TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

- Publication Information
  - Author(s)
  - Questions?
  - Cite As
  - Copyright
  - Authors
  - Publisher's Editorial Staff
  - Abbreviations
- INDEX
  - INDEX
- What's New
  - Scope
- How To Use lexis.com (R) With This Publication
  - Synopsis to Chapter : How To Use lexis.com (R) With This Publication
  - HowTo.01 Finding This Publication and Other Sources on lexis.com (R)
    - [1] Contact LexisNexis(R)
    - [2] Using Content Online at lexis.com (R)
    - [3] Selecting a Source on lexis.com (R)
  - HowTo.02 Authority and Sources Referenced in This Publication
    - [1] Using lexis.com (R) Resources to Update Cases
    - [2] Federal Case Databases
    - [3] Hypertext Links
    - [4] Finding Related Sources and Suggested Searches
    - [5] Search by Topic Links to Related Cases and Analytical Materials
  - HowTo.03 Formulating a Search Query on lexis.com (R)
    - [1] Frame Your Search
    - [2] Develop Your Search Strategy
    - [3] Narrow Your Search
    - [4] Find More Authorities Like This
    - [5] Keep Current With Alerts
  - HowTo.04 Shepardize(R) to Validate Your Results and as a Research Tool
- Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
  - CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
    - § 1.syn Synopsis to Chapter 1: Litigation Milestone Checklists
    - I. SCOPE
      - 1.01 Scope.
    - II. FIRST STEPS IN FILING OR RESPONDING TO A LAWSUIT
      - 1.02 CHECKLIST: Steps to Take Before Filing a Lawsuit.
      - 1.03 CHECKLIST: Determining Basis for Bringing Action in Federal Court.
      - 1.04 CHECKLIST: Plaintiff's Next Steps Upon Filing Lawsuit.
      - 1.05 CHECKLIST: Defendant's Answer and Initial Response Under Rule 12.
      - 1.06 CHECKLIST: Defendant's Steps to Remove Case to Federal Court.
      - 1.07 CHECKLIST: Plaintiff's Responses.
    - III. PRETRIAL STEPS
      - 1.08 CHECKLIST: Case Management Process.
      - 1.09 CHECKLIST: Pretrial Motions and Steps Initiated by Plaintiff.
      - 1.10 CHECKLIST: Defendant's Responses to Pretrial Motions and Steps Initiated by Plaintiff.
      - 1.11 CHECKLIST: Additional Pretrial Motions and Steps That May Be Initiated by Defendant.
      - 1.12 CHECKLIST: Plaintiff's Responses to Pretrial Motions and Steps Initiated by Defendant.
- Unit 2 First Steps
  - CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
    - § 2.syn Synopsis to Chapter 2: Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
    - I. STRATEGY
      - 2.01 Scope.
      - 2.02 Objective and Strategy.
    - II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
      - A. Federal Question Jurisdiction
        - 2.03 CHECKLIST: Jurisdiction.
        - 2.04 "Federal Question Jurisdiction" Defined.
        - 2.05 Establishing Federal Question Jurisdiction.
          - 2.05[1] Plaintiff Must Allege Jurisdiction.

2.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Jurisdictional Allegation.
2.05[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
2.05[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
2.05[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
2.05[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
2.05[3] Parties Cannot Confer Jurisdiction.
2.05[4] Defective Jurisdictional Allegations May Be Amended.
2.05[5] Jurisdiction Is Determined When Suit Is Commenced.
2.05[6] Party Invoking Federal Jurisdiction Has Burden of Proof.
2.06 Invoking Federal Question Jurisdiction.
2.06[1] Constitutional Challenges.
2.06[2] Claims Under Federal Statutes.
2.06[2][a] Statutes Creating Federal Question Causes of Action.
2.06[2][b] Statutes Creating Implied Right of Action.
2.06[3] Claims Under Administrative Acts and Regulations.
2.06[4] Claims Under Federal Common Law.
2.07 Determining Federal Question Jurisdiction.
2.07[1] Applying "Arising Under" Test.
2.07[1][a] Federal Law Creates Cause of Action.
2.07[1][b] Resolution of State Law Claim Requires Resolution of Substantial Issue of Federal Law.
2.07[1][c] Dismissal for Failing to Meet "Arising Under" Test.
2.07[2] Applying Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule.
2.07[2][a] Violation of Federal Law Must Be Alleged.
2.07[2][b] Declaratory Relief Plaintiff Must State That Anticipated Suit Arises Under Federal Law.
2.07[2][c] Artful Pleading Doctrine As Exception to Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule.
2.07[2][d] Complete Preemption As Exception to Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule.
2.07[3] Applying Federal Question Jurisdiction in Action Against Native Sovereign.
2.08 Distinguishing Concurrent and Exclusive Federal Jurisdiction.
2.08[1] Concurrent Jurisdiction With State Courts.
2.08[2] When Federal Forum Is Exclusive.
2.09 Challenging Federal Question Jurisdiction.
2.09[1] Methods for Challenge.
2.09[2] Generally Challenge May Be Made at Any Time.
2.09[3] LOCAL RULE: CD Cal Requirements.
B. Diversity Jurisdiction
2.09A CHECKLIST: Analyzing Diversity Jurisdiction.
2.10 Diverse Citizenship Is Required.
2.10[1] Diversity Statute Is Strictly Construed.
2.10[2] Complete Diversity Is Required in Most Cases.
2.10[3] Jurisdiction Is Determined When Suit Is Commenced.
2.10[4] Domestic Relations Exception.
2.10[5] Probate Exception.
2.10[6] Diversity Jurisdiction May Not Infringe on Native American Self-Government.
2.11 Citizenship of Named Parties Is Determinative.
2.12 Plaintiff Must Allege Jurisdiction.
2.13 Party Invoking Federal Jurisdiction Has Burden of Proof.
2.14 Parties Cannot Confer Jurisdiction.
2.15 Court May Drop Nondiverse, Dispensable Parties.
2.16 Joinder May Affect Diversity.
2.16[1] Joinder of Nondiverse Indispensable Party Requires Dismissal.
2.16[2] Improper or Collusive Joinder Barred.
2.16[3] Citizenship of Insurer When Insured Not Joined As Defendant.
2.17 Determining Citizenship of Individuals.
2.17[1] Citizenship Requires United States Citizenship and Domicile.
2.17[2] Determining United States Citizenship.
2.17[3] Determining Domicile.
2.17[3][a] Federal Law Determines Domicile.
2.17[3][b] State Citizenship Is Equivalent to State Domicile.
2.17[3][c] Residence Alone Is Insufficient.
2.17[4] Determining Citizenship of Particular Individuals.
2.18 Determining Citizenship of Corporations.
2.18[1] Citizens of State of Incorporation and Principal Place of Business.
2.18[2] Determining States of Incorporation.
2.18[3] Determining Principal Place of Business.
2.18[4] Citizenship of Alien Corporations.
2.18[5] Citizenship of Particular Corporate Entities.
2.19 Determining Citizenship of Noncorporate Entities.
2.19[1] Partnerships.
2.19[2] Other Noncorporate Entities.

2.20 Diversity Jurisdiction in Suits Involving Aliens.
2.20[1] Actions Where Parties Are Mixture of Citizens and Aliens.
2.20[2] Actions by or Against Foreign States.
2.20[3] Actions Between Aliens.
2.20[4] Citizenship of Permanent Resident Aliens.
2.20[5] Citizens of British Dependent Territories.
2.20[6] Law of Nation of Citizenship Determines Status.
2.21 Over $75,000 in Controversy Is Generally Required.
2.21[1] Amount Is Jurisdictional.
2.21[2] Federal Law Determines Amount in Controversy.
2.21[3] Amount Determined When Complaint Is Filed.
2.21[4] Jurisdictional Amount Does Not Include Costs and Interest.
2.21[5] Punitive Damages Are Part of Amount in Controversy.
2.21[6] Attorney's Fees Are Part of Amount in Controversy Only If Provided for in Contract or by Statute.
2.21[7] Suits Involving Equitable Relief.
2.21[8] Amount Is Determined Under Legal Certainty Test.
2.21[9] Evidence of Valid Defense or Counterclaim Does Not Defeat Diversity.
2.21[10] Party Asserting Jurisdiction Has Burden of Proof.
2.22 Costs May Be Awarded When Recovery Is Below Jurisdictional Minimum.
2.23 Claims May Be Aggregated.
2.23[1] Single Plaintiff--Single Defendant.
2.23[2] Single Plaintiff--Multiple Defendants.
2.23[3] Multiple Plaintiffs--Single Defendant.
2.23[4] Class Actions.
2.24 Minimal Diversity Required by Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act of 2002.
2.24A Minimal Diversity Required by Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.
2.24A[1] Complete Diversity Requirement Eliminated for Certain Class Actions When Amount in Controversy Exceeds $5 Million.
2.24A[2] Class Actions as to Which Minimal Diversity Does Not Apply.
2.24A[3] Exercise of Modified Class Action Diversity Jurisdiction on Removal.
2.24A[3][a] When Two-Thirds or More of Class Members Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed, District Court Must Decline Jurisdiction on Removal Under Certain Circumstances.
2.24A[3][b] When More Than One-Third of Class Members Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed, District Court May Decline Jurisdiction on Removal.
2.24A[4] Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 Eliminates Complete Diversity Requirement for Certain Mass Actions.
2.25 Challenging Diversity Jurisdiction.
2.25[1] Methods for Challenge.
2.25[2] Generally Challenge May Be Made at Any Time.
2.25[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
III. ANALYZING SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION
2.26 CHECKLIST: Supplemental Jurisdiction.
2.27 Federal Court May Have "Supplemental Jurisdiction" Over Other Claims.
2.27[1] Related Claims and Parties in Single Suit.
2.27[2] Supplemental Jurisdiction Is Generally Mandatory.
2.27[3] Statute of Limitations.
2.28 Limitations on Supplemental Jurisdiction.
2.28[1] Diversity Actions.
2.28[2] Court May Decline Supplemental Jurisdiction.
2.28[2][a] When Novel or Complex Issue of State Law Exists.
2.28[2][b] When Supplemental Claim Substantially Predominates.
2.28[2][c] When Federal Claim Is Dismissed.
2.28[2][d] Court May Decline Supplemental Jurisdiction Under Exceptional Circumstances.
2.29 Determining Whether Additional Claims Are Part of Same Case or Controversy.
2.29[1] "Common Nucleus" Standard.
2.29[2] Plaintiff May Join or Aggregate Claims.
2.29[3] Counterclaims and Crossclaims.
2.29[3][a] Jurisdiction Over Counterclaims.
2.29[3][b] Jurisdiction Over Crossclaims.
2.29[4] Federal Question Cases.
2.29[4][a] Federal Question Must Be Substantial.
2.29[4][b] State Claims May Be Remanded After Removal.
2.29[5] Claims That Constitute "Same Case or Controversy."
2.29[5][a] Single Injury With Alternate Theories of Recovery.
2.29[5][b] Single Act With Injuries to More Than One Person.
2.29[6] Single Injury With Multiple Causation Is Generally Not "Same Case or Controversy."
2.30 Determining Whether Supplemental Jurisdiction Exists Over Joined Parties.
2.30[1] Supplemental Jurisdiction May Apply.
2.30[2] Joinder of Parties to Counterclaim.
2.30[3] Impleaded Parties.

2.30[3][a] Supplemental Jurisdiction Over Defendant's Impleader Claims.
2.30[3][b] No Supplemental Jurisdiction Over Plaintiff's Claims Arising out of Defendant's Impleader or Counterclaim in Diversity Action.
2.30[4] Interplay of Supplemental Jurisdiction and Compulsory Joinder.
2.30[5] Interplay of Supplemental Jurisdiction and Permissive Joinder.
2.30[5][a] Federal Question Cases.
2.30[5][b] Diversity Cases.
2.30[6] Class Actions.
2.30[7] Intervention.
2.30[7][a] Claims by Intervening Plaintiffs.
2.30[7][b] Claims by Intervening Defendants.
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION
2.30A CHECKLIST: Analyzing Personal Jurisdiction.
2.31 "Personal Jurisdiction" Defined.
2.31[1] Court Authority Over Parties.
2.31[2] Due Process Requirements.
2.31[3] Defendant May Waive Lack of Personal Jurisdiction.
2.31[4] Establishing Personal Jurisdiction in Patent Cases.
2.32 Jurisdiction Based on Presence.
2.33 Jurisdiction Based on Consent.
2.33[1] Appearance.
2.33[2] Forum Selection Clauses Are Ordinarily Enforced.
2.34 Jurisdiction Based on Domicile.
2.35 Jurisdiction Based on Minimum Contacts.
2.35[1] Factors Considered.
2.35[2] Fundamental Fairness Is Required.
2.35[3] Electronic Communications Issues.
2.36 Invoking General Jurisdiction.
2.36[1] General Jurisdiction Refers to All Claims.
2.36[2] Connections With Forum Must Be Continuous, Systematic, and Substantial.
2.36[3] Courts Are Reluctant to Assert General Jurisdiction Over Nonresident Defendants.
2.36[4] Exception for Personal Service in State.
2.36[5] Mere Purchasing Activity Does Not Support General Personal Jurisdiction.
2.36[6] Establishing General Jurisdiction in Website Cases.
2.37 Invoking Specific Jurisdiction.
2.37[1] When Claim Arises Directly From Defendant's Contacts With Forum.
2.37[2] Establishing Specific Jurisdiction in "Stream of Commerce" Cases.
2.37[3] Establishing Specific Jurisdiction in Website Cases.
2.37[4] Pendent Personal Jurisdiction May Require Defense of Claim for Which There Is No Independent Basis of Jurisdiction.
2.38 Determining Personal Jurisdiction Under California Long-Arm Statutes.
2.38[1] Due Process Test Applies.
2.38[2] Out-of-State Corporations May Consent to Jurisdiction.
2.39 Establishing Jurisdiction Over Property.
2.39[1] Property in State As Basis for Jurisdiction.
2.39[2] Types of Jurisdiction Over Property.
2.39[2][a] In Rem Jurisdiction.
2.39[2][b] Quasi in Rem Jurisdiction.
2.39[3] Enforcing a Sister-State Judgment.
2.39[4] Enforcing Judgments That Operate on Real Property.
2.40 Invoking Jurisdiction Through Service of Process.
2.40[1] Constitutional Limits.
2.40[1][a] Notice and Opportunity to Defend.
2.40[1][b] Statutory Compliance Required.
2.40[1][c] Standard for Adequate Notice.
2.40[2] Methods of Service of Process.
2.40[2][a] Service Under Rule 4.
2.40[2][b] Methods of Service Under California Law.
2.40[2][c] Serving Defendant in Foreign Country.
2.40[3] Territorial Limits of Effective Service.
2.40[3][a] Service Within 100 Miles of Federal Courthouse.
2.40[3][b] Nationwide Service of Process for Certain Claims.
2.40[3][c] Federal Question Cases and Nationwide Service.
2.40[4] Waiver of Service of Process.
2.40[4][a] Rule Applies Only to Individuals, Corporations, Partnerships, and Associations.
2.40[4][b] Requesting Waiver of Service.
2.40[4][c] Use Form 1A to Inform Defendant of Consequences of Compliance and Noncompliance.
2.40[4][d] Responding After Request for Waiver.
2.40[4][e] Waiver of Service Must Be Filed.

2.41 Challenging Personal Jurisdiction.
2.41[1] Procedures for Challenging Jurisdiction.
2.41[2] Opposing the Challenge.
2.41[3] Avoiding Waiver of Objection to Personal Jurisdiction.
2.41[4] Case May Be Transferred to Court Where Venue and Personal Jurisdiction Proper.
V. ANALYZING OTHER JURISDICTIONAL ISSUES
2.41A CHECKLIST: Analyzing Other Jurisdictional Issues.
2.42 Jurisdiction Over Cases and Controversies.
2.43 Standing.
2.43[1] "Standing" Defined.
2.43[2] Standing Is Determined When Suit Is Filed.
2.43[3] Constitutional Requirements.
2.43[3][a] Injury-in-Fact.
2.43[3][b] Injury Must Be Traceable to Defendant.
2.43[3][c] Plaintiff's Injury Must Be Redressable.
2.43[4] Prudential Aspects of Standing Inquiry.
2.43[4][a] Court Must Consider Three Prudential Concerns in Assessing Standing.
2.43[4][b] Association May Have Prudential Standing to Sue on Behalf of Its Members.
2.43[4][c] Organization May Have Standing to Sue If It Substantiates That Challenged Statute or Policy Frustrates Organization's Goals.
2.43[4][d] Third Party Standing to Assert Rights of Another Is Not Favored.
2.43[5] Raising Standing Issue.
2.43[5][a] Court May Raise Issue Sua Sponte.
2.43[5][b] Issue Can Be Raised by Defendant.
2.43[5][c] Issue Can Be Raised at Any Time.
2.43[6] Party Invoking Federal Jurisdiction Bears Burden of Proof.
2.44 Ripeness.
2.44[1] Ripeness Is Question of Timing.
2.44[2] Issues Must Be Fit for Judicial Review.
2.44[3] Court Must Determine If Withholding Judicial Review Will Impose Hardship.
2.44[4] Tension Between Declaratory Judgment Remedy and Ripeness Doctrine.
2.44[5] Raising Issue of Ripeness.
2.45 Mootness.
2.45[1] Mootness Occurs When Issues Are No Longer Live.
2.45[2] Exceptions to Mootness.
2.45[2][a] Acts That Are Capable of Repetition, Yet Will Evade Review.
2.45[2][b] Voluntary Cessation of Challenged Activity.
2.45[2][c] Past Acts Having Present, Future, or Collateral Consequences.
2.45[3] Counsel Must Inform Court of Change of Status.
2.45[4] Raising Mootness Issue.
2.46 Political Question Doctrine.
2.47 Abstention Doctrines.
2.47[1] Pullman Abstention: Avoiding Federal Constitutional Rulings.
2.47[2] Thibodeaux Abstention: Unclear State Law in Diversity Cases.
2.47[3] Burford Abstention: Avoiding Interference With Comprehensive State Administrative Procedures.
2.47[4] Colorado River Abstention: Concurrent State Proceedings.
2.47[5] Younger Abstention: Avoiding Interference With Pending State Proceedings.
2.47A First-to-File Rule.
VI. ANALYZING VENUE
2.48 CHECKLIST: Determining Venue.
2.49 Venue: Initial Considerations.
2.49[1] Federal Law Determines Venue.
2.49[2] Plaintiff Must File in Proper Forum.
2.49[3] Pleading Proper Venue.
2.49[3][a] Generally No Venue Allegation Is Required.
2.49[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
2.50 General Venue Statute Applies to Most Actions.
2.51 Determining Residence of Parties.
2.51[1] Residence Determined at Commencement of Action.
2.51[2] Individuals.
2.51[3] Aliens.
2.51[4] Public Officials.
2.51[5] Domestic Corporations.
2.51[5][a] Defendants.
2.51[5][b] Plaintiffs.
2.51[6] Unincorporated Associations.
2.52 Determining District Where Substantial Part of Events or Omissions Occurred.
2.53 Determining Venue for Class Actions.
2.54 Determining Venue in Special Cases.

2.54[1] Actions Removed to Federal Court.
2.54[2] Actions Against Aliens.
2.54[3] Actions Against United States, United States Agency, or United States Officials or Employees.
2.54[3][a] Venue Proper in Several Districts.
2.54[3][b] Residence Is Place of Official Duties.
2.54[3][c] Nationwide Service of Process.
2.54[3][d] Exceptions for Contract Cases.
2.54[3][e] Actions Under Federal Torts Claim Act.
2.54[4] Actions Against Foreign States.
2.54[5] Actions Against Closed Banks Administered by FDIC.
2.54[6] Interpleader Actions.
2.54[7] Copyright Actions.
2.54[8] Patent Actions.
2.54[9] Shareholder's Derivative Action.
2.54[10] Antitrust Actions.
2.54[11] Civil Rights Actions.
2.54[12] RICO Actions.
2.54[13] ERISA Actions.
2.54[14] Actions Under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.
2.54[15] Multiparty, Multiforum Cases.
2.55 Improper Venue May Be Waived.
2.56 Enforcing Forum Selection Clauses.
2.56[1] Federal Law Generally Applies.
2.56[2] Forum Selection Clauses Are Ordinarily Enforceable.
2.56[3] Some Limitations on Enforceability Exist.
2.56[4] Comparing Mandatory and Permissive Forum Selection Clauses.
2.56[4][a] Mandatory Forum Selection Clauses.
2.56[4][b] Permissive Forum Selection Clause.
2.56[4][c] Dismissal Based on Forum Selection Clause.
2.57 Transferring Venue for Convenience.
2.57[1] Court May Transfer Action to Another Proper Venue.
2.57[2] Factors Considered.
2.57[3] Standing to Move for Convenience Transfer.
2.57[3][a] Defendant.
2.57[3][b] Plaintiff.
2.57[4] Time for Moving for Transfer.
2.57[5] Transferor Must Have Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
2.57[6] Transferee Court Must Have Proper Venue, Subject Matter Jurisdiction, and Personal Jurisdiction.
2.57[7] Party Seeking Transfer Has Burden of Proving Transferee Forum Is Proper.
2.57[8] Waiving Improper Venue Does Not Preclude Seeking Convenience Transfer.
2.57[9] Choice of Law After Convenience Transfer.
2.57[9][a] Diversity Cases.
2.57[9][b] Federal Question Cases.
2.57[9][c] Transfer Based on Forum Selection Clause.
2.57[10] Review of Transfer Order.
2.58 Challenging Improper Venue.
2.58[1] Objection Must Be Timely.
2.58[2] Object in Answer or Motion to Dismiss.
2.58[3] Standing to Object to Improper Venue.
2.58[3][a] Defendant.
2.58[3][b] Plaintiff.
2.58[4] Waiving Objection.
2.58[5] Dismissal Is Not Favored.
2.58[6] Requirements for Transferor Court.
2.58[6][a] Transferor Must Have Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
2.58[6][b] Transferor Need Not Have Personal Jurisdiction.
2.58[7] Requirements for Transferee Court.
2.58[7][a] Proper Venue Under Applicable Transfer Statutes.
2.58[7][b] Personal Jurisdiction Over Defendants Must Exist Independently.
2.59 Actions May Be Transferred to Courts With Exclusive Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
2.60 Dismissal Under Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens: Alternative Foreign Forum.
2.60[1] Procedure Is Used in Exceptional Circumstances.
2.60[1A] Procedure May Justify Dismissal Without Resolving Jurisdictional Issues.
2.60[2] Bringing Motion to Dismiss Under Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens.
2.60[2][a] Motion Must Be Brought in Reasonable Time.
2.60[2][b] Proving Dismissal Is Warranted.
2.60[2][c] Claims May Be Separated.
2.60[3] Determining Adequacy of Alternative Forum.
2.60[4] Determining Convenience of Parties: Public and Private Interests Must Be Balanced.

Source: California > Search Analysis & CLE Materials > Matthew Bender Practice Guides > Matthew Bender® Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE
2.60 Dismissal Under Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens: Alternative Foreign Forum.
2.60[5] Deference Is Given to Plaintiff's Choice of Forum.
2.60[5][a] American Citizen or Resident As Plaintiff.
2.60[5][b] Foreign Plaintiff.
2.60[6] Exemptions for Special Venue Provisions.
2.60[7] Effect of Forum Selection Clauses.
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION
2.61 CHECKLIST: Multidistrict Litigation.
2.62 Understanding Multidistrict Litigation Procedure.
2.62[1] Multidistrict Litigation Statute.
2.62[2] Transferring Actions.
2.62[3] Factors Considered in Determining Transferee District.
2.62[4] Claims May Be Separated.
2.62[5] Remanding Actions.
2.62[6] Reviewing Transfer Orders.
2.63 Practicing Before Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation.
2.63[1] Rules of Procedure.
2.63[2] Admission to Practice Before Panel and in Transferor District.
2.63[3] Filing Papers With Panel.
2.63[3][a] File in Washington, D.C.
2.63[3][b] Originals and Copies Must Be Filed.
2.63[3][c] Format and Filing Requirements.
2.63[3][d] Computer Disk Must Be Filed and May Be Served.
2.63[3][e] Proof of Service.
2.63[4] Notice of Appearance Is Required Within 14 Days.
2.63[5] Use of Written Motion.
2.63[6] Respond to Motion Within 21 Days.
2.63[7] Respond to Orders to Show Cause Within 21 Days.
2.63[8] Corporate Disclosure Statement Must Be Filed.
2.64 Applying for Extension of Time.
2.65 Hearings.
2.65[1] Scheduling.
2.65[2] Hearing Sessions and Oral Argument.
2.65[3] Appearances for Oral Argument.
2.66 Governing Substantive Law.
2.67 Effect of Transfer Order.
2.68 Transferring Tag-Along Actions.
2.69 Terminating Action.
2.70 Remanding Action.
2.70[1] Requesting Remand.
2.70[2] Severing Claims Before Remand.
2.70[3] Moving for Remand.
2.70[4] Respond to Order to Show Cause Within 21 Days.
2.70[5] Authority of Transferor Court After Remand.
2.71 Transferee Court Cannot Retain Action for Trial.
2.72 Conditional Remand Orders.
2.72[1] Opposing Conditional Remand Orders.
2.72[2] Timing of Opposition.
2.73 Designating Record After Remand Order.
VIII. ANALYZING ARBITRATION REQUIREMENTS AND ADR OPTIONS
2.74 CHECKLISTS: Analyzing Arbitration Requirements and Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) Options.
2.74[1] Initial Considerations.
2.74[2] Enforcing Arbitration Agreement.
2.74[3] Attacking Arbitration Agreement.
2.75 Options and Strategy.
2.75[1] Arbitration or Other ADR May Be Required or Available for Cases in Litigation.
2.75[2] Arbitration, Instead of Litigation, May Be Required by Existing Pre-Dispute Agreement.
2.75[3] Parties May Agree to Mediate or Arbitrate After Dispute Arises.

2.76 Judicial Review of Arbitration Decisions Is Limited.
2.77 Parties May Specify Rules for Conduct of Arbitration.
2.78 Determining Whether Dispute Is Arbitrable Under Existing Agreement.
2.78[1] State Contract Law Determines Whether Parties Agreed to Arbitrate.
2.78[2] Court, Not Arbitrator, Decides Arbitrability.
2.78[3] Question of Arbitrability Has Limited Scope.
2.78[4] Arbitrator, Not Court, Decides Procedural Questions Regarding Arbitration.
2.79 Federal Arbitration Act Provides Mechanism to Move Parties Into Arbitration.
2.79[1] FAA Establishes Policy Favoring Arbitration.
2.79[1A] FAA Does Not Necessarily Preempt California Law.
2.79[2] FAA Applies to Contracts Involving Interstate Commerce.
2.79[3] FAA Provides Procedural Rules for Court Proceedings Related to Arbitration.
2.79[4] Statutory Claims May Be Arbitrable Under FAA.
2.79[4][a] Claims Are Arbitrable in Absence of Contrary Congressional Intent.
2.79[4][b] Various Statutory Claims Held Arbitrable.
2.80 Enforcing Arbitration Agreement Within Scope of FAA.
2.80[1] Make Demand for Arbitration Pursuant to Agreement.
2.80[2] Move to Stay Pending Action, If Any.
2.80[2][a] Court Must Grant Stay If Issue Is Referable to Arbitration.
2.80[2][b] Order Refusing Stay Is Appealable; Order Granting Stay Is Not.
2.80[3] Move to Compel Arbitration, If Necessary.
2.80[3][a] Petition Must Be Made to Court That Would Otherwise Have Jurisdiction.
2.80[3][b] Court Must Order Arbitration If Agreement Is Not in Issue.
2.80[3][c] Court Must Determine Arbitrability of Dispute If Agreement Is in Issue.
2.80[3][d] Order Denying Petition Is Appealable; Order Granting Petition Is Not.
2.81 Attacking Arbitration Agreement.
2.81[1] Arbitration Agreements Must Be Evaluated Under State Contract Law.
2.81[2] Contract Defenses Are Available.
2.81[3] Court Determines Challenges to Existence or Validity of Arbitration Provisions.
2.81[4] Arbitrators Determine Other Challenges to Underlying Contract.
2.82 Waiving Right to Seek Arbitration.
IX. MOVING TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE
2.83 CHECKLIST: Moving to Disqualify Judge.
2.84 Options and Strategy.
2.84[1] No Peremptory Challenges.
2.84[1A] Disqualification Is Possible Under Due Process Clause.
2.84[2] Disqualification Is Possible Under Two Statutory Provisions.
2.84[2][a] 28 USC § 144 Provides Procedure for Disqualification of District Court Judge or Magistrate Judge for Bias or Prejudice.
2.84[2][b] 28 USC § 455 Contains Recusal Provisions Applicable to All Federal Judges, Magistrate Judges, and Justices.
2.84[3] Determining Which Statute to Use When Grounds Exist Under Both.
2.85 Procedure to Disqualify Judge Under 28 USC § 144.
2.85[1] Party May Move to Disqualify Judge Because of Bias or Prejudice.
2.85[2] Motion Must Be Supported by Affidavit.
2.85[2][a] Affidavit Must Be Timely and Sufficient.
2.85[2][b] Affidavit Must State Facts and Reasons for Disqualification.
2.85[2][c] Each Party May File Only One Affidavit in Any Case.
2.85[3] Affidavit Must Be Accompanied by Certificate of Counsel.
2.85[4] Initial Determination of Sufficiency of Affidavit.
2.85[4][a] Challenged Judge May Make Initial Determination of Sufficiency.
2.85[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Disqualification of Magistrate Judge.
2.85[5] Procedure After Initial Determination of Sufficiency.
2.85[5][a] Motion Must Be Assigned to Another Judge for Hearing.
2.85[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Random Assignment of Disqualification Motion.
2.85[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Reference of Disqualification Request to Another Judge.
2.85[6] Effect of Insufficiency of Affidavit.
2.86 Circumstances When Recusal Is Required Under 28 USC § 455.
2.86[1] Judge's Impartiality Might Reasonably Be Questioned.
2.86[2] Judge Has Personal Bias or Prejudice.
2.86[3] Judge or Lawyer Associated With Judge's Private Law Practice Served As Lawyer or Witness in Controversy.
2.86[4] Judge Participated in Matter While in Government Employment.
2.86[5] Judge, Spouse, or Minor Child Has Financial or Other Interest in Matter.
2.86[5][a] Disqualification Is Required for Interest As Either Individual or Fiduciary.
2.86[5][b] "Financial Interest" Means Legal or Equitable Interest.
2.86[5][c] Judge Has Responsibility to Inform Self of Financial Interests.
2.86[6] Judge or Judge's Relative Has Involvement in Proceeding.
2.87 If Judge Does Not Recuse Self, Party May Move for Disqualification.
2.88 Disqualification Under 28 USC § 455 Must Be Sought in Timely Manner.

2.89 Grounds for Disqualification Generally Cannot Be Waived.
2.90 Circumstances Under Which Judge May Divest Self of Interest to Avoid Disqualification.
X. FORMS
2.91 Notice of Motion and Motion to Transfer Venue for Convenience.
2.92 Order Granting Motion for Transfer of Venue.
2.93 Motion for Multidistrict Litigation Treatment.
2.94 Notice of Motion and Motion to Disqualify Judge.
2.95 Local District Court Forms.
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
§ 3.syn Synopsis to Chapter 3: Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
I. STRATEGY
3.01 Scope.
3.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL
3.03 CHECKLISTS: Initial Considerations for Defendants and Plaintiffs Relating to Removal.
3.03[1] Defendant's Checklist: Evaluating Case for Removal.
3.03[2] Plaintiff's Checklist: Determining Whether Removal May Be Prevented.
3.04 Removal Allows Defendant to Transfer Case From State to Federal Court.
3.04[1] Removal Available If Case Could Have Been Brought in Federal Court.
3.04[2] Several Key Restrictions Apply Under General Removal Statute.
3.04[3] Special Removal Statutes Allow for Removal in Other Special Circumstances.
3.05 Removal Can Be Based on Either Federal Question or Diversity Jurisdiction.
3.05[1] Federal Question Cases.
3.05[2] Diversity Cases: Resident Defendant Bars Removal in Most Cases.
3.06 Right of Removal Can Be Waived.
3.06[1] Waiver by Untimely Removal.
3.06[2] Waiver by Forum Selection Clauses.
3.06[2][a] Forum Selection Clauses Are Enforceable.
3.06[2][b] Waiver Must Be Clear and Unequivocal.
3.06[2][c] Party Asserting Waiver Will Have Burden of Proof.
3.06[2][d] Effect on Other Defendants.
3.06[2][e] Standard of Review Is Abuse of Discretion.
3.06[3] Waiver by Submitting to State Court Jurisdiction.
3.07 Action Must Be Originally Filed in State Court.
3.08 Removability Is Determined When Removal Notice Is Filed.
3.09 Case May Be Subject to Removal If District Court Has Original Federal Question Jurisdiction.
3.09[1] Federal Question Actions Are Removable by Defendant.
3.09[2] Analyzing Federal Question Jurisdiction.
3.09[2][a] Action Must Arise Under Federal Law.
3.09[2][b] Applying Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule.
3.09[2][c] Removing Claim Over Which State Court Did Not Have Jurisdiction Is Permissible.
3.09[2][d] Removing Case Based on Federal Defense Impermissible.
3.09[2][e] Removing Case Based on Defendant's Federal Question Counterclaim Impermissible.
3.09[3] Removing Entire Case Based on Federal Question Claim.
3.09[3][a] Based on Supplemental Jurisdiction.
3.09[3][b] Based on Section 1441(c).
3.09[3][c] Comparing Removal Based on Supplemental Jurisdiction and Removal Based on Section 1441(c).
3.09[4] Removing Cases Entirely Preempted by Federal Law.
3.09[4][a] When Exclusive Federal Remedy Exists.
3.09[4][b] Determining Whether Claim Arises Under Labor Management Relations Act.
3.09[4][c] Determining Whether Claim Arises Under Employee Retirement Income Security Act.
3.10 Case May Be Subject to Removal If District Court Has Original Diversity Jurisdiction.
3.10[1] Removing on Basis of Diversity Jurisdiction.
3.10[1][a] Case Must Meet Amount in Controversy and Diversity of Citizenship Requirements.
3.10[1][b] Removal Not Permitted If Any Defendant Is Citizen of State in Which Action Is Filed.
3.10[1][c] Removal Not Permitted in Domestic Relations Cases.
3.10[1][d] Removal Not Permitted in Probate Cases.
3.10[2] Satisfying Complete Diversity Requirement.
3.10[2][a] Consider Citizenship of All Named Defendants.
3.10[2][b] Timing of Determination of Diversity.
3.10[2][c] Proving Diversity.
3.10[3] Satisfying Amount in Controversy Requirement.
3.10[3][a] Amount in Controversy Must Exceed $75,000 in Most Cases.
3.10[3][b] Application of "Either Viewpoint" Rule to Ascertain Amount in Controversy.
3.10[3][c] Timing of Determination of Amount in Controversy.
3.10[3][d] Proving Amount in Controversy.
3.10[4] Minimal Diversity Under Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act of 2002.
3.10[4][a] "Minimal Diversity" Rule Confers Original Federal Court Jurisdiction in Civil Cases Arising From Catastrophic Accidents.

3.10[4][b] Removal in Minimal Diversity Cases.
3.10[5] Minimal Diversity Under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.
3.11 Determining Who Can Remove.
3.11[1] Right of Removal Generally Limited.
3.11[1][a] Defendants.
3.11[1][b] Plaintiff May Not Remove As Defendant.
3.11[1][c] Third-Party Defendants.
3.11[1][d] Defendant Intervenor.
3.11[2] Statutory Right of Specific Plaintiffs to Remove.
3.12 All Defendants Must Join in Notice of Removal in Most Cases.
3.12[1] Except in Qualified Class Action, All Defendants Must Join in Notice of Removal.
3.12[2] Failure of Defendants to Join Defeats Removal.
3.12[3] Failure of All Defendants to Join Is Waivable Defect.
3.12[4] In Special Cases, Not All Defendants Need Join.
3.13 Special Removal Statutes Permit Removal in Certain Types of Cases, or by Certain Types of Parties.
3.13[1] Actions Brought Against Federal Agencies and Officers.
3.13[1][a] Who May Remove Action.
3.13[1][b] Original Federal Jurisdiction Not Required Apart From Statute.
3.13[1][c] Federal Official Defendant.
3.13[1][d] "Under Color of Office" Requirement.
3.13[1][e] Entire Action Removed.
3.13[1][f] Retaining Case After Dismissal of Federal Agency or Officer.
3.13[2] Actions Brought Against Members of Armed Forces.
3.13[3] Civil Rights Actions.
3.13[3][a] Defendants in Certain Civil Rights Cases May Remove.
3.13[3][b] Enforcement of Civil Rights.
3.13[3][c] Acts Under Color of Authority Derived From Civil Rights Laws.
3.13[4] Civil Actions Against Foreign States.
3.13[4][a] Foreign State May Remove Case.
3.13[4][b] Timing for Removal.
3.13[5] Foreclosure Actions Against United States.
3.13[6] Resolution Trust Corporation Cases.
3.13[6][a] Scope of Removal.
3.13[6][b] Time for Removal.
3.13[6][c] Venue.
3.13[6][d] Appeal of Remand.
3.13[7] Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Cases.
3.13[7][a] Scope of Removal.
3.13[7][b] Time for Removal.
3.13[7][c] Appeal of Remand.
3.13[8] Claims Related to Bankruptcy Cases.
3.13[8][a] Any Party May Remove Related Claims.
3.13[8][b] Exception for Proceeding Before Tax Court or Civil Action to Enforce Police or Regulatory Power of Government Unit.
3.13[8][c] Exception for Mandatory Abstention.
3.13[8][d] Party Seeking Removal Must Serve and File Verified Notice.
3.13[8][e] Timing of Notice If Bankruptcy Action Filed Before Civil Action.
3.13[8][f] Timing of Notice If Civil Action Filed Before Bankruptcy Action.
3.13[8][g] Party May File Verified Statement After Notice of Removal.
3.13[8][h] District Court Has Discretion to Remand.
3.13[9] Fair Labor Standards Act.
3.14 Some Types of Actions Are Statutorily Nonremovable.
3.15 Removal by State Can Waive Sovereign Immunity.
III. REMOVING CASE
3.16 CHECKLIST: Drafting and Filing Notice of Removal.
3.17 Notice of Removal Is Filed in District and Division Where State Action Is Pending.
3.18 Preparing Notice of Removal.
3.18[1] Contents of Notice.
3.18[1][a] Statement of Grounds.
3.18[1][b] Federal Question Cases.
3.18[1][c] Diversity Cases.
3.18[1][d] Special Statute Cases.
3.18[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Additional Statements Required to Be Served and Filed Under Local Rules.
3.18[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
3.18[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
3.18[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
3.18[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
3.18[3] Signing Pursuant to Rule 11 Required.
3.18[4] Joining of All Served Defendants Required.

3.18[4][a] All Defendants Must Consent.
3.18[4][b] Exception for Defendants With Independent Right of Removal and Defendants in Qualified Class Actions.
3.19 Notice Must Be Filed in Appropriate Court.
3.19[1] Filing in District Where State Court Action Is Pending.
3.19[2] Filing State Court Papers.
3.19[3] Noticing Adverse Parties and Filing Notice With State Court.
3.19[4] Effect of Filing Notice.
3.19[5] Removal to Wrong District Does Not Deprive District Court of Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
3.19[6] Amending Notice of Removal.
3.19[7] Filing Fee.
3.20 Notice of Removal Must Be Timely Filed.
3.20[1] File Notice Within 30 Days of Receipt of Papers Indicating Removability.
3.20[2] Formal Service Required When Case Initially Removable.
3.20[3] Multiple Defendants Present Special Problems.
3.20[4] Removal May Be Based on Subsequent Pleadings and Other Papers.
3.20[4][a] Voluntary Acts of Plaintiff After Initial Pleading May Make Case Subject to Removal.
3.20[4][b] Thirty-Day Period Triggered by Paper Indicating That Case Is Removable.
3.20[4][c] One-Year Limit in Diversity Cases Other Than Qualified Class Actions.
3.20[5] Removing After State Court Judgment.
3.21 Federal District Court Advances Case After Removal Notice Filed in State Court.
3.21[1] Jurisdiction Shifts to Federal Court.
3.21[2] State Court Orders Remain in Effect Until Modified.
3.21[3] Federal Rules Govern Procedural Issues.
3.21[4] In Diversity Case, State Law Governs Substantive Issues.
3.21[5] Second Answer Need Not Be Prepared and Filed.
3.21[6] Renewed Jury Demand Not Ordinarily Required.
3.21[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: Requesting Jury Trial After Removal.
3.21[7][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
3.21[7][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal, ND Cal, and SD Cal Requirements--No Specific Rule.
3.21[8] Subsequent Transfer of Removed Case.
3.22 All State Court Proceedings Before Removal Remain in Effect.
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL
3.23 CHECKLIST: Moving for Remand
3.24 Plaintiff May Seek Remand by Joining Additional Defendants to Destroy Federal Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
3.24[1] Use of Joinder to Destroy Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
3.24[2] Court Has Discretion to Deny or Permit Joinder.
3.25 Procedure for Remand May Be Initiated by Judge or by Party.
3.25[1] Sua Sponte Remand by Court.
3.25[2] Motion by Party.
3.26 Grounds for Motion to Remand Include Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction, Procedurally Defective Removal, Abstention, and Provision in Forum Selection Clause.
3.26[1] Statutory Grounds.
3.26[2] Nonstatutory Grounds.
3.26[3] Crowded Docket Is Not a Proper Ground for Remand.
3.26[4] Futility Exception May Provide Ground for Refusal to Remand.
3.26A Additional Grounds for Remand of Class Action Subject to Modified Diversity Requirements of Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.
3.26A[1] District Court May Decline Jurisdiction When More Than One-Third, But Less Than Two-Thirds, of Plaintiffs Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed.
3.26A[2] In Some Cases, District Court Must Decline Jurisdiction When More Than Two-Thirds of Plaintiffs Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed.
3.27 Timing of Motion to Remand Depends on Motion Grounds.
3.27[1] Motion Based on Jurisdictional Defects May Be Made at Any Time.
3.27[2] Motion Based on Procedural Defects Must Be Made Within 30 Days.
3.27[3] Waiver of Objection.
3.28 Burden of Proof When Removal is Contested.
3.29 Moving for Costs and Attorney's Fees.
3.30 Effect of Post-Removal Changes in Case.
3.30[1] Federal Claims Dismissed, State Claims Remaining.
3.30[2] Only Third-Party Claims Remain.
3.30[3] Post-Removal Reduction in Amount in Controversy Cannot Deprive Federal Court of Jurisdiction.
3.30[4] Addition of Parties.
3.31 Remand Shifts Jurisdiction to State Court.
3.32 Reconsideration After Remand Order.
3.33 Appellate Review of Remand Order.
3.33[1] Orders Denying Remand.
3.33[2] Orders Granting Remand.
3.33[2][a] Remand Based on Procedural Defect or Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction Is Not Reviewable.

3.33[2][b] Remand Based on Joinder of Non-Diverse Defendants Is Not Reviewable.
3.33[2][c] Remand Based on Substantive Decision Apart From Jurisdictional Issue Is Subject to Review.
3.33[2][d] Remand Based on Discretionary Decline of Jurisdiction Is Subject to Review.
3.33[2][e] Remand Based on Events Occurring After Time of Removal Is Subject to Review.
3.33[3] Standard of Review Is De Novo.
V. FORMS
3.34 Notice of Removal.
3.34A Notice of Removal of Class Action Under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.
3.35 Notice to Adverse Parties of Filing of Notice of Removal.
3.36 Declaration of Filing Notice of Removal in State Court.
3.37 Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Remanding Removed Action to State Court.
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
§ 4.syn Synopsis to Chapter 4: Determining Parties to the Action
I. STRATEGY
4.01 Scope.
4.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. STRUCTURING LITIGATION THROUGH PERMISSIVE JOINDER OF PARTIES
4.03 CHECKLIST: Applying Permissive Party Joinder Rule.
4.04 Selecting Initial Parties to Action.
4.04[1] Federal Rules Encourage Liberal Joinder of Parties and Claims.
4.04[2] Three-Part Test for Joinder of Plaintiffs.
4.04[3] Three-Part Test for Joinder of Defendants.
4.04[4] Each Party Must Meet Minimum Qualifications.
4.05 No Numerical Limits on Permissive Joinder of Parties.
4.05[1] Practical Considerations May Limit Ability to Join All Parties.
4.05[2] Practical Difficulties May Be Compounded by Rule That Each Joined Party May Join All Available Claims Against Opponents.
4.05[3] Court May Order Separate Trials to Resolve Problems Created by Excessive Joinder of Parties and Claims.
4.05[4] Parties May Opt for Representative Proceeding, Such as Class Action, Rather Than Joining All Parties.
4.06 Limitations on Joinder of United States As Defendant.
4.06[1] Sovereign Immunity Prohibits Claims Against United States Except to Extent United States Waives Immunity.
4.06[2] United States Has Made Limited, Statutory Waivers of Immunity.
4.06[2][a] Tucker Act Waives Immunity for Monetary Actions Not Sounding in Tort.
4.06[2][b] Tort Claims Act Waives Immunity, But Requires Administrative Claims to Precede Suits.
4.07 Motion Procedures for Objecting to Misjoinder of Parties.
4.07[1] Party May Object to Party Joinder by Motion; Court May Address Joinder Sua Sponte.
4.07[2] Party May Bring Motion to Drop Party.
4.07[3] Party May Bring Motion to Sever.
4.08 Remedies for Misjoinder of Parties.
4.08[1] Misjoinder of Parties Is Not Ground for Dismissal.
4.08[2] Court May Order Severance.
4.08[3] Court May Drop or Add Parties at Any Time.
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS
4.09 CHECKLIST: Assuring Action Brought by Real Party in Interest.
4.10 CHECKLIST: Raising Objections to Real Party Status.
4.11 Real-Party-in-Interest Requirement Calls for Particular Kind of Standing.
4.11[1] Actions Must Be Prosecuted by Real Party in Interest, Legal Owner of Claim.
4.11[2] Requirement Overlaps With General Standing Requirement.
4.11[3] Plaintiff's Failure to Meet Requirement May Be Waived by Failure to Object.
4.12 Executor, Administrator, Guardian, and Statutory Representative May Sue As Real Party in Interest.
4.13 United States May Litigate As Real Party Representative.
4.14 United States Is Real Party in Interest With Respect to Claims Regarding United States Properties or Interests.
4.15 Determining Real Party Status in Assigned Claims.
4.15[1] Assignee Acquiring Fully Assigned Claim Is Real Party.
4.15[2] Assignee May Be Real Party in Interest Even When Assignor Receives Some Benefit of Litigation.
4.15[3] Assignments for Purpose of Creating Diversity Jurisdiction Are Ineffective for That Purpose.
4.15[4] Assigning Claims Against United States.
4.15[4][a] Assignment of Claims Act Generally Prohibits Assignment of Matured Claims Against United States.
4.15[4][b] Anti-Assignment Act Generally Prohibits Assignments of Rights Under Contracts With United States.
4.16 Procedures for Raising Objections to Real Party Status.
4.16[1] Defendant May Assert Affirmative Defense.
4.16[2] Court May Raise Lack of Real Party in Interest.
4.16[3] Defendant May Bring Motion Addressing Real Party Status.
4.17 Bringing Motion to Compel Joinder of Real Party in Interest.
4.18 Bringing Motion to Drop Party As Not Real Party in Interest.
4.19 Dismissing Action for Real Party Defect.
4.19[1] Dismissal Is Not Usual Remedy for Lack of Real Party in Interest.
4.19[2] Courts Are Generally Lenient in Allowing Cure.

4.19[2][a] Courts Favor Offering Opportunity to Cure Defect.
4.19[2][b] If Curing Defect Is Impossible, Court May Immediately Dismiss.
4.19[2][c] If Failure to Prosecute in Name of Real Party Is Not Honest Mistake, Court May Immediately Dismiss.
4.19[3] Ratification As Cure Requires Ratifying Party to Authorize Action and to Agree to Be Bound by Result.
4.19[4] Joinder or Substitution of Real Party Cures Defect.
4.19[5] Ratification, Joinder, Substitution Relate Back to Original Complaint.
4.19[6] Dismissal Proper After Reasonable Time Passes and Defect Not Cured.
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES
4.20 CHECKLIST: Determining Which State's Laws Govern Capacity to Sue and Be Sued.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES
4.21 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Minor Under California Law.
4.22 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Incompetent Under California Law.
4.23 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Decedent's Representative Under California Law.
4.24 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Business Entities Under California Law.
4.25 CHECKLIST: Challenging Plaintiff's Lack of Capacity.
4.26 Capacity to Sue and Be Sued in Federal Court Depends on State Law.
4.27 Pleading Capacity Is Not Required, Except When Required to Plead Jurisdiction.
4.28 Determining Capacity of Individual Litigant.
4.28[1] Individuals Have Capacity to Sue or Be Sued Unless They Are Under Disability.
4.28[2] Determining Capacity of Minors Under California Law.
4.28[2][a] Minor Must Sue Through Guardian or Guardian Ad Litem.
4.28[2][b] Minor Has Capacity to Be Sued, but Court Will Appoint Guardian.
4.28[2][c] Emancipated Minor Has Full Capacity, Even Without Guardian.
4.28[2][d] Minor 12 Years Old or Older Has Capacity to Seek or Defend Against Harassment and Violence Injunctions.
4.28[2][e] Neither Minors Nor Guardians May Appear Pro Se.
4.28[3] Determining Capacity of Incompetent Persons Under California Law.
4.28[3][a] Incompetent Must Sue Through Conservator or Guardian Ad Litem.
4.28[3][b] Incompetent Has Capacity to Be Sued in Many Cases, but Court Will Appoint Guardian.
4.29 Determining Capacity of Decedents and Decedents' Representatives Under California Law.
4.29[1] Personal Representative or Successor in Interest May Bring Decedent's Cause of Action.
4.29[2] Cause of Action Against Decedent May Be Asserted Against Personal Representative or Successor in Interest.
4.29[3] Estate Itself May Not Be Party.
4.30 Determining Capacity of Public Corporations.
4.30[1] Capacity of Corporation Determined by Law of State Where Organized.
4.30[2] Determining Capacity of California Corporations.
4.30[2][a] California Corporations Have Same Capacity as Natural Persons.
4.30[2][b] Dissolved California Corporations Have Limited Capacity.
4.30[2][c] Merged Corporation Loses Right to Bring Suit.
4.30[2][d] California Corporation's Rights to Sue and Defend Suits May Be Suspended by Failure to File or Pay Tax.
4.31 Determining Capacity of Partnerships, Associations, and Sole Proprietorships.
4.31[1] Capacity of Partnerships and Associations Determined by Law of State Where District Court Sits.
4.31[2] In California, Partnership May Sue or Be Sued in Partnership Name.
4.31[2][a] Partnership Name Suits Permitted, but Strategic Considerations May Make Partners Advisable Additional Parties.
4.31[2][b] Compliance With Fictitious Name Statute May Be Prerequisite to Partnership Name Suit.
4.31[3] In California, Unincorporated Association May Sue and Be Sued Under Common Name.
4.31[4] In California, Sole Proprietorship Does Not Have Existence Separate From Owner.
4.32 Determining Capacity of Limited Liability Entities.
4.32[1] Capacity of Limited Liability Entities Determined by Law of State Where District Court Sits.
4.32[2] In California, Limited Liability Company May Sue or Be Sued.
4.32[3] In California, Limited Partnerships and Limited Liability Partnerships Have Same Capacity to Sue and Be Sued As General Partnerships.
4.33 Determining Capacity of Nationally Chartered Corporations.
4.33[1] Federally Chartered Corporation.
4.33[2] Corporation Chartered by District of Columbia.
4.34 Determining Capacity of State and Local Public Entities.
4.34[1] Capacities of State and Local Public Entities Determined by Law of State Where District Court Sits.
4.34[2] State of California and California "Public Entities" Have Capacity to Sue and Be Sued.
4.34[3] State Public Entities May Be Sued Only to Extent They Have Waived Immunity.
4.34[4] Liability of California and California Public Agencies Is Subject to Numerous Statutory Limits.
4.34[5] Administrative Claim May Be Prerequisite to Suit.
4.34[6] Eleventh Amendment Immunity May Preclude Suit.
4.35 Determining Capacity of Representatives Litigating State-Law Claims.
4.36 Challenging Capacity Defect.
4.36[1] Capacity Defect Should Be Raised in Responsive Pleadings.

4.36[2] Capacity Defect May Be Raised by Motion to Dismiss.
4.37 Determining Proper Representatives for Persons Lacking Legal Capacity.
4.37[1] Previously Appointed Representative May Sue for or Defend Minor or Incompetent.
4.37[2] Minor or Incompetent May Sue by Next Friend or Guardian Ad Litem.
4.37[3] Court May Appoint Guardian Ad Litem for Minor or Incompetent Who Has Been Sued.
4.37[4] Court Must Hold Incompetency Hearing for Persons Not Previously Adjudged Incompetent.
4.38 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Actions Involving Minors and Incompetents.
4.38[1] Court Must Approve Settlement or Compromise.
4.38[2] Court Sets Attorney's Fees.
4.38[3] All Monies Paid to Minor or Incompetent Placed in Blocked Account.
4.39 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Actions Involving Minors and Incompetents.
4.39[1] Appointment of Representative or Guardian.
4.39[2] Court Approval Required for Settlement or Compromise.
4.39[3] Disclosure of Attorney's Interest Required.
4.39[4] Court Holds Full Hearing on Proposed Compromise.
4.39[5] Disbursement of Monies or Property Made According to State Law.
4.40 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal--Actions Involving Minors or Incompetents.
4.40[1] Court Order Required for Settlement or Compromise.
4.40[2] Disbursement of Monies or Property Made According to State Law.
4.40[2][a] California Law Applicable for California Resident.
4.40[2][b] Certified Copy of Guardianship Letters Must Be Filed With Clerk.
4.40[2][c] Ex Parte Petition for Review and Approval Must Be Submitted.
4.40[2][d] Approval of Settlement by Magistrate Judge.
4.40[2][e] Submission of Proposed Order.
4.40[2][f] Rules for Distribution, Withdrawals, and Disbursements.
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE
4.41 CHECKLIST: Applying Compulsory Joinder Rule.
4.42 Objective and Strategy: Compulsory Joinder Limits Plaintiff's Ability to Shape Litigation.
4.42[1] Absent Persons With Interest in Subject of Litigation Must Be Protected.
4.42[2] Court Should Assure That Judgment Provides Complete, Effective Relief to Parties.
4.42[3] Compulsory Joinder Rule Limits Power of Plaintiff to Determine Parties to Lawsuit.
4.43 Certain Unjoined Persons or Entities Are Considered "Required Parties."
4.43[1] Person Whose Absence Will Prevent Complete Relief to Existing Parties Is Required Party.
4.43[2] Absent Person Who Has Interest in Subject of Action That May Be Prejudiced by Judgment Is Required Party.
4.43[2][a] Absent Person Must Have Interest in Litigation.
4.43[2][b] Absent Person May Waive Interest.
4.43[2][c] Absent Person's Interest Must Be Legally Protectable, but Need Not Be Property Interest.
4.43[2][d] Absent Person's Interest May Be Adequately Represented by Existing Party.
4.43[3] Absent Person Who Has Interest in Subject Matter of Action and Might Bring Subsequent Action Resulting in Multiple or Inconsistent Obligations for Existing Party Is Required Party.
4.43[3][a] Absent Person's Interest in Litigation May Threaten Inconsistent Obligations for Existing Party.
4.43[3][b] Only Possibility of Inconsistent Obligations, Not Inconsistent Adjudications, Establishes Required Party Status.
4.43[4] Whenever Any of the Three Tests Are Satisfied, Absent Person Is Required Party.
4.44 Claimant's Pleading Must Address All Parties Required to Resolve Claim.
4.45 Court Will Order Joinder of Any Required Party.
4.45[1] Joinder Required When Feasible.
4.45[2] Required Party Plaintiff Who Refuses to Join May Be Made Defendant or Involuntary Plaintiff.
4.45[3] If Joined Party Properly Objects to Venue, That Party Must Be Dismissed.
4.46 Determining Whether Required Party Who Cannot Be Joined Is Indispensable.
4.46[1] If Joinder of Required Party Is Not Feasible, Court Must Determine If Action May Proceed or Must Be Dismissed.
4.46[2] Court Considers Several Factors in Determining Whether Action May Proceed in Absence of Required Party.
4.46[2][a] Determination Is Fact Sensitive.
4.46[2][b] Extent of Prejudice Is a Factor.
4.46[2][c] Protective Provisions in Judgment Are a Factor.
4.46[2][d] Ability to Provide Adequate and Meaningful Relief Is a Factor.
4.46[2][e] Consequence to Plaintiff of Dismissal Is a Factor.
4.47 Application of Compulsory Joinder Rules to Indian Tribes.
4.47[1] Indian Tribes' Sovereign Immunity Prevents Joinder.
4.47[2] In Ninth Circuit, Tribes' Sovereign Immunity Does Not Extend to Suits by United States.
4.47[3] When Indian Tribe Is Required Party, Dismissal Does Not Automatically Result From Inability to Join Tribe As Party.
4.48 Exceptions to and Limits on Compulsory Joinder Rule.
4.48[1] Exception for Actions Enforcing Public Rights.
4.48[1][a] Little Need for Compulsory Joinder Rules in Public Rights Cases.
4.48[1][b] Exception Limited to Cases That Transcend Private Interests of Litigants.
4.48[1][c] Exception Limited to Cases Where Absent Third Parties Are Left Free to Assert Legal Rights.

4.48[2] Compulsory Joinder Is Subject to Class Actions Rule.
4.49 Raising Failure to Join Required or Indispensable Party.
4.49[1] Absence of Required Party Should Be Pleaded As Defense.
4.49[2] Defendant May Bring Motion to Dismiss If Indispensable Party Is Not Joined.
4.49[3] Party May Bring Motion to Compel Joinder.
4.49[4] Party May Bring Motion to Add Parties.
4.49[5] Failure to Assert Absence of Indispensable Party by Way of Motion or in Pleadings Does Not Waive Objection.
4.50 Curing Absence of Required Party.
4.50[1] If Joinder Is Feasible, Joinder Cures Party Defect.
4.50[2] Absentee May Be Joined by Devices Other Than Motion for Joinder.
4.50[2][a] Absentee May Join Voluntarily Through Intervention.
4.50[2][b] Existing Claimants May Amend Pleadings.
4.50[2][c] Parties Defending Claim May Bring in Required Party Through Impleader.
4.51 Absentees Not Bound by Judgment.
VI. USING INTERPLEADER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTING CLAIMS
4.52 CHECKLIST: Interpleading Conflicting Claims.
4.53 Options and Strategies for Interpleading Conflicting Claims.
4.53[1] Purpose of Interpleader Is to Settle Conflicting Claims to Stake.
4.53[2] "Stakeholder" Plaintiff May Sue All Who Claim Interest in Stake.
4.53[3] Defendant Faced With Multiple Liability May Also Assert Interpleader.
4.54 Interpleader Requires Conflicting Claims to Specific Fund or Property.
4.54[1] Claims Must Be Against Specific Fund or Property.
4.54[2] Claims Must Be Adverse to Each Other.
4.54[3] So Long As Claims Are Adverse, They Need Not Arise From Common Origin or Title.
4.55 Stakeholder May Initiate "Statutory" or "Rule" Interpleader Proceedings.
4.55[1] Distinction Between "Statutory" and "Rule" Interpleader.
4.55[2] Two Types of Interpleader Supplement Rather Than Displace Each Other.
4.55[3] Party Must Establish Right to Interpleader Under One Authorization or the Other.
4.56 Subject Matter Jurisdiction Requirements for Interpleader.
4.56[1] Statutory Interpleader Actions.
4.56[1][a] Special Jurisdiction Standards Apply in Statutory Interpleader Actions.
4.56[1][b] Minimal Amount in Controversy.
4.56[1][c] Minimal Diversity Among Claimants.
4.56[2] Rule Interpleader Actions.
4.56[2][a] Normal Jurisdiction Standards Apply in Rule Interpleader Actions.
4.56[2][b] Federal Question Jurisdiction.
4.56[2][c] Diversity of Citizenship.
4.56[2][d] Special Statutory Grant of Jurisdiction.
4.57 Service of Process in Interpleader Actions.
4.57[1] Special Nationwide Service of Process Authorization for Statutory Interpleader Actions.
4.57[2] Normal Service of Process Limits in Rule Interpleader Actions.
4.58 Venue in Interpleader Actions.
4.58[1] Special Venue Provisions for Statutory Interpleader Actions.
4.58[2] Normal Venue Provisions for Rule Interpleader Actions.
4.59 First Stage of Interpleader Proceedings: Obtaining Ruling on Propriety of Interpleader.
4.59[1] Depositing Disputed Property With Court.
4.59[1][a] Deposit Mandatory in Statutory Interpleader Actions.
4.59[1][b] Deposit Optional in Rule Interpleader Actions.
4.59[2] Enjoining Independent Actions Seeking Share of Stake.
4.59[2][a] Statute Authorizes Injunction in Statutory Interpleader Cases.
4.59[2][b] General Equitable Authorization for Injunction in Rule Interpleader Cases.
4.59[2][c] Injunction Limited to Claims Against Stake.
4.59[2][d] Injunction Is Discretionary; Court May Defer to State Court Proceedings.
4.59[3] Seeking Discharge for Stakeholder.
4.59[3][a] Disinterested Stakeholder Normally Entitled to Discharge.
4.59[3][b] Stakeholder Who Claims Interest or Denies Liability Must Not Be Discharged.
4.59[4] Seeking Costs and Attorney's Fees on Discharge of Stakeholder.
4.59[4][a] Court Has Discretion to Award Fees.
4.59[4][b] Award Appropriate Only for Stakeholder Who Has Acted Equitably and Promptly.
4.59[4][c] Amount of Fee Award Should Be Modest.
4.60 Second Stage of Proceedings: Ordinary Pretrial and Trial of Conflicting Claims.
VII. FORMS
4.61 Complaint for Interpleader.
Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
§ 5.syn Synopsis to Chapter 5: Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
I. STRATEGY
5.01 Scope.

5.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS
5.03 CHECKLIST: Formatting Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.
5.04 Formatting Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.
5.04[1] Formatting Rules Apply to Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.
5.04[2] Local Rules Should Be Consulted.
5.04[3] Individual Judge's Standing Orders Should Be Consulted.
5.05 Formatting Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page.
5.05[1] Federal Rules Silent on Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page.
5.05[2] Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page Used for Court Administration.
5.05[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page.
5.05[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.05[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.05[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.05[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.06 LOCAL PRACTICE: Formatting Heading.
5.06[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.06[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.06[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.06[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.07 Formatting Caption.
5.07[1] Name of Court.
5.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Name of Court.
5.07[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.07[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.07[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.07[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.07[3] Title of Action.
5.07[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Title of Action.
5.07[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.07[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.07[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.07[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.07[5] Docket Number.
5.07[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Docket Number.
5.07[6][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.07[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.07[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.07[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.07[7] Designation.
5.07[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: Designation.
5.07[8][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.07[8][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.07[8][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.07[8][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.08 Formatting Body of Pleading.
5.08[1] Body of Pleading.
5.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Body of Pleading.
5.08[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.08[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.08[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.08[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.09 Formatting Body of Motion.
5.09[1] Body of Motion.
5.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Body of Motion.
5.09[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.09[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.09[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.10 Formatting Signature Block.
5.10[1] Signature Is Required.
5.10[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Signature Block.
5.10[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.10[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.10[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.10[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.10[3] Electronic or Facsimile Signature May Be Allowed or Required.
5.10[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Electronic or Facsimile Signature.
5.10[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.10[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.10[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.10[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.11 Determining Page Limitations for Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.
5.11[1] Federal Rules Do Not Set Page Limitations.
5.11[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Page Limitations.
5.11[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.11[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.11[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.11[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.12 Formatting Exhibits.
5.12[1] Exhibits May Be Attached.
5.12[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Exhibits.
5.12[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.12[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: Eastern District Requirements.
5.12[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.12[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.12A Privacy Protection for Filings Made With the Court
[1] Certain Personal Information Must Be Redacted From Filings.
[2] Certain Information Is Exempt From Redaction Requirement.
5.13 General Formatting Requirements for All Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.
5.13[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.13[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.13[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.13[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.14 Clerk May Not Reject Improperly Formatted Papers.
III. SERVING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS
5.15 CHECKLIST: Serving Pleadings, Motions, And Other Papers.
5.16 Determining Who Must Receive Service.
5.17 Serving Pleadings.
5.17[1] Serving Complaint or Initial Pleading.
5.17[2] Serving Pleading After Original Complaint.
5.17[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Serving Pleadings.
5.17[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.17[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.17[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.17[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.18 Serving Written Motions.
5.18[1] Written Motions Must Be Served.
5.18[2] Supporting or Opposing Papers Must Be Served With Written Motions.
5.18[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Serving Written Motions and Supporting or Opposing Papers.
5.18[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.18[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.18[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.18[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.19 Serving Discovery Papers.
5.19[1] Service on Each Party Required.
5.19[2] Court May Waive Service of Discovery Papers.
5.20 Serving Other Papers.
5.21 Serving Orders.
5.22 Permissible Methods of Service.
5.22[1] Service by Hand Delivery.
5.22[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Service by Hand Delivery.
5.22[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: Central District Requirements.
5.22[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.22[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.22[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.22[3] Service by U.S. Mail.
5.22[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Service by U.S. Mail.
5.22[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.22[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.22[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.22[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.22[5] Service by Alternate Delivery Methods, Including Electronic Service.
5.22[5][a] Consent to Alternative Delivery Methods.
5.22[5][b] Completing Alternative Forms of Service.
5.22[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Service by Alternative Delivery Methods, Including Electronic Service.
5.22[6][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.22[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.22[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.22[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.22[7] Service by Leaving Paper With Clerk of Court.
5.22[8] Waiver of Service.
5.22[9] LOCAL PRACTICE: Waiver of Service.
5.22[9][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.22[9][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.22[9][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.22[9][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.23 Proof of Service.
5.23[1] Rule 5 Requires Proof of Service.
5.23[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Proof of Service.
5.23[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.23[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.23[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.23[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
IV. FILING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS.
5.24 CHECKLIST: Filing Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.
5.25 General Filing Requirements.
5.25[1] Requirements Under the Federal Rules.
5.25[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: General Filing Requirements.
5.25[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.25[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.25[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.25[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.26 LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing Requirements for Motions.
5.26[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.26[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.26[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.26[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.27 Filing Requirements for Discovery Material.
5.27[1] Filing Not Permitted Until Papers Used in Proceeding or Court Has Ordered Filing.
5.27[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing Requirements for Discovery Matters.
5.27[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.27[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.27[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.27[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
5.27A LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Time of Filing.
5.27A[1] Electronic Filing Is Complete When Attorney Receives System-Generated Notice.
5.27A[2] Document Is Deemed Filed on Particular Day If Filed Before Midnight.
5.27A[3] Internet Filings May Be Made 24 Hours a Day.
5.27A[4] Portable Electronic Media May Be Submitted During Business Hours.
5.27A[5] Filing Is Permitted on Next Business Day Following Technical Failure of Court's Site.
5.28 Filing Corporate Disclosure Statement.
5.28[1] Rule 7.1 Requires Corporate Disclosure Statement.
5.28[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Identifying Interested Parties.
5.28[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.28[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.28[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.28[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
V. ELECTRONIC OR FACSIMILE FILING
5.29 CHECKLIST: Electronic or Facsimile Filing of Pleadings and Motions.
5.30 Local Rules May Permit or Require Electronic or Facsimile Filing.
5.31 LOCAL PRACTICE: Electronic or Facsimile Filing of Pleadings and Motions.
5.31[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
5.31[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
5.31[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
5.31[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
VI. FORMS
5.32 Caption With Heading.
5.33 Signature Block.
5.34 Corporate Disclosure Statement.
5.35 Central District of California, Notice of Interested Parties.
5.36 Northern District of California, Certification of Interested Entities or Persons.
5.37 Certificate of Service.
5.38 Certificate of Service by U.S. Mail.
5.39 Consent to Electronic Service.
5.40 Notice of Motion and Motion to Dispense With Service of Pleadings.
5.41 Order Dispensing With Service of Pleadings.

5.42 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Filing of Papers.
5.43 Order Compelling Filing of Papers.
5.44 Local District Court Forms.
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
§ 6.syn Synopsis to Chapter 6: Drafting the Summons and Complaint
I. STRATEGY
6.01 Scope.
6.02 Objective and Strategy.

Source: California > Search Analysis & CLE Materials > Matthew Bender Practice Guides > Matthew Bender® Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
II. PREPARING COMPLAINT
6.03 CHECKLIST: Preparing Complaint.
6.04 Standards for Pleading Must Be Followed.
6.04[1] Notice Pleading Requirements.
6.04[1][a] Essential Elements Must Appear in Complaint.
6.04[1][b] Fair Notice of Claim Must Be Provided.
6.04[1][c] Extraneous Material Must Be Omitted.
6.04[1][d] Special Pleading Requirements Must Be Satisfied.
6.04[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Court-Supplied Complaint Forms.
6.04[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Format Requirements for Pleadings.
6.04[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.04[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.04[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.04[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.04[4] Avoid Consequences of Failure to Comply With Pleading Requirements.
6.04[4][a] Clerk Will Accept for Filing Complaint That Violates Format Requirements.
6.04[4][b] Court Has Power to Dismiss or Make Other Orders.
6.05 Heading of Complaint Must Identify Attorney and Plaintiff and Comply With Local Rule Requirements.
6.05[1] Attorney and Plaintiff Must Be Identified.
6.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Heading of Complaint.
6.05[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.05[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.05[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.05[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.06 Caption Must Meet Specific Format Requirements.
6.06[1] Name of Court Must Be Identified.
6.06[1][a] District and Division Must Be Specified.
6.06[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.06[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.06[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.06[1][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.06[2] Title of Action Must Be Provided.
6.06[2][a] Parties Must Be Named in Title of Action.
6.06[2][b] Requirement That All Parties Be Named Is Construed Liberally.
6.06[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.06[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.06[2][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.06[3] Use of Fictitious Name for Plaintiff Is Restricted.
6.06[3][a] Plaintiff Must Obtain Leave of Court to Use Fictitious Name.
6.06[3][b] Plaintiff's Real Name May Be Disclosed to Defendant but Kept Under Seal.
6.06[3][c] Use of Fictitious Name Is Generally Against Public Policy.
6.06[3][d] Privacy Interest May Justify Anonymous Proceeding.
6.06[3][e] Factors to Consider When Plaintiff Seeks to Plead Anonymously.
6.06[3][f] Examples of Sufficient Privacy Concerns.
6.06[3][g] Examples of Insufficient Privacy Concerns.
6.06[4] Using Fictitious Name for Defendant.
6.06[4][a] "Doe" Pleading Is Used to Sue Unknown Defendant.
6.06[4][b] Effect on Diversity Jurisdiction.
6.06[4][c] Use of Doe Pleading to Avoid Bar of Statute of Limitations on State-Law Claim.
6.06[4][d] Use of Doe Pleading to Avoid Bar of Statute of Limitations on Federal Claim.
6.06[4][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.06[5] File Number of Action Must Be Included.
6.06[5][a] Caption Should Provide Space for File Number.
6.06[5][b] Court Clerk Will Assign File Number.
6.06[6] Pleading Must Be Designated As Complaint.
6.06[6][a] Identify Document As Complaint.
6.06[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.06[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.06[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.06[6][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.06[7] Jury Demand Must Be Included.
6.06[7][a] Endorse Jury Demand on Complaint.
6.06[7][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.06[7][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.06[7][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.06[7][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.06[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: Indicating Three-Judge Court.
6.06[8][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.06[8][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.07 Jurisdictional Allegations Must Be in Short and Plain Statement.
6.07[1] Subject Matter Jurisdiction Must Be Alleged.
6.07[1][a] Setting Forth Basis of Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
6.07[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.07[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.07[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.07[1][e] Model Jurisdictional Allegations May Be Considered.
6.07[2] Federal Question Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.
6.07[2][a] Allege Facts to Support General Federal Question Jurisdiction.
6.07[2][b] Include Reference to Federal Law Underlying Claim.
6.07[2][c] Plead Jurisdiction Under Specific Statutory Grant of Federal Question Jurisdiction.
6.07[3] Diversity Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.
6.07[3][a] Determine Whether General Diversity Jurisdiction Is Available.
6.07[3][b] Special Diversity Jurisdiction Is Available in Mass Tort Litigation and Certain Class Actions.
6.07[3][c] Citizenship and Amount in Controversy Must Be Averred.
6.07[3][d] Complete Diversity of Citizenship Must Be Established for Most Actions.
6.07[3][e] Pleading Citizenship of Individuals.
6.07[3][f] Pleading Citizenship of Corporations.
6.07[3][g] Pleading Citizenship of Partnerships and Unincorporated Associations.
6.07[3][h] Pleading Citizenship of Political Subdivisions and Other Entities.
6.07[3][i] In General Diversity Case, Pleading Must Allege That Amount in Controversy Exceeds $75,000.
6.07[4] Admiralty or Maritime Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.
6.07[5] Supplemental Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.
6.07[5][a] Determination of Whether Supplemental Jurisdiction Is Available.
6.07[5][b] Sufficient Facts Must Be Alleged to Establish Supplemental Jurisdiction.
6.07[6] Satisfying Justiciability Requirements.
6.07[6][a] Justiciability Is Generally Not an Issue in Actions Alleging Actual Injury to Plaintiff.
6.07[6][b] Plaintiff in Declaratory Relief Action Must Establish Justiciability.
6.07[6][c] In Declaratory Relief Action, Complaint Must Allege Existence of Case or Controversy.
6.07[6][d] In Declaratory Relief Action, Complaint Must Allege Plaintiff's Standing.
6.07[7] Allegations of Personal Jurisdiction and Venue Are Not Required.
6.07[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal--Intradistrict Assignment.
6.08 Allegations Concerning Party Status May Be Included.
6.08[1] Alleging Parties' Capacity, Authority, or Legal Existence Is Necessary Under Specific Circumstances.
6.08[2] Situations in Which Capacity Should Be Alleged.
6.08[2][a] Allege Capacity If Necessary to Establish Diversity Jurisdiction.
6.08[2][b] Allege Capacity If Necessary to Establish Federal Question Jurisdiction.
6.08[2][c] Allege Individual Capacity of State Officer in Civil Rights Action.
6.08[3] Capacity, Authority, or Legal Existence of Party May Be Challenged by Negative Averment.
6.08[4] Determining Capacity, Authority, or Legal Existence.
6.08[5] Alleging Plaintiff's Status in Shareholder Derivative Action.
6.08[6] Drafting Class Action Allegations.
6.08[6][a] Allege Required Elements.
6.08[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.08[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.08[7] Identifying Necessary Parties Who Have Not Been Joined or Identified.
6.09 Short and Plain Statement of Each Claim Must Be Included in Complaint.
6.09[1] Drafting Short, Plain Statement of Claim.
6.09[1][a] Short, Plain Statement of Claim Must Be Included.
6.09[1][b] Sufficient Facts Must Be Alleged to Put Defendant on Notice of Claim.
6.09[1][c] Pleading Evidentiary Facts Ordinarily Is Not Required.
6.09[1][d] Facts May Be Alleged on Information and Belief.
6.09[1][e] Complaint Need Not State Legal Theory.
6.09[1][f] Alternative and Inconsistent Legal Theories May Be Presented.
6.09[1][g] Setting Forth Legal Theory Does Not Limit Relief.
6.09[1][h] Complaint Need Not Negate Affirmative Defenses.
6.09[1][i] Allegations May Be Adopted by Reference.
6.09[1][j] Statements in Exhibit May Be Adopted by Reference.
6.09[1][k] Unattached Written Document May Be Adopted by Reference.

6.09[2] Dividing Statement of Claim Into Paragraphs.
6.09[2][a] Each Paragraph Must Be Numbered.
6.09[2][b] Each Paragraph Must Be Limited to Single Set of Circumstances.
6.09[2][c] Compound Allegations Must Be Avoided.
6.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Class Action Allegations.
6.09[3] Pleading Separate Counts.
6.09[3][a] Separate Count May Be Pleaded for Each Claim Founded on Separate Transaction or Occurrence.
6.09[3][b] Separate Counts May Be Necessary When Not All Claims Apply to All Parties.
6.09[3][c] Single Count May Be Used When Sole Claim Applies to All Parties.
6.09[3][d] Defendant's Options If Complaint Does Not Allege Separate Counts.
6.10 Claims May Be Joined.
6.10[1] All of Plaintiff's Claims May Be Joined Against Proper Defendant.
6.10[2] Claims May Be Joined to Original Claim.
6.10[2][a] Claims of One Plaintiff.
6.10[2][b] Claims of Multiple Plaintiffs.
6.10[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Copyright, Patent, or Trademark Claims of Multiple Plaintiffs.
6.10[3] Contingent Claim May Be Joined to Principal Claim.
6.10[4] Alternative, Hypothetical, and Inconsistent Claims May Be Joined.
6.10[5] Determining Whether to Omit Claims.
6.10[5][a] Procedural Rules Do Not Require Joinder.
6.10[5][b] Joining Claims to Avoid Claim Preclusion in Subsequent Suit.
6.10[6] Subject Matter Jurisdiction and Venue Must Be Proper for Each Claim.
6.10[6][a] Verify That All Claims Are Within Court's Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
6.10[6][b] Verify That Venue Is Proper for Each Claim.
6.10[7] Each Defendant Must Be Properly Joined.
6.10[8] Joining Claims Involving United States.
6.10[8][a] Sovereign Immunity Limits Assertion of Claims Against United States.
6.10[8][b] Tucker Act Effectively Limits Joinder of Claims Against United States.
6.10[8][c] Free Joinder of Claims Asserted by United States.
6.10[9] Joined Claims May Be Segregated.
6.10[9][a] Court May Order Separate Trials of Properly Joined Claims or Issues.
6.10[9][b] Dismissal or Severance of Improperly Joined Claims.
6.11 Certain Matters Must Be Specially Pleaded.
6.11[1] Pleading Special Capacity of Party.
6.11[2] Pleading Fraud or Mistake.
6.11[2][a] Fraud and Mistake Must Be Alleged With Particularity.
6.11[2][b] Particular Circumstances of Fraud Must Be Alleged.
6.11[2][c] Each Defendant's Participation in Fraud Must Be Described.
6.11[2][d] Substantive Elements of Fraud Must Be Alleged.
6.11[2][e] Fraud Is Alleged on Information and Belief When Details Are Inaccessible.
6.11[2][f] Particularity in Pleading Mixed Claims.
6.11[2][g] Consequences of Failure to Comply With Particularity Requirement.
6.11[3] Pleading Conditions of Mind.
6.11[3][a] Averring Conditions of Mind Generally.
6.11[3][b] Making General Averment of Scienter in Fraud Claim.
6.11[3][c] Defendant's Motion for More Definite Statement.
6.11[4] Alleging Fraud Under Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995.
6.11[4][a] Pleading Securities Fraud Is Subject to Special Statutory Requirements.
6.11[4][b] Alleging That Particular Statement Is Misleading.
6.11[4][c] Making Allegations on Information and Belief.
6.11[4][d] Alleging Scienter With Particularity.
6.11[4][e] Alleging Loss Causation.
6.11[5] Pleading Conditions Precedent.
6.11[5][a] Make General Averment of Performance or Occurrence of Condition Precedent.
6.11[5][b] Make Specific Denial of Performance or Occurrence of Condition Precedent.
6.11[6] Pleading Official Document or Act.
6.11[7] Pleading Judgment.
6.11[8] Alleging Time and Place.
6.11[8][a] Make Averments of Time and Place With Precision.
6.11[8][b] Determine Whether Averments of Time and Place Are Necessary.
6.11[8][c] Consequences of Insufficient Averments of Time and Place.
6.11[9] Pleading Special Damages.
6.11[9][a] Specifically State Items of Special Damages.
6.11[9][b] Special Damages Defined.
6.11[9][c] Alleging Special Damages for Certain Libel Claims.
6.11[9][d] Drafting Special Damages Allegation.
6.11[9][e] Consequences of Failure to Plead Special Damages.
6.11[10] Pleading Admiralty and Maritime Claims.
6.11[10][a] Electing to Invoke Admiralty and Maritime Jurisdiction.

6.11[10][b] Procedural Consequences of Pleading Admiralty or Maritime Claim.
6.11[10][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Admiralty Requirements.
6.11[11] Pleading Copyright Infringement.
6.11[12] Making Necessary Allegations in Shareholder Derivative Action.
6.11[12][a] Determine Whether Action Is Derivative Action.
6.11[12][b] Required Allegations.
6.11[13] Alleging Specific Facts in Support of Request for Ex Parte Temporary Restraining Order.
6.11[14] LOCAL PRACTICE: Special Pleading Requirements.
6.11[14][a] CD Cal Requirements: Notice of Interested Parties.
6.11[14][b] ED Cal Requirements: Social Security Number in Certain Actions.
6.11[14][c] ND Cal Requirements: Certification of Interested Persons.
6.11[14][d] SD Cal Requirements: Three-Judge Court.
6.12 Complaint Must Include Prayer Demanding Relief.
6.12[1] Demanding Relief.
6.12[1][a] State Demand for Relief in Complaint.
6.12[1][b] Making General Demand for Relief.
6.12[1][c] Demanding Alternative or Multiple Forms of Relief.
6.12[2] Effect of Demand for Relief.
6.12[2][a] In Non-Default Case, Demand Does Not Limit Actual Award.
6.12[2][b] In Default Case, Actual Award May Not Exceed Demand.
6.12[2][c] Demand That Seeks Only Equitable Relief Prevents Jury Trial.
6.13 Complaint May Include Jury Demand.
6.13[1] Preserving Right to Jury Trial.
6.13[2] Jury Demand May Be Endorsed on Face of Complaint.
6.13[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Jury Demand.
6.13[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.13[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.13[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.13[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.13[4] Indicating Jury Demand on Civil Cover Sheet Is Insufficient.
6.13[5] Specifying Issues for Jury Trial.
6.14 Complaint Must Be Signed.
6.14[1] Complying With Signature Requirement.
6.14[1][a] Sign Original Complaint.
6.14[1][b] Omit Signature From Unfiled Copies.
6.14[1][c] Courts May Allow or Require Electronic Filing, Signing, and Verification by Electronic Means.
6.14[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Complaints Covered in Electronic Case Filing Program.
6.14[1][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Complaints Not Covered in Electronic Case Filing Program.
6.14[1][f] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Complaints Not Covered in Electronic Case Filing Program.
6.14[2] Determining Proper Person to Sign Complaint.
6.14[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Additional Signature Requirements.
6.14[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.14[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.14[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.14[4] Signing Complaint Makes Implicit Certifications to Court.
6.14[4][a] Elements of Certification Under Rule 11.
6.14[4][b] Signing in Violation of Implicit Certifications May Result in Sanctions.
6.14[4][c] Complaint Must Not Be Filed for Improper Purpose.
6.14[4][d] None of Plaintiff's Claims May Be Frivolous.
6.14[5] Inquiry Must Precede Signing.
6.14[5][a] Reasonable Investigation Is Required.
6.14[5][b] Investigation Evaluated Under Objective Standard.
6.14[5][c] Attorney May Rely on Statements of Client.
6.14[5][d] Failure to Make Inquiry May Result in Sanctions.
6.15 Verification of Complaint May Be Required.
6.15[1] Verification Is Unnecessary Unless Specifically Required by Rule or Statute.
6.15[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Request for Temporary Receiver.
6.15[3] Signing Verification Makes Same Certifications to Court As Signature on Complaint.
6.15[4] Appropriate Individual Must Sign Verification.
6.15[5] Direct Knowledge Is Not Required.
6.15[6] Verification of Complaint Does Not Impose Obligation on Defendant to Verify Answer.
6.16 Exhibits May Be Attached.
6.16[1] Plaintiff May Attach Written Instrument to Complaint.
6.16[2] Exhibit Will Be Treated As Part of Complaint.
6.16[3] Plaintiff May Controvert Statements Contained in Exhibit.
6.16[4] Plaintiff May Refer to Written Instrument Without Attaching It.
6.16[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Attaching Exhibits.
6.16[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.16[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.17 Copies of Complaint Should Be Prepared for Service and Other Purposes.
6.17[1] Prepare Extra Copies of Complaint for Service.
6.17[2] Prepare Extra Copies of Complaint for Miscellaneous Purposes.
6.17[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Copies of Complaint.
6.17[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.17[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.17[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.17[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
III. PREPARING SUMMONS AND OTHER DOCUMENTS NECESSARY AT COMMENCEMENT OF ACTION
6.18 CHECKLIST: Preparing Summons and Other Documents Necessary at Commencement of Action.
6.19 Summons Generally Must Be Served With Complaint, Unless Service Waived.
6.19[1] Summons Generally Must Be Served With Complaint.
6.19[2] Service of Summons May Be Waived.
6.19[2][a] Cost of Service May Be Avoided.
6.19[2][b] Situations When Waiver Not Available.
6.19[2][c] Costs May Be Assessed Against Defendant Who Refuses to Waive Service.
6.19[2][d] Time for Response to Complaint Increases If Defendant Waives Service.
6.19[2][e] Plaintiff May Use Official Form to Request Waiver of Service.
6.19[3] Drafting Summons.
6.19[3][a] All Elements of Summons Must Be Included.
6.19[3][b] Plaintiff May Use Official Form.
6.19[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Mandatory Use of Court-Supplied Form.
6.19[4] Prepare Summons for Each Defendant.
6.19[5] Obtain Issuance of Summons by Court Clerk.
6.19[6] Effect of Errors in Summons.
6.20 Civil Cover Sheet Is Required Under Local Rules.
6.20[1] Function of Civil Cover Sheet.
6.20[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Civil Cover Sheets.
6.20[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.20[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.20[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.20[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.21 Other Documents May Be Required to Accompany Complaint.
6.21[1] Preparing Corporate Disclosure Statement.
6.21[1][a] Determine Whether Plaintiff Must File Disclosure Statement.
6.21[1][b] Filing of Disclosure Statement.
6.21[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Identifying Interested Parties.
6.21[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.21[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.21[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Designating Related Cases.
6.21[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Notice of Related Cases.
6.21[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Notice of Pendency of Other Actions or Proceedings.
6.21[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Notice of Related Cases.
6.21[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Administrative Motion to Consider Whether Cases Should Be Related.
6.21[3][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Notice of Pendency of Other Action or Proceeding.
6.21[3][f] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Notice of Related Case.
6.21[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Preparing Designation of Counsel for Service.
6.21[5] Establishing or Securing Representation of Minor or Incompetent.
6.21[6] Applying for Leave to Proceed in Forma Pauperis.
6.21[6][a] Court Permission Required.
6.21[6][b] Affidavit Required.
6.21[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.21[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.21[6][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.21[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: Application to File Complaint Under Seal.
6.21[7][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.21[7][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.21[7][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.21[7][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
6.21[8] Application for Temporary Restraining Order.
6.21[8][a] Application Must Be Supported by Affidavit or Verified Complaint.
6.21[8][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
6.21[8][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.21[8][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
6.21[9] Notice of Claim of Unconstitutionality.
6.21[9][a] Court Required to Notify Appropriate Authority.
6.21[9][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
6.21[9][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.21[10] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Notice of Requirement of Three-Judge Court.
6.21[11] Additional Documents in Class Action Subject to Private Securities Litigation Reform Act.
6.21[11][a] Certification by Potential Lead Plaintiff.
6.21[11][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Certification by Potential Class Counsel.
6.21[11][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Electronic Copy of Complaint.
6.21[12] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Filing Required Notice in Patent, Plant Variety Protection, Trademark, or Copyright Case.
IV. FORMS
6.22 Sample Format of Complaint.
6.23 Allegations of Federal Question Jurisdiction.
6.24 Allegations of General Diversity Jurisdiction.
6.25 Statement of Supplemental Jurisdiction.
6.26 Statement of Claim Based on State Common Law: Contract Breach.
6.27 Statement of Claim Based on Federal Statute: Copyright Infringement.
6.28 Allegation of Securities Fraud.
6.29 Allegation of Performance or Occurrence of Conditions Precedent.
6.30 Allegation of Nonperformance of Conditions Precedent.
6.31 Demand for Judgment (Prayer).
6.32 Verification of Complaint.
6.33 Summons.
6.34 Local District Court Forms.
CHAPTER 7 Service of Summons
§ 7.syn Synopsis to Chapter 7: Service of Summons
I. STRATEGY
7.01 Scope.
7.02 Objective and Strategy.
7.02[1] Service of Summons or Waiver of Service Is Prerequisite to Invoking Personal Jurisdiction Over Defendant.
7.02[2] Consider Advantages and Disadvantages of Various Methods for Service.
II. MAKING SERVICE TIMELY
7.02A CHECKLIST: Avoiding Dismissal for Untimely Service.
7.03 Service of Summons and Complaint Must Be Timely.
7.03[1] Plaintiff Usually Has Only 120 Days From Filing of Complaint to Serve Defendants.
7.03[2] Failure to Meet Service Deadline May Result in Dismissal.
7.04 Dismissal for Failure to Serve Within 120 Days Follows Notice to Plaintiff.
7.04[1] Notice Is Prerequisite to Dismissal.
7.04[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Clerk Prepares OSC Re Dismissal Following Lack of Timely Service.
7.04[3] Dismissal Is Without Prejudice.
7.04[4] Defendant May Waive Untimely Service by Failure to Object.
7.05 Extension of 120-Day Deadline for Good Cause.
7.05[1] Court May Grant Extension After Original 120-Day Period Expires.
7.05[2] Court Will Grant Extension If Plaintiff Shows Good Cause.
7.05[3] "Good Cause" Is Not Clearly Defined.
7.06 Court May Extend Deadline Even If No Good Cause Shown.
7.06[1] Extension Without Good Cause Is Rare.
7.06[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Court's Policy of No Extensions, Except on Good Cause.
7.07 Court Weighs Effect of Statute of Limitations in Deciding to Grant Extension.
7.07[1] Expiration of Statute of Limitations Weighs in Favor of Extension.
7.07[2] Expiration of 120-Day Time Limit Does Not Restart Statute of Limitations.
III. SELECTING PERSON TO SERVE SUMMONS AND COMPLAINT
7.08 CHECKLIST: Choosing Process Server for Summons and Complaint.
7.09 Plaintiff Is Responsible for Serving Summons and Complaint.
7.10 Any Person Not Party to Action and 18 Years of Age or Older May Serve Summons.
7.11 Court May Appoint Marshal or Other Person on Request of Plaintiff.
7.11[1] Marshal or Special Appointee Not Needed in Most Cases.
7.11[2] Exception When Statute Requires Court to Appoint Process Server.
7.11[3] Other Circumstances May Justify Appointment of Special Process Server, but Local Rules Are Restrictive.
7.11[3][a] Court May Appoint Process Server on Plaintiff's Request in Unique Circumstances.
7.11[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Limitation on Service by U.S. Marshal.
7.11[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Limitation on Service by U.S. Marshal.
7.11[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Providing Instructions to Marshal's Office.
IV. SEEKING WAIVER OF SERVICE OF SUMMONS
7.12 CHECKLIST: Determining Whether to Seek Waiver of Service.
7.13 CHECKLIST: Seeking Waiver of Service of Summons.
7.14 CHECKLIST: Responding to Request for Waiver of Service.
7.15 Certain Defendants Have Obligation to Avoid Unnecessary Costs When Faced With Waiver Request.
7.15[1] Plaintiff May Seek Waiver From Most Types of Defendants.
7.15[2] Defendant Who Refuses Waiver Usually Will Pay Costs for Service of Process.

Source: California > Search Analysis & CLE Materials > Matthew Bender Practice Guides > Matthew Bender® Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 7 Service of Summons
IV. SEEKING WAIVER OF SERVICE OF SUMMONS
7.16 Rule 4 Prescribes Form of Request for Waiver of Service.
7.16[1] Plaintiffs Use Official Forms to Send Notice of Action and Waiver Forms to Defendants.
7.16[1][a] Official Form 5 Sets Out Notice of Action and Request for Waiver.
7.16[1][b] Official Form 6 Sets Out Form of Waiver That Defendant May Complete.
7.16[1][c] Official Form 6 Sets Out Required Warning Language.
7.16[2] Rule 4 Specifies Contents for Notice Form.
7.16[3] Copy of Complaint Must Accompany Request for Waiver.
7.16[4] Defendant Must Receive Extra Copy.
7.16[5] Plaintiff Must Send Defendant a Prepaid Means of Returning Waiver of Service of Summons.
7.17 Plaintiff Must Send Request for Waiver by Mail or Other Reliable Means.
7.18 Defendant Obtains Extension of Time to Plead by Waiving Service of Summons.
7.19 After Waiver of Service of Summons, Action Proceeds As If Service Made When Waiver Filed.
7.19[1] Waiver of Service Is Not Waiver of Jurisdictional or Venue Objections.
7.19[2] Action Proceeds As If Summons Served on Date Waiver Is Filed.
7.19[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Waiver Must Be Filed Immediately.
V. CHOOSING METHODS FOR SERVICE OF SUMMONS AND COMPLAINT WITHIN THE UNITED STATES
7.20 CHECKLIST: Choosing Method for Serving Individual.
7.21 CHECKLIST: Choosing Method for Serving Minor or Incompetent Person.
7.22 CHECKLIST: Choosing Method for Serving Corporation, Partnership, or Association.
7.23 CHECKLIST: Serving United States Government, U.S. Agencies or Governmental Corporations, or U.S. Officers or Employees.
7.24 CHECKLIST: Service on State and Local Governments or Governmental Entities.
7.25 CHECKLIST: Reviewing Available California Methods of Service.
7.26 CHECKLIST: Identifying Person to Serve Under California Methods of Service.
7.27 Serving Individuals.
7.27[1] Rule 4 Provides Three Methods of Service That Apply in Every Judicial District.
7.27[2] Rule 4 Permits Service to Be Made Pursuant to State Law.
7.27[3] California Law Authorizes a Wide Variety of Service Methods.
7.27[3][a] Service May Be Made by Personal Delivery to Defendant.
7.27[3][b] Combination Service Is Available After Failure of Good-Faith Attempt at Personal Service.
7.27[3][c] Service May Be Made by Notice and Acknowledgment of Receipt.
7.27[3][d] Service May Be Made by Certified or Registered Mail to Persons Outside California.
7.27[3][e] As Last Resort, Service May Be Made by Publication.
7.27[3][f] Special Statutory Methods Are Available for Particular Types of Defendants.
7.28 Serving Minors and Incompetent Persons.
7.28[1] Minors and Incompetent Persons Must Be Served According to State Law.
7.28[2] Minors Are Served Under California Law by Delivering Summons to Parent or Similar Fiduciary.
7.28[3] Incompetent Persons Are Served Under California Law by Delivering Summons to Guardian, Conservator, or Other Fiduciary and to Incompetent Person.
7.29 Serving Corporations, Partnerships, and Associations.
7.29[1] Rule 4 Provides Method of Service Valid in All Judicial Districts.
7.29[2] Rule 4 Permits Service to Be Made Pursuant to State Law.
7.29[3] California Law Provides Several Methods for Serving Active Corporations.
7.29[3][a] Service May Be Made by Delivery to Agent for Service.
7.29[3][b] Service May Be Made by Delivery to Officer of Corporation.
7.29[3][c] If Corporation Is a Bank, Service May Be Made by Delivery to Bank Cashier, Assistant Cashier, or Other Authorized Person.
7.29[3][d] Service May Be Made by Hand Delivery to Designated Agent.
7.29[3][e] In the Absence of a Corporate Agent, Service May Be Made by Serving the Secretary of State.
7.29[3][f] California Law Provides Additional Methods for Serving Foreign Corporations.
7.29[4] California Law Provides Method for Serving Defunct Corporation, Corporation With Forfeited Charter, or Dissolved Corporation.
7.29[5] California Provides Additional Method for Serving Foreign Corporation That Has Lost Right to Do Business in California.
7.29[6] California Law Provides Special Method for Serving Joint Stock Company or Association.
7.29[7] California Law Provides Several Methods for Serving Unincorporated Associations or Partnerships.
7.29[7][a] General or Limited Partnership Is Served by Delivery of Summons to Agent, General Partner, or General Manager.

7.29[7][b] Unincorporated Association Is Served by Delivery of Summons to Designated Agent, Officer, or Other Representative.
7.29[7][c] Foreign Unincorporated Association or Partnership Is Generally Served by Delivery of Summons to Agent or at Corporate Agent's Office.
7.29[8] California Law Provides Several Methods for Serving Limited Liability Partnerships.
7.29[9] California Law Provides Several Methods for Serving Limited Liability Companies.
7.29[10] Combination Service May Be Made Under California Law After Failure of Good-Faith Attempt at Personal Service.
7.29[11] Special Statutory Methods for Particular Types of Defendants.
7.30 Serving the United States, Its Agencies, Corporations, Officers, or Employees.
7.30[1] Serving the United States.
7.30[1][a] U.S. Attorney Must Be Served.
7.30[1][b] Attorney General Must Be Served by Registered or Certified Mail.
7.30[1][c] Nonparty Officer or Agency Must Be Served by Registered or Certified Mail If Validity of Its Order Attacked.
7.30[2] Serving a U.S. Agency or Governmental Corporation, or Officer or Employee Sued in Official Capacity.
7.30[2][a] U.S. Attorney and Attorney General Must Be Served.
7.30[2][b] Agency, Corporation, Officer, or Employee Must Be Served by Registered or Certified Mail.
7.30[3] Serving a U.S. Officer or Employee Sued in Individual Capacity for Acts or Omissions in Performance of Duty.
7.30[3][a] U.S. Attorney and Attorney General Must Be Served.
7.30[3][b] Officer or Employee Must Be Served Individually.
7.30[4] Court Must Allow Time to Cure Defects in Service.
7.30[4][a] If U.S. Attorney or U.S. Attorney General Has Been Served, Court Must Grant Reasonable Time to Serve Others.
7.30[4][b] If Individual Officer or Employee Sued in Individual Capacity Has Been Served, Court Must Grant Reasonable Time to Serve United States.
7.31 Serving State or Local Governments.
7.31[1] State and Local Governments May Be Served by Delivery of Summons and Complaint to Chief Executive.
7.31[2] State and Local Governments May Be Served Pursuant to State Law.
7.31[3] California Law Provides Several Methods for Service on State and Local Governments.
7.31[3][a] Local Governmental Entities May Be Served by Delivery of Process to Clerk, Officer, or Other Head of Entity.
7.31[3][b] Substituted Service on Local Governmental Entities Is Available If No Appropriate Officer Can Be Found.
7.31[3][c] State of California Is Served by Serving State Attorney General.
VI. CHOOSING METHODS FOR INTERNATIONAL SERVICE OF PROCESS
7.32 CHECKLIST: Choosing Proper Method for Serving Individual in Foreign Country.
7.33 CHECKLIST: Choosing Proper Method for Serving Minor or Incompetent Person in Foreign Country.
7.34 CHECKLIST: Choosing Proper Method for Serving Corporation, Partnership, or Unincorporated Association in Foreign Country.
7.35 CHECKLIST: Choosing Proper Method for Serving Foreign Government.
7.36 CHECKLIST: Choosing Proper Method for Serving Foreign Governmental Agency or Instrumentality.
7.37 Serving Individuals in Foreign Countries.
7.37[1] Service Is Usually Made Pursuant to Hague Convention, Which Frequently Authorizes Service by Mail.
7.37[2] Absent International Authority, Service May Generally Be Made Pursuant to Law of Foreign Country.
7.37[3] Absent International Authority, Service May Be Made As Directed by Authority in Foreign Country.
7.37[4] Absent International Authority, Service May Generally Be Made by Personal Delivery or by Mail.
7.37[5] Absent International Authority, Service May Generally Be Made As Ordered by Court.
7.37[5][a] There Must Be a Court Order and Service Method Must Not Be Prohibited by Treaty.
7.37[5][b] Attempts at Other Service Methods Not Required Prior to Seeking Court Order.
7.38 Serving Minors and Incompetent Persons in Foreign Countries.
7.39 Serving Corporations, Partnerships, and Unincorporated Associations in Foreign Countries.
7.40 Serving Foreign States, Their Political Subdivisions, Agencies, or Instrumentalities.
7.40[1] Foreign State, Its Political Subdivision, Agency, or Instrumentality Must Be Served in Compliance With 28 USC § 1608.
7.40[2] Service on Foreign State or Its Political Subdivision.
7.40[2][a] First Attempt Is by Delivery.
7.40[2][b] Second Attempt Is by Return Receipt Mail Sent to Foreign State.
7.40[2][c] Third Attempt Is by Return Receipt Mail Sent to Secretary of State.
7.40[2][d] When Service Is Deemed Complete.
7.40[3] Service on Foreign State Agency or Instrumentality.
7.40[3][a] First Attempt Requires Delivery of Summons and Complaint.
7.40[3][b] Second Attempt Requires Delivery of Additional Documents.
7.40[3][c] When Service Is Deemed Complete.
7.41 120-Day Deadline Does Not Apply to Service in Foreign Country.
7.42 Waiver Rules Apply to Service in Foreign Country.
VII. ENSURING SERVICE IS COMPLETE
7.42A CHECKLIST: Ensuring Service Is Complete.

7.43 Both Summons and Complaint Must Be Served.
7.44 Local Rules May Require Service of Additional Material Along With Summons and Complaint.
7.44[1] Practice Varies From District to District.
7.44[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Service of Additional Notice.
7.44[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Service of Additional Notices.
7.44[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Service of Supplementary Material.
7.44[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Service of Additional Notice.
VIII. CONSTITUTIONAL AND TERRITORIAL LIMITS ON SERVICE OF PROCESS
7.44A CHECKLIST: Determining Whether Service of Process Established Personal Jurisdiction Over Defendant.
7.45 Completion of Mechanical Steps for Service of Process Does Not Conclusively Establish Personal Jurisdiction of Defendant.
7.45[1] Rule 4 Recognizes Constitutional Limits and Establishes Territorial Limits for Effective Service of Process.
7.45[2] Rule 4(k) Establishes Four-Alternative Test for Measuring When Service Creates Personal Jurisdiction.
7.46 Service of Process Establishes Personal Jurisdiction Only When Consistent With Constitution.
7.46[1] Constitution Requires Minimum Contacts, Purposeful Availment, and Fairness.
7.46[2] Rule 4 Limits Relevant Contacts to Contact With Particular State Forum.
7.47 "Bulge" Service Extends Jurisdictional Reach of Federal Court.
7.48 Foreign Defendants May Be Served Anywhere If Claim Asserted Is Based on Federal Law.
7.49 Sufficiency of Service Determination Is Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
IX. SEIZURE OF PROPERTY FOR IN REM JURISDICTION
7.49A CHECKLIST: Seizure of Property for In Rem Jurisdiction.
7.50 Statutory Jurisdiction Over Property for Judgment Affecting Property Only.
7.50[1] Court May Assert Jurisdiction According to Terms of Federal Statute.
7.50[2] Property Disputes Under 28 USC § 1655 Proceed Under This Provision of Rule 4.
7.51 Court May Assert Jurisdiction Over Property When Defendant Cannot Be Served.
7.51[1] Court May Seize Property and Make Judgment Concerning Interests in Property.
7.51[2] Seizure Must Follow State Law Procedures.
7.51[3] In Rem Jurisdiction Does Not Attach Until the Property Is Seized.
7.51[4] In Rem Jurisdiction Is Discretionary.
X. FILING PROOF OF SERVICE
7.51A CHECKLIST: Filing Proof of Service or Waiver.
7.52 Proof of Service Always Required.
7.53 Proof of Service Must Establish That Service Was Proper and Timely.
7.54 Failure to File Proof of Service Does Not Affect Validity of Service.
7.55 Proof of Service May Be Amended.
XI. FORMS
7.56 Notice of Lawsuit and Request for Waiver of Service of Summons.
7.57 Waiver of Service of Summons.
7.58 Proof of Personal Service on Individual Defendant.
7.59 Proof of Substituted Service on Individual Defendant.
7.60 Proof of Service on Corporate Defendant.
7.61 Local District Court Forms.
CHAPTER 8 Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12
§ 8.syn Synopsis to Chapter 8: Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12
I. STRATEGY
8.01 Scope.
8.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. TIMING RESPONSE TO COMPLAINT
8.03 CHECKLIST: Deadlines for Responding to Complaint.
8.04 Options and Strategy.
8.04[1] Time to Respond.
8.04[2] Filing Motion to Dismiss Extends Time to Answer.
8.05 Respond to Complaint Within Applicable Time Limits.
8.05[1] General Rule: Respond Within 21 Days of Service of Summons and Complaint.
8.05[2] Exceptions to 21-Day Rule May Apply.
8.05[2][a] Defendant's Waiver of Service of Summons Extends Time to Respond.
8.05[2][b] Federal Government and Officials Have Additional Time to Respond.
8.05[2][c] Statutes May Provide Different Deadline for Response.
8.05[2][d] Service of Preanswer Motion Alters Time to Respond.
8.05[2][e] Computing Time to Respond.
8.05[3] Obtaining Extension of Time to Respond.
8.05[3][a] Requests and Motions for Extension of Time to Respond.
8.05[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Stipulation.
8.05[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--30-Day Extensions on Stipulation.
8.05[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Stipulation.
8.05[3][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Court Must Approve Stipulation.
8.05[4] Filing Answer After Ruling on Preanswer Motion.
III. PREPARING AN ANSWER
8.06 CHECKLIST: Drafting Answer.

8.07 Options and Strategy.
8.07[1] Defendant Must Respond to Complaint to Avoid Default Judgment.
8.07[2] Answer and Complaint Frame Issues in Action.
8.08 Notice Pleading Requirements Apply to Answers.
8.09 Admit or Deny Material Allegations in Complaint.
8.09[1] Answer in Short and Plain Terms.
8.09[2] Admit Any Material Allegations in Complaint.
8.09[3] Denials Must Meet Substance of Allegations in Complaint.
8.09[4] General Denials Are Permissible.
8.09[5] Specific Denials Are Preferable to General Denials.
8.09[6] Defendant May Deny or Clarify Part of Allegation in Complaint.
8.09[7] Denial May Be Based on Lack of Information or Knowledge.
8.09[8] Failing to Deny Allegations May Result in Admission.
8.10 Assert All Available Affirmative Defenses.
8.10[1] Failure to Plead Affirmative Defenses May Result in Waiver.
8.10[1][a] General Rule.
8.10[1][b] Ninth Circuit Allows Later Assertion of Defense If Plaintiff Is Not Prejudiced.
8.10[2] Defendant Has Burden of Raising Affirmative Defenses.
8.10[3] Plead Short, Plain Statement of Affirmative Defense.
8.10[4] Some Defenses Must Be Pleaded With Particularity.
8.10[5] Raising Multiple or Alternative Defenses Is Permissible.
8.10[6] Some Defenses May Be Raised by Preanswer Motion to Dismiss.
8.10[7] Defendant May Seek Leave to Amend Answer to Include Omitted Affirmative Defenses.
8.11 Answer Alone May Not Be Used to Obtain Affirmative Relief.
8.12 Format Answer As Required by Rules.
8.12[1] Format Rules Applicable to Complaints Apply to Answers.
8.12[2] Answer May Contain Prayer for Relief.
8.12[3] Answer Must Be Signed by Defense Attorney or Pro Se Defendant.
8.12[4] Certificate of Service Is Required.
8.12[5] Verification of Answer Is Not Required.
8.13 Timely Serve Answer on Other Parties and File With Court.
8.13[1] Timely Serve Answer on Opposing Party or Counsel.
8.13[2] File Answer With Court.
IV. PREPARING MOTION TO DISMISS
8.14 CHECKLISTS: Rule 12(b) Motions to Dismiss.
8.14[1] CHECKLIST: Drafting Rule 12(b) Motion to Dismiss.
8.14[2] CHECKLIST: Responding to Rule 12(b) Motions to Dismiss.
8.14[3] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion to Dismiss for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
8.14[4] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion to Dismiss for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction.
8.14[5] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion to Dismiss for Improper Venue.
8.14[6] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion to Dismiss for Insufficient Process or Service of Process.
8.14[7] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion to Dismiss for Failure to State Claim on Which Relief Can Be Granted.
8.14[8] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion to Dismiss for Failure to Join Indispensable Party.
8.15 Options and Strategy.
8.15[1] Preanswer Motion Is Optional.
8.15[2] Defenses Must Be Consolidated in Motion to Dismiss or Are Waived.
8.15[3] Defenses Waived If Not Asserted in Initial Response or Motion.
8.15[4] Filing Motion to Dismiss Does Not Prevent Amendment or Dismissal of Complaint.
8.16 Rule 12(b) Procedures.
8.16[1] Assert Rule 12(b) Defenses in Preanswer Motion.
8.16[2] File Rule 12(b) Motion Before Responsive Pleading.
8.16[2][a] Motion Is Timely If Filed Before Responsive Pleading.
8.16[2][b] Extension of Time to Respond to Complaint Should Apply to Rule 12(b) Preanswer Motion.
8.16[2][c] Filing Motion to Dismiss Extends Time to Answer Complaint.
8.16[3] Failure to Assert Certain Defenses Results in Waiver.
8.16[3][a] Motion Must Include Every Available Rule 12 Defense or Objection.
8.16[3][b] Omitted Defenses or Objections Are Waived Unless Nonwaivable.
8.16[3][c] Avoid Waiver of Omitted Defenses by Filing Amended Motion or Pleading.
8.16[4] Comply With Rules Governing Motion Practice.
8.16[5] Rule 12(b) Motions Are Subject to Rule 11 Sanctions.
8.16[6] Responding to Motion to Dismiss.
8.16[6][a] Plaintiff's Options in Responding to Motion to Dismiss.
8.16[6][b] Filing Opposition Papers.
8.16[6][c] Filing Statement of Nonopposition.
8.16[6][d] Filing Amended Complaint.
8.16[6][e] Seeking Voluntary Dismissal.
8.16[7] Replying to Opposition Papers.
8.17 Motion to Dismiss for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
8.17[1] Challenge Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

8.17[1][a] File Motion to Dismiss.
8.17[1][b] Challenge Subject Matter Jurisdiction at Any Time.
8.17[2] Challenge Subject Matter Jurisdiction on Face of Pleading.
8.17[2][a] Making Facial Attack on Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
8.17[2][b] Court Accepts Plaintiff's Allegations As True in Facial Attack.
8.17[2][c] Plaintiff May Amend Complaint in Response to Facial Attack.
8.17[3] Challenge Subject Matter Jurisdiction Based on Facts.
8.17[3][a] Making Factual Attack on Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
8.17[3][b] Introducing Extrinsic Evidence.
8.17[3][c] Court Will Not Presume Truthfulness of Jurisdictional Allegations.
8.17[3][d] Seeking Discovery to Resolve Jurisdictional Facts.
8.17[4] Court Determination of Motion.
8.17[4][a] Rule 12(b)(1) Motions Considered Before Other Rule 12 Motions.
8.17[4][b] Plaintiff Bears Burden of Proving Jurisdiction.
8.17[4][c] Evidentiary Hearing Is Required If Motion Raises Disputed Factual Issues.
8.17[4][d] Court May Permit Amendment of Complaint to Remedy Jurisdictional Allegations Defective As to Form.
8.17[4][e] Dismissal for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction Is Without Prejudice and Has No Res Judicata Effect.
8.17[5] Challenge Jurisdiction in Diversity Cases Based on Amount in Controversy.
8.17[5][a] Attack Based on Failure to Meet Minimum Jurisdictional Amount.
8.17[5][b] Determining Amount in Controversy From Face of Complaint.
8.17[6] Challenge Subject Matter Jurisdiction Based on Lack of Diversity of Citizenship.
8.17[6][a] Attacking Diversity of Citizenship.
8.17[6][b] Plaintiff Bears Burden of Establishing Diversity of Citizenship.
8.17[6][c] Dismissing Nondiverse Parties to Preserve Jurisdiction.
8.17[7] Challenge Jurisdiction Based on Lack of Federal Question.
8.18 Motion to Dismiss for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction.
8.18[1] Raising Lack of Personal Jurisdiction.
8.18[1][a] Due Process Considerations.
8.18[1][b] Avoid Waiver by Promptly Raising Defense.
8.18[1][c] Avoid Waiver by Properly Pressing Defense.
8.18[1][d] Submit Evidence Outside Pleadings.
8.18[1][e] Request Court Authorization of Jurisdictional Discovery.
8.18[1][f] Request Evidentiary Hearing When Evidence Presents Disputed Facts or Credibility Issues.
8.18[2] Court Determination of Motion.
8.18[2][a] Plaintiff Bears Burden of Establishing Personal Jurisdiction.
8.18[2][b] Plaintiff Must Make Prima Facie Showing When Motion Is Based on Written Materials.
8.18[2][c] Plaintiff Must Make Preponderance Showing If Court Holds Evidentiary Hearing.
8.18[2][d] Court May Authorize Jurisdictional Discovery.
8.18[2][e] Dismissal for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction Is Not on the Merits and Is Without Prejudice.
8.18[2][f] Court May Transfer Rather Than Dismiss Action.
8.19 Motion to Dismiss for Improper Venue.
8.19[1] Challenge Improper Venue.
8.19[1][a] Move to Dismiss Before Filing Responsive Pleading.
8.19[1][b] Motion Is Proper for Enforcing Forum Selection Clause.
8.19[1][c] Avoid Waiving Objection to Venue.
8.19[1][d] Combine Motion With Motion to Transfer.
8.19[1][e] Submit Supplemental Written Materials in Support of Motion.
8.19[1][f] Request Discovery to Resolve Disputed Issues of Fact.
8.19[1][g] Request Evidentiary Hearing to Resolve Conflicts in Evidence.
8.19[1][h] Plaintiff Bears Burden of Proof.
8.19[2] Court Will Transfer or Dismiss Action If Venue Is Improper.
8.20 Motion to Dismiss for Insufficient Process or Service of Process.
8.20[1] Challenge Sufficiency of Process or Service of Process.
8.20[1][a] File Rule 12(b)(4) or 12(b)(5) Motion.
8.20[1][b] Dismissals for Technical Defects in Form or Service of Summons Are Disfavored.
8.20[1][c] Avoid Waiving Defense of Insufficient Process or Service of Process.
8.20[1][d] Submit Supplemental Materials With Motion.
8.20[2] Court Determination of Motion.
8.20[2][a] Burden Is on Plaintiff to Show Valid Service.
8.20[2][b] Court May Conduct Hearing to Determine Contested Issues.
8.20[2][c] Dismissal Is Without Prejudice.
8.20[2][d] Court May Dismiss for Improper Service or May Retain and Quash Service.
8.21 Motion to Dismiss for Failure to State Claim on Which Relief Can Be Granted.
8.21[1] Challenge Complaint for Failure to State Claim.
8.21[1][a] Consider That Motion Is Disfavored.
8.21[1][b] File Motion to Dismiss.
8.21[1][c] Bases for Defense.
8.21[1][d] Defenses Under Rule 9(b) Treated As Rule 12(b)(6) Motions.

8.21[1][e] Defense of Failure to State Claim Not Waived by Failure to Assert in Motion or Responsive Pleading.
8.21[1][f] Limited Supplemental Materials May Be Submitted to Court With Motion.
8.21[2] Plaintiff May Amend Complaint in Response to Rule 12(b)(6) Motion.
8.21[3] Court Determination of Motion.
8.21[3][a] Moving Party Bears Burden of Demonstrating Failure to State Valid Claim.
8.21[3][b] Court Applies Plausibility Standard to Allegations in Complaint.
8.21[3][c] Court Must Only Consider Pleadings in Ruling on 12(b)(6) Motion.
8.21[3][d] Considering Matters Outside Complaint Converts Rule 12(b)(6) Motion to Summary Judgment Motion.
8.21[3][e] Court Need Not Provide Notice of Conversion but Must Ensure Nonmoving Party Is Fully Apprised.
8.21[3][f] Dismissal Is on Merits and Without Prejudice.
8.22 Motion to Dismiss for Failure to Join Indispensable Party.
8.22[1] Challenge Failure to Join Indispensable Party.
8.22[1][a] Raise Failure to Join Indispensable Party Under Rule 19.
8.22[1][b] Defense May Be Raised at Any Time Through Trial.
8.22[1][c] Submit Supplemental Materials With Motion.
8.22[2] Court Determination of Motion to Dismiss for Failure to Join Party.
8.22[2][a] Moving Party Bears Burden of Proof.
8.22[2][b] Court Must Apply Two-Part Analysis in Deciding Motion.
8.22[2][c] Dismissal for Failure to Join Indispensable Party Is Without Prejudice.
V. PREPARING MOTION TO CLARIFY PLEADINGS
8.23 CHECKLIST: Drafting Motions to Clarify Pleadings.
8.23[1] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion for More Definite Statement.
8.23[2] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion to Strike.
8.24 Options and Strategy.
8.24[1] Motion for More Definite Statement May Clarify Complaint.
8.24[2] Motion to Strike May Streamline Action.
8.24[3] Motions Are Disfavored and Should Be Sparingly Used.
8.24[4] Motions Are Typically Joined With Other Rule 12 Motions.
8.25 Motion for More Definite Statement.
8.25[1] Grounds for Motion for More Definitive Statement.
8.25[1][a] Challenge Vague or Ambiguous Complaint.
8.25[1][b] Pleading Must Be So Indefinite That Defendant Cannot Ascertain Nature of Claim.
8.25[1][c] Motion Cannot Be Used to Seek Discoverable Material.
8.25[1][d] Defense Is Waived If Not Made Before Filing of Responsive Pleading.
8.25[2] Court Determination of Motion.
8.25[2][a] Complaint Must Be Too Vague or Ambiguous to Answer.
8.25[2][b] Court Granting Motion May Order Plaintiff to File and Serve Amended Complaint.
8.26 Motion to Strike Improper Material in Complaint.
8.26[1] Motion Is Disfavored.
8.26[2] File Rule 12(f) Motion.
8.26[3] Avoid Waiver.
8.26[4] Plaintiff May Challenge Improper Material in Answer.
8.26[5] Moving Party Has Burden of Proof.
8.26[6] Defendant Can Move to Strike State Law Claim Under Anti-SLAPP Statute.
VI. PREPARING MOTION FOR JUDGMENT ON PLEADINGS
8.27 CHECKLIST: Drafting Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings.
8.28 Options and Strategy.
8.28[1] Motion for Judgment on Pleadings May Dispose of Complaint.
8.28[2] Motion for Judgment on Pleadings Cannot Be Filed Before Answer.
8.28[3] Motion Going Beyond Pleadings May Be Converted to Motion for Summary Judgment.
8.29 Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings.
8.29[1] File Rule 12(c) Motion.
8.29[1][a] Challenge Legal Sufficiency of Opposing Party's Pleadings.
8.29[1][b] File Motion After Pleadings Close.
8.29[1][c] Motion May Be Asserted by Either Party.
8.29[1][d] Submission of Matters Outside Pleadings May Result in Conversion of Motion to Summary Judgment Motion.
8.29[2] Court Determination of Motion for Judgment.
8.29[2][a] Standard Applicable to Motions for Judgment.
8.29[2][b] Reliance on Matters Outside Pleadings Results in Conversion to Summary Judgment Motion.
8.29[2][c] Reasonable Opportunity to Respond Must Be Given.
8.29[2][d] Dismissal May Be Without Prejudice.
VII. FORMS
A. Answers
8.30 Notice of Motion and Motion for Extension of Time to Answer Complaint.
8.31 Stipulation to Extension of Time to Answer Complaint.
8.32 Sample Answer--Containing Admissions, Specific Denials, and Affirmative Defenses.
B. Motions to Dismiss
8.33 Notice of Motion and Motion to Dismiss--Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

8.34 Alternative Paragraph: Lack of Personal Jurisdiction.
8.35 Alternative Paragraph: Improper Venue.
8.36 Alternative Paragraph: Insufficient Process.
8.37 Alternative Paragraph: Insufficient Service of Process.
8.38 Alternative Paragraph: Failure to State Claim on Which Relief Can Be Granted.
8.39 Alternative Paragraph: Failure to Join Indispensable Party.
8.40 Plaintiff's Opposition to Defendant's Motion to Dismiss.
C. Motions Seeking Clarification
8.41 Notice of Motion and Motion for More Definite Statement.
8.42 Notice of Motion and Motion to Strike.
D. Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings
8.43 Notice of Motion and Motion for Judgment on the Pleadings.
E. Local District Court Forms
8.44 Local District Court Forms.
CHAPTER 9 Amending and Supplementing Pleadings
§ 9.syn Synopsis to Chapter 9: Amending and Supplementing Pleadings
I. STRATEGY

Source: California > Search Analysis & CLE Materials > Matthew Bender Practice Guides > Matthew Bender® Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 9 Amending and Supplementing Pleadings
I. STRATEGY
9.01 Scope.
9.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. AMENDING PLEADINGS BEFORE TRIAL
9.03 CHECKLIST: Amending Pleadings Before Trial.
9.03[1] Amending Party's Checklist.
9.03[2] Responding Party's Checklist.
9.04 Options and Strategy.
9.05 Amendment May Serve Various Purposes.
9.06 Amendment Takes Form of Complete Amended Pleading.
9.06[1] Amended Pleading Must Be In Proper Format.
9.06[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Format for Amendment of Pleadings.
9.06[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
9.06[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
9.06[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
9.06[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
9.07 Pleadings May Be Amended Once Without Leave.
9.07[1] Party May Amend Without Leave Within Strict Timeframe.
9.07[2] Only One Amendment Permitted Without Leave.
9.07[3] Court May Not Deny Amendment Without Leave When Rule 15 Permits It.
9.08 Pleadings May Be Amended With Leave of Court or With Consent of Adverse Party.
9.08[1] Leave or Consent Required After 21-Day Window for Amendment as Matter of Course Has Run.
9.08[2] Consent Must Be Written.
9.08[3] Leave Is Sought Through Noticed Motion, With Proposed Pleading Attached.
9.08[4] Time Limit for Moving to Amend Set in Scheduling Order.
9.08[5] Leave to Amend Must Be Granted Freely.
9.08[6] Court Must Consider Several Factors in Deciding Whether to Grant Leave to amend.
9.08[6][a] List of Factors Stated in Foman v. Davis.
9.08[6][b] Prejudice to Opposing Party.
9.08[6][c] Delay.
9.08[6][d] Bad Faith.
9.08[6][e] Futility of Amendment.
9.08[6][f] Previous Amendments Were Allowed.
9.08[7] Court May Impose Conditions When Granting Leave to amend.
9.08[8] Court Must State Grounds for Denial.
9.08[9] Court May Grant Leave to Amend Nunc Pro Tunc When Plaintiff Fails to Comply With Rule 15(a) or May Strike Amended Pleading.
9.09 Party May Amend After Dismissal.
9.09[1] Party May Amend by Right If Dismissal Is Not Final Judgment.
9.09[2] Most Dismissals Are With Leave to amend.
9.09[3] Amendment After Final Judgment Is Conceivable, If Judgment Is Set Aside.
9.10 Ability to Amend After Summary Judgment Motion Is Filed Is Limited.
9.10[1] Amendment Allowed Only If It Has Substantial Factual Support.
9.10[2] After Summary Judgment Rendered, Change in Legal Theory Not Allowed.
9.11 Adverse Party May Respond to Amended Pleading.
9.11[1] Responsive Pleading Is Not Required.
9.11[2] Time to Serve Responsive Pleading Is Brief.
III. RELATION BACK OF AMENDMENTS
9.12 CHECKLIST: Relation Back of Amendments.
9.13 Options and Strategy.
9.14 Amendment May Relate Back on Any of Three Grounds.
9.14[1] When Relation Back Is Permitted by Law Governing Statute of Limitations.
9.14[2] When Amendment to Add Claim or Defense Is Transactionally Related to Original Claims.
9.14[3] When Amendment Changes Parties or Names of Parties.
9.14[3][a] Transactional Relatedness Plus Notice and Knowledge Are Required.
9.14[3][b] Added Party Must Receive Notice of Action.
9.14[3][c] Added Party Must Know of Mistake As to Identity.
9.14[3][d] Time Limit on Notice and Knowledge Runs From Original Complaint.
9.14[3][e] Alternative Method of Satisfying Notice Requirements As to Government Defendants.

9.14[3][f] Amendment Adding Plaintiff May Relate Back.
IV. AMENDING PLEADINGS TO CONFORM TO EVIDENCE
9.15 CHECKLIST: Amending Pleadings to Conform to Evidence.
9.16 Options and Strategy.
9.17 Party May Amend Pleadings After Trial to Conform to Evidence.
9.17[1] Amendment Is Not Required.
9.17[2] Amendment May Be Made on Motion at Any Time.
9.17[3] Applies to Issues Tried by Express or Implied Consent.
9.18 Court Must Freely Allow Leave to Amend After Objection at Trial.
V. SUPPLEMENTING PLEADINGS
9.19 CHECKLIST: Supplementing Pleadings.
9.20 Options and Strategy.
9.21 Court May Allow Supplemental Pleadings to Add Occurrences Since Date of Original Pleading.
9.21[1] Supplemental Pleading Adds New Events, Claims, and Parties.
9.21[2] Supplemental Pleading May Correct Defective Original Pleading.
9.21[3] Events Must Be Related to Original Claims or Defenses.
9.21[3][a] Transactional Relationship Is Not Required.
9.21[3][b] Supplemental Pleading May Plead Related Claim for Relief.
9.21[3][c] Failure to Plead Related Claims Does Not Preclude Later Action.
9.21[4] Leave of Court Is Required.
9.21[5] Supplemental Pleading May Relate Back to Date of Original Pleading.
9.21[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Supplemental Pleading Should Take Form of Completely Revised Pleading.
9.21[7] Court May Allow Response.
VI. FORMS
9.22 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to File Amended Pleading.
9.23 Proposed Order Granting Leave to amend.
9.24 Stipulation Allowing Filing of Amended Pleading.
9.25 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Amend Pleading to Conform to Evidence.
9.26 Proposed Order Permitting Amendment of Pleading to Conform to Evidence.
9.27 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to File Supplemental Pleading.
9.28 Order Granting Leave to File Supplemental Pleading.
CHAPTER 10 Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties
§ 10.syn Synopsis to Chapter 10: Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties
I. STRATEGY
10.01 Scope.
10.02 Objective and Strategy for Adding or Dropping Parties.
10.03 Objective and Strategy for Substituting Parties.
II. ADDING PERSONS AS PARTIES TO EXISTING ACTION
10.04 CHECKLIST: Adding Parties.
10.05 Options and Strategies Related to Addition of Parties.
10.05[1] New Parties May Be Added to Pending Civil Action.
10.05[2] Procedural Mechanism for Adding Party.
10.05[2][a] Plaintiff May Elect to Join Proper Parties at Initiation of Action.
10.05[2][b] Defendant or Other Party May Add Parties by Joinder.
10.05[2][c] Party May Add Party by Motion.
10.05[2][d] Party May Add Party by Amendment to Pleading.
10.05[3] Party Added Is Subject to Judgment.
10.06 Federal Rules Prescribe Requirements for Party Joinder.
10.07 Rule 19: Parties Needed for Adjudication Are Subject to Compulsory Joinder.
10.08 Rule 20: Permissive Joinder of Parties.
10.09 Procedural Considerations for Addition of Party by Motion.
10.09[1] Only Current Party May Move for Addition of New Party.
10.09[2] Court Order Required for Addition of Party.
10.09[3] Court May Act on Its Own Initiative to Order Addition of Party.
10.09[4] Motion to Add Party May Be Made at Any Time.
10.09[5] When Addition of Person Needed for Just Adjudication Is Not Feasible Court May Be Required to Dismiss Action.
10.09[5][a] Court May Add Person Needed for Just Adjudication If Feasible.
10.09[5][b] Court May Not Add Person Needed for Just Adjudication If Joinder Is Not Feasible.
III. DROPPING PARTIES
10.10 CHECKLIST: Dropping Parties.
10.11 Options and Strategies Related to Dropping Parties.
10.11[1] Grounds for Dropping Named Party.
10.11[2] Procedural Mechanism for Dropping Party.
10.11[2][a] Party May Drop Party by Motion.
10.11[2][b] Party May Drop Party by Amendment to Pleading.
10.11[3] Effect of Dropping Party.
10.12 Court May Drop Party From Action Because of Misjoinder or for Any Other Just Reason.
10.12[1] Court May Drop Party Because of Misjoinder of Party.

10.12[1][a] Misjoinder Is Improper Inclusion of Person As Party.
10.12[1][b] Court May Use Procedural Rule to Cure Misjoinder.
10.12[2] Court May Drop Party From Action to Further Efficient Administra tion of Justice.
10.13 Procedural Considerations for Motion to Drop Party.
10.13[1] Only Current Party May Move to Drop Party.
10.13[2] Court Order Required to Drop Party.
10.13[3] Court May Act on Its Own Initiative to Order Party Dropped.
10.13[4] Motion to Drop Party May Be Made at Any Time.
10.14 Court May Order Severance of Claim.
10.14[1] Court Has Discretion to Sever Claim to Cure Misjoinder.
10.14[2] Court Has Discretion to Sever Claim to Further Efficient Administration of Justice.
10.14[3] Severance of Claim Divides Action Into Two Separate Actions.
10.14[3][a] Severance Is Division of Legal Action Into Separate and Distinct Legal Actions.
10.14[3][b] Severance Is Distinguished From Separate Trial.
IV. SUBSTITUTING PARTIES
10.15 CHECKLIST: Substitution of Parties.
10.16 Options and Strategies Related to Substitution of Parties.
10.16[1] Grounds for Substituting for Party.
10.16[2] Substitution Is Procedural Mechanism for Use in Specified Circumstances.
10.16[2][a] Procedural Rule Does Not Control Substantive Rights Regarding Claim.
10.16[2][b] Use of Dropping and Adding Party As Alternative for Substitution.
10.16[2][c] Use of Amendment As Alternative for Substitution.
10.16[3] Substituted Party Assumes Exact Position in Litigation of Original Party.
10.17 Function of Substitution Procedure.
10.18 Substitution on Death of Party.
10.18[1] Court May Substitute on Death of Party During Pendency of Litigation.
10.18[2] Legal Representatives and Distributees Are Proper Parties to Substitute.
10.18[3] Party or Representative of Deceased Party Must File a Motion for Substitution on Death of Party.
10.18[4] Moving Person Must Serve Motion and a Notice of Hearing on All Other Parties and on Interested Nonparties.
10.18[5] Statement of Death Starts Limitation Period for Filing Motion for Substitution.
10.18[6] Claim of Deceased Must Survive Death to Provide Basis for Substitution.
10.18[6][a] Court May Substitute Party Only If Claim Is Not Extinguished by Death.
10.18[6][b] Court May Allow Action to Continue If Claim of Deceased Party Survives in Favor or Against Another Party.
10.19 Substitution on Account of Incompetency of Party.
10.19[1] Court May Substitute for Party That Becomes Incompetent.
10.19[2] Issue of Competence Is Substantive Matter Controlled by State Law.
10.19[3] Motion for Substitution Based on Incompetence Must Be Served on Parties and Interested Nonparties.
10.20 Substitution in Case of Transfer of Interest During Pendency of Litigation.
10.20[1] Court May Order Substitution of Party or Joinder of Person Because of Transfer of Interest.
10.20[2] Substitution or Joinder on Transfer Is Procedural Device for Court to Control Litigation.
10.20[3] Party or Transferee Must File Motion for Substitution on Transfer Occurring After Litigation Is Commenced.
10.20[4] Motion for Substitution Based on Transfer Must Be Served on Parties and Interested Nonparties.
10.21 Substitution in Case of Separation of Public Officer From Office.
10.21[1] Successor of Public Officer Is Automatically Substituted When Predecessor Leaves Office.
10.21[2] Public Officer May Be Named by Title.
10.21[3] Successor Is Subject to All Orders Binding on Predecessor.
10.21[4] Automatic Substitution Does Not Require Motion of Party or Order of Court.
10.22 Procedural Considerations for Motion for Substitution.
10.22[1] Substitution Does Not Affect Jurisdiction, Diversity of Citizenship, and Venue.
10.22[2] Moving Person Must Generally Serve Motion for Substitution.
10.22[2][a] Moving Party Must Serve Motion and Notice of Hearing.
10.22[2][b] Moving Party Must Serve Parties in Same Manner As Serving Pleadings and Papers Other Than Original Complaint.
10.22[2][c] Moving Party Must Serve Nonparties in Same Manner As Serving Summons and Original Complaint.
10.22[3] Appeal of Order Regarding Substitution.
V. FORMS
A. Adding Parties
10.23 Notice of Motion and Motion by Plaintiff to Add Defendant.
10.24 Notice of Motion and Motion by Defendant to Add Plaintiff.
B. Dropping Parties
10.25 Notice of Motion and Motion by Plaintiff to Drop Defendant Who Would Defeat Diversity.
10.26 Notice of Motion and Motion by Defendant to Drop Defendant As Misjoined.
C. Substituting Parties
10.27 Notice of Motion and Motion to Substitute for Party Who Has Died During Litigation.
10.28 Statement Noting Death of Party During Litigation.
10.29 Notice of Motion and Motion to Substitute for Party Who Has Become Incompetent During Litigation.
10.30 Notice of Motion and Motion to Substitute for Party Who Has Transferred Interest.

CHAPTER 11 Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies
§ 11.syn Synopsis to Chapter 11: Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies
I. STRATEGY
11.01 Scope.
11.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. PREPARING AND DRAFTING COUNTERCLAIMS
11.03 CHECKLIST: Determining Whether Use of Counterclaim Is Appropriate.
11.04 CHECKLISTS: Identifying Counterclaims.
11.04[1] Compulsory Counterclaims.
11.04[2] Permissive Counterclaims.
11.05 CHECKLISTS: Drafting Counterclaims.
11.05[1] Compulsory Counterclaims.
11.05[2] Permissive Counterclaims.
11.06 Options and Strategy--Counterclaims.
11.07 Counterclaims Are Distinguishable From Affirmative Defenses.
11.08 Failure to Plead Compulsory Counterclaim Results in Waiver of the Claim.
11.09 Distinguishing Between Compulsory and Permissive Counterclaims.
11.09[1] Compulsory Counterclaim Requires a "Logical Relationship" With the Primary Claim.
11.09[2] Counterclaim Is Compulsory Only If It Existed When Pleading Is Served.
11.09[3] Examples of Categorization of Counterclaims in the Ninth Circuit.
11.09[3][a] Recoupment Claims Are Compulsory.
11.09[3][b] Setoff Claims Are Permissive.
11.09[3][c] Abuse of Process Claims Are Compulsory.
11.09[3][d] Malicious Prosecution Claims Are Permissive.
11.09[3][e] Defamation Claims May Be Compulsory or Permissive.
11.09[3][f] Antitrust Claims in Patent Infringement Actions Are Permissive.
11.10 Statutes of Limitations Apply to Counterclaims.
11.10[1] Statutes of Limitations May Bar Counterclaims.
11.10[2] Recoupment Claims "Relate Back" to Filing of Plaintiff's Complaint.
11.10[3] Amending Answer to Include Compulsory Counterclaim Relates Back to Filing of Answer.
11.10[4] Compulsory Counterclaims Do Not Relate Back to Filing of Complaint.
11.10[5] Permissive Counterclaims Do Not Relate Back to Filing of Complaint.
11.11 Court May Have Supplemental Jurisdiction Over Counterclaims.
11.12 Court Will Have Personal Jurisdiction Over Counter-Defendant.
11.13 Compulsory Counterclaims May Be Used to Satisfy Amount-in-Controversy Requirement.
11.14 Removal May Not Be Based on Federal-Question Counterclaim.
11.15 The Erie Doctrine Applies to Counterclaims.
11.16 Jurisdiction and Venue Objections Must Be Preserved When Asserting Counterclaim.
11.17 Relief Available Through Counterclaims.
11.17[1] No Limit on Claims or Kinds of Relief.
11.17[2] Relief Diminishing, Defeating, or Exceeding Plaintiff's Claim.
11.17[3] Injunctive Relief.
11.17[4] Declaratory Relief.
11.18 Determining Parties to Counterclaim.
11.18[1] Counterclaim May Be Brought Only Against an Opposing Party.
11.18[2] Counterclaim May Be Brought Against an Opposing Party Only in the Capacity in Which That Party Brought Suit.
11.18[3] Counterclaim May Be Brought by Third-Party Defendant Against Third-Party Plaintiff.
11.18[4] Counterclaim May Apply to Joined Parties.
11.18[5] Counterclaim Against Governmental Entity Requires Waiver of Sovereign Immunity.
11.19 Counterclaims Must Be Raised in Responsive Pleadings.
11.20 Pleading Standards for Counterclaims.
11.20[1] Counterclaim Must Be Properly Pleaded.
11.20[2] Pleading Must Set Forth Jurisdiction.
11.20[3] Pleading Must Contain a Short and Plain Statement of Claim.
11.20[4] Pleading Must Demand Relief.
11.21 Counterclaims Must Be Properly and Timely Served.
11.22 Omitted Counterclaim May Be Preserved Through Amendment of a Pleading.
11.23 Demand for Jury Trial Must Be Served.
11.24 Counterclaim May Be Severed for Separate Trial.
11.25 LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Counterclaims.
11.25[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
11.25[1][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Alleging Jurisdiction Over Counterclaims.
11.25[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Extending the Time to Respond to the Initial Complaint.
11.25[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Amended and Supplemental Pleadings.
11.25[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
11.25[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Alleging Jurisdiction Over Counterclaims.
11.25[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Changed Pleadings.
11.25[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Counterclaims in Class Actions.

11.25[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
11.25[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
11.25[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Extension of Time to Answer.
11.25[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Amended Pleadings.
III. PREPARING AND DRAFTING CROSSCLAIMS
11.26 CHECKLIST: Determining Whether Use of Crossclaim Is Appropriate.
11.27 CHECKLIST: Drafting Crossclaims.
11.28 Options and Strategy--Crossclaims.
11.29 Determining Parties to Crossclaims.
11.29[1] Crossclaims Are Made by a Party Against a Coparty.
11.29[2] Crossclaims May Be Made Only Against Existing Parties.
11.29[3] Crossclaim May Be Brought Against Party Joined Under Fed R Civ P 14.
11.29[4] Joined Parties May Be Parties to Crossclaim.
11.29[5] Crossclaims Against Governmental Entity.
11.30 Logical Relationship Must Exist Between Claim and Crossclaim.
11.31 Crossclaims Are Permissive.
11.32 Crossclaims Must Comply With Applicable Statutes of Limitations.
11.33 Court May Have Supplemental Jurisdiction Over Crossclaims.
11.34 Court Must Have Personal Jurisdiction Over Cross-Defendant.
11.35 Removal May Not Be Based on Federal-Question Crossclaim.
11.36 Relief Available Through Crossclaims.
11.37 Crossclaims Must Be Raised in Pleading.
11.38 Pleading Standards for Crossclaims.
11.38[1] Pleading Must Set Forth Jurisdiction.
11.38[2] Pleading Must Contain a Short and Plain Statement of Claim.
11.38[3] Pleading Must Demand Relief.
11.39 Crossclaims Must Be Properly and Timely Served.
11.40 Omitted Crossclaim May Be Presented Through Amendment of a Pleading.
11.41 Demand for Jury Trial Must Be Served.
11.42 Crossclaims May Be Severed for Separate Trial.
11.43 LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Crossclaims.
11.43[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
11.43[1][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Alleging Jurisdiction Over Crossclaims.
11.43[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Extending the Time to Respond to the Initial Complaint.
11.43[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Amended and Supplemental Pleadings.
11.43[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
11.43[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Alleging Jurisdiction Over Crossclaims.
11.43[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Changed Pleadings.
11.43[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Crossclaims in Class Actions.
11.43[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
11.43[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
11.43[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Extension of Time to Answer.
11.43[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Amended Pleadings.
IV. RESPONDING TO COUNTERCLAIMS AND CROSSCLAIMS
11.44 CHECKLIST: Analyze Counterclaim to Determine Appropriate Response.
11.45 CHECKLIST: Analyze Crossclaim to Determine Appropriate Response.
11.46 Options and Strategy: Responding to Counterclaims and Crossclaims.
11.46[1] All Options Available to Attack Claim for Relief.
11.46[2] Consider Moving to Dismiss If Claim Was Compulsory Counterclaim to a Prior Suit.
11.46[3] Consider Motion to Dismiss Under Fed R Civ P 12.
11.47 Responsive Pleading to Counterclaim Is Reply.
11.48 Responsive Pleading to Crossclaim Is Answer.
11.49 Responsive Pleading May Include Additional Claims.
11.49[1] Responsive Pleading May Include Compulsory Counterclaim.
11.49[2] Responsive Pleading May Include Permissive Counterclaim.
11.49[3] Responsive Pleading May Include Crossclaim.
11.50 Responsive Pleading Must Comply With Pleading Standards.
11.51 Responsive Pleading Must Be Timely Served.
V. FORMS
11.52 Answer and Counterclaim.
11.53 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to File Amended Answer and Counterclaims.
11.54 Notice of Motion and Motion to Join Party on Counterclaim.
11.55 Answer and Crossclaim.
11.56 Reply to Counterclaim.
11.57 Answer to Crossclaim.
CHAPTER 12 Third-Party Actions
§ 12.syn Synopsis to Chapter 12: Third-Party Actions
I. STRATEGY
12.01 Scope.

12.02 Objective and Strategy.
12.02[1] Impleader Avoids Need for Separate Lawsuits.
12.02[2] Separate Lawsuit May Be More Economical in Some Cases.
12.02[3] Permissive Joinder Under Rule 20 Is Potential Alternative.
12.02[4] Compulsory Joinder Under Rule 19 Is Potential Alternative.
12.02[5] Counterclaims or Crossclaims Are Alternatives for Those Already Parties.
II. BRINGING THIRD-PARTY CLAIM
12.03 CHECKLIST: Bringing Third-Party Claim.
12.04 Defendant May Implead Third Party.
12.04[1] Defending Party May Implead.
12.04[2] Only Nonparties May Be Impleaded.
12.04[3] Third-Party Claim May Be Brought Against Defendant Who Settled.
12.05 Third-Party Claim Must Be Derivative.
12.05[1] Claim Is Derivative When Liability Depends on Outcome of Main Case.
12.05[2] Contribution and Indemnity Are Typical Derivative Claims.
12.05[3] Third-Party Defendant Need Not Be Liable to Original Plaintiff.
12.05[4] Third-Party Defendant Need Not Be Automatically Liable If Defendant Loses Underlying Suit.
12.05[5] Once Impleader Proper, Impleading Party May Assert Other Claims Against Impleaded Third Party.
12.06 Impleader Is Always Discretionary.
12.06[1] No Absolute Right to Implead Claim.
12.06[2] Impleader Without Leave of Court Permitted Within 10 Days of Answer to Original Claim.
12.06[3] Leave of Court Required for Impleader Attempted More Than 10 Days After Answer Served.
12.06[4] Factors Used to Determine Appropriateness of Impleader.
12.06[4][a] Rule 14(a) Construed in Favor of Impleader When Possible.
12.06[4][b] Efficiency and Lack of Prejudice to Plaintiff Favor Allowing Impleader.
12.06[4][c] Impleader Favored If Impleading Party Has Same Ability to Defend As in Separate Action.
12.06[4][d] Joint Trial Favored When Claims Sufficiently Interrelated.
12.06[4][e] Impleader Disfavored If It Might Unduly Complicate Trial or Foster Unmeritorious Claim.
12.07 Motion for Leave to File Third-Party Complaint.
12.07[1] Motion Must Be Served on All Parties.
12.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Motion Papers.
12.07[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Motion Papers.
12.07[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal--Motion Papers.
12.07[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal--Motion Papers.
12.08 Prerequisites to Bringing Third-Party Complaint.
12.08[1] Subject Matter Jurisdiction Requirements Must Be Met.
12.08[1][a] Rule 14 Does Not Convey Jurisdiction.
12.08[1][b] Federal Question Jurisdiction.
12.08[1][c] Diversity Jurisdiction.
12.08[1][d] Supplemental Jurisdiction Generally Supports Third-Party Claims Asserted by Defendants.
12.08[1][e] Supplemental Jurisdiction Will Not Support Third-Party Claim Asserted by Plaintiff in Diversity Case.
12.08[1][f] District Court Has Discretion to Decline Supplemental Jurisdiction.
12.08[2] Personal Jurisdiction Over Third-Party Defendant Required.
12.08[2][a] Third Party Must Have Sufficient Contacts With Forum for Court to Exercise Personal Jurisdiction.
12.08[2][b] Third Party Must Be Served With Summons.
12.08[2][c] Lack of Personal Jurisdiction May Be Waived.
12.08[3] Independent Venue Not Required.
12.08[4] Claim Must Be Brought Within Applicable Limitations Period.
12.09 Third-Party Claims by or Against United States: Special Problems.
12.09[1] United States May Implead Third Party Like Other Litigants.
12.09[2] Sovereign Immunity and Special Administrative Procedures Apply to Attempts to Implead United States.
12.09[3] Third-Party Claim Against United States Is Valid Only If Supported by Substantive Law.
12.10 Third-Party Claims in Admiralty and Maritime Suits: Special Problems.
12.10[1] In Admiralty Suits, Defendants and Persons With Interests in Seized Property May Implead Third Parties.
12.10[2] In Admiralty Suits, Impleader Reaches Broader Range of Claims Than in Ordinary Civil Actions.
12.10[3] In Admiralty Cases, Impleading Party May "Demand" Judgment Against Third-Party Defendant in Favor of Original Plaintiff.
12.10[4] "Demand" Requirement Easily Satisfied.
III. RESPONDING TO IMPLEADER
12.11 CHECKLIST: Responding to Impleader.
12.12 Options and Strategies for Responding to Impleader.
12.13 Opposing Propriety of Impleader Itself.
12.13[1] Any Party May Move to Strike Third-Party Claim.
12.13[2] Any Party May Move for Separate Trial or Move to Sever Claims.
12.14 Responding to Particulars of Third-Party Claim.
12.14[1] Third-Party Defendant May Assert Rule 12 Defenses by Answer or Motion to Dismiss.
12.14[2] Defenses May Be Waived If Not Raised by Timely Answer or Motion.
12.14[3] Third-Party Defendant May Assert Defenses of Third-Party Plaintiff Against Plaintiff.
12.14[4] Answer or Motion Must Be Served Within 21 Days After Service of Summons and Complaint.

12.15 Counterclaims Against Third-Party Plaintiff and Crossclaims Against Other Parties.
12.15[1] Third-Party Defendant Must Assert Compulsory Counterclaims and May Assert Permissive Counterclaims Against Impleading Party.
12.15[2] Third-Party Defendant May Assert Crossclaims Related to Impleader Claims Against Other Parties.
12.15[3] Third-Party Defendant May Join Other Claims.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 12 Third-Party Actions
III. RESPONDING TO IMPLEADER
12.15 Counterclaims Against Third-Party Plaintiff and Crossclaims Against Other Parties.
12.15[4] Subject Matter Jurisdiction Must Exist for Claims.
12.16 Third-Party Defendant's Claim Against Plaintiff.
12.16[1] Third-Party Defendant May Assert Claim Against Plaintiff.
12.16[2] Procedure for Bringing Claim Is Unclear.
12.16[3] Joinder of Additional Claims.
12.16[4] Third-Party Defendant and Plaintiff Become Opposing Parties for Purpose of Counterclaim Rule.
12.16[5] Subject Matter Jurisdiction Must Exist for Claims.
IV. BRINGING PLAINTIFF'S CLAIMS AGAINST THIRD-PARTY DEFENDANT
12.16A CHECKLIST: Bringing Plaintiff's Claims Against Third-Party Defendant.
12.17 Plaintiff May Assert Claim Against Third-Party Defendant Arising Out of Same Transaction As Plaintiff's Claim.
12.18 Claim by Plaintiff Against Third-Party Defendant Is Permissive.
12.19 Subject Matter Jurisdiction Must Exist for Claims.
12.20 Independent Venue Not Required.
12.21 Procedure for Asserting Claim Is Unclear.
12.22 Third-Party Defendant Must Assert Any Defenses, Counterclaims, Crossclaims Under Rules 12, 13.
V. FORMS
12.23 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to File Third-Party Complaint.
12.24 Third-Party Summons [ED Cal, ND Cal, SD Cal Only].
12.25 Third-Party Complaint.
12.26 Proposed Order Granting Motion for Leave to Serve Third-Party Complaint.
12.27 Notice of Motion and Motion to Dismiss Third-Party Complaint for Failure to State a Claim.
12.28 Answer to Third-Party Complaint.
12.29 Local District Court Forms.
CHAPTER 13 Demanding a Jury Trial
§ 13.syn Synopsis to Chapter 13: Demanding a Jury Trial
I. STRATEGY
13.01 Scope.
13.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. OBTAINING TRIAL BY JURY
13.03 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Jury Trial.
13.03[1] Party Seeking Jury Trial.
13.03[2] Party Opposing Jury Demand.
13.04 Options and Strategy.
13.04[1] Determine Whether Jury Is Desirable.
13.04[2] Determine Whether There Is a Right to Jury Trial.
13.04[2][a] Federal Law Determines Right to Jury.
13.04[2][b] Procedural Rules Neither Enlarge Nor Restrict Right to Jury.
13.04[3] Seventh Amendment Preserves Common-Law Right to Jury.
13.04[3][a] Actions at Law Generally Are Triable by Jury.
13.04[3][b] Actions in Equity Generally Are Not Triable by Jury.
13.04[3][c] Admiralty Proceedings Generally Are Not Triable by Jury.
13.04[3][d] Declaratory Relief May Be Either at Law or in Equity.
13.04[4] Right to Jury Trial in Statutorily Created and Special Actions and Proceedings.
13.04[4][a] Test for Determining Whether Jury Right Applies.
13.04[4][b] Actions and Proceedings Triable by Jury.
13.04[4][c] Actions and Proceedings Not Triable by Jury.
13.04[5] Court May Order Jury Trial If All Parties Consent.
13.04[6] Determine Whether Jury Demand Is Necessary.
13.04[6][a] In Action Commenced in Federal Court.
13.04[6][b] In Removed Action.
13.04[7] Determine Whether to Rely on Another Party's Jury Demand.
13.04[7][a] Parties May Rely on Demand for Issues It Covers.
13.04[7][b] Parties May Not Rely on Demand for Other Issues.
13.04[7][c] Parties May Not Rely on Demand by Party that Has No Jury Right.
13.04[8] Determine Whether to Limit Jury Demand to Certain Issues.
13.05 Demanding Jury.
13.05[1] Include Jury Demand in Pleading.

13.05[1][a] Inclusion in Pleading Is Sufficient.
13.05[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
13.05[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
13.05[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
13.05[1][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
13.05[2] Prepare Separate Jury Demand.
13.05[3] Indicating Jury Demand on Civil Cover Sheet Is Insufficient.
13.05[4] Specify Issues for Jury Trial.
13.05[4][a] Demanding Jury Trial on Specific Issues.
13.05[4][b] Supplementing Another Party's Jury Demand.
13.05[5] Sign Jury Demand.
13.05[5][a] Complying With Signature Requirement.
13.05[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: Signing by Electronic Means.
13.05[5][c] Determining Proper Person to Sign Jury Demand.
13.05[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
13.05[5][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
13.05[5][f] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
13.06 Serve and File Jury Demand.
13.06[1] Service of Demand Must Be Timely.
13.06[1][a] In Action Commenced in Federal Court, Serve Demand Within 10 Days After Service of Last Pleading on Issue.
13.06[1][b] "Last Pleading" on Issue Defined.
13.06[1][c] In Removed Action, Serve Demand Within 14 Days After Filing or Service of Removal Petition.
13.06[1][d] Serve Supplemental Jury Demand Within 14 Days After Another Party's Limited Jury Demand.
13.06[1][e] In Condemnation Proceeding, Serve Demand Within Time for Answer or As Ordered by Court.
13.06[2] File Jury Demand.
13.06[2][a] File Demand Within Reasonable Time After Service.
13.06[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
13.06[2][c] In Condemnation Proceeding, File Demand Within Time for Answer or As Ordered by Court.
13.07 Practice When Jury Right Applies.
13.07[1] Jury to Decide Factual Issues.
13.07[2] Jury's Role When Case Involves Legal and Equitable Claims With Common Factual Issues.
13.07[3] Jury's Role When Case Involves Legal and Equitable Claims Without Common Factual Issues.
13.08 Opposing Jury Demand.
13.08[1] Court's Power to Strike Jury Demand.
13.08[2] Grounds for Striking Jury Demand.
III. WAIVING AND OBTAINING RELIEF FROM WAIVER OF JURY
13.09 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Relief From Waiver of Jury.
13.09[1] Petitioning Party.
13.09[2] Opposing Party.
13.10 Waiver of Jury Right.
13.10[1] Waiver by Previous Agreement.
13.10[2] Waiver by Failure to Make Timely Jury Demand.
13.10[3] Waiver by Participation in Bench Trial.
13.11 Moving for Relief From Waiver of Jury.
13.11[1] Prepare Motion for Relief From Waiver.
13.11[2] Moving Party Must Show More Than Oversight or Inadvertence.
13.11[2][a] Oversight or Inadvertence Is Insufficient.
13.11[2][b] Narrow Discretion to Grant Relief in Ninth Circuit.
13.12 Opposing Motion for Relief From Waiver of Jury.
13.13 Obtaining Relief From Court's Denial of Jury Trial.
13.13[1] File Petition for Writ of Mandamus.
13.13[2] File Petition for Interlocutory Appeal.
13.13[2][a] Interlocutory Appeal Available at Discretion of Appellate Court.
13.13[2][b] Request Trial Court to Certify Order for Appeal.
13.13[2][c] File Application for Interlocutory Appeal With Court of Appeals.
13.13[3] Take Appeal From Final Judgment.
IV. WITHDRAWING JURY DEMAND
13.14 CHECKLIST: Withdrawing Jury Demand.
13.15 Consent of Affected Parties Is Required.
13.16 Consent May Be by Oral or Written Stipulation.
V. OBTAINING ADVISORY JURY
13.17 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Advisory Jury.
13.17[1] Petitioning Party.
13.17[2] Opposing Party.
13.18 Determine Whether to Request Advisory Jury.
13.18[1] Court's Power to Use Advisory Jury.
13.18[2] Function of Advisory Jury.
13.18[3] Use of Advisory Jury When Jury Trial Has Been Waived.

13.19 Prepare Motion for Advisory Jury.
13.19[1] Court May Empanel Advisory Jury on Party's Motion.
13.19[2] Moving Party Must Show Unique Circumstances.
13.19[3] Any Objection to Denial of Jury Trial Must Be Stated on Record.
13.20 Opposing Motion for Advisory Jury.
VI. FORMS
13.21 Demand for Jury Trial.
13.22 Notice of Motion and Motion to Strike Jury Demand.
13.23 Notice of Motion and Motion for Relief From Waiver of Jury Trial.
13.24 Consent to Bench Trial Despite Jury Demand.
13.25 Notice of Motion and Motion for Advisory Jury.
CHAPTER 14 Intervention
§ 14.syn Synopsis to Chapter 14: Intervention
I. STRATEGY
14.01 Scope.
14.02 Objective and Strategy.
14.02[1] Objective of Intervention Is to Make Nonparty a Party to Existing Action.
14.02[2] Nonparty's Need to Become Full-Fledged Party Depends on Many Factors.
14.02[2][a] Nonparty Is Rarely Obligated to Intervene.
14.02[2][b] Nonparty's Interest May Be Foreclosed by Judgment in Existing Suit, Even If Res Judicata Does Not Apply.
14.02[2][c] Nonparty's Interest May Be Represented Adequately by Existing Parties or by Amicus Curiae Status.
14.02[3] Timing of Intervention Is Critical.
14.02[4] Alternatives to Intervention.
14.02[4][a] Informally Assisting Existing Parties.
14.02[4][b] Requesting Existing Parties to Join or Add Nonparty.
14.02[4][c] Filing Separate Action.
14.02[4][d] Requesting Leave to File Amicus Curiae Brief.
II. MOVING TO INTERVENE
14.03 CHECKLISTS: Drafting Motion to Intervene.
14.03[1] CHECKLIST: Drafting Motion to Intervene As of Right.
14.03[2] CHECKLIST: Drafting Motion for Permissive Intervention.
14.04 Scope of Intervention.
14.04[1] Intervention Gives Intervenor Party Status.
14.04[2] Nonparty May Choose to Intervene for Limited Purpose.
14.04[3] Intervention to Appeal Is Common Form of Limited Intervention.
14.05 Motion to Intervene Must Be Timely.
14.05[1] Timeliness Has No Fixed Deadline, but Is Measured by Circumstances.
14.05[2] Three Timeliness Factors.
14.05[3] Timeliness Requirement Construed More Strictly for Permissive Intervention.
14.06 Moving to Intervene As of Right Based on Federal Statute.
14.06[1] Statutory Right Must Be Unconditional.
14.06[2] Some Federal Statutes Provide Private Persons With Right to Intervene.
14.06[3] Some Federal Statutes Provide Government With Right to Intervene.
14.07 Moving to Intervene As of Right Based on Movant's Interest in Subject Matter of Case.
14.07[1] Four-Part Test for Subject-Matter Intervention As of Right.
14.07[2] Movant Must Have "Significant Protectable Interest" in Subject Matter of Action.
14.07[2][a] Significant Protectable Interest Has Two Aspects.
14.07[2][b] Interest Must Be Legally Protectable.
14.07[2][c] Interest Must Relate to Plaintiff's Claims.
14.07[2][d] Existing Parties May Amend Away Intervenor's Interest in Case.
14.07[3] Movant Must Have Interest That May Be Impaired Unless Intervention Granted.
14.07[3][a] Practical, Not Theoretical, Impairment Required.
14.07[3][b] Stare Decisis May Provide Practical Impairment.
14.07[4] Existing Parties Must Represent Movant's Interest Inadequately.
14.07[4][a] Movant Has Burden of Showing Inadequate Representation.
14.07[4][b] Adequate Representation Depends on Whether Party Will Make All of Intervenor's Arguments and Whether Intervenor Would Offer Additional Necessary Elements.
14.07[4][c] Comparison of Interests Is Key Consideration
14.07[4][d] Presumption That Representation by Government Entity Is Adequate.
14.07[4][e] Disagreements Over Litigation Strategy Do Not Establish Inadequate Representation.
14.07[5] Whether Movant Must Show Independent Basis for Standing Is Unsettled Question.
14.08 Moving for Permissive Intervention Based on Federal Statute.
14.08[1] Person May Be Permitted to Intervene When Federal Statute Confers Conditional Right to Intervene.
14.08[2] Some Federal Statutes Provide Private Persons With Opportunity to Intervene.
14.08[3] Some Federal Statutes Provide Government With Opportunity to Intervene.
14.09 Moving for Permissive Intervention Based on Common Question of Law or Fact.
14.09[1] Three-Part Test for Evaluation of Permissive Intervention Motion.
14.09[2] Even After Test Satisfied, Intervention Still Discretionary.

14.09[3] Federal or State Officer or Agency May Be Permitted to Intervene When Party's Claim or Defense Is Based on Statute, Regulation, or Executive Order.
14.09[4] In Exercising Discretion, Court Considers Prejudice to Existing Parties and Delay.
14.09[5] Courts Are Favorably Disposed to Intervention When Movant Can Make Contribution to Case.
14.09[6] Limited Intervention to Attack Confidentiality Orders Is Routine.
14.10 Requirements for Motion to Intervene.
14.10[1] Rule 24(c) Requirements for Motion.
14.10[2] Rule 24(c) Procedures Apply Regardless of Basis for Intervention.
14.10[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Motion Papers.
14.10[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Motion Papers.
14.10[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal--Motion Papers.
14.10[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal--Motion Papers.
14.10[7] Motion Should Have Factual Support, but Court Will Accept Nonconclusory Allegations As True.
14.11 When Suit Challenges Constitutionality of Statute, Party Must Give Notice to Facilitate Governmental Intervention.
14.11[1] Party Must Notify United States Attorney General When Federal Statutes Are Challenged.
14.11[2] Party Must Notify State Attorney General When State Statutes Are Challenged.
14.11[3] Court Must Certify That Constitutional Challenge Exists.
14.11[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Duty to Warn Extended to Challenges to Federal or State Regulations.
III. OPPOSING MOTION TO INTERVENE
14.12 CHECKLISTS: Opposing Motion to Intervene.
14.12[1] CHECKLIST: Drafting Memorandum Opposing Motion to Intervene As of Right.
14.12[2] CHECKLIST: Drafting Memorandum Opposing Motion for Permissive Intervention.
14.13 Refuting Timeliness of Motion to Intervene.
14.14 Refuting Basis for Motion to Intervene As of Right.
14.15 Refuting Basis for Motion for Permissive Intervention.
14.16 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Opposition Papers and Service.
14.17 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Opposition Papers and Service.
14.18 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal--Opposition Papers and Service.
14.19 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal--Opposition Papers and Service.
IV. APPELLATE REVIEW OF INTERVENTION RULINGS
14.19A CHECKLIST: Appealing Denial of Motion to Intervene.
14.20 Order Denying Intervention Is Appealable Final Order; Order Permitting Intervention Is Not.
14.21 Order Denying Intervention As of Right Reviewed De Novo.
14.22 Order Denying Permissive Intervention Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
14.23 Permissive Intervenor Must Have Independent Jurisdictional Grounds to Appeal Final Judgment.
V. FORMS
14.24 Notice of Motion and Motion for Intervention.
14.25 Opposition to Motion to Intervene As of Right.
14.26 Opposition to Motion for Permissive Intervention.
14.27 Proposed Order Permitting Intervention As Plaintiff.
14.28 Proposed Order Permitting Intervention As Defendant.
14.29 Proposed Order Denying Intervention.
Unit 4 Required Conferences and Case Management
Special Alert to Chapter 15
Scope
CHAPTER 15 Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures
§ 15.syn Synopsis to Chapter 15: Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures
I. STRATEGY
15.01 Scope.
15.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. SCHEDULING AND ATTENDING RULE 26(f) CONFERENCE
15.03 CHECKLIST: Preparing for and Attending Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.04 Options and Strategies.
15.05 Specific Categories of Proceedings Are Exempt From Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosure Requirements.
15.06 Generally No Discovery May Occur Until Parties Have Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.07 Timing of Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.07[1] Rule 26(f) Conference Must Occur at Least 21 Days Before Scheduling Conference or Order.
15.07[2] Expedited Schedules May Be Required Under Local Rules.
15.08 LOCAL PRACTICE: Scheduling of Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.08[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
15.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
15.08[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
15.08[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
15.09 LOCAL PRACTICE: Obtaining Relief From Case Management Schedule.
15.09[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
15.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
15.09[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
15.09[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

15.10 Preparing for Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.10[1] Topics to Be Discussed at Conference.
15.10[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Rule 26(f) Meeting Topics.
15.10[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
15.10[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
15.10[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
15.10[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
15.11 Initial Disclosures.
15.11[1] Disclosures Must Ordinarily Be Made Within 14 Days of Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.11[2] Categories of Cases Exempt From Initial Disclosure Requirements.
15.11[3] Avoiding or Delaying Initial Disclosures.
15.11[3][a] Initial Disclosures Stayed Pending Objection of Party.
15.11[3][b] Parties' Stipulation to Modify, Eliminate, or Delay Initial Disclosures.
15.11[3][c] Inadequate Disclosure by Opponent Does Not Excuse Noncompliance.
15.11[3][d] Party's Incomplete Investigation Does Not Excuse Noncompliance.
15.11[4] Matters Subject to Initial Disclosure Requirements.
15.11[5] Sanctions for Noncompliance.
15.12 Who Must Participate in Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.12[1] Counsel and Unrepresented Parties Must Confer.
15.12[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Participating in Conference.
15.12[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
15.12[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
15.12[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
15.12[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
15.13 Rule 26(f) Conference Need Not Be Attended in Person Unless Court Orders It.
15.14 Drafting and Filing Rule 26(f) Report and Proposed Discovery Plan.
15.14[1] Parties and Attorneys Must Participate in Good Faith.
15.14[2] Contents of Plan.
15.14[3] Responsibility for Filing Rule 26(f) Report and Discovery Plan Is Joint.
15.14[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing Rule 26(f) Report and Discovery Plan.
15.14[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
15.14[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
15.14[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
15.14[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
III. MAKING INITIAL DISCLOSURES PURSUANT TO RULE 26(a)(1)
15.15 CHECKLIST: Initial Disclosures Under Rule 26(a)(1).
15.16 Options and Strategies.
15.16[1] Review Documents and Electronically Stored Information for Privileged Material.
15.16[2] Determine Whether Work Product Protection Applies.
15.16[3] Consider Stipulation Covering Contents and Schedule for Disclosures.
15.16[4] Consider Requesting Extension of Time.
15.16[5] Consider Protective Orders on Confidential, Proprietary, or Trade Secret Information.
15.16[6] Consider Stipulating to Format and Contents of Privilege Log.
15.16[7] Object to Disclosures at Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.17 Timing of Disclosures Under Rule 26(a)(1).
15.17[1] Disclosures Must Be Made 14 Days After Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.17[2] Disclosure Date Inapplicable If Party Objects to Initial Disclosures During Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.17[3] Party Joined After Rule 26(f) Conference Must Make Disclosures Within 30 Days.
15.18 Each Party Must Disclose Information About Witnesses.
15.18[1] Names and Addresses.
15.18[2] Description of Topics of Witness's Knowledge.
15.18[3] Disclosure Is Not Required for Impeachment Witnesses.
15.19 Parties Must Disclose Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Tangible Things.
15.19[1] Copy or Description and Location Required.
15.19[2] Itemized Listing Not Required.
15.19[3] Information Used for Impeachment Need Not Be Disclosed.
15.19[4] Party Need Not Disclose Declaration Signed by Disclosed Potential Witness.
15.20 Detailed Computation of Damages Required.
15.21 Disclosure of Insurance Agreements Required.
15.22 Reasonable Inquiry Into Facts Required.
15.23 Exemptions From Initial Disclosure Requirements.
15.23[1] Rule 26(a)(1)(B) Enumerates Exempt Proceedings.
15.23[2] Exemptions Apply to "Proceedings" Rather Than "Actions."
15.23[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal--Discovery in Exempt Cases.
15.24 Disclosures Must Be Made in Writing, Signed, and Served.
15.25 Disclosures Should Not Be Filed.
15.26 Parties Must Supplement Disclosures.
IV. MAKING EXPERT WITNESS DISCLOSURES UNDER RULE 26(a)(2)
15.27 CHECKLIST: Expert Witness Disclosures Under Rule 26(a)(2).

15.28 Parties Must Disclose Expert Witnesses.
15.28[1] Experts to Be Used at Trial.
15.28[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Required List.
15.29 Disclosures Must Be Made 90 Days Before Trial Date.
15.29[1] Absent Court Order or Stipulation.
15.29[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Timing Set at Rule 26(f) Conference.
15.30 Disclosure of Contradiction or Rebuttal Evidence Must Be Made Within 30 Days After Other Party's Disclosure.
15.31 Expert Witness Reports or Disclosures Required.
15.31[1] Expert Witnesses Retained or Specially Employed to Provide Expert Testimony Must Prepare and Sign Detailed Reports.
15.31[1A] Parties Must Provide Summary Disclosures of Opinions to be Offered by Expert Witnesses Who Are Not Retained or Specially Employed.
15.31[2] Contents of Report or Disclosure.
15.31[2][a] Retained or Specially Employed Experts: Report Must Contain Opinions, Bases for Opinions, Data, Information, Exhibits, Qualifications, and Previous Cases.
15.31[2][b] Other Expert Witnesses: Disclosure Must State Subject Matter on Which Witness Is Expected to Present Evidence and Summary of Facts and Opinions.
15.31[3] Expert Report Must Be Detailed Statement of Direct Examination Testimony.
15.31[4] Expert Testimony Is Limited to Opinions and Bases Disclosed in Report.
15.31[5] Treating Physician May Not Be Required to File Report.
15.32 Disclosures Must Be Made in Writing, Signed, and Served.
15.33 Disclosures Should Not Be Filed.
15.34 Parties Must Supplement Disclosures.
V. FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH REQUIRED DISCLOSURE
15.34A CHECKLIST: Motions to Compel and for Sanctions When Required Disclosure Is Not Made.
15.35 Motions to Compel.
15.36 Failure to Comply With Disclosure Requirements May Result in Sanctions.
15.36[1] Evidence May Be Excluded.
15.36[2] "Substantially Justified" or "Harmless" Failure to Comply May Not Be Sanctioned.
15.36[3] Court May Require Prompt Notification of Failure to Disclose.
VI. FORMS
15.37 Rule 26(f) Report and Proposed Discovery Plan.
15.38 Initial Disclosure Statement Under Rule 26(a)(1).
15.39 Expert Witness Disclosure Statement Under Rule 26(a)(2).
CHAPTER 16 Case Management Conferences
§ 16.syn Synopsis to Chapter 16: Case Management Conferences
I. STRATEGY
16.01 Scope.
16.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. PARTICIPATING IN PRETRIAL CONFERENCES
A. Scheduling Conferences and Orders
16.03 CHECKLIST: Participating in Scheduling Conference.
16.04 Pretrial Conferences Promote Active Judicial Case Management.
16.04[1] Rule 16 Is Primary Source of Court's Case Management Authority.
16.04[2] General Use of Pretrial Conferences.
16.04[3] Importance of Local Rules and Individual Judges' Practices.
16.05 Terminology.
16.06 Preparing and Filing Scheduling Order.
16.06[1] Scheduling Order Mandatory Unless Exempted by Local Rule.
16.06[2] Judge and Litigants Must Have Contact Before Issuance of Scheduling Order.
16.06[2][a] Purpose of Mandatory Contact.
16.06[2][b] Manner of Initial Contact Not Prescribed.
16.06[2][c] Scope of Consultation Varies.
16.06[3] Time for Order.
16.06[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Scheduling Orders.
16.06[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
16.06[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
16.06[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
16.06[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
16.07 Topics to Be Addressed by Scheduling Order.
16.07[1] Mandatory and Optional Scheduling Order Topics.
16.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Topics to Be Addressed by Scheduling Order.
16.07[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
16.07[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
16.07[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
16.07[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
16.08 Categories of Cases Exempt From Scheduling Order Requirement.
16.08[1] Only Local Rules May Exempt Categories of Cases.
16.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Scheduling Order Exemptions.

16.08[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
16.08[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
16.08[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
16.08[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
16.09 Scheduling Order Controls Course of Litigation Unless Modified.
16.10 Scheduling Conference Is Discretionary Unless Required by Local Rule.
16.11 Attending Scheduling Conference.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 4 Required Conferences and Case Management
CHAPTER 16 Case Management Conferences
II. PARTICIPATING IN PRETRIAL CONFERENCES
A. Scheduling Conferences and Orders
16.11 Attending Scheduling Conference.
16.11[1] Counsel and Unrepresented Parties Must Attend.
16.11[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Attending Conference.
16.11[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
16.11[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
16.11[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
16.11[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
16.12 Seeking Modification of Scheduling Order Based on Good Cause.
16.12[1] Party Seeking Modification Must Show Good Cause.
16.12[2] Good Cause Requires Due Diligence.
16.12[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Modification of Scheduling Orders.
16.12[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
16.12[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
16.12[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
16.12[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
16.13 Appellate Review of Scheduling Orders.
16.13[1] Immediate Appellate Review Ordinarily Unavailable.
16.13[2] Extraordinary Circumstances May Permit Immediate Review.
16.13[3] Scheduling Order Decisions Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
16.13[4] Modification Ruling Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
B. Interim Pretrial Conferences and Settlement Conferences
16.14 CHECKLISTS: Participating in Interim Pretrial Conferences and Settlement Conferences.
16.14[1] CHECKLIST: Interim Pretrial Conferences.
16.14[2] CHECKLIST: Settlement Conferences.
16.15 Interim Pretrial Conferences Offer Opportunity to Review Pretrial Developments and Streamline Case.
16.16 Interim Pretrial Conferences Discretionary Unless Required by Local Rule.
16.16[1] Judge May Hold One or More Interim Pretrial Conferences.
16.16[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Interim Pretrial Conferences.
16.16[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
16.16[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
16.16[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
16.16[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
16.17 Requesting Interim Pretrial Conference.
16.18 Attending Interim Pretrial Conference.
16.18[1] Mandatory Participants.
16.18[2] Judicial Authority to Compel Attendance.
16.18[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Attendance at Interim Pretrial Conferences.
16.18[3][a] CD Cal and SD Cal Requirements.
16.18[3][b] ED Cal Requirements.
16.18[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
16.19 Topics for Consideration at Interim Pretrial Conference.
16.19[1] Rule 16(c) Lists Broad Range of Conference Topics.
16.19[2] Case-Specific Developments Dictate Topics.
16.19[3] Using Court-Appointed Experts.
16.20 Interim Pretrial Conference Orders.
16.20[1] Court May Enter Interim Pretrial Conference Order.
16.20[2] Drafting Proposed Interim Pretrial Conference Order.
16.20[3] Order Controls Litigation Until Modified.
16.21 Modification of Interim Pretrial Conference Orders.
16.22 Appellate Review.
16.22[1] Appellate Review Is Ordinarily Deferred.
16.22[2] Trial Management Decisions Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
16.23 Settlement Conferences.
16.23[1] Settlement Conferences Are Discretionary Unless Mandated by Local Rule.
16.23[2] Courts Cannot Coerce Settlement.
16.23[3] Evaluating Benefits of Settlement Conferences.
16.23[4] Referring Settlement Conference to Magistrate Judge or Special Master.

16.23[5] Preparing and Filing Settlement Conference Statement.
16.23[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Settlement Conferences.
16.23[6][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
16.23[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
16.23[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
16.23[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
C. Referring Cases to Magistrate Judges
16.24 Judges May Appoint Magistrate Judges.
16.24[1] Magistrate Judge May Handle Significant Pretrial Activity.
16.24[2] Scope of Assignments Varies.
16.24[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Assigning Case to Magistrate Judge.
16.24[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
16.24[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
16.24[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
16.24[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
16.24[4] Seeking Review of Magistrate Judge's Ruling.
D. Appointing Masters for Case Management
16.25 Use of Masters.
16.25[1] Referring Case to Master Is Exception.
16.25[2] Prior Notice and Hearing Required.
16.25[3] Authority of Master.
16.25[4] Compensation.
16.25[5] Seeking Review of Master's Determination.
16.25[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Use of Masters.
16.25[6][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
16.25[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
16.25[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
16.25[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
III. FORMS
16.26 Proposed Scheduling Order.
16.27 Local District Court Forms.
CHAPTER 17 Final Pretrial Conference
§ 17.syn Synopsis to Chapter 17: Final Pretrial Conference
I. STRATEGY
17.01 Scope.
17.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. PARTICIPATING IN FINAL PRETRIAL CONFERENCE
17.03 CHECKLIST: Participating in Final Pretrial Conference.
17.04 Determining Whether Final Pretrial Conference Will Be Held.
17.04[1] Local Rules Must Be Consulted.
17.04[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Determination of Whether District Requires Final Pretrial Conference.
17.04[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
17.04[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
17.04[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
17.04[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
17.05 At Least One Attorney for Each Party Attends Final Pretrial Conference.
17.06 Final Pretrial Conference Is Held Near Time of Trial.
17.07 Agenda Items for Final Pretrial Conference.
17.07[1] Formulation of Trial Plan.
17.07[2] Substantive Issues.
17.07[3] Logistical Matters.
17.08 Preparing Final Pretrial Order.
17.08[1] Determining Who Will Draft Proposed Final Pretrial Order.
17.08[2] Form of Order.
17.08[3] Illustrative Contents.
17.09 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Procedures for Pretrial Conferences and Orders.
17.09[1] Counsel Must Meet to Discuss Specified Matters at Least 40 Days Before Date Set for Final Pretrial Conference.
17.09[2] Parties Must Serve and File Memorandum of Contentions of Fact and Law at Least 21 Days Before Final Pretrial Conference.
17.09[3] Parties Must Serve and File Witness Lists and Exhibit Lists at Same Time As Memorandum of Contentions of Facts and Law.
17.09[4] Plaintiff's Counsel Prepares Final Pretrial Conference Order and Files Order at Least Eleven Days Before Final Pretrial Conference.
17.09[5] Continuance of Final Pretrial Conference May Be Available on Timely Stipulation or Motion.
17.09[6] Special Matters for Consideration at Final Pretrial Conference.
17.09[6][a] Unserved Parties.
17.09[6][b] Other Matters.
17.09[6][c] Setting for Trial.

17.09[7] Trial Brief Generally Required at Least Seven Days Before Trial.
17.10 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Procedures for Pretrial Conferences and Orders.
17.10[1] Pretrial Statement Is Required, Either Joint or Separate.
17.10[1][a] Type of Statement Specified in Scheduling Order.
17.10[1][b] Timing of Separate Statements.
17.10[1][c] Timing of Joint Statement.
17.10[1][d] Contents of Statement.
17.10[1][e] Claims of Privilege in Statement.
17.10[2] Agenda for Pretrial Conference.
17.10[3] Pretrial Order Must Be Submitted After Pretrial Conference.
17.10[3][a] Court May Direct Preparation by Party.
17.10[3][b] Parties May Submit Objections to Pretrial Order.
17.10[3][c] Contents of Pretrial Order.
17.10[4] Trial Briefs.
17.11 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Procedures for Pretrial Conferences and Orders.
17.11[1] Procedures Can Vary Significantly From Judge to Judge.
17.11[2] Case Management Order May Address Scheduling.
17.11[3] Joint Pretrial Conference Statement.
17.11[4] Final Pretrial Conference.
17.12 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Procedures for Pretrial Conferences and Orders.
17.12[1] Memorandum of Contentions of Fact and Law Generally Required at Least 15 Days Before Pretrial Hearing.
17.12[2] Parties Must Meet and Confer at Least 10 Days Before Pretrial Hearing.
17.12[3] Plaintiff's Counsel Prepares Pretrial Order.
17.12[4] Matters for Consideration at Pretrial Hearing.
17.13 Final Pretrial Order Defines Scope of Trial.
17.13[1] Final Pretrial Order Supersedes the Pleadings.
17.13[2] Final Pretrial Order Guides Course of Action.
17.13[2][a] Order Guides and Controls Subsequent Course of Action Unless Modified.
17.13[2][b] Order May Relieve Party of Need to Prove Certain Matters at Trial.
17.13[2][c] Stipulations in Pretrial Order Are Binding at Trial.
17.13[2][d] Issues Resolved by Agreement at Pretrial Conference May Not Be Raised Again at Trial.
17.13[3] Final Pretrial Order Has Preclusive Effect.
17.13[4] Scope of Final Pretrial Order.
17.13[5] Final Pretrial Orders Should Be Liberally Construed.
17.14 Modification of Final Pretrial Order.
17.14[1] Order May Be Modified to Prevent Manifest Injustice.
17.14[2] Factors to Determine Manifest Injustice.
17.14[3] Party Seeking Modification Has Burden of Proof.
17.14[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Modification of Final Pretrial Order.
17.15 Immediate Appellate Review of Final Pretrial Orders Is Generally Not Available.
17.15[1] Appellate Review Is Ordinarily Deferred.
17.15[2] Trial Management Decisions Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
III. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH PRETRIAL DUTIES
17.16 CHECKLIST: Sanctions for Failure to Comply With Pretrial Duties.
17.17 Imposing Sanctions to Enforce Final Pretrial Order and Other Pretrial Duties.
17.17[1] Sanctionable Conduct.
17.17[1][a] Failing to Attend or Substantially Prepare for Conference.
17.17[1][b] Failing to Participate in Good Faith in Pretrial Conference.
17.17[1][c] Failing to Obey Pretrial Order.
17.17[1][d] Violating Local Rules.
17.17[2] Bad Faith Not Required.
17.17[3] Sanctions May Be Imposed on Motion or Sua Sponte.
17.17[4] Offending Party Must Have Notice and Opportunity to Show Cause.
17.17[5] Court Has Broad Discretion to Select Appropriate Sanction.
17.17[5][a] Selection of Sanction Is Discretionary.
17.17[5][b] Broad Range of Available Sanctions.
IV. MAKING PRETRIAL DISCLOSURES PURSUANT TO RULE 26(a)(3)
17.18 CHECKLIST: Pretrial Disclosures Under Rule 26(a)(3).
17.19 Information About Witnesses, Documents, Exhibits, and Other Evidence Must Be Given to Other Parties and Filed With Court
17.19[1] Information Related to Evidence to Be Presented at Trial.
17.19[2] Identification of Witnesses.
17.19[3] Deposition Testimony to Be Used.
17.19[4] Identification of Documents and Exhibits.
17.19[5] Impeachment Information Excluded.
17.20 LOCAL PRACTICE: Rule 26(a)(3) Disclosures.
17.20[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
17.20[1][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Witness List.
17.20[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Exhibit List.

17.20[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
17.20[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Witness List.
17.20[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Exhibit List.
17.20[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
17.20[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
17.20[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Witness List.
17.20[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Exhibit List.
17.21 Disclosures Must Be Made 30 Days Before Trial.
17.22 Objections to Certain Evidence Must Be Filed Within 14 Days.
17.23 Disclosures Must Be Made in Writing, Signed, and Served.
17.24 Parties Must Supplement or Correct Rule 26(a) Disclosures to Include Later-Acquired Information.
17.24[1] Duty Applies to Pretrial Disclosures.
17.24[2] Changes to Expert Witness Disclosures Must Be Disclosed by Time Pretrial Disclosures Are Due.
V. FORMS
17.25 Pretrial Disclosure Statement Under Rule 26(a)(3).
17.26 Local District Court Forms.
CHAPTER 18 Consolidation and Separate Trials
§ 18.syn Synopsis to Chapter 18: Consolidation and Separate Trials
I. STRATEGY
18.01 Scope.
18.02 Objectives and Strategy: Consolidation.
18.02[1] Advantages of Consolidating Actions.
18.02[1][a] Promotes Efficiency.
18.02[1][b] Avoids Inconsistent Results.
18.02[1][c] Reduces Costs.
18.02[2] Court May Consolidate Sua Sponte.
18.02[3] Balance Savings in Time and Effort Against Possibility of Delay and Prejudice.
18.02[4] Consolidation May Be for Limited Purpose.
18.02[5] Consider Appellate Issues.
18.02[5][a] Order Can Be Reviewed by Appellate Court As Interlocutory Appeal.
18.02[5][b] Order Disposing of Only One Consolidated Case Is Not Appealable Absent Certification.
18.02[6] Consider Alternative Procedures.
18.02[6][a] Permissive Joinder.
18.02[6][b] Class Actions.
18.02[6][c] Multidistrict Litigation.
18.03 LOCAL PRACTICE: Notice of Related Cases, or an Administrative Motion to Consider Whether Cases Should Be Related, Must Be Filed.
18.03[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Notice of Related Cases.
18.03[1][a] File and Serve on All Parties.
18.03[1][b] Include Explanatory Statement.
18.03[1][c] Serve With Complaint.
18.03[1][d] Counterstatement Opposing Transfer.
18.03[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Notice of Related Cases.
18.03[2][a] Definition of Related Case.
18.03[2][b] File Notice Promptly.
18.03[2][c] Contents of Notice.
18.03[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Administrative Motion to Consider Whether Cases Should Be Related.
18.03[3][a] Definition of Related Case.
18.03[3][b] File Motion Promptly.
18.03[3][c] Serve Copies on All Parties.
18.03[3][d] Contents of Motion.
18.03[3][e] Response to Motion.
18.03[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Notice of Related Cases.
18.03[4][a] Definition of Related Action.
18.03[4][b] Duties of Counsel.
18.04 Objectives and Strategy: Separate Trials (Bifurcation).
18.04[1] Distinguish Rule 21 Severance.
18.04[2] Bifurcation Is Considered Exception Not Rule.
18.04[3] Evaluate Case.
18.04[3][a] Bifurcation Is Effective for Resolving Key Issues.
18.04[3][b] Bifurcation May Speed-Up Litigation.
18.04[4] Consider Appellate Issues.
II. MOVING FOR CONSOLIDATION
18.05 CHECKLIST: Moving for Consolidation.
18.06 Consider Effects of Consolidation.
18.06[1] Actions Remain Separate.
18.06[2] Consolidation Does Not Affect Diversity Jurisdiction.
18.06[3] Right to Jury Trial Is Not Affected.

18.06[4] Consolidation Does Not Affect Parties' Substantive Rights.
18.06[5] Unclear If Actions Are Merged for Personal Jurisdiction Purposes.
18.06[6] Consolidation Does Not Merge Actions for Subject Matter Jurisdiction Purposes.
18.06[7] Consolidation for Discovery Does Not Merge Suits.
18.06[8] Court May Appoint Lead Counsel.
18.06[9] Court May Require Consolidated Pleadings.
18.06[10] Only One Set of Witness Fees Allowed As Costs.
18.07 Determine Whether Common Questions of Law or Fact Exist.
18.07[1] Common Question Is Key.
18.07[2] Common Question Need Not Predominate.
18.08 Cases Must Properly Be Pending Before Same Court.
18.09 Parties Should Consider Stipulation to Consolidate.
18.10 Only Party Can Move to Consolidate.
18.11 Seek Consolidation Early.
18.12 Less than Entire Action May Be Consolidated.
18.13 Contents of Motion for Consolidation.
18.14 Factors Court Will Consider.
18.14[1] Risk of Delay.
18.14[2] Risk of Prejudice and Jury Confusion.
18.14[3] Burden on Parties, Witnesses, and Judicial Resources.
18.15 Moving Party Has Burden of Proof.
18.16 Consolidation Is Encouraged in Securities Litigation.
III. OPPOSING MOTION FOR CONSOLIDATION
18.17 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Consolidation.
18.18 Any Party Can Oppose Consolidation.
18.19 Review Grounds for Opposing Motion.
18.19[1] Existence of Common Issues Does Not Require Consolidation.
18.19[2] Consolidation Will Cause Prejudice.
18.19[3] Consolidation Will Cause Jury Confusion.
18.19[4] Consolidation Will Cause Delay.
18.19[5] Consolidation Will Cause Burden on Parties, Witnesses, and Judicial Resources.
18.20 Draft Jury Instructions to Minimize Risk of Prejudice and Confusion.
IV. MOVING FOR SEPARATE TRIALS (BIFURCATION)
18.21 CHECKLIST: Moving for Bifurcation.
18.22 Counsel Should Weigh Factors to Determine Whether Action Is Amenable to Bifurcation.
18.23 Parties Can Stipulate to Bifurcation.
18.24 Court Can Order Bifurcation Sua Sponte.
18.25 Any Party Can Move for Bifurcation.
18.26 Requests for Separate Trials Will Be Considered at Pretrial Conferences.
18.26[1] Rule 16 Applies.
18.26[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Memorandum of Contentions of Fact and Law.
18.26[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Status Conference and Pretrial Statement.
18.26[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Contents of Pretrial Order.
18.27 Move for Bifurcation As Soon As Possible.
18.28 Bifurcation Should Further Convenience.
18.29 Bifurcation Should Not Prejudice Any Party.
18.30 Bifurcation Should Be Conducive to Expedition and Economy.
18.31 Right to Jury Trial Must Be Preserved.
18.32 Not All Rule 42(b) Factors Need Be Present to Bifurcate.
18.33 Moving Party Has Burden of Proof.
18.34 Power to Separate Trials Includes Power to Stay Proceedings.
18.35 Bifurcation Is Effective in Particular Types of Actions.
18.35[1] Tort Actions.
18.35[2] Patent Cases.
18.35[3] Bifurcation Is Rule Rather Than Exception in Title VII Cases.
V. OPPOSING MOTION FOR SEPARATE TRIALS
18.36 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Separate Trials.
18.37 Prepare to Oppose Rule 42(b) Motion at or Before Initial Case Management Conference.
18.38 Review Grounds for Objecting to Bifurcation.
18.38[1] Bifurcation Will Prejudice Party.
18.38[2] Bifurcation Will Not Be Conducive to Expedition and Economy.
18.38[3] Right to Jury Trial Implications.
VI. FORMS
A. Consolidation
18.39 Notice of Motion and Motion for Consolidation of Actions.
18.40 Notice of Motion and Motion for Joint Trial.
18.41 Order Granting Consolidation of Actions or Joint Trial.
B. Separate Trials
18.42 Notice of Motion and Motion for Separate Trials.

18.43 Order Granting Separate Trials.

Source: California > Search Analysis & CLE Materials > Matthew Bender Practice Guides > Matthew Bender® Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 5 Provisional Remedies
CHAPTER 19 Preliminary Injunctions, TROs, and Other Provisional Remedies
§ 19.syn Synopsis to Chapter 19: Preliminary Injunctions, TROs, and Other Provisional Remedies
I. STRATEGY
19.01 Scope.
19.02 Objective and Strategy.
19.02[1] Provisional Injunctive Relief.
19.02[2] Prejudgment Seizure of Property.
19.02[3] Receiverships.
19.02[4] Proceeding Against Surety Under Rule 65.1.
19.02[5] Deposit of Money or Other Things Under Rule 67.
II. PROVISIONAL RELIEF (PRELIMINARY INJUNCTIONS AND TROS)
A. Seeking Provisional Relief
19.03 CHECKLISTS.
19.03[1] CHECKLIST: Determining Whether to Seek Provisional Relief.
19.03[2] CHECKLIST: Seeking a Preliminary Injunction.
19.03[3] CHECKLIST: Seeking a Temporary Restraining Order.
19.04 Options and Strategies for Party Seeking Injunctive Relief.
19.04[1] Assess Potential Tactical Benefits of Injunctive Relief.
19.04[2] Determine Types of Injunctive and Other Relief Available.
19.04[2][a] Injunctions May Be Mandatory or Prohibitory.
19.04[2][b] Injunctions Are Unavailable If Jurisdictional Requisites Are Unmet.
19.04[2][c] Suit for Injunctive Relief May Be Combined With Damages Claims.
19.05 Injunctive Relief Is an Equitable Remedy.
19.05[1] Injunctive Relief Must Be Based on Equity Principles.
19.05[2] Availability of Injunction Focuses on Need to Prevent Future Irreparable Injury.
19.05[3] Types of Injunctive Relief Are Differentiated by Degree of Permanence.
19.06 Injunctions in Removed Actions.
19.06[1] State Court Injunctions and Orders Generally Remain in Effect.
19.06[2] Ex Parte Temporary Restraining Order Expires Pursuant to State Court Order and Rule 65(b).
19.06[3] Rule 65(b) Governs Dissolution or Modification of TRO.
19.07 Seeking Permanent Injunction.
19.07[1] Purpose and Nature of Permanent Injunction.
19.07[1][a] Permanent Injunction Finally Settles Dispute.
19.07[1][b] Permanent Injunction Granted at Conclusion of Trial.
19.07[2] Subject Matter Jurisdiction Required.
19.07[3] Injunction Cannot Be Enforced Against Defendant Over Whom Court Lacks Personal Jurisdiction.
19.07[4] No Special Pleading Requirements.
19.07[5] Standing for Declaratory and Injunctive Relief.
19.07[6] Court Must Balance Hardships.
19.07[7] Plaintiff Must Show Actual Success on Merits and Likelihood of Irreparable Harm.
19.08 Seeking Preliminary Injunction.
19.08[1] Preliminary Injunction Is Provisional Remedy Preserving StatusQuo.
19.08[2] Preliminary Injunction Enjoins Allegedly Unlawful Conduct Pending Outcome of Case.
19.08[3] Ninth Circuit Employs Two Alternative Tests to Determine Propriety of Preliminary Injunction.
19.08[3][a] Moving Party Must Satisfy Either Traditional or Alternative Test.
19.08[3][b] Traditional Test Weighs Irreparable Injury, Probability of Success on Merits, Balance of Harm, and Public Interest.
19.08[3][c] Alternative Test Weighs Either Combination of Probable Success and Irreparable Injury, or Serious Questions About Merits and Balance of Hardships.
19.08[3][d] Ninth Circuit Tests Represent a Continuum.
19.08[3][e] Public Interest Is Accorded Considerable Deference.
19.08[3][f] Moving Party Has Burden of Proof.
19.08[3][g] Colorable First Amendment Claim Establishes Irreparable Injury in Ninth Circuit.
19.08[3][h] Irreparable Harm Is No Longer Presumed in Trademark, Copyright, and Unfair Competition Cases Upon Sufficient Showing of Likelihood of Success.
19.08[3][i] Modified Analysis Applies to Anti-Suit Injunctions.
19.08[4] Notice to Adverse Party Required.
19.08[4][a] Preliminary Injunction Is Unavailable Without Notice to Adverse Party.
19.08[4][b] Party May Give Notice by Service of Complaint and Summons, Motion, Order to Show Cause, or Other Reasonable Means.

19.08[5] Other Papers May Be Submitted in Support of Motion.
19.08[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Notice of Motion When TRO Not Sought.
19.08[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Motion for Preliminary Injunction.
19.08[7][a] Notice of Motion.
19.08[7][b] Accompanying Documents.
19.08[7][c] Parties Must Provide Specified Information.
19.08[7][d] Requirements for Preliminary Injunction or Temporary Restraining Order in Actions Involving Real Property.
19.08[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion for Preliminary Injunction.
19.08[9] Hearing on Motion for Preliminary Injunction Required Absent Waiver or Undisputed Facts.
19.08[10] Court May Order Consolidation of Hearing With Trial on Merits.
19.09 Seeking Temporary Restraining Order.
19.09[1] Temporary Restraining Order (TRO) Granted to Preserve Status Quo.
19.09[2] Notice to Adverse Parties Generally Required.
19.09[3] Requirements for Temporary Restraining Order Granted Without Notice.
19.09[3][a] Specified Facts of Irreparable Injury and Attorney Certification of Any Efforts to Give Notice Are Required.
19.09[3][b] Order Must Be Indorsed With Date and Hour of Issuance, and Filed Immediately.
19.09[3][c] If Granted, Order Must Be Filed Immediately.
19.09[3][d] Order Must Define Injury and State Why It Is Granted Without Notice.
19.09[3][e] Order Expires After 14 or Fewer Days Unless Extended.
19.09[3][f] Motion for Preliminary Injunction Given Priority; Temporary Restraining Order Dissolved If Applicant Does Not Proceed With Motion.
19.09[3][g] Ex Parte Relief Subject to Intense Judicial Scrutiny.
19.09[3][h] Ex Parte Relief Disfavored Absent Compelling Reason.
19.09[3][i] Respondent May Move for Dissolution or Modification on Two Days' or Shorter Notice; Motion Heard Expeditiously.
19.09[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Temporary Restraining Order.
19.09[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Temporary Restraining Order.
19.09[5][a] Actual Notice or Effort to Provide Notice Required Except in Extraordinary Circumstances.
19.09[5][b] Undue Delay of Application May Constitute Laches or Contradict Irreparable Injury Allegations.
19.09[5][c] Required Documents.
19.09[5][d] Requirements for Preliminary Injunction or Temporary Restraining Order in Actions Involving Real Property.
19.09[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Temporary Restraining Order.
19.09[6][a] Ex Parte Motion for Temporary Restraining Order.
19.09[6][b] Notice to Opposition of Ex Parte Motion.
19.09[6][c] Order to Show Cause; Form of Temporary Restraining Order.
19.10 Rules for Preliminary Injunction and Temporary Restraining Order Do Not Modify Certain Federal Statutes.
19.11 Security Is Required for Restraining Order or Preliminary Injunction.
19.11[1] Applicant Must Give Security for Restraining Order or Preliminary Injunction in Appropriate Sum.
19.11[2] Court Has Discretion to Determine Amount of Security.
19.11[3] Local Rules on Requirements for Bonds and Undertakings Must Be Consulted.
19.11[4] Surety's Liability May Be Enforced on Motion.
19.12 Injunction Order.
19.12[1] Local Rules and Judges' Individual Rules Control.
19.12[2] Requirements for Order.
19.12[2][a] Order Must Be Specific, Describe Restrained Acts in Reasonable Detail, and Not Describe Acts by Reference.
19.12[2][b] Injunction May Not Be Impermissibly Vague.
19.12[2][c] Ninth Circuit Does Not Strictly Preclude Incorporation of Other Documents If Notice of Prohibited Acts Is Adequate.
19.12[3] Order Is Binding Only on Parties, Agents, and Other Specified Persons.
19.13 Rule 65 Applies to Copyright Impoundment Proceedings.
B. Opposing Injunctive Relief
19.14 CHECKLIST: Opposing Injunctive Relief.
19.15 Options and Strategies for Opposing Injunctive Relief.
19.16 Anti-Injunction Act Limits Power of Federal Court to Enjoin State Proceedings.
19.17 Injunction Opposed on Ground of Adequate Remedy at Law.
19.18 District Court Lacks Jurisdiction to Enjoin Dissipation of Assets in Which Plaintiff Claims No Lien or Equitable Interest.
19.19 Defense of Laches.
19.19[1] Defense of Laches Requires Proof of Lack of Diligence and Prejudice.
19.19[2] Defense of Laches Is Available in Injunction Proceedings.
19.19[3] Defense of Laches Available in Some Trademark Infringement Cases.
19.19[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Undue Delay of Application May Constitute Laches or Contradict Irreparable Injury Allegations.
19.20 Defense of Unclean Hands.
19.21 Raising Objections to Motion for Preliminary Injunction.

19.22 Terms of Injunction May Be Challenged on Grounds of Overbreadth and Vagueness.
19.23 Cessation of Conduct Does Not Moot Case.
19.24 Recovery on Bond for Wrongful Restraint or Enjoinment.
C. Dissolving or Modifying Temporary Restraining Order or Preliminary Injunction
19.25 Motion for Dissolution or Modification of Temporary Restraining Order.
19.25[1] Respondent May Move for Dissolution or Modification on Two Days' or Shorter Notice.
19.25[2] Motion Is Heard Expeditiously.
19.25[3] At Time of Hearing on Motion to Dissolve TRO, Parties May Be Able to Present Evidence and Legal Arguments Re Preliminary Injunction.
19.26 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Modification or Dissolution of Preliminary Injunction or Temporary Restraining Order.
19.27 District Court Has Inherent Authority to Modify Preliminary Injunction in Consideration of New Facts.
D. Enforcing Injunction
19.28 Court May Utilize Power of Contempt.
19.29 Effect on Contempt Prosecution If Injunction Reversed.
E. Seeking Appellate Review of Order on Injunction or TRO
19.30 Appellate Court Reviews Grant or Denial of Permanent Injunction for Abuse of Discretion.
19.31 Interlocutory Orders Granting, Continuing, Modifying, Refusing or Dissolving Injunctions, or Refusing to Dissolve or Modify Injunctions Are Appealable.
19.32 Substance of Motion Controls Its Disposition.
19.33 Review of Grant or Denial of Motion for Preliminary Injunction.
19.33[1] Grant or Denial of Motion for Preliminary Injunction Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
19.33[2] When Preliminary Injunction Granted, Court of Appeals Determines Only Whether District Court Employed Appropriate Legal Standards and Correctly Interpreted Law.
19.33[3] Court Abuses Discretion When Ruling on Preliminary Injunction Is Based on Erroneous View of Law.
19.33[4] District Court's Determination of Underlying State Law, or Choice of Law Is Reviewed de Novo.
19.33[5] Merger of Preliminary Injunction Into Permanent Injunction May Render Appeal Moot.
19.33[5][a] Appeal From Grant of Preliminary Injunction Is Generally Moot When Court Enters Permanent Injunction.
19.33[5][b] If Trial Court Lacked Authority to Issue Preliminary Injunction, Appeal May Be Possible After Conversion to Permanent Injunction.
19.34 Extended TRO Granted Ex Parte May Be Appealable As Preliminary Injunction.
19.35 Effect of Appeal on Injunction Under Rule 62.
19.35[1] Interlocutory or Final Judgment in Injunction Action Not Stayed Pending Appeal.
19.35[2] District Court May Suspend, Modify, Restore, or Grant Injunction Pending Appeal.
19.35[3] Court of Appeals May Suspend, Modify, Restore, or Grant Injunction Pending Appeal.
19.36 Amount of Security Bond Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
III. SEIZURE OF PROPERTY BEFORE JUDGMENT THROUGH WRIT OF ATTACHMENT OR POSSESSION
A. Determining All Available Remedies
19.37 CHECKLIST: Determining Available Remedies.
19.38 Prejudgment Remedies Are Those Available Under California Law.
19.39 Although State Law Determines Which Remedies Are Available, Federal Rules Govern Procedure.
19.39[1] Procedure for Prejudgment Remedy Generally Governed by Federal Law.
19.39[2] Exception; State Law Supplies Procedure for Lis Pendens.
19.40 Complaint Must Be Filed Before Seizure Is Available.
19.41 When Action Is Removed, State Court Remedies Continue.
19.42 Prejudgment Remedies Available Under California Law.
19.42[1] Writ of Attachment Is Available Under California Law.
19.42[2] Writ of Possession Is Available Under California Law.
19.42[3] Other Prejudgment Relief May Be Available Under California Law.
19.43 Agreement to Arbitrate That Provides Method and Forum for Provisional Relief Precludes Provisional Relief in District Court.
B. Obtaining a Writ of Attachment
19.44 CHECKLIST: Obtaining a Writ of Attachment.
19.45 Options and Strategies for Plaintiff.
19.45[1] Determine Whether Attachment Is Available.
19.45[2] Determine Probable Validity of Claim.
19.46 Consider Use of Preliminary Injunction If Conditions for Attachment Cannot Be Met.
19.47 Compute Amount to Be Secured by Attachment.
19.48 Identify Property Subject to Attachment.
19.48[1] California Law Exempts Specific Property From Attachment.
19.48[2] All Property of Corporation, Partnership, or Unincorporated Association, Which May Be Levied, Is Subject to Attachment.
19.48[3] Only Specified Property of Natural Person Is Subject to Attachment.
19.48[4] Special Rules Apply to Property Subject to Pending Action or Special Proceeding.
19.49 Application for Right to Attach Order.
19.49[1] Application Must Be Executed Under Oath and Contain Specified Information.
19.49[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Application Must Be Made to Magistrate Judge.
19.50 Writ of Attachment May Be Obtained Ex Parte Only on Showing of Great or Irreparable Injury.

19.51 Application for Temporary Protective Order to Preserve Status Quo May Be Filed With Application for Right to Attach Order.
19.52 Contents of Notice to Defendant.
19.52[1] Defendant Must Be Notified of Time and Place of Hearing and Right to Be Present.
19.52[2] Defendant Must Be Notified of Conditions for Issuing Order.
19.52[3] Defendant Must Be Notified of Basis for Amount of Attachment.
19.52[4] Defendant Must Be Notified of Right to Oppose Attachment and of Right to Claim Property As Exempt.
19.52[5] Notice Must Contain Prescribed Statement Concerning Advice of Counsel.
19.53 Court Will Issue Right to Attach Order If Statutory Requirements Are Met.
19.54 Plaintiff Must Post Undertaking for Writ to Issue.
19.55 Contents of Writ.
19.56 Levying on Property by Service of Writ.
19.56[1] Serve Copies of Writ and Notice of Attachment on Defendant.
19.56[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Seizure of Property.
19.57 Levy Creates Attachment Lien That May Last for Maximum of Eight Years.
19.58 Additional Writs of Attachment Are Available Following Notice and Hearing.
19.59 Order Granting Prejudgment Writ of Attachment Is Not Appealable.
C. Opposing a Writ of Attachment
19.60 CHECKLIST: Opposing a Writ of Attachment.
19.61 Options and Strategy for Defendant Opposing Writ of Attachment.
19.62 Specified Property Is Exempt From Attachment.
19.62[1] When Defendant Is an Entity, Property Subject to Levy Is Subject to Attachment.
19.62[2] When Defendant Is a Natural Person, Variety of Exemptions Apply.
19.63 File and Serve Notice of Opposition and/or Claim of Exemption Along With Supporting Papers Not Later Than Five Court Days Before Hearing Date.
19.64 Plaintiff May Oppose Claim of Exemption.
19.65 Undertaking May Be Substituted for Attached Property.
19.65[1] Application for Substitution of Undertaking Must Be Made by Noticed Motion.
19.65[2] All Defendants With Interest in Attached Property Must Join in Application for Undertaking.
19.65[3] Order Will Issue If Undertaking Is Sufficient.
19.66 Defendant May Apply by Noticed Motion to Quash Writ Granted Ex Parte.
19.67 Defendant May Apply by Noticed Motion for Release of Excess Attachment.
D. Obtaining a Writ of Possession
19.68 CHECKLIST: Obtaining a Writ of Possession.
19.69 Options and Strategies for Plaintiff.
19.69[1] California Law Determines Circumstances and Manner in Which Writ of Possession Is Available.
19.69[2] Plaintiff Must Show Probable Validity of Claim.
19.69[3] Personal Property Must Be Specific and Tangible.
19.70 Plaintiff Must Apply for Writ of Possession.
19.70[1] Plaintiff Must File Application to Obtain Writ of Possession.
19.70[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Application Must Be Made to Magistrate Judge.
19.71 Contents of Application for Writ of Possession.
19.71[1] Application Must Show Basis of Plaintiff's Claim and That Plaintiff Is Entitled to Possession.
19.71[2] Application Must Show Wrongful Detention of Property by Defendant.
19.71[3] Application Must Describe Property and Its Location.
19.71[4] Application Must State Property Has Not Been Taken Pursuant to Statute.
19.72 Writ of Possession May Be Obtained Ex Parte Only Under Limited Circumstances.
19.73 Before Hearing, Defendant Must Be Served With Application and Notice.
19.73[1] Documents That Must Be Served on Defendant Before Hearing.
19.73[2] Contents of Notice to Defendant.
19.73[2][a] Defendant Must Be Notified of Time and Place of Hearing.
19.73[2][b] Defendant Must Be Notified of Conditions for Issuing Writ.
19.73[2][c] Defendant Must Be Notified of Right to Oppose Issuance of Writ.
19.73[2][d] Notice Must Contain Prescribed Statement Concerning Advice of Counsel.
19.74 Court Will Issue Writ If Plaintiff Establishes Probable Validity of Claim and Satisfies Undertaking Requirements.
19.74[1] Plaintiff Must Show Probable Validity of Claim.
19.74[2] Plaintiff Must Satisfy Undertaking Requirements, Unless Waived.
19.74[3] If Plaintiff Seeks Writ Requiring Entry Into Private Property, Plaintiff Must Show Probable Cause to Believe Property Is Located There.
19.75 If Writ Issues, Court May Also Issue "Turnover" Order.
19.76 Contents of Writ.
19.77 Order Granting Prejudgment Writ of Possession Is Not Appealable.
E. Opposing a Writ of Possession
19.78 CHECKLIST: Opposing a Writ of Possession.
19.79 Options and Strategies for Defendant Opposing Writ of Possession.
19.80 Service and Contents of Documents Must Meet Statutory Requirements.
19.80[1] Defendant Must Be Served With All Required Documents.
19.80[2] Notice of Application and Hearing Must Satisfy Statutory Requirements As to Contents.

19.80[3] Plaintiff's Application or Affidavits Must Make Required Showings.
19.81 File Opposition Papers With Court and Effect Service on Plaintiff.
19.82 If Writ Was Issued Ex Parte, Defendant May Move to Quash.
19.83 Object to Plaintiff's Undertaking Within 10 Days After Levy.
19.84 File Defendant's Undertaking to Retain or Regain Possession of Property.
IV. APPOINTMENT OF RECEIVER
A. Determining Propriety of Receivership
19.85 CHECKLIST: Determining Propriety of Receivership.
19.86 Options and Strategy for Determining Propriety of Receivership.
19.87 Determine Whether "Receivership in Fact" Already Exists.
19.88 Court's Jurisdiction to Appoint Receiver.
19.88[1] Subject Matter Jurisdiction Can Be Presumed.
19.88[1A] Federal Law Governs Appointment of Receiver in Diversity Action.
19.88[2] Seeking Equitable Relief May Implicate Appointment of Receiver.
19.88[3] Know Location of Property to Be Placed in Receivership.
19.88[3][a] Court With Jurisdiction in Rem May Appoint Receiver.
19.88[3][b] Jurisdiction in Rem Can Extend Outside District.
19.88[3][c] Jurisdiction of Legal Owner Is Sufficient to Reach Property in Any District.
19.89 Factual Basis for Receivership.
19.89[1] Receivership Is Drastic Remedy.
19.89[2] Nontraditional Factual Setting Is No Bar to Relief.
19.89[3] Match Facts of Case With Conditions Justifying Receivership.
19.89[3][a] Various Facts May Be Relevant.
19.89[3][b] Going Business May Present Special Case.
19.89[3][c] Foreclosure Proceeding May Present Special Case.
B. Seeking Appointment of Receiver on Notice
19.90 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Appointment of Receiver on Notice.
19.91 Options and Strategy for Obtaining Appointment of Receiver on Notice.
19.92 Receivership Is Obtained Through Order to Show Cause or Notice of Motion.
19.92[1] Notice Usually Is Required.
19.92[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Drafting Order to Show Cause or Notice of Motion.
19.92[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
19.92[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
19.92[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
19.92[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.93 Other Parties Must Be Served With Order to Show Cause or Notice of Motion.
19.93[1] Follow Normal Motion Practice.
19.93[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Serving Other Parties.
19.93[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
19.93[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.94 Notice Must Be Provided to Creditors.
19.94[1] Applicant Must Notify Creditors.
19.94[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Giving Notice to Creditors.
19.94[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
19.94[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.95 Court Order Is Source of Authority for Appointment.
19.95[1] Order Is Source of Authority.
19.95[2] Special Provisions May Be Appropriate.
19.95[3] Local Rules Apply to Some Extent.
19.95[4] Requiring Receiver's Bond.
19.95[4][a] Court May Require Bond.
19.95[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
19.95[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
19.95[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.96 Administration of Property by Receiver.
19.96[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Administering Receivership Generally.
19.96[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Keeping Time Records.
19.96[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Depositing Funds.
19.96[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
19.96[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
19.96[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.97 Reporting Duties of Receiver.
19.97[1] Reports Must Be Filed and Served Periodically.
19.97[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing and Serving Reports.
19.97[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
19.97[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
19.97[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
19.97[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.98 Duty of Receiver to Give Prior Notice of Significant Acts.

19.98[1] Receiver Must Notify Parties and Creditors.
19.98[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Notifying Parties and Creditors.
19.98[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
19.98[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
19.98[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
19.98[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.99 Power of Receiver to Employ Professionals.
19.99[1] Court Approval May Be Required.
19.99[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Employing Attorney, Accountant, or Investigator.
19.99[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
19.99[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
19.99[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.100 Taking Control of Property in Other District.
19.100[1] Receiver Has Jurisdiction Over Property in Other District.
19.100[2] Receiver's Jurisdiction Generally Is Subject to Condition Subsequent.
19.100[3] Jurisdiction Over Intangible Property May Not Be Subject to Condition Subsequent.
C. Applying Ex Parte for Temporary Receiver
19.101 CHECKLIST: Applying Ex Parte for Temporary Receiver.
19.102 Options and Strategy for Ex Parte Application for Temporary Receiver.
19.103 Party Seeking Ex Parte Application Must Obtain Supporting Verified Declaration.
19.103[1] Good Cause Must Be Shown.
19.103[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Showing of Good Cause.
19.103[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
19.103[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
19.103[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
19.103[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.104 Hearing on Continuation of Receivership Must Be Held.
19.104[1] Prompt Hearing Is Required.
19.104[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Scheduling Prompt Hearing.
19.104[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
19.104[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
19.105 Order to Show Cause or Notice of Motion Must Be Utilized.
19.105[1] Parties and Creditors Are Entitled to Notice of Hearing.
19.105[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Drafting Order to Show Cause or Notice of Motion.
19.105[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
19.105[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
19.105[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
19.105[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.106 Creditors of Adverse Party Must Be Notified.
19.106[1] Temporary Receiver Will Give Notice to Creditors.
19.106[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Filing of List.
19.107 Ex Parte Applicant Must Give Notice of Appointment.
19.107[1] Ex Parte Applicant Will Give Notice.
19.107[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Giving Notice.
D. Opposing Appointment of Receiver
19.108 CHECKLIST: Opposing Appointment of Receiver.
19.109 Options and Strategy for Opposing Appointment of Receiver.
19.110 Attack Factual Showing in Support of Appointment.
19.110[1] Show That More Harm Than Good Will Result.
19.110[2] Stress Unbalanced Outcome.
19.111 Defending Debt-Collection Suit by United States.
19.111[1] United States May Seek Appointment of Receiver.
19.111[2] Cite Any Failure to Meet Statutory Requirements.
19.111[2][a] Specific and Verified Showing Is Required.
19.111[2][b] Supporting Affidavit Is Required.
19.112 Minimize Harsh Result When Court Intends to Give Relief.
19.112[1] Suggest That Injunction Would Be Effective and Less Drastic.
19.112[2] Propose That Court Require Bond Rather Than Appoint Receiver.
19.112[3] Request Specific Limitations on Receiver's Authority and Powers.
19.112[4] Propose Custodian in Lieu of Receiver for Going Business.
19.112[5] Challenge Applicant's Candidate for Receiver.
19.112[5][a] Assert Statutory Ineligibility.
19.112[5][b] Argue That Candidate Lacks Neutrality.
19.112[5][c] Argue Special Circumstances Showing Inequity or Hardship.
19.113 Appeal From Order Appointing Receiver.
19.113[1] Interlocutory Appeal Is Allowed.
19.113[2] Standard of Review Is Abuse of Discretion.
19.113[3] Stay May Be Sought in District Court.
19.113[4] District Court May Modify Order During Pendency of Appeal.

V. PROCEEDING AGAINST A SURETY
A. Determining Whether to Proceed Against Surety by Rule 65.1 Motion
19.114 CHECKLIST: Initial Considerations.
19.115 Options and Strategy for Creditor Considering Rule 65.1 Motion.
19.116 Identify Provision Under Which Surety Provided Security.
19.116[1] Rule 65.1 Motion Available Against Surety When Security Is Permitted or Required Under Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
19.116[2] Rule 65.1 Motion Not Available in Bankruptcy Proceedings.
19.117 Rule 65.1 Motion Available Against Principal.
19.117[1] Creditor May Bring Rule 65.1 Motion Against Principal.
19.117[2] Rule 65.1 Motion Not Available for Surety to Proceed Against Principal.
19.118 Creditor May Bring Independent Action.
19.118[1] Creditor May Bring Independent Action in State or Federal Court.
19.118[2] District Court Has Jurisdiction Over Action on Bond Executed Under Federal Law.
B. Determining Surety's Liability Under Bond
19.119 CHECKLIST: Determining Surety's Liability Under Bond.
19.120 Conditions for Payment Under Bond Must Be Satisfied Before Initiating Rule 65.1 Motion.
19.121 Surety's Liability Under Injunction Bond.
19.121[1] Federal Rules Require Bond for Temporary Restraining Order or Preliminary Injunction to Issue.
19.121[2] Bond May Be Executed When Party Was Wrongfully Enjoined or Restrained.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 5 Provisional Remedies
CHAPTER 19 Preliminary Injunctions, TROs, and Other Provisional Remedies
V. PROCEEDING AGAINST A SURETY
B. Determining Surety's Liability Under Bond
19.121 Surety's Liability Under Injunction Bond.
19.121[3] Rebuttable Presumption Exists That Wrongfully Enjoined or Restrained Party Is Entitled to Execution of Bond.
19.121[4] Federal Common Law Governs Damages Recoverable.
19.121[5] Amount of Recoverable Damages.
19.121[5][a] Damages Recoverable to Compensate Wrongfully Enjoined Party for Injury Caused by Injunction.
19.121[5][b] Damages Recoverable From Surety Are Limited to Amount of Bond.
19.121[5][c] Attorney Fees Recoverable Only If Bond So Provides.
19.122 Surety's Liability Under Attachment Bond.
19.122[1] California Law Governs Attachment Undertaking.
19.122[2] Undertaking Is Condition of Writ of Attachment.
19.122[3] Amount of Damages Recoverable.
19.122[3][a] Damages Proximately Caused.
19.122[3][b] Attorney Fees.
19.122[3][c] Liability Limited to Amount of Undertaking.
19.123 Surety's Liability Under Supersedeas Bond.
C. Moving to Enforce Surety's Liability Under Rule 65.1
19.124 CHECKLIST: Moving to Enforce Surety's Liability Under Rule 65.1.
19.125 Options and Strategy for Moving Party.
19.126 Surety's Liability May Be Enforced by Motion.
19.127 Surety Submits to Jurisdiction of Court.
19.128 Motion Must Be Timely.
19.128[1] Motion May Be Filed After Determination on Merits of Underlying Action.
19.128[2] Motion Must Be Filed Before Exoneration of Bond.
19.128[3] Excessive Delay May Be Fatal.
19.129 Advance Notice of Motion Is Required.
19.130 Attempt Resolution With Opposing Counsel.
19.131 Provide Notice to Surety by Service on Surety or by Serving Papers on Clerk.
19.131[1] Notice Must Be Provided to Surety.
19.131[2] Clerk of Court Acts As Surety's Agent.
19.131[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Direct Notice to Surety.
19.131[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
19.131[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
19.131[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
19.131[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
19.132 Adverse Ruling May Be Appealed to Ninth Circuit.
D. Opposing Rule 65.1 Motion to Enforce Surety's Liability
19.133 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion to Enforce Surety's Liability Under Rule 65.1.
19.134 Options and Strategy for Party Opposing Rule 65.1 Motion.
19.135 Rule 65.1 Procedure May Be Delayed by Injunction.
19.136 District Court Lacks Jurisdiction Over Suit on Injunction Bond Once Bond Is Exonerated.
19.137 Motion Must Be Timely.
19.138 Appeal From Determination of Liability.
VI. DEPOSIT OF MONEY OR PROPERTY INTO COURT
A. Determining Whether to Seek Leave to Make Deposit by Rule 67 Motion
19.139 CHECKLIST: Initial Considerations.
19.140 Deposit With Court Is Appropriate in Interpleader and to Stop Accrual of Interest.
19.140[1] Deposit Is Condition of Interpleader Under Federal Interpleader Act.
19.140[2] Deposit May Be Required As Condition of Proceeding With Rule Interpleader.
19.140[3] Deposit Will Stop Accrual of Interest.
19.141 Action Must Seek Judgment for Money or Property Capable of Being Deposited.
19.142 Money or Property Must Be Suitable for Delivery to Court.
19.143 All or Only Part of Disputed Money or Property May Be Deposited.
B. Moving for Leave to Deposit Disputed Money or Property With Court
19.144 CHECKLIST: Moving for Leave to Deposit Disputed Money or Property With Court.
19.145 Options and Strategy for Moving Party.

19.146 Motion or Stipulation Is Required to Obtain Leave to Make Deposit Unless Deposit Is Allowed As of Right.
19.146[1] Noticed Motion Is Required to Obtain Leave to Make Deposit Unless Local Rules Provide Otherwise.
19.146[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Deposit Allowed As of Right in Interpleader Action.
19.146[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Leave of Court to Make Deposit May Be Requested by Stipulation.
19.147 Notice Is Required for Motion.
19.147[1] General Notice Rules Apply Unless Local Rules Specify Otherwise.
19.147[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Seven Days' Notice Required.
19.148 Money Must Be Deposited With Treasurer or Designated Depository.
19.148[1] Money Must Be Deposited in Name of and to Credit of Court.
19.148[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Depositor May Request Special Placement.
19.148[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Moving Party Must Request Deposit in Other Than Passbook Savings Account.
19.149 Order Must Comply With Federal And Local Rules.
19.149[1] Order Required to Make Deposit Unless Local Rule Provides for Deposit As of Right.
19.149[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Proposed Order Must Be Served on Clerk for Approval.
19.149[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Order Must Specify Amount and Placement of Deposit.
19.149[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Order Must Specify Amount and Placement of Deposit.
19.150 Service of Order Must Comply With Federal and Local Rules.
19.150[1] Serve Order Permitting Deposit on Clerk of Court and Other Parties.
19.150[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Counsel for Depositor Has Responsibility of Personal Delivery of Order to Clerk.
19.150[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Personal Service Required on Designated Clerk.
19.150[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Personal Service on Clerk Required If Order Directs Deposit in Other Than Passbook Savings Account.
19.151 Adverse Ruling May Be Appealed to Ninth Circuit.
C. Withdrawing the Deposit
19.152 CHECKLIST: Withdrawing the Deposit.
19.153 Money Earns Interest While on Deposit.
19.154 Claimant Must Show Right to Withdraw Funds.
19.155 Order for Disbursement Must Comply With Federal and Local Rules.
19.155[1] Court Order Required to Withdraw Deposit.
19.155[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Order Must Specifically Direct Clerk to Disburse Funds.
19.155[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Order Must Be Entitled "Order to Disburse Funds" and Contain Other Specified Information.
19.156 Funds Unclaimed After Five Years Are Deposited With Treasury.
VII. FORMS
A. Injunctive Relief
19.157 Order to Show Cause for Preliminary Injunction With TRO.
19.158 Motion for Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction.
19.159 Preliminary Injunction.
B. Seizing Property Before Judgment
19.160 Application for Right to Attach Order and Optional Request for Temporary Protective Order.
C. Appointment of Receiver
19.161 Order to Show Cause--Appointment of Receiver.
19.162 Notice of Motion and Motion for Appointment of Receiver.
D. Proceeding Against a Surety
19.163 Notice of Motion and Motion for Damages for Wrongful Injunction.
E. Deposit of Money or Property Into Court
19.164 Notice of Motion for Leave to Make Deposit in Court Following Refusal of Tendered Payment.
F. Local District Court Forms
19.165 Local Central District Court Attachment Forms.
Unit 6 Class Actions
CHAPTER 20 Class Actions
§ 20.syn Synopsis to Chapter 20: Class Actions
I. STRATEGY
20.01 Scope.
20.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. DETERMINING WHETHER PREREQUISITES TO CLASS ACTION CAN BE SATISFIED
20.03 CHECKLIST: Determining Whether Prerequisites to Class Action Can Be Satisfied.
20.04 Options and Strategy.
20.05 Identifiable Class Must Exist.
20.05A Standards to Be Applied in Adjudicating Rule 23 Motion for Class Certification.
20.06 Four Requirements of Rule 23(a) Must Be Met.
20.06[1] Class Must Be So Numerous That Joinder Is Impracticable.
20.06[2] Questions of Law or Fact Must Be Common to Class.
20.06[3] Representative's Claims or Defenses Must Be Typical of Class.
20.06[4] Representative Must Fairly and Adequately Protect Class Interests.
20.06[4][a] Adequacy Has Two Components.

20.06[4][b] Interests of Class Representative May Not Conflict With Interests of Other Class Members.
20.06[4][c] Class Member Must Be Able to Prosecute Action Vigorously.
20.07 Action Must Be One of Four Types Maintainable Under Rule 23(b).
20.07[1] Court May Certify Action Under More Than One Category.
20.07[2] Court May Certify Action Under Rule 23(b)(1)(A) If Separate Actions Would Create Risk of Inconsistent Adjudications That Would Establish Incompatible Standards for Party Opposing Class.
20.07[3] Court May Certify Action Under Rule 23(b)(1)(B) If Separate Actions Would Create Risk of Adjudications That Would Be Dispositive of Interests of Non-Party Class Members.
20.07[3][a] Certification Is Proper If Separate Actions Would Inescapably Alter Rights of Other Class Members.
20.07[3][b] Certification May Be Granted on "Limited Fund" Theory.
20.07[4] Court May Certify Action Under Rule 23(b)(2) If Action Seeks Injunctive or Corresponding Declaratory Relief With Respect to Class As Whole.
20.07[4][a] Rule 23(b)(2) Applies When Class-Wide Relief Is Appropriate.
20.07[4][b] Claims for Damages May Be Included in Action If They Are Secondary to Primary Claims for Injunctive or Declaratory Relief.
20.07[4][c] Manageability Is Relevant Although Analysis Is Not Explicitly Required.
20.07[5] Court May Certify Action Under Rule 23(b)(3) If Common Questions Predominate and Class Action Is Superior Method of Adjudication.
20.07[5][a] Rule 23(b)(3) Class Action Must Meet Both Predominance and Superiority Requirements.
20.07[5][b] Questions Common to Class Must Predominate Over Individual Questions.
20.07[5][c] Class Action Must Be Superior to Other Available Methods of Adjudication.
III. FILING ACTION AS CLASS ACTION
20.08 CHECKLIST: Filing Action As Class Action.
20.09 Options and Strategy.
20.10 LOCAL PRACTICE: Action Must Be Designated As Class Action on First Page of Complaint.
20.11 Complaint Should Plead Class Allegations.
20.11[1] Allegations Should Indicate That Action May Be Maintained As Class Action.
20.11[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Class Allegations.
20.11[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
20.11[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
20.11[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
20.12 Class Action Must Meet Jurisdictional Requirements.
20.12[1] Named Plaintiff Must Have Constitutional Standing.
20.12[1][a] Court Must Dismiss for Lack of Standing at Beginning of Suit.
20.12[1][b] Mootness of Representative's Claim After Certification Does Not Require Dismissal.
20.12[1][c] Mootness Before Certification Does Not Defeat Jurisdiction If Relation-Back Exception Applies.
20.12[2] Federal Jurisdiction Must Be Established.
20.12[2][a] Jurisdiction May Be Based on Diversity or Federal Question.
20.12[2][b] For General Diversity Jurisdiction, Citizenship of Class Representative Is Considered for Diversity Purposes and Class Representative Must Meet Amount in Controversy Requirement.
20.12[2][c] When Amount in Controversy Exceeds $5 Million and Class Members Number 100 or More, Modified Diversity Requirements May Apply.
20.13 Filing Tolls Statute of Limitations for Absent Class Members.
IV. MOVING FOR CLASS CERTIFICATION
20.14 CHECKLIST: Moving for Class Certification.
20.15 Proponent of Class Must Make Timely Motion for Certification.
20.15[1] Certification Process Initiated by Motion.
20.15[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
20.15[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
20.16 Court Must Decide Whether to Certify Class at Early Practicable Time.
20.16[1] Early Resolution Is Required.
20.16[2] Court Must Conduct Rigorous Analysis.
20.16[3] Court Has Broad Discretion Within Framework of Rule 23.
20.16[4] Court Will Hold Evidentiary Hearing.
20.16[5] Court May Allow Discovery.
20.16[6] Proponent of Class Has Burden of Proof.
20.16[7] Court Should Not Consider Merits.
20.17 Court May Certify As to Particular Issues.
20.18 Court May Create Subclasses.
20.19 Court May Certify Settlement-Only Class.
20.20 Court May Certify Defendant Class.
20.21 Court Must Issue Written Order.
20.22 Court May Revise Order or Decertify Class.
20.23 Court of Appeals May Permit Interlocutory Review of Certification Decision.
V. PROVIDING NOTICE TO CLASS MEMBERS AND OPPORTUNITY TO OPT OUT
20.24 CHECKLIST: Providing Notice to Class Members.
20.25 Options and Strategy.
20.26 Court May Direct Notice in Rule 23(b)(1) or (2) Class Actions.
20.26[1] Notice Is Discretionary With Court.

20.26[2] Opportunity to Opt Out Is Ordinarily Not Required.
20.27 Court Must Direct Notice in Rule 23(b)(3) Class Actions.
20.27[1] Notice Is Mandatory.
20.27[2] Notice Must Be "Best Notice Practicable."
20.27[3] Class Members Must Be Afforded Opportunity to Opt Out.
20.27[4] Notice Must Set Deadlines for Action by Class Members.
20.28 Class Proponent Ordinarily Must Bear Cost of Notice.
20.29 Interlocutory Appeal of Orders Relating to Notice May Be Available.
20.30 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Pleading.
VI. SEEKING APPOINTMENT AS CLASS COUNSEL AND REQUESTING FEE AWARD
20.31 CHECKLIST: Seeking Appointment As Class Counsel and Requesting Fee Award.
20.31[1] Seeking Appointment As Class Counsel.
20.31[2] Requesting Fee Award.
20.32 Options and Strategy.
20.33 Court Must Appoint Class Counsel.
20.33[1] Court Must Appoint Counsel at Time of Certification.
20.33[2] Counsel Should Submit Application to Court.
20.33[3] Class Counsel Must Fairly and Adequately Represent Class.
20.33[4] Court Must Consider Prescribed Factors.
20.33[5] Appointment Order May Address Fees.
20.34 Court May Designate Interim Counsel.
20.35 Attorneys May Request Fee Award.
20.35[1] Claim for Attorney's Fees Must Be Made by Motion Under Rule 54.
20.35[2] Any Attorneys Who Provide Services in Action May File Motion.
20.35[3] Parties and Class Members Must Be Given Notice of Motion and Opportunity to Object.
20.35[4] Court May Hold Hearing.
20.35[5] Court Must Find Facts and State Conclusions of Law.
20.35[6] Court Must Ensure That Fee Award Is Reasonable.
20.35[6][a] Court Must Protect Interest of Absent Class Members.
20.35[6][b] Court Must Calculate Fees by Lodestar Method When Award Is Based on Fee-Shifting Statute.
20.35[6][c] Court May Employ Either Lodestar or Percentage Method in Common Fund Cases.
20.35[6][d] Court Must Calculate Fee Awards in Coupon Settlements in Accord With Statute.
20.35[6][e] Payment to Class Counsel That Results in Net Loss to Class Member Permissible Only If Nonmonetary Benefit Outweighs Loss.
VII. SEEKING OTHER ORDERS IN CLASS ACTION
20.36 CHECKLIST: Seeking Other Orders in Class Action.
20.37 Options and Strategy.
20.38 Court May Make Appropriate Orders.
20.38[1] Court May Make Various Orders Under Rule 23(d).
20.38[2] Court May Order Additional Notice.
20.38[3] Court May Limit Communications Between Parties and Class Members.
VIII. SETTLING OR DISMISSING CLASS ACTION
20.39 CHECKLIST: Settling or Dismissing Class Action.
20.40 Options and Strategy.
20.41 Parties May Voluntarily Dismiss or Settle Claims Before Certification.
20.41A Each Defendant Must Notify Federal and State Officials When Proposed Settlement Is Filed With Court After Certification.
20.41A[1] Defendants Must Notify Officials Within 10 Days of Filing Proposed Settlement.
20.41A[2] Officials to Be Notified.
20.41A[2][a] United States Attorney General Must Be Notified Unless Defendant Is Specified Federal Financial Institution.
20.41A[2][b] State Official With Regulatory or Supervisory Responsibility Over Defendant Must Be Notified.
20.41A[3] Final Approval of Proposed Settlement Cannot Occur Earlier Than 90 Days After Service of Notice on State and Federal Officials.
20.41A[4] Class Members May Choose Not to Be Bound If Notice Not Given.
20.42 Settlement or Voluntary Dismissal After Certification Requires Court Approval.
20.42[1] Court Must Find That Settlement or Voluntary Dismissal Is Fair, Reasonable, and Adequate.
20.42[2] Parties Must Disclose Terms and Identify Side Agreements.
20.42[3] Settlement Is Favored Method of Resolution.
20.42[4] Court Will Consider Various Factors to Determine Whether Settle- ment Is Fair.
20.42[5] Court Must Accept or Reject Settlement As a Whole.
20.42[6] Court Must Order Notice of Proposed Settlement and Allow Opportunity to Object.
20.42[6][a] Notice Is Mandatory for All Types of Class Actions.
20.42[6][b] Notice Must Be Given in Reasonable Manner.
20.42[7] Class Members May Object to Proposed Settlement.
20.42[8] Court May Allow New Opportunity to Opt Out.
20.42[9] Objectors Have Limited Right to Discovery.
20.42[10] Court Must Hold Hearing and Make Findings.
20.42[11] Court May Not Approve Proposed Settlement That Favors Class Members Located Near Court.

20.43 Involuntary Dismissals Do Not Require Prior Notice to Class.
20.44 Judgment Must Indicate Who Is Bound.
IX. PROCEEDINGS IN SECURITIES CLASS ACTIONS
20.45 CHECKLIST: Proceedings in Securities Class Actions.
20.46 Options and Strategy.
20.47 Plaintiff Must File Certification With Complaint.
20.48 Plaintiff Must Provide Early Notice to Class Members.
20.49 Other Class Members May Apply to Serve As Lead Plaintiff.
20.50 Court Must Appoint Lead Plaintiff.
20.50[1] Court Must Appoint "Most Adequate Plaintiff" Within 90 Days.
20.50[2] Court Must Presume That Applicant With Greatest Financial Interest Is "Most Adequate Plaintiff."
20.50[3] Court May Appoint Related Group of Persons As Lead Plaintiff.
20.50[4] "Professional" Plaintiffs Restricted From Serving As Lead Plaintiff.
20.50[5] Court's Decision Is Not Appealable Collateral Order.
20.51 Lead Plaintiff Is Entitled to Select Class Counsel.
20.52 Lead Plaintiff's Recovery Limited to Representative Share.
20.53 Attorney's Fees Must Be Reasonable.
20.54 Settlement Notice Must Contain Prescribed Statements.
20.55 Settlement Ordinarily May Not Be Under Seal.
20.56 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Cover Sheet.
20.57 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Electronic Posting.
X. FORMS
20.58 General Form of Complaint in Class Action.
20.59 Notice of Motion and Motion to Certify Class Action.
20.60 Order Certifying Plaintiff Class.
20.61 Certification by Plaintiff in Securities Class Action.
20.62 Notice of Motion and Motion to Be Appointed Lead Plaintiff in Securities Class Action.
20.63 Order Appointing Lead Plaintiff in Securities Class Action.
20.64 Local District Court Forms.
Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 21 Discovery Strategy and Planning
§ 21.syn Synopsis to Chapter 21: Discovery Strategy and Planning
I. STRATEGY
21.01 Scope.
21.02 Objective and Strategy.
21.02[1] Proper Discovery Planning Can Shape Entire Case.
21.02[2] Proper Document Management Helps Case Proceed Efficiently.
II. DEVELOPING A DISCOVERY PLAN
21.03 CHECKLIST: Planning and Preparing for Discovery.
21.04 Key Considerations for Implementing Discovery Plan.
21.04[1] Understanding Importance of Planning.
21.04[2] Establishing Plan at Onset of Litigation.
21.04[3] Conducting Legal Research and Reviewing Relevant Jury Instructions.
21.04[4] Conducting Client Interviews to Establish Basic Facts.
21.04[4][a] Setting Up Interview.
21.04[4][b] Meeting With Client to Prepare Pleadings.
21.04[4][c] Eliciting Necessary Facts Through Client Interview.
21.04[4][d] Limiting Note-Taking by Client During Interview.
21.04[4][e] Establishing List of Potential Witnesses Through Initial Interviews.
21.04[4][f] Preparing Client for Future Discovery During Initial Interview.
21.04[5] Reviewing Relevant Documents and Electronically Stored Information in Client's Possession, Custody, or Control.
21.04[5][a] Preparing for Mandatory Initial Disclosure of Documents and Electronically Stored Information.
21.04[5][b] Developing Understanding of Key Facts Underlying Case Theory.
21.04[5][c] Evaluating and Setting Client Expectations.
21.04[5][d] Preparing for Depositions.
21.04[5][e] Conducting "Reasonable Inquiry" for Discovery.
21.05 Factual Investigation and "Informal" Discovery.
21.05[1] Value of Early Investigation.
21.05[2] Gathering Evidence on Informal Basis.
21.05[3] Investigation in Personal Injury Actions.
21.05[4] Conducting Site Investigations.
21.05[5] Inspecting Medical and Hospital Records at the Treating Facility.
21.05[6] Reviewing Public or Other Accessible Records.
21.05[6][a] Ascertaining Records Obtainable Without Formal Discovery.
21.05[6][b] Using Online Resources to Obtain Public Records.
21.05[7] Obtaining Information From Witnesses.
21.05[7][a] Conducting Early Witness Interviews.
21.05[7][b] Determining Who to Interview.

21.05[7][c] Arranging Witness Interviews.
21.05[7][d] Taping Witness Interviews.
21.05[7][e] Interviewing Difficult Witnesses.
21.05[7][f] Obtaining Witness Statements.
21.05[7][g] Searching for Witnesses.
21.05[8] Using Investigators and Other Technical Consultants.
21.05[8][a] When Investigators and Technical Consultants Can Be Useful.
21.05[8][b] Ensuring Ethical Behavior of Investigators.
21.05[8][c] Using Investigators Effectively.
21.05[9] Protecting Results of "Informal" Discovery Through Attorney-Client Privilege.
21.05[9][a] Protecting Communications Regarding Legal Advice.
21.05[9][b] Evaluating Attorney-Client Privilege in Corporate Setting.
21.05[9][c] Understanding Limits of Attorney-Client Privilege.
21.05[9][d] Waiving Attorney-Client Privilege.
21.05[10] Protecting Results of "Informal" Discovery Through Work Product Doctrine.
21.05[10][a] Protecting Documents and Things Prepared in Anticipation of Litigation or Trial.
21.05[10][aa] Protecting Draft Reports or Disclosures Required Under Fed R Civ P 26(a)(2).
21.05[10][ab] Protecting Communications Between Party's Attorney and Retained Expert Witnesses.
21.05[10][b] Scope of Work Product Doctrine.
21.05[10][c] Protecting Attorney's Thoughts, Mental Processes, Strategy, and Opinions.
21.05[10][d] Protecting Tape-Recorded Conversations and Videotaped Surveillance.
21.05[10][e] Preparing Material for Litigation or Trial.
21.05[10][f] Waiving Work Product Protection.
21.06 Preparation for Formal Discovery.
21.06[1] Making Initial Disclosures Before Participating in Formal Discovery.
21.06[1][a] Initial Disclosures.
21.06[1][b] Mandatory Disclosure of Expert Testimony.
21.06[1][c] Pretrial Disclosures of Trial Evidence.
21.06[2] Holding Conference to Discuss Case and Possible Settlement Before Beginning Formal Discovery.
21.06[3] Scope and Limits of Discovery.
21.06[3][a] Obtaining Discoverable Information.
21.06[3][b] Limiting the Scope of Discovery.
21.06[4] Stipulating Around Limitations of Discovery.
21.06[5] Certifying Discovery Requests and Responses.
21.06[6] Discovery Responses Filed When Used in Proceeding.
21.06[7] Supplementing Discovery Responses.
21.06[8] Seeking Protective Orders to Prevent Abusive Discovery.
21.06[9] Determining Sequence of Discovery Procedures.
21.06[10] Evaluating Potential Cost of Discovery.
21.07 Consideration of Available Discovery Methods.
21.07[1] Depositions.
21.07[1][a] Depositions Help to Evaluate Witnesses and Preserve Testimony.
21.07[1][b] Depositions Are Subject to Numeric and Timing Restrictions.
21.07[1][c] Depositions May Be Videotaped.
21.07[2] Interrogatories.
21.07[2][a] Interrogatories May Be Propounded to Other Parties Only.
21.07[2][b] Purposes of Interrogatories.
21.07[3] Inspection of Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Property.
21.07[3][a] Obtaining Disclosure and Demanding Inspection of Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Property.
21.07[3][b] Responding to Inspection Demands.
21.07[4] Physical and Mental Examinations.
21.07[4][a] Seeking Physical and Mental Examinations.
21.07[4][b] Providing the Examiner's Report to the Examined Party.
21.07[5] Requests for Admission.
21.08 Strategies for Sequence of Discovery Methods.
21.08[1] Conventional Approach Is to Serve Interrogatories and Request Production Before Conducting Depositions.
21.08[2] Advantages of Taking Depositions After Reviewing Documents.
21.08[3] When to Alter Conventional Sequence of Discovery.
21.08[4] Sequencing of Depositions Merits Special Consideration.
III. MANAGING DOCUMENTS
21.09 CHECKLISTS: Managing Litigation Documents.
21.09[1] Choosing a Method of Organization.
21.09[2] Maintaining Control of Documents Throughout Litigation.
21.10 Objectives and Methods of Document Management.
21.10[1] Documents Must Be Organized for Accessibility.
21.10[2] Methods of Document Management.
21.10[3] Managing Documents Manually.

21.10[3][a] Examining and Evaluating Documents.
21.10[3][b] Filing Documents.
21.10[3][c] Creating a Master Document List.
21.10[4] Managing Documents Manually and Electronically.
21.10[5] Managing Documents Electronically.
21.10[5][a] Imaging Documents.
21.10[5][b] Searching and Indexing Within Document or Coding Document.
21.10[5][c] Storing Electronic Documents in Folders.
21.10[6] Combining Imaging Systems With Network- and Web-Based Access.
21.10[7] Reviewing and Organizing Key Documents.
21.10[7][a] Reviewing Key Documents.
21.10[7][b] Organizing Key Documents.
21.10[8] Using Paralegals for Initial Document Review.
21.11 Managing Discovery Documents and Electronically Stored Information.
21.11[1] Reviewing Documents and Information for Initial Mandatory Disclosure.
21.11[2] Preparing for Production of Documents and Information.
21.11[2][a] Anticipating Production Requests.
21.11[2][b] Obtaining Documents and Information From Client's Employees and Agents.
21.11[2][c] Considering Whether Material Is Protected From Production.
21.11[2][d] Redaction Before Production.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 21 Discovery Strategy and Planning
III. MANAGING DOCUMENTS
21.11 Managing Discovery Documents and Electronically Stored Information.
21.11[2] Preparing for Production of Documents and Information.
21.11[2][e] Numbering Documents for Production.
21.11[3] Producing Client E-mails.
21.11[4] Reviewing Material Produced Under Rule 34.
21.11[4][a] Determining Time and Place of Production.
21.11[4][b] Reviewing Documents On-Site.
21.11[5] Maintaining Control of Documents Throughout Litigation.
21.11[5][a] Keeping Control Set of Documents.
21.11[5][b] Organizing Documents Chronologically.
21.11[6] Indexing Significant Documents.
21.11[6][a] Creating Computer-Based Index System.
21.11[6][b] Coding Electronically Stored Information.
21.11[7] Maintaining "Hot Document" File.
21.11[8] Recording Document and Information Use.
21.11[9] Creating Witness Files.
21.11[10] Creating Subject Matter Files.
21.11[11] Maintaining Files for Potential Exhibits.
CHAPTER 22 Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion
§ 22.syn Synopsis to Chapter 22: Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion
I. STRATEGY
22.01 Scope.
22.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. USING STIPULATIONS TO MODIFY DISCOVERY PROCEDURES
22.03 CHECKLISTS: Discovery Stipulations.
22.03[1] Considering Types of Discovery Stipulations Available.
22.03[2] Preparing Stipulation.
22.04 Options and Strategy.
22.05 When to Use Discovery Stipulations.
22.06 Discovery Stipulations Distinct From Disclosure Stipulations.
22.07 Requirements for Use of Discovery Stipulations.
22.07[1] Stipulation Generally Must Be in Writing.
22.07[2] Examples of Informal Writings Not Enforced by Court.
22.07[2][a] Confirming Letter Inadequate.
22.07[2][b] Oral Agreement Inadequate.
22.07[2][c] Unilateral Understanding Inadequate.
22.07[3] Exceptions to Writing Requirement.
22.07[3][a] Oral Representation in Open Court.
22.07[3][b] Stipulations on Record During Deposition.
22.07[3][c] Estoppel Doctrine May Prevent Unfair Advantage.
22.07[4] Filing Stipulations Not Required by Federal Rules.
22.07[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Stipulation.
22.07[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
22.07[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
22.07[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
22.07[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
22.07[6] Check Standing Orders of Judges.
22.08 Consider Effects of Stipulation.
22.08[1] Stipulations Govern Only Litigation at Hand.
22.08[2] Avoid Ambiguous Terms.
22.08[3] Expressly Include All Desired Terms.
22.09 Prior Judicial Approval Required for Some Stipulations.
22.09[1] General Rule: No Approval Required.
22.09[2] Exception: Stipulation Interferes With Court-Imposed Deadlines.
22.09[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Required Judicial Approval.
22.09[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
22.09[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
22.09[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

22.09[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
22.10 Judicial Rejection of Stipulations.
22.10[1] Courts Have Authority to Reject Stipulations.
22.10[2] Rejection Based on Change in Circumstances.
22.10[3] Rejection to Prevent Injustice.
22.11 Using Stipulations for General Discovery Matters.
22.11[1] Parties May Stipulate to Permit Discovery Before Rule 26(f) Planning Meeting.
22.11[1][a] General Rule: No Discovery Before Rule 26(f) Meeting.
22.11[1][b] Availability of Stipulation.
22.11[2] Parties May Stipulate to Alter Time for Response to Discovery Request.
22.11[3] Parties May Stipulate to Exceed Permitted Number of Interrogatories.
22.11[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Stipulation Regarding Custody of Discovery Documents.
22.11[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
22.11[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
22.11[5] Stipulation Concerning Conduct of Physical or Mental Examinations.
22.11[6] Parties May Stipulate to Vary Subpoena Procedures.
22.11[7] Parties May Stipulate to Limit Discovery in Future Litigation.
22.11[8] Parties May Stipulate to Expedite Discovery.
22.11[9] Parties May Stipulate to Preserve Confidentiality.
22.11[10] Parties May Stipulate to Obtain Discovery Abroad.
22.11[11] Stipulations Regarding Discovery for Use in Foreign Courts.
22.12 Parties May Stipulate to Modify Deposition Procedures.
22.12[1] Parties May Stipulate to Modify Procedural Aspects of Depositions.
22.12[2] Parties May Stipulate to Exceed Limit on Number of Depositions.
22.12[3] Parties May Stipulate to Take Deposition of Previously Deposed Witness.
22.12[4] Parties May Stipulate to Take Early Deposition.
22.12[4][a] General Rule Against Depositions Before Rule 26(f) Planning Meeting.
22.12[4][b] Parties May Stipulate to Early Deposition.
22.12[5] Parties May Stipulate to Waive or Modify Notice Requirements.
22.12[6] Stipulations May Allow Deposition Before Person Other Than Officer.
22.12[7] Parties May Stipulate to Record and Take Deposition by Other Than Stenographic Means.
22.12[7][a] Modes of Recording.
22.12[7][b] Factors Affecting Choice of Recording Method.
22.12[8] Parties May Stipulate to Shift Cost of Deposition.
22.12[9] Parties May Stipulate to Matters Regarding Documents.
22.12[10] Parties May Stipulate to Limit Scope of Examination.
22.12[11] Parties May Stipulate to Modify Duration of Deposition.
22.12[12] Parties May Stipulate to Waive Formalities.
22.12[13] Parties May Stipulate to Alter Requirements for Retention of Deposition Notes.
22.12[13][a] General Rule Regarding Custody of Deposition.
22.12[13][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
22.12[13][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
22.12[14] Parties May Stipulate to Use of Unsigned Transcript.
22.12[15] Parties May Stipulate to Modify Rules on Waiving and Reserving Objections.
22.12[15][a] General Rules.
22.12[15][b] Reserving Objections Except As to Form.
22.12[15][c] Reserving All Objections.
22.12[15][d] Agreeing to Blanket Stipulations.
22.12[16] Parties May Stipulate to Matters Pertaining to Taking Depositions Abroad.
22.13 Deposition Stipulations Must Be Placed on Record.
III. USING MOTIONS TO MODIFY DISCOVERY PROCEDURES
22.14 CHECKLISTS: Bringing a Noticed Motion to Modify Discovery Procedures.
22.14[1] Preparing Motion.
22.14[2] Preparing Opposition to Motion.
22.15 Options and Strategy.
22.16 When to Use Motions to Regulate Discovery.
22.17 Bringing Discovery Motions.
22.17[1] General Rules for Discovery Motions.
22.17[2] Motion Must Be Filed in Appropriate Court.
22.17[3] Certification Regarding Good-Faith Attempt to Confer Is Mandatory.
22.17[4] Joint Motion Is Possible.
22.17[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Bringing Discovery Motions.
22.17[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
22.17[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
22.17[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
22.17[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
22.18 Opposing Motions to Modify Discovery.
22.19 Courts May Limit Frequency or Extent of Discovery on Party's Motion.
22.19[1] Motion Procedure Is Available to Party Responding to Discovery Request.

22.19[2] Party Who Seeks Limit on Discovery Bears Burden of Showing Why Discovery Should Be Disallowed.
22.19[3] Party May Move to Limit Discovery That Is Unreasonably Cumulative, Duplicative or Inconvenient.
22.19[3][a] Party May Seek to Remove Obligation to Respond.
22.19[3][b] Party May Seek to Shift Cost of Responding.
22.19[3][c] Opposing Party May Defeat Motion by Establishing Reasonableness of Discovery Demand.
22.19[4] Courts Must Limit Discovery When Information Is Available From Another More Convenient, Less Burdensome, or Less Expensive Source.
22.19[5] Courts Must Limit Discovery If Propounding Party Has Had Ample Opportunity to Obtain Information Sought.
22.19[5][a] Party or Court May Move to Limit Extent or Use of Discovery If Propounding Party Has Had Ample Opportunity to Obtain Information Sought.
22.19[5][b] Opposing Party May Defeat Motion by Establishing Lack of Ample Opportunity.
22.19[6] Court Must Limit Discovery When Burden Outweighs Likely Benefit.
22.19[7] Court May Limit Discovery of Electronically Stored Information That Is Not Reasonably Accessible.
22.20 Party May Bring Motion to Widen Discovery Scope.
22.20[1] Usual Scope of Discovery Is Party's Claims and Defenses.
22.20[2] Party May Move to Expand Scope of Discovery to Matters Relevant to Subject Matter of Action on Showing of Good Cause.
22.20[3] Opposing Party May Defeat Motion by Showing Moving Party Failed to Justify Need for Expansion Considering Particular Case.
22.21 Courts May Increase Amount of Discovery Beyond General Limits.
22.21[1] Party May Move to Increase Number of Allowable Depositions.
22.21[2] Party May Move to Increase Number of Allowable Interrogatories.
22.21[3] Opposing Party May Defeat Motion by Showing Increased Discovery Is Inconsistent With Limitations Provided in Rule 26(b).
22.22 Party May Move to Require Discovery Papers Be Filed.
22.23 Court May Order Discovery Prior to Rule 26(f) Planning Meeting on Party's Motion.
22.23[1] Party May Move to Alter General Rule Prohibiting Discovery Prior to Rule 26(f) Planning Meeting.
22.23[2] Party Must Establish Good Cause to Expedite Discovery.
22.23[2][a] Good Cause Based on Administration of Justice.
22.23[2][b] Good Cause Based on Preliminary Injunction Standard.
22.23[3] Party Opposing Expedited Discovery May Defeat Motion by Refuting Good Cause and Showing Harm Caused by Expediting Process.
22.24 Courts May Set Timing or Sequence of Discovery.
22.24[1] Party May Move to Restrict Timing or Sequence of Discovery for Convenience and Interests of Justice.
22.24[2] Court May Balance Hardship in Determining Whether to Restrict Timing or Sequence of Discovery.
22.24[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
22.25 Court May Alter Time to Respond to Written Discovery Demands on Party's Motion.
22.25[1] Party May Move to Shorten or Extend Time for Response.
22.25[2] Opposing Party May Defeat Motion by Showing Ample Opportunity of the Moving Party.
22.26 Court May Extend Discovery Cutoff Date on Party's Motion.
22.26[1] Party Must Show Good Cause to Extend Discovery Cutoff.
22.26[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Extending Discovery Cutoff Dates.
22.26[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Requirements.
22.26[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Requirements.
22.27 Court May Order Physical or Mental Examination, and Preparation of Resulting Report, on Party's Motion.
22.28 Party May Move to Withdraw or Amend Admission.
22.29 Court May Order Deposition Be Taken of Person Confined in Prison.
22.30 Court May Order Deposition Be Taken Before Action or Pending Appeal.
22.31 Court May Compel Discovery on Party's Motion.
22.31[1] Party May Move to Compel Discovery.
22.31[2] Party Opposing Motion to Compel May Seek Protective Order.
22.32 Court May Limit Discovery Through Protective Orders on Party's Motion.
22.33 Court May Order Payment of Motion Expenses.
22.34 Court May Order Discovery Sanctions.
IV. USING PROTECTIVE ORDERS TO LIMIT DISCOVERY
A. Determining Uses of Protective Orders
22.35 CHECKLIST: Evaluating Grounds for Protective Order.
22.36 Options and Strategy.
22.37 Several Types of Relief Are Available Through Protective Orders.
22.38 Court May Impose Other Conditions on Discovery.
22.39 Protective Order May Block Discovery.
22.39[1] Court May Order That No Disclosure or Discovery Be Had.
22.39[2] Complete Blocking of Discovery Is Rare.
22.39[3] Court May Block Depositions of Corporate Officers and Employees.
22.39[3][a] Court May Block Deposition of High-Level Corporate Officers.
22.39[3][b] Court May Block Deposition of Subordinate Employees.
22.39[4] Court May Block Deposition of Adverse Counsel.
22.39[4][a] Party Seeking Deposition of Adverse Counsel Bears Burden of Showing Good Cause.

22.39[4][b] No Block Where Exception to Privilege Applies.
22.39[4][c] No Block When Privilege Is Waived.
22.40 Protective Order May Specify Terms and Conditions for Discovery.
22.40[1] Court May Restrict Number of Hours or Days Deposition May Last.
22.40[2] Court May Set Sequence of Discovery.
22.40[3] Court May Order Accelerated Completion of Discovery.
22.40[4] Court May Order Stay of Discovery Pending Outcome of Dispositive Motion.
22.40[4][a] Court May Stay Discovery Pending Dispositive Motion.
22.40[4][b] Court Considers Various Factors in Determining Motion to Stay.
22.40[4][c] Court Balances Harm of Stay Versus Benefit of Discovery.
22.40[5] Court May Order Stay of Discovery Pending Outcome of Parallel Criminal or Civil Proceeding.
22.40[6] Court Order Required to Conduct Discovery Following Automatic Stay of Discovery Pending Ruling on Motion to Dismiss in Securities Fraud Class Actions.
22.40[7] Court May Designate Place for Discovery.
22.40[8] Court May Order Payment of Expenses of Discovery.
22.41 Protective Order May Prescribe Discovery Method.
22.41[1] Court May Order That Certain Method of Discovery Be Used.
22.41[2] Court May Order That Discovery Questions Be Propounded by Interrogatories, Not Deposition.
22.41[3] Court May Order That Deposition Proceed on Written Questions.
22.41[4] Court May Order That Deposition Be Taken Telephonically or Videotaped.
22.42 Protective Order May Limit Scope of Discovery.
22.43 Protective Order May Restrict Attendance at Deposition.
22.43[1] Protective Order Required to Exclude Persons From Deposition.
22.43[2] Order Must Be Supported by Particular and Specific Showing of Facts.
22.43[3] Examples of Orders Granted.
22.44 Court May Order Discovery Records Be Sealed.
22.44[1] Party May Move to Seal Depositions and Other Discovery Materials.
22.44[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Sealing of Documents.
22.44[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
22.44[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
22.44[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
22.44[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
22.44[3] Party Must Establish Specific Harm or Prejudice to Overcome Presumption of Public Access to Discovery.
22.44[4] Presumption of Public Access to Court Documents.
22.44[4][a] Public Access to Court Documents May Be Overridden by Compelling Reasons.
22.44[4][b] Exception to Presumption of Public Access for Nondispositive Motion.
22.45 Court May Limit Disclosure of Trade Secrets or Other Confidential Information.
22.45[1] Court May Order Confidential Information Not Be Revealed or Revealed Only in Designated Way.
22.45[2] Moving Party Must Show Good Cause for Protection of Confidential Information.
22.45[2][a] Moving Party Must Show That Information Sought Is Confidential.
22.45[2][b] Mere Harm to Reputation Not Sufficient Basis to Provide Protection From Discovery.
22.45[2][c] Moving Party Must Also Show Specific Prejudice or Harm Will Result in Absence of Protective Order.
22.45[3] Following Good Cause Showing to Protect Trade Secrets, Burden Shifts to Party Seeking Discovery.
22.45[3][a] Party Seeking Discovery Bears Burden of Showing Relevance and Necessity.
22.45[3][b] Necessity May Include Public Interest Consideration.
22.45[4] Methods for Limiting Disclosure of Trade Secrets and Confidential Information.
22.45[5] Court May Restrict Which Counsel May View Protected Material Based on Risk of Inadvertent Disclosure.
22.46 Court May Order Parties to Simultaneously File Information Under Seal.
B. Obtaining a Protective Order
22.47 CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion for Protective Order.
22.48 Options and Strategy.
22.49 Parties May Move for Protective Order Pertaining to Discovery or Disclosure.
22.50 Subpoenaed Nonparties May Seek Protective Order.
22.51 Third Parties Must Intervene to Assert Rights Under Protective Order.
22.51[1] Third Parties Generally Bound by Terms of Protective Order.
22.51[2] Protective Orders Not Binding Against Grand Jury Subpoenas.
22.51[3] Third Parties Must Participate Directly to Protect Information.
22.52 Methods for Obtaining Protective Order.
22.52[1] Parties May Stipulate to Protective Order.
22.52[2] Party May Request a Protective Order in Opposition to a Motion to Compel.
22.52[3] Party May Bring Motion for Protective Order.
22.53 Procedures for Bringing Motion for Protective Order.
22.53[1] Motion for Protective Order Must Follow Noticed Motion Procedure.
22.53[2] Motion for Protective Order Must Be Timely.
22.53[2][a] Timeliness Required.
22.53[2][b] Court May Excuse Untimely Motion for Good Cause.

22.53[2][c] Protective Order Covering an Oral Deposition Must Be Filed Before Deposition Begins.
22.53[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
22.53[3] Motion Must Be Filed in the Proper District.
22.53[3][a] Requirement Under Federal Rules.
22.53[3][b] Court May Transfer Motion to Judge in District Where Action Is Pending.
22.53[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Parties Must Meet and Confer to Resolve Dispute.
22.53[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
22.53[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
22.53[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
22.53[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
22.53[5] Submit Proposed Order With Motion.
22.54 Party Seeking Protective Order Must Satisfy Requirements for Burden of Proof.
22.54[1] Good Cause Must Be Shown Before Court May Issue Protective Order.
22.54[2] Person Seeking Protective Order Generally Has Burden of Establishing Good Cause.
22.54[3] Establishing Good Cause for Protective Order.
22.54[3][a] Good Cause Generally Requires Showing of Specific Prejudice or Harm in Absence of Protective Order.
22.54[3][b] Moving Party Should Use Affidavits to Show Good Cause.
22.54[4] After Good Cause Shown, Court Must Balance Hardship Against Need for Discovery.
C. Opposing Motion for Protective Order
22.55 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Protective Order.
22.56 Options and Strategies.
22.57 Requirements for Opposing Motion for Protective Order.
22.57[1] Party Opposing Motion Must Use Noticed Motion Procedure.
22.57[2] Party Opposing Protective Order Should Refute Good Cause.
22.57[3] Party Opposing Protective Order May Defeat or Limit Order on Showing of Relevance and Necessity of Requested Information.
22.57[4] Nonparty May Oppose Protective Order on Public Interest Grounds.
22.58 Prevailing Party on Motion May Recover Expenses.
D. Modifying or Vacating Protective Orders
22.59 CHECKLISTS: Modifying or Vacating Protective Order.
22.59[1] Preparing Motion to Modify or Vacate Protective Order.
22.59[2] Opposing Modification of Protective Order.
22.60 Options and Strategy.
22.61 Protective Order May Be Modified or Vacated.
22.62 Modification May Not Impose New Obligations on Parties to Protective Order After Underlying Action Terminated.
22.63 Both Parties and Nonparties May Seek Modification.
22.64 Nonparty Must Intervene to Modify Protective Order.
22.64[1] Nonparty Must Intervene in Lawsuit to Challenge Order.
22.64[2] Party May Intervene After Action Terminated.
22.64[3] Motion to Intervene Must Be Timely.
22.65 Making Showing Necessary to Modify Protective Order.
22.65[1] Showing Required for Party to Protective Order Seeking Modification.
22.65[1][a] Party to Protective Order Who Seeks Modification Must Show Sufficient Need for Information.
22.65[1][b] Party Must Show Need for Discovery Outweighs Potential Harm to Party Seeking Continued Protection.
22.65[2] Showing Required for Collateral Litigant.
22.65[2][a] Collateral Litigant Must Show Relevance.
22.65[2][b] Collateral Litigant Must Show Discoverability.
22.65[2][c] Collateral Litigant May Discover Materials That Should Not Have Been Placed Under Seal.
22.65[2][d] Issuing Court Balances Threshold Relevance and Reliance.
22.65[2][e] Collateral Court Determines Whether Collateral Litigant Will Obtain Materials.
22.65[3] Showing Required for Modification by Nonparty in Matter of Public Interest.
22.65[3][a] Nonparty Should Address Lack of Good Cause for Protecting Pretrial Discovery.
22.65[3][b] Court Considers Various Factors to Determine Whether Good Cause Is Present in a Matter of Public Interest.
22.65[3][c] Nonparty Must Show Compelling Reason for Modification If Sought Documents Were Filed in Court Under Seal in Non-Dispositive Motion.
22.65[3][d] Waiver Possible If Confidential Material Is Revealed in Court.
22.65[4] Showing Required for Nonparty Governmental Entity Seeking Access to Material Subject to Protective Order for Law Enforcement Purposes.
22.66 Considerations for Opposing Modification.
22.66[1] Party Opposing Modification Must Show Good Cause.
22.66[2] Party Opposing Modification Should Show Reliance on Protective Order.
22.66[3] Party Opposing Modification Must Show Compelling Reasons to Prevent Nonparty From Accessing Sealed Documents Filed in Support of Dispositive Motion.
22.66[4] Party Opposing Modification of Stipulated or Blanket Protective Order Has Heavier Burden.
22.66[4][a] Party Opposing Modification of Stipulated or Blanket Protective Order Must Establish Good Cause.

22.66[4][b] Party Opposing Modification of Stipulated or Blanket Protective Order Has Greater Burden of Establishing Reliance.
V. FORMS
22.67 Discovery Stipulation.
22.68 Stipulation to Extend Time for Discovery Responses.
22.69 [Reserved].
22.70 Format for Stipulation (SD Cal).
22.71 Notice of Motion and Motion for Accelerated, Pre-Conference Discovery.
22.72 Notice of Motion and Joint Motion to Extend Discovery Cutoff.
22.73 Notice of Motion and Motion for Protective Order for Trade Secrets.
22.74 Blanket Stipulated Protective Order.
22.75 Protective Order Changing Place of Deposition.
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
§ 23.syn Synopsis to Chapter 23: Methods of Discovery
I. STRATEGY
23.01 Scope.
23.02 Objective and Strategy.
23.02[1] Perpetuation of Testimony.
23.02[2] Oral Depositions.
23.02[3] Written Depositions.
23.02[4] Interrogatories.
23.02[5] Requests for Production and Inspection.
23.02[6] Discovery of Electronically Stored Information.
23.02[7] Physical and Mental Examinations.
23.02[8] Requests for Admission.
23.02[9] Nonparty Discovery: Subpoena.
II. PERPETUATION OF TESTIMONY
A. Petitioning for Perpetuation of Testimony
23.03 CHECKLIST: Petitioning for Perpetuation of Testimony.
23.04 Options and Strategy for Petitioner.
23.04[1] Decide Whether Pre-Action Perpetuation of Testimony Is Necessary to Prevent Loss of Evidence.
23.04[2] Determine What Information Will Be Sought.
23.04[3] Consider Bringing Action to Perpetuate Testimony.
23.04[4] Consider Stipulations or Declaratory Relief.
23.04[4][a] Stipulations.
23.04[4][b] Declaratory Relief.
23.04[5] Using Perpetuated Evidence.
23.05 Pre-Action Perpetuation of Testimony May Be Available Under Rule 27.
23.05[1] Matters Must Be Cognizable in United States Court.
23.05[2] Action Must Be Anticipated.
23.05[3] Federal Jurisdiction Must Exist in Anticipated Action.
23.05[4] Anticipated Action Must Be Civil.
23.05[5] Perpetuation of Testimony Must Prevent Failure or Delay of Justice.
23.05[6] Trial Court Will Exercise Its Discretion.
23.06 Perpetuation Is Not Appropriate for Obtaining Unknown Information.
23.07 Required Contents of Petition.
23.07[1] Name of Petitioner.
23.07[2] Expectation of Action.
23.07[3] Description of Subject Matter.
23.07[4] Facts of Testimony.
23.07[5] Reasons for Perpetuation.
23.07[6] Names of Adverse Parties.
23.07[7] Names of Persons to Be Examined.
23.07[8] Request for Order.
23.07[9] Verification.
23.08 Required Notice and Filing.
23.08[1] File in District of Opponent's Residence.
23.08[2] File in Any District If All Expected Adverse Parties Are Aliens.
23.08[3] Notice Must Be Served on Each Expected Adverse Party.
23.08[4] Notice Must Contain Required Statements.
23.08[5] Notice Must Be Served 21 Days Before Hearing.
23.08[6] Notice Must Be Served as Required by Rule 4.
23.09 Petitioner Must Establish Three Elements.
23.09[1] Petitioner Must Show Anticipation of Litigation.
23.09[2] Petitioner Must Describe Testimony Sought.
23.09[3] Petitioner Must Show Risk of Losing Evidence.
23.09[3][a] Significant Risk Required.
23.09[3][b] Factors Indicating Urgency.

23.10 Petitioner May Request Production of Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Things, Entry on Land, and Physical and Mental Examinations.
23.10[1] Pre-Action Discovery May Be Available.
23.10[2] Deposition Is Not Required.
23.11 Order Must Contain Specific Findings.
23.12 Depositions Will Be Taken in Accordance With Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
B. Opposing Petition to Perpetuate Testimony
23.13 CHECKLIST: Opposing Petition to Perpetuate Testimony.
23.14 Options and Strategy for Opponent.
23.15 Grounds for Objecting to Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony.
23.16 Opposition Papers Must Be Filed.
23.17 Other Potential Adverse Parties May File Response.
23.18 Sanctions May Be Available.
III. ORAL DEPOSITIONS
A. Planning Oral Depositions: Initial Considerations
23.19 CHECKLIST: Planning Oral Depositions.
23.20 Options and Strategy for Party Seeking Discovery.
23.21 Depositions Are Subject to Numeric and Timing Restrictions.
23.21[1] Depositions Cannot Be Taken Before Parties' Initial Meeting Except by Stipulation or With Leave of Court.
23.21[2] Number of Depositions Is Limited to 10 for Each Side.
23.21[3] Duration of Each Deposition Is Limited.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
III. ORAL DEPOSITIONS
A. Planning Oral Depositions: Initial Considerations
23.21 Depositions Are Subject to Numeric and Timing Restrictions.
23.21[3] Duration of Each Deposition Is Limited.
23.21[3][a] Duration Is One Day of Seven Hours Unless Otherwise Stipulated or Ordered.
23.21[3][b] Court Must Allow Additional Time for Fair Examination.
23.21[3][c] Circumstances That Might Require Additional Time.
23.21[3][d] Persons Responsible for Impediment or Delay May Be Subject to Sanctions.
23.21[3][e] Court May Order Shorter Duration in Particular Case.
23.22 Any Person May Be Deposed.
23.22[1] Generally Any Person, Including Any Party, May Be Deposed.
23.22[2] Deposition Notice May Specify Certain Individuals to Testify on Behalf of Corporation.
23.22[2][a] Deposition Notice May Specify Officers, Directors, or Managing Agents to Appear on Behalf of Corporation.
23.22[2][b] Who Is a "Managing Agent."
23.22[3] Depositions of Counsel Are Allowed in Limited Circumstances.
23.22[4] Expert Whose Opinions May Be Presented at Trial May Be Deposed.
23.23 Leave of Court Generally Is Not Required.
23.24 No Party Has Priority in Setting Depositions.
23.25 Circumstances When Leave of Court Is Required.
23.25[1] Leave Required When Deponent Is Incarcerated.
23.25[2] Leave Required for More Than 10 Depositions.
23.25[3] Leave Required If Person Already Deposed.
23.25[4] Leave May Be Required for Deposition Before Discovery Plan Agreement.
23.26 Court Will Limit Excessive or Unreasonable Discovery.
B. Giving Notice of Oral Deposition
23.27 CHECKLIST: Giving Notice of Oral Deposition.
23.28 Options and Strategy for Party Noticing Deposition.
23.29 Written Notice Is Required.
23.29[1] Give Reasonable Notice in Writing to All Parties.
23.29[2] Specify Time and Place of Deposition.
23.29[3] State Name and Address of Deponent, If Known.
23.29[4] Designate Materials to Be Produced Pursuant to Subpoena Duces Tecum.
23.29[5] State Method for Recording Testimony.
23.29[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Consult With Counsel or Pro Se Party Deponent About Scheduling Prior to Giving Notice.
23.30 Notice May Name Corporation, Partnership, Association, or Agency As Deponent.
23.30[1] Notice Must Describe Matters on Which Examination Is Requested.
23.30[2] Entity Must Designate Individual(s) Who Will Testify on Its Behalf.
23.30[3] Deposition of Specific Individual May Be Noticed.
23.31 Telephone or Video Conference Deposition May Be Allowed by Stipulation or Court Order.
23.32 Notice to Party Deponent May Be Accompanied by Request for Production.
23.33 Notice Must Be Served on Parties.
23.33[1] Serve on All Parties.
23.33[2] Do Not File Notice.
23.33[3] Serve Nonparty Deponent With Subpoena to Compel Attendance and/or Production.
23.34 Cost of Recording and Transcription Generally Borne by Deposing Party.
23.34[1] Party Taking Deposition Bears Cost of Recording.
23.34[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Court May Order Waiver of Transcription or Apportionment of Cost.
23.34[3] Any Party May Notice Additional Method of Recording.
23.35 Parties May Stipulate to Modification of Deposition Procedures.
C. Responding to Notice of Deposition
23.36 CHECKLIST: Responding to Notice of Deposition.
23.37 Options and Strategy for Challenging the Notice by the Opposing Party or Deponent.
23.37[1] Possible Objections.
23.37[2] Preparing the Deponent.
23.38 Objections to Errors or Irregularities in Notice Must Be Promptly Served on Party Giving Notice.

23.39 Objections to Deposition Officer Must Be Made As Soon As Disqualification Becomes Known or Could Be Discovered.
23.40 Motion to Quash Deposition Notice or Subpoena Must Be Made Promptly.
23.41 Motion for Protective Order Requires Showing of Good Cause.
23.41[1] May Be Made by Party or Deponent.
23.41[2] Good-Faith Attempt to Resolve Dispute Is Required.
23.41[3] Relief Available.
23.41[4] Court May Order Discovery on Specified Terms and Conditions.
23.41[5] Court May Award Expenses.
D. Conducting an Oral Deposition
23.42 CHECKLIST: Conducting an Oral Deposition.
23.43 Deposition Officer Must Be Authorized to Administer Oaths or Be Appointed by the Court.
23.44 Deposition Officer Cannot Have Relationship to Parties or Counsel or Financial Interest in Action.
23.45 Deposition May Utilized in International Discovery.
23.45[1] Several Methods for Appointment of Officer and Taking Foreign Deposition.
23.45[2] Presiding Officer Is Determined by Law of Foreign Nation.
23.45[3] Court Issues Commission or Letter of Request for Deposition on Application of Party Seeking Discovery.
23.45[4] Presiding Officer Must Be Designated by Name or Title.
23.45[5] Caption Must Meet Requirements of Applicable Treaty or Convention.
23.45[6] Counsel Must Consult Foreign Law to Ascertain Permissible Deposition Procedures.
23.45[7] Procedure Used for Deposition in Foreign Country Does Not Affect Admissibility of Evidence.
23.45[8] Deposition May Be Taken in United States Pursuant to Foreign Request or Letters Rogatory.
23.46 Conduct of Deposition Must Comply With Federal Rules and Local Rules.
23.46[1] Officer Must Make Statement on the Record to Begin.
23.46[2] Officer Must Administer Oath and Record Testimony.
23.46[3] Requirements for Nonstenographic Recording.
23.46[3][a] Officer Must Identify Deposition at the Beginning of Each Unit of Tape or Other Recording Medium.
23.46[3][b] Recording Techniques Cannot Distort Appearance or Demeanor of Participants.
23.46[4] Examination and Cross-Examination Proceed As at Trial.
23.46[4][a] Federal Rules of Evidence Apply, With Two Exceptions.
23.46[4][b] Adverse Party May Access Materials Used to Refresh Deponent's Memory.
23.46[4][c] Deponent and Deponent's Counsel May Not Confer During Questioning.
23.46[5] Other Parties May Transmit Written Questions.
23.46[6] Examination Proceeds Subject to Objections Noted in the Record.
23.46[7] Officer Must Indicate End of Deposition on Record and Set Forth Stipulations Made by Counsel.
23.46[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: Numbering Exhibits.
23.46[8][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.46[8][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
23.46[8][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.46[8][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
23.46[9] Any Party May Arrange for Transcription or Additional Method of Recording.
E. Objecting to Conduct of Oral Deposition
23.47 CHECKLIST: Objecting to the Conduct of an Oral Deposition.
23.48 Objections to Qualifications of Deposition Officer Are Waived If Not Timely.
23.49 Objections to Competency of Witness or Testimony Generally Are Not Waived.
23.50 Objection to Errors or Irregularities During Deposition Must Be Seasonably Made or Are Waived.
23.51 Objections to Questioning Must Be Concise and Non-Argumentative.
23.52 Instructing Witness Not to Answer Is Permitted in Limited Cases.
23.52[1] Witness May Be Instructed Not to Answer Only in Certain Circumstances.
23.52[2] Question Beyond Scope Described in Notice to Deponent Entity Not Grounds for Instruction.
23.53 Party or Deponent May Move for Protective Order During Deposition.
23.53[1] Party or Deponent May Demand That Deposition Be Suspended to Seek Order.
23.53[2] Grounds for Order.
23.53[3] Court May Terminate Deposition or Limit Examination.
23.53[4] Terminated Deposition May Be Resumed Only on Court Order.
23.53[5] Court May Award Expenses.
23.54 Party May Move for Award of Expenses When Noticing Party Fails to Attend Deposition.
23.55 Party May Move for Award of Expenses When Witness Does Not Attend Because of Noticing Party's Failure to Serve Subpoena.
F. Compelling Attendance, Testimony, or Production at Deposition
23.56 CHECKLIST: Compelling Attendance, Testimony, or Production.
23.57 Motion for Sanctions Available When Party Deponent Fails to Appear.
23.58 Failure of Nonparty Deponent to Comply With Subpoena Is Contempt.
23.59 Party May Move to Compel Deponent to Answer Question or Produce Materials.
G. Obtaining Copies of and Reviewing Transcript
23.60 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Copies of and Reviewing Transcript.
23.60[1] Deponent's Checklist.
23.60[2] Noticing Party's Checklist.

23.60[3] Opposing Party's Checklist.
23.61 Deponent May Request Review of Transcript.
23.61[1] Review Must Be Requested Before Completion of Deposition.
23.61[2] Deponent Has 30 Days to Review Transcript.
23.61[3] Deponent Must Provide Statement of Changes and Reasons for Changes.
23.61[4] Deposition Officer Must Indicate Review Was Requested and Append Changes.
23.61[5] Failure to Follow Procedure May Lead to Striking of Changes.
23.62 Certification and Delivery of Deposition Must Comply With Federal and Local Rules.
23.62[1] Officer Must Prepare Certificate to Accompany Deposition.
23.62[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Pages of a Deposition Must Be Numbered Sequentially.
23.62[3] Items Produced During Examination Must Be Annexed to Deposition on Request.
23.62[4] Officer Must Deliver Deposition to Attorney Who Arranged for Transcript or Recording.
23.62[5] Attorney Must Store Deposition.
23.62[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Delivery and Storage of Transcript.
23.62[6][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.62[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
23.62[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.62[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
23.63 Deposition Officer Retains Stenographic Notes or Copy of Recording.
23.64 Persons Who May Obtain Copy of Transcript or Recording.
23.64[1] Any Party or Deponent May Obtain Copy From Deposition Officer.
23.64[2] Nonparty May Obtain Copy If Filed Without Protective Order.
23.65 Deposition Is Not Filed With Court.
23.65[1] Discovery Documents Generally Are Not Filed Until Used.
23.65[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing of Depositions.
23.65[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.65[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
23.65[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.65[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
23.66 Motion to Suppress Must Be Made Promptly or Errors and Irregularities in Preparation of Deposition Are Waived.
H. Using or Preventing Use of Deposition
23.67 CHECKLIST: Using or Preventing the Use of a Deposition.
23.67[1] Checklist for Party Intending to Use Deposition.
23.67[2] Checklist for Party Seeking to Prevent Use of Deposition.
23.68 Deposition May Be Used at Trial to Extent Admissible.
23.69 Purposes for Which a Deposition May Be Used.
23.69[1] Any Party May Use Deposition for Impeachment of Deponent As a Witness.
23.69[2] Adverse Party May Use Deposition of Party for Any Purpose.
23.69[3] Any Party May Use Deposition for Any Purpose When Witness Is Unavailable.
23.69[3][a] When Witness Is Dead.
23.69[3][b] When Witness Is More Than 100 Miles From Place of Trial.
23.69[3][c] When Witness Cannot Attend or Testify for Specific Reasons.
23.69[3][d] Party Has Been Unable to Procure Attendance of Witness by Subpoena.
23.69[3][e] Exceptional Circumstances Exist.
23.69[4] Objections to Admissibility of Deposition.
23.70 Circumstances When Deposition May Not Be Used.
23.70[1] Against Party Who Was Unable to Obtain Counsel for Deposition Taken Early and Without Leave of Court.
23.70[2] Against Party Who Received Less Than 11 Days' Notice and Moved for Protective Order.
23.71 Form of Presentation.
23.71[1] Party Must Provide Transcript.
23.71[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Party Using Deposition Must Provide Extra Copy to Judge.
23.71[3] On Request of Party in Jury Case, Nonstenographic Deposition Testimony Must Be Presented.
23.71[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Specific Requirements for Marking and Lodging Depositions With Court.
23.72 Objections May Be Made As to Admissibility As If Witness Were Present.
23.73 Additional Parts of Deposition May Be Introduced to Be Considered With Part Previously Introduced.
23.74 Substitution of Parties Does Not Affect Right to Use Depositions.
23.75 Depositions May Be Used in Subsequent Action.
IV. WRITTEN DEPOSITIONS
A. Planning Depositions Upon Written Questions: Initial Considerations
23.76 CHECKLIST: Planning Depositions Upon Written Questions.
23.77 Options and Strategy for Party Seeking Discovery.
23.78 Written Deposition May Be Cost-Effective Means to Obtain Discovery.
23.79 Written Deposition May Be Used for Discovery in Foreign Countries.
23.80 Written Deposition May Allow Identity of Deponent to Be Kept Confidential.
23.81 Written Depositions Have Inherent Limitations.
23.82 Written Depositions Are Subject to Numeric and Timing Restrictions.

23.82[1] Depositions Cannot Be Taken Before Parties' Initial Meeting Except by Stipulation or Leave of Court.
23.82[2] Number of Depositions Is Limited to 10 for Each Side.
23.83 Persons or Entities May Be Deposed.
23.83[1] Any Person, Including Any Party, May Be Deposed.
23.83[2] Corporations or Other Business Organizations May Be Deposed.
23.83[3] Associations or Agencies May Be Deposed.
23.83[4] Written Depositions May Be Used for Deposing Attorney.
23.84 Leave of Court Generally Is Not Required.
23.85 Circumstances When Leave of Court Is Required.
23.85[1] Leave Required When Deponent Is Incarcerated.
23.85[2] Leave Required for More Than 10 Depositions.
23.85[3] Leave Required If Person Already Deposed.
23.85[4] Leave Required for Deposition Before Discovery Plan.
23.86 Court Will Limit Excessive or Unreasonable Discovery.
B. Giving Notice of Deposition Upon Written Questions
23.87 CHECKLIST: Giving Notice of Deposition Upon Written Questions.
23.88 Options and Strategy for Party Noticing Deposition.
23.89 Written Notice Is Required.
23.89[1] Identify Deponent.
23.89[1][a] State Name and Address of Deponent.
23.89[1][b] Describe Deponent If Name Not Known.
23.89[1][c] Notice May Name Entity As Deponent.
23.89[2] Identify Deposition Officer.
23.89[3] State Time and Place of Deposition.
23.90 Notice Must Be Served on Parties.
23.90[1] Serve Questions With Notice.
23.90[2] Serve Notice and Questions on All Parties.
23.90[3] Serve 33 Days Before Date of Deposition.
23.90[4] Serve Nonparty Deponent With Subpoena to Compel Attendance and/or Production.
23.90[5] Do Not File Notice.
C. Responding to Notice of Deposition Upon Written Questions
23.91 CHECKLIST: Responding to Notice of Deposition Upon Written Questions.
23.92 Options and Strategy for Opposing Party or Deponent.
23.93 Objections to Errors or Irregularities in Notice of Deposition Must Be Promptly Served on Party Giving Notice.
23.94 Objections to Deposition Officer Must Be Made Promptly to Avoid Waiver.
23.95 Objections to Form Must Be Timely Served in Writing.
23.96 Entity Named As Deponent Must Designate Individual to Testify.
23.97 Party or Deponent May Move for Protective Order.
23.97[1] Court May Preclude or Limit Discovery on Showing of Good Cause.
23.97[2] Court May Order That Discovery Be Taken by Another Method.
23.97[3] Good-Faith Attempt to Resolve Is Required.
D. Propounding Cross, Redirect, and Recross Questions
23.98 CHECKLIST: Propounding Cross, Redirect, and Recross Questions.
23.99 Parties May Serve Cross Questions Within 14 Days of Notice.
23.100 Noticing Party May Serve Redirect Questions Within Seven Days of Cross Questions.
23.101 Party May Serve Recross Questions Within Seven Days of Redirect Questions.
23.102 Court May Enlarge or Shorten Time for Serving Questions.
E. Procedure for Taking Deposition Upon Written Questions
23.103 CHECKLIST: Procedure for Taking Deposition Upon Written Questions.
23.103[1] Noticing Party's Checklist.
23.103[2] Deponent's Checklist.
23.103[3] Opposing Party's Checklist.
23.104 Noticing Party Must Deliver Notice and Questions Served to Deposition Officer.
23.105 Deposition Officer Must Take Testimony of Deponent.
23.106 Deponent May Request Review of Completed Deposition.
23.107 Officer Must Certify and Deliver Deposition.
23.108 Deposition Is Not Filed With Court.
23.109 Noticing Attorney Must Safely Store Deposition Transcript.
23.110 Motion to Suppress Must Be Made Promptly or Errors Are Waived.
V. INTERROGATORIES
A. Propounding Interrogatories
23.111 CHECKLIST: Propounding Interrogatories.
23.111[1] Making Preliminary Determinations Regarding Interrogatories.
23.111[2] Drafting and Serving Interrogatories.
23.112 Options and Strategies for Propounding Party.
23.112[1] Use Identification Interrogatories to Gather Specific Types of Information.
23.112[2] Use Contention Interrogatories to Inquire Into Opinion or Contention.
23.112[3] Consider Advantages of Using Interrogatories.
23.112[4] Consider Disadvantages of Using Interrogatories.

23.113 Review Mandatory Disclosure Requirements.
23.114 Subject Matter of Interrogatories.
23.114[1] Interrogatories May Inquire About Relevant Matters.
23.114[2] Interrogatories Must Be Reasonably Calculated to Lead to Discovery of Admissible Evidence.
23.114[3] Interrogatory May Relate to Party's Contention.
23.114[3][a] Contention Interrogatories Are Not Automatically Objectionable.
23.114[3][b] Court May Postpone Response.
23.114[4] Interrogatories Seeking Legal Conclusions Are Impermissible.
23.115 Number of Interrogatories Is Limited.
23.115[1] Twenty-Five Interrogatories Allowed.
23.115[2] Avoid Subparts.
23.115[3] Obtain Court Permission or Stipulation to Exceed Limit.
23.115[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion for Leave to Propound More Interrogatories Must State Proposed Interrogatories.
23.115[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Request Additional Interrogatories in Joint Status Report by Stipulation.
23.115[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Motion for Leave to Propound More Interrogatories Must State Proposed Interrogatories and Good Cause.
23.116 Drafting Interrogatories.
23.116[1] Interrogatories Should Be Clear and Definite.
23.116[2] Large Amounts of Information Can Be Treated As Single Interrogatory.
23.116[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Number Interrogatories Sequentially.
23.116[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Leave Space for Answer After Interrogatory.
23.116[5] Attorney's Signature Is Required.
23.117 Interrogatories May Be Served After Rule 26(f) Conference.
23.117[1] Parties Must Meet and Confer.
23.117[2] Court May Postpone Answers to Contention Interrogatories.
23.117[3] Interrogatories May Be Served Before or After Other Types of Discovery.
23.117[4] Interrogatories Must Be Served 30 Days Before Discovery Deadline.
23.117[5] Be Aware of Mandatory Disclosure Deadline.
23.117[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Untimely Discovery Requests Are Unenforceable.
23.118 Serve All Parties.
23.119 Do Not File Interrogatories.
23.119[1] File Only When Used in Proceeding.
23.119[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Propounding Party Keeps Original of Interrogatories.
23.119[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--File Only Relevant Portion of Interrogatories.
23.119[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Propounding Party Is Custodian of Interrogatories and Responses.
23.120 Motion to Compel Is Available When Party Fails to Respond.
B. Responding to Interrogatories
23.121 CHECKLIST: Responding to Interrogatories.
23.121[1] Making Preliminary Determinations Concerning Answers.
23.121[2] Drafting and Serving Responses to Interrogatories.
23.122 Options and Strategy for Responding Party.
23.123 Who May Respond.
23.123[1] Interrogatories Directed to Individual Must Be Answered, Signed, and Verified by That Person.
23.123[2] Interrogatories Directed to Organization Must Be Answered, Signed, and Verified by Officer or Agent.
23.123[3] Organization Must Designate Agent; Attorney May Be Agent.
23.123[4] Interrogatories Directed to Government Agency Must Be Answered, Signed, and Verified by Officer or Agent.
23.123[5] Attorney for Party Must Certify Responses.
23.124 Responding Party Must Answer or Object.
23.125 Responding Party Has Duty to Furnish All Available Information.
23.125[1] Answer to the Extent Possible.
23.125[2] Information Under Responding Party's Control.
23.125[3] Business Entity Must Provide Information Known to Officers and Employees.
23.126 Business Records May Be Provided in Lieu of Answer.
23.126[1] Specify Records and Provide Opportunity for Inspection.
23.126[2] Make Specification Detailed.
23.126[3] Burden of Deriving Answer Must Be Same for Both Parties.
23.126[4] Responding Party May Be Required to Provide Index.
23.126[5] Court May Require That Interrogating Party Reimburse Respondent's Expenses.
23.126[6] Claim of Privilege May Be Restricted.
23.127 Thirty-Day Period for Response.
23.127[1] Extra Three Days for Service by Mail or Other Alternative Delivery.
23.127[2] Obtain Agreement of Parties or Court Order to Alter Timing.
23.127[3] Several Methods of Serving Response Are Available.
23.127[4] Timing of Response for Removed Actions.
23.127[5] Failure to Make Timely Response Sanctionable.

23.128 Restrictions on Filing Interrogatory Responses.
23.129 Formatting Responses.
23.129[1] Draft Full and Separate Responses for Each Interrogatory.
23.129[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Response Must Immediately Follow Interrogatory.
23.129[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal, ND Cal, and SD Cal Requirements--Set Forth Each Question Before Answer.
23.129[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Answer in Space Provided.
23.129[3] Respondent and Attorney Must Sign.
23.130 Objecting to Interrogatories.
23.130[1] Rule 26 Is Primary Source of Objections.
23.130[2] State Precise Grounds for Objection.
23.130[2][a] General Grounds Are Insufficient.
23.130[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--State Reasons.
23.130[3] Respondent May Object in Part.
23.130[4] Objector Has Burden of Proof.
23.130[5] Format Requirement: Objection Must Immediately Follow Interrogatory.
23.130[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal, ND Cal, and SD Cal--Set Forth Each Question Before Objection.
23.130[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Object in Space Provided.
23.130[6] Make Timely Objection.
23.130[7] Avoid Waiver of Objection.
23.130[7][a] General Rule: Failure to Timely Object Waives Objection.
23.130[7][b] Excuse for "Good Cause" Shown.
23.131 Attorney Must Sign Objections.
23.132 Relief May Be Available by Obtaining Protective Order.
23.133 Effect of Answers.
23.133[1] Use at Trial.
23.133[2] Objections to Introduction of Answers.
23.134 Respondent Must Supplement and Amend Answers.
VI. REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION AND INSPECTION
A. Planning Requests for Production and Inspection
23.135 CHECKLIST: Planning to Obtain Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Tangible Items Through Production or Inspection.
23.136 Options and Strategies Related to Planning for Production or Inspection.
23.136[1] Choosing Best Method of Obtaining Production or Inspection.
23.136[1][a] Sequence of Discovery Methods.
23.136[1][b] Alternate Sources to Help Identify Items.
23.136[1][c] Use of Subpoena for Items Not in Possession, Custody, or Control of Party.
23.136[2] Preventing Destruction of Documents.
23.137 Types of Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Tangible Items That Party May Request.
23.137[1] Party May Request Production of Documents for Inspection and Copying.
23.137[2] Party May Request Production of Tangible Items for Inspection, Sampling, Testing and Copying.
23.137[3] Party May Request Permission to Enter Land for Inspection, Sampling, and Copying Tangible Items.
23.137[4] Electronically Stored Information Is Discoverable Material.
23.138 Requested Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Items Must Be Discoverable.
23.138[1] Parties Are Generally Entitled to Request Material Relevant to Claim or Defense of Parties.
23.138[1][a] Party May Request Production of All Items Within Scope of Discovery.
23.138[1][b] Scope of Discovery Is Broad.
23.138[1][c] Requested Document, Electronically Stored Information, or Item Need Not Be Admissible If It Leads to Admissible Evidence.
23.138[2] Parties May Not Request Privileged or Work Product Material.
23.139 Persons Subject to Rule 34 Discovery.
23.139[1] Rule Applies to Parties to Civil Action.
23.139[2] Party Is Actual Claimant or Defendant in Civil Suit.
23.139[3] Only Representative Party in Class Action Litigation Is Deemed Party for Discovery Purposes.
23.140 Limits on Number of Rule 34 Requests.
23.141 Other Discovery Procedures for Production of Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Tangible Items.
23.141[1] Parties Must Produce Certain Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Tangible Items As Part of Mandatory Initial Disclosures.
23.141[2] Party May Include Request for Production in Notice of Deposition.
23.141[3] Party May Serve Subpoena on Nonparty to Obtain Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Tangible Items.
23.141[3][a] Subpoena Facilitates Discovery From Nonparties.
23.141[3][b] Subpoena Procedures Must Be Followed for Production or Inspection From Nonparty.
23.141[3][c] Nonparty Subpoena for Production or Inspection Is Subject to Court's Discovery Deadlines.
23.141[3][d] Subpoena May Be Used to Compel Testimony.
23.141[3][e] Subpoena Procedure Must Protect Nonparty Against Significant Expense.
23.141[3][f] Factors Court May Consider in Shifting Payment of Subpoena Discovery Expense.
23.141[4] Serving Subpoena on Parties.

B. Requesting Production or Inspection
23.142 CHECKLIST: Requesting Production or Inspection.
23.143 Options and Strategies for Requesting Party.
23.143[1] Consider Early Requests for Production or Inspection.
23.143[2] Consider Motion to Shorten Time to Respond to Requests for Production or Inspection.
23.144 Time Restrictions on Requests for Production or Inspection.
23.144[1] Request Is Premature If Made Prior to Filing of Complaint.
23.144[2] Request Is Premature If Made Prior to Discovery Conference.
23.144[3] Request Is Premature If Made Prior to Initial Disclosure.
23.144[4] Request May Not Be Made Later Than 30 Days Prior to Discovery Deadline.
23.144[5] Request Must Set Reasonable Time for Inspection.
23.144[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal--Request Must Allow Time for Response Before Discovery Cutoff.
23.144[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Relief From Discovery Termination Date Requires Strong Showing.
23.145 Contents and Format of Request for Production or Inspection.
23.145[1] Written Request Must Specify Items Individually or by Category.
23.145[2] Request Must Specify Items With Reasonable Particularity.
23.145[2A] Request May Specify Form of Production of Electronically Stored Information.
23.145[3] Request Must Specify a Reasonable Place and Manner of Inspection.
23.145[4] Request Must Specify a Reasonable Time for Inspection.
23.145[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Requirements for Numbering Requests.
23.146 Certification Is Required on Request.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
VI. REQUESTS FOR PRODUCTION AND INSPECTION
B. Requesting Production or Inspection
23.147 Service of Request Is Required on All Parties.
23.148 LOCAL PRACTICE: Requests for Production or Inspection Generally Should Not Be Filed.
23.148[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.148[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
23.148[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.148[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
C. Responding to Request for Production or Inspection
23.149 CHECKLISTS: Responding to Request for Production or Inspection.
23.149[1] Checklist for Service of Response.
23.149[2] Checklist for Response.
23.150 Options and Strategies for Responding Party.
23.150[1] Exercise Response Option Within Time Constraint.
23.150[2] Determine How to Respond to Each Request.
23.151 Time Limit for Written Response.
23.151[1] Time Limit Is Generally 30 Days.
23.151[2] Time Limit May Be Altered by Court Order or by Agreement.
23.151[3] Formal Response Necessary to Preclude Waiver.
23.152 Contents and Format of Response to Request for Production or Inspection.
23.152[1] Response Must Be in Writing and Specify Items Individually or by Category.
23.152[2] Response Should Conform to Designation of Items and Categories in Request.
23.152[2A] Response Must State Form of Production of Electronically Stored Information If No Form Was Specified in Request or If Responding Party Objects to Form Specified.
23.152[3] Responding Party Must Clearly Specify Reasons for Each Objection.
23.152[4] Responding Party Must Comply With Unobjectionable Parts of Request.
23.152[5] Certification of Response.
23.152[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Format of Response.
23.152[6][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.152[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
23.152[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.152[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
23.152[7] Supplementation of Responses.
23.153 Grounds for Refusal to Produce or Allow Inspection.
23.153[1] Privilege.
23.153[1][a] Requirements of Privilege Claim.
23.153[1][b] Methods of Establishing Privilege Claim.
23.153[2] Work Product.
23.153[3] Lack of Relevance to Claim or Defense of Party.
23.153[4] Lack of Possession, Custody, or Control.
23.153[4][a] Party Must Produce Only Items in Its Possession, Custody, or Control.
23.153[4][b] Nature of Possession, Custody, or Control.
23.153[4A] Electronically Stored Information Is Not Readily Accessible.
23.153[5] Other Objections.
23.154 Service of Response Required on All Parties.
23.155 Motion for Protective Order.
23.156 Production of Documents, Electronically Stored Information, or Tangible Items by Responding Party.
23.156[1] Place of Production.
23.156[2] Manner of Production.
23.156[3] Inspection and Copying of Produced Material.
23.156[3][a] Access to Produced Material.
23.156[3][b] Court May Direct Manner of Production.
23.156[4] Testing of Produced Tangible Items.
23.156[5] Responsibility for Expenses of Production and Inspection of Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Tangible Items.
23.156[5][a] Presumed Responsibility for Expenses.
23.156[5][b] Discretion of Court to Shift Costs.
VII. DISCOVERY OF ELECTRONICALLY STORED INFORMATION
A. Making Requests for Electronically Stored Information

23.157 CHECKLIST: Making Requests for Electronically Stored Information.
23.158 Electronically Stored Information Is Discoverable.
23.158[1] Electronically Stored Information Is Subject to Discovery.
23.158[2] Types of Electronically Stored Information That Are Subject to Discovery.
23.158[3] "Deleted" Electronically Stored Information Is Discoverable.
23.158[4] Discovery of Electronically Stored Information Relied on by Experts.
23.158[4][a] Data Relied on by Retained or Specially Employed Testifying Expert Must Be Disclosed.
23.158[4][aa] Facts and Opinions to Be Offered by Expert Witnesses Who Are Not Retained or Specially Employed Must Be Disclosed.
23.158[4][b] Data Relied on by Non-Testifying Expert Is Discoverable Only Under Exceptional Circumstances.
23.158[5] Production in Specific Format May Be Requested.
23.158[6] Request Electronically Stored Information in Electronic Format.
23.159 Pre-Service Discovery May Be Available Under Limited Circumstances to Discover Identity of Doe Defendant Who Committed Tortious Acts On-Line Anonymously or Pseudonymously.
23.160 Address Discovery of Electronically Stored Information Early in Litigation.
23.160[1] Rule 26(a)(1) Requires Disclosure of Electronically Stored Information.
23.160[2] Pretrial Conferences May Be Used to Narrow Scope of Relevant Records.
23.161 Parties Have Duty to Preserve Evidence.
23.161[1] Knowledge of Litigation or Imminent Litigation Triggers Preservation Duty.
23.161[2] Zubulake Guidelines for Preservation of Electronic Evidence.
23.161[2][a] Zubulake Cases Provide Detailed Guidance on Preservation Duties.
23.161[2][b] Directives to Parties Under Zubulake IV.
23.161[2][c] Directives to Attorneys Under Zubulake V.
23.161[3] Obtain Stipulation or Order for Preservation of Evidence.
23.161[4] Sanctions May Be Imposed for Failure to Preserve Evidence.
23.161[4][a] Sanctions May Be Imposed for Violation of Preservation Order.
23.161[4][b] Court Has Inherent Authority to Impose Sanctions for Destruction of Evidence.
23.162 Use Discovery Methods to Gather Evidence in Form of Electronically Stored Information.
23.162[1] Use Interrogatories to Identify Sources of Electronically Stored Information and Persons With Knowledge of Storage Policies and Procedures.
23.162[2] Depose Person With Knowledge of Electronic Information Systems and Storage.
23.162[3] Demand Inspection of Electronic Information System.
23.162[3][a] Rule 34(a) Provides for Inspection of Electronic Information Systems.
23.162[3][b] Requesting Party Must Demonstrate Need and Likelihood of Finding Relevant Matter.
23.162[3][c] Attempt Agreement on Confidentiality Protocol.
23.162[4] Request Production of Electronically Stored Information.
23.162[4][a] Make Rule 34 Request for Production to Obtain Electronically Stored Information.
23.162[4][b] Responding Party Must Produce All Responsive Information Within Its Possession, Custody, or Control.
23.162[5] Make Supplemental Requests for After-Acquired or Discovered Information.
23.163 Move to Compel Discovery If Responding Party Fails to Comply With Discovery Request.
B. Responding to Requests for Electronically Stored Information
23.164 CHECKLIST: Responding to Requests for Electronically Stored Information
23.165 Request for Production Includes Electronically Stored Information.
23.166 Responding Party Has Duty to Perform Diligent Search.
23.167 Routine Procedures That Would Destroy Relevant Records Must Be Suspended.
23.168 Responding to Request for Production.
23.168[1] Produce Information in Form Specified in Request or Form in Which It Is Ordinarily Maintained or Form That Is Reasonably Usable.
23.168[2] Responding Party Has Duty to Create Compilations If Raw Data Exists.
23.168[3] Interrogatories May Be Answered by Making Records Available.
23.168[4] Respond or Object in Timely Manner.
23.168[4][a] Failure to Object Within Time Required Waives Any Objections.
23.168[4][b] Objection Must Identify Specific Item As to Which It Is Made and Specify Reason for Objection.
23.168[4][c] Response Must State Form of Production If Other Than That Stated in Request.
23.168[5] Determine Whether to Retain Expert to Protect Against Manipulation of Data by Requesting Party.
23.169 Requested Matter Must Be Relevant to Claim or Defense.
23.169[1] Wide-Ranging Discovery Is Allowed Under Liberal Interpretation of Rule 26(b).
23.169[2] "Fishing Expeditions" Are Not Allowed.
23.169[3] Burden Is on Responding Party to Show Lack of Relevance.
23.170 Requested Matter Must Not Be Privileged.
23.171 Determine Whether Burden or Expense Exceeds Right to Evidence.
23.171[1] Party Must Produce Evidence Unless Production Is Unduly Burdensome or Expensive.
23.171[2] Evaluate Burden and Expense of Production Under Rule 26(b)(2)(C) Factors.
23.171[2][a] Burden of Producing Electronically Stored Information Can Be Substantial.
23.171[2][b] Rule 26(b) Balancing Factors Determine Extent of Discovery of Electronically Stored Information.
23.171[2][c] Limitation on Discovery Can Be Obtained If Likely Benefit Is Outweighed by Burden or Expense.
23.171[2][d] Assess Whether Request for Discovery Is Too Broad.

23.172 Responding to Request for Search of Back-Up System or Archive.
23.172[1] Search of Back-Up System or Archive May Be Difficult and Costly.
23.172[2] Proportionality Test Applies to Search of Back-Up Systems and Archives.
23.173 Protective Order Is Available If Burden or Expense of Production Is Too Great.
23.173[1] Burden of Searching Records and Translating Data Into Readable Form Is Necessary and Foreseeable.
23.173[2] Prepare Proffer Outlining Costs and Burdens.
23.173[3] Attempt to Resolve Dispute With Requesting Party.
23.173[4] Protective Order Is Available If Dispute Cannot Be Resolved Between Parties.
23.174 Apply for Order Shifting Costs If Production Requires Significant or Special Costs.
23.174[1] Court Has Inherent Authority to Allocate Discovery Costs.
23.174[2] Cost-Shifting Is Appropriate When Data Is Inaccessible.
23.174[3] Responding Party Bears Cost of Review and Production Following Conversion to Accessible Form.
23.175 Third-Party Response to Subpoena Issued Under Rule 45.
23.175[1] Produce Information in Form Specified in Subpoena, Form Ordinarily Maintained, or Reasonably Usable Form.
23.175[2] Identify Documents Withheld Based on Privilege Sufficiently to Enable Requesting Party to Contest Claim.
23.175[3] Stored Communications Act of 1986 Protects Customer Information Possessed by Provider of Electronic Communication Service.
23.175[4] Seek Protective Order to Prevent, or Impose Sanctions for, Imposition of Undue Burden or Expense.
23.175[5] Discovery Order Is Normally Not Immediately Appealable.
C. Protecting Confidentiality and Privilege
23.176 CHECKLIST: Protecting Confidentiality and Privilege.
23.177 Privileged Matter Is Protected From Discovery.
23.178 Reasonable Expectation of Confidentiality May Exist in Electronically Stored Information.
23.178[1] Electronically Stored Information May Contain Privileged or Confidential Information.
23.178[2] Totality of Circumstances Is Considered in Determining Whether Inadvertent Disclosure Waives Privilege.
23.178[3] Employee Has No Reasonable Expectation of Privacy in E-mails Sent Over Employer's Computer System.
23.178[4] Attorney-Client Privilege Applies to Communication by E-mail.
23.179 Work Product Doctrine Can Apply to Computerized Litigation Support System.
23.179[1] Work Product Doctrine Protects Work Prepared Because of Litigation.
23.179[2] Attorney Involvement Determines Level of Protection for Computerized Litigation Support System.
23.179[3] When Requesting Party Has Targeted Computerized Litigation Support System for Discovery, Determine Whether Material Is Available From Another Source.
23.180 Stipulated Protective Order May Be Used to Protect Confidential and Privileged Information.
23.181 Move for Protective Order If Requesting Party Will Not Stipulate.
23.181[1] Attempt Must Be Made to Resolve Dispute Before Moving for Protective Order.
23.181[2] Court Has Broad Discretion to Fashion Appropriate Order.
D. Admitting Electronically Stored Information at Trial
23.182 CHECKLIST: Admitting Electronically Stored Information at Trial.
23.183 Electronically Stored Information Is Writing Subject to Federal Rules of Evidence.
23.184 Authenticity Is Governed by Fed R Evid 901.
23.184[1] Proponent Must Produce Evidence Sufficient to Support Finding That Matter in Question Is What Proponent Claims It to Be.
23.184[2] Website Printouts Must Be Authenticated.
23.184[3] Printouts of Electronically Stored Information Must Be Authenticated.
23.184[4] E-mail Must Be Authenticated.
23.185 Questions of Accuracy Go to Weight, Not Admissibility.
23.186 Electronically Stored Information Will Be Excludable as Hearsay Unless an Exception Applies.
23.186[1] Electronically Stored Information Is Subject to Exclusion as Hearsay.
23.186[1][a] Electronically Stored Information May Be Statement Subject to Exclusion as Hearsay.
23.186[1][b] Nonassertive Printout Is Not Hearsay.
23.186[1][c] Admission by Party-Opponent Is Not Hearsay.
23.186[2] Hearsay Electronically Stored Information Is Admissible If an Exception Applies.
23.186[2][a] Federal Rules of Evidence Provide Exceptions That Allow Admission of Hearsay.
23.186[2][b] Electronically Stored Information Is Admissible Under Business Records Exception to Hearsay Rule If Proper Foundational Requirements Are Established.
23.186[2][c] Catch-All Exception for Statements With Circumstantial Guarantees of Trustworthiness.
23.187 Court May Require Disclosure of Digital Material That Will Be Shown to Jury.
23.188 Application of Best Evidence Rule to Printouts of Electronically Stored Information.
VIII. PHYSICAL AND MENTAL EXAMINATIONS
A. Determining Whether to Conduct Examination of Party
23.189 CHECKLIST: Initial Considerations.
23.190 Options and Strategy for Party Considering Examination.
23.191 Any Party May Seek Examination.
23.192 Party or Person in Custody or Control of Party May Be Examined.
23.192[1] Any Party Is Subject to Examination.

23.192[2] Person in Custody or Control of Party Is Subject to Examination.
23.192[3] Nonparty Is Not Subject to Examination.
23.193 Examination Must Be Conducted by Qualified Examiner.
23.193[1] Examiner Must Be Suitably Licensed or Certified.
23.193[2] Designation of Examiner by Moving Party Generally Conclusive.
B. Agreeing or Stipulating to Physical or Mental Examination
23.194 CHECKLIST: Agreeing or Stipulating to Physical or Mental Examination.
23.195 Options and Strategy for Agreeing or Stipulating to Examination.
23.196 Parties May Agree to Mental or Physical Examination.
23.197 Examination Pursuant to Agreement Is Subject to Rule 35 Restrictions, Unless Agreement Explicitly Provides Otherwise.
C. Moving for Court-Ordered Physical or Mental Examination of Party
23.198 CHECKLIST: Moving for Physical or Mental Examination of Party.
23.199 Options and Strategy for Moving Party.
23.200 Request and Examination Must Be Timed Properly.
23.200[1] Examinations Must Await Preliminary Discovery Conference.
23.200[2] Examinations Must Be Sought Before Close of Discovery.
23.200[3] Examination May Be Available Prior to Commencement of Action to Preserve Evidence.
23.201 Requisites of Motion Practice Must Be Followed.
23.202 Physical or Mental Condition Must Be Shown to Be "in Controversy."
23.202[1] Burden Is on Moving Party.
23.202[2] Party to Be Examined Must Have Placed Condition "in Controversy."
23.202[3] Showing That Physical Condition Is in Controversy.
23.202[4] Showing That Mental Condition Is in Controversy.
23.202[4][a] Making Claim of "Garden-Variety" Emotional Distress or Mental Anguish Does Not Place Mental Condition "in Controversy."
23.202[4][b] Making Claim of Ongoing Mental Injury Places Mental Condition "in Controversy."
23.202[4][c] Party to Be Examined May Concede That Mental Condition Is "in Controversy."
23.203 Establishing "Good Cause" for Examination.
23.203[1] Burden Is on Moving Party.
23.203[2] "Good Cause" Requires Demonstration of Necessity to Discover Specific Relevant Facts Through Examination.
23.203[3] Moving Party's Ability to Obtain Information From Other Source May Obviate Need for Examination.
23.203[4] Prior Examination May Obviate Need for Second Examination.
23.203[5] Court May Balance Privacy Interest of Party Against Need for Examination.
23.204 Setting and Limiting Conditions of Examination.
23.204[1] Conditions Should Be Specified in Motion.
23.204[2] Attendance of Third Parties, Including Counsel, Generally Disfavored.
23.204[3] Recording Examination Not Necessary.
D. Sanctioning Noncompliance With Court Order for Examination
23.205 CHECKLIST: Sanctioning Noncompliance With Court Order for Examination.
23.206 Examining Party Can Move for Sanctions If Party Fails to Comply With Examination Order.
23.207 Party May Escape Sanctions by Showing Inability to Produce Examinee.
23.208 Various Types of Sanctions Are Available, Including Attorney's Fees.
23.209 Failure to Comply May Not Be Punished by Contempt.
E. Opposing Request for Motion for Examination
23.210 CHECKLIST: Opposing Request or Motion for Examination.
23.211 Options and Strategies for Opposition.
23.211[1] Determine Whether Opposition Would Be Beneficial.
23.211[2] Attempt Negotiation Toward Stipulated Examination.
23.211[3] Focus on Scope of Examination.
23.211[4] Consider Seeking Protective Order.
23.211[5] Prepare Client for Examination.
23.211[6] Interview Client After Examination.
23.211[7] Consider Options for Obtaining Examination Report.
F. Obtaining and Using Examination Reports
23.212 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Examination Reports.
23.213 Obtaining Report on Request of Examined Party.
23.213[1] Examination Ordered After Motion.
23.213[2] Stipulated Examination May Curtail Right to Report.
23.214 Compelling Production of Report.
23.214[1] Examined Party May Move Court to Compel Production.
23.214[2] Excluding Evidence for Failure to Produce Report.
23.215 Determining Effect of Request for and Delivery of Report.
23.215[1] Request of Examined Party Includes All Results of Earlier Examinations of Same Condition.
23.215[2] Delivery of Report by Examining Party Entitles Party to Results of Any Other Examination of Same Condition.
23.215[3] Request of Examined Party Waives Any Privilege of Party As to Other Examinations of Same Condition.

23.216 Obtaining Report Under Other Discovery Provisions Not Precluded.
IX. REQUESTS FOR ADMISSION
A. Requesting Admissions
23.217 CHECKLIST: Requesting Admissions.
23.218 Determine Whether Matter Under Consideration Is Subject to Requests for Admission.
23.218[1] Requests Must Concern Matters Relating to Facts.
23.218[2] Requests May Relate to Ultimate Facts.
23.218[3] Requests May Relate to Application of Law to Facts.
23.218[4] Requests May Relate to Genuineness of Documents.
23.218[5] Requested Matter Must Be Relevant and Not Privileged.
23.218[6] Requested Matter Must Not Be Pure Legal Conclusion Unrelated to Facts of Case.
23.219 Propound Requests to Each Party Against Whom Admission Will Be Used.
23.220 Determine Timing of Requests.
23.220[1] Service of Requests Generally Must Await Discovery Conference.
23.220[2] Earlier Service of Requests May Be Based on Parties' Stipulation or Leave of Court.
23.220[3] Discovery Cutoff Date Applies to Requests for Admission.
23.221 Comply With Local Rules Limiting Number of Requests.
23.221[1] Check Judge's Standing Orders.
23.221[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.221[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
23.222 Draft Requests Carefully.
23.222[1] Requests Must Be Clear and Precise.
23.222[2] State Each Request Separately.
23.222[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.222[4] Frame Requests As Statements Not Questions.
23.222[5] Attach Relevant Documents.
23.223 Request Must Be Signed on Behalf of Propounding Party.
23.224 Serve Requests.
23.224[1] Signed Request Must Be Served on Responding Party.
23.224[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Retain Original.
23.224[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.224[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.224[3] Serve Copies of Requests on All Other Parties.
23.225 Do Not File Request.
23.225[1] Requests Should Not Be Filed Until Used in Case.
23.225[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing Requirements.
23.225[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.225[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
B. Responding to Requests for Admission
23.226 CHECKLIST: Responding to Requests for Admission.
23.227 Responding Party Has Duty of Inquiry.
23.228 Review Grounds for Objecting.
23.228[1] Improper Format of Request.
23.228[2] Untimely Request.
23.228[3] Excessive Number of Requests.
23.228[4] Undue Burden.
23.228[5] Improper Scope of Request.
23.228[6] Irrelevance.
23.228[7] Privilege.
23.228[8] Failure to Provide Document.
23.229 Respondent's Options.
23.229[1] Answer.
23.229[2] Object.
23.229[3] Ask to Extend Time.
23.229[4] Seek Protective Order.
23.230 Failure to Respond Is Deemed Admission.
23.231 Response Must Be Served Within 30 Days.
23.232 Exceptions to 30-Day Period to Respond.
23.232[1] Court Order.
23.232[2] Parties' Written Stipulation.
23.233 Responding Party May Move for Relief From Failure to Make Timely Response.
23.234 Responses Must Be in Writing.
23.235 LOCAL PRACTICE: Quote Requests in Response.
23.235[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.235[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
23.235[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.235[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
23.236 Drafting Response.
23.236[1] State Admission.

23.236[1][a] Unqualified Admission.
23.236[1][b] Admission With Qualification.
23.236[2] State Denial.
23.236[2][a] Complete Denial.
23.236[2][b] Partial Denial.
23.236[3] Assert Lack of Information.
23.236[4] Assert Objections.
23.236[4][a] State Objections to Avoid Waiver.
23.236[4][b] State Reasons for Objection.
23.236[4][c] Avoid Improper Objections.
23.237 Response Must Be Signed on Behalf of Responding Party.
23.238 Verification Is Not Required.
23.239 Serve Responses.
23.239[1] Serve Original Response on Propounding Party.
23.239[2] Serve Copies of Response on All Other Parties.
23.240 Propounding Party Should Not File Response.
23.240[1] Responses Are Not Filed Until Used in Case.
23.240[2] Retain Original Response.
23.240[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing and Retention Requirements.
23.240[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.240[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
23.240[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.240[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
23.241 Respondent Must Supplement Responses.
23.242 Sanctions May Be Available for Inadequate Response.
C. Moving to Determine Sufficiency of Responses
23.243 CHECKLIST: Moving to Determine Sufficiency of Responses.
23.243[1] Propounding Party's Checklist.
23.243[2] Responding Party's Checklist.
23.244 Requesting Party May Move to Determine Sufficiency of Responses.
23.245 Unless Objection Is Justified, Court Will Order Answer.
23.246 If Answer Is Insufficient, Court May Order Matter Admitted or Answer Amended.
23.247 Court May Order Parties to Confer.
23.248 Expenses May Be Awarded.
D. Withdrawing or Amending Admissions
23.249 CHECKLIST: Withdrawing or Amending Admissions.
23.249[1] Responding Party's Checklist.
23.249[2] Propounding Party's Checklist.
23.250 Withdrawal or Amendment Must Advance Decision on Merits and Not Prejudice Requesting Party.
23.251 Stricter Standard for Withdrawal Applies After Entry of Final Pretrial Order.
23.252 Moving Party's Burden on Motion.
23.253 Propounding Party's Burden on Motion.
E. Recovering Expenses of Proving Matters Not Admitted
23.254 CHECKLIST: Recovering Expenses of Proving Matters Not Admitted.
23.254[1] Propounding Party's Checklist.
23.254[2] Responding Party's Checklist.
23.255 Move for Order Requesting Reasonable Expenses.
23.256 File Motion As Soon As Possible.
23.257 Show How Expenses Were Incurred.
23.258 Expenses Will Be Awarded Unless Failure to Admit Was Justifiable.
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
A. Drafting Subpoena
23.259 CHECKLIST: Determining Whether Use of Subpoena Is Appropriate.
23.260 CHECKLISTS: Drafting Subpoenas for Nonparty Discovery.
23.260[1] Subpoena to Compel Testimony.
23.260[2] CHECKLIST: Subpoena to Compel Production.
23.260[3] CHECKLIST: Subpoena to Compel Permission to Inspect Premises.
23.261 Options and Strategy.
23.261[1] Informal Discovery Available From Nonparties.
23.261[2] Prior to Drafting, Verify That Subpoena May Be Served.
23.261[3] Consider Issuing More Than One Subpoena.
23.261[4] Party May Not Issue Subpoena Absent Pending Litigation.
23.261[5] Party Must Issue Subpoena Before Discovery Cutoff.
23.261[6] Consult Local Rules When Issuing Subpoena.
23.262 Essential Components of Subpoena to Compel Testimony.
23.262[1] Subpoena Must Issue From Proper Court.
23.262[2] Indicate Title of Action, Name of Court in Which Action Is Pending, and Civil Action Number.
23.262[3] Command Witness to Attend and Give Testimony.
23.262[4] Advise Corporate Witnesses of Subject Matter and Duty to Designate Witness.

23.262[5] Indicate Time and Place for Deposition, Hearing, or Trial, and Method of Recording Deposition Testimony.
23.262[6] Include Text of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c) and (d).
23.262[7] Include Proper Signature.
23.262[8] Provide Reasonable Time to Comply.
23.262[9] Appropriate Witness and Mileage Fees Must Accompany Subpoena to Compel Testimony.
23.262[10] Subpoena Must Not Be Unduly Burdensome.
23.262[11] Subpoena Must Not Require Witness to Travel More Than 100 Miles.
23.263 Essential Components of Subpoena to Compel Production.
23.263[1] Subpoena Must Issue From Proper Court.
23.263[2] State Title of Action, Name of Court in Which Action Is Pending, and Civil Action Number.
23.263[3] Command Production of Documents, Electronically Stored Information, and Things.
23.263[4] Designate Time and Place for Production.
23.263[5] Include Text of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c) and (d).
23.263[6] Include Proper Signature.
23.263[7] Provide Reasonable Time for Compliance.
23.263[8] Subpoena Must Not Be Unduly Burdensome.
23.263[9] Requesting Production of Electronically Stored Information Requires Special Attention.
23.263[9][a] Subpoena to Compel Production of Electronically Stored Information Implicates Issues of Undue Burden and Cost Shifting.
23.263[9][b] Tests for Subpoena Seeking Identity of Anonymous Nonparty Internet User.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 23 Methods of Discovery
X. NONPARTY DISCOVERY: SUBPOENA
A. Drafting Subpoena
23.263 Essential Components of Subpoena to Compel Production.
23.263[10] Prior Notice of Commanded Production of Documents and Things Must Be Served on Each Party.
23.264 Essential Components of Subpoena to Compel Permission to Inspect Premises.
23.264[1] Subpoena Must Issue From Proper Court.
23.264[2] State Title of Action, Name of Court in Which Action Is Pending, and Civil Action Number.
23.264[3] Command Permission to Inspect Premises.
23.264[4] Designate Time and Place for Inspection.
23.264[5] Include Text of Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 45(c) and (d).
23.264[6] Include Proper Signature.
23.264[7] Provide Reasonable Time for Compliance.
23.264[8] Subpoena Must Not Be Unduly Burdensome.
23.264[9] Prior Notice of Commanded Inspection of Premises Must Be Served on Each Party.
23.265 LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Subpoena for Nonparty Discovery.
B. Serving Subpoenas
23.266 CHECKLIST: Serving Subpoenas.
23.267 Provide Prior Notice to All Parties (Subpoena to Compel Production or to Inspect Premises Only).
23.268 Ensure That Subpoena Is Served Before Discovery Cutoff.
23.269 Verify That Person Serving Subpoena Is at Least 18 and Is Not a Party to the Action.
23.270 Ensure That Proper Method of Service Is Used.
23.271 Verify That Service Is Within Prescribed Territorial Limits.
23.272 Enclose Correct Amount of Witness and Mileage Fees (Subpoena to Compel Testimony Only).
23.273 LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Filing and Serving Subpoenas.
23.273[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.273[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
23.273[2][a] Service of Subpoenas Duces Tecum.
23.273[2][b] Filing of Subpoenas Duces Tecum.
23.273[2][c] Proof of Service.
23.273[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.273[3][a] Serve Subpoena Prior to Discovery Cutoff.
23.273[3][b] Proof of Service.
23.273[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
C. Responding to Subpoenas
23.274 CHECKLISTS: Responding to Subpoenas.
23.274[1] Analyzing Subpoena.
23.274[2] Drafting Written Objection.
23.274[3] Drafting Motion to Modify or Quash a Subpoena.
23.275 Options and Strategy.
23.275[1] Appropriate Response Depends on Subpoena.
23.275[2] Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Disputes.
23.275[3] Good-Faith Effort Generally Not Required for Motions to Modify or Quash Subpoenas.
23.275[4] Service of Written Objections Stays Discovery.
23.275[5] Choosing Between Written Objections and Motion to Quash.
23.276 Analyze Validity of Subpoena and Determine Appropriate Response.
23.276[1] Verify That Subpoena Is Served Within Discovery Cutoff.
23.276[2] Verify That Subpoena Was Properly Served.
23.276[3] Verify That Subpoena Was Issued From Proper Court.
23.276[4] Verify That Subpoena Affords Reasonable Time for Compliance.
23.276[5] Verify That Subpoena Does Not Exceed 100-Mile Limit on Travel.
23.276[6] Determine Whether Subpoena Seeks Privileged or Protected Materials.
23.276[7] Determine Whether Subpoena Seeks Trade Secrets, Confidential Research or Development Information, or Commercial Information.
23.276[8] Determine Whether Subpoena Is Directed Against Unretained Expert.
23.276[9] Determine Whether Subpoena Imposes Undue Burden.
23.276[9A] Determine Whether to Object to Form Specified for Production of Electronically Stored Information.
23.276[10] Determine Whether Subpoena Was Served for Improper Purpose.
23.276[11] If Subpoena Presents Scheduling Conflict, Attempt Informal Resolution of Conflict.
23.276[12] Verify Serving of Prior Notice of Production or Inspection.

23.276[13] Choose Method of Resisting Discovery.
23.277 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Responding to Subpoenas.
23.278 Making Written Objection to Subpoena.
23.278[1] Written Objections Must Be Timely Made and Served.
23.278[2] Clearly State Objection and Include Privilege Log If Making Claim of Privilege.
23.278[3] Because Objection Stays Discovery, Do Not Permit Party Seeking Discovery to Proceed Without a Court Order.
23.278[4] Person Making Objections Must Have Standing to Object to Subpoena.
23.278[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Written Objection to Subpoena.
23.279 Moving to Modify or Quash Subpoena.
23.279[1] When Subpoena Must Be Modified or Quashed.
23.279[2] When Subpoena May Be Modified or Quashed.
23.279[3] Motion Must Be Timely Made.
23.279[4] Motion Must Be Made in Proper Court.
23.279[5] Motion Does Not Automatically Stay Discovery.
23.279[6] Good-Faith Effort Generally Not Technically Required for Motions to Modify or Quash Subpoenas.
23.279[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: Requirements for Motion to Modify or Quash Subpoena.
23.279[7][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
23.279[7][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
23.279[7][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
23.279[7][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
23.279[8] Standing to Modify or Quash Subpoena.
23.280 Moving for a Protective Order.
23.280[1] When to Move for a Protective Order.
23.280[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Moving for Protective Order When Served With Motion to Compel.
23.281 Producing Documents and Electronically Stored Information in Response to Subpoena.
23.281[1] Materials in "Control" Must Be Produced.
23.281[2] How to Produce Documents.
23.281[2A] How to Produce Electronically Stored Information.
23.281[3] Nonparty May Be Entitled to Reimbursement for Costs Incurred in Complying With Subpoena.
23.281[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Responding to Subpoenas Duces Tecum.
D. Enforcing Subpoena
23.282 Attempt to Resolve Contested Issues Through Meet and Confer With Counsel.
23.283 Moving to Compel.
23.283[1] Filing Motion to Compel After Being Served With Written Objections to Subpoena.
23.283[2] Order Compelling Production Must Protect Nonparty From Significant Expense.
23.283[3] Motion Must Be Made to Proper Court.
23.283[4] Motion to Compel Pursuant to Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 37(a).
23.284 Motion to Compel When Motion to Quash Is Sought by Recipient of Subpoena.
23.285 Contempt Sanction for Failing or Refusing to Respond to Subpoena.
XI. FORMS
A. Perpetuation of Testimony
23.286 Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony.
23.287 Notice of Petition for Perpetuation of Testimony.
23.288 Order Authorizing Perpetuation of Testimony.
B. Oral Depositions
23.289 Notice of Deposition.
23.290 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Take Deposition.
23.291 Objections to Errors or Irregularities in Notice of Deposition or to Deposition Officer.
23.292 Notice of Motion and Motion to Take Deposition by Telephone or Other Electronic Means.
23.293 Notice of Motion and Motion for Protective Order During Deposition in Progress.
C. Written Depositions
23.294 Notice of Deposition by Written Questions.
23.295 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Take Deposition by Written Questions.
23.296 Objections to Errors or Irregularities in Notice of Deposition, Qualifications of Deposition Officer, or Form of Questions.
23.297 Notice of Motion and Motion for Protective Order That Discovery Be Taken by Other Means.
D. Interrogatories
23.298 Sample Interrogatories.
23.299 Notice of Motion and Motion for Leave to Propound Interrogatories in Excess of Number Permitted by Rule.
23.300 Order Granting Motion for Leave to Propound Interrogatories in Excess of Number Permitted by Rule.
23.301 Response to Interrogatories.
E. Requests for Production and Inspection
23.302 Request for Production of Documents and Tangible Items for Inspection, Copying, or Testing.
23.303 Request for Permission to Enter on Land or Premises for Inspection, Copying, Testing, or Related Activities.
23.304 Response to Request for Production, Inspection, and Copying of Documents.
23.305 Notice of Motion and Motion for Protective Order to Avoid Production of Documents.
F. Discovery of Electronically Stored Information

23.306 Sample Internal Memo Regarding Suspension of Document Retention Policy.
23.307 Sample Request for Preservation of Evidence.
23.308 Sample Interrogatories Concerning Document Retention Policy and Data Storage.
23.309 Sample Requests for Production of Electronically Stored Information.
G. Physical and Mental Examinations
23.310 Notice of Motion and Motion Requesting Physical or Mental Examination.
23.311 Order Granting Motion for Physical or Mental Examination.
H. Requests for Admission
23.312 Requests for Admission--Official Form 51.
23.313 Requests for Admission--Unofficial Form.
23.314 Responses to Requests for Admission.
23.315 Notice of Motion and Motion to Determine Sufficiency of Responses to Requests for Admission.
23.316 Notice of Motion and Motion to Withdraw or Amend Admission.
I. Nonparty Discovery: Subpoena
23.317 Subpoena to Compel Attendance of Witness at Deposition.
23.318 Subpoena to Compel Production.
23.319 Subpoena to Compel Permission to Inspect Premises.
23.320 Notice of Motion and Motion to Quash a Subpoena.
23.321 Local District Court Forms.
Special Alert to Chapter 24
Scope
CHAPTER 24 Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
§ 24.syn Synopsis to Chapter 24: Restrictions on Scope and Extent of Discovery: Privileges and Work Product Protection
I. STRATEGY
24.01 Scope.
24.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. DISCOVERY LIMITED TO RELEVANT MATTERS
24.03 CHECKLIST: Relevance.
24.04 Options and Strategy in Evaluating Relevance.
24.05 Admissibility Is Not Component of Discoverability.
24.06 Material Sought Must Be Relevant to Claim or Defense.
24.07 Relevance Is Broadly Construed but Has Limitations.
24.07[1] Identity of Parties, Witnesses, or Other Persons Is Generally Discoverable.
24.07[2] Existence of Documents or Other Demonstrative Evidence Is Discoverable.
24.07[3] Financial Condition of Party May Be Discoverable.
24.07[4] Discovery of Tax Returns Is Subject to Policy Favoring Confidentiality.
24.08 Matters Affecting Jurisdiction or Venue of Action May Be Discovered.
24.09 Discovery May Not Be Cumulative or Unduly Burdensome.
24.10 Resolving Disputes Over Relevance.
24.10[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: Meet and Confer Required.
24.10[2] District Court Will Determine Relevance.
24.11 Broader Discovery May Be Available by Stipulation or Court Order.
III. PRIVILEGES: INITIAL CONSIDERATIONS
A. Applying Federal and State Privilege Law
24.12 CHECKLIST: Privileges.
24.13 Options and Strategy When Material Sought in Discovery May Be Privileged.
24.14 Federal Common Law Generally Governs Privileges.
24.15 Federal Common Law May Recognize New Privileges.
24.16 State Privilege Law May Apply.
24.16[1] State Privilege Law Applies in Diversity Cases.
24.16[2] State Privilege Law Applies to State Law Component of Federal Claim.
24.17 Federal Privilege Law Applied in Action Presenting Both Federal and State Claims.
24.18 Federal Statutes May Require or Prohibit Disclosure of Information.
24.19 Discovery of Information in Hands of Federal Government Is Limited.
24.19[1] Federal Common Law or Specific Statutory Law May Govern.
24.19[2] Public Access and Exceptions Under Freedom of Information Act.
24.20 California Statutes May Restrict or Require Discovery.
B. Asserting Privilege
24.21 Party Asserting Protection of Privilege Has Burden of Proof.
24.22 Nonparty From Whom Discovery Sought May Assert Privilege.
24.23 Avoiding Waiver of Privilege.
24.23[1] Waiver by Failure to Assert Privilege.
24.23[2] Waiver Through Voluntary Disclosure.
24.23[3] Implicit Waiver by Placing Privileged Matter in Controversy.
24.24 Claim of Privilege Must Be Raised in Lieu of Response.
24.24[1] Claim of Privilege Must Be Raised Expressly.
24.24[2] Ground of Privilege Claim Must Be Stated.
24.24[3] Claimant Must Describe Withheld Materials.
24.24[4] Third Parties May Intervene to Raise Claim of Privilege.

24.24[5] Claim of Privilege May Be Asserted After Disclosure.
24.25 Claimant May Move for Protective Order.
24.25[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: Parties Must Meet and Confer.
24.25[2] Claimant Must Show Good Cause.
24.26 Privilege Log Is Valuable Tool.
C. Opposing Claim of Privilege
24.27 LOCAL PRACTICE: Parties Must Meet and Confer.
24.28 Party Seeking Discovery May Move to Compel.
IV. USING PARTICULAR PRIVILEGES
A. Attorney-Client Privilege
24.29 CHECKLIST: Attorney-Client Privilege.
24.30 Federal Common Law Privilege.
24.31 California Law.
24.32 Client Is Holder of Privilege.
24.32[1] Attorney Is Not Holder of Privilege.
24.32[2] Corporation or Other Artificial Entity May Be Entitled to Claim Privilege.
24.32[2][a] Both Entity and Individual Employees May Invoke Privilege.
24.32[2][aa] Five-Part Test to Determine Whether Corporate Employee Holds Joint Privilege With Corporate Counsel.
24.32[2][b] Privilege Extends to Former Corporate Employees.
24.32[2][bb] Communications Between Outside Consultant and Entity's Attorneys Are Covered By Entity's Attorney-Client Privilege When Consultant Is "Functional Equivalent" of Employee.
24.32[2][c] Privilege Belongs to Successor Corporation After Merger.
24.32[3] Attorney or Other Representative May Claim Privilege on Client's Behalf.
24.33 Privilege Survives Death of Client.
24.34 Privilege Covers Confidential Communications Between Client and Attorney.
24.35 Privilege Covers Communications With Agents.
24.35[1] Communications Between Client and Attorney's Agent.
24.35[2] Communications Between Attorney and Client's Agent.
24.36 Privilege Covers Communications to or Among Clients With Common Interests.
24.36[1] Often Referred to As Joint Defense Doctrine.
24.36[2] Parties' Interest May Be Adverse.
24.37 Identity of Client Is Not Protected by Privilege.
24.38 Privilege Can Apply to Documentary Evidence.
24.38[1] Documents Must Contain Confidential Communications Between Client and Attorney.
24.38[2] Forwarding Documents to Attorney Does Not Make Documents Privileged.
24.38[3] Documents May Be Redacted to Preserve Privileged Components.
24.39 Exceptions to Privilege.
24.39[1] Communications in Furtherance of Crime or Fraud Are Not Privileged.
24.39[1][a] Crime or Fraud May Be by Either Client or Attorney.
24.39[1][b] Party Asserting Exception Bears Burden of Establishing Illegality.
24.39[1][c] Consideration of Evidence and Burden of Proof in Civil Cases.
24.39[2] Suit for Malpractice.
24.39[3] California Statutory Exceptions.
24.40 Waiver of Privilege.
24.40[1] Only Client May Waive Privilege.
24.40[2] Corporate Client May Waive Privilege for Communications of Employees or Agents.
24.40[3] Disclosure to Third Party Waives Privilege.
24.40[4] Compelled Disclosure Does Not Waive Privilege.
24.40[5] Inadvertent Disclosure May Not Constitute Waiver.
24.40[6] Waiver Does Not Automatically Extend to Entire Subject Matter.
24.40[7] Limited Waiver Permitted in Absence of Prejudice.
24.40[8] Placing Matter in Controversy Waives Privilege.
24.40A Discovery Order Adverse to Attorney-Client Privilege Is Not Appealable Collateral Order.
B. Physician-Patient Privilege
24.41 CHECKLIST: Physician-Patient Privilege.
24.42 No Federal Common Law Doctor-Patient Privilege Exists.
24.43 Physician-Patient Privilege Under California Law Applies in Diversity Actions.
24.43[1] "Patient" and "Physician" Defined.
24.43[2] Communication Must Be Confidential and During Professional Relationship.
24.43[3] Patient Is Holder of Privilege.
24.43[4] Physician or Other Representative May Claim Privilege on Patient's Behalf.
24.43[5] Physician Must Claim Privilege If Present When Disclosure Sought.
24.43[6] Placing Medical Condition in Controversy Will Waive Privilege.
24.43[7] Express Statutory Exceptions.
C. Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege
24.44 CHECKLIST: Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege.
24.45 Psychotherapist-Patient Privilege Is Part of Federal Common Law.
24.46 Communications With Licensed Professionals Protected.

24.46[1] Communication Must Be Confidential.
24.46[2] Employee Assistance Programs Are Within Privilege.
24.47 Placing Mental Condition in Controversy Will Waive Privilege.
24.48 Ninth Circuit Does Not Recognize Crime-Fraud Exception.
24.49 Ninth Circuit Does Not Recognize Dangerous Patient Exception.
24.50 Psychologist-Patient Privilege Under California Law.
24.51 Related California Privileges.
24.51[1] Sexual Assault Counselor and Victim.
24.51[2] Domestic Violence Counselor and Victim.
24.51[3] Human Trafficking Victim and Caseworker.
D. Clergy-Penitent Privilege
24.52 CHECKLIST: Clergy-Penitent Privilege.
24.53 Privilege Is Part of Federal Common Law.
24.54 Privilege Applies to Spiritual Counseling.
24.55 California Statutory Provisions Apply in Diversity Actions.
E. Privileges From Marital Relationship
24.56 CHECKLIST: Marital Privileges.
24.57 Spousal Privileges Are Part of Federal Common Law.
24.58 Privilege Exists for Confidential Marital Communications.
24.58[1] Claimant Must Be Validly Married at Time of Communication.
24.58[2] Privilege Persists After Marriage Ends.
24.58[3] Privilege Protects Only Communications.
24.58[4] Communication Must Be Confidential.
24.58[5] Privilege Does Not Apply to Criminal Activities.
24.58[5][a] Crime Against Spouse or Child.
24.58[5][b] Joint Crimes of Spouses.
24.58[6] California Law.
24.59 Privilege Exists for Spouse's Adverse Testimony.
24.59[1] Valid Marriage Required at Time of Testimony.
24.59[2] Privilege Holder May Not Be Compelled to Testify Against Spouse.
24.59[3] Termination of Marriage Ends Privilege.
24.59[4] California Law May Apply.
F. Fifth Amendment Privilege Against Self-Incrimination
24.60 CHECKLIST: Privilege Against Self-Incrimination.
24.61 Only Natural Persons Have Fifth Amendment Rights.
24.62 Privilege Extends to Testimony Only.
24.63 Reasonable Belief of Potential Prosecution Is Sufficient.
24.64 Civil Litigant May Invoke Fifth Amendment.
24.65 Privilege Must Be Claimed on Question-by-Question Basis.
24.66 California Law Recognizes Privilege Against Self-Incrimination.
G. Qualified Privilege of Journalist to Protect Sources
24.67 CHECKLIST: Journalist's Privilege.
24.68 First Amendment Protects Journalists.
24.69 Privilege Is Qualified Not Absolute.
24.70 Privilege Applies to Both Confidential and Nonconfidential Information.
24.71 Privilege Applies to Any Information Intended to Be Disseminated to Public.
24.72 Party Seeking Discovery Must Show Requested Material Is Unavailable, Relevant, and Non-Cumulative.
H. California Right to Privacy
24.73 CHECKLIST: Right to Privacy.
24.74 California Constitution Guarantees Right to Privacy.
24.75 Privacy Interest Is Balanced Against Need for Disclosure.
24.76 Party May Claim Privacy Interest of Non-Party.
I. Deliberative Process Privilege
24.77 CHECKLIST: Deliberative Process Privilege.
24.78 Federal Common Law Recognizes Qualified Deliberative Process Privilege.
24.79 Privilege Protects Documents and Testimony.
24.80 Privilege Applies to Pre-decisional Documents.
24.81 Privilege Applies to State Agencies.
24.82 Government Agency Must Establish Applicability of Privilege.
24.83 Facts Relied on by Government Are Not Protected.
24.84 Government's Interest Weighed Against Need for Information.
J. Other Governmental and Law Enforcement Privileges
24.85 CHECKLIST: Other Governmental and Law Enforcement Privileges.
24.86 Privilege of Government to Withhold State Secrets.
24.86[1] Privilege Is Absolute.
24.86[2] Privilege Must Be Claimed by Head of Department.
24.86[3] Dismissal of Action May Result.
24.87 Identity of Government Informant May Be Withheld.
24.87[1] Privilege Is Qualified.

24.87[2] Showing of Fairness Required to Overcome Privilege.
24.87[3] Law Enforcement Officer Is Not Informant.
24.88 Government May Withhold Information to Assist Law Enforcement.
K. Trade Secrets
24.89 CHECKLIST: Trade Secrets.
24.90 Defining "Trade Secret."
24.91 Limited Disclosure May Be Allowed.
24.92 Party Claiming Trade Secret Must Show Need to Protect Information.
24.93 State Law Requires Pleading of Trade Secret in Misappropriation Case.
V. PROTECTION FOR ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT
24.94 CHECKLIST: Work Product Protection.
24.95 Federal Rule Applies.
24.96 Defining Work Product.
24.96[1] Material to Be Protected Must Be Document or Other Tangible Thing.
24.96[2] Material Must Be Prepared by or for Party, Attorney, or Representative.
24.96[3] Material Must Be Prepared Because of Existing or Anticipated Litigation.
24.96[4] Protection Extends Beyond Confidential Communications.
24.97 Protection Does Not Expire.
24.98 Protection May Apply to Dual-Purpose Documents.
24.99 Either Client or Attorney May Claim Work Product Protection.
24.100 Initial Burden of Proof Is on Party Claiming Work Product Protection.
24.101 Work Product Is Not Absolute Protection.
24.101[1] Material May Be Discoverable on Showing of Substantial Need and Undue Hardship.
24.101[2] Parties Must Distinguish "Fact" and "Opinion" Work Product.
24.101[3] Party Seeking Discovery Must Show Need for Opinion Work Product Is Compelling.
24.102 Waiver of Work Product Protection.
24.102[1] Voluntary Disclosure Waives Protection.
24.102[2] Inadvertent Disclosure May Waive Protection.
24.102[3] Disclosure to Co-Party or Other With Common Interest May Not Constitute Waiver.
24.102[4] Disclosure to Government Agency May Waive Protection.
24.102[5] Disclosure to Expert Witness Does Not Necessarily Constitute Waiver.
24.102[6] Placing Material in Controversy Waives Protection.
24.102[7] Claim of Protection May Be Asserted After Disclosure.
VI. FORMS
24.103 Privilege Log.
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
§ 25.syn Synopsis to Chapter 25: Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
I. STRATEGY
25.01 Scope.
25.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery
25.03 CHECKLIST: Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.
25.04 Options and Strategies for Compelling Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.
25.04[1] Parties Should Attempt to Resolve Discovery Disputes Informally.
25.04[1][a] Parties Should Clarify Discovery Requests Without Formal Motion.
25.04[1][b] Proceeding With Discovery Response After Rejection of Informal Request for Clarification.
25.04[2] Counsel Should Weigh Cost and Delay of Motion.
25.05 Local Rules Require Attempt at Informal Resolution of Discovery Disputes Prior to Filing of Discovery Motions.
25.05[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer in Good Faith to Attempt Resolution of Any Discovery Dispute.
25.05[1][a] Good-Faith Attempt at Resolution Required Prior to Filing Motion.
25.05[1][b] Conference Required Within 10 Days of Service of Request.
25.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Stipulation of Discovery Dispute Required Prior to Filing Motion.
25.05[2][a] Written Stipulation of Nonresolution Must Be Filed and Served With Notice of Motion.
25.05[2][b] Form of Stipulation.
25.05[2][c] Counsel Must Exchange Stipulation Portions in Timely Manner.
25.05[2][d] Parties May File Supplemental Memoranda of Law.
25.05[2][e] Court Will Not Consider Discovery Motion Absent Stipulation or Declaration of Noncooperation.
25.05[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer Prior to Filing of Any Discovery Motion, and Must Prepare Joint Statement.
25.05[3][a] Counsel Must Confer Prior to Filing of Motion.
25.05[3][b] Moving Party Must Draft Joint Statement If Disagreement Continues.
25.05[3][c] Moving Party May File and Serve Affidavit of Opposing Party's Refusal to Confer or Prepare Joint Statement.
25.05[3][d] Joint Statement Requirement May Be Waived Under Certain Circumstances and Pursuant to Motion.

25.05[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer in Good Faith to Attempt Resolution of Discovery Disputes Under Rule 37.
25.05[4][a] Counsel Must Confer Prior to Request or Motion Involving Discovery Dispute.
25.05[4][b] Counsel Must Attempt to Settle Dispute During Discovery Event.
25.05[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Counsel Must Confer in Attempt to Resolve Any Discovery Dispute.
25.05[5][a] Conference Is Prerequisite to Motion.
25.05[5][b] Counsel Must Confer in Person or Telephonically.
25.05[5][c] Certificate of Compliance With Conference Requirement.
25.06 Mandatory Disclosures Under Rule 26.
25.07 Distinction Between Mandatory Disclosure and Discovery.
25.08 Motion for Order Compelling Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.
25.08[1] Motion for Order Compelling Mandatory Disclosure.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 7 Discovery
CHAPTER 25 Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions
II. SEEKING ORDER TO COMPEL MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery
25.08 Motion for Order Compelling Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.
25.08[1] Motion for Order Compelling Mandatory Disclosure.
25.08[1][a] Party May Seek Order Compelling Disclosure and Request Sanctions After Reasonable Notice.
25.08[1][b] Good-Faith Certificate of Attempt at Resolution Required.
25.08[2] Motion to Compel Discovery.
25.08[2][a] Party Seeking Discovery May Compel Discovery Concerning Depositions, Interrogatories, and Requests for Inspection, and May Request Sanctions.
25.08[2][b] Good-Faith Certificate of Attempt at Resolution Required.
25.08[3] Evasive or Incomplete Disclosure, Answer, or Response.
25.09 Seeking Order to Compel With Respect to Specific Discovery Methods.
25.09[1] Failure to Answer Deposition Questions.
25.09[1][a] Moving for Order to Compel Answer.
25.09[1][b] Evaluating Whether to Complete Remainder of Deposition After Deponent Refuses to Answer.
25.09[1][c] Understanding Situations When Deponent May Decline to Answer.
25.09[2] Written Deposition.
25.09[3] Failure to Designate Deponent.
25.09[4] Failure to Respond to Interrogatories or a Request for Production or Inspection.
25.10 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel.
25.10[1] Standing for Motion to Compel Disclosure or Discovery.
25.10[1][a] Any Other Party May Move to Compel Disclosure.
25.10[1][b] Party Seeking Discovery May Move to Compel Discovery.
25.10[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion to Compel Must Be Filed Seven Court Days or Fewer After Discovery Cutoff.
25.10[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Form of Motion to Compel Must Set Forth Each Request and Response.
25.10[4] Moving Party on Motion to Compel Must Provide Reasonable Notice.
25.10[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Required Notice for Any Discovery Motion; Ex Parte Rules.
25.10[5][a] At Least 21 Days' Notice Is Required on Any Discovery Motion.
25.10[5][b] No Ex Parte Motions Are Permitted Absent Proper Showing.
25.10[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Filing of Any Discovery Motion and Hearing on Motion for Any Discovery Motion.
25.10[7] Application Is Made to Court Where Action Is Pending for Party, Court Where Discovery Is Taken for Nonparty.
25.10[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Motion to Compel Is Referred to Magistrate Judge in Charge of Case.
25.11 Court's Determination of Motion to Compel Discovery.
25.11[1] Courts Use Broad Standard to Determine Relevance of Pretrial Discovery.
25.11[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Local Rule 1.1(c) Applies to Motion to Compel, Requiring Just, Efficient, and Economical Determination.
25.12 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.
B. Opposing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery
25.13 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.
25.14 Protective Orders.
25.14[1] Denial or Partial Denial of Motion May Result in Protective Order.
25.14[2] Seeking Protective Order in Conjunction With Opposition to Motion.
25.14[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal--Responding Party May Serve Notice of Protective Order.
25.15 Factors Supporting Denial of Motion to Compel Discovery.
25.15[1] Relevance Factors Favoring Denial.
25.15[2] Proportionality Factors Favoring Denial.
25.15[3] Good-Faith Requirements Favoring Denial.
25.15[4] Privilege or Work-Product Protection Favoring Denial.
C. Seeking Imposition of Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery
25.16 CHECKLIST: Seeking Imposition of Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.
25.17 Court Award of Reasonable Expenses, Including Attorney's Fees, and Entry of Protective Order.
25.17[1] If Motion for Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery Is Granted.
25.17[2] If Motion for Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery Is Denied.

25.17[3] If Motion for Order Compelling Disclosure or Discovery Is Granted in Part and Denied in Part.
25.18 Due Process Requirements of Expense-Shifting Sanctions: Opportunity to Be Heard.
25.19 Rebuttable Presumption Favors Party Seeking Expense-Shifting Sanctions.
25.20 Moving Party May Recover Attorney's Fees Incurred in Requesting Expense-Shifting Sanctions.
D. Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery
25.21 CHECKLIST: Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure or Discovery.
25.22 If Moving Party Prevails, Responding Party May Raise Failure to Make Good-Faith Effort at Informal Resolution.
25.23 If Moving Party Prevails, Responding Party May Raise Substantial Justification.
25.24 If Responding Party Prevails, Moving Party May Raise Substantial Justification.
25.25 Unsuccessful Party May Raise Other Circumstances That Render Imposition of Sanctions Unjust.
25.26 Substantial Justification Is Determined by Objective Standard.
25.27 Opposing Reasonableness of Amount of Sanctions Requested.
III. SEEKING IMPOSITION OF SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO COMPLY WITH ORDER COMPELLING MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR DISCOVERY
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions
25.28 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(b) Sanctions.
25.29 Person Who Fails to Be Sworn or Deposed May Be in Contempt of Court.
25.30 Party or Party's Representative or Designee Who Disobeys Court Order Is Subject to Sanctions.
25.30[1] Party Who Fails to Obey Discovery Order Is Subject to Sanctions.
25.30[2] Party's Representative or Designee Who Fails to Obey Discovery Order Is Subject to Sanctions.
25.30[3] Party Who Fails to Obey Order to Produce Another for Examination Is Subject to Sanctions Absent Showing of Inability.
25.30[4] Pro Se Litigants Are Subject to Sanctions.
25.31 Underlying "Order" Is Construed Broadly.
25.32 Court That Issued Order Determines Whether Order Was Violated.
25.33 Sanctions Available Under Rule 37(b)(2).
25.33[1] List of Sanctions.
25.33[2] Sanction Precluding Party From Defending Claim Is Severe Penalty Authorized Only in Extreme Circumstances.
25.34 Dismissal and Default Sanctions Are Severe Penalties Imposed Only After Weighing Certain Factors.
25.34[1] Dismissal and Default Sanctions Are Authorized Only in Extreme Circumstances.
25.34[2] Factors for Determining Dismissal or Default.
25.34[3] Determining Whether Court Considered Alternative Sanctions.
25.34[4] When Court Should Explicitly Discuss Alternatives or Warn of Dismissal.
25.34[4][a] Discussion of Alternatives.
25.34[4][b] Warning of Dismissal.
25.34[5] Appellate Courts Will Affirm Dismissal If Four Factors Support Dismissal, or Three Factors Strongly Support Dismissal.
25.34[6] Dismissal and Default Sanctions Reviewed Under Same Standard; Cases Involving Court's Inherent Power Apply.
25.35 Contempt of Court Is Available Under Rule 37(b)(2).
25.35[1] Failure to Obey Order May Be Treated As Contempt of Court.
25.35[2] Protective Order May Be Basis for Contempt Sanction.
25.35[3] Civil and Criminal Contempt Distinguished by Character and Purpose.
25.36 Civil Contempt.
25.36[1] Civil Contempt Consists of Disobedience of Specific Order by Failure to Comply Reasonably.
25.36[2] Civil Contempt May Be Compensatory or Coercive.
25.36[3] Civil Contempt Requires Showing of Violation Absent Good Faith and Reasonable Interpretation of Order.
25.36[4] Standard of Proof Is Clear and Convincing Evidence.
25.36[5] Civil Contempt Is Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.
25.36[6] Burden Shifts After Party Is Found to Have Violated Court Order.
25.37 Criminal Contempt.
25.37[1] Purpose of Criminal Contempt Is Punitive.
25.37[2] Criminal Contempt Requires Willful Conduct.
25.37[3] Court Must Provide Notice, and Appoint Prosecutor.
25.37[4] Person Is Entitled to Jury Trial When Federal Law Provides.
25.37[5] Judge Disrespected or Criticized Is Disqualified From Presiding at Contempt Proceeding.
25.37[6] Judge May Punish Person Committing Criminal Contempt in His or Her Presence.
25.37[7] Standard of Proof Is Beyond Reasonable Doubt.
25.38 Monetary Sanctions Are Imposed Under Rule 37(b)(2), Absent Substantial Justification or Other Circumstances.
25.39 Sanction Must Be Specifically Related to Claim at Issue in Discovery Order.
25.40 Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37(b).
25.40[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally.
25.40[2] Determining Jurisdiction for Motion.
25.40[2][a] Motion Seeking Sanctions Against Party May Be Brought in Court Where Action Is Pending.

25.40[2][b] Motion Seeking Sanctions Against Nonparty Deponent Is Brought in Court That Issued Discovery Order.
25.40[3] Time for Filing Motion.
25.40[3][a] Motion Should Be Filed Within Reasonable Time After Violation.
25.40[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion Must Be Made As Soon As Practicable After Notice of Violation, and Served and Filed 14 Days After Judgment Is Entered or Earlier.
25.40[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Form of Motion Must Comply With Local Rules 7-2 and 7-8.
25.40[4][a] Motion Must Comport With Format Requirements of Local Rule 7-2.
25.40[4][b] Motion Must Be Separately Filed.
25.40[5] Content of Motion.
25.40[5][a] Moving Party Must Provide Adequate Description of Alleged Violation.
25.40[5][b] Motion Seeking Expenses Must Show Connection Between Violation and Expenses.
25.40[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Required Affidavits and Declarations in Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37.
25.40[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Motion Must Be Accompanied by Proposed Order.
25.40[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Required Notice for Any Discovery Motion; Ex Parte Rules.
25.40[6][a] At Least 21 Days' Notice Is Required on Any Discovery Motion.
25.40[6][b] No Ex Parte Motions Permitted Absent Proper Showing.
25.40[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Filing of Discovery Motion and Hearing on Motion for Discovery Motion.
25.40[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Notice of Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37.
25.40[8][a] Motion for Sanctions Based on Disclosure or Discovery Dispute Must Comply With Local Rules 7-2 and 7-8.
25.40[8][b] Motion Must Be Served and Filed at Least 35 Days Before Hearing.
25.41 Court's Determination of Imposition of Sanctions.
25.41[1] Court in Which Action Is Pending May Make Just Orders Regarding Sanctions.
25.41[2] Purpose of Sanctions Is to Prevent Party From Benefitting From Failure to Respond, and to Deter Sanctioned Conduct.
25.41[3] Court Evaluates All Incidents of Party's Misconduct.
25.42 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(b) Sanctions
25.43 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(b) Sanctions.
25.44 Options and Strategies for Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(b) Sanctions.
25.45 Opposing Imposition of Monetary Sanctions.
25.45[1] Disobedient Party Has Burden of Proving That Failure Was Substantially Justified.
25.45[2] Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Other Circumstances Make Monetary Sanctions Unjust.
25.46 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That an Underlying Order Was Not Issued, or That Party Did Not Disobey Any Order.
25.47 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Requested Sanction Is Unrelated to Particular Discovery Order That Was Disobeyed.
25.48 Opposing Civil Contempt.
25.48[1] Opposing Civil Contempt on Ground of Substantial Compliance With Court Order.
25.48[2] Opposing Civil Contempt on Ground of Impossibility.
25.49 Opposing Severe Sanctions on Ground That Less Severe Sanctions Are Appropriate Under Circumstances.
25.49[1] Party Who Disobeyed Discovery Order May Assert That Sanctions Sought Are Too Severe Under Circumstances.
25.49[2] Imposing Severe Sanctions Is Inappropriate When Party Was Unable to Comply With Discovery Order.
25.49[3] Refuting Requested Amount of Sanctions.
IV. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR FAILURE TO MAKE MANDATORY DISCLOSURE OR FAILURE TO SUPPLEMENT DISCOVERY RESPONSES
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions
25.50 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions.
25.51 Party Who Fails to Make Mandatory Disclosures or Amended Responses Is Subject to Evidence-Preclusion Sanctions.
25.51[1] Unjustified Failure to Disclose or Amend Information As Required Under Rule 26 Results in Evidence-Preclusion Sanctions.
25.51[2] Evidence-Preclusion Sanction Is Self-Executing.
25.51[3] Making Proper Showing to Obtain Preclusion Order.
25.52 Additional Sanctions Available.
25.52[1] Issue and Evidence Preclusion, Termination, and Monetary Sanctions.
25.52[2] Court May Inform Jury of Failure to Make Disclosure.
25.53 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions
25.54 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(c)(1) Sanctions.
25.55 Party May Oppose Sanctions on Ground That Failure to Disclose or Supplement Was Substantially Justified.
25.55[1] Failure to Disclose or Supplement Was Substantially Justified.
25.55[2] Reasonable Predisclosure Investigation Justified Failure to Disclose or Supplement.
25.55[3] Unforeseen Relevance of Discovery Material.
25.55[4] Pro Se Party May Show Ignorance of Discovery Requirement.

25.56 Party May Oppose Sanctions on Ground That Failure to Disclose or Supplement Was Harmless.
25.57 Party May Oppose Sanctions on Ground That Factors Weigh Against Sanctions.
25.58 Party May Oppose Severity of Sanctions.
V. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR UNREASONABLE FAILURE TO ADMIT GENUINENESS OF DOCUMENT OR TRUTH OF MATTER
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions
25.59 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions.
25.60 Party Failing to Admit Genuineness of Document or Truth of Matter Later Proved Is Subject to Monetary Sanctions.
25.61 Party May Object, Admit or Deny the Matter, or State That Matter Cannot Be Admitted or Denied.
25.62 Expense-Shifting Sanctions Under Rule 37(c)(2) May Be Imposed Against Party Only.
25.62[1] Sanctions Available Against Party, Not Counsel.
25.62[2] Sanctions Against Attorney May Be Available From Other Sources of Authority.
25.63 Motion for Expense-Shifting Sanctions Based on Party's Unreasonable Failure to Admit.
25.63[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally.
25.63[2] Motion Is Filed After Trial Is Completed.
25.63[3] Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions.
25.64 Appellate Courts Apply "Abuse of Discretion" Standard Regarding Sanction Orders Under Rule 37(c)(2).
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions
25.65 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(c)(2) Sanctions.
25.66 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Request Was Objectionable Under Rule 36(a).
25.67 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Admission Sought Was Not Substantially Important.
25.68 Opposing Sanctions on Ground of Reasonable Belief That Party Might Prevail.
25.68[1] Party May Assert Reasonable Belief That It Might Prevail, Whether or Not It Prevailed at Trial.
25.68[2] Reasonableness Is Determined by Objective Test.
25.69 Opposing Sanctions on Ground of Other Good Reason for Failure to Admit.
25.70 Party May Assert Lack of Proof, Unreasonableness of Amount of Sanctions Requested, or Lack of Connection Between Expenses and Objectionable Response.
VI. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(d) FOR FAILURE TO APPEAR AT DEPOSITION, OR TO RESPOND TO DISCOVERY REQUESTS
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions
25.71 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(d) Sanctions.
25.72 Sanctions for Party's Failure to Attend Own Deposition, Serve Answers to Interrogatories, or Respond to Request for Inspection.
25.73 Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37(d).
25.73[1] Motion Based on Failure to Respond to Interrogatories or Request for Inspection Must Include Certification of Good-Faith Attempt to Obtain Response.
25.73[2] Court in Which Action Is Pending Has Jurisdiction Over Motion.
25.73[3] Motion Should Be Filed Promptly After Discovery Failure, and When Circumstances Dictate.
25.73[4] Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions.
25.74 Court Must Order Expense-Shifting Sanctions Against Party or Attorney or Both for Failure to Act, Absent Substantial Justification or Other Circumstances.
25.75 Appellate Courts Apply "Abuse of Discretion" Standard Regarding Sanction Orders Under Rule 37(d).
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(d) Sanctions
25.76 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(d) Sanctions.
25.77 Defense Based on Objection to Discovery Must Be Supported by Protective Order Procedure.
25.78 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Failure to Appear or Respond Was Substantially Justified.
25.78[1] Party May Avoid Expense-Shifting Sanctions by Showing Substantial Justification.
25.78[2] Burden of Establishing Substantial Justification Is on Party Opposing Sanctions.
25.78[3] Substantial Justification Is Determined on Case-by-Case Basis.
25.79 Opposing Expense-Shifting Sanctions on Ground That Other Circumstances Make Imposition of Sanctions Unjust.
25.79[1] Court May Elect Not to Impose Sanctions Based on Other Circumstances.
25.79[2] Burden of Proof Is on Person Subject to Sanctions.
25.80 Opposing Sanctions on Ground That Rule 37(d) Does Not Encompass Particular Conduct.
VII. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 37(f) FOR FAILURE TO PARTICIPATE IN DISCOVERY PLAN
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions
25.81 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 37(f) Sanctions.
25.82 Party or Attorney's Failure to Participate in Discovery Plan May Result in Monetary Sanctions.
25.83 Parties and Attorneys Have Duty to Participate in Discovery Plan.
25.84 Court or Party May Raise Issue of Sanctions Under Rule 37(f).
25.85 Party Subject to Sanctions Must Be Afforded Opportunity to Be Heard.
25.86 Motion for Sanctions Under Rule 37(f).
25.86[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally.
25.86[2] Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions.
25.87 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 37(f) Sanctions
25.88 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 37(f) Sanctions.
25.89 Opposing Sanctions on Grounds of Procedural Defects.

25.90 Party May Assert That Amount of Sanctions Is Unreasonable or That Expenses Are Unrelated to Failure to Participate in Discovery Plan.
VIII. SEEKING SANCTIONS FOR SPOLIATION OF EVIDENCE
A. Bringing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence
25.91 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence.
25.92 Options and Strategies for Requesting Imposition of Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence.
25.93 Litigants Must Preserve Certain Evidence in Their Control.
25.94 Sanctions May Be Awarded for Spoliation of Evidence Under Inherent Powers of Court.
25.95 Sanctions May Be Awarded Under Rule 37 If Failure to Produce Evidence Because of Spoliation Violated Rule.
25.96 Party That Violates Rule 37 Based on Spoliation Is Subject to Sanctions Available Under Rule.
25.97 Sanctions Available Under Court's Inherent Powers.
25.97[1] Range of Sanctions, Including Dismissal, Are Available Under Court's Inherent Powers.
25.97[2] Requirements for Imposing Severe Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Powers.
25.97[2][a] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Finding of Willfulness, Fault, or Bad Faith.
25.97[2][b] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Consideration of Less Drastic Sanctions.
25.97[2][c] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Nexus Among Sanction, Misconduct, and Matters in Controversy.
25.97[2][d] Prejudice to Opposing Party Is Factor in Determining Imposition of Sanctions.
25.97[2][e] Imposition of Severe Sanctions Requires Consideration of Public Interest and Policy.
25.97[3] Sanction Must Be Commensurate With Degree to Which Evidence Was Compromised or Destroyed.
25.98 Rebuttable Presumption Arises Against Party Responsible for Tampering With Evidence.
25.99 Counsel Must Comply With Local Procedural Rules for Motions.
25.100 Ruling on Imposition of Sanctions Is Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
25.101 Court Order for Sanctions Should Specify Authority.
B. Opposing Motion for Sanctions for Spoliation of Evidence
25.102 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Sanctions.
25.103 Options and Strategies for Opposing Imposition of Sanctions for Spoliation.
25.104 Party May Show No Duty to Preserve Evidence.
25.105 Party May Show Undue Burden in Preserving Documents in Certain Form.
25.105A Party May Show Electronically Stored Information Was Lost in Routine Operations.
25.106 Severe Sanctions Sought Under Court's Inherent Power May Be Opposed on Grounds That Requirements for Imposition of Sanctions Are Not Met.
IX. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER RULE 26(g) FOR IMPROPER CERTIFICATION OF DISCOVERY REQUEST, RESPONSE, OBJECTION, OR DISCLOSURE
A. Bringing Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions
25.107 CHECKLIST: Requesting Imposition of Rule 26(g) Sanctions.
25.108 Required Signatures on Disclosures, Requests, Responses, and Objections.
25.108[1] Disclosures, Requests, Responses and Objections Must Be Signed by Attorney or Unrepresented Party.
25.108[2] Signatures on Disclosures, Requests, Responses and Objections Constitute Certification.
25.108[3] Reasonableness of Inquiry Is Judged by Objective Standard.
25.108[4] Unsigned Disclosure, Request, Response or Objection Is Stricken Unless Promptly Signed.
25.109 [Reserved]
25.110 Sanctions Under Rule 26(g).
25.110[1] Person Who Makes Certification in Violation of Rule 26(g) Is Subject to Sanctions.
25.110[2] Sanctions May Include Amount of Reasonable Expenses and Attorney's Fees.
25.111 Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions.
25.111[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: All Districts--Counsel Must Make Good-Faith Effort to Resolve Dispute Informally.
25.111[2] Person Subject to Sanctions Must Be Afforded Due Process.
25.111[3] Motion Should Be Filed Soon After Violation Occurs.
25.111[4] Counsel Must Follow Procedures Applicable to Discovery Motions.
25.112 Discovery Rulings Are Reviewed Under Abuse of Discretion Standard.
B. Opposing Motion for Rule 26(g) Sanctions
25.113 CHECKLIST: Opposing Imposition of Rule 26(g) Sanctions.
25.114 Opposing Sanctions on Grounds That Certification Was Substantially Justified, and That Asserted Grounds Are Inapplicable.
X. FORMS
25.115 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Mandatory Disclosure.
25.116 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Compliance With Discovery Request.
25.117 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Comply With Court Order.
25.118 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Make Mandatory Disclosures or Failure to Supplement Discovery Responses.
25.119 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Unreasonable Failure to Admit Genuineness of Document or Truth of Matter.
25.120 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Appear or Respond.
25.121 Notice of Motion and Motion for Sanctions for Failure to Participate in Discovery Plan.
Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
§ 26.syn Synopsis to Chapter 26: Pretrial Motion Practice
I. STRATEGY

26.01 Scope.
26.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. DETERMINING GOVERNING LAW
26.03 CHECKLIST: Determining Governing Law.
26.04 Rules Governing Motion Practice.
26.04[1] Motion Defined.
26.04[2] Federal Rules Govern Motion Practice.
26.04[3] Local Rules Must Be Consulted.
26.04[4] Individual Judges' Rules Must Be Consulted.
III. MAKING ORAL MOTIONS
26.05 CHECKLIST: Making Pretrial Oral Motions.
26.06 Before Trial, Oral Motions Are Restricted to Officially Recorded Hearings.
26.07 LOCAL PRACTICE: Restrictions on Oral Motions.
26.07[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.07[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.07[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
IV. USING STIPULATIONS IN LIEU OF MOTIONS
26.08 CHECKLIST: Using Stipulations in Lieu of Motions.
26.09 Using a Stipulation in Lieu of Motion.
26.09[1] Stipulations Under the Federal Rules.
26.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Stipulations.
26.09[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.09[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.09[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
V. MAKING EX PARTE APPLICATIONS
26.10 CHECKLIST: Making Ex Parte Applications.
26.11 Use Ex Parte Applications to Seek Expedited Relief.
26.11[1] Ex Parte Application Typically Proceeds Without Notice to Other Parties.
26.11[2] Contents of Ex Parte Application.
26.11[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Ex Parte Applications.
26.11[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.11[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.11[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.11[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS
26.12 CHECKLIST: Making Noticed Motions.
26.12[1] CHECKLIST: Preliminary Determinations.
26.12[2] CHECKLIST: Preparing Motion Papers.
26.12[3] CHECKLIST: Filing and Serving Motion Papers.
26.13 Options and Strategy for Noticed Motions.
26.14 Moving Party Must Comply With Pre-Motion Procedures.
26.15 LOCAL PRACTICE: Preliminary "Meet and Confer" Requirements Under Local Rules.
26.15[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.15[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.15[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.15[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.16 Notice of Motion Is Essential Element of Motion Papers.
26.16[1] Notice of Motion Functions to Inform Court and Parties.
26.16[2] Notice of Motion Must Specify Relief Sought.
26.16[3] Motion Must State Its Grounds With Particularity.
26.16[4] Individual Judges' Rules May Have Additional Requirements for Notice of Motion.
26.16[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Content of Notice of Motion.
26.16[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.16[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.16[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.16[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.17 Moving Party May Combine Motion and Notice of Motion in One Paper.
26.17[1] Federal Rules Permit Combination Motion and Notice of Motion.
26.17[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Combining Motion and Notice of Motion.
26.17[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.17[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.17[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.17[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.18 Formatting Motion Papers.
26.18[1] Motion Papers Must Be Properly Formatted.
26.18[2] Clerk May Not Reject Improperly Formatted Papers.
26.18[3] Motion Papers Must Contain Signature, Address, and Telephone Number.

26.19 Motion Must Be Accompanied by Supporting Papers.
26.19[1] Federal Rules Do Not Specify Papers Required in Support of Motion.
26.19[2] Notice of Motion Should List Supporting Papers.
26.19[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Papers Required in Support of Motion.
26.19[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.19[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.19[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.19[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.20 Preparing Memorandum of Law.
26.20[1] Purpose of Memorandum of Law.
26.20[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Memorandum of Law.
26.20[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.20[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.20[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.20[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.21 Preparing Supporting Affidavits or Affidavit Substitutes.
26.21[1] Purpose of Supporting Affidavits.
26.21[2] Affidavit Substitutes.
26.21[3] Affidavits May Not Be Served Separately From Motion.
26.21[4] Affidavit Requirements.
26.21[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Affidavits or Affidavit Substitutes.
26.21[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.21[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.21[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.21[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.22 Submitting Evidence in Support of Motion.
26.23 Timing of Notice, Service, and Filing.
26.23[1] Minimum Five-Day Notice Requirement Under Federal Rules Has Important Exceptions.
26.23[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Timing Rules for Noticed Motions.
26.23[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.23[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.23[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.23[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.23[3] Day-Counting Rules for Computing Advance Notice Period.
26.23[3][a] Notice Period Must First Be Ascertained From Rules.
26.23[3][b] Day on Which Moving Papers Served Is Not Included.
26.23[3][c] Notice Period Extended If Last Day Is on Weekend or Legal Holiday.
26.23[3][d] Three-Day Extension If Service by Specified Method.
26.24 Moving Party Must Review Court's Requirements for Setting Motion on Calendar.
26.25 LOCAL PRACTICE: Continuing the Hearing of a Motion.
26.25[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.25[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.25[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.25[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 26 Pretrial Motion Practice
VI. MAKING NOTICED MOTIONS
26.26 Shortening Notice Period.
26.26[1] Federal Rule Allows Court to Shorten Advance Notice Otherwise Required.
26.26[2] Consider Pre-Motion Conference When Prompt or Immediate Court Intervention Is Necessary.
26.26[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Shortening Notice Period.
26.26[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.26[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.26[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.26[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.27 All Parties Except Defaulting Parties Must Be Served With Motion Papers.
26.28 Serving Motion Papers on Attorney of Represented Party.
26.29 Manner of Serving Motion Papers.
26.30 Proof of Service Required.
26.31 Filing Complete When Motion Papers Timely Filed With Clerk.
26.32 Filing Motions by Fax or Other Electronic Means.
26.32A LOCAL PRACTICE: Mandatory Electronic Filing in ED Cal.
26.32B LOCAL PRACTICE: Mandatory Electronic Filing in SD Cal.
26.33 Delivering Courtesy Copies to Assigned Judge.
26.33[1] Consult Individual Judges' Rules.
26.33[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.33[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.34 LOCAL PRACTICE: Withdrawing Motion.
26.34[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.34[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.34[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.34[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.35 Making Motion for Enlargement of Time.
26.35[1] Seeking Additional Time to Act.
26.35[2] Request Made Prior to Expiration of Time Period.
26.35[3] Request Made After Expiration of Time Period.
26.35[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Motions to Enlarge Time.
26.35[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.35[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.35[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.35[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.36 Making Motion for Reconsideration.
26.36[1] Motion Used to Correct Manifest Errors of Law or Fact.
26.36[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Motion for Reconsideration.
26.36[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.36[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.36[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.36[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
VII. RESPONDING TO NOTICED MOTIONS
26.37 CHECKLIST: Responding to Noticed Motions.
26.38 Options and Strategy.
26.39 LOCAL PRACTICE: Contents of Responding Papers.
26.39[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.39[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.39[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.39[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.40 Formatting Opposition Papers.
26.41 Opposition Papers Must Be Timely Filed and Served.
26.41[1] Papers Must Be Filed Within Reasonable Time After Service.
26.41[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Deadline for Serving and Filing Opposition Papers.
26.41[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.41[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.41[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.41[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.41[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Extension of Deadline for Serving and Filing Opposition Papers.

26.41[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.41[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.41[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.41[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.42 Proof of Service Is Required.
26.43 Failure to Submit Timely Opposition Papers May Result in Default.
26.43[1] Court May Grant Unopposed Motion.
26.43[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Failure to Submit Opposition Papers.
26.43[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.43[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.43[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.43[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
VIII. MAKING CROSS-MOTIONS OR COUNTER-MOTIONS
26.44 CHECKLIST: Making Cross-Motions or Counter-Motions.
26.45 Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion Filed in Response to Motion.
26.45[1] Cross-Motions and Counter-Motions Generally.
26.45[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Cross-Motions and Counter-Motions.
26.45[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.45[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.45[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.45[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
26.46 Combining Opposition With Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion.
26.47 Serving and Filing Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion.
26.48 Seeking Enlargement of Time Within Which to Respond to Cross-Motion or Counter-Motion.
IX. REPLYING TO OPPOSITION PAPERS
26.49 CHECKLIST: Replying to Opposition Papers.
26.50 Reply Papers.
26.50[1] Purpose of Reply Papers.
26.50[2] Federal Rules Do Not Address Reply Papers.
26.50[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Reply Papers.
26.50[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.50[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.50[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.50[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
X. ORALLY ARGUING THE MOTION
26.51 CHECKLIST: Orally Arguing Motions.
26.52 Options and Strategies.
26.53 Orally Arguing Noticed Motions.
26.53[1] Local Rules and Individual Judges' Rules Govern Oral Argument.
26.53[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Oral Arguments.
26.53[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.53[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.53[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.53[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
XI. ORDERS
26.54 CHECKLIST: Orders.
26.55 Preparing Party May Be Required to Prepare Order.
26.55[1] Local Rules or Individual Judge's Rules May Require Prevailing Party to Prepare Order.
26.55[2] Contents of Order.
26.55[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Orders.
26.55[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
26.55[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
26.55[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
26.55[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
XII. FORMS
26.56 Notice of Motion and Motion--General Form.
26.57 Declaration in Support of or in Opposition to Motion--General Form.
26.58 Notice of Motion and Motion to Enlarge Period to Do Act Made Before Expiration of Period.
26.59 Application and Order Shortening Time for Service of Motion.
26.60 Request for Oral Argument on Motion.
26.61 Notice of Motion and Motion for Reargument or Reconsideration.
26.62 Stipulation--General Form.
26.63 Stipulation Withdrawing Motion.
26.64 Order Granting or Denying Motion--General Form.
CHAPTER 27 Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
§ 27.syn Synopsis to Chapter 27: Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default
I. STRATEGY
27.01 Scope.
27.02 Objective and Strategy.

27.02[1] Reviewing Definitions.
27.02[1][a] "Default" and "Defaulting Party."
27.02[1][b] "Entry of Default."
27.02[1][c] "Default Judgment."
27.02[2] Default Judgments Are Disfavored.
27.02[3] Relationship Between Entry of Default and Default Judgment: Two-Step Process.
27.02[3][a] Default Has No Effect Until Entered.
27.02[3][b] Entry of Default Is Prerequisite to Default Judgment.
27.02[4] Distinguish Default As Sanction.
II. OBTAINING ENTRY OF DEFAULT AND DEFAULT JUDGMENT
27.03 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Entry of Default and Default Judgment.
27.04 Failure to Respond to Pleading Results in Default.
27.04[1] Party Must Timely Respond or Defend.
27.04[2] Answer or Reply May Be Sufficient Response.
27.04[3] Motion to Dismiss or for Summary Judgment Constitutes Defending.
27.05 Obtaining Entry of Default by Clerk.
27.05[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Clerk Will Enter Default.
27.05[2] Applicant Must Show Defaulting Party Failed to Plead or Defend.
27.05[3] No Specific Form Is Required for Entry of Default.
27.05[4] Notification of Defaulting Party Is Not Required.
27.05[5] Clerk Will Enter Default on Proper Application.
27.06 Effects of Entry of Default.
27.06[1] Adversary Admits Allegations Regarding Liability.
27.06[2] Adversary Does Not Admit Amount of Damages.
27.06[3] Default Is Waiver of Most Affirmative Defenses.
27.06[4] Default Is Waiver of Compulsory Counterclaims.
27.06[5] Entry of Default is Not Final Order.
27.07 Clerk May Enter Default Judgment Under Particular Circumstances.
27.07[1] Claim Is for Sum Certain.
27.07[2] Party Failed to Appear.
27.07[3] Defaulting Party Is Not Minor, Incompetent, or Military Personnel.
27.07[4] Defaulting Party Is Not Government.
27.07[5] All Defendants Have Defaulted in Multi-Defendant Case.
27.08 Plaintiff Must Apply for Entry of Default Judgment by Clerk.
27.08[1] Submit Application and Supporting Material.
27.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Declaration Must Accompany Application.
27.08[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Apply Within 30 Days After Entry of Default.
27.08[4] Notice to Defaulting Party Is Not Required.
27.08[5] Clerk Will Enter Judgment on Proper Application.
27.08[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Attorney's Fees.
27.09 Obtaining Entry of Default Judgment by Court.
27.09[1] Submit Application and Supporting Papers.
27.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Declaration Must Accompany Application.
27.09[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Apply Within 30 Days.
27.09[4] No Notice Is Required to Defaulting Party Who Has Not Appeared.
27.09[5] Provide Notice to Parties That Have Appeared.
27.09[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Notice of Submission of Claim of Unliquidated Damages.
27.09[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Separate Document Required.
27.10 Court May Order Hearing.
27.10[1] Court's Discretion.
27.10[2] Evidentiary Hearing on Damages May Be Required.
27.10[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Proving Damages by Declarations.
27.10[4] Hearing Generally Is Not Required to Establish Liability.
27.10[5] Court May Use Jury.
27.10[6] Defaulting Party May Participate in Hearing.
27.11 Court Has Discretion to Grant or Deny Default Judgment.
27.12 Factors Considered by Court.
27.13 Damages and Other Relief Are Limited to Demand in Pleadings.
27.14 Defaulting Party's Financial Condition Cannot Be Considered.
27.15 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Attorney's Fee Schedule.
27.16 Special Requirements Exist for Particular Defaulting Parties.
27.16[1] Minors or Incompetents.
27.16[2] Members of Military.
27.16[3] United States.
27.16[4] Foreign State.
27.16[5] Multi-Defendant Case.
27.17 Effect of Entry of Default Judgment.
27.17[1] Default Judgment Is Final Judgment.
27.17[2] Default Judgment Has Claim-Preclusive Effect.

27.17[3] Default Judgment Lacks Issue-Preclusive Effect.
III. OBTAINING RELIEF FROM DEFAULT
27.18 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Relief From Default.
27.19 Moving to Set Aside Default.
27.19[1] Recognize That Default Is Disfavored.
27.19[2] Argue That Entry of Default Was Improper.
27.19[3] Good Cause to Set Aside Default Must Exist.
27.19[4] Bring Motion Within Reasonable Time.
27.19[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Cross-Examination of Declarant.
27.19[6] Prepare for Imposition of Conditions.
27.20 Opposing Application for Default Judgment.
27.20[1] Defaulting Party's Argument.
27.20[2] Opposing Amount of Damages Claimed.
27.20[3] Contesting Liability of Certain Government Defendants.
27.20[3][a] United States.
27.20[3][b] Foreign Government.
27.21 Grounds for Vacating Default Judgment.
27.21[1] Mistake, Inadvertence, Surprise, or Excusable Neglect.
27.21[2] Void Judgment.
27.21[3] Extraordinary Circumstances.
27.21[4] Fraud.
27.21[5] Defaulting Party's Active Military Status.
27.22 Moving to Vacate Default Judgment.
27.22[1] File Timely Motion.
27.22[1][a] Motion Generally Must Be Filed Within Reasonable Time.
27.22[1][b] Motion Based on Excusable Neglect Must Be Filed Within One Year.
27.22[1][c] No Time Limit for Motion Based on Void Judgment.
27.22[1][d] Ninety-Day Limit for Motion by Former Member of Military.
27.22[2] Motion Must Set Forth Grounds for Relief.
27.22[3] Defaulting Party Has Burden of Proof.
27.22[4] Court May Impose Conditions in Setting Aside Default Judgment.
IV. FORMS
27.23 Application to Clerk for Entry of Default.
27.24 Declaration in Support of Application to Clerk for Entry of Default.
27.25 Application to Clerk for Entry of Default Judgment.
27.26 Declaration in Support of Application to Clerk for Entry of Default Judgment.
27.27 Default Judgment Entered by Clerk.
27.28 Notice of Application and Application for Entry of Default Judgment by Court.
27.29 Declaration in Support of Application to Court for Entry of Default Judgment by Court.
27.30 Declaration Regarding Military Status of Defaulting Party.
27.31 Default Judgment Entered by Court.
27.32 Notice of Appearance.
27.33 Notice of Motion and Motion to Set Aside Default.
27.34 Notice of Motion and Motion to Set Aside Default Judgment.
CHAPTER 28 Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
§ 28.syn Synopsis to Chapter 28: Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial
I. STRATEGY
28.01 Scope.
28.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. SEEKING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL
28.03 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Involuntary Dismissal.
28.04 Involuntary Dismissal Under Rule 41(b).
28.04[1] When Defendant May Move for Dismissal.
28.04[2] When Dismissal Constitutes Adjudication on Merits.
28.04[3] "Lack of Jurisdiction" Exception Interpreted Broadly.
28.05 LOCAL PRACTICE: Involuntary Dismissal Under Rule 41(b).
28.05[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Dismissal of Actions.
28.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Dismissal for Want of Prosecution and Failure to Comply With Local Rules.
28.06 Party Opposing Counterclaim, Crossclaim, or Third-Party Claim May Move for Dismissal.
28.07 Procedure for Dismissal Motion.
28.08 Court May Dismiss Action Sua Sponte.
28.09 Dismissal for Failure to Prosecute.
28.10 Dismissal for Failure to Amend Complaint After Dismissal With Leave to amend.
28.11 Dismissal for Failure to Comply With Rules Regarding Pleading Requirements.
28.12 Rule 41(b) Applies to Class Actions.
28.13 Factors Considered in Dismissal As Sanction.
28.13[1] Five Factors Considered.
28.13[2] Prior Warning.

28.13[2][a] Prior Warning Is Considered.
28.13[2][b] Prior Warning May Be Required for Sua Sponte Dismissal.
28.13[2][c] Express Warning Not Required for Dismissal Following Motion.
28.13[3] Public's Interest in Expeditious Resolution.
28.13[4] Court's Need to Manage Docket.
28.13[5] Risk of Prejudice to Defendant.
28.13[5][a] Prejudice Results From Impairment of Defendant's Ability to Proceed or Threatened Interference.
28.13[5][b] Failure to Prosecute Alone Justifies Dismissal.
28.13[5][c] Unreasonable Delay Results in Rebuttable Presumption of Prejudice.
28.13[5][d] Burden of Production Shifts to Defendant Following Plaintiff's Excuse.
28.13[5][e] Dismissal Reviewed for Both Prejudice and Delay.
28.13[6] Importance of Disposition on Merits.
28.13[7] Less Drastic Alternatives.
28.13[7][a] Court Should Consider Alternatives.
28.13[7][b] Court Need Not Exhaust All Alternatives.
28.13[7][c] Pursuit of Alternatives Prior to Disobedience of Court Order Is Insufficient.
28.13[7][d] Explicit Discussion of Alternatives Is Not Necessarily Required.
28.13[8] Dismissal Is Extreme Penalty.
28.13[8][a] Dismissal Is Appropriate Only in Extreme Circumstances.
28.13[8][b] Harshness of Dismissal With Prejudice Is Directly Proportionate to Likelihood of Plaintiff's Success.
28.14 Dismissal May Result Whether Delay Is Caused by Attorney or Client or Both.
28.15 Effect of Dismissal.
28.15[1] Dismissal Operates As Adjudication on Merits.
28.15[2] Judgment on Merits Not Necessarily Entitled to Claim-Preclusive Effect.
28.15[3] Claim-Preclusive Effect of Federal-Court Judgment in Federal-Question Case Determined by Supreme Court.
28.15[4] Federal Common Law Governs Claim-Preclusive Effect of Dismissal by Federal Court Sitting in Diversity.
28.15[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Effect of Dismissal.
28.15[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Effect of Dismissal.
28.16 Dismissal of Complaint Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
III. OPPOSING INVOLUNTARY DISMISSAL
28.17 CHECKLIST: Opposing Involuntary Dismissal.
28.18 Options and Strategies for Opposing Involuntary Dismissal.
28.19 Motion Fails to State Grounds for Dismissal or Is Otherwise Insufficient.
28.20 Plaintiff Did Not Violate Rule or Court Order, or Should Not Be Harshly Penalized.
28.21 Delay Was Reasonable or Justified.
28.22 Less Drastic Alternatives.
28.23 Prior Warning.
28.24 Defendant or Opposing Counsel Contributed to Malfeasance.
28.25 Degree of Plaintiff's Personal Responsibility for Malfeasance Is Relatively Slight.
28.26 Pro Se Litigants.
28.26[1] Inartful Pleadings of Pro Se Litigant Liberally Construed.
28.26[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Pro Se Party's Address and Telephone Number Required.
28.27 Dismissal Considered Too Early in Proceedings.
28.28 Dismissal Is Excessively Harsh.
28.29 Factors Insufficient to Oppose Dismissal.
IV. FORMS
28.30 Notice of Motion and Motion to Dismiss for Failure to Prosecute, or Failure to Comply With Court Order or Federal Rules.
28.31 Dismissal Order for Failure to Prosecute.
28.32 Dismissal Order for Failure to Comply With Order.
Special Alert to Chapter 29
Scope
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
§ 29.syn Synopsis to Chapter 29: Summary Judgment
I. STRATEGY
29.01 Scope.
29.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT
29.03 CHECKLISTS: Preparing Motion for Summary Judgment and Supporting Papers.
29.03[1] CHECKLIST: Determine Propriety of Summary Judgment Motion.
29.03[2] CHECKLIST: Prepare Written Summary Judgment Motion.
29.03[3] CHECKLIST: Prepare Supporting Motion Papers.
29.03[4] CHECKLIST: Timely File and Serve Summary Judgment Motion.
29.04 Options and Strategy.
29.04[1] Either Party May Move for Summary Judgment.
29.04[2] Advantages of Summary Judgment Process.
29.04[3] Disadvantages of Summary Judgment Process.
29.04[4] Consider Client Consultation or Approval.

29.05 Determine Whether Summary Judgment Motion Is Appropriate.
29.05[1] Criteria for Deciding Whether to File Motion.
29.05[2] Summary Judgment Is Appropriate When There Is No Genuine Dispute As to Any Material Fact.
29.05[3] Movant Must Be Entitled to Judgment As Matter of Law.
29.05[4] Moving Party Bears Initial Burden of Proof on Motion.
29.05[5] Summary Adjudication May Be Available.
29.05[6] Court May Sanction Filing of Groundless Motion or Bad-Faith Affidavit.
29.05[7] Distinguish Between Summary Judgment and Other Dispositive Motions.
29.05[7][a] Distinguish Motions to Dismiss for Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction.
29.05[7][b] Distinguish Motions to Dismiss for Lack of Personal Jurisdiction or Improper Venue.
29.05[7][c] Distinguish Motions to Strike.
29.05[7][d] Distinguish Motions to Dismiss for Failure to State Claim.
29.05[7][e] Distinguish Motions for Judgment on Pleadings.
29.05[7][f] Distinguish Motions for Judgment As Matter of Law.
29.06 Timely Assert Motion for Summary Judgment.
29.06[1] Either Party May Move for Summary Judgment at Any Time Until 30 Days After Close of Discovery.
29.06[2] [Reserved].
29.06[3] Most Effective Time to Make Motion Depends on Circumstances of Case.
29.07 Prepare Required Motion Papers.
29.07[1] Motion Must Be in Writing.
29.07[2] Typical Papers to Be Filed.
29.07[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Papers to Be Filed May Vary.
29.07[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
29.07[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
29.07[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
29.07[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
29.07[4] Motion Must Contain Grounds for Motion and Relief Sought.
29.07[5] Request or Waive Oral Argument As Desired.
29.07[6] Properly Format Motion.
29.08 Draft and Attach Brief or Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Motion.
29.08[1] Draft Brief or Memorandum of Points and Authorities Supporting Motion.
29.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Brief or Memorandum Requirements.
29.08[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
29.08[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
29.08[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
29.08[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
29.08[3] Properly Format Memorandum or Brief.
29.09 Draft and Attach Statement of Undisputed, Uncontroverted, or Material Facts When Required.
29.09[1] Draft Statement of Undisputed, Uncontroverted, or Material Facts If Required.
29.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Statement Requirements May Vary.
29.09[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
29.09[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
29.09[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
29.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
29.09[3] Properly Format Statement.
29.10 Draft and Attach Proposed Judgment or Order As Required.
29.10[1] Draft Proposed Judgment or Order.
29.10[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Proposed Judgment or Order Requirements.
29.10[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
29.10[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
29.10[3] Properly Format Proposed Judgment or Order.
29.11 Draft and Attach Supporting Affidavits.
29.11[1] Affidavits or Declarations Supporting Motion Are Permissible but Not Required.
29.11[2] Local Court Rules May Require Declaration in Lieu of Affidavit.
29.11[3] Supporting Affidavits or Declarations Must Meet Requirements of Rule 56(c)(4).
29.11[4] Affidavit or Declaration Must Be Based on Personal Knowledge.
29.11[5] Affidavit or Declaration Must Contain Specific Admissible Facts.
29.11[6] Affidavit or Declaration Must Show Affiant or Declarant Is Competent to Testify to Matters Stated.
29.11[7] Attach, File, and Serve Copies of All Papers Referred to in Affidavit or Declaration.
29.11[8] Affidavits or Declarations Made in Bad Faith or For Delay May Be Subject to Sanction.
29.11[9] Properly Format Affidavit or Declaration.
29.12 Attach Other Evidence Supporting Summary Judgment Motion.
29.12[1] Attach Evidence Supporting Summary Judgment.
29.12[2] Required Evidentiary Showing on Motion Depends on Burden of Persuasion at Trial.
29.12[3] Evidence Must Be Admissible.
29.12[4] Types of Evidence Court May Consider.
29.12[4][a] Attach Pleadings As Relevant.
29.12[4][b] Attach Deposition or Excerpts As Relevant.
29.12[4][c] Attach Answers to Interrogatories As Relevant.

Source: California > Search Analysis & CLE Materials > Matthew Bender Practice Guides > Matthew Bender® Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 8 Motion Practice
CHAPTER 29 Summary Judgment
II. PREPARING MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT
29.12 Attach Other Evidence Supporting Summary Judgment Motion.
29.12[4] Types of Evidence Court May Consider.
29.12[4][d] Attach Admissions on File As Relevant.
29.13 Timely Serve and File Motion.
29.13[1] Timely Serve Motion on Opposing Party.
29.13[2] Timely File Motion With Court.
29.13[2][a] Movant Must File Motion Within Reasonable Time After Service.
29.13[2][b] Counsel May Be Required to Confer Before Filing Motion.
29.13[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Additional Service and Filing Requirements.
29.13[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
29.13[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
29.13[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
III. RESPONDING TO MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT
29.14 CHECKLISTS: Responding to Motion for Summary Judgment.
29.14[1] CHECKLIST: Preparing Opposition to Summary Judgment Motion.
29.14[2] CHECKLIST: Preparing Objections to Movant's Evidence.
29.14[3] CHECKLIST: Moving for Continuance to Permit Further Discovery.
29.14[4] CHECKLIST: Filing and Serving Opposition Papers.
29.15 Options and Strategy.
29.16 Draft Opposition to Summary Judgment Motion.
29.16[1] Properly Supported Motion Shifts Burden to Nonmovant to Go Beyond Pleadings in Opposing Summary Judgment.
29.16[2] Opposition Papers Should Include Evidentiary Materials Beyond Pleadings.
29.16[3] Materials Establishing Genuine Issue of Fact Must Appear in Opposition, Court File, and Record.
29.16[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Opposition Requirements May Vary.
29.16[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
29.16[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
29.16[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
29.16[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
29.16[5] Draft and Attach Statement of Genuine Issues or Disputed or Controverted Facts As Required.
29.16[5][a] Draft Statement When Permitted or Required.
29.16[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
29.16[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
29.16[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
29.16[5][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
29.16[6] Draft and Attach Memorandum of Points and Authorities As Required or Desired.
29.16[7] Draft and Attach Proposed Order If Desired.
29.16[8] Request Oral Argument If Desired.
29.17 Compile and Attach Evidence in Opposition to Motion.
29.17[1] Opposition Evidence Must Set Forth Specific Facts Showing Genuine Issue for Trial.
29.17[2] Opposition Evidence Must Be Admissible and Must Be Placed in Record.
29.17[3] Draft and Attach Opposing Affidavits.
29.17[3][a] Draft and Attach Affidavits or Declarations in Opposition to Motion.
29.17[3][b] Rules Governing Supporting Affidavits or Declarations Apply to Affidavits or Declarations Opposing Motion.
29.17[3][c] Nonmovant May Not Rely on Its Own Conclusory or Sham Statements in Affidavit or Declaration to Create Issue of Material Fact.
29.17[3][d] Court May Grant Continuance If Affidavit or Declaration Indicates Nonmovant Lacks Facts to Oppose Motion.
29.17[4] Attach Other Evidence Opposing Motion.
29.18 Draft and Attach Objections to Movant's Evidence.
29.19 Move for Continuance to Permit Further Discovery.
29.19[1] Move for Continuance for Further Discovery.
29.19[2] Motion Must Identify Information Sought and Show Its Existence.
29.19[3] Timely File and Serve Motion for Continuance Before Summary Judgment Hearing.
29.19[4] Show That Evidence Sought Exists and Would Prevent Summary Judgment.
29.19[5] Trial Court's Determination of Motion Is Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
29.20 Properly File and Serve Opposition Papers.

29.20[1] Timely File Opposition Papers With Court.
29.20[1][a] Opposing Party Must Timely File and Serve Response to Motion.
29.20[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
29.20[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
29.20[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
29.20[1][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
29.20[2] Properly Serve and File Opposition Papers.
IV. REPLYING TO OPPOSITION
29.21 CHECKLIST: Preparing Reply to Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.
29.22 Options and Strategy.
29.23 Movant May Reply to Opposition Papers.
29.23[1] Draft, Serve, and File Reply to Opposition If Desired.
29.23[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
29.23[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
29.23[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
29.23[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
29.24 Reply Generally Should Not Present New Material.
29.25 Reply May Include Objections to Nonmovant's Evidence in Opposing Motion.
V. COURT DETERMINATION OF MOTION FOR SUMMARY JUDGMENT
29.26 CHECKLISTS: Court Determination of Motions for Summary Judgment.
29.26[1] CHECKLIST: Determining Motions for Summary Judgment.
29.26[2] CHECKLIST: Challenging Court's Determination of Motion for Summary Judgment in Trial Court.
29.27 Options and Strategy.
29.28 Court May Hold Hearing on Motion.
29.28[1] Trial Court May Hold Oral Hearing Before Deciding Motion.
29.28[2] Hearing May Include Taking Oral Testimony in Limited Circumstances.
29.28[3] Rule 56 Does Not Require Hearing Before Determination of Motion.
29.28[4] District Court May Not Preclude Requests for Oral Argument or Deny Nonmovant's Request for Hearing Unless It Denies Motion.
29.29 General Standards Governing Trial Court's Determination of Motion.
29.29[1] Court Must Properly Apply Burdens of Proof on Motion and at Trial.
29.29[1][a] Moving Party Bears Initial Burden of Proof, Which Varies Depending on Which Party Has Burden of Proof at Trial.
29.29[1][b] If Movant Meets Initial Burden on Motion, Burden Shifts to Nonmovant to Present Specific Facts Showing Genuine Issue for Trial.
29.29[2] Court Must Determine Whether Case Presents Genuine Issue of Material Fact for Trial.
29.29[3] Applicable Substantive Law Defines Materiality of Fact Issues.
29.29[4] Court May Only Consider Admissible Evidence in Ruling on a Motion for Summary Judgment.
29.29[5] Court Must View Evidence in Light Most Favorable to Nonmovant, and Must Draw Reasonable Inferences in Nonmovant's Favor.
29.29[5][a] Court Must View Evidence in Light Most Favorable to Nonmovant.
29.29[5][b] Court Must Draw All Reasonable Inferences in Nonmovant's Favor.
29.30 Court Must Review Cross-Motions for Summary Judgment Separately.
29.31 Court May Issue Order Granting Summary Adjudication.
29.31[1] Court May Grant Summary Adjudication on Portion of Case.
29.31[2] Areas in Which Summary Adjudication Is Available.
29.31[2A] Court May Grant Summary Judgment Independent of Motion.
29.31[3] Cases Not Fully Adjudicated on Motion May Be Tried on Remaining Issues.
29.31[4] Normally, Summary Adjudication May Not Be Appealed Immediately.
29.32 Court Granting Summary Judgment Must Enter Separate Judgment.
29.32[1] Court Must Enter Judgment.
29.32[2] Court Is Not Required to Make Findings of Fact and Conclusions of Law.
29.33 Denial of Summary Judgment Motion Ordinarily Is Nonappealable Interlocutory Order.
29.34 Parties May Challenge Ruling on Summary Judgment Motion in Trial Court.
29.34[1] Movant May Renew Summary Judgment Motion After Denial.
29.34[2] Either Party May Seek Reconsideration of Ruling on Summary Judgment Motion.
29.34[2][a] Party May Move for Reconsideration Under Rule 59(e) or Rule 60(b).
29.34[2][b] Rule 59(e) Motion Must Be Based on New Evidence, Clear Error, or Change in Law.
29.34[2][c] Rule 60(b) Motion Must Be Based on Mistake, Surprise, Excusable Neglect, New Evidence, Fraud, Void Judgment, or Other Reason Justifying Relief.
29.34[2][d] Motion for Reconsideration Must Be Brought at Proper Time.
29.34[2][e] Timely Motion for Reconsideration May Toll Time for Appeal.
29.34[2][f] District Court May Consider Rule 60(b) Motion Despite Appeal.
VI. OBTAINING APPELLATE REVIEW
29.35 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Appellate Review of Grant or Denial of Summary Judgment.
29.36 Options and Strategy.
29.37 File Notice of Appeal From Summary Judgment As Required by Appellate Rules.
29.37[1] Appellate Court Must Have Jurisdiction Over District Court Decision.
29.37[1][a] Appellate Court Has Jurisdiction Over All Final Decisions of District Courts.

29.37[1][b] Summary Adjudication Generally Results in Nonappealable Interlocutory Order.
29.37[1][c] Order Denying Summary Judgment Generally Is Not Final Appealable Order.
29.37[1][d] Order Denying Summary Judgment May Be Reviewed After Trial on Merits If District Court Would Have Been Required to Grant Motion But for Error of Law.
29.37[2] Timely File Notice of Appeal to Avoid Waiver.
29.37[3] Party May Not Raise New Issues on Appeal to Obtain Reversal of Trial Court's Summary Judgment Determination.
29.38 Appellate Review of Summary Judgment Determination Is Not Deferential.
29.38[1] Appellate Court Reviews Summary Judgment Order De Novo Using Same Standard Used by Trial Court.
29.38[2] Appellate Court Must Determine If There Are Genuine Issues of Material Fact and Whether District Court Correctly Applied Relevant Substantive Law.
29.38[3] Appellate Court May Affirm Grant of Motion on Any Ground Supported in Record.
29.38[4] Appellate Court Reviews Trial Court's Evidentiary Rulings in Summary Judgment Context for Abuse of Discretion.
29.38[5] Appellate Court Reviews Trial Court's Rulings on Motions to Reconsider on Abuse of Discretion Standard.
29.39 Appellate Court May Remand Case If Trial Court Fails to Make Reasons for Granting Summary Judgment Clear on Record.
VII. FORMS
A. By Moving Party
29.40 Notice of Motion and Motion for Summary Judgment.
29.41 Notice of Motion and Motion for Summary Adjudication.
29.42 Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Support of Motion for Summary Judgment.
29.43 Statement of Undisputed or Uncontroverted Facts.
29.44 Affidavit in Support of Motion for Summary Judgment.
29.45 Proposed Order Granting Motion for Summary Judgment.
B. By Nonmoving Party
29.46 Affidavit in Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.
29.47 Memorandum of Points and Authorities in Opposition to Motion for Summary Judgment.
29.48 Statement of Genuine Issues or Controverted or Disputed Facts.
29.49 Proposed Order Denying Motion for Summary Judgment.
CHAPTER 30 Voluntary Dismissal
§ 30.syn Synopsis to Chapter 30: Voluntary Dismissal
I. STRATEGY
30.01 Scope.
30.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL WITHOUT COURT ORDER
30.03 CHECKLISTS.
30.03[1] CHECKLIST: Obtaining Voluntary Dismissal by Filing Notice of Dismissal.
30.03[2] CHECKLIST: Obtaining Voluntary Dismissal by Filing Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal.
30.04 Options and Strategies for Voluntarily Dismissing Action Without Court Order.
30.05 Voluntary Dismissal by Notice of Dismissal or Stipulation.
30.06 Plaintiff's Right to Dismiss Voluntarily Is Absolute.
30.07 Plaintiff May Dismiss Action Against Some or All Defendants.
30.08 Dismissal Is Without Prejudice Unless Otherwise Stated; "Two Dismissal Rule."
30.09 Rule 41 Applies to Counterclaim, Crossclaim, or Third-Party Claim.
30.10 Notice of Voluntary Dismissal.
30.10[1] Filing, Not Merely Service, Is Required.
30.10[2] When to File Notice of Dismissal.
30.11 Effect of Voluntary Dismissal.
30.11[1] Dismissal Is Effective on Filing.
30.11[2] Court Loses Discretion to Act.
30.11[3] Filing Automatically Terminates Action Without Prejudice As to Defendants Who Are Subject of Notice.
30.12 Drafting Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal.
30.12[1] When to Use Stipulation.
30.12[2] Content, Execution of Stipulation.
30.12[3] Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal Must Be Filed.
30.12[4] Stipulation Connected to Settlement May Incorporate Settlement Terms.
30.13 Appellate Review Following Notice of Dismissal.
30.13[1] Parties May Appeal Final Decisions.
30.13[2] Voluntary Dismissal Without Prejudice Is Ordinarily Not Final Judgment.
30.13[3] Whether Dismissal Is Final Appealable Judgment Depends on Its Effect.
30.13[4] Plaintiff May Usually Appeal From Voluntary Dismissal With Prejudice.
III. VOLUNTARY DISMISSAL BY COURT ORDER
30.14 CHECKLIST: Obtaining Voluntary Dismissal by Court Order.
30.15 Options and Strategies for Voluntarily Dismissing Action When Dismissal by Notice or Stipulation Is Unavailable.
30.16 Court May Order Payment of Costs of Previously Dismissed Action.
30.17 Court Order for Dismissal Is Required If Dismissal by Notice or Stipulation Is Unavailable.
30.18 Terms and Conditions of Dismissal.
30.18[1] Court May Order Dismissal on Terms and Conditions Proper or Necessary to Avoid Prejudice.

30.18[2] Recovery of Costs As Condition of Dismissal.
30.19 If Counterclaim Is Pleaded Prior to Service of Motion to Dismiss, Defendant May Object to Dismissal of Action Pending Adjudication of Counterclaim.
30.20 Dismissal Pursuant to Court Order Is Without Prejudice Unless Otherwise Specified.
30.21 Rule 41 Applies to Counterclaim, Crossclaim, or Third-Party Claim.
30.22 Motion for Voluntary Dismissal.
30.22[1] Motion Is Addressed to Court's Sound Discretion.
30.22[2] Motion Should Be Granted Unless Defendant Will Suffer Some Plain Legal Prejudice.
30.22[3] Factors for Determining Existence of Legal Prejudice.
30.22[4] Factors Not Creating Plain Legal Prejudice.
30.23 Court May Order Payment of Costs of Previously Dismissed Action.
30.24 Court May Not Circumvent Limitation Regarding Request for Jury Trial Under Rule 39 by Dismissing Case Under Rule 41(a)(2).
30.25 Review of Order for Voluntary Dismissal.
30.26 Order on Motion for Voluntary Dismissal Is Reviewed for Abuse of Discretion.
IV. FORMS
30.27 Notice of Voluntary Dismissal.
30.28 Stipulation of Voluntary Dismissal.
30.29 Notice of Motion and Motion for Voluntary Dismissal.
30.30 Order of Dismissal.
30.31 Local District Court Forms.
Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 31 Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment
§ 31.syn Synopsis to Chapter 31: Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment
I. STRATEGY
31.01 Scope.
31.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. PREPARING FOR SETTLEMENT AND SETTLEMENT CONFERENCES
31.03 CHECKLIST: Preparing for Settlement.
31.04 Options and Strategy.
31.05 Parties Should Consider Advantages and Incentives of Settlement at Early Stage of Litigation.
31.05[1] Settlement Provides Certainty.
31.05[2] Settlement Offers Expeditious Resolution.
31.05[3] "Bar Order" Can Shield Defendants from Additional Liability.
31.06 Parties Must Consider Mandatory Settlement Procedures Utilized by Court.
31.06[1] Court Backlogs Necessitate Mandatory Procedures.
31.06[2] All District Courts Require Mandatory Settlement Procedures or Court-Annexed Alternative Dispute Resolution.
31.06[3] Failure to Participate May Be Partial Basis for Default Judgment.
31.07 LOCAL PRACTICE: Mandatory Settlement Procedures and Conferences.
31.07[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Mandatory Settlement Procedures.
31.07[1][a] Settlement Procedure Required.
31.07[1][b] Parties Must Select Settlement Procedure or Submit to Court-Ordered Procedure.
31.07[1][c] Settlement Procedures Require Presence of Parties, Counsel Expected to Try Case.
31.07[1][d] Counsel Must Exhaust All Possibilities of Settlement Before Trial.
31.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Mandatory Settlement Conference.
31.07[2][a] Mandatory Settlement Conference Required.
31.07[2][b] Person Capable of Resolution Generally Must Attend; Special Requirements When United States Is a Party.
31.07[2][c] Pretrial Statement on Settlement Possibilities Required.
31.07[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Mandatory ADR.
31.07[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Mandatory Early Neutral Evaluation and Settlement Conferences.
31.07[4][a] Court Requires Mandatory Early Neutral Evaluation.
31.07[4][b] Judicial Officer May Require Additional Steps If No Settlement.
31.07[4][c] Court May Order Post-Verdict Mandatory Settlement Conference.
31.07[4][d] Court May Order Non-Binding Mini-Trial or Summary Jury Trial.
31.08 Options for Third-Party Facilitation of Settlement.
31.08[1] Parties May Seek Settlement With No Intermediary.
31.08[2] Parties May Choose Nonjudicial Mediator.
31.08[3] Trial Judge May Serve As Settlement Officer.
31.08[4] Potential Issues Arising From Trial Judge's Dual Role.
31.08[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Role of Trial Judge in Settlement.
31.08[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
31.08[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
31.08[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
31.08[5][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
31.09 Preparation for Settlement Discussions Must Be Thorough.
31.09[1] Items for Consideration.

31.09[2] Understanding Client Objectives.
31.09[3] Injecting Reality Into Client Expectations.
31.09[4] Understanding Opponent's Objectives.
31.09[5] Valuing the Case.
31.10 Attorney's Ethical Duties and Considerations During Settlement.
31.10[1] Obtaining Client's Authority to Settle.
31.10[2] Communicating Offers and Demands to Client.
31.10[3] Refraining From Communicating With Represented Parties.
31.10[4] Avoiding Conflicts of Interest.
31.11 Maintaining Confidentiality.
31.12 Admissibility at Trial of Evidence Concerning Efforts to Settle.
III. MAKING OR RESPONDING TO OFFERS OF JUDGMENT
31.13 CHECKLISTS: Making an Offer of Judgment.
31.13[1] Checklist for Party Making Offer.
31.13[2] Checklist for Party Responding to Offer.
31.14 Options and Strategy.
31.15 Rule 68 Is a Means to Shift Costs or Achieve Settlement.
31.15[1] Rule 68 Encourages Settlement.
31.15[2] Offer of Complete Relief May Moot Action.
31.15[3] Rule 68 Offer Cannot Preclude Class Certification.
31.15[4] Offeror Must Make Offer at Least 14 Days Before Date Set for Trial.
31.15[5] Computing Time to Make Offer.
31.16 Plaintiff May Incur Post-Offer Costs Even If Successful.
31.17 Offeror May Offer, Recover Costs Under Rule 68.
31.17[1] Rule 68 Includes Costs and Some Fees.
31.17[2] In Diversity Cases, State Law May Affect Recovery.
31.17[2][a] Preliminary Erie Determination Required.
31.17[2][b] Expert Witness Fees Procedural Under Erie.
31.17[2][c] Attorney's Fees and Costs Are Substantive Under Erie; Offeree's Counsel Must Examine State Law.
31.17[3] After Offer of Judgment, Plaintiff's Ability to Recover Post-Offer Attorney's Fees Depends on Underlying Statute.
31.17[3][a] Plaintiff May Not Recover Post-Offer Attorney's Fees When Statute Defines Fees As Costs.
31.17[3][b] Plaintiff Possibly May Recover Post-Offer Attorney's Fees When Statute Defines Fees Separately From Costs.
31.17[4] Attorney's Fees As Part of the Costs May Be Awardable to the Offeror.
31.18 Offer Does Not Need to Refer to Costs to Be Valid.
31.19 Plaintiff Must Win Judgment for Rule 68 to Apply.
31.20 Court Determines Whether Judgment Is More Favorable.
31.21 Only Defending Parties May Make Rule 68 Offers.
31.22 Defending Party Serves Offer of Judgment in Writing on Adverse Party.
31.23 Offer May Be Conditional on Acceptance by All Parties.
31.24 Offer of Judgment Must Be Made at Least 14 Days Before Date Set for Trial.
31.25 When Party Found Liable, It May Make Offer of Judgment If Served At Least 14 Days Before Date Set for Hearing.
31.26 Offerors May Make Subsequent Offers of Judgment.
31.27 Ordinary Contract Principles Govern Offer of Judgment.
31.27[1] Effect of Ambiguity in Offer of Judgment.
31.27[2] Ambiguities Regarding Availability of Fees Will Be Construed Against Offeror.
31.27[3] Seeking Modification or Clarification of Offer of Judgment.
31.28 Offer of Judgment May Be Stricken.
31.28[1] Motion to Strike Is Appropriate for Procedural or Substantive Defects.
31.28[2] Deadline for Filing Motion to Strike.
31.28[3] Procedure for Filing Motion to Strike Offer of Judgment.
31.29 Rejected Offer of Judgment Is Withdrawn; Inadmissible As Evidence at Trial.
31.30 Period for Acceptance of Offer Is 14 Days.
31.31 Acceptance Must Be Unconditional and Written.
31.32 File Offer and Acceptance.
IV. DRAFTING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENTS
31.33 CHECKLIST: Drafting Settlement Agreement.
31.34 Options and Strategy.
31.35 Consider Types of Settlements Available.
31.35[1] Lump Sum.
31.35[1][a] Lump Sum Settlement Involves Single Check or Cash Payment.
31.35[1][b] Advantages of Lump Sum Settlement.
31.35[1][c] Disadvantages of Lump Sum Settlement.
31.35[2] Structured Settlements.
31.35[2][a] Structured Settlement Typically Involves Periodic Payments for Set Length of Time.
31.35[2][b] Advantages of a Structured Settlement.
31.35[2][c] Disadvantages of Structured Settlement.

31.35[3] Partial Settlements.
31.35[4] Sliding Scale Settlements.
31.35[4][a] Sliding Scale Settlements Defined.
31.35[4][b] "Mary Carter" Agreements.
31.35[4][c] Pierringer Releases.
31.35[4][d] "Cede-back" Arrangements in Mandatory Punitive Damages Class Actions.
31.35[5] Consent Decrees.
31.36 Common Settlement Agreement Provisions.
31.36[1] Identification of Parties.
31.36[2] Recitation of Disputed Matters.
31.36[3] Recitation of the Parties' Obligations.
31.36[4] Release Provisions.
31.36[5] Other Settlement Provisions.
31.36[6] Signatures.
31.37 Post-Settlement Notification and Filing Requirements Under Local Rules.
31.37[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: Duty to File Notice of Settlement.
31.37[1][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
31.37[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
31.37[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
31.37[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
31.37[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Juror Costs Will Be Assessed If No Timely Notice of Settlement.
31.37[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
31.37[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.
31.37[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.
31.37[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.
31.38 Oral Settlement May Be Put on Record.
31.39 Action Not Terminated Until Dismissal Filed or Judgment Entered.
31.40 Judicial Approval of Settlement.
V. ENFORCING SETTLEMENT AGREEMENT
31.41 CHECKLISTS: Enforcing Settlement Agreement.
31.41[1] Enforcing Settlement.
31.41[2] Opposing Enforcement of Settlement.
31.42 Options and Strategy.
31.43 Party Seeking Enforcement Must Show Settlement Agreement Is Legally Valid.
31.43[1] Construction of Settlement Agreement.
31.43[1][a] Settlement Agreement Is an Enforceable Contract.
31.43[1][b] Settlement Agreement Interpreted According to State Contract Law.
31.43[1][c] Void Terms Will Not Be Enforced.
31.43[2] Complete Agreement Must Have Existed Between Parties.
31.43[2][a] Both Parties Must Have Agreed to Terms of Settlement or Authorized Counsel to Settle Dispute.
31.43[2][b] Client May Grant Authority to Make Binding Settlement on Its Behalf.
31.43[2][c] Client's Signature on Agreement Not Required.
31.43[3] Court May Have to Hold Evidentiary Hearing on Question of Formation of Contract.
31.44 Court Must Have Jurisdiction to Enforce Settlement Agreement.
31.44[1] Independent Basis of Jurisdiction Must Exist.
31.44[2] Federal Arbitration Act May Govern If Agreement Provides for Arbitration.
31.44[3] Courts Can Retain Jurisdiction Over Class Actions, Multiparty Settlements.
31.45 Enforcing Settlement Agreement.
31.45[1] Enforcement While Case Still Pending Before Court.
31.45[2] Post-Dismissal Enforcement of Settlement Agreement.
31.45[2][a] Post-Dismissal Enforcement Possible Only If Court Retains Jurisdiction.
31.45[2][b] Party Seeking Enforcement May Bring Separate Action.
31.45[2][c] If Jurisdiction Retained, Party May Be Able to Bring Contempt Proceedings.
31.45[3] Injunctions to Enjoin Inconsistent Actions May Be Available.
31.45[4] Party May Raise Settlement Agreement Bar to Further Litigation in a Motion to Dismiss.
31.46 Opposing Enforcement of Settlement Agreement.
31.47 Appeal of Enforcement of Settlement Agreement.
VI. FORMS
31.48 Offer of Judgment.
31.49 Acceptance of Offer of Judgment.
31.50 Local District Court Forms.
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
§ 32.syn Synopsis to Chapter 32: Court Annexed ADR
I. STRATEGY
32.01 Scope.
32.02 Objective and Strategy.
32.02[1] Court Annexed ADR May Achieve Early and Equitable Settlement.
32.02[2] When ADR May Be Ineffective.
32.02[3] Enforcing ADR Resolutions.

II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
A. Preliminary Considerations
32.03 CHECKLIST: Northern District ADR.
32.04 Organization, Rules, Internet Site, and Handbook.
32.05 Assignment of Action to ADR Program.
32.05[1] Northern District Has Discontinued Automatic Assignment of Cases to Arbitration.
32.05[2] Clerk May Assign Action to ADR Multi-Option Program.
32.05[3] Action Not Assigned at Filing May Be Assigned to ADR on Stipulation or Motion of Party, or at Court's Initiative.
32.05[4] Party May Seek Relief From Assignment to ADR.
32.06 ADR Multi-Option Program.
32.06[1] Action Assigned to Multi-Option Program Is Presumptively Subject to One Mandatory Nonbinding ADR Process.
32.06[2] Several ADR Options Are Available.
32.06[3] ADR Certification Is Required.
32.06[3][a] Certification Must Be Signed, Served, and Filed Prior to Time Specified in Initial Case Management Scheduling Order.
32.06[3][b] Required Content of ADR Certification.
32.06[3][c] ADR Certification Must Be Accompanied by Either Stipulation and Order or Notice of Need for Telephone Conference.
32.06[4] Parties Can Select ADR Process.
32.06[4][a] Counsel Must Meet and Confer on ADR Options.
32.06[4][b] Selection of ADR Process Through Phone Conference With Member of ADR Unit Staff.
32.06[4][c] Selection of ADR Process at Case Management Conference.
32.06[5] Timing of ADR Process in ADR Multi-Option Program.

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 9 Ending the Case Before Trial
CHAPTER 32 Court Annexed ADR
II. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
B. Nonbinding Arbitration
32.07 Nonbinding Arbitration Process Resembles Trial.
32.08 Reserved.
32.09 Appointment of Arbitrator or Panel of Three Arbitrators.
32.10 Arbitrator Will Schedule Arbitration.
32.10[1] Arbitrator Will Consult With Parties.
32.10[2] Hearing Date Must Fall Within Time Fixed by Assigned Judge or Within 90 Days of Appointment of Arbitrator.
32.10[3] Motion Is Required to Extend Deadline for Conducting Arbitration Hearing.
32.11 Written Arbitration Statements Are Required.
32.11[1] Parties Must Submit Statement at Least Seven Days Before Hearing.
32.11[2] Required Content of Statement.
32.11[3] Arbitrator May Excuse or Modify Requirement of Statements.
32.11[4] Statement Is Not Filed With Court.
32.12 Attendance at Hearing.
32.12[1] Parties Are Required to Attend.
32.12[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts of Case.
32.12[3] Each Party Must Be Represented by Trial Counsel.
32.12[4] Required Persons May Request to Be Excused From Attendance.
32.12[4][a] Request Must Be in Writing, 14 Days Before Hearing.
32.12[4][b] Hardship Is Required.
32.12[4][c] Excused Person Must Be Available by Telephone.
32.12[5] Failure of Party to Attend.
32.13 Conduct of Arbitration Hearing.
32.13[1] Arbitrator Does Not Facilitate Settlement.
32.13[2] Witnesses and Documents May Be Subpoenaed.
32.13[3] Testimony Must Be Taken Under Oath With Opportunity for Cross-Examination.
32.13[4] Admission of Evidence Guided by Federal Rules of Evidence.
32.13[5] Ex Parte Contact With Arbitrator Prohibited.
32.13[6] Hearing May Be Recorded or Transcribed.
32.14 Arbitration Award.
32.14[1] Form of Arbitration Award.
32.14[2] Award Must Be Filed by Arbitrator With Clerk Within 14 Days After Arbitration Hearing Concluded.
32.14[3] Award Must Be Served on Parties Both by Clerk and by Prevailing Party.
32.14[4] Award Must Be Sealed by Clerk.
32.15 Challenging Arbitration Award.
32.15[1] Demanding Trial De Novo.
32.15[1][a] Demand for Trial De Novo Must Be Filed and Served Within 30 Days of Notice of Award.
32.15[1][b] Timely Demand Precludes Entry of Judgment on Award.
32.15[1][c] Award Must Not Be Attached to Demand.
32.15[2] Evidence of Arbitration Proceeding Inadmissible in Trial De Novo.
32.16 Entry of Judgment on Arbitration Award.
32.16[1] Judgment Entered on Award If No Timely Demand for Trial De Novo Filed.
32.16[2] Judgment Entered on Award If Parties Have Stipulated in Writing to Waive Right to Trial De Novo.
C. Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE)
32.17 ENE Can Focus Issues Early in Pretrial Process.
32.18 Case Will Be Assigned to Experienced Neutral With Subject Matter Expertise.
32.19 Party May Object to Evaluator.
32.20 Ex Parte Contact With Evaluator Prohibited.
32.21 Evaluator Will Schedule ENE Session.
32.21[1] Evaluator Will Consult With Parties.
32.21[2] ENE Session Must Be Held Within 90 Days After Entry of Order Referring Case to ENE.
32.21[3] Party May Request to Extend Time to Conduct ENE Session.
32.21[3][a] Motion Must Be Filed No Later Than 14 Days Before ENE Session Is to Be Held.
32.21[3][b] Required Content of Motion.
32.22 Written ENE Statements Are Required.
32.22[1] Parties Must Submit ENE Statements at Least Seven Days Before First ENE Session.
32.22[2] ENE Statement Is Not Filed With Court.

32.22[3] Required Content of ENE Statement.
32.23 Attendance at ENE Session.
32.23[1] Parties Are Required to Attend.
32.23[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle.
32.23[3] Parties Must Be Represented by Trial Counsel.
32.23[4] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement.
32.23[5] Required Person May Request to Be Excused From Attendance at ENE Session.
32.23[5][a] Request Must Be in Writing.
32.23[5][b] Request Must Be Made No Fewer Than 14 Days Before Date of ENE Session.
32.23[5][c] Hardship Is Required.
32.23[5][d] Required Content of Request.
32.23[5][e] Excused Person Must Be Available by Phone.
32.23[6] Party May Oppose Request to Be Excused.
32.23[6][a] Request Must Be in Writing.
32.23[6][b] Request Must Be Made Within Four Days of Receiving Request to Be Excused.
32.23[6][c] Required Content of Request.
32.23[6][d] Request Is Not Filed With Court.
32.23[7] Party May Seek to Compel Attendance by Appropriate Party Representative.
32.23[7][a] Allegation Must Be in Writing.
32.23[7][b] Letter Must Be Submitted As Far in Advance of ENE Session as Practicable.
32.23[7][c] Required Content of Letter.
32.23[7][d] Letter Is Not Filed With Court.
32.23[8] Challenged Party May Respond to Allegation That It Will Not Be Represented by Appropriate Representative at ENE Session.
32.23[8][a] Response Must Be in Writing.
32.23[8][b] Response Must Be Made Within Four Days of Receiving Letter Seeking to Compel Attendance by Appropriate Representative.
32.23[8][c] Response Is Not Filed With Court.
32.24 Procedure at ENE Session.
32.24[1] Assigned Duties of Evaluator.
32.24[2] Limitations on Authority of Evaluator.
32.24[3] Proceedings Are Informal; Rules of Evidence Inapplicable.
32.24[4] Transcript Is Not Permitted.
32.24[5] Delivery of Evaluation.
32.25 ENE Sessions Are Confidential.
32.26 Follow Up to ENE Session.
32.26[1] Evaluator May Order Limited Follow Up Without Stipulation of Parties.
32.26[2] With Stipulation of Parties, Evaluator May Order Additional ENE Sessions.
32.27 Evaluator Must File Certification of ENE Session Within 14 Days After Close of Session.
D. Mediation
32.28 Mediator Facilitates Settlement.
32.29 Party May Object to Mediator.
32.30 Mediator Schedules Mediation Session.
32.30[1] Mediator Will Consult With Parties.
32.30[2] Mediation Must Be Held Within 90 Days After Entry of Order Referring Case to Mediation.
32.30[3] Party May Move to Extend Time for Mediation.
32.30[3][a] Motion Must Be Filed No Later Than 14 Days Before Mediation Is to Be Held.
32.30[3][b] Required Content of Motion.
32.31 Parties Must Submit Mediation Statement.
32.31[1] Statements Must Be Submitted at Least Seven Days Before First Mediation Session.
32.31[2] Required Content of Mediation Statement.
32.31[3] Mediation Statements Are Not Filed With Court.
32.31A Contact with Mediator Before Mediation.
32.31A[1] Mediator May Ask Parties to Submit Additional Mediation Statement Only to Mediator.
32.31A[2] Additional Mediation Statement Is Confidential.
32.31A[3] Content of Additional Mediation Statement.
32.32 Attendance at Mediation.
32.32[1] Parties Are Required to Attend.
32.32[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle.
32.32[3] Each Party Must Be Represented by Trial Counsel.
32.32[4] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement.
32.32[5] Required Person May Request to Be Excused From Attendance at Mediation.
32.32[5][a] Request Must Be Made in Writing.
32.32[5][b] Request Must Be Made No Fewer Than 14 Days Before Date of Mediation.
32.32[5][c] Hardship Is Required.
32.32[5][d] Required Content of Request.
32.32[5][e] Excused Person Must Be Available by Phone.

32.32[6] Party May Oppose Another Party's Request to Be Excused.
32.32[6][a] Opposition Must Be in Writing.
32.32[6][b] Letter Is Confidential.
32.32[6][c] Letter Must Be Submitted Within Four Days of Receiving Copy of Request to Be Excused.
32.32[6][d] Required Content of Letter.
32.32[7] Party May Seek to Compel Attendance by Appropriate Party Representative.
32.32[7][a] Opposition Must Be in Writing.
32.32[7][b] Letter Is Confidential.
32.32[7][c] Letter Must Be Submitted As Far in Advance of Mediation Session as Practicable.
32.32[7][d] Required Content of Letter.
32.32[8] Party May Challenge Allegations That It Will Not Be Represented at Mediation Session by Appropriate Representative.
32.32[8][a] Challenged Party May Submit Responsive Letter.
32.32[8][b] Letter Is Confidential.
32.32[8][c] Letter Must Be Submitted Within Four Days of Receiving Written Allegations.
32.33 Mediation Procedures.
32.33[1] Proceedings Are Informal.
32.33[2] Mediator May Meet Separately With Each Side, or With Counsel Only, or Parties Only.
32.33[3] Proceedings Are Confidential.
32.33[4] Follow Up to Mediation.
32.33[5] Mediator Must File Certification of Mediation Within 14 Days After Close of Session.
E. Settlement Conferences
32.34 Settlement Conference Focuses Parties on Evidence and Law.
32.35 Referral of Case for Conference.
32.35[1] Case May Be Referred Sua Sponte or on Motion or Stipulation of Parties.
32.35[2] General Rule: Motion May Be Made at Any Time.
32.36 Settlement Judge.
32.36[1] Settlement Conference Generally Conducted by Magistrate Judge.
32.36[2] Stipulated Preference of Parties As to Settlement Judge Will, If Feasible, Be Given Effect.
32.36[3] On Stipulation of Parties, Assigned Judge May Hold Settlement Conference.
32.37 Settlement Judge Will Schedule Conference.
32.38 Settlement Judge Will Notify Parties of Submission and Attendance Requirements.
32.39 Attendance of Parties.
32.39[1] Parties May Be Required to Attend Conference.
32.39[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle.
32.39[3] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement.
32.40 Settlement Conference Is Confidential.
F. Additional ADR Processes
32.41 Nonbinding Summary Trial to Bench or Jury.
32.42 Privately Conducted ADR.
III. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN EASTERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION PROGRAM (VDRP)
32.43 CHECKLIST: Eastern District--Voluntary Dispute Resolution Program (VDRP).
32.44 Parties Must Consider Availability of Program.
32.45 Certain Actions Are Exempted From VDRP.
32.46 Clerk Will Notify Plaintiffs of Availability of VDRP.
32.47 Plaintiffs Must Notify Other Parties of Availability of VDRP.
32.48 Parties Must Report Consideration of VDRP in Status Conference Report.
32.49 Referral to VDRP Requires Consent of All Parties.
32.50 Parties Must File Stipulation and Order for VDRP Referral.
32.51 Parties May Request Referral to VDRP at Any Time.
32.52 Parties May Select Neutral.
32.53 Neutral Schedules and Sets Agenda for VDRP Session.
32.53[1] Neutral Will Consult With Parties.
32.53[2] VDRP Session Must Occur Within 91 Days of Appointment of Neutral.
32.54 Parties Must Submit Written VDRP Statements.
32.54[1] Required Content of VDRP Statement.
32.54[2] Statements May Not Exceed 10 Pages.
32.54[3] Submit Statements at Least Seven Days Prior to First VDRP Session.
32.54[4] Serve Statements on Other Parties.
32.54[5] Do Not File Statement.
32.55 Attendance at VDRP Session.
32.55[1] Parties and Lead Counsel Must Attend.
32.55[2] Corporation or Government Entity Must Be Represented by Person Knowledgeable of Facts With Authority to Settle.
32.55[3] Insurer Must Attend When Necessary to Achieve Settlement.
32.55[4] Required Person May Request to Be Excused From Attendance at VDRP Session.
32.55[4][a] Confer With Other Parties Before Request to Be Excused From Attendance.

32.55[4][b] Hardship Must Be Shown.
32.55[4][c] Telephone Availability Is Required.
32.56 VDRP Session Is Confidential.
32.57 Completion of VDRP Session.
32.57[1] Neutral's Reporting Obligations.
32.57[1][a] Neutral Reports Date of Completion of Session.
32.57[1][b] Neutral Must Report by Time Fixed in VDRP Referral or Within 14 Days of Completion of VDRP Session.
32.57[2] Parties' Reporting Obligations.
32.57[2][a] Parties Must File Joint VDRP Completion Report.
32.57[2][b] VDRP Completion Report Must Be Filed by Time Fixed in VDRP Referral or Within 14 Days of Completion of VDRP Session.
32.57[2][c] Required Content of VDRP Completion Report.
32.57[2][d] Dismissal Order May Be Filed in Lieu of VDRP Completion Report.
32.58 Procedures for Violations of VDRP Rules.
32.58[1] Complaints Alleging Material Violations Must Be in Writing.
32.58[2] Sanctions Are Available.
IV. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA: MANDATORY SETTLEMENT PROCEDURES
32.59 CHECKLIST: Central District--Mandatory Settlement Procedures.
32.60 Parties Are Required to Participate in One Settlement Procedure.
32.61 Four Settlement Procedures Are Available.
32.62 Parties May Select ADR Procedure.
32.62[1] Notice of Settlement Procedure Selection Is Required.
32.62[2] File Notice of Selection Not Later Than 14 Days After Entry of Scheduling Order.
32.62[3] Court Selects Settlement Procedure If Parties Fail to File Notice of Selection.
32.62[4] Other ADR Options or Settlement Procedures Not Precluded.
32.63 Settlement Procedure Must Occur No Later Than 45 Days Before Final Pretrial Conference.
32.64 Parties Must Submit Settlement Statement.
32.64[1] Content of Settlement Statement.
32.64[2] Statement Must Be Submitted at Least Five Days Before Conference.
32.64[3] Statement May Not Exceed Five Pages.
32.65 Conduct of Proceedings.
32.65[1] Parties or Representative With Authority to Settle Must Attend.
32.65[2] Trial Counsel Must Attend.
32.65[3] Parties Must Be Prepared for Conference.
32.65[4] Settlement Officer at Conference May Require Statements and Testimony.
32.66 Proceedings Are Confidential.
32.67 Settlement Must Be Reported and Memorialized.
V. COURT ANNEXED ALTERNATIVE DISPUTE RESOLUTION IN SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
32.68 CHECKLIST: ADR Procedures in Southern District.
32.69 Southern District Mandates Early Neutral Evaluation (ENE) Conference.
32.69[1] Timing of ENE Conference.
32.69[1][a] Conference Must Be Held Within 45 Days of Filing of Answer.
32.69[1][b] Conference May Be Held Before Answer on Request of Party.
32.69[2] Cases in Which ENE Conference May Be Excused.
32.69[3] Conduct of ENE Conference.
32.69[3][a] ENE Conference Is Held Before Judicial Officer Supervising Discovery.
32.69[3][b] Parties and Counsel Must Attend Conference Unless Excused for Good Cause.
32.69[3][c] Parties and Officer Discuss Claims and Defenses With View to Settlement.
32.69[3][d] Conference Is Informal and Confidential.
32.69[4] Case May Be Referred to Mediation or Arbitration If Not Settled by ENE Conference.
32.69[5] Case Management Conference Must Be Held After Unsuccessful ENE Conference.
32.69[5][a] Conference Must Be Held Within 60 Days If Case Referred for Arbitration or Mediation.
32.69[5][b] Conference Must Be Held Within 30 Days If No Arbitration or Mediation Is Held.
32.70 Southern District Mandates Settlement Conference.
32.70[1] Timing of Settlement Conference.
32.70[1][a] Settlement Conference Is Held at Direction of Assigned Judge or Presiding Judicial Officer.
32.70[1][b] One or More Follow-Up Conferences May Be Held.
32.70[1][c] Trial Judge May Order Post-Verdict Settlement Conference.
32.70[2] Conduct of Settlement Conference.
32.70[2][a] Settlement Judge May Require Attendance of Parties or Representatives With Authority to Settle.
32.70[2][b] Settlement Judge Is Disqualified From Trying Case, Absent Waiver.
32.70[2][c] Proceedings Are Informal and Confidential.
32.71 Nonbinding Mini-Trial or Summary Jury Trial Are Also Available.
32.71[1] May Be Ordered at Option of District or Magistrate Judge.
32.71[2] Potential Judgment May Not Exceed $250,000, and Procedure Will Probably Resolve Case.
32.71[3] Consent of Parties Not Required.
VI. FORMS

32.72 Local District Court Forms.
Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 33 Rule 11 Sanctions
§ 33.syn Synopsis to Chapter 33: Rule 11 Sanctions
I. STRATEGY
33.01 Scope.
33.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. DETERMINING AVAILABILITY OF SANCTIONS
33.03 CHECKLIST: Authority for Sanctions.
33.04 Rule 11 Is Designed to Deter Baseless Filings.
33.04[1] Pleadings and Papers Must Be Properly Signed.
33.04[2] Signing or Later Advocacy Certifies Content of Filings.
33.04[3] Attorney Must Make Reasonable Investigation.
33.04[4] Pleadings Must Not Be Frivolous.
33.04[5] Pleadings Must Not Have Improper Purpose.
33.04[6] Legal Contentions Must Be Justified by Existing Law.
33.05 Rule 11 Is Not Substitute for Motion for Summary Judgment.
33.06 Sanctions Are Available for Rule 11 Violations.
33.06[1] Court May Impose Sanction on Attorney, Law Firm, or Party.
33.06[2] Reasonableness Standard Will Be Applied.
33.06[3] Sanctions Must Have Deterrent Effect.
33.07 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements
33.07[1] Signature Requirements.
33.07[2] Sanctions for Noncompliance With Local Rule 11, and for Frivolous Motions and Opposition to Motions.
33.08 Rule 11 Is Not Aimed at General Misconduct.
33.09 Rule 11 Is Inapplicable When More Specific Rules Apply.
33.10 Sanctions Are Available Under § 1927 for Wrongful Proliferation of Proceedings.
33.10[1] Attorney's Conduct Must Be Unreasonable and Vexatious.
33.10[2] Attorney's Fees Can Be Awarded.
33.11 Sanctions Are Available Under Inherent Power of Court to Punish Bad-Faith Conduct.
33.12 Other Rules Providing for Sanctions.
33.12[1] Rule 16 Sanctions for Failure to Comply With Pretrial Requirements.
33.12[2] Rule 37 Sanctions for Discovery Abuse.
33.12[3] Rule 45 Sanctions for Abuse of Subpoena Process.
33.12[4] Rule 56 Sanctions for Affidavit or Declaration Filed for Improper Purpose in Summary Judgment Motion.
33.12[5] Dismissal Under Rule 41 for Failure to Prosecute or Comply With Court Order.
III. SEEKING RULE 11 SANCTIONS: PLEADINGS, WRITTEN MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS
33.13 CHECKLIST: Moving for Rule 11 Sanctions.
33.14 Give Informal Notification Before Moving for Sanctions.
33.15 Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions Must Be Separate From Other Motions.
33.16 Move for Sanctions Promptly.
33.17 Motion Must State Specific Grounds for Sanctions and Relief Sought.
33.18 Serve Motion 21 Days Before Filing: "Safe Harbor" Provision.
33.18[1] Opposition Can Correct or Withdraw Challenged Paper.
33.18[2] Safe-Harbor Provision Is Mandatory.
33.18[3] Do Not File If Challenged Pleading Is Corrected or Withdrawn.
33.19 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements
33.19[1] Motion for Sanctions Must Comply With Local Rule 7-8.
33.19[2] Set Hearing Date Not Earlier Than 35 Days After Service of Motion.
33.19[3] Format of Motion Must Comply With Local Rule 7-2.
33.20 Motion May Be Heard on Affidavits or on Oral Testimony or Depositions.
33.21 Prevailing Party May Obtain Reasonable Expenses and Fees.
33.22 Law Firm Is Subject to Joint Liability for Sanctions.
33.23 Rule 11 Sanctions Should Deter Repetition of Conduct.
33.24 Limitations on Rule 11 Monetary Sanctions.
33.24[1] Only Attorney Is Responsible for Groundless Legal Contentions.
33.24[2] Fees Must Result From Rule Violation.
33.25 Order for Rule 11 Sanctions Must Describe Violative Conduct.
IV. OPPOSING MOTION FOR RULE 11 SANCTIONS
33.26 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Sanctions.
33.27 Use "Safe Harbor" Provision to Cure Rule 11 Violation.
33.28 Assert That Contention Was Supported by Law and Fact.
33.29 Assert That Particular Conduct Cannot Be Basis for Rule 11 Sanctions.
33.30 Assert That Attorney Fees Sought Were Not Incurred by Challenged Paper.
V. FORMS
33.31 Notice of Motion for Rule 11 Sanctions.
33.32 Affidavit in Opposition to Motion for Sanctions.
33.33 Order Granting Sanctions.
CHAPTER 34 Other Sanction Provisions

§ 34.syn Synopsis to Chapter 34: Other Sanction Provisions
I. STRATEGY
34.01 Scope.
34.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. SEEKING SANCTIONS UNDER 28 USC § 1927 FOR MULTIPLYING LITIGATION UNREASONABLY AND VEXATIOUSLY
34.03 CHECKLIST: Seeking Sanctions Under 28 USC § 1927.
34.04 Section 1927 Sanctions Are Aimed at Deterring Improper Multiplication of Proceedings.
34.05 Section 1927 Applies to Conduct After Commencement of Case, Including During Trial.
34.06 Section 1927 Sanctions Are Available for Later Proceedings.
34.07 Section 1927 Sanctions Are Imposed Only on Attorney.
34.08 Sanctions Under § 1927 Require Bad Faith or Recklessness.
34.09 Mere Negligence or Ignorance Does Not Support § 1927 Sanctions.
34.10 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Discouraging Vexatious Litigation by Requiring Security.
34.11 Motion for Sanctions Under § 1927.
34.11[1] State Specific Grounds for Sanctions and Relief Sought.
34.11[2] Serve Motion Pursuant to Rule 5.
III. OPPOSING § 1927 SANCTIONS
34.12 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for § 1927 Sanctions.
34.13 Assert Inapplicability of § 1927.
34.14 Assert That Motion Under § 1927 Not Filed to Accomplish Purpose of Deterrence.
34.15 Assert That Conduct Was Product of Mere Ignorance or Negligence.
IV. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS FOR BAD-FAITH LITIGATION ABUSE UNDER INHERENT POWER OF COURT
34.16 CHECKLIST: Seeking Sanctions Under Inherent Power of Court.
34.17 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Power.
34.18 Federal Courts Have Inherent Powers to Sanction Bad-Faith Conduct.
34.19 Court May Rely Both on Specific Rule or Statute and on Inherent Authority.
34.20 Court Must Specifically Find Bad Faith or Conduct Tantamount to Bad Faith.
34.21 Due Process Protection That Must Be Afforded Depends on Whether Sanctions Are Tantamount to Criminal Contempt.
34.22 Sanctions Are Available for Variety of Willful Actions.
34.22[1] Particular Conduct As Bases for Inherent Power Sanctions.
34.22[2] Sanctions Must Be Based on Recklessness Combined With Aggravating Factor.
34.23 Court Has Inherent Authority to Impose Wide Range of Sanctions, Including Dismissal.
34.24 Motion for Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Powers.
34.24[1] State Specific Grounds for Sanctions and Relief Sought.
34.24[2] Motion Must Be Served Pursuant to Rule 5.
34.25 Responding to and Opposing Motion for Sanctions Under Court's Inherent Powers.
34.25[1] Assert Absence of Bad Faith.
34.25[2] Assert That Nature of Sanctions Requires Due Process Protections Available for Criminal Contempt.
V. SEEKING AND OPPOSING SANCTIONS UNDER LOCAL DISTRICT COURT RULES OR PROCEDURES
34.26 CHECKLIST: Seeking Sanctions Under Local District Court Rules or Procedures.
34.27 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Sanction Provisions
34.27[1] Sanctions May Be Imposed for Failure to Comply With Local Rules Relating to Presentations to the Court.
34.27[2] Monetary and Other Appropriate Sanctions for Bad Faith or Willful Violation of Local Rules.
34.27[3] Sanctions for Late Filing of Motion Papers.
34.27[4] Sanctions for Requesting Presence of Declarant in Motion for Civil Contempt Without Good-Faith Intention to Cross-Examine.
34.27[5] Sanctions for Failing to Comply With Requirements for Application for Continuance or Notice of Settlement.
34.27[6] Sanctions for Reinstatement of Case Dismissed for Want of Prosecution.
34.28 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Sanction Provisions
34.28[1] Sanctions for Violation of Local Rules or Court Order.
34.28[2] Sanctions for Failure to Appear at Motion Proceeding.
34.28[3] Assessment of Costs of Jury Panel for Conduct Preventing Court From Commencing Jury Trial As Scheduled.
34.28[4] Sanctions for Violation of ADR Procedures.
34.28[5] Sanctions for Failure to Notify Court of Settlement.
34.29 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Sanction Provisions.
34.29[1] Sanctions for Violation of Local or Federal Rules.
34.29[2] Restrictions on Sanctions for Violation of General and Standing Court Orders.
34.29[2][a] Violation of General Order Not Sanctionable Unless Order Specifically Adopted by Judge.
34.29[2][b] Notice of Standing Order Must Precede Sanctions.
34.29[3] Sanctions Against Attorney for Unprofessional Conduct.
34.29[4] Sanctions for Wrongfully Exercising Privilege of Bar Membership.
34.29[5] Sanctions for Violation of ADR Local Rules.
34.29[6] Sanctions for Failure to Proceed on Scheduled Trial Date.
34.29[7] Assessment of Jury Costs for Failure to Proceed on Scheduled Trial Date or Failure to Give Notice of Settlement.
34.29[8] Sanctions for Filing or Refiling Case to Circumvent Case Assignment to Particular Judge.

34.29[9] Sanctions for Repeating Argument in Motion for Leave to File Motion for Reconsideration.
34.30 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Sanction Provisions.
34.30[1] Sanctions for Violation of Local and Federal Rules and Court Orders.
34.30[2] Sanctions for Violation of Rules of Professional Conduct.
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
§ 35.syn Synopsis to Chapter 35: Contempt
I. STRATEGY
35.01 Scope.
35.02 Objective and Strategy.
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION
35.03 CHECKLIST: Drafting Motion for Contempt.
35.04 CHECKLIST: Opposing Motion for Contempt.
35.05 Court Has Inherent Power to Punish for Contempt.
35.06 Contempt for Violation of Rule 45: Disobeying Subpoena.

Source: California > Search Analysis & CLE Materials > Matthew Bender Practice Guides > Matthew Bender® Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

TABLE OF CONTENTS--Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright © 2011 by Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group. All Rights Reserved.

Unit 10 Sanctions
CHAPTER 35 Contempt
II. SEEKING AND OPPOSING CONTEMPT ADJUDICATION
35.07 Contempt for Violation of Rule 56: Summary Judgment Affidavit or Declaration Filed in Bad Faith.
35.08 Contempt for Violation of Rule 70: Failure to Obey Judgment Regarding Land Conveyance and Other Acts.
35.09 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.
35.09[1] Contempt Proceedings for Attorney Misconduct.
35.09[2] Contempt of Court Proceeding Available for Violation of Local Court Rules Restricting Broadcasting, Television, Photography, and Recording.
35.10 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Contempt Proceedings for Attorney Misconduct.
35.11 LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Contempt for Unprofessional Conduct.
35.12 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Contempt Proceedings for Attorney Misconduct.
35.13 Defining Direct and Indirect Contempt.
35.13[1] Direct Contempt Occurs in Court's Presence, Indirect Contempt Occurs Outside Court's Presence.
35.13[2] Petty, Direct Contempt Is Normally Subject to Summary Adjudication.
35.13[3] If Court Delays in Punishing Direct Contempt, Notice and Hearing Are Required.
35.14 Distinction Between Civil and Criminal Contempt Depends on Penalty.
35.14[1] Contempt Is Civil If Purpose Is Remedial.
35.14[2] Contempt Is Criminal If Purpose Is Punitive.
35.14[3] Imprisonment and Monetary Fines Are Available in Both Civil and Criminal Contempt Proceedings.
35.15 Civil Contempt.
35.15[1] Civil Contempt Sanctions Punish Failure to Obey Court Order.
35.15[2] Contemnor May Purge Contempt by Affirmative Act.
35.15[3] Civil Contempt Proceedings Are Trials; No Right to Jury Trial.
35.15[4] No Civil Contempt If Violation Is Based on Good Faith and Reasonable Interpretation of Order.
35.15[5] Moving Party Must Show Clear and Convincing Evidence of Violation of Court Order.
35.16 Motion for Civil Contempt.
35.16[1] Motion Must State Specific Grounds for Contempt and Relief Sought.
35.16[2] Alleged Contemnor Entitled to Notice, Opportunity to Be Heard.
35.17 Compliance with Underlying Order Purges Civil Contempt.
35.18 Civil Contempt Order Not Appealable Until Final Judgment.
35.19 Criminal Contempt.
35.19[1] Criminal Contempt Requires Willful Conduct.
35.19[2] Federal Courts Have Criminal Contempt Authority Under 18 USC § 401.
35.19[3] Due Process Is Required.
35.19[4] Criminal Contempt Proceeding Is Separate From Original Action.
35.20 Responding to and Opposing Allegations of Contempt.
35.20[1] Responding to and Opposing Allegations of Civil Contempt.
35.20[1][a] Purge Contempt by Affirmative Act.
35.20[1][b] Assert Good Faith and Reasonable Interpretation of Order.
35.20[1][c] Impossibility of Compliance Is Defense If Not Self Created.
35.20[2] Nature or Severity of Penalties Requires Criminal Due Process.
35.20[3] Responding to and Opposing Allegations of Criminal Contempt.
35.20[3][a] Motion to Discharge Order to Show Cause.
35.20[3][b] Absence of Willfulness.
35.20[3][c] Violation of Due Process.
35.20[3][d] Summary Criminal Contempt Unavailable.
III. FORMS
35.21 Notice of Motion and Motion for Civil Contempt.
35.22 Judgment of Civil Contempt.

Source: California > Search Analysis & CLE Materials > Matthew Bender Practice Guides > Matthew Bender® Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

In

About LexisNexis | Privacy Policy | Terms & Conditions | Contact Us
Copyright © 2011 LexisNexis, a division of Reed Elsevier Inc. All rights reserved.

1 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Publication Information

1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Author(s)

Author(s)

Matthew Bender[(R)] Practice Guide:
FEDERAL PRETRIAL CIVIL PROCEDURE IN CALIFORNIA 1 CHAPTERS 1-8 Litigation Milestones
First Steps
Pleading Stage

Richard B. Kendall Kendall Brill & Klieger
Hon. Richard Seeborg United States District Judge, Northern District of California
Mary Jo Shartsis Shartsis Friese LLP
Hon. Fern M. Smith United States District Judge (Ret.), Northern District of California

For easy access to this publication online, see http://www.lexisnexis.com/MBPracticeGuide/CA

2010

2 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Publication Information

1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Questions?

Questions?

Technical Questions?

Phone: (800) 223-5297
Fax: (800) 533-1645 or (518) 487-3191
E-Mail: technical.support@lexisnexis.com
Visit Our Web Site: http://www.lexis.com

Editorial Questions?

For questions about the Editorial Content appearing in these volumes or reprint permission, please call: Medico-Legal
Mark Landis, J.D. mark.a.landis@lexisnexis.com at 1-800-424-0651 ext. 3300
Joseph Fogel, J.D. joseph.fogel@lexisnexis.com at 1-800-424-0651 ext. 3351
For assistance with replacement pages, shipments, billing or other customer service matters, please call:
Customer Services Department at (800) 833-9844
Outside the United States and Canada, please call (518) 487-3000
Fax Number(518) 487-3584
For information on other Matthew Bender publications, please call
Your account manager or (800) 223-1940
Outside the United States and Canada, please call (518) 487-3000

3 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Publication Information

1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Cite As

Cite As

Cite this publication as:
Kendall et al., Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in Cal., [00.00] (year). Example: Kendall et al., Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in Cal., 26.32 (2010). Because the section you are citing may be revised in a later release, you may wish to photocopy or print out the section for convenient future reference.

4 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Publication Information

1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Copyright

Copyright

This publication is designed to provide accurate and authoritative information in regard to the subject matter covered. It is sold with the understanding that the publisher is not engaged in rendering legal, accounting, or other professional services. If legal advice or other expert assistance is required, the services of a competent professional should be sought.

LexisNexis and the Knowledge Burst logo are registered trademarks and Michie is a trademark of Reed Elsevier Properties Inc., used under license. Matthew Bender and the Matthew Bender Flame Design are registered trademarks of Matthew Bender Properties Inc.

Copyright © 2010 Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.
All Rights Reserved.

No copyright is claimed in the text of statutes, regulations, and excerpts from court opinions quoted within this work. Permission to copy material exceeding fair use, 17 U.S.C. § 107, may be licensed for a fee of 25cent(s) per page per copy from the Copyright Clearance Center, 222 Rosewood Drive, Danvers, Mass. 01923, telephone (978) 750-8400.
ISBN 978-0-8205-5692-5
Library of Congress Card Number: 2004-048713

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Publication Information

1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Authors

Authors

Richard B. Kendall

Richard B. Kendall is a founding partner of Kendall Brill & Klieger. His practice encompasses a wide range of trial and appellate matters.

Mr. Kendall has tried over 30 cases in the federal and state courts, and has also supervised numerous litigations in European and Asian courts. In his appellate practice, he has argued major cases before the United States Supreme Court, the United States Court of Appeals, the California Supreme Court, the Delaware Supreme Court, and the California Court of Appeals. He has twice argued before the United States Supreme Court: in 1996, he argued Smiley v. Citibank on behalf of Citibank; and in 2008 he argued Winter v. NRDC for the Natural Resources Defense Council.

Over the years, Mr. Kendall has frequently represented major companies in both the media and banking industries, as well as foreign governments. He has litigated on behalf of the Paramount, Columbia Tri-Star, and Universal film studios, and also for several television networks, including MTV, VH1, CBS, UPN, Showtime, and Nickelodeon. In radio, he has represented the CBS Radio Group, and in outdoor advertising he represents CBS Outdoor and Clear Channel Outdoor. In banking and securities litigation, Mr. Kendall's clients have included Citigroup, JPMorgan Chase, and Credit Suisse First Boston. Foreign government clients have included the Philippine government in its cases against Ferdinand and Imelda Marcos, the Bank of China and the China National Coal Development Corp., and the Brunei Investment Authority.

Mr. Kendall has been honored by the Century City Bar Association as its "Litigator of the Year," and has been recognized as a leading media & entertainment/litigation lawyer by The Hollywood Reporter in its annual ranking of the "100 Most Influential Lawyers In Entertainment" and by Chambers & Partners in its Chambers USA Leading Lawyers for Business Guide. In addition, Mr. Kendall has been repeatedly selected for inclusion in The Best Lawyers in America in commercial litigation as well as entertainment law and as a "Southern California Super Lawyer" in Los Angeles Magazine.

Mr. Kendall has taught both evidence and international litigation and arbitration as an adjunct professor of law at the University of Southern California. He has served as a member of numerous bar association committees and advisory groups, including as the state bar-appointed member of the Board of Directors of the Western Center on Law and Poverty from 1989 through 1997, and on the board of directors of the Los Angeles Legal Aid Foundation from 2001 through 2007.

Mr. Kendall attended the Gould School of Law at the University of Southern California, where he served as Executive Notes Editor for the Southern California Law Review. After graduating in 1979, he served as a law clerk with The Honorable J. Clifford Wallace, Judge of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit. He then practiced from 1980-85 as an Assistant United States Attorney in Los Angeles, and as Assistant Chief of the Criminal Division during 1983 through 1985. In December 1984, he received the John Marshall Award for Trial of Litigation, the highest award in the Justice Department for trial work, for "ingenuity in developing new forensic techniques, and outstanding trial skills."

Richard Seeborg

Richard Seeborg was appointed to the United States District Court for the Northern District of California by President Barack Obama in 2009. Judge Seeborg served as Magistrate Judge for the United States District Court from 2001-2009. He received his B.A. degree, summa cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa, from Yale College in 1978. Upon graduating from Columbia University School of Law in 1981, where he was a Harlan Fiske Stone Scholar, Judge Seeborg served (1981-1982) as a law clerk to United States District Judge John H. Pratt in Washington, D.C. In 1982, he joined Morrison & Foerster's San Francisco office in the litigation department, becoming a partner with the firm in 1987. From 1991 to 1998, Judge Seeborg served as an Assistant U.S. Attorney for the Northern District of California in San Jose. In that capacity, he acted as lead prosecutor on a wide range of complex white collar criminal matters. He re-joined Morrison & Foerster in March 1998, where he resumed a litigation practice in the fields of securities, intellectual property, and general commercial matters.

Judge Seeborg has been a member of the Adjunct Faculty at Santa Clara University School of Law where he has served as instructor for a course on Federal Criminal Litigation and has served as co-chair of the Federal Courts Committee of the Santa Clara County Bar Association and as a member of the Executive Committee of Magistrate Judges for the Ninth Circuit. At present, he is a member of the Working Group on Electronic Public Access for the United States Courts and a member the Ninth Circuit Jury Instructions Committee.

Mary Jo Shartsis

Mary Jo Shartsis is one of the founding partners of Shartsis Friese LLP. She specializes in general business litigation, including, business torts, commercial transactions, securities, real estate, officer and director liability and corporate and partnership derivative litigation. In June 2003, Ms. Shartsis was chosen as one of the Top 50 Women Litigators in California by the Los Angeles and San Francisco Daily Journal.

Ms. Shartsis served as a lawyer representative to the Ninth Circuit Judicial Conference from 1994 to 1997. She is a co-author of California Federal Court Practice, Local Civil Rules Annotated, a guide to local federal practice published by LexisNexis. Ms. Shartsis is past chair of the Litigation Section of the Bar Association of San Francisco.

Ms. Shartsis is admitted to practice in the state and federal courts of California as well as the Second Circuit Court of Appeals and the United States Supreme Court. Her state court practice has also been extensive in San Francisco, Marin, Alameda, Santa Clara, San Mateo and Contra Costa County Superior Courts. She is a member of various sections of the American Bar Association and a fellow of the American Bar Foundation. She is also a member of the Association of Business Trial Lawyers.

As a member of the Board of Directors and participant in programs sponsored by the Institute for the Study and Development of Legal Systems, Ms. Shartsis has lectured on various alternative dispute resolution techniques to lawyers and judges in Egypt, India, Israel, Jordan and the Palestinian Authority. Ms. Shartsis serves on several boards, including the Board of Directors of the Legal Aid Society of San Francisco.

Ms. Shartsis received an A.B. degree from the University of California, Berkeley in 1969 and a J.D. degree from the University's Boalt Hall School of Law in 1972, where she was a member of the California Law Review. She has remained involved in the Law School through a variety of activities and served as President of the Boalt Hall Alumni Association in 1994-95.

Fern M. Smith

Fern M. Smith was appointed to the United States District Court for the Northern District of California by President Ronald Reagan in 1988. Judge Smith served as the Director of the Federal Judicial Center in Washington, DC from July 1999 to July 2003. The Federal Judicial Center is the primary research and continuing education agency for the federal courts. At the completion of her 4-year assignment at the FJC, she returned to the U.S. District Court in San Francisco where she retired from office as of June 30, 2005. Judge Smith was educated at Stanford University, where she graduated with Distinction (Phi Beta Kappa) in 1972. She graduated from Stanford Law School in 1975. Judge Smith practiced with Bronson, Bronson & McKinnon in San Francisco from 1975-1986, and was a member of the firm's management committee from 1985-1986. Judge Smith served as Judge of the Superior Court of California in and for the City and County of San Francisco from 1986-1988.

Judge Smith was Chair of the U.S. Judicial Conference Committee on International Judicial Relations from 2003 to 2005. She was a member of the Advisory Committee on the Rules of Evidence from 1993 through 1996 and served as its Chair from 1996 through 1999. She was a member of the Executive Committee of the Ninth Circuit Judicial Conference from 1994 to 1996. She was a member of the California State-Federal Judicial Council from 1990 through 1993. In addition, she was a member of the California Judicial Council from 1987 through 1988, and a member of that Council's Advisory Task Force on Gender Bias from 1988 through 1990.

Judge Smith actively participates in international judicial delegations involved in the education, reform and modernization of legal processes in countries around the world, including Egypt, Bolivia, Mexico, Tunisia, Israel, Jordan, Greece, Italy, France, India, Russia, Morocco, Thailand, China, Turkey, Bahrain, the Netherlands, and Brazil. She currently works for JAMS, the nation's largest private provider of alternative dispute resolution services.

6 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Publication Information

1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Publisher's Editorial Staff

Publisher's Editorial Staff

Director, Practice Area Content

Dennis Schneider, J.D.

Coordinating Editor

Mark A. Landis, J.D.

Legal Editors

Jeffery V. Bacich, J.D. Joseph Fogel, J.D. Andrew Watry, J.D.

Editor

Nancy Dawson

Manager, Content Operations--Analytical

Claudia Gurevich

Publishing Operations Coordinator

Patricia Earnhardt

Publishing Operations Analyst

April Davis

Index Editor

Tim Morimoto

7 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Publication Information

1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Abbreviations

Abbreviations

United States Constitution and Statutory Sources

US Const United States Constitution

USC United States Code

USC app United States Code Appendices

IRC United States Code, Title 26 California Constitution and Statutory Sources

Cal Const California Constitution

B&P Code Business and Professions Code

CC Civil Code

CCP Code of Civil Procedure

Com Code Commercial Code

Corp Code Corporations Code

Ed Code Education Code

Elec Code Elections Code

Evid Code Evidence Code

Fam Code Family Code

Fin Code Financial Code

F&G Code Fish and Game Code

F&A Code Food and Agriculture Code

Gov Code Government Code

H&N Code Harbors and Navigation Code

H&S Code Health and Safety Code

Ins Code Insurance Code

Lab Code Labor Code

M&V Code Military and Veterans Code

Pen Code Penal Code

Prob Code Probate Code

PC Code Public Contract Code

PR Code Public Resources Code

PU Code Public Utilities Code

R&T Code Revenue and Taxation Code

S&H Code Streets and Highways Code

UI Code Unemployment Insurance Code

Veh Code Vehicle Code

Water Code Water Code

W&I Code Welfare and Institutions Code

Cal Stat California Statutes California and Federal Regulations

CCR California Regulations

CFR Code of Federal Regulations

Fed Reg Federal Register California Attorney General Opinions

Ops Cal Atty Gen Opinions of California Attorney General Case Law

US United States Supreme Court Reports

S Ct Supreme Court Reporter

L Ed Lawyer's Edition

L Ed2d Lawyer's Edition, Second Series

F Federal Reporter

F2d Federal Reporter, Second Series

F3d Federal Reporter, Third Series

F Supp Federal Supplement

F Supp2d Federal Supplement, Second Series

FRD Federal Rules Decisions

C California Reports

C2d California Reports, Second Series

C3d California Reports, Third Series

C4th California Reports, Fourth Series

CA California Appellate Reports

CA2d California Appellate Reports, Second Series

CA3d California Appellate Reports, Third Series

CA4th California Appellate Reports, Fourth Series

CA Supp California Appellate Reports, Supplement

CA2d Supp California Appellate Reports, Second Series, Supplement

CA3d Supp California Appellate Reports, Third Series, Supplement

CA4th Supp California Appellate Reports, Fourth Series, Supplement

CR California Reporter

CR2d California Reporter, Second Series

P Pacific Reporter

P2d Pacific Reporter, Second Series

P3d Pacific Reporter, Third Series Federal Rules

Fed R Civ P Rules of Civil Procedure

Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms Rules of Civil Procedure, Forms Appendix

Fed R App P Federal Rules of Appellate Procedure

9th Cir R Circuit Rules

9th Cir R Appendix of Forms Circuit Rules, Forms Appendix

Sup Ct R Supreme Court Rules

Multidistrict R Multidistrict Rules

Fed R Evid Rules of Evidence

Fed R Bankr P Rules of Bankruptcy Procedure

Fed R Crim P Rules of Criminal Procedure Central District abbreviations

CD Cal Civ LR Local Rules

CD Cal Local Civil Appendix Civil Appendices

CD Cal Mag LR Magistrate Judge Rules

CD Cal Gen Order General Orders Eastern District abbreviations

ED Cal Gen LR General Rules

ED Cal Civ LR Civil Rules

ED Cal Mag LR Magistrate Judge Rules

ED Cal Adm LR Admiralty and In Rem Rules

ED Cal Automated Case Assignment Plan Automated Case Assignment Plan

ED Cal Gen Order General Orders Northern District abbreviations

ND Cal Civ LR Local Rules

ND Cal ADR LR Local Rules for Alternative Dispute Resolution

ND Cal Appendix Appendixes of Sample Forms

ND Cal Gen Order General Orders Southern District abbreviations

SD Cal Civ LR Local Rules

SD Cal Gen Order General Orders California State Court Rules

Cal Rules Ct California Rules of Court

Cal Rules Prof Conduct California Rules of Professional Conduct Miscellaneous

US Code Cong & Admin News Congressional and Administrative News

UST United States Treaties

8 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

INDEX

1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Index

Index

1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Index Index

9 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

What's New

1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA Scope

Scope

HIGHLIGHTS

Release 13 September 2010

Local Rules and Cases
This release updates the publication throughout with recent changes to local district court rules, including all rule changes and revised forms in effect as of May 10, 2010.
Updates Include:
The revision of the Northern District Local Rules for Alternate Dispute Resolution.
The complete renumbering of the Eastern District Local Rules.
The time computation amendments to the Local Rules in the Central District, Eastern District, Northern District and Southern District, which reflect the time period amendments to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.
Developments in Other Areas of Law Include:
Jurisdiction.
Standing.
Certification of class actions.

Chapter 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue) has been updated to include the recent Supreme Court case, Hertz Corp. v. Friend (2010) 130 S Ct 1181, 175 L Ed2d 1029 , defining a corporation's principal place of business. See § 2.18[3].

The chapter also has been updated to include recent Supreme Court decisions addressing standing, including Alvarez v. Smith (2009) 130 S Ct 576, 175 L Ed2d 447 and Salazar v. Buono (2010) 130 S Ct 1803, 176 L Ed2d 634 . See §§ 2.45[1], 2.43[3][a].

Chapter 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, includes discussion of ND Cal Gen Order 62, effective May 10, 2010, which revises the procedures for filing sealed documents in civil cases, pending consideration of a revision to ND Cal Civ LR 79-5. See § 6.21[7][b].

Chapter 20, Class Actions, has been updated with coverage of Dukes v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. (9th Cir 2010) 603 F3d 571 , in which the Ninth Circuit set out the standards to be applied by district courts in adjudicating a Rule 23 motion for class certification. The court also established a new test to determine whether monetary relief predominates over injunctive relief or declaratory relief, in determining whether Rule 23(b)(2) certification is appropriate--overruling Molski v. Gleich (9th Cir 2003) 318 F3d 937 . See §§ 20.05A, 20.07[2], 20.07[4][b].

Chapter 32, Court Annexed ADR, has been updated throughout to incorporate the extensive revision of the Northern District's ADR Local Rules, effective December 1, 2009.

10 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

How To Use lexis.com (R) With This Publication

1- MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA .syn

Synopsis to Chapter : How To Use lexis.com (R) With This Publication

HowTo.01 Finding This Publication and Other Sources on lexis.com (R)

[1] Contact LexisNexis(R)

[2] Using Content Online at lexis.com (R)

[3] Selecting a Source on lexis.com (R)

HowTo.02 Authority and Sources Referenced in This Publication

[1] Using lexis.com (R) Resources to Update Cases

[2] Federal Case Databases

[3] Hypertext Links

[4] Finding Related Sources and Suggested Searches

[5] Search by Topic Links to Related Cases and Analytical Materials

HowTo.03 Formulating a Search Query on lexis.com (R)

[1] Frame Your Search

[2] Develop Your Search Strategy

[3] Narrow Your Search

[4] Find More Authorities Like This

[5] Keep Current With Alerts

HowTo.04 Shepardize(R) to Validate Your Results and as a Research Tool

11 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

How To Use lexis.com (R) With This Publication

1- MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA HowTo.01

HowTo.01 Finding This Publication and Other Sources on lexis.com [(R)]

[1] Contact LexisNexis[(R)]

New customers can contact a LexisNexis[(R)] Account Representative at http://www.lexisnexis.com/trial/contactrepNALM.asp or by calling (800) 227-4908.

Existing subscribers can reach LexisNexis[(R)] Customer Support 24/7/365 at 800-227-4908 or can contact their Account Representative.

[2] Using Content Online at lexis.com [(R)]

Online subscribers have access to the Total Research System at lexis.com [(R)]. When searching at lexis.com [(R)] tabs lead users to Legal Sources, Public Records, and News and Business Sources. Additional tabs, such as Litigation Practice, can be readily created by the user through the Add/Edit Tabs link directly above the first tab on the left. Sources preceded by a dollar sign and/or an "interrupt" message indicate content outside a subscription plan. These sources may be accessed when available under a customer's alternate transactional pricing plan.

A searchable Directory of Online Sources can be viewed without an ID at http://web.nexis.com/sources/.

Additionally, a task-based web page is available for this publication at http://www.lexisnexis.com/clients/CApracticeguide.

[3] Selecting a Source on lexis.com [(R)]

Use Source Searches to select the source you wish to search. For example, on the Legal tab see the States Legal -- US list and follow this jurisdictional path:

California> Search Analysis & CLE Materials > Litigation Practice & Procedure[]> Matthew Bender[(R)] Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California.

Content can also be accessed from topical paths related to the publication, e.g., Legal tab> Area of Law -- By Topic>

Litigation Practice & Procedure> Search Analysis, Law Reviews & Journals> Federal> Matthew Bender[(R)] Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California.

Use the Find a Source tab to locate available paths and sources by entering an exact word or phrase from the source name, or if known, by entering the source library and file. Users may consult the Source Description link following each source (click on the "i" symbol), LexisNexis Customer Support, or the Directory of Online Sources to get information regarding sources, search strategy, or coverage. The standard search price for each source is contained at the bottom of the Source Description page for that source.

12 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

How To Use lexis.com (R) With This Publication

1- MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA HowTo.02

HowTo.02 Authority and Sources Referenced in This Publication

[1] Using lexis.com [(R)] Resources to Update Cases

The Matthew Bender[(R)] Practice Guide series is updated twice a year and cites the strongest, most recent cases available as of its last update. New cases are added to lexis.com [(R)] daily, and can be combined with additional cases online to update, validate and research fact patterns, issues and points of law.

[2] Federal Case Databases

Several sources may assist research needs. They include:

- Federal Court Cases After 1944, Combined (GENFED;NEWER)
- Federal Court Cases Within 2 Years, Combined (GENFED;CURRNT)
- 9th Circuit-US Court of Appeals, District & Bankruptcy Cases, Combined (GENFED;9TH)
- 9th Circuit-US Court of Appeals Cases & Bankruptcy Appellate Panel (GENFED;9CIR)
- 9th Circuit-US District Court Cases (GENFED;9DIST)

Case law from all 50 states, the Virgin Islands, Guam, Northern Marianas Islands, Washington D.C. federal courts, state and federal agencies is also available on lexis.com [(R)] through the Legal tab> Cases -- U.S.

[3] Hypertext Links

Click the hypertext link to jump to the corresponding cases, codes, rules and other publications online.

[4] Finding Related Sources and Suggested Searches

This publication highlights additional online sources to assist your research tasks, both legal and factual, related to federal pretrial civil procedure. Thousands of additional sources are also available on lexis.com [(R)]. The following list highlights frequently used sources and sample search strategies relevant to topics contained in this publication:

REFERENCED CASE LAW SOURCES ON lexis.com [(R)]:

Federal & State Court Cases --After 1944, Combined (see Sample Searches in section 4.02)

To learn about other litigation in which the person or entity was a party, try a NAME segment search of the case law: name (First Name /3 Last Name) (see 4.02)

9th Circuit-US Court of Appeals Cases & Bankruptcy Appellate Panel (see Sample Searches in sections 2.02, 2.84, 16.24)

For appellate decisions on a judge's rulings in a particular procedural setting or on a particular substantive topic, use the HISTORY segment with the judge's last name in this format plus words for finding the specific topic, for example: summary judgment and history (First Name /3 Last Name /3 j or judge or hon!) (see 2.02, 2.84)

For appellate decisions on a magistrate judge's rulings in a particular procedural setting or on a particular substantive topic, use the HISTORY segment with the judge's last name in this format plus words for finding the specific topic, for example: summary judgment and history (First Name /3 Last Name /3 j or judge or hon!) (see 16.24)

REFERENCED TOPICAL, PUBLIC RECORDS, COURT FILINGS AND NEWS SOURCES ON lexis.com [(R)]:

Biographies (see Sample Searches in sections 2.02, 2.75, 2.84, 16.24, 32.02)

For biographical information on a particular judge, use a NAME segment search: name (First Name /3 Last Name) (see 2.02, 2.84)

To find biographical information about a particular ADR practitioner, try this NAME segment search of the Biographies file: name (First Name /3 Last Name) (see 2.75, 32.02)

Sample Search: For biographical information on a particular magistrate judge, use a NAME segment search: name (First Name /3 Last Name) (see 16.24)

Class Actions: Mealey's Litigation Report (see Sample Search in section 20.04)

To track recent issues with regard to class action litigation against pharmaceutical companies, enter the Terms and Connectors search: pharmaceutical and date aft 2003. To save this as a recurrent search in Mealey's Class Action Litigation Report, click the Save As Alert link on the top center of the results screen. Complete the options on the Save LexisNexis(R) Alert dialog box (see 20.04)

Combined State Civil Filings (see Sample Search in sections 4.02, 21.05)

To learn about other litigation in state courts in which the person or entity is a party, try a NAME segment search of the docket filings: name (First Name /3 Last Name) (see 4.02, 21.05)

Combined State Criminal Filings (see section 21.05)

Search within this database for state criminal actions in which a witness was named as a party (see 21.05)

County Demographics (see Sample Search in section 13.04)

Try the following Terms and Connectors search to find demographic information for a particular county: county (orange) and state (cal!) (13.04)

LexisNexis(R) Corporate Affiliations (see Sample Search in sections 4.02, 4.30)

Determine Corporate parent/subsidiary relationships, including directors and officers by searching the Directory of Corporate Affiliations online. A product search may be performed, such as search: brand/business(Tylenol). A company search follows this format: company(lexisnexis) (see 4.02, 4.30)

Electronic Discovery: Mealey's Combined Reports (see Sample Search in section 23.158)

To find current analysis of e-discovery and digital document retention, enter the Terms and Connectors search: electronic or digital or computer! or e-discovery and document or data /3 storage or retention (see 23.158)

Forensic Services Directory (see Sample Search in section 21.05)

To find a California forensic expert in a given speciality, e.g., accident reconstruction, try this SPECIALTY segment search: specialty (accident reconstruction) and ca (see 21.05)

Judicial Staff Directory (see Sample Searches in sections 2.02, 2.84, and 16.24)

For biographical information on a judge currently sitting on a federal bench, use a NAME segment search: name (First Name /3 Last Name) (see 2.02, 2.84)

For biographical information on a magistrate judge currently sitting on a federal bench, use a NAME segment search: name (First Name /3 Last Name) (see 16.24)

Jury Verdicts and Settlements, Combined (see Sample Searches in section 31.04)

To find examples of federal verdicts or settlements in a products liability action involving injuries from a "rollover" accident, try this search: court (united states or u.s.) and product liability and rollover or roll over (see 31.04)

To find examples of federal court verdicts or settlements in a wrongful death action based on misdiagnosis, try this TOPIC segment search: court(united states or u.s.) and topic (wrongful death and misdiagnos! or diagnos!) (see 31.04)

Medline References (see Sample Searches in section 23.190)

To obtain a bibliographic list of medical articles on a particular topic, use the MAJOR-TERMS segment to search the MEDLINE(R) bibliographic database: major-terms (aspartame) (see 23.190)

To obtain a bibliographic list of medical articles by a particular author, enter a Terms & Connectors search, such as: AUTHOR(last name /3 first name) (see 23.190)

News, All (English, Full Text) (see Sample Searches in sections 2.02, 2.75, 2.84, 16.24, 21.05, 32.02)

For news articles on a particular judge, try a simple search: First Name /3 Last Name (see 2.02, 2.84)

To find news articles about an ADR practitioner, search the News, All (English, Full Text) file using this format: First Name /3 Last Name (see 2.75, 32.02)

For news articles on a particular magistrate judge, try a simple search: First Name /3 Last Name (see 16.24)

A search in the format First Name / 3 Last Name can find articles about a person, and using appropriate terms can find articles about events in a number of news publications (see 21.05)

Stock Ownership (see Sample Search in section 21.05)

For information on significant stock holdings, including changes of ownership of public company insiders and investors, search in this database (see 21.05)

US District Courts, Civil Filings (Full Docket) (see Sample Search in sections 4.02, 21.05)

To learn about other litigation in federal courts in which the person or entity is a party, search within this database (see 4.02, 21.05)

US District Courts, Criminal Filings (Full Docket) (see Sample Search in section 21.05)

Search within this database for federal criminal actions in which a witness was named as a party (see 21.05)

What's It Worth? A Guide to Personal Injury Awards and Settlements (see Sample Search in section 31.04)

For a national perspective in helping to assess the damages demand for, e.g., an ankle injury, try an INJURY segment search, such as: injury (brok! or fractur! /2 ankle) (see 31.04)

ZIP Demographics (see Sample Search in section 13.04)

Try the following Terms and Connectors search to find demographic information for a particular ZIP code: zip (92843) (see 13.04)

[5] Search by Topic Links to Related Cases and Analytical Materials

Search by Topic is a finding tool for legal data based on areas of law and related legal topics. It can help target your legal issue, identify appropriate sources, and formulate your search request.

Several Search by Topic areas of law relate to this publication, including Civil Procedure.

This publication is tied to Search by Topic. From the sections of this publication you can search the topics related to the section you are looking at in this publication.

In Search by Topic, you can search within a collection of cases already restricted to the subtopic. You can use Search by Topic as a current awareness case law update device by specifying a date restriction in the search box, e.g., "AND DATE > 2007".

13 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

How To Use lexis.com (R) With This Publication

1- MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA HowTo.03

HowTo.03 Formulating a Search Query on lexis.com [(R)]

[1] Frame Your Search

After you have selected your source, you can use available tables of contents or enter search terms to retrieve relevant documents. This search interface on lexis.com links to tips about structuring your search, search connectors, segment searching and date restrictions.

[2] Develop Your Search Strategy

Identify relevant terms, their variations, synonyms, necessity, proximity, and relationship to your research issue. Your first search should be structured broadly, then results can be narrowed without additional search transactions through Focus[TM] by adding terms to reduce your search results set.

[3] Narrow Your Search

Additional parameters, like Restrict by Segment (field) and Restrict by Date are available. Available Segments are displayed in a drop down box. For example, the NAME segment of a case contains the names of the parties to the action. To research your adversary's litigation history, you can do a NAME segment search in cases and jury verdicts. You can Add the segment restriction, or type this restriction in your search query as: name (Party Name). Targeted results can also be obtained by restricting the search results to documents that have multiple references to a term or phrase by using ATLEAST#. For example, including atleast5 (summary judgment) as a search term will restrict your search results to documents that reference the phrase "summary judgment" a minimum of five times.

[4] Find More Authorities Like This

When you find cases or other documents that are helpful (or hurtful) and you want (or need) to find whether there are other similar materials, you can click the More Like This link at the top of the page. More Like This extracts the relevant search terms for the document you are viewing and gives you the option to use these terms to locate additional materials in the same or a different database. Cases have an additional benefit using More Like This to extract citations from an on point case and use similar citation patterns to locate other cases, treatises or law reviews. Similarly, the More Like Selected Text link at the top of documents can be used to target specific paragraphs or language you highlight in an on-point document to locate similar materials. In case law, More Like This Headnote creates a virtual case law digest online based on the language, law and topic discussed in headnotes.

[5] Keep Current With Alerts

To keep your search results current, update your search results by saving an Alert. From your online search results screen, select Save as Alert link at the top of the screen. You will be given options for how often the search should be run (including daily or weekly) and for how to have the results delivered or a notification sent to you by email.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

How To Use lexis.com (R) With This Publication

1- MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA HowTo.04

HowTo.04 Shepardize[(R)] to Validate Your Results and as a Research Tool

Shepardize[(R)] the cases that you intend to cite to be sure that they are still good law. Additionally, Shepard's can be used as a case finding and research tool to lead you to other cases, statutes, treatises and authority on a given issue. You can FOCUS within a Shepard's report on particular terms or phrases. Additionally, the Custom Restrictions link at the top of the Shepard's report allows you to narrow results by jurisdiction, date and/or headnote restriction. Use the Shepard's Signals to help you analyze validity and subsequent treatment of the case. CheckCite is a free software program to automate Shepardizing your brief or cases, and streamlines the cite checking process for briefs, motions, research, and prior to hearings.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.syn

§ 1.syn Synopsis to Chapter 1: Litigation Milestone Checklists

1.01 Scope.

1.02 CHECKLIST: Steps to Take Before Filing a Lawsuit.

1.03 CHECKLIST: Determining Basis for Bringing Action in Federal Court.

1.04 CHECKLIST: Plaintiff's Next Steps Upon Filing Lawsuit.

1.05 CHECKLIST: Defendant's Answer and Initial Response Under Rule 12.

1.06 CHECKLIST: Defendant's Steps to Remove Case to Federal Court.

1.07 CHECKLIST: Plaintiff's Responses.

1.08 CHECKLIST: Case Management Process.

1.09 CHECKLIST: Pretrial Motions and Steps Initiated by Plaintiff.

1.10 CHECKLIST: Defendant's Responses to Pretrial Motions and Steps Initiated by Plaintiff.

1.11 CHECKLIST: Additional Pretrial Motions and Steps That May Be Initiated by Defendant.

1.12 CHECKLIST: Plaintiff's Responses to Pretrial Motions and Steps Initiated by Defendant.

16 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
I. SCOPE

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.01

1.01 Scope.

This chapter provides an outline of procedures that should be followed in the pretrial phases of a civil action filed in federal district court. This chapter covers civil actions generally. The chapter is intended as an overview of the pretrial steps leading up to trial, and makes extensive cross references to other chapters where each step or procedure is covered in detail.

The chapter begins with a checklist of considerations and steps before the plaintiff files a lawsuit, including gathering information, interviewing the client, establishing the attorney-client relationship, and determining a course of action [see 1.02]. This is followed by a section on determining the basis for federal jurisdiