended to the first accessible day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(3)(A)]. Legal holidays include New Year's Day, Martin Luther King Jr.'s Birthday, Washington's Birthday, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Columbus Day, Veterans' Day, Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day, and any other day declared a holiday by the President, Congress, or the state in which the district court is located [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(6); see CCP § 135 (judicial holidays); Gov Code § 6700 (state holidays); see also Dwyer v. Duffy (9th Cir 2005) 426 F3d 1041, 1044 (day after Thanksgiving is legal holiday under Fed R Bankr P 9006, which is modeled on Fed R Civ P 6)]. The "last day," for electronic filing means midnight at the court's timezone [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(4)(A)]. The "last day" for filing by other means is when the clerk's office is scheduled to close [Fed R Civ P 6(a)(4)(B)]. The "next day" is determined by continuing to count forward after the "event" (in this case, service of the Rule 69 offer) [see Fed R Civ P 6(a)(5)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureClass ActionsCertificationCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentAcceptancesCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of OffersCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentWithdrawals

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.16

31.16 Plaintiff May Incur Post-Offer Costs Even If Successful.

Offers of judgment under Fed R Civ P 68 serve as cost-shifting tools designed to encourage settlement by forcing a plaintiff to weigh the risk of incurring post-offer costs and fees even if successful on the claim [Delta Air Lines, Inc. v. August (1981) 450 US 346, 352, n8, 101 S Ct 1146, 67 L Ed2d 287 (citing Moore's)]. Normally, a prevailing plaintiff is entitled to recover costs as a matter of course [Fed R Civ P 54(d)]. Rule 68 varies this general rule by providing that if the judgment is less than or equal to the offer, the plaintiff may not recover costs incurred from the date the offer was made to the end of the suit [Fed R Civ P 68(d); Marek v. Chesny (1985) 473 US 1, 8-9, 105 S Ct 3012, 87 L Ed2d 1]. Moreover, the plaintiff must pay the costs incurred by the defendant from the date the offer was made to the end of the suit [Fed R Civ P 68; Delta Air Lines, Inc. v. August (1981) 450 US 346, 352, 101 S Ct 1146, 67 L Ed2d 287].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.17

31.17 Offeror May Offer, Recover Costs Under Rule 68.

31.17[1] Rule 68 Includes Costs and Some Fees. As used in Fed R Civ P 68, the term "costs" refers to all costs properly awardable in an action under the relevant law, including expert witness fees and, in some instances, attorney's fees.

31.17[2] In Diversity Cases, State Law May Affect Recovery.

31.17[2][a] Preliminary Erie Determination Required. When applying Fed R Civ P 68 in a diversity case, one must first ascertain whether the award of fees or costs at issue is procedural or substantive under Erie R.R. Co. v. Tompkins and Hanna v. Plumer [see Erie R.R. Co. v. Tompkins (1938) 304 US 64, 58 S Ct 817, 82 L Ed 1188 ; Hanna v. Plumer (1965) 380 US 460 473, 85 S Ct 1136, 14 L Ed2d 8].

Under Erie and Hanna, the state's substantive law will govern in a diversity action, but the procedural rules of the action will be those of the federal court if they are consistent with the Rules Enabling Act and the Constitution [see Hanna v Plumer (1965) 380 US 460, 473, 85 S Ct 1136, 14 L Ed2d 8].

31.17[2][b] Expert Witness Fees Procedural Under Erie. Recovery of expert witness fees pursuant to the cost-shifting provisions of Fed R Civ P 68 is procedural, and thus may be imposed under federal law in a diversity action. However, the Ninth Circuit has held that expert witness fees are limited to those provided for under 28 USC § 1821(b), or $40 a day plus the costs of attendance [Aceves v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1995) 68 F3d 1160, 1167-1168].

31.17[2][c] Attorney's Fees and Costs Are Substantive Under Erie; Offeree's Counsel Must Examine State Law. In a diversity action, entitlement to attorney's fees and costs for purposes of computing the judgment finally obtained will be determined under state law [see Bevard v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (9th Cir 1997) 127 F3d 1147, 1148].

Trap:

Counsel for offerees in a diversity action should be aware that an offer of judgment may have cost- and fee-shifting consequences under state law not provided for in the federal rule [see MRO

Communications, Inc. v. AT & T Co. (9th Cir 1999) 197 F3d 1276 , cert. denied, 529 US 1124 (2000)].

Example:

An offer made "Pursuant to Rule 68 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure" in a diversity action qualified as an offer of judgment under a Nevada law that allowed for the grant of fees and costs to a prevailing offeror, contrary to the result under Rule 68 [see MRO Communications, Inc. v. AT & T Co. (9th Cir 1999) 197 F3d 1276 , cert. denied, 529 US 1124 (2000)].

Cross Reference:

Recovery of attorney's fees under California law, see 15 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 174, Costs and Attorney's Fees (Matthew Bender).

31.17[3] After Offer of Judgment, Plaintiff's Ability to Recover Post-Offer Attorney's Fees Depends on Underlying Statute.

31.17[3][a] Plaintiff May Not Recover Post-Offer Attorney's Fees When Statute Defines Fees As Costs. When the plaintiff or other Fed R Civ P 68 offeree has rejected a Rule 68 offer and then obtains a judgment that fails to improve on the rejected Rule 68 offer, the plaintiff's ability to recover attorney's fees under a statute awarding attorney's fees to the prevailing party may be limited. Federal statutes may permit an award of attorney's fees to a prevailing party, and a plaintiff who obtained a favorable judgment, even though it is not more favorable than the Rule 68 offer, is still the prevailing party. However, the ability to recover post-offer attorney's fees depends on whether the underlying federal statute awards attorney's fees to a prevailing party as part of the costs. When, as is common, the statute awards the prevailing party fees as part of the costs, a claimant who rejected a Rule 68 offer may not recover post-offer fees. They are barred by Rule 68 [Marek v. Chesny (1985) 473 US 1, 9, 105 S Ct 3012, 87 L Ed2d 1]. In a diversity case, when state law authorizes an award of attorney's fees as part of the costs, the same result applies [Champion Produce, Inc. v. Ruby Robinson Co. (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1016, 1027].

31.17[3][b] Plaintiff Possibly May Recover Post-Offer Attorney's Fees When Statute Defines Fees Separately From Costs. When a federal statute awards a prevailing party attorney's fees, and the underlying statute defines fees separately from costs, post-offer fees are not automatically shifted and may be recoverable by the claimant despite the plaintiff's rejection of a Fed R Civ P 68 offer [Haworth v. State of Nev. (9th Cir 1995) 56 F3d 1048, 1051 ; Solomon v. Onyx Acceptance Corp. (CD Cal 2004) 222 FRD 418, 421]. However, even in this case, district courts have wide discretion in refusing to award post-offer attorney fees to the plaintiff when the rejected offer of judgment exceeded the plaintiff's ultimate recovery. The court must consider the results the plaintiff obtained compared to the rejected offer looking at [Haworth v. State of Nev. (9th Cir 1995) 56 F3d 1048, 1052-1053 ; Solomon v. Onyx Acceptance Corp. (CD Cal 2004) 222 FRD 418, 421]:

- The amount of the Rule 68 offer.
- The stage of litigation at which the offer was made.
- What services were rendered by plaintiff's counsel after the offer.
- The amount obtained by the judgment.
- Whether it was reasonable to proceed with the litigation after the offer was made.

31.17[4] Attorney's Fees As Part of the Costs May Be Awardable to the Offeror. An defendant offeror whose offer was rejected may recover costs after the time of the offer if the plaintiff's ultimate judgment is less favorable than the offer or the same [Fed R Civ P 68(d); Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. EEOC (9th Cir 1982) 691 F2d 438, 442]. If the judgment obtained is less favorable, such an award is mandatory [Delta Air Lines, Inc. v. August (1981) 450 US 346, 354-355, 101 S Ct 1146, 67 L Ed2d 287 ; Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. EEOC (9th Cir 1982) 691 F2d 438, 442]. When a statute awards attorney's fees as part of the costs, post-offer fees should be recoverable by the defendant as the costs that are shifted pursuant to Rule 68. However, when fees are not defined as part of the costs, recovery will be governed by the terms of the underlying statute, and a defendant whose offer was rejected may not qualify for an award of fees if the defendant is not the prevailing party [United States v. Trident Seafoods Corp. (9th Cir 1996) 92 F3d 855, 860 , cert. denied, 519 US 1109 (1997)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsErie DoctrineCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesStatutory AwardsCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsWitnesses

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.18

31.18 Offer Does Not Need to Refer to Costs to Be Valid.

Although there are many reasons why it would be prudent to do so, a Rule 68 offer need not be broken down into specifics. There is no requirement for a Rule 68 offer to specify how much is being offered on the substantive claim, how much for costs, and how much, if any, for attorney's fees. A Rule 68 offer may make these sorts of specifications, or it may simply state a lump sum. The only thing that the language of Rule 68 seems to preclude is an offer that implicitly or explicitly precludes recovery of costs then accrued [Marek v Chesny (1985) 473 US 1, 5-6, 105 S Ct 3012, 87 L Ed2d 1 (Fed R Civ P 68 authorizes offer for judgment for money or property specified "with the costs then accrued")].

An offer may be in the form of a lump sum with the specification that the lump sum includes costs, or an offer may set out a specific sum for damages and a specific sum for costs. Either form of offer is valid. If the plaintiff accepts either form of offer, the judgment will necessarily include costs even though the offer limits the amount of costs the plaintiff may recover.

An offer may be in the form of a lump sum and make no mention of costs whatsoever. This offer is valid despite the silence, because it does not preclude the court from awarding costs in the case. This type of offer merely fails to specify any limit that the court will award for costs. If the plaintiff accepts this type of offer, the court will set costs in the normal manner and add them to the amount of the offer as part of the court's judgment [Marek v. Chesny (1985) 473 US 1, 6, 105 S Ct 3012, 87 L Ed2d 1].

When attorney's fees may be awarded to the prevailing party as part of the costs, the same rules apply. An offer that states only a lump sum, without reference to costs or attorney's fees, allows the court to make costs awards and attorney's fees in the usually manner and add these sums to the amount of the offer as part of court's judgment. If the offer states a specific amount for attorney's fees, or states that the lump sum includes all amounts that may be awarded as attorney's fees, the plaintiff's acceptance of the offer limits the amount of the award of fees. However, when it comes to attorney's fees, courts will interpret an offer as limiting a plaintiff's attorney's fees only when it does so in a clear and unambiguous manner.

Example--Offer's Reference to "Costs" Will Not Automatically Include Attorney's Fees:
An offer that states that costs are included in the lump sum offered, but that does not specifically refer to

"attorney's fees," allows the plaintiff offeree to recover attorney's fees in addition to the lump sum offered when the underlying statute does not define costs to include attorney's fees [Nusom v. Comh Woodburn, Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 122 F3d 830, 834-835].

Example--Vague Reference to Fees Does Not Preclude Additional Fees Award:

When defendant offered a lump sum that purported to included "recoverable costs and fees," this was not sufficient to limit a claim for attorney's fees. The plaintiff could recover attorney's fees in addition to the lump sum if the plaintiff were to accept the offer [see Bevard v. Farmers Ins. Exch. (9th Cir 1997) 127 F3d 1147, 1148 (plaintiff actually refused offer and case concerned whether trial result was actually less favorable than offer)].

Cross Reference:

Construction of ambiguities in offers of judgment against the offeror, see § 31.27[2].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of OffersCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesEnglish RuleCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.19

31.19 Plaintiff Must Win Judgment for Rule 68 to Apply.

The cost-shifting provisions of Rule 68 apply only if the plaintiff obtains a judgment, but that judgment is less favorable or the same as the offer of judgment made by the defendant [Fed R Civ P 68(d)]. A summary judgment obtained by the plaintiff is a sufficient "judgment" to make Rule 68 applicable. The cost-shifting provisions will apply if the plaintiff obtains a summary judgment that is less favorable or the same as the offer of judgment made by the defendant [see Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. EEOC (9th Cir 1982) 691 F2d 438, 442 (defendant actually obtained summary judgment against itself on basis that only relief permitted by law was that contained in its prior Fed R Civ P 68 offer)].

In the Ninth Circuit, Rule 68(d) will apply when the judgment obtained by the plaintiff after the Rule 68 offer is actually a settlement and stipulated dismissal [Lang v. Gates (9th Cir 1994) 36 F3d 73, 77 , cert. denied sub nom. Yagman & Yagman, P.C. v. Gates, 513 US 1017 (1994) (rule language "judgment finally obtained" encompasses order finally terminating litigation as result of settlement)]. Other courts have ruled the other way, however [EEOC v. Hamilton Standard Div., United Techs. Corp. (D Conn 1986) 637 F Supp 1155, 1158 ; Good Timez Inc. v. Phoenix Fire & Marine Ins. Co. (DVI 1991) 754 F Supp 459, 462-463 ("Although the literal text of Rule 68 does not require that the final judgment obtained by the plaintiff be pursued to trial, it appears that Rule 68 was intended to address only such a scenario")]. Accordingly, attorneys representing parties to a stipulated dismissal should insist on a clear written agreement on this subject.

Warning:

Any settlement involving a stipulated dismissal could trigger Rule 68 shifting of costs (and potentially attorney's fees) to an offeror. When preparing a settlement that involves a stipulated dismissal, consider adding language to the agreement to avoid potential cost-shifting consequences.

If, on the other hand, the plaintiff never obtains a judgment, and the defendant obtains a judgment, Rule 68 does not apply [Delta Air Lines, Inc. v. August (1981) 450 US 346, 354, 101 S Ct 1146, 67 L Ed2d 287 ; see Bower v. City of Redwood City (ND Cal 1995) 1995 US Dist LEXIS 18273, at *5].

In one unusual case, the court allowed Rule 68 cost-shifting to apply after the defendant obtained a summary judgment. However, in this case, the defendant's summary judgment was actually in favor of the plaintiff. The defendant made a Rule 68 offer that allowed an injunction to be taken against it, but opposed all other relief that the plaintiff requested.

The plaintiff rejected the offer, and the defendant moved for summary judgment on the grounds that the injunction stipulated in its Rule 68 offer was the only relief allowed by law. The defendant's summary judgment motion was granted, and resulted in a judgment identical to that contained in the prior Rule 68 offer. Even though the judgment was technically obtained by the defendant, the judgment was still "against" the defendant and "in favor" of the plaintiff. Therefore, the court allowed Rule 68's provisions to apply [Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. EEOC (9th Cir 1982) 691 F2d 438, 442 ("The Court in Delta Air Lines stated that Rule 68 'applies when the defendant offers to have "judgment ... taken against him." ... The Rule obviously contemplates that a "judgment taken" against a defendant is one favorable to the plaintiff' ")].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsStipulationsCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

53 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.20

31.20 Court Determines Whether Judgment Is More Favorable.

The cost-shifting provisions of Rule 68 apply only when the judgment recovered by the plaintiff is not more favorable than the defendant's offer of judgment [see Fed R Civ P 68(d)]. In determining whether a judgment was less favorable than the offer, courts consider all relief awarded, including monetary recovery, [Real v. Continental Group, Inc. (ND Cal 1987) 653 F Supp 736, 738-739], and pre-offer costs and attorney's fees that are includable as costs [Corder v. Gates (9th Cir 1991) 947 F2d 374, 380-381].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of attorney's fees includable as costs, see § 31.17[3].

A court may not properly consider a Rule 68 Offer of Judgment in denying pre-offer fees and costs [Champion Produce, Inc. v Ruby Robinson Co. (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 1016, 1023].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.21

31.21 Only Defending Parties May Make Rule 68 Offers.

Only defending parties may make offers of judgment under Rule 68. Rule 68 does not authorize similar offers or judgment or any form of cost-shifting settlement demands by plaintiffs or other claimants [Delta Air Lines, Inc. v. August (1981) 450 US 346, 350, 101 S Ct 1146, 67 L Ed2d 287].

Even under Rule 68, however, plaintiffs may be defending certain counterclaims or claims in intervention. Plaintiffs may make Rule 68 offers to the extent that they are defending a claim [see Fed R Civ P 68 (rule applicable to "a party defending against a claim")]. For example, a plaintiff may make an offer of judgment to an intervenor that has filed claims against the plaintiff. In these circumstances, however, whether the intervenor's judgment exceeds the plaintiff's offer will be assessed based on the nature of the offer and the intervenor's ultimate recovery against the plaintiff, rather than on the judgment between the plaintiff and the defendant [see Simon v. Intercontinental Transport B.V. (9th Cir 1989) 882 F2d 1435, 1439-1440].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of intervention, see Ch. 14, Intervention.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of Offers

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.22

31.22 Defending Party Serves Offer of Judgment in Writing on Adverse Party.

Rule 5(a) provides that "every ... offer of judgment ... or any similar paper" must be served on every party [Fed R Civ P 5(a)(1)(E)] by delivering a copy of the offer of judgment to each party's attorney [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(1)]. In a multiple defendant case, one defendant may want to make an offer of judgment to the plaintiff, but may not want other defendants to know the amount being offered to the plaintiff, or even that an offer is being made. This may be particularly true if the true intent of the Rule 68 offer is to initiate or provoke further settlement discussions. There is a theoretical possibility that Rule 68 itself may permit this, because it requires service of an offer of judgment only on the "opposing party" [Fed R Civ P 68(a)]. Rule 68 may, therefore, vary the terms of Rule 5(a) [Stewart v. County of Sonoma (ND Cal 1986) 634 F Supp 773, 775]. In any event, an offeror's failure to serve other defendants does not prejudice the offeree, and the offeree may not have standing to raise it [see Stewart v. County of Sonoma (ND Cal 1986) 634 F Supp 773, 775]. However, as a practical matter, it is unlikely that one defendant's offer to the plaintiff will remain secret for long, particularly as it may be advantageous to plaintiff's counsel to use one defendant's Rule 68 offer as a tool to initiate settlement discussions with the other defendants.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of Offers

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

56 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.23

31.23 Offer May Be Conditional on Acceptance by All Parties.

A defending party may make its offer of judgment conditional on acceptance by all plaintiffs. [Lang v. Gates (9th Cir 1994) 36 F3d 73, 77 , cert. denied sub nom. Yagman & Yagman, P.C. v. Gates, 513 US 1017 (1994) ; Amati v. City of Woodstock (7th Cir 1990) 176 F3d 952, 958 , cert. denied, 528 US 985 (1999)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentAcceptancesCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of Offers

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

57 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.24

31.24 Offer of Judgment Must Be Made at Least 14 Days Before Date Set for Trial.

The offer must be made at least 14 days before the date set for the trial [Fed R Civ P 68(a)].

Cross Reference:

Computing time, see § 31.15[5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentTime Limitations

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

58 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.25

31.25 When Party Found Liable, It May Make Offer of Judgment If Served At Least 14 Days Before Date Set for Hearing.

When the liability of one party has been determined by verdict or order of judgment, the party found liable may make an offer of judgment that will have the same effect as an offer made before trial if it is served not less than 14 days before the date set for the hearing on the amount or extent of liability [Fed R Civ P 68(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentTime Limitations

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.26

31.26 Offerors May Make Subsequent Offers of Judgment.

The fact that a defending party makes a Rule 68 offer of judgment that the plaintiff does not accept does not preclude a subsequent offer of judgment, provided the subsequent offer meets the requirements of Rule 68 [Fed R Civ P 68(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of Offers

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.27

31.27 Ordinary Contract Principles Govern Offer of Judgment.

31.27[1] Effect of Ambiguity in Offer of Judgment. A common ambiguity in offers of judgment is created by a defendant offeror tracking the language of Fed R Civ P 68 in the offer by using the term "with costs." Use of this terminology may result in an ambiguity as to whether the offer is in addition to or includes attorney's fees as part of the costs [see, e.g., Erdman v. Cochise County (9th Cir 1991) 926 F2d 877, 878-881].

The usual rules of contract construction apply to a Rule 68 offer of judgment [Guerrero v. Cummings (9th Cir 1995) 70 F3d 1111, 1113 , cert. denied, 518 US 1018 (1996)]. Ambiguities are construed against the offeror [see Erdman v. Cochise County (9th Cir 1991) 926 F2d 877, 880-881 ; see also Nusom v. Comh Woodburn, Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 122 F3d 830, 833-834].

31.27[2] Ambiguities Regarding Availability of Fees Will Be Construed Against Offeror. Ambiguities in an offer may invalidate the offer, or may be construed against the offeror [Lish v. Harper's Magazine Found. (SDNY 1993) 148 FRD 516, 519].

Example:

When an ambiguity involves the availability of attorney's fees as a part of the costs in an offer of a lump sum "with costs now accrued," those fees will be recoverable in addition to the sum provided for in the offer, and the ambiguity will not invalidate the offer [Erdman v. Cochise County (9th Cir 1991) 926 F2d 877, 879].

When an offer of judgment provides in addition to costs for "reasonable attorney fees as determined by the Court," the offeree may be able to seek post-offer attorney's fees to the extent allowable under applicable law. If an offeror wishes to limit fees to those incurred as of the time of the offer, the offer should restrict itself to "costs now accrued" [Holland v. Roeser (9th Cir 1994) 37 F3d 501, 502, 504]. Alternatively, a statement in an offer that judgment be taken including "fees and costs incurred by this plaintiff prior to the date of this offer in an amount to be set by the court" is sufficient to bar a plaintiff's motion for post-offer fees [Guerrero v. Cummings (9th Cir 1995) 70 F3d 1111, 1113 , cert. denied, 518 US 1018 (1996)].

31.27[3] Seeking Modification or Clarification of Offer of Judgment. A motion to modify or clarify a judgment on costs can be made either under Fed R Civ P 59(e) (amendment of judgment) or Fed R Civ P 60 (relief from judgment) [see Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. v. EEOC (9th Cir 1982) 691 F2d 438, 441].

Cross References:

Amendment of judgment, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 59.30 -59.37. Relief from judgment, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 60, Relief From Judgment or Order (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Consider:

When there is no ambiguity as to the offer of judgment's terms, the offeror cannot seek to rescind or modify an accepted offer on the ground that there was no meeting of the minds or that there was a mistake [Blair v. Shanahan (ND Cal 1992) 795 F Supp 309, 314-316 , aff'd on other grounds, 38 F3d 1514 (9th Cir 1994) , cert. denied sub nom. California v. Blair, 514 US 1066 (1995)].

Decision Point:

When an ambiguity in an offer may work to the benefit of the offeree, after conferring with the client, offeree's counsel must decide whether to seek clarification of the offer from opposing counsel or to accept the offer and seek the apparent benefit of the offer. For example, if the offer is silent as to attorney's fees that are not included as part of the costs, the offeree's counsel may decide, based on Nusom v. Comh Woodburn, Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 122 F3d 830, 834-835 , to seek fees rather than clarification. Counsel and the client should be clear that, by failing to seek clarification, they bear the risk that the court will not construe the ambiguity in their favor. The offeree must, therefore, be prepared to live with the offer as construed unfavorably.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of OffersContracts LawContract InterpretationAmbiguities & Contra ProferentemGeneral OverviewContracts LawContract ModificationsGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.28

31.28 Offer of Judgment May Be Stricken.

31.28[1] Motion to Strike Is Appropriate for Procedural or Substantive Defects. Because an offer of judgment has a binding effect when refused as well as when accepted, defective offers may be stricken to protect the ability of parties to make reasonable decisions regarding the conduct of litigation [Boorstein v. New York (SDNY 1985) 107 FRD 31, 34].

A plaintiff may move to strike a Fed R Civ P 68 offer of judgment for procedural defects [see Klawes v. Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. (ED Wis 1983) 572 F Supp 116, 118] or substantive defects [see Boorstein v. New York (SDNY 1985) 107 FRD 31, 35].

31.28[2] Deadline for Filing Motion to Strike. The better practice for filing a motion to strike is to do so within the 14-day period for acceptance of the offer [see Fed R Civ P 68(a)]. However, at least one court has held that it may consider a motion to strike filed after the expiration of the period, because the validity and effect of a Rule 68 offer is not usually determined until the close of the lawsuit and the filing of attorney's fee applications [Boorstein v. New York (SDNY 1985) 107 FRD 31, 34].

31.28[3] Procedure for Filing Motion to Strike Offer of Judgment. A party seeking an order to strike an offer of judgment must make a formal motion to the court, and an opposing party may file opposing papers.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of the rules and procedures governing motions, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see §§ 26.12 -26.36.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsMotions to StrikeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentTime Limitations

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

62 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.29

31.29 Rejected Offer of Judgment Is Withdrawn; Inadmissible As Evidence at Trial.

Under Rule 68, an unaccepted offer "is considered withdrawn" [Fed R Civ P 68(b)]; Littledove v. JBC & Assocs. (ED Cal 2000) 2000 US Dist LEXIS 18490, at *6]. An offer of judgment rejected by the offeree is not admissible at trial, except in a proceeding to determine costs [Fed R Civ P 68(b)].

In addition, a settlement offer not made pursuant to Rule 68 cannot be the basis for denying fees and costs to a prevailing party [Berkla v. Corel Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 302 F3d 909, 922].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentRejectionsCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentWithdrawalsCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesEnglish RuleEvidenceRelevanceCompromise & Settlement Negotiations

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

63 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.30

31.30 Period for Acceptance of Offer Is 14 Days.

A notice of acceptance of a Rule 68 offer of judgment must be served on the offering party within 14 days of service of the offer itself [Fed R Civ P 68(a)]. If the offer of judgment is not accepted within that time period, the offer is deemed withdrawn [Fed R Civ P 68(b)].

If the offer of judgment is served by mail, by electronic means under Rule 5(b)(2)D), or by alternate means of delivery under Rule 5(b)(2)(E), the deadline for accepting the offer is extended by three additional days [Fed R Civ P 6(d); see also Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(E), (F)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsElectronic MeansCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsMailCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentAcceptancesCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentTime Limitations

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

64 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.31

31.31 Acceptance Must Be Unconditional and Written.

A notice of acceptance must be in writing [Fed R Civ P 68(a)]. To be effective, the acceptance must be unconditional. The partial acceptance of an offer of judgment is invalid [see Whitcher v. Town of Matthews (WDNC 1991) 136 FRD 582, 584].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentAcceptances

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

65 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.32

31.32 File Offer and Acceptance.

Either party may file the offer of judgment and timely notice of acceptance with the court, along with proof of service of both. Failure to file precludes the clerk from entering judgment according to the terms of the offer [see Fed R Civ P 68(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentAcceptancesCivil ProcedureSettlementsOffers of JudgmentMaking of Offers

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
IV. DRAFTING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.33

31.33 CHECKLIST: Drafting Settlement Agreement.

☐ Consider types of settlement available and take precautions required for each:

- ○ Lump Sum Settlement
  - ☐ Advantages:
    - ○ Can be quickly performed.
    - ○ Court need not monitor performance of agreement.
    - ○ Parties need have no further contact.
  - ☐ Disadvantages:
    - ○ Defendant must have rapid access to full amount of settlement.
    - ○ Plaintiff may need money management expertise.
    - ○ Plaintiff may incur tax liability that might otherwise be legally avoided.

Authority:
Georges v. Secretary of HHS (Cl Ct 1992) 1992 US Cl Ct LEXIS 204, at *13, *16

Discussion:
See § 31.35[1]

○ Structured Settlement

☐ Advantages

○ Can allow plaintiff larger total settlement.

○ Can reduce immediate monetary drain on defendant.

○ Provides plaintiff with a guaranteed source of income over time.

○ Can diminish or eliminate tax liability.

☐ Disadvantages

○ May add an unnecessary level of complexity to settlement negotiations.

○ Plaintiff cannot immediately access total settlement amount.

○ Fixed sums preclude adjustments for cost of living or inflation.

○ Need to assure financial stability of annuity carrier.

○ Difficulty in evaluating appropriate attorney's fees.

Authority:
Weil Ins. Agency, Inc. v. Manufacturers Life Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1992) 815 F Supp 1320, 1322 , aff'd sub nom. Legal Economic Evaluations, Inc. v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1994) 39 F3d 951, 953 , cert. denied, 514 US 1044 (1995) , Georges v. Secretary of HHS (Cl Ct 1992) 1992 US Cl Ct LEXIS 204, at *16

Discussion:
See § 31.35[2]

○ Partial Settlement, as to only some defendants or claims:

☐ Plaintiffs must ensure release only relates to specified defendants/claims.

○ Sliding Scale Settlement:

☐ Mary Carter Agreements:

○ Must evaluate agreement under applicable substantive law to ensure it will be acceptable.

○ Must evaluate whether there is a duty to notify other parties.

○ Must evaluate whether agreement must be disclosed to jury.

○ Confer with client on costs and benefits of proposed agreement.

Authority:
Compare Hoops v. Watermelon City Trucking, Inc. (10th Cir 1988) 846 F2d 637, 640, American Med. Int'l v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 715, 718 n1, D'Hedouville v. Pioneer Hotel Co. (9th Cir 1977) 552 F2d 886, 895, and Minpeco, S.A. v. Hunt (SDNY 1989) 127 FRD 460, 463, with Icicle Seafoods Inc. v Baker (In re The Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 2000) 229 F3d 790, 798

Discussion:
See § 31.35[4][b]

☐ Pierringer Releases, in which a plaintiff who settles with one of multiple defendants agrees to indemnify that defendant for any eventual contribution action brought by the non-settling defendants after the entry of judgment:

○ Evaluate whether "proportionate share" approach (in which each defendant will pay only its proportionate share of the damages assessed by the finder of fact) will apply in case, making use of Pierringer release unnecessary.

○ Evaluate reasonableness of proposed release.

○ Confer with client on proposed release.

Authority:
Icicle Seafoods Inc. v Baker (In re The Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 2000) 229 F3d 790, 797-798

Discussion:
See § 31.35[4][c]

☐ "Cede-back" arrangements in mandatory punitive damages class actions:

○ Evaluate obligation to disclose to other parties.

○ Evaluate obligation to disclose to jury.

○ Confer with client on nature of arrangement.

Authority:
Icicle Seafoods Inc. v Baker (In re The Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 2000) 229 F3d 790, 798

Discussion:
See § 31.35[4][d]

☐ Evaluate items for inclusion in agreement:

○ Identification of parties.

Discussion:
See § 31.36[1]

○ Recitation of disputed matters.

Discussion:
See § 31.36[2]

○ Recitation of parties' obligations, including date by which the parties' obligations are to be performed.

Discussion:
See § 31.36[3]

○ Release:

☐ Plaintiff should seek a narrowly worded release:

○ Do not waive attorney's fees.

○ Do not include reference to a "general release."

○ Do not waive "any and all claims."

○ Do not waive claims ancillary to dispute.

○ Do seek a mutual release, even if defendant has not brought counterclaims.

☐ Defendant should seek a broadly worded release:

○ Seek waiver of attorney's fees.

○ Include provision that release is a "general release," including all related parties, such as subsidiaries, assigns, and successors.

○ Include provision that plaintiff waives "any and all claims."

○ Include provision that waiver applies to future claims not yet known of, and future conduct.

○ Include specific reference to and waiver of California Civil Code § 1542.

Authority:
Shaw v. City of Sacramento (9th Cir 2001) 250 F3d 1289, 1292 ; Western Chance #2, Inc. v. KFC Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 957 F2d 1538, 1543 ; Baskin-Robbins, Inc. v. Taj Cal., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 19946, at *65 ; Stroman v. West Coast Grocery Co. (9th Cir 1989) 884 F2d 458, 460-461 , cert. denied, 498 US 854 (1990) ; Mardan Corp. v. C.G.C. Music (9th Cir 1985) 804 F2d 1454, 1463 ; Mitchell v. Los Angeles (9th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 281, 283

Discussion:
See § 31.36[4]

○ Other provisions to include:

☐ Defendant's disclaimer of liability.

☐ Covenant not to sue.

☐ Mutual promises to return discovery material to producing party.

☐ Indemnity for claims brought by third parties.

☐ Confidentiality clause.

☐ Choice of forum clause.

☐ Choice of law clause.

☐ Integration clause.

☐ Agreement that court may retain jurisdiction:

○ Must be backed by court order incorporating terms of settlement or expressly retaining jurisdiction (consent decree) to be effective.

☐ Attorney's fees clause.

Authority:
Collins v. Thompson (9th Cir 1993) 8 F3d 657, 659 , cert. denied, 511 US 1127 (1994) ; Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am. (1994) 511 US 375, 380-381, 114 S Ct 1673, 128 L Ed2d 391

Discussion:
See § 31.36[5]

○ Signatures

☐ Include signature of client as well as counsel.

Discussion:
See § 31.36[6]

☐ Comply with Post-Settlement Notification requirements under Local Rules.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 40-2, 40-3; ED Cal Gen LR 160; ND Cal Civ LR 40-1; SD Cal Civ LR 16.4

Discussion:
See § 31.37

☐ Consider putting settlement on record in court:

○ Advantage: Ease of enforcement for party intent on doing so.

○ Disadvantage: Client generally cannot withdraw consent.

Authority:
Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1136-1137 ; Farris v. JC Penney (3d Cir 1999) 176 F3d 706, 712

Discussion:
See § 31.38

☐ Assure action is terminated by filing stipulation of dismissal or securing signed judgment conforming to terms of settlement agreement.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)

Discussion:
See § 31.39

☐ Review necessity of--and arrange for--judicial approval of settlements, including:

- ○ Class actions.
- ○ Shareholder derivative suits.
- ○ Consent decrees.
- ○ Actions involving minors and incompetents.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 23(e), 23.1; ED Cal Civ LR 202; CD Cal Civ LR 83-5

Discussion:
See § 31.40

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsReleases From LiabilityGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsReleasesContracts LawTypes of ContractsSettlement AgreementsLegal EthicsClient RelationsEffective RepresentationTortsProcedureSettlementsMultipartiesPartial SettlementsTortsProcedureSettlementsStructured SettlementsGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
IV. DRAFTING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.34

31.34 Options and Strategy.

Because most civil cases end with a settlement agreement, the wording of that agreement is critical.

Parties will first want to choose a type of settlement on which they can agree. If the settlement involves the defendant remaining in the case in a sliding scale arrangement, the parties will have to address questions as to the validity of the agreement and whether it may be kept secret (assuming no court order or discovery request mandates its disclosure).

Once an agreement is being drafted, defense counsel will want to make the agreement sufficiently broad to cover any future disputes between the parties. Plaintiff's counsel will want an agreement limited to the particulars of the dispute at hand. Both parties may wish to consider confidentiality clauses and other provisions common to settlement agreements.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsSettlement Agreements

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
IV. DRAFTING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.35

31.35 Consider Types of Settlements Available.

31.35[1] Lump Sum.

31.35[1][a] Lump Sum Settlement Involves Single Check or Cash Payment. The most common type of settlement is a lump sum settlement. In lump sum settlements, the defendant agrees to pay the plaintiff with a single check or cash payment, in consideration of which the plaintiff executes a release of its claims

31.35[1][b] Advantages of Lump Sum Settlement. The major advantage of lump sum settlements is their ease of execution, in that:

- The agreement may be quickly performed by the parties with an exchange of documents.
- The court need not monitor performance of the agreement.
- Payments for any future damages reduced to present value.
- Once completed, the parties need not have further contact.

31.35[1][c] Disadvantages of Lump Sum Settlement. The disadvantages of lump sum settlement agreements include the following:

- The defendant typically must have immediate access to the necessary monetary amount.
- The plaintiff may be required to manage large sums of money with little or no expertise [see Georges v. Secretary of HHS (Cl Ct 1992) 1992 US Cl Ct LEXIS 204, at *16 (discussing advantages and disadvantages of lump sum and structured settlements)].
- The plaintiff may incur tax liability on the lump sum settlement amount [see Georges v. Secretary of HHS (Cl Ct 1992) 1992 US Cl Ct LEXIS 204, at *13 ; see also 26 USC § 61(a) (gross income means all income from whatever source derived), 26 USC § 104(a)(2) (damages received in suit or settlement for personal injuries or sickness excludable from taxable income)].

31.35[2] Structured Settlements.

31.35[2][a] Structured Settlement Typically Involves Periodic Payments for Set Length of Time. In a structured settlement, the claimant typically receives periodic payments for a set length of time, rather than a lump sum. In return, the plaintiff provides a release of its claims. To provide a source of funds from which to satisfy the defendant's obligation to the plaintiff, the defendant or its liability carrier often may purchase an annuity contract from a life insurance company with the plaintiff as a beneficiary [see Legal Economic Evaluations, Inc. v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1994) 39 F3d 951, 953 , cert. denied, 514 US 1044 (1995)].

31.35[2][b] Advantages of a Structured Settlement. Advantages of a structured settlement include [see Weil Ins. Agency, Inc. v. Manufacturers Life Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1992) 815 F Supp 1320, 1322 , aff'd sub nom. Legal Economic Evaluations, Inc. v. Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1994) 39 F3d 951, 953 , cert. denied, 514 US 1044 (1995) ; see also Georges v. Secretary of HHS (Cl Ct 1992) 1992 US Cl Ct LEXIS 204, at *16]:

- Allowing the plaintiff a larger total settlement than might be available in a lump sum, while requiring less immediate outlay from the defendant than is typically required for a lump sum payment.

- Providing the plaintiff with a guaranteed source of income over a period of time, facilitating plaintiff's financial planning.

- If properly implemented, structured settlements may result in no or diminished tax liability.

31.35[2][c] Disadvantages of Structured Settlement. Disadvantages of structured settlements include:

- The plaintiff's inability to access the total settlement amount immediately.

- The probable fixed nature of the periodic payments, which would preclude adjustments for inflation or cost of living.

- The importance of ensuring the financial stability of whatever entity is providing the payments, including any life insurance carrier providing an annuity.

- Problems with valuation of structured settlements for purposes of computing attorney's fees.

31.35[3] Partial Settlements. Partial settlement is an agreement settling some but not all claims, or an agreement settling claims against some but not all defendants. Once a judgment is entered as to the settled claims or defendants, the plaintiff continues the suit as to the remaining claims or defendants.

Partial settlements present important issues for both settling and non-settling parties. For example, the plaintiff's counsel must ensure that the agreement releases only those claims or defendants to be discharged. Defense counsel must ensure that the settlement represents their clients' entire responsibility for the plaintiff's claims, pa rticularly when the law provides, if the plaintiffs prevail in the action, that non-settling defendants are entitled to a setoff from settling defendants. Such an issue can be addressed by seeking a "bar order."

Cross Reference

Use of "bar orders" barring further contribution from settling defendants, see § 31.05[3].

31.35[4] Sliding Scale Settlements.

31.35[4][a] Sliding Scale Settlements Defined. Sliding scale settlements are those in which a defendant settles with a plaintiff, but the amount of the defendant's settlement is ultimately determined by the outcome of the case. The settling defendant frequently, but not always, remains in the case. Even though there is no longer an adversary relationship between the plaintiff and the settling defendant, defendants agreeing to sliding scale agreements frequently remain in the case to convince the trier of fact of their comparative lack of fault and the greater percentage of comparative fault of the non-settling defendants.

31.35[4][b] "Mary Carter" Agreements. A "Mary Carter" agreement is a special kind of sliding scale settlement of a multi-party case. A "Mary Carter" agreement is one in which the liability of a settling defendant is limited in comparison to that of non-settling defendants. The greater the recovery from the non-settling defendants, the less the settling defendant pays [see, e.g., American Med. Int'l v. National Union Fire Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 715, 718 n1]. There is no fixed form of a "Mary Carter" agreement. The variations on the general formula are limited only by the imagination of lawyers. Nonetheless, a typical "Mary Carter agreement has the following features [Hoops v. Watermelon City Trucking, Inc. (10th Cir 1988) 846 F2d 637, 640]:

- Secrecy.
- Contracting defendant remains in lawsuit.
- Contracting defendant guarantees plaintiff a certain monetary recovery.
- Contracting defendant's liability is decreased in direct proportion to the increase in the non-settling defendant's liability.

"Mary Carter" agreements have been challenged on the ground that they may deny the non-settling defendants a fair trial by causing the jury to think that the settling defendant is adverse to the plaintiff when in fact that defendant is adverse to the other defendants [see D'Hedouville v. Pioneer Hotel Co. (9th Cir 1977) 552 F2d 886, 895]. Some courts have held them invalid as against public policy [see, e.g., Hoops v. Watermelon City Trucking, Inc. (10th Cir 1988) 846 F2d 637, 639-640 (Oklahoma law precludes enforcement of Mary Carter settlements)], and other courts have invalidated them when not disclosed to all parties [see Minpeco, S.A. v. Hunt (SDNY 1989) 127 FRD 460, 463]. Under Ninth Circuit reasoning, the Mary Carter agreements are probably permissible [see Icicle Seafoods Inc. v. Baker (In re The Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 2000) 229 F3d 790, 798 (jury determines only amount of damages and proportion of liability, and should never be informed of agreements, or even statutes, that will alter jury's assessment of plaintiff's damages and allocation of proportionate fault)].

Strategic Point--Defendant:

Consider making a discovery motion or request for disclosure of any agreements between a plaintiff and other defendants. In the alternative, consider seeking a court order to impose a continuing duty on plaintiff's counsel to disclose all such agreements without the necessity of a discovery request.

31.35[4][c] Pierringer Releases. In a "Pierringer release," a plaintiff who settles with one of multiple defendants agrees to indemnify that defendant for any eventual contribution action brought by the non-settling defendants after the entry of judgment. The Ninth Circuit has endorsed the use of Pierringer releases [Icicle Seafoods Inc. v. Baker (In re The Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 2000) 229 F3d 790, 797 (approving use of Pierringer release)].

By their nature, "Pierringer releases" are useful only when a defendant may be compelled to pay more than his or her proportionate share of fault and then seek contribution from co-defendants. In the vast majority of cases, such releases will not be needed. In a wide variety of cases governed by federal law, the Ninth Circuit has supported a "proportionate share" approach to the allocation of fault among multiple defendants, in which each defendant may be compelled to pay only his or her proportionate share and in which contribution claims will never be required [see Icicle Seafoods Inc. v. Baker (In re The Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 2000) 229 F3d 790, 796-797 (noting that approach has been recommended for tort cases); Franklin v. Kaypro Corp. (9th Cir 1989) 884 F2d 1222, 1231 (applying method in context of federal securities laws)]. Under California law, a defendant may be held jointly and severally liable for the entire amount of the plaintiff's "economic" tort damages, and be forced to resort to contribution claims if compelled to pay more than the proportionate share [see CC §§ 1431, 1431.2]. But, even under California law, a defendant may not be compelled to pay more than that defendant's proportionate share of a plaintiff's "non-economic" tort damages [CC § 1431.2]. Thus, there is some possibility that a "Pierringer release" may be useful; but it is unlikely to be useful in the vast majority of cases.

31.35[4][d] "Cede-back" Arrangements in Mandatory Punitive Damages Class Actions. In a mandatory punitive damages class action against one defendant, the Ninth Circuit has also approved the use of a "cede-back" provision allowing the defendant to recover punitive damages allocated to a settling plaintiff. Under that cede-back arrangement, the plaintiff remained in the case for the purpose of recovering its portion of a lump-sum punitive damages award [Icicle Seafoods Inc. v. Baker (In re The Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 2000) 229 F3d 790, 798]. The plaintiff was to recover a portion of that award but cede back the remainder to the defendant. The Ninth Circuit found that the provision was a lawful means by which the defendant could prevent the assessment of punitive damages that did not account for its settlement with one or more plaintiffs [Icicle Seafoods Inc. v. Baker (In re The Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 2000) 229 F3d 790, 798].

Warning:

To avoid undermining a cede-back arrangement, do not disclose it to the jury [see Icicle Seafoods Inc. v. Baker (In re The Exxon Valdez) (9th Cir 2000) 229 F3d 790, 798].

31.35[5] Consent Decrees. A consent decree usually is a settlement containing an injunction. Unlike typical settlements, the court issuing a consent decree exercises continuing authority and supervision to ensure that the parties fulfill their express obligations under the decree [see International Ass'n of Firefighters v. Cleveland (1986) 478 US 501, 523 n13, 106 S Ct 3063, 92 L Ed2d 405 ; see also Keith v. Volpe (9th Cir 1997) 118 F3d 1386, 1390].

A consent decree is subject to independent district court review before it is entered. The court may approve or reject the consent decree. For court approval, the decree must be fundamentally substantively and procedurally fair, adequate and reasonable. However, when the decree has been negotiated by the Department of Justice on behalf of a federal agency that is an expert in its field, the court must accord substantial deference to the settlement [United States v. Chevron U.S.A. Inc. (ND Cal 2005) 380 F Supp2d 1104, 1110, 1121].

A federal court may refuse to exercise continuing jurisdiction even when the parties have agreed to it [Arata v. Nu-Skin Int'l, Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 96 F3d 1265, 1269]. Thus the court may vacate a consent decree once its terms have been met [Collins v. Thompson (9th Cir 1993) 8 F3d 657, 659 , cert. denied, 511 US 1127 (1994)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureClass ActionsCompromisesCivil ProcedureSettlementsReleases From LiabilityMary Carter AgreementsCivil ProcedureSettlementsReleases From LiabilityPierringer ReleasesCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsConsent DecreesContracts LawTypes of ContractsSettlement AgreementsTortsProcedureSettlementsMultipartiesPartial SettlementsTortsProcedureSettlementsStructured SettlementsGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
IV. DRAFTING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.36

31.36 Common Settlement Agreement Provisions.

31.36[1] Identification of Parties. All settlement agreements should contain a section or paragraph naming and describing the parties to the agreement and naming their counsel. In addition, it is wise to include a clause binding the parties' corporate parents, subsidiaries, divisions, successors, assigns, employees and representatives. If any party acts in a representative capacity, the clause describing that party should delineate the capacity in which the representative serves. Similarly, when a corporate party's representative is signing the agreement on the corporation's behalf, the agreement should describe the corporate representative's authority to bind the corporation.

31.36[2] Recitation of Disputed Matters. The settlement agreement should generally recite the disputed matters of the case, together with enough facts to clarify the nature of those claims. The agreement should also include the case name, court, and docket number for any litigation settled by the agreement.

31.36[3] Recitation of the Parties' Obligations. Settlement agreements should detail the obligations assumed by each party in settlement of disputed claims.

Example:

In a lump sum settlement, [see 31.35[1]], the agreement should recite that the defendant agrees to give the plaintiff a check or cash in the form of a wire transfer or, in some instances, a cashier's check, in a specified amount, in return for which the plaintiff agrees to execute a release of the plaintiff's claims.

Attempt to anticipate all possible issues regarding settlement terms, and avoid ambiguity, because post-settlement litigation is common.

Plaintiff's counsel should ensure that the settlement agreement specifies a deadline for the defendant's settlement payments. If a settlement agreement does not provide any specific time for payment, the law implies a reasonable period of time in which to make the payment [Janneh v. GAF Corp. (2d Cir 1989) 887 F2d 432, 436 , cert. denied, 498 US 865 (1990)].

31.36[4] Release Provisions. The settlement agreement should list the rights, claims, interests, or obligations released in return for settlement. In addition, if the settlement is partial, the agreement should specify those claims or obligations, if any, not included in the settlement.

While counsel for the defendant may wish to include a release using broad, general language, counsel for the plaintiff should exercise caution in agreeing to such general language.

Examples--Interpretation and Scope of Release Provisions:

- A release of "all claims arising from or related to employment and departure from employment" has been interpreted to include claims for defamation and civil rights violations during employment [Shaw v. City of Sacramento (9th Cir 2001) 250 F3d 1289, 1292].

- A release of future claims may act as a bar even though those claims are unknown at the time of execution of the agreement [Western Chance #2, Inc. v. KFC Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 957 F2d 1538, 1543 ; Baskin-Robbins, Inc. v. Taj Cal., Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 19946, at *65 ("Courts in California ... strictly enforce the express provisions of General Release agreements")], and is usually more effective if the waiver makes express reference to the provisions of California Civil Code § 1542.

- A general release of claims including employment discrimination or CERCLA claims does not violate public policy [Stroman v. West Coast Grocery Co. (9th Cir 1989) 884 F2d 458, 460-461 , cert. denied, 498 US 854 (1990) ; Mardan Corp. v. C.G.C. Music (9th Cir 1985) 804 F2d 1454, 1463].

- A general release may be interpreted to waive any claim for attorney's fees [Mitchell v. Los Angeles (9th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 281, 283].

31.36[5] Other Settlement Provisions. Other provisions typically contained in the settlement agreement include:

- Disclaimer by the defendant providing that the settlement is not an admission of liability.

- Confidentiality clause precluding the parties from divulging all or part of the settlement terms.

- Choice of law clause indicating the law governing construction of the settlement agreement.

- Choice of forum clause regarding where any dispute regarding settlement may be litigated or, if desired, the exclusive forum where any dispute must be litigated.

- Integration clause providing that the settlement agreement represents the final agreement between the parties thus precluding the introduction of extrinsic evidence.

- Agreement that the court retains jurisdiction of the case for purposes of enforcing the settlement.

Warning:

An agreement between the parties alone cannot retain jurisdiction in the district court. The court itself must retain such jurisdiction either by incorporating the terms of the settlement agreement into its order or expressly retaining jurisdiction to enforce it [see Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am. (1994) 511 US 375, 381-382, 114 S Ct 1673, 128 L Ed2d 391].

- Covenant not to sue.
- Mutual promises to return discovery materials to the producing party.
- Attorney's fee clause providing that the prevailing party in any action to enforce or construe the settlement is entitled to recover such fees.

31.36[6] Signatures. It is important to have the parties as well as the attorneys execute the settlement agreement. Securing parties' signatures may forestall later argument that the settlement was negotiated without a particular party's authority.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsReleases From LiabilityGeneral ReleasesCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsReleasesContracts LawTypes of ContractsSettlement Agreements

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
IV. DRAFTING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.37

31.37 Post-Settlement Notification and Filing Requirements Under Local Rules.

31.37[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: Duty to File Notice of Settlement.

31.37[1][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Counsel are to inform the court immediately by telephone or other expeditious means if a case set for trial or other proceeding has been settled [CD Cal Civ LR 40-2]. Failure to so notify can be grounds for sanctions including payment of costs and attorney's fees of an opposing party [CD Cal Civ LR 40-3(a), (c)].

31.37[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. When an action has been settled or otherwise disposed of, or when any motion for interim or general relief has been resolved, counsel must inform the courtroom deputy clerk and the assigned court's chambers immediately [ED Cal Gen LR 160(a)]. The court will then set a date for the filing of dispositional documents in the action that will be no later than 21 calendar days after the notification, absent good cause [ED Cal Gen LR 160(b)]. Failure to file the papers by that date may be a ground for sanctions [ED Cal Gen LR 160(b)].

31.37[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The court may assess jury costs as sanctions against a party for failing to provide timely written notice of a settlement [ND Cal Civ LR 40-1].

31.37[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The Southern District has no local rule on the duty to file the notice of settlement. Individual judges' rules may address this topic, however [see also 31.37[2][d] (possible imposition of juror costs if jury impaneled)].

31.37[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Juror Costs Will Be Assessed If No Timely Notice of Settlement.

31.37[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. If counsel for a party has failed to notify the court of settlement of an action, it may be subject to payment of one day's jury fees if a jury is summoned for trial [CD Cal Civ LR 40-3(b)].

31.37[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. If for any reason attributable to counsel or the parties, including settlement, the court is unable to commence a jury trial after a panel has reported for voir dire, the court may assess against counsel or the parties responsible all or part of the cost of calling the panel [ED Cal Civ LR 272(b)].

31.37[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. No continuance of a scheduled trial date will be granted except in accordance with a motion made pursuant to local rules [ND Cal Civ LR 40-1]. A party's failure to proceed to trial on the scheduled date may result in sanctions including default or dismissal [ND Cal Civ LR 40-1]. Jury costs may be assessed against a party or counsel for failure to proceed to trial as scheduled or for failure to provide the court with timely written notice of a settlement [ND Cal Civ LR 40-1].

31.37[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. If for any reason attributable to counsel or the parties, including settlement, the court is unable to commence a jury trial as scheduled, when a panel has been summoned for voir dire, the court may assess against counsel or parties responsible all or part of the cost of the panel [SD Cal Civ LR 16.4].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesCostsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

71 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
IV. DRAFTING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.38

31.38 Oral Settlement May Be Put on Record.

To avoid disputes concerning the existence or terms of an oral settlement agreement, counsel may request or the judge may require that the agreement be "put on the record" by stating the terms of the settlement in open court when they are transcribed by a court reporter, or entered into the minutes of the court. Ordinarily, the parties will follow up the recorded settlement with a detailed written settlement agreement.

Warning:

Absent extenuating circumstances, the court will enforce counsel and client's apparent assent to the terms of an agreement entered into in open court [see Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1136-1137 ; but see Farris v. JC Penney (3d Cir 1999) 176 F3d 706, 712 (interpreting Pennsylvania law)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsOral AgreementsContracts LawTypes of ContractsSettlement Agreements

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

72 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
IV. DRAFTING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.39

31.39 Action Not Terminated Until Dismissal Filed or Judgment Entered.

Settlements are usually implemented by filing with the court a stipulation of dismissal [see Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)(A)(ii)] or the entry of a stipulated judgment that conforms to the terms of the settlement agreement. Obviously, the entry of a judgment will terminate the action. However, if a stipulated dismissal is the means by which the settlement will be implemented, the stipulation must be filed with the court. A stipulation of dismissal does not terminate the action until it is filed with the court [Fed R Civ P 41(a)(1)]. If a party executes a settlement agreement providing for the filing of a stipulation of dismissal and fails to file such a stipulation, the opponent may move to enforce the settlement agreement and the district court will retain jurisdiction [see 31.45[1]].

Cross Reference:

Stipulated dismissal, see Ch. 30, Voluntary Dismissal, see §§ 30.12 -30.28.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDismissalsVoluntary DismissalsStipulationsCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsIncorporation in Judgments

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
IV. DRAFTING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.40

31.40 Judicial Approval of Settlement.

Typically, settlements rest solely in the parties' discretion. However, settlements may not be effective in "representative" actions without judicial approval. Thus, court approval for a settlement is required in the following types of actions:

- Class actions [Fed R Civ P 23(e)].
- Shareholder derivative suits [Fed R Civ P 23.1].
- Actions involving minors and incompetents [ED Cal Civ LR 202; CD Cal Civ LR 83-5].

Settlements that involve an injunction to be issued by the court, such as consent decrees in civil rights or environmental litigation, require court approval as well. The parties have no power to stipulate among themselves the terms of a decree that will be supervised and enforced by court order [see Arata v. Nu-Skin Int'l, Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 96 F3d 1265, 1269].

Cross Reference:

Consent decrees defined, see § 31.35[5].

The requirements for court approval of a settlement in a class action may be the most elaborate, but the procedures are similar, if less formal and less detailed, in all cases in which court approval is required. In a class action, the court is formally responsible for "directing" and approving the form of notice to all parties and absent members of the class concerning the proposed settlement [see Fed R Civ P 23(e)], but in practice the parties actually have the responsibility for informing the court of the settlement, drafting the notices, and requesting the hearing. The court is unlikely to act on its own motion. In class actions, the parties have to disclose other matters, including all terms of the proposed settlement and must identify any side agreements that contributed to the settlement [see Fed R Civ P 23(e)]. There must be a formal hearing [see Fed R Civ P 23(e)(2)] at which class members may appear and object [see Fed R Civ P 23(e)(5)]. The court will not approve a settlement unless it finds that the settlement is fair, reasonable, and adequate with respect to all class members [see Fed R Civ P 23(e)(2)].

Cross Reference:

Consent decrees defined, see § 31.35[5]. Judicial approval required for class action settlement, see Ch. 20, Class Actions, see § 20.42.

Courts may engage in a limited review of settlement agreements even when formal judicial approval is not required. Courts will review, and court approval is required to implement, any term of a settlement agreement that requires the court to take some action. This may occur, for example, when the settlement agreement requires that the court retain jurisdiction over the settlement for purposes of enforcement, or when the parties ask for sealing of certain court files.

Cross References:

Confidentiality terms in settlement agreements, see § 31.11. Jurisdiction to enforce terms of settlement agreements, see § 31.44.

Court hearings may be required even after an enforceable settlement has been reached. It is not uncommon, for example, to have the merits of the case completely resolved by an enforceable settlement agreement that requires no court approval or that has been approved by the court, but which still requires a court hearing to set the amount of disputed court costs or the amount of attorney's fees recoverable under the settlement.

Cross Reference:

Recovery of attorney's fees after acceptance of Fed R Civ P 68 offer, see § 31.17.

In a diversity action, counsel should consult state law for any other type of action in which settlement requires the court's approval.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureClass ActionsCompromisesCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsIncorporation in JudgmentsCivil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsConsent Decrees

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
V. ENFORCING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.41

31.41 CHECKLISTS: Enforcing Settlement Agreement.

31.41[1] Enforcing Settlement.

☐ Confirm that breach of settlement agreement has occurred.

☐ Confer with counsel for party in breach to attempt informal resolution.

☐ If informal resolution not possible, choose strategy:

- ○ Seek enforcement of settlement;
- ○ View agreement as rescinded and sue on original claims; or
- ○ Institute separate suit for breach of settlement agreement.

Authority:
Arnold v. United States (9th Cir 1987) 816 F2d 1306, 1309

Discussion:
See § 31.43[1][a]

☐ If enforcing settlement agreement, confirm that agreement is legally valid:

- ○ Look to law of state that governs interpretation and validity of contract:

☐ Examine forum selection clause in contract.

☐ Examine choice of law clause in contract.

☐ Look at choice of law rules for state in which district court sits or from which case will be transferred.

○ Establish that under applicable state law no public policy reasons invalidate the agreement in whole or in part.

○ Establish that under any applicable federal law no public policy reasons invalidate the agreement in whole or in part.

Authority:

Piper Aircraft Co. v. Reyno (1981) 454 US 235, 243 n8, 102 S Ct 252, 70 L Ed2d 419 ; United States ex rel. Green v. Northrop Corp. (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 953, 962-965 , cert. denied, 518 US 1018 (1996) ; Davies v. Grossmont Union High Sch. Dist. (9th Cir 1991) 930 F2d 1390, 1396 , cert. denied, 501 US 1252 (1991)

Discussion:

See § 31.43[1]

☐ Confirm that a complete agreement existed between the parties:

○ Establish under applicable law that both parties either:

☐ Agreed to terms of settlement, or

☐ Authorized counsel to settle dispute.

○ Assent of client on record in open court will likely be found binding.

Authority:

Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1136-1137 ; Inamed Corp. v. Kuzmak (CD Cal 2002) 275 F Supp2d 1100, 1120 ; Marks-Foreman v. Reporter Publ'g Co. (SD Cal 1998) 12 F Supp2d 1089, 1092

Discussion:

See § 31.43[2]

☐ Determine whether District Court has jurisdiction to enforce settlement agreement:

○ If case is still pending, jurisdiction still exists.

○ If case is no longer pending, establish that District Court retained jurisdiction in its dismissal order by:

☐ Incorporating settlement agreement into its order.

☐ Expressly retaining jurisdiction to enforce.

○ If court retained jurisdiction, it must have done so over particular matter for which enforcement is sought.

○ If agreement provided for arbitration, Federal Arbitration Act will govern.

Authority:
Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am. (1994) 511 US 375, 380-381, 114 S Ct 1673, 128 L Ed2d 391 ; Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1140 ; William Keeton Enters. v. A All Am. Strip-O-Rama (9th Cir 1996) 74 F3d 178, 182 ; Homestake Lead Co. v. Doe Run Res. Corp. (ND Cal 2003) 282 F Supp2d 1131, 1131

Discussion:
See § 31.44, 31.45[1], [2]

☐ Invoke District Court's discretionary jurisdiction for enforcement if jurisdiction has been retained.

Authority:
Arata v. Nu-Skin Int'l, Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 96 F3d 1265, 1269

Discussion:
See § 31.45[2][a]

☐ Enforce settlement in state court if jurisdiction not retained in federal court.

Authority:
Ortolf v. Silver Bar Mines Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 85, 88

Discussion:
See § 31.45[2][b]

☐ If enforcement proceeding will be in federal court, use contempt or summary proceedings.

○ Contempt proceedings available when opponent has violated court order approving settlement and commanding or enjoining particular conduct.

○ Avoid evidentiary hearing on contract formation by establishing:

☐ Agreement between parties was complete.

☐ No material facts as to existence or terms of an agreement to settle are in dispute.

Authority:
Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1138 ; Callie v. Near (9th Cir 1987) 829 F2d 888, 890 ; TNT Mktg. Inc. v. Agresti (9th Cir 1986) 796 F2d 276, 278

Discussion:
See § 31.43[3], 31.45[2][c]

☐ Seek an injunction against any inconsistent proceedings brought by opponent.

○ Anti-Injunction Act does not prohibit injunctions against state court actions when:

☐ Necessary in aid of district court's jurisdiction.

☐ Necessary to protect and effectuate judgments.

○ Can raise settlement agreement in motion to dismiss as bar to further federal court litigation if settlement agreement so provides.

Authority:
28 USC § 2283; Flanagan v. Arnaiz (9th Cir 1998) 143 F3d 540, 545-546 ; Willis Corroon Corp. v. United Capitol Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1998) 1998 US Dist LEXIS 23226, at *10

Discussion:
See § 31.45[3], [4]

☐ Prepare and file motion to enforce or motion for contempt as appropriate:

○ Review rules for contempt proceedings.

○ Comply with local rules requirements for format, serving and filing of papers.

Authority:
TNT Mktg. Inc. v. Agresti (9th Cir 1986) 796 F2d 276, 278

Standard Procedure Checklist:
See Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Discussion:
Moving for contempt, see Ch. 35, Contempt, §§ 35.03 -35.20. Formatting papers, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, §§ 5.03 -5.14

31.41[2] Opposing Enforcement of Settlement.

☐ Ascertain whether enforcement may be challenged based on invalidity, incompleteness, or lack of jurisdiction:

○ Invalid agreement. Determine whether settlement agreement is invalid, in whole or in part:

☐ Look to law of state that governs interpretation and validity of contract:

○ Review forum selection clause.

○ Review any choice of law clause.

○ Research choice of law rules for state in which district court sits or from which case was transferred.

☐ Consider whether under applicable state law, public policy reasons would invalidate agreement in whole or in part.

☐ Consider whether under applicable federal law public policy reasons invalidate agreement in whole or in part.

Authority:

Piper Aircraft Co. v. Reyno (1981) 454 US 235, 243 n8, 102 S Ct 252, 70 L Ed2d 419 ; United States ex rel. Green v. Northrop Corp. (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 953, 962-965 , cert. denied, 518 US 1018 (1996) ; Davies v. Grossmont Union High Sch. Dist. (9th Cir 1991) 930 F2d 1390, 1396 , cert. denied, 501 US 1252 (1991)

Discussion:

See § 31.43[1]

○ Incomplete agreement. Ascertain whether agreement between the parties was incomplete.

☐ Consider whether, under applicable state law, the parties:

○ Did not agree on some essential term of settlement.

○ Did not authorize counsel to settle the dispute.

☐ Determine whether acceptance of key term or terms of the agreement is lacking.

☐ Attempt to establish lack of assent to terms in open court if necessary, if settlement was purportedly entered into in open court.

Authority:

Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1136-1137 ; Inamed Corp. v. Kuzmak (CD Cal

2002) 275 F Supp2d 1100, 1120 ; Marks-Foreman v. Reporter Publ'g Co. (SD Cal 1998) 12 F Supp2d 1089, 1092

Discussion:
See § 31.43[2]

○ No enforcement jurisdiction. Ascertain whether district court lacks jurisdiction to enforce the settlement agreement.

☐ Review status of case.

☐ If case not pending, determine whether district court ever retained jurisdiction in its order of dismissal by:

○ Incorporating settlement agreement by reference.

○ Explicitly retaining jurisdiction in its order.

☐ If court retained jurisdiction over some matters, determine whether it did or did not retain jurisdiction over the particular matter sought to be enforced.

☐ If agreement provided for arbitration, ask for enforcement of arbitration as sole remedy under Federal Arbitration Act.

Authority:
Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am. (1994) 511 US 375, 380-381, 114 S Ct 1673, 128 L Ed2d 391 ; Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1140 ; William Keeton Enters. v. A All Am. Strip-O-Rama (9th Cir 1996) 74 F3d 178, 182 ; Homestake Lead Co. v. Doe Run Res. Corp. (ND Cal 2003) 282 F Supp2d 1131, 1131 .

Discussion:
See § 31.44, 31.45[1], [2]

☐ Be prepared to argue that district court should decline discretionary exercise of enforcement jurisdiction

Authority:
Arata v. Nu-Skin Int'l, Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 96 F3d 1265, 1269

Discussion:
See § 31.45[2][a]

☐ If court takes jurisdiction, ask for an evidentiary hearing by establishing question of material fact as to:

○ Complete agreement between the parties.

- ○ Material facts as to the existence of the agreement or its consummation.

Authority:
Callie v. Near (9th Cir 1987) 829 F2d 888, 890-891

Discussion:
See § 31.43[3]

☐ If court takes jurisdiction argue against any contempt proceeding:

- ○ Show no violation of court order.
- ○ Show that court order did not command or enjoin particular conduct.

Authority:
TNT Mktg. Inc. v. Agresti (9th Cir 1986) 796 F2d 276, 278

Discussion:
See § 31.45[2][c]

☐ If opposing a request for an injunction against state proceedings sought by your client, argue jurisdiction with state court is concurrent because an injunction is not necessary in aid of the district court's jurisdiction or to protect or effectuate judgments.

Authority:
Hinduja v. Arco Prods. Co. (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 987, 989-990

Discussion:
See § 31.45[3]

☐ Prepare and file opposition to motion to enforce settlement agreement or for contempt of court as appropriate.

- ○ Clearly set forth grounds for opposition (e.g., invalid or incomplete agreement).
- ○ Review rules for contempt proceedings, if appropriate.
- ○ Comply with local rules requirements for formatting, serving and filing of papers.

Authority:
TNT Mktg. Inc. v. Agresti (9th Cir 1986) 796 F2d 276, 278

Standard Procedure Checklist:
See Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Discussion:
Moving for contempt, see Ch. 35, Contempt, see §§ 35.03 -35.20. Formatting papers, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see §§ 5.03 -5.14

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementBreach of Contract ActionsCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementContempt

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

75 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
V. ENFORCING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.42

31.42 Options and Strategy.

The goal of the settlement agreement itself is to resolve litigation between the parties. Ideally, a party will not have to seek enforcement of a settlement agreement. However, if enforcement is required, the enforcing party must establish at a minimum that the agreement is an enforceable contract, that it is complete, and that none of its terms are void as against public policy. Additionally, if the party seeks enforcement in federal court, the party must establish jurisdiction for the enforcement of the agreement in that court.

A party opposing enforcement will have the opportunity to raise all of the above issues--namely, asserting that the agreement is not enforceable, is incomplete, or is void either partially or entirely as against public policy. Finally, the party can challenge the basis for federal jurisdiction if enforcement is sought in federal court.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
V. ENFORCING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.43

31.43 Party Seeking Enforcement Must Show Settlement Agreement Is Legally Valid.

31.43[1] Construction of Settlement Agreement.

31.43[1][a] Settlement Agreement Is an Enforceable Contract. A settlement agreement is an enforceable contract. The general requirements for contract enforcement must be satisfied. Thus, the court may only enforce complete settlement agreements [Callie v. Near (9th Cir 1987) 829 F2d 888, 890].

Decision Point:

If a settlement agreement is breached, the opposing party has the option of attempting to seek enforcement of the settlement agreement in the original action, bringing a new, separate action for breach of the settlement agreement, or rescinding the agreement and suing on the original claims [Arnold v. United States (9th Cir 1987) 816 F2d 1306, 1309]. In considering whether to rescind and sue on the original claims, counsel must analyze whether there are actual grounds for rescission of the settlement agreement as opposed to merely suing for its breach. Counsel must also consider whether there are any limitations defenses that might bar this strategy, and whether, with the passage of time, it will be practical and economical to attempt to reassert the original claims or defenses. On the other hand, if the settlement represents a substantial discount to the value of the claims, and the plaintiff believes that the claims are easily proved, the rescission option makes sense. In all other cases, unless the court has retained jurisdiction of the matter for purposes of enforcement, the most practical solution may be a separate action for breach of a settlement agreement. However, counsel may have to bring this action in state court unless there are independent grounds for federal subject matter jurisdiction over this breach of contract action.

31.43[1][b] Settlement Agreement Interpreted According to State Contract Law. The construction and enforcement of settlement agreements are governed by principles of local law that apply to interpretation of contracts generally--even if the underlying claim is federal [United Commercial Ins. Serv. v. Paymaster Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 962 F2d 853, 856 , cert. denied sub nom. Paymaster Corp. v. American Bankers Ins. Co., 506 US 1022 (1992)]. When the settled claim is based on federal law, however, federal public policy may require that the validity of the settlement agreement be measured by federal law [United States ex. rel. Green v. Northrop Corp. (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 953, 961-962 , cert. denied, 518 US 1018 (1996)].

The choice of which state law will govern interpretation of the settlement contract will be determined by the choice of law rules of the state in which the District Court sits or from which the case was transferred [Piper Aircraft Co. v. Reyno (1981) 454 US 235, 243 n8, 102 S Ct 252, 70 L Ed2d 419]. If, as is normally the case, the governing law permits it, the parties may include a provision in settlement agreement that specifies which state's law will govern interpretation of the settlement agreement [Consul, Ltd. v. Solide Enters., Inc. (9th Cir 1986) 802 F2d 1143, 1146-1147].

Cross Reference:

Interpretation of contracts under California law, see 13 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, see § 140.32 (Matthew Bender).

31.43[1][c] Void Terms Will Not Be Enforced. As with other contracts, a term of a settlement agreement which is void as against public policy may not be enforced [see Davies v. Grossmont Union High Sch. Dist. (9th Cir 1991) 930 F2d 1390, 1396 , cert. denied, 501 US 1252 (1991) ; see also United States ex rel Green v. Northrop Corp. (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 953, 962-965 , cert. denied, 518 US 1018 (1996)].

31.43[2] Complete Agreement Must Have Existed Between Parties.

31.43[2][a] Both Parties Must Have Agreed to Terms of Settlement or Authorized Counsel to Settle Dispute. To be enforceable, a settlement agreement (1) must represent a complete agreement, and (2) both parties must have either agreed to the terms of the settlement or authorized their respective counsel to settle the dispute [Marks-Foreman v. Reporter Publ'g Co. (SD Cal 1998) 12 F Supp2d 1089, 1092].

31.43[2][b] Client May Grant Authority to Make Binding Settlement on Its Behalf. A client may grant an attorney valid authority to make a binding settlement on its behalf [Inamed Corp. v. Kuzmak (CD Cal 2002) 275 F Supp2d 1100, 1128]. Enforceability of a settlement agreement, including the issue of apparent authority, is governed by state contract law [Vazquez v. Secretary of Navy (ND Cal 1993) 1993 US Dist LEXIS 6325, at *7-*9]. If California law governs, mere employment of the attorney does not give the attorney settlement authority automatically--agency principles are applied to determine whether a lawyer has been granted express, apparent, or ostensible authority to make a binding settlement on the client's behalf [Inamed Corp. v. Kuzmak (CD Cal 2002) 275 F Supp2d 1100, 1118 , citing Blanton v. Womancare, Inc. (1985) 38 Cal 3d 396, 404, 212 Cal Rptr 151, 696 P2d 645 and Murphy v. Padilla (1996) 42 CA4th 707, 716-717, 49 Cal Rptr 2d 722].

An attorney may have apparent authority to enter into a settlement agreement, but it may not be valid if there was no meeting of the minds [Inamed Corp. v. Kuzmak (CD Cal 2002) 275 F Supp2d 1100, 1122, 1128].

31.43[2][c] Client's Signature on Agreement Not Required. Absent duress or public policy considerations to the contrary, a settlement agreement put on the record in open court will be binding on a party regardless of whether the client has been asked to sign anything [Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1136 ; Veronda v. California Dept. of Forestry & Fire Prot. (ND Cal 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 12993, at *15 , aff'd, 2003 US App LEXIS 4801 (9th Cir. 2003)].

Example:

A client's statement "yeah" in response to the court's question whether the terms enumerated by counsel were agreeable is sufficient to bind the client [Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1137].

Warning:

Advise the client to consider any settlement agreements before agreeing to them on the record, because the statement will be irrevocable.

31.43[3] Court May Have to Hold Evidentiary Hearing on Question of Formation of Contract. While the court has authority to enforce settlement agreements through summary proceedings, when there is a question as to the existence of an agreement, the court may be required to hold a hearing as to the formation of the agreement or its consummation [see Callie v. Near (9th Cir 1987) 829 F2d 888, 890-891 ; Russell v. Puget Sound Tug & Barge Co. (9th Cir 1984) 737 F2d 1510, 1511 ; but see Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1138].

Example:

Parties in a fraud and breach of fiduciary duty action engaged in negotiations for a settlement agreement. The settlement agreement was contingent on execution of a stipulation and judgment, which never occurred. The parties agreed on a settlement but differed on a theory of liability on which the judgment would be based, and no judgment was executed. Because one set of parties indicated that the legal basis of the judgment was an important part of the settlement negotiations, a hearing was necessary, and the district court could not properly resolve the factual dispute merely by weighing the affidavits and relying on the unsworn statements of counsel [Callie v. Near (9th Cir 1987) 829 F2d 888, 891].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawAgency RelationshipsAuthority to ActApparent AuthorityGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsErie DoctrineCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementBreach of Contract ActionsCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsValidityContracts LawContract InterpretationGeneral OverviewContracts LawTypes of ContractsSettlement Agreements

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

77 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
V. ENFORCING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.44

31.44 Court Must Have Jurisdiction to Enforce Settlement Agreement.

31.44[1] Independent Basis of Jurisdiction Must Exist. A settlement agreement reached in a federal court case might not be enforceable in federal court. The simple fact that the settlement was reached in a federal district court proceeding does not automatically give that court subject matter jurisdiction over subsequent proceedings to enforce the settlement agreement. "Enforcement of the settlement agreement ... is more than just a continuation or renewal of the dismissed suit, and hence requires its own basis for jurisdiction" [Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am. (1994) 511 US 375, 378, 380-381, 114 S Ct 1673, 128 L Ed2d 391 ; see 31.45[2]].

31.44[2] Federal Arbitration Act May Govern If Agreement Provides for Arbitration. If the settlement agreement provides for arbitration, the court's enforcement of the arbitration provision will be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act [Homestake Lead Co. v. Doe Run Res. Corp. (ND Cal 2003) 282 F Supp2d 1131, 1138].

31.44[3] Courts Can Retain Jurisdiction Over Class Actions, Multiparty Settlements. Courts often retain jurisdiction over class action and multiparty settlements [see, e.g. In re California Micro Devices Corp. Sec. Litig. (ND Cal 2001) 2001 US Dist LEXIS 7994, at *11 ; In re Sorbates Direct Purchaser Antitrust Litig. (ND Cal 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 23468, at *8].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureClass ActionsCompromisesCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsFederal Arbitration ActCoverage & ExceptionsCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
V. ENFORCING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.45

31.45 Enforcing Settlement Agreement.

31.45[1] Enforcement While Case Still Pending Before Court. The Court retains jurisdiction of the original action prior to dismissal. Thus a settlement agreement entered into prior to the dismissal of the action may be enforced in that action [see, e.g., Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1140]

Strategic Point--Delayed Dismissal May Provide for Jurisdiction to Enforce Settlement:

The settlement agreement need not call for immediate dismissal of the action or the immediate entry of a judgment conforming to the terms of the settlement agreement. Courts frequently will allow the parties to have a reasonable period of time to implement the terms of a settlement. Thus, the settlement agreement may provide for dismissal at a future time, such as in 90 days, unless either party gives notice that the settlement has not been completed within that time. The court may be more willing to consent to this procedure than it would be to actually dismiss the case or to enter a final judgment based on the terms of the settlement agreement, yet "retain" jurisdiction for an indefinite period for the purpose of enforcing the settlement agreement. In fact, courts may be willing to "retain" jurisdiction only to enforce consent decrees, or to enforce complex settlements in large multi-party or class action cases.

31.45[2] Post-Dismissal Enforcement of Settlement Agreement.

31.45[2][a] Post-Dismissal Enforcement Possible Only If Court Retains Jurisdiction. One form of settlement agreement over which the court invariably retains jurisdiction is a consent decree [California v. Randtron (9th Cir 2001) 284 F3d 970, 974]. In all other types of cases, once the court dismisses the action or enters a final judgment based on the terms of the settlement agreement, the court loses jurisdiction over the matter. The court does not have subject matter jurisdiction of proceedings to enforce the settlement agreement unless there is some independent basis for jurisdiction [Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am. (1994) 511 US 375, 378, 114 S Ct 1673, 128 L Ed2d 391]. A motion to enforce the settlement agreement is a separate contract dispute requiring its own independent basis for jurisdiction [O'Connor v. Colvin (9th Cir 1995) 70 F3d 530, 532].

As an alternative to an independent basis for jurisdiction over the enforcement proceedings, the district court may retain jurisdiction over the matter for the express purpose of enforcing the settlement agreement, either by so stating in an order or by incorporating the settlement agreement into the terms of its order [see Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am. (1994) 511 US 375, 382, 114 S Ct 1673, 128 L Ed2d 391].

The cases have required that, if the court agrees to retain jurisdiction, it do so explicitly, formally, and without any ambiguity.

Example:

An expression on the record by the district judge that he or she "will act as a czar with regard to ... the execution of the settlement" was not sufficient to retain jurisdiction, despite the District Court's intent to the contrary, when that expression was not accompanied by a formal order retaining jurisdiction [Hagestad v. Tragesser (9th Cir 1995) 49 F3d 1430, 1433, 1433].

As noted above, the settlement agreement may contain terms expressly reserving court jurisdiction for enforcement of the settlement agreement. However, for the retention of jurisdiction to be effective, the court must agree and must incorporate the settlement agreement in its order. The parties do not have the power to force the court to retain jurisdiction merely by including such a term in a settlement agreement [Arata v. Nu-Skin Int'l, Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 96 F3d 1265, 1269]. The mere inclusion of a term in a settlement agreement reserving jurisdiction, such as a term providing that the plaintiff may reinstitute the action if the settlement agreement is not performed, is not a retention of jurisdiction by or on behalf of the court [Ortolf v. Silver Bar Mines, Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 85, 87].

Strategic Point--Parties Should Expressly Request Retention of Jurisdiction and Secure Explicit Court Order:

Assuming that the court is willing to retain jurisdiction over the proceeding to handle possible disputes concerning enforcement of the settlement agreement, the best procedure would be to make a formal request for an order under which the court would retain jurisdiction for settlement enforcement purposes. If an oral settlement is read into the record, the parties could, following the specification of settlement terms, formally request, and the court could formally order, that the court retains jurisdiction to enforce the terms of the settlement agreement. If a written settlement agreement is reached by the parties and the terms will not be read into the record, the request for a jurisdiction-retention order will have to be made by means of a written motion [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)]. In any event, the parties should be sure that the court's order retaining jurisdiction is either reflected in the court minutes or formalized in an explicit written order signed by the court.

Incorporating the settlement agreement, in written form, into the terms of a court order may not be advisable. The terms of the settlement agreement may not be explicit enough. Furthermore, if the parties seek to have any of the terms of the settlement agreement confidential, it will be extremely difficult, if not impossible, to do so and have the terms incorporated by reference into a court order.

31.45[2][b] Party Seeking Enforcement May Bring Separate Action. A party seeking enforcement of a settlement agreement may bring a separate action to enforce the settlement. The action may be brought in federal court if the court has retained jurisdiction, or in state court if it has not [see Ortolf v. Silver Bar Mines, Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 111 F3d 85, 88 (remanding for dismissal without prejudice to refiling action in state court)].

If the matter is filed in federal court, it is essential that the court has retained jurisdiction with regard to the particular matter sought to be enforced [William Keeton Enters. v. A All Am. Strip-O-Rama (9th Cir 1996) 74 F3d 178, 182].

31.45[2][c] If Jurisdiction Retained, Party May Be Able to Bring Contempt Proceedings. Although a party normally brings an action to enforce a settlement agreement, when jurisdiction has been retained it may do so through contempt proceedings when the opponent has violated a court order approving the settlement and commanding or enjoining particular conduct [TNT Mktg. Inc. v. Agresti (9th Cir 1986) 796 F2d 276, 278].

Cross Reference:

Further details on contempt proceedings, see Ch. 35, Contempt.

31.45[3] Injunctions to Enjoin Inconsistent Actions May Be Available. Assuming the court has retained jurisdiction to enforce a settlement agreement in federal court, an injunction may be available to bar an inconsistent state court action when such an action would pose a significant risk of frustrating the District Court's jurisdiction over the consent judgment -- such as when the court exercises its power over a res [United States v. Alpine Land & Reservoir Co. (9th Cir 1998) 174 F3d 1007, 1013]. Such an injunction does not violate the Anti-Injunction Act, [28 USC § 2283], because the second and third exceptions to the Act--"necessary in aid of [the district court's] jurisdiction" and "to protect or effectuate judgments"--apply when the district court expressly retains jurisdiction to construe and enforce a settlement agreement [Flanagan v. Arnaiz (9th Cir 1998) 143 F3d 540, 545-546].

However, there can be concurrent state and federal jurisdiction to enforce a settlement agreement, and when the state exercise of jurisdiction is not inconsistent with the federal court order it may not be enjoined [Hinduja v. Arco Prods. Co. (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 987, 989-990].

31.45[4] Party May Raise Settlement Agreement Bar to Further Litigation in a Motion to Dismiss. Some settlement agreements prescribe procedures for or limitations on further litigation. The motion-to-dismiss procedure under [Fed R Civ P 12(b)(6)] may be used to enforce such terms, and courts have interpreted such agreements to establish bars to the maintenance of a civil action [Willis Corroon Corp. v. United Capitol Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1998) 1998 US Dist LEXIS 23226, at *10].

Cross Reference:

For guidance on making or opposing a motion under Fed R Civ P 12(b)(6), see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsConcurrent JurisdictionCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsMotions to DismissCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesInjunctionsGeneral Overview

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

79 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
V. ENFORCING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.46

31.46 Opposing Enforcement of Settlement Agreement.

A party opposing enforcement of a settlement agreement may challenge:

- Whether there was actual or apparent authority on behalf of counsel to enter into the agreement [see Farris v. JC Penney (3d Cir 1999) 176 F3d 706, 712 (interpreting Pennsylvania law)];

- Whether there was a meeting of the minds sufficient to create an enforceable agreement [see Callie v. Near (9th Cir 1987) 829 F2d 888, 891 ; Inamed Corp. v. Kuzmak (CD Cal 2002) 275 F Supp2d 1100, 1122, 1128];

- Whether the agreement is void in whole or in part for public policy reasons [United States ex rel. Green v. Northrop Corp. (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 953, 962-965 , cert. denied, 518 US 1018 (1996)]; and

- Whether the district court has jurisdiction to enforce the settlement agreement [see Kokkonen v. Guardian Life Ins. Co. of Am. (1994) 511 US 375, 380-381, 114 S Ct 1673, 128 L Ed2d 391].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementBreach of Contract Actions

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

80 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
V. ENFORCING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.47

31.47 Appeal of Enforcement of Settlement Agreement.

The Ninth Circuit reviews a district court decision to enforce a settlement agreement for abuse of discretion [Maynard v. City of San Jose (9th Cir 1994) 37 F3d 1396, 1401]. The district court abuses its discretion when its decision is based on an error of law or a clearly erroneous factual finding [Rabkin v. Oregon Health Scis. Univ. (9th Cir 2003) 350 F3d 967, 977]. The court reviews de novo a legal challenge to the interpretation of a settlement agreement [Jeff D. v. Andrus (9th Cir 1989) 899 F2d 753, 759].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsEnforcementGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewAbuse of DiscretionCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewDe Novo Review

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
VI. FORMS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.48

31.48 Offer of Judgment.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	OFFER OF JUDGMENT
	)
	)

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 68, defendant [_____ insert name of defendant making offer] offers to allow judgment to be taken against _____ [insert either him, her or it as appropriate] in this action in the amount of $ _____ [insert amount of offer], inclusive of costs and attorney's fees. [If offer of judgment is for injunctive relief as well add the following sentence: Defendant further offers that judgment be taken against _____ [insert either him, her or it as appropriate] for injunctive relief as follows: _____].

PLEASE TAKE FURTHER NOTICE THAT this offer is made for the purposes specified in Federal Rules of Procedure, Rule 68, and is not to be construed either as an admission that the defendant is liable in this action, or that the plaintiff has suffered any damages.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 68

Discussion:
See §§ 31.13 -31.32

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
VI. FORMS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.49

31.49 Acceptance of Offer of Judgment.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	NOTICE OF ACCEPTANCE OF OFFER OF
	)	JUDGMENT
	)

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 68, plaintiff _____ [name of plaintiff accepting offer] accepts the offer of judgment of defendant _____ [name of defendant] dated _____ [date of offer], allowing plaintiff to take judgment in this action in the amount of $ _____ [insert amount of offer] _____ [add one of the following: "inclusive of costs" or "together with costs accrued up to the making of said offer"].

Dated: _____

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 68

Discussion:
See § 31.30 -31.32

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment *
VI. FORMS

4-31 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 31.50

31.50 Local District Court Forms.

Local district court forms relating to matters addressed in this chapter are listed below.

Central District

Settlement Procedure Selection: Notice Request and Order (ADR-01)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Click here to view image.

Stipulation Regarding Selection of Attorney Settlement Officer (ADR-02)

Click here to view image.

Attorney Settlement Officer Proceeding Report (ADR-03)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

ADR Program Questionnaire (ADR-09)

Click here to view image.

Eastern District

Notice of Availability of VDRP

Click here to view image.

Stipulation and Order for VDRP Referral

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Northern District

Notice of Need for ADR Phone Conference

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Stipulation and (Proposed) Order Selecting ADR Process

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Cross Reference:

Automated HotDocs(R) and PDF versions of these forms may be accessed and filled in from the online version of this publication, and are also available at www.LexisOne.com/forms.

* The authors acknowledge the contribution of Hannah Bentley, a member of the California Bar, in preparing this chapter.

84 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.syn

§ 32.syn Synopsis to Chapter 32: Court Annexed ADR

32.01 Scope.

32.02 Objective and Strategy.

32.02[1] Court Annexed ADR May Achieve Early and Equitable Settlement.

32.02[2] When ADR May Be Ineffective.

32.02[3] Enforcing ADR Resolutions.

32.03 CHECKLIST: Northern District ADR.

32.04 Organization, Rules, Internet Site, and Handbook.

32.05 Assignment of Action to ADR Program.

32.05[1] Northern District Has Discontinued Automatic Assignment of Cases to Arbitration.

32.05[2] Clerk May Assign Action to ADR Multi-Option Program.

32.05[3] Action Not Assigned at Filing May Be Assigned to ADR on Stipulation or Motion of Party, or at Court's Initiative.

32.05[4] Party May Seek Relief From Assignment to ADR.

32.06 ADR Multi-Option Program.

32.06[1] Action Assigned to Multi-Option Program Is Presumptively Subject to One Mandatory Nonbinding ADR Process.

32.06[2] Several ADR Options Are Available.

32.06[3] ADR Certification Is Required.

32.06[3][a] Certification Must Be Signed, Served, and Filed Prior to Time Specified in Initial Case Management Scheduling Order.

32.06[3][b] Required Content of ADR Certification.

32.06[3][c] ADR Certification Must Be Accompanied by Either Stipulation and Order or Notice of Need for Telephone Conference.

32.06[4] Parties Can Select ADR Process.

32.06[4][a] Counsel Must Meet and Confer on ADR Options.

32.06[4][b] Selection of ADR Process Through Phone Conference With Member of ADR Unit Staff.

32.06[4][c] Selection of ADR Process at Case Management Conference.

32.06[5] Timing of ADR Process in ADR Multi-Option Program.

32.07 Nonbinding Arbitration Process Resembles Trial.

32.08 Reserved.

32.09 Appointment of Arbitrator or Panel of Three Arbitrators.

32.10 Arbitrator Will Schedule Arbitration.

32.10[1] Arbitrator Will Consult With Parties.

32.10[2] Hearing Date Must Fall Within Time Fixed by Assigned Judge or Within 90 Days of Appointment of Arbitrator.

32.10[3] Motion Is Required to Extend Deadline for Conducting Arbitration Hearing.

32.11 Written Arbitration Statements Are Required.

32.11[1] Parties Must Submit Statement at Least Seven Days Before Hearing.

32.11[2] Required Content of Statement.

32.11[3] Arbitrator May Excuse or Modify Requirement of Statements.

32.11[4] Statement Is Not Filed With Court.

32.12 Attendance at Hearing.

32.12[1] Parties Are Required to Attend.

32.12[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts of Case.

32.12[3] Each Party Must Be Represented by Trial Counsel.

32.12[4] Required Persons May Request to Be Excused From Attendance.

32.12[4][a] Request Must Be in Writing, 14 Days Before Hearing.

32.12[4][b] Hardship Is Required.

32.12[4][c] Excused Person Must Be Available by Telephone.

32.12[5] Failure of Party to Attend.

32.13 Conduct of Arbitration Hearing.

32.13[1] Arbitrator Does Not Facilitate Settlement.

32.13[2] Witnesses and Documents May Be Subpoenaed.

32.13[3] Testimony Must Be Taken Under Oath With Opportunity for Cross-Examination.

32.13[4] Admission of Evidence Guided by Federal Rules of Evidence.

32.13[5] Ex Parte Contact With Arbitrator Prohibited.

32.13[6] Hearing May Be Recorded or Transcribed.

32.14 Arbitration Award.

32.14[1] Form of Arbitration Award.

32.14[2] Award Must Be Filed by Arbitrator With Clerk Within 14 Days After Arbitration Hearing Concluded.

32.14[3] Award Must Be Served on Parties Both by Clerk and by Prevailing Party.

32.14[4] Award Must Be Sealed by Clerk.

32.15 Challenging Arbitration Award.

32.15[1] Demanding Trial De Novo.

32.15[1][a] Demand for Trial De Novo Must Be Filed and Served Within 30 Days of Notice of Award.

32.15[1][b] Timely Demand Precludes Entry of Judgment on Award.

32.15[1][c] Award Must Not Be Attached to Demand.

32.15[2] Evidence of Arbitration Proceeding Inadmissible in Trial De Novo.

32.16 Entry of Judgment on Arbitration Award.

32.16[1] Judgment Entered on Award If No Timely Demand for Trial De Novo Filed.

32.16[2] Judgment Entered on Award If Parties Have Stipulated in Writing to Waive Right to Trial De Novo.

32.17 ENE Can Focus Issues Early in Pretrial Process.

32.18 Case Will Be Assigned to Experienced Neutral With Subject Matter Expertise.

32.19 Party May Object to Evaluator.

32.20 Ex Parte Contact With Evaluator Prohibited.

32.21 Evaluator Will Schedule ENE Session.

32.21[1] Evaluator Will Consult With Parties.

32.21[2] ENE Session Must Be Held Within 90 Days After Entry of Order Referring Case to ENE.

32.21[3] Party May Request to Extend Time to Conduct ENE Session.

32.21[3][a] Motion Must Be Filed No Later Than 14 Days Before ENE Session Is to Be Held.

32.21[3][b] Required Content of Motion.

32.22 Written ENE Statements Are Required.

32.22[1] Parties Must Submit ENE Statements at Least Seven Days Before First ENE Session.

32.22[2] ENE Statement Is Not Filed With Court.

32.22[3] Required Content of ENE Statement.

32.23 Attendance at ENE Session.

32.23[1] Parties Are Required to Attend.

32.23[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle.

32.23[3] Parties Must Be Represented by Trial Counsel.

32.23[4] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement.

32.23[5] Required Person May Request to Be Excused From Attendance at ENE Session.

32.23[5][a] Request Must Be in Writing.

32.23[5][b] Request Must Be Made No Fewer Than 14 Days Before Date of ENE Session.

32.23[5][c] Hardship Is Required.

32.23[5][d] Required Content of Request.

32.23[5][e] Excused Person Must Be Available by Phone.

32.23[6] Party May Oppose Request to Be Excused.

32.23[6][a] Request Must Be in Writing.

32.23[6][b] Request Must Be Made Within Four Days of Receiving Request to Be Excused.

32.23[6][c] Required Content of Request.

32.23[6][d] Request Is Not Filed With Court.

32.23[7] Party May Seek to Compel Attendance by Appropriate Party Representative.

32.23[7][a] Allegation Must Be in Writing.

32.23[7][b] Letter Must Be Submitted As Far in Advance of ENE Session as Practicable.

32.23[7][c] Required Content of Letter.

32.23[7][d] Letter Is Not Filed With Court.

32.23[8] Challenged Party May Respond to Allegation That It Will Not Be Represented by Appropriate Representative at ENE Session.

32.23[8][a] Response Must Be in Writing.

32.23[8][b] Response Must Be Made Within Four Days of Receiving Letter Seeking to Compel Attendance by Appropriate Representative.

32.23[8][c] Response Is Not Filed With Court.

32.24 Procedure at ENE Session.

32.24[1] Assigned Duties of Evaluator.

32.24[2] Limitations on Authority of Evaluator.

32.24[3] Proceedings Are Informal; Rules of Evidence Inapplicable.

32.24[4] Transcript Is Not Permitted.

32.24[5] Delivery of Evaluation.

32.25 ENE Sessions Are Confidential.

32.26 Follow Up to ENE Session.

32.26[1] Evaluator May Order Limited Follow Up Without Stipulation of Parties.

32.26[2] With Stipulation of Parties, Evaluator May Order Additional ENE Sessions.

32.27 Evaluator Must File Certification of ENE Session Within 14 Days After Close of Session.

32.28 Mediator Facilitates Settlement.

32.29 Party May Object to Mediator.

32.30 Mediator Schedules Mediation Session.

32.30[1] Mediator Will Consult With Parties.

32.30[2] Mediation Must Be Held Within 90 Days After Entry of Order Referring Case to Mediation.

32.30[3] Party May Move to Extend Time for Mediation.

32.30[3][a] Motion Must Be Filed No Later Than 14 Days Before Mediation Is to Be Held.

32.30[3][b] Required Content of Motion.

32.31 Parties Must Submit Mediation Statement.

32.31[1] Statements Must Be Submitted at Least Seven Days Before First Mediation Session.

32.31[2] Required Content of Mediation Statement.

32.31[3] Mediation Statements Are Not Filed With Court.

32.31A Contact with Mediator Before Mediation.

32.31A[1] Mediator May Ask Parties to Submit Additional Mediation Statement Only to Mediator.

32.31A[2] Additional Mediation Statement Is Confidential.

32.31A[3] Content of Additional Mediation Statement.

32.32 Attendance at Mediation.

32.32[1] Parties Are Required to Attend.

32.32[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle.

32.32[3] Each Party Must Be Represented by Trial Counsel.

32.32[4] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement.

32.32[5] Required Person May Request to Be Excused From Attendance at Mediation.

32.32[5][a] Request Must Be Made in Writing.

32.32[5][b] Request Must Be Made No Fewer Than 14 Days Before Date of Mediation.

32.32[5][c] Hardship Is Required.

32.32[5][d] Required Content of Request.

32.32[5][e] Excused Person Must Be Available by Phone.

32.32[6] Party May Oppose Another Party's Request to Be Excused.

32.32[6][a] Opposition Must Be in Writing.

32.32[6][b] Letter Is Confidential.

32.32[6][c] Letter Must Be Submitted Within Four Days of Receiving Copy of Request to Be Excused.

32.32[6][d] Required Content of Letter.

32.32[7] Party May Seek to Compel Attendance by Appropriate Party Representative.

32.32[7][a] Opposition Must Be in Writing.

32.32[7][b] Letter Is Confidential.

32.32[7][c] Letter Must Be Submitted As Far in Advance of Mediation Session as Practicable.

32.32[7][d] Required Content of Letter.

32.32[8] Party May Challenge Allegations That It Will Not Be Represented at Mediation Session by Appropriate Representative.

32.32[8][a] Challenged Party May Submit Responsive Letter.

32.32[8][b] Letter Is Confidential.

32.32[8][c] Letter Must Be Submitted Within Four Days of Receiving Written Allegations.

32.33 Mediation Procedures.

32.33[1] Proceedings Are Informal.

32.33[2] Mediator May Meet Separately With Each Side, or With Counsel Only, or Parties Only.

32.33[3] Proceedings Are Confidential.

32.33[4] Follow Up to Mediation.

32.33[5] Mediator Must File Certification of Mediation Within 14 Days After Close of Session.

32.34 Settlement Conference Focuses Parties on Evidence and Law.

32.35 Referral of Case for Conference.

32.35[1] Case May Be Referred Sua Sponte or on Motion or Stipulation of Parties.

32.35[2] General Rule: Motion May Be Made at Any Time.

32.36 Settlement Judge.

32.36[1] Settlement Conference Generally Conducted by Magistrate Judge.

32.36[2] Stipulated Preference of Parties As to Settlement Judge Will, If Feasible, Be Given Effect.

32.36[3] On Stipulation of Parties, Assigned Judge May Hold Settlement Conference.

32.37 Settlement Judge Will Schedule Conference.

32.38 Settlement Judge Will Notify Parties of Submission and Attendance Requirements.

32.39 Attendance of Parties.

32.39[1] Parties May Be Required to Attend Conference.

32.39[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle.

32.39[3] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement.

32.40 Settlement Conference Is Confidential.

32.41 Nonbinding Summary Trial to Bench or Jury.

32.42 Privately Conducted ADR.

32.43 CHECKLIST: Eastern District--Voluntary Dispute Resolution Program (VDRP).

32.44 Parties Must Consider Availability of Program.

32.45 Certain Actions Are Exempted From VDRP.

32.46 Clerk Will Notify Plaintiffs of Availability of VDRP.

32.47 Plaintiffs Must Notify Other Parties of Availability of VDRP.

32.48 Parties Must Report Consideration of VDRP in Status Conference Report.

32.49 Referral to VDRP Requires Consent of All Parties.

32.50 Parties Must File Stipulation and Order for VDRP Referral.

32.51 Parties May Request Referral to VDRP at Any Time.

32.52 Parties May Select Neutral.

32.53 Neutral Schedules and Sets Agenda for VDRP Session.

32.53[1] Neutral Will Consult With Parties.

32.53[2] VDRP Session Must Occur Within 91 Days of Appointment of Neutral.

32.54 Parties Must Submit Written VDRP Statements.

32.54[1] Required Content of VDRP Statement.

32.54[2] Statements May Not Exceed 10 Pages.

32.54[3] Submit Statements at Least Seven Days Prior to First VDRP Session.

32.54[4] Serve Statements on Other Parties.

32.54[5] Do Not File Statement.

32.55 Attendance at VDRP Session.

32.55[1] Parties and Lead Counsel Must Attend.

32.55[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle.

32.55[3] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement.

32.55[4] Required Person May Request to Be Excused From Attendance at VDRP Session.

32.55[4][a] Confer With Other Parties Before Request to Be Excused From Attendance.

32.55[4][b] Hardship Must Be Shown.

32.55[4][c] Telephone Availability Is Required.

32.56 VDRP Session Is Confidential.

32.57 Completion of VDRP Session.

32.57[1] Neutral's Reporting Obligations.

32.57[1][a] Neutral Reports Date of Completion of Session.

32.57[1][b] Neutral Must Report by Time Fixed in VDRP Referral or Within 14 Days of Completion of VDRP Session.

32.57[2] Parties' Reporting Obligations.

32.57[2][a] Parties Must File Joint VDRP Completion Report.

32.57[2][b] VDRP Completion Report Must Be Filed by Time Fixed in VDRP Referral or Within 14 Days of Completion of VDRP Session.

32.57[2][c] Required Content of VDRP Completion Report.

32.57[2][d] Dismissal Order May Be Filed in Lieu of VDRP Completion Report.

32.58 Procedures for Violations of VDRP Rules.

32.58[1] Complaints Alleging Material Violations Must Be in Writing.

32.58[2] Sanctions Are Available.

32.59 CHECKLIST: Central District--Mandatory Settlement Procedures.

32.60 Parties Are Required to Participate in One Settlement Procedure.

32.61 Four Settlement Procedures Are Available.

32.62 Parties May Select ADR Procedure.

32.62[1] Notice of Settlement Procedure Selection Is Required.

32.62[2] File Notice of Selection Not Later Than 14 Days After Entry of Scheduling Order.

32.62[3] Court Selects Settlement Procedure If Parties Fail to File Notice of Selection.

32.62[4] Other ADR Options or Settlement Procedures Not Precluded.

32.63 Settlement Procedure Must Occur No Later Than 45 Days Before Final Pretrial Conference.

32.64 Parties Must Submit Settlement Statement.

32.64[1] Content of Settlement Statement.

32.64[2] Statement Must Be Submitted at Least Five Days Before Conference.

32.64[3] Statement May Not Exceed Five Pages.

32.65 Conduct of Proceedings.

32.65[1] Parties or Representative With Authority to Settle Must Attend.

32.65[2] Trial Counsel Must Attend.

32.65[3] Parties Must Be Prepared for Conference.

32.65[4] Settlement Officer at Conference May Require Statements and Testimony.

32.66 Proceedings Are Confidential.

32.67 Settlement Must Be Reported and Memorialized.

32.68 CHECKLIST: ADR Procedures in Southern District.

32.69 Southern District Mandates Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE) Conference.

32.69[1] Timing of ENE Conference.

32.69[1][a] Conference Must Be Held Within 45 Days of Filing of Answer.

32.69[1][b] Conference May Be Held Before Answer on Request of Party.

32.69[2] Cases in Which ENE Conference May Be Excused.

32.69[3] Conduct of ENE Conference.

32.69[3][a] ENE Conference Is Held Before Judicial Officer Supervising Discovery.

32.69[3][b] Parties and Counsel Must Attend Conference Unless Excused for Good Cause.

32.69[3][c] Parties and Officer Discuss Claims and Defenses With View to Settlement.

32.69[3][d] Conference Is Informal and Confidential.

32.69[4] Case May Be Referred to Mediation or Arbitration If Not Settled by ENE Conference.

32.69[5] Case Management Conference Must Be Held After Unsuccessful ENE Conference.

32.69[5][a] Conference Must Be Held Within 60 Days If Case Referred for Arbitration or Mediation.

32.69[5][b] Conference Must Be Held Within 30 Days If No Arbitration or Mediation Is Held.

32.70 Southern District Mandates Settlement Conference.

32.70[1] Timing of Settlement Conference.

32.70[1][a] Settlement Conference Is Held at Direction of Assigned Judge or Presiding Judicial Officer.

32.70[1][b] One or More Follow-Up Conferences May Be Held.

32.70[1][c] Trial Judge May Order Post-Verdict Settlement Conference.

32.70[2] Conduct of Settlement Conference.

32.70[2][a] Settlement Judge May Require Attendance of Parties or Representatives With Authority to Settle.

32.70[2][b] Settlement Judge Is Disqualified From Trying Case, Absent Waiver.

32.70[2][c] Proceedings Are Informal and Confidential.

32.71 Nonbinding Mini-Trial or Summary Jury Trial Are Also Available.

32.71[1] May Be Ordered at Option of District or Magistrate Judge.

32.71[2] Potential Judgment May Not Exceed $250,000, and Procedure Will Probably Resolve Case.

32.71[3] Consent of Parties Not Required.

32.72 Local District Court Forms.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
I. STRATEGY

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.01

32.01 Scope.

This chapter covers the topic of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) conducted as either required or approved by the federal district courts in California. The chapter discusses:

- ADR in the Northern District, which has an extremely sophisticated program conducted under a set of local ADR rules that address:
  - The assignment or referral of cases, some on a mandatory basis, to the ADR program [see 32.05, 32.06].
  - Arbitration under the program [see 32.07 -32.16].
  - Early neutral evaluation under the program [see 32.17 -32.27].
  - Mediation under the program [see 32.28 -32.33].
  - Settlement conferences under the program [see 32.34 -32.40].
  - Other ADR options [see 32.41, 32.42].
- The Eastern District, which operates a Voluntary Dispute Resolution Program (VDRP) [see 32.43 -32.58].
- The Central District, which requires the parties to engage in one mandatory settlement procedure [see 32.59 -32.67].
- The Southern District, which requires one Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE) conference, followed by an optional arbitration or mediation, and also requires a settlement conference [see 32.69 -32.71].

Core Rules: 28 USC § 651; Fed R Civ P 16, 83(a).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMandatory ADRCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediationsCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
I. STRATEGY

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.02

32.02 Objective and Strategy.

32.02[1] Court Annexed ADR May Achieve Early and Equitable Settlement. The purpose of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) is to provide an efficient and economical means of resolving disputes between parties who might otherwise be involved in lengthy and expensive court proceedings [see 28 USC § 651(a)]. Federal district courts are required to devise, implement, and administer an ADR program to be used in civil actions [The Alternative Dispute Resolution Act of 1998, 28 USC §§ 651-658]. As a result, most federal civil lawsuits may be subject to referral for some type of ADR process during the litigation. At a minimum, every federal litigator will need to be familiar with the local district court ADR processes and rules and any standing orders pertaining to ADR of the particular judge assigned to the case.

Counsel must review the ADR options in his or her district court and be ready to explain the various procedures, including their advantages and disadvantages, to the client.

ADR may:

- Help settle all or part of the dispute much sooner than trial.
- Permit a mutually acceptable solution that a court would not have the power to order.
- Save time and money.
- Preserve ongoing business or personal relationships.
- Increase satisfaction and thus result in a greater likelihood of a lasting resolution.

Properly utilized, court annexed ADR programs may serve as a reality check. For an attorney whose view of the case may be rather one-sided, ADR can provide a first-hand look at the case from the point of view of not only the opposing party, but also from a disinterested, knowledgeable neutral. Court annexed ADR also provides an opportunity for the parties to address one another directly, an opportunity often lost once litigation has commenced and communication is carried out through sometimes contentious counsel.

Counsel need to make their clients aware that most cases are disposed of through settlement, either before or during trial. In general, the earlier the settlement the better, as clients, counsel, and the court are spared the expense of protracted proceedings leading to the same result.

It is important to review with the client that ADR is not simply another occasion to argue the merits of a party's legal position, but rather to explore if a resolution acceptable to all sides is possible. By definition, to be successful in ADR the client must appreciate that compromise will be required and that achieving 100 percent of the relief sought in the litigation will be highly unlikely. Before the ADR session, the client should work with counsel in identifying his or her priorities among the terms of any preferred resolution of the dispute. The client should be alerted that the ADR session may involve dialogue directly between the neutral and the client, generally with counsel present. In advance of the ADR event, client and counsel should anticipate the offers or demands likely to be put forward by the other parties and be prepared to react accordingly.

Counsel should inform clients that ADR procedures may work to their advantage by providing an early, cost-efficient glimpse of the opposing party's case and an early resolution to the litigation. Counsel should also emphasize that ADR procedures are nonbinding and do not result in loss of the ability to pursue a judicial resolution.

Finding and Investigating ADR Practitioners Using Online Resources:

Many resources are available online for finding and investigating potential arbitrators, mediators, and neutrals. For example, helpful resources at lexis.com include:

- Legal tab> Reference> Biographies> Biographies.
  - Sample Search: To find biographical information about a particular ADR practitioner, try this NAME segment search of the Biographies file: name (First Name /3 Last Name).
- News & Business tab> Combined Sources> News, All (English, Full Text)
  - Sample Search: To find news articles about an ADR practitioner, search the News, All (English, Full Text) file using this format: First Name /3 Last Name.

Detailed Discussion

/Forms: 3 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 16, Pretrial Conferences; Scheduling; Management (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 16, Pretrial Conferences; Scheduling; Management (Matthew Bender).

Cross Reference:

For Tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication at the front of this volume.

32.02[2] When ADR May Be Ineffective. Despite the great benefits often derived through court annexed ADR, some cases may be inappropriate for referral to ADR. Indeed, the ADR programs themselves often recognize this fact, as certain cases may be exempted or otherwise excluded from the court's ADR program [28 USC § 652(b) (authorizing exemptions); see, e.g., ND Cal ADR LR 4-2 (eligible cases)]. Even if not formally exempted, a case may be shown to be inappropriate for ADR if, for example:

- A precedent needs to be established, i.e., the case presents novel and important legal issues requiring resolution after a full trial on the merits.

- The party has some proper motivation in resisting settlement or other early disposition of the action, e.g., vigorous prosecution of a trademark towards a court ruling upholding the mark to reduce the risk of further misappropriation of the mark.

- A party appears to have justified suspicions of malfeasance, but the factual and legal development of the action requires the benefit of liberal disclosure and discovery that could be short-circuited by referral to ADR. A fishing expedition, however, will not be countenanced.

If counsel can present some compelling argument as to why a particular case would be inappropriate for referral to ADR, counsel should advise the court of these reasons. In the event the case has already been referred to ADR, counsel should advise the mediator, arbitrator, or other neutral of the reasons why the process likely will not be productive. In that event, an experienced neutral generally will shortcut the process so that the parties do not spend unnecessary time and money.

Cross Reference:

3 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 16, PretrialConferences; Scheduling; Management (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

32.02[3] Enforcing ADR Resolutions. District courts have no inherent power after rendering final judgment to enforce settlement agreements or other ADR resolutions that were entered into by parties. However, in a final judgment, a court may retain jurisdiction over the settlement agreement expressly or may incorporate the terms of a settlement agreement in its judgment or other order disposing of the case. If a court retains jurisdiction, or if the agreement is made an express part of the court judgment, a breach of the agreement constitutes a violation of a court judgment or order, and the court may exercise its ancillary jurisdiction to enforce the judgment or order so violated. Although a court may reserve jurisdiction, it is under no obligation to do so. Furthermore, a court is not bound by an agreement of the parties, particular a provision in a settlement agreement, that the court should or will exercise continuing jurisdiction [Arata v. Nu Skin Int'l, Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 96 F3d 1265, 1268-1269].

In the context of settlement agreements and other ADR resolutions, an oral agreement is binding on the parties, particularly when the terms are memorialized in the record [Sargent v. HHS (Fed Cir 2000) 229 F3d 1088, 1090]. In most instances, the settlement is negotiated in off-the-record discussions with the court. The parties then go into open court and announce that there is a settlement. The settlement typically contains an agreement as to all material terms, which are put on the record. Then, in response to direct questioning by the court, the parties typically are asked if they agree with the terms of the settlement [see, e.g., Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1137-1138].

ADR resolutions can run into problems. Typically when one party seeks to enforce a settlement agreement against another, parties exchange phone calls, emails, and drafts of a settlement agreement outside of court [see Ciaramella v. Reader's Digest Ass'n, Inc. (2d Cir 1997) 131 F3d 320, 323]. At some point in the process, one party concludes that a final agreement has been reached; the other party, however, may disagree. It is reasonable that a party could dispute having made a binding agreement in such a case [see, e.g., Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1137-1138]. A district court can enforce only complete settlement agreements. So in this instance, when facts concerning the existence or terms of an agreement are in dispute, the parties are allowed an evidentiary hearing [Doi v. Halekulani Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1131, 1137-1138].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR MethodsLegal EthicsClient RelationsEffective Representation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
A. Preliminary Considerations

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.03

32.03 CHECKLIST: Northern District ADR.

☐ Review ADR programs and processes:

- ○ ADR website www.adr.cand.uscourts.gov.
- ○ ADR Handbook Dispute Resolution Procedures in the Northern District of California, available on the ADR website.
- ○ Local ADR Rules.

☐ If case is assigned to ADR Multi-Option Program:

- ○ Review options.
- ○ Sign, serve and file ADR certification, accompanied by Stipulation and Proposed Order.
- ○ Meet and confer with other parties.
- ○ Select ADR process.

Authority:
ND Cal ADR LR 3-3-3-6

Discussion:
See § 32.06

☐ If non-binding arbitration is selected:

○ Consider making objection to appointed arbitrator or making joint request for panel of three arbitrators

○ Consult with arbitrator and other parties to schedule hearing.

○ Prepare arbitration statement; submit 10 days before hearing.

○ Calendar date of arbitration hearing and plan to attend.

☐ If party and trial counsel cannot attend, request to be excused in writing 15 days before hearing.

☐ Plan to be available by phone.

○ Request that hearing be recorded or transcribed; provide copies to other parties.

○ Award will be filed by arbitrator with clerk within 10 days after arbitration hearing concluded.

○ If prevailing party, serve copy of award on other parties immediately on receipt of award.

○ Consider challenging award.

☐ File and serve demand for trial de novo within 30 days of filing notice of award by arbitrator.

○ Judgment will be entered if no timely demand for trial de novo is filed.

Authority:
ND Cal ADR LR 4-1-4-14

Discussion:
See §§ 32.09 -32.16

☐ If Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE) is selected:

○ Consider challenging evaluator.

○ Consult with evaluator about scheduling ENE session.

○ Consider moving to extend time for ENE session; file motion 15 days before scheduled date of session.

○ Prepare ENE statement.

☐ Check rule for required contents.

☐ Submit 10 days before first ENE session.

☐ Do not file with court.

○ Calendar date of session and prepare to attend.

○ Request to be excused from attending session in writing 15 days before session.

○ Prepare to present claims and defenses and describe evidence on which they are based; rules of evidence do not apply.

○ Evaluator will deliver an evaluation of strengths and weaknesses of the parties positions.

○ Evaluator may order follow-up conferences, reports, or sessions.

○ Evaluator will file Certificate of ENE session within 10days.

Authority:
ND Cal ADR LR 5-1-5-14

Discussion:
See §§ 32.17 -32.27

☐ If Mediation is selected:

○ Consider challenging mediator.

○ Consult with mediator about scheduling mediation session.

○ Consider moving to extend time for mediation session; file motion 15 days before scheduled date of session; check rule for required contents of motion.

○ Prepare mediation statement.

☐ Check rule for required contents.

☐ Submit to mediator 10 days before first mediation session; serve on all other parties.

☐ Do not file with court.

○ Calendar date of session and prepare to attend.

○ Request to be excused from attending session in writing 15 days before session.

○ Prepare to present claims and defenses and describe evidence on which they are based; rules of evidence do not apply.

○ Discuss possible follow-up procedures with mediator and other parties.

○ Mediator will file Certificate of Mediation within 10 days.

Authority:
ND Cal ADR LR 6-1-6-13

Discussion:
See §§ 32.28 -32.33

☐ If case is referred for Settlement Conference:

○ Stipulate to preference for particular judge.

○ Judge will schedule conference.

○ Judge will notify counsel of requirements for submissions.

○ Judge may require parties to attend.

○ Check any standing order on settlement procedure for particular assigned judge.

Authority:
ND Cal ADR LR 7-1-7-5

Discussion:

See §§ 32.34 -32.40

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediationsCivil ProcedureSettlementsSettlement AgreementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
A. Preliminary Considerations

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.04

32.04 Organization, Rules, Internet Site, and Handbook.

The ADR program in the Northern District maintains its own Internet site, located at www.adr.cand.uscourts.gov. This website contains information about the court's available ADR processes and their comparative benefits, answers to frequently asked questions, various forms approved by the court, information about becoming a neutral, and any standing orders regarding settlement issued by the particular judge [ND Cal ADR LR 2-1(b)]. This information may also be found in a handbook entitled Dispute Resolution Procedures in the Northern District of California, which is available on the ADR website.

The ADR program in the Northern District is implemented by a set of local rules known as the Local Rules for Alternative Dispute Resolution in the United States District Court for the Northern District of California [ND Cal ADR LR 1-1]. This set of rules is available on the ADR unit's website.

An ADR magistrate judge, appointed by the court, is responsible for overseeing the ADR unit and consulting with the ADR director and ADR program counsel on matters of policy, program design and evaluation, education, training, and administration. The ADR magistrate judge rules on requests to be excused from appearing in person at ADR sessions, and hears and determines complaints alleging violations of the ADR local rules [ND Cal ADR LR 2-2].

Contact information for the ADR unit is as follows [ND Cal ADR LR 2-1(c)]:

U.S. District Court-ADR Unit

450 Golden Gate Avenue, 16th Floor

San Francisco, CA 94102

Phone, fax and e-mail:

Telephone: (415) 522-2199
Telephone for ADR Telephone Conferences only: (415) 522-4603
Fax: (415) 522-4112
E-Mail: ADR@cand.uscourts.gov

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

89 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
A. Preliminary Considerations

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.05

32.05 Assignment of Action to ADR Program.

32.05[1] Northern District Has Discontinued Automatic Assignment of Cases to Arbitration. Effective January 20, 2005, the Northern District of California is no longer assigning cases to nonbinding arbitration at filing. Cases that were being assigned automatically to arbitration (tort and contract matters with $150,000 or less in controversy) are now being assigned, at filing, to the ADR Multi-Option Program governed by ND Cal ADR LR 3. Non-binding arbitration remains an option in the ADR Multi-Option Program. Cases that were previously assigned to arbitration remain subject to the arbitration procedures of ND Cal ADR LR 4.

32.05[2] Clerk May Assign Action to ADR Multi-Option Program. In the Northern District of California, any civil case may be assigned to the ADR Multi-Option Program by the clerk of the court when the complaint or notice of removal is filed. Notice of the assignment will be given in the Order Setting Initial Case Management Conference and ADR Deadlines issued under ND Cal Civ LR 16-2 [ND Cal ADR LR 3-3(a)].

32.05[3] Action Not Assigned at Filing May Be Assigned to ADR on Stipulation or Motion of Party, or at Court's Initiative. In the Northern District of California, if a case is not assigned by the clerk to the ADR Multi-Option Program, the case may nevertheless be referred for ADR by an order of the assigned judge following a stipulation by all parties, a motion of a party, under ND Cal Civ LR 7, or on the judge's initiative [ND Cal ADR LR 2-3; ND Cal ADR LR 3-3(b)]. A stipulation of the parties as to an ADR assignment must: (1) designate the specific ADR process the parties have selected, (2) specify the time frame within which the ADR process will be completed, and (3) set forth any other information the parties would like the court to know [ND Cal ADR LR 2-3].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 32.72, also available at http://www.adr.cand.uscourts.gov.

32.05[4] Party May Seek Relief From Assignment to ADR. When a case has been referred automatically to the ADR Multi-Option program, any party may file a motion with the assigned judge for relief from the automatic referral [ND Cal ADR LR 3-3(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
A. Preliminary Considerations

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.06

32.06 ADR Multi-Option Program.

32.06[1] Action Assigned to Multi-Option Program Is Presumptively Subject to One Mandatory Nonbinding ADR Process. The parties in cases assigned to the ADR Multi-Option Program in the Northern District of California are presumptively required to participate in one nonbinding ADR process offered by the court or, with the permission of the district judge, may substitute an ADR process offered by a private provider [ND Cal ADR LR 3-2; ND Cal ADR LR 3-4(b)].

32.06[2] Several ADR Options Are Available. In an action assigned to the ADR Multi-Option Program in the Northern District of California, the available ADR options are: (1) nonbinding arbitration; (2)early neutral evaluation; (3) mediation; and (4) early settlement conference with a magistrate judge [ND Cal ADR LR 3-4(a), (c)]. A private ADR procedure may be substituted for the court annexed program on a stipulation of the parties and permission of the assigned judge [ND Cal ADR LR 3-4(b) (private ADR proceedings not subject to enforcement, immunity, or other provisions of ADR local rules); see 32.02[3] (enforcing court-annexed ADR resolutions)].

Consider:

Care should be taken to select the type of ADR process best suited for the particular case. For example, if the parties fundamentally disagree on a potentially dispositive legal issue such as the viability of a claim, ENE might be particularly appropriate to give the litigants the benefit of a skilled evaluator's view. If the issues are largely factual of emotional, a mediator might be better positioned to work through the dispute with the parties. Finally, a settlement conference with a magistrate judge may be preferable if, for example, the parties would be inclined to give more credence to the influence of a judicial officer (the "robe" factor). In any event, it is important to remember that the ADR options are not mutually exclusive. If the ADR mechanism selected proves unsuccessful, counsel might consider requesting an alternate form of ADR from the assigned judge as the case proceeds.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of advantages and limitations of ADR procedures, see 3 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 16.53

(Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

32.06[3] ADR Certification Is Required.

32.06[3][a] Certification Must Be Signed, Served, and Filed Prior to Time Specified in Initial Case Management Scheduling Order. In an action assigned to the ADR Multi-Option Program in the Northern District of California, unless otherwise ordered, counsel and client must sign, serve, and file an ADR Certification no later than the date specified in the Order Setting Initial Case Management Conference and ADR Deadlines [ND Cal Civ LR 16-8(b); ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(b)].

32.06[3][b] Required Content of ADR Certification. The ADR certification signed, served, and filed in the Northern District of California must certify that both counsel and client have [ND Cal Civ LR 16-8(b); ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(b)]:

- Read the handbook entitled Dispute Resolution Procedures in the Northern District of California on the ADR unit's website;
- Discussed the available ADR options provided by the court and private entities; and
- Considered whether their case might benefit from any of the available ADR options.

Separate certifications may be filed by each party. If the client is a government or government agency, the certificate must be signed by a representative of the government or agency who is both authorized to sign for the government or agency, and is knowledgeable about the facts of the case and the position of the government or agency [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(b); see ND Cal Civ LR 3-9(c)].

Cross Reference:

Local District Court Forms, see § 32.72 and www.adr.cand.uscourts.gov.

32.06[3][c] ADR Certification Must Be Accompanied by Either Stipulation and Order or Notice of Need for Telephone Conference. If counsel for the parties in an action assigned to the ADR Multi-Option Program in the Northern District of California have agreed to a particular ADR process, the ADR certification should be accompanied by a stipulation and proposed order selecting an ADR process [ND Cal Civ LR 16-8(c); ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(c)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 32.72 and www.adr.cand.uscourts.gov.

If, however, counsel are unable to agree on the selection of an ADR process, or if counsel agree tentatively that they would prefer an early settlement conference, the ADR certification should be accompanied by a Notice of Need for ADR Phone Conference [ND Cal Civ LR 16-8(c); ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(c)]. A member of the ADR unit's staff will then conduct the phone conference to assist the parties in selecting a particular ADR process [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(d)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 32.72 and www.adr.cand.uscourts.gov.

32.06[4] Parties Can Select ADR Process.

32.06[4][a] Counsel Must Meet and Confer on ADR Options. As soon as feasible after filing or removal, and no later than the deadline to meet and confer, counsel for the parties must confer in an attempt to agree on an ADR process [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(a)]. Because the referral of the case to the ADR program virtually ensures that some ADR process will be required, it is in the interest of all parties and counsel to make a serious effort to reach consensus on an ADR process without involving the staff of the ADR unit or the judge presiding over the action.

Strategic Point:

If the parties agree to nonbinding arbitration as the appropriate ADR process, they will have an opportunity to participate in the selection of the arbitrator. If, on the other hand, mediation or early neutral evaluation is selected, the mediator or evaluator will be chosen at random with no input from the parties. This may provide some incentive for one or more of the parties to favor arbitration.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of advantages and limitations of ADR procedures, see 3 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 16.53 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

32.06[4][b] Selection of ADR Process Through Phone Conference With Member of ADR Unit Staff. In an action assigned to the ADR Multi-Option Program in the Northern District of California in which the parties have filed a notice of need for an ADR phone conference, counsel are required to participate in a joint ADR phone conference at a time designated by the court. During this phone conference, a member of the ADR legal staff will help counsel identify the ADR process that is likely to be the most beneficial to their particular case [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(d)].

The trial counsel for each party is required to participate in the phone conference, and clients and their insurance carriers may participate as well [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(d)(1)]. Counsel and their clients must review the ADR local rules and the court's ADR handbook on the court's ADR website before the conference [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(d)(3)]. Trial counsel for the first-listed plaintiff in the case caption must arrange for and initiate the conference by calling all other counsel and then the ADR phone conference number, (415) 522-4603, at the appointed time. One-half hour will be reserved for each conference [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(d)(2)].

Parties who stipulate to an ADR process after the ADR phone conference may do so on a form provided by the court under the ADR local rules, or in their case management statement, or may file a separate stipulation and proposed order under ND Cal ADR LR 2-3(b) [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(d)(5)].

32.06[4][c] Selection of ADR Process at Case Management Conference. If the parties do not stipulate to a particular ADR process before the case management conference, the assigned judge will discuss with the parties the selection of an option at that conference. The ADR legal staff ordinarily will have recommended to the judge a specific ADR process for the case or that the case be exempted from referral to a process [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(e)(1)].

If the parties agree to a particular ADR process at the conference, and the assigned judge approves, the judge will issue an order referring the case to that process. If the parties still cannot agree on a particular ADR process, the judge may select an appropriate ADR process and issue an order referring the case to that process, or may issue an order referring the case to an early settlement conference [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(e)(2)]. If, however, the parties can demonstrate to the judge at the conference that no ADR process is likely to deliver benefits to the parties sufficient to justify the resources consumed by its use, the judge will exempt the case from participating in any ADR process [ND Cal ADR LR 3-5(e)(3)].

32.06[5] Timing of ADR Process in ADR Multi-Option Program. When a case is assigned to the ADR Multi-Option Program, unless otherwise ordered, the ADR session must be held within 90 days after the entry of an order referring the case to a specific ADR process [ND Cal ADR LR 3-6].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMandatory ADR

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.07

32.07 Nonbinding Arbitration Process Resembles Trial.

While some other ADR processes involve informal dialogue about settlement or case development planning, the process in arbitrations more closely resembles the process in a trial. Although the setting is informal, evidence is presented, testimony is taken, there are opportunities for cross-examination and rebuttal, and closing arguments (or briefs) are entertained. After the parties have presented their evidence and argument the arbitrators retire to deliberate and form their judgment.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of advantages and limitations of arbitration, see 3 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 16.53[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral Overview

92 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.08

Reserved.

32.08Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.09

32.09 Appointment of Arbitrator or Panel of Three Arbitrators.

After the entry of an order referring a case to arbitration, the ADR Unit will appoint an arbitrator from the court's panel who has expertise in the subject matter of the case, is available during the appropriate period, and has no apparent conflict of interest. Conflicts of interest and the procedure for objecting to an arbitrator on that basis are governed by ND Cal ADR LR 2-5(d). The court will notify the parties of the appointment [ND Cal ADR LR 4-3(a)].

Although generally an ADR arbitration is conducted before a single arbitrator, the court will appoint a panel of three arbitrators on the joint request of all parties and will designate the person to serve as the panel's presiding arbitrator [ND Cal ADR LR 4-3(a)].

Cross Reference:

Qualifications of arbitrators, ND Cal ADR LR 2-5.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral Overview

94 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.10

32.10 Arbitrator Will Schedule Arbitration.

32.10[1] Arbitrator Will Consult With Parties. In a case referred for arbitration under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, the selected arbitrator arranges a phone conference with the parties to discuss the scheduling of the arbitration, as well as other matters such as the procedures to be followed, the submission of written materials, which witnesses will attend, how testimony will be presented, including expert testimony, and whether and how the arbitration will be recorded [ND Cal ADR LR 4-7].

After this telephone conference, the arbitrator will fix the date and place for the arbitration [ND Cal ADR LR 4-4(a)], which may take place at any location within the district [ND Cal ADR LR 4-4(b)]. All counsel are required to respond promptly and cooperate fully with the arbitrator in scheduling both the phone conference and the arbitration hearing [ND Cal ADR LR 4-4(a)].

32.10[2] Hearing Date Must Fall Within Time Fixed by Assigned Judge or Within 90 Days of Appointment of Arbitrator. In scheduling the arbitration hearing, the arbitrator must set the hearing for a date that falls within the deadline fixed by the assigned judge, or, in the absence of such a deadline, within 90 days after the entry of an order referring the case to arbitration [ND Cal ADR LR 4-4(a)].

If the case is resolved before the scheduled hearing date, or if due to an emergency a participant cannot attend the arbitration, counsel must notify the arbitrator and the ADR unit immediately on learning of the settlement or emergency [ND Cal ADR LR 4-4(a)].

32.10[3] Motion Is Required to Extend Deadline for Conducting Arbitration Hearing. A motion under ND Cal Civ LR 7 is required to request an extension of the deadline for conducting an arbitration hearing. The motion must be made no later than 14 days before the hearing is to be held, and must be directed to the assigned judge with copies to the other parties, any appointed arbitrator, and the ADR Unit. The motion must detail the supporting considerations, indicate whether the other parties concur in or object to the request, and be accompanied by a proposed order setting forth a new deadline by which the arbitration hearing must be held [ND Cal ADR LR 4-5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral Overview

95 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.11

32.11 Written Arbitration Statements Are Required.

32.11[1] Parties Must Submit Statement at Least Seven Days Before Hearing. In a case referred for arbitration under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, each party must prepare a written arbitration statement. The statement must be submitted directly to the arbitrator and served on all other parties in the action no later than seven days before the arbitration session [ND Cal ADR LR 4-8(a)].

32.11[2] Required Content of Statement. The arbitration statements prepared by the parties must be concise and must [ND Cal ADR LR 4-8(c)]:

- Summarize the claims and defenses;
- Identify the significant contested factual and legal issues,citing authority on the questions of law;
- Identify proposed witnesses; and
- Identify, by name and title or status, the person(s) with decision-making authority, who, in addition to counsel, will attend the arbitration as representative(s) of the party.

32.11[3] Arbitrator May Excuse or Modify Requirement of Statements. After jointly consulting counsel for all parties, the arbitrator may modify or dispense with the requirements for the parties' written arbitration statements [ND Cal ADR LR 4-8(d)].

32.11[4] Statement Is Not Filed With Court. The arbitration statements prepared by the parties must be submitted to the arbitrator and served on the other parties, but must not be filed with the court and the assigned judge must not have access to them [ND Cal ADR LR 4-8(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.12

32.12 Attendance at Hearing.

32.12[1] Parties Are Required to Attend. In a case referred for arbitration under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, each party to the action must attend the arbitration hearing unless excused under the court's ADR local rules [ND Cal ADR LR 4-9(a)]. The requirement of personal attendance by the parties guarantees litigants an opportunity to articulate their positions and ensures that the party will hear, first hand, both their opponent's version of the matters in dispute and a neutral assessment of the merits of the case [ND Cal ADR LR 4-9(a)].

32.12[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts of Case. Parties other than natural persons must attend an ADR arbitration, but of course must do so through attendance by an actual person. Accordingly, a corporation or association satisfies the attendance requirement if represented by a person, other than outside counsel, who is knowledgeable about the facts of the case [ND Cal ADR LR 4-9(a)(1)]. A governmental entity must send a representative knowledgeable about both the facts of the case and the governmental unit's position [ND Cal ADR LR 4-9(a)(2)].

32.12[3] Each Party Must Be Represented by Trial Counsel. Each party to an ADR arbitration must be accompanied at the arbitration session by the lawyer who will be primarily responsible for handling the trial of the matter [ND Cal ADR LR 4-9(b)].

32.12[4] Required Persons May Request to Be Excused From Attendance.

32.12[4][a] Request Must Be in Writing, 14 Days Before Hearing. A party or other person required to attend an ADR arbitration may seek to be excused from attendance by submitting a letter to the ADR magistrate judge, with copies submitted to the ADR unit, all other counsel, and the arbitrator [ND Cal ADR LR 4-9(c)].

The letter must be submitted no fewer than 14 days before the date set for the arbitration [ND Cal ADR LR 4-9(c)].

32.12[4][b] Hardship Is Required. The letter seeking permission on behalf of a party or attorney to be excused from required attendance at an ADR arbitration must establish that personal attendance would impose an extraordinary or otherwise unjustifiable hardship and must [ND Cal ADR LR 4-9(c)]:

- Set forth with specificity all considerations that support the request;
- State realistically the amount in controversy in the case;
- Indicate whether the other party or parties join in or object to the request; and
- Be accompanied by a proposed order.

32.12[4][c] Excused Person Must Be Available by Telephone. If attendance of the party or attorney is excused, the person must nevertheless be available to participate by telephone [ND Cal ADR LR 4-9(d)].

32.12[5] Failure of Party to Attend. When a party has not been excused from attendance at an ADR arbitration, the party's unexcused absence is not a ground for continuance of the arbitration. However, default damages may not be awarded against an absent party; instead, the party seeking the damages must make a proper evidentiary showing for those damages to the arbitrator [ND Cal ADR LR 4-10(g)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesRequired RepresentationCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.13

32.13 Conduct of Arbitration Hearing.

32.13[1] Arbitrator Does Not Facilitate Settlement. In a case referred for arbitration under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, the arbitrator is generally empowered to take whatever actions are necessary to conduct the required arbitration hearing, including administering oaths and affirmations, making rulings necessary for the fair and efficient conduct of the hearing, and making awards [ND Cal ADR LR 4-10(a); see 28 USC § 655(a)].

An ADR arbitrator, however, is not a settlement facilitator [ND Cal ADR LR 4-1]. If the parties to the ADR arbitration desire assistance with settlement, the parties or the arbitrator may request that the case be referred to mediation, early neutral evaluation, or a settlement conference [ND Cal ADR LR 4-10(b)]. The arbitrator also should not bifurcate the arbitration except in extraordinary circumstances [ND Cal ADR LR 4-10(c)].

32.13[2] Witnesses and Documents May Be Subpoenaed. In a case referred for arbitration under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, the arbitrator may compel the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents for the arbitration hearing when appropriate under Fed R Civ P 45 [ND Cal ADR LR 4-10(e)(1); see 28 USC § 656].

32.13[3] Testimony Must Be Taken Under Oath With Opportunity for Cross-Examination. Testimony at an ADR arbitration must be taken under oath or affirmation, and must be subject to reasonable cross-examination as warranted by the circumstances [ND Cal ADR LR 4-10(e)(2)].

32.13[4] Admission of Evidence Guided by Federal Rules of Evidence. In receiving evidence at an ADR arbitration, the arbitrator is to be guided by the Federal Rules of Evidence, but the arbitrator is not precluded by those rules from receiving evidence that is not privileged if the arbitrator considers the evidence relevant and trustworthy [ND Cal ADR LR 4-10(e)(3)].

32.13[5] Ex Parte Contact With Arbitrator Prohibited. With the exception of contacts necessary for scheduling conferences and the arbitration hearing, the arbitrator and the parties are not to engage in any ex parte communications [ND Cal ADR LR 4-6].

32.13[6] Hearing May Be Recorded or Transcribed. Any party may cause a transcript or recording of the arbitration proceedings to be made. That party, however, must provide a copy of the transcript or recording to any other party who both requests and agrees to pay the reasonable costs of producing the copy [ND Cal ADR LR 4-10(f)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenasEvidenceCompetencyAffirmations & OathsEvidenceTestimonyExaminationCross-ExaminationGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsProfessional ConductTribunals

98 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.14

32.14 Arbitration Award.

32.14[1] Form of Arbitration Award. After an arbitration session has been held under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, the arbitrator must enter an arbitration award that states clearly and concisely the name or names of the prevailing parties, and the party or parties against which it is rendered, as well as the precise amount of money, if any, awarded [ND Cal ADR LR 4-11(a)]. The award may, at the discretion of the arbitrator, include a statement of reasons for the decision. The award must be in writing and, unless the parties stipulate otherwise, be signed by the arbitrator. An award may include any costs authorized by Fed R Civ P 54 and ND Cal Civ LR 54 [ND Cal ADR LR 4-11(a)].

32.14[2] Award Must Be Filed by Arbitrator With Clerk Within 14 Days After Arbitration Hearing Concluded. The arbitrator must, within 14 days after the arbitration hearing is concluded, file the arbitration award with the clerk in an unsealed envelope, with a cover sheet that [ND Cal ADR LR 4-11(b)]:

- Lists the case caption, case number, and name of the arbitrator, but does not specify the content of the arbitration award; and

- States the following: "Arbitration Award to be filed under seal pursuant to ADR LR 4-11--not to be forwarded to the Assigned Judge."

32.14[3] Award Must Be Served on Parties Both by Clerk and by Prevailing Party. After the arbitration award has been filed by the arbitrator, the clerk is to promptly serve copies of the arbitration award on the parties [ND Cal ADR LR 4-11(b)]. In addition, the prevailing party in the arbitration must serve a copy of the award on the other parties immediately after receipt of the award [ND Cal ADR LR 4-11(b); see 28 USC § 657(a) (similar statutory provision)]. The prevailing party must file proof of that service under ND Cal Civ LR 5-6, but must not attach a copy of the award to the proof of service [ND Cal ADR LR 4-11(b)].

32.14[4] Award Must Be Sealed by Clerk. After the arbitration award has been filed by the arbitrator, the clerk is to promptly seal the award, and it is not to be unsealed or otherwise disclosed to the assigned judge until the court has entered a final judgment in the action, or the action has been otherwise terminated, except as necessary to assess costs or prepare any report required by an applicable federal statute [ND Cal ADR LR 4-11(c); see 28 USC§ 657(b)]. This sealing of the award is designed to ensure that the result of the arbitration proceeding will not be known in any subsequent trial de novo in the district court.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

99 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.15

32.15 Challenging Arbitration Award.

32.15[1] Demanding Trial De Novo.

32.15[1][a] Demand for Trial De Novo Must Be Filed and Served Within 30 Days of Notice of Award. After the arbitration award has been filed by the arbitrator and served on the parties, any party wishing to challenge the award must file and serve a demand for trial de novo within 30 days of notice of the filing of the arbitration award [ND Cal ADR LR 4-12(a); see 28 USC § 657(c)(1)].

32.15[1][b] Timely Demand Precludes Entry of Judgment on Award. If any party to the arbitration award makes a timely demand for trial de novo in the district court, no judgment is entered, and the actions proceeds in the normal manner before the assigned judge [ND Cal ADR LR 4-12(a); see 28 USC § 657(c)(2)].

32.15[1][c] Award Must Not Be Attached to Demand. A party filing a demand for trial de novo after an arbitration award must not attach the award to the demand [ND Cal ADR LR 4-12(c)].

32.15[2] Evidence of Arbitration Proceeding Inadmissible in Trial De Novo. If any party to the arbitration award makes a timely demand for trial de novo in the district court, evidence indicating that there has been an arbitration proceeding, the nature or amount of any award, or any other matter concerning the conduct of the arbitration proceeding is not admissible at the trial de novo, unless the evidence is admissible under the Federal Rules of Evidence or the parties have otherwise stipulated [ND Cal ADR LR 4-12(b); see 28 USC § 657(c)(3) (similar statutory provision)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionJudicial ReviewCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewDe Novo Review

100 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.16

32.16 Entry of Judgment on Arbitration Award.

32.16[1] Judgment Entered on Award If No Timely Demand for Trial De Novo Filed. If the parties to an arbitration award fail to make a timely demand for trial de novo in the district court, the arbitration award is entered as the judgment of the court. That judgment has the same force and effect as any other judgment of the court, except that the judgment may not be reviewed by appeal or otherwise [ND Cal ADR LR 4-11(d); see 28 USC § 657(a)]. Judgment may be entered on the award because the failure to file a timely demand for trial de novo waives any right to seek trial de novo [ND Cal ADR LR 4-12(a)].

32.16[2] Judgment Entered on Award If Parties Have Stipulated in Writing to Waive Right to Trial De Novo. At any time before the arbitration hearing, the parties may stipulate in writing to waive their rights to request trial de novo of any arbitration award. Such a stipulation must be filed and submitted to the assigned judge for approval. If such a stipulation is made and approved, judgment is to be entered on the arbitration award under ND Cal ADR LR 4-11(d) [ND Cal ADR LR 4-13].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionJudicial ReviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR MethodsCivil ProcedureAppealsStandards of ReviewDe Novo Review

101 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.17

32.17 ENE Can Focus Issues Early in Pretrial Process.

ENE may be particularly useful when one or more of the parties needs a reality check, has difficulty seeing the case from the opponent's perspective, or would simply feel more comfortable deciding whether to settle, or how to move the case forward, if that party had input from a neutral lawyer with considerable experience in the same kind of litigation. This process may also be useful to position the matter for later disposition by settlement, motion, or trial. The experienced neutral evaluator can work with the parties to narrow and focus the dispute early in the pretrial period.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of advantages and limitations of ENE, see 3 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 16.53[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.18

32.18 Case Will Be Assigned to Experienced Neutral With Subject Matter Expertise.

In an action referred for ENE in the Northern District, the parties and their counsel make compact presentations of their claims and defenses, and receive a nonbinding evaluation by an experienced neutral with subject matter expertise [ND Cal ADR LR 5-1]. This evaluation may be of great assistance to the parties in negotiating a settlement of the action, either with or without the assistance of the evaluator. Subject to the availability of administrative resources and of an evaluator with subject matter expertise, appropriate civil cases may be referred to ENE by order of the assigned judge following a stipulation by all parties, on motion of a party, or on the judge's initiative [ND Cal ADR LR 5-2].

Cross Reference:

Qualifications of evaluator, ND Cal ADR LR 2-5(b)(2).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.19

32.19 Party May Object to Evaluator.

If a party wishes to object to the appointment of a particular evaluator for some reason not disclosed by the evaluator, the party must, within seven days of learning the identity of the evaluator, deliver to the ADR unit and to all other counsel a writing that specifies the bases for the objection. The ADR director will then determine whether the proposed evaluator will serve, or whether another should be appointed. Appeal from such a determination must be made directly to the ADR magistrate judge within seven days of the notice of the ADR director's determination [ND Cal ADR LR 2-5(d)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

104 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.20

32.20 Ex Parte Contact With Evaluator Prohibited.

With the exception of contacts necessary for scheduling conferences and the ENE session, the evaluator and the parties are not to engage in any ex parte communications until after the evaluator has committed any evaluation to writing and all parties have agreed that ex parte communications with the evaluator may occur [ND Cal ADR LR 5-6].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionLegal EthicsProfessional ConductTribunals

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.21

32.21 Evaluator Will Schedule ENE Session.

32.21[1] Evaluator Will Consult With Parties. In a case referred for ENE evaluation under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, the selected evaluator arranges a phone conference with the counsel who will attend the ENE session to discuss the scheduling of the ENE session, as well as other matters such as the procedures to be followed, the nature of the case, and which client representatives will attend the session [ND Cal ADR LR 5-7].

After the telephone conference, the evaluator will fix the date and place for the ENE session. All counsel are required to respond promptly and cooperate fully with the evaluator in scheduling both the phone conference and the ENE session [ND Cal ADR LR 5-4(a)].

32.21[2] ENE Session Must Be Held Within 90 Days After Entry of Order Referring Case to ENE. Unless otherwise ordered, the ENE session must be held within 90 days after the entry of the order referring the case to ENE [ND Cal ADR LR 5-4(b)].

32.21[3] Party May Request to Extend Time to Conduct ENE Session.

32.21[3][a] Motion Must Be Filed No Later Than 14 Days Before ENE Session Is to Be Held. Any request for an extension of the deadline for conducting an ENE session must be made by motion no later than 14 days before the ENE session is to be held [ND Cal ADR LR 5-5(a)]. The motion must be directed to the assigned judge, with copies presented to the other parties, any appointed evaluator, and the ADR unit [ND Cal ADR LR 5-5(a)].

32.21[3][b] Required Content of Motion. A motion seeking an extension of the deadline for conducting an ENE session must [ND Cal ADR LR 5-5(b)]:

- Detail the considerations that support the request;
- Indicate whether the other parties concur in or object to the request; and

- Be accompanied by a proposed order setting forth a new deadline by which the ENE session will be held.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

106 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.22

32.22 Written ENE Statements Are Required.

32.22[1] Parties Must Submit ENE Statements at Least Seven Days Before First ENE Session. In a case referred for ENE in the Northern District of California, each party must prepare a written ENE statement. The statement must be submitted directly to the evaluator and served on all other parties in the action no later than seven calendar days before the first ENE session [ND Cal ADR LR 5-8(a)].

32.22[2] ENE Statement Is Not Filed With Court. The ENE statements prepared by the parties are to be submitted to the evaluator and served on the other parties, but are otherwise confidential, and are not to be filed with the court or the judge assigned to the action [ND Cal ADR LR 5-8(b)].

32.22[3] Required Content of ENE Statement. The ENE statements prepared by the parties must be concise, and may include any information that may be useful to the evaluator [ND Cal ADR LR 5-8(c)]. The statements must [ND Cal ADR LR 5-8(c)]:

- Identify, by name and title or status: (1) the person with decision-making authority, who, in addition to counsel, will attend the ENE session as representative of the party; and (2) persons connected with a party opponent, such as an insurer, whose presence might substantially improve the utility of the ENE session or the prospects for settlement;

- Briefly describe the substance of the suit, addressing the party's views of the key liability issues and damages and discussing the key evidence;

- Address whether there are legal or factual issues whose early resolution would reduce significantly the scope of the dispute or contribute to settlement negotiations;

- Identify the discovery that is necessary to equip the parties for meaningful settlement negotiations; and

- Include copies of documents, such as contracts, on which the suit is premised, or whose availability would materially advance the purposes of the ENE session, such as medical reports or other documents supporting damage claims.

Distinguish--Special Provisions in Intellectual Property Cases:

- Patent Cases: When the case concerns the validity or infringement of a utility patent, each party must attach to its written ENE Statement a copy of each document the party has by that time been required to generate under the court's preliminary disclosure obligations for patent cases found in ND Cal Pat LR 3-1, 3-3, 3-5(a), or under any case-specific order modifying the requirements of those rules. A party whose disclosure duty has arisen only under ND Cal Pat LR 3-5(a) may satisfy these requirements by attaching to its written ENE Statement a copy of documents it was required to generate under ND Cal Pat LR 3-3 [ND Cal ADR LR 5-9(a)].

- Copyright Cases: A party who bases a claim on copyright must attach to its written ENE Statement the copyright registration and exemplars of both the copyrighted work and the allegedly infringing work, and must make a systematic comparison showing points of similarity. The party's ENE Statement must also present whatever direct or indirect evidence it has of copying, and must indicate whether it intends to elect statutory or actual damages. Each party in a copyright case that is accused of infringing must set forth in its written ENE statement the dollar volume of sales of and profits from the allegedly infringing works that it and any entities for which it is legally responsible have made [ND Cal ADR LR 5-9(b)].

- Trademark Cases: A party who bases a claim on trademark or trade dress infringement, or on other unfair competition, must attach to its written ENE Statement its registration, if any, exemplars of both its use of its mark and use of the allegedly infringing mark, both including a description or representation of the goods or services on or in connection with which the marks are used, and any evidence it has of actual confusion. If "secondary meaning" is in issue, the party must also describe the nature and extent of the advertising it has done with its mark, and the volume of goods it has sold under its mark. Both parties must describe in their ENE Statements how the consuming public is exposed to their respective marks and goods or services, including, if available, photographic or other demonstrative evidence. Each party in a trademark or unfair competition case that is accused of infringement must set forth the dollar volume of sales of and profits from goods or services bearing the allegedly infringing mark [ND Cal ADR LR 5-9(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.23

32.23 Attendance at ENE Session.

32.23[1] Parties Are Required to Attend. In a case referred for ENE evaluation under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, each party to the action must attend the ENE session unless excused under the court's ADR local rules [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(a)]. The requirement of personal attendance by the parties guarantees litigants an opportunity to articulate their positions and ensures that the party will hear, first hand, both their opponent's version of the matters in dispute and a neutral assessment of the merits of the case [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(a)].

32.23[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle. Parties other than natural persons must attend an ENE session, but of course must do so through attendance by an actual person. Accordingly, a corporation or association satisfies the attendance requirement if represented by a person, other than outside counsel, who has authority to settle and is knowledgeable about the facts of the case [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(a)(1)]. A governmental entity must send a representative who has the authority to settle, and is knowledgeable about the facts of the case, the governmental unit's position, and the governmental unit's settlement procedures and policies [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(a)(2)].

32.23[3] Parties Must Be Represented by Trial Counsel. Each party to an ENE process must be accompanied at the ENE session by the lawyer who will be primarily responsible for handling the trial of the matter [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(b)].

32.23[4] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement. Insurer representatives are required to attend an ENE session in person if their agreement would be necessary to achieve a settlement [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(c)]. An insurer, however, may seek to be excused from required attendance [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(c)].

32.23[5] Required Person May Request to Be Excused From Attendance at ENE Session.

32.23[5][a] Request Must Be in Writing. A party or other person required to attend an ENE session may seek to be excused from attendance by submitting a letter to the ADR magistrate judge, with copies submitted to the ADR unit, all other counsel, and the evaluator [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(d)].

32.23[5][b] Request Must Be Made No Fewer Than 14 Days Before Date of ENE Session. The letter seeking permission on behalf of a party, attorney, or insurer to be excused from required attendance at an ENE session must be submitted no fewer than 14 days before the date set for the session [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(d)].

32.23[5][c] Hardship Is Required. The letter seeking permission for nonattendance must establish that personal attendance would impose an extraordinary or otherwise unjustifiable hardship [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(d)].

32.23[5][d] Required Content of Request. The letter seeking permission on behalf of a party, attorney, or insurer to be excused from required attendance at an ENE session must [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(d)]:

- Set forth all considerations that support the request;
- State realistically the amount in controversy in the case;
- Indicate whether the other party or parties join in or object to the request; and
- Be accompanied by a proposed order.

32.23[5][e] Excused Person Must Be Available by Phone. If attendance of the party, attorney, or insurer is excused, the person must nevertheless be available to participate in the ENE session by telephone [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(f)].

32.23[6] Party May Oppose Request to Be Excused.

32.23[6][a] Request Must Be in Writing. A party may oppose another party's request to be excused from attending in person an ENE session by submitting a letter to the ADR magistrate judge, with copies served simultaneously on the ADR Unit, all other parties, and the evaluator [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(1)].

32.23[6][b] Request Must Be Made Within Four Days of Receiving Request to Be Excused. The letter opposing another party's request to be excused from attending in person an ENE session must be submitted within four days of receiving a copy of the request [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(1)].

32.23[6][c] Required Content of Request. The letter opposing another party's request to be excused from attending in person an ENE session must state all grounds for the opposition [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(1)].

32.23[6][d] Request Is Not Filed With Court. The letter opposing another party's request to be excused from attending in person an ENE session may not be filed with the court or disclosed to the assigned judge [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(1)].

32.23[7] Party May Seek to Compel Attendance by Appropriate Party Representative.

32.23[7][a] Allegation Must Be in Writing. A party may allege that another party will not be represented at an ENE session by an appropriate representative by submitting a letter to the ADR magistrate judge, with copies served simultaneously on the ADR Unit, all other parties, and the evaluator [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(2)].

32.23[7][b] Letter Must Be Submitted As Far in Advance of ENE Session as Practicable. The letter alleging that another party will not be represented at an ENE session by an appropriate representative must be submitted as far in advance of the session as practicable [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(2)].

32.23[7][c] Required Content of Letter. The letter alleging that another party will not be represented at an ENE session by an appropriate representative must state the bases for this allegation, along with a proposed order [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(2)].

32.23[7][d] Letter Is Not Filed With Court. The letter alleging that another party will not be represented at an ENE session by an appropriate representative may not be filed with the court or disclosed to the assigned judge [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(2)].

32.23[8] Challenged Party May Respond to Allegation That It Will Not Be Represented by Appropriate Representative at ENE Session.

32.23[8][a] Response Must Be in Writing. A party may respond to another party's allegation that the respondent will not be represented at an ENE session by an appropriate representative by submitting a letter to the ADR magistrate judge, with copies served simultaneously on the ADR Unit, all other parties, and the evaluator [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(2)].

32.23[8][b] Response Must Be Made Within Four Days of Receiving Letter Seeking to Compel Attendance by Appropriate Representative. The letter responding to a party's allegation that the respondent will not be represented at an ENE session by an appropriate representative must be submitted within four days of receiving the letter seeking to compel attendance by an appropriate representative [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(2)].

32.23[8][c] Response Is Not Filed With Court. The letter responding to a party's allegation that the respondent will not be represented at an ENE session by an appropriate representative may not be filed with the court or disclosed to the assigned judge [ND Cal ADR LR 5-10(e)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesRequired RepresentationCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.24

32.24 Procedure at ENE Session.

32.24[1] Assigned Duties of Evaluator. In a case referred for early neutral evaluation (ENE) under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, the evaluator is generally empowered to take whatever actions are necessary to conduct the required ENE session, including any or all of the following [ND Cal ADR LR 5-11(a)]:

- Permitting each party (through counsel or otherwise), orally and through documents or other media, to present its claims or defenses and to describe the principal evidence on which the claims and defenses are based;

- Helping the parties identify areas of agreement and, if feasible, entering stipulations;

- Assessing the relative strengths and weaknesses of the parties'contentions and evidence, and explaining carefully the reasoning that supports these assessments;

- Estimating, if feasible, the likelihood of liability and the dollar range of damages;

- Helping the parties devise a plan for disclosures or discovery of key information that will equip them as expeditiously as possible to enter meaningful settlement discussions or to position the case for disposition by other means;

- Helping the parties assess litigation costs realistically;

- Helping the parties, if they are interested, explore the possibility of settling the case; and

- Determining whether some form of follow up to the session would contribute to the case development process or to settlement.

32.24[2] Limitations on Authority of Evaluator. Although an ENE evaluator may have broad powers to accomplish the goals of an ENE session, an evaluator is not the equivalent of a presiding judge or magistrate judge, and therefore does not have the full authority of such a judge. Specifically, an evaluator does not have the authority to compel parties to conduct or respond to discovery or to file motions. Nor do evaluators have the authority to determine what the issues in any case are, to impose limits on the parties' pretrial activities, or to impose any sanctions [ND Cal ADR LR 5-13(d)].

32.24[3] Proceedings Are Informal; Rules of Evidence Inapplicable. An ENE session is designed to be an extremely flexible process, and the session is therefore informal. Specifically, the rules of evidence do not apply, and there is to be no formal examination or cross-examination of witnesses [ND Cal ADR LR 5-11(b)].

32.24[4] Transcript Is Not Permitted. An ENE session is designed to be an extremely flexible process, and the session is therefore informal; no transcript or other recording of the proceedings is permitted [ND Cal ADR LR 5-11(b)].

32.24[5] Delivery of Evaluation. After the parties have made their presentations and arguments at the ENE session, the evaluator will deliver an overall evaluation of the strengths and weaknesses of the parties' positions. On demand by any party, the evaluation is to be presented orally [ND Cal ADR LR 5-11(c)]. If all parties agree, they may proceed to discuss settlement after the evaluation has been written but before it is presented [ND Cal ADR LR 5-11(c)]. The parties also may agree to discuss settlement after the evaluation has been presented [NC Cal ADR LR 5-11(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.25

32.25 ENE Sessions Are Confidential.

In a case referred for ENE in the Northern District of California, the court, the evaluator, all counsel and parties, and any other persons attending the ENE session must safeguard the confidentiality of the ENE proceedings, including the contents of the written ENE Statements, anything that happened or was said, any position taken, and any view of the merits of the case formed by any participant in connection with any ENE session [ND Cal ADR LR 5-12(a)]. The evaluator may ask the parties and all persons attending the ENE session to sign a confidentiality agreement [ND Cal ADR LR 5-12(c)].

The confidentiality of ENE sessions does not preclude the following [ND Cal ADR LR 5-12(b)]:

(1) Disclosures as stipulated by all parties and the evaluator;

(2) Disclosures as stipulated by all parties, without the consent of the evaluator, for use in a subsequent confidential ADR or settlement proceeding;

(3) A report to or inquiry by the ADR magistrate judge regarding a possible violation of the ADR local rules;

(4) The evaluator from discussing the ENE session in confidence with the court's ADR staff;

(5) Any participant or the evaluator from responding to a proper request for information made in connection with monitoring or evaluating the court's ADR program; or

(6) Disclosures otherwise required by law.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

110 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.26

32.26 Follow Up to ENE Session.

32.26[1] Evaluator May Order Limited Follow Up Without Stipulation of Parties. At the close of the ENE session, the evaluator and the parties must discuss whether it would be beneficial to schedule any follow up to the session [ND Cal ADR LR 5-13(a)]. With or without a stipulation of the parties, the evaluator may order the parties to engage in any of the following types of follow up [ND Cal ADR LR 5-13(b)]:

- Responses to settlement offers or demands;
- A focused telephone conference;
- Exchanges of letters between counsel addressing specified legal or factual issues; or
- Written or telephonic reports to the evaluator, e.g., describing how discovery or other events occurring after the ENE session have affected a party's analysis of the case or position with respect to settlement.

32.26[2] With Stipulation of Parties, Evaluator May Order Additional ENE Sessions. If the parties consent, the evaluator may schedule one or more follow up ENE sessions. These follow up sessions may include additional evaluation, settlement discussions, or case development planning [ND Cal ADR LR 5-13(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

111 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.27

32.27 Evaluator Must File Certification of ENE Session Within 14 Days After Close of Session.

Within 14 days of the close of each ENE session, the evaluator must report to the ADR unit on a court-provided form, which the ADR unit will then file with the court. The report must contain the date of the ENE session, whether any follow up is scheduled, whether the case settled in whole or in part, and any stipulations the parties agree may be disclosed [ND Cal ADR LR 5-14].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

112 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
D. Mediation

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.28

32.28 Mediator Facilitates Settlement.

Mediation in the Northern District is a flexible, nonbinding, confidential process in which a neutral person, the mediator, facilitates settlement negotiations. The mediator generally does not provide an overall evaluation of the merits of the case, but instead facilitates settlement in a variety of ways, such as [ND Cal ADR LR 6-1]:

- Improving communication across party lines;
- Helping parties articulate their interests and understand those of their opponent;
- Probing the strengths and weaknesses of each party's legal positions;
- Identifying areas of agreement; and
- Helping to generate options for a mutually agreeable resolution to the dispute.

Subject to the availability of administrative resources and of a suitable mediator, appropriate civil cases may be referred to mediation by order of the assigned judge following a stipulation by all parties, on motion of a party, or on the judge's initiative [ND Cal ADR LR 6-2].

Cross References:

Qualifications of mediators, ND Cal ADR LR 2-5(b).

Advantages and limitations of mediation, see 3 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 16.53[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
D. Mediation

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.29

32.29 Party May Object to Mediator.

If a party wishes to object to service by a mediator for some reason not disclosed by the mediator, the party must, within seven days of learning the identity of the mediator, deliver to the ADR unit and to all other counsel a writing that specifies the bases for the objection. The ADR director will then determine whether the proposed mediator will serve, or whether another should be appointed. Appeal from such a determination must be made directly to the ADR magistrate judge within seven days of the notice of the ADR director's determination [ND Cal ADR LR 2-5(d)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
D. Mediation

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.30

32.30 Mediator Schedules Mediation Session.

32.30[1] Mediator Will Consult With Parties. In a case referred for mediation under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, the selected mediator arranges a phone conference with the counsel who will attend the mediation session to discuss the scheduling of the mediation session, as well as other matters such as the procedures to be followed, the nature of the case, and which client representatives will attend the session [ND Cal ADR LR 6-6].

After this telephone conference, the mediator will fix the date and place for the mediation session. All counsel are required to respond promptly and cooperate fully with the mediator in scheduling both the phone conference and the mediation session [ND Cal ADR LR 6-4(a)].

32.30[2] Mediation Must Be Held Within 90 Days After Entry of Order Referring Case to Mediation. Unless otherwise ordered, the mediation session must be held within 90 days after the entry of the order referring the case to mediation [ND Cal ADR LR 6-4(b)].

32.30[3] Party May Move to Extend Time for Mediation.

32.30[3][a] Motion Must Be Filed No Later Than 14 Days Before Mediation Is to Be Held. Any request for an extension of the deadline for conducting a mediation session must be made by motion no later than 14 days before the session is to be held [ND Cal ADR LR 6-5(a)]. The motion must be directed to the assigned judge, with copies presented to the other parties, any appointed mediator, and the ADR unit [ND Cal ADR LR 6-5(a)].

32.30[3][b] Required Content of Motion. A motion seeking an extension of the deadline for conducting a mediation session must [ND Cal ADR LR 6-5(b)]:

- Detail the considerations that support the request;
- Indicate whether the other parties concur in or object to the request; and

- Be accompanied by a proposed order setting forth a new deadline by which the mediation session will be held.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediationsCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
D. Mediation

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.31

32.31 Parties Must Submit Mediation Statement.

32.31[1] Statements Must Be Submitted at Least Seven Days Before First Mediation Session. In a case referred for mediation in the Northern District of California, each party must prepare a written mediation statement. The statement must be submitted directly to the mediator and served on all other parties in the action no later than seven calendar days before the first mediation session [ND Cal ADR LR 6-7(a)].

32.31[2] Required Content of Mediation Statement. The mediation statements prepared by the parties must be concise, and may include any information that may be useful to the mediator [ND Cal ADR LR 6-7(c)]. The statements must [ND Cal ADR LR 6-7(c)]:

- Identify, by name and title or status (1) the person with decision-making authority, who, in addition to counsel, will attend the mediation as representative of the party; and (2) persons connected with a party opponent, such as an insurer, whose presence might substantially improve the utility of the mediation or the prospects for settlement;

- Describe briefly the substance of the suit, addressing the party's views of the key liability issues and damages and discussing the key evidence;

- Identify the discovery or motions that promise to contribute most to equipping the parties for meaningful settlement negotiations;

- Describe the history and status of any settlement negotiations, and provide any other information about any interests or considerations not described elsewhere in the statement that might be pertinent to settlement; and

- Include copies of documents likely to either make the mediation more productive, or to materially advance settlement prospects.

Caution:

Ordinarily, parties should be able to include in their mediation statements a description of the history and status of any settlement negotiations. An exception may exist for negotiations held during a prior mediation or ENE session, if all parties do not agree to the disclosure of these negotiations [ND Cal ADR 6-7 Commentary]. These prohibitions are distinct from rules (e.g., Fed R Evid 408) prohibiting the admission into evidence of settlement offers and demands, which ordinarily would not prevent inclusion of the settlement history in a mediation statement [ND Cal ADR 6-7 Commentary].

32.31[3] Mediation Statements Are Not Filed With Court. The mediation statements prepared by the parties are to be submitted to the mediator and served on the other parties, but are otherwise confidential, and are not to be filed with the court or the judge assigned to the action [ND Cal ADR LR 6-7(b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediationsCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

116 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
D. Mediation

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.31A

32.31A Contact with Mediator Before Mediation.

32.31A[1] Mediator May Ask Parties to Submit Additional Mediation Statement Only to Mediator. Before the mediation, the mediator may ask each party to submit only to the mediator an additional confidential written statement or may discuss the case in confidence with a lawyer by telephone [ND Cal ADR LR 6-9].

32.31A[2] Additional Mediation Statement Is Confidential. The mediator must not disclose any party's confidential communication without permission [ND Cal ADR LR 6-9].

32.31A[3] Content of Additional Mediation Statement. Confidential mediation statements may address such matters as the party's views about his/her own interests, the interests of the other side, analysis of the best and worst alternatives to a negotiated settlement, the strengths and weaknesses of the legal case, and an estimated budget to litigate the case [ND Cal ADR LR 6-9].

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
D. Mediation

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.32

32.32 Attendance at Mediation.

32.32[1] Parties Are Required to Attend. In a case referred for mediation under the ADR rules of the Northern District of California, each party must attend the mediation session unless excused under the court's ADR local rules [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(a)]. The requirement of personal attendance by the parties guarantees litigants an opportunity to articulate their positions, and ensures that the party will hear, first hand, their opponent's version of the matters in dispute. Personal attendance also enables parties to work directly with their opponents to reach mutually agreeable solutions [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(a)].

32.32[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle. Parties other than natural persons must attend a mediation session, but of course must do so through attendance by an actual person. Accordingly, a corporation or association satisfies the attendance requirement if represented by a person, other than outside counsel, who is knowledgeable about the facts of the case and has authority to settle the action [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(a)(1)]. A governmental entity must send a representative who has the authority to settle, and who is knowledgeable about the facts of the case, the governmental unit's position, and the governmental unit's settlement procedures and policies [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(a)(2)].

32.32[3] Each Party Must Be Represented by Trial Counsel. Each party to a mediation must be accompanied at the mediation session by the lawyer who will be primarily responsible for handling the trial of the matter [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(b)].

32.32[4] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement. Insurer representatives are required to attend a mediation session in person if their agreement would be necessary to achieve a settlement [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(c)]. An insurer, however, may seek to be excused from required attendance [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(c)].

32.32[5] Required Person May Request to Be Excused From Attendance at Mediation.

32.32[5][a] Request Must Be Made in Writing. A party or other person required to attend a mediation session may seek to be excused from attendance by submitting a letter to the ADR magistrate judge, with copies submitted to the ADR unit, all other counsel, and the mediator [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(d)].

32.32[5][b] Request Must Be Made No Fewer Than 14 Days Before Date of Mediation. The letter seeking permission on behalf of a party, attorney, or insurer to be excused from required attendance at a mediation must be submitted no fewer than 14 days before the date set for the mediation session [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(d)].

32.32[5][c] Hardship Is Required. The letter seeking permission must establish that personal attendance "would impose an extraordinary or otherwise unjustifiable hardship" [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(d)].

32.32[5][d] Required Content of Request. The letter seeking permission on behalf of a party, attorney, or insurer to be excused from required attendance at a mediation session must [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(d)]:

- Set forth all considerations that support the request;
- State realistically the amount in controversy in the case;
- Indicate whether the other party or parties join in or object to the request; and
- Be accompanied by a proposed order.

32.32[5][e] Excused Person Must Be Available by Phone. If attendance of the party, attorney, or insurer is excused, the person must nevertheless be available to participate in the mediation by telephone [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(f)].

32.32[6] Party May Oppose Another Party's Request to Be Excused.

32.32[6][a] Opposition Must Be in Writing. A party may submit a letter to the ADR Magistrate Judge opposing another party's request to be excused from attending in person a mediation session [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(1)]. The letter must be served simultaneously on the ADR Unit, all other parties, and the mediator [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(1)].

32.32[6][b] Letter Is Confidential. The letter opposing another party's request to be excused from attending in person a mediation session may not be filed or disclosed to the assigned judge [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(1)].

32.32[6][c] Letter Must Be Submitted Within Four Days of Receiving Copy of Request to Be Excused. The letter opposing another party's request to be excused from attending in person a mediation session must be submitted within four days of receiving a copy of the request [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(1)].

32.32[6][d] Required Content of Letter. The letter opposing another party's request to be excused from attending in person a mediation session must state all grounds for the opposition [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(1)].

32.32[7] Party May Seek to Compel Attendance by Appropriate Party Representative.

32.32[7][a] Opposition Must Be in Writing. A party may submit a letter to the ADR Magistrate Judge alleging that another party will not be represented at a mediation session by an appropriate representative [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(2)]. The letter must be served simultaneously on the ADR Unit, all other parties, and the mediator [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(2)].

32.32[7][b] Letter Is Confidential. The letter alleging that another party will not be represented at a mediation session by an appropriate representative may not be filed or disclosed to the assigned judge [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(2)].

32.32[7][c] Letter Must Be Submitted As Far in Advance of Mediation Session as Practicable. The letter alleging that another party will not be represented at a mediation session by an appropriate representative must be submitted as far in advance of the mediation session as practicable [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(2)].

32.32[7][d] Required Content of Letter. The letter alleging that another party will not be represented at a mediation session by an appropriate representative must state the bases for this allegation, along with a proposed order [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(2)].

32.32[8] Party May Challenge Allegations That It Will Not Be Represented at Mediation Session by Appropriate Representative.

32.32[8][a] Challenged Party May Submit Responsive Letter. A party who has received a letter alleging that the party will not be represented at a mediation session by an appropriate representative may submit a responsive letter to the ADR Magistrate Judge [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(2)]. The letter must be served simultaneously on the ADR Unit, all other parties, and the mediator [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(2)].

32.32[8][b] Letter Is Confidential. The letter responding to allegations that another party will not be represented at a mediation session by an appropriate representative may not be filed or disclosed to the assigned judge [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(2)].

32.32[8][c] Letter Must Be Submitted Within Four Days of Receiving Written Allegations. The letter responding to allegations that another party will not be represented at a mediation session by an appropriate representative must be submitted within four days of receiving a copy of the letter making those allegations [ND Cal ADR LR 6-10(e)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesRequired RepresentationCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
D. Mediation

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.33

32.33 Mediation Procedures.

32.33[1] Proceedings Are Informal. A mediation session is designed to be an extremely flexible process, so that the session is to be conducted on an informal basis. A mediator has the discretion to structure the mediation so as to maximize the benefits of the process [ND Cal ADR LR 6-11(a)].

32.33[2] Mediator May Meet Separately With Each Side, or With Counsel Only, or Parties Only. A mediator may hold separate, private caucuses with each side, with each lawyer or, if the parties agree, with the clients only [ND Cal ADR LR 6-11(b)]. The mediator may not disclose communications made during such a caucus to another party or counsel without the consent of the party who made the communication [ND Cal ADR LR 6-11(b)].

32.33[3] Proceedings Are Confidential. In a case referred for mediation in the Northern District of California, the court, the mediator, all counsel and parties, and any other persons attending the mediation must safeguard the confidentiality of the mediation proceedings, including the contents of the written mediation statements, anything that happened or was said, any position taken, and any view of the merits of the case formed by any participant in connection with any mediation [ND Cal ADR LR 6-12(a)]. The mediator may ask the parties and all persons attending the mediation to sign a confidentiality agreement [ND Cal ADR LR 6-12(c); see Olam v. Congress Mortgage Co (ND Cal 1999) 68 F Supp2d 1110, 1121-1125 (enforceability of confidentiality agreement signed by parties to mediation is question of state contract law)].

The confidentiality of mediation sessions does not preclude [ND Cal ADR LR 6-12(b)]:

(1) Disclosures as stipulated by all parties and the mediator;

(2) Disclosures as may be stipulated by all parties, without the consent of the mediator, for use in a subsequent confidential ADR or settlement proceeding;

(3) A report to or inquiry by the ADR magistrate judge regarding a possible violation of the ADR local rules;

(4) The mediator from discussing the mediation in confidence with the court's ADR staff;

(5) Any participant or the mediator from responding to a proper request for information made in connection with monitoring or evaluating the court's ADR program; or

(6) Disclosures otherwise required by law.

32.33[4] Follow Up to Mediation. At the close of the mediation session, the mediator and the parties must discuss whether it would be beneficial to schedule any follow up to the session, which may include, but need not be limited to, written or telephonic reports that the parties might make to one another or to the mediator, exchange of specified kinds of information, or another mediation session [ND Cal ADR LR 6-13].

32.33[5] Mediator Must File Certification of Mediation Within 14 Days After Close of Session. Within 14 days of the close of each mediation session, the mediator must report to the ADR unit on a court-provided form, which the ADR unit will then file with the court. The report must contain the date of the mediation session, whether the case settled in whole or in part, and whether any follow up is scheduled [ND Cal ADR LR 6-14].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediations

119 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
E. Settlement Conferences

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.34

32.34 Settlement Conference Focuses Parties on Evidence and Law.

Settlement conferences can provide the litigants valuable services even when an early settlement is not achieved, by helping the parties understand their respective positions (as well as the evidence and reasoning that supports those positions), and identifying what the parties need to do by way of disclosures, discovery, or motion work to position the case in a focused way for more productive negotiations or for litigated disposition.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of advantages and limitations of settlement conferences, see 3 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 16.53[9] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
E. Settlement Conferences

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.35

32.35 Referral of Case for Conference.

32.35[1] Case May Be Referred Sua Sponte or on Motion or Stipulation of Parties. In the Northern District of California, the court may refer a case to a settlement conference on its own initiative, on the motion of a party, or on a stipulation of the parties [ND Cal ADR LR 7-2].

32.35[2] General Rule: Motion May Be Made at Any Time. In general, a party to a civil action in the Northern District may file a motion with the assigned judge seeking a referral of a case to a settlement conference at any time after the action has been commenced [ND Cal ADR LR 7-3].

Exception:

In Case Assigned to ADR Multi-Option Program, Phone Conference First. If a civil action in the Northern District has been assigned to the ADR Multi-Option Program [see 32.06 (discussing assignment of case to Multi-Option Program)], any motion to the assigned judge seeking a referral of the action for a settlement conference may be filed only after any required ADR phone conference has occurred [ND Cal ADR LR 7-3; see 32.06[3], [4] (discussing when ADR phone conference is required and procedure for conference)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
E. Settlement Conferences

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.36

32.36 Settlement Judge.

32.36[1] Settlement Conference Generally Conducted by Magistrate Judge. A case may be referred to a settlement conference only by order of the assigned judge [ND Cal ADR LR 3-4(c)]. In a settlement conference, the presiding judicial officer, i.e., the settlement judge, facilitates the parties' efforts to negotiate a settlement. A settlement conference generally will be conducted by a magistrate judge, but in some limited circumstances may be conducted by a district judge [ND Cal ADR LR 7-2].

32.36[2] Stipulated Preference of Parties As to Settlement Judge Will, If Feasible, Be Given Effect. In selecting a settlement judge to conduct a settlement conference, the parties may stipulate to a preference for one or more particular magistrate judges or district judges. The court will attempt to honor the stipulated preference, subject to the needs of the court, and the availability of the preferred judges [ND Cal ADR LR 7-3]. In the San Jose division of the Northern District, the magistrate judge designated as the referral judge at the outset of the case will presumptively act as the settlement judge if a conference is ordered.

32.36[3] On Stipulation of Parties, Assigned Judge May Hold Settlement Conference. On the written stipulation of all the parties to a settlement conference, the assigned judge may, in the judge's discretion, conduct a settlement conference [ND Cal ADR LR 7-2].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersMagistratesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
E. Settlement Conferences

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.37

32.37 Settlement Judge Will Schedule Conference.

Within any time constraints or other requirements established by the judge who referred the case to a settlement conference, the settlement judge must notify the parties of the time and date of the settlement conference [ND Cal ADR LR 7-4].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

123 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
E. Settlement Conferences

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.38

32.38 Settlement Judge Will Notify Parties of Submission and Attendance Requirements.

The settlement judge must notify the parties of the requirements for preconference submissions, if any, and for attendance of parties, attorneys, or other persons at the settlement conference [ND Cal ADR LR 7-4]. Some judges maintain standing orders governing settlement conference procedures in cases assigned to them, which can be found under the individual judge's name on the court's website.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

124 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
E. Settlement Conferences

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.39

32.39 Attendance of Parties.

32.39[1] Parties May Be Required to Attend Conference. Because personal attendance of the parties may help to facilitate settlement and therefore further the goals of the conference, the settlement judge may order the parties to the action to attend any settlement conference [ND Cal ADR LR 7-4].

32.39[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle. A corporation or association satisfies the attendance requirement if represented by a person, other than outside counsel, who is knowledgeable about the facts of the case and has authority to settle the action [ND Cal ADR LR 7-4(a)]. A governmental entity must send a representative who has the authority to settle, and is knowledgeable about the facts of the case, the governmental unit's position, and the governmental unit's settlement procedures and policies [ND Cal ADR LR 7-4(b)].

32.39[3] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement. Unless excused by the settlement judge, insurer representatives are required to attend a settlement conference in person if the insurer's agreement is necessary to achieve a settlement [ND Cal ADR LR 7-4(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesRequired RepresentationCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

125 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
E. Settlement Conferences

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.40

32.40 Settlement Conference Is Confidential.

In a case referred for a settlement conference in the Northern District of California, the court, the settlement judge, all counsel and parties, and any other persons attending the conference must safeguard the confidentiality of the conference, including the contents of any written settlement conference statements, anything that happened or was said, any position taken, and any view of the merits of the case formed by any participant in connection with any settlement conference [ND Cal ADR LR 7-5(a)].

The confidentiality of settlement conferences does not preclude [ND Cal ADR LR 7-5(b)]:

(1) Disclosures as stipulated by all parties;

(2) Any participant or the settlement judge from responding to a proper request for information made in connection with monitoring or evaluating the court's ADR program;

(3) Disclosures that are necessary to preserve the court's capacity to enforce lawful orders or to discipline contumacious conduct; or

(4) Disclosures otherwise required by law.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

126 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
F. Additional ADR Processes

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.41

32.41 Nonbinding Summary Trial to Bench or Jury.

A summary trial to the bench or a jury is a flexible, nonbinding process designed to promote settlement in complex cases headed for protracted trials. This process, which is seldom used, provides the parties and attorneys with an advisory verdict that may be of assistance in advancing settlement negotiations. Parties in the Northern District of California who are considering a nonbinding summary trial as an ADR option are encouraged to contact the district's ADR unit for assistance in structuring a summary trial tailored to their case [ND Cal ADR LR 8-1(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionSummary Jury Trials

127 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
F. Additional ADR Processes

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.42

32.42 Privately Conducted ADR.

There are numerous private sector providers of ADR services including arbitration, mediation, fact-finding, neutral evaluation and private judging [ND Cal ADR LR 8-2]. If the parties to an action in the Northern District of California desire to employ the services of private ADR in lieu of use of the court-annexed ADR procedures, the parties should seek permission from the court and prior assurance that the private process will be deemed sufficient by the court [ND Cal ADR LR 3-2; ND Cal ADR LR 3-4(b) (with assigned judge's permission, private ADR may be substituted for required ADR process offered by court)]. In general, the court will not refer a case to a private ADR provider except on the stipulation of the parties. When a case is referred for private ADR, the assigned judge is to take appropriate steps to assure that the referral does not result in imposing an unfair or unreasonable economic burden on any party [ND Cal ADR LR 8-2].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.43

32.43 CHECKLIST: Eastern District--Voluntary Dispute Resolution Program (VDRP).

- ☐ Clerk notifies plaintiff (or notifies defendant if case was removed) of VDRP availability.
- ☐ Plaintiff must notify other parties within 14 days of receiving notice.
- ☐ Parties must confer and report consideration of VDRP in status conference report.
- ☐ Parties may stipulate to using VDRP.
  - ○ File Stipulation and Order for VDRP Referral in status conference report; check local rules for content of stipulation.
- ☐ Parties may select neutral.
- ☐ Consult with neutral about scheduling and agenda.
- ☐ VDRP session will be scheduled within 91 days of appointment of neutral.
- ☐ Prepare VDRP statement.

- ○ Statement may not exceed 10 pages.
- ○ Check local rules for required contents.
- ○ Submit to neutral seven days before session.
- ○ Serve on other parties seven days before session.
- ○ Do not file with court.

☐ Calendar VDRP session and plan to attend.

☐ If necessary, request to be excused from attendance; be available by phone.

☐ Neutral will file date of completion report.

☐ Parties must file Joint VDRP Completion Report with assigned judge, within 14 days of completion of session.

- ○ Check local rules for required contents.
- ○ Dismissal order may be filed in lieu of joint report.

☐ Sanctions are available for violation of VDRP procedures.

Authority:
ED Cal Civ LR 271

Discussion:
See §§ 32.44 -32.58

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.44

32.44 Parties Must Consider Availability of Program.

The Eastern District of California has complied with the ADR Act of 1998 by devising and implementing a Voluntary Dispute Resolution Program (VDRP). Compulsory assignment to the program is generally not permitted [ED Cal Civ LR 271(c)(2)]. The parties, however, are required to consider whether their action is appropriate for VDRP [ED Cal Civ LR 271(d)(1)]. The various methods of VDRP available to the parties under the program include, but are not limited to, mediation, negotiation, early neutral evaluation, and settlement facilitation. The specific method or methods employed will be determined by the VDRP neutral and the parties [ED Cal Civ LR 271(a)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of advantages and limitations of ADR procedures, see 3 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 16.53 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

130 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.45

32.45 Certain Actions Are Exempted From VDRP.

The VDRP program of the Eastern District generally does not apply to the following civil actions [ED Cal Civ LR 271(a)(2)]:

- Prisoner petitions and actions, including habeas corpus petitions;
- Actions in which one of the parties is appearing pro se;
- Voting rights actions;
- Social security actions;
- Deportation actions;
- Freedom of Information Act actions; and
- Actions involving the constitutionality of federal, state, or local statutes or ordinances.

Though the VDRP program does not apply to these actions, the parties may nevertheless agree to participate in some form of ADR [ED Cal Civ LR 271(a)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

131 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.46

32.46 Clerk Will Notify Plaintiffs of Availability of VDRP.

In a civil action in the Eastern District of California, the clerk provides a notice of the availability of VDRP to all plaintiffs when the complaint is filed or notifies all defendants if the action is removed [ED Cal Civ LR 271(c)(1)].

Any party who causes a new party to be joined in the action must promptly serve a copy of the notice on the new party [ED Cal Civ LR 271(c)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 32.72 and www.caed.uscourts.gov.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewGovernmentsCourtsClerks of Court

132 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.47

32.47 Plaintiffs Must Notify Other Parties of Availability of VDRP.

The plaintiff, after receiving notice from the clerk, must provide all the other parties with copies of the notice at the time service is effected or, for parties already served, no more than 14 days after the plaintiff receives the notice. Any party who causes a new party to be joined in the action must promptly serve a copy of the notice on the new party [ED Cal Civ LR 271(c)(1)].

In addition to the original notice of the availability of VDRP from the clerk, an assigned judge or magistrate judge in the action may also inform the parties of the availability of VDRP at any time, including as part of a status or scheduling conference [ED Cal Civ LR 271(c)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.48

32.48 Parties Must Report Consideration of VDRP in Status Conference Report.

After the parties have conferred as to whether and when to participate in the court's VDRP program, they must report their views to the court in a status conference report. In these reports, counsel must represent that they understand and have explained to their clients the local VDRP rules and process and that, with their assistance, their clients have carefully considered whether their case might benefit from participation. If all parties stipulate to using VDRP, this report or statement must be accompanied by a Stipulation and Order for VDRP Referral [ED Cal Civ LR 271(d)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

134 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.49

32.49 Referral to VDRP Requires Consent of All Parties.

In general, the referral of an action to VDRP in the Eastern District of California cannot be made over the objection of any party to the action [ED Cal Civ LR 271(c)(2)].

Distinguish-- Discrete Portion of Complex Action May Be Referred on Consent of All Relevant Parties: Though the consent of all parties is generally required for referral to VDRP, when a complex action is pending that includes counterclaims, cross-claims, or third-party actions, the court may assign one or more discrete subparts of the action to VDRP if all parties to those subparts agree to reference to the VDRP, and the party objecting to VDRP is not a party to any of those discrete subparts [ED Cal Civ LR 271(c)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.50

32.50 Parties Must File Stipulation and Order for VDRP Referral.

If all parties stipulate to using VDRP, counsel must file, with their status conference reports or otherwise, a Stipulation and Order for VDRP Referral [ED Cal Civ LR 271(i)(1)]. This stipulation and order must [ED Cal Civ LR 271(i)(2)]:

- Specify the time frame within which the parties propose the VDRP process will be completed and the date by which the neutral must file written confirmation of that completion;

- Suggest and explain any modifications or additions to the case management plan that would be advisable because of the reference to VDRP; and

- Describe any pretrial activity, e.g., specified discovery or motions, that are to be completed before the VDRP session is held, or that are to be stayed until the VDRP session is concluded.

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 32.72 and www.caed.uscourts.gov.

The time frame designated by the parties in their Stipulation and Order for VDRP Referral is not binding on the court. Instead, the court must ensure that the time allotted for completing the VDRP process is no more than is appropriate, and that the referral does not cause unreasonable delay in case development, in hearing motions, or in commencing trial [ED Cal Civ LR 271(i)(3)]. Similarly, the referral of an action for VDRP does not deprive the assigned judge of continuing authority and responsibility over the action [ED Cal Civ LR 271(i)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

136 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.51

32.51 Parties May Request Referral to VDRP at Any Time.

Though the parties are required to consider the availability of VDRP soon after the commencement of the action, this initial consideration of the issue does not exhaust the potential for VDRP. Instead, parties, individually or in any combination, may ask the assigned judge at any stage in the proceedings to refer the case to VDRP. The court, however, may enter an order of reference only if all parties to the action or the portion of the action to be referred voluntarily agree to the proposed reference [ED Cal Civ LR 271(b)(4)]. For example, if one party initially refuses to consent to referral, but all claims by or against that party are later disposed of, the remaining parties may then seek referral of the action to VDRP.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.52

32.52 Parties May Select Neutral.

If the assigned judge or magistrate judge has not selected a neutral, the VDRP Administrator may supply to the parties a list of no more than three potential neutrals, and the parties must then agree to select one from that list. In that event, counsel for the party first asserting jurisdiction in the court must report the selection of the parties, in writing, to the VDRP Administrator within 14 days of service of the original list [ED Cal Civ LR 271(e)(3)].

If the parties have been given the opportunity to select a neutral, but either cannot agree or fail to report their choice, the VDRP Administrator selects a neutral at random from the court's panel [ED Cal Civ LR 271(e)(3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

138 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.53

32.53 Neutral Schedules and Sets Agenda for VDRP Session.

32.53[1] Neutral Will Consult With Parties. After being appointed to preside over a VDRP session, a neutral is to promptly communicate with all counsel, either through a brief joint telephone conference or in writing, to discuss the scheduling and the agenda for the VDRP session. Specifically, the neutral is to consult with counsel as to [ED Cal Civ LR 271(j)]:

- Fixing a convenient date and place for the VDRP session;
- The type of session desired by the parties, i.e., settlement conference, early neutral evaluation, mediation, or other dispute resolution process, and the procedures that will be following during the session;
- Who must attend the VDRP session on behalf of each party;
- What material or exhibits should be provided to the neutral before the session or brought by the parties to the session;
- Any issues or matters that it would be especially helpful to have the parties address in their written VDRP statements; and
- Any other matters that might enhance the utility of the VDRP proceeding.

32.53[2] VDRP Session Must Occur Within 91 Days of Appointment of Neutral. As to the timing of a VDRP session in the Eastern District, the neutral is to schedule the session as soon as reasonably possible, but the session must occur no more than 91 days after the neutral is selected, unless otherwise ordered by the Court [ED Cal Civ LR 271(j)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.54

32.54 Parties Must Submit Written VDRP Statements.

32.54[1] Required Content of VDRP Statement. The VDRP statements prepared by the parties, unless otherwise directed by the neutral, must [ED Cal Civ LR 271(k)(2)]:

- Give a brief statement of the facts;
- Identify the pertinent principles of law;
- Identify the significant legal and factual issues that are in dispute;
- Identify any legal or factual issues whose early resolution might reduce the scope of the dispute or contribute significantly to the productivity of settlement discussions;
- Identify by name and role with respect to the litigation and the litigants any person with decision-making authority who, in addition to counsel, will attend the session as a representative of the party filing the statement; and
- Identify or attach particular documents or other physical evidence, if any, central to an understanding of the dispute and an appreciation of the merits of each party's case.

32.54[2] Statements May Not Exceed 10 Pages. The VDRP statements prepared by the parties and submitted to the neutral may not exceed 10 pages [ED Cal Civ LR 271(k)(1)].

32.54[3] Submit Statements at Least Seven Days Prior to First VDRP Session. In an action referred for a VDRP session in the Eastern District, unless otherwise directed by the assigned neutral, each party must submit to the neutral a written VDRP statement at least seven days prior to the VDRP session [ED Cal Civ LR 271(k)(1)].

32.54[4] Serve Statements on Other Parties. Unless otherwise directed by the assigned neutral, each party must serve on all other parties a written VDRP statement at least seven days prior to the VDRP session [ED Cal Civ LR 271(k)(1)].

32.54[5] Do Not File Statement. The VDRP statements prepared by the parties are to be submitted to the neutral and served on the other parties, but are not to be filed [ED Cal Civ LR 271(k)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.55

32.55 Attendance at VDRP Session.

32.55[1] Parties and Lead Counsel Must Attend. At a VDRP session in the Eastern District, all parties and their lead counsel, having authority to settle and to adjust pre-existing settlement authority if necessary, are required to attend the scheduled VDRP session in person unless excused after request to the neutral [ED Cal Civ LR 271(l)].

32.55[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle. Parties other than natural persons must attend a VDRP session, though, of course, attendance must be by an actual person. Accordingly, a corporation or association satisfies the attendance requirement if represented by a person who has authority to settle the action, and is knowledgeable about the facts of the case and the corporation's or association's position in the action [ED Cal Civ LR 271(l)(1)(A)]. A governmental entity must send a representative who has the authority to settle, and is knowledgeable about the facts of the case, the governmental unit's position, and the governmental unit's settlement procedures and policies [ED Cal Civ LR 271(l)(1)(B)].

32.55[3] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement. Insurer representatives are required to attend a VDRP session in person if their agreement would be necessary to achieve a settlement. An insurer, however, may seek to be excused from required attendance [ED Cal Civ LR 271(l)(1)].

32.55[4] Required Person May Request to Be Excused From Attendance at VDRP Session.

32.55[4][a] Confer With Other Parties Before Request to Be Excused From Attendance. A party or other person required to attend a VDRP session may seek the permission of the neutral to be excused from attendance, but must first confer about the matter with the other parties who will be participating in the session [ED Cal Civ LR 271(l)(2)(A)].

32.55[4][b] Hardship Must Be Shown. The person seeking to be excused from attendance must establish that personal attendance would impose a serious and unjustifiable hardship [ED Cal Civ LR 271(l)(2)(B)]. If a dispute arises over the neutral's disposition of a person's request to be excused, the ADR judge may decide the matter [ED Cal Civ LR 271(b)(1)(B)].

32.55[4][c] Telephone Availability Is Required. Any person excused from personal attendance as a VDRP session must be available to participate by telephone, unless otherwise directed by the neutral [ED Cal Civ LR 271(l)(3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesRequired RepresentationCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewInsurance LawClaims & ContractsArbitration

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.56

32.56 VDRP Session Is Confidential.

In a case referred to VDRP in the Eastern District of California, all communications made in connection with any VDRP proceeding are privileged and confidential, except as otherwise stipulated in writing by all parties and the neutral, or as required by the court's rules or other sources of law [ED Cal Civ LR 271(m)(1)].

VDRP proceedings are to be shielded from the assigned judge, and no communication made, position taken, or opinion formed by any party or neutral in the VDRP session is to be disclosed to the assigned judge law unless [ED Cal Civ LR 271(m)(2)]:

(1) Stipulated in writing by all parties and the neutral;

(2) Required by the court's local rules; or

(3) Ordered by the court to determine if the parties either reached an enforceable settlement, or violated a legal or ethical duty.

The confidential nature of VDRP proceedings, however, does not preclude a party or a neutral in those proceedings from responding to a proper request for information made in connection with monitoring or evaluating the court's program [ED Cal Civ LR 271(m)(3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

142 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.57

32.57 Completion of VDRP Session.

32.57[1] Neutral's Reporting Obligations.

32.57[1][a] Neutral Reports Date of Completion of Session. After a VDRP session is concluded in the Eastern District of California, the presiding neutral must submit a VDRP Completion Report to the VDRP Administrator. That report, however, is to contain only the date on which the parties completed the VDRP process [ED Cal Civ LR 271(n)(1)].

32.57[1][b] Neutral Must Report by Time Fixed in VDRP Referral or Within 14 Days of Completion of VDRP Session. The VDRP Completion Report must be submitted by the neutral by the deadline fixed in the Stipulation and Order for VDRP Referral. If, however, the order did not establish a deadline, the report must be submitted no later than 14 days after the conclusion of the VDRP session [ED Cal Civ LR 271(n)(1)].

32.57[2] Parties' Reporting Obligations.

32.57[2][a] Parties Must File Joint VDRP Completion Report. After a VDRP session is concluded in the Eastern District of California, the parties to the proceeding must file with the assigned judge a Joint VDRP Completion Report [ED Cal Civ LR 271(o)(1)].

32.57[2][b] VDRP Completion Report Must Be Filed by Time Fixed in VDRP Referral or Within 14 Days of Completion of VDRP Session. The Joint VDRP Completion Report must be submitted by the parties by the deadline fixed in the Stipulation and Order for VDRP Referral. If, however, the order did not establish a deadline, the report must be submitted no later than 14 days after the conclusion of the VDRP session [ED Cal Civ LR 271(o)(1)].

32.57[2][c] Required Content of VDRP Completion Report. The Joint VDRP Completion Report filed by the parties with the assigned judge must indicate [ED Cal Civ LR 271(o)(1)]:

- Whether the action was resolved or settled in its entirety during the VDRP session, and if so, when a request for dismissal will be filed with the clerk;

- If the action was not resolved or settled in its entirety, whether any resolution, stipulation, or agreement was reached as to any facts, issues, procedures, or claims; and

- The current status of the action, including, when appropriate, an update on the subjects addressed in a status conference under ED Cal Civ LR 240.

32.57[2][d] Dismissal Order May Be Filed in Lieu of VDRP Completion Report. If the action is settled or otherwise disposed of during the VDRP session, the parties may, in lieu of filing the Joint VDRP Completion Report, instead file a dismissal or stipulation and order of dismissal. The dismissal or stipulation and order for dismissal must be filed within 14 days after completion of the VDRP session [ED Cal Civ LR 271(o)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.58

32.58 Procedures for Violations of VDRP Rules.

32.58[1] Complaints Alleging Material Violations Must Be in Writing. A complaint alleging that any person or party has materially violated the VDRP rules must be presented in writing directly to the ADR judge or a judge who has been designated by the chief judge to hear the matter and to whom the underlying case is not assigned (the "designated judge") [ED Cal Civ LR 271(p)(1)].

Copies of the complaint must be sent to all counsel and the neutral at the time they are presented to the ADR judge or designated judge [ED Cal Civ LR 271(p)(1)].

The complaint must be accompanied by a competent affidavit, must not be filed or lodged with the clerk, and must not be presented to the judge to whom the underlying case is assigned for litigation [ED Cal Civ LR 271(p)(1)].

32.58[2] Sanctions Are Available. If the ADR judge or designated judge determines that further proceedings are warranted, the ADR judge or designated judge may issue an order to show cause why sanctions should not be imposed [ED Cal Civ LR 271(p)(2)].

The proceedings will be conducted on the record, and the ADR judge or designated judge has the discretion as to whether the proceedings should be under seal [ED Cal Civ LR 271(p)(2)].

The ADR judge or designated judge must afford all interested persons an opportunity to be heard before deciding whether to impose or recommend a sanction [ED Cal Civ LR 271(p)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
IV. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: MANDATORY SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.59

32.59 CHECKLIST: Central District--Mandatory Settlement Procedures.

☐ Review available procedures.

☐ Select procedure.

- ○ Notice of Settlement Procedure Selection must be signed by counsel for all parties.
- ○ File Notice of Settlement Procedure Selection within 14 days of court's Rule 16(b) scheduling order.
- ○ If Notice is not timely filed, trial judge will order settlement procedure.

☐ Settlement procedure must take place no later than 45 days before final pretrial conference.

Form:
See § 32.72 and www.cacd.uscourts.gov

☐ Prepare settlement statement.

- ○ Not longer than five pages.

- Check local rules for required contents.
- Submit at least five days before conference.

- [ ] Calendar conference and plan to attend.
- [ ] Prepare to discuss all economic and noneconomic factors relevant to full and final settlement of case.
- [ ] Consider that settlement officer may require oral presentations, summary of evidence, and expert witness reports.
- [ ] Any settlement must be reported to trial judge's courtroom deputy clerk and timely memorialized.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 16-15-16-15.5, 16-15.7- 16-15 .8

Discussion:
See §§ 32.60 -32.67

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

145 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
IV. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: MANDATORY SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.60

32.60 Parties Are Required to Participate in One Settlement Procedure.

Unless exempted by the trial judge, the parties in every civil action in the Central District of California must participate in one settlement procedure offered by the local rules of the court, or an alternative procedure approved by the court [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.1]. Any presiding trial judge or magistrate judge, however, may dispense with this requirement as to any particular case or category of cases [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.9].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of advantages and limitations of ADR procedures, see 3 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 16.53 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

146 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
IV. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: MANDATORY SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.61

32.61 Four Settlement Procedures Are Available.

Unless exempted by the trial judge, the parties in every civil action in the Central District of California must participate in one of the following settlement procedures [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.4]:

- PROCEDURE NO. 1: The parties appear before the assigned district judge or magistrate judge for whatever settlement procedures the judge may conduct or direct.

- PROCEDURE NO. 2: The parties appear before an attorney selected from the court's Attorney Settlement Officer Panel or an attorney appointed by the trial judge for settlement proceedings.

- PROCEDURE NO. 3: The parties participate in a nonjudicial dispute resolution proceeding.

Judge's Perspective:

In selecting among the available settlement procedures, the threshold question is whether the involvement of a judicial officer, as opposed to an outside neutral, would be beneficial. In some cases, a judicial officer, either a district or magistrate judge, will carry a higher level of credibility and influence with litigants. At the same time, judicial officers may not be in a position to devote the same amount of time and preparation to the settlement session. So if several sessions are necessary, an outside neutral may be preferable. Caution should be employed in adapting Procedure No. 1, in which the judicial officer assigned to the case presides over settlement proceedings, because the potential for ex parte discussion of the merits of the case may become unavoidable.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersMagistratesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

147 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
IV. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: MANDATORY SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.62

32.62 Parties May Select ADR Procedure.

32.62[1] Notice of Settlement Procedure Selection Is Required. Although the parties to a civil action in the Central District of California are required to participate in a settlement procedure, the parties generally may select which procedure they will follow by filing a Notice of Settlement Procedure Selection signed by counsel for all parties [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.2].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 32.72 and www.adr.cacd.uscourts.gov.

32.62[2] File Notice of Selection Not Later Than 14 Days After Entry of Scheduling Order. To be effective, any Notice of Settlement Procedure Selection must be filed by the parties not later that 14 days after entry of the court's scheduling order under Fed R Civ P 16(b) [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.2].

32.62[3] Court Selects Settlement Procedure If Parties Fail to File Notice of Selection. If the parties do not file a timely Notice of Settlement Procedure Selection, the trial judge may order the parties to engage in any of the available settlement procedure options [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.3].

32.62[4] Other ADR Options or Settlement Procedures Not Precluded. Nothing in the local rules of the Central District of California preclude or replace any settlement practice used by any judge or magistrate judge in the district [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.9].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

148 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
IV. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: MANDATORY SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.63

32.63 Settlement Procedure Must Occur No Later Than 45 Days Before Final Pretrial Conference.

Whether selected by the parties or by the court, the settlement procedure required in the Central District of California must take place no later than 45 days before the final pretrial conference [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.2].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
IV. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: MANDATORY SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.64

32.64 Parties Must Submit Settlement Statement.

32.64[1] Content of Settlement Statement. Unless otherwise ordered by the trial judge or the settlement officer conducting the settlement procedure, the parties must submit to the settlement officer, but not to the court, a confidential settlement statement. This settlement statement must contain the party's statement of the case and the party's settlement position, including the last offer or demand made by that party, and a separate statement of the offer or demand the party is prepared to make at the settlement conference [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(a)].

32.64[2] Statement Must Be Submitted at Least Five Days Before Conference. A party's settlement statement must be submitted to the settlement officer at least five days before the date of the conference [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(a)].

32.64[3] Statement May Not Exceed Five Pages. A party's settlement statement must be written, but may not exceed five pages in length [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
IV. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: MANDATORY SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.65

32.65 Conduct of Proceedings.

32.65[1] Parties or Representative With Authority to Settle Must Attend. Each party must appear at the settlement proceeding, either in person or by a representative with full authority to settle the case [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(b)].

At the discretion of the settlement officer, and only with the settlement officer's express authorization, parties residing outside the district, however, may have a representative with final settlement authority available by telephone during the entire proceeding in lieu of personal appearance [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(b)].

32.65[2] Trial Counsel Must Attend. Unless excused by the settlement officer, each party must be represented at the settlement proceeding by the attorney who is expected to conduct the trial of the case [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(c)].

32.65[3] Parties Must Be Prepared for Conference. Each party at the settlement proceeding must conduct a thorough analysis of the case before the settlement proceeding, and must be fully prepared to discuss all economic and noneconomic factors relevant to a full and final settlement of the case [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.5(d)].

32.65[4] Settlement Officer at Conference May Require Statements and Testimony. The settlement officer has broad discretion in carrying out the settlement proceeding, and may require any one or more of the following [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.6]:

- An opening statement by each counsel;
- With the agreement of the parties, a "summary" or "mini-trial," tried either to the settlement officer or to a mock jury;
- Presentation of the testimony, summary of testimony, or report of expert witnesses;
- A closing argument by each counsel.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

151 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
IV. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: MANDATORY SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.66

32.66 Proceedings Are Confidential.

All settlement proceedings conducted in the Central District of California are confidential, and no part of a settlement proceeding may be reported or otherwise recorded without the consent of the parties, except for any memorialization of a settlement and the clerk's minutes of the proceeding [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.8; see Folb v. Motion Picture Indus. Pension & Health Plans (CD Cal 1998) 16 F Supp2d 1164, 1171-1176 (recognizing federal privilege for mediation statements, including those made under Central District's ADR program)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
IV. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: MANDATORY SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.67

32.67 Settlement Must Be Reported and Memorialized.

If the parties and the settlement officer are successful in resolving the case in whole or in part, the settlement must be reported immediately to the trial judge's courtroom deputy clerk and timely memorialized [CD Cal Civ LR 16-15.7].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
V. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.68

32.68 CHECKLIST: ADR Procedures in Southern District.

☐ Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE) conference required.

- ○ Party may request conference before answer.
- ○ Conference must be held within 45 days after answer is filed.
- ○ Discovery is not stayed, except by order on good cause.
- ○ Parties and counsel must attend conference.
  - ☐ Attendance excused by court on good cause.
  - ☐ Sanctions may be imposed for failure to attend.

○ Prepare to discuss claims and defenses at conference.

○ If case is not settled, it may be referred to mediation or arbitration.

○ Case management conference will be held after unsuccessful ENE conference.

- ☐ Within 60 days if referred for arbitration or mediation.

☐ Within 30 days if not referred for arbitration or mediation.

☐ Mandatory Settlement Conference.

○ Judge will schedule.

○ Parties and counsel may be required to attend.

○ Judge may order parties to engage in nonbinding mini-trial or summary jury trial.

Authority:
SD Cal Civ LR 16.1

Discussion:
See §§ 32.69 -32.71

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral Overview

154 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
V. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.69

32.69 Southern District Mandates Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE) Conference.

32.69[1] Timing of ENE Conference.

32.69[1][a] Conference Must Be Held Within 45 Days of Filing of Answer. Unless exempted by the trial judge, the parties and counsel in every civil action in the Southern District of California are required to participate in an Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE) conference, which must be held within 45 days of the filing of an answer [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1)].

32.69[1][b] Conference May Be Held Before Answer on Request of Party. Although the ENE conference required in the Southern District of California is usually held after an answer is filed, the ENE conference may be held before any answer is filed on the request of a party. The request is to be sent by the requesting party to counsel for the parties and the parties whose addresses are known. An early ENE conference may be held whenever the presiding judicial officer deems it appropriate [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1)].

32.69[2] Cases in Which ENE Conference May Be Excused. Although an ENE conference is generally required in the Southern District of California, the assigned judge in the following types of actions may exempt the case from both ENE and case managements conference requirements [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(e)]:

- Habeas corpus cases;
- Cases reviewing administrative rulings;
- Social Security cases;
- Default proceedings;
- Cases in which a substantial number of defendants have not answered;
- Actions to enforce judgments; and

- Bankruptcy appeals.

In addition, an ENE conference will not be set in cases brought by prisoners under 42 USC § 1983 [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(e.8)].

32.69[3] Conduct of ENE Conference.

32.69[3][a] ENE Conference Is Held Before Judicial Officer Supervising Discovery. The presiding judicial officer in the ENE conference required in the Southern District is the magistrate judge, district judge, master, or other judicial officer supervising discovery in the action [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1)].

32.69[3][b] Parties and Counsel Must Attend Conference Unless Excused for Good Cause. At the required ENE conference, all the parties and their counsel are required to attend [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1)]. Attendance may be excused only with the permission of the court and for good cause shown. Sanctions may be imposed for an unexcused failure to attend [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1.c)].

32.69[3][c] Parties and Officer Discuss Claims and Defenses With View to Settlement. At the required ENE conference, the judicial officer and the parties are to discuss the various claims and defenses presented in the action with a view toward settling the action in whole or in part [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1.a)].

32.69[3][d] Conference Is Informal and Confidential. The required ENE conference is conducted informally, and is off the record. The proceedings are also privileged and confidential [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.1.b)]. Accordingly, the parties and counsel should be as forthcoming and forthright as possible in achieving the goals of the ENE conference, as nothing said or revealed in the conference can be used in a later trial of the action if settlement is not achieved.

32.69[4] Case May Be Referred to Mediation or Arbitration If Not Settled by ENE Conference. If the required ENE conference does not result in a settlement of the action, the judicial officer may refer the action to nonbinding arbitration or mediation if: (1) the judicial officer believes arbitration or mediation might result in a cost-effective resolution of the lawsuit; or (2) the parties have agreed to arbitration or mediation [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.2.a)].

If arbitration or mediation is pursued, the parties must comply with the rules of arbitration and mediation adopted in the court's General Order 387 [SD Cal Gen Order 387]. The parties may also stipulate to any other rules for the conduct of the optional arbitration or mediation [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.2.a)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of advantages and limitations of ADR procedures, see 3 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 16.53 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

32.69[5] Case Management Conference Must Be Held After Unsuccessful ENE Conference.

32.69[5][a] Conference Must Be Held Within 60 Days If Case Referred for Arbitration or Mediation. If the judicial officer has ordered or the parties have agreed to optional arbitration or mediation after an unsuccessful ENE conference, the judicial officer must schedule a case management conference approximately 60 days after the conclusion of the ENE conference [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.2.a)].

32.69[5][b] Conference Must Be Held Within 30 Days If No Arbitration or Mediation Is Held. If an unsuccessful ENE conference is not to be followed by arbitration or mediation, the judicial officer must schedule a case management conference within 30 days after the conclusion of the ENE conference. At the judicial officer's option, the case management conference may be held immediately at the end of the ENE conference [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(c.2.b)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMediationsCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR MethodsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesCase ManagementCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesPretrial Conferences

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
V. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.70

32.70 Southern District Mandates Settlement Conference.

32.70[1] Timing of Settlement Conference.

32.70[1][a] Settlement Conference Is Held at Direction of Assigned Judge or Presiding Judicial Officer. In each civil action in the Southern District, a settlement conference must be scheduled before the assigned magistrate judge or such other judicial officer as the assigned district judge may direct. If the judicial officer assigned to conduct the settlement conference determines that a case is ready for a settlement conference prior to the scheduled date, the judge may order the parties and counsel to appear at an earlier date [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(a)].

32.70[1][b] One or More Follow-Up Conferences May Be Held. Though only one settlement conference is mandated by rule in the Southern District, the judge conducting the settlement conference may schedule as many follow-up settlement conferences as the judge finds appropriate in light of the complexity of the matter or any circumstances in the case [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(e)].

32.70[1][c] Trial Judge May Order Post-Verdict Settlement Conference. Though only one settlement conference is mandated, when a case is tried before the court or a jury and a verdict is returned, the trial judge may order the case referred to a post-verdict settlement conference before the assigned magistrate judge or another judge agreed on by the parties. The designated judge must immediately schedule the settlement conference, and order the parties and counsel to be present. The post-verdict settlement conference must be held before the judgment becomes final [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(g)].

32.70[2] Conduct of Settlement Conference.

32.70[2][a] Settlement Judge May Require Attendance of Parties or Representatives With Authority to Settle. At the settlement conference mandated by rule in the Southern District, the settlement judge may require attendance by the parties or representatives of a party other than counsel, who have authority to negotiate and enter into a binding settlement [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(b)].

32.70[2][b] Settlement Judge Is Disqualified From Trying Case, Absent Waiver. The judge conducting the settlement conference is disqualified from conducting any subsequent trial in the case, unless there is an agreement by all the parties to waive this restriction [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(c)].

32.70[2][c] Proceedings Are Informal and Confidential. The settlement conference will be off the record, privileged, and confidential, unless otherwise ordered by the court [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(h)]. To facilitate confidentiality, the settlement judge may receive in camera communications from each party and its counsel. If such communications are received, the judge must maintain their confidentiality absent a stipulation to the contrary [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(d)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionMandatory ADR

156 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
V. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.71

32.71 Nonbinding Mini-Trial or Summary Jury Trial Are Also Available.

32.71[1] May Be Ordered at Option of District or Magistrate Judge. In addition to the mandatory settlement conference, a district or magistrate judge in the Southern District may order the parties to engage in a nonbinding mini-trial or summary jury trial in certain circumstances [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(f)].

32.71[2] Potential Judgment May Not Exceed $250,000, and Procedure Will Probably Resolve Case. Before a district or magistrate judge may order the parties to engage in a nonbinding mini-trial or summary jury trial, the judge must find, after a hearing with an opportunity to be heard, that (1) the potential judgment does not exceed $250,000; and (2) that the use of the procedure will probably resolve the case [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(f)].

In determining whether to order a mini-trial or summary jury trial, the judge must also consider the costs of the procedure, as well as the costs that may be saved by ordering the procedure [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(f)].

32.71[3] Consent of Parties Not Required. Provided that the district or magistrate judge has made the required findings and considered the appropriate factors, the judge may order the parties to participate in a nonbinding mini-trial or summary jury trial even if one or more of the parties refuses to consent to the procedure [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(f)].

If, however, the parties have consented to either a nonbinding mini-trial or summary jury trial, the district or magistrate judge may order the procedure without the findings required when consent is absent [SD Cal Civ LR 16.3(f)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionSummary Jury Trials

157 of 157 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
VI. FORMS

4-32 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 32.72

32.72 Local District Court Forms.

Local district court forms for court annexed ADR are listed below.

Central District

Settlement Procedure Selection: Notice Request and Order (ADR-01)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Stipulation Regarding Selection of Attorney Settlement Officer (ADR-02)

Click here to view image.

Attorney Settlement Officer Proceeding Report (ADR-03)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

ADR Program Questionnaire (ADR-09)

Click here to view image.

Eastern District

Notice of Availability of VDRP

Click here to view image.

Stipulation and Order to Elect Referral of Action to Voluntary Dispute Resolution Program (VDRP) Pursuant to Local Rule 271

Click here to view image.

Northern District

Notice of Need for ADR Phone Conference; ADR Certification

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Stipulation and (Proposed) Order Selecting ADR Process; ADR Certification

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Cross Reference:

Automated HotDocs(R) and PDF versions of these forms may be accessed and filled in from the online version of this publication, and are also available at www.LexisOne.com/forms.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.syn

§ 33.syn Synopsis to Chapter 33: Rule 11 Sanctions

33.01 Scope.

33.02 Objective and Strategy.

33.03 CHECKLIST: Authority for Sanctions.

33.04 Rule 11 Is Designed to Deter Baseless Filings.

33.04[1] Pleadings and Papers Must Be Properly Signed.

33.04[2] Signing or Later Advocacy Certifies Content of Filings.

33.04[3] Attorney Must Make Reasonable Investigation.

33.04[4] Pleadings Must Not Be Frivolous.

33.04[5] Pleadings Must Not Have Improper Purpose.

33.04[6] Legal Contentions Must Be Justified by Existing Law.

33.05 Rule 11 Is Not Substitute for Motion for Summary Judgment.

33.06 Sanctions Are Available for Rule 11 Violations.

33.06[1] Court May Impose Sanction on Attorney, Law Firm, or Party.

33.06[2] Reasonableness Standard Will Be Applied.

33.06[3] Sanctions Must Have Deterrent Effect.

33.07 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements

33.07[1] Signature Requirements.

33.07[2] Sanctions for Noncompliance With Local Rule 11, and for Frivolous Motions and Opposition to Motions.

33.08 Rule 11 Is Not Aimed at General Misconduct.

33.09 Rule 11 Is Inapplicable When More Specific Rules Apply.

33.10 Sanctions Are Available Under § 1927 for Wrongful Proliferation of Proceedings.

33.10[1] Attorney's Conduct Must Be Unreasonable and Vexatious.

33.10[2] Attorney's Fees Can Be Awarded.

33.11 Sanctions Are Available Under Inherent Power of Court to Punish Bad-Faith Conduct.

33.12 Other Rules Providing for Sanctions.

33.12[1] Rule 16 Sanctions for Failure to Comply With Pretrial Requirements.

33.12[2] Rule 37 Sanctions for Discovery Abuse.

33.12[3] Rule 45 Sanctions for Abuse of Subpoena Process.

33.12[4] Rule 56 Sanctions for Affidavit Filed for Improper Purpose in Summary Judgment Motion.

33.12[5] Dismissal Under Rule 41 for Failure to Prosecute or Comply With Court Order.

33.13 CHECKLIST: Moving for Rule 11 Sanctions.

33.14 Give Informal Notification Before Moving for Sanctions.

33.15 Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions Must Be Separate From Other Motions.

33.16 Move for Sanctions Promptly.

33.17 Motion Must State Specific Grounds for Sanctions and Relief Sought.

33.18 Serve Motion 21 Days Before Filing: "Safe Harbor" Provision.

33.18[1] Opposition Can Correct or Withdraw Challenged Paper.

33.18[2] Safe-Harbor Provision Is Mandatory.

33.18[3] Do Not File If Challenged Pleading Is Corrected or Withdrawn.

33.19 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements

33.19[1] Motion for Sanctions Must Comply With Local Rule 7-8.

33.19[2] Set Hearing Date Not Earlier Than 35 Days After Service of Motion.

33.19[3] Format of Motion Must Comply With Local Rule 7-2.

33.20 Motion May Be Heard on Affidavits or on Oral Testimony or Depositions.

33.21 Prevailing Party May Obtain Reasonable Expenses and Fees.

33.22 Law Firm Is Subject to Joint Liability for Sanctions.

33.23 Rule 11 Sanctions Should Deter Repetition of Conduct.

33.24 Limitations on Rule 11 Monetary Sanctions.

33.24[1] Only Attorney Is Responsible for Groundless Legal Contentions.

33.24[2] Fees Must Result From Rule Violation.

33.25 Order for Rule 11 Sanctions Must Describe Violative Conduct.

33.26 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Sanctions.

33.27 Use "Safe Harbor" Provision to Cure Rule 11 Violation.

33.28 Assert That Contention Was Supported by Law and Fact.

33.29 Assert That Particular Conduct Cannot Be Basis for Rule 11 Sanctions.

33.30 Assert That Attorney Fees Sought Were Not Incurred by Challenged Paper.

33.31 Notice of Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions.

33.32 Affidavit in Opposition to Motion for Sanctions.

33.33 Order Granting Sanctions.

2 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
I. STRATEGY

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.01

33.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Making an initial determination regarding the availability of sanctions [see 33.03 -33.12].
- Seeking sanctions under Fed R Civ P 11 [see 33.13 -33.25; Forms: 33.31, 33.33].
- Avoiding and opposing sanctions under Fed R Civ P 11 [see 33.26 -33.30; Form: 33.32].

Core Rule:
Fed R Civ P 11.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
I. STRATEGY

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.02

33.02 Objective and Strategy.

Sanctions and contempt may be available for improper conduct by an adversary party or lawyer. Because of the courts' reluctance to impose either sanctions or orders of contempt, except in clear cases of wrongful conduct, neither should be sought lightly. Nonetheless, in the appropriate case, when the adversary's conduct is indefensible, motions for sanctions (and, even more rarely, contempt) can provide an invaluable tool. If the motion demonstrates egregious conduct that the court cannot disregard, it may have a substantial impact on the course of litigation. An order for sanctions or contempt may cast a cloud of suspicion over the conduct of an attorney or party for the balance of the action.

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

The advantages of moving for sanctions include bringing the misconduct to the court's attention, obtaining redress for the opposing party's misconduct, and possibly gaining substantive relief as a sanction (e.g., dismissal of claim). The disadvantages include further straining relations with opposing counsel, the possibility that your client won't be able to recover all of the fees expended to seek relief, the risk that you or your client might have to pay opposing party's fees if you don't prevail, and the possibility of alienating the court if the motion is not well founded. It is imperative to anticipate the opposing party's response in order to accurately assess whether a legitimate defense exists. The motion should be made only if there is no apparent defense for the conduct, and if the court will have trouble avoiding a condemnation of the conduct in question.

Judge's Perspective:

Moving for sanctions increases the acrimony and irritates the judge, unless the motion is really meritorious. What goes around comes around. When it's done, the moving party should be straightforward and not too greedy.

Investigating Whether Attorney Has Previously Been Sanctioned Under Rule 11:

Use LexisNexis(R) CourtLink(R) to Federal District Court and Appellate Court dockets to discover whether an attorney has been subject to Rule 11 sanctions previously. Search federal court docket entries by attorney's name, firm name, and/or judge with terms "Rule 11 or Sanction" appearing in the docket entry.

Go to www.Courtlink.com

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

2 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 11, Signing Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers; Representations to the Court; Sanctions (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 11, Signing Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers; Representations to the Court; Sanctions (Matthew Bender).

Joseph, Sanctions: The Federal Law of Litigation Abuse (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Cross References:

Discussion of sanctions under 28 USC § 1927 for multiplying litigation unreasonably and vexatiously, sanctions for bad-faith litigation abuse under inherent power of court, and sanctions under local district court rules or procedures, see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions. Discussion of contempt, see Ch. 35, Contempt.

For Tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com with this Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.03

33.03 CHECKLIST: Authority for Sanctions.

The following checklist may be used to determine what authority for sanctions is available to counsel who has been subjected to improper conduct or procedure by the opposition.

☐ Rule 11.

○ Rule 11 provides for sanctions when a pleading, written motion, or other paper:

☐ Is presented for an improper purpose;

☐ Contains claims, defenses, or other legal contentions that are not warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument to change existing law or establish new law;

☐ Contains allegations or factual contentions that do not have or are unlikely to have evidentiary support; or ☐ Contains denials of factual contentions that are not are warranted on the evidence.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 11

Discussion:
See §§ 33.06 -33.09

☐ Rule 16.

○ Sanctions may be imposed under Rule 16 against a party, a party's attorney, or both for engaging in any of the following:

○ Failure to obey a scheduling or pretrial order.

○ Failure to appear at a scheduling or pretrial conference.

○ Being substantially unprepared to participate in a scheduling or pretrial conference.

○ Failure to participate in good faith.

Warning:

Rule 16(f) is limited to imposing sanctions in these four specific instances and is not available to punish a general discovery failure to cooperate [Fed R Civ P 16(f)].

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 16(f)

Discussion:

See § 33.12[1]

☐ Rule 37. Rule 37 governs imposition of sanctions if a party:

○ Fails to make the required disclosures as required by Rule 26(a);

○ Loses a motion to compel;

○ Violates a discovery order;

○ Fails without justification to admit matters addressed in a request for admission;

○ Fails to respond to a notice of deposition, to interrogatories, or to a request for production of documents or for inspection; or

○ Fails to participate in good faith in developing a discovery plan.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 37

Discussion:

Discovery sanctions, Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions.

☐ Rule 41.

○ Rule 41(b) allows a defendant to move for dismissal of a claim or the action if the plaintiff fails to prosecute or to comply with a court order.

○ This remedy can be utilized only in extreme situations.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 41

Discussion:
See § 33.12[5]

☐ Rule 45.

○ Sanctions may be awarded against an attorney or party who issues and serves a subpoena that imposes an undue burden or expense on the recipient.

○ Failure to obey a subpoena can result in a contempt citation.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 45

Discussion:
See § 33.12[3]

☐ Rule 56.

○ A party who files an affidavit in connection with a motion for summary judgment in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay is subject to sanction of reasonable expenses and attorney's fees incurred by the opposition in connection with the offending affidavit.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 56(g)

Discussion:
See § 33.12[4]

☐ 28 USC § 1927.

○ An attorney who "so multiplies the proceedings in any case unreasonably and vexatiously" may be required to pay excess costs, expenses, and attorney's fees reasonably incurred by the other party as a result of the conduct.

○ The following considerations apply:

☐ Violations apply only to counsel.

☐ Violations do not hinge on the presence of a paper.

☐ A violation results from a course of conduct, and the section imposes a continuing obligation on attorneys to avoid dilatory tactics.

☐ There are no counterparts to the safe-harbor and separate-motion requirements of Fed R Civ P 11.

Authority:
28 USC § 1927

Discussion:
See § 33.10; Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.03 -34.15

☐ Inherent power of court.

○ Under its inherent power the court can assess sanctions against either the client or the attorney for acting "in bad faith, vexatiously, wantonly, or for oppressive reasons."

Authority:
See Roadway Express, Inc. v. Piper (1980) 447 US 752, 766-767, 100 S Ct 2455, 65 L Ed2d 488 , superseded on other grounds by amendment of 28 USC § 1927

Discussion:
See § 33.11; Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.16 -34.25

☐ Local district court rules.

○ Power to sanction under local district court rules derives from the inherent authority of the court.

Authority:
See Roadway Express, Inc. v. Piper (1980) 447 US 752, 764-765, 100 S Ct 2455, 65 L Ed2d 488 , superseded on other grounds by amendment of 28 USC § 1927.

Discussion:
See § 33.11; Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.26 -34.30

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ComplyCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ProsecuteCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesSanctionsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenasCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.04

33.04 Rule 11 Is Designed to Deter Baseless Filings.

33.04[1] Pleadings and Papers Must Be Properly Signed. Every pleading, written motion, and other paper must be signed by at least one attorney of record in the attorney's individual name, or, if the party is not represented by an attorney, by the party [Fed R Civ P 11(a)]. Each paper must state the signer's address, e-mail address, and telephone number [Fed R Civ P 11(a)].

A typed name is not sufficient to meet the signature requirements; the name must be handwritten [Becker v. Montgomery (2001) 532 US 757, 764-768, 121 S Ct 1801, 149 L Ed2d 983].

Exception:
A typed signature may be acceptable in courts that accept documents by electronic filing.

An unsigned paper will be stricken unless it is promptly signed after the error is called to the attention of attorney or party [Fed R Civ P 11(a)].

Warning:

Fed R Civ P 11 is directed at papers signed in violation of the rule, not at general misconduct [Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (9th Cir 2002) 293 F3d 1146, 1154 (noting that it had remanded in a previous case when the court could not tell from the record whether the district court had imposed sanctions for a particular filing, or simply for counsel's extraneous "boorish conduct")].

Cross Reference:

Signing requirements, see 2 Moore's Federal Practice, § 11.10 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

33.04[2] Signing or Later Advocacy Certifies Content of Filings. By presenting to the court (whether by signing, filing, submitting, or later advocating) a pleading, written motion, or other paper, an attorney or unrepresented party is certifying that to the best of the person's knowledge, information, and belief, formed after an inquiry reasonable under the circumstances [Fed R Civ P 11(b)]:

- It is not being presented for any improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needless increase in the cost of litigation [Fed R Civ P 11(b)(1)];

- The claims, defenses, and other legal contentions are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for extending, modifying, or reversing existing law, or for establishing new law [Fed R Civ P 11(b)(2)];

- The allegations and other factual contentions have evidentiary support or, if specifically so identified, are likely to have evidentiary support after a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery [Fed R Civ P 11(b)(3)]; and

- The denials of factual contentions are warranted on the evidence or, if specifically so identified, are reasonably based on a lack of information or belief [Fed R Civ P 11(b)(4)].

An attorney's signature on a complaint is tantamount to a warranty that the complaint is well grounded in fact and existing law (or proposes a good-faith extension of the existing law) and that it is not filed for an improper purpose [Christian v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 286 F3d 1118, 1127].

Cross Reference:

Certifications, see 2 Moore's Federal Practice, § 11.11 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

33.04[3] Attorney Must Make Reasonable Investigation. Fed R Civ P 11 requires counsel to make a reasonable investigation, under the circumstances, of the facts and the law before submitting pleadings [Fed R Civ P 11(b)].

An attorney has a duty prior to filing a complaint to conduct a reasonable factual investigation and perform adequate legal research to confirm whether the theoretical underpinnings of the complaint are warranted by existing law or a good-faith argument for an extension, modification or reversal of existing law [Christian v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 286 F3d 1118, 1127].

Example:

In an Americans With Disabilities Act accessibility suit against a retailer, plaintiff's counsel violated Rule 11's investigation requirement by filing a generic complaint which listed "hypothetical" violations, i.e., a complaint containing allegations without factual support. However, the court declined to impose monetary sanctions because it appeared counsel had learned the error of his ways from being admonished and it did not appear that monetary sanctions were required to deter future violations [Pickern v. Pier 1 Imports (U.S.), Inc. (ED Cal 2004) 339 F Supp2d 1081, 1089-1091].

In determining whether a reasonable inquiry into the law has been made, all relevant circumstances, including the following may be considered [see Cooter & Gell v. Hartmarx Corp. (1990) 496 US 384, 401-402, 110 S Ct 2447, 110 L Ed2d 359]:

- The amount of time available to research and analyze the relevant legal issues.

- The complexity of the factual and legal issues in question.

- The clarity or ambiguity of existing law.

- The plausibility of the legal position asserted.

- The knowledge of the presenter.
- The extent to which counsel relied on other counsel to conduct the legal research and analysis underlying the position asserted.
- The sources reasonably available to the presenter to devote to the inquiry.
- The extent to which the presenter was on notice that further inquiry might be appropriate.

The reasonableness of the inquiry into the law is determinative. If a pleading is well-grounded in law, the bad faith of the signatory is irrelevant; conversely, good faith does not preclude imposition of Rule 11 sanctions when no reasonable inquiry was made [G.C. & K.B. Invs., Inc. v. Wilson (9th Cir 2003) 326 F3d 1096, 1109 ; Zaldivar v. Los Angeles (9th Cir 1986) 780 F2d 823, 830 , abrogated on other grounds by Cooter & Gell v. Hartmarx Corp. (1990) 496 US 384, 110 S Ct 2447, 110 L Ed2d 359 ; Moser v. Bret Harte Union High Sch. Dist. (ED Cal 2005) 366 F Supp 2d 944, 950].

Cross Reference:

Reasonable investigation, see 2 Moore's Federal Practice, § 11.11[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

33.04[4] Pleadings Must Not Be Frivolous. A frivolous pleading argues a legal position that clearly has no chance of success [Pierce v. F.R. Tripler & Co. (2d Cir 1992) 955 F2d 820, 830].

Sanctions may be ordered if a filing is either legally frivolous or factually unsupported [see Fed R Civ P 11(b)(2), (3); Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (9th Cir 2002) 293 F3d 1146, 1153 (district court applied the correct standard of objective reasonableness and properly concluded that no reasonable lawyer would have certified that the claims raised in plaintiff's complaint were "warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law")].

Consider:

It is not necessary that the pleading as a whole be frivolous or filed for an improper purpose: Rule 11 sanctions may be imposed for improper or unwarranted allegations even when combined with at least one non-frivolous claim [Townsend v. Holman Consulting Corp. (9th Cir 1990) 929 F2d 1358, 1362-1365 ; Moser v. Bret Harte Union High Sch. Dist. (ED Cal 2005) 366 F Supp 2d 944, 950].

Distinguish:

As to plaintiffs who are uncertain about the facts and law at the time an action is filed, Rule 11(a) does not prohibit pleadings in the alternative, even if the alternatives are mutually exclusive [see PAE Gov't Servs. v. MPRI, Inc. (9th Cir 2007) 514 F3d 856, 858-860 ("there is nothing in the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure to prevent a party from filing successive pleadings that make inconsistent or even contradictory allegations")].

Cross Reference:

Frivolousness test, see 2 Moore's Federal Practice, § 11.11[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

33.04[5] Pleadings Must Not Have Improper Purpose. Representations to the court must not have an improper purpose, such as to harass to cause unnecessary delay [Fed R Civ P 11(b)(1); see, e.g., Montrose Chem. Corp. v. American Motorists Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1997) 117 F3d 1128, 1136 (reversing Rule 11 sanctions, the court stated that the district court did not find, nor was there sufficient evidence on the record to conclude, that plaintiff's initial failure to allege diversity jurisdiction was the result of any improper purpose, such as to harass or to cause unnecessary delay or needless increase in the cost of litigation)].

33.04[6] Legal Contentions Must Be Justified by Existing Law. Fed R Civ P 11 requires that legal contentions in pleadings be warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law, or the establishment of new law [Fed R Civ P 11(b)(2); see, e.g., Foster v. Skinner (9th Cir 1995) 70 F3d 1084, 1089 (complaint contained at least 10 claims that had previously been rejected by Ninth Circuit and other circuits); Roundtree v. United States (9th Cir 1994) 40 F3d 1036, 1040 (sanctions proper when attorney brought theory to court in several different cases and each time it was rejected)].

Cross Reference:

Argument for change in existing law, see 2 Moore's Federal Practice, § 11.11[7][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsBad Faith MotionsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsFrivolous LawsuitsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsSigning RequirementsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious Litigants

6 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.05

33.05 Rule 11 Is Not Substitute for Motion for Summary Judgment.

Rule 11 motions should not be employed to test the sufficiency or efficacy of allegations in the pleadings; other motions are available for those purposes [Fed R Civ P 11, Committee Note of 1993]. Dismissal of a frivolous case on the merits should be the first option, whereas imposition of sanctions should be a matter of last resort; a Rule 11 motion for sanctions is not a proper substitute for a motion for summary judgment [Safe-Strap Co. v. Koala Corp. (SDNY 2003) 270 F Supp2d 407, 416].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.06

33.06 Sanctions Are Available for Rule 11 Violations.

33.06[1] Court May Impose Sanction on Attorney, Law Firm, or Party. If, after notice and a reasonable opportunity to respond, the court determines that Fed R Civ P 11(b) has been violated, the court may impose an appropriate sanction on the attorneys, law firms, or parties that have violated Rule 11(b) or are responsible for the violation [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Imposition of sanctions, see 2 Moore's Federal Practice, § 11.23 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

33.06[2] Reasonableness Standard Will Be Applied. Fed R Civ P 11(b)(2), which relates to legal contentions, establishes an objective standard of reasonable conduct, intended to eliminate any "empty-head pure-heart" justification for patently frivolous arguments [see Fed R Civ P 11, Committee Note of 1993; see Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 174].

Before awarding Rule 11 sanctions, a district court must conduct a two-prong inquiry to determine (1) whether the complaint or relevant document is legally or factually "baseless" from an objective perspective, and (2) if the attorney has conducted "a reasonable and competent inquiry" before signing and filing it" [ICU Medical, Inc. v. Alaris Med. Systems, Inc. (Fed Cir 2009) 558 F3d 1368, 1381 (construing 9th Circuit law)].

33.06[3] Sanctions Must Have Deterrent Effect. Fed R Civ P 11 is not designed as a fee-shifting provision or to compensate the opposing party; its primary purpose is to deter sanctionable conduct [Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 175]. Thus, in addition to requiring that any fees be a direct result of the offending conduct, the court must consider the deterrent effect of any fee award [see Fed R Civ P 11(c)(4) Cooter & Gell v. Hartmarx Corp. (1990) 496 US 384, 406, 110 S Ct 2447, 110 L Ed2d 359] , superseded by statute as stated in In re Jazz Photo Corp., (2004) . Moreover, an award of fees is limited to fees "reasonably" expended as a result of an unwarranted filing [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral Overview

8 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.07

33.07 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements

33.07[1] Signature Requirements. In the Central District, all documents except declarations must be signed by the attorney for the party or the party appearing pro se. The name of the person signing the document must be clearly typed below the signature [CD Cal Civ LR 11-1].

33.07[2] Sanctions for Noncompliance With Local Rule 11, and for Frivolous Motions and Opposition to Motions. The presentation to the court of frivolous motions or opposition to motions (or the failure to comply fully with CD Cal Civ LR 11-1 et seq.) subjects the offender at the discretion of the court to the sanctions of CD Cal Civ LR 83-7 [CD Cal Civ LR 11-9].

Under CD Cal Civ LR 83-7, the violation of or failure to conform to any of the Local Rules of the Central District may subject the offending party or counsel to:

- Monetary sanctions, if the court finds that the conduct was willful, grossly negligent, or reckless [CD Cal Civ LR 83-7(a)];

- The imposition of costs and attorney's fees to opposing counsel, if the court finds that the conduct rises to the level of bad faith and/or a willful disobedience of a court order [CD Cal Civ LR 83-7(b)]; and/or

- For any of the conduct specified in (a) and (b) above, such other sanctions as the court may deem appropriate under the circumstances [CD Cal Civ LR 83-7(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsBad Faith MotionsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsFrivolous LawsuitsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsSigning Requirements

9 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.08

33.08 Rule 11 Is Not Aimed at General Misconduct.

Fed R Civ P 11 is not a panacea intended to remedy all manner of attorney misconduct occurring before or during the trial of cases. It does not repeal or modify existing authority of federal courts to deal with abuses of counsel under 28 USC § 1927 or under the court's inherent power to discipline attorney misconduct [Zaldivar v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir 1986) 780 F2d 823, 829-830 , disapproved on another ground in Cooter & Gell v. Hartmarx Corp. (1990) 496 US 384, 397, 110 S Ct 2447, 110 L Ed2d 359].

Rule 11 sanctions are directed at papers signed in violation of the rule, not at general misconduct [Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (9th Cir 2002) 293 F3d 1146, 1154 (remanding because the record was not clear as to the bases for sanctions)].

A showing of bad faith is not a prerequisite to the imposition of Rule 11 sanctions [McMahon v. Pier 39 Ltd. P'ship (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 22178, at *17].

Cross References:

Discussion of 28 USC § 1927, see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.03 -34.11. Discussion of court's inherent powers to impose sanctions, see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.16 -34.25.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsSigning RequirementsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

10 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.09

33.09 Rule 11 Is Inapplicable When More Specific Rules Apply.

Fed R Civ P 11 is not properly used to sanction the inappropriate filing of papers when other rules more directly apply. Note that Fed R Civ P 11(d) explicitly states that Rule 11 does not apply to discovery matters encompassed by Fed R Civ P 26-37. Therefore, excessive discovery requests should be addressed under Fed R Civ P 26(g) rather than Rule 11. Similarly, the filing of inappropriate affidavits in support of, or in opposition to, motions for summary judgment should be considered under Fed R Civ P 56(g), rather than Rule 11. To apply Rule 11 literally to all papers filed in the case, including those subject to special rules, would risk the denial of the protection afforded by those special rules [Zaldivar v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir 1986) 780 F2d 823, 829-830 , disapproved on another ground in Cooter & Gell v. Hartmarx Corp. (1990) 496 US 384, 397, 110 S Ct 2447, 110 L Ed2d 359].

Cross References:

Discovery sanctions, see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions. Motions for summary judgment, see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionSupporting MaterialsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsAffidavitsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.10

33.10 Sanctions Are Available Under § 1927 for Wrongful Proliferation of Proceedings.

33.10[1] Attorney's Conduct Must Be Unreasonable and Vexatious. An attorney who "so multiplies the proceedings in any case unreasonably and vexatiously" may be required to pay excess costs, expenses, and attorney's fees reasonably incurred by the other party as a result of the conduct [28 USC § 1927; see Pacific Harbor Capital, Inc. v. Carnival Air Lines, Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 210 F3d 1112, 1117 (28 USC § 1927 authorizes the imposition of sanctions against any lawyer who wrongfully proliferates litigation proceedings once a case has commenced)].

Distinguish:

Because 28 USC § 1927 applies only to unnecessary filings and tactics once a lawsuit has begun [In re Keegan Mgmt. Co. Secs. Litig. (9th Cir 1996) 78 F3d 431, 435], the filing of an original complaint cannot be sanctioned under § 1927. The filing of a complaint may be sanctioned under Rule 11 or a court's inherent authority [In re Keegan Mgmt. Co. Secs. Litig. (9th Cir 1996) 78 F3d 431, 435 ; Willis v. City of Oakland (ND Cal 2005) 231 FRD 597, 598].

In that 28 USC § 1927 requires that an attorney's multiplication of proceedings be both unreasonable and vexatious, the conduct of the attorney in question must have been somehow wrongful; the imposition of sanctions under § 1927 requires a finding of bad faith. Knowing or reckless conduct meets this standard [Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 993 , cert. denied sub nom. Fink v. Nourse, 538 US 929 (2003) ; Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 175-176].

33.10[2] Attorney's Fees Can Be Awarded. 28 USC § 1927 sanctions may be an award of reasonable attorney's fees, but an attorney may be ordered to pay only excess costs resulting from improper conduct [28 USC § 1927; see Salstrom v. Citicorp Credit Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 74 F3d 183, 185].

Cross Reference:

Sanctions under § 1927, see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.03 -34.11.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesReasonable FeesCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesStatutory AwardsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

12 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.11

33.11 Sanctions Are Available Under Inherent Power of Court to Punish Bad-Faith Conduct.

A court has inherent power to curb bad-faith litigation practices [see International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 828, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642].

Courts have the inherent power to impose attorney's fees as a sanction for bad-faith conduct, and this sanction can be imposed directly on the parties. However, the court must exercise caution in invoking its inherent power, and it is in cases when neither the statute nor the Rules are up to the task that the court may safely rely on its inherent power [Chambers v. NASCO, Inc. (1991) 501 US 32, 50, 111 S Ct 2123, 115 L Ed2d 27 (sanctions under the court's inherent power are appropriate when a party has acted in bad faith, vexatiously, wantonly, or for oppressive reasons)].

The power to sanction under local district court rules derives from the court's inherent authority to assess sanctions against either the client or the attorney for acting in bad faith, vexatiously, wantonly, or for oppressive reasons [see Roadway Express, Inc. v. Piper (1980) 447 US 752, 764-765, 100 S Ct 2455, 65 L Ed2d 488 ; see also Alyeska Pipeline Serv. Co. v. Wilderness Soc'y (1975) 421 US 240, 258-259, 95 S Ct 1612, 44 L Ed2d 141].

Cross References:

Sanctions under local rules and inherent power of court, see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.16 -34.30.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.12

33.12 Other Rules Providing for Sanctions.

33.12[1] Rule 16 Sanctions for Failure to Comply With Pretrial Requirements. Sanctions may be imposed against a party, a party's attorney, or both on any of the following grounds [Fed R Civ P 16(f)]:

- Failure to obey a scheduling or pretrial order;
- Failure to appear at a scheduling or pretrial conference;
- Being substantially unprepared to participate in a scheduling or pretrial conference; or
- Failure to participate in good faith.

Cross Reference:

Rule 16 sanctions, see Ch. 17, Final Pretrial Conference, see § 17.16, 17.17.

33.12[2] Rule 37 Sanctions for Discovery Abuse. Fed R Civ P 37 governs motions to compel disclosure and discovery, and empowers courts to impose sanctions when a party:

- Fails to make the required disclosures as required by Fed R Civ P 26(a);
- Loses a motion to compel;
- Violates a discovery order;
- Fails without justification to admit matters addressed in a request for admission;
- Fails to respond to a notice of deposition, to interrogatories, or to a request for production of documents or for inspection; or

- Fails to participate in good faith in developing a discovery plan.

Cross References:

Discovery sanctions, see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions.

7 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 37, Failure to Make Disclosure or to Cooperate in Discovery: Sanctions (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

33.12[3] Rule 45 Sanctions for Abuse of Subpoena Process. Sanctions may be awarded against an attorney or party who issues and serves a subpoena that imposes undue burden or expense on the recipient [see Fed R Civ P 45(c)(1)]. In addition, a person who fails to obey a subpoena may be found in contempt of court [see Fed R Civ P 45(e)].

Cross Reference:

Fed R Civ P 45 sanctions, see 9 Moore's Federal Practice, § 45.04[1], [6][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

33.12[4] Rule 56 Sanctions for Affidavit Filed for Improper Purpose in Summary Judgment Motion. A party who files an affidavit in connection with a motion for summary judgment in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay is subject to the sanction of reasonable expenses and attorney's fees incurred by the opposition in connection with the offending affidavit [see Fed R Civ P 56(g)].

Cross Reference:

Summary judgment sanctions, see 11 Moore's Federal Practice, § 56.33 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

33.12[5] Dismissal Under Rule 41 for Failure to Prosecute or Comply With Court Order. Fed R Civ P 41 allows a defendant to move for dismissal of a claim or the action if the plaintiff fails to prosecute or to comply with a court order [see Fed R Civ P 41(b)].

Cross References:

Motion for dismissal, see Ch. 28, Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial.

Rule 41 dismissal, 8 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 41.50 -41.53 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryDisclosuresSanctionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMisconductCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ComplyCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsFailures to ProsecuteCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsAffidavitsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesSanctionsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenas

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.13

33.13 CHECKLIST: Moving for Rule 11 Sanctions.

The following checklist may be used as a general guide for moving for Rule 11 sanctions.

- ☐ Determine that conduct of opponent falls under Rule 11.
- ☐ Inform opponent in writing that you plan to move for Rule 11 sanctions.
- ☐ Check local court rules for:
  - ○ General motion procedure.
  - ○ Any motion procedure applicable to motions for sanctions generally.
  - ○ Any procedure applicable to the particular type of sanctions sought.
- ☐ Clearly set forth the grounds for sanctions.
  - ○ A motion for sanctions must indicate specifically how Rule 11 has been violated.
- ☐ Specify the order sought.
  - ○ Request a sanction aimed at deterring similar conduct, such as:
    - ☐ Attorney's fees and costs.

- [ ] Striking the sanctionable paper.
- [ ] Payment of a fine.
- [ ] Dismissal of the action or claim.

- [ ] Draft supporting documents.
  - Supporting affidavits and memoranda of law may be required by local district court rules.

- [ ] State an intent to reply to opposition.
  - Local district court rules may require a statement that movant intends to submit reply papers.
  - Serve the filing-ready motion for sanctions and supporting documents on opposing parties.
    - [ ] Note that the respondent has 21 days to cure the violation.
  - File the motion for sanctions at least 21 days after service.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7, 11

Discussion:
See § 33.14 et seq.

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Form:
See § 33.31

- [ ] In the Northern District, comply with the following [ND Cal Civ LR 7-8]:
  - Separately file the motion.
    - [ ] Set the date for hearing in conformance with ND Cal Civ LR 7-2.
    - [ ] Draft the form of the motion pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 7-2.
    - [ ] Comply with any applicable Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

☐ Make the motion as soon as practicable after learning of the underlying circumstances.

☐ Unless otherwise ordered by the court, no motion for sanctions may be served and filed more than 14 days after entry of judgment.

Authority:
ND Cal Civ LR 7-8

Discussion:
See § 33.19

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

15 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.14

33.14 Give Informal Notification Before Moving for Sanctions.

Counsel should consider notifying opposing counsel by letter of any intention to seek Rule 11 sanctions ("Rule 11 letter") [Fed R Civ P 11, Committee Note of 1993 (in most cases, counsel should be expected to give informal notice of a potential violation to the other party, in person or by telephone or letter, before proceeding to prepare and serve a Rule 11 motion)]. The letter should outline the grounds for sanctions and ask that the offending paper be withdrawn or corrected.

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

Informal notice is almost always a good idea except in the most egregious cases. It sometimes obtains the necessary relief without a fight, and the judge will appreciate it.

Judge's Perspective:

Failure to grant this courtesy may alienate the judge. Notice should be given on almost everything unless there is a confidentiality issue.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

16 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.15

33.15 Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions Must Be Separate From Other Motions.

A motion for sanctions under Rule 11 must be made separately from other motions or requests and must describe the specific conduct alleged to violate Fed R Civ P 11(b) [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(2); Dunn v. Pepsi-Cola Metro. Bottling Co. (ND Cal 1994) 850 F Supp 853, 856].

Judge's Perspective:

Although the prior practice was to often combine motions for sanctions under different authority, this practice now runs contra to Rule 11(c)(2). There is a higher risk of reversal if the motion is not specific.

Warning:

Sanctions motions should not be used to intimidate, harass, increase litigation costs, obtain a settlement, test the sufficiency of allegations, emphasize the merits of a claim, create a conflict of interest between attorney and client, reveal privileged information or work-product, or as a discovery device [Fed R Civ P 11, Committee Note of 1993]. Inasmuch as a motion for sanctions is subject to the certification requirements of Rule 11, an attorney or party may be sanctioned for filing a sanctions motion for an improper purpose [Fed R Civ P 11(b)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

17 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.16

33.16 Move for Sanctions Promptly.

Ordinarily, Rule 11 motions should be served promptly after the inappropriate paper is filed, and, if delayed too long, may be viewed as untimely [Fed R Civ P 11, Committee Note of 1993; Price v. Hawaii (D Haw 1992) 789 F Supp 330, 335-336 (a motion for sanctions under Rule 11 should be denied when the moving party fails to act promptly)].

Warning:

Sanctions are not to be lightly granted, and neither Rule 11 nor any other sanctioning authority should be used to "chill" creative advocacy or attorneys' enthusiasm in pursuing legal or factual theories [Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 176].

When the inappropriate paper averred to is the complaint, the party that hopes to secure sanctions for the submission of that pleading should move for sanctions promptly after the complaint is filed [Safe-Strap Co. v. Koala Corp. (SDNY 2003) 270 F Supp2d 407, 413 (deferring its ruling on sanctions until the end of the litigation)].

A party cannot delay serving the Rule 11 motion until the conclusion of the case. To allow this conduct would frustrate the safe harbor provisions of Rule 11 [Retail Flooring Dealers of Am., Inc. v. Beaulieu of Am., LLC (9th Cir 2003) 339 F3d 1146, 1151 (Rule 11 motion was filed after time for adverse party to correct or withdraw complaint had passed)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

18 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.17

33.17 Motion Must State Specific Grounds for Sanctions and Relief Sought.

A motion for sanctions must comply with Fed R Civ P 7, which requires that, among other things [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)]:

- The motion must state with particularity the grounds for sanctions.
- The motion must state the relief sought.

A party's motion initiating the sanctions process must describe the specific conduct alleged to violate subdivision (b) [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(2)]. At a minimum, the notice requirement mandates that the subject of a Rule 11 sanctions motion be informed of the specific conduct or omission for which the sanctions are being considered so that the subject of the sanctions motion can prepare a defense [Storey v. Cello Holdings, L.L.C. (2d Cir 2003) 347 F3d 370, 389].

Relief sought may include:

- Monetary sanctions against counsel [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(5)(A)].
- Directives of a nonmonetary nature [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(4); see, e.g., Ivanova v. Columbia Pictures Indus. (CD Cal 2003) 217 FRD 501, 512 (court struck alleged facts and references in complaint that were contrary to known facts or otherwise barred by prior judgments)].
- Fine to be paid to the court [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(4)].
- Attorney's fees and costs [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(4); see, e.g., Ivanova v. Columbia Pictures Indus. (CD Cal 2003) 217 FRD 501, 512].

When requesting reasonable costs and attorney's fees, counsel should submit a brief and supporting documents detailing the costs and attorney's fees incurred, including hourly rates, along with a proposed order [Ivanova v. Columbia Pictures Indus. (CD Cal 2003) 217 FRD 501, 514].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesReasonable FeesCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

19 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.18

33.18 Serve Motion 21 Days Before Filing: "Safe Harbor" Provision.

33.18[1] Opposition Can Correct or Withdraw Challenged Paper. A motion for Rule 11 sanctions must be served at least 21 days before filing [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(2)]. Failure to provide the required notice precludes an award of sanctions on a Rule 11 motion [Winterrowd v. Am. General Annuity Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2009) 556 F3d 815, 826] .

This is the "safe harbor" provision that allows opposing counsel to withdraw or correct the offending paper. A party will not be subject to sanctions unless, after receiving the motion, it refuses to withdraw that position or acknowledge candidly that it does not currently have evidence to support a specified allegation [see Fed R Civ P 11, Committee Note of 1993].

Warning:

A party may not wait to serve its motion for sanctions until the court has ruled on the offending filing. A motion served after the offending complaint has been dismissed deprives opposing counsel of any opportunity to take advantage of the safe-harbor provision [Barber v. Miller (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 707, 710-711 ; see Retail Flooring Dealers of Am., Inc. v. Beaulieu of Am., LLC (9th Cir 2003) 339 F3d 1146, 1150 (allowing a party to wait until judgment is entered before serving a Rule 11 motion would effectively eliminate the safe harbor altogether)].

33.18[2] Safe-Harbor Provision Is Mandatory. The 21-day safe-harbor period is an absolute prerequisite to a motion for sanctions brought by any party, unless some other period is established by the court [Barber v. Miller (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 707, 710-711 ; Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 174].

Example:

In a civil rights action, the defendant filed a Rule 11 motion along with a motion for summary judgment with the court. The district court awarded sanctions, stating that, even though the defendants did not give 21-day advance service to the plaintiffs, a "literal application of the safe harbor provision" was unnecessary in this case. The district court decided that because defendant had filed a Rule 11 motion in response to the plaintiff's first amended complaint, and three months had passed between the motion and the court's order concerning sanctions, the plaintiffs and their attorneys had been given adequate notice and opportunity to withdraw the challenged allegation. The Ninth Circuit Court of Appeal reversed the award of sanctions, noting that the district court had failed to take proper account of its decision in Barber v. Miller (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 707 , holding that the procedural requirements of former Fed R Civ P 11(c)(1)(A) (now see Fed R Civ P 11(c)(2)) are mandatory [Radcliffe v. Rainbow Constr. Co. (9th Cir 2001) 254 F3d 772, 788-789 , cert. denied, 534 US 1020 (2001)].

Distinguish:

The safe-harbor provision does not apply to court-initiated sanction proceedings. However, the court must issue an order to show cause under that procedure [see Barber v. Miller (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 707, 710-711 ; Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 174].

33.18[3] Do Not File If Challenged Pleading Is Corrected or Withdrawn. If the challenged paper is withdrawn or corrected within the prescribed period (21 days from service), the motion for sanctions may not be filed [see Fed R Civ P 11(c)(2); see Smith & Green Corp. v. Trustees of the Constr. Indus. & Laborers Health & Welfare Trust (D Nev 2003) 244 F Supp2d 1098, 1102].

A party cannot delay serving the Rule 11 motion until the conclusion of the case. To allow this conduct would frustrate the safe harbor provisions of Rule 11 [Retail Flooring Dealers of Am., Inc. v. Beaulieu of Am., LLC (9th Cir 2003) 339 F3d 1146, 1151 (Rule 11 motion was filed after time for adverse party to correct or withdraw complaint had passed)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.19

33.19 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements

33.19[1] Motion for Sanctions Must Comply With Local Rule 7-8. In the Northern District, the following requirements apply to any motion for sanctions, regardless of the sources of authority invoked [ND Cal Civ LR 7-8]:

- The motion must be separately filed and the date for hearing must be set in conformance with ND Cal Civ LR 7-2 [ND Cal Civ LR 7-8(a)];

- The form of the motion must comply with ND Cal Civ LR 7-2 [ND Cal Civ LR 7-8(b)];

- The motion must comply with any applicable Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, and must be made as soon as practicable after the filing party learns of the circumstances that it alleges make the motion appropriate [ND Cal Civ LR 7-8(c)]; and

Timing:

Unless otherwise ordered by the court, no motion for sanctions may be served and filed more than 14 days after entry of judgment [ND Cal Civ LR 7-8(d)].

33.19[2] Set Hearing Date Not Earlier Than 35 Days After Service of Motion. In the Northern District, except as otherwise ordered or permitted by the assigned judge or the local rules, and except for motions made during the course of a trial or hearing, all motions must be filed, served and noticed in writing on the motion calendar of the assigned judge for hearing not earlier than 35 days after service of the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(a); see ND Cal Civ LR 5-5].

33.19[3] Format of Motion Must Comply With Local Rule 7-2. In one filed document not exceeding 25 pages in length, the motion must contain [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)]:

- On the first page in the space opposite the caption and below the case number, the noticed hearing date and time [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(1)];

- In the first paragraph, notice of the motion including date and time of hearing [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(2)];

- In the second paragraph, a concise statement of what relief or court action the movant seeks [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(3)]; and

- In the succeeding paragraphs, the points and authorities in support of the motion, in compliance with ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(a) [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

21 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.20

33.20 Motion May Be Heard on Affidavits or on Oral Testimony or Depositions.

When a motion is based on facts not appearing of record, the court may hear the matter on affidavits presented by the respective parties. However, the court may direct that the matter be heard wholly or partly on oral testimony or depositions [Fed R Civ P 43(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

22 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.21

33.21 Prevailing Party May Obtain Reasonable Expenses and Fees.

If warranted, the court may award to the party prevailing on the motion for sanctions under Rule 11 the reasonable expenses and attorney's fees incurred in presenting or opposing the motion [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(1)(A); see, e.g., Harara v. Conoco Phillips Co. (ND Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 1426, at *4-*5].

Distinguish:

If the court imposes Rule 11 sanctions by a show-cause order on the court's own initiative, the court cannot direct payment of attorney fees and costs to the party that incurred them; in such a case, the sanction is payable to the court [Willis v. City of Oakland (ND Cal 2005) 231 FRD 597, 600].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesReasonable FeesCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

23 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.22

33.22 Law Firm Is Subject to Joint Liability for Sanctions.

Absent exceptional circumstances, a law firm must be held jointly responsible for violations committed by its partners, associates, and employees [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsLaw Firms

24 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.23

33.23 Rule 11 Sanctions Should Deter Repetition of Conduct.

A sanction imposed for violation of Rule 11 must be limited to what is sufficient to deter repetition of the conduct or comparable conduct by others similarly situated [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(4)]. The purpose of sanctions under Rule 11 is to deter frivolous litigation and filings [see Cooter & Gell v. Hartmarx Corp. (1990) 496 US 384, 393, 110 S Ct 2447, 110 L Ed2d 359 , superseded in part by amended Fed R Civ P 11 regarding safe-harbor provision]. Rule 11 is not designed as a fee-shifting provision or to compensate the opposing party; its primary purpose is to deter sanctionable conduct [see Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 175].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

25 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.24

33.24 Limitations on Rule 11 Monetary Sanctions.

33.24[1] Only Attorney Is Responsible for Groundless Legal Contentions. Monetary sanctions may not be awarded against a represented party for a violation of Fed R Civ P 11(b)(2), that is, if the claims, defenses, and other legal contentions therein are not warranted by existing law nor by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law or the establishment of new law [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(5)(A); see, e.g., Ivanova v. Columbia Pictures Indus. (CD Cal 2003) 217 FRD 501, 512 n7].

33.24[2] Fees Must Result From Rule Violation. Fees that are assessed should be limited to amounts incurred as a result of the rule violation. The court has an independent duty to determine the appropriate "lodestar" amount based on a reasonable hourly rate multiplied by a reasonable number of hours expended [Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 178 ; see, e.g., Van Gerwen v. Guarantee Mut. Life Co. (9th Cir 2000) 214 F3d 1041, 1045].

In this determination, the court also keeps in mind the level of fees necessary to act as a deterrent [see Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 178].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

26 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.25

33.25 Order for Rule 11 Sanctions Must Describe Violative Conduct.

When imposing sanctions under Rule 11, the order must describe the conduct determined to constitute a violation of this rule and explain the basis for the sanction imposed [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(6)].

Rule 11 sanctions must be directed at papers signed in violation of the rule not at general misconduct [Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (9th Cir 2002) 293 F3d 1146, 1154 (remanding because the record was not clear as to the bases for sanctions); Christian v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 286 F3d 1118, 1131 (remanding because the court could not tell from the record whether the district court had imposed sanctions for a particular filing, or simply for counsel's extraneous "boorish conduct")].

Cross Reference:

2 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 11.25, 11.26 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
IV. OPPOSING MOTION FOR RULE 11 SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.26

33.26 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Sanctions.

The following checklist may be used as a general guide for opposing a motion for sanctions.

☐ Cure any Rule 11 violation, if possible, during the 21-day safe-harbor period.

☐ If the motion has been determined or filed prior to the 21-day safe-harbor period, raise that point in opposition to the premature imposition of sanctions.

☐ Assert that the contention in question was made in good faith.

☐ Substantiate any legal authority in support for the contention in question, particularly if the point is unsettled in the Ninth Circuit.

☐ Assert that the conduct in question is not covered under Rule 11, e.g., that it does not involve a signature on a paper presented to the court.

☐ Dispute the reasonableness or amount of attorney's fees sought.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 11

Discussion:
See § 33.27 et seq.

Form:

See § 33.78

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeOpposing MemorandaCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

28 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
IV. OPPOSING MOTION FOR RULE 11 SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.27

33.27 Use "Safe Harbor" Provision to Cure Rule 11 Violation.

If a motion for sanctions alleges that a paper presented to the court violated the certification requirements of Rule 11, the challenged paper may be corrected or withdrawn within 21 days after service without incurring sanctions [Fed R Civ P 11(b), (c)(2)]. Counsel can correct or withdraw the challenged paper during the 21-day period between service and filing [see Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (9th Cir 2002) 293 F3d 1146, 1152].

Distinguish:

On its own initiative, the court may enter an order describing the specific conduct that appears to violate subdivision (b) and directing an attorney, law firm, or party to show cause why it has not violated subdivision (b) [Fed R Civ P 11(c)(3)]. The safe-harbor provision does not apply to court-initiated sanction proceedings. Furthermore, there are restrictions on the court's sua sponte sanctions authority, e.g., on monetary sanctions to an opposing party [see Barber v. Miller (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 707, 710-711 ; Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 174].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

29 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
IV. OPPOSING MOTION FOR RULE 11 SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.28

33.28 Assert That Contention Was Supported by Law and Fact.

A request for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 11(b)(2) (on the basis that a contention is not warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law or the establishment of new law) may be opposed on the ground that the person subject to sanctions made a good-faith argument in support of that contention [see, e.g., Somerset Marine, Inc. v. Forespar Prods. (CD Cal 1994) 876 F Supp 1114, 1115-1116].

Strategic Point--Person Opposing Sanctions:

Having relied on good direct authority for a contention will strengthen a subsequent opposition to the award of sanctions. This argument may prevent the imposition of sanctions particularly if it involves an issue that is unsettled or unclear in the Ninth Circuit [see, e.g., Somerset Marine, Inc. v. Forespar Prods. (CD Cal 1994) 876 F Supp 1114, 1115-1116 (defendant's motion for Rule 11 sanctions denied although motion for summary judgment granted)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsBad Faith MotionsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsFrivolous Lawsuits

30 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
IV. OPPOSING MOTION FOR RULE 11 SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.29

33.29 Assert That Particular Conduct Cannot Be Basis for Rule 11 Sanctions.

Rule 11 sanctions are limited to specified representations to the court in violation of that rule [Fed R Civ P 11]. The district court may not consider extra-pleadings conduct as a basis for Rule 11 sanctions [Christian v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 286 F3d 1118, 1131].

Sanctions under Fed R Civ P 11 may not be imposed for conduct in depositions, discovery meetings of counsel, oral representations at hearings, and behavior in prior proceedings [Christian v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 286 F3d 1118, 1131 ; see also Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 170].

Warning--Sanctions May Nevertheless Be Available Under Other Authority:

Counsel should understand that although sanctions may not be available specifically under Rule 11 for the conduct asserted in a Rule 11 motion, sanctions may nevertheless be available for the same conduct under some other authority, e.g., Fed R Civ P 37, 28 USC § 1927, or the court's inherent authority to impose sanctions.

Cross References:

28 USC § 1927 sanctions, see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.03 -34.11. Courts's inherent power to impose sanctions, see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.16 -34.25.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorDiscourtesies

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
IV. OPPOSING MOTION FOR RULE 11 SANCTIONS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.30

33.30 Assert That Attorney Fees Sought Were Not Incurred by Challenged Paper.

The amount of attorney's fees awarded under Fed R Civ P 11 must be reasonably and appropriately spent in relation to the offensive pleading or other paper [see, e.g., Christian v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 286 F3d 1118, 1131, n12]. Counsel should therefore oppose an award of fees if the moving party has not provided a sufficient showing that fees are based on a reasonable rate for reasonable number of hours spent addressing the specific Rule 11 violation described in the motion.

Example:

Seven hundred hours of attorney billing on a summary judgment motion and response to a complaint that is frivolous on its face may be questionable. That is, if the action is frivolous on its face, why would the attorneys need to spend 700 hours responding to it [see, e.g., Christian v. Mattel, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 286 F3d 1118, 1131 n12 (not deciding the issue, but vacating the ruling on other grounds)]?

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesReasonable FeesCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
V. FORMS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.31

33.31 Notice of Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR RULE
_____ [name],	)	11 SANCTIONS
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for:

(a) An order pursuant to Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 11(b), imposing appropriate sanctions on _____ [party designation and name of party against whom sanctions are sought]; and/or on _____ [name of attorney for sanctioned party], attorney representing _____ [name of sanctioned party]; and/or on his/her law firm, _____ [name of law firm, if any, employing sanctioned attorney], for _____ [describe allegedly offending pleading, motion or other paper, and violation of Rule 11, e.g., presenting a complaint to this court for the purpose of harassment];

(b) An order granting _____ [name of moving party] such other incidental relief as may be appropriate.

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 11

Discussion:

See §§ 33.13 -33.25

Related Forms of Affidavit and Declaration:

4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 11:52, 11:53 (Matthew Bender)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
V. FORMS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.32

33.32 Affidavit in Opposition to Motion for Sanctions.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	AFFIDAVIT OF _____ [name] IN Defendant	)	OPPOSITION
	)	TO MOTION FOR RULE 11 SANCTIONS
	)

_____ [Name of affiant], being duly sworn, deposes and says:

1. _____ [Provide relevant identifying information, e.g., I am over 18 years of age, an attorney duly licensed to practice in the State of _____ and before this Court, and the attorney of record for _____ [name of moving] party in this action].

2. I have personal knowledge of all of the facts stated in this Affidavit, and if called to testify as a witness in this matter, I could and would competently testify to each of the facts set forth in this Affidavit.

3. I make this Affidavit in opposition to the Motion for Sanctions made by _____ [name of moving party] claiming that _____ [describe basis for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 11, e.g., the complaint in this action was presented for the purpose of harassment].

4. _____ [Set forth points in opposition to motion, using additional paragraphs if necessary].

[5. To date, I have spent _____ [number] hours researching and drafting this response to the motion. I estimate that I will spend at least _____ [number] additional hours preparing for and attending the hearing on this motion. My client _____ [name of client] will be billed for my time at my normal billing rate, which is $_____ per hour. Therefore, $_____ is a reasonable sum to be awarded should I prevail on this motion.]

_____ [signature of affiant]

SUBSCRIBED AND SWORN TO BEFORE ME on _____ [date].

[Seal]

_____ [notary's signature]

_____ [typed name]

Notary Public in and for the

State of _____.

My commission expires on _____ [date].

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 11

Discussion:
See §§ 33.26 -33.30

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
V. FORMS

4-33 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 33.33

33.33 Order Granting Sanctions.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	ORDER AWARDING ATTORNEY'S FEES
Defendant	)	AS RULE 11 SANCTIONS
	)
	)

On _____ [date], _____ [name and designation of moving party], moved this court for sanctions under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11. The motion was duly noticed in compliance with the provisions of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 11(c)(1)(A). _____ [Name of moving attorney] of the firm of _____ [firm name] appeared and argued in support of the motion. _____ [Name of opposing attorney] of the firm of _____ [firm name] appeared and argued against the motion. The court has considered the papers submitted in support of and in opposition to the motion, the authorities cited by the parties, and the argument of counsel. After due deliberation, the court has reached the following conclusions:

1. Sanctions are warranted in this case because _____ [set forth basis for sanctions under Fed R Civ P 11, e.g., the complaint in this case was presented for the improper purpose of harassment].

2. The appropriate sanction in this case is an award of fees in the amount of $_____. The logical starting point for a determination of attorney's fees is a calculation of the number of hours reasonably expended in responding to _____ [describe pleading, motion, or other paper, e.g., the complaint], multiplied by a reasonable hourly attorney's fee based on the prevailing market rate. _____ [Name of moving party] seeks a fee award for _____ [number] hours spent responding to _____ [describe pleading, motion, or other paper, e.g., the complaint] and _____ [number] hours spent preparing the motion for sanctions. The reasonable hourly attorney's fee is $_____ per hour.

THEREFORE, IT IS ORDERED THAT:

1. _____ Name of person(s) and firms sanctioned] pay to _____ [name of moving party] the sum of $_____.

2. The amount set forth above must be paid no later than _____ days from notice of this order.

3. Failure to comply with this order will result in further sanctions.
Dated: _____

_____ [signature]

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 11

Discussion:
See § 33.25

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.syn

§ 34.syn Synopsis to Chapter 34: Other Sanction Provisions

34.01 Scope.

34.02 Objective and Strategy.

34.03 CHECKLIST: Seeking Sanctions Under 28 USC § 1927.

34.04 Section 1927 Sanctions Are Aimed at Deterring Improper Multiplication of Proceedings.

34.05 Section 1927 Applies to Conduct After Commencement of Case, Including During Trial.

34.06 Section 1927 Sanctions Are Available for Later Proceedings.

34.07 Section 1927 Sanctions Are Imposed Only on Attorney.

34.08 Sanctions Under § 1927 Require Bad Faith or Recklessness.

34.09 Mere Negligence or Ignorance Does Not Support § 1927 Sanctions.

34.10 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Discouraging Vexatious Litigation by Requiring Security.

34.11 Motion for Sanctions Under § 1927.

34.11[1] State Specific Grounds for Sanctions and Relief Sought.

34.11[2] Serve Motion Pursuant to Rule 5.

34.12 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for § 1927 Sanctions.

34.13 Assert Inapplicability of § 1927.

34.14 Assert That Motion Under § 1927 Not Filed to Accomplish Purpose of Deterrence.

34.15 Assert That Conduct Was Product of Mere Ignorance or Negligence.

34.16 CHECKLIST: Seeking Sanctions Under Inherent Power of Court.

34.17 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Power.

34.18 Federal Courts Have Inherent Powers to Sanction Bad-Faith Conduct.

34.19 Court May Rely Both on Specific Rule or Statute and on Inherent Authority.

34.20 Court Must Specifically Find Bad Faith or Conduct Tantamount to Bad Faith.

34.21 Due Process Protection That Must Be Afforded Depends on Whether Sanctions Are Tantamount to Criminal Contempt.

34.22 Sanctions Are Available for Variety of Willful Actions.

34.22[1] Particular Conduct As Bases for Inherent Power Sanctions.

34.22[2] Sanctions Must Be Based on Recklessness Combined With Aggravating Factor.

34.23 Court Has Inherent Authority to Impose Wide Range of Sanctions, Including Dismissal.

34.24 Motion for Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Powers.

34.24[1] State Specific Grounds for Sanctions and Relief Sought.

34.24[2] Motion Must Be Served Pursuant to Rule 5.

34.25 Responding to and Opposing Motion for Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Powers.

34.25[1] Assert Absence of Bad Faith.

34.25[2] Assert That Nature of Sanctions Requires Due Process Protections Available for Criminal Contempt.

34.26 CHECKLIST: Seeking Sanctions Under Local District Court Rules or Procedures.

34.27 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Sanction Provisions

34.27[1] Sanctions May Be Imposed for Failure to Comply With Local Rules Relating to Presentations to the Court.

34.27[2] Monetary and Other Appropriate Sanctions for Bad Faith or Willful Violation of Local Rules.

34.27[3] Sanctions for Late Filing of Motion Papers.

34.27[4] Sanctions for Requesting Presence of Declarant in Motion for Civil Contempt Without Good-Faith Intention to Cross-Examine.

34.27[5] Sanctions for Failing to Comply With Requirements for Application for Continuance or Notice of Settlement.

34.27[6] Sanctions for Reinstatement of Case Dismissed for Want of Prosecution.

34.28 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Sanction Provisions

34.28[1] Sanctions for Violation of Local Rules or Court Order.

34.28[2] Sanctions for Failure to Appear at Motion Proceeding.

34.28[3] Assessment of Costs of Jury Panel for Conduct Preventing Court From Commencing Jury Trial As Scheduled.

34.28[4] Sanctions for Violation of ADR Procedures.

34.28[5] Sanctions for Failure to Notify Court of Settlement.

34.29 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Sanction Provisions.

34.29[1] Sanctions for Violation of Local or Federal Rules.

34.29[2] Restrictions on Sanctions for Violation of General and Standing Court Orders.

34.29[2][a] Violation of General Order Not Sanctionable Unless Order Specifically Adopted by Judge.

34.29[2][b] Notice of Standing Order Must Precede Sanctions.

34.29[3] Sanctions Against Attorney for Unprofessional Conduct.

34.29[4] Sanctions for Wrongfully Exercising Privilege of Bar Membership.

34.29[5] Sanctions for Violation of ADR Local Rules.

34.29[6] Sanctions for Failure to Proceed on Scheduled Trial Date.

34.29[7] Assessment of Jury Costs for Failure to Proceed on Scheduled Trial Date or Failure to Give Notice of Settlement.

34.29[8] Sanctions for Filing or Refiling Case to Circumvent Case Assignment to Particular Judge.

34.29[9] Sanctions for Repeating Argument in Motion for Leave to File Motion for Reconsideration.

34.30 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Sanction Provisions.

34.30[1] Sanctions for Violation of Local and Federal Rules and Court Orders.

34.30[2] Sanctions for Violation of Rules of Professional Conduct.

36 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
I. STRATEGY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.01

34.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Seeking sanctions under 28 USC § 1927 [see 34.03 -34.11].
- Avoiding and opposing sanctions under 28 USC § 1927 [see 34.12 -34.15].
- Seeking sanctions under the court's inherent power [see 34.16 -34.24].
- Avoiding and opposing sanctions under the court's inherent power [see 34.25].
- Miscellaneous local court rules providing for sanctions [see 34.26 -34.30].

Core Statute: 28 USC § 1927.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

37 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
I. STRATEGY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.02

34.02 Objective and Strategy.

Fed R Civ P 11 is commonly regarded as the key provision that imposes sanctions on attorneys for improper conduct. However, Rule 11 is limited to conduct associated with pleadings and motions. A broader array of conduct (not limited to pleadings and motions) is sanctionable under 28 USC § 1927, which authorizes the imposition of costs and attorney's fees as a personal obligation on an attorney "who so multiplies the proceedings in any case as to increase costs unreasonably and vexatiously." Sanctions under § 1927 may also be imposed on an attorney who does not reevaluate the merits of his or her claims or advances an unreasonable claim or one that is "not brought with a reasonable good faith belief that it is justified." 28 USC § 1927 is powerful because it authorizes the imposition of costs and attorney's fees on the infringing attorney "personally."

Sanctions may also be imposed under the court's inherent authority, as well as under specific local district court rules governing sanctions.

Detailed Discussion

Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 11, Signing Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers; Representations to the Court; Sanctions (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 11, Signing Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers; Representations to the Court; Sanctions (Matthew Bender).

Joseph, Sanctions: The Federal Law of Litigation Abuse (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Cross Reference :

For Tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com with this Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
II. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER 28 USC § 1927 FOR MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY AND VEXATIOUSLY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.03

34.03 CHECKLIST: Seeking Sanctions Under 28 USC § 1927.

The following checklist may be used to move for sanctions under 28 USC § 1927.

☐ Determine particular actions of opposing counsel that have multiplied proceedings unreasonably and vexatiously.

☐ Consider how you will prove bad faith or recklessness.

☐ Determine the amount of time reasonably spent in response to this conduct.

- ○ Calculate excess costs.
- ○ Calculate expenses related only to this conduct.
- ○ Calculate attorney's fees.

Authority:
28 USC § 1927

Discussion:
See § 34.04 -34.09

☐ Draft motion for sanctions under 28 USC § 1927.

- State with particularity the grounds for sanctions.
- Set forth the relief or order sought.
  - Order must include a specific finding of bad faith.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 34.11

- Follow procedure applicable to motions generally.
- File motion papers with clerk.
  - Comply with time limits specified by local district court rules.
    - Note that individual judge's rules may require a pre-motion "heads up" of an intended motion, followed by a pre-motion conference.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5, 7

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

- In the Northern District:
  - Separately file the motion.
  - Set the date for hearing in conformance with ND Cal Civ LR 7-2.
  - Draft the form of the motion pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 7-2.
  - Comply with any applicable Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
  - Make the motion as soon as practicable after learning of the underlying circumstances.
  - Unless otherwise ordered by the court, no motion for sanctions may be served and filed more than 14 days after entry of judgment.

Authority:
ND Cal Civ LR 7-8

Discussion:

See § 34.11

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorDiscourtesiesCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorMisrepresentations

39 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
II. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER 28 USC § 1927 FOR MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY AND VEXATIOUSLY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.04

34.04 Section 1927 Sanctions Are Aimed at Deterring Improper Multiplication of Proceedings.

A court may impose sanctions on any attorney who unreasonably and vexatiously multiplies legal proceedings [28 USC § 1927; Cline v. Industrial Maint. Eng'g & Contr. Co. (9th Cir 2000) 200 F3d 1223, 1236].

Deterrence of intentional and unnecessary delay in the proceedings is a principal purpose of 28 USC § 1927 [Beatrice Foods Co. v. New England Printing & Lithographing Co. (Fed Cir 1990) 899 F2d 1171, 1177 (remanding for the conduct of an appropriate hearing)].

Section 1927 permits the imposition of excess costs, expenses and attorney fees that are incurred due to the prohibited conduct [28 USC § 1927].

Judge's Perspective:

Unreasonably vexatious conduct is difficult to establish unless it is ongoing and egregious. Most judges impose sanctions rarely. Lawyers are contentious enough without the exacerbation of sanctions. But if sanctions are to be sought, 28 USC § 1927 is one of the easiest statutes to use because it is so broad.

Cross Reference:

2 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 11.40 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

40 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
II. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER 28 USC § 1927 FOR MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY AND VEXATIOUSLY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.05

34.05 Section 1927 Applies to Conduct After Commencement of Case, Including During Trial.

28 USC § 1927 provides a mechanism for sanctioning conduct that occurs after commencing a case, including during trial [MGIC Indem. Corp. v. Moore (9th Cir 1991) 952 F2d 1120, 1121 (reversing the district court's § 1927 sanctions award when there was no finding of bad-faith conduct)].

Distinguish:

Because 28 USC § 1927 applies only to unnecessary filings and tactics once a lawsuit has begun [In re Keegan Mgmt. Co. Secs. Litig. (9th Cir 1996) 78 F3d 431, 435], the filing of an original complaint cannot be sanctioned under § 1927. The filing of a complaint may be sanctioned under Rule 11 or a court's inherent authority [In re Keegan Mgmt. Co. Secs. Litig. (9th Cir 1996) 78 F3d 431, 435 ; Willis v. City of Oakland (ND Cal 2005) 231 FRD 597, 598].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

41 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
II. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER 28 USC § 1927 FOR MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY AND VEXATIOUSLY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.06

34.06 Section 1927 Sanctions Are Available for Later Proceedings.

Although Fed R Civ P 11 sanctions attach only on the basis of the attorney's signature on pleadings, motions, or other papers, 28 USC § 1927 sanctions are available based on, among other things, misconduct occurring in later proceedings [West Coast Theater Corp. v. City of Portland (9th Cir 1990) 897 F2d 1519, 1528].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

42 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
II. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER 28 USC § 1927 FOR MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY AND VEXATIOUSLY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.07

34.07 Section 1927 Sanctions Are Imposed Only on Attorney.

28 USC § 1927 may not be used to impose sanctions on a represented party, even if the client is jointly and severally responsible for a sanctionable action [see FTC v. Alaska Leasing, Inc. (9th Cir 1986) 799 F2d 507, 510 ; Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 175 n8].

Distinguish--Applying § 1927 to Pro Se Litigant:
Although the Ninth Circuit has allowed a § 1927 sanction against a pro se litigant, courts are split on that issue [Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 175 n8 ; see Wages v. IRS (9th Cir 1990) 915 F2d 1230, 1235-1236 ; cf. Sassower v. Field (2d Cir 1992) 973 F2d 75, 80 (not allowing pro se sanction)].

Distinguish--Represented Party May Be Declared a Vexatious Litigant:
A represented party may be declared a vexatious litigant and be required to obtain leave of court before filing specified claims [see, e.g., Molski v. Mandarin Touch Rest. (CD Cal 2004) 347 F Supp2d 860 (ADA plaintiff found to be vexatious litigant who filed complaints to extort settlements); but see Molski v. Arby's Huntington Beach (CD Cal 2005) 359 F Supp2d 938, 945 (plaintiff's motive is irrelevant to jurisdiction and standing); Wilson v. Pier 1 Imports (US), Inc. (ED Cal 2006) 411 F Supp2d 1196, 1199-1200 (ADA plaintiff was not vexatious because filings were not frivolous and harassing)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesSelf-RepresentationSanctionsCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
II. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER 28 USC § 1927 FOR MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY AND VEXATIOUSLY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.08

34.08 Sanctions Under § 1927 Require Bad Faith or Recklessness.

A finding of recklessness suffices to support an award of sanctions under 28 USC § 1927 [B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1107 ; Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 993].

Warning:

A showing of bad faith is not necessarily a prerequisite to the imposition of Rule 11 sanctions [McMahon v. Pier 39 Ltd. P'ship (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 22178, at *17, aff'd, 2005 US App LEXIS 12306 (9th Cir 2005)]. Ninth Circuit cases are inconsistent with respect to whether the bad-faith standard is applied to § 1927 sanctions [see Ingle v. Circuit City (9th Cir 2005) 408 F3d 592, 596 (declining to impose § 1927 sanctions when appeal was wholly without merit but respondent failed to provide evidence appellant was motivated by bad faith); B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1107 ("To be sure, our cases have been less than a model of clarity regarding whether a finding of mere recklessness alone may suffice to impose sanctions for attorneys' fees.")]. Some courts continue to cite Moore v. Keegan Mgmt. Co. (9th Cir 1996) 78 F3d 431, 435 , for the proposition that "subjective bad faith" is required for imposition of sanctions under § 1927 [see, e.g., Network Caching Tech., LLC v. Novell, Inc. (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 9881, at *24 ; China Healthways Inst., Inc. v. Hsin Ten Enter. USA, Inc. (CD Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 16286, at *11 ; Heary Bros. Lightning Prot. Co. v. Lightning Prot. Inst. (D Ariz 2003) 287 F Supp2d 1038, 1080].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

44 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
II. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER 28 USC § 1927 FOR MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY AND VEXATIOUSLY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.09

34.09 Mere Negligence or Ignorance Does Not Support § 1927 Sanctions.

A finding of ignorance or negligence, by contrast to recklessness, does not support the imposition of sanctions under 28 USC § 1927 [Barber v. Miller (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 707, 711

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

45 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
II. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER 28 USC § 1927 FOR MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY AND VEXATIOUSLY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.10

34.10 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Discouraging Vexatious Litigation by Requiring Security.

In the Central District, the court, on motion of a party or on its own motion, after opportunity to be heard, may order a party to give security in such amount as the court determines to be appropriate to secure the payment of any costs, sanctions or other amounts which may be awarded against a vexatious litigant [CD Cal Civ LR 83-8.2].

Any order issued under CD Cal Civ LR 83-8.2 must be based on a finding that the litigant to whom the order is issued has abused the court's process and is likely to continue such abuse, unless protective measures are taken [CD Cal Civ LR 83-8.3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious Litigants

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
II. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER 28 USC § 1927 FOR MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY AND VEXATIOUSLY

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.11

34.11 Motion for Sanctions Under § 1927.

34.11[1] State Specific Grounds for Sanctions and Relief Sought. A motion for sanctions must comply with Fed R Civ P 7, which requires that, among other things [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)]:

- The motion must "state with particularity" the grounds for sanctions.
- The motion must state the relief sought.

Warning:

The order should include a specific finding of bad faith or recklessness [MGIC Indem. Corp. v. Moore (9th Cir 1991) 952 F2d 1120, 1122].

34.11[2] Serve Motion Pursuant to Rule 5. A motion must be served pursuant to Fed R Civ P 5; serve motion on all parties that have appeared in the action [Fed R Civ P 5(a)].

Cross References:

Service of motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, 5.18.

1 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 5, Servicing and Filing Pleadings and Other Papers (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Special requirements for sanction motions in Northern District, under ND Cal Civ LR 7-8, see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions, 33.19.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

47 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
III. OPPOSING § 1927 SANCTIONS

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.12

34.12 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for § 1927 Sanctions.

Consider the following when opposing sanctions under 28 USC § 1927.

☐ Assert that 28 USC § 1927 is inapplicable to the facts.

☐ Assert that the motion was filed to accomplish a purpose other than deterrence.

☐ Assert that respondent acted from mere negligence or ignorance, not amounting to recklessness.

Authority:
See 28 USC § 1927; Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 993 , discussing Barber v. Miller (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 707, 711 ; Moore v. Keegan Mgmt. Co. (9th Cir 1996) 78 F3d 431, 435

Discussion:
See §§ 34.13 -34.15

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

48 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
III. OPPOSING § 1927 SANCTIONS

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.13

34.13 Assert Inapplicability of § 1927.

A person subject to sanctions under 28 USC § 1927 may assert, when appropriate, that the statute is inapplicable to the instant case.

Example:

If the motion for sanctions under 28 USC § 1927 seeks attorney's fees from a represented party, the responding party may assert that the statute does not apply [see FTC v. Alaska Leasing, Inc. (9th Cir 1986) 799 F2d 507, 510 ; Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 175 n8].

Cross Reference:

Sanctions for conduct during trial, see § 34.05.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

49 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
III. OPPOSING § 1927 SANCTIONS

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.14

34.14 Assert That Motion Under § 1927 Not Filed to Accomplish Purpose of Deterrence.

If appropriate under the circumstances, the responding party to a motion under 28 USC § 1927 may assert that the motion was not filed for a legitimate purpose under the statute, in that it was not intended to seek sanctions for the purpose of deterring attorney misconduct [see Truesdell v. Southern Cal. Permanente Med. Group (CD Cal 2002) 209 FRD 169, 173-174].

Cross Reference:

Sanctions aimed at deterrence, see § 34.04.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

50 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
III. OPPOSING § 1927 SANCTIONS

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.15

34.15 Assert That Conduct Was Product of Mere Ignorance or Negligence.

If the respondent did engage in the conduct described in the motion under 28 USC § 1927, but the conduct involved mere ignorance or negligence rather than bad faith or recklessness, the responding party should raise that issue, because sanctions are not properly imposed on those grounds [see Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 993 , discussing Barber v. Miller (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 707, 711 (combining discussion of sanctions under inherent powers and § 1927, but properly finding sanctions not warranted based on ignorance or negligence)].

Judge's Perspective:
Never put the blame on a secretary or junior associate. An apology never hurts.

Cross Reference:
Bad faith required, see §§ 34.08, 34.09.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.16

34.16 CHECKLIST: Seeking Sanctions Under Inherent Power of Court.

☐ Determine whether a party in engaged in some type of objectionable conduct, such as the following:

- ○ Disobedience of a judicial order.
- ○ Fraud.
- ○ Abuse of judicial process.
- ○ Actions that are vexatious, wanton, or for oppressive purpose.
- ○ Attempt by an attorney to influence or manipulate proceedings in one case in order to gain tactical advantage in another case.

Discussion:
See § 34.18

☐ Determine whether the person acted in bad faith or in a manner tantamount to bad faith.

Authority:
Gomez v. Vernon (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 1118, 1134 , cert. denied sub nom. Beauclair v. Gomez, 534

US 1066 (2001)

Discussion:
See § 34.18

☐ Consider whether a particular federal or local rule applies to conduct at issue.

Discussion:
Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions, see § 33.03

☐ Determine whether any of the following sanctions would be appropriate:

- ○ Attorney's fees.
- ○ Dismissal of the action.
- ○ Default judgment against the offending party.
- ○ Vacation of judgment.
- ○ Contempt citation.
- ○ Disqualifying or suspending counsel.
- ○ Injunction against further litigation.
- ○ Exclusion of evidence.
- ○ Monetary sanctions to compensate wronged party.

Authority:
See Chambers v. NASCO, Inc. (1991) 501 US 32, 44, 111 S Ct 2123, 115 L Ed2d 27 ; B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1108-1109 ; Shafii v. British Airways (2d Cir 1996) 83 F3d 566, 571 ; Shepherd v. ABC (DC Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1469, 1475 ; Corder v. Howard Johnson & Co. (9th Cir 1994) 53 F3d 225, 232

Discussion:
See § 34.22, 34.23

☐ Draft motion for sanctions under court's inherent power.

- ○ State with particularity the grounds for sanctions.
- ○ State the relief sought.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)

Discussion:
See § 34.24

○ Follow procedure applicable to motions generally.

○ File motion papers with clerk.

☐ Comply with time limits specified by local district court rules.

○ Note that individual judge's rules may require a pre-motion "heads up" of an intended motion, followed by a pre-motion conference.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5, 7

Discussion:
See § 34.24

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

☐ In the Northern District:

○ Separately file the motion.

○ Set the date for hearing in conformance with ND Cal Civ LR 7-2.

○ Draft the form of the motion pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 7-2.

○ Comply with any applicable Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

○ Make the motion as soon as practicable after learning of the underlying circumstances.

○ Unless otherwise ordered by the court, no motion for sanctions may be served and filed more than 14 days after entry of judgment.

Authority:
ND Cal Civ LR 7-8

Discussion:
Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions, see § 33.19

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.17

34.17 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Power.

The following checklist may be used to oppose a motion for sanctions under the court's inherent power.

☐ Dispute the facts asserted in the motion.

☐ Assert that the respondent acted in good faith, and support this assertion with an explanation that shows that the respondent did not act in bad faith, nor in a manner tantamount to bad faith.

☐ Assert that the sanctions requested or imposed are so severe that a normal motion procedure is inadequate, in that the respondent is entitled to the due process protections available for criminal contempt.

Authority:
See Gomez v. Vernon (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 1118, 1134 , cert. denied sub nom. Beauclair v. Gomez, 534 US 1066 (2001) ; F.J. Hanshaw Enters. v. Emerald River Dev., Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 1128, 1132-1142

Discussion:
See §§ 34.18 -34.25

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

53 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.18

34.18 Federal Courts Have Inherent Powers to Sanction Bad-Faith Conduct.

A district court has inherent power to sanction bad-faith conduct [Earthquake Sound Corp. v. Bumper Indus. (9th Cir 2003) 352 F3d 1210, 1220 (awarding attorney's fees)].

Federal courts have inherent power to levy sanctions, including attorney's fees, for willful disobedience of a court order, or when the losing party has acted in bad faith, vexatiously, wantonly, or for oppressive reasons. In addition, a court may assess sanctions against counsel who willfully abuse judicial processes [Aloe Vera of Am., Inc. v. United States (9th Cir 2004) 376 F3d 960, 966 ; Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 991].

Judge's Perspective:

Courts are reluctant to impose sanctions, and the bad-faith standard is difficult to establish. As with Fed R Civ P 11 and 28 USC § 1927 motions for sanctions, moving for sanctions under the court's inherent power should be reserved for the really egregious cases, or for times when the inappropriate conduct is repeated.

Cross Reference:

Court's inherent power to impose sanctions, see 2 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 11.41 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.19

34.19 Court May Rely Both on Specific Rule or Statute and on Inherent Authority.

The Supreme Court cautions against reliance on inherent powers if appropriate sanctions can be imposed under provisions such as Fed R Civ P 11. The procedures specified in Rule 11 (i.e., notice, opportunity to respond, and findings) should ordinarily be employed when seeking a sanction under the court's inherent powers. Moreover, Rule 11 does not preclude a party from initiating an independent action for malicious prosecution or abuse of process [see Fed R Civ P 11, Committee Note of 1993].

Cross Reference:

Rule 11 sanctions, see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions.

The inherent power of federal courts to impose sanctions for bad-faith conduct in the course of litigation is not displaced by the sanctioning provision of 28 USC § 1927 or Fed R Civ P 11. Moreover, the district court is not required to apply other sanctions provisions first. When much of the bad-faith conduct is beyond the reach of the rules, but a party's entire course of conduct evidences bad faith, and the conduct sanctionable under the rules is intertwined with conduct that can only be reached by the inherent power, application of the rules before resort to inherent power would only delay litigation further [Chambers v. NASCO, Inc. (1991) 501 US 32, 46-51, 111 S Ct 2123, 115 L Ed2d 27 ; see Heary Bros. Lightning Prot. Co. v. Lightning Prot. Inst. (D Ariz 2003) 287 F Supp2d 1038, 1080-1081].

Example:

In a sex-discrimination case the district court awarded the plaintiff $5000 under 28 USC § 1927, and $5000 under its inherent powers. The sanctions arose from the defendant's presentation of evidence in violation of Fed R Evid 412. The awards were for attorney's fees, and for compensation to the plaintiff for the emotional damage caused by the improper testimony, respectively. The Ninth Circuit upheld both awards [see B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1107-1109].

Judge's Perspective:

Although the court is allowed to use inherent authority at any time, usually the better practice is to proceed under the Rule or statute if there is one that fits. Sometimes judges add inherent authority as an additional ground for granting sanctions just as a precaution.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

55 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.20

34.20 Court Must Specifically Find Bad Faith or Conduct Tantamount to Bad Faith.

Sanctions under the court's inherent powers are available if the court specifically finds bad faith or conduct tantamount to bad faith [Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 993-994 , citing Chambers v. NASCO, Inc. (1991) 501 US 32, 46, 111 S Ct 2123, 115 L Ed2d 27 and Roadway Express, Inc. v. Piper (1980) 447 US 752, 766, 100 S Ct 2455, 65 L Ed2d 488 ; see also B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1108 (conduct tantamount to bad faith is sanctionable)].

For purposes of imposing sanctions under the inherent power of the court, a finding of bad faith does not require that the legal and factual basis for the action be totally frivolous; when a litigant is substantially motivated by vindictiveness, obduracy, or mala fides, the assertion of a colorable claim will not bar the assessment of attorney's fees [B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1108 ; Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 992].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

56 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.21

34.21 Due Process Protection That Must Be Afforded Depends on Whether Sanctions Are Tantamount to Criminal Contempt.

When a court uses its inherent powers to impose sanctions that are criminal in nature, it must provide the same due process protections that would be available in a criminal contempt proceeding. If the imposition of sanctions under the court's inherent powers is tantamount to a finding of criminal contempt, the person subject to sanctions is entitled to all the procedural protections available to an alleged contemnor under criminal contempt [F.J. Hanshaw Enters. v. Emerald River Dev., Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 1128, 1136-1142].

Cross Reference:

Due process rights in criminal contempt actions, see Ch. 35, Contempt, see § 35.19[3].

In contrast, civil sanctions may be imposed so long as the court provides adequate notice and an opportunity to be heard [International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 827, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642 ; Lasar v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir 2005) 399 F3d 1101, 1110].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCriminal ContemptCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptProceedingsDue Process

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.22

34.22 Sanctions Are Available for Variety of Willful Actions.

34.22[1] Particular Conduct As Bases for Inherent Power Sanctions. Federal courts' inherent power to levy sanctions has been based on the following conduct:

- Disobeying judicial orders [Young v. United States (1987) 481 US 787, 798, 107 S Ct 2124, 95 L Ed2d 740 ; Roadway Express, Inc. v. Piper (1980) 447 US 752, 766, 100 S Ct 2455, 65 L Ed2d 488].

- Fraud [see Hazel-Atlas Glass Co. v. Hartford-Empire Co. (1944) 322 US 238, 244, 64 S Ct 997, 88 L Ed 1250].

- Abuse of judicial process [see Roadway Express, Inc. v. Piper (1980) 447 US 752, 766-767, 100 S Ct 2455, 65 L Ed2d 488].

- Acting vexatiously, wantonly, or for oppressive purpose [see Alyeska Pipeline Serv. Co. v. Wilderness Soc'y (1975) 421 US 240, 258-259, 95 S Ct 1612, 44 L Ed2d 141].

- Attorney's reckless misstatements of law and fact, coupled with an improper purpose, e.g., an attempt to influence or manipulate proceedings in one case in order to gain tactical advantage in another case [see Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 994 (not determining existence of those factors, but remanding case for determination on facts)].

- Flagrant violation of Federal Rules of Evidence [see B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1108-1109 (also reversing denial of motion for mistrial on ground of violation of Fed R Evid 412)].

Example:

In a sex-discrimination case the district court awarded the plaintiff $5000 under 28 USC § 1927, and $5000 under its inherent powers. The sanctions arose from the defendant's presentation of evidence violation of Fed R Evid 412. The awards were for attorney's fees, and for compensation to the plaintiff for the emotional damage caused by the improper testimony, respectively. The Ninth Circuit upheld both awards [see B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1107-1109].

34.22[2] Sanctions Must Be Based on Recklessness Combined With Aggravating Factor. With respect to the court's inherent powers to impose sanctions, bad faith or willful misconduct consists of something more egregious than mere negligence or recklessness [Knupfer v. Lindblade (9th Cir 2003) 322 F3d 1178, 1197 ; Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 993-994 (mere recklessness, without more, does not justify sanctions under a court's inherent power)]. Sanctions are available only if recklessness is combined with an additional factor, such as frivolousness, harassment, or an improper purpose [Gomez v. Vernon (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 1118, 1134 , cert. denied sub nom. Beauclair v. Gomez, 534 US 1066 (2001) , citing Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 994 ; see also Lasar v. Ford Motor Co. (D Mont 2003) 239 F Supp2d 1022, 1026-1027]. Thus, an attorney's reckless misstatements of law and fact, when coupled with an improper purpose, are sanctionable under a court's inherent power [B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1108]. But sanctions are also justified if a party acts for an improper purpose, even if the acts consist of making a truthful statement or a nonfrivolous argument or objection [Gomez v. Vernon (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 1118, 1134 , cert. denied sub nom. Beauclair v. Gomez, 534 US 1066 (2001) , citing Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 992].

Example--Sanctions Appropriate:

An attorney's reckless misstatements of law and fact, when coupled with an improper purpose, such as an attempt to influence or manipulate proceedings in one case in order to gain tactical advantage in another case, are sanctionable under a court's inherent power [see Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 994 (not determining existence of those factors, but remanding case for determination on facts)].

Examples--Sanctions Inappropriate:

Mere tardiness does not demonstrate the improper purpose or intent required for inherent-power sanctions. A specific finding of bad faith must precede any sanction under the court's inherent powers [United States v. Stoneberger (9th Cir 1986) 805 F2d 1391, 1393 (reversing imposition of sanctions based on attorney's chronic tardiness)].

Counsel's negligent failure to comply with local court rules requiring admission to the district court bar did not warrant the imposition of sanctions under the court's inherent powers. [Zambrano v. City of Tustin (9th Cir 1989) 885 F2d 1473, 1484-1485 (vacating imposition of sanctions)].

Distinguish:

Recklessness suffices for 28 USC § 1927, but bad faith is required for sanctions under the court's inherent power [B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1107].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsVexatious LitigantsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorMisrepresentations

58 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.23

34.23 Court Has Inherent Authority to Impose Wide Range of Sanctions, Including Dismissal.

The district court's wide discretion to impose sanctions under its inherent power includes dismissal of a lawsuit [see Chambers v. NASCO, Inc. (1991) 501 US 32, 43-44, 111 S Ct 2123, 115 L Ed2d 27 ; B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1108].

Sanctions that may be imposed pursuant to the court's inherent power include:

- Attorney's fees [see, e.g., Corder v. Howard Johnson & Co. (9th Cir 1994) 53 F3d 225, 232].
- Dismissal of the action [see, e.g., Chambers v NASCO, Inc. (1991) 501 US 32, 44, 111 S Ct 2123, 115 L Ed2d 27].
- Default judgment against the offending party [see Shepherd v. ABC (DC Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1469, 1475].
- Vacation of judgment [see, e.g., Chambers v. NASCO, Inc. (1991) 501 US 32, 44, 111 S Ct 2123, 115 L Ed2d 27].
- Contempt citation [see, e.g., Chambers v. NASCO, Inc. (1991) 501 US 32, 51, 111 S Ct 2123, 115 L Ed2d 27].
- Disqualifying or suspending counsel [see, e.g., Lasar v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir 2005) 399 F3d 1101, 1107 (revocation of attorney's pro hac vice admission); Shepherd v. ABC (DC Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1469, 1475].
- Injunction against further litigation [see, e.g., Shafii v. British Airways (2d Cir 1996) 83 F3d 566, 571].
- Exclusion of evidence [see, e.g., Shepherd v. ABC (DC Cir 1995) 62 F3d 1469, 1475].

- Monetary sanctions to compensate wronged party [see B.K.B. v. Maui Police Dep't (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1091, 1108-1109 ($5000 awarded to plaintiff for defendant's violation of Fed R Evid 412 resulting in plaintiff's "public embarrassment; also reversing denial of motion for mistrial on ground of violation of Evidence Rule 412)].

- Monetary sanctions payable to a district court to reimburse the court for its expenses [Lasar v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir 2005) 399 F3d 1101, 1107 (monetary sanction in amount to reimburse court for costs related to empaneling jury was compensatory and civil)].

- Order requiring vexatious litigant to file a motion for leave to file a complaint before filing any new litigation [Molski v. Mandarin Touch Rest. (CD Cal 2004) 347 F Supp2d 860, 868 (ADA plaintiff found to be vexatious litigant who filed complaints to extort settlements)].

Judge's Perspective:

Judges are reluctant to use this authority if a specific statutory basis for sanctions applies.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDiscretionCivil ProcedureDismissalsInvoluntary DismissalsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesAttorney Expenses & FeesBad Faith AwardsCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.24

34.24 Motion for Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Powers.

34.24[1] State Specific Grounds for Sanctions and Relief Sought. A motion for sanctions must comply with Fed R Civ P 7, which requires, among other things that [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)]:

- The motion state with particularity the grounds for sanctions.
- The motion state the relief sought.

34.24[2] Motion Must Be Served Pursuant to Rule 5. A motion must be served pursuant to Fed R Civ P 5; serve all parties that have appeared in the action [Fed R Civ P 5(a)].

Cross References:

Service of motions, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, see § 5.18.

Special requirements for sanctions motion in Northern District, under ND Cal Civ LR 7-8, see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions, see § 33.19.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

60 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.25

34.25 Responding to and Opposing Motion for Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Powers.

34.25[1] Assert Absence of Bad Faith. If a person who is subject to the imposition of sanctions under the district court's inherent powers did engage in the conduct described in the motion and the conduct would otherwise constitute grounds for sanctions, he or she may raise as a defense the absence of any bad faith or conduct tantamount to bad faith. The imposition of sanctions under the court's inherent power require underlying bad faith or equivalent conduct [Gomez v. Vernon (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 1118, 1134 , cert. denied sub nom. Beauclair v. Gomez, 534 US 1066 (2001)].

Cross Reference:

Bad faith required, see § 34.18.

34.25[2] Assert That Nature of Sanctions Requires Due Process Protections Available for Criminal Contempt. When a court uses its inherent powers to impose sanctions that are criminal in nature, it must provide the same due process protections that would be available in a criminal contempt proceeding. If the imposition of sanctions under the court's inherent powers is tantamount to a finding of criminal contempt, the person subject to sanctions is entitled to all the procedural protections available to an alleged contemnor under criminal contempt [F.J. Hanshaw Enters. v. Emerald River Dev., Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 1128, 1136-1142 (holding that a $500,000 sanction was criminal in nature because it was punitive and intended to vindicate the court's authority)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCriminal ContemptCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptProceedingsDue Process

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
V. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS UNDER LOCAL DISTRICT COURT RULES OR PROCEDURES

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.26

34.26 CHECKLIST: Seeking Sanctions Under Local District Court Rules or Procedures.

The following checklist may be used to move for sanctions under particular local court rules.

☐ Central District.

○ Ascertain whether the person in question did any of the following:

☐ Failed to comply with any Local Rules of the Central District Court of California, or any federal rule.

☐ Failed to comply with any provision of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure, Federal Rules of Evidence, and Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure.

☐ Filed late any document in support of, or in opposition to, any motion noticed for hearing.

☐ Requested the presence of a declarant in a civil contempt motion without a good-faith intention to cross-examine him or her.

☐ Failed to comply with CD Cal Civ LR 40-1, 40-2, setting forth requirements for continuances and settlement notice.

☐ Refiled an action that had been dismissed for want of prosecution.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 7-8, 7-13, 40-3, 41-3, 83-2.10.3, 83-2.10.4, 83-7

Discussion:
See § 34.27

☐ Eastern District.

○ Ascertain whether the person in question did any of the following:

☐ Violated a Local Rule of the Eastern District Court of California.

☐ Violated a court order.

☐ Failed to appear at a motion proceeding, without giving proper notice.

☐ Failed either to respond to or to state no opposition to a motion involving an incarcerated party who is proceeding in propria persona.

☐ Preventing the court from proceeding with a jury trial as scheduled.

☐ Violating ADR rules.

☐ Failed to properly notify the court of a settlement or other disposition.

Authority:
ED Cal Gen LR 110, 160(a); ED Cal Civ LR 230(i), (l), 271(p), 272(b)

Discussion:
See § 34.28

☐ Northern District.

○ Ascertain whether the person in question did any of the following:

☐ Violated any Local Rule of the Northern District Court of California (including pro se litigant).

☐ Violated any Federal Rule (including pro se litigant).

☐ Attorney engaged in unprofessional conduct.

☐ Wrongfully exercised any privileges of membership in the bar of the Northern District Court of California.

☐ Violated ADR rules.

☐ Failed to proceed on scheduled trial date.

☐ Attempt to circumvent judge assignment.

☐ Repeat argument in motion for leave to file motion for reconsideration.

Authority:
ND Cal Civ LR 1-4, 3-3(c), 3-9(a), 7-9(c), 11-6(a), 11-8, 40-1; ND Cal ADR LR 2-4(c)

Discussion:
See § 34.29

☐ Southern District.

○ Ascertain whether the person in question did any of the following:

☐ Failed to comply with the Local Rules of the Southern District Court of California.

☐ Violated of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

☐ Violated of Federal Rules of Criminal Procedure.

☐ Violated of any court order.

☐ Attorney engaged in unprofessional conduct.

Authority:
SD Cal Civ LR 83.1(a), 83.5

Discussion:
See § 34.30

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
V. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS UNDER LOCAL DISTRICT COURT RULES OR PROCEDURES

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.27

34.27 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Sanction Provisions

34.27[1] Sanctions May Be Imposed for Failure to Comply With Local Rules Relating to Presentations to the Court. In the Central District, failure to comply with the rules relating to signing pleadings, motions, and other papers, and representations to the court [see CD Cal Civ LR 11-1-11-8] may be grounds for sanctions [CD Cal Civ LR 11-9].

34.27[2] Monetary and Other Appropriate Sanctions for Bad Faith or Willful Violation of Local Rules. In the Central District, the violation of or failure to conform to any of the Local Rules of the Central District may subject the offending party or counsel to [CD Cal Civ LR 83-7]:

- Monetary sanctions, if the court finds that the conduct was willful, grossly negligent, or reckless [CD Cal Civ LR 83-7(a)];

- The imposition of costs and attorneys' fees to opposing counsel, if the court finds that the conduct rises to the level of bad faith and/or a willful disobedience of a court order [CD Cal Civ LR 83-7(b)]; and/or

- For any of the conduct specified in (a) and (b) above, such other sanctions as the court may deem appropriate under the circumstances [CD Cal Civ LR 83-7(c)].

34.27[3] Sanctions for Late Filing of Motion Papers. In the Central District, a party filing any document in support of, or in opposition to, any motion noticed for hearing as provided in the rules for motion procedure [see CD Cal Civ LR 7-3 et seq.] after the time for filing has expired, is subject to the sanctions of CD Cal Civ LR 83-7 and the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [CD Cal Civ LR 7-13].

34.27[4] Sanctions for Requesting Presence of Declarant in Motion for Civil Contempt Without Good-Faith Intention to Cross-Examine. In the Central District, the Court may impose sanctions under the Local Rules against any party or counsel who requests the presence of any declarant in a hearing on a motion in which an issue of fact is to be determined (excluding motions contesting venue and personal jurisdiction) without a good-faith intention to cross-examine the declarant [CD Cal Civ LR 7-8].

34.27[5] Sanctions for Failing to Comply With Requirements for Application for Continuance or Notice of Settlement. In the Central District, failure to comply with the provisions of CD Cal Civ LR 40-1 and CD Cal Civ LR 40-2 may subject counsel to the following sanctions [CD Cal Civ LR 40-3]:

- Payment of costs and attorney's fees of an opposing party;
- Payment of one day's jury fees of the panel if one has been called for the trial; and
- Such other sanctions as may seem proper to the Court under the circumstances.

CD Cal Civ LR 40-1 provides that any application for continuance of any trial or similar proceeding must be served and filed at least five days before the day set for the trial or proceeding. The application must set forth in detail the reasons therefor.

CD Cal Civ LR 40-1.1 provides that counsel must notify the court clerk immediately when a stipulation for the continuance of a hearing, pre-trial conference, trial or other proceeding is to be submitted for court approval.

CD Cal Civ LR 40-1.2 provides that no continuance (whether stipulated to by counsel or not) will be effective unless approved in writing or announced in open court by the judge.

CD Cal Civ LR 40-2 provides that counsel must inform the court clerk immediately by telephone or other expeditious means when a case set for trial or other proceeding has been settled.

34.27[6] Sanctions for Reinstatement of Case Dismissed for Want of Prosecution. In the Central District, if any action dismissed for want of prosecution [CD Cal Civ LR 41-1] is reinstated, the court may impose such sanctions as it deems just and reasonable [CD Cal Civ LR 41-3].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsGeneral Overview

63 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
V. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS UNDER LOCAL DISTRICT COURT RULES OR PROCEDURES

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.28

34.28 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Sanction Provisions

34.28[1] Sanctions for Violation of Local Rules or Court Order. In the Eastern District, failure of counsel or of a party to comply with the Local Rules or with any order of the court may be grounds for imposition by the court of any and all sanctions authorized by statute or Rule or within the court's inherent power [ED Cal Gen LR 110].

34.28[2] Sanctions for Failure to Appear at Motion Proceeding. In the Eastern District, absent notice of intent to submit the matter on the briefs, failure to appear at a motion hearing may be deemed withdrawal of the motion or of opposition to the motion, in the court's discretion, or may result in the imposition of sanctions [ED Cal Civ LR 230(i)].

34.28[3] Assessment of Costs of Jury Panel for Conduct Preventing Court From Commencing Jury Trial As Scheduled. In the Eastern District, if for any reason attributable to counsel or parties, including settlement, the court is unable to commence a jury trial as scheduled when a panel of prospective jurors has reported for voir dire, the court may assess against counsel or parties responsible all or part of the cost of the panel [ED Cal Civ LR 272(b)].

34.28[4] Sanctions for Violation of ADR Procedures. On receipt of an appropriately presented and supported complaint of material violation of ED Cal Civ LR 271 regarding the Voluntary Dispute Resolution Program, the ADR judge or designated judge must determine whether the matter warrants further proceedings. If further proceedings are warranted, the ADR judge or designated judge must so notify the parties and the person complaining and may issue an order to show cause why sanctions should not be imposed. Any such proceeding must be conducted on the record [ED Cal Civ LR 271(p)(2)].

The ADR judge or designated judge must afford all interested persons an opportunity to be heard before deciding whether to impose or recommend a sanction [ED Cal Civ LR 271(p)(2)].

34.28[5] Sanctions for Failure to Notify Court of Settlement. In the Eastern District, when an action has been settled or otherwise disposed of, or when any motion seeking general or interim relief has been resolved, whether by settlement conference or out of court, and whether the action is pending in the District Court or is before an appellate court, it is counsel's duty to inform the courtroom deputy clerk and the assigned court's chambers immediately [ED Cal Gen LR 160(b); see ED Cal Civ LR 272].

On such notification of disposition or resolution of an action or motion, the court must fix a date on which the documents disposing of the action or motion must be filed. This date must not be more than 21 calendar days from the date of the notification, absent good cause. The court may, on good cause shown, extend the time for filing the dispositional papers. A failure to file dispositional papers on the date prescribed by the court may be grounds for sanctions [ED Cal Gen LR 160(b); see ED Cal Civ LR 272].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral Overview

64 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
V. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS UNDER LOCAL DISTRICT COURT RULES OR PROCEDURES

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.29

34.29 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Sanction Provisions.

34.29[1] Sanctions for Violation of Local or Federal Rules. In the Northern District, failure by counsel or a party to comply with any duly promulgated local rule or any Federal Rule may be a ground for imposition of any authorized sanction [ND Cal Civ LR 1-4].

34.29[2] Restrictions on Sanctions for Violation of General and Standing Court Orders.

34.29[2][a] Violation of General Order Not Sanctionable Unless Order Specifically Adopted by Judge. In the Northern District, "General Orders" are made by the Chief Judge or by the court relating to court administration. A General Order also may be used to promulgate modifications of the local rules. General Orders remain in effect until the rules are properly amended. No litigant may be sanctioned for violating a General Order unless the General Order is adopted by a judge as a specific order in a particular case [ND Cal Civ LR 1-5(j)].

34.29[2][b] Notice of Standing Order Must Precede Sanctions. In the Northern District, the court must provide notice of any applicable Standing Orders to parties before they are subject to sanctions for violating such orders. Nothing in the local rules precludes a judge from issuing Standing Orders to govern matters not covered by these local rules or by the Federal Rules [ND Cal Civ LR 1-5(o)].

34.29[3] Sanctions Against Attorney for Unprofessional Conduct. In the Northern District, if a judge has cause to believe that an attorney has engaged in unprofessional conduct, the judge may, among other things [see ND Cal Civ LR 11-6(a)]:

- Initiate proceedings for civil or criminal contempt under 18 USC and Fed R Crim P 42 [ND Cal Civ LR 11-6(a)(1)];

- Impose other appropriate sanctions [ND Cal Civ LR 11-6(a)(2)].

34.29[4] Sanctions for Wrongfully Exercising Privilege of Bar Membership. A person who exercises, or pretends to be entitled to exercise, any of the privileges of membership in the bar of the Northern District when not entitled to do so is subject to sanctions or other punishment, including a finding of contempt [ND Cal Civ LR 11-8].

34.29[5] Sanctions for Violation of ADR Local Rules. If, on receiving an appropriately presented and supported complaint or report of a material violation of the ADR local rules of the Northern District Court, the ADR Magistrate Judge determines that the matter warrants further proceedings, the ADR Magistrate Judge must issue an order to show cause why sanctions should not be imposed. Any such proceedings must be conducted on the record but under seal [ND Cal ADR LR 2-4(c)].

The ADR Magistrate Judge will afford all interested parties an opportunity to be heard before deciding whether to impose sanctions. Any objections to such sanctions must be made by motion under ND Cal Civ LR 7-1 et seq. before the General Duty Judge, unless the General Duty Judge is the assigned judge, in which case the objections must be made to the Chief Judge [ND Cal ADR LR 2-4(c)].

Any such objection must be delivered under seal to the appropriate judge within 14 days of the filing the Magistrate Judge's order resolving the sanctions issue. The objection must not be filed, and must be served immediately on the ADR Magistrate Judge, all other counsel, the neutral and the ADR unit [ND Cal ADR LR 2-4(c)].

34.29[6] Sanctions for Failure to Proceed on Scheduled Trial Date. In the Northern District, no continuance of a scheduled trial date will be granted except by order of the court issued in response to a motion made in accordance with the provisions of ND Cal Civ LR 7-1 et seq.. Failure of a party to proceed with the trial on the scheduled trial date may result in the imposition of appropriate sanctions, including dismissal or entry of default [ND Cal Civ LR 40-1].

34.29[7] Assessment of Jury Costs for Failure to Proceed on Scheduled Trial Date or Failure to Give Notice of Settlement. In the Northern District, jury costs may be assessed as sanctions against a party or the party's attorney for failure to proceed with a scheduled trial, or failure to provide the court with timely written notice of a settlement [ND Cal Civ LR 40-1].

34.29[8] Sanctions for Filing or Refiling Case to Circumvent Case Assignment to Particular Judge. In the Northern District, ND Cal Civ LR 3-3 controls the assignment of an action to a judge. If any civil action or claim of a civil action is dismissed and is subsequently refiled, the refiling party must file an Administrative Motion to Consider Whether Cases Should Be Related pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 3-12. On a determination by a judge that an action or claim pending before him or her is covered by this Local Rule, that judge may transfer the refiled action to the judge originally assigned to the action which had been dismissed [ND Cal Civ LR 3-3(c)].

Any party who files an action in multiple divisions or dismisses an action and subsequently refiles it for the purpose of obtaining an assignment in contravention of ND Cal Civ LR 3-3(b) is subject to appropriate sanctions [ND Cal Civ LR 3-3(c)].

34.29[9] Sanctions for Repeating Argument in Motion for Leave to File Motion for Reconsideration. In the Northern District, no motion for leave to file a motion for reconsideration may repeat any oral or written argument made by the applying party in support of or in opposition to the interlocutory order that the party asks to have reconsidered. Any party who violates this restriction is subject to appropriate sanctions [ND Cal Civ LR 7-9(c); see ND Cal Civ LR 7-9 (requirements for motion for reconsideration)].

Cross Reference:

Motion for sanctions in Northern District, under ND Cal Civ LR 7-8, see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions, see § 33.19.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureSanctionsBaseless FilingsBad Faith MotionsCivil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsSanctionsGeneral Overview

65 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions
V. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS UNDER LOCAL DISTRICT COURT RULES OR PROCEDURES

4-34 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 34.30

34.30 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Sanction Provisions.

34.30[1] Sanctions for Violation of Local and Federal Rules and Court Orders. Failure of counsel or of any party to comply with the Local Rules of the Southern District, with the Federal Rules of Civil or Criminal Procedure, or with any order of the court may be ground for imposition by the court of any and all sanctions authorized by statute or rule or within the inherent power of the court, including, without limitation, dismissal of any actions, entry of default, finding of contempt, imposition of monetary sanctions or attorneys' fees and costs, and other lesser sanctions [SD Cal Civ LR 83.1(a)].

For violations of the Local Rules or of a specific court order, the court may, in imposing monetary sanctions, order that the monetary sanctions be paid to the nonappropriated fund of the court [SD Cal Civ LR 83.1(b)].

34.30[2] Sanctions for Violation of Rules of Professional Conduct. If any attorney engages in conduct that may warrant discipline or other sanctions, the court or any judge may, in addition to initiating proceedings for contempt under 18 USC and Fed R Crim P 42, or imposing other appropriate sanctions, refer the matter to the disciplinary body of any court before which the attorney has been admitted to practice [SD Cal Civ LR 83.5].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsMisconduct & Unethical BehaviorGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsSanctionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.syn

§ 35.syn Synopsis to Chapter 35: Contempt

35.01 Scope.

35.02 Objective and Strategy.

35.03 CHECKLIST: Drafting Motion for Contempt.

35.04 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Contempt.

35.05 Court Has Inherent Power to Punish for Contempt.

35.06 Contempt for Violation of Rule 45: Disobeying Subpoena.

35.07 Contempt for Violation of Rule 56: Summary Judgment Affidavit Filed in Bad Faith.

35.08 Contempt for Violation of Rule 70: Failure to Obey Judgment Regarding Land Conveyance and Other Acts.

35.09 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

35.09[1] Contempt Proceedings for Attorney Misconduct.

35.09[2] Contempt of Court Proceeding Available for Violation of Local Court Rules Restricting Broadcasting, Television, Photography, and Recording.

35.10 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Contempt Proceedings for Attorney Misconduct.

35.11 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Contempt for Unprofessional Conduct.

35.12 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Contempt Proceedings for Attorney Misconduct.

35.13 Defining Direct and Indirect Contempt.

35.13[1] Direct Contempt Occurs in Court's Presence, Indirect Contempt Occurs Outside Court's Presence.

35.13[2] Petty, Direct Contempt Is Normally Subject to Summary Adjudication.

35.13[3] If Court Delays in Punishing Direct Contempt, Notice and Hearing Are Required.

35.14 Distinction Between Civil and Criminal Contempt Depends on Penalty.

35.14[1] Contempt Is Civil If Purpose Is Remedial.

35.14[2] Contempt Is Criminal If Purpose Is Punitive.

35.14[3] Imprisonment and Monetary Fines Are Available in Both Civil and Criminal Contempt Proceedings.

35.15 Civil Contempt.

35.15[1] Civil Contempt Sanctions Punish Failure to Obey Court Order.

35.15[2] Contemnor May Purge Contempt by Affirmative Act.

35.15[3] Civil Contempt Proceedings Are Trials; No Right to Jury Trial.

35.15[4] No Civil Contempt If Violation Is Based on Good Faith and Reasonable Interpretation of Order.

35.15[5] Moving Party Must Show Clear and Convincing Evidence of Violation of Court Order.

35.16 Motion for Civil Contempt.

35.16[1] Motion Must State Specific Grounds for Contempt and Relief Sought.

35.16[2] Alleged Contemnor Entitled to Notice, Opportunity to Be Heard.

35.17 Compliance with Underlying Order Purges Civil Contempt.

35.18 Civil Contempt Order Not Appealable Until Final Judgment.

35.19 Criminal Contempt.

35.19[1] Criminal Contempt Requires Willful Conduct.

35.19[2] Federal Courts Have Criminal Contempt Authority Under 18 USC § 401.

35.19[3] Due Process Is Required.

35.19[4] Criminal Contempt Proceeding Is Separate From Original Action.

35.20 Responding to and Opposing Allegations of Contempt.

35.20[1] Responding to and Opposing Allegations of Civil Contempt.

35.20[1][a] Purge Contempt by Affirmative Act.

35.20[1][b] Assert Good Faith and Reasonable Interpretation of Order.

35.20[1][c] Impossibility of Compliance Is Defense If Not Self Created.

35.20[2] Nature or Severity of Penalties Requires Criminal Due Process.

35.20[3] Responding to and Opposing Allegations of Criminal Contempt.

35.20[3][a] Motion to Discharge Order to Show Cause.

35.20[3][b] Absence of Willfulness.

35.20[3][c] Violation of Due Process.

35.20[3][d] Summary Criminal Contempt Unavailable.

35.21 Notice of Motion and Motion for Civil Contempt.

35.22 Judgment of Civil Contempt.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
I. STRATEGY

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.01

35.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Seeking contempt adjudication [see 35.03 -35.18; Forms: 35.21, 35.22].
- Avoiding and opposing contempt adjudication [see 35.20].

Core Rule:
Fed R Crim P 42(b).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral Overview

68 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
I. STRATEGY

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.02

35.02 Objective and Strategy.

Civil contempt findings mean that the "key to the jailhouse door" is in the wrongdoer's pocket. When the offensive conduct ends, the fines or imprisonment ends. Criminal contempt is imposed for a fixed amount of money or jail time to punish past conduct. An attorney may be subject to both civil and criminal contempt proceedings for failing to obey a court order.

Though findings or hearing for contempt of court are normally entered or initiated by the court itself, a motion for a finding of contempt can be made by others, including attorneys for parties in the case aggrieved by the improper conduct. However, the motion must be addressed to conduct that either offends the dignity of the court or prevents the proper conduct of the proceedings. Accordingly, the motion must normally show that the adversary's conduct (1) creates an obstruction blocking the judge's performance of his or her duties and (2) delays the proceedings.

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

27 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 642, Criminal Contempt (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

12 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Civil Contempt (Matthew Bender).

Joseph, Sanctions: The Federal Law of Litigation Abuse (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Cross Reference:

For Tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com with this Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCivil ContemptCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCriminal ContemptCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptElementsCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptPenalties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.03

35.03 CHECKLIST: Drafting Motion for Contempt.

The following checklist may be used as a general guide for preparing a motion for contempt.

☐ State the grounds for contempt.

- ○ Describe the contumacious conduct in the motion or accompanying affidavit.
- ○ Describe conduct as criminal if appropriate.

Authority:
Fed R Crim P 42(b)

Discussion:
See § 35.06 et seq.

☐ Specify the order sought.

☐ State the claims for damages.

- ○ State any claims for damages resulting from the contumacious conduct and the attorney's fees incurred as a result of the contempt proceeding.

☐ Include evidence of damages.

- ○ Local district court rules may require evidence regarding damages.

Authority:
United States v. United Mine Workers (1947) 330 US 258, 304, 67 S Ct 677, 91 L Ed 884

Discussion:
See § 35.16

☐ File motion papers.

○ A motion for contempt and supporting documents must be filed with the clerk of the court, unless the judge has authorized filing with the judge. Note that individual judge's rules may require scheduling a pre-motion conference.

☐ Serve motion papers.

○ If formal service is required, serve the motion on the contemnor or the contemnor's attorney.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(d)

Standard Procedure Checklist: Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Form:
See § 35.21

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.04

35.04 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Contempt.

The following checklist may be used as a general guide for opposing a motion for contempt.

☐ Move to discharge show cause order.

○ An alleged contemnor may move to discharge an order to show cause citing for contempt.

Authority:
United States v. United Mine Workers (1947) 330 US 258, 268 n14, 67 S Ct 677, 91 L Ed 884

☐ Determine grounds for opposition.

☐ Demand hearing or jury trial if applicable.

☐ Request attorney's fees and costs.

○ An alleged contemnor who is found not guilty may be awarded attorney's fees and costs.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 4, 7

Discussion:
See § 35.19

Standard Procedure Checklist: Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral Overview

71 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.05

35.05 Court Has Inherent Power to Punish for Contempt.

Federal courts have inherent power to punish persons for committing acts that tend to obstruct or interfere with the orderly administration of justice, or that impair the dignity or authority of the court: that is, to punish for contempt [Young v. United States (1987) 481 US 787, 795, 107 S Ct 2124, 95 L Ed2d 740]. These powers reach conduct outside the presence of the court and are governed by the control vested in courts to achieve orderly disposition of cases [Chambers v. NASCO, Inc. (1991) 501 US 32, 43, 111 S Ct 2123, 115 L Ed2d 27].

Distinguish--Inherent-Power Sanctions and Civil Contempt:

Before imposing sanctions under its inherent-power authority, a court must make an explicit finding of bad faith; civil contempt however does not depend on the intent of the party that disobeys a court order [see Knupfer v. Lindblade (9th Cir 2003) 322 F3d 1178, 1190-1191 ; Fink v. Gomez (9th Cir 2001) 239 F3d 989, 992-993].

Cross Reference:

Court's inherent power to impose sanctions, see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, see §§ 34.16 -34.25.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptProceedingsCourt's Power to Punish

72 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.06

35.06 Contempt for Violation of Rule 45: Disobeying Subpoena.

Failure by any person without adequate excuse to obey a subpoena served on that person may be deemed a contempt of the court from which the subpoena issued. An adequate cause for failure to obey exists when a subpoena purports to require a nonparty to attend or produce at a place not within the limits provided by Fed R Civ P 45(c)(3)(A)(ii) (requiring over 100 miles of travel) [Fed R Civ P 45(e)].

Cross Reference:

Rule 45 subpoenas, see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, see §§ 23.259 -23.285.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersSubpoenasCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.07

35.07 Contempt for Violation of Rule 56: Summary Judgment Affidavit Filed in Bad Faith.

If affidavits presented pursuant to a motion for summary judgment are presented in bad faith or solely for the purpose of delay, the court must immediately order the party employing them to pay to the other party the amount of the reasonable expenses which the filing of the affidavits caused the other party to incur, including reasonable attorney's fees, and any offending party or attorney may be adjudged guilty of contempt [Fed R Civ P 56(g)].

Cross Reference:

Motions for summary judgment, see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionSupporting MaterialsCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsAffidavitsCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral Overview

74 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.08

35.08 Contempt for Violation of Rule 70: Failure to Obey Judgment Regarding Land Conveyance and Other Acts.

A party who is required by a judgment to execute a conveyance of land, deliver deeds or other documents, or perform any other specific act may be adjudged in contempt for failure to comply within the specified time [see Fed R Civ P 70; see, e.g., Peterson v. Highland Music, Inc. (9th Cir 1998) 140 F3d 1313, 1324 , cert. denied, 525 US 983 (1998)].

Cross Reference:

Operation of Rule 70, see 13 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 70, Enforcing a Judgment for a Specific Act (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudgmentsEntry of JudgmentsSpecific ActsCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.09

35.09 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

35.09[1] Contempt Proceedings for Attorney Misconduct. In the Central District, powers of an individual judge to deal with contempt or other misconduct are not affected by proceedings for criminal contempt under the US Criminal Code (Title 18) [CD Cal Civ LR 83-3.2.7].

35.09[2] Contempt of Court Proceeding Available for Violation of Local Court Rules Restricting Broadcasting, Television, Photography, and Recording. In the Central District, a violation of CD Cal Civ LR 83-6.1 or 83-6.5 may constitute contempt of court. All proceedings for such contempt occurring in or in connection with a case assigned to a judge must be heard by the judge presiding over such case. [see CD Cal Civ LR 83-6.1 et seq.].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsSanctionsGeneral Overview

76 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.10

35.10 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Contempt Proceedings for Attorney Misconduct.

If an attorney subject to the Local Rules of the Eastern District engages in conduct that may warrant discipline or other sanctions, any judge or magistrate judge may initiate proceedings for contempt under 18 USC § 401 or Fed R Crim P 42, or may, after reasonable notice and opportunity to show cause to the contrary, take any other appropriate disciplinary action against the attorney [ED Cal Gen LR 184(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsSanctionsGeneral Overview

77 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.11

35.11 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Contempt for Unprofessional Conduct.

In the Northern District, when a judge has cause to believe that an attorney has engaged in unprofessional conduct, the judge may initiate proceedings for civil or criminal contempt under 18 USC and Fed R Crim P 42 [ND Cal Civ LR 11-6(a)(1)]; or impose other appropriate sanctions [ND Cal Civ LR 11-6(a)(2)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsSanctionsGeneral Overview

78 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.12

35.12 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Contempt Proceedings for Attorney Misconduct.

If an attorney engages in conduct that warrants discipline or other sanctions, the court or any judge may, in addition to initiating proceedings for contempt under 18 USC and Fed R Crim P 42, or imposing other appropriate sanctions, refer the matter to the disciplinary body of any court before which the attorney has been admitted to practice [SD Cal Civ LR 83.5; see SD Cal Civ LR 83.4 (standards for attorney conduct)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral OverviewLegal EthicsSanctionsGeneral Overview

79 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.13

35.13 Defining Direct and Indirect Contempt.

35.13[1] Direct Contempt Occurs in Court's Presence, Indirect Contempt Occurs Outside Court's Presence. Direct contempt occurs within the court's presence [see International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 827 n2, 832, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642 ; F.J. Hanshaw Enters. v. Emerald River Dev., Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 1128, 1138].

Indirect contempt takes place out of court [see International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 827 n2, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642 ; F.J. Hanshaw Enters. v. Emerald River Dev., Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 1128, 1138].

35.13[2] Petty, Direct Contempt Is Normally Subject to Summary Adjudication. Because a court's need for contempt authority is at its greatest when contumacious conduct occurs in its presence and threatens its immediate ability to conduct its proceedings, petty, direct contempts in the presence of the court traditionally have been subject to summary adjudication because of a court's substantial interest in rapidly coercing compliance and restoring order, and because the contempt's occurrence before the court reduces the need for extensive factfinding and the likelihood of an erroneous deprivation [see International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 832, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642 ; F.J. Hanshaw Enters. v. Emerald River Dev., Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 1128, 1138].

35.13[3] If Court Delays in Punishing Direct Contempt, Notice and Hearing Are Required. If a court delays punishing a direct contempt until a later time in the proceedings, the court must provide notice and a hearing [see International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 832-833, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642 ; F.J. Hanshaw Enters. v. Emerald River Dev., Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 1128, 1138].

Cross Reference:

Direct and indirect contempt, see 27 Moore's Federal Practice, § 642.04 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.14

35.14 Distinction Between Civil and Criminal Contempt Depends on Penalty.

35.14[1] Contempt Is Civil If Purpose Is Remedial. If the purpose of the contempt citation is remedial, that is, to compensate for the costs of the contemptuous conduct or to coerce future compliance with the court's order, the contempt order is civil [Kirkland v. Legion Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 343 F3d 1135, 1140]. Civil penalties must either be compensatory or designed to coerce compliance [Knupfer v. Lindblade (9th Cir 2003) 322 F3d 1178, 1192 ; F.J. Hanshaw Enters. v. Emerald River Dev., Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 1128, 1137-1138].

A contempt sanction is civil if the contemnor can avoid the sentence imposed on him, or purge himself of it, by complying with the terms of the original order [Hicks v. Feiock (1988) 485 US 624, 635 n7, 108 S Ct 1423, 99 L Ed2d 721].

35.14[2] Contempt Is Criminal If Purpose Is Punitive. A criminal contempt sentence is punitive, and vindicates the authority of the court by punishing past acts of disobedience [International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 827-828, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642]. A criminal contempt sanction is fixed and unconditional; it does not terminate on compliance with the court's order [International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 828-829, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642].

Criminal contempt proceedings, unlike civil proceedings, require Constitutional protections [International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 846, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642].

Distinguish:

Whether contempt is civil or criminal depends on the purpose and character of the sanction imposed [Kirkland v. Legion Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 343 F3d 1135, 1140]. The distinction is important because orders of civil contempt entered against a party during the course of a pending civil action are not appealable until final judgment, while criminal contempt orders are immediately appealable [see Kirkland v. Legion Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 343 F3d 1135, 1140].

35.14[3] Imprisonment and Monetary Fines Are Available in Both Civil and Criminal Contempt Proceedings. Imprisonment and monetary fines are available in both civil and criminal contempt proceedings. A contempt fine or sentence is considered civil and remedial if it either coerces the person into compliance with the court order or compensates the complainant for the losses sustained [see International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 829, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCivil ContemptCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCriminal ContemptCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptPenalties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.15

35.15 Civil Contempt.

35.15[1] Civil Contempt Sanctions Punish Failure to Obey Court Order. Civil contempt is characterized by the court's desire to compel a party's obedience to a specific and definite court order after the party has failed to take all reasonable steps within the party's power to comply [Knupfer v. Lindblade (9th Cir 2003) 322 F3d 1178, 1197 ; McCoy v. Southwest Airlines Co. (CD Cal 2002) 208 FRD 617, 621].

Example:

One of the paradigmatic civil contempt sanctions is a per diem fine imposed for each day a contemnor fails to comply with an affirmative court order [see United States v. Ayres (9th Cir 1999) 166 F3d 991, 995].

35.15[2] Contemnor May Purge Contempt by Affirmative Act. Civil contempt sanctions are only appropriate where the contemnor is able to purge the contempt by his own affirmative act and "carries the keys of his prison in his own pocket" [International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 828, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642 ; United States v. Ayres (9th Cir 1999) 166 F3d 991, 997].

35.15[3] Civil Contempt Proceedings Are Trials; No Right to Jury Trial. Civil contempt proceedings are considered "trials" within the meaning of Fed R Civ P 43(a), which requires the taking of oral testimony in open court (rather than a hearing on a motion within the meaning of Fed R Civ P 43(c)) unless otherwise provided by rule. Hence, the issues may generally not be tried on the basis of affidavits [see Fed R Civ P 43(a); Shillitani v. United States (1966) 384 US 364, 370-371, 86 S Ct 1531, 16 L Ed2d 622 ; Pennwalt Corp. v. Durand-Wayland, Inc. (9th Cir 1983) 708 F2d 492, 495].

However, a person cited for civil contempt does not have a right to a jury trial [see Fed R Civ P 43(a); Shillitani v. United States (1966) 384 US 364, 370-371, 86 S Ct 1531, 16 L Ed2d 622].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of jury trial right in contempt proceedings, see 8 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 38.33[5], 43.02 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

35.15[4] No Civil Contempt If Violation Is Based on Good Faith and Reasonable Interpretation of Order. Although a civil contempt need not be willful, and there is no "good-faith" exception to the requirement of obedience to a court order, a person should not be held in contempt if his or her action appears to be based on a good faith and reasonable interpretation of the court's order [Go-Video v. Motion Picture Ass'n of Am. (9th Cir 1993) 10 F3d 693, 695].

35.15[5] Moving Party Must Show Clear and Convincing Evidence of Violation of Court Order. The moving party in a motion for civil contempt must show clear and convincing evidence that the other party violated the order beyond substantial compliance, and that the violation was not based on a good faith and reasonable interpretation of the order [Wolfard Glassblowing Co. v. Vanbragt (9th Cir 1997) 118 F3d 1320, 1322].

In a civil contempt proceeding, the movant must establish by clear and convincing evidence that (1) a court order was in effect, (2) the order required specified conduct by the respondent, and (3) the respondent failed to comply with the court's order [United States v. City of Jackson (5th Cir 2004) 359 F3d 727, 731].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCivil Contempt

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.16

35.16 Motion for Civil Contempt.

35.16[1] Motion Must State Specific Grounds for Contempt and Relief Sought. An aggrieved party can move for an order holding the offending party in contempt and for sanctions under the court's inherent power [see, e.g., Rousseau v. 3 Eagles Aviation, Inc. (ED La 2004) 2004 US Dist LEXIS 1262, at *3]. A motion for contempt must state specifically the court order that has not been obeyed [see Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)(B)].

The motion must also state the relief sought [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(1)(C)].

Counsel should specifically state claims for damages resulting from the misconduct, which may include reasonable attorney's fees [see, e.g., United States v. United Mine Workers (1947) 330 US 258, 303-304, 67 S Ct 677, 91 L Ed 884].

35.16[2] Alleged Contemnor Entitled to Notice, Opportunity to Be Heard. Because civil contempt sanctions are viewed as nonpunitive and avoidable, fewer procedural protections are required than for criminal contempt [International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 831, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642]. Civil contempt may be imposed in an ordinary civil proceeding on notice and an opportunity to be heard; neither a jury trial nor proof beyond a reasonable doubt is required [International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 827, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642].

Finding a party in civil contempt without a full-blown evidentiary hearing does not deny due process of law to a contemnor [United States v. Ayres (9th Cir 1999) 166 F3d 991, 995-996 ; Thomas, Head & Greisen Employees Trust v. Buster (9th Cir 1996) 95 F3d 1449, 1459].

A district court ordinarily should not impose contempt sanctions solely on the basis of affidavits [Peterson v. Highland Music, Inc. (9th Cir 1998) 140 F3d 1313, 1324]. However, where the affidavits offered in support of a finding of contempt are uncontroverted, a district court's decision not to hold a full-blown evidentiary hearing does not violate due process [see United States v. Ayres (9th Cir 1999) 166 F3d 991, 995-996].

Example:

If one party is seeking a contempt adjudication against another party based on the violation of an injunction, the following discrete steps may satisfy procedural due-process requirements, but are not necessary per se [see Thomas, Head & Greisen Employees Trust v. Buster (9th Cir 1996) 95 F3d 1449, 1458 (finding, however, that combining motion and OSC proceedings were proper in this case)]:

- A motion for an order to show cause re contempt.
- A hearing on the motion.
- A resultant issuance of a show-cause order.
- A hearing on the order to show cause.
- Determination, resulting in imposition of contempt sanctions.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCivil Contempt

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.17

35.17 Compliance with Underlying Order Purges Civil Contempt.

A civil contempt order that fines or imprisons the contemnor is purged on performance of the act ordered by the court [International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 827, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCivil Contempt

84 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.18

35.18 Civil Contempt Order Not Appealable Until Final Judgment.

Orders of civil contempt entered against a party during the course of a pending civil action are not appealable until final judgment [Kirkland v. Legion Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 343 F3d 1135, 1140].

Distinguish:

Criminal contempt orders, on the other hand, are immediately appealable [Kirkland v. Legion Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 343 F3d 1135, 1140].

Cross Reference:

19 Moore's Federal Practice, § 202.11[9] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCivil ContemptCivil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCriminal ContemptCivil ProcedureAppealsAppellate JurisdictionFinal Judgment Rule

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.19

35.19 Criminal Contempt.

35.19[1] Criminal Contempt Requires Willful Conduct. A party's disobedience of a court order must be willful to constitute a basis for criminal contempt sanctions [see Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 772 (criminal contempt sanction not available because, among other things, evidence failed to show that party was guilty of willful disobedience of district court's order)].

35.19[2] Federal Courts Have Criminal Contempt Authority Under 18 USC § 401. A court of the United States must have power to punish by fine or imprisonment, or both, at its discretion, such contempt of its authority, and none other, as [18 USC § 401]:

- Misbehavior of any person in its presence or so near thereto as to obstruct the administration of justice [18 USC § 401(1); see United States v. Rrapi (9th Cir 1999) 175 F3d 742, 753 , cert. denied, 528 US 912 (1999)];
- Misbehavior of any of its officers in their official transactions [18 USC § 401(2)];
- Disobedience or resistance to its lawful writ, process, order, rule, decree, or command [18 USC § 401(3)].

35.19[3] Due Process Is Required. Any person who commits criminal contempt may be punished for that contempt after prosecution on notice [Fed R Crim P 42; see also 18 USC § 401]. The court must give the person notice in open court, in an order to show cause, or in an arrest order; the notice must [Fed R Crim P 42(a)(1)]:

- State the time and place of the trial;
- Allow the defendant a reasonable time to prepare a defense; and
- State the essential facts constituting the charged criminal contempt and describe it as such.

Distinguish--Summary Disposition:

A judge (other than a magistrate judge) may summarily punish a person who commits criminal contempt in its presence if the judge saw or heard the contemptuous conduct and so certifies. The contempt order must recite the facts, be signed by the judge, and filed with the clerk [Fed R Crim P 42(b)].

The right to jury trial exists when punishment exceeds six months [Bloom v. Illinois (1968) 391 US 194, 206 n8, 88 S Ct 1477, 20 L Ed2d 522].

Cross Reference:

Jury trial in criminal contempt proceedings, see 27 Moore's Federal Practice, § 642.05 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)

35.19[4] Criminal Contempt Proceeding Is Separate From Original Action. A criminal contempt proceeding is a separate and independent proceeding at law that is not part of the original action. A court may make an adjudication of contempt and impose a contempt sanction even after the action in which the contempt arose has been terminated [Cooter & Gell v. Hartmarx Corp. (1990) 496 US 384, 396, 110 S Ct 2447, 110 L Ed2d 359 ; see Fed R Crim P 42(a) (procedural requirements for criminal contempt)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptCriminal ContemptCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptElementsCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptProceedingsCourt's Power to PunishCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptProceedingsDue ProcessCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptProceedingsSummary Proceedings

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.20

35.20 Responding to and Opposing Allegations of Contempt.

35.20[1] Responding to and Opposing Allegations of Civil Contempt.

35.20[1][a] Purge Contempt by Affirmative Act. A party held in civil contempt can purge the contempt by obeying the court order [International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 828, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642 (the contemnor "carries the keys of his prison in his own pocket"); United States v. Ayres (9th Cir 1999) 166 F3d 991, 997].

35.20[1][b] Assert Good Faith and Reasonable Interpretation of Order. Inadvertence is a defense to contempt if the person who has violated a court order has interpreted the order in a reasonable manner and in good faith [see Go-Video v. Motion Picture Ass'n of Am. (9th Cir 1993) 10 F3d 693, 695 (judgment of contempt vacated because plaintiff substantially complied with a reasonable interpretation of the protective order)].

35.20[1][c] Impossibility of Compliance Is Defense If Not Self Created. A person subject to civil contempt can raise impossibility of compliance as a defense. A party's inability to comply with a judicial order constitutes a defense to a charge of civil contempt, unless it is the intended result of his or her own conduct [FTC v. Affordable Media, LLC (9th Cir 1999) 179 F3d 1228, 1239].

An alleged contemnor may defend against an allegation of contempt by demonstrating a present inability to comply. Once a prima facie showing of contempt is made, the burden shifts to the alleged contemnor to produce evidence explaining his noncompliance. Ability to comply is the crucial inquiry; and a court will weigh all the evidence properly before it determines whether or not there is actually a present ability to obey [see United States v. Ayres (9th Cir 1999) 166 F3d 991, 994].

A party petitioning for an adjudication that another party is in civil contempt does not have the burden of showing that the other party has the capacity to comply with the court's order. Rather, the party asserting the impossibility defense must show categorically and in detail why he or she is unable to comply [FTC v. Affordable Media, LLC (9th Cir 1999) 179 F3d 1228, 1240-1241].

35.20[2] Nature or Severity of Penalties Requires Criminal Due Process. The imposition of penalties under the procedure for civil contempt may be opposed on the ground that the nature of the penalty was so severe that it amounted to a penalty for criminal contempt; and therefore that the contemnor was deprived of due process applicable to criminal contempt procedure [see International Union, UMW v. Bagwell (1994) 512 US 821, 834, 114 S Ct 2552, 129 L Ed2d 642 ; NLRB v. Ironworkers Local 433 (9th Cir 1999) 169 F3d 1217, 1220].

35.20[3] Responding to and Opposing Allegations of Criminal Contempt.

35.20[3][a] Motion to Discharge Order to Show Cause. An alleged contemnor may move to discharge an order to show cause citing for contempt [see United States v. United Mine Workers (1947) 330 US 258, 267-268 n14, 67 S Ct 677, 91 L Ed 884].

Cross Reference:

17 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form CrR42:3 (Matthew Bender).

35.20[3][b] Absence of Willfulness. An alleged contemnor may raise the absence of willfulness in defense of allegations of criminal contempt; A party's disobedience of a court order must be willful to constitute a basis for criminal contempt sanctions [see Falstaff Brewing Corp. v. Miller Brewing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 770, 772 (criminal contempt sanction not available because, among other things, evidence failed to show that party was guilty of willful disobedience of district court's order)].

35.20[3][c] Violation of Due Process. The alleged contemnor may assert that the criminal contempt proceeding violates due process required under Fed R Crim P 42(a), e.g., by lack of notice or denial of a jury trial when one is allowed. Criminal contempt penalties may not be imposed unless the contemnor has been afforded the constitutional protections of a criminal proceeding [see Hicks v. Feiock (1988) 485 US 624, 632, 108 S Ct 1423, 99 L Ed2d 721 ; see, e.g., Macias v. McGrath (9th Cir 2006) 439 F3d 1141].

35.20[3][d] Summary Criminal Contempt Unavailable. Summary criminal contempt is justified only in extraordinary circumstances when the judge both witnesses the contumnacious conduct and needs to immediately assert judicial authority to restore the orderly operation of the judicial system [United States v. Glass (9th Cir 2004) 361 F3d 580, 586-588]. Summary criminal contempt may be opposed on the ground that the conduct in question did not occur in open court, or that the conduct was not of the type for which summary criminal contempt is available.

Summary contempt is not appropriate in the following circumstances:

- Any misconduct cited did not occur in court [see Pounders v. Watson (1997) 521 US 982, 988, 117 S Ct 2359, 138 L Ed2d 976].

- Any misconduct cited did not occur in the judge's presence [see Pounders v. Watson (1997) 521 US 982, 988, 117 S Ct 2359, 138 L Ed2d 976].

- The alleged contemnor's actions did not create or threaten any disturbance, violence, or physical obstruction in open court [see Pounders v. Watson (1997) 521 US 982, 988, 117 S Ct 2359, 138 L Ed2d 976].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSanctionsContemptGeneral OverviewCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptPenaltiesCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous OffensesContemptProceedingsDue ProcessCriminal Law & ProcedureCriminal OffensesMiscellaneous

OffensesContemptProceedingsSummary Proceedings

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
III. FORMS

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.21

35.21 Notice of Motion and Motion for Civil Contempt.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR CIVIL
_____ [name],	)	CONTEMPT
Defendant	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for:

(a) An order pursuant to _____ [set forth authority for contempt, e.g., the court's inherent authority], holding _____ [party designation and name of party sought to be held in contempt] in civil contempt for _____ [set forth basis for contempt, e.g., failure to obey a specified order];

(b) An order pursuant to _____ [set forth authority for contempt, e.g., the court's inherent authority], awarding costs and attorney's fees to the movant incident to any finding of civil contempt entered against _____ [party designation and name of party sought to be held in contempt]; and

(c) An order granting _____ [name of moving party] such other incidental relief as may be appropriate.

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:

United States v. United Mine Workers (1947) 330 US 258, 303-304, 67 S Ct 677, 91 L Ed 884

Discussion:

See § 35.16

Related Forms of Motion:

See 12 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form CTMPT: 1-7 (Matthew Bender)

Related Form of Affidavit:

See 12 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form CTMPT: 20 (Matthew Bender)

88 of 88 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
III. FORMS

4-35 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 35.22

35.22 Judgment of Civil Contempt.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	JUDGMENT OF CONTEMPT
Defendant	)
	)
	)

This cause came on to be heard on the motion of _____ [name of moving party] for a judgment in contempt against _____ [name of contemnor]. The Court has considered the motion, the papers submitted in support of and in opposition to the motion, the testimony taken and exhibits entered into evidence at the hearing of the motion, the arguments of counsel, and the authorities cited by counsel. The Court has made its Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law and filed them as of _____ [date]. In accordance with those Findings,

IT IS ORDERED, ADJUDGED, AND DECREED that:

1. _____ [Name of contemnor] is in contempt of this Court for having failed and refused to obey the Court's _____ [order or decree or injunction] of _____[date].

2. _____ [Name of contemnor] may purge _____ [himself or herself] of this contempt of the court by taking the following action:

a. _____ [Set forth required action, e.g., Fully complying with all of the provisions of the Court's order of July 6, 2004 from this day forward];

b. Ceasing and desisting from _____ [describe ongoing contemptuous conduct];

c. Filing with this court and with plaintiff, within five days after the entry of this judgment of contempt, a sworn statement setting forth in detail the steps taken to comply with this judgment;

d. Agreeing and consenting to show the court that _____ [he or she] has complied with the terms of this judgment, in person, before the court on _____ [date], at _____ [time], and at all further times and places as the court may direct; and

e. Reimbursing _____ [name of moving party] for all costs of this litigation, including costs of investigation, preparation for, and conduct of this proceeding, reporting fees, and reasonable attorney's fees, within _____ [number] days after service of a copy of this judgment on counsel for _____ [name of contemnor] of the costs as taxed and the computation of _____ [name of moving party]'s expenses and counsel fees in connection with this proceeding, as approved by the court.
Dated: _____

_____ [signature]

UNITED STATES DISTRICT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:

United States v. United Mine Workers (1947) 330 US 258, 304, 67 S Ct 677, 91 L Ed 884

Related Motion:

See § 35.21

Related Forms of Judgment and Order:

See 12 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms CTMPT: 31, 39 (Matthew Bender)

1 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-1

A-1 ABSTENTION DOCTRINES (

See JURISDICTION, subhead: Abstention doctrines)

2 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-2

A-2 ABUSE OF PROCESS

Sanctions for (See SANCTIONS (GENERALLY), subhead: Inherent power of court to punish bad-faith conduct)

3 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-3

A-3 ADDITION OF PARTIES (

See JOINDER OF PARTIES, subhead: Adding parties)

4 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-4

A-4 ADMINISTRATIVE MOTION TO CONSIDER WHETHER CASES SHOULD BE RELATED (

See NOTICE OF RELATED CASES, subhead: ND Cal administrative motion to consider whether cases should be related)

5 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-5

A-5 ADMIRALTY AND MARITIME SUITS

Federal question jurisdiction 2.06[2][a], [4]; 2.08[2]

Jury trial, right to 13.04[3][c]

Pleading requirements 6.07[4]

Preparation of complaint

ED Cal requirements 6.11[10][c]

Election to invoke jurisdiction 6.11[10][a]

Procedural consequences of pleading claims 6.11[10][b]

Third-party complaints

Admiralty third-party claim asserted in civil action 12.10[2]

Broader range of claims available in admiralty suits 12.10[2]

Civil third-party claim asserted in admiralty action 12.10[2]

"Demand" requirement

Generally 12.10[3]

Satisfaction of 12.10[4]

Subject matter jurisdiction for 12.08[1][a]

Who may implead third parties 12.10[1]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-6

A-6 ADMISSION OF ALLEGATIONS IN COMPLAINT

Generally 8.02

Amendment of admission, motion for 22.28

Clarification of part of allegation 8.09[6]

Failure to deny allegations, effect of 8.09[8]

Material allegations in complaint, admission of 8.09[2]

Partial admissions 8.09[6]

Procedure for 8.09[1]

Sample form 8.32

Summary judgment, as evidence considered in 29.12[4][d]

Withdrawal of admission, motion for 22.28

7 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-7

A-7 ADR (

See ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION (ADR))

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-8

A-8 ADVISORY JURY

Checklists for obtaining

Opposing party 13.17[2]

Petitioning party 13.17[1]

Court's power to use 13.18[1]

Function of 13.18[2]

Opposition to motion for 13.20

Preparing motion for

Generally 13.19[1]

Appellate considerations 13.19[3]

Sample form 13.25

Statement on record of objections to denial of jury trial 13.19[3]

Unique circumstances as basis 13.19[2]

Sample form: notice of motion and motion for advisory jury 13.25

Waiver of jury trial, use in cases of 13.18[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-9

A-9 AFFIDAVITS OR AFFIDAVIT SUBSTITUTES

CD Cal requirements 26.21[5][a]

Content requirements 26.21[4]

ED Cal requirements 26.21[5][b]

In forma pauperis, applying for leave to proceed 6.21[6][b]

ND Cal requirements 26.21[5][c]

Purpose of 26.21[1], [2]

Rule 11 sanctions, as basis for 33.20

SD Cal requirements 26.21[5][d]

Service requirements 5.18[2]; 26.21[3]

Summary judgment, use in (See SUMMARY JUDGMENT)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-10

A-10 AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES

Alternative defenses, raising of 8.10[5]

Amendment to include omitted defenses 8.10[7]

Answer alone vs. counterclaim as means of obtaining 8.11

Burden to raise defense, who has 8.10[2]

Counterclaims distinguished 11.07

Failure to raise defense in initial pleading, effect of

Generally 8.10[1][a]

Ninth Circuit ruling on 8.10[1][b]

Multiple defenses, raising of 8.10[5]

Negation of affirmative defenses in complaint 6.09[1][i]

Particularity, defenses which must be plead with 8.10[4]

Preanswer motion to dismiss 8.10[6]

Preparation of complaint

Alternative defenses, raising of 8.10[5]

Amendment to include omitted defenses 8.10[7]

Multiple defenses, raising of 8.10[5]

Negation of affirmative defenses 6.09[1][h]

Particularity, defenses which must be plead with 8.10[4]

Preanswer motion to dismiss 8.10[6]

Short and plain statement of each claim, requirement of 8.10[3]

Short and plain statement of each claim, requirement of 8.10[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-11

A-11 ALIEN TORT CLAIMS ACT

Alienage jurisdiction distinguished from actions under 2.20[1]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-12

A-12 ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION (ADR)

Arbitration (See subhead: Northern District ADR)

Central District ADR (See subhead: Mandatory settlement procedures for CD Cal)

Checklists

Attacking arbitration agreement 2.74[3]

ED Cal voluntary dispute resolution program (VDRP) 32.43

Northern District ADR 32.03

Southern District ADR 32.68

Early and equitable settlements 32.02[1]

Early neutral evaluation (ENE) (See EARLY NEUTRAL EVALUATION (ENE))

Eastern District ADR (See subhead: Voluntary dispute resolution program (VDRP) for ED Cal)

Enforcement of ADR resolutions 32.02[3]

Inappropriate cases for ADR 32.02[2]

Mandatory settlement procedures for CD Cal

Attendance requirements for proceeding

Parties to action 32.65[1]

Representatives with authority 32.65[1]

Trial counsel 32.65[2]

Checklist 32.59

Confidentiality requirements 32.66

Local district court forms 2.95

Memorializing requirement for successful settlement 32.67

Participation requirements 32.60

Preparation requirements for proceeding 32.65[3]

Procedures available 32.61

Reporting requirement for successful settlement 32.67

Selection of ADR procedure

Failure to file, effect of 32.62[3]

Filing of notice, requirements for 32.62[2]

Notice of procedure selection 32.62[1]

Other ADR options or settlement procedures 32.62[4]

Settlement officer's discretionary powers 32.65[4]

Settlement statement

Content requirements 32.64[1]

Page length limitations 32.64[3]

Timing of submission 32.64[2]

Time requirements 32.63

Mediation (See MEDIATION, subhead: Northern District ADR)

Northern District ADR

Generally 32.05[1]

ADR multi-option program

Assignment to 32.05[2]; 32.06[1]

Case management conference, selection at 32.06[4][c]

Certification requirements (See under this subhead: Certification requirements)

"Meet and confer" requirements 32.06[4][a]

Nonbinding arbitration as option 32.07

Options available under 32.06[2]

Telephone conference requirement 32.06[4][b]; 32.35[2]

Appointment of arbitrator or panel of three arbitrators 32.09

Arbitration award

Challenging of award (See under this subhead: Trial de novo, demand for)

Entry of judgment on 32.16[1], [2]

Filing requirements 32.14[2]

Form of award 32.14[1]

Sealing requirements 32.14[4]

Service requirements 32.14[3]

Assignment of action to ADR program

Court's initiative as means of referral 32.05[3]

Discontinuation of automatic assignment of cases to arbitration 32.05[1]

Motion of party as means of referral 32.05[3]

Multi-option program (See under this subhead: ADR multi-option program)

Relief from 32.05[4]

Stipulation as means of referral 32.05[3]

Attendance at hearing

Corporation entity, representative for 32.12[2]

Excused absence requirements 32.12[4][a], [4][b]

Failure of party to attend, effect of 32.12[5]

Government entity, representative for 32.12[2]

Hardship requirement for excused absences 32.12[4][b]

Parties to action 32.12[1]

Telephone, availability by 32.12[4][c]

Trial counsel 32.12[3]

Case management conference, selection of ADR process at 32.06[4][c]

Certification requirements

Accompanying papers required 32.06[3][c]

Content requirements 32.06[3][b]

Time requirements 32.06[3][a]

Where to submit 32.06[3][d]

Challenging of award (See under this subhead: Trial de novo, demand for)

Checklist 32.03

Conduct of hearing

Admission of evidence, rules governing 32.13[4]

Arbitrator, role of 32.13[1]

Ex parte contact with arbitrator 32.13[5]

Recording or transcription of proceeding 32.13[6]

Subpoena powers 32.13[2]

Testimony, procedures for 32.13[3]

Contact information 32.04

Early neutral evaluation (ENE) (See EARLY NEUTRAL EVALUATION (ENE), subhead: Northern District ADR)

Entry of judgment on arbitration award

No timely demand for trial de novo 32.16[1]

Waiver of right to trial de novo 32.16[2]

Internet website 32.04

Local district court forms 2.95; 32.72

Mediation (See MEDIATION, subhead: Northern District ADR)

"Meet and confer" requirements 32.06[4][a]

Nonbinding arbitration as option 32.07

Nonbinding summary trial to bench or jury 32.41

Organization of 32.04

Privately conducted ADR 32.42

Scheduling of arbitration

Generally 32.10[2]

Time requirements 32.10[2]

Settlement conferences (See SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES, subhead: ND Cal requirements)

Telephone conference requirement

ADR multi-option program, as part of 32.06[4][b]; 32.35[2]

Sample form 32.72

Trial de novo, demand for

Effect of 32.15[1][b]

Evidence of arbitration at trial de novo, admissibility of 32.15[2]

Filing requirements 32.15[1][a]

No timely demand, effect of 32.16[1]

Prohibition against attaching award to demand 32.15[1][c]

Service requirements 32.15[1][a]

Waiver of right to 32.16[2]

Written statements requirement

Content requirements 32.11[2]

Filing requirements 32.11[4]

Modification of 32.11[3]

Time requirements 32.11[1]

Southern District ADR

Checklist 32.68

Early neutral evaluation (ENE) (See EARLY NEUTRAL EVALUATION (ENE), subhead: Southern District ADR)

Local district court forms 2.95

Nonbinding mini-trial or summary jury trial as option

Consent requirements 32.71[3]

Judge's discretion 32.71[1]

Monetary limits on potential judgment 32.71[2]

Settlement conferences (See SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES, subhead: SD Cal requirements)

Voluntary dispute resolution program (VDRP) for ED Cal

Generally 32.44

Attendance at VDRP session

Corporate entity, representative for 32.55[2]

Excused absences (See under this subhead: Excused absences from VDRP session)

Government entity, representative for 32.55[2]

Insurer's attendance, necessity of 32.55[3]

Lead counsel 32.55[1]

Parties to action 32.55[1]

Checklist 32.43

Confidentiality requirements 32.56

Consent requirements for referral to 32.49

Dismissal order in lieu of VDRP completion report, filing of 32.57[2][d]

Excused absences from VDRP session

Conferring with other parties before request 32.55[4][a]

Hardship requirement 32.55[4][b]

Telephone, availability by 32.55[4][c]

Exempted actions 32.45

Local district court forms 2.95; 32.72

Neutral

Duties of neutral 32.53[1], [2]

Reporting obligations 32.57[1][a], [1][b]

Scheduling requirements for VDRP session 32.53[2]

Selection of 32.52

Notification requirements

Clerk's duty to plaintiffs 32.46

Plaintiffs' duty to other parties 32.47

Reporting obligations

Neutral's obligations 32.57[1][a], [1][b]

Parties' obligations (See under this subhead: VDRP completion report)

Reporting on consideration of VDRP 32.48

Requests for referral to VDRP 32.51

Stipulation filing requirements 32.50

VDRP completion report

Content requirements 32.57[2][c]

Date of completion of session 32.57[1][a]

Deadline for submission of 32.57[1][b]

Dismissal order in lieu of 32.57[2][d]

Filing requirements 32.57[2][b]

Joint VDRP completion report 32.57[2][a]

Violations of VDRP rules

"In writing" requirement for complaints 32.58[1]

Sanctions available 32.58[2]

Written VDRP statements

Content requirements 32.54[1]

Filing requirements 32.54[5]

Length of statement, limits on 32.54[2]

Service requirements 32.54[4]

Time requirements 32.54[3]

13 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-13

A-13 AMENDING PLEADINGS BEFORE TRIAL

Generally 9.02; 9.04

After dismissal, party's right to amend

Generally 9.09[1]

Final judgment, amendment after 9.09[3]

"With leave to amend" 9.09[2]

Checklist

Amending party's checklist 9.03[1]

Pretrial motions and steps initiated by plaintiff 1.09

Responding party's checklist 9.03[2]

Complete document in itself, format requirement of

Generally 9.06[1]

CD Cal requirements 9.06[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 9.06[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 9.06[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 9.06[2][d]

Compulsory joinder, as alternative to 4.50[2][b]

Consent of adverse party as prerequisite

Generally 9.08[1]

Written consent requirements 9.08[2]

Joinder of claims (See JOINDER OF CLAIMS)

Joinder of parties (See JOINDER OF PARTIES)

Leave of court as prerequisite

Generally 9.08[1]

Bad faith as grounds for denial 9.08[6][d]

Conditions when granting leave, court imposition of 9.08[7]

Factors in deciding to grant leave

Generally 9.08[6][a]

Bad faith as grounds for denial 9.08[6][d]

Delay as factor 9.08[6][c]

Foman v. Davis, list from 9.08[6][a]

Futility of amendment as factor 9.08[6][e]

Prejudice to opposing party 9.08[6][b]

Previous amendments allowed, effect when 9.08[6][f]

"Freely" granted requirement 9.08[5]

Grounds for denial

Bad faith as 9.08[6][d]

Court explanation requirements 9.08[8]

Delay as factor 9.08[6][c]

Futility of amendment as factor 9.08[6][e]

Motion for leave to file amended pleading; sample form 9.22

Nunc pro tunc, court allowing plaintiff's amended complaint 9.08[9]

Procedure for 9.08[3]

Proposed order granting leave to amend; sample form 9.23

Stipulation allowing filing of amended pleading; sample form 9.24

Time limits on moving to amend 9.08[4]

Nunc pro tunc, court allowing plaintiff's amended complaint 9.08[9]

Once without leave, allowance for amendment

Generally 9.07[2]

"As a matter of course" 9.07[3]

Rule 15(a) 9.07[3]

Strict timeframe, within 9.07[1]

Post-dismissal amendments (See subhead: After dismissal, party's right to amend)

Purposes of 9.05

Relation back of amendments

Generally 9.13

Changes in parties or names of parties as grounds

Amendment adding plaintiff may relate back 9.14[3][f]

Government defendants, notice requirements for 9.14[3][e]

Knowledge of mistake as to identity 9.14[3][c]

Notice of action requirements 9.14[3][b], [3][e]

Time limits on notice and knowledge 9.14[3][d]

Transactional relatedness plus notice and knowledge required 9.14[3][a]

Checklist 9.12

Grounds for 9.14[1] et seq.

Statute of limitations law as grounds for 9.14[1]

Transactionally related to original claims as grounds for 9.14[2]

Responsive pleadings by adverse party

Generally 9.11[1]

Time limits on 9.11[2]

Sample forms

Motion for leave to file amended pleading 9.22

Proposed order granting leave to amend 9.23

Stipulation allowing filing of amended pleading 9.24

Substitution of parties, as alternative to 10.16[2][c]

Summary judgment filing, amendment after

Change in legal theory, allowability of 9.10[2]

Substantial factual support requirement 9.10[1]

Time limits on moving to amend 9.07[1]; 9.08[4]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-14

A-14 AMENDING PLEADINGS TO CONFORM TO EVIDENCE

Generally 9.16

After-trial amendments

Express consent issues, applicability to 9.17[3]

Implied consent issues, applicability to 9.17[3]

Time requirements 9.17[2]

Voluntary nature of 9.17[1]

Checklist 9.15

"Freely" granted requirements for amendments after objection at trial 9.18

Sample forms

Motion for leave to amend pleading to conform to evidence 9.25

Proposed order permitting amendment of pleading to conform to evidence 9.26

15 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-15

A-15 ANONYMOUS "NAMES" (

See FICTITIOUS NAMES)

16 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-16

A-16 ANSWERS UNDER RULE 12

Affirmative defenses (See AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES)

Certificate of service requirements 8.12[4]

Checklists

Defendant's answer and initial response under Rule 12 1.05

Defendant's responses to pretrial motions and steps by plaintiff 1.10; 1.11

Drafting answer 8.06

Plaintiff's responses

Generally 1.07

Defendant-initiated steps or pretrial motions, responses to 1.12

Content requirements 8.07[2]; 8.08; 8.09[1]

Filing requirements 8.13[2]

Formatting requirements 8.12[1]

Motions to dismiss (See MOTIONS TO DISMISS UNDER RULE 12(b))

Prayer for relief, inclusion of 8.12[2]

Purpose of answer 8.07[2]

Sample form 8.32

Service requirements, certificate of 8.12[4]

Signature requirements 8.12[3]

Time limit on response 8.07[1]

Timely service on opposing party or counsel 8.13[1]

Verification of answer, requirements for 8.12[5]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-17

A-17 ANTI-SLAPP SUITS

Motion to strike state law claims pursuant to Anti-SLAPP statute 8.26[6]

18 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-18

A-18 ARBITRATION

Alternative dispute resolution (ADR), arbitration as (See ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION (ADR), subhead: Northern District ADR)

Attacking arbitration agreement

Contractual defenses, applicability of 2.81[2]

Other challenges to underlying contract, arbitrator as determining 2.81[3]

State contract law, evaluation of arbitration agreement under 2.81[1]

Checklists

Attacking arbitration agreement 2.74[3]

Initial considerations 2.74[1]

Commercial arbitration agreements, enforcement of 2.77

Determining whether arbitrable under existing agreement

Arbitrator as determining procedural questions regarding arbitration 2.78[4]

Court as determining issue of arbitrability 2.78[2]

Limited scope of question of arbitrability 2.78[3]

State contract law, applicability of 2.78[1]

Diversity jurisdiction in arbitration award disputes, determining amount in controversy for 2.21[3]

Federal Arbitration Act (FAA)

Compelling arbitration

Agreement in issue, court's role when 2.80[3][c]

Agreement not in issue, court's role when 2.80[3][b]

Appellate review of court orders 2.80[3][d]

Petition requirements 2.80[3][a]

Demand for arbitration, requirement of 2.80[1]

Establishing policy in favor of arbitration 2.79[1]

Federal question jurisdiction 2.06[2][a]

Interstate commerce, applicability to contracts involving 2.79[2]

Judicial review of arbitration award, independent basis for jurisdiction for 2.79[1]

Preemption of California law 2.79[1A]

Procedural rules for court proceedings 2.79[3]

Statutory claims subject to FAA

Claims in absence of congressional intent 2.79[4][a]

Other statutory claims 2.79[4][b]

Stay of pending action

Appellate review of stay orders 2.80[2][b]

Order granting stay 2.80[2][a]

Judicial review of arbitration decisions 2.76

Post-dispute agreements to arbitrate, validity of 2.75[3]

Pre-dispute agreements, enforceability of arbitration provisions in 2.75[2]

Waiver of right to seek arbitration 2.82

19 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-19

A-19 ATTENDANCE REQUIREMENTS

Default based on failure to appear (See DEFAULT, subhead: Failure of party to appear as basis for entry of)

Final pretrial conference 17.05

Interim pretrial conferences (See INTERIM PRETRIAL CONFERENCES)

Protective order restricting attendance at deposition (See PROTECTIVE ORDERS, subhead: Attendance at deposition, orders imposing restrictions on)

Sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial duties 17.17[1][a]

Scheduling conference (See SCHEDULING CONFERENCE, subhead: Parties required to attend)

Settlement conference, failure to attend 17.17[1][a]

20 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-20

A-20 ATTORNEY-CLIENT PRIVILEGE

Generally 21.05[9][a]

California law 24.31

Checklist 24.29

Client as holder of privilege

Generally 24.32[1]

Attorney or other representative claiming privilege on client's behalf 24.32[3]

Corporation as client

Generally 21.05[9][b]

Five-part test to determine whether corporate employee holds joint privilege with corporate counsel 24.32[2][aa]

Former corporate employees 24.32[2][b]

Individual employee and corporate entity 24.32[2][a]

Outside consultants and corporate attorneys, privileged communications between 24.32[2][bb]

Successor corporation after merger 24.32[2][c]

Waiver of privilege for communications of employees or agents 24.40[2]

Death of client, effect of 24.33

Compelled disclosure, effect of 24.40[4]

Corporate entities as client (See subhead: Client as holder of privilege)

Coverage of privilege

Generally 24.34

Attorney's agent and client 24.35[1]

Client's agent and attorney 24.35[2]

Common interests, to or among clients with

Adverse interests, parties with some or many 24.36[2]

Joint defense privilege 24.36[1]

Documentary evidence (See subhead: Documentary evidence)

Identity of client as nonprotected 24.37

Joint defense privilege 24.36[1]

Discovery order adverse to attorney-client privilege as not appealable under collateral order doctrine 24.40A

Documentary evidence

Generally 24.38[1]

Editing requirements for documents with privileged and nonprivileged content 24.38[3]

Forwarding documents to attorney, effect of 24.38[2]

Redacting requirements 24.38[3]

Email communications 23.178[4]

Exceptions to privilege

California statutory exceptions 24.39[3]

Crime or fraud, communications in furtherance of

Attorney as perpetrator 24.39[1][a]

Burden of establishing illegality 24.39[1][b]

Civil cases, consideration of evidence and burden of proof in 24.39[1][c]

Client as perpetrator 24.39[1][a]

Malpractice suit 24.39[2]

Federal common law privilege 24.30

Holder of privilege (See subhead: Client as holder of privilege)

Identity of client as nonprotected 24.37

Inadvertent disclosure, effect of 24.40[5]

Limits of 21.05[9][c]

Placing matter in controversy, effect of 24.40[8]

Third party, effect of disclosure to 24.40[3]

Waiver of

Generally 21.05[9][d]

Compelled disclosure, effect of 24.40[4]

Corporate client waving privilege for communications of employees or agents, allowability of 24.40[2]

Extent of waiver 24.40[6]

Inadvertent disclosure, effect of 24.40[5]

Limited waiver 24.40[7]

Placing matter in controversy, effect of 24.40[8]

Scope of waiver 24.40[6]

Third party, effect of disclosure to 24.40[3]

Who may waive 24.40[1]

21 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

A

A Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA A-21

A-21 ATTORNEY'S FEES

Diversity jurisdiction, exclusion from amount in controversy requirement for 2.21[6]

Motion expenses 22.33

Remand to state court after removal; motion for fees 3.29

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

B

B Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA B-1

B-1 BAD-FAITH LITIGATION

Sanctions for (See SANCTIONS (GENERALLY), subhead: Inherent power of court to punish bad-faith conduct)

23 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

B

B Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA B-2

B-2 BIAS OR PREJUDICE

Judges, disqualification or recusal of (See JUDGES, DISQUALIFICATION OF)

24 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

B

B Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA B-3

B-3 BIFURCATION (

See SEPARATE TRIALS (BIFURCATION))

25 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-1

C-1 CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

Generally 6.08[1]

Associations, determining capacity of (See subhead: Partnerships and associations, determining capacity of)

Capacity defect, persons with

Challenges to defect

Motion to dismiss as means 4.36[2]

Responsive pleading as means 4.36[1]

When to raise challenge 4.36[2]

Guardian ad litem, appointment of 4.37[2], [3]

Incompetency hearing requirements 4.37[4]

Incompetents under California law (See subhead: Incompetents under California law)

Minors under California law (See subhead: Minors under California law)

Previously appointed representative's right to sue for or defend 4.37[1]

Proper representative, determination of

Guardian ad litem 4.37[2], [3]

Incompetency hearing requirements 4.37[4]

Next friend 4.37[2]

Previously appointed representative 4.37[1]

CD Cal requirements for actions involving minors and incompetents

Attorney's fees 4.38[2]

Deposits of monies paid, requirements for 4.38[3]

Settlement or compromise, court approval of 4.38[1]

Checklists

Business entities under California law, determining capacity of 4.24

Decedent's representative under California law, determining capacity of 4.23

Incompetents under California law, determining capacity of 4.22

Minors under California law, determining capacity of 4.21

Plaintiff's lack of capacity, challenging 4.25

State laws governing capacity to sue and be sued, determination of 4.20

Civil rights action, state officer in 6.08[2][c]

Corporations, determining capacity of (See subhead: Public corporations, determining capacity of)

Counterclaim, determination of parties to 11.18[2]

Decedents and their representatives under California law

Cause of action against, assertion of 4.29[2]

Checklist 4.23

Estate as party to action, allowability of 4.29[3]

Who qualifies as representative 4.29[1]

Defect in capacity, persons with (See subhead: Capacity defect, persons with)

Determination of

Generally 6.08[4]

Individual litigants (See subhead: Individual litigants, determining capacity of)

Diversity jurisdiction 6.08[2][a]

ED Cal requirements for actions involving minors and incompetents

Appointment of representative 4.39[1]

Attorney's interest, disclosure or 4.39[3]

Disbursement of monies or property 4.39[5]

Full hearing on proposed compromise 4.39[4]

Settlement or compromise, court approval of 4.39[2]

Federal question jurisdiction 6.08[2][b]

Fiduciary, corporation acting as 4.35

Incompetents under California law

Appointment of guardian 4.28[3][b]

Checklist 4.22

Conservator or guardian ad litem requirement 4.28[3][a]

Local practice (See specific district subhead, e.g., CD Cal requirements for actions involving minors and incompetents)

Individual litigants, determining capacity of

Generally 4.28[1]

Decedents and their representatives under California law (See subhead: Decedents and their representatives under California law)

Incompetents under California law (See subhead: Incompetents under California law)

Minors under California law (See subhead: Minors under California law)

Limited liability entities

California law

Generally 4.32[2]

General partnerships, same capacity as 4.32[3]

Checklist 4.24

State law as basis 4.32[1]

Minors under California law

Appointment of guardian 4.28[2][b]

Checklist 4.21

Emancipated minors 4.28[2][c]

Guardian or guardian ad litem requirement 4.28[2][a]

Harassment and violence injunctions 4.28[2][d]

Local practice (See specific district subhead, e.g., CD Cal requirements for actions involving minors and incompetents)

Pro se appearances, allowability of 4.28[2][e]

12 years and older minors in harassment and violence injunctions 4.28[2][d]

Nationally-chartered corporations

Generally 4.33[1]

Checklist 4.24

District of Columbia-chartered corporations 4.33[2]

Partnerships and associations, determining capacity of

California law

Fictitious name statute 4.31[2][b]

Partnership names suits 4.31[2][a]

Sole proprietorships 4.31[4]

Unincorporated associations 4.31[3]

Checklist 4.24

Sole proprietorships 4.31[4]

State law as basis 4.31[1]

Unincorporated associations 4.31[3]

Pleading capacity, requirement of 4.27

Public corporations, determining capacity of California corporations

Dissolved California corporations 4.30[2][b]

Failure to file of pay taxes, effect of 4.30[2][d]

Merged corporations 4.30[2][c]

Natural persons as basis 4.30[2][a]

Checklist 4.24

Fiduciary, corporation acting as 4.35

State law as basis 4.30[1]

Public entities, determining capacity of state and local

Administrative claim as prerequisite 4.34[5]

California, public entities and state of

Generally 4.34[2]

Administrative claim as prerequisite 4.34[5]

Eleventh Amendment immunity, effect of 4.34[6]

Exceptions to right to sue or be sued 4.34[2], [3]

Limits on liability, statutory 4.34[4]

Sovereign immunity 4.34[3]

Eleventh Amendment immunity, effect of 4.34[6]

State law as basis 4.34[1]

Representative litigating state-law claim on behalf of another 4.35

Required allegation in complaint, status as 4.27

SD Cal requirements for actions involving minors and incompetents

Disbursement of monies or property

Generally 4.40[2][f]

Applicable law 4.40[2][a]

Approval by court 4.40[2][d]

Certified copies of guardianship letters, filing requirements for 4.40[2][b]

Ex parte petitions for review and approval 4.40[2][c]

Submission of proposed order 4.40[2][e]

Settlement or compromise, court approval of 4.40[1]

Special capacity of party 6.11[1]

Specific denial, challenging capacity issue by 6.08[3]

State laws governing capacity to sue and be sued in Federal court

Applicable parties 4.26

Checklist 4.20

Exceptions 4.26

State officer

Generally 4.35

Civil rights actions 6.08[2][c]

26 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-2

C-2 CAPACITY TO SUE AND BE SUED (

See CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES)

27 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-3

C-3 CAPTION REQUIREMENTS (

See FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS AND OTHER PAPERS, subhead: Caption content requirements)

28 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-4

C-4 CASE MANAGEMENT CONFERENCES

Generally 16.02

Alternative dispute resolution (ADR) process, selection of 32.06[4][c]

Checklist: case management process 1.08

Rule 26(f) conference (See RULE 26(f) CONFERENCE)

Scheduling conference (See SCHEDULING CONFERENCE)

29 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-5

C-5 CASE MANAGEMENT (GENERALLY)

Checklists

Case management process 1.08

Defendant's responses to pretrial motions and steps initiated by plaintiff 1.10; 1.11

Plaintiff initiated steps and pretrial motions 1.09

Pretrial motions and steps initiated by plaintiff 1.09

Conferences (See CASE MANAGEMENT CONFERENCES)

30 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-6

C-6 CIVIL CONTEMPT (

See CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS, subhead: Civil contempt)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-7

C-7 CIVIL COVER SHEET

Formatting pleadings, motions and other papers

CD Cal requirements 5.05[3][a]

Court administration requirements 5.05[2]

ED Cal requirements 5.05[3][b]

Federal rules on 5.05[1]

ND Cal requirements 5.05[3][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.05[3][d]

Jury demand on, sufficiency of indicating 6.13[4]; 13.05[3]

Local district court forms 5.44; 6.34

Preparation of summons

CD Cal requirements 6.20[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 6.20[2][b]

Function of 6.20[1]

ND Cal requirements 6.20[2][c]; 20.56

SD Cal requirements 6.20[2][d]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-8

C-8 CIVIL RIGHTS ACTIONS

Capacity, authority or legal status 6.08[2][c]

Federal question jurisdiction 2.06[2][a]; 2.54[11]

Foreign states, actions by or against

Foreign state, removal by 3.13[4][a]

Timing of removal 3.13[4][b]

Institutionalized persons, permissive intervention for 14.08[3]

Intervention as of right 14.06[2], [3]

Jurisdiction

Generally 2.54[11]

Removal to federal court (See CIVIL RIGHTS ACTIONS)

Preparation of complaint

Capacity, authority or legal status 6.08[2][c]

Evidentiary facts, necessity of 6.09[1][c]

Removal to federal court

Applicable actions 2.54[11]; 3.13[3][a]

Enforcement of civil rights as basis for removal 3.13[3][b]

Foreign states, civil rights actions against

Foreign state, removal by 3.13[4][a]

Timing of removal 3.13[4][b]

Performing acts under color of authority derived from civil rights laws 3.13[3][c]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-9

C-9 CLASS ACTIONS

Appellate review of certification decision 20.23

Attorneys' fees (See subhead: Fee award)

"Cede-back" arrangements in mandatory punitive damages actions 31.35[4][d]

Certification as class action, moving for

Generally 20.15[1]

Appellate review of 20.23

Burden of proof 20.16[6]

CD Cal requirements 20.15[2]

Checklist 20.14

Decertification of action 20.22

Defendant class, certification of 20.20

Discovery in order to determine appropriateness of certification 20.16[5]

Discretionary powers of court 20.16[3]

Early practicable time, certification at (See subhead: Early practicable time, certification at)

ED Cal requirements 20.15[3]

Evidentiary hearing in order to determine appropriateness of certification 20.16[4]

Interlocutory review of 20.23

Merits of action, consideration of 20.16[7]

Particular issues, certification only as to 20.17

Revision of certification 20.22

Rule 68, effect of 31.15[3]

Sample forms

Motion to certify class action 20.59

Order certifying plaintiff class 20.60

Securities class action, certification by plaintiff in 20.61

Securities class actions 20.47

Settlement-only class, certification of 20.19

Settlement or voluntary dismissal prior to 20.41

Standards to be applied in adjudicating Rule 23 motion for class certification 20.05A

Subclasses, creation of 20.18

Voluntary dismissal prior to 20.41

Written order requirement 20.21

Checklists

Certification as class action, moving for 20.14

Class counsel, seeking appointment as 20.31[1]

Fee award, seeking 20.31[2]

Filing action as class action 20.08

Notice to class members and opportunity to opt out 20.24

Other orders in class action, seeking 20.36

Prerequisites to class action can be satisfied, determining if 20.03

Rule 23(d) orders in class action 20.36

Securities class action, proceeding in 20.45

Settling or dismissing class action 20.39

Class Action Fairness Act (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Class action suits)

Class counsel, appointment of

Generally 20.32

Application process 20.33[2]

Checklists

Appointment as counsel 20.31[1]

Fee award, seeking 20.31[2]

Factors considered by court 20.33[4]

"Fair and adequate" representation of class 20.33[3]

Fee award, provisions governing 20.33[5]

Interim counsel 20.34

PSLRA class actions 20.51

Timing of court's appointment 20.33[1]

Consolidation, as alternative to 18.02[6][b]

Coupon settlements, fee awards in 20.35[6][d]

Decertification of action 20.22

Defendant class, certification of 20.20

Dismissal

Involuntary dismissals 20.43; 28.12

Voluntary dismissal (See subhead: Settlement or voluntary dismissal of)

Diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Class action suits)

Early practicable time, certification at

Generally 20.16[1]

Burden of proof 20.16[6]

Discovery as means determining appropriateness of class certification 20.16[5]

Discretionary powers of court 20.16[3]

Evidentiary hearing as means determining appropriateness of class certification 20.16[4]

Merits of action, consideration of 20.16[7]

Fee award

Appellate review 20.35[5]

Class counsel appointment, inclusion of provisions in 20.33[5]

Common fund cases 20.35[6][b], [6][c]

Coupon settlements, fee award in 20.35[6][d]

Court findings on, statement of 20.35[5]

Hearings on 20.35[4]

Lodestar method of calculation 20.35[6][b], [6][c]

Notice requirements 20.35[3]

Objections to 20.35[3]

Percentage method 20.35[6][c]

Permissible payment to class counsel resulting in net loss to class member only if outweighed by nonmonetary benefit 20.35[6][e]

Procedure for requesting 20.35[1]

PSLRA action, limits on attorney's fees in 20.53

Reasonableness requirement

Generally 20.35[6][a]

Common fund cases 20.35[6][b], [6][c]

Coupon settlements 20.35[6][d]

Lodestar method of calculation 20.35[6][b], [6][c]

Percentage method 20.35[6][c]

Permissible payment to class counsel resulting in net loss to class member only if outweighed by nonmonetary benefit 20.35[6][e]

PSLRA action, limits on attorney's fees in 20.53

Rule 54 motions for 20.35[1]

Timing of request for 20.35[1]

Who may file 20.35[2]

Filing requirements

Generally 20.09

Checklist 20.08

Designation requirements 20.10

Sample form of complaint in plaintiff's class action 20.58

Interlocutory reviews

Certification, review of 20.23

Notice, orders relating to 20.29

Involuntary dismissals 20.43; 28.12

Jurisdictional requirements

Amount in controversy requirement 20.12[2][b]

Citizenship of class representative for general diversity jurisdiction 20.12[2][b]

Diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION)

Federal question jurisdiction as basis 20.12[2][a]

Minimal diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Minimal diversity requirement)

Named plaintiff has standing (See subhead: Named plaintiff has standing)

Removal of action (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Class action suits)

Standing requirements (See subhead: Named plaintiff has standing)

Maintainability under Rule 23(b) (See subhead: Rule 23(b) maintainability requirements)

Motion for class certification (See subhead: Certification as class action, moving for)

Named plaintiff has standing

Dismissal for lack of standing 20.12[1][a]

Mootness of claim after certification, effect of 20.12[1][b]

Mootness of claim before certification, effect of 20.12[1][c]

Relation-back exception if mootness occurs before certification 20.12[1][c]

Notice to class members

Generally 20.25

Checklist: providing notice to class members and opportunity to opt out 20.24

Cost of notice, who must bear 20.28

Fee award 20.35[3]

Interlocutory appeal of order relating to notice 20.29

Opt out opportunities

Rule 23(b)(1) or (2) actions 20.26[2]

Rule 23(b)(3) actions 20.27[3]

Second opportunity to opt out 20.42[8]

Rule 23(b)(1) or (2) actions, discretionary nature of notice in

Generally 20.26[1]

Cost of notice, who must bear 20.28

Opt out opportunities 20.26[2]

Rule 23(b)(3) actions, mandatory nature of notice in

Generally 20.27[1]

"Best notice practicable" requirement 20.27[2]

Cost of notice, who must bear 20.28

Deadlines for action by class members 20.27[4]

Opt out opportunities 20.27[3]

Settlement or voluntary dismissal of (See subhead: Settlement or voluntary dismissal of)

Opting out (See subhead: Notice to class members)

Pleading requirements

Generally 6.07[6][a]; 20.11[1]

CD Cal requirements 6.07[3][d], [6][b]; 20.11[2][a]; 20.30

Checklist 20.08

Diversity jurisdiction issues 6.07[3][b], [3][d]

ND Cal requirements 20.11[2][b]

Sample form of complaint in plaintiff's class action 20.58

SD Cal requirements 6.07[6][c]; 20.11[2][c]

Predominance requirements

Generally 20.07[5][a], [5][b]

Particular issues, certification only as to 20.17

Prerequisites to class action

Generally 20.04

Checklist 20.03

Identifiable class 20.05

Rule 23(a) requirements (See subhead: Rule 23(a) requirements)

Private Securities Litigation Reform Act (PSLRA) requirements (See PRIVATE SECURITIES LITIGATION REFORM ACT OF 1995 (PSLRA))

Purpose of 20.02

Removal of action (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Class action suits)

Revision of certification 20.22

Rule 23(a) requirements

Adequacy of representation

Components of 20.06[4][a]

Conflicts of interest with other class members 20.06[4][b]

Vigorous prosecution by class member 20.06[4][c]

Commonality 20.06[2]

Joinder impractical 20.06[1]

Numerosity 20.06[1]

Questions of law or fact in common 20.06[2]

Representative's claims or defenses typical of class 20.06[3]

Typicality 20.06[3]

Rule 23(b) maintainability requirements

Certification under one or more categories 20.07[1]

Common questions predominate, Rule 23(b)(3) certification when

Predominance requirements 20.07[5][a], [5][b]

Superiority requirements 20.07[5][a], [5][c]

Inconsistent adjudications, Rule 23(b)(1)(A) certification if separate action creates risk of 20.07[2]

Injunctive or declaratory relief as appropriate to class, Rule 23(b)(2) certification when

Generally 20.07[4][a]

Damage claims, inclusion of 20.07[4][b]

Manageability v. analysis issues of class certification 20.07[4][c]

Separate action creates risk of adjudications dispositive of non-party class members, Rule 23(b)(1)(B) certification when

Generally 20.07[3][a]

"Limited fund" theory 20.07[3][a]

Separate action creates risk of inconsistent adjudications, Rule 23(b)(1)(A) certification when 20.07[2]

Who is bound, indication of 20.44

Rule 23(d) orders in class action

Generally 20.37

Additional notice to class members 20.38[2]

Checklist 20.36

Court's discretion

Generally 20.38[1]

Additional notice to class members 20.38[2]

Limits on communications between parties and class members 20.38[3]

Limits on communications between parties and class members 20.38[3]

Rule 34 documents, class action's representative party as "party" for 23.139[3]

Sample forms

Complaint in plaintiff's class action, general form of 20.58

Motion to certify class action 20.59

Order certifying plaintiff class 20.60

Securities class action forms (See under,subhead: Securities class actions)

Securities class actions

Generally 20.46

Certification, filing of

Generally 20.47

Sample form 20.61

Checklist 20.45

Fraud actions, stay on discovery in pending 22.40[6]

Lead plaintiff in (See PRIVATE SECURITIES LITIGATION REFORM ACT OF 1995 (PSLRA), subhead: Class actions)

Model stipulation and proposed consolidation order 20.64

Private Securities Litigation Reform Act (PSLRA) (See PRIVATE SECURITIES LITIGATION REFORM ACT OF 1995 (PSLRA))

Sample forms

Certification by plaintiff in securities class action 20.61

Model stipulation and proposed consolidation order 20.64

Motion to be appointed lead plaintiff 20.62

Order appointing lead plaintiff 20.63

Settlement-only class, certification of 20.19

Settlement or voluntary dismissal of

Generally 20.40

"As a whole" acceptance or rejection of settlement 20.42[5]

"Cede-back" arrangements in mandatory punitive damages actions 31.35[4][d]

Certification

Effect on settlement or dismissal prior to certification as class action 20.41

Settlement-only class, certification of 20.19

Checklist 20.39

Coupon settlements, fee award in 20.35[6][d]

Disclosure of settlement terms and side agreements 20.42[2]

"Fair, reasonable and adequate" settlement

Generally 20.42[1]

Factors in determining 20.42[4]

Federal and state officials, notice to Certain state officials with regulatory responsibility over defendant 20.41A[2][b]

Failure to notify class members, effect of 20.41A[4]

Filing of notice of proposed settlement, time limit on 20.41A[1]

Final approval of proposed settlement, time period for 20.41A[3]

US Attorney General, notice requirement to 20.41A[2][a]

Fee award

Coupon settlements, fee award in 20.35[6][d]

Permissible payment to class counsel resulting in net loss to class member only if outweighed by nonmonetary benefit 20.35[6][e]

Hearing to make findings, requirement for 20.42[10]

Jurisdiction issues for enforcement of 31.44[3]

Lead plaintiff's recovery in PSLRA action, limits on 20.52

Notice requirements

Federal and state officials, notice to (See under this subhead: Federal and state officials, notice to)

Mandatory nature of 20.42[6][a]

PSLRA actions 20.54

Reasonable notice defined 20.42[6][b]

Objections by class members

Generally 20.42[7]

Limited right to discovery by objecting class members 20.42[9]

Opt out, second opportunity to 20.42[8]

Payments to class members based on geographic distance to court, prohibition against approval of proposed settlement based on 20.42[11]

Post-certification settlement or dismissal

Advantages of 20.42[3]

"As a whole" acceptance or rejection of settlement 20.42[5]

Disclosure of settlement terms and side agreements 20.42[2]

"Fair, reasonable and adequate" requirement 20.42[1], [4]

Notice requirements 20.42[6][a], [6][b]

Objections by class members 20.42[7]

Opt out, second opportunity to 20.42[8]

Pre-certification 20.41

PSLRA actions

Lead plaintiff's recovery, limits on 20.52

Notice requirements 20.54

Under seal filing, allowability of 20.55

Statute of limitations, tolling of 20.13

Subclasses, creation of 20.18

Superiority requirements 20.07[5][a], [5][c]

Supplemental jurisdiction 2.30[6]

Venue, determination of 2.53

Written order requirement 20.21

34 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-10

C-10 CLERGY-PENITENT PRIVILEGE

California law 24.55

Checklist 24.52

Diversity actions, applicable law in 24.55

Federal common law 24.53

Spiritual counseling requirement 24.54

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-11

C-11 COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY

Appellate review of 25.12

Balancing cost and delay of motion 25.04[2]

CD Cal requirements for informal attempts at resolving disputes

Conference required within 10 days of service of request 25.05[1][b]

Court's requirements 25.05[2][e]

Good-faith attempt at resolution 25.05[1][a]

Stipulation of discovery dispute

Court's response 25.05[2][e]

Filing and service requirements 25.05[2][a]

Form of stipulation 25.05[2][b]

Supplemental memoranda of law 25.05[2][d]

Time requirements 25.05[2][c]

Checklist 25.03

Cost and delay of motion, consideration of 25.04[2]

Denial of motion to compel discovery, factors supporting

Good-faith factors favoring denial 25.15[3]

Privilege protection favoring denial 25.15[4]

Proportionality factors favoring denial 25.15[2]

Relevance factors favoring denial 25.15[1]

Work-product protection favoring denial 25.15[4]

Electronically stored information, discovery of 23.163

Evasive disclosure, answer or response as basis 25.08[3]

Expense-shifting sanctions, imposition of

Attorney's fees, recovery of 25.20

Checklist 25.16

Denial of motion, who pays when 25.17[2]

Due process requirements 25.18

Granted motion, who pays when 25.17[1]

Opposition to

Checklist 25.21

Failure to make good-faith effort at informal resolution as basis 25.22

Reasonableness standard 25.27

Substantial justification as basis 25.23; 25.24; 25.26

Unsuccessful party's options 25.25

Partial granting or denial of motion, who pays when 25.17[3]

Rebuttable presumption, effect of 25.19

Unreasonable failure to admit as basis (See RULE 37(c)(2) SANCTIONS)

Failure to admit genuineness of document or truth of matter, sanctions for (See RULE 37(c)(2) SANCTIONS)

Failure to answer deposition questions as basis

Evaluating whether to complete deposition after deponent's refusal to answer 25.09[1][b]

Moving for order to compel answer 25.09[1][a]

Situations where deponent may refuse to answer 25.09[1][c]

Failure to appear at deposition or to respond to interrogatories

Generally 25.09[4]

Sanctions for (See RULE 37(d) SANCTIONS)

Failure to comply with order compelling, sanctions for (See RULE 37(b) SANCTIONS)

Failure to designate deponent as basis 25.09[3]

Failure to make mandatory disclosure or to supplement discovery responses, sanctions for (See RULE 37(c)(1) SANCTIONS)

Failure to respond to interrogatories or request for production or inspection as basis

Generally 25.09[4]

Sanctions for (See RULE 37(d) SANCTIONS)

Incomplete disclosure, answer or response as basis 25.08[3]

Informal attempts at resolving disputes as prerequisite

Generally 25.04[1][a]

CD Cal requirements (See subhead: CD Cal requirements for informal attempts at resolving disputes)

ED Cal requirements

Failure to meet "meet and confer" and joint statements requirements 25.05[3][c]

Joint statement requirement 25.05[3][b], [3][c]

"Meet and confer" requirement 25.05[3][a], [3][c]

Waiver of joint statement requirement 25.05[3][d]

ND Cal requirements

"Attempt to settle" requirement 25.05[4][b]

"Meet and confer" requirement 25.05[4][a]

Response after rejection of 25.04[1][b]

SD Cal requirements (See subhead: SD Cal "meet and confer" requirements)

Motion for order compelling mandatory disclosure

Good-faith certificate of attempt at resolution required 25.08[1][b]

Notice requirements 25.08[1][a]; 25.10[4]

Opposition to (See subhead: Opposing motion to compel disclosure or discovery)

Sample form 25.115

Sanctions for failure to comply with (See RULE 37(b) SANCTIONS)

Standing for 25.10[1][a]

Venue 25.10[7]

Motion to compel discovery

Appellate review of 25.12

Applicable types of discovery 25.08[2][a]

CD Cal requirements

Ex parte motions 25.10[5][b]

Notice requirements 25.10[5][a]

Denial of motion, factors supporting (See subhead: Denial of motion to compel discovery, factors supporting)

ED Cal requirements 25.10[6]

Good-faith certificate of attempt at resolution required 25.08[2][b]

ND Cal requirements

Content requirements 25.10[3]

Filing requirements 25.10[2]

Notice requirements 25.10[4]

Opposition to (See subhead: Opposing motion to compel disclosure or discovery)

Relevance of discovery, standards for 25.11[1]

Sample form 25.116

Sanctions for failure to comply with (See RULE 37(b) SANCTIONS)

SD Cal requirements

Just, efficient and economical determination 25.11[2]

Magistrate judge, referral to 25.10[8]

Standing for 25.10[1][b]

Venue 25.10[7]

Opposing motion to compel disclosure or discovery

Checklist 25.13

Denial of motion, factors supporting (See subhead: Denial of motion to compel discovery, factors supporting)

Protective orders (See subhead: Protective orders as response to)

Protective orders as response to

Generally 23.31[2]

Conjunctive use of protective order and opposition motion 25.14[2]

Denial or partial denial of motion resulting in 25.14[1]

SD Cal requirements 25.14[3]

Rule 26 mandatory disclosures

Generally 25.06

Expert witness disclosures (See EXPERT WITNESS DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(2))

General discovery standard distinguished 25.07

Initial disclosure requirements (See INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1))

Pretrial disclosures under rule 26(a)(3) (See PRETRIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(3))

Sample forms

Compliance with discovery request, notice of motion to compel 25.116

Mandatory disclosure, notice of motion to compel 25.115

Sanctions available

Evidence-preclusion sanctions (See RULE 37(c)(1) SANCTIONS)

Expense-shifting sanctions (See subhead: Expense-shifting sanctions, imposition of)

Failure to comply with order compelling disclosure or discovery (See RULE 37(b) SANCTIONS)

Failure to make mandatory disclosure or to supplement discovery responses (See RULE 37(c)(1) SANCTIONS)

Spoliation of evidence, sanctions for (See SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE, SANCTIONS FOR)

Unreasonable failure to admit genuineness of document of truth of matter (See RULE 37(c)(2) SANCTIONS)

SD Cal "meet and confer" requirements

Generally 25.05[5][a]

Certificate of compliance 25.05[5][c]

Methods of meeting 25.05[5][b]

Written deposition as basis 25.09[2]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-12

C-12 COMPLAINTS

Preparation of (See Preparation of complaint)

Responses to (See Responding to complaint)

37 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-13

C-13 COMPLETE PREEMPTION DOCTRINE

Removal from state court (See REMOVAL TO FEDERAL COURT, subhead: Exclusive Federal remedy, preemption by)

Well-pleaded complaint rule, effect on 2.07[2][d]

38 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-14

C-14 COMPULSORY JOINDER OF PARTIES (

See JOINDER OF PARTIES, subhead: Compulsory joinder)

39 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-15

C-15 COMPUTERIZED RECORDS, DISCOVERY OF (

See ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-16

C-16 CONCURRENT JURISDICTION

Generally 2.08[1]

Colorado River abstention: concurrent state proceedings 2.47[4]

Exclusive Federal jurisdiction distinguished 2.08[1], [2]

Statutory causes of action 2.06[2][a]

Younger abstention: avoiding interference with pending state proceedings 2.47[5]

41 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-17

C-17 CONSOLIDATION

Advantages of

Burden of proof for 18.15

Consistency 18.02[1][b]

Cost reduction 18.02[1][c]

Efficiency 18.02[1][a]

Alternatives to consolidation

Class actions 18.02[6][b]

Multidistrict litigation 18.02[6][c]

Permissive joinder 18.02[6][a]

Appellate review criteria

Certification for appeal under Rule 54(b) 18.02[5][a]

Interlocutory appeals 18.02[5][a]

Burden of proof for advantages of 18.15

Checklists

Moving for consolidation 18.05

Opposing motion for consolidation 18.17

Pretrial motions and steps initiated by plaintiff 1.09

Class actions as alternative to 18.02[6][b]

Common questions of law or fact

Generally 18.07[1]

Predomination not required 18.07[2]

Contents of well-drafted motion for

Generally 18.13

Sample notice of motion for consolidation of actions 18.39

Sample notice of motion for joint trial 18.40

Disadvantages of

Generally 18.02[3]

Burden on parties, witnesses and judicial resources 18.14[3]; 18.19[5]

Delay, risk of 18.14[1]; 18.19[4]

Jury confusion, risk of 18.14[2]; 18.19[3]

Opposing motion based on (See subhead: Opposing motion for)

Prejudice, risk of 18.14[2]; 18.19[2]

Diversity jurisdiction, effect on 18.06[2]

Effect of consolidation

Generally 18.06[1]

Diversity jurisdiction 18.06[2]

Factors considered by court (See subhead: Factors considered by court)

Lead counsel, appointment of 18.06[8]

Merger of suits, compared to 18.06[7]

Personal jurisdiction, for purposes of 18.06[5]

Pleadings, consolidation of 18.06[9]

Right to jury trial 18.06[3]

Subject matter jurisdiction, for purposes of 18.06[6]

Substantive rights of parties 18.06[4]

Witness fees 18.06[10]

Factors considered by court

Burden on parties, witnesses and judicial resources 18.14[3]

Delay, risk of 18.14[1]

Jury confusion, risk of 18.14[2]

Prejudice, risk of 18.14[2]

Jury confusion, risk of

Generally 18.14[2]; 18.19[3]

Jury instruction as means of minimizing risk 18.20

Lead counsel, appointment of 18.06[8]

Limited purpose consolidation of particular issues 18.02[4]; 18.12

Merger of suits, compared to 18.06[7]

Notice of motion for consolidation of actions, sample 18.39

Opposing motion for

Burden on parties, witnesses and judicial resources 18.19[5]

Checklist 18.17

Common issues doesn't require consolidation 18.19[1]

Delay, likelihood of 18.19[4]

Grounds for 18.19[1]-[5]

Jury confusion, likelihood of 18.19[3]

Prejudice, likelihood of 18.19[2]

Who may oppose 18.18

Order granting consolidation of actions or joint trial, sample 18.41

Partial consolidation 18.02[4]; 18.12

Personal jurisdiction status, effect on 18.06[5]

Pleadings, effect on 18.06[9]

Prejudice, risk of

Generally 18.14[2]; 18.19[2]

Jury instruction as means of minimizing risk 18.20

Right to jury trial, effect on 18.06[3]

Same court, requirement that cases be pending before 18.08

Sample forms

Notice of motion for consolidation of actions 18.39

Notice of motion for joint trial 18.40

Order granting consolidation of actions or joint trial 18.41

Securities litigation, preference in 18.16

Stipulation to consolidation 18.09

Sua sponte consolidation

Generally 18.02[2]

Sample order granting consolidation of actions or joint trial 18.41

Subject matter jurisdiction, effect on 18.06[6]

Substantive rights of parties, effect on 18.06[4]

Time requirements 18.11

Who may move to consolidate 18.10

Witness fees, effect on 18.06[10]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-18

C-18 CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS

CD Cal requirements

Attorney misconduct 35.09[1]

Violation of local rules on broadcasting, television, photography or recording 35.09[2]

Checklist

Drafting motion for contempt 35.03

Opposing motion for contempt 35.04

Civil contempt

Affirmative actions as means of purging 35.15[2]; 35.17; 35.20[1][a]

Appellate review of 35.18

Clear and convincing evidence standard 35.15[5]

Compliance with underlying order as means of purging 35.15[2]; 35.17; 35.20[1][a]

Criminal contempt distinguished 35.14[2]

Due process as defense, nature or severity of penalties requires 35.20[2]

Fines as punishment 35.14[3]

Good faith as defense 35.15[4]; 35.20[1][b]

Impossibility of compliance as defense 35.20[1][c]

Imprisonment as punishment 35.14[3]

Inherent-power sanctions distinguished 35.05

Motion for

Checklist for drafting 35.03

Notice and hearing requirements 35.16[2]

Sample form 35.21

Specific grounds and relief sought 35.16[1]

No right to jury trial 35.15[3]

Purpose of 35.14[1]; 35.15[1]

Reasonable interpretation of order as defense 35.15[4]; 35.20[1][b]

Responding to and opposing allegations

Affirmative actions as means of purging 35.15[2]; 35.17; 35.20[1][a]

Compliance with underlying order as means of purging 35.15[2]; 35.17; 35.20[1][a]

Due process as defense, nature or severity of penalties requires 35.20[2]

Good faith as defense 35.15[4]; 35.20[1][b]

Impossibility of compliance as defense 35.20[1][c]

Reasonable interpretation of order 35.15[4]; 35.20[1][b]

Sample forms

Judgment of civil contempt 35.22

Notice of motion for civil contempt 35.21

Trial status of 35.15[3]

Criminal contempt

Authority, statutory 35.19[2]

Due process requirements 35.19[3]; 35.20[3][c]

Fines as punishment 35.14[3]

Imprisonment as punishment 35.14[3]

Purpose of 35.14[2]

Responding to and opposing allegations

Absence of willfulness 35.20[3][b]

Due process, violation of 35.20[3][c]

Motion to discharge order to show cause 35.20[3][a]

Summary criminal contempt unavailable as defense 35.20[3][d]

Separateness from original action 35.19[4]

Willful conduct requirement 35.19[1]; 35.20[3][b]

Direct contempt defined

Generally 35.13[1]

Delays in punishing direct contempt, notice and hearing requirements for 35.13[3]

Summary adjudication as result of petty direct contempt 35.13[2]

ED Cal requirements for attorney misconduct 35.10

Failure to obey judgment regarding land conveyance or other acts 35.08

Indirect contempt defined 35.13[1]

Inherent power of court to punish for contempt 35.05

ND Cal requirements for unprofessional misconduct 35.11

Responding to and opposing allegations

Civil contempt (See subhead: Civil contempt)

Criminal contempt (See subhead: Criminal contempt)

Rule 45 subpoena violation as basis 35.06

Rule 56 violation as basis 35.07

Rule 70 violation as basis 35.08

SD Cal requirements for attorney misconduct 35.12

Subpoena served under Rule 45 as basis, violation of 35.06

Summary judgment affidavit or declaration filed in bad faith as basis 35.07

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-19

C-19 COPYRIGHT ACTIONS

Early neutral evaluation (ENE) in ND Cal, written statement requirements for 32.22[3]

Federal question jurisdiction 2.06[2][a]; 2.08[2]

Individual targeting doctrine 2.37[1]

Injunctive relief

Rule 65(b), application of 19.13

Tests to determine propriety of preliminary 19.08[3][h]

Joinder of multiple plaintiffs, claims of 6.10[2][c]

Preparing claim involving

Generally 6.11[11]

CD Cal requirements 6.21[12]

Sample form 6.27

Venue, determination of 2.54[7]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-20

C-20 CORPORATE DISCLOSURE STATEMENTS

Filing requirements

Generally 6.21[1][b]

CD Cal requirements 5.28[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.28[2][b]

Federal requirements 5.28[1]

ND Cal requirements 5.28[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.28[2][d]

Who must file 6.21[1][a]

Sample forms

General statement 5.34

CD Cal, Notice of Interested Parties 5.35; 5.44

ND Cal, Certification of Interested Entities of Persons 5.36

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-21

C-21 COUNTERCLAIMS

Generally 11.02; 11.06

Affirmative defenses distinguished 11.07

Amendment of pleading as means of preserving omitted claim 11.22

CD Cal requirements

Amended pleadings 11.25[1][c]

Extension of time to respond to initial complaint 11.25[1][b]

Jurisdictional allegations 11.25[1][a]

Supplemental pleadings 11.25[1][c]

Checklists

Determining whether use of counterclaim appropriate 11.03

Identifying counterclaims

Compulsory counterclaims 11.04[1]

Permissive counterclaims 11.04[2]

Preparing counterclaims

Compulsory counterclaims 11.05[1]

Permissive counterclaims 11.05[2]

Compulsory counterclaims

Abuse of process claims 11.09[3][c]

Amended answer to include counterclaim, statute of limitations and 11.10[3]

Amount-in-controversy requirement, use to satisfy 11.13

Checklist for identifying 11.04[1]

Checklist for preparing 11.05[1]

Defamation claims 11.09[3][e]

Failure to plead, effect of 11.06; 11.08

Local practice requirements 11.09[1]

"Logical relationship" requirement 11.09[1]

Ninth Circuit rulings on compulsory vs. permissive claims (See subhead: Ninth Circuit rulings on compulsory vs. permissive claims)

Recoupment claims

Generally 11.09[3][a]

Tolling for 11.10[2]

Statute of limitations

Generally 11.10[4]

Amended answer to include counterclaim 11.10[3]

Time requirements 11.09[2]

Waiver of claim due to failure to plead 11.08; 27.06[4]

Declaratory relief, as means of 11.17[4]

ED Cal requirements

Changed pleadings 11.25[2][b]

Class actions, counterclaims in 11.25[2][c]

Jurisdictional allegations 11.25[2][a]

Erie Doctrine, applicability of 11.15

Federal-question counterclaim, removal based on 11.14

Forms

Answer and counterclaim 11.52

Answer to counterclaim 11.56

Join party on counterclaims, notice of motion to 11.54

Leave to file amended answer and counterclaims, notice of motion for 11.53

Injunctive relief, as means of 11.17[3]

Jury demand, service requirements for 11.23

Local practice

CD Cal requirements (See subhead: CD Cal requirements)

ED Cal requirements (See subhead: ED Cal requirements)

ND Cal requirements 11.25[3]

SD Cal requirements

Amended pleadings 11.25[4][b]

Extension of time to answer 11.25[4][a]

ND Cal requirements 11.25[3]

Ninth Circuit rulings on compulsory vs. permissive claims

Abuse of process claims 11.09[3][c]

Antitrust claims in paten infringement actions 11.09[3][f]

Defamation claims 11.09[3][e]

Malicious prosecution claims 11.09[3][d]

Recoupment claims 11.09[3][a]

Setoff claims 11.09[3][b]

Omitted claim, means of preserving 11.22

Parties to claim, determination of

Generally 11.18[1]

Capacity of parties, effect of 11.18[2]

Governmental entity as defendant, effect of 11.18[5]

Joined parties, applicability to 11.18[4]

Sovereign immunity issues 11.18[5]

Third-party defendants and plaintiffs 11.18[3]

Permissive counterclaims

Antitrust claims in paten infringement actions 11.09[3][f]

Checklist for identifying 11.04[2]

Checklist for preparing 11.05[2]

Defamation claims 11.09[3][e]

Malicious prosecution claims 11.09[3][d]

Setoff claims 11.09[3][b]

Statutes of limitation and 11.10[5]

Personal jurisdiction over counterdefendant 11.12

Pleading requirements

Generally 11.20[1]

Demand for relief 11.20[4]

Jurisdiction, statement of 11.20[2]

Short and plain statement of claim 11.20[3]

Recovery sought by opposing party, effect on 11.17[2]

Relief available through counterclaims

Declaratory relief 11.17[4]

Injunctive relief 11.17[3]

Kinds of relief 11.17[1]

Limits on 11.17[1]

Recovery sought by opposing party, effect on 11.17[2]

Removal based on federal-question counterclaim 11.14

Responding to counterclaims

Checklist 11.44

Compulsory counterclaims 11.46[2]

Dismissal, motion for 11.46[2], [3]

Fed R Civ P 12, motion to dismiss under 11.46[3]

Options available 11.46[1]

Responsive pleading (See subhead: Responsive pleading)

Responsive pleading

Compulsory counterclaim, inclusion of 11.49[1]

Crossclaim, inclusion of 11.49[3]

Permissive counterclaim, inclusion of 11.49[2]

Proper designation of responsive pleading 11.47

Service requirements 11.51

Standards, applicable 11.50

SD Cal requirements

Amended pleadings 11.25[4][b]

Extension of time to answer 11.25[4][a]

Separate trial, severance for 11.24

Service requirements

Generally 11.21

Jury demand, requirements for 11.23

Responsive pleading 11.51

Statutes of limitation and

Generally 11.10[1]

Amended answer to include compulsory counterclaim 11.10[3]

Compulsory counterclaims

Generally 11.10[4]

Amended answer to include counterclaim 11.10[3]

Permissive counterclaims 11.10[5]

Recoupment claims, tolling for 11.10[2]

Tolling for recoupment claims 11.10[2]

Supplemental jurisdiction over

Generally 2.29[3][a]; 11.11

Erie Doctrine, applicability of 11.15

Voluntary dismissal

With court order 30.19; 30.21

Without court order 30.09

Waiver of claim due to failure to plead compulsory counterclaim 11.08; 27.06[4]

Waiver of Rule 12(b) defenses, assertion of claim resulting in 11.16

When counterclaims must be raised 11.19

46 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-22

C-22 COVER SHEET (

See CIVIL COVER SHEET)

47 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-23

C-23 CRIMINAL CONTEMPT (

See CONTEMPT PROCEEDINGS, subhead: Criminal contempt)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

C

C Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA C-24

C-24 CROSSCLAIMS

Generally 11.02

Amendment of pleading as means of preserving omitted claim 11.40

Answer to (See subhead: Responsive pleading)

CD Cal requirements

Amended pleadings 11.43[1][c]

Extension of time to respond to initial complaint 11.43[1][b]

Jurisdictional allegations 11.43[1][a]

Supplemental pleadings 11.43[1][c]

Checklists

Determining whether use of crossclaim appropriate 11.26

Drafting crossclaim 11.27

ED Cal requirements

Changed pleadings 11.43[2][b]

Class actions, crossclaims in 11.43[2][c]

Jurisdictional allegations 11.43[2][a]

Federal-question crossclaim, removal based on 11.35

Forms

Answer and crossclaim 11.55

Answer to crossclaim 11.57

Jury demand, service requirements for 11.41

Local practice

CD Cal requirements (See subhead: CD Cal requirements)

ED Cal requirements (See subhead: ED Cal requirements)

ND Cal requirements 11.43[3]

SD Cal requirements

Amended pleadings 11.43[4][b]

Extension of time to answer 11.43[4][a]

"Logical relationship" requirement 11.30

ND Cal requirements 11.43[3]

Omitted claim, means of preserving 11.40

Parties to claim, determination of

Generally 11.29[1]

Governmental entity as defendant 11.29[5]

Joined parties as parties to claim

Generally 11.29[4]

Fed R Civ 14, parties joined under 11.29[3]

Recipients of claim 11.29[2], [3]

Permissive status of 11.31

Personal jurisdiction and 11.34

Pleading standards

Generally 11.37

Demand for relief 11.38[3]

Jurisdiction, statement of 11.38[1]

Short and plain statement of claim 11.38[2]

Relief available through 11.36

Removal based on federal-question crossclaim 11.35

Responding to crossclaims

Checklist 11.45

Fed R Civ P 12, motion to dismiss under 11.46[3]

Options available 11.46[1]

Responsive pleading (See subhead: Responsive pleading)

Responsive pleading

Compulsory counterclaim, inclusion of 11.49[1]

Crossclaim, inclusion of 11.49[3]

Permissive counterclaim, inclusion of 11.49[2]

Service requirements 11.51

Standards, applicable 11.50

SD Cal requirements

Amended pleadings 11.43[4][b]

Extension of time to answer 11.43[4][a]

Separate trial, severance for 11.42

Service requirements

Generally 11.39

Responsive pleading 11.51

Statutes of limitation and 11.32

Supplemental jurisdiction 2.29[3][b]; 11.33

Voluntary dismissal by claimant

With court order 30.21

Without court order 30.09

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-1

D-1 DEATH

Attorney-client privilege, effect of client's death on 24.33

Substitution of party, death of party as cause for (See SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES, subhead: Death of party as cause for)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-2

D-2 DECLARATORY RELIEF ACTIONS

Justiciability requirements 6.07[6][b]

Perpetuation of testimony, as alternative to 23.04[4][b]

Pleading requirements

Existence of case or controversy 6.07[6][c]

Justiciability requirements 6.07[6][b]

Standing, proof of 6.07[6][d]

Ripeness doctrine, applicability of 2.44[4]

Standing, proof of 6.07[6][d]; 19.07[5]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-3

D-3 DEFAULT

Admission of liability allegations, effect on 27.06[1]

Amount of damages (See subhead: Damages)

Application for entry of default judgment by clerk

CD Cal requirements

Attorney's fees 27.08[6]

Declaration to accompany 27.08[2]

Clerk's role 27.08[5]

Contents of 27.08[1]

Notice requirements 27.08[4]

Procedure for 27.08[1]

Sample forms

Declaration in support of application 27.26

General applications 27.25

SD Cal requirements 27.08[3]

CD Cal requirements

Attorney's fees

Default judgment by clerk, application for entry of 27.08[6]

Schedule for fees 27.15

Declaration to accompany

Default judgment by clerk, application for entry of 27.08[2]

Default judgment by court, obtaining entry of 27.09[2]

Hearing on proof of damages by declaration 27.10[3]

Separate document required 27.09[7]

Unliquidated damages, notice of submission of claim of 27.09[6]

Checklist

Obtaining entry of default and default judgment 27.03

Obtaining relief from default 27.18

Compulsory counterclaims, waiver of 11.08; 27.06[4]

Court's discretion in granting or denying judgment

Generally 27.11

Entry of default judgment by court (See subhead: Entry of default judgment by court)

Factors considered by court 27.12

Damages

Admission of default, effect of 27.06[2]

Determination of 27.13

Financial condition of defaulting party, effect of 27.14

Opposition to application for default base on amount of 27.20[2]

Proof of damages by declaration 27.10[3]

Default defined 27.02[1][a]

Defaulting party defined 27.02[1][a]

Default judgment

Checklist: obtaining entry of default and default judgment 27.03

Defined 27.02[1][c]

Disfavor of 27.02[2]

Entry of default as prerequisite 27.02[3][b]

Effects of entry of default

Admission of liability allegations 27.06[1]

Amount of damages, no admission of 27.06[2]

Claim-preclusive effect 27.17[2]

Compulsory counterclaims, waiver of 11.08; 27.06[4]

Final order, status as 27.06[5]; 27.17[1]

Issue-preclusive effect 27.17[3]

Waiver of compulsory counterclaims 11.08; 27.06[4]

Waiver of most affirmative defenses 27.06[3]

Entry of default (generally)

Checklist: obtaining entry of default and default judgment 27.03

Defined 27.02[1][b]

Effects of entry (See subhead: Effects of entry of default)

Failure of party to appear as basis for (See subhead: Failure of party to appear as basis for entry of)

Prerequisite to default judgment 27.02[3][b]

When default takes effect 27.02[3][a]

Entry of default by clerk

Burden of showing failure 27.05[2]

Clerk's role 27.05[5]

Form requirements 27.05[3]

Notice requirements 27.05[4]

Required showing of failure 27.05[2]

Sample application form

Declaration in support of application 27.24

General form 27.23

SD Cal requirements 27.05[1]

Entry of default judgment by clerk

Application for entry (See subhead: Application for entry of default judgment by clerk)

Failure of party to appear as basis for entry of 27.07[2]

Governmental entity, status of domestic or foreign 27.07[4]

Military personnel, status of 27.07[3]

Minor or incompetent party, status of 27.07[3]

Multiple defendants 27.07[5]

Political entity, status of domestic or foreign 27.07[4]

Sample application form

Declaration in support of application 27.26

General form 27.25

Sample form 27.27

Sum certain claim requirement 27.07[1]

Entry of default judgment by court

Application requirements 27.09[1]

CD Cal requirements

Generally 27.09[2]

Separate document required 27.09[7]

Unliquidated damages, notice of submission of claim of 27.09[6]

Court's discretion in granting or denying judgment

Generally 27.11

Factors considered by court 27.12

Notice requirements

Parties not appearing 27.09[4]

Parties that have appeared 27.09[5]

Sample form 27.31

SD Cal requirements 27.09[3]

Supporting document requirements 27.09[1]

Failure of party to appear as basis for entry of 27.07[2]

Failure to respond to pleading as basis

Insufficient response defined 27.04[3]

Motion to dismiss as response 27.04[3]

Required responses defined 27.04[2]

Rule 12 motions as responses 27.04[3]

Sufficient response defined 27.04[2]

Summary judgment as response, motion for 27.04[3]

Timely response requirement 27.04[1]

Final order, status as 27.06[5]

Financial condition of defaulting party, effect of 27.14

Foreign states

Opposition to application based on contested liability of 27.20[3][b]

Special requirements for 27.07[4]; 27.16[4]

Governmental entity, special requirements for 27.07[4]; 27.16[3]

Grounds for vacating judgment (See subhead: Vacating judgment, grounds for)

Hearing on request for

CD Cal requirements 27.10[3]

Court's discretion 27.10[1]

Evidentiary hearing requirements 27.10[2]

Jury, use of 27.10[5]

Liability, need to establish 27.10[4]

Participation by defaulting party 27.10[6]

Proof of damages by declaration 27.10[3]

Judgment by default (See subhead: Default judgment)

Military personnel

Sample form: Military status of defaulting party, declaration regarding 27.30

Special requirements for 27.07[3]; 27.16[2]

Vacating judgments against active 27.21[5]; 27.22[1][d]

Minor or incompetent parties, special requirements for 27.07[3]; 27.16[1]

Multiple defendant cases, special requirements for 27.07[5]; 27.16[5]

Notice requirements

Application for entry of default judgment by clerk 27.08[4]

Obtaining entry of default by clerk 27.05[4]

Obtaining entry of default judgment by court

Parties not appearing 27.09[4]

Parties that have appeared 27.09[5]

Sample forms

Notice of appearance 27.32

Notice of application 27.28

Opposition to application for default

Amount of damages claimed as basis for 27.20[2]

Defaulting party's argument 27.20[1]

Government defendants, contesting liability of Foreign government 27.20[3][b]

United States 27.20[3][a]

Relief from default

Checklist: obtaining relief from default 27.18

Motion to set aside default (See subhead: Set aside of default, motion for)

Opposition to application for default (See subhead: Opposition to application for default)

Set aside default, motion to (See subhead: Set aside of default, motion for)

Rule 37(b) sanction, as one type of (See RULE 37(b) SANCTIONS, subhead: Dismissal and default sanctions)

Sample forms

Application to clerk for entry of default

Declaration in support of 27.24

General form 27.23

Application to clerk for entry of default judgment

Declaration in support of 27.26

General application 27.25

Declaration in support of application to court for entry of default judgment 27.29

Entry of default judgment by clerk 27.27

Entry of default judgment by court 27.31

Military status of defaulting party, declaration regarding 27.30

Notice of appearance 27.31; 27.32

Notice of application and application to court for entry of default judgment 27.28

Set aside default, motion to 27.33

Set aside default judgment, motion to 27.34

Sanction, default as 27.02[4]

SD Cal requirements

Obtaining entry of default by clerk 27.05[1]

Obtaining entry of default judgment by court 27.09[3]

Set aside of default, motion for

CD Cal requirements 27.19[5]

Conditions, imposition of 27.19[6]

Cross-examination of declarant 27.19[5]

Disfavor toward 27.19[1]

"Good cause" standard 27.19[3]

Improper entry of default as basis 27.19[2]

Sample forms

Motion to set aside default 27.33

Motion to set aside default judgment 27.34

Time requirements 27.19[4]

United States

Opposition to application based on contested liability of 27.20[3][a]

Special requirements for 27.07[4]; 27.16[3]

Vacate judgment, motion to

Burden of proof 27.22[3]

Court imposed conditions in set aside 27.22[4]

Filing requirements

Excusable neglect claims 27.22[1][b]

Military personnel 27.22[1][d]

"Reasonable time" requirement 27.22[1][a]

Void judgment claims 27.22[1][c]

Ground for vacating judgment (See subhead: Vacating judgment, grounds for)

Vacating judgment, grounds for

Generally 27.22[2]

Excusable neglect as 27.21[1]

Extraordinary circumstances as 27.21[3]

Fraud as 27.21[4]

Inadvertence as 27.21[1]

Military status, active 27.21[5]

Mistake as 27.21[1]

Motion to vacate (See subhead: Vacate judgment, motion to)

Surprise as 27.21[1]

Void judgment 27.21[2]

Void judgment as grounds for vacating judgment of

Generally 27.21[2]

Filing requirements 27.22[1][c]

Waiver of compulsory counterclaims resulting from 11.08; 27.06[4]

Waiver of most affirmative defenses as result of 27.06[3]

52 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-4

D-4 DEFINITE STATEMENT, MOTIONS FOR MORE (

See MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT, MOTIONS FOR)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-5

D-5 DELIBERATIVE PROCESS PRIVILEGE

Balancing of government's interest against need for information 24.84

Burden of invoking privilege 24.82

Checklist 24.77

Documents covered by 24.79; 24.80

Facts relied on by government, protection status of 24.83

Federal common law 24.78

Government privilege for deliberative process 24.82

Pre-decisional documents 24.80

State agencies, application to 24.81

Testimony covered by 24.79

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-6

D-6 DEMAND FOR JURY TRIAL (

See JURY DEMAND)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-7

D-7 DENIAL OF ALLEGATIONS IN COMPLAINT

Generally 8.02[1]

Clarification of part of allegation 8.09[6]

Failure to deny allegations, effect of 8.09[8]

General denials, permissibility of 8.09[4]

Lack of information or knowledge as basis for 8.09[7]

Partial denials 8.09[6]

Sample form 8.32

Specific denials, preference for 8.09[5]

Substance of allegations, requirement to meet 8.09[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-8

D-8 DEPOSITIONS (GENERALLY)

Electronically stored information, use in discovery of 23.162[2]

Exceeding limit on number of depositions 22.21[1]

Failure to appear, sanctions for (See RULE 37(d) SANCTIONS)

Numeric restrictions on 21.07[1][b]; 22.21[1]; 22.40[1]

Purpose of 21.07[1][a]

Review of client's documents in preparation for 21.04[5][d]

Rule 11 sanctions, use as basis for 33.20

Sequencing of methods used in discovery 21.08[2]

Stipulations regarding (See DISCOVERY STIPULATIONS, subhead: Deposition procedures, modification of)

Summary judgment, as evidence considered in 29.12[4][b]

Timing restrictions on 21.07[1][b]; 22.40[1]

Videotaping of 21.07[1][c]

Written depositions (See WRITTEN DEPOSITIONS)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-9

D-9 DEPOSIT OF MONEY OR PROPERTY INTO COURT

Order for disbursement

Generally 19.155[1]

ED Cal requirements 19.155[2]

SD Cal requirements 19.155[3]

Rule 67 motions (See RULE 67 MOTIONS)

Unclaimed funds 19.156

Withdrawal of deposit

Checklist 19.152

Interest earned while on deposit 19.153

Order for disbursement (See subhead: Order for disbursement)

Right to withdraw funds, showing of 19.154

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-10

D-10 DISCOVERY, METHODS OF

Generally 24.02

Admission requests (See REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION)

Compelling mandatory discovery (See COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY)

Depositions (See DEPOSITIONS (GENERALLY))

Document management (See DOCUMENT MANAGEMENT)

Electronically stored information, discovery of (See ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION)

Inspection of documents, electronically stored information and property

Generally 21.07[3][a]

Responding to inspection demands 21.07[3][b]

Interrogatories (See INTERROGATORIES)

Mental examinations (See PHYSICAL AND MENTAL EXAMINATIONS)

Nonparty discovery (See SUBPOENA PROCEDURES)

Perpetuation of testimony (See PERPETUATION OF TESTIMONY)

Physical and mental examinations (See PHYSICAL AND MENTAL EXAMINATIONS)

Production and inspection requests (See REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION AND INSPECTION)

Protective order as means of limiting discovery (See PROTECTIVE ORDERS)

Purpose of discovery 23.02[1]

Relevance (See RELEVANCE)

Requests for admission (See REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION)

Requests for production and inspection (See REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION AND INSPECTION)

Sequencing of methods used

Alternate approaches

Generally 21.08[2]

Reasons to use 21.08[3]

Conventional approach 21.08[1]

Depositions taken after reviewing documents 21.08[2]

Factors affecting 21.08[3], [4]

Protective order setting 22.40[2]

Special considerations when 21.08[4]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-11

D-11 DISCOVERY PAPERS

Document management for (See DOCUMENT MANAGEMENT)

Filing requirements

Generally 5.27[1]

CD Cal requirements 5.27[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.27[2][b]

Motion to require filing 22.22

ND Cal requirements 5.27[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.27[2][d]

Service of papers

Generally 5.19[1]

Waiver of service 5.19[2]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-12

D-12 DISCOVERY PLANNING

Generally 21.02[1]

Abusive discovery

Protective orders precluding or limiting 21.06[8]

Sanctions for

Generally 33.12[2]

Failure to participate in discovery plan (See RULE 37(f) SANCTIONS)

Supplement discovery responses, failure to (See RULE 37(c)(1) SANCTIONS)

Attorney-client privilege (See ATTORNEY-CLIENT PRIVILEGE)

Attorney's fees

Estimating and evaluating 21.06[10]

Motion expenses 22.33

Certification of discovery requests and responses

Generally 21.06[5]

Sanctions for improper certification (See RULE 26(g) SANCTIONS)

Checklist 21.03

Client interviews

Eliciting necessary facts through 21.04[4][c]

Meeting with client to prepare pleadings 21.04[4][b]

Note-taking by client, trying to limit 21.04[4][d]

Potential witnesses, establishing list of 21.04[4][e]

Preparation of client for future discovery 21.04[4][f]

Setting up interview 21.04[4][a]

Compelling mandatory discovery (See COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY)

Conference for discovery planning (See RULE 26(f) CONFERENCE)

Costs and fees associated with discovery, estimating and evaluating 21.06[10]

Depositions (See DEPOSITIONS (GENERALLY))

Document disclosure requirements (See INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1), subhead: Document disclosure requirements)

Document management (See DOCUMENT MANAGEMENT)

Duty to participate in discovery plan

Generally 25.83

Failure to participate, sanctions for (See RULE 37(f) SANCTIONS)

Electronically stored information, disclosure of (See ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION)

Expedited discovery

Motion allowing discovery prior to Rule 26(f) conference (See MOTIONS TO MODIFY DISCOVERY PROCEDURES, subhead: Rule 26(f) planning meeting, discovery prior to)

Stipulation allowing discovery prior to Rule 26(f) conference (See DISCOVERY STIPULATIONS, subhead: Rule 26(f) planning meeting, discovery prior to)

Expert witness disclosures under Rule 26(a)(2) (See EXPERT WITNESS DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(2))

Expert witness reports (See EXPERT WITNESS DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(2), subhead: Expert witness reports)

Failure to participate in discovery plan, sanctions for (See RULE 37(f) SANCTIONS)

Formal discovery

Generally 21.06[3][a]

Abusive discovery, protective orders precluding or limiting 21.06[8]; 22.42

Attorney's fees, estimating and evaluating 21.06[10]

Certification of discovery requests and responses 21.06[5]

Costs and fees associated with discovery, estimating and evaluating 21.06[10]

Filing requirements 21.06[6]

Initial mandatory disclosures (See INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1))

Limits on scope

Generally 21.06[3][b]

Protective orders precluding or limiting abusive discovery 21.06[8]; 22.42

Protective orders precluding or limiting abusive discovery 21.06[8]; 22.42

Rule 26(a)(1) requirements (See INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1))

Rule 26(f) conference (See RULE 26(f) CONFERENCE)

Sequence of discovery procedures

Generally 21.06[9]

Protective order setting 22.40[2]

Settlement conferences (See SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES)

Stipulations around limits placed on scope 21.06[4]

Supplementation of discovery responses 21.06[7]

Impeachment-related materials and information, disclosure requirements for 15.19[3]

Impeachment witnesses, disclosure requirements for 15.18[3]

Importance of 21.04[1], [2]

Informal discovery

Generally 21.05[1]

Advantages of 21.05[2]

Attorney-client privilege, protections under (See ATTORNEY-CLIENT PRIVILEGE)

Medical and hospital records 21.05[5]

Personal injury actions, usefulness in 21.05[3]

Private investigators, use of (See subhead: Private investigators, use of)

Public records 21.05[6][a]

Site investigations 21.05[4]

Technical consultants, use of (See subhead: Technical consultants, use of)

Witness interviews (See subhead: Witness interviews)

Work product doctrine, protections under (See WORK PRODUCT DOCTRINE)

Initial disclosure requirements under Rule 26(a)(1) (See INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1))

Investigation

Early investigation, value of (See subhead: Informal discovery)

Informal methods or evidence gathering (See subhead: Informal discovery)

Medical and hospital records 21.05[5]

Personal injury actions 21.05[3]

Private investigators, use of (See subhead: Private investigators, use of)

Public records

Informal discovery of 21.05[6][a]

Online resources 21.05[6][b]

Site investigations 21.05[4]

Witness interviews (See subhead: Witness interviews)

Jury instruction review as part of 21.04[3]

Legal research as part of 21.04[3]

Limits on scope (See subhead: Scope of discovery)

Motions to modify discovery procedures (See MOTIONS TO MODIFY DISCOVERY PROCEDURES)

Personal injury actions 21.05[3]

Private investigators, use of

Generally 21.05[8][a]

Ethical behavior by investigators, ensuring 21.05[8][b]

Pros and cons of 21.05[8][c]

Protective orders precluding or limiting abusive discovery 21.06[8]

Review of client's documents and electronically stored information

Depositions, preparation for 21.04[5][d]

Expectations of client, evaluating and setting 21.04[5][c]

Key facts underlying case theory 21.04[5][b]

Mandatory initial disclosure of documents and electronically stored information, preparation for 21.04[5][a]

"Reasonable inquiry" for discovery 21.04[5][e]

Rule 26(a)(1) requirements (See INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1))

Rule 26(f) conference (See RULE 26(f) CONFERENCE)

Scope of discovery

Generally 22.20[1]; 24.02

Cumulative or unduly burdensome standard 24.09

Limits on scope

Generally 21.06[3][b]

Abusive discovery, issuing protective orders to preclude or limit 21.06[8]; 22.42

Cumulative or unduly burdensome standard 24.09

Motions to modify discovery (See MOTIONS TO MODIFY DISCOVERY PROCEDURES, subhead: Limits on frequency or extent of discovery)

Protective orders precluding or limiting abusive discovery 21.06[8]; 22.42

Relevance, role of (See RELEVANCE)

Motions to modify discovery procedures (See MOTIONS TO MODIFY DISCOVERY PROCEDURES)

Privileged communications, effect of discovery of (See PRIVILEGES (GENERALLY))

Relevance (See RELEVANCE)

Sequence of discovery procedures

Generally 21.06[9]

Protective order setting 22.40[2]

Settlement conference (See SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES)

Stipulation as means of regulating discovery (See DISCOVERY STIPULATIONS)

Supplemental disclosures 15.26; 15.34

Supplementation of discovery responses

Generally 21.06[7]

Sanctions for failure to supplement discovery responses (See RULE 37(c)(1) SANCTIONS)

Technical consultants, use of

Generally 21.05[8][a]

Ethical behavior by consultants, ensuring 21.05[8][b]

Pros and cons of 21.05[8][c]

Witness information, disclosure requirements for

Addresses of witnesses 15.18[1]

Impeachment witnesses 15.18[3]

Names of witnesses 15.18[1]

Topics of witness's knowledge 15.18[2]

Witness interviews

Arrangement of interviews 21.05[7][c]

Determination of whom to interview 21.05[7][b]

Difficult witnesses 21.05[7][e]

Early interviews 21.05[7][a]

Recording of interviews 21.05[7][d]

Searching for witnesses 21.05[7][g]

Tape recording of interviews 21.05[7][d]

Whom to interview, determination of 21.05[7][b]

Witness statements, procedure for 21.05[7][f]

Work product doctrine (See WORK PRODUCT DOCTRINE)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-13

D-13 DISCOVERY STIPULATIONS

Altering time for response to discovery request 22.11[2]

Ambiguous terms, use of 22.08[2]

Applicability to other litigation 22.08[1]

Authentication of documents 22.12[9]

"Before any person," allowing deposition 22.12[6]

CD Cal requirements 22.07[5][a]

Checklists

Preparation of stipulation 22.03[2]

Types of discovery stipulations available 22.03[1]

Confidentiality, stipulation as to preserving 22.11[9]

Cost of deposition, shifting or sharing 22.12[8]

Custody of discovery documents

CD Cal requirements 22.11[4][a]

ND Cal requirements 22.11[4][b]

Defined 22.02

Deposition procedures, modification of

Generally 22.12[1]; 23.35

Authentication of documents 22.12[9]

"Before any person," allowing deposition 22.12[6]

Cost of deposition, shifting or sharing 22.12[8]

Duration of deposition 22.12[11]

Early deposition

General rule against 22.12[4][a]

Parties allowing 22.12[4][b]

Exceeding limit on number of depositions 22.12[2]

Foreign countries, taking depositions in 22.12[16]

Limits on scope of examination 22.12[10]

Notice requirements, waiver or modification of 22.12[5]

Previously deposed witness, taking deposition of 22.12[3]

Recording deposition, methods of

Generally 22.12[7][a]

Factors affecting choice of 22.12[7][b]

Reserving objections, modification of rules on (See subhead: Reserving objections, modification of rules on)

Retention of deposition notes (See subhead: Retention of deposition notes)

Transcripts, use of unsigned 22.12[14]

Waiver of formalities regarding deposition 22.12[12]

Waiver of objections, modification of rules on

Generally 22.12[15][a]

Blanket stipulations 22.12[15][d]

Disclosure stipulations distinguished 22.06

Duration of deposition, modification of 22.12[11]

Early deposition

General rule against 22.12[4][a]

Parties allowing 22.12[4][b]

ED Cal requirements 22.07[5][b]

Exceeding number permitted by statute

Depositions, number of 22.12[2]

Interrogatories, number of 22.11[3]

Expedited discovery (See subhead: Rule 26(f) planning meeting, discovery prior to)

"Expressly included" requirement 22.08[3]

Filing requirements 22.07[4]

Foreign countries

Obtaining discovery based in 22.11[10]

Taking depositions in 22.12[16]

Foreign courts, discovery for use in 22.11[11]

Future litigation, limits on discovery in 22.11[7]

Initial disclosure document, contents and schedule for 15.16[3]

Judicial approval requirements

Generally 22.09[1]

CD Cal requirements 22.09[3][a]

Court-imposed deadlines, interference with 22.09[2]

ED Cal requirements 22.09[3][b]

Exceptions 22.09[2]

ND Cal requirements 22.09[3][c]

SD Cal requirements 22.09[3][d]

Judicial rejection of

Authority of court 22.10[1]

Change in circumstances as basis 22.10[2]

Injustice, rejection to prevent 22.10[3]

Limits on discovery in future litigation 22.11[7]

Limits on scope of examination 22.12[10]

ND Cal requirements 22.07[5][c]

Notice requirements, waiver or modification of 22.12[5]

"On record" requirements for 22.13

Oral agreement, enforceability of 22.07[2][b]

Perpetuation of testimony, alternative to 23.04[4][a]

Physical or mental exams, conduct of 22.11[5]

Recording deposition, methods of

Generally 22.12[7][a]

Factors affecting choice of 22.12[7][b]

Recording requirements for 22.13

Relevance, as means of expanding 24.11

Requirements for use of

CD Cal requirements 22.07[5][a]

ED Cal requirements 22.07[5][b]

Filing requirements 22.07[4]

ND Cal requirements 22.07[5][c]

SD Cal requirements 22.07[5][d]

Standing orders of judges and 22.07[6]

Writing requirement (See subhead: Writing requirement)

Reserving objections, modification of rules on

Generally 22.12[15][a]

All objections, reserving 22.12[15][c]

"As to form" objections 22.12[15][b]

Blanket stipulations 22.12[15][d]

Response to discovery request

Altering time for 22.11[2]

Sample format for extension of time for discovery responses 22.68

Retention of deposition notes

Generally 22.12[13][a]

CD Cal requirements 22.12[13][b]

ED Cal requirements 22.12[13][c]

Rule 26(f) planning meeting, discovery prior to

Generally 15.06; 22.11[1][a]

Availability of 22.11[1][b]

Early depositions (See subhead: Early deposition)

Stipulation allowing 22.11[8]

Sample forms

Extension of time for discovery responses 22.68

General form 22.67

SD Cal sample form 22.70

SD Cal requirements

Generally 22.07[5][d]

Sample format for 22.70

Standing orders of judges on use of 22.07[6]

Strategy for use of 22.04

Subpoena procedures, to allow variance in 22.11[6]

Telephone or video conference depositions, as means of allowing 23.31

Transcripts, use of unsigned 22.12[14]

Unilateral understanding, enforceability of 22.07[2][c]

Video conference depositions, as means of allowing 23.31

Waiver of formalities regarding deposition 22.12[12]

When to use 22.05

Writing requirement

Generally 22.07[1]

Confirming letter, enforceability of 22.07[2][a]

Estoppel doctrine, effect of 22.07[3][c]

Exceptions to

Estoppel doctrine, effect of 22.07[3][c]

On record during deposition 22.07[3][b]

Oral representation in open court 22.07[3][a]

Informal writings, examples of unenforceable 22.07[2][a]-[c]

On record during deposition as exception to 22.07[3][b]

Oral agreement, enforceability of 22.07[2][b]

Oral representation in open court as exception to 22.07[3][a]

Unilateral understanding, enforceability of 22.07[2][c]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-14

D-14 DISMISSAL

Delay in bringing to trial as basis (See INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL UNDER RULE 41(b))

Involuntary dismissal under Rule 41(b) (See INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL UNDER RULE 41(b))

Rule 37(b) sanction, as one type of (See RULE 37(b) SANCTIONS)

Voluntary dismissal (See VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL)

63 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-15

D-15 DIVERSITY JURISDICTION

Aggregation of claims

Class actions 2.23[4]

Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act 2.24

Multiple plaintiffs--single defendant 2.23[3]

Single plaintiff--multiple defendants 2.23[2]

Single plaintiff--single defendant 2.23[1]

Aliens, suits involving

Alien corporations, determining citizenship of 2.18[4]

British dependent territories, citizens of 2.20[5]

Distinguished from actions brought under Alien Tort Claim Act 2.20[1]

Foreign plaintiffs against foreign defendants 2.20[3]

Foreign states, actions by or against 2.20[2]

Law of nation of citizenship as prevailing law 2.20[6]

Mixture of citizens and aliens, actions with 2.20[1]

Permanent resident aliens 2.17[4]; 2.20[4]

Amount in controversy requirement

Generally 2.21[1]; 3.10[1][a], [3][a]; 6.07[3][a], [3][i]

Arbitration award disputes, determining amount in controversy in 2.21[3]

Attorney's fees, exclusion of 2.21[6]

Awarding of costs when recovery falls below jurisdictional minimum 2.22

Burden of proof 2.21[10]; 3.10[3][d]

Class action suits

Class Action Fairness Act, requirement under 2.24A[1]; 3.10[1][a]; 20.12[2][c]

General diversity jurisdiction, claims under 20.12[2][b]

Compulsory counterclaims' use to satisfy 11.13

Costs and interest, exclusion of 2.21[4]

Determining amount in controversy 8.17[5][b]

Dismissal based on failure to meet 8.17[5][a]

"Either viewpoint" rule 3.10[3][b]

Equitable relief, suits involving 2.21[7]

Evidence of valid defense or counterclaim, effect of 2.21[9]

Failure to meet threshold as basis for dismissal 8.17[5][a]

Federal law governing 2.21[2]

Filing of complaint, amount determined upon 2.21[3]

Legal certainty test, determination of amount under 2.21[8]

Punitive damages, inclusion of 2.21[5]

Timing of determination 3.10[3][c]

Assignments for purpose of diversity jurisdiction, effect of 4.15[3]

Awarding of costs when recovery falls below jurisdictional minimum 2.22

Burden of proof

Generally 2.13

Amount in controversy requirement 2.21[10]; 3.10[3][d]

Challenges to

CD Cal rules 2.25[3]

Failure to meet amount as basis for 8.17[5][a]

Methods for 2.25[1]

Time requirements 2.25[2]

Checklist

Analyzing basis for diversity jurisdiction 2.09A

Determining basis for bringing action into Federal court 1.03

Citizenship issues

Generally 6.07[3][c], [3][d]

Aliens, suits involving (See subhead: Aliens, suits involving)

Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]

Corporations, determining citizenship of (See subhead: Corporations, determining citizenship of)

Determinative effect of citizenship of named parties 2.11

Individuals, determining citizenship of (See subhead: Individuals, determining citizenship of)

Joint ventures, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]

Limited liability companies, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]

Local governments, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]; 6.07[3][h]

Mass tort actions 6.07[3][d]

Native American tribes, determining citizenship of

Incorporated tribes 2.18[5]

Unincorporated tribes 2.19[2]

Noncorporate entities, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]; 6.07[3][g]

Partnerships, determining citizenship of 2.19[1]; 6.07[3][g]

Political subdivisions 2.19[2]; 6.07[3][h]

Sociedad en Comanditas, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]

State citizenship and state domicile compared 2.17[3][b]

States and state agencies, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]; 6.07[3][h]

Trusts, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]

Unincorporated associations, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]; 6.07[3][g]

Class action suits

Generally 20.12[2][a]

Aggregation of claims 2.23[4]

Amount in controversy

Class Action Fairness Act, requirement under 2.24A[1]; 3.10[1][a]; 20.12[2][c]

General diversity jurisdiction, claims under 20.12[2][b]

Burden of proof under Class Action Fairness Act 3.28

Citizenship of class representative for general diversity jurisdiction 20.12[2][b]

Minimal diversity under Class Action Fairness Act

Amount in controversy over $5 million 2.24A[1]; 3.10[1][a], [5]; 20.12[2][c]

Mass actions 2.24A[4]

When not applicable 2.24A[2]; 20.12[2][c]

Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act (See subhead: Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act)

Pleading requirements 6.07[3][b], [3][d]

Removal of action under Class Action Fairness Act

Burden of proof requirements 3.28

Discretionary removal when more than one-third but less than two-thirds plaintiff class members from same state 2.24A[3][b]; 3.26A[1]

Form of notice of removal 3.34A

Mandatory declination of removal when more than two-thirds plaintiff class members from same state 2.24A[3][a]; 3.26A[2]

Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]

Complete diversity requirements

Generally 2.10[2]

All named defendants, effect on removal of citizenship of 3.10[2][a]

Burden of proof 3.10[2][c]

Determination of applicable jurisdiction when complaint filed 2.10[3]

Mass actions, applicability to 2.24A[4]

Timing of determination of diversity 3.10[2][b]

Compulsory counterclaims

Amount in controversy requirement, use to satisfy 11.13

Erie Doctrine, applicability of 11.15

$75,000 threshold requirement, use to satisfy 11.13

Consolidation, effect of 18.06[2]

Convenience transfers based on 2.57[9][a]

Corporations, determining citizenship of

Generally 2.18[1]; 6.07[3][f]

Alien corporations 2.18[4]

Defunct or inactive corporations 2.18[5]

Federally chartered corporations 2.18[5]

Merged corporations 2.18[5]

National banking associations 2.18[5]

Native American tribes, incorporated 2.18[5]

Nonprofit corporations 2.18[5]

Not in good standing, corporations that are 2.18[5]

Parent corporations 2.18[5]

Principal place of business, determining 2.18[3]

Public corporations 2.18[5]

States of incorporation, determining 2.18[2]

Subsidiary corporations 2.18[5]

Determinative effect of citizenship of named parties 2.11

Dismissal based on lack of

Diversity of citizenship, attacks on

Generally 8.17[6][a]

Burden of proof 8.17[6][b]

Dismissal of nondiverse parties to preserve jurisdiction 8.17[6][c]

Failure to meet amount in controversy as basis for 8.17[5][a]

Dispensable nondiverse parties, judicial discretion in dropping 2.15

"Doe" defendants and 2.11; 6.06[4][b]

Domestic relations exception 2.10[4]; 3.10[1][c]

Domicile, determining

Federal law governing 2.17[3][a]

Residence and domicile compared 2.17[3][c]

State citizenship and state domicile compared 2.17[3][b]

Foreign states, actions by or against

Aliens, suits involving 2.20[2]

Foreign plaintiffs against foreign defendants 2.20[3]

Individuals, determining citizenship of 2.17[4]

Individuals, determining citizenship of

Generally 2.17[1]; 6.07[3][e]

Domicile, determining (See subhead: Domicile, determining)

Dual citizenship, persons with 2.17[4]

Estate representatives 2.17[4]

Fiduciaries 2.17[4]

Foreign states 2.17[4]

Military personnel 2.17[4]

Minors 2.17[4]

Native Americans 2.17[4]

Naturalized citizens 2.17[4]

Permanent resident aliens 2.17[4]; 2.20[4]

Prison inmates 2.17[4]

Receivers 2.17[4]

Residence and domicile compared 2.17[3][c]

State citizenship and state domicile compared 2.17[3][b]

Statutory definitions of citizenship 2.17[2]

Students 2.17[4]

U.S. citizens domiciled abroad 2.17[4]

Insurer's citizenship when insurer not joined as defendant 2.16[3]

Interpleader actions 6.07[3][d]

Intervening party, effect on complete diversity requirement by 3.10[2][a]

Joinder, effect of

Improper or collusive joinder 2.16[2]

Insurer's citizenship when insurer not joined as defendant 2.16[3]

Nondiverse indispensable party, dismissal due to 2.16[1]

Permissive joinder, interplay of supplemental jurisdiction and 2.30[5][a]

Joint ventures, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]

Limited liability companies, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]

Local governments, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]; 6.07[3][h]

Mass actions 2.24A[4]

Minimal diversity requirement

Class action suits (See subhead: Class action suits)

Mass actions 2.24A[4]

Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act, cases arising under 3.10[4][a]

Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act

Generally 2.24

Removal of minimal diversity cases 3.10[4][b]

Requirements for minimal diversity jurisdiction 3.10[4][a]

Native American tribes

Determining citizenship of

Incorporated tribes 2.18[5]

Unincorporated tribes 2.19[2]

Self-government and diversity jurisdiction 2.10[6]

Noncorporate entities, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]; 6.07[3][g]

Partnerships, determining citizenship of 2.19[1]; 6.07[3][g]

Permissive joinder, interplay of supplemental jurisdiction and 2.30[5][a]

Pleading requirements

Generally 2.12; 6.07[3][a]

Amount in controversy requirement (See subhead: Amount in controversy requirement)

Capacity, authority or legal status 6.08[2][a]

Citizenship issues (See subhead: Citizenship issues)

Class actions 6.07[3][b], [3][d]

Corporations 6.07[3][f]

Individuals 6.07[3][e]

Interpleader actions 6.07[3][d]

Mass tort actions 6.07[3][b], [3][d]

Sample form 6.24

Political subdivisions 6.07[3][h]

Probate cases exception 2.10[5]

Probate exception 3.10[1][d]

Removal on basis of

Generally 3.05[2]; 3.10[1][a]

Amount in controversy requirement (See subhead: Amount in controversy requirement)

Burden of proof 3.10[2][c]

Class Action Fairness Act, removal under (See subhead: Class action suits)

Complete diversity requirements (See subhead: Complete diversity requirements)

Contents of notice 3.18[1][c]

Diversity of citizenship requirements

Generally 3.10[1][a], [1][b]

Complete diversity requirements (See subhead: Complete diversity requirements)

Domestic relations cases exception 3.10[1][c]

Exceptions 3.10[1][b]-[d]

Jurisdiction once notice filed 3.21[4]

Minimal diversity cases, removal in 3.10[4][b]

Notice of removal

Class Action Fairness Act (See subhead: Class action suits)

Contents of notice 3.18[1][c]

Jurisdiction once notice filed 3.21[4]

Probate cases exception 3.10[1][d]

Requirements for allowing 3.10[1][a]

$75,000 threshold requirement (See subhead: Amount in controversy requirement)

Timing of determination of diversity, effect of 3.10[2][b]

Sample form for allegations of 6.24

$75,000 threshold requirement (See subhead: Amount in controversy requirement)

Sociedad en Comanditas, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]

State citizenship and state domicile compared 2.17[3][b]

States and state agencies, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]; 6.07[3][h]

Stipulations or agreement by all parties to confer jurisdiction, effect of 2.14

Strict construction 2.10[1]

Substitution of parties, effect of 10.22[1]

Thibodeaux abstention: unclear state law in diversity cases 2.47[2]

Third-party complaints

Generally 12.08[1][c]

Supplemental jurisdiction cases 12.08[1][e]

Trusts, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]

Unincorporated associations, determining citizenship of 2.19[2]; 6.07[3][g]

64 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-16

D-16 DOCUMENT MANAGEMENT

Advantages of 21.10[1]

Checklists

Choosing method of organization 21.09[1]

Maintaining control of document throughout litigation 21.09[2]

Discovery documents and electronically stored information

Chronological organization of 21.11[5][b]

"Control" set of documents 21.11[5][a]

Emails 21.11[3]

Exhibit files 21.11[11]

"Hot document" file 21.11[7], [11]

Indexing of significant documents

Coding electronic documents 21.11[6][b]

Computer-based index system 21.10[5][b]; 21.11[6][a]

Recording use of documents 21.11[8]

Initial mandatory disclosure, review for 21.11[1]

Production of document and electronically stored information, preparation for

Anticipating requests 21.11[2][a]

Client's employees and agents, obtaining documents from 21.11[2][b]

Numbering documents for production 21.11[2][e]

Obtaining documents from client's employees and agents 21.11[2][b]

Privileges and protections, consideration of 21.11[2][c]

Redaction of documents before production 21.11[2][d]

Recording use of documents 21.11[8]

Review for initial mandatory disclosure 21.11[1]

Rule 34, documents produced under (See REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION AND INSPECTION, subhead: Rule 34 documents)

Subject matter files 21.11[10]

Witness files 21.11[9]

Effect of proper document management on efficient litigation 21.02[2]

Electronically stored information, data management of (See subhead: Discovery documents and electronically stored information)

Methods of

Generally 21.10[2]

Electronic management

Combined manual and electronic approach 21.10[4]

Imaging of documents 21.10[5][a], [6]

Indexing methods 21.10[5][b]; 21.11[6][a], [6][b]

Network- and web-based access 21.10[6]

Optical Character Recognition systems 21.10[5][b]; 21.11[6][b]

Retrieval methods 21.10[5][b], [6]

Reviewing and organizing key documents (See subhead: Reviewing and organizing key documents)

Searching methods 21.10[5][b]

Storage structures for 21.10[5][c]

Manual management

Combined manual and electronic approach 21.10[4]

Examination and evaluation of documents 21.10[3][a]

Filling of documents 21.10[3][b]

Master document list 21.10[3][c]

Reviewing and organizing key documents (See subhead: Reviewing and organizing key documents)

Reviewing and organizing key documents (See subhead: Reviewing and organizing key documents)

Objectives of 21.10[1]

Reviewing and organizing key documents

Generally 21.10[7][a], [7][b]

Culling of documents 21.10[7][a]

Initial review 21.10[8]

Paralegals in initial review, use of 21.10[8]

"Parsing" of documents 21.10[7][b]

65 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-17

D-17 DRAFTING COMPLAINT (

See PREPARATION OF COMPLAINT)

66 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-18

D-18 DRAFTING SUMMONS (

See PREPARATION OF SUMMONS)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

D

D Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA D-19

D-19 DROPPING PARTIES (

See JOINDER OF PARTIES, subhead: Dropping parties)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-1

E-1 EARLY NEUTRAL EVALUATION (ENE)

Northern District ADR

Appropriate party representative, compelling attendance at ENE session by

Content requirement 32.23[7][c]

"In writing" requirement 32.23[7][a]

Letter not filed with court 32.23[7][d]

Response by challenged party (See under this subhead: Response regarding appropriate representative's attendance at ENE session)

Timing requirements 32.23[7][b]

Assignment of case to evaluator 32.18

Attendance requirements

Appropriate party representative, compelling attendance by (See under this subhead: Appropriate party representative, compelling attendance at ENE session by)

Corporation entity, representation for 32.23[2]

Excused absences (See under this subhead: Excused absences from ENE session)

Government entity, representation for 32.23[2]

Insurer's attendance, necessity of 32.23[4]

Parties to actions 32.23[1]

Trial counsel of parties, presence of 32.23[3]

Certification of ENE session, filing requirements for 32.27

Confidentiality requirements 32.25

Excused absences from ENE session

Content requirements 32.23[5][d]

Hardship requirement 32.23[5][c]

"In writing" requirement 32.23[5][a]

Opposition to request for (See under this subhead: Opposition to request for excused absence from ENE session)

Telephone, availability by 32.23[5][e]

Time requirements 32.23[5][b]

Ex parte contact with evaluator 32.20

Extension of time to conduct session

Content requirements for motion 32.21[3][b]

Filing requirements 32.21[3][a]

Follow up to ENE session

Scheduling of 32.26[1]

Stipulation, additional sessions by 32.26[2]

Types available 32.26[1]

Objection to evaluator, right of 32.19

Opposition to request for excused absence from ENE session

Content requirements 32.23[6][c]

"In writing" requirement 32.23[6][a]

Letter not filed with court 32.23[6][d]

Time requirements 32.23[6][b]

Procedure at ENE session

Assigned duties of evaluator 32.24[1]

Authority of evaluator, limits on 32.24[2]

Delivery of evaluation 32.24[5]

Informal nature of proceedings 32.24[3]

Limits on authority of evaluator 32.24[2]

Transcripts, allowability of 32.24[4]

Purpose of ENE 32.17

Response regarding appropriate representative's attendance at ENE session

"In writing" requirement 32.23[8][a]

Letter not filed with court 32.23[8][c]

Time requirements 32.23[8][b]

Scheduling of ENE session

Generally 32.21[1]

Extension of time to conduct session 32.21[3][a], [3][b]

Time limits on 32.21[2]

Written statements

Content requirements 32.22[3]

Copyright cases, content requirements for 32.22[3]

Patent cases, content requirements for 32.22[3]

Submission requirements 32.22[1]

Trademark cases, content requirements for 32.22[3]

Who receives ENE statements 32.22[2]

Southern District ADR

Arbitration as option if no settlement

Generally 32.69[4]

Case management conference pursuant to, time requirements for 32.69[5][a]

Case management conference, time requirements for

Not referred to arbitration or mediation, when case 32.69[5][b]

Referred to arbitration or mediation, when case 32.69[5][a]

Conduct of ENE conference

Attendance requirements 32.69[3][b]

Confidentiality requirements 32.69[3][d]

Informal nature of conference 32.69[3][d]

Timing of conference 32.69[3][a]

Topics of discussion 32.69[3][c]

Exceptions to ENE conference requirement 32.69[2]

Mediation as option if no settlement

Generally 32.69[4]

Case management conference pursuant to, time requirements for 32.69[5][a]

Non-settlement, options if 32.69[4]

Settlement conference mandated by (See SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES, subhead: SD Cal requirements)

Timing of ENE conference

Before answer on request of party 32.69[1][b]

45-day rule 32.69[1][a]

69 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-2

E-2 E-DISCOVERY (

See ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION)

70 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-3

E-3 ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION

Generally 23.02[6]; 23.158[1]

Admitting electronically stored information at trial

Authenticity governed by Fed R Evid 901

Electronically stored information printouts 23.184[3]

Emails 23.184[4]

Evidence sufficient to support finding 23.184[1]

Website printouts 23.184[2]

Checklist 23.182

Federal rules of evidence, applicability of 23.183

Questions of accuracy 23.185

Back-up system or archive, responding to request for search of

Generally 23.172[1]

Proportionality test 23.172[2]

Best evidence rule to printouts of electronically stored information, application of 23.188

Burden and expense of production

Generally 22.19[6]; 23.171[1]

Protection orders if burden or expense of production too great (See subhead: Protection orders if burden or expense of production too great)

Rule 26(b)(2) factors

Generally 23.171[2][a]

Balancing factors 23.171[2][b]

Limits on discovery due to 23.171[2][c]

Too broad, request as 23.171[2][d]

Checklists

Admitting electronically stored information at trial 23.182

Making requests for records 23.157

Protecting confidentiality and privilege 23.176

Responding to requests for records 23.164

Confidentiality, reasonable expectation of

Generally 23.178[1]

Attorney-client privilege 23.178[4]

Emails sent by employees over employer's computer system 23.178[3]

Stipulated protective order, use of 23.180

Totality of circumstances 23.178[2]

Cost-shifting, applying for order for

Appropriate times for 23.174[2]

Inherent authority of court to allocate costs 23.174[1]

Who bears cost of review and productions following conversion to accessible form 23.174[3]

Data management of electronically stored information (See DOCUMENT MANAGEMENT)

"Deleted" records, status of 23.158[3]

Demands for inspection of computer system

Confidentiality protocol 23.162[3][c]

Need and likelihood of finding relevant matter, demonstrating 23.162[3][b]

Rule 34(a) provisions 23.162[3][a]

Deposition of person with knowledge of systems and storage 23.162[2]

Digital material that will be shown to jury, disclosure of 23.187

Duty to preserve evidence

Failure to preserve, sanctions for

Inherent authority to impose sanctions 23.161[4][b]

Violation of preservation order as basis 23.161[4][a]

Knowledge of litigation or imminent litigation by party 23.161[1]

Order for preservation 23.161[3]

Sample form: request for preservation of evidence 23.307

Stipulation for preservation 23.161[3]

Zubulake guidelines

Generally 23.161[2][a]

Directives to attorneys under Zubulake V 23.161[2][c]

Directives to parties under Zubulake IV 23.161[2][b]

Electronic copy format, request of data in 23.158[6]

Emails

Generally 21.11[3]

Attorney-client privilege 23.178[4]

Authenticity governed by Fed R Evid 901 23.184[4]

Confidentiality, employee's reasonable expectation of 23.178[3]

Experts, computerized data relied on by

Facts and opinions to be offered by testifying experts not retained or specially employed 23.158[4][aa]

Non-testifying experts, discoverability of data relied on by 23.158[4][b]

Retained or specially employed testifying experts 23.158[4][a]

Format, request of data in specific 23.158[5]

Hard copy format, request of data in 23.158[5]

Hearsay exclusion, applicability of

Generally 23.186[1][a]

Admission by party-opponent as hearsay 23.186[1][c]

Business records exception, requirements for 23.186[2][b]

Catch-all exception for statements with circumstantial guarantees of trustworthiness 23.186[2][c]

Federal rules allowing hearsay evidence 23.186[2][a]

Nonassertive printout as hearsay 23.186[1][b]

Initial disclosures under Rule 26(a)(1)

Generally 15.19[1]; 23.160[1]

Impeachment-related information 15.19[3]

Itemized listing, necessity of 15.19[2]

Inspection of electronically stored information

Generally 21.07[3][a]

Responding to inspection demands 21.07[3][b]

Interrogatories as means to identify sources of 23.162[1]

Loss of electronically stored information, opposing sanctions for 25.105A

Motion to compel discovery if responding party fails to comply 23.163

Pre-service discovery, availability of 23.159

Pretrial conferences, use of 23.160[2]

Privileged materials

Generally 23.170; 23.177

Stipulated protective order, use of 23.180

Work product privilege (See subhead: Work product privilege)

Production of electronically stored information, requests for

Responding party's responsibilities 23.162[4][b]

Rule 34 requests 23.162[4][a]

Protection order if requesting party won't stipulate, motion for Court's discretion in fashioning order 23.181[2]

Good-faith attempt to resolve dispute as prerequisite 23.181[1]

Protection orders if burden or expense of production too great

Generally 23.173[4]

Good faith to resolve dispute 23.173[3]

Necessity and foreseeability of burden of searching and translating data 23.173[1]

Outlining costs, proffering of 23.173[2]

Third-party response to subpoena issued under Rule 45 23.175[4]

Relevance requirements

Burden of showing lack of relevance 23.169[3]

"Fishing expeditions," prohibition against 23.169[2]

Rule 26(b) 23.169[1]

Requests for production of records

Responding party's responsibilities 23.162[4][b]

Rule 34 requests 23.162[4][a]

Responding to requests for records

"As they are kept in usual course of business," document must be 23.168[1]

Checklists 23.164

Compilations if raw data exists, creation of 23.168[2]

"Documents" defined for 23.165

Duty to perform diligent search 23.166

Interrogatories, answering 23.168[3]

Manipulation by requesting party, prevention of 23.168[5]

Suspension of routine procedures that destroy relevant records 23.167

Time requirements

Failure to object in timely manner, effect of 23.168[4][a]

Specifying items and reasons for objection 23.168[4][b]

Rule 26(a)(1) requirements 23.160[1]

Rule 26(f) conferences, use of 23.160[2]

Sample forms

Internal memo regarding suspension of document retention policy 23.306

Interrogatories concerning document retention policy and data storage 23.308

Request for preservation of evidence 23.307

Requests for production of documents 23.309

Supplemental requests for after-acquired or discovered information 23.162[5]

Third-party response to subpoena issued under Rule 45

Appellate review criteria 23.175[5]

"Kept in usual course of business," records as 23.175[1]

Privileged documents, identification of 23.175[2]

Protective orders covering 23.175[4]

Stored Communications Act of 1986, effect of 23.175[3]

Tortious acts on-line, availability of pre-service discovery for 23.159

Types of records subject to discovery 23.158[2]

Unreasonably accessible, effect of undue burden or cost when 22.19[6]; 23.171

Work product privilege

Attorney involvement as determining factor 23.179[2]

Litigation-related work 23.179[1]

Other sources for privileged material 23.179[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-4

E-4 ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS AND INTERNET

Discovery documents (See ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION)

Filing of papers (See ELECTRONIC OR FACSIMILE FILING)

Interrogatories, as means of service for 23.127[1]

Personal jurisdiction

Minimum contacts with forum, jurisdiction based on 2.35[3]

Website cases

General jurisdiction, invoking 2.36[6]

Specific jurisdiction, invoking 2.37[3]

Service of summons via (See SERVICE OF PROCESS, subhead: Alternate delivery methods)

Signatures on documents, electronic or facsimile (See SIGNATURE REQUIREMENTS, subhead: Electronic or facsimile signatures)

Subpoena procedures

Anonymous nonparty internet users, seeking identity of 23.263[9][b]

Undue burden and cost shifting issues 23.263[9][a]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-5

E-5 ELECTRONIC OR FACSIMILE FILING

Generally 5.30; 26.32

CD Cal requirements 5.31[1]; 6.04[3][a]

Checklist 5.29

Courtesy copies to assigned judge

Generally 26.33[1]

ED Cal requirements 26.33[2]

SD Cal requirements 26.33[3]

ED Cal requirements

Generally 5.31[2]; 6.04[3][b]

Courtesy copies to assigned judge 26.33[2]

Mandatory filing requirement 26.32A

Time of filing

Before midnight on business day 5.27A[2]

Portable electronic media, filing requirements for 5.27A[4]

System-generated "notice of electronic filing" 5.27A[1]

Technical failure of court's site, effect of 5.27A[5]

24 hours a day via Internet 5.27A[3]

ND Cal requirements

Generally 5.31[3]

PSLRA governed claims 20.57

Personal information, privacy protection of

Exceptions to redaction requirements 5.12A[2]

General redaction requirements 5.12A[1]

SD Cal requirements

Generally 5.31[4]; 26.32B

Courtesy copies to assigned judge 26.33[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-6

E-6 EMAILS (

See ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-7

E-7 EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT INCOME SECURITY ACT (ERISA)

Federal question jurisdiction

Generally 2.06[2][a]

Removal to federal court of claims arising under 3.09[4][c]

Intervention as of right; private ERISA actions 14.06[3]

Jurisdiction

Generally 2.54[13]

Federal question jurisdiction

Generally 2.06[2][a]

Removal to federal court of claims arising under 3.09[4][c]

Removal to federal court of claims arising under 3.09[4][c]

Service of summons in cases involving personal jurisdiction 2.40[3][b]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-8

E-8 ENE (

See EARLY NEUTRAL EVALUATION (ENE))

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-9

E-9 ERISA (

See EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT INCOME SECURITY ACT (ERISA))

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-10

E-10 ESTATE REPRESENTATIVES

Capacity as named party in actions involving decedent (See CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES, subhead: Decedents and their representatives under California law)

Diversity jurisdiction, determining citizenship for 2.17[4]

78 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-11

E-11 EX PARTE APPLICATIONS

CD Cal requirements 26.11[3][a]

Checklist: making ex parte applications 26.10

ED Cal requirements 26.11[3][b]

Expedited relief, use in seeking

Contents of application 26.11[2]

Notice requirements 26.11[1]

ND Cal requirements 26.11[3][c]

Receivership, application for temporary (See RECEIVERSHIP, subhead: Ex parte application for temporary receiver)

SD Cal requirements 26.11[3][d]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

E

E Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA E-12

E-12 EXPERT WITNESS DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(2)

Generally 15.28[1]

Checklist 15.27

Contradiction or rebuttal evidence, testimony as 15.30

ED Cal requirements 15.28[2]

Expert witness reports

Content requirements

Retained or specially employed experts 15.31[2][a]

Subject matter of expert testimony 15.31[2][b]

Summary of facts and opinions 15.31[2][b]

Detailed and complete statement of expert testimony on direct examination 15.31[3]

Limited to opinions and bases as disclosed in report, expert testimony as 15.31[4]

Physician reports 15.31[5]

Preparation requirements 15.31[1]

Retained or specially employed expert witnesses, requirements for 15.31[1]

Signature requirements 15.32

Summary of opinions to be offered by expert witnesses not retained or specially employed by parties 15.31[1A]

Filing requirements 15.33

"In writing" requirement for 15.32

Rebuttal evidence, testimony as 15.30

Reports by witnesses (See subhead: Expert witness reports)

Sample disclosure statement under Rule 26(a)(2) 15.39

Service requirements 15.32

Signature requirements 15.32

Supplemental disclosures 15.34; 17.24[2]

Time requirements

Generally 15.29[1]

CD Cal requirements 15.29[2]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-1

F-1 FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT (FLSA)

Removal of FLSA actions to federal court 3.13[9]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-2

F-2 FDIC (

See FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION (FDIC))

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-3

F-3 FEDERAL ARBITRATION ACT (FAA) (

See ARBITRATION, subhead: Federal Arbitration Act (FAA))

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-4

F-4 FEDERAL DEPOSIT INSURANCE CORPORATION (FDIC)

Closed banks administered by, venue for 2.54[5]

Removal of cases to federal court (See REMOVAL TO FEDERAL COURT)

Venue for closed banks administered by 2.54[5]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-5

F-5 FEDERAL QUESTION JURISDICTION

Administrative acts and regulations, claims under 2.06[3]

Admiralty cases 2.06[2][a], [4]; 2.08[2]

Allegations of

Amendment of allegations 2.05[4]

Burden of proof 2.05[6]

CD Cal rules 2.05[2][a]; 6.07[1][b]

ED Cal rules 2.05[2][b]; 6.07[1][c]

Model jurisdictional allegations, use of 6.07[1][e]

ND Cal rules 2.05[2][c]; 6.07[1][d]

Pleading requirements 2.05[1]; 6.07[1][a]

Sample allegations 6.23

SD Cal rules 2.05[2][d]

Stipulation or waiver by parties to confer federal jurisdiction, effect of 2.05[3]

Time requirements 2.05[5]

"Arising under" test

Generally 2.07[1][a]

Failure to meet test, effect of 2.07[1][c]

Resolution of substantial issues of Federal law, need for 2.07[1][b]

Bankruptcy actions 2.06[2][a]; 2.08[2]

CERCLA-related actions 2.06[2][a]

Challenging of

CD Cal rules 2.09[3]

Dismissal based on lack of jurisdiction 8.17[7]

Methods for challenging 2.09[1]

Time requirements 2.09[2]

Checklist: determining basis for bringing action in Federal court 1.03

Civil rights actions 2.06[2][a]; 2.54[11]

Common law, claims under federal 2.06[4]

Concurrent jurisdiction (See CONCURRENT JURISDICTION)

Constitutional challenges, claims based on 2.06[1]

Convenience transfers based on 2.57[9][b]

Copyright actions 2.06[2][a]; 2.08[2]

Counterclaim, removal based on federal-question 11.14

Crossclaim, removal based on federal-question 11.35

Defined 2.04

Dismissal based on lack of jurisdiction 8.17[7]

Diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION)

Domestic relations exception 2.10[4]

Employment discrimination actions 2.06[2][a]

ERISA-related actions

Generally 2.06[2][a]

Removal to federal court of claims arising under 3.09[4][c]

Exclusive Federal jurisdiction, examples of 2.08[2]

Federal Arbitration Act-related actions 2.06[2][a]

Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, claims under 2.06[2][a]; 2.08[2]

Implied right of action, claims based on statutes creating 2.06[2][b]

Internal Revenue Service-related actions 2.06[2][a]

International commerce-based actions 2.06[4]

Interstate commerce-based actions 2.06[2][a], [4]

Native sovereign, claims against 2.07[3]

Patent actions 2.06[2][a]; 2.08[2]

Post office-related actions 2.06[2][a]

Preparation of complaint

Capacity, authority or legal status 6.08[2][b]

Constitutional reference underlying claim 6.07[2][b]

Sample allegations of jurisdiction 6.23

Statement of facts supporting jurisdiction 6.07[2][a]

Statutory reference underlying claim 6.07[2][c]

Pullman abstention: avoiding federal constitutional rulings 2.47[1]

Statutory causes of action 2.06[2][a], [b]

Supplemental jurisdiction cases (See SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION)

Third-party complaints 12.08[1][b]

Tort claims 2.06[2][a]

Trademark actions 2.06[2][a]

Well-pleaded complaint rule (See WELL-PLEADED COMPLAINT RULE)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-6

F-6 FEDERAL TORT CLAIMS ACT

Federal agencies and officers, action brought against 2.54[3][e]

Federal question jurisdiction and 2.06[2][a]

Joinder of parties, effect on 4.06[2][b]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-7

F-7 FICTITIOUS NAMES

Anonymous proceedings

Disclosure of real name, conditions for 6.06[3][g]

Factors to consider 6.06[3][c]

Insufficient privacy concerns, examples of 6.06[3][e]

Leave of court as requirement 6.06[3][f]

Privacy interests as basis for 6.06[3][b], [3][d]

Public policy toward 6.06[3][a]

Sufficient privacy concerns, examples of 6.06[3][d]

Defendant, use by (See subhead: "Doe" proceedings)

"Doe" proceedings

CD Cal requirements 6.06[4][e]

Diversity jurisdiction, effect on 6.06[4][b]

Purpose of 6.06[4][a]

Statute of limitations and

Federal claims 6.06[4][d]

State-law claims 6.06[4][c]

Plaintiff, use by (See subhead: Anonymous proceedings)

Subpoena procedures for seeking identity of anonymous nonparty internet users 23.263[9][b]

87 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-8

F-8 FIFTH AMENDMENT PRIVILEGE

Applicable evidence 24.62

California law 24.66

Checklist 24.60

Civil litigants, use by 24.64

"Person" defined for 24.61

Protection offered by 24.65

Question-by-question basis, assertion on 24.65

Reasonable belief of potential prosecution, sufficiency of 24.63

Testimony only, application to 24.62

Who has privilege 24.61

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-9

F-9 FILING OF PAPERS (GENERALLY)

Anonymous pleadings (See FICTITIOUS NAMES)

Checklist

Generally 5.24

Next steps upon filing lawsuit 1.04

Steps to take before filing lawsuit 1.02

Corporate disclosure statements (See CORPORATE DISCLOSURE STATEMENTS)

Discovery papers (See DISCOVERY PAPERS)

Electronic or facsimile filing (See ELECTRONIC OR FACSIMILE FILING)

Federal rules 5.25[1]

Fictitious names, use of (See FICTITIOUS NAMES)

Local practice

CD Cal requirements 5.25[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.25[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.25[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.25[2][d]

Motions, requirements for

CD Cal 5.26[1]

Completion of filing defined 26.31

Courtesy copies to assigned judge

Generally 26.33[1]

ED Cal requirements 26.33[2]

SD Cal requirements 26.33[3]

ED Cal 5.26[2]

Electronic or facsimile filing (See ELECTRONIC OR FACSIMILE FILING)

ND Cal 5.26[3]

SD Cal 5.26[4]

Personal information, privacy protection of

Exceptions to redaction requirements 5.12A[2]

General redaction requirements 5.12A[1]

Pre-filing checklist 1.02

Sample forms

Local district court forms 5.44

Motions to compel filing of papers 5.42

Order compelling filing of papers 5.43

89 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-10

F-10 FINAL PRETRIAL CONFERENCE

Agenda items for conference

Logistical matters 17.07[3]

Substantive issues 17.07[2]

Trial plan 17.07[1]

Attendance requirements 17.05

CD Cal requirements

Continuance of conference, availability of 17.09[5]

Determining if conference required 17.04[2][a]

Exhibit lists, service requirements for 17.09[3]

Memorandum of Contention of Fact and Law 17.09[2]

Motions and other proceedings pending 17.09[6][b]

Order resulting from conference 17.09[4]

Setting of trial 17.09[6][c]

Time requirements 17.09[1]

Trial brief, deadline and content requirements for 17.09[7]

Unserved parties 17.09[6][a]

Witness lists, service requirements for 17.09[3]

Checklists

Failure to comply with pretrial duties, conduct that qualifies as 17.16

Participation in final pretrial conference 17.03

Determining if conference required

Federal requirements 17.04[1]

Local practice

Generally 17.04[1]

CD Cal requirements 17.04[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 17.04[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 17.04[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 17.04[2][d]

ED Cal requirements

Agenda items for conference 17.10[2]

Order resulting from conference (See FINAL PRETRIAL ORDER, subhead: ED Cal requirements)

Pretrial statement, joint or separate

Contents of statement 17.10[1][d]

Joint statement, timing of 17.10[1][c]

Privilege claims in statement 17.10[1][e]

Separate statement, timing of 17.10[1][b]

Time requirements 17.10[1][b], [1][c]

Type of statement, determination of 17.10[1][a]

Trial brief, deadline and content requirements for 17.10[4]

Exhibit lists, CD Cal requirements for disclosure of 17.09[3]

Failure to comply with pretrial duties

Checklist 17.16

Sanctions for (See PRETRIAL CONFERENCES, subhead: Sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial duties)

Final pretrial order (See FINAL PRETRIAL ORDER)

ND Cal requirements

Joint pretrial conference statement 17.11[3]

Judge to judge variance in procedures 17.11[1], [4]

Time requirements 17.11[2]

Order entered outlining actions taken and ruling made (See FINAL PRETRIAL ORDER)

Procedures for conferences, local practice (See specific district subhead, e.g., CD Cal requirements)

Purpose of 17.02

Sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial duties (See PRETRIAL CONFERENCES, subhead: Sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial duties)

SD Cal requirements

Matters for consideration at hearing 17.12[4]

Memorandum of Contention of Fact and Law 17.12[1]

Order resulting from conference 17.12[3]

Time requirements 17.12[1], [2]

Timing of 17.06

Trial brief, deadline and content requirements for

CD Cal requirements 17.09[7]

ED Cal requirements 17.10[4]

Witness lists, CD Cal requirements for disclosure of 17.09[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-11

F-11 FINAL PRETRIAL ORDER

Appellate review criteria

Generally 17.15[1]

Abuse of discretion standard 17.15[2]

Binding nature of 17.13[2][a], [2][c]

CD Cal requirements

Modification of order 17.14[4]

Preparation of order 17.09[4]

Checklists

Failure to comply with pretrial duties, conduct that qualifies as 17.16

Participation in final pretrial conference 17.03

Construing of 17.13[5]

Content requirements 17.08[3]

Course of action, as guide to

Generally 17.13[2][a]

Prohibition against re-raising settled issues at trial 17.13[2][d]

Relief of need to prove certain matters at trial 17.13[2][b]

Stipulations in order, binding nature of 17.13[2][c]

ED Cal requirements

Contents of order 17.10[3][c]

Objections to order 17.10[3][b]

Preparation of order 17.10[3][a]

Who will prepare order 17.10[3][a]

Failure to comply with pretrial order

Checklist of conduct that qualifies as 17.16

Sanctions 17.17[1][c]

Forms required 17.08[2]

Modification of

Burden of proof 17.14[3]

CD Cal requirements 17.14[4]

Manifest injustice as basis

Generally 17.14[1]

Factors determining 17.14[2]

ND Cal requirements 17.11[3]

Pleadings, effect on 17.13[1]

Preclusive effect of 17.13[3], [5]

Procedures for orders, local practice (See specific district subhead, e.g., CD Cal requirements)

Sanctionable conduct, failure to obey order as 17.17[1][c]

Scope of order 17.13[4]

SD Cal requirements 17.12[3]

Superseding of pleadings 17.13[1], [2][a]

Topics required 17.08[3]

Who will prepare order, determination of 17.08[1]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-12

F-12 FIRST-TO-FILE RULE

Generally 2.47A

92 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-13

F-13 FLSA (

See FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT (FLSA))

93 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-14

F-14 FOREIGN DISCOVERY (

See INTERNATIONAL DISCOVERY)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-15

F-15 FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS AND OTHER PAPERS

Address and other contact information, requirements for listing 26.18[3]

Body of motion

Generally 5.09[1]

CD Cal requirements 5.09[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.09[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.09[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.09[2][d]

Body of pleading

Generally 5.08[1]

CD Cal requirements 5.08[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.08[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.08[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.08[2][d]

Caption content requirements

Designation (See subhead: Designation requirements)

Docket number (See subhead: Docket number)

File number (See subhead: Docket number)

Name of court (See subhead: Name of court, procedure for listing)

Sample form 5.32

Title of action (See subhead: Title of action, procedure for listing)

Case number (See subhead: Docket number)

Certification under Rule 11 (See SIGNATURE REQUIREMENTS, subhead: Certification under Rule 11)

Checklist 5.03

Citation to authorities

CD Cal 5.13[1]; 6.04[3][a]

ED Cal 5.13[2]; 6.04[3][b]

ND Cal 5.13[3]

SD Cal 5.13[4]; 6.04[3][d]

Civil cover sheet (See CIVIL COVER SHEET)

Contact information, requirements for listing 26.18[3]

Cover pages (See CIVIL COVER SHEET)

Designation requirements

Generally 5.07[7]; 6.06[6][a]; 26.18[1]

CD Cal requirements 5.07[8][a]; 6.06[6][b]

ED Cal requirements 5.07[8][b]; 6.06[6][c]

ND Cal requirements 5.07[8][c]; 6.06[6][d]

SD Cal requirements 5.07[8][d]; 6.06[6][e]

Docket number

Generally 5.07[5]; 6.06[5][a]; 26.18[1]

CD Cal requirements 5.07[6][a]

Court clerk assignment of 6.06[5][b]

ED Cal requirements 5.07[6][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.07[6][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.07[6][d]

Electronic or facsimile signatures (See SIGNATURE REQUIREMENTS, subhead: Electronic or facsimile signatures)

Exhibits, formatting of

Generally 5.12[1]; 26.22

CD Cal requirements 5.12[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.12[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.12[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.12[2][d]

Failure to comply with format requirements, effect of 5.14; 6.04[4][a]

File number (See subhead: Docket number)

General formatting requirements

CD Cal requirements 5.13[1]; 6.04[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.13[2]; 6.04[3][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.13[3]; 6.04[3][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.13[4]; 6.04[3][d]

Heading of first page

CD Cal requirements 5.06[1]; 6.05[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.06[2]; 6.05[2][b]

Identification of attorney and plaintiff 6.05[1]

ND Cal requirements 5.06[3]; 6.05[2][c]

Sample forms

CD Cal--Notice of Interested Parties 5.35

ND Cal--Certification of Interested Entities of Persons 5.36

SD Cal requirements 5.06[4]; 6.05[2][d]

Incorrectly formatted papers, rules on 5.14; 6.04[4][a]; 26.18[2]

Judge's rules, consulting specific 5.04[3]

Local rules, consulting 5.04[2]

Name of court, procedure for listing

Generally 5.07[1]; 6.06[1][a]; 26.18[1]

CD Cal requirements 5.07[2][a]; 6.06[1][b]

ED Cal requirements 5.07[2][b]; 6.06[1][c]

ND Cal requirements 5.07[2][c]; 6.06[1][d]

Sample form: CD Cal--Notice of Interested Parties 5.35

Sample form: ND Cal--Certification of Interested Entities of Persons 5.36

SD Cal requirements 5.07[2][d]; 6.06[1][e]

Page limitations

CD Cal requirements 5.11[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.11[2][b]

Federal rules 5.11[1]

ND Cal requirements 5.11[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.11[2][d]

Paper and printing requirements

CD Cal 5.13[1]; 6.04[3][a]

ED Cal 5.13[2]; 6.04[3][b]

ND Cal 5.13[3]; 6.04[3][c]

SD Cal 5.13[4]; 6.04[3][d]

Personal information, privacy protection of

Exceptions to redaction requirements 5.12A[2]

General redaction requirements 5.12A[1]

Quoted material (See subhead: Citation to authorities)

Sample forms

CD Cal, Notice of Interested Parties 5.35

Format of complaint 6.22

ND Cal, Certification of Interested Entities of Persons 5.36

Signature requirements (See SIGNATURE REQUIREMENTS)

Sources for relevant forms 5.04[1]

Subpoena procedures

Compel permission to inspect premises, subpoena to 23.264[2]

Compel production, subpoena to 23.263[2]

Compel testimony, subpoena to 23.262[2]

Telephone and other contact information, requirements for listing 26.18[3]

Title of action, procedure for listing

Generally 5.07[3]; 6.06[2][a]; 26.18[1]

CD Cal requirements 5.07[4][a]; 6.06[2][b]

ED Cal requirements 5.07[4][b]; 6.06[2][c]

ND Cal requirements 5.07[4][c]; 6.06[2][d]

SD Cal requirements 5.07[4][d]; 6.06[2][e]

Websites containing forms 5.04[1]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-16

F-16 FORUM SELECTION CLAUSES

Convenience transfers based on 2.57[9][c]

Dismissal based on 2.56[4][c]

Enforcement of

Generally 2.56[2]

Applicable law 2.56[1]

Limits on enforceability 2.56[3]

Forum non conveniens, effect on 2.60[7]

Mandatory clauses 2.56[4][a]

Permissive clauses 2.56[4][b]

Waiver of right of removal, use in

Burden of proof 3.06[2][c]

Clear and unequivocal language in waiver 3.06[2][b]

Enforceability of 3.06[2][a]

Other defendants, effect on 3.06[2][d]

Standard of review 3.06[2][e]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

F

F Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA F-17

F-17 FRAUD OR MISTAKE

Allegation requirements

Generally 6.11[2][a]

Failure to comply with particularity requirements 6.11[2][g]

Information and belief as basis 6.11[2][e]

Mixed claims 6.11[2][f]

Multiple defendants 6.11[2][c]

Particularity requirements (See subhead: Particularity requirements)

Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995, pleading under (See PRIVATE SECURITIES LITIGATION REFORM ACT OF 1995 (PSLRA), subhead: Pleading under)

Sample form 6.28

Substantive elements 6.11[2][d]

Default judgment, grounds for vacating 27.21[4]

Information and belief as basis for allegations 6.11[2][e]

Mixed claims, particularity in pleading 6.11[2][f]

Multiple defendants, allegation requirements for 6.11[2][c]

Particularity requirements

Generally 6.11[2][b]

Failure to comply with 6.11[2][g]

Mixed claims 6.11[2][b]

97 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-1

I-1 IMPLEADER

Admiralty and maritime suits (See ADMIRALTY AND MARITIME SUITS, subhead: Third-party complaints)

Alternatives to

Compulsory joinder under Rule 19 as alternative to 12.02[4]

Counterclaim as 12.02[5]

Crossclaim as 12.02[5]

Permissive joinder under Rule 20 12.02[3]

Separate lawsuit 12.02[2]

Applicable parties 12.04[2]

Appropriateness of impleader, factors used in determining

Complication of trial, claim resulting in undue 12.06[4][e]

Efficiency as factor 12.06[4][b]

Interrelated, claims sufficiently 12.06[4][d]

Lack of prejudice to plaintiff as factor 12.06[4][b]

Rule 14(a), effect of 12.06[4][a]

Same ability to defend as in separate action 12.06[4][c]

Unmeritous claims, impleader resulting in 12.06[4][e]

Automatic liability not present, effect if 12.05[4]

Bringing plaintiff's claims against third-party defendant

Checklist 12.16A

Counterclaims, assertion of 12.15[1]; 12.22

Crossclaims, assertion of 12.15[2]; 12.22

Failure to state claim, motion to dismiss based on; form 12.27

Independent venue statutes and 12.20

Permissive vs. required 12.18

Procedure for asserting claim 12.21

Same transaction as plaintiff's claim, requirement for 12.17

Subject matter jurisdiction requirement 12.19

Checklists

Defendant impleading third party 12.03

Plaintiff bringing claims against third-party defendant 12.16A

Responding to third-party claim 12.11

Claim-joinder rule 12.15[3]

Compulsory joinder under Rule 19 as alternative to 12.02[4]

Contribution as type of claim 12.05[2]

Counterclaims

Alternative to impleader 12.02[5]

Assertion of compulsory and permissive counterclaims against third-party plaintiff 12.15[1]; 12.16[4]

Claim-joinder rule 11.18[4]; 12.15[3]

Subject jurisdiction and 12.15[4]

Third-party defendant's claim against plaintiff and 11.18[3]; 12.16[4]; 12.22

Crossclaims

Alternative to impleader 12.02[5]

Assertion of crossclaims related to impleader claims against other parties 12.15[2]; 12.22

Claim-joinder rule 12.15[3]

Subject jurisdiction and 12.15[4]

Derivative nature of third-party claims

Automatic liability not present, effect if 12.05[4]

Contribution as type of claim 12.05[2]

Indemnity as type of claim 12.05[2]

Liability depends on outcome of main case 12.05[1]

Liability to original plaintiff 12.05[3], [4]

Other claims against impleaded third party, allowability of 12.05[5]

Discretionary nature of

Generally 12.06[1]

Appropriateness of impleader, factors used in determining (See subhead: Appropriateness of impleader, factors used in determining)

Leave of court requirements 12.06[2], [3]

More than 10 days of answer to original claim 12.06[3]

Within 10 days of answer to original claim 12.06[2]

Independent venue requirements 12.08[3]

Limitations period 12.08[4]

Motion papers to file third-party complaint

CD Cal rules 12.07[2]

ED Cal rules 12.07[3]

ND Cal rules 12.07[4]

SD Cal rules 12.07[5]

Service requirements (generally) 12.07[1]

Non-compulsory nature of 12.02[1]

Objective of 12.02[1]

Opposition to propriety of impleader itself

Separation of trial, motion for 12.13[2]

Severance of claim, motion for 12.13[2]

Strike third-party claim, motion to 12.13[1]

Other claims against impleaded third party, allowability of 12.05[5]

Permissive joinder under Rule 20 as alternative to 12.02[3]

Personal jurisdiction (See PERSONAL JURISDICTION, subhead: Third-party complaints)

Responding to

Generally 12.12

Assertion of defenses third-party plaintiff against plaintiff 12.14[3]

Checklist 12.11

Counterclaims (See subhead: Counterclaims)

Crossclaims (See subhead: Crossclaims)

Failure to respond, effect of 12.14[4]

Opposition to propriety of impleader itself (See subhead: Opposition to propriety of impleader itself)

Particulars of third-party claim as basis for

Assertion of defenses third-party plaintiff against plaintiff 12.14[3]

Failure to respond, effect of 12.14[4]

Rule 12 defenses 12.14[1]

Timely answer or motion requirements 12.14[2], [4]

Rule 12 defenses 12.14[1]

Sample form: Answer to third-party complaint 12.28

Separation of trial, motion for 12.13[2]

Severance of claim, motion for 12.13[2]

Strike third-party claim, motion to 12.13[1]

Third-party defendant's claim against plaintiff (See subhead: Third-party defendant's claim against plaintiff)

Timely answer or motion requirements 12.14[2], [4]

Sample forms

Answer to third-party complaint 12.28

Failure to state claim, motion to dismiss third-party complaint for 12.27

Local district court forms 12.29

Motion for leave to file third-party complaint

Generally 12.23

Proposed order granting motion 12.26

Third-party complaint 12.25

Third-party summons 12.24

Separate lawsuit as more economical alternative to 12.02[2]

Separate venue requirements 12.08[3]

Settling defendant, third-party claim by non-settling defendant against 12.04[3]

Subject matter jurisdiction (See SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION, subhead: Third-party complaints)

Supplemental jurisdiction

Defendant's impleader claims 2.30[3][a]

Plaintiff's claims rising out of defendant's impleader or counterclaim in diversity action 2.30[3][b]

Third-party defendant's claim against plaintiff

Generally 12.16[1]

Counterclaim rule and 12.16[4]

Joinder of additional claims 12.16[3]

Procedure for bringing claim 12.16[2]

Subject matter jurisdiction requirement 12.16[5]

United States, claims by or against

Generally 12.09[1]

"Other substantive law" requirement 12.09[3]

Sovereign immunity procedures, applicability of 12.09[2]

Special administrative procedures, applicability of 12.09[2]

Voluntary dismissal by claimant

With court order 30.21

Without court order 30.09

Who may bring claim 12.04[1], [2]

98 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-2

I-2 INCOMPETENTS (

See MINORS OR INCOMPETENTS)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-3

I-3 INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1)

Generally 21.06[1][a]

Avoiding or delaying initial disclosures

In adequate disclosure, effect of 15.11[3][c]

Incomplete investigation, effect of 15.11[3][d]

Objection as basis 15.11[3][a]

Stipulation to modify, eliminate or delay 15.11[3][b]

Checklists

Making initial disclosures pursuant to Rule 26(a)(1) 15.15

Motions to compel and for sanctions for when required disclosures not made 15.34A

Confidential information, protective order governing 15.16[5]

Damages, detailed computation of 15.20

Document disclosure requirements

Generally 15.19[1]

Declaration signed by disclosed potential witness 15.19[4]

Impeachment-related information 15.19[3]

Itemized listing, necessity of 15.19[2]

Supplemental disclosures 15.26

Document management for 21.11[1]

Electronically stored information (See ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION, subhead: Initial disclosures under Rule 26(a)(1))

Exemptions from

Generally 15.05; 15.11[2]

"Actions" and "proceedings" distinguished 15.23[2]

ND Cal requirements 15.23[3]

"Proceedings" and "actions" distinguished 15.23[2]

Rule 26(a)(1)(E) proceedings defined 15.23[1]

Expert testimony 21.06[1][b]

Expert witness disclosures under Rule 26(a)(2) (See EXPERT WITNESS DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(2))

Extension of time, requests for 15.16[4]

Failure to comply with requirements

Exclusion of evidence as penalty 15.36[1]

"Harmless" failure as defense 15.36[2]

Motion to compel as remedy 15.35

Notice requirements 15.36[3]

"Substantially justified" as defense 15.36[2]

Filing requirements 15.25

Insurance agreements, disclosure of 15.21

Joinder of parties after Rule 26(f) conference 15.17[3]

Matters subject to 15.11[4]

Motion to compel as remedy for failure to comply

Generally 15.35

Checklist for 15.34A

Noncompliance, sanctions for 15.11[5]

Objections to

Generally 15.16[7]

Time requirements, effect on 15.17[2]

Privileged materials, procedure for 15.16[1], [2]

Proprietary or trade secret information, protective order governing 15.16[5]

Protective order governing confidential, proprietary or trade secret information 15.16[5]

Reasonable inquiry into facts 15.22

Review of client's documents and electronically stored information in preparation for 21.04[5][a]

Sample statement under Rule 26(a)(1) 15.38

Sanctions for noncompliance

Generally 15.11[5]

Checklist for 15.34A

Service requirements 15.24

Signature requirements

Generally 15.24

Certification, signature as constituting 25.108[2]

Who must sign disclosures 25.108[1]

Stipulations covering

Avoiding or delaying initial disclosures 15.11[3][b]

Contents and schedule for disclosure 15.16[3]

Format and contents of privilege log 15.16[6]

Supplemental disclosures 15.26

Time requirements

Generally 15.11[1]; 15.17[1]

Extension of time, requests for 15.16[4]

Objection made during Rule 26(f) conference, effect of 15.17[2]

Trial evidence, pretrial disclosures of 21.06[1][c]

Witness information (See DISCOVERY PLANNING, subhead: Witness information, disclosure requirements for)

Work product protection applies, determining if 15.16[2]

Written document requirement 15.24

100 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-4

I-4 INJUNCTIVE RELIEF

Generally 19.02[1]

Actual success on the merits, likelihood of 19.07[7]

Advantages of 19.04[1]

Anti-injunction Act, effect of 19.16

Anti-suit injunctions, modified analysis applicable to 19.08[3][i]

Appellate review criteria

Generally 19.30

Post-preliminary-to-permanent injunction conversion 19.33[5][a], [5][b]

Preliminary injunctions (See subhead: Preliminary injunctions)

Rule 62 (See subhead: Rule 62, appellate review under)

Substance of motion controls review 19.32

Types of orders that are appealable 19.31

Binding, parties affected by 19.12[3]

Cessation of conduct, effect of 19.23

Checklists

Determining whether to seek provisional relief 19.03[1]

Opposition to injunctive relief 19.14

Preliminary injunction, seeking 19.03[2]

Temporary restraining order, seeking 19.03[3]

Contempt as enforcement tool

Generally 19.28

Reversal of injunction, effect of 19.29

Counterclaims as means of 11.17[3]

Damages claims, combination with 19.04[2][c]

Defense of laches doctrine

ED Cal requirements 19.19[4]

Proof requirements 19.19[1]

Trademark infringement cases 19.19[3]

Who may use

Generally 19.19[2]

Trademark infringement cases 19.19[3]

Enforcement of 19.28

Equitable remedy, status as

Generally 19.05[1]

Degree of permanence, differentiation by 19.05[3]

Possible future conduct, focus on 19.05[2]

Hardships, balancing of 19.07[6]

Judges' individual rules, compliance with 19.12[1]

Jurisdictional requisites 19.04[2][b]

Local rules, compliance with 19.12[1]

Mandatory vs. prohibitory relief 19.04[2][a]

Ninth Circuit tests to determine propriety of (See subhead: Tests to determine propriety of preliminary injunction)

Notice requirements

Generally 19.08[4][a]

Methods of giving notice 19.08[4][b]

Opposition to relief

Adequate remedy at law as defense 19.17

Anti-injunction Act, effect of 19.16

Cessation of conduct, effect of 19.23

Checklist 19.14

Defense of laches doctrine (See subhead: Defense of laches doctrine)

No lien or equitable interest by plaintiff in property or assets, lack of jurisdiction to enjoin where 19.18

Overbreadth, challenging on grounds of 19.22

Preliminary injunction, raising objections to motion for 19.21

Recovery on bond for wrongful restraint or enjoinment 19.24

TRO granted 19.15

Unclean hands defense 19.20

Vagueness, challenging on grounds of 19.22

Orders for injunction (generally)

Appellate review of (See subhead: Appellate review criteria)

Binding, parties affected by 19.12[3]

Extrinsic documents 19.12[2][c]

Incorporation-by-reference documents 19.12[2][c]

Judges' individual rules, compliance with 19.12[1]

Local rules, compliance with 19.12[1]

Preliminary injunctions (See subhead: Preliminary injunctions)

Specificity requirements 19.12[2][a]

Vagueness, prohibitions against 19.12[2][b]

Permanent injunctions

Actual success on the merits, likelihood of 19.07[7]

Hardships, balancing of 19.07[6]

Personal jurisdiction requirement 19.07[3]

Pleading requirements 19.07[4]

Purpose of 19.07[1][a]

Standing requirements 19.07[5]

Subject matter jurisdiction requirement 19.07[2]

Timing of 19.07[1][b]

Personal jurisdiction requirement 19.07[3]

Pleading requirements 19.07[4]

Preliminary injunctions

Actual success on the merits, likelihood of 19.07[7]

Appellate review

Generally 19.33[1]

Abuses of discretion, grounds for 19.33[3]

De novo review 19.33[4]

Mootness upon court entering permanent injunction 19.33[5][a]

Post-permanent injunction conversion 19.33[5][a], [5][b]

Rule 62 (See subhead: Rule 62, appellate review under)

Topics of appeals allowed 19.33[2]

CD Cal requirements 19.08[6]

Consolidation of hearing with trial 19.08[10]

Defined 19.08[1]

ED Cal requirements

Accompanying documents 19.08[7][b]

Modification or dissolution of injunction 19.26

Notice requirements 19.08[7][a]

Real property cases 19.08[7][d]

Specified information requirements 19.08[7][c]

Federal statutes, effect on 19.10

Hearing requirements 19.08[9]

Modification or dissolution of injunction

ED Cal requirements for 19.26

Inherent authority of district court 19.27

ND Cal requirements 19.08[8]

Notice requirements

Generally 19.08[4][a]

Methods of giving notice 19.08[4][b]

Objections to motion for preliminary injunction 19.21

Purpose of 19.08[2]

Sample forms (See subhead: Sample forms)

Security requirements

Generally 19.11[1]

Amount of security, court's discretion in 19.11[2]

Enforcement of 19.11[4]

Local rules, consultation of 19.11[3]

Supporting papers, submission of 19.08[5]

Temporary restraining order distinguished 19.09[1]

Tests to determine propriety of (See subhead: Tests to determine propriety of preliminary injunction)

Writ of attachment, as alternative to 19.46

Recovery on bond for wrongful restraint or enjoinment 19.24

Removed actions

Continued validity of injunction upon removal 19.06[1]

Ex parte temporary restraining orders 19.06[2]

Rule 65(b), coverage of 19.06[2]

Temporary restraining orders 19.06[2], [3]

Rule 62, appellate review under

Court of appeal's powers 19.35[3]

District court powers 19.35[2]

Interlocutory or final judgments, effect on 19.35[1]

Rule 65(b), coverage of 19.06[2], [3]; 19.13

Sample forms

Motion for TRO and preliminary injunction 19.158

Order to show cause for preliminary injunction with TRO 19.157

Preliminary injunction (only) 19.159

Security bond

Recovery on bond for wrongful restraint or enjoinment 19.24

Review for abuse of discretion 19.36

Settlement agreements, enforcement of 31.45[3]

Specificity requirements 19.12[2][a]

Standing requirements 19.07[5]

Subject matter jurisdiction requirement 19.07[2]

Supporting papers, submission of 19.08[5]

Temporary restraining orders (TRO) (See TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDERS (TRO))

Tests to determine propriety of preliminary injunction

Generally 19.08[3][a]

Alternative test 19.08[3][c]

Anti-suit injunctions 19.08[3][i]

Burden of proof 19.08[3][f]

Continuum nature of 19.08[3][d]

Copyright cases 19.08[3][h]

First Amendment freedoms, effect of 19.08[3][g]

Irreparable harm, presumption of 19.08[3][g], [3][h]

Public interest, deference given to 19.08[3][e]

Trademark cases 19.08[3][h]

Traditional test 19.08[3][b]

Unfair competition cases 19.08[3][h]

Unclean hands defense to 19.20

Vagueness, prohibitions against

Generally 19.12[2][b]

Opposition to relief based on 19.22

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-5

I-5 IN REM JURISDICTION

Generally 7.50[1]

Checklist for seizure of property 7.49A

Defined 2.39[2][a]

Discretionary nature of 7.51[4]

Due process standards 2.39[1]

Establishment of 2.39[1]

In personam judgments and 7.51[1]

Nonserviceable defendants, judgment options for 7.51[1]

Quasi-in rem jurisdiction 2.39[2][b]

Real property judgments, enforcement of 2.39[4]

Seizure of defendant's property

Generally 7.51[1]

Checklist for serving notice on defendant 7.49A

State law provisions governing 7.51[2]

Service requirements

Generally 7.50[1]

Checklist for seizure of property 7.49A

Nonserviceable defendants, judgment options for 7.51[1]

Sister-state judgments, enforcement of 2.39[3]

Types of 2.39[2][a], [2][b]

102 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-6

I-6 INTERIM PRETRIAL CONFERENCE ORDERS

Generally 16.20[1]

Appellate review criteria

Generally 16.22[1]

Abuse of discretion as basis 16.22[2]

Drafting of order 16.20[2]

Effect on litigation 16.20[3]

Modification of order 16.21

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-7

I-7 INTERIM PRETRIAL CONFERENCES

Attendance at conference

CD Cal requirements 16.18[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 16.18[3][b]

Judicial authority to compel attendance 16.18[2]

Mandatory participants 16.18[1]

ND Cal requirements 16.18[3][c]

Checklist 16.14[1]

Discretionary nature of 16.16[1]

Local practice

CD Cal requirements 16.16[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 16.16[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 16.16[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 16.16[2][d]

Orders resulting from (See INTERIM PRETRIAL CONFERENCE ORDERS)

Purpose of 16.15

Requests for 16.17

Topics for consideration at

Case-specific developments 16.19[2]

Court-appointed experts 16.19[3]

Rule 16(c) list of 16.19[1]

104 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-8

I-8 INTERLOCUTORY REVIEW

Class action

Certification as 20.23

Notice of action, order relating to 20.29

Jury trial, denial of right to

Certification by trial court, request for 13.13[2][b]

Discretionary powers of appellate court 13.13[2][a]

Filing requirements 13.13[2][c]

105 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-9

I-9 INTERNATIONAL DISCOVERY

Default actions

Opposition to application based on contested liability of foreign state 27.20[3][b]

Special requirements for foreign states 27.07[4]; 27.16[4]

Discovery stipulations

Foreign courts, discovery for use in 22.11[11]

Obtaining discovery based in foreign countries 22.11[10]

Taking depositions in foreign countries 22.12[16]

Diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION)

Jurisdiction

Generally (See JURISDICTION)

Diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION)

Letters of request (See LETTERS OF REQUEST)

Letters rogatory (See LETTERS ROGATORY)

Oral depositions taken in foreign countries

Caption requirements 23.45[5]

Foreign request, deposition taken in U.S. pursuant to 23.45[8]

Letter of request for deposition 23.45[3]

Letters rogatory, deposition taken in U.S. pursuant to 23.45[8]

Methods for appointment of officer ad taking depositions 23.45[1]

Officer taking deposition

Appointment of 23.45[1]

Law of nation, determination by 23.45[2]

Presiding officer 23.45[4]

Procedures

Admissibility of evidence, effect on 23.45[7]

Permissible procedures, foreign law as basis for 23.45[6]

Service of process (See INTERNATIONAL SERVICE OF PROCESS)

Venue: actions by or against foreign states 2.54[4]

Written depositions in foreign countries, use of 23.79

106 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-10

I-10 INTERNATIONAL SERVICE OF PROCESS

Checklists

Corporation, choosing method for service of 7.34

Governmental agency or instrumentality of foreign country, choosing method for service of 7.36

Government of foreign country, choosing method for service of 7.35

Individual, choosing method for service of 7.32

Minor or incompetent, choosing method for service of 7.33

Partnership, choosing method for service of 7.34

Unincorporated association, choosing method for service of 7.34

Foreign corporations, service on

Generally 7.29[3][f], [5]; 7.39

Checklist for choosing method of service 7.34

Foreign partnerships

Generally 7.29[7][c]

Limited liability partnerships 7.29[8]

Foreign states agency or instrumentality

"Completion of service" defined 7.40[3][c]

First attempt, methods for 7.40[3][a]

Second attempt, methods for 7.40[3][b]

Foreign states or their political subdivision

"Completion of service" defined 7.40[2][d]

First attempt, methods for 7.40[2][a]

Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, compliance with 7.40[1]

Second attempt, methods for 7.40[2][b]

Third attempt, methods for 7.40[2][c]

Individual, service on

Authority in foreign country, pursuant to 7.37[3]

Checklist for choosing method of service 7.32

Court order authorizing

Generally 7.37[5][a]

Prerequisites to 7.37[5][b]

Hague Convention, pursuant to 7.37[1]

Law of foreign country, pursuant to 7.37[2]

Mail as delivery method 7.37[4]

Personal delivery as method 7.37[4]

Limits on service of process 7.48

Minor or incompetent, service on

Generally 7.38

Checklist for choosing method of service 7.33

120-day deadline, applicability of 7.41

Partnership, service on

Generally 7.39

Checklist for choosing method of service 7.34

Personal jurisdiction, cases involving 2.40[2][c]

Unincorporated association, service on

Generally 7.39

Checklist for choosing method of service 7.34

Unincorporated foreign associations 7.29[7][c]

Waiver of service rules, applicability of 6.19[2][b]; 7.42

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-11

I-11 INTERPLEADER ACTIONS

Adjudication of claim 4.60

Attorney's fees and other costs, award of

Amount of fee 4.59[4][c]

Appropriateness, determination of 4.59[4][b]

Court's discretion 4.59[4][a]

Checklist: interpleading conflicting claims 4.52

Compulsory joinder, as alternative to 4.50[2][c]

Deposit of disputed property with court

Rule interpleader actions 4.59[1][b]

Statutory actions, requirement in 4.59[1][a]

Deposit of money or property into court under Rule 67 (See RULE 67 MOTIONS)

Discharge for stakeholder

Claim of interest by stakeholder, effect of 4.59[3][b]

Denial of liability by stakeholder, effect of 4.59[3][b]

Disinterested stakeholders 4.59[3][a]

Drafting of complaint: sample form 4.61

Enjoining independent actions seeking share of stake

Discretionary nature of injunction 4.59[2][d]

Limits on power to enjoin 4.59[2][c]

Rule interpleader actions 4.59[2][b]

Statutory actions 4.59[2][a]

First stage of proceedings (See subhead: Obtaining ruling on propriety of interpleader)

Jurisdiction

Generally 2.54[6]

Diversity jurisdiction 6.07[3][d]

Multiple liabilities, use by defendant with 4.53[3]

Obtaining ruling on propriety of interpleader

Attorney's fees and other costs, award of (See subhead: Attorney's fees and other costs, award of)

Deposit of disputed property with court

Rule interpleader actions 4.59[1][b]

Statutory actions, requirement in 4.59[1][a]

Discharge for stakeholder (See subhead: Discharge for stakeholder)

Enjoining independent actions seeking share of stake (See subhead: Enjoining independent actions seeking share of stake)

Purpose of interpleader 4.53[1]

Requirements for (generally)

Adverse to each other, claims must be 4.54[2]

Common origin, role of 4.54[3]

Specific fund or property as defendant 4.54[1]

Rule interpleader actions

Deposit of disputed property with court 4.59[1][b]

Enjoining independent actions seeking share of stake 4.59[2][b]

Service of process in 4.57[2]

"Statutory" vs. "rule" interpleader (See subhead: "Statutory" vs. "rule" interpleader)

Subject matter jurisdiction requirements (See subhead: Subject matter jurisdiction requirements)

Venue provisions 4.58[2]

Sample complaint for interpleader 4.61

Second stage of proceedings 4.60

Service of process in

Rule interpleader actions 4.57[2]

Statutory actions 4.57[1]

Stakeholder plaintiff's rights

Generally 4.53[2]

"Statutory" vs. "rule" interpleader (See subhead: "Statutory" vs. "rule" interpleader)

Statutory actions

Deposit of disputed property with court, requirements for 4.59[1][a]

Enjoining independent actions seeking share of stake 4.59[2][a]

Rule interpleader compared (See subhead: "Statutory" vs. "rule" interpleader)

Service of process in 4.57[1]

Subject matter jurisdiction requirements (See subhead: Subject matter jurisdiction requirements)

Venue provisions 4.58[1]

"Statutory" vs. "rule" interpleader

Choosing to establish under one or the other 4.55[3]

Distinction between 4.55[1]

Relationship between 4.55[2]

Subject matter jurisdiction requirements

Rule interpleader actions

Generally 4.56[2][a]

Diversity of citizenship 4.56[2][c]

Federal question jurisdiction 4.56[2][b]

Special statutory grant of jurisdiction 4.56[2][d]

Statutory actions

Generally 4.56[1][a]

Amount in controversy 4.56[1][b]

Diversity among claimants 4.56[1][c]

Venue provisions

Generally 2.54[6]

Rule interpleader actions 4.58[2]

Statutory actions 4.58[1]

Who can use

Generally 4.53[1]

Multiple liabilities, defendant with 4.53[3]

Stakeholder plaintiff's rights 4.53[2]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-12

I-12 INTERROGATORIES

Generally 23.02[4]

Advantages of using 23.112[3]

Amendment requirements for answers 23.134

Answers to interrogatories, effect of Objections to introduction of answers 23.133[2]

Use at trial 23.133[1]

Business records in lieu of answer

Burden of deriving answer 23.126[3]

Detail requirements for specification 23.126[2]

Index requirements for voluminous documents 23.126[4]

Inspection, provide opportunity for 23.126[1]

Privilege claims, limits on 23.126[6]

Reimbursement of respondent's expenses 23.126[5]

Specify records and provide opportunity for inspection 23.126[1]

Voluminous documents, index requirements for 23.126[4]

Certification of responses 23.123[5]

Checklists

Drafting and serving interrogatories 23.111[2]

Making preliminary determinations regarding interrogatories 23.111[1]

Responding to interrogatories

Drafting and serving responses 23.121[2]

Making preliminary determinations concerning answers 23.121[1]

Contention interrogatories

Generally 23.112[2]

Objectionable status of 23.114[3][a]

Postponement of response, court-ordered 23.114[3][b]; 23.117[2]

Disadvantages of using 23.112[4]

Drafting requirements

CD Cal requirements 23.116[3]

Checklist 23.111[2]

"Clear and definite" requirement 23.116[1]

ED Cal requirements 23.116[4]

Large amounts of information as single interrogatory, treatment of 23.116[2]

Signature requirements 23.116[5]

Electronically stored information, use in discovery of 23.162[1]

Failure to appear at deposition or to respond to interrogatories

Generally 25.09[4]

Rule 37(d) sanctions for (See RULE 37(d) SANCTIONS)

Filing requirements

Generally 23.119[1]

CD Cal requirements 23.119[2]

ED Cal requirements 23.119[3]

ND Cal requirements 23.119[4]

Responses, restrictions on filing of 23.128

Identification interrogatories 23.112[1]

Limits on number and object of

Generally 21.07[2][a]

Exceed permitted number, motion or stipulation to 22.11[3]; 22.21[2]

Mandatory disclosure requirements, use in supplementing materials gained through 23.113

"Meet and confer" requirement 23.117[1]

Numeric restrictions on

Generally 21.07[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 23.115[5]

Exceeding limit, permission or stipulation for 23.115[3]

Exceed permitted number, motion or stipulation to 22.11[3]; 22.21[2]

ND Cal requirements 23.115[4]

Rule 33 limits on 23.115[1]

Sample forms

Notice of motion and motion for leave to propound interrogatories in excess of number permitted by rule 23.299

Order granting motion for leave to propound interrogatories in excess of number permitted by rule 23.300

SD Cal requirements 23.115[6]

Subparts, avoidance of 23.115[2]

Objecting to interrogatories

Burden of proof 23.130[4]

Formatting requirements

CD Cal requirements 23.130[5][a]

ED Cal requirements 23.130[5][b]

ND Cal requirements 23.130[5][a]

SD Cal requirements 23.130[5][a]

Partial objections 23.130[3]

Protective order as relief 23.132

Rule 26 as grounds 23.130[1]

Signature requirements 23.131

Statement of precise grounds

ED Cal requirements 23.130[2][b]

Insufficiency of general grounds 23.130[2][a]

Time requirements 23.130[6]

Waiver of objection, methods of avoiding

Generally 23.130[7][a]

Excuse for "good cause" shown 23.130[7][b]

Protective order as relief from 23.132

Purposes of 21.07[2][b]

Responding to interrogatories

Generally 23.122

Answer or objection as response 23.124

Business records in lieu of answer (See subhead: Business records in lieu of answer)

Certification of responses 23.123[5]

Checklists

Drafting and serving responses 23.121[2]

Making preliminary determinations concerning answers 23.121[1]

Duty to furnish all information

Answer to extent possible 23.125[1]

Business entity's responsibilities 23.125[3]

"Under control by party" 23.125[2]

Filing requirements 23.128

Formatting requirements

CD Cal requirements 23.129[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 23.129[2][b]

Full and separate responses 23.129[1]

ND Cal requirements 23.129[2][a]

SD Cal requirements 23.129[2][a]

Signature requirements 23.129[3]

Government agency as recipient 23.123[4]

Individual party as recipient 23.123[1]

Objecting to interrogatories (See subhead: Objecting to interrogatories)

Organization as recipient

Generally 23.123[2][a]

Agent, designation of 23.123[2][b]

Sample form 23.301

30-day period for response (See subhead: 30-day period for response)

Sample forms

Propounding interrogatories

Notice of motion and motion for leave to propound interrogatories in excess of number permitted by rule and declaration in support of motion 23.299

Order granting motion for leave to propound interrogatories in excess of number permitted by rule 23.300

Sample interrogatories 23.298

Responding to interrogatories 23.301

Sequencing with other forms of discovery 23.117[3]

Service requirements

All parties to action 23.118

Mandatory disclosure deadlines, effect of 23.117[5]

"Meet and confer" requirement 23.117[1]

ND Cal requirements 23.117[6]

Postponement of answers to contention interrogatories 23.117[2]

Sequencing with other forms of discovery 23.117[3]

Time requirements 23.117[4], [5]

Signature requirements

Objecting to interrogatories 23.131

Original requests 23.116[5]

Responses to interrogatories 23.129[3]

Subject matter of Contention interrogatories (See subhead: Contention interrogatories)

Legal conclusions as impermissible, interrogatories leading to 23.114[4]

Nonprivileged information 23.114[1]

"Reasonably calculated to lead to" discovery of admissible evidence 23.114[2]

"Relevant" matters 23.114[1]

Summary judgment, answers to interrogatories as evidence considered in 29.12[4][c]

Supplementation requirements for answers 23.134

30-day period for response

Agreement or court order to alter time 23.127[2]

Alternative methods of service 23.127[3]

Available methods of service 23.127[3]

Court order to alter time 23.127[2]

Failure to make timely response, sanctions for 23.127[5]

Mail or alternate delivery, extra time for 23.127[1]

Removed actions 23.127[4]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-13

I-13 INTERVENTION

Alternatives to intervention

Amicus curiae status 14.02[4][c]

Informal assistance of existing parties 14.02[4][a]

Informal negotiations with existing parties to amend pleading 14.02[4][b]

Separate actions, filing of 14.02[4][c]

Amicus curiae status in lieu of 14.02[2][c], [4][c]

Appellate review of orders denying intervention

Generally 14.20

Checklist for 14.19A

Independent jurisdiction grounds requirement for permissive intervenor 14.23

Intervention as of right 14.21

No review of order permitting intervention 14.20

Partial denials 14.20

Permissive intervention 14.22; 14.23

Checklists

Appealing denial of motion to intervene 14.19A

Making motion to intervene

Intervention as of right 14.03[1]

Permissive intervention 14.03[2]

Opposing motion to intervene

Intervention as of right 14.12[1]

Permissive intervention 14.12[2]

Complete diversity jurisdiction requirement, effect on 3.10[2][a]

Compulsory joinder, as alternative to 4.50[2][a]

Constitutional challenges, notification requirements for

Certification that constitutional challenge exists 14.11[3]

ED Cal requirement 14.11[4]

Federal statutes challenged 14.11[1]

State statutes challenged 14.11[2]

Denial of intervention (See subhead: Appellate review of orders denying intervention)

Factors leading nonparty to intervene

Amicus curiae status, quality of representation under 14.02[2][c]

Foreclosure of nonparty's interest by judgment in existing suit 14.02[2][b]

Obligation of nonparty to intervene 14.02[2][a]

Stare decisis doctrine, application of 14.02[2][b]

Foreclosure of nonparty's interest by judgment in existing suit, potential for 14.02[2][b]

Intervention as of right

Drafting motion to intervene, checklist for 14.03[1]

Federal statute, based on

Bankruptcy trustees 14.06[2]

Civil rights actions 14.06[2], [3]

Deep water ports regulation, private actions to enforce 14.06[3]

Environmental statute, enforcement of 14.06[2]

ERISA actions, private 14.06[3]

False Claims Act, private actions under 14.06[3]

FCC hearings 14.06[2]

FHA actions 14.06[2]

Governmental right to intervene, statutes providing for 14.06[3]

Judicial review of agency order 14.06[2]

Patent and trademark cases 14.06[3]

Private persons with right to intervene, statutes providing 14.06[2]

Public interest, challenges to constitutionality of statutes affecting 14.06[3]

Senate resolution, when directed by 14.06[3]

State statutes at issue, constitutionality of 14.06[3]

Surface transportation board actions 14.06[2]

Trademark cases 14.06[3]

Unconditional right 14.06[1]

Opposing basis for motion for (See subhead: Opposing motion to intervene)

Refuting basis for motion for 14.12[1]; 14.14

Subject-matter of case, based on (See subhead: Subject-matter intervention as of right)

Limited purpose intervention

Generally 14.04[2]

Intervention to appeal 14.04[3]

Making motion to intervene, checklists for

Intervention as of right 14.03[1]

Permissive intervention 14.03[2]

Motion for intervention

Requirements for (See subhead: Rule 24(c) requirements)

Sample form 14.24

Obligation of nonparty to intervene 14.02[2][a]

Opposing motion to intervene

CD Cal: opposition papers and service 14.16

Checklists for

Intervention as of right 14.12[1]

Permissive intervention 14.12[2]

ED Cal: opposition papers and service 14.17

Intervention as of right

Generally 14.14

Checklist for drafting memorandum 14.12[1]

Sample form 14.25

ND Cal: opposition papers and service 14.18

Permissive intervention

Generally 14.15

Checklist for drafting memorandum 14.12[2]

Sample form 14.26

SD Cal: opposition papers and service 14.19

Timeliness of motion, refuting 14.13

Permissive intervention

Checklist for drafting motion for 14.03[2]

Confidentiality or protective orders, limited intervention to attack 14.09[6]

Contributions of intervenor can assist case 14.09[5]

Discretionary nature of 14.09[2], [4]

Federal statute, conditional rights based on

Generally 14.08[1]

Bankruptcy Code, under 14.08[2]

Civil rights of institutionalized persons, cases involving 14.08[3]

EEOC actions 14.08[3]

Governmental right to intervene, statutes providing 14.08[3]

Private persons, statutes that apply to 14.08[2]

School desegregation actions 14.08[2]

Tax lien statutes 14.08[3]

Opposing basis for motion for (See subhead: Opposing motion to intervene)

Question of law or fact, motion based on

Confidentiality or protective orders, limited intervention to attack 14.09[6]

Contributions of intervenor can assist case 14.09[5]

Discretionary nature of 14.09[2], [4]

Federal officer or agency, intervention by 14.09[3]

Prejudice to existing parties and delay, ruling on 14.09[4]

State officer or agency, intervention by 14.09[3]

Statute, regulation or executive order as basis 14.09[3]

Three-part threshold test 14.09[1]

Unique qualifications of intervenor can assist case 14.09[5]

Refuting basis for motion for 14.12[2]; 14.15

"Timely application" requirement 14.05[3]

Purpose of 14.02[1]; 14.04[1]

Refuting basis for motion to intervene (See subhead: Opposing motion to intervene)

Rule 24(c) requirements

Generally 14.10[1]

"As of right" vs. permissive interventions 14.10[2]

CD Cal rules: motion papers 14.10[3]

ED Cal rules: motion papers 14.10[4]

"Factual support" requirement 14.10[7]

ND Cal rules: motion papers 14.10[5]

Permissive vs. "as of right" interventions 14.10[2]

SD Cal rules: motion papers 14.10[6]

Sample forms

Denial of intervention, proposed order for 14.29

Motion for intervention 14.24

Opposition to motion to intervene

Intervention as of right 14.25

Permissive intervention 14.26

Proposed order permitting intervention

Defendant, intervention as 14.28

Plaintiff, intervention as 14.27

Scope of

Generally 14.04[1]

Limited purpose intervention

Generally 14.04[2]

Intervention to appeal 14.04[3]

Stare decisis doctrine, application of 14.02[2][b]

Subject-matter intervention as of right

Four-part test for 14.07[1]-[5]

Inadequate representation by existing parties

Article III standing requirements 14.07[5]

Burden of proof 14.07[4][a]

Closeness of interests as factor 14.07[4][c]

Court considerations 14.07[4][b]

Disagreements over litigation strategy as 14.07[4][e]

Government entities, presumption arising with 14.07[4][d]

Standing requirements 14.07[5]

Practical impairment in interest unless intervention granted

Generally 14.07[3][a]

Stare decisis, effect of 14.07[3][b]

Significant protectable interest requirement

Generally 14.07[2][a]

Amending away intervenor's interest by existing parties 14.07[2][d]

Legally protectable interest 14.07[2][b]

Relationship to plaintiff's claim 14.07[2][c]

Supplemental jurisdiction

Defendants, claims by intervening 2.30[7][b]

Plaintiffs, claims by intervening 2.30[7][a]

"Timely application" requirement

Generally 14.02[3]

Factors used in determining timeliness 14.05[2]

Measurement of timeliness 14.05[1]

Opposing motion to intervene, use in 14.13

Permissive interventions, application in 14.05[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

I

I Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA I-14

I-14 INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL UNDER RULE 41(b)

Adjudication on the merits, dismissal as 28.04[2]; 28.15[1]

Alternatives to dismissal

Court consideration of 28.13[7][a]

Explicit discussion of alternatives, necessity of 28.13[7][d]

Necessity of exhausting all alternatives 28.13[7][b]

Pursuit of alternatives prior to disobedience of court, sufficiency of 28.13[7][c]

Appellate review criteria

Abuse of discretion 28.16

Prejudice to defendant, risk of 28.13[5][e]

Bases for 28.04[1]

CD Cal practice: dismissal of actions 28.05[1]

Checklist 28.03

Claim preclusive effects

Diversity cases 28.15[4]

Federal-court judgment in federal-question case 28.15[3]

Judgment on merits 28.15[2]

Class actions, applicability to 20.43; 28.12

Counterclaim, use by parties opposing 28.06

Crossclaim, use by parties opposing 28.06

Delay caused by attorney or client, relevance of whether 28.14

Docket management as basis 28.13[4]

Effect of dismissal

Adjudication on merits 28.15[1]

CD Cal requirements 28.15[5]

Claim preclusive effects (See subhead: Claim preclusive effects)

SD Cal requirements 28.15[6]

Extreme nature of dismissal penalty

Generally 28.13[8][a]

"Harshness" as key consideration 28.13[8][b]

Factors considered in dismissal as sanction

Generally 28.13[1]

Alternatives to dismissal (See subhead: Alternatives to dismissal)

Disposition on merits, public policy favoring 28.13[6]

Docket management as basis 28.13[4]

Extreme nature of dismissal penalty

Generally 28.13[8][a]

"Harshness" as key consideration 28.13[8][b]

Prejudice to defendant, risk of (See subhead: Prejudice to defendant, based on risk of)

Prior warning (See subhead: Prior warning requirements)

Public's interest in expeditious resolution 28.13[3]

Failure to amend complaint after dismissal with leave to amend as basis 28.10

Failure to comply with rules regarding pleading requirements

Generally 28.11

Sample form: Dismissal order for failure to comply with order 28.32

Failure to prosecute as basis

Generally 28.09; 28.13[5][b]; 33.12[5]

Sample form: Dismissal order for failure to prosecute 28.31

Harshness of penalty as basis for opposition to 28.20; 28.28

Insufficient reasons to avoid dismissal, examples of 28.29

"Lack of jurisdiction" exception 28.04[3]

Opposition to

Generally 28.18

Checklist 28.17

Defendant contributed to malfeasance 28.24

Degree of plaintiff's personal responsibility for malfeasance is slight 28.25

Failure to state grounds for dismissal as basis 28.19

Harshness of penalty as basis 28.20; 28.28

Inadequacy of moving papers or grounds as basis 28.19

Insufficient reasons to avoid dismissal, examples of 28.29

Less drastic alternatives available 28.22

Opposing counsel contributed to malfeasance 28.24

Prior warning requirement 28.23

Pro se litigants

CD Cal requirements 28.26[2]

Inartful pleadings liberally construed 28.26[1]

Reasonable or justified delay 28.21

Too early in proceedings as basis 28.27

Prejudice to defendant, based on risk of

Generally 28.13[5][a]

Appellate review criteria 28.13[5][e]

Burden of production to defendant, plaintiff's excuse causing shift of 28.13[5][d]

Failure to prosecute as prejudice 28.13[5][b]

Forms of prejudice 28.13[5][a]

Unreasonable delay as rebuttable presumption of prejudice 28.13[5][c]

Prior warning requirements

Generally 28.13[2][a]

Noticed motion, dismissal following 28.13[2][c]

Opposition to dismissal based on 28.23

Sua sponte dismissals 28.13[2][b]

Procedure for dismissal motion 28.07

Pro se litigants

CD Cal requirements 28.26[2]

Inartful pleadings liberally construed 28.26[1]

Public's interest in expeditious resolution as basis 28.13[3]

Sample forms

Dismissal order for failure to comply with order 28.32

Dismissal order for failure to prosecute 28.31

Notice of motion to dismiss for failure to prosecute, or failure to comply with court order or federal rules 28.30

SD Cal practice: dismissal for want of prosecution and failure to comply with local rules 28.05[2]

Sua sponte dismissal

Generally 28.08

Prior warning requirements 28.13[2][b]

Third-party claim, use by parties opposing 28.06

Unreasonable delay as rebuttable presumption of prejudice 28.13[5][c]

Who is causing delay, relevance of 28.14

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

J

J Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA J-1

J-1 JOINDER OF CLAIMS

Generally 6.10[1]

Alternative claims 6.10[4]

Contingent claims 6.10[3]

Determining whether to omit claims

Procedural rules on 6.10[5][a]

Res judicata, effect of 6.10[5][b]

Hypothetical claims 6.10[4]

Improper or collusive joinder of claims, dismissal or severance of 6.10[9][b]

Inconsistent claims 6.10[4]

Interpleader (See INTERPLEADER ACTIONS)

Multiple plaintiffs, claims of

Generally 6.10[2][b]

CD Cal requirements 6.10[2][c]

Copyright, patent or trademark claims of 6.10[2][c]

Proper joinder provisions 6.10[7]

Res judicata, effect of 6.10[5][b]

Segregation of claims

Generally 6.10[9][a]

Dismissal or severance of improperly joined claims 6.10[9][b]

Single plaintiff, claims of 6.10[2][a]

Subject matter jurisdiction of court, requirement of 6.10[6][a]

Tucker Act, effect of 6.10[8][b]

United States, claims involving

Claims asserted by U.S. 6.10[8][c]

Sovereign immunity, effect of 6.10[8][a]

Tucker Act, effect of 6.10[8][b]

Venue and 6.10[6][b]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

J

J Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA J-2

J-2 JOINDER OF PARTIES

Adding parties

Generally 4.08[3]; 10.06

Amendment to pleading, adding party by 10.05[2][d]

Checklist 10.04

Compulsory joinder (See subhead: Compulsory joinder)

Dismissal based on determination of nonfeasibility 10.09[5][b]

Feasibility of adding party, court determination of 10.09[5][a]

Forms

Defendant, motion by plaintiff to add 10.23

Plaintiff, motion by defendant to add 10.24

Grounds for addition of person as party 10.05[1]

Initiation of action, plaintiff electing to join proper parties at 10.05[2][a]

Judgment, added parties subject to 10.05[3]

Just adjudication, addition when person needed for (See subhead: Compulsory joinder)

Motion to add party

Generally 10.05[2][c]

Court order, requirement of 10.09[2]

Current party as initiator 10.09[1]

Defendant, form of plaintiff's motion to add 10.23

Dismissal based on determination of nonfeasibility 10.09[5][b]

Feasibility, determination of 10.09[5][a]

Nonfeasibility, determination of 10.09[5][b]

Plaintiff, form of defendant's motion to add 10.24

Procedural considerations 10.09[1]-[5]

Sua sponte motion by court 10.09[3]

Time requirements 10.09[4]

Nonfeasibility of adding party, court determination of 10.09[5][b]

Permissive joinder (See subhead: Permissive joinder)

Purpose of 10.02

Removal from state court, effect of plaintiff seeking to join nondiverse party after 3.30[4]

Substitution of parties, as alternative to 10.16[2][b]

Compulsory joinder

Generally 10.07

Absence of required party

Collateral estoppel, effect on 4.51

Cures for (See under this subhead: Curing absence of required party)

Res judicata, effect on 4.51

Absent required person whose interests may be prejudiced by judgment

Generally 4.43[2][a]

Adequate representation by existing party 4.43[2][d]

Property interest, necessity of 4.43[2][c]

Waiver of interest 4.43[2][b]

Absent required person whose interests may bring subsequent action resulting in inconsistent obligations

Generally 4.43[3][a]

"Possibility of inconsistency" as standard 4.43[3][b]

Checklist: applying compulsory joinder rule 4.41

Class actions rule 4.48[2]

Court-ordered joinder of required parties

Feasibility, determination of 4.45[1]

Involuntary plaintiff or defendant 4.45[2]

Venue, effect of objecting 4.45[3]

Curing absence of required party

Amendment of pleadings as option 4.50[2][b]

Court-ordered joinder 4.50[1]

Interpleader action as alternative 4.50[2][c]

Intervention in action as alternative 4.50[2][a]

Exceptions to

Class actions rule 4.48[2]

Public rights, actions enforcing (See under this subhead: Public rights exception)

Failure to join required or indispensable party

Absence of party as defense 4.49[1]

Addition of parties, motion to 4.49[4]

Compel joinder, motion to 4.49[3]

Curing absence of required party (See under this subhead: Required parties)

Dismissal based on, motion for 4.49[2]

Waiver of objection based on 4.49[5]

Impleader, as alternative to 12.02[4]

Indian tribes, application to

Proceeding in absence of tribe, possibility of 4.47[3]

Sovereign immunity issues 4.47[1], [2]

United States, suits by 4.47[2]

Indispensable parties, determination of

Generally 4.46[1]

Proceeding in absence of party, court options for (See under this subhead: Proceeding in absence of party, court options for)

Involuntary plaintiff or defendant 4.45[2]

Limits on power of plaintiff to determine parties to action 4.42[3]

Native Americans, application to (See under this subhead: Indian tribes, application to)

Pleading requirements 4.44

Proceeding in absence of party, court options for

Adequate and meaningful relief as factor 4.46[2][d]

Consequence to plaintiff of dismissal as factor 4.46[2][e]

Fact sensitive nature of determination 4.46[2][a]

Prejudice as factor, extent of 4.46[2][b]

Protective provision in judgment as factor 4.46[2][c]

Protection of absent persons with interest in subject of litigation 4.42[1]

Public rights exception

Generally 4.48[1][a]

Absent third parties 4.48[1][c]

Transcending of private interests 4.48[1][b]

Purpose of rule

Complete and effective relief to parties 4.42[2]

Limits on power of plaintiff to determine parties to action 4.42[3]

Protection of absent persons with interest in subject of litigation 4.42[1]

Required parties

Indispensable parties, determination of (See subhead: Compulsory joinder)

Person whose absence will prevent complete relief as 4.43[1]

Pleading requirements 4.44

Satisfaction of definition 4.43[4]

Sovereign immunity

American Indian tribes 4.47[1]

United States (See subhead: United States, claims involving)

Standard required

Feasibility of joinder, court determination of 4.45[1]; 10.09[5][a]

Nonfeasibility of joinder, court determination of 10.09[5][b]

Supplemental jurisdiction, interplay with 2.30[4]

Venue, effect of objecting 4.45[3]

Consolidation, effect of 18.06[7]

Diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Joinder, effect of)

Dropping parties

Amendment to pleading, dropping party by 10.11[2][b]

Checklist 10.10

Effect of 10.11[3]

Efficient administration of justice, to further

Generally 10.12[2]

Sample form: Notice of motion by plaintiff to drop defendant who would defeat diversity 10.25

Severance of claim as means 10.14[2]

Forms

Diversity jurisdiction, plaintiff's motion to drop defendant who would defeat 10.25

Misjoined, motion by defendant to drop defendant as 10.26

Grounds for dropping named party 10.11[1]

Misjoinder of party (See subhead: Misjoinder of parties)

Motion to drop party

Generally 10.11[2][a]

Diversity jurisdiction, form for plaintiff's motion to drop defendant who would defeat 10.25

Misjoined party, form for defendant's motion to drop defendant as 10.26

Order of court as prerequisite 10.13[2]

Sua sponte motion by court 10.13[3]

Time requirements 10.13[4]

Who may move to drop 10.13[1]

Purpose of 10.02

Severance of claims (See SEVERANCE OF CLAIMS)

Substitution of parties, as alternative to 10.16[2][b]

Excessive joinder of parties or claims

Class action as means of resolving 4.05[4]

Separate trials to resolve problems created by 4.05[3]

Identification of parties in complaint 6.08[7]

Impleader (See IMPLEADER)

Improper or collusive joinder on diversity jurisdiction, effect of 2.16[2]

Indian tribes (See subhead: Compulsory joinder)

Indispensable parties (See subhead: Compulsory joinder)

Initial disclosure requirements for parties joining after Rule 26(f) conference 15.17[3]

Initial parties to action, selection of

Generally 4.04[1]; 10.05[2][a]

Minimum qualification requirements 4.04[4]

Three-part test

Defendants, joinder of 4.04[3]

Plaintiffs, joinder of 4.04[2]

Interpleader (See INTERPLEADER ACTIONS)

Intervening parties (See INTERVENTION)

Misjoinder of parties

Addition of parties (See subhead: Adding parties)

Defined 10.12[1][a]

Dismissal as option 4.08[1]

Dropping parties (See subhead: Dropping parties)

Objections to misjoinder, procedures for

Dropping of misjoined party, motion for 4.07[2]; 10.12[1][b]

Methods for objecting 4.07[1]

Severance of misjoined party, motion for 4.07[3]; 10.14[1]

Sua sponte action by court 4.07[1]

Remedies for misjoinder

Addition of parties (See subhead: Adding parties)

Dismissal as option 4.08[1]

Dropping of parties (See subhead: Dropping parties)

Severance as option 4.08[2]

Severance of claim as cure 4.07[3]; 4.08[2]; 10.14[1]

Multiple defendants

Minimum qualification requirements 4.04[4]

Three-part test for joinder of 4.04[3]

Multiple plaintiffs, claims of

Minimum qualification requirements 4.04[4]

Three-part test for joinder of 4.04[2]

Native Americans (See subhead: Compulsory joinder)

Permissive joinder

Generally 10.05[2][b]; 10.08

Amendment to pleading, addition of party by 10.05[2][d]

Checklist: applying rule 4.03

Consolidation of actions, joinder of party as alternative to 18.02[6][a]

Initial parties to action, selection of (See subhead: Initial parties to action, selection of)

Motion, addition of party by 10.05[2][c]

Numerical limits on

Class action as means of resolving 4.05[4]

Practical considerations 4.05[1], [2]

Separate trials to resolve problems created by excessive joinder 4.05[3]

Supplemental jurisdiction, interplay with 2.30[5][a]

Public rights exception (See subhead: Compulsory joinder)

Real party in interest, determination of (See REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS)

Required parties (See subhead: Compulsory joinder)

Separate trials to resolve problems created by excessive joinder of parties or claims 4.05[3]

Substitution of parties (See SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES)

Supplemental jurisdiction (See SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION)

Three-part test

Defendants, joinder of 4.04[3]

Plaintiffs, joinder of 4.04[2]

Tort Claims Act, effect of 4.06[2][b]

Tucker Act, effect of 4.06[2][a]

United States, claims involving

Sovereign immunity, effect of 4.06[1]

Tort Claims Act, effect of 4.06[2][b]

Tucker Act, effect of 4.06[2][a]

113 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

J

J Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA J-3

J-3 JOURNALIST'S PRIVILEGE

Checklist 24.67

Confidential information, coverage of 24.70

First Amendment as basis 24.68

Nonconfidential information, coverage of 24.70

Public dissemination requirement 24.71

Qualified nature of 24.69

Showing requirements 24.72

Types of information covered by 24.70; 24.71

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

J

J Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA J-4

J-4 JUDGES, DISQUALIFICATION OF

Avoiding disqualification by divesting interests 2.90

Checklist 2.83

Criminal contempt proceedings, recusal as required in context of 2.84[1A]

Due process clause, recusal as required under 2.84[1A]

Election supporters, recusal as required in cases involving interests of 2.84[1A]

Indirect financial interests, recusal as required for 2.84[1A]

Peremptory challenges, by 2.84[1]

Potential for bias as factor 2.84[1A]

28 USC § 144, disqualification under

Generally 2.84[2][a], [3]

Affidavit in support of motion

Another judge, assignment of motion for hearing by 2.85[5][a]

CD Cal requirements 2.85[4][b]

Certificate of counsel 2.85[3]

Challenged judge, initial determination of sufficiency by 2.85[4][a]

Effect of insufficiency of 2.85[6]

ND Cal requirements 2.85[5][b]

"One affidavit" in any case, requirement of filing 2.85[2][c]

Statement of facts and reasons 2.85[2][b]

Timeliness and sufficiency requirements 2.85[2][a]

Certificate of counsel 2.85[3]

Distinguished from grounds for recusal under 28 USC § 455 2.84[3]

Grounds for motion, bias or prejudice as 2.85[1]

Sample form of motion to disqualify judge 2.94

28 USC § 445, judge's recusal under

Generally 2.84[2][b], [3]

Distinguished from grounds for disqualification under 28 USC § 144 2.84[3]

Failure of judge to recuse self 2.87

Financial or other interests of judge, spouse, or minor child

"Financial interest" defined 2.86[5][b]

Individual or fiduciary capacity 2.86[5][a]

Reasonable effort to keep self informed 2.86[5][c]

Grounds for disqualification 2.86[2]

Impartiality of judge might reasonably be questioned 2.86[1]

Prior involvement in matter in controversy

Generally 2.86[3]

Formerly in government employment 2.86[4]

Relatives of judge having involvement in proceeding 2.86[6]

Time requirements 2.88

Waiver by parties 2.89

Waiver by parties of disqualifying grounds 2.89

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

J

J Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA J-5

J-5 JUDGMENT ON PLEADINGS, MOTIONS FOR

Generally 8.28[1]

Checklist for drafting motion 8.27

Conversion to summary judgment 8.28[3]; 8.29[1][d], [2][b]

Dismissal, prejudice status of 8.29[2][d]

Filing requirements 8.28[2]; 8.29[1][b]

Purpose of 8.29[1][a]

Reasonable opportunity to respond 8.29[2][c]

Sample form 8.43

Standard governing 8.29[2][a]

Summary judgment, conversion to 8.28[3]

Summary judgment motion, conversion to 29.05[7][e]

Time requirements 8.28[2]; 8.29[1][b]

Who may assert motion 8.29[1][c]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

J

J Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA J-6

J-6 JURISDICTION

Abstention doctrines

Burford abstention: avoiding interference with comprehensive state administrative procedures 2.47[3]

Colorado River abstention: concurrent state proceedings 2.47[4]

Pullman abstention: avoiding federal constitutional rulings 2.47[1]

Thibodeaux abstention: unclear state law in diversity cases 2.47[2]

Younger abstention: avoiding interference with pending state proceedings 2.47[5]

Admiralty and maritime jurisdiction, pleading requirements for 6.07[4]

"Arising under" test (See FEDERAL QUESTION JURISDICTION, subhead: "Arising under" test)

Artful pleading doctrine as exception to well-pleaded complaint rule 2.07[2][c]

Case of controversy determination

Generally 2.42

Standing (See STANDING REQUIREMENTS)

Checklist: determining basis for bringing action in Federal court 1.03

Civil rights actions (See CIVIL RIGHTS ACTIONS)

Concurrent jurisdiction (See CONCURRENT JURISDICTION)

Copyright actions 2.06[2][a]; 2.08[2]

Diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION)

Employee retirement income security act (erisa) (See EMPLOYEE RETIREMENT INCOME SECURITY ACT (ERISA))

Federal agencies and officers, action brought against (See VENUE, subhead: Federal agencies and officers, action brought against)

Federal question jurisdiction (See FEDERAL QUESTION JURISDICTION)

First-to-file rule 2.47A

Foreign states, actions by or against

Civil rights actions against foreign states

Foreign state, removal by 3.13[4][a]

Timing of removal 3.13[4][b]

Diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION)

In rem jurisdiction (See IN REM JURISDICTION)

Jurisdictional allegations (Federal) (See FEDERAL QUESTION JURISDICTION, subhead: Allegations of)

Mootness (See MOOTNESS)

Multidistrict litigation statute (See MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION STATUTE)

Native American self-government and diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION)

Patent actions 2.06[2][a]; 2.08[2]

Personal jurisdiction (See PERSONAL JURISDICTION)

Political question doctrine 2.46

Property-based jurisdiction (See IN REM JURISDICTION)

Receiver, appointment of (See RECEIVERSHIP, subhead: Appointment of receiver, court's jurisdiction over)

Relevance in discovery actions 24.08

Ripeness, doctrine of (See RIPENESS DOCTRINE)

Standing, existence of (See STANDING REQUIREMENTS)

Subject matter jurisdiction (See SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION)

Substantial part of events or omissions as basis for 2.52

Substitution of parties, effect of 10.22[1]

Supplemental jurisdiction (See SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION)

Time requirements

Allegations of federal question jurisdiction 2.05[5]

Mootness (See MOOTNESS)

Ripeness, doctrine of (See RIPENESS DOCTRINE)

Standing, raising of 2.43[5][c]

Well-pleaded complaint rule (See WELL-PLEADED COMPLAINT RULE)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

J

J Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA J-7

J-7 JURY DEMAND

Generally 6.06[7][a]; 13.04[6][a]

CD Cal requirements

Generally 6.06[7][b]; 6.13[3][a]; 13.05[1][b]

Filing of demand 13.06[2][b]

Checklists

Opposing jury demand 13.03[2]

Party seeking trial by jury 13.03[1]

Civil cover sheet, sufficiency of indicating demand on 6.13[4]; 13.05[3]

Condemnation proceedings

Filing of demand 13.06[2][c]

Service of demand 13.06[1][e]

Counterclaims and service requirements for 11.23

Crossclaims and service requirements for 11.41

ED Cal requirements 6.06[7][c]; 6.13[3][b]; 13.05[1][c]

Filing of demand

CD Cal requirements 13.06[2][b]

Condemnation proceedings 13.06[2][c]

Time requirements 13.06[2][a]

General demand 13.04[8]

Limitations on 13.04[8]

ND Cal requirements 6.06[7][d]; 6.13[3][c]; 13.05[1][d]

Opposition to demand

Court's power to strike demand 6.08[1]

Grounds for striking demand 6.08[2]

Pleading, inclusion of jury demand in 6.13[2]; 13.05[1][a]

Preserving right to 6.13[1]

Relying on another's party's demand

Generally 13.04[7][a]

Limitations of 13.04[7][b], [7][c]

No jury right given to original party, effect when 13.04[7][c]

Supplementing demand with own issues 13.05[4][b]

Removed actions

Generally 13.04[6][b]

Service requirements 13.06[1][c]

Sample forms

General form for jury demand 13.21

Strike jury demand, notice of motion and motion to 13.22

SD Cal requirements 6.06[7][e]; 6.13[3][d]; 13.05[1][e]

Separate jury demand 13.05[2]

Service of demand

Exceptions to requirements 13.06[1][a], [1][c]

"Last pleading" on issue defined 13.06[1][b]

Removed actions 13.06[1][c]

Supplemental demands 13.06[1][d]

Time requirements 13.06[1][a], [1][d]

Signature requirements

Generally 13.05[5][a]

CD Cal requirements 13.05[5][d]

ED Cal requirements 13.05[5][e]

Electronic means 13.05[5][b]

ND Cal requirements 13.05[5][b]

SD Cal requirements 13.05[5][f]

Who needs to sign, determining 13.05[5][c]

Specification of issues for trial 6.13[5]; 13.05[4][a]

Striking of demand

Court's power to strike 6.08[1]

Grounds for 6.08[2]

Sample form 13.22

Supplementing another party's demand

Generally 13.05[4][b]

Service requirements 13.06[1][d]

Time requirements

Generally 13.04[6][a]

Exceptions to requirements 13.06[1][c]

Removed actions 13.04[6][b]

Withdrawal of jury demand

Checklist 13.14

Consent requirements

Generally 13.15

Oral or written stipulation as basis 13.16

Sample form 13.24

Sample form 13.24

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

J

J Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA J-8

J-8 JURY TRIAL, RIGHT TO

Admiralty proceedings 13.04[3][c]

Advisory jury (See ADVISORY JURY)

Consent of parties as basis 13.04[5]

Consolidation, effect of 18.06[3]

Demand for trial (See JURY DEMAND)

Denial of jury trial by court, relief options for

Final judgment as basis for appeal 13.13[2][c]

Interlocutory appeals (See INTERLOCUTORY REVIEW)

Writ of mandamus, filing petition of 13.13[1]

Desirability of jury trial, determining 13.04[1]

"In equity" actions 13.04[3][b]

Jury's role

Generally 13.07[1]

Common factual issues, legal and equitable claims with 13.07[2]

No common factual issues, legal and equitable claims with 13.07[3]

Nontriable actions, examples of 13.04[4][c]

Procedural rules governing 13.04[2][b]

Relief from waiver of jury

Checklists

Opposing party 13.09[2]

Petitioning party 13.09[1]

Court's discretion in granting 13.11[2][b]

Grounds for 13.11[2][a]

Opposition to motion for 13.12

Preparation of motion for 13.11[1]

Sample form 13.23

Separate trials (bifurcation) and preservation of 18.31

Seventh Amendment, actions covered by 13.04[2][a], [3][a], [4][b]

Statutory right

Generally 13.04[2][a]

Examples of nontriable actions 13.04[4][c]

Examples of triable by jury 13.04[4][b]

Nontriable actions, examples of 13.04[4][c]

Test for determining 13.04[4][a]

Waiver of jury right

Advisory jury use when jury trial waived 13.10[3]

Bench trial as basis, participation in 13.10[3]

Failure to make timely jury demand as basis 13.10[2]

Previous agreement as basis 13.10[1]

Relief from waiver (See subhead: Relief from waiver of jury)

119 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

J

J Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA J-9

J-9 JUSTICIABILITY REQUIREMENTS

Checklist: determining basis for bringing action in Federal court 1.03

Existence of case or controversy

Generally 6.07[6][c]

Standing, proof of 6.07[6][d]

Plaintiff's burden of proving 6.07[6][b]

Satisfaction of 6.07[6][a]

Standing, proof of 6.07[6][d]

120 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

L

L Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA L-1

L-1 LETTERS OF REQUEST

Foreign letter of request, deposition taken in U.S. pursuant to 23.45[8]

Format for caption 23.45[5]

Issuance of letter of request for deposition, requirements of court for 23.45[3]

Presiding officer by name or title, letter of request to designate or addressed to 23.45[4]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

L

L Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA L-2

L-2 LETTERS ROGATORY

Foreign letter rogatory, deposition taken in U.S. pursuant to 23.45[8]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-1

M-1 MARITAL PRIVILEGE

Adverse testimony privilege

California law 24.59[4]

End of marriage, effect of 24.59[3]

Purpose of 24.59[2]

Valid marriage requirement 24.59[1]

California law 24.58[6]

Checklist 24.56

Common law marriage, applicability to 24.58[1]

Conduct or actions of spouses, applicability to 24.58[3]

Confidential nature of communications 24.58[4]

Criminal activities, exception for Children, crimes against 24.58[5][a]

Joint crimes of spouses 24.58[5][b]

Spouse, crimes against 24.58[5][a]

Dissolution of marriage, effect of 24.58[2]

End of marriage, effect of 24.58[2]

Federal common law 24.57

Third party, effect of disclosure to 24.58[4]

Valid marriage requirement 24.58[1]

123 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-2

M-2 MASS ACTIONS

Complete diversity requirement, elimination of 2.24A[4]

124 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-3

M-3 MEDIATION

Northern District ADR

Appropriate party representative, compelling attendance by

Confidentiality of letter 32.32[7][b]

Content requirements 32.32[7][d]

"In writing" requirement 32.32[7][a]

Response by challenged party (See under this subhead: Response regarding appropriate representative's attendance)

Time requirements 32.32[7][c]

Attendance requirements

Appropriate party representative, compelling attendance by (See under this subhead: Appropriate party representative, compelling attendance by)

Corporation entity, representative for 32.32[2]

Excused absences (See under this subhead: Excused absences)

Government entity, representative for 32.32[2]

Insurer's attendance, necessity of 32.32[4]

Parties to action 32.32[1]

Trial counsel of parties, presence of 32.32[3]

Certification requirements 32.33[5]

Contact with mediator before mediation

Additional mediation statements submitted only to mediator 32.31A[1]

Confidentiality of additional statements 32.31A[2]

Content of additional statements 32.31A[3]

Excused absences

Content of request 32.32[5][d]

Hardship requirement 32.32[5][c]

"In writing" requirement 32.32[5][a]

Opposition to request for (See under this subhead: Opposition to request for excused absence)

Telephone, availability by 32.32[5][e]

Time requirements 32.32[5][b]

Extension of time for mediation

Content requirements of motion 32.30[3][b]

Filing requirements 32.30[3][a]

Follow up to mediation 32.33[4]

Mediation statement

Additional statement requested by mediator before mediation (See under this subhead: Contact with mediator before mediation)

Content requirements 32.31[2]

Filing requirements 32.31[3]

Time requirements 32.31[1]

Objection to mediator, right to 32.29

Opposition to request for excused absence

Confidentiality of letter 32.32[6][b]

Content requirements 32.32[6][d]

"In writing" requirement 32.32[6][a]

Time requirements 32.32[6][c]

Procedures for mediation

Certification of mediation, filing requirements for 32.33[5]

Confidentiality of proceedings 32.33[3]

Follow up to mediation 32.33[4]

Informal nature of proceedings 32.33[1]

Types of meetings: separate or open 32.33[2]

Response regarding appropriate representative's attendance

Generally 32.32[8][a]

Confidentiality of letter 32.32[8][b]

Service of 32.32[8][a]

Timing requirements 32.32[8][c]

Role of mediator

Generally 32.28

Contact with mediator before mediation (See under this subhead: Contact with mediator before mediation)

Scheduling of session

Consultation with parties 32.30[1]

Extension of time for mediation 32.30[3][a], [3][b]

Time requirements 32.30[2]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-4

M-4 MEET AND CONFER REQUIREMENTS

Alternative dispute resolution (adr), as part of Northern District's 32.06[4][a]

CD Cal requirements 22.53[4][a]; 26.15[1]

Compelling mandatory disclosure or discovery, as prerequisite to

ED Cal requirements 25.05[3][a], [3][c]

ND Cal requirements 25.05[4][a]

SD Cal requirements

Generally 25.05[5][a]

Certificate of compliance 25.05[5][c]

Methods of meeting 25.05[5][b]

ED Cal requirements 22.53[4][b]; 26.15[2]

Interrogatories 23.117[1]

ND Cal requirements 22.53[4][c]; 26.15[3]

Privilege claim, as prerequisite to opposing 24.27

Protective orders, as prerequisite to

CD Cal requirements 22.53[4][a]

ED Cal requirements 22.53[4][b]

ND Cal requirements 22.53[4][c]

SD Cal requirements 22.53[4][d]

Relevance, disputes over 24.10[1]

SD Cal requirements 22.53[4][d]; 26.15[4]

Subpoena procedures 23.22

126 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-5

M-5 MEMORANDUM OF LAW

CD Cal requirements 17.09[2]; 26.20[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 26.20[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 26.20[2][c]

Purpose of 26.20[1]

SD Cal requirements 17.12[1]; 26.20[2][d]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-6

M-6 MENTAL EXAMINATIONS (

See PHYSICAL AND MENTAL EXAMINATIONS)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-7

M-7 MILITARY PERSONNEL

Default judgments

Special requirements for entering 27.07[3]; 27.16[2]

Vacating judgment, active status as grounds for

Generally 27.21[5]; 27.22[1][d]

Sample form 27.30

Diversity jurisdiction, determining citizenship for 2.17[4]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-8

M-8 MINORS OR INCOMPETENTS

Representation for minor or incompetent, establishing or securing 6.21[5]

Service of summons on (See SERVICE OF PROCESS)

Substitution of parties, as cause for (See SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES, subhead: Incompetency of party as cause for)

130 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-9

M-9 MISJOINDER OF PARTIES (

See JOINDER OF PARTIES, subhead: Misjoinder of parties)

131 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-10

M-10 MISTAKE OR FRAUD (

See FRAUD OR MISTAKE)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-11

M-11 MOOTNESS

Counsel's duty to inform court of change of status 2.45[3]

Defined 2.45[1]

Exceptions to

Past acts having present, future or collateral consequences 2.45[2][c]

Repetitious yet will evade review, acts that are 2.45[2][a]

Voluntary cessation of challenged activity 2.45[2][b]

Past acts having present, future or collateral consequences 2.45[2][c]

Raising issue of 2.45[4]

Repetitious yet will evade review, acts that are 2.45[2][a]

Voluntary cessation of challenged activity 2.45[2][b]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-12

M-12 MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT, MOTIONS FOR

Generally 8.24[1]

Checklist 8.23[1]

Failure to timely assert motion 8.25[1][d]

Grant or denial of motion

Generally 8.24[3]; 8.25[2][a]

Amended complaint, time limit for 8.25[2][b]

Grounds for

Ambiguous or vague complaint, defendant challenging 8.25[1][a]

Pleading so indefinite that defendant cannot ascertain nature of claim 8.25[1][b]

Improper uses for 8.25[1][c]

Joinder with other Rule 12 motions 8.24[4]

Proper uses for 8.25[1][b]

Sample form 8.41

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-13

M-13 MOTION PRACTICE (GENERALLY)

Generally 26.02

Advance notice period, rules for

Calculation of period 26.23[3][a], [3][b]

Extension for weekends and holidays 26.23[3][c]

Shortening of notice period (See subhead: Shortening of notice period)

Three-day extension with service by specified method 26.23[3][d]

Affidavits or affidavit substitutes (See AFFIDAVITS OR AFFIDAVIT SUBSTITUTES)

Checklists

Determining governing law 26.03

Filing and serving motion papers 26.12[3]

Preliminary determinations for making notice motions 26.12[1]

Preparing motion papers 26.12[2]

Combination motion and notice of motion

CD Cal requirements 26.17[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 26.17[2][b]

Federal rules 26.17[1]

ND Cal requirements 26.17[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 26.17[2][d]

Considerations before bringing noticed motion 26.13

Continuances for hearings on

CD Cal requirements 26.25[1]

ED Cal requirements 26.25[2]

ND Cal requirements 26.25[3]

SD Cal requirements 26.25[4]

Courtesy copies to assigned judge

Generally 26.33[1]

ED Cal requirements 26.33[2]

SD Cal requirements 26.33[3]

Cross-motions and counter-motions (See RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS)

Day-counting rules for computing advance notice period (See subhead: Advance notice period, rules for)

Dismissal under Rule 12(b) (See MOTIONS TO DISMISS UNDER RULE 12(b))

Enlargement of time, requests for

Generally 26.35[1]

CD Cal requirements 26.35[4][a]

Cross-motions and counter-motions 26.48

ED Cal requirements 26.35[4][b]

ND Cal requirements 26.35[4][c]

Sample form--Motion to enlarge period to do act made before expiration of period 26.58

SD Cal requirements 26.35[4][d]

Timing of request 26.35[2], [3]

Evidence in support of motion, submission of

Generally 26.22

Formatting requirements (See FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS AND OTHER PAPERS, subhead: Exhibits, formatting of)

Exhibits in support of motion, submission of

Generally 26.22

Formatting requirements (See FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS AND OTHER PAPERS)

Fax or other electronic means, filing by (See ELECTRONIC OR FACSIMILE FILING)

Filing requirements

Generally (See FILING OF PAPERS (GENERALLY))

Sample form 26.56

Time requirements (See subhead: Time requirements for notice, service and filing)

Formatting requirements (See FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS AND OTHER PAPERS)

"Meet and confer" requirements (See MEET AND CONFER REQUIREMENTS)

Memorandum of law, preparation of (See MEMORANDUM OF LAW)

Modification of discovery procedures, motions for (See MOTIONS TO MODIFY DISCOVERY PROCEDURES)

Motion defined 26.04[1]

Notice of motion

Advance notice period, rules for (See subhead: Advance notice period, rules for)

CD Cal requirements for content 26.16[5][a]

Combining with motion in one paper (See subhead: Combination motion and notice of motion)

Continuances for hearings on (See subhead: Continuances for hearings on)

ED Cal requirements for content 26.16[5][b]

Judges' personal rules 26.16[4]

ND Cal requirements for content 26.16[5][c]

Purpose of 26.16[1]

Relief sought, specification of 26.16[2]

Responding to (See RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS)

Sample form 26.56

SD Cal requirements for content 26.16[5][d]

Shortening of notice period (See subhead: Shortening of notice period)

Specification of relief sought 26.16[2]

Statement of grounds with particularity 26.16[3]

Support papers required 26.19[2]

Time requirements (See subhead: Time requirements for notice, service and filing)

Orally arguing motions (See ORAL ARGUMENTS)

Oral motions (See ORAL MOTIONS)

Pre-motion conference as substitute for actual motion 26.26[2]

Pre-motion procedures, compliance with 26.14

Reconsideration, motion for (See RECONSIDERATION, MOTION FOR)

Responding to (See RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS)

Rules governing

Federal rules 26.04[2]

Individual judges' rules 26.04[4]

Local rules 26.04[3]

Motion defined 26.04[1]

Sample forms

Declaration in support of or in opposition to motion 26.57

Enlarge period to do act made before expiration of period, motion to 26.58

Motion and notice of motion 26.56

Oral argument on motion, request for 26.60

Reargument or reconsideration, motion for 26.61

Shorten time for notice of motion, motion to 26.59

Scheduling of motions onto court calendar 26.24

Service of motion (See SERVICE OF WRITTEN MOTIONS)

Shortening of notice period

CD Cal requirements 26.26[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 26.26[3][b]

Federal rules 26.26[1]

ND Cal requirements 26.26[3][c]

Pre-motion conference as substitute for actual motion 26.26[2]

Sample form--Motion to shorten time for notice of motion 26.59

SD Cal requirements 26.26[3][d]

Stipulations in lieu of motions (See STIPULATIONS, subhead: In lieu of motions, use of stipulations)

Support papers required

CD Cal requirements 26.19[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 26.19[3][b]

Evidence in support of motion, submission of 26.22

Federal rules 26.19[1]

Memorandum of law (See MEMORANDUM OF LAW)

ND Cal requirements 26.19[3][c]

Notice of motion, required use in 26.19[2]

Sample form--Declaration in support of or in opposition to motion 26.57

SD Cal requirements 26.19[3][d]

Time requirements for notice, service and filing

CD Cal requirements 26.23[2][a]

Continuances for hearings on (See subhead: Continuances for hearings on)

Day-counting rules for computing advance notice period (See subhead: Advance notice period, rules for)

ED Cal requirements 26.23[2][b]

Minimum requirements 26.23[1]

ND Cal requirements 26.23[2][c]

Scheduling of motions onto court calendar 26.24

SD Cal requirements 26.23[2][d]

Shortening of notice period (See subhead: Shortening of notice period)

Withdrawal of motion

CD Cal requirements 26.34[1]

ED Cal requirements 26.34[2]

ND Cal requirements 26.34[3]

Sample form--Stipulation withdrawing motion 26.63

SD Cal requirements 26.34[4]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-14

M-14 MOTIONS TO DISMISS UNDER RULE 12(b)

Checklists

Defendant's answer and initial response under Rule 12 1.05

Drafting Rule 12(b) motion to dismiss 8.14[1]

Failure to join indispensable party, preparing motion to dismiss for 8.14[8]

Failure to state claim on which claim can be granted, preparing motion to dismiss for 8.14[7]

Improper venue, preparing motion to dismiss for 8.14[5]

Insufficient process or service of process, preparing motion to dismiss for 8.14[6]

Lack of personal jurisdiction, preparing motion to dismiss for 8.14[4]

Lack of subject matter jurisdiction, preparing motion to dismiss for 8.14[3]

Responding to Rule 12(b) motion to dismiss 8.14[2]

Compliance requirements 8.16[4]

Consolidation requirements 8.15[2]

Diversity cases, challenging jurisdiction in

Determining amount in controversy 8.17[5][b]

Failure to minimum jurisdictional amount as basis 8.17[5][a]

Extension of discovery cut-off date

CD Cal requirements 22.26[2][a]

Good cause, showing of 22.26[1]

ND Cal requirements 22.26[2][b]

Failure to include defenses in initial response (See subhead: Waiver resulting from failure to assert certain defenses)

Failure to join indispensable party

Generally 8.22[1][a]

Burden of proof 8.22[2][a]

Checklist for preparing motion 8.14[8]

Sample form 8.39

Supplemental materials, submission of 8.22[1][c]

Timing of challenge 8.22[1][b]

Two-part analysis in deciding motion, use of 8.22[2][b]

Without prejudice 8.22[2][c]

Failure to state claim on which claim can be granted

Generally 8.21[1][a]

Amendment of complaint in response to 8.21[2]

Avoidance of waiver of defense of 8.21[1][e]

Bases for defense 8.21[1][c]

Burden of demonstrating failure 8.21[3][a]

Checklist for preparing motion 8.14[7]

Consideration of matters outside complaint, effect of 8.21[3][d]

Court's response to allegations 8.21[3][b], [3][c]

"Fairly apprise" requirements 8.21[3][e]

Filing requirements 8.21[1][b]

Notice required before sua sponte actions by court 8.21[3][e]

On merits and without prejudice 8.21[3][f]

Rule 9(b) defenses, treatment of 8.21[1][d]

Sample forms

General complaint 8.38

Impleader complaint 12.27

Summary judgment motion, when treated as 29.05[7][d]

Summary judgment motion conversion 8.21[3][d], [3][e]

Supplemental materials, submission of 8.21[1][f]

Governing rules for 8.16[4]

Improper venue, motion to dismiss for (See VENUE, subhead: Motion to dismiss for improper venue)

Insufficient process or service of process

Generally 7.49; 8.20[1][a]

Alternatives available to court 8.20[2][d]

Avoidance of waiving defense of 8.20[1][c]

Burden of establishing 8.20[2][a]

Checklist for preparing motion 8.14[6]

Contested issues 8.20[2][b]

Court's options 8.20[2][d]

Lack of service distinguished 8.20[1][a]

Motion to quash distinguished 8.20[1][a]

Sample forms

Insufficient process 8.36

Insufficient service of process 8.37

Supplemental materials, submission of 8.20[1][d]

Technical defects as basis 8.20[1][b]

Without prejudice 8.20[2][c]

Lack of personal jurisdiction, motion to dismiss for (See PERSONAL JURISDICTION, subhead: Dismissal based on lack of)

Lack of subject matter jurisdiction, motion to dismiss for (See SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION, subhead: Dismissal based on lack of)

Opposition papers, filing of

Generally 8.16[6][b]

Defendant's response to 8.16[7]

Sample form 8.40

Preanswer motion to dismiss

Generally 8.15[1]

Amendment or dismissal of complaint, effect on 8.15[4]

Available defenses 8.16[1]

Consolidation requirements 8.15[2]

Dismissal of complaint, effect on 8.15[4]

Failure to include defenses in initial response (See subhead: Waiver resulting from failure to assert certain defenses)

Timing considerations 8.16[2][b]

Waiver of defense if not included in initial response (See subhead: Waiver resulting from failure to assert certain defenses)

Responses to

Amended complaint, filing of 8.16[6][d]

Nonopposition, filing statement of 8.16[6][c]

Opposition papers, filing of

Generally 8.16[6][b]

Defendant's response to 8.16[7]

Plaintiff's checklist 1.07

Plaintiff's options 8.16[6][a]-[e]

Sample form 8.40

Voluntary dismissal as 8.16[6][e]

Rule 11 sanctions, applicability of 8.16[5]

Strike, motions to (See STRIKE, MOTIONS TO)

Subject matter jurisdiction, motion to dismiss for lack of (See SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION, subhead: Dismissal based on lack of)

Timing considerations

Generally 8.16[2][a]

Extension of time to answer complaint 8.16[2][c]

Preanswer motions 8.16[2][b]

Waiver resulting from failure to assert certain defenses

Generally 8.15[3]

Amended motion or pleading as solution 8.16[3][c]

Consolidation requirements 8.16[3][a]

Nonwaivable defenses 8.16[3][b]

Omitted defenses or objections 8.16[3][b]

Rule 8 affirmative defenses 8.16[3][b]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-15

M-15 MOTIONS TO MODIFY DISCOVERY PROCEDURES

Generally 22.15

Attorney's fees incurred as result of 22.33

Bringing discovery motions

Generally 22.17[1]

CD Cal requirements 22.17[5][a]

ED Cal requirements 22.17[5][b]

Filing requirements 22.17[2]

Good-faith attempt to confer, certification regarding 22.17[3]

Joint motions 22.17[4]

ND Cal requirements 22.17[5][c]

SD Cal requirements 22.17[5][d]

Checklists

Preparing motion 22.14[1]

Preparing opposition to motion 22.14[2]

Compelling discovery on party's motion

Generally 22.31[1]

Protective order as response 22.31[2]

Compelling mandatory discovery (See COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY)

Electronically stored information not reasonably accessible, undue burden or cost for 22.19[6]

Expedited discovery (See subhead: Rule 26(f) planning meeting, discovery prior to)

Increasing amount of discovery beyond general limits

Depositions allowable, increase in 22.21[1]

Interrogatories allowable, increase in 22.21[2]

Opposition to, basis for 22.21[3]

Joinder of parties (See JOINDER OF PARTIES)

Limits on frequency or extent of discovery

Ample opportunity to obtain information sought, propounding party has had 22.19[5][a]

Burden of showing why discovery should be disallowed 22.19[2]

Burden outweighs likely benefit 22.19[6]

Cumulative, duplicative or inconvenient discovery demands

Reasonableness of demand, establishing 22.19[3][c]

Removing obligation to respond 22.19[3][a]

Shifting cost of responding 22.19[3][b]

Electronically stored information not reasonably accessible 22.19[6]

Information available from more convenient, less burdensome or expensive source 22.19[4]

Lack of ample opportunity as defense 22.19[5][b]

Who may request 22.19[1]

Mental or physical exam and resulting report 22.27

Opposing motions to modify 22.18

Perpetuation of testimony, motion ordering 22.30

Physical or mental exam and resulting report 22.27

Protective orders

Proactive motion 22.32

Responsive to motion compelling discovery 22.31[2]

Response to discovery demands, altering time for

Defeat of motion by showing ample opportunity 22.25[2]

Extending discovery cut-off time

Generally 22.25[1]

Sample format for joint motion to extend 22.72

Shortening of time 22.25[1]

Rule 26(f) planning meeting, discovery prior to

Generally 15.06; 22.23[1]

Administration of justice as basis 22.23[2][a]

"Good cause" as basis

Administration of justice 22.23[2][a]

Opposition to 22.23[3]

Preliminary injunction standard 22.23[2][b]

Opposition to expedited discovery 22.23[3]

Preliminary injunction standard as basis 22.23[2][b]

Sample format for motion for accelerated, pre-conference discovery 22.71

Sanctions for failure to comply with 22.34

Scope of discovery

Generally 22.20[1]

Limits on frequency or extent of discovery (See subhead: Limits on frequency or extent of discovery)

Widening of discovery scope

Generally 22.20[2]

Failure to justify need for 22.20[3]

Sequence or timing of discovery

Convenience as basis 22.24[1]

Hardship as factor 22.24[2]

Interest of justice as basis 22.24[1]

Protective order setting 22.40[2]

SD Cal requirements 22.24[3]

Timing of discovery (See subhead: Sequence or timing of discovery)

When to use 22.16

Widening of discovery scope

Generally 22.20[2]

Failure to justify need for 22.20[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-16

M-16 MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION, JUDICIAL PANEL ON

Admission to practice 2.63[2]

Consolidation, as alternative to 18.02[6][c]

Corporate disclosure statement filing requirements 2.63[8]

Extension of time applications, filing requirements for 2.64

Filing papers with panel

Computer disks, filing and serving of 2.63[3][d]

Electronic case filing (ECF), format and filing requirements for 2.63[3][c]

Original papers and copies required 2.63[3][b]

Proof of service 2.63[3][e]

Where to file 2.63[3][a]

Governing substantive law 2.66

Hearings

Oral arguments

Appearance for 2.65[3]

Requests for 2.65[2]

Scheduling of 2.65[1]

Notice of appearance 2.63[4]

Remand of action (See MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION STATUTE)

Requests for action, requirements for 2.63[5]

Responses to motion 2.63[6], [7]

Rules of procedure 2.63[1]

Sample form: motion for multidistrict litigation treatment 2.93

Termination of action 2.69

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-17

M-17 MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION STATUTE

Generally 2.62[1]

Checklist for actions falling under 2.61

Extension of time applications, filing requirements for 2.64

Governing substantive law 2.66

Practice before Judicial Panel of Multidistrict Litigation (See MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION, JUDICIAL PANEL ON)

Remand of action

Generally 2.62[5]

Authority of transferor court after remand 2.70[5]

Conditional remand orders

Opposition to 2.72[1], [2]

Time requirements for opposition to 2.72[2]

Moving for 2.70[3]

Recording requirements 2.73

Request for remand 2.70[1]

Responding to order to show cause, time limits for 2.70[4]

Severing claims before 2.70[2]

Review of transfer orders 2.62[6]

Sample form: motion for multidistrict litigation treatment 2.93

Separation of claims 2.62[4]

Tag-along actions, transfer of 2.68

Termination of action 2.69

Transferee court and right to retain action for trial 2.71

Transferee district, factors in determining 2.62[3]

Transferring actions

Generally 2.62[2]

Effect of transfer order 2.67

Tag-along actions 2.68

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-18

M-18 MULTIPARTY, MULTIFORUM TRIAL JURISDICTION ACT

Diversity jurisdiction

Generally 2.24

Minimal diversity rule 3.10[4][a]

Removal in minimal diversity cases 3.10[4][b]

Removal in minimal diversity cases 3.10[4][b]

Venue 2.54[15]

140 of 140 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

M

M Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA M-19

M-19 MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY, SANCTIONS FOR (

See SECTION 1927 SANCTIONS)

1 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

N

N Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA N-1

N-1 NATIVE AMERICAN TRIBES

Compulsory joinder rule, applicability of

Proceeding in absence of tribe, possibility of 4.47[3]

Sovereign immunity issues 4.47[1], [2]

United States, suits by 4.47[2]

Diversity jurisdiction (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION)

Federal question jurisdiction, applicability of 2.07[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

N

N Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA N-2

N-2 NOTICE OF RELATED CASES

CD Cal notice of related cases

Generally 6.21[3][a]

Counterstatement opposing transfer 18.03[1][d]

Explanatory statement 18.03[1][b]

Filing requirements 18.03[1][a]

Service requirements 18.03[1][a], [1][c]

ED Cal notice of related cases

Generally 6.21[3][c]

Contents of notice 18.03[2][c]

Definition of related case 18.03[2][a]

Filing requirements 18.03[2][b]

ND Cal administrative motion to consider whether cases should be related

Generally 6.21[3][d]

Contents of motion 18.03[3][d]

Definition of related case 18.03[3][a]

Response to motion 18.03[3][e]

Service of copies 18.03[3][c]

Timely filing, requirement of 18.03[3][b]

SD Cal notice of related cases

Generally 6.21[3][f]

Definition of related action 18.03[4][a]

Duties of counsel 18.03[4][b]

3 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

N

N Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA N-3

N-3 NOTICE OF REMOVAL OF ACTION (

See REMOVAL TO FEDERAL COURT, subhead: Notice of removal)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

O

O Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA O-1

O-1 OFFERS OF JUDGMENT

Generally 31.14

Acceptance requirements

Filing requirements 31.32

Notice requirements 31.30

Service requirements for 31.30

Unconditional requirement 31.31

Written form, must be in 31.31

Attorney's fees, recovery of

Diversity cases 31.17[2][c]

Offeror, availability to 31.17[4]

Post-offer attorney's fees by statute

Fees as costs 31.17[3][a]

Fees as separate from costs 31.17[3][b]

Checklists

Party making offer 31.13[1]

Party responding to offer 31.13[2]

Conditional offers 31.23

Contract principles governing offers

Ambiguities, effect of

Generally 31.27[1]

Availability of fees 31.27[2]

Clarification of offer 31.27[3]

Modification of offer 31.27[3]

Filing requirements

Generally 31.32

Acceptance requirements 31.32

Strike, motion to 31.28[2], [3]

Need to refer to costs 31.18

Recovery of costs under Rule 68

Generally 31.17[1]

Attorney's fees and costs (See subhead: Attorney's fees, recovery of)

Class certification, effect on 31.15[3]

Computing time to make offer 31.15[5]

Court determination of whether judgment more favorable 31.20

Diversity cases

Attorney's fees and costs 31.17[2][c]

Expert witness fees 31.17[2][b]

Preliminary Erie determination 31.17[2][a]

Moot action, offer of complete relief may 31.15[2]

Need to refer to costs 31.18

Post-offer costs, plaintiff may incur 31.16

Purpose of 31.15[1]

Rejected offer, procedure for 31.29

Subsequent offers and 31.26

Time limit for making offer 31.15[4]

Who can make Rule 68 offers 31.21

Winning of judgment as prerequisite 31.19

Rejected offer, procedure for 31.29

Sample forms

Acceptance of offer 31.49

General form for offer 31.48

Service requirements

Generally 31.22

Notice of acceptance 31.30

Shifting of costs (See subhead: Recovery of costs under Rule 68)

Strike, motion to

Deadline for filing 31.28[2]

Filing requirements 31.28[2], [3]

Grounds for 31.28[1]

Subsequent offers 31.26

Time requirements

Generally 31.24

Party found liable, effect if 31.25

Who can make Rule 68 offers 31.21

Winning of judgment as prerequisite for Rule 68 to apply 31.19

5 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

O

O Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA O-2

O-2 ORAL ARGUMENTS

Generally 26.52

CD Cal requirements 26.53[2][a]

Checklist: orally arguing motions 26.51

ED Cal requirements 26.53[2][b]

Governing rules 26.53[1]

ND Cal requirements 26.53[2][c]

Oral motions distinguished 26.06

Sample form--Request for oral argument on motion 26.60

SD Cal requirements 26.53[2][d]

Summary judgment, use in preparing motion for

Motion in favor of summary judgment 29.07[5]

Opposing motion for summary judgment 29.16[8]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

O

O Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA O-3

O-3 ORAL DEPOSITIONS

Generally 23.20

Additional parts of deposition with part previously introduced, consideration of 23.73

Admissibility, objections as to 23.72

Advantages of 23.02[2]

Award of expenses

Noticing party fails to attend 23.54

Witness does not attend due to noticing party's failure to serve subpoena 23.55

Certification and delivery of deposition

Annexation of items produced during examination 23.62[3]

CD Cal requirements: control of original 23.62[6][a]

Deposition officer's duties

Certification duties 23.62[1]

Delivery duties 23.62[4]

ED Cal requirements: custody and maintenance 23.62[6][b]

ND Cal requirements

Delivery and storage 23.62[6][c]

Numbering of pages 23.62[2]

SD Cal requirements 23.62[6][d]

Storage duties of recipient attorney 23.62[5]

Checklists

Compelling attendance, testimony or production 23.56

Conducting oral deposition 23.42

Giving notice of oral deposition 23.27

Objecting to conduct of oral deposition 23.47

Obtaining copies and review transcript

Deponent's checklist 23.60[1]

Noticing party's checklist 23.60[2]

Opposing party's checklist 23.60[3]

Party intending to use deposition 23.67[1]

Party seeking to prevent use of deposition 23.67[2]

Planning oral depositions 23.19

Responding to notice of deposition 23.36

Compelling attendance, testimony or production

Checklist 23.56

Compelling deponent to answer question or produce materials 23.59

Failure of nonparty deponent to comply with subpoena as contempt 23.58

Failure to appear, sanctions for 23.57

Conduct of deposition

Beginning of deposition, indicating 23.46[1]

End of deposition, indicating 23.46[7]

Examination and cross-examination procedures (See subhead: Examination and cross-examination procedures)

Numbering exhibits (See subhead: Numbering exhibits)

Oath, administration of 23.46[2]

Objecting to conduct of oral deposition (See subhead: Objecting to conduct of oral deposition)

Protective order as response to (See subhead: Protective order as response to)

Recording of testimony (See subhead: Recording of testimony)

Stipulations, setting forth of 23.46[7]

Copies of recording

Deposition officer's duties 23.63

Who may obtain copies

Nonparties to action 23.64[2]

Parties to action 23.64[1]

Corporation, partnership, association or agency as deponent

Designation of individuals to testify 23.30[2]

Matters on which examination requested 23.30[1]

Specific individuals, naming of 23.30[3]

Deposition officer

Authorization requirements for 23.43

Conflicts of interest, prohibition on 23.44

Objecting to officer, sample form for 23.291

Disadvantages of 23.02[2]

Duration of deposition, limits on

Additional time, circumstances requiring 23.21[3][b], [3][c]

Delay as cause for sanction 23.21[3][d]

Impediment or delay as cause for sanction 23.21[3][d]

Shorter duration ordered by court 23.21[3][e]

Standard length allowed 23.21[3][a]

Examination and cross-examination procedures

Access to material to refresh deponent's memory 23.46[4][b]

Applicable rules of evidence 23.46[4][a]

No conferring between opposing counsel 23.46[4][c]

Objections, noting of 23.46[6]

Recording and transcription costs (See subhead: Recording and transcription costs)

Recording of testimony (See subhead: Recording of testimony)

Written questions in lieu of oral testimony 23.46[5]

Filing requirements

Generally 23.65[1]

CD Cal requirements 23.65[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 23.65[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 23.65[2][c]

Notice-related 23.33[2]

Foreign countries, depositions taken in (See INTERNATIONAL DISCOVERY)

Formatting requirements

Generally 23.71[1]

CD Cal requirements 23.71[4]

Nonstenographic deposition testimony 23.71[3]

SD Cal requirements 23.71[2]

Leave of court requirements

Generally 23.23

Already deposed, person was 23.25[3]

Before discovery plan agreement, when deposition to occur 23.25[4]

Incarcerated deponent 23.25[1]

More than 10 depositions 23.25[2]

Limits placed on depositions

Duration of (See subhead: Duration of deposition, limits on)

"Excessive or unreasonable" discovery 23.26

Number of depositions 23.21[2]

Modification of deposition procedures (See DISCOVERY STIPULATIONS, subhead: Deposition procedures, modification of)

Motion to suppress, time requirements for 23.66

Notice requirements

Generally 23.28

Checklist 23.27

Corporation, partnership, association or agency as deponent (See subhead: Corporation, partnership, association or agency as deponent)

Filing requirements for notice 23.33[2]

Nonparty deponents 23.33[3]

Sample forms (See subhead: Sample forms)

Service requirements for notice

Generally 23.33[1]

Nonparty deponents 23.33[3]

Written notice requirements (See subhead: Written notice requirements)

Numbering exhibits

CD Cal requirements 23.46[8][a]

ED Cal requirements 23.46[8][b]

ND Cal requirements 23.46[8][c]

SD Cal requirements 23.46[8][d]

Number of depositions, limits on 23.21[2]

Objecting to conduct of oral deposition

Checklist 23.47

Competency of witness or testimony 23.49

Deposition officer, qualifications of 23.48

Errors or irregularities during deposition

Generally 23.50

Sample form 23.291

Questioning, objections to 23.51

Witness not to answer, instructing

Allowable circumstances 23.52[1]

Beyond scope described in notice, when question goes 23.52[2]

Objections as to admissibility 23.72

Objections to notice

Generally 23.37[1]

Deposition officer as basis, objections to 23.39

Errors or irregularities in notice as basis 23.38

Preparation, importance of 23.37[2]

Priority in setting depositions 23.24

Prison inmates

Inability to attend proceedings due to incarceration 23.69[3][c]

Leave of court requirements 23.25[1]

Pro se deponents, notice requirements involving 23.29[6]

Protective order as response to

Generally 23.53[1]

Award of expenses to prevailing party 23.41[5]; 23.53[5]

Good-faith attempt to resolve dispute 23.41[2]

Grounds for order 23.53[2]

Limiting examination pending 23.53[3]

Partial denial of order 23.41[4]

Relief available under 23.41[3]; 23.53[3], [5]

Sample form 23.293

Termination of deposition pending 23.53[3], [4]

Time requirements 22.53[2][c]

Who can make motion 23.41[1]

Recording and transcription costs

Additional methods of recording 23.34[3]; 23.46[9]

SD Cal requirements 23.34[2]

Who bears cost 23.34[1]

Recording of testimony

Generally 23.46[2]

Copies of recording (See subhead: Copies of recording)

Costs for (See subhead: Recording and transcription costs)

Nonstenographic recording

Distortion of appearance or demeanor, prohibition on 23.46[3][b]

Identification requirements 23.46[3][a]

Request for production accompanying notice 23.32

Responding to notice of deposition

Checklist 23.36

Motion to quash deposition notice or subpoena 23.40

Objections to notice (See subhead: Objections to notice)

Protective order, motion for (See subhead: Protective order as response to)

Review of transcript, request for

Deposition officer's duties 23.61[4]

Statement of changes and reasons for changes 23.61[3]

Striking of changes for failure to follow procedure 23.61[5]

Time limits to review 23.61[2]

Time requirements for request 23.61[1]

Rule 11 sanctions, use as basis for 33.20

Sample forms

Notice of deposition 23.289

Notice of motion and motion for leave to take deposition 23.290

Notice of motion and motion for protective order during deposition in progress 23.293

Notice of motion and motion to take deposition by telephone or other electronic means 23.292

Objections to errors or irregularities in notice of deposition or to deposition officer 23.291

Service requirements for notice

Generally 23.33[1]

Nonparty deponents 23.33[3]

Stenographic notes of 23.63

Stipulated modification of deposition procedures (See DISCOVERY STIPULATIONS, subhead: Deposition procedures, modification of)

Subsequent actions, use in 23.54

Substitution of parties, effect of 23.74

Telephone or video conference depositions, allowability of

Generally 23.31

Sample form 23.292

Time requirements

Duration of deposition, limits on (See subhead: Duration of deposition, limits on)

Motion to suppress 23.66

When they can be taken 23.21[1]

Transcription costs (See subhead: Recording and transcription costs)

Usefulness of 23.02[2]

Use of deposition

Generally 23.68

Adverse party's uses 23.69[2]

Checklists

Party intending to use deposition 23.67[1]

Party seeking to prevent use of deposition 23.67[2]

Dead witness 23.69[3][a]

Exceptional circumstances 23.69[3][e]

Exceptions to

Party who received less than 11 days' notice and moved for protection order 23.70[2]

Party who was unable to obtain counsel for deposition taken early and without leave of court 23.70[1]

Impeachment of deponent as witness 23.69[1]

Objections to admissibility of deposition, effect of 23.69[4]

Subpoena, unable to procure attendance by 23.69[3][d]

Unavailable witnesses

Age, cannot attend due to 23.69[3][c]

Dead witness 23.69[3][a]

Exceptional circumstances 23.69[3][e]

Illness, cannot attend due to 23.69[3][c]

Imprisonment, cannot attend due to 23.25[1]; 23.69[3][c]

Infirmity, cannot attend due to 23.69[3][c]

More than 100 miles from place of trial 23.69[3][b]

Subpoena, unable to procure attendance by 23.69[3][d]

Video conference depositions, allowability of 23.31

Who may be deposed

Generally 23.22[1]

Corporate deponents

"Managing" agent defined 23.22[2][b]

Persons who qualify 23.22[2][a]

Counsel, depositions of 23.22[3]

Experts to present testimony at trial 23.22[4]

Witness not to answer, instructing

Allowable circumstances 23.52[1]

Beyond scope described in notice, when question goes 23.52[2]

Written notice requirements

Materials to be produced 23.29[4]

Name and address of deponent 23.29[3]

ND Cal requirement re: scheduling with opposing counsel or pro se deponent 23.29[6]

Place of deposition 23.29[2]

Recording method 23.29[5]

Subpoena duces tecum, materials to be produced pursuant to 23.29[4]

Time of deposition 23.29[2]

Who must receive notice 23.29[1]

Written questions in lieu of 23.46[5]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

O

O Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA O-4

O-4 ORAL MOTIONS

Availability of 26.06

Checklist: making pretrial oral motions 26.05

Oral argument distinguished 26.06

Restrictions on

Generally 26.06

CD Cal requirements 26.07[1]

ED Cal requirements 26.07[2]

ND Cal requirements 26.07[3]

SD Cal requirements 26.07[4]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

O

O Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA O-5

O-5 ORDERS (GENERALLY)

CD Cal requirements 26.55[3][a]

Checklist 26.54

Contents of order 26.55[2]

ED Cal requirements 26.55[3][b]

Final pretrial order (See FINAL PRETRIAL ORDER)

Injunctive relief, orders for (See INJUNCTIVE RELIEF)

Interim pretrial conference orders (See INTERIM PRETRIAL CONFERENCE ORDERS)

ND Cal requirements 26.55[3][c]

Protective orders (See PROTECTIVE ORDERS)

Relevance, as means of expanding 24.11

Sample form--Order granting or denying motion 26.64

Scheduling order (See SCHEDULING ORDER)

SD Cal requirements 26.55[3][d]

Temporary restraining orders (tro) (See TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDERS (TRO))

Who prepares order 26.55[1]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-1

P-1 PATENT ACTIONS

Antitrust counterclaims, permissive vs. compulsory status of 11.09[3][f]

CD Cal requirements 6.21[12]

Early neutral evaluation (ENE) in ND Cal, written statement requirements for 32.22[3]

Federal question jurisdiction 2.06[2][a]; 2.08[2]

Filing requirements 6.21[12]

Intervention as of right 14.06[3]

Joinder of multiple plaintiffs, claims of 6.10[2][c]

Jurisdiction

Federal question subject matter jurisdiction 2.06[2][a]

Personal jurisdiction 2.31[4]

Personal jurisdiction 2.31[4]

Preparing claims: CD Cal requirements 6.21[12]

Separate trials (bifurcation), use of 18.35[2]

Venue, determination of 2.54[8]

10 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-2

P-2 PERMISSIVE JOINDER OF PARTIES (

See JOINDER OF PARTIES)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-3

P-3 PERPETUATION OF TESTIMONY

Generally 23.02[1]

Checklists

Opposing petition to perpetuate 23.13

Petitioning for perpetuation 23.03

Content requirements for petition

Adverse parties, names of 23.07[6]

Expectation of action 23.07[2]

Facts of testimony 23.07[4]

Name of petitioner 23.07[1]

Persons to be examined, names of 23.07[7]

Reasons for perpetuation 23.07[5]

Request for order 23.07[8]

Subject matter, description of 23.07[3]

Verification 23.07[9]

Declaratory relief as alternative to 23.04[4][b]

Depositions taken for, rules governing 23.12

Determination of information sought 23.04[2]

Filing and notice requirements

Aliens, effect if all adverse parties are 23.08[2]

Opposing petition for perpetuation 23.16

Sample forms

Notice of petition for perpetuation of testimony 23.287

Petition for perpetuation of testimony 23.286

Service requirements

Rule 4(d) requirements 23.08[6]

Timing 23.08[5]

Who must be served 23.08[3]

Statements required in notice 23.08[4]

Venue 23.08[1]

Findings required in order for 23.11

Inapplicable uses for Rule 27 23.06

Notice requirements (See subhead: Filing and notice requirements)

Opposing petition for perpetuation

Generally 23.14

Checklist 23.13

Filing requirements 23.16

Grounds for 23.15

Responses to 23.17

Sanctions available 23.18

Pre-action discovery available under Rule 27 (See subhead: Rule 27, pre-action discovery available under)

Procedural requirements 23.04[3]

Purpose of 23.04[1]

Requests for other types of discovery

Deposition not required 23.10[2]

Entry on land 23.10[1]

Physical and mental examinations 23.10[1]

Production of documents and things 23.10[1]

Rule 27, pre-action discovery available under

Anticipated action requirement

Generally 23.05[2]

Civil in nature 23.05[4]

Federal jurisdiction, existence of 23.05[3]

"Cognizable" requirement 23.05[1]

Inapplicable uses for Rule 27 23.06

Prevention of failure or delay of justice 23.05[5]

Trial court's discretion 23.05[6]

Sample forms

Notice of petition for perpetuation of testimony 23.287

Order authorizing perpetuation of testimony 23.288

Petition for perpetuation of testimony 23.286

Showing requirements

Generally 23.04[3]

Anticipation of litigation 23.09[1]

Risk of losing evidence

"Significant risk" required 23.09[3][a]

Urgency, factors indicating 23.09[3][b]

Testimony sought, description of 23.09[2]

Stipulation as alternative to 23.04[4][a]

Use of evidence gathered by 23.04[5]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-4

P-4 PERSONAL JURISDICTION

California's long-arm statutes

"Doing business" statutes and out-of-state corporations 2.38[2]

Due process test 2.38[1]

Out-of-state corporations and "doing business" statutes 2.38[2]

Challenges to

Generally 2.41[1]

Avoiding waiver of objection to jurisdiction 2.41[3]

Opposition to 2.41[2]

Transfer of case to court where venue and jurisdiction proper 2.41[4]

Waiver of service compared 7.19[1]

Consent, jurisdiction based on

Appearance as consent 2.33[1]

Forum selection clauses, enforcement of 2.33[2]

Consolidation, effect of 18.06[5]

Counterdefendants 11.12

Crossclaims and 11.34

Defined 2.31[1]

Dismissal based on lack of

Avoidance of waiver

Prompt raising of defense 8.18[1][b]

Properly pressing defense 8.18[1][c]

Burden of establishing jurisdiction 8.18[2][a]

Checklist for preparing motion 8.14[4]

Due process considerations 8.18[1][a]

Evidence submission outside pleading 8.18[1][d]

Evidentiary hearing, request for 8.18[1][f]

Jurisdictional discovery

Generally 8.18[1][e]

Court authorization of 8.18[2][d]

Not on the merits and without prejudice 8.18[2][e]

Preponderance showing if evidentiary hearing held 8.18[2][c]

Prima facie showing when no hearing held 8.18[2][b]

Prompt raising of defense, avoiding waiver by 8.18[1][b]

Properly pressing defense, avoiding waiver by 8.18[1][c]

Sample form 8.34

Submission of evidence outside pleading 8.18[1][d]

Summary judgment distinguished 29.05[7][b]

Transfer by court in lieu of dismissal 8.18[2][f]

Domicile as basis 2.34

Due process requirements 2.31[2]

Electronic communications issues

Minimum contacts with forum, jurisdiction based on 2.35[3]

Website cases

General jurisdiction in 2.36[6]

Specific jurisdiction in 2.37[3]

General jurisdiction, invoking

Generally 2.36[1]

"Continuous, systematic and substantial" connections requirement 2.36[2], [3]

Nonresident defendants 2.36[3]

Personal service in state as basis for 2.36[4]

Purchasing activities and incidental contacts as basis 2.36[5]

Website cases 2.36[6]

In rem jurisdiction and 7.51[1]

Lack of jurisdiction

Motion to dismiss under rule 12(b) (See subhead: Dismissal based on lack of)

Sample form 8.34

Waiver of

Generally 2.31[3]

Avoiding waiver of objection to jurisdiction 2.41[3]

Minimum contacts with forum as basis

Electronic communications issues 2.35[3]

Factors considered 2.35[1]

Fundamental fairness requirements 2.35[2]

Opposition to (See subhead: Challenges to)

Patent cases 2.31[4]

Pendant personal jurisdiction doctrine, defense of other claims invoked by 2.37[4]

Pleading requirements 6.07[7]

Presence in forum state, jurisdiction based on 2.32

Property-based jurisdiction (See IN REM JURISDICTION)

Sample form: motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction 8.34

Service of process as means of invoking (See SERVICE OF PROCESS, subhead: Personal jurisdiction, cases involving)

Specific jurisdiction, invoking

Basis for 2.37[1]

Pendant personal jurisdiction doctrine, defense of other claims invoked by 2.37[4]

Stream of commerce cases 2.37[2]

Website cases 2.37[3]

Third-party complaints

Service of summons requirements 12.08[2][b]

"Sufficient contacts" requirement 12.08[2][a]

Waiver of jurisdiction 12.08[2][c]

Transfer of case to court where venue and jurisdiction proper 2.41[4]

Waiver of lack of

Generally 2.31[3]

Avoiding waiver of objection to jurisdiction 2.41[3]

Website cases

General jurisdiction, invoking 2.36[6]

Specific jurisdiction, invoking 2.37[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-5

P-5 PHYSICAL AND MENTAL EXAMINATIONS

Generally 23.02[7]; 23.190

Agreeing or stipulating to examination

Generally 23.195

Checklist 23.194

"In writing" requirement 23.196

Rule 35 restrictions, applicability of 23.197

Attendance of third parties (including counsel), limits on 23.204[2]

Checklists

Agreeing or stipulating to examination 23.194

Examination report, obtaining and using 23.212

Initial considerations 23.189

Moving for examination of party 23.198

Opposing request for motion for examination 23.210

Sanctions for noncompliance with court order for 23.205

Discovery motion ordering exam and resulting report 22.27

Discovery stipulation concerning conduct of 22.11[5]

Examination report, obtaining and using

Checklist 23.212

Compelling production of report

Examined party's rights 23.214[1]

Exclusion of evidence for failure to produce report 23.214[2]

Duty of disclosure requirements for same condition

Any other prior or future examination 23.215[2]

Earlier examinations 23.215[1]

Privilege, effect on 23.215[3]

Examined party's rights to

Compelling production of report 23.214[1]

Noticed motion examinations, after 23.213[1]

Stipulated examinations, after 23.213[2]

Exclusion of evidence for failure to produce report 23.214[2]

Non-Rule 35 means of 23.216

Opposing request for motion for exam, as basis for 23.211[7]

Examiner, qualifications for

Choice of examiner 23.193[2]

Licensing or certification requirements 23.193[1]

Examiner's report, requests for copies of 21.07[4][b]

"Good cause" for exam, establishing

Burden of proof 23.203[1]

Necessity to discover specific relevant facts through exam as basis 23.203[2]

"Good cause" for examination, establishing

Balancing privacy concerns vs. need for examination 23.203[5]

Other source may obviate need for examination 23.203[3]

Prior examination may obviate need for second examination 23.203[4]

"In controversy" requirement

Burden of proof 23.202[1]

Mental condition in controversy, showing that

"Garden variety" emotional distress or mental anguish, claims of 23.202[4][a]

Ongoing mental injury as 23.202[4][b]

Stipulation by party to be examined as basis 23.202[4][c]

Physical condition in controversy, showing that 23.202[3]

Who places condition in controversy 23.202[2]

Limiting conditions of examination (See subhead: Setting and limiting conditions of examination)

Motion for examination of party

Generally 23.199

Checklist 23.198

"Good cause" for exam, establishing (See subhead: "Good cause" for exam, establishing)

"In controversy" requirement (See subhead: "In controversy" requirement)

Limiting conditions of examination (See subhead: Setting and limiting conditions of examination)

Opposing request for motion for examination (See subhead: Opposing request for motion for examination)

Sample form 23.310

Setting and limiting conditions of examination (See subhead: Setting and limiting conditions of examination)

Standard motion procedure requirements 23.201

Time requirements

After preliminary discovery conference 23.200[1]

Before close of discovery 23.200[2]

Early exams to aid in preservation of evidence 23.200[3]

Preservation of evidence, early exams to aid in 23.200[3]

Noncompliance with court order for examination (See subhead: Sanctions for noncompliance with court order for)

Opposing request for motion for examination

Benefits of opposition, determination of 23.211[1]

Checklist 23.210

Examination report, options for obtaining 23.211[7]

Good-faith attempt at negotiation as prerequisite 23.211[2]

Interview client after examination to root out discrepancies 23.211[6]

Preparation of client for examination 23.211[5]

Protective order as relief 23.211[4]

Scope of examination as basis 23.211[3]

Perpetuation of testimony, as part of 23.10[1]

Persons subject to examination

Custody or control of party, persons in 23.192[2]

Nonparties to action 23.192[3]

Parties to action 23.192[1]

Protective order as relief from motion for 23.211[4]

Recording requirements 23.204[3]

Requirements for 21.07[4][a]

Sample forms

Notice of motion and motion requesting physical or mental examination 23.310

Order granting motion for physical or mental examination 23.311

Sanctions for noncompliance with court order for

Checklist 23.205

Contempt as sanction, allowability of 23.209

Inability to produce examinee as excuse 23.207

Motion for 23.206

Rule 37(b) sanctions 25.30[3]

Types of sanctions available 23.208; 25.30[3]

Setting and limiting conditions of examination

Attendance of third parties (including counsel), limits on 23.204[2]

Recording requirements 23.204[3]

Specification of conditions in motion 23.204[1]

Stipulating to examination (See subhead: Agreeing or stipulating to examination)

Who may seek 23.191

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-6

P-6 PHYSICIAN-PATIENT PRIVILEGE

California law

"Confidential communication" defined 24.43[2]

Express statutory exceptions 24.43[7]

Patient as holder of privilege

Generally 24.43[3]

Physician or other representative claiming privilege on patient's behalf 24.43[4]

"Patient" defined 24.43[1]

"Physician" defined 24.43[1]

Physician's duty to claim privilege 24.43[5]

Placing medical condition in controversy, effect of 24.43[6]

Waiver of privilege by placing medical condition in controversy 24.43[6]

Checklist 24.41

Diversity actions, applicable law in (See subhead: California law)

Federal law on 24.42

Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPPA) distinguished 24.42

15 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-7

P-7 PLANT VARIETY PROTECTION

Preparing claims: CD Cal requirements 6.21[12]

16 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-8

P-8 PLEADINGS

Amendment of pleadings

Generally (See AMENDING PLEADINGS BEFORE TRIAL)

Evidence, amending pleadings to conform to (See AMENDING PLEADINGS TO CONFORM TO EVIDENCE)

Formatting requirements (See FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS AND OTHER PAPERS)

Joinder of claims (See JOINDER OF CLAIMS)

Joinder of parties (See JOINDER OF PARTIES)

More definite statement, motions for (See MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT, MOTIONS FOR)

Signature requirements (See SIGNATURE REQUIREMENTS)

Strike, motions to (See STRIKE, MOTIONS TO)

Supplemental pleadings (See SUPPLEMENTAL PLEADINGS)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-9

P-9 PREPARATION OF COMPLAINT

Admiralty and maritime claims (See ADMIRALTY AND MARITIME SUITS)

Adoption of allegations by reference

Generally 6.09[1][i]

Statements in exhibit 6.09[1][j]

Unattached written document 6.09[1][k]

Affirmative defenses, addressing of (See AFFIRMATIVE DEFENSES)

Anonymous pleadings (See FICTITIOUS NAMES)

Capacity, authority or legal status (See CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES)

Certification under Rule 11 (See SIGNATURE REQUIREMENTS, subhead: Certification under Rule 11)

Checklist 6.03

Class actions (See CLASS ACTIONS, subhead: Pleading requirements)

Conditions of mind

Generally 6.11[3][a]

Defendant's motion for more definite statement 6.11[3][c]

Scienter, general allegation of 6.11[3][b]

Conditions precedent, pleading

General allegation 6.11[5][a]

Sample forms

General form 6.29

Nonperformance of conditions precedent 6.30

Specific denial of performance or occurrence

Generally 6.11[5][b]

Sample form 6.30

Copies of complaint

Generally 6.17[1], [2]

CD Cal requirements 6.17[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 6.17[3][b]

ND Cal requirements 6.17[3][c]

SD Cal requirements 6.17[3][d]

Copyright actions 6.11[11]

Court-supplied complaint forms 6.04[2]

Definition of complaint 6.02

Demand for judgment (prayer) (See subhead: Demand for relief)

Demand for relief

Alternative or multiple forms of relief 6.12[1][c]

Counterclaims, use in 11.20[4]

Default cases, effect in 6.12[2][b]

Effect of 6.12[2][a]-[c]

Equitable relief cases, effect in 6.12[2][c]

General demand for relief 6.12[1][b]

Jury demand (See JURY DEMAND)

Multiple forms of relief 6.12[1][c]

Non-default cases, effect in 6.12[2][a]

Sample form 6.31

Statement requirements 6.12[1][a]

Designation requirements

Generally 6.06[6][a]

CD Cal requirements 6.06[6][b]

ED Cal requirements 6.06[6][c]

ND Cal requirements 6.06[6][d]

SD Cal requirements 6.06[6][e]

Diversity jurisdiction, pleading of (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Pleading requirements)

Dividing statement into paragraphs

Class action allegations: CD Cal requirements 6.09[2][d]

Compound allegations 6.09[2][c]

Numbering requirements 6.09[2][a]

Single set of circumstances 6.09[2][b]

Exhibits, attachment of

Generally 6.16[1]

CD Cal requirements 6.16[5][a]

Controvertment of statements in exhibit 6.16[3]

Formatting of exhibits (See FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS AND OTHER PAPERS, subhead: Exhibits, formatting of)

Reference to exhibit without attachment 6.16[4]

SD Cal requirements 6.16[5][b]

Treatment of 6.16[2]

Ex parte temporary restraining order 6.11[13]

Failure to comply with pleading requirements

Generally 6.04[4][b]

Format requirements, effect of violation of 6.04[4][a]

Fictitious names, use of (See FICTITIOUS NAMES)

Formatting requirements (See FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS AND OTHER PAPERS)

Fraud or mistake, pleading (See FRAUD OR MISTAKE)

Interpleader, sample complaint for 4.61

Joinder of claims (See JOINDER OF CLAIMS)

Joinder of parties (See JOINDER OF PARTIES)

Joined parties, identification of 6.08[7]

Judgment, pleading 6.11[7]

Jurisdiction, statement of (See JURISDICTION)

Jury demand (See JURY DEMAND)

Justiciability requirements, satisfaction of

Generally 6.07[6][a]

Declaratory relief actions (See DECLARATORY RELIEF ACTIONS)

Legal theories, use of

Generally 6.09[1][e]

Alternate theories 6.09[1][f]

Inconsistent theories 6.09[1][f]

Relief sought, effect on 6.09[1][g]

Local practice rules

CD Cal requirements: Three-judge requirement 6.08[8][a]; 6.11[14][a]

ED Cal requirements: Social security number in certain actions 6.11[14][b]

ND Cal requirements: Certification of interested persons 6.11[14][c]

SD Cal requirements: Three-judge court 6.11[14][d]

Notice pleading requirements

Essential elements 6.04[1][a]

Extraneous material, exclusion of 6.04[1][c]

Fair notice of claim 6.04[1][b]

Supplemental pleading requirements 6.04[1][d]

Official document or Act, pleading 6.11[6]

Paragraphs, dividing statement into (See subhead: Dividing statement into paragraphs)

Personal jurisdiction, pleading of 6.07[7]

Place and time, allegation of (See subhead: Time and place, allegation of)

Prayer demanding relief (See subhead: Demand for relief)

Sample forms

Breach of contract as basis for claim 6.26

Conditions precedent, pleading

General form 6.29

Nonperformance of conditions precedent 6.30

Copyright infringement as basis for claim 6.27

Demand for judgment (prayer) 6.31

Diversity jurisdiction, allegations of 6.24

Federal question jurisdiction, allegations of 6.23

Federal statute as basis for claim: copyright infringement 6.27

General complaint 6.22

Local district court forms 6.34

Securities fraud, allegation of 6.28

State common law as basis for claim: breach of contract 6.26

Supplemental jurisdiction, statement of 6.25

Verification of complaint 6.32

Separate counts

Generally 6.09[3][a]

Defendant's options if separate counts missing 6.09[3][d]

Times needed 6.09[3][b]

Times not needed 6.09[3][c]

Service with complaint 6.19[1]

Shareholder derivative suits (See SHAREHOLDER DERIVATIVE SUITS)

Short and plain statement of each claim

Generally 6.09[1][a]

Adoption of allegations by reference (See subhead: Adoption of allegations by reference)

Affirmative defenses, addressing of 6.09[1][h]; 8.10[3]

Counterclaims, use in 11.20[3]

Dividing statement into paragraphs (See subhead: Dividing statement into paragraphs)

Evidentiary facts, necessity of 6.09[1][c]

Information and belief as basis 6.09[1][d]

Legal theories, use of (See subhead: Legal theories, use of)

Sample form: breach of contract 6.26

"Sufficient facts" requirement 6.09[1][b]

Signature requirements (See SIGNATURE REQUIREMENTS)

Special damages, pleading of

Defined 6.11[9][b]

Drafting requirements 6.11[9][d]

Failure to plead, effect of 6.11[9][e]

Libel claims 6.11[9][c]

Specificity requirements 6.11[9][a]

Supplemental jurisdiction, pleading of

Applicability of jurisdiction 6.07[5][a]

Establishment of jurisdiction 6.07[5][b]

Three-judge court, request for

CD Cal requirements 6.06[8][a]; 6.11[14][a]

SD Cal requirements 6.06[8][b]

Time and place, allegation of

Insufficient allegations, effect of 6.11[8][c]

Necessity, determination of 6.11[8][b]

Precision requirements 6.11[8][a]

Venue requirements 6.07[7]

Verification of complaint

Generally 6.15[1]

CD Cal: request for temporary receiver 6.15[2]

Direct knowledge, necessity of 6.15[5]

Obligations on defendant to verify answer 6.15[6]

Sample form 6.32

Signature on verification, effect of 6.15[3]

Temporary receiver, request for 6.15[2]

Who must sign 6.15[4]

Websites of district courts, court-supplied complaint forms available from 6.04[2]

18 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-10

P-10 PREPARATION OF SUMMONS

"All elements" requirement 6.19[3][a]

CD Cal requirements

Civil cover sheet 6.20[2][a]

Identification of interested parties 6.21[2][a]

In forma pauperis, applying for leave to proceed 6.21[6][c]

Related cases, designation of

Notice of pendency of other action or proceeding 6.21[3][b]

Notice of related cases 6.21[3][a]

Seal, application to file complaint under 6.21[7][a]

Temporary restraining order, application for 6.21[8][b]

Checklist 6.18

Civil cover sheet (See CIVIL COVER SHEET)

Class actions subject to Private Securities Litigation Reform Act (PSLRA) (See PRIVATE SECURITIES LITIGATION REFORM ACT OF 1995 (PSLRA), subhead: Class actions)

Constitutionality, notice of claim challenging

Generally 6.21[9][a]

ED Cal requirements 6.21[9][b]

ND Cal requirements 6.21[9][c]

Corporate disclosure statement, filing of (See CORPORATE DISCLOSURE STATEMENTS)

Court clerk's role 6.19[5]

Cover pages (See CIVIL COVER SHEET)

Definition of summons 6.02

Designation of counsel for service: ED Cal requirements 6.21[4]

ED Cal requirements

Civil cover sheet 6.20[2][b]

Constitutionality, notice of claim challenging 6.21[9][b]

Designation of counsel for service 6.21[4]

Minor or incompetent, establishing or securing representation for 6.21[5]

Related cases, notice of 6.21[3][c]

Seal, application to file complaint under 6.21[7][c]

Temporary restraining order, application for 6.21[8][c]

Three-judge court 6.21[10]

Elements required 6.19[3][a]

Errors in summons, effect of 6.19[6]

Forms used (See SERVICE OF PROCESS, subhead: Forms)

Identification of interested parties

CD Cal requirements 6.21[2][a]

ND Cal requirements 6.21[2][b]

In forma pauperis, applying for leave to proceed

Affidavit requirements 6.21[6][b]

CD Cal requirements 6.21[6][c]

Court permission requirements 6.21[6][a]

ND Cal requirements 6.21[6][d]

SD Cal requirements 6.21[6][e]

Minor or incompetent, establishing or securing representation for 6.21[5]

ND Cal requirements

Civil cover sheet 6.20[2][c]

Constitutionality, notice of claim challenging 6.21[9][c]

Identification of interested parties 6.21[2][b]

In forma pauperis, applying for leave to proceed 6.21[6][d]

Related cases, designation of

Administrative motion whether cases should be related 6.21[3][d]

Notice of pendency of other action or proceeding 6.21[3][e]

Seal, application to file complaint under 6.21[7][b]

Temporary restraining order, application for 6.21[8][d]

Related cases, designation of

Notice of pendency of other action or proceeding

CD Cal requirements 6.21[3][b]

ND Cal requirements 6.21[3][e]

Notice of related cases (See NOTICE OF RELATED CASES)

Sample summons 6.33

SD Cal requirements

Civil cover sheet 6.20[2][d]

In forma pauperis, applying for leave to proceed 6.21[6][e]

Related cases, notice of 6.21[3][f]

Seal, application to file complaint under 6.21[7][d]

Seal, application to file complaint under

CD Cal requirements 6.21[7][a]

ED Cal requirements 6.21[7][c]

ND Cal requirements 6.21[7][b]

SD Cal requirements 6.21[7][d]

Separate summons requirements for each defendant 6.19[4]

Temporary restraining order, application for (See TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDERS (TRO), subhead: Application for order)

Three-judge court: ED Cal requirement 6.21[10]

Waiver of service (See SERVICE OF PROCESS, subhead: Waiver of service)

19 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-11

P-11 PRETRIAL CONFERENCES

Authority for 16.04[1]

Binding nature of scheduling order 16.09

Checklists

Failure to comply with pretrial duties, conduct that qualifies as 17.16

Participating in scheduling conference 16.03

Discovery planning conference (See RULE 26(f) CONFERENCE)

Exemptions from scheduling order requirement (See SCHEDULING ORDER)

Failure to comply with pretrial duties

Checklist of conduct qualifying as 17.16

Sanctionable conduct (See subhead: Sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial duties)

Final pretrial conference (See FINAL PRETRIAL CONFERENCE)

Final pretrial order (See FINAL PRETRIAL ORDER)

Initial status conference (See RULE 26(f) CONFERENCE)

Interim pretrial conference orders (See INTERIM PRETRIAL CONFERENCE ORDERS)

Interim pretrial conferences (See INTERIM PRETRIAL CONFERENCES)

Judges' practices, effect of 16.04[3]

Local rules, effect of 16.04[3]

Mandatory contact rule (See SCHEDULING ORDER, subhead: Mandatory contact rule)

Purpose of 16.04[2]

Rule 16 sanctions (See subhead: Sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial duties)

Rule 26(f) conference (See RULE 26(f) CONFERENCE)

Sample disclosure statement under Rule 26(a)(3) 17.25

Sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial duties

Generally 33.12[1]

Attendance, lack of 17.17[1][a]

Bad faith requirements 17.17[1][b], [2]

Court's discretion in selection of sanction

Generally 17.17[5][a]

Range of sanction available 17.17[5][b]

Good-faith participation in conference, lack of 17.17[1][b]

Local rules, violation of 17.17[1][d]

Motion as means of imposing 17.17[3]; 22.34

Notice requirements 17.17[4]

Preparation for conference was inadequate 17.17[1][a]

Pretrial order, failure to obey 17.17[1][c]

Settlement conference, failure to attend 17.17[1][a]

Sua sponte as means of imposing 17.17[3]

Unprepared attorney 17.17[1][a]

Scheduling conference (See SCHEDULING CONFERENCE)

Scheduling order (See SCHEDULING ORDER)

Settlement conferences (See SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES)

Supplemental disclosures

Generally 17.24[1]

Expert witness disclosures, concurrent filing of 17.24[2]

Terminology used 16.05; 17.04[1]

20 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-12

P-12 PRETRIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(3)

CD Cal requirements

Exhibit list 17.20[1][b]

Witness list 17.20[1][a]

Checklist 17.18

Deposition testimony 17.19[3]

Documents and exhibits, identification of 17.19[4]

ED Cal requirements

Exhibit list 17.20[2][b]

Witness list 17.20[2][a]

Evidence to be presented at trial, information related to 17.19[1]

Exhibits, identification of 17.19[4]

Expert witness disclosures (See EXPERT WITNESS DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(2))

Impeachment information 17.19[5]

Initial disclosure requirements (See INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1))

"In writing" requirement for 17.23

Local district court forms 17.26

ND Cal requirements 17.20[3]

Objections to certain evidence, filing requirements for 17.22

SD Cal requirements

Exhibit list 17.20[4][b]

Witness list 17.20[4][a]

Service requirements 17.23

Signature requirements

Generally 17.23

Certification, signature as constituting 25.108[2]

Who must sign disclosures 25.108[1]

Time requirements 17.21

Types of information required

Deposition testimony 17.19[3]

Documents and exhibits, identification of 17.19[4]

Evidence to be presented at trial, information related to 17.19[1]

Exhibits, identification of 17.19[4]

Impeachment information 17.19[5]

Witnesses, identification of 17.19[2]

Witnesses, identification of 17.19[2]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-13

P-13 PRISON INMATES

Depositions, taking of

Generally 22.29

Oral depositions

Inability to attend proceedings due to incarceration 23.69[3][c]

Leave of court requirements 23.25[1]

Written depositions, leave of court requirements for 23.85[1]

Diversity jurisdiction, determining citizenship for 2.17[4]

Oral depositions

Inability to attend proceedings due to incarceration 23.69[3][c]

Leave of court requirements 23.25[1]

Written depositions, leave of court requirements for 23.85[1]

22 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-14

P-14 PRIVATE SECURITIES LITIGATION REFORM ACT OF 1995 (PSLRA)

Class actions

Generally 20.46

Attorneys' fees, reasonableness standard for 20.53

Certification by potential lead plaintiff 6.21[11][a]; 20.47

Consolidation, preference for 18.16

Early notice to class members 20.48

Lead plaintiff

Appeal of court appointment 20.50[5]

Class counsel, right to selection of 20.51

"Most adequate plaintiff" 20.50[1], [2]

Other class members who may apply as 20.49

"Professional" plaintiffs, restrictions on 20.50[4]

Recovery, limits on 20.52

Related group of persons as 20.50[3]

Sample form for motion to be appointed 20.62

Who may serve as 20.50[1]-[4]

ND Cal requirements

Certification by potential class counsel 6.21[11][b]

Cover sheet requirements 20.56

Electronic copy of complaint 6.21[11][c]; 20.57

Sample forms

Motion to be appointed lead plaintiff 20.62

Order appointing lead plaintiff 20.62

Settlement notice requirements 20.54

Under seal filing, allowability of 20.55

Consolidation, preference for 18.16

Pleading under

Generally 6.11[4][a]

"Group publishing" or "group pleading" doctrine, applicability of 6.11[4][d]

Information and belief as basis 6.11[4][c]

Loss causation 6.11[4][e]

Sample form 6.28

Scienter with particularity 6.11[4][d]

Specification requirements 6.11[4][b]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-15

P-15 PRIVILEGES (GENERALLY)

Generally 24.13

Asserting privilege

Burden of proof 24.21

Disclosure, effect of claim of privilege asserted after 24.24[5]; 24.102[7]

"Expressly raised" requirement 24.24[1]

Failure to assert as basis for waiver 24.23[1]

Grounds must be stated 24.24[2]

Third party intervention 24.24[4]

Who may assert privilege 24.22

Withheld materials, description of 24.24[3]

Attorney-client privilege (See ATTORNEY-CLIENT PRIVILEGE)

California statutes covering 24.20

Checklist 24.12

Clergy-penitent privilege (See CLERGY-PENITENT PRIVILEGE)

Deliberative process privilege (See DELIBERATIVE PROCESS PRIVILEGE)

Electronically stored information that qualify as privileged (See ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION, subhead: Privileged materials)

Federal common law governing

Generally 24.14

Both federal and state claims, actions presenting 24.17

Federal government, information in hands of 24.19[1]

New privileges 24.15

State law component of federal claim 24.16[2]

Federal statutory law governing

Generally 24.18

Federal government, information in hands of

Generally 24.19[1]

Freedom of Information Act and 24.19[2]

Public access rights 24.19[2]

Fifth Amendment privilege against self-incrimination (See FIFTH AMENDMENT PRIVILEGE)

Governmental privileges

Deliberative process privilege (See DELIBERATIVE PROCESS PRIVILEGE)

Identity of government informant, withholding of (See subhead: Identity of government informant, withholding of)

Law enforcement, government withholding of information to assist 24.88

Official information privilege 24.88

Withholding of state secrets (See subhead: Withholding of state secrets, privilege of)

Identity of government informant, withholding of Law enforcement officers 24.87[3]

Qualified nature of 24.87[1]

Showing required to overcome privilege 24.87[2]

Journalist's privilege (See JOURNALIST'S PRIVILEGE)

Law enforcement, government withholding of information to assist 24.88

Marital privilege (See MARITAL PRIVILEGE)

Opposing claim of privilege

Meet and confer requirement 24.27

Motion to compel discovery as means of 24.28

Physician-patient privilege (See PHYSICIAN-PATIENT PRIVILEGE)

Privilege log

Generally 24.26

Sample log 24.103

Stipulations covering format and contents of 15.16[6]

Subpoena, inclusion in written objection to 23.278[2]

Protective orders (See PROTECTIVE ORDERS)

Psychotherapist-patient privilege (See PSYCHOTHERAPIST-PATIENT PRIVILEGE)

Raising privilege (See subhead: Asserting privilege)

Right to privacy, California law governing (See RIGHT TO PRIVACY (CALIFORNIA))

Self-incrimination, Fifth Amendment privilege against (See FIFTH AMENDMENT PRIVILEGE)

Spousal privilege (See MARITAL PRIVILEGE)

State law governing

Both federal and state claims, actions presenting 24.17

Diversity cases 24.16[1]

State law component of federal claim 24.16[2]

Trade secrets (See TRADE SECRETS)

Waiver of privilege

Failure to assert as basis for 24.23[1]

Implicit waiver by placing privileged matter in controversy 24.23[3]

Voluntary disclosure as basis 24.23[2]

Withholding of state secrets, privilege of

Absolute nature of 24.86[1]

Checklist 24.85

Dismissal of action due to 24.86[3]

Underlying facts, extension of privilege to 24.86[1]

Who may claim 24.86[2]

Work product protection (See WORK PRODUCT DOCTRINE)

24 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-16

P-16 PROBATE

Federal court jurisdiction to probate cases, applicability of 2.10[5]

25 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-17

P-17 PROPERTY-BASED JURISDICTION (

See IN REM JURISDICTION)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-18

P-18 PROTECTIVE ORDERS

Generally 22.36

Abusive discovery, orders precluding or limiting 21.06[8]

Accelerated completion of discovery 22.40[3]

Attendance at deposition, orders imposing restrictions on

Generally 22.43[1]

Examples of orders granted 22.43[3]

Showing of facts required for 22.43[2]

Blocking discovery

Generally 22.39[1]

Adverse counsel, deposition of

Burden of showing good cause 22.39[4][a]

Exception to privilege, effect of 22.39[4][b]

Waiver of privilege, effect of 22.39[4][c]

Corporate personnel

High-level corporate officers 22.39[3][a]

Subordinate employees 22.39[3][b]

Rarity of complete blocking 22.39[2]

Burden of proof requirements

Generally 22.54[1]; 24.25[2]

Affidavits as means of showing good cause 22.54[3][b]

Balancing of hardship vs. need for discovery 22.54[4]

Specific prejudice or harm, showing of 22.54[3][a]

Who must establish good cause 22.54[2]

Checklist: evaluating grounds for protective order 22.35

Conditions for discovery (See subhead: Terms and conditions for discovery)

Conditions on discovery in lieu of, court-imposed 22.38

Confidential information (See subhead: Trade secrets or other confidential information)

Expenses of discovery 22.40[8]

Filing requirements

Federal rules 22.53[3][a]

Good-faith attempt to resolve dispute as prerequisite 24.25[1]

Transfer of motion to judge in district where action pending 22.53[3][b]

Good cause, showing of (See subhead: Burden of proof requirements)

Good-faith attempt to resolve dispute as prerequisite 22.53[3][a], [3][b]

Grand jury subpoenas taking precedence over protective orders 22.51[2]; 22.65[4]

Limited intervention to attack 14.09[6]

Location for discovery 22.40[7]

Matters subject to protective order 22.49

"Meet and confer" requirement

CD Cal requirements 22.53[4][a]

ED Cal requirements 22.53[4][b]

ND Cal requirements 22.53[4][c]

SD Cal requirements 22.53[4][d]

Methods of discovery, order prescribing

Generally 22.41[1]

Interrogatory not deposition, questions be propounded by 22.41[2]

Telephonic or videotaped depositions 22.41[4]

Videotaped depositions 22.41[4]

Written questions, proceeding on 22.41[3]

Modifying or vacating protective order

Generally 22.60; 22.61

Checklists

Opposing modification of order 22.59[2]

Preparing motion to modify or vacate order 22.59[1]

New obligations on parties, prohibition on imposing 22.62

Nonparty intervention

Generally 22.64[1]

Timing of 22.64[2], [3]

Opposing modification of order (See subhead: Opposing modification of order)

Public interest grounds (See subhead: Public interest grounds)

Showing requirements (See subhead: Showing requirements for modification of)

Who may seek 22.63

Motion for protective order

Generally 22.52[3]

Burden of proof requirements (See subhead: Burden of proof requirements)

Filing requirements (See subhead: Filing requirements)

Notice requirements 22.53[1]

Opposition to motion for (See subhead: Opposition to motion for)

Oral depositions, time requirements for 22.53[2][c]

Procedure for 22.53[1]

Proposed order with motion, submission of 22.53[5]

Time requirements (See subhead: Time requirements)

Motions to modify discovery procedures

Proactive motion for protective order 22.32

Responsive order to motion compelling discovery, protective order as 22.31[2]; 25.14[1]

Number of hours or days deposition can last 22.40[1]

Obtaining protective order

Generally 22.48

Checklist: preparing motion for protective order 22.47

Discovery order adverse to attorney-client privilege as not appealable under collateral order doctrine 24.40A

Matters subject to protective order 22.49

Motion for protective order as means of (See subhead: Motion for protective order)

Opposition to motion to compel as means of 22.52[2]

Proposed order with motion, submission of 22.53[5]

Recovery of expenses incurred in 22.58

Stipulation as means of 22.52[1]

Subpoenaed nonparties 22.50

Third party rights in protective orders (See subhead: Third party rights in protective orders)

Opposing modification of order

Burden of establishing reliance 22.66[4][b]

Burden of showing good cause 22.66[4][a]

Checklist 22.59[2]

Compelling reasons to prevent nonparty from accessing sealed documents, showing of 22.66[3]

Good cause

Burden of showing 22.66[4][a]

Required showing of 22.66[1]

Reliance on protective order

Burden of establishing 22.66[4][b]

Showing of 22.66[2]

Opposition to motion for

Generally 22.56

Checklist: opposing motion for protective order 22.55

Good cause, refutation of 22.57[2]

Necessity of requested information outweighing need for protection 22.57[3]

Notice requirements 22.57[1]

Public interest grounds for 22.57[4]

Recovery of expenses incurred in 22.58

Refutation of good cause 22.57[2]

Relevance and necessity of requested information outweighing need for protection 22.57[3]

Oral deposition motion, as response to (See ORAL DEPOSITIONS, subhead: Protective order as response to)

Parallel criminal or civil proceeding, stay pending outcome of 22.40[5]

Place for discovery

Generally 22.40[7]

Sample format for protective order changing place of deposition 22.75

Proposed protective order, submission of motion with 22.53[5]

Proprietary or trade secret information, order governing (See subhead: Trade secrets or other confidential information)

Public interest grounds

Modification of order, as basis for

Generally 22.65[3][a]

Compelling reason requirement 22.65[3][c]

Court considerations 22.65[3][b]

Waiver if confidential material is revealed in court 22.65[3][d]

Opposition to motion based on 22.57[4]

Trade secrets or other confidential information 22.45[3][b]

Recovery of expenses incurred in 22.58

Requests for admission, in response to 23.229[4]

Requests for production and inspection, in response to 23.155

Scope of discovery 21.06[8]; 22.42

Sealing of discovery records

Generally 22.44[1]

Compelling reasons to prevent nonparty from accessing sealed documents, showing of 22.66[3]

Local practice

CD Cal requirements 22.44[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 22.44[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 22.44[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 22.44[2][d]

Material that should not have been placed under seal, showing requirements for modification of protective orders for 22.65[2][c]

Presumption of public access to court documents

Exception to 22.44[4][b]

Override of 22.44[4][a]

Simultaneous under seal filing of information 22.46

Specific harm or prejudice, establishment of 22.44[3]

Securities fraud class actions, stay on discovery in pending 22.40[6]

Sequence of discovery 22.40[2]

Showing requirements for modification of

Generally 22.65[1][a]

Collateral litigants

Balancing of threshold relevance and reliance 22.65[2][d]

Court determination procedure 22.65[2][e]

Discoverability requirements 22.65[2][b]

Material that should not have been placed under seal 22.65[2][c]

Relevance requirements 22.65[2][a]

Threshold relevance vs. reliance 22.65[2][d]

Grand jury subpoenas, precedence of 22.65[4]

Law enforcement purposes, material subject to protective order for 22.65[4]

Need for discovery outweighs potential harm to party seeking continued protection 22.65[1][b]

Public interest, matters of (See subhead: Public interest grounds)

Simultaneous under seal filing of information 22.46

Stay of discovery pending outcome of dispositive motion

Generally 22.40[4][a]

Factors considered by court 22.40[4][b]

Harm of stay vs. benefit of discovery 22.40[4][c]

Stipulation as means of obtaining

Generally 22.52[1]

Blanket stipulated protective order, sample form for 22.74

Subpoenaed nonparties, sought by 22.50

Terms and conditions for discovery

Accelerated completion of discovery 22.40[3]

Expenses of discovery 22.40[8]

Location for discovery 22.40[7]

Number of hours or days deposition can last 22.40[1]

Parallel criminal or civil proceeding, stay pending outcome of 22.40[5]

Place for discovery

Generally 22.40[7]

Sample format for protective order changing place of deposition 22.75

Securities fraud class actions, stay on discovery in pending 22.40[6]

Sequence of discovery 22.40[2]

Stay of discovery pending outcome of dispositive motion (See subhead: Stay of discovery pending outcome of dispositive motion)

Third party rights in protective orders

Generally 22.51[1]

Direct participation requirement 22.51[3]

Grand jury subpoenas taking precedence over protective orders 22.51[2]; 22.65[4]

Intervention rights (See INTERVENTION)

Time requirements

Generally 22.53[2][a]

Excuse of untimely motion for good cause 22.53[2][b]

Good cause, excuse of untimely motion for 22.53[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 22.53[2][d]

Oral depositions 22.53[2][c]

Trade secrets or other confidential information

Generally 15.16[5]; 22.45[1]

Burden of showing relevance

Generally 22.45[3][a]

Public interest considerations 22.45[3][b]

Good cause requirements for protection

Generally 22.45[2][a]

Harm to reputation as basis 22.45[2][b]

Specific demonstrations of fact 22.45[2][c]

Harm to reputation as basis 22.45[2][b]

Inadvertent disclosures 22.45[5]

Methods for limiting disclosure 22.45[4]

Sample format for motion for protective order for 22.73

Specific demonstrations of fact as basis 22.45[2][c]

Types of relief available through 22.37

Under seal, simultaneous filing of information 22.46

Vacating protective order (See subhead: Modifying or vacating protective order)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-19

P-19 PSYCHOTHERAPIST-PATIENT PRIVILEGE

California law

Domestic-violence victim and counselor 24.51[2]

Human trafficking victim and caseworker 24.51[3]

Psychologist-patient privilege 24.50

Sexual-assault victim and counselor 24.51[1]

Checklist 24.44

Crime-fraud exception, status of 24.48

Dangerous patient exception, status of 24.49

Federal common law 24.45

Placing mental condition in controversy, effect of 24.47

Protected communications defined

Generally 24.46[1]

Employee assistance programs 24.46[2]

Waiver of privilege by placing mental condition in controversy 24.47

28 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

P

P Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA P-20

P-20 PUBLIC RECORDS

Online resources to obtain 21.05[6][b]

Without formal discovery, obtaining records without 21.05[6][a]

29 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-1

R-1 RACKETEER INFLUENCED AND CORRUPT ORGANIZATION ACT (RICO) (

See RICO ACTIONS)

30 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-2

R-2 REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

Assigned claims

Assignee acquires fully assigned claim 4.15[1]

Assignor receives some benefit of litigation 4.15[2]

Diversity jurisdiction, assignments for purpose of 4.15[3]

United States, claims against

Anti-Assignment Act 4.15[4][b]

Assignment of Claims Act 4.15[4][a]

Capacity of named parties (See CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES)

Checklists:

Assuring action brought by real party in interest 4.09

Objections to real party status, raising 4.10

Compel joinder of interests, motion to 4.17

Dismissal action for defect in

Generally 4.19[1], [2][b]

Failure to prosecute in name of real party as basis 4.19[2][c], [6]

Opportunity to cure defect as alternative 4.19[2][a]

Drop party as not real party in interests, motion to 4.18

Failure to prosecute in name of real party

Dismissal action for defect, as basis for 4.19[2][c], [6]

Joinder as cure 4.19[4], [5]

Ratification as cure to 4.19[3]

Substitution as cure 4.19[4], [5]

Failure to raise timely objection to status, effect of 4.11[3]

Joinder as cure to failure to prosecute in name of real party 4.19[4], [5]

Lack of real party in interest

Generally 4.16[2]

Dismissal action for (See subhead: Dismissal action for defect in)

Objections to

Affirmative defense, assertion of 4.16[1]

Lack of real party in interest 4.16[2]

Motions by defendant addressing real party status 4.16[3]

Persons who may sue as real party in interest (See subhead: Who may sue as real party in interest)

Ratification as cure to failure to prosecute in name of real party 4.19[3], [5]

Standing requirements

Failure to raise timely objection, effect of 4.11[3]

Legal owner of claim 4.11[1]

Overlap with general standing and real party requirements 4.11[2]

Substitution as cure to failure to prosecute in name of real party 4.19[4], [5]

Who may sue as real party in interest

Generally 4.12

United States as representative

Generally 4.13

Claims regarding U.S. properties or interests 4.14

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-3

R-3 RECEIVERSHIP

Generally 19.02[3]

Administration of property by receiver

CD Cal requirements

Generally 19.96[1]

Time records, keeping of 19.96[2]

Depositing funds (See subhead: Depositing funds)

Reporting duties of receiver (See subhead: Reporting duties of receiver)

Time records, CD Cal requirements for keeping of 19.96[2]

Alternatives to receivership

Bond as alternative 19.112[2]

Custodian in lieu of receiver for going business 19.112[4]

Injunction as alternative 19.112[1]

Limitations on receiver's authority and powers, request for 19.112[3]

Appeal from order appointing receiver

Interlocutory appeal, allowability of 19.113[1]

Jurisdiction for stay 19.113[3]

Modification of order during pendency of appeal 19.113[4]

Standard of review 19.113[2]

Appointment of receiver, court's jurisdiction over

Diversity action 19.88[1A]

Equitable relief, implications of seeking 19.88[2]

Location of property, effect of

Jurisdiction in rem 19.88[3][a], [3][b]

Legal owner, jurisdiction of 19.88[3][c]

Subject matter jurisdiction 19.88[1]

Appointment of receiver on notice

Generally 19.91

Checklist 19.90

Notice requirements

Generally 19.92[1]

CD Cal requirements 19.92[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 19.92[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 19.92[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 19.92[2][d]

Sample forms (See subhead: Sample forms)

Challenge of applicant's candidate for receiver

Neutrality, lack of 19.112[5][b]

Special circumstances show inequity or hardship 19.112[5][c]

Statutory ineligibility 19.112[5][a]

Checklists

Appointment of receiver on notice 19.90

Ex parte application for temporary receiver 19.101

Opposition to appointment of receiver 19.108

Propriety of receivership, determining 19.85

Defending debt collection suit by U.S.

Failure to meet statutory requirements

Specific and verified showing 19.111[2][a]

Supporting affidavit required 19.111[2][b]

U.S. rights 19.111[1]

Depositing funds

ED Cal requirements 19.96[3][a]

ND Cal requirements 19.96[3][b]

SD Cal requirements 19.96[3][c]

Diversity action, appointment of receiver governed by federal law in 19.88[1A]

Diversity jurisdiction, determining citizenship in 2.17[4]

Employment of professionals by receiver

Court approval requirements 19.99[1]

ED Cal requirements 19.99[2][a]

ND Cal requirements 19.99[2][b]

SD Cal requirements 19.99[2][c]

Ex parte application for temporary receiver

Generally 19.102

Checklist 19.101

Good cause as basis

Generally 19.103[1]

CD Cal requirements 19.103[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 19.103[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 19.103[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 19.103[2][d]

Hearing on continuation of receivership

CD Cal requirements 19.104[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 19.104[2][b]

Prompt hearing requirement 19.104[1]

Notice of appointment

Generally 19.107[1]

ED requirements 19.107[2]

Notice of hearing

Generally 19.105[1]

CD Cal requirements 19.105[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 19.105[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 19.105[2][c]

Sample forms (See subhead: Sample forms)

SD Cal requirements 19.105[2][d]

Notice to creditors

Generally 19.106[1]

CD requirements 19.106[2]

Order to show cause

Generally 19.105[1]

CD Cal requirements 19.105[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 19.105[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 19.105[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 19.105[2][d]

Factual basis for

Generally 19.89[1]

Matching facts with conditions justifying receivership (See subhead: Matching facts with conditions justifying)

Nontraditional factual setting, effect of 19.89[2]

Filing and serving reports (See subhead: Reporting duties of receiver)

Jurisdiction over appointment of receiver, court's (See subhead: Appointment of receiver, court's jurisdiction over)

Jurisdiction over property in other district

Generally 19.100[1]

Condition subsequent, subject to 19.100[2], [3]

Intangible property 19.100[3]

Matching facts with conditions justifying

Examples of relevant facts 19.89[3][a]

Foreclosure proceeding as special case 19.89[3][c]

Going business as special case 19.89[3][b]

Notice to creditors

Generally 19.94[1]

Ex parte application for temporary receiver (See subhead: Ex parte application for temporary receiver)

ND Cal requirements 19.94[2][a]

SD Cal requirements 19.94[2][b]

Significant acts, notice of

Generally 19.98[1]

CD Cal requirements 19.98[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 19.98[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 19.98[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 19.98[2][d]

Opposition to appointment of receiver

Generally 19.109

Applicant's candidate for receiver, challenge of (See subhead: Challenge of applicant's candidate for receiver)

Attack on factual showing in support of appointment

More harm than good 19.110[1]

Unbalanced outcome 19.110[2]

Checklist 19.108

Defending debt collection suit by U.S. (See subhead: Defending debt collection suit by U.S.)

Minimizing harsh result with court intends relief (See subhead: Alternatives to receivership)

Propriety of receivership, determining

Generally 19.86

Appointment of receiver, court's jurisdiction over (See subhead: Appointment of receiver, court's jurisdiction over)

Checklist 19.85

Factual basis (See subhead: Factual basis for)

"Receivership in fact" already exists, determining whether 19.87

Receiver's bond, requirement of

Generally 19.95[4][a]

ED requirements 19.95[4][b]

ND requirements 19.95[4][c]

SD requirements 19.95[4][d]

"Receivership in fact" already exists, determining whether 19.87

Reporting duties of receiver

Generally 19.97[1]

CD Cal requirements 19.97[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 19.97[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 19.97[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 19.97[2][d]

Sample forms

Notice of motion--Appointment of receiver 19.162

Order to show cause--Appointment of receiver 19.161

Service on other parties of order to show cause

Generally 19.93[1]

CD Cal requirements 19.93[2][a]

SD Cal requirements 19.93[2][b]

Serving reports (See subhead: Reporting duties of receiver)

Source of authority for appointment

Generally 19.95[1]

Local rules 19.95[3]

Requiring receiver's bond (See subhead: Receiver's bond, requirement of)

Special provisions 19.95[2]

Verification of complaint for temporary receiver under CD Cal requirements 6.15[2]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-4

R-4 RECONSIDERATION, MOTION FOR

CD Cal requirements 26.36[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 26.36[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 26.36[2][c]

Purpose of 26.36[1]

Sample form--Motion for reargument or reconsideration 26.61

33 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-5

R-5 RELATION BACK OF AMENDMENTS (

See AMENDING PLEADINGS BEFORE TRIAL, subhead: Relation back of amendments)

34 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-6

R-6 RELEVANCE

Generally 24.04

Admissibility of evidence, relationship with 24.05

Checklist 24.03

Court order as means of expanding 24.11

Cumulative or unduly burdensome standard 24.09

Defined 24.06

Disputes over relevance, resolution of

District court ruling on 24.10[2]

Meet and confer requirement 24.10[1]

Existence of documents or other demonstrative evidence 24.07[2]

Financial condition of party 24.07[3]

Identity of parties, witnesses or other persons 24.07[1]

Jurisdictional matters 24.08

Protective orders

Collateral litigants

Balancing of threshold relevance and reliance 22.65[2][d]

Relevance requirements 22.65[2][a]

Requested information's relevance outweighing need for protection 22.57[3]

Trade secrets or other confidential information, burden of showing relevance of

Generally 22.45[3][a]

Public interest considerations 22.45[3][b]

Requests for admission of matter(s) relevant to litigation 21.07[5]

Standard of relevance 24.06

Stipulation as means of expanding 24.11

Tax returns 24.07[4]

Trade secrets or other confidential information, burden of showing relevance of

Generally 22.45[3][a]

Public interest considerations 22.45[3][b]

Venue of action, matters concerning 24.08

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-7

R-7 REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

Appellate review of remand order

Discretionary decline of jurisdiction 3.33[2][c]

Lack of subject matter jurisdiction, remand based on 3.33[2][a]

Orders denying remand 3.33[1]

Orders granting remand

Discretionary decline of jurisdiction 3.33[2][c]

Lack of subject matter jurisdiction, remand based on 3.33[2][a]

Procedural defect, remand based on 3.33[2][a]

Substantive decision apart from jurisdictional issue 3.33[2][b]

Procedural defect, remand based on 3.33[2][a]

Standard of review 3.33[3]

Substantive decision apart from jurisdictional issue 3.33[2][b]

Attorney's fees, moving for 3.29

Bankruptcy cases 3.13[8][h]

Burden of proof requirements 3.28

Class actions, party with burden to prove federal jurisdiction as proper in 3.28

Expenses and fees, moving for 3.29

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation cases 3.13[7][c]

Federal question cases 2.29[4][b]

Grounds for motion to remand

Crowded docket as grounds 3.26[3]

Futility exception as grounds 3.26[4]

Nonstatutory grounds 3.26[2]

Sample form 3.37

Statutory grounds 3.26[1]

Initiation of action for

Motion by party 3.25[2]

Sue sponte remand by court 3.25[1]

Joinder as means of destroying subject matter jurisdiction

Generally 3.24[1]

Court's discretion in denying or permitting 3.24[2]

Jurisdictional defects as basis 3.27[1]

Jurisdiction once remanded 3.31

Motion by party initiating 3.25[2]

Motion to remand

Checklist 3.23

Grounds for motion to remand (See subhead: Grounds for motion to remand)

Initiation of action for

Motion by party 3.25[2]

Sue sponte removal by court 3.25[1]

Sample form 3.37

Timing of motion (See subhead: Timing of motion)

Post-removal changes in case, effect of

Addition of parties 3.30[4]

Amount in controversy falls below minimum 3.30[3]

Federal claims dismissed but state claims remain 3.30[1]

Third-party claims only remaining 3.30[2]

Procedural defects as basis 3.27[2]

Reconsideration after remand order 3.32

Resolution Trust Corporation cases 3.13[6][d]

Review of remand order (See subhead: Appellate review of remand order)

Sue sponte removal by court 3.25[1]

Timing of motion

Jurisdictional defects, motion based on 3.27[1]

Procedural defects, motion based on 3.27[2]

Waiver of objection 3.27[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-8

R-8 REMOVAL TO FEDERAL COURT

Generally 3.02

Amending notice 3.19[6]

Armed Forces, actions against members of 3.13[2]

Bankruptcy cases, claims related to

Abstention, exception for mandatory 3.13[8][c]

Filing of notice, requirements for 3.13[8][d]

Governmental action to enforce police or regulatory power 3.13[8][b]

Remanding of removed claims or causes of action 3.13[8][h]

Service of notice, requirements for 3.13[8][d]

Tax Court proceedings 3.13[8][b]

Timing of notice, requirements for Bankruptcy action filed before civil action 3.13[8][e]

Civil action filed before bankruptcy action 3.13[8][f]

Verified statement, filing of 3.13[8][g]

Who may remove claim 3.13[8][a]

Banks closed and administered by FDIC 2.54[5]

Basis for removal

Counterclaim, removal based on federal-question 11.14

Diversity cases (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Removal on basis of)

Federal question jurisdiction (See subhead: Federal question jurisdiction)

General removal statute

Generally 3.04[1]

Restrictions on removal, statutory 3.04[2]

Restrictions on removal, statutory 3.04[2]

Special removal statutes 3.04[3]; 3.18[1][d]

Waiver of right of removal (See subhead: Waiver of right of removal)

Changes in case, post removal (See REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL, subhead: Post-removal changes in case, effect of)

Checklists for parties considering removal

Defendant's checklist 1.06; 3.03[1]

Drafting notice of removal 3.16

Filing notice of removal 3.16

Plaintiff's checklist 1.07; 3.03[2]

Civil rights actions (See CIVIL RIGHTS ACTIONS)

Class actions (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Class action suits)

Common carriers, nonremovability of actions against 3.14

Complete preemption doctrine (See subhead: Exclusive Federal remedy, preemption by)

Counterclaim, removal based on federal-question 11.14

Crossclaim, removal based on federal-question 11.35

Determination of removability, timing of 3.08

Diversity cases (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Removal on basis of)

Exclusive Federal remedy, preemption by

Generally 3.09[4][a]

Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA), claims arising under 3.09[4][c]

Labor Management Relations Act (LMRA), claims arising under 3.09[4][b]

Fair Labor Standards Act, actions under 3.13[9]

Federal agencies and officers, action brought against

Complete case removal requirement 3.13[1][e]

Jurisdiction requirements 3.13[1][b]

Procedural requirements for removing state court case by federal officer defendant 3.13[1][c]

Retaining case after dismissal of federal agency or officer 3.13[1][f]

"Under color of office" requirement 3.13[1][d]

Who may remove action 3.13[1][a]

Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation cases

Appellate review of remand 3.13[7][c]

Scope of removal 3.13[7][a]

Time for removal 3.13[7][b]

Federal question jurisdiction

Generally 3.05[1]

Complete preemption by Federal law (See subhead: Exclusive Federal remedy, preemption by)

Contents of notice 3.18[1][b]

Counterclaim, removal based on federal-question 11.14

Criteria for 3.09[2][a]

Defendant's Federal question counterclaim, removal based on 3.09[2][e]

Exclusive Federal remedy exists (See subhead: Exclusive Federal remedy, preemption by)

Federal defense, removal based on 3.09[2][d]

Permissible removal to adjudicate claim even when state court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over claim 3.09[2][c]

Section 1441(c), removal based on 3.09[3][b], [3][c]

Supplemental jurisdiction , removal based on 3.09[3][a], [3][c]

Well-pleaded complaint rule, application of 3.09[2][b]

Who may initiate removal 3.09[1]

Fees for filing 3.19[7]

Filing requirements for notice

Adverse parties, notification of 3.19[3]; 3.35

Amending notice 3.19[6]

Checklist 3.16

Declaration of filing notice of removal in state court; sample form 3.36

Effect of filing notice 3.19[4]

Fees for filing 3.19[7]

Jurisdiction once notice filed (See subhead: Jurisdiction once notice filed)

Papers to be included 3.19[2]

Removal to wrong district court, effect of 3.19[5]

Sample forms (See subhead: Sample forms)

Timely filing requirements (See subhead: Timely filing requirements)

Where to file notice 3.17; 3.19[1]

Who must be notified 3.19[3]

Foreclosure actions against United States 3.13[5]

Foreign states, civil rights actions against

Foreign state, removal by 3.13[4][a]

Timing of removal 3.13[4][b]

Joining requirements for notice of removal

Generally 3.12[1]; 3.18[4][a]

Exceptions to joining requirement 3.12[4]; 3.18[4][b]

Failure to join removal notice

Generally 3.12[2]

Exceptions to joining requirement 3.12[4]

Waivable defect, failure as 3.12[3]

Nominal parties 3.12[4]

Statutory removal 3.12[4]

Unserved or improperly defendants 3.12[4]

Jurisdiction once notice filed

Generally 2.54[1]; 3.21[1]

Diversity cases 3.21[4]

Local practice rules

CD Cal 3.21[7][a]

ED Cal 3.21[7][b]

ND Cal 3.21[7][b]

SD Cal 3.21[7][b]

Procedural issues, effect of federal rules on 3.21[3]

Renewed jury demands 3.21[6]

Second answers 3.21[5]

State court orders, effect on 3.21[2]

Subsequent transfer of removed case 3.21[8]

Wrong district court, effect of removal to 3.21[8]

Jury demands in removal cases 13.04[6][b]

Nonremovable actions (statutory) 3.14

Notice of removal

All defendants must join in notice of removal 3.12[1]

Bankruptcy cases, claims related to (See subhead: Bankruptcy cases, claims related to)

Class Action Fairness Act, form of notice of removal under 3.34A

Contents of notice

Diversity cases 3.18[1][c]

Federal questions cases 3.18[1][b]

Special removal statutes 3.18[1][d]

Statement of grounds 3.18[1][a]

Diversity cases 3.18[1][c]

Drafting notice of removal: checklist 3.16

Failure to file removal notice 3.06[1]; 3.12[3]

Federal questions cases 3.18[1][b]

Filing notice of removal (See subhead: Filing requirements for notice)

Joining requirements for (See subhead: Joining requirements for notice of removal)

Jurisdiction once notice filed (See subhead: Jurisdiction once notice filed)

Local practice rules

CD Cal 3.18[2][a]

ED Cal 3.18[2][b]

ND Cal 3.18[2][c]

SD Cal 3.18[2][d]

Sample forms

Class Action Fairness Act, notice of removal under 3.34A

General form 3.34

Signature requirements 3.18[3]

Special removal statutes 3.18[1][d]

Statement of grounds 3.18[1][a]

Timely filing requirements (See subhead: Timely filing requirements)

Original filing, venue requirements for 3.07

Post-removal changes in case (See REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL, subhead: Post-removal changes in case, effect of)

Railroad actions, nonremovability of 3.14

Remand to state court after removal (See REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL)

Resolution Trust Corporation cases

Appellate review of remand 3.13[6][d]

Scope of removal 3.13[6][a]

Time for removal 3.13[6][b]

Venue transferred to 3.13[6][c]

Right of removal

Defendants

Generally 3.11[1][a]

Intervening defendant 3.11[1][d]

Plaintiff recharacterized as 3.11[1][b]

Third-party defendants 3.11[1][c]

Intervening defendant 3.11[1][d]

Plaintiffs

Generally 3.11[2]

Recharacterized as defendant 3.11[1][b]

Third-party defendants 3.11[1][c]

Sample forms

Declaration of filing notice of removal in state court 3.36

Notice of removal

Class Action Fairness Act, notice of removal under 3.34A

General form 3.34

Notice to adverse parties 3.35

Remanding removed action to state court, notice of motion for order 3.37

Section 1441(c), removal based on

Generally 3.09[3][b]

Supplemental jurisdiction removal compared 3.09[3][c]

Securities claims, nonremovability of 3.14

Sovereign immunity, effect on 3.15

"State court" defined for original venue requirements 3.07

State court proceedings occurring before removal, effect on 3.22

Statutorily nonremovable actions 3.14

Subsequent pleadings

Diversity cases, time limits for 3.20[4][c]

Tolling start dates 3.20[4][b]

Voluntary acts of plaintiff after initial pleading 3.20[4][a]

Subsequent transfer of removed case 3.21[8]

Supplemental jurisdiction , removal based on

Generally 3.09[3][a]

Section 1441(c) removal compared 3.09[3][c]

Timely filing requirements

Generally 3.20[1]

Date tolling starts

Generally 3.20[2]

Subsequent pleadings 3.20[4][b]

Diversity cases, time limits for 3.20[4][c]

Multiple defendants 3.20[3]

Post-judgment by pre-appellate, state cases that are 3.20[5]

Subsequent pleadings 3.20[4][a]-[c]

Tolling start 3.20[2]

Voluntary acts of plaintiff after initial pleading, effect of 3.20[4][a]

Venue requirements for original filing 3.07

Violence Against Women Act, nonremovability of actions under 3.14

Waiver of right of removal

Failure to file removal notice 3.06[1]; 3.12[3]

Forum selection clauses, waiver by (See FORUM SELECTION CLAUSES)

Submission to state court jurisdiction, waiver by 3.06[3]

Untimely removal as cause for 3.06[1]

Workers' compensation actions, nonremovability of 3.14

Wrong district court, effect of removal to 3.19[5]; 3.21[8]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-9

R-9 REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION

Advantages of 23.02[8]

Amendment of admissions (See subhead: Withdrawal or amendment of admissions)

Checklists

Recovering expenses of proving matters not admitted

Propounding party's checklist 23.254[1]

Responding party's checklist 23.254[2]

Requesting admissions 23.217

Responding to requests for admissions 23.226

Sufficiency of responses

Propounding party's checklist 23.243[1]

Responding party's checklist 23.243[2]

Withdrawal or amendment of admissions

Propounding party's checklist 23.249[2]

Responding party's checklist 23.249[1]

Disadvantages of 23.02[8]

Drafting requirements

Attachment of relevant documents 23.222[5]

CD Cal requirements 23.222[3]

"Clear and precise" standard 23.222[1]

Framing of requests as statements not questions 23.222[4]

Separate statement of each request 23.222[2]

Failure to respond, effect of

Generally 23.230

Relief from failure to make timely response 23.233

Filing requirements

Generally 23.225[1]

CD Cal requirements 23.225[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 23.225[2][b]

Responses to requests (See under this subhead: Responding to requests)

Inadequate responses, sanctions for 23.242

Number of requests, limits on

Excessive number as grounds for objection 23.228[3]

Judge's standing orders 23.221[1]

ND Cal requirements 23.221[2]

SD Cal requirements 23.221[3]

Objection as response to

Generally 23.229[2]

Grounds for objection

Excessive number of requests 23.228[3]

Failure to provide document 23.228[8]

Improper format of request 23.228[1]

Improper scope of request 23.228[5]

Irrelevance of request 23.228[6]

Privilege as basis 23.228[7]

Undue burden 23.228[4]

Untimely request 23.228[2]

Propounding of requests 23.219

Protective order as response 23.229[4]

Recovery of expenses of proving matters not admitted

Checklists

Propounding party's checklist 23.254[1]

Responding party's checklist 23.254[2]

Motion for order requesting reasonable expenses

Generally 23.255

Award of expenses, standard for 23.258

Filing requirements 23.256

Showing of how expenses incurred 23.257

Time requirements 23.256

Responding to requests

Answer as response 23.229[1]

Checklists

Generally 23.226

Sufficiency of responses 23.243[1], [2]

Denial of request

Complete denial 23.236[2][a]

Partial denial 23.236[2][b]

Duty of inquiry 23.227

Extension of time to respond, asking for 23.229[3]

Failure to respond as admission 23.230

Filing and retention requirements

Generally 23.240[1]

CD Cal requirements 23.240[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 23.240[3][b]

ND Cal requirements 23.240[3][c]

Original response, retention of 23.240[2]

SD Cal requirements 23.240[3][d]

Inadequate responses, sanctions for 23.242

"In writing" requirement 23.234

Lack of information, assertion of 23.236[3]

Objection as response (See subhead: Objection as response to)

Objections, assertion of

Improper objections, avoidance of 23.236[4][c]

Reasons for objection 23.236[4][b]

Waiver, to avoid 23.236[4][a]

Protective order as response 23.229[4]

Quote requests in response

CD Cal requirements 23.235[1]

ED Cal requirements 23.235[2]

ND Cal requirements 23.235[3]

SD Cal requirements 23.235[4]

Relief from failure to make timely response 23.233

Sample forms

Response (generally) 23.314

Sufficiency of responses 23.315

Service requirements

Copies of response 23.239[2]

Original response 23.239[1]

Signature requirements 23.237

Statement of admission

Qualified admission 23.236[1][b]

Unqualified admission 23.236[1][a]

Sufficiency of responses (See subhead: Sufficiency of responses, determination of)

Supplementation requirements 23.241

Time limits for response (See subhead: Time limits for response)

Sample forms

Notice of motion and motion to determine sufficiency of responses to requests for admission 23.315

Notice of motion and motion to withdraw or amend admission 23.316

Official Form 51 23.312

Responses to requests for admission 23.314

Unofficial form 23.313

Sanctions for inadequate responses 23.242

Service requirements

Generally 23.224[1]

All parties to action, service on 23.224[3]

Original, retention of

CD Cal requirements 23.224[2][a]

ND Cal requirements 23.224[2][b]

Responding to requests

Copies of response 23.239[2]

Original response 23.239[1]

Signature requirements 23.223

Subject to requests, determination of whether matter is

Application of law to facts as basis 23.218[3]

Genuineness of documents as basis 23.218[4]

"Matters relating to facts" as basis 23.218[1]

Nonprivileged matter, must be 23.218[5]

Pure legal conclusion unrelated to facts of case, prohibition against 23.218[6]

"Ultimate facts" as basis 23.218[2]

Sufficiency of responses, determination of

Amendment of answer 23.246

Awarding of expenses incurred 23.248

Checklists

Propounding party's checklist 23.243[1]

Responding party's checklist 23.243[2]

Court's response to 23.245

Meet and confer, court-ordered 23.247

Motion for 23.244

Sample form 23.315

Supplementation requirements for responses 23.241

Time limits for response

Generally 23.231

Exceptions

Court order 23.232[1]

Written stipulation by parties 23.232[2]

Relief from failure to make timely response 23.233

Timing of requests

Cutoff date 23.220[3]

Discovery conference as time and place for requests 23.220[1]

Early requests by stipulation or order of court 23.220[2]

Verification requirements 23.238

Withdrawal or amendment of admissions

Burden on motion

Moving party's 23.252

Propounding party's 23.253

Checklists

Propounding party's checklist 23.249[2]

Responding party's checklist 23.249[1]

Purpose of 23.250

Sample form 23.316

Stricter standard applicable after entry of final pretrial order 23.251

38 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-10

R-10 REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION AND INSPECTION

Generally 23.02[5]

Advantages of 23.02[5]

Certification

Generally 23.146

Response to request 23.152[5]

Signature as basis for 25.108[2]

Checklists

Planning to obtain documents and tangible items through P & R 23.135

Requesting documents or inspection 23.142

Responding to request for documents or inspection

General checklist 23.149[2]

Service of response 23.149[1]

Content and formatting requirements

CD Cal requirements 23.145[5]

Place and manner of inspection 23.145[3]

Specification of items

Individually or by category 23.145[1]

Reasonable particularity 23.145[2]

Time for inspection 23.145[4]

Disadvantages of 23.02[5]

"Discoverable" requirement

Admissibility requirements 23.138[1][c]

"Broad" aspect of scope of discovery 23.138[1][b]

Items within scope of discovery 23.138[1][a]

Privileged materials as exception 23.138[2]

Rule 34 documents (See subhead: Rule 34 documents)

Work product materials as exception 23.138[2]

Early requests for 23.143[1]

Electronically stored information

Responding party's responsibilities 23.162[4][b]

Rule 34 requests 23.162[4][a]

Failure to respond to request as basis

Generally 25.09[4]

Sanctions for (See RULE 37(d) SANCTIONS)

Filing requirements

CD Cal requirements 23.148[1]

ED Cal requirements 23.148[2]

ND Cal requirements 23.148[3]

SD Cal requirements 23.148[4]

Formatting requirements (See subhead: Content and formatting requirements)

Inspection and copying of produced material

Access to material 23.156[3][a]

Court-directed manner of production 23.156[3][b]

Expenses of production and inspection

Court's discretion to shift costs 23.156[5][b]

Presume responsibility 23.156[5][a]

Testing of tangible items 23.156[4]

Mandatory initial disclosures, documents and items required for 23.141[1]

Manner of production 23.156[2]

Notice of deposition, inclusion of production request in 23.141[2]

Place of production 23.156[1]

Planning request

Alternate sources to help identify items, use of 23.136[1][b]

Destruction of documents, preventing 23.136[2]

Sequencing of discovery methods 23.136[1][a]

Subpoena, effective use of 23.136[1][c]

Protective order, motion for

Generally 23.155

Sample form 23.305

Reasonableness requirement 25.108[3]

Refusal to produce or allow inspection, grounds for

Defense of party as 23.153[3]

Other types of objections 23.153[5]

Possession, custody or control lacking

Nature of possession, custody or control 23.153[4][b]

Production of only items in possession, custody or control 23.153[4][a]

Privilege

Methods of establishing 23.153[1][b]

Requirements for claim 23.153[1][a]

Relevance to claim, lack of 23.153[3]

Work product 23.153[2]

Responding to request

Certification of response 23.152[5]

Checklists

General checklist 23.149[2]

Service of response 23.149[1]

Contents and format of response

CD Cal requirements 23.152[6][a]

Certification of response 23.152[5]

ED Cal requirements 23.152[6][b]

"In writing" requirement 23.152[1]

ND Cal requirements 23.152[6][c]

Objections, clear specification of 23.152[3]

SD Cal requirements 23.152[6][d]

Sequencing must match that of request 23.152[2]

Specification of item individually or by category 23.152[1]

Unobjectionable parts of request, mandatory response to 23.152[4]

Method of response, determining proper 23.150[2]

Refusal to produce or allow inspection (See subhead: Refusal to produce or allow inspection, grounds for)

Sample form 23.304

Service requirements 23.154

Signature requirements 25.108[1]

Time limit for written responses

Generally 23.150[1]; 23.151[1]

Agreement, altering time limit by 23.151[2]

Court order, altering time limit by 23.151[2]

Waiver for failure to respond 23.151[3]

Rule 34 documents

Applicable parties 23.139[1], [2]

Class action's representative party as "party" for 23.139[3]

Limit on number of requests 23.140

On-site review of documents 21.11[4][b]

Place of production, determining 21.11[4][a]

Time of production, determining 21.11[4][a]

Sample forms

Notice of motion and motion for protective order to avoid production of documents 23.305

Request for permission to enter on land or premises for inspection, copying, testing or related activities 23.303

Request for production of documents and tangible items for inspection, copying and testing 23.302

Response to request for production, inspection and copying of documents 23.304

Service requirements

Original request 23.147

Responding to request 23.154

Shortening time to respond to requests, motion for 23.143[2]

Signature requirements

Certification, signature as constituting 25.108[2]

Reasonableness requirement 25.108[3]

Unsigned disclosure, request, response or objection, effect of 25.108[4]

Who must sign 25.108[1]

Subpoena use on nonparties

Generally 23.136[1][c]

Compel testimony, use to 23.141[3][d]

Deadlines, applicability of discovery 23.141[3][c]

Expense protections provided by 23.141[3][e], [3][f]

Procedures for 23.141[3][b]

Purpose of 23.141[3][a]

Service requirements 23.141[4]

Shifting payment of subpoena discovery expenses 23.141[3][f]

Time restrictions on requests

ED Cal requirements 23.144[7]

ND Cal requirements 23.144[6]

Premature requests

Discovery conference, request made prior to 23.144[2]

Filing of complaint, request made prior to 23.144[1]

Initial disclosure, request made prior to 23.144[3]

Reasonable time for inspection 23.144[5]

30-day deadline 23.144[4]

Types of things items that may be requested

Documents for inspection and copying 23.137[1]

Electronic data and compilations 23.137[4]

Entrance to land for inspection, sampling and copying of tangible items 23.137[3]

Tangible items for inspection, sampling and copying 23.137[2]

Unsigned disclosure, request, response or objection, effect of 25.108[4]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-11

R-11 RES JUDICATA

Joinder of parties, effect on 6.10[5][b]

Subject matter jurisdiction, effect on dismissal based on lack of 8.17[4][e]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-12

R-12 RESOLUTION TRUST CORPORATION (RTC)

Removal of cases to federal court (See REMOVAL TO FEDERAL COURT)

41 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-13

R-13 RESPONDING TO COMPLAINT

Generally 8.02

Admission of allegations in complaint (See ADMISSION OF ALLEGATIONS IN COMPLAINT)

Answers under Rule 12 (See ANSWERS UNDER RULE 12)

Checklists

Deadlines pertaining to 8.03

Defendant's answer and initial response under Rule 12 1.05

Defendant's responses to pretrial motions and steps initiated by plaintiff 1.10; 1.11

Plaintiff's responses 1.07; 1.12

Default based on failure to respond (See DEFAULT, subhead: Failure to respond to pleading as basis)

Dismiss, motion to

"Otherwise defending," as example of 27.04[3]

Time limits for response, effect on 8.04[2]

Extension of time to respond

CD Cal rules 8.05[3][b]

ED Cal rules 8.05[3][c]

ND Cal rules 8.05[3][d]

SD Cal rules 8.05[3][e]

Procedure (generally) 8.05[3][a]

Sample forms

Answer 8.32

Motion for extension of time 8.30

Stipulation to extension of time 8.31

Failure to respond, default based on (See DEFAULT, subhead: Failure to respond to pleading as basis)

Impleader (See IMPLEADER)

Joinder of claims (See JOINDER OF CLAIMS)

Joinder of parties (See JOINDER OF PARTIES)

More definite statement, motions for (See MORE DEFINITE STATEMENT, MOTIONS FOR)

Required responses defined 27.04[2]

Strike, motions to (See STRIKE, MOTIONS TO)

Sufficient response defined 27.04[2]

Summary judgment as response, motion for 27.04[3]

Time limits for response

Generally 8.04[1]; 8.05[1]; 8.07[1]; 27.04[1]

Calculating time to respond 8.05[2][e]

Defendant's waiver of service of summons, effect of 8.05[2][a]

Exceptions to

Defendant's waiver of service of summons 8.05[2][a]

Federal government and officers/employees 8.05[2][b]

Federal statutes that override 8.05[2][c]

Service of preanswer 8.05[2][d]

Extension of time to respond (See subhead: Extension of time to respond)

Federal government and officers/employees 8.05[2][b]

Federal statutes that override 8.05[2][c]

Filing answer after ruling on preanswer motion 8.04[5]

Motion to dismiss, effect of filing 8.04[2]

Service of preanswer, effect of 8.05[2][d]

42 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-14

R-14 RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS

Generally 26.38

Checklist 26.37

Contents of responding papers

CD Cal requirements 26.39[1]

ED Cal requirements 26.39[2]

ND Cal requirements 26.39[3]

SD Cal requirements 26.39[4]

Counter-motions (See subhead: Cross-motions and counter-motions)

Cross-motions and counter-motions

Generally 26.45[1]

CD Cal requirements 26.45[2][a]

Checklist 26.44

Combining with opposition motion 26.46

ED Cal requirements 26.45[2][b]

Enlargement of time in which to respond 26.48

Filing requirements 26.47

ND Cal requirements 26.45[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 26.45[2][d]

Service requirements 26.47

Declaration in support of or in opposition to motion, sample form for 26.57

Failure to submit timely opposition papers

Generally 26.43[1]

CD Cal requirements 26.43[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 26.43[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 26.43[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 26.43[2][d]

Filing and service requirements for opposition papers

Generally 26.41[1]

Cross-motion or counter-motions, combining opposition with 26.46

Deadline for serving and filing

CD Cal requirements 26.41[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 26.41[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 26.41[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 26.41[2][d]

Extension of deadline for serving and filing

CD Cal requirements 26.41[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 26.41[3][b]

ND Cal requirements 26.41[3][c]

SD Cal requirements 26.41[2][d], [3][d]

Failure to submit timely papers (See subhead: Failure to submit timely opposition papers)

Proof of service 26.42

Formatting requirements 26.40

Proof of service requirements 26.42

Replying to opposition papers

CD Cal requirements 26.50[3][a]

Checklist 26.49

ED Cal requirements 26.50[3][b]

Federal rules 26.50[2]

ND Cal requirements 26.50[3][c]

Purpose of reply papers 26.50[1]

SD Cal requirements 26.50[3][d]

Service requirements (See subhead: Filing and service requirements for opposition papers)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-15

R-15 RICO ACTIONS

Service of summons 2.40[3][b]

Venue determination 2.54[12]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-16

R-16 RIGHT TO PRIVACY (CALIFORNIA)

Balancing privacy interest against need for disclosure 24.75

Checklist 24.73

Constitutional basis for 24.74

Electronic or facsimile filings

Exceptions to redaction requirements of personal information 5.12A[2]

General redaction requirements of personal information 5.12A[1]

Nonparty, claiming privacy interest of 24.76

Third party, claiming privacy interest of 24.76

45 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-17

R-17 RIPENESS DOCTRINE

Generally 2.44[1]

Declaratory judgment actions, requirements in 2.44[4]

Fitness for judicial review, determining 2.44[2]

Hardship if judicial review withheld, determination of 2.44[3]

Raising issue of ripeness 2.44[5]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-18

R-18 RTC (

See RESOLUTION TRUST CORPORATION (RTC))

47 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-19

R-19 RULE 4 (

See SERVICE OF PROCESS, subhead: Rule 4 requirements)

48 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-20

R-20 RULE 11

CD Cal requirements

Sanctions for noncompliance with Local Rule 11 33.07[2]

Signature requirements 33.07[1]

Frivolous pleadings, prohibition against 33.04[4]

Improper purpose of pleadings, prohibition against 33.04[5]

Inapplicable actions 33.09

Legal contentions must be justified under 33.04[6]

Purpose of 33.08

Reasonable investigation, duty of counsel to make 33.04[3]

Sanctions under (See RULE 11 SANCTIONS)

Signature requirements

Generally 33.04[1]

CD Cal requirements 33.07[1]

Certification, signature as 33.04[2]

Summary judgment, not substitute for 33.05

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-21

R-21 RULE 11 SANCTIONS

Affidavits

Generally 33.20

Sample form of affidavit in opposition to motion for sanctions 33.32

CD Cal requirements for sanctions for noncompliance with Local Rule 11 33.07[2]

Checklists

Authority for sanctions 33.03

Moving for sanctions 33.13

Opposing motion for sanctions 33.26

Depositions as basis 33.20

Deterrent effect, requirement of 33.06[3]

Informal notice requirements 33.14

Joint liability of law firm for acts committed by partners and employees 33.22

Limits on monetary sanctions

Responsible party defined 33.24[1]

Rule violations as basis for fees 33.24[2]

Motion for sanctions

Informal notice requirements 33.14

Notice requirements

Generally 33.14

Sample form 33.31

Relief sought, statement of 33.17

Separation from other motions, requirement of 33.15

Service requirements: safe harbor provision (See subhead: Safe harbor provision for service requirements)

Specific grounds requirement 33.17

Time requirements 33.16

Motions to dismiss under rule 12(b), applicability to 8.16[5]

ND Cal requirements

Compliance with Local Rule 7-2 33.19[3]

Compliance with Local Rule 7-8 33.19[1]

Format of motion 33.19[3]

Hearing date 33.19[2]

Notice requirements 33.14

Opposing motion for sanctions

Attorney's fees sought not incurred in challenged paper 33.30

Checklist 33.26

Good-faith argument in support of contention as basis 33.28

Particular conduct cannot be basis for sanctions 33.29

"Safe harbor" provision as cure to Rule 11 violation 33.27

Sample form of affidavit 33.32

Oral testimony as basis 33.20

Order granting sanctions, sample form of 33.33

Purpose of 33.23

Reasonable expenses and fees 33.21

Reasonableness standard 33.06[2]

Safe harbor provision for service requirements

Challenged pleading 33.18[3]

Corrected or withdrawn pleading 33.18[3]

Cure for Rule 11 violations, use as 33.27

Deadline for 33.18[1]

Mandatory nature of 33.18[2]

Sample forms

Affidavit in opposition to motion for sanctions 33.32

Notice of motion for sanctions 33.31

Order granting sanctions 33.33

"Violative conduct" as basis for 33.25

Who can receive sanction 33.06[1]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-22

R-22 RULE 12

Answers (See ANSWERS UNDER RULE 12)

Motion to dismiss (See MOTIONS TO DISMISS UNDER RULE 12(b))

51 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-23

R-23 RULE 16 PRETRIAL CONFERENCES (

See PRETRIAL CONFERENCES)

52 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-24

R-24 RULE 25 SUBSTITUTION (

See SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES)

53 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-25

R-25 RULE 26(f) CONFERENCE

Generally 15.04; 21.06[2]

Checklist: preparing for attending conference 15.03

Discovery and 15.06

Electronically stored information, discovery of 23.160[2]

Exemptions from 15.05

Expedited discovery

Generally 15.06

Motions to allow (See MOTIONS TO MODIFY DISCOVERY PROCEDURES, subhead: Rule 26(f) planning meeting, discovery prior to)

Stipulation allowing (See DISCOVERY STIPULATIONS, subhead: Rule 26(f) planning meeting, discovery prior to)

Initial disclosure requirements (See INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1))

Joinder of parties after Rule 26(f) conference, initial disclosure requirements for 15.17[3]

Meeting topics

Generally 15.10[1]

CD Cal requirements 15.10[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 15.10[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 15.10[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 15.10[2][d]

Motion allowing discovery prior to (See MOTIONS TO MODIFY DISCOVERY PROCEDURES, subhead: Rule 26(f) planning meeting, discovery prior to)

Participation requirements

Generally 15.12[1]; 25.83

CD Cal requirements 15.12[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 15.12[2][b]

Failure to participate, sanctions for (See RULE 37(f) SANCTIONS)

In-person requirements 15.13

ND Cal requirements 15.12[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 15.12[2][d]

Preparing for attending conference

Checklist 15.03

Meeting topics (See subhead: Meeting topics)

Proposed discovery plan

Content requirements 15.14[2]

Filing of report and plan

Generally 15.14[3]

CD Cal requirements 15.14[4][a]

ED Cal requirements 15.14[4][b]

ND Cal requirements 15.14[4][c]

SD Cal requirements 15.14[4][d]

Good-faith participation requirement 15.14[1]

Sample form 15.37

Purpose of 15.02

Relief from case management schedule, local practice on

CD Cal requirements 15.09[1]

ED Cal requirements 15.09[2]

ND Cal requirements 15.09[3]

SD Cal requirements 15.09[4]

Rule 26(f) report (See subhead: Proposed discovery plan)

Scheduling of conference, local practice on

CD Cal requirements 15.08[1]

ED Cal requirements 15.08[2]

ND Cal requirements 15.08[3]

Relief from case management schedule (See subhead: Relief from case management schedule, local practice on)

SD Cal requirements 15.08[4]

Stipulation allowing discovery prior to (See DISCOVERY STIPULATIONS, subhead: Rule 26(f) planning meeting, discovery prior to)

Time requirements

Generally 15.07[1]

Expedited schedules under local rules 15.07[2]

Expert witness disclosures, CD Cal requirements for 15.29[2]

Rule 26(a)(1), disclosures made under (See INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1))

Who must participate (See subhead: Participation requirements)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-26

R-26 RULE 26(g) SANCTIONS

Appellate review criteria 25.112

Attorney's fees as sanction 25.110[2]

Checklists

Opposing imposition of sanctions 25.113

Requesting imposition of sanctions 25.107

Due process rights 25.111[2]

Good-faith to resolve dispute informally 25.111[1]

Motion for sanctions

Appellate review criteria 25.112

Due process rights 25.111[2]

Good-faith effort to resolve as prerequisite 25.111[1]

Local practice 25.111[1]

Procedures, applicable 25.111[4]

Time requirements 25.111[3]

Opposing imposition of sanctions

Checklist 25.113

Grounds for 25.114

Procedures, applicable 25.111[4]

Reasonable expenses as sanction 25.110[2]

Signature requirements for discovery requests (See REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION AND INSPECTION)

Time requirements 25.111[3]

Who is subject to 25.110[1]

55 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-27

R-27 RULE 37(b) SANCTIONS

Appellate review criteria 25.42

Civil contempt

Appellate review of 25.36[5]

Compensatory or coercive 25.36[2]

Criminal contempt distinguished 25.35[3]

Defined 25.36[1]

Due process considerations 25.39

Monetary sanctions 25.38

Opposing, grounds for

Impossibility as 25.48[2]

Substantial compliance with court order as 25.48[1]

Shift of burden 25.36[6]

Showing requirements 25.36[3]

Standard of proof 25.36[4]

Contempt of court under rule 37(b)(2)

Generally 25.35[1]

Civil contempt (See subhead: Civil contempt)

Criminal contempt (See subhead: Criminal contempt)

Due process considerations 25.39

Monetary sanctions 25.38

Protective order as basis for 25.35[2]

Court determination of

Generally 25.41[1]

Evaluation of all incidents of party's misconduct 25.41[3]

Purpose of sanctions 25.41[2]

Criminal contempt

Civil contempt distinguished 25.35[3]

Disrespect toward judge as cause for disqualification of judge 25.37[5]

Due process considerations 25.39

Jury trial, right to 25.37[4]

Monetary sanctions 25.38

Notice requirements 25.37[3]

Purpose of 25.37[1]

Standard of proof 25.37[7]

Time and place of punishment 25.37[6]

Willful conduct requirement 25.37[2]

Dismissal and default sanctions

Alternate sanctions, court discussion of

Generally 25.34[4][a]

Determination of 25.34[3]

Warning of dismissal 25.34[4][b]

Appellate review criteria 25.34[5], [6]

"Extreme circumstances" requirement 25.34[1]

Factors for determining 25.34[2]

List of available sanctions under Rule 37(b)(2) 25.33[1]; 25.52[1]

Motion for sanctions

CD Cal requirements

Ex parte motions, allowability of 25.40[6][b]

Notice requirements 25.40[6][a]

Checklist 25.28

Contempt of court, failure to be sworn or deposed as 25.29

Content of motion

Adequate description of alleged violation 25.40[5][a]

Connection between violation and expenses, showing of 25.40[5][b]

ND Cal requirements 25.40[5][c], [5][d]

ED Cal requirements

Filing requirements 25.40[7][a]

Hearing on motion 25.40[7][b]

Filing requirements

ED Cal requirements 25.40[7][a]

ND Cal requirements 25.40[3][b], [4][b], [8][b]

Good-faith effort to reach informal resolution as prerequisite 25.40[1]

Jurisdiction

Generally 25.40[2][a]

Nonparty deponent 25.40[2][b]

ND Cal requirements

Compliance with local rules 7-2 and 7-8 25.40[4][a], [8][a]

Content of motion 25.40[5][c], [5][d]

Filing requirements 25.40[3][b], [4][b], [8][b]

Formatting requirements 25.40[4][a]

Service requirements 25.40[3][b], [8][b]

Opposition to (See subhead: Opposing motion for sanctions)

Sample form 25.117

Time requirements for filing

Generally 25.40[3][a]

ND Cal requirements 25.40[3][b]

Opposing motion for sanctions

Burden of proving failure was substantially justified 25.45[1]

Checklist: opposing imposition of Rule 37(b) sanctions 25.43

No disobeying of court order as basis for 25.46

"Other circumstances" make monetary sanctions unjust 25.45[2]

Party unable to comply, options for 25.44

Protective order, filing of 25.44

Underlying order not issued as grounds 25.46

Unrelated to disobeyed discovery order, grounds that requested sanction is 25.47

Opposing severe sanctions, grounds for

Inappropriate when party unable to comply with discovery order 25.49[2]

Refuting amount 25.49[3]

Too severe under circumstances 25.49[1]

"Order" defined for 25.31

Precluding party from defending claim 25.33[2]

Purpose of sanctions 25.41[2]

Refuting amount 25.49[3]

Who determines if violation occurred 25.32

Who is subject to sanctions

Party's representative or designee who fails to obey 25.30[2]

Party who fails to obey discovery order 25.30[1]

Physical and mental examination, parties who fail to obey to produce another for 23.208; 25.30[3]

Pro se litigants 25.30[4]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-28

R-28 RULE 37(c)(1) SANCTIONS

Generally 25.52[1]

Appellate review criteria 25.53

Basis for 25.51[1]

Checklists

Opposing imposition of sanctions 25.54

Requesting imposition of Rule 37(c)(1) sanctions 25.50

Informing jury of failure to make disclosure 25.52[2]

Opposing imposition of sanctions

Checklist 25.54

Factors weigh against sanctions as grounds 25.57

"Harmless failure" as grounds 25.56

Pro se party's ignorance of discovery requirement 25.55[4]

Reasonable predisclosure investigation as grounds 25.55[2]

Severity of sanctions as basis 25.58

"Substantially justified" as grounds for 25.55[1]

Unforeseen relevance of discovery material as basis 25.55[3]

Sample form 25.118

Self-executing nature of 25.51[2]

Showing requirements 25.51[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-29

R-29 RULE 37(c)(2) SANCTIONS

Appellate review criteria 25.64

Basis for 25.60; 25.61

Checklists

Opposing imposition of sanctions 25.65

Requesting imposition of Rule 37(c)(2) sanctions 25.59

Expense-shifting sanctions under Rule 37(c)(2)

Attorney, other sanctions available for use against 25.62[2]

Recipient of sanctions 25.62[1]

Filing requirements 25.63[2]

Good-faith effort requirement 25.63[1]

Grounds for opposing imposition of sanctions

Admission sought was not substantially important 25.67

Other good reason for failure to admit 25.69

Reasonable belief that it might prevail on matter

Generally 25.68[1]

Objective test 25.68[2]

Request objectionable under Rule 36(a) 25.66

Motion procedure rules 25.63[3]

Opposing imposition of sanctions

Checklist 25.65

Grounds for (See subhead: Grounds for opposing imposition of sanctions)

Recoverable expenses under 25.70

Requesting imposition of Rule 37(c)(2) sanctions, checklist for 25.59

Sample form 25.119

Showing of basis of amount and reasonableness of 25.70

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-30

R-30 RULE 37(d) SANCTIONS

Generally 23.120; 25.72

Appellate review criteria 25.75

Checklists

Opposing imposition of Rule 37(d) sanctions 25.76

Requesting imposition of Rule 37(d) sanctions 25.71

Expense-shifting sanctions 25.74

Motion for sanctions

Basis for 25.73[1]

Filing requirements 25.73[3]

Good-faith attempt to obtain response 25.73[1]

Jurisdiction 25.73[2]

Local procedural rules 25.73[4]

Opposition to (See subhead: Opposing motion for sanctions)

Time requirements 25.73[3]

Opposing motion for sanctions

Checklist 25.76

Inapplicable by its terms, grounds that Rule 37(d) is 25.80

Protective order procedure as support for 25.77

"Substantially justified" as grounds

Generally 25.78[1]

Burden of establishing 25.78[2]

Case-by-case determination standard 25.78[3]

"Unjust sanctions" as grounds

Generally 25.79[1]

Burden of proof 25.79[2]

Sample form 25.120

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-31

R-31 RULE 37(f) SANCTIONS

Appellate review criteria 25.87

Basis for sanctions 25.82

Checklists

Opposing imposition of sanctions 25.88

Requesting imposition of sanctions 25.81

Duty to participate in discovery plan 25.83

Hearing on issue, requirements for 25.85

Motion for sanctions

Good-faith attempt to resolve dispute as prerequisite 25.86[1]

Local practice rules 25.86[1], [2]

Opposing imposition of sanctions

Checklist 25.88

Expenses sought are unrelated to party's failure to act 25.90

Procedural defects as basis 25.89

Unreasonable amount of sanctions as basis 25.90

Sample form 25.121

Who can raise issue 25.84

60 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

R

R Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA R-32

R-32 RULE 67 MOTIONS

Generally 19.02[5]; 19.145

Amount and placement of deposit

ED Cal requirements 19.149[3]

SD Cal requirements 19.149[4]

Appellate review 19.151

Capability of delivery to court 19.142

Checklists

Initial considerations 19.139

Moving for leave to deposit disputed money or property with court 19.144

Depository requirements

Generally 19.148[1]

ED Cal requirements 19.148[2]

SD Cal requirements 19.148[3]

Filing requirements

Generally 19.149[1]

ED Cal requirements 19.149[2], [3]

SD Cal requirements 19.149[4]

Interpleader, deposit as condition of Interest, effect on accrual of 19.140[3]

Rule impleader 19.140[2]

Statutory impleader 19.140[1]

Notice requirements

Generally 19.146[1]; 19.147[1]

ED Cal requirements

As of right in impleader actions, deposit allowed 19.146[2]

Days of notice required 19.147[2]

Stipulation, request to make deposit by 19.146[3]

Sample form: Notice of motion for leave to make deposit in court following refusal of tendered payment 19.164

Partial deposit, allowability of 19.143

Relief sought must seek money or property judgment 19.141

Sample form: Notice of motion for leave to make deposit in court following refusal of tendered payment 19.164

Service requirements

Generally 19.150[1]

CD Cal requirements 19.150[3]

ED Cal requirements 19.149[2]; 19.150[2]

SD Cal requirements 19.150[4]

Suitability of delivery to court 19.142

Withdrawal of deposit (See DEPOSIT OF MONEY OR PROPERTY INTO COURT)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-1

S-1 SANCTIONS (GENERALLY)

Abuses of discovery (See DISCOVERY PLANNING)

Bad-faith conduct, inherent power of court to punish (See subhead: Inherent power of court to punish bad-faith conduct)

Certification of discovery requests and responses, sanctions for improper (See RULE 26(g) SANCTIONS)

Default sanctions under Rule 37(b) (See RULE 37(b) SANCTIONS, subhead: Dismissal and default sanctions)

Expense-shifting sanctions, imposition of (See COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY)

Failure to appear at deposition or to respond to interrogatories (See RULE 37(d) SANCTIONS)

Failure to appear for deposition (See RULE 37(d) SANCTIONS)

Failure to participate in discovery plan (See RULE 37(f) SANCTIONS)

Failure to respond to requests for production and inspection, sanctions for (See RULE 37(d) SANCTIONS)

Final pretrial conference, sanctions for failure to participate in (See PRETRIAL CONFERENCES, subhead: Sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial duties)

Inherent power of court to punish bad-faith conduct

Generally 33.11; 34.18

Applicable conduct 34.22[1]

Checklists

Opposing motion for sanctions under court's inherent power 34.17

Seeking sanctions under inherent power of court 34.16

Court's discretion in imposing sanctions 34.23

Dismissal as sanction option 34.23

Due process protections 34.21

Findings required 34.20

Interplay with other sanctioning statutes 34.19

Motion requirements

Grounds for sanctions 34.24[1]

Service requirements 34.24[2]

Opposing motion

Absence of bad faith as basis 34.25[1]

Checklist 34.17

Nature of sanctions requires due process protections 34.25[2]

Recklessness combined with aggravating factor 34.22[2]

Spoliation of evidence, sanctions for (See SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE, SANCTIONS FOR)

Local district court rules or procedures as basis

CD Cal requirements

Application for continuance, failure to comply with requirements for 34.27[5]

Bad-faith or willful violation of local rules 34.27[2]

Late filing of motion papers 34.27[3]

No good-faith intention to cross-examine requested declarant 34.27[4]

Notice of settlement, failure to comply with requirements for 34.27[5]

Presentations in court, failure to comply with local rules for 34.27[1]

Reinstatement of case dismissed for want of prosecution 34.27[6]

Checklist 34.26

ED Cal requirements

ADR procedures, violation of 34.28[4]

Delay in commencing jury trial as scheduled 34.28[3]

Failure to appear at motion proceeding 34.28[2]

Failure to notify court of settlement 34.28[5]

Violation of local rules or court order 34.28[1]

ND Cal requirements

ADR local rules, violation of 34.29[5]

Failure to give notice of settlement, sanctions for 34.29[7]

Failure to proceed on scheduled trial date, sanctions for 34.29[6], [7]

Filing or refiling case to circumvent assignment to particular judge 34.29[8]

Notice of standing order must precede sanctions 34.29[2][b]

Repeating argument in motion for leave to file motion for reconsideration 34.29[9]

Unprofessional conduct by attorney 34.29[3]

Violation of general order 34.29[2][a]

Violation of local or federal rules 34.29[1]

Wrongfully exercising privilege of bar membership 34.29[4]

SD Cal requirements

Professional conduct, violations of rules of 34.30[2]

Violation of local and federal rules and court orders 34.30[1]

Multiplying litigation unreasonably, sanctions for (See SECTION 1927 SANCTIONS)

Pretrial conference requirements, sanctions for failure to participate in (See PRETRIAL CONFERENCES, subhead: Sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial duties)

Rule 11 sanctions (See RULE 11 SANCTIONS)

Rule 16 sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial requirements (See PRETRIAL CONFERENCES, subhead: Sanctions for failure to comply with pretrial duties)

Rule 26(f) conference, sanctions for failure to participate in (See RULE 37(f) SANCTIONS)

Rule 41 sanctions for failure to prosecute or comply with court order (See INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL UNDER RULE 41(b), subhead: Failure to prosecute as basis)

Rule 45 sanctions for abuse of subpoena process 23.285; 33.12[3]

Rule 56 sanctions for affidavit or declaration filed for improper purpose in summary judgment motion 33.12[4]

Spoliation of evidence, sanctions for (See SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE, SANCTIONS FOR)

Supplementation of discovery responses, failure of (See RULE 37(c)(1) SANCTIONS)

Vexatious litigation, sanctions for (See SECTION 1927 SANCTIONS)

Wrongful proliferation of proceedings, sanctions available under §1927 for (See SECTION 1927 SANCTIONS)

62 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-2

S-2 SCHEDULING CONFERENCE

(See also PRETRIAL CONFERENCES)

Generally 16.10

Checklist: participating in scheduling conference 16.03

Parties required to attend

Generally 16.11[1]

CD Cal requirements 16.11[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 16.11[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 16.11[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 16.11[2][d]

63 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-3

S-3 SCHEDULING ORDER

Appellate review of scheduling orders

Generally 16.13[1]

Abuse of discretion standard 16.13[3], [4]

Extraordinary circumstances as basis for immediate review 16.13[2]

Modification ruling reviewed for abuse of discretion 16.13[4]

Exemptions from scheduling order requirement

Generally 16.08[1]

CD Cal requirements 16.08[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 16.08[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 16.08[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 16.08[2][d]

Mandatory and optional topics of scheduling orders

Generally 16.07[1]

CD Cal requirements 16.07[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 16.07[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 16.07[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 16.07[2][d]

Mandatory contact rule

Manner of contact 16.06[2][b]

Purpose of 16.06[2][a]

Scope of consultation 16.06[2][c]

Modification of scheduling orders

Appellate review for abuse of discretion 16.13[4]

CD Cal requirements 16.12[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 16.12[3][b]

Good cause as basis

Generally 16.12[1]

Due diligence requirement 16.12[2]

ND Cal requirements 16.12[3][c]

SD Cal requirements 16.12[3][d]

Preparing and filing

Generally 16.06[1]

Appellate review (See subhead: Appellate review of scheduling orders)

Binding nature of scheduling order 16.09

CD Cal requirements 16.06[4][a]

ED Cal requirements 16.06[4][b]

Exemptions from scheduling order requirement (See subhead: Exemptions from scheduling order requirement
)

Mandatory and optional topics of (See subhead: Mandatory and optional topics of scheduling orders)

Mandatory contact rule (See subhead: Mandatory contact rule)

Modification of scheduling orders (See subhead: Modification of scheduling orders)

ND Cal requirements 16.06[4][c]

Scheduling conference (See SCHEDULING CONFERENCE)

SD Cal requirements 16.06[4][d]

Time requirements 16.06[3]

Sample form 16.26

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-4

S-4 SEAL

Class actions, allowability of filing settlement or voluntary dismissal of 20.55

Complaint under seal, application to file (See PREPARATION OF SUMMONS, subhead: Seal, application to file complaint under)

Discovery records, sealing of (See PROTECTIVE ORDERS, subhead: Sealing of discovery records)

Northern District ADR arbitration award, sealing requirements for 32.14[4]

65 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-5

S-5 SECTION 1927 SANCTIONS

Applicable conduct 34.05; 34.06

Attorneys as recipient of 34.07

Attorney's fees, award of 33.10[2]

Bad faith as prerequisite 34.08

CD Cal requirements: security deposit to discourage vexatious litigation 34.10

Checklists

Opposing motion for § 1927 sanctions 34.12

Seeking sanctions under 28 USC § 1927 34.03

Ignorance as insufficient prerequisite 34.09

Motion for sanctions

Grounds, statement of 34.11[1]

Relief sought, statement of 34.11[1]

Service requirements 34.11[2]

Negligence as insufficient prerequisite 34.09

Opposing motion for sanctions

Checklist 34.12

Ignorance, conduct was product of mere 34.15

Inapplicability of § 1927, assertion of 34.13

Motion not filed to accomplish purpose of deterrence 34.14

Negligence, conduct was product of mere 34.15

Purpose of 34.04

Recklessness faith as prerequisite 34.08

"Unreasonable and vexatious" conduct by attorney 33.10[1]

Who can receive sanctions 34.07

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-6

S-6 SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE ACT OF 1934, ACTIONS UNDER

Jurisdiction 2.54[14]

Service of summons 2.40[3][b]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-7

S-7 SEIZURE OF PROPERTY

In rem jurisdiction

Generally 7.51[1], [3]

Checklist for seizure of defendant's property for in rem jurisdiction 7.49A

Discretionary nature of 7.51[4]

State law provisions governing 7.51[2]

Other prejudgment relief available 19.42[3]

Writ of attachment (See WRIT OF ATTACHMENT)

Writ of possession (See WRIT OF POSSESSION)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-8

S-8 SEPARATE TRIALS (BIFURCATION)

Advantages of

Key issues, resolution of 18.04[3][a]

Speeding up litigation 18.04[3][b]

Appellate issues related to 18.04[4]

Burden of proof 18.33

Checklist

Moving for bifurcation 18.21

Opposing motion for separate trial 18.36

Convenience as basis for 18.28

Counterclaims, severance of 11.24

Crossclaims, severance of 11.42

Excessive joinder of parties or claims, separate trials to resolve problems created by 4.05[3]

Expedition and economy as basis for 18.30; 18.38[2]

Factors considered by court 18.22

Notice of motion for separate trials, sample 18.42

Opposition to motion for

Checklist 18.36

Expedition and economy compromised by separation 18.38[2]

Grounds for objection 18.38[1]-[3]

Prejudice of party as basis 18.38[1]

Right to jury trial compromised 18.38[3]

Time requirements 18.37

Patent cases, usefulness in 18.35[2]

Power to stay as implicit in power to separate 18.34

Prejudice, avoidance of 18.29; 18.38[1]

Pretrial conferences, consideration at

CD Cal requirements 18.26[2]

ED Cal requirements 18.26[3]

Rule 16, applicability of 18.26[1]

SD Cal requirements 18.26[4]

Purpose of 18.04[2]

Right to jury trial, effect on 18.31; 18.38[3]

Rule 42(b) factors, satisfaction of 18.32

Sample forms

Notice of motion for separate trials 18.42

Order granting separate trials 18.43

Severance of claim distinguished 10.14[3][b]; 18.04[1]

Stipulation to bifurcate 18.23

Sua sponte bifurcation

Generally 18.24

Order granting separate trials 18.43

Timing of motion for 18.27

Title VII cases, usefulness in 18.35[3]

Tort actions, usefulness in 18.35[1]

Who can make motion for bifurcation 18.25

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-9

S-9 SERVICE OF DISCOVERY PAPERS

Generally 5.19[1]

Waiver of service 5.19[2]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-10

S-10 SERVICE OF PLEADINGS

Answers under rule 12 8.13[1]

Counterclaims 11.21

Discovery papers (See SERVICE OF DISCOVERY PAPERS)

Initial summons (See SERVICE OF PROCESS)

Local practice

CD Cal requirements 5.17[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.17[3][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.17[3][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.17[3][d]

Subsequent pleadings 5.17[2]

Substitution of parties (See SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES)

Who must receive service 5.16

71 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-11

S-11 SERVICE OF PROCESS

Generally 5.17[1]; 7.02[1], [2]

Alternate delivery methods

Generally 7.17

CD Cal requirements 5.22[6][a]

Completion of service defined 5.22[5][b]

Consent requirements 5.22[5][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.22[6][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.22[6][c]

Sample form: Consent to electronic service 5.39

SD Cal requirements 5.22[6][d]

Association, service on

California law governing 7.29[6]

Checklists

Generally 7.23

California, located in 7.26

Methods allowable 7.29[1], [2]

State law, service made pursuant to 7.29[2]

Unincorporated associations

Domestic associations 7.29[7][b]

Foreign associations 7.29[7][c]

"Bulge" service, effect of 7.47

CD Cal requirements

Generally 5.17[3][a]

Alternate delivery methods 5.22[6][a]

Court-appointed servers 7.11[3][b]

Hand delivery 5.22[2][a]

Proof of service 5.23[2][a]

U.S. mail, service by 5.22[4][a]

Waiver of service 5.22[9][a]

Checklists

General checklist 5.15

Association, choosing method of serving

Generally 7.23

California, located in 7.26

Avoiding dismissal for untimely service 7.02A

California methods of service

Generally 7.25

Persons to serve under methods, determination of 7.26

Completion of service, ensuring of 7.42A

Corporation, choosing method of serving

Generally 7.23

California, located in 7.26

Establishing personal jurisdiction over defendant 7.44A

Incompetent person, choosing method of serving

Generally 7.21

California, located in 7.26

Individual, choosing method of serving

Generally 7.20

California, located in 7.26

Minor, choosing method of serving

Generally 7.21

California, located in 7.26

Partnership, choosing method of serving

Generally 7.23

California, located in 7.26

Proof of service or waiver, filing of 7.51A

Public entities, service on 7.24; 7.26

Seizure of defendant's property for in rem jurisdiction 7.49A

State or local governments or governmental entities, service on 7.24

Civil cover sheet (See CIVIL COVER SHEET)

Combination service, allowability of 7.27[3][b]; 7.29[10]

Complaint, service with 6.19[1]

Completion of service defined

Generally 7.43

Alternate delivery methods 5.22[5][b]

Checklist for ensuring completion of service 7.42A

Foreign states agency or instrumentality 7.40[3][c]

Foreign states or their political subdivision 7.40[2][d]

Local rules

Generally 7.44[1]

CD Cal requirements 7.44[2]

ED Cal requirements 7.44[3]

ND Cal requirements 7.44[4]

SD Cal requirements 7.44[5]

Corporations, service on

Agent for service, delivery to

Generally 7.29[3][a], [3][d]

Secretary of State as substitute for 7.29[3][e]

Banks, delivery to 7.29[3][c]

Checklists

Generally 7.23

California, located in 7.26

Defunct or dissolved corporations 7.29[4]

Foreign corporations 7.29[3][f], [5]

Hand delivery 7.29[3][d]

Methods allowable 7.29[1], [2]

Officer of corporation, delivery to 7.29[3][b]

Proof of service, sample form for 7.60

Secretary of State in absence of corporate agent, delivery to 7.29[3][e]

State law, service made pursuant to 7.29[2]

Court-appointed servers

Generally 7.11[1]

CD Cal requirements 7.11[3][b]

ND Cal requirements 7.11[3][c]

Plaintiff's request as cause 7.11[3][a]

SD Cal requirements 7.11[3][d]

Statutory exceptions 7.11[2]

Court clerk's role 6.19[5]

Defunct or dissolved corporations, service on 7.29[4]

Designation of counsel for service: ED Cal requirements 6.21[4]

Determination of who must receive service 5.16

Dismissal for failure to meet service deadline

Generally 7.03[2]

Checklist to avoid dismissal for untimely service 7.02A

Failure to object as waiver 7.04[4]

Notice as prerequisite 7.04[1]

SD Cal requirements 7.04[2]

Waiver caused by failure to object to untimely service 7.04[4]

Without prejudice 7.04[3]

ED Cal requirements

Generally 5.17[3][b]

Alternate delivery methods 5.22[6][b]

Designation of counsel for service 6.21[4]

Hand delivery 5.22[2][b]

Proof of service 5.23[2][b]

U.S. mail, service by 5.22[4][b]

Waiver of service 5.22[9][b]; 7.19[3]

Electronic methods of service (See subhead: Alternate delivery methods)

Errors in summons, effect of 6.19[6]

Expert witness disclosures 15.32

Extension of service deadline

Generally 5.22[2][d]; 7.05[1]

Court filing deadlines, effect of 5.22[2][d]

Good cause, extension for

Generally 7.05[2]

Definition of "good cause" 7.05[3]

SD Cal requirements 7.06[2]

No good cause shown 7.06[1]

SD Cal requirements 7.06[2]

Statute of limitations and 7.07[1], [2]

Extension of time to plead by waiving service of summons 7.18

Failure to serve caused by process server 7.09

Foreign country, serving defendants in (See INTERNATIONAL SERVICE OF PROCESS)

Forms

CD Cal requirements 6.19[3][c]

Plaintiff's official form 6.19[3][b]

Sample forms (See subhead: Sample forms)

Waiver of service

Defendant's form 7.16[1][b]

Plaintiff's official form 6.19[2][e]

Hand delivery

Generally 5.22[1]; 7.17

CD Cal requirements 5.22[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.22[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.22[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 5.22[2][d]

Incompetent persons, service on (See subhead: Minors and incompetent persons, service on)

Individual, service on

California law

Certified mail, service by 7.27[3][d]

Combination service 7.27[3][b]

Notice and acknowledgment of receipt as means of service 7.27[3][c]

Personal delivery 7.27[3][a]

Publication, service by 7.27[3][e]

Registered mail, service by 7.27[3][d]

Special circumstances for particular types of defendants 7.27[3][f]; 7.29[11]

U.S. Mail, service by 7.27[3][d]

Checklists

Generally 7.20

California, located in 7.26

Methods allowable 7.27[1], [2]

State law, service made pursuant to 7.27[2]

Insufficient process or service of process, motion to dismiss for (See MOTIONS TO DISMISS UNDER RULE 12(b), subhead: Insufficient process or service of process)

International service of process (See INTERNATIONAL SERVICE OF PROCESS)

Joint stock company or association, service on 7.29[6]

Limited liability companies, service on 7.29[9]

Limited liability partnerships, service on 7.29[8]

Limits on service of process

"Bulge" service 7.47

Checklist for determining whether personal jurisdiction established over defendant 7.44A

Constitutional requirements 7.46[1]

Foreign defendants 7.48

Four-alternative test under Rule 4(k) 7.45[2]

Review of sufficiency of service 7.49

Rule 4 recognized limits 7.45[1]; 7.46[2]

Local governments or governmental entities, service on (See subhead: State or local governments or governmental entities, service on)

Local practice

CD Cal requirements (See subhead: CD Cal requirements)

ED Cal requirements (See subhead: ED Cal requirements)

ND Cal requirements (See subhead: ND Cal requirements)

SD Cal requirements (See subhead: SD Cal requirements)

Methods of service

Generally 7.17

Alternate delivery methods (See subhead: Alternate delivery methods)

Electronic service (See subhead: Alternate delivery methods)

Hand delivery (See subhead: Hand delivery)

Leaving paper with clerk of court 5.22[7]

U.S. Mail (See subhead: U.S. mail, service by)

Waiver of service (See subhead: Waiver of service)

Minors and incompetent persons, service on

Generally 7.28[1]

California law 7.28[2], [3]

Checklists

Generally 7.21

California, located in 7.26

International service of process

Generally 7.38

Checklist for choosing method of service 7.33

Waiver of service, allowability of 6.19[2][b]

Motion papers (See SERVICE OF WRITTEN MOTIONS)

ND Cal requirements

Generally 5.17[3][c]

Alternate delivery methods 5.22[6][c]

Court-appointed servers 7.11[3][c]

Hand delivery 5.22[2][c]

Proof of service 5.23[2][c]

U.S. mail, service by 5.22[4][c]

Waiver of service 5.22[9][c]

120-day time limit

Generally 7.03[1]

Dismissal for failure to meet service deadline (See subhead: Dismissal for failure to meet service deadline)

Expiration of time limit and statute of limitations 7.07[2]

Extension of time (See subhead: Extension of service deadline)

Failure to meet deadline, effect of 7.03[2]

Foreign countries, service in 7.41

Proof of service and 7.53

Statute of limitations and 7.07[1], [2]

Partnership, service on

Checklists

Generally 7.23

California, located in 7.26

Foreign partnerships

Generally 7.29[7][c]

Limited liability partnerships 7.29[8]

Limited liability partnerships 7.29[8]

Limited partnerships 7.29[7][a]

Methods allowable 7.29[1], [2], [7][a]

State law, service made pursuant to 7.29[2]

Personal jurisdiction, cases involving

Federal question cases and nationwide service 2.40[3][c]

Foreign country, serving defendants in 2.40[2][c]

Methods of service, statutory

California law 2.40[2][b]

Compliance requirements 2.40[1][b]

Foreign country, serving defendants in 2.40[2][c]

Rule 4, service under Federal 2.40[2][a]

Nationwide service authorized

CERCLA-related cases 2.40[3][b]

Clayton Act-related cases 2.40[3][b]

ERISA-related cases 2.40[3][b]

Federal question cases 2.40[3][c]

RICO-related cases 2.40[3][b]

Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, cases relating to 2.40[3][b]

Notice requirements 2.40[1][a], [1][c]

100-mile bulge service 2.40[3][a]

Opportunity to defend requirements 2.40[1][a]

Territorial limits of effective service

Federal question cases and nationwide service 2.40[3][c]

Nationwide service authorized 2.40[3][b], [3][c]

100-mile bulge service 2.40[3][a]

Waiver of service of process

Applicable parties 2.40[4][a]

Filing requirements 2.40[4][e]

Requests for 2.40[4][b]

Responding after request for waiver 2.40[4][d]

Sample form used for 2.40[4][c]

Person to serve summons (See subhead: Process server)

Pretrial disclosures under rule 26(a)(3) 17.23

Process server

Authorized process servers

Generally 7.10

Court-appointed servers (See subhead: Court-appointed servers)

Burden of service 7.09

Checklist for selecting 7.08

Failure to serve caused by, responsibility for 7.09

Marshal as server, appointment of (See subhead: Court-appointed servers)

Selection of, checklist for 7.08

Unauthorized person, effect of service by 7.09

Who may serve as

Generally 7.10

Court-appointed servers (See subhead: Court-appointed servers)

Proof of service

Generally 5.23[1]; 7.52

Amendment of 7.55

CD Cal requirements 5.23[2][a]

Checklist for filing proof of service 7.51A

ED Cal requirements 5.23[2][b]

Failure to file proof of service, effect of 7.54

Local district court forms 6.34; 7.61

ND Cal requirements 5.23[2][c]

Proper and timely service requirements 7.53

Sample forms

Corporate defendant 7.60

General form 5.37; 7.58

Local district court forms 5.44; 7.61

Substituted service 7.59

U.S. mail, certificate of service by 5.38

SD Cal requirements 5.23[2][d]

Proper and timely service requirements 7.53

Purpose of 7.02[1]

RICO-related cases, nationwide service authorized in 2.40[3][b]

Rule 4 requirements

Four-alternative test under Rule 4(k) 7.45[2]

Limits of jurisdiction under 7.45[1]

Methods of service, statutory 2.40[2][a]

Waiver of service

Content requirement for notice form 7.16[2]

Copy of complaint as accompaniment 7.16[3], [4]

Defendant's form 7.16[1][b]

Notice of action and request for waiver 7.16[1][a]

Prepaid means of returning waiver of service, requirement for 7.16[5]

Returning waiver of service, requirement for prepaid means of 7.16[5]

Warning requirements 7.16[1][c]

Sample forms

Certificate of service 5.37

Electronic service, consent to 5.39

General summons 6.33

Local district court forms 5.44; 7.61

Notice of lawsuit and request for waiver of service of summons 7.56

Proof of service (See subhead: Proof of service)

U.S. mail, certificate of service by 5.38

Waiver of service (See subhead: Waiver of service)

SD Cal requirements

Generally 5.17[3][c]

Alternate delivery methods 5.22[6][d]

Declaration of service 5.44

Dismissal for failure to meet service deadline 7.04[2]

Extension of service deadline 7.06[2]

Hand delivery 5.22[2][d]

Marshal, service by 7.11[3][d]

Proof of service 5.23[2][d]

Summons and return of service, local district court forms for 7.61

U.S. mail, service by 5.22[4][d]

Waiver of service 5.22[9][d]

Seizure of defendant's property for in rem jurisdiction, checklist for 7.49A

Special statutory methods under California law for particular types of defendants 7.27[3][f]; 7.29[11]

State or local governments or governmental entities, service on

California law governing

Attorney General as official state defendant 7.31[3][c]

Recipients of service, valid 7.31[3][a]

Substituted service, allowability of 7.31[3][b]

Checklist 7.24

Chief executive as recipient of summons 7.31[1]

State law, pursuant to 7.31[2]

Waiver of service, allowability of 6.19[2][b]

Statute of limitations

Expiration of 120-day time limit, effect of 7.07[2]

Expiration of statute of limitations, effect of 7.07[1]

Timely service requirements (See subhead: 120-day time limit)

Types of papers which must be served

Generally 5.20

Discovery papers

Generally 5.19[1]

Waiver of service 5.19[2]

Motion papers (See SERVICE OF WRITTEN MOTIONS)

Orders 5.21

United States as defendant

Attorney General, service of 7.30[1][b]

Method of service for 7.30[1][c]

Nonparty officer or agency, service of 7.30[1][c]

Reasonable time to serve all parties 7.30[4][a]

U.S. Attorney, service of 7.30[1][a]

Waiver of service, allowability of 6.19[2][b]

U.S. agency or governmental corporation as defendant

Attorney General, service of 7.30[2][a]

Method of service for 7.30[2][b]

Reasonable time to serve all parties 7.30[4][a]

U.S. Attorney, service of 7.30[2][a]

Waiver of service, allowability of 6.19[2][b]

U.S. mail, service by

Generally 5.22[3]; 7.17

California law 7.27[3][d]

CD Cal requirements 5.22[4][a]

Certified mail, service by 7.27[3][d]; 7.30[1][c]

ED Cal requirements 5.22[4][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.22[4][c]

Registered mail, service by 7.27[3][d]; 7.30[1][c]

Sample form 5.38

SD Cal requirements 5.22[4][d]

U.S. marshal, service by (See subhead: Court-appointed servers)

U.S. officer or employee sued in individual capacity

Attorney General, service of 7.30[3][a]

Method of service for 7.30[3][b]

Reasonable time to serve all parties 7.30[4][a], [4][b]

U.S. Attorney, service of 7.30[3][a]

Waiver of service, allowability of 6.19[2][b]

Waiver of service

Generally 5.22[8][a]; 7.15[1]

Assessment of costs against defendant who refuses to waive 6.19[2][c]

Avoidance of cost of service as basis for 6.19[2][a]

CD Cal requirements 5.22[9][a]

Checklist for filing waiver of service 7.51A

Checklists

Determining whether to seek waiver of service 7.12

Responding to request for waiver of service 7.14

Seeking waiver of service 7.13

Content requirement for notice form 7.16[2]

Copy of complaint as accompaniment 7.16[3], [4]

Costs of service as basis

Assessment of costs against defendant who refuses to waive 6.19[2][c]

Avoidance of cost of service 6.19[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.22[9][b]; 7.19[3]

Effect of waiver

Generally 7.19[2]

ED Cal requirements 7.19[3]

Jurisdictional objections and 7.19[1]

Venue objections and 7.19[1]

Extension of time to plead resulting from 7.18

Failure to object to untimely service, waiver caused by 7.04[4]

Federal agency or corporation as defendant, allowability when 6.19[2][b]

Federal officer or employee sued in official capacity as defendant, allowability when 6.19[2][b]

Foreign countries, service in 7.42

Foreign government as defendant, allowability when 6.19[2][b]

Forms

Defendant's form 7.16[1][b]

Plaintiff's official form 6.19[2][e]

Governmental defendants 7.15[1]

Jurisdictional objections compared 7.19[1]

Local district court forms 6.34; 7.61

Mailing requirements 7.17

Minor or incompetent person as defendant, allowability when 6.19[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.22[9][c]

Notice of action and request for waiver 7.16[1][a]

Personal jurisdiction, cases involving (See subhead: Personal jurisdiction, cases involving)

Prepaid means of returning waiver of service, requirement for 7.16[5]

Purpose of 7.02[1]

Refusal of waiver, effect of 7.15[2]

Returning waiver of service, requirement for prepaid means of 7.16[5]

Rule 4 requirements (See subhead: Rule 4 requirements)

Sample forms

Motion to dispense with service of pleadings 5.40

Notice of lawsuit and request for waiver of service of summons 7.56

Order dispensing with service of pleadings 5.41

Waiver of service of summons 7.57

SD Cal requirements 5.22[9][d]

State or local government as defendant, allowability when 6.19[2][b]

Time for response, effect on 6.19[2][d]

United States as defendant, allowability when 6.19[2][b]

Venue objections compared 7.19[1]

Warning requirements 7.16[1][c]

When waiver not available 6.19[2][b]

Who must receive service 5.16

72 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-12

S-12 SERVICE OF SUMMONS (

See SERVICE OF PROCESS)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-13

S-13 SERVICE OF WRITTEN MOTIONS

Generally 5.18[1]; 26.27

Affidavits supporting or opposing motions, inclusion of 5.18[2]

Attorney as recipient 26.28

CD Cal requirements 5.18[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.18[3][b]

Manner of service 26.29

ND Cal requirements 5.18[3][c]

Proof of service requirements 26.30

SD Cal requirements 5.18[3][d]

Who must be served 26.27

74 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-14

S-14 SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS

Generally 31.04; 31.34

Admissibility at trial of evidence concerning efforts to settle 31.12

Advantages of settlement

"Bar orders" 31.05[3]

Certainty 31.05[1]

Expeditious resolution 31.05[2]

Shielding from additional liability 31.05[3]

Appellate review criteria 31.47

Checklists

Drafting settlement agreement 31.33

Enforcement of agreement

Enforcing settlement 31.41[1]

Opposing enforcement of settlement 31.41[2]

Preparing for settlement (generally) 31.03

Class actions (See CLASS ACTIONS, subhead: Settlement or voluntary dismissal of)

Client expectations, setting realistic 31.09[3]

Client objectives, understanding 31.09[2]

Common provisions of (See subhead: Provisions of agreements)

Confidentiality, maintaining 31.11

Consent decrees 31.35[5]

Duty to file notice of settlement

CD Cal requirements 31.37[1][a]

ED Cal requirements 31.37[1][b]

Failure to file in timely manner, effect of (See subhead: Jury costs, assessment of)

ND Cal requirements 31.37[1][c]

SD Cal requirements 31.37[1][d]

Enforcement of agreement

Generally 31.42

Appellate review criteria 31.47

Checklists

Enforcing settlement 31.41[1]

Opposing enforcement of settlement 31.41[2]

Federal Arbitration Act, actions governed by 31.44[2]

Injunction to enjoin inconsistent actions 31.45[3]

Jurisdictional requirements

Class actions 31.44[3]

Federal Arbitration Act, actions governed by 31.44[2]

Independent basis of jurisdiction 31.44[1]

Multiparty settlements 31.44[3]

Legally valid contract, proof of (See subhead: Legally valid contract, proof of)

Limitations on further litigation as part of agreement 31.45[4]

Opposing enforcement 31.46

Pending cases 31.45[1]

Post-dismissal enforcement (See subhead: Post-dismissal enforcement)

Ethical issues for attorneys

Client's authority to settle, obtaining 31.10[1]

Communicating offers and demands to client 31.10[2]

Conflicts of interest, avoiding 31.10[4]

Refraining from communicating with represented parties 31.10[3]

Judicial approval of settlement 31.40

Jury costs, assessment of

CD Cal requirements 31.37[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 31.37[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 31.37[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 31.37[2][d]

Legally valid contract, proof of

Completeness of agreement

Authority to make binding settlement 31.43[2][b]

Both parties, authorization by 31.43[2][a]

Signature requirements 31.43[2][c]

Construction of agreement

Enforceable contract status 31.43[1][a]

State contract law 31.43[1][b]

Void terms, unenforceable and 31.43[1][c]

Evidentiary hearing as to formation of agreement 31.43[2][c]

Limitations on further litigation as part of agreement 31.45[4]

Local district court forms applicable 31.50

Lump sum settlements

Advantages of 31.35[2]

Disadvantages of 31.35[3]

Nature of 31.35[1]

Mandatory settlement procedures

CD Cal requirements

Generally 31.07[1][a]

Appearance requirements 31.07[1][c]

"Exhaust all possibilities of settlement" 31.07[1][d]

Suggested procedures 31.07[1][b]

District court requirements for 31.06[2]

ED Cal requirements

Generally 31.07[2][a]

Attendance requirements 31.07[2][b]

Pretrial statement on settlement possibilities 31.07[2][c]

United States as party 31.07[2][b]

Failure to participate, effect of 31.06[3]

ND Cal requirements: mandatory ADR 31.07[3]

Necessity of 31.06[1]

SD Cal requirements

Additional step required if ENE fails 31.07[4][b]

Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE) 31.07[4][a]

Mandatory settlement conference 31.07[4][c]

Nonbinding mini-trial 31.07[4][d]

Summary jury 31.07[4][d]

Mediated settlement (See subhead: Third-party facilitation of settlement)

Monetary value of case, determination of 31.09[5]

Offers of judgment (See OFFERS OF JUDGMENT)

Opponent's objectives, understanding 31.09[4]

Oral settlements 31.38

Partial settlements 31.35[3]

Post-dismissal enforcement

Contempt proceedings 31.45[2][c]

Jurisdiction requirements 31.45[2][a]

Separate action to enforce settlement 31.45[2][b]

Post-settlement requirements

Failure to file in timely manner, effect of (See subhead: Jury costs, assessment of)

Filing of notice (See subhead: Duty to file notice of settlement)

Judicial approval of settlement 31.40

Jury costs, assessment of (See subhead: Jury costs, assessment of)

Oral settlements 31.38

Stipulation of dismissal (See VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL, subhead: Stipulation of voluntary dismissal)

Provisions of agreements

Generally 31.36[5]

Identification of parties 31.36[1]

Recitations of

Disputed matters 31.36[2]

Parties' obligations 31.36[3]

Release provisions 31.36[4]

Signatures 31.36[6]

Sliding scale settlements

"Cede-back" arrangements 31.35[4][d]

Definition of 31.35[4][a]

"Mary Carter" agreements 31.35[4][b]

Pierringer releases 31.35[4][c]

Stipulation of dismissal (See VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL, subhead: Stipulation of voluntary dismissal)

Structured settlements

Advantages of 31.35[2][b]

Disadvantages of 31.35[2][c]

Nature of 31.35[2][a]

Third-party claim by non-settling defendant against settling defendant 12.04[3]

Third-party facilitation of settlement

Nonjudicial mediator 31.08[2]

Settlement discussions prior to 31.08[1]

Trial judge serving as settlement officer (See subhead: Trial judge serving as settlement officer)

Thoroughness considerations

Generally 31.09[1]

Client expectations, setting realistic 31.09[3]

Client objectives, understanding 31.09[2]

Monetary value of case, determination of 31.09[5]

Opponent's objectives, understanding 31.09[4]

Trial judge serving as settlement officer

Generally 31.08[3]

CD Cal requirements 31.08[5][a]

ED Cal requirements 31.08[5][b]

ND Cal requirements 31.08[5][c]

Potential issues from dual role if judge 31.08[4]

SD Cal requirements 31.08[5][d]

Types of settlements available

Consent decrees 31.35[5]

Lump sum (See subhead: Lump sum settlements)

Partial settlements 31.35[3]

Sliding scale settlements (See subhead: Sliding scale settlements)

Structured settlements (See subhead: Structured settlements)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-15

S-15 SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES

Generally 21.06[2]

Benefits of 16.23[3]

CD Cal requirements

Generally 16.23[6][a]

Magistrate judge, assignment to 16.24[3][a]

Master, appointment and use of 16.25[6][a]

Checklist 16.14[2]

Coercion toward settlement, allowability of 16.23[2]

Discretionary nature of 16.23[1], [2]

ED Cal requirements

Generally 16.23[6][b]

Magistrate judge, assignment to 16.24[3][b]

Master, appointment and use of 16.25[6][b]

Filing settlement conference statement 16.23[5]

Local practice (See specific district subhead, e.g., CD Cal requirements)

Magistrate judge, assignment to

Generally 16.23[4]; 16.24[1]

CD Cal requirements 16.24[3][a]

ED Cal requirements 16.24[3][b]

Local district court forms 16.27

ND Cal requirements 16.24[3][c]

Scope of assignment 16.24[2]

SD Cal requirements 16.24[3][d]

Master, appointment of

Generally 16.25[1]

Authority of master 16.25[3]

CD Cal requirements 16.25[6][a]

Compensation for master 16.25[4]

ED Cal requirements 16.25[6][b]

Hearing requirements 16.25[2]

ND Cal requirements 16.25[6][c]

Notice requirements 16.25[2]

Review of master's determination 16.25[5]

SD Cal requirements 16.25[6][d]

ND Cal requirements

Generally 16.23[6][c]

Attendance requirements

Corporation entity, representation of 32.39[2]

Government entity, representation of 32.39[2]

Insurer's attendance, necessity of 32.39[3]

Notification of 32.38

Parties to action 32.39[1]

Confidentiality requirements 32.40

Magistrate judge, assignment to

Generally 16.24[3][c]; 32.36[1]

Scheduling of conference 32.37

Stipulations by parties 32.36[2], [3]

Master, appointment and use of 16.25[6][c]

Pre-conference submission requirements 32.38

Purpose of conference 32.34

Referral of case for conference

Stipulation, referral by 32.35[1]

Sua sponte referral 32.35[1]

Telephone conference requirement for cases assigned to ADR multi-option program 32.35[2]

Time requirements 32.35[2]

Scheduling of conference 32.37

Offers of judgment (See OFFERS OF JUDGMENT)

Preparing and filing settlement conference statement 16.23[5]

Referring conference to

Magistrate judge (See subhead: Magistrate judge, assignment to)

Special master (See subhead: Master, appointment of)

SD Cal requirements

Generally 16.23[6][d]

Attendance requirements 32.70[2][a]

Confidential nature of proceedings 32.70[2][c]

Informal nature of proceedings 32.70[2][c]

Magistrate judge, assignment to 16.24[3][d]; 32.70[2][b]

Mandatory settlement procedures, as part of 31.07[4][c]

Master, appointment and use of 16.25[6][d]

Scheduling requirements

Generally 32.70[1][a]

Follow-up conferences 32.70[1][b]

Post-verdict settlement conferences 32.70[1][c]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-16

S-16 SEVERANCE OF CLAIMS

Counterclaims, use in 11.24

Court's discretion

Efficient administration of justice, to further 10.14[2]

Misjoinder, severance as cure for 10.14[1]

Defined 10.14[3][a]

Efficient administration of justice, to further 10.14[2]

Misjoinder, as cure for 10.14[1]

Separate trial distinguished 10.14[3][b]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-17

S-17 SHAREHOLDER DERIVATIVE SUITS

Preparation of complaint

Generally 6.08[5]

Derivative action defined 6.11[12][a]

Required allegations 6.11[12][b]

Venue determination 2.54[9]

78 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-18

S-18 SIGNATURE REQUIREMENTS

Generally 5.10[1]; 6.14[1][a]; 26.18[3]

Answers under Rule 12 8.12[3]

CD Cal requirements

Generally 5.10[2][a]; 6.14[3][a]

Electronic or facsimile signatures 5.10[4][a]

Jury demand 13.05[5][d]

Signature block format 5.10[2][a]

Certification under Rule 11

Generally 6.14[4][a]

Frivolous complaints 6.14[4][c], [4][d]

Improper purposes for signing and filing defined 6.14[4][c]

Sanctions resulting from signing in violation of implicit certifications 6.14[4][b]

Violation of implicit certifications, effect of signing in 6.14[4][b]

ED Cal requirements

Generally 5.10[2][b]; 6.14[3][b]

Electronic or facsimile signatures 5.10[4][b]; 6.14[1][d]

Jury demand 13.05[5][e]

Signature block format 5.10[2][b]

Electronic or facsimile signatures

Generally 5.10[3]; 6.14[1][c]

CD Cal requirements 5.10[4][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.10[4][b]; 6.14[1][d]

ND Cal requirements 5.10[4][c]; 6.14[1][e]

SD Cal requirements 5.10[4][d]; 6.14[1][f]

Expert witness disclosures 15.32

Improper purposes for signing and filing defined 6.14[4][c]

Initial disclosure requirements 15.24

Inquiry preceding signing

Client statements, reliance on 6.14[5][c]

Failure to make inquiry, effect of 6.14[5][d]

Objective standard as basis 6.14[5][b]

Reasonable investigation requirement 6.14[5][a]

Interrogatories 23.116[5]

Jury demand (See JURY DEMAND, subhead: Signature requirements)

ND Cal requirements

Electronic or facsimile signatures 5.10[4][c]; 6.14[1][e]

Jury demand 13.05[5][b]

Signature block format 5.10[2][c]

Original complaint, signature on 6.14[1][a]

Pretrial disclosures under rule 26(a)(3) 17.23

Proper person to sign complaint, determination of 6.14[2]

Removal to federal court, notice of 3.18[3]

Requests for admission

Generally 23.223

Responding to requests 23.237

SD Cal requirements

Generally 5.10[2][d]; 6.14[3][c]

Electronic or facsimile signatures 5.10[4][d]; 6.14[1][f]

Jury demand 13.05[5][f]

Signature block format 5.10[2][d]

Settlement agreements 31.36[6]; 31.43[2][c]

Signature block format

CD Cal requirements 5.10[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 5.10[2][b]

ND Cal requirements 5.10[2][c]

Sample form 5.33

SD Cal requirements 5.10[2][d]

Subpoena procedures

Compel permission to inspect premises, subpoena to 23.264[6]

Compel production, subpoena to 23.263[6]

Compel testimony, subpoena to 23.262[7]

Unified copies 6.14[1][b]

Verification of complaint, effect of signature on 6.15[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-19

S-19 SLAPP SUITS (

See ANTI-SLAPP SUITS)

80 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-20

S-20 SOVEREIGN IMMUNITY

Compulsory joinder and American Indian tribes, applicability of 4.47[1], [2]

Counterclaims and 11.18[5]

Employment actions, immunity of states in 4.34[6]

Removal to federal court, effect of 3.15

United States, claims by or against

Impleader 12.09[2]

Joinder of claims against U.S., effect on 6.10[8][a]

81 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-21

S-21 SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE, SANCTIONS FOR

Appellate review criteria 25.100

Bringing motion for sanctions

Appellate review criteria 25.100

Authority, specification of 25.101

Duty to preserve evidence 25.93

Inherent powers of court (See subhead: Inherent powers of court, sanctions available under)

Local procedural rules 25.99

Preservation order, motion for 25.92

Checklists

Opposing imposition of sanctions 25.102

Requesting imposition of sanctions for spoliation 25.91

Duty to preserve evidence 25.93; 25.103; 25.104

Inherent powers of court, sanctions available under

Generally 25.94; 25.97[1]

Bad faith requirement 25.97[2][a]

"Commensurate with" requirement 25.97[3]

Fault or willfulness, requirement of 25.97[2][a]

Findings required for sanctions 25.97[2][a]

Less drastic sanctions, required consideration of 25.97[2][b]

Nexus among sanction, misconduct and matter in controversy 25.97[2][c]

Prejudice to opposing party as factor 25.97[2][d]

Public interest and public policy, effect on 25.97[2][e]

Willfulness requirement 25.97[2][a]

Local procedural rules 25.99

Opposing imposition of sanctions

Checklist 25.102

Counsel's duty to preserve evidence 25.103

Electronically stored information as lost in routine, good-faith operations, showing of 25.105A

Local procedural rules 25.99

Requirements for imposition not met as grounds 25.106

Showing of no duty to preserve evidence 25.104

Undue burden in preserving documents in certain form as grounds 25.105

Preservation order, motion for 25.92

Public interest and public policy, effect on 25.97[2][e]

Rebuttable presumption against offending party 25.98

Rule 37, sanctions available under 25.95; 25.96

82 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-22

S-22 SPOUSAL PRIVILEGE (

See MARITAL PRIVILEGE)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-23

S-23 STANDING REQUIREMENTS

Animals, lack of statutorily authorized standing to sue for 2.43[6]

Association to sue on behalf of its members, prudential standing of 2.43[4][b]

Burden of proof 2.43[6]

Challenged statute or policy as frustrating organization's goals, establishing sufficient injury-in -fact when evidence of 2.43[4][c]

Class actions (See CLASS ACTIONS, subhead: Named plaintiff has standing)

Constitutional requirements

Injury-in-fact 2.43[3][a]

Redressable, likelihood of injury being 2.43[3][c]

Subject-matter intervention as of right 14.07[5]

Traceable to defendant 2.43[3][b]

Declaratory relief actions 6.07[6][d]

Determination of existence of 2.43[2]

Existence of standing defined 2.43[1]

Injunctive relief 19.07[5]

Justiciability requirements, proof of standing and 6.07[6][d]

Prudential standing requirements

Association suing on behalf of its members 2.43[4][b]

Challenged statute or policy as frustrating organization's goals 2.43[4][c]

Third-party standing to assert rights of another 2.43[4][d]

Threefold judicial concerns 2.43[4][a]

Raising standing issue

Defendant raising issue 2.43[5][b]

Sua sponte, court raising issue 2.43[5][a]

Time requirements 2.43[5][c]

Real party in interest status (See REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS)

Subject-matter intervention as of right 14.07[5]

Third-party standing to assert rights of another 2.43[4][d]

Venue issues

Challenging improper venue

Defendant 2.58[3][a]

Plaintiff 2.58[3][b]

Convenience transfers

Defendant 2.57[3][a]

Plaintiff 2.57[3][b]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-24

S-24 STATUTE OF LIMITATIONS

Class actions, tolling for 20.13

Counterclaims (See COUNTERCLAIMS)

Crossclaims 11.32

"Doe" proceedings

Federal claims 6.06[4][d]

State-law claims 6.06[4][c]

Relation back of amendments to pleadings before trial 9.14[1]

Service of summons

Expiration of 120-day time limit, effect of 7.07[2]

Expiration of statute of limitations, effect of 7.07[1]

Supplemental jurisdiction, effect of 2.27[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-25

S-25 STIPULATIONS

Amending pleadings before trial, sample form for 9.24

Consolidation 18.09

Discovery stipulations (See DISCOVERY STIPULATIONS)

Diversity jurisdiction, effect of stipulations by parties in action to confer 2.14

Federal question jurisdiction, effect of stipulations by parties in action to confer 2.05[3]

Initial disclosure under rule 26(a)(1), covering (See INITIAL DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(1))

In lieu of motions, use of stipulations

CD Cal requirements 26.09[2][a]

Checklist 26.08

ED Cal requirements 26.09[2][b]

Federal rules 26.09[1]

ND Cal requirements 26.09[2][c]

SD Cal requirements 26.09[2][d]

Jury demand, consent to withdrawal of 13.16

Responding to complaint, extension of time for 8.31

Sample forms

General form 26.62

Withdrawal of motion 26.63

Separation (bifurcation) of trial 18.23

Voluntary dismissal by 30.05

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-26

S-26 STRIKE, MOTIONS TO

Generally 8.26[1]

Anti-SLAPP statute, defendant moving to strike state law claim under 8.26[6]

Avoidance of waiver 8.24[3]

Burden of proof 8.24[5]

Burden of proof on moving party 8.26[5]

Checklist for preparing motion 8.23[2]

Court attitude on 8.24[3]

Effect of 8.24[2]

Filing requirements 8.26[2]

Improper material in answer as basis 8.24[4]

Joinder with other Rule 12 motions 8.24[4]

Plaintiff challenging insufficiency of defendant's answer, motion to strike by 8.26[4]

Sample form 8.42

Summary judgment distinguished 29.05[7][c]

Third-party claims 12.13[1]

Waiver, avoidance of 8.24[3]

Waiver by defendant's failure to timely respond 8.26[3]

87 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-27

S-27 SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION

Generally 2.02

Checklist 2.03

Consolidation, effect of 18.06[6]

Dismissal based on lack of

Checklist for preparing motion 8.14[3]

Court acceptance of 8.17[2][b]

Court determination of motion

Amendment of complaint as remedy 8.17[4][d]

Burden of proof 8.17[4][b]

Evidentiary hearing requirements 8.17[4][c]

Priority for Rule 12(b)(1) motions 8.17[4][a]

Res judicata effect of 8.17[4][e]

Diversity of citizenship, attacks on (See DIVERSITY JURISDICTION, subhead: Dismissal based on lack of)

"Facial attack" on jurisdiction (See subhead: "Facial attack" on jurisdiction)

Factual attack on jurisdiction (See subhead: Factual attack on jurisdiction)

Filing motion 8.17[1][a]

Res judicata effect on dismissal 8.17[4][e]

Sample form 8.33

Speaking motions (See subhead: Factual attack on jurisdiction)

Summary judgment distinguished 29.05[7][a]

Time requirements 8.17[1][b]

"Facial attack" on jurisdiction

Amendment of complaint in response to 8.17[2][c]

Court acceptance of 8.17[2][b]

Making attack 8.17[2][a]

Factual attack on jurisdiction

Court's response to 8.17[3][c], [4][c]

Discovery as means of resolving 8.17[3][d]

Extrinsic evidence as basis 8.17[3][b]

Making attack 8.17[3][a]

Federal question jurisdiction (See FEDERAL QUESTION JURISDICTION)

Injunctive relief, as prerequisite to 19.07[2]

Interpleader actions (See INTERPLEADER ACTIONS)

Joinder of parties and 6.10[6][a]

Lack of subject matter jurisdiction, motion to dismiss for (See subhead: Dismissal based on lack of)

Political question doctrine and 2.46

Preparation of complaint

Basis of jurisdiction 6.07[1][a]

CD Cal requirements 6.07[1][b]

ED Cal requirements 6.07[1][c]

Model jurisdictional allegations, use of 6.07[1][e]

ND Cal requirements 6.07[1][d]

Third-party complaints

Admiralty and maritime jurisdiction 12.08[1][a]

Counterclaims 12.15[4]

Crossclaims 12.15[4]

Diversity jurisdiction

Generally 12.08[1][c]

Supplemental jurisdiction cases 12.08[1][e]

Federal question jurisdiction 12.08[1][b]

Rule 14, effect of 12.08[1][a]; 12.16[5]; 12.19

Supplemental jurisdiction

Generally 12.08[1][d]

Ancillary jurisdiction claims 12.08[1][f]; 12.19

District Court discretion to decline 12.08[1][f]

Diversity cases 12.08[1][e]

Pendant claims 12.08[1][f]; 12.19

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-28

S-28 SUBPOENA PROCEDURES

Generally 23.02[9]

Allowability of subpoena

Pending litigation as prerequisite 23.261[4]

Verification of 23.261[2]

Alternative dispute resolution (ADR) in ND Cal 32.13[2]

Checklists

Determining whether use of subpoena is appropriate 23.259

Drafting subpoenas for nonparty discovery

Compel permission to inspect premises, subpoena to 23.260[3]

Compel production, subpoena to 23.260[2]

Compel testimony, subpoena to 23.260[1]

Responding to subpoenas (See subhead: Responding to subpoenas)

Service requirements 23.266

Compelling enforcement of subpoena

Applicable federal rules of procedure 23.283[4]

Contempt sanction for failing or refusing to respond to subpoena 23.285

Filing requirements 23.283[1]

Jurisdiction 23.283[3]

Protections from significant expense by nonparty 23.283[2]

Quash, as response to motion 23.284

Compel permission to inspect premises, subpoena to

Command permission to inspect premises 23.264[3]

Formatting requirements 23.264[2]

Jurisdiction requirements 23.264[1]

Prior notice requirement 23.264[9]; 23.267

Rule 45(c) and (d), inclusion of text of 23.264[5]

Sample form 23.319

Signature requirements 23.264[6]

Time and place for production 23.264[4]

Time to reply, reasonable 23.264[7]

Unduly burdensome, prohibition against 23.264[8]

Compel production, subpoena to

Command production of documents and things 23.263[3]

Electronic data, requests for

Anonymous nonparty internet users, seeking identity of 23.263[9][b]

Undue burden and cost shifting issues 23.263[9][a]

Formatting requirements 23.263[2]

Jurisdiction requirements 23.263[1]

Prior notice requirement 23.263[10]; 23.267

Rule 45(c) and (d), inclusion of text of 23.263[5]

Sample form 23.318

Signature requirements 23.263[6]

Time and place for production 23.263[4]

Time to reply, reasonable 23.263[7]

Unduly burdensome, prohibition against 23.263[8]

Compel testimony, subpoena to

Attendance and testimony, command to witness of 23.262[3]

Checklist 23.260[1]

Command witness to attend and give testimony 23.262[3]

Corporate witnesses 23.262[4]

Formatting requirements 23.262[2]

Jurisdiction requirements 23.262[1]

"Less than 100 miles" rule 23.262[11]; 23.271

Mileage and other witness fees, inclusion of 23.262[9]; 23.272

Recording of deposition testimony, stating method for 23.262[5]

Rule 45(c) and (d), inclusion of text of 23.262[6]

Sample form 23.317

Signature requirements 23.262[7]

Time and place for deposition, hearing or trial 23.262[5]

Time to reply, reasonable 23.262[8]

Unduly burdensome, prohibition against 23.262[10]

Witness and mileage fees, inclusion of 23.262[9]; 23.272

Deadline for service of subpoena

Generally 23.261[5]; 23.268

ND Cal requirements 23.273[3][a]

Validity of subpoena, as part of verifying 23.276[1]

Discovery stipulation to allow variance in 22.11[6]

Enforcement of subpoena

Compel, motion to (See subhead: Compelling enforcement of subpoena)

"Meet and confer" as means of avoiding sanction 23.22

Rule 45 sanctions for abuse of subpoena process 23.285

Filing requirements (See subhead: Service and filing requirements)

Grand jury subpoenas taking precedence over protective orders 22.51[2]; 22.65[4]

Informal discovery as alternative to 23.261[1]

Jurisdiction requirements

Compelling enforcement of subpoena 23.283[3]

Compel permission to inspect premises, subpoena to 23.264[1]

Compel production, subpoena to 23.263[1]

Compel testimony, subpoena to 23.262[1]

Modify or quash subpoena, motion to 23.279[4]

Validity of subpoena, review of 23.276[3]

Limiting number of subpoenas issued, consideration of 23.261[3]

Local rules 23.261[6]; 23.265

Modify or quash subpoena, motion to

CD Cal requirements 23.279[7][a]

Choosing between written objections and 23.275[5]

Compelling enforcement of subpoena in response to 23.284

ED Cal requirements 23.279[7][b]

Good-faith effort to resolve dispute as prerequisite 23.275[3]; 23.279[5]

Jurisdiction requirements 23.279[4]

Mandatory use times for 23.279[1]

ND Cal requirements 23.279[7][c]

Optional use times for 23.279[2]

Sample form 23.320

SD Cal requirements 23.279[7][d]

Standing requirements 23.279[8]

Staying of discovery, effect on 23.279[5]

Time requirements 23.279[3]

100-mile rule

Compel testimony, subpoena to 23.262[11]

Service and filing requirements 23.271

Validity of subpoena, analysis of 23.276[5]

Prior notice requirement

Generally 23.267

Compelling production of documents and things 23.263[10]

Inspection of premises 23.264[9]

Privileged materials

Privilege log's use in making written objections 23.278[2]

Third-party response to subpoena issued under Rule 45 23.175[2]

Validity of subpoena, analysis of 23.276[6]

Production of documents in response to subpoena

ED Cal requirements 23.281[4]

Materials in "control" as mandatory 23.281[1]

Methods of producing 23.281[2]

Reimbursement for costs associated with 23.281[3]

Protective orders

Grand jury subpoenas taking precedence over 22.51[2]; 22.65[4]

Obtaining protective order for subpoenaed nonparties 22.50

SD Cal requirements 23.280[2]

Subpoenaed nonparties, sought by 22.50

When to move for 23.280[1]

Quash subpoena, motion to (See subhead: Modify or quash subpoena, motion to)

Requests for production and inspection (See REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION AND INSPECTION, subhead: Subpoena use on nonparties)

Responding to subpoenas

Generally 23.275[1]

Analysis of validity of subpoena (See subhead: Validity of subpoena, analysis of)

Checklists

Analyzing subpoena 23.274[1]

Modify or quash, drafting motion to 23.274[3]

Objection, drafting written 23.274[2]

ED Cal requirements 23.277

Good-faith effort to resolve dispute as prerequisite

Generally 23.275[2]

Modify or quash, necessity for motions to 23.275[3]; 23.279[5]

Modify or quash subpoena, motion to (See subhead: Modify or quash subpoena, motion to)

Production of documents (See subhead: Production of documents in response to subpoena)

Written objections (See subhead: Written objections to)

Rule 45 sanctions for abuse of subpoena process 23.285; 33.12[3]

Sample forms

Compel attendance of witness at deposition, subpoena to 23.317

Compel permission to inspect premises, subpoena to 23.319

Compel production, subpoena to 23.318

Local district court forms 23.321

Quash a subpoena, notice of motion and motion to 23.320

Service and filing requirements

Age requirements for server 23.269

CD Cal requirements 23.273[1]

Checklist 23.266

Conflict of interest prohibitions on server 23.269

Deadline for service 23.268

ED Cal requirements

Filing of subpoenas duces tecum 23.273[2][b]

Proof of service 23.273[2][c]

Service of subpoenas duces tecum 23.273[2][a]

Mileage and other witness fees, inclusion of 23.272

ND Cal requirements

Deadline for service 23.273[3][a]

Proof of service 23.273[3][b]

100-mile rule 23.271

Prior notice requirement

Generally 23.267

Compelling production of documents and things 23.263[10]

Inspection of premises 23.264[9]

Proper methods 23.270

SD Cal requirements 23.273[4]

Witness and mileage fees, inclusion of 23.272

Written objections 23.278[1]

Stipulations to allow variance in procedures for 22.11[6]

Undue burden, imposition of

Electronic data, requests for 23.263[9][a]

Validity of subpoena, as part of analysis of 23.276[9]

Validity of subpoena, analysis of

Checklist 23.274[1]

Commercial information sought 23.276[7]

Confidential information sought 23.276[7]

Deadline, verify that subpoena served within 23.276[1]

Improper purpose, service for 23.276[10]

Jurisdiction requirements, verify that subpoena met 23.276[3]

Methods for resisting discovery 23.276[13]

100-mile limit on travel has been met 23.276[5]

Prior notice of production or inspection 23.276[12]

Privilege materials 23.276[6]

Protected materials 23.276[6]

Reasonable time for compliance 23.276[4]

Scheduling conflicts, subpoena presents 23.276[11]

Service requirements, verify that subpoena met 23.276[1], [2]

Trade secrets sought 23.276[7]

Undue burden, imposition of 23.276[9]

Unretained expert as object of subpoena 23.276[8]

Written objections to

Checklist for drafting 23.274[2]

Choosing between motions to modify or quash and 23.275[5]

Clear statement of objection 23.278[2]

Court order requirements 23.278[3]

ED Cal requirements 23.278[5]

Effect of service of 23.275[4]; 23.278[3]

Privilege log, inclusion of 23.278[2]

Service requirements 23.278[1]

Standing requirements 23.278[4]

Time requirements 23.278[1]

89 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-29

S-29 SUBSTITUTION OF PARTIES

Adding party as alternative to 10.16[2][b]

Alternatives to

Adding party as alternative 10.16[2][b]

Amendment as alternative 10.16[2][c]

Dropping party as alternative 10.16[2][b]

Amendment as alternative to 10.16[2][c]

Appeal of order regarding 10.22[3]

Checklist 10.15

Death of party as cause for

Generally 10.18[1]

Claim must survive death, requirement that 10.18[6][a]

Distributees as proper parties to substitute 10.18[2]

Filing motion for substitution

Notice of hearing 10.18[4]

Service of motion 10.18[4]

Statement noting death of party, filing of 10.18[5]

Who must file 10.18[3]

Legal representatives as proper parties to substitute 10.18[2]

Notice of hearing 10.18[4]

Proper parties to substitute defined 10.18[2]

Sample form: Notice of motion to substitute for party who has died during litigation 10.27

Service of motion 10.18[4]

Statement noting party's death, filing of

Generally 10.18[5]

Sample form 10.28

Surviving defendants or plaintiffs, continuation of claim for 10.18[6][b]

Who must file motion for substitution 10.18[3]

Diversity of citizenship, effect on 10.22[1]

Dropping party as alternative to 10.16[2][b]

Function of 10.17

Grounds for substitution 10.16[1]

Incompetency of party as cause for

Generally 10.19[1]

Sample form: Notice of motion to substitute for party who has become incompetent during litigation 10.29

Service of notice requirements 10.19[3]

Substantive matter for state court, issue of competence as 10.19[2]

Jurisdiction, effect on 10.22[1]

Notice of hearing, filing requirements for 10.22[2][a]

Position of substituted party in litigation 10.16[3]

Procedural considerations

Diversity of citizenship, effect on 10.22[1]

Jurisdiction, effect on 10.22[1]

Venue, effect on 10.22[1]

Public official's separation from office as basis

Automatic substitution of successor, nature of 10.21[1], [4]

Binding nature of orders on predecessor 10.21[3]

Motion or party or order of court not required 10.21[4]

Naming public officer by title, option of 10.21[2]

Successor, automatic substitution of 10.21[1]

Underlying action, effect of substitution on 10.21[3]

Purpose of 10.03

Sample forms

Notice of motion to substitute for party who has become incompetent during litigation 10.29

Notice of motion to substitute for party who has died during litigation 10.27

Notice of motion to substitute for party who has transferred interest 10.30

Statement noting party's death, filing of 10.28

Service of motion

Death of party 10.18[4]

Incompetency of party 10.19[3]

Nonparties, requirements for service to 10.22[2][c]

Recipients of service, required 10.22[2][b]

To whom must moving party serve 10.22[2][b]

Transfer of interest during litigation, in cases of 10.20[4]

Who must file 10.22[2][a]

Statement noting party's death, filing of

Generally 10.18[5]

Sample form 10.28

Substantive rights regarding claim, effect on 10.16[2][a]

Substituted party in litigation, position of 10.16[3]

Suggestion of death (See subhead: Statement noting party's death, filing of)

Transfer of interest during litigation, in cases of

Generally 10.20[1]

Court-ordered transfers 10.20[1], [2]

Filing requirements 10.20[3]

Party- or transferee-initiated motions for substitution

Filing requirements 10.20[3]

Service requirements 10.20[4]

Procedural device for court to control litigation, Rule 25 as 10.20[2]

Sample form: Notice of motion to substitute for party who has transferred interest 10.30

Service requirements 10.20[4]

Venue, effect on 10.22[1]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-30

S-30 SUMMARY JUDGMENT

Advantages of 29.04[2]

Affidavits

Opposing affidavits (See subhead: Opposing affidavits)

Rule 56 sanctions for affidavit or declaration filed for improper purpose 33.12[4]

Supporting affidavits (See subhead: Supporting affidavits)

Appellate review of grant or denial

Generally 29.36; 29.37[1][a]

Checklist 29.35

Continuance for further discovery 29.19[5]

Criteria for review 29.38[4], [5]

Deferential nature of summary judgment determination 29.38[1]-[5]

Denial of summary judgment motion 29.33

De novo standard 29.38[1]

Finality of lower court's order denying summary judgment

Generally 29.37[1][c]

Post-trial review where error of law by lower court's denial of motion 29.37[1][c]

Grounds for affirming grant 29.38[3]

Issues to be reviewed 29.38[2]

"No new issues" requirement 29.37[3]

Remand of case 29.39

Summary adjudication, effect of 29.37[1][b]

Time requirements 29.37[2]

Appropriateness of motion for

Bad-faith affidavit, sanction for 29.05[6]

Burden of proof 29.05[4]

Criteria for determining 29.05[1]

Distinguishing summary judgment from other motions (See subhead: Distinguishing summary judgment from other motions)

Entitled to judgment as matter of law 29.05[3]

Groundless motion, sanction for 29.05[6]

Improper purpose, sanctions for filing on 29.05[6]

No genuine dispute of material fact 29.05[2]

Summary adjudication on issues representing less than whole case (See subhead: Summary adjudication on issues representing less than whole case)

Bad-faith affidavit, sanction for 29.05[6]

Checklists

Appellate review of grant or denial 29.35

Court determination of motion

Generally 29.26[1]

Challenging court's determination 29.26[2]

Defendant-initiated steps or pretrial motions, plaintiff responses to 1.12

Plaintiff-initiated steps or pretrial motions, defendant responses to 1.09

Preparing motion for summary judgment

Propriety of motion, determining 29.03[1]

Supporting motion papers, preparation of 29.03[3]

Timely filing and service of motion 29.03[4]

Written motion, preparation of 29.03[2]

Replying to opposition to motion 29.21

Responding to motion for summary judgment

Continuance to permit further discovery, moving for 29.14[3]

Filing and serving opposition papers 29.14[4]

Objections to movant's evidence, preparation of 29.14[2]

Opposition to summary judgment motion 29.14[1]

Client consultation or approval as prerequisite 29.04[4]

Continuance for further discovery

Generally 29.17[3][d]; 29.19[1]

Appellate review criteria 29.19[5]

Filing requirements 29.19[3]

Identification of information sought 29.19[2]

Service requirements 29.19[3]

Showing of existence of information sought 29.19[2], [4]

Time requirements 29.19[3]

Court determination of motion

Generally 29.27

Admissible evidence only as basis 29.29[4]

Burdens of proof

Moving party's burden 29.29[1][a]

Nonmoving party's burden 29.29[1][b]

Checklists

Challenging court's determination 29.26[2]

Determining motions for 29.26[1]

Cross-motions, procedure for 29.30

Genuine issue of material fact, showing of 29.29[2]

Hearing on motion

Oral argument, requests for 29.28[4]

Oral hearings 29.28[1]

Oral testimony 29.28[2]

Rule 56 requirements 29.28[3]

Most favorable light to nonmovant as standard

"All reasonable inferences" 29.29[5][b]

Evidence, review of 29.29[5][a]

Substantive evidentiary standards applicable in case 29.29[3]

Cross-motions, procedure for 29.30

Denial of summary judgment motion

Appellate review (See subhead: Appellate review of grant or denial)

Reconsideration of ruling on motion (See subhead: Reconsideration of ruling on summary judgment motion)

Renewal of motion after denial 29.34[1]

Disadvantages of 29.04[3]

Distinguishing summary judgment from other motions

Failure to state claim, motion to dismiss for 29.05[7][d]

Judgment as matter of law, motion for 29.05[7][f]

Judgment on pleadings, motion for 29.05[7][e]

Lack of personal jurisdiction, dismissal for 29.05[7][b]

Lack of subject matter, dismissal for 29.05[7][a]

Strike, motion to 29.05[7][c]

Entry of judgment

Generally 29.32[1]

Findings of fact and conclusions of law 29.32[2]

Evidence in opposition to

Admissibility requirement 29.17[2]

Affidavits in opposition (See subhead: Opposing affidavits)

Showing of genuine issues for trial 29.17[1]

Evidence in support of

Admissibility requirement 29.12[3]

Attachment requirements 29.12[1]

Burden of persuasion at trial, effect of 29.12[2]

Objection to movant's evidence 29.18

Types of evidence considered

Admissions on file as relevant 29.12[4][d]

Answers to interrogatories as relevant 29.12[4][c]

Depositions or excerpts as relevant 29.12[4][b]

Pleadings as relevant 29.12[4][a]

Filing requirements

Asserting motion

Generally 1.09; 29.13[2][a]

Conference requirements prior to 29.13[2][b]

ED Cal requirements 29.13[3][a]

ND Cal requirements 29.13[3][b]

SD Cal requirements 29.13[3][c]

Opposing motion

Generally 29.20[2]

CD Cal requirements 29.20[1][b]

ED Cal requirements 29.20[1][c]

ND Cal requirements 29.20[1][d]

SD Cal requirements 29.20[1][e]

Time for filing requirement 29.20[1][a]

Replying to opposition to motion 29.23[1]

Groundless motion, sanction for 29.05[6]

Improper purpose, sanctions for filing for 33.12[4]

Improper purpose, sanctions for filing on 29.05[6]

Indicative rulings 29.34[2][f]

Memorandum of points and authorities

Generally 29.08[1]

CD Cal requirements 29.08[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 29.08[2][b]

Formatting requirements 29.08[3]

ND Cal requirements 29.08[2][c]

Opposition to summary judgment motion, use in

Generally 29.16[6]

Sample form 29.47

Sample form 29.42

SD Cal requirements 29.08[2][d]

Minimum notice requirement for motions 8.29[2][c]

Opposing affidavits

Generally 29.17[3][a]

Applicable rules 29.17[3][b]

Continuance if affidavit indicates nonmovant lacks facts to oppose motion (See subhead: Continuance for further discovery)

Genuine issue of fact requirements 29.17[3][c]

Sample form 29.46

Opposition to summary judgment motion

Burden of nonmovant 29.16[1]

CD Cal requirements 29.16[4][a]

ED Cal requirements 29.16[4][b]

Evidence in opposition (See subhead: Evidence in opposition to)

Evidentiary materials beyond pleadings, need for 29.16[2]; 29.17[4]

Filing requirements (See subhead: Filing requirements)

Genuine issues or disputed or controverted facts, materials establishing

Generally 29.16[3]

CD Cal requirements 29.16[5][b]

Drafting requirements 29.16[5][a]

ED Cal requirements 29.16[5][c]

ND Cal requirements 29.16[5][d]

Sample form 29.48

SD Cal requirements 29.16[5][e]

Memorandum of points and authorities, requirements for 29.16[6]

ND Cal requirements 29.16[4][c]

Objection to movant's evidence 29.18

Oral arguments, request for or waiver of 29.16[8]

Proposed judgment or order, use of

Generally 29.16[7]

Sample form 29.49

Reply to opposition (See subhead: Replying to opposition to motion)

SD Cal requirements 29.16[4][d]

Service requirements (See subhead: Service requirements)

Oral arguments, request for or waiver of

Motion in favor of summary judgment, use in 29.07[5]

Opposing motion for summary judgment, use in 29.16[8]

Preparation of required motion papers

Brief or memorandum of points and authorities (See subhead: Memorandum of points and authorities)

CD Cal requirements 29.07[3][a]

Content requirements 29.07[4]

ED Cal requirements 29.07[3][b]

Evidence in support of summary judgment (See subhead: Evidence in support of)

Formatting requirements 29.07[6]

"In writing" requirement 29.07[1]

Memorandum of points and authorities (See subhead: Memorandum of points and authorities)

ND Cal requirements 29.07[3][c]

Oral arguments, request for or waiver of 29.07[5]

Proposed judgment or order (See subhead: Proposed judgment or order)

Sample forms (See subhead: Sample forms)

SD Cal requirements 29.07[3][d]

Statement of undisputed, uncontroverted or material facts (See subhead: Statement of undisputed, uncontroverted or material facts)

Supporting affidavits (See subhead: Supporting affidavits)

Typical papers required 29.07[2]

Proposed judgment or order

Generally 29.10[1]

CD Cal requirements 29.10[2][a]

Formatting requirements 29.10[3]

ND Cal requirements 29.10[2][b]

Opposition to summary judgment motion, use in

Generally 29.16[7]

Sample form 29.49

Sample form 29.45

Reconsideration of ruling on summary judgment motion

Indicative rulings 29.34[2][f]

Notice of appeal, effect on district court's power of 29.34[2][f]

Rule 59(e) as basis 29.34[2][a], [2][b]

Rule 60(b) as basis 29.34[2][a], [2][c], [2][f]

Time requirements 29.34[2][d]

Toll time for appeal, effect on 29.34[2][e]

Replying to opposition to motion

Generally 29.22; 29.23[1]

CD Cal requirements 29.23[2]

Checklist 29.21

ED Cal requirements 29.23[3]

ND Cal requirements 29.23[4]

"No new material" requirement 29.24

Objections to nonmovant's evidence in opposing motion 29.25

SD Cal requirements 29.23[5]

Responding to motion for summary judgment

Generally 1.09; 29.15

Checklists (See subhead: Checklists)

Opposition to motion (See subhead: Opposition to summary judgment motion)

Rule 11 as substitute for 33.05

Sample forms

Affidavit in opposition to motion for 29.46

Affidavit in support of motion for 29.44

Denying motion for summary judgment, proposed order 29.49

Genuine issues or disputed or controverted facts, statement of 29.48

Memorandum of points and authorities in opposition to motion 29.47

Memorandum of points and authorities in support of motion 29.42

Notice of motion and motion for summary adjudication 29.41

Notice of motion and motion for summary judgment 29.40

Proposed order granting motion 29.45

Statement of undisputed, uncontroverted or material facts 29.43

Service requirements

Asserting motion

Generally 29.13[1]

ED Cal requirements 29.13[3][a]

Enlargement of time to serve 29.13[1]

ND Cal requirements 29.13[3][b]

Opposing motion

Generally 29.20[2]

CD Cal requirements 29.20[1][b]

ED Cal requirements 29.20[1][c]

ND Cal requirements 29.20[1][d]

SD Cal requirements 29.20[1][e]

Time for filing requirement 29.20[1][a]

Replying to opposition to motion 29.23[1]

Statement of undisputed, uncontroverted or material facts

Generally 29.09[1]

CD Cal requirements 29.09[2][a]

ED Cal requirements 29.09[2][b]

Formatting requirements 29.09[3]

ND Cal requirements 29.09[2][c]

Sample form 29.43

SD Cal requirements 29.09[2][d]

Summary adjudication on issues representing less than whole case

Generally 29.05[5]; 29.31[1]

Appellate review of 29.31[4]

Areas in which available 29.31[2]

Independent of motion by party, court may grant summary judgment where 29.31[2A]

Remaining issues, further proceedings on 29.31[3]

Sample form 29.41

Supporting affidavits

Bad faith, sanctions for 29.11[8]

Competency of affiant or declarant to testify to matters stated 29.11[6]

Copies of all papers referred to in affidavit or declaration, requirement of 29.11[7]

Declaration in lieu of affidavit

Generally 29.11[2]

Formatting requirements 29.11[9]

Delay, sanctions for affidavits or declarations for purposes to 29.11[8]

Formatting requirements 29.11[9]

Necessity of 29.11[1]

Personal knowledge as basis 29.11[4]

Rule 56(e) requirements 29.11[3]

Sample form 29.44

Sanctions for affidavits or declarations in bad faith or to delay 29.11[8]

Showing that affiant or declarant competent to testify to matters stated 29.11[6]

Specific admissible facts 29.11[5]

Time requirements for asserting motion

Generally 29.06[1]

Either party, motions by 29.06[1]

Filing requirements (See subhead: Filing requirements)

Most effective time 29.06[3]

Service requirements (See subhead: Service requirements)

Time requirements for opposing motion

Filing requirements (See subhead: Filing requirements)

Service requirements (See subhead: Service requirements)

Undisputed or uncontroverted facts, statement of (See subhead: Statement of undisputed, uncontroverted or material facts)

Who may move for 29.04[1]

91 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-31

S-31 SUMMONS (

See SERVICE OF PROCESS)

92 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-32

S-32 SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION

Checklist for factors relating to 2.26

Class actions 2.30[6]

"Common nucleus" standard 2.29[1]

Compulsory joinder under Rule 19, interplay with 2.30[4]

Counterclaims, jurisdiction over

Generally 2.29[3][a]; 11.11

Erie Doctrine, applicability of 11.15

Crossclaims, jurisdiction over 2.29[3][b]; 11.33

District Court declines to exercise jurisdiction

Dismissal of federal claim 2.28[2][c]

Exceptional circumstances 2.28[2][d]

Novel or complex issue of state law exists 2.28[2][a]

Supplemental claim substantially predominates 2.28[2][b]

Federal question cases

Permissive joinder, interplay of supplemental jurisdiction and 2.30[5][a]

State claims: remanding after removal 2.29[4][b]

"Substantial" claim requirement 2.29[4][a]

Impleaded parties

Defendant's impleader claims 2.30[3][a]

Plaintiff's claims rising out of defendant's impleader or counterclaim in diversity action 2.30[3][b]

Intervention

Defendants, claims by intervening 2.30[7][b]

Plaintiffs, claims by intervening 2.30[7][a]

Joined parties, applicability to

Generally 2.30[1]

Class actions 2.30[6]

Compulsory joinder under Rule 19, interplay with 2.30[4]

Counterclaim. joinder of parties to 2.30[2]

Impleaded parties

Defendant's impleader claims 2.30[3][a]

Plaintiff's claims rising out of defendant's impleader or counterclaim in diversity action 2.30[3][b]

Intervention

Defendants, claims by intervening 2.30[7][b]

Plaintiffs, claims by intervening 2.30[7][a]

Permissive joinder, interplay with

Diversity cases 2.30[5][b]

Federal question cases 2.30[5][a]

Limitations on

District Court declines to exercise jurisdiction (See subhead: District Court declines to exercise jurisdiction)

Diversity actions 2.28[1]

Mandatory nature of 2.27[2]

Permissive joinder, interplay with

Diversity cases 2.30[5][b]

Federal question cases 2.30[5][a]

Pleading requirements

Availability of jurisdiction 6.07[5][a]

Establishment of jurisdiction 6.07[5][b]

Sample form for statement of jurisdiction 6.25

Related claims and parties in single suit 2.27[1]

"Same case or controversy," cases that constitute

Single act with injuries to more than one person 2.29[5][b]

Single injury with alternate theories of recovery 2.29[5][a]

Single injury with multiple causation distinguished from 2.29[6]

Sample form for statement of 6.25

Single injury with multiple causation 2.29[6]

Single plaintiff's choice to join or aggregate claims 2.29[2]

Statute of limitations, effect on 2.27[3]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-33

S-33 SUPPLEMENTAL PLEADINGS

Generally 9.20

Checklist 9.19

Defective original pleading 9.21[2]

Failure to plead related claims, effect of 9.21[3][c]

Form requirements 9.21[6]

Leave of court requirements 9.21[4]

New events, claims and parties 9.21[1]

Related to original claims or defenses

Failure to plead related claims, effect of 9.21[3][c]

Related cause of action as basis 9.21[3][b]

Transactional relationship as basis 9.21[3][a]

Relation back requirements 9.21[5]

Responses allowed 9.21[7]

Sample forms

Motion for leave to file supplemental pleading 9.27

Proposed order granting leave to file supplemental pleading 9.28

Transactional relationship as basis 9.21[3][a]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

S

S Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA S-34

S-34 SURETY

Attachment bond, surety's liability under

California law governing 19.122[1]

Damages, amount of

Attorney's fees 19.122[3][b]

Limits on 19.122[3][c]

Proximate causation 19.122[3][a]

Undertaking as condition of writ of attachment 19.122[2]

Checklists

Enforce surety's liability under Rule 65.1, moving to 19.124

Liability under bond, determining surety's 19.119

Opposing Rule 65.1 motion to enforce surety's liability 19.133

Proceeding against surety under Rule 65.1 19.114

Enforcement of surety's liability under Rule 65.1

Generally 19.125

Appeal options 19.132

Checklist: moving to enforce 19.124

Jurisdiction 19.127

Motion as means of 19.126

Notice requirements

Generally 19.129; 19.131[1]

CD Cal requirements 19.131[3][a]

Clerk of court as surety's agent 19.131[2]

ED Cal requirements 19.131[3][b]

ND Cal requirements 19.131[3][c]

Sample form: Notice of motion for damages for wrongful injunction 19.163

SD Cal requirements 19.131[3][d]

Opposing motion for (See subhead: Opposing Rule 65.1 motion to enforce surety's liability)

Resolution, attempts at 19.130

Time requirements

Generally 19.128[1]

Excessive delay, effect of 19.128[3]

Exoneration of bond, filing before 19.128[2]

Injunction bond, surety's liability under

Damages recoverable

Generally 19.121[4]

Attorney's fees 19.121[5][c]

Compensation for wrongfully enjoined party 19.121[5][a]

Limits on 19.121[5][b]

Federal rules 19.121[1]

Rebuttable presumption when wrongful enjoinment or restraint 19.121[3]

Sample form: Notice of motion for damages for wrongful injunction 19.163

Wrongful enjoinment or restraint, effect of 19.121[2], [3]

Liability under bond, determining surety's

Attachment bond (See subhead: Attachment bond, surety's liability under)

Checklist 19.119

Injunction bond (See subhead: Injunction bond, surety's liability under)

Satisfaction of conditions for payment 19.120

Supersedeas bond 19.123

Opposing Rule 65.1 motion to enforce surety's liability

Generally 19.134

Appeals 19.138

Checklist 19.133

Delay by injunction 19.135

Injunction, delay by 19.135

Jurisdiction 19.136

Time requirements 19.137

Proceeding against surety under Rule 65.1

Generally 19.02[4]; 19.115

Authority for 19.116[1]

Availability of

Generally 19.116[1]

Bankruptcy proceedings 19.116[2]

Principal, motion against 19.117[1]

Principal, motion for surety to proceed against 19.117[2]

Bankruptcy proceedings, availability in 19.116[2]

Checklist: initial considerations 19.114

Creditor bringing independent action

Generally 19.118[1]

Bond executed under Federal law 19.118[2]

Principal, motion against

Generally 19.117[1]

Surety to proceed against, motion for 19.117[2]

Sample form: Notice of motion for damages for wrongful injunction 19.163

Supersedeas bond, surety's liability under 19.123

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-1

T-1 TAX RETURNS

Discovery of tax returns and related papers 24.07[4]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-2

T-2 TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDERS (TRO)

Appellate review criteria 19.34

Application for order

Generally 6.21[8][a]; 19.07[4]

CD Cal requirements 6.21[8][b]

ND Cal requirements 6.21[8][d]

CD Cal requirements 19.09[4]

Contempt as enforcement tool 19.28

Dissolution or modification of TRO

ED Cal requirements 19.26

Expeditious nature of 19.25[2]

Options available at hearing 19.25[3]

Preliminary injunction as alternative at hearing on 19.25[3]

Time requirements 19.25[1]

ED Cal requirements

Application for order 6.21[8][c]; 19.09[5][c]

Documents requirement 19.09[5][c]

Modification or dissolution of TRO 19.26

Notice requirements 19.09[5][a]

Real property cases 19.08[7][d]; 19.09[5][c]

Undue delay, effect of 19.09[5][b]

Enforcement of 19.28

Federal statutes, effect on 19.10

Modification of TRO (See subhead: Dissolution or modification of TRO)

ND Cal requirements

Document requirements 19.09[6][a]

Notice requirements 19.09[6][b]

Order to show cause requirement 19.09[6][c]

Notice requirements

Generally 19.09[2]

Without notice, TROs granted (See subhead: Without notice, requirements for TROs granted)

Pleading requirements (See subhead: Application for order)

Preliminary injunction distinguished 19.09[1]

Preparation of complaint 6.11[13]

Purpose of 19.09[1]

Removal to federal court, effect of 19.06[2], [3]

Rule 65(b), coverage of 19.06[2], [3]; 19.13

Sample forms

Application for right to attach order and optional request for TRO 19.160

Motion for TRO and preliminary injunction 19.158

Order to show cause for preliminary injunction with TRO 19.157

Security requirements

Generally 19.11[1]

Amount of security, court's discretion in 19.11[2]

Enforcement of 19.11[4]

Local rules, consultation of 19.11[3]

Without notice, requirements for TROs granted

Generally 19.09[3][a]

Dissolution of 19.09[3][f], [3][i]

Ex parte relief, judicial scrutiny of 19.09[3][g], [3][h]

Expiration date of order 19.09[3][e]

Filing requirements 19.09[3][c]

Indorsement requirements 19.09[3][b]

Judicial scrutiny of 19.09[3][g]

Modification of 19.09[3][i]

Preliminary injunction as follow-up 19.09[3][f]

Statement of reasons for granting 19.09[3][d]

97 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-3

T-3 THIRD-PARTY ACTIONS (

See IMPLEADER)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-4

T-4 THREE-JUDGE COURTS

Preparation of complaint

CD Cal requirements 6.06[8][a]; 6.11[14][a]

SD Cal requirements 6.06[8][b]

Preparation of summons: ED Cal requirements 6.21[10]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-5

T-5 TORT ACTIONS

Diversity jurisdiction in mass tort actions 6.07[3][b], [3][d]

Federal question jurisdiction 2.06[2][a]

Separate trials (bifurcation), usefulness of 18.35[1]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-6

T-6 TRADEMARK ACTIONS

CD Cal requirements 6.21[12]

Early neutral evaluation (ENE) in ND Cal, written statement requirements for 32.22[3]

Federal question jurisdiction 2.06[2][a]

Injunctive relief, tests to determine propriety of preliminary 19.08[3][h]

Intervention as of right 14.06[3]

Joinder of multiple plaintiffs, claims of 6.10[2][c]

Preparing claims: CD Cal requirements 6.21[12]

101 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-7

T-7 TRADE SECRETS

Burden of establishing 24.92

California law 24.93

Checklist 24.89

Definition of 24.90

Limited disclosure, allowability of 24.91

Misappropriation cases, California pleading requirements for 24.93

Protective orders (See PROTECTIVE ORDERS)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-8

T-8 TROs (

See TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDERS (TRO))

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-9

T-9 28 USC § 144 (

See JUDGES, DISQUALIFICATION OF, subhead: 28 USC § 144, disqualification under)

104 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-10

T-10 28 USC § 445 (

See JUDGES, DISQUALIFICATION OF, subhead: 28 USC § 445, judge's recusal under)

105 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

T

T Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA T-11

T-11 28 USC § 1927 (

See SECTION 1927 SANCTIONS)

106 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

V

V Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA V-1

V-1 VDRP (

See ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION (ADR), subhead: Voluntary dispute resolution program (VDRP) for ED Cal)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

V

V Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA V-2

V-2 VENUE

Aliens

Generally 2.54[2]

Residence of parties, determining 2.51[3]

Antitrust actions 2.54[10]

Challenging improper venue

Answer as means of 2.58[2]

Joined parties, effect on 4.45[3]

Motion to dismiss as means of (See subhead: Motion to dismiss for improper venue)

Responses available to court 2.58[5]

Standing to object

Defendant 2.58[3][a]

Plaintiff 2.58[3][b]

Timeliness requirements 2.58[1]

Transfer as responses available to court (See subhead: Transfer of venue)

Waiver of objection 2.55; 2.58[4]

Waiver of service compared 7.19[1]

Civil rights actions 2.54[11]

Class actions 2.53

Convenience transfers

Burden of proving transferee forum's propriety 2.57[7]

Choice of law after transfer

Diversity cases 2.57[9][a]

Federal question cases 2.57[9][b]

Forum selection clause, transfer based on 2.57[9][c]

Court's rights 2.57[1]

Factors considered 2.57[2]

Improper venue waiver, effect of 2.57[8]

Personal jurisdiction requirements 2.57[6]

Review of transfer order 2.57[10]

Sample form: notice of motion to transfer venue for convenience 2.91

Standing to move for transfer

Defendant 2.57[3][a]

Plaintiff 2.57[3][b]

Subject matter jurisdiction requirements 2.57[5], [6]

Time requirements 2.57[4]

Transferee court, venue and jurisdiction requirements for 2.57[6], [7]

Copyright actions 2.54[7]

Determination of venue

Aliens 2.54[2]

Antitrust actions 2.54[10]

Checklist 2.48

Civil rights actions 2.54[11]

Class actions 2.53

Copyright actions 2.54[7]

ERISA actions 2.54[13]

Federal agencies and officers, action brought against (See subhead: Federal agencies and officers, action brought against)

General venue statute, applicability of 2.50

Governing law 2.49[1]

Improper venue, waiver of right to object to 2.55

Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act cases 2.54[15]

Patent actions 2.54[8]

Pleading proper venue

Generally 2.49[3][a]

SD Cal requirements 2.49[3][b]

"Proper forum" requirement 2.49[2]

Removal to federal court, venue upon 2.54[1]

Residence of parties as basis (See subhead: Residence of parties, determining)

RICO actions 2.54[12]

Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, actions under 2.54[14]

Shareholder derivative suits 2.54[9]

Substantial part of events or omissions as basis for 2.52

ERISA actions 2.54[13]

Federal agencies and officers, action brought against

Generally 2.54[3][a]

Contract cases 2.54[3][d]

Federal Tort Claims Act, actions under 2.54[3][e]

Removal to federal court, as basis for (See REMOVAL TO FEDERAL COURT)

Residence defined for 2.54[3][b]

Service of process 2.54[3][c]

Foreign states, actions by or against 2.54[4]

Forum non conveniens, dismissal under

Generally 2.60[1]

Adequacy of alternate forum, determination of 2.60[3]

American citizen or resident as plaintiff 2.60[5][a]

Balancing of public and private interests 2.60[4]

Burden of proof 2.60[2][b]

Exemptions for special venue provisions 2.60[6]

Foreign national as plaintiff 2.60[5][b]

Forum selection clauses, effect of 2.60[7]

Jurisdictional issues, when dismissal justified without resolving 2.60[1A]

Public and private interests, balancing of 2.60[4]

Separation of claims 2.60[2][c]

Special venue provisions, exemptions for 2.60[6]

Time requirements 2.60[2][a]

Improper venue

Challenges to (See subhead: Challenging improper venue)

Motion to dismiss under rule 12(b) (See subhead: Motion to dismiss for improper venue)

Waiver of right to object to

Generally 2.55; 2.58[4]

Convenience transfers, effect on 2.57[8]

Interpleader actions (See INTERPLEADER ACTIONS)

Joinder of parties and 6.10[6][b]

Motion to dismiss for improper venue

Generally 2.58[2]

Burden of proof 8.19[1][h]

Checklist for preparing motion 8.14[5]

Conflicts in evidence, requesting evidentiary hearing for 8.19[1][g]

Disputed issues of fact, requesting discovery for 8.19[1][f]

Forum selection clause as basis for 8.19[1][b]

Joined parties, effect on 4.45[3]

Sample form 8.35

Supplemental materials in support 8.19[1][e]

Time requirements 8.19[1][a]

Transfer for improper venue, combining with motion to 8.19[1][d]

Transfer in lieu of dismissal 8.19[2]

Waiver of right to object to venue 8.19[1][c]

Multidistrict litigation statute (See MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION STATUTE)

Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act cases 2.54[15]

Objecting to (See subhead: Challenging improper venue)

Patent actions 2.54[8]

Pleading proper venue

Generally 2.49[3][a]

SD Cal requirements 2.49[3][b]

Preparation of complaint: venue requirements 6.07[7]

"Proper forum" requirement 2.49[2]

Relevance in discovery actions 24.08

Removal to federal court

Determination of venue upon 2.54[1]

Venue requirements for original filing 3.07

Residence of parties, determining

Generally 2.51[1]

Aliens 2.51[3]

Corporations, domestic

Defendants, corporate 2.51[5][a]

Plaintiffs, corporate 2.51[5][b]

Individuals 2.51[2]

Public officials 2.51[4]

Unincorporated associations 2.51[6]

RICO actions 2.54[12]

Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, actions under 2.54[14]

Shareholder derivative suits 2.54[9]

Substitution of parties, effect of 10.22[1]

Transfer of venue

Convenience transfers (See subhead: Convenience transfers)

Sample forms

Notice of motion to transfer venue for convenience 2.91

Order granting motion for transfer of venue 2.92

Subject matter jurisdiction, transferee courts with 2.58[6][a]; 2.59

Transferee court, requirements for

Personal jurisdiction 2.58[7][b]

Proper venue under statute 2.58[7][a]

Transferor court, requirements for

Personal jurisdiction 2.58[6][b]

Subject matter jurisdiction 2.58[6][a]; 2.59

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

V

V Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA V-3

V-3 VEXATIOUS LITIGATION, SANCTIONS FOR (

See SECTION 1927 SANCTIONS)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

V

V Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA V-4

V-4 VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL

Generally 30.02

Checklists

Notice of dismissal, obtaining voluntary dismissal by filing 30.03[1]

Stipulation of voluntary dismissal, obtaining voluntary dismissal by filing 30.03[2]

Class actions (See CLASS ACTIONS, subhead: Settlement or voluntary dismissal of)

Conditional voluntary dismissal

Generally 30.18[1]

Recovery of costs as condition of dismissal

Generally 30.18[2]

Sample conditional order of dismissal based on payment of costs 30.30

Counterclaims

Court order, dismissal by 30.19; 30.21

Without court order 30.09

Court order, dismissal by

Generally 30.15

Appellate review criteria

Generally 30.25

Abuse of discretion issues 30.26

Applicable actions 30.17

Checklist 30.14

Conditional voluntary dismissal (See subhead: Conditional voluntary dismissal)

Counterclaims and 30.19; 30.21

Jury trial, right to 30.24

Motion for dismissal (See subhead: Motion for voluntary dismissal)

Payment of costs of previously dismissed action 30.23

Recovery of costs as condition of dismissal

Generally 30.18[2]

Sample conditional order of dismissal based on payment of costs 30.30

Without prejudice 30.20

Local CD Cal forms 30.31

Motion for voluntary dismissal

Discretion of court 30.22[1]

Granting motion, procedure for 30.22[2]

Plain legal prejudice, factors creating or not creating 30.22[3], [4]

Sample notice of motion 30.29

Motion to dismiss under rule 12(b), response to 8.16[6][e]

Notice or stipulation not available, dismissal by (See subhead: Court order, dismissal by)

Payment of costs of previously dismissed action

Court order, dismissal by 30.23

Without court order 30.16

Stipulation of voluntary dismissal

Generally 30.05; 31.39

Content requirements 30.12[2]

Execution of stipulation 30.12[2]

Filing requirements 30.12[3]

Incorporation of settlement terms 30.12[4]

Sample stipulation of voluntary dismissal 30.28

When to use 30.12[1]

Without court order

Generally 30.04

Absolute nature of right to dismiss 30.06

Appellate review criteria

Final appealable judgment, status as 30.13[2], [3]

Right to appeal 30.13[1]

With prejudice 30.13[4]

Counterclaims 30.09

Crossclaims 30.09

Effective date 30.11[1]

Fewer than all claims 30.07[1]

Fewer than all defendants 30.07[2]

Filing requirements 30.10[1]

Notice of dismissal as means 30.05

Notice requirements

Filing requirements 30.10[1]

Sample notice of voluntary dismissal 30.27

Timing of filing 30.10[2]

Payment of costs of previously dismissed action 30.16

Role of court once filed 30.11[2]

Stipulation of voluntary dismissal (See subhead: Stipulation of voluntary dismissal)

Termination of action without prejudice 30.11[3]

Third-party claims 30.09

Timing of filing 30.10[2]

"Two dismissal rule" 30.08

Without prejudice unless otherwise stated 30.08; 30.11[3]

110 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

V

V Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA V-5

V-5 VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP) (

See ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION (ADR), subhead: Voluntary dispute resolution program (VDRP) for ED Cal)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

W

W Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA W-1

W-1 WAIVER

International service of process, applicability to 6.19[2][b]; 7.42

Judges, waiver by parties of grounds disqualifying 2.89

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

W

W Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA W-2

W-2 WEBSITE CASES

General jurisdiction, invoking 2.36[6]

Specific jurisdiction, invoking 2.37[3]

113 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

W

W Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA W-3

W-3 WELL-PLEADED COMPLAINT RULE

Allegations required 2.07[2][a]

Artful pleading doctrine as exception to 2.07[2][c]

Complete preemption doctrine, effect of 2.07[2][d]

Declaratory relief plaintiff's pleading requirements 2.07[2][b]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

W

W Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA W-4

W-4 WORK PRODUCT DOCTRINE

Generally 21.05[10][a]

After disclosure, asserting claim of protection 24.102[7]

Burden of proof 24.100

Checklist 24.94

Claim of protection asserted after disclosure, effect of 24.102[7]

Coparty or other with common interest, effect of disclosure to 24.102[3]

Defining work product

Document or other tangible thing 24.96[1]

"Prepared in anticipation of litigation or for trial" 24.96[3]

Scope of communications affected by 24.96[4]

Who qualifies as preparer 24.96[2]

Documents or other materials prepared in anticipation of trial 21.05[10][e]; 24.96[3]

Draft reports or disclosures 21.05[10][aa]

Dual-purpose documents 24.98

Expert witnesses

Communications between retained expert witnesses and party's attorney 24.05[10][ab]

Waiver of protection, disclosures to testifying expert as 24.102[5]

Expiration date 24.97

"Fact" and "opinion" work product distinguished 24.101[2]

Federal rules 24.95

Government agency, effect of disclosure to 24.102[4]

Inadvertent disclosure, effect of 24.102[2]

Initial disclosure requirements and 15.16[2]

Materials prepared in anticipation of trial 21.05[10][e]; 24.96[3]

Placing material in controversy, effect of 24.102[6]

Requests for production and inspection, grounds for refusing 23.153[2]

Scope of coverage 21.05[10][b]-[e]; 24.96[4]

Showing of compelling need for opinion work 24.101[3]

Showing of substantial need and undue hardship, effect of 24.101[1]

Tape-recorded conversations 21.05[10][d]

Thoughts, mental processes, strategies and opinions of attorney 21.05[10][c]

Videotaped surveillance 21.05[10][d]

Voluntary disclosure, effect of 24.102[1]

Waiver of

Generally 21.05[10][f]

Coparty or other with common interest, disclosure to 24.102[3]

Expert witnesses, disclosures to 24.102[5]

Government agency, disclosure to 24.102[4]

Inadvertent disclosure 24.102[2]

Placing material in controversy 24.102[6]

Voluntary disclosure 24.102[1]

Who may claim protection 24.99

115 of 118 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

W

W Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA W-5

W-5 WORLD WIDE WEB (

See ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS AND INTERNET)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

W

W Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA W-6

W-6 WRIT OF ATTACHMENT

Generally 19.02[2]

Additional writs, availability of and requirements for 19.58

Amount to be secured, basis for

Computation of amount 19.47

Notice requirements 19.52[3]

Appealability of prejudgment writ 19.59

Application for right to attach order

CD Cal requirements 19.49[2]

Procedure for 19.49[1]

Temporary protective order, concurrent filing of application for 19.51

Availability of attachment, determining 19.45[1]

Checklists

Determining available remedies 19.37

Obtaining a writ of attachment 19.44

Opposing writ of attachment 19.60

Content requirements

Generally 19.55

Notice, contents of (See subhead: Notice requirements)

Excess attachment, release of 19.67

Exempted property

Generally 19.62[1]

California law, property exempted under 19.48[1]

Filing and service requirements 19.63

Natural persons, property of 19.48[3]; 19.62[2]

Opposing claim of exemption 19.64

Ex parte attachment

Generally 19.50

Quashing of 19.66

Filing of undertaking to pay 19.54

Filing requirements 19.40

Granting of writ 19.53

Identification of property subject to attachment

Generally 19.48[2]

Exempted property under California law 19.48[1]

Natural persons, property of 19.48[3]

Pending action, property subject to 19.48[4]

Special proceeding, property subject to 19.48[4]

Notice requirements

Additional writs 19.58

Amount of attachment, basis for 19.52[3]

Attendance rights 19.52[1]

Conditions of issuing order 19.52[2]

Content requirements (See subhead: Content requirements)

Prescribed statement concerning advice of counsel 19.52[5]

Right to claim property as exempt 19.52[4]

Right to oppose attachment 19.52[4]

Time and place 19.52[1]

Opposing writ of attachment

Generally 19.61

Checklist 19.60

Excess attachment, release of 19.67

Exempt property as basis

Generally 19.62[1]

Natural persons 19.62[2]

Opposing claim of exemption 19.64

Filing requirements 19.63

Quashing of ex parte attachment 19.66

Service requirements 19.63

Time requirements for filing and service 19.63

Undertaking as substitute for attached property (See subhead: Undertaking as substitute for attached property
)

Posting of undertaking for 19.54

Preliminary injunction as alternative 19.46

Quashing of ex parte attachment 19.66

Remedies available

Generally 19.38

California law governing 19.42[1]

Checklist 19.37

Federal law governing 19.39[1]

Filing requirements 19.40

Lis pendens, procedure for 19.39[2]

Removal, effect of 19.41

State law governing 19.39[2]

Removal, effect of 19.41

Sample forms

Application for right to attach order and optional request for TRO 19.160

Local Central District attachment forms, list of 19.165

Service of writ

Generally 19.56[1]

CD Cal requirements 19.56[2]

Temporary protective order, concurrent filing of application for 19.51

Time limit on attachment 19.57

Undertaking as substitute for attached property

Procedure for 19.65[1]

Sufficiency requirements 19.65[3]

Who must join 19.65[2]

Validity of claim, determining probable 19.45[2]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

W

W Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA W-7

W-7 WRIT OF POSSESSION

Generally 19.02[2]

Appealability of prejudgment writ 19.77

Application to obtain right

CD Cal requirements 19.70[2]

Content requirements (See subhead: Content requirements)

Procedure for 19.70[1]

California law governing 19.42[2]; 19.69[1]

Checklists

Determining available remedies 19.37

Obtaining write of possession 19.68

Content requirements

Generally 19.71[1]; 19.76

Description of property and location 19.71[3]

Notice, content of (See subhead: Notice requirements)

Statute exempt provision 19.71[4]

Statutory requirements as to content 19.80[2]

Wrongful detention, showing of 19.71[2]

Ex parte obtaining of writ 19.72

Filing requirements 19.40

Issuance of writ, prerequisites to

Probable cause to believe property located on there 19.74[3]

"Turnover" order 19.75

Undertaking requirements, satisfaction of 19.74[2]

Validity of claim, showing of probable 19.74[1]

Notice requirements

Conditions for issuing writ 19.73[2][b]

Opposition rights of defendant 19.73[2][c]

Prescribed statement concerning advice of counsel 19.73[2][d]

Right to oppose issuance of writ 19.73[2][c]

Statutory requirements 19.80[2]

Time and place of hearing 19.73[2][a]

Opposing writ of possession

Generally 19.79

Checklist 19.78

Filing requirements 19.81; 19.84

Notice, failure to meet statutory requirements for 19.80[2]

Required showing as basis, failure to make 19.80[3]

Service requirements, failure to meet 19.80[1]

Time requirements 19.83

Probable cause to believe property located on there 19.74[3]

Quashing of ex parte possession 19.82

Remedies available

Generally 19.38

California law governing 19.42[2]; 19.69[1]

Checklist 19.37

Federal law governing 19.39[1]

Filing requirements 19.40

Lis pendens, procedure for 19.39[2]

Removal, effect of 19.41

State law governing 19.39[2]

Removal, effect of 19.41

Service requirements 19.73[1]; 19.80[1]

"Specific and tangible" requirement 19.69[3]

"Turnover" order in addition to 19.75

Undertaking requirements, satisfaction of 19.74[2]

Validity of claim, showing of probable 19.69[2]; 19.74[1]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California - Index

Copyright 2011, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

W

W Index MB Prac Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA W-8

W-8 WRITTEN DEPOSITIONS

Generally 23.02[3]; 23.77

Advantages of 23.78

Associations or agencies as deponent 23.83[3]

Checklists

Notice of deposition by written questions 23.87

Planning depositions by written questions 23.76

Procedure for taking deposition (See subhead: Procedure for taking deposition)

Propounding cross, redirect and recross questions 23.98

Responding to notice of deposition by written questions 23.91

Compelling mandatory disclosure or discovery, as basis for 25.09[2]

Confidentiality of deponent, use in keeping 23.80

Corporation, partnership, association or agency as deponent

Generally 23.83[2]

Designation of individuals to testify 23.96

Cross questions

Checklist 23.98

Service requirements 23.99

Disadvantages of 23.81

Excessive or unreasonable discovery, limits on 23.86

Filing requirements 23.90[5]; 23.108

Foreign countries, use for discovery in 23.79

Leave of court, requirements for

Generally 23.84

Before discovery plan, deposition taken 23.85[4]

Incarcerated deponents 23.85[1]

More than 10 deponents 23.85[2]

Person already deposed 23.85[3]

Limitations of 23.81

Motion to suppress 23.110

Notice requirements

Generally 23.88

Checklist 23.87

Deponent officer, identification of 23.89[2]

Identification of deponent

Entity as deponent 23.89[1][c]

Name and address of deponent 23.89[1][a]

Physical description if name not known 23.89[1][b]

Place of depositions 23.89[3]

Sample form for stating objections to deposition based of errors or irregularities in 23.296

Service requirements (See subhead: Service requirements)

Time of depositions 23.89[3]

Number of depositions, limits on 23.82[2]

Objections to deposition

Generally 23.92

Checklist 23.91

Deposition officer as basis for 23.94

Errors or irregularities in notice of deposition

Generally 23.93

Sample form 23.296

Service requirements 23.95

Opposing party's attorney, rules for deposing 23.83[4]

Persons including parties as deponent 23.83[1]

Prison inmates, leave of court requirements for 23.85[1]

Procedure for taking deposition

Checklists

Deponent's checklist 23.103[2]

Noticing party's checklist 23.103[1]

Opposing party's checklist 23.103[3]

Delivery of notice and questions to deposition officer 23.104

Deposition officer's duties

Certification and delivery of deposition 23.107

Taking of testimony 23.105

Filing requirements 23.108

Motion to suppress 23.110

Review of complete deposition 23.106

Storage procedures 23.109

Protective order against

Another method, court order discovery by 23.97[2]

Good-faith attempt to resolve as prerequisite 23.97[3]

Sample form 23.297

Showing requirements 23.97[1]

Recross questions

Checklist 23.98

Service requirements 23.101

Redirect questions

Checklist 23.98

Service requirements 23.100

Sample forms

Notice of deposition by written questions 23.294

Notice of motion and motion for leave to take deposition 23.295

Notice of motion for protective order that discovery be taken by other means 23.297

Objections to errors and irregularities in notice of deposition, qualifications of deposition officer, or form of questions 23.296

Service requirements

All parties to action 23.90[2]

Cross questions 23.99

Enlarging time for serving 23.102

Nonparty deponents 23.90[4]

Objections to deposition 23.95

Questions with notice 23.90[1]

Recross questions 23.101

Redirect questions 23.100

Shortening time for serving 23.102

Time requirements 23.90[3]

Storage procedures 23.109

Time requirements 23.82[1]

Who can be deposed

Associations or agencies 23.83[3]

Corporations or other business organizations 23.83[2]

Opposing party's attorney, rules for deposing 23.83[4]

Persons including parties 23.83[1]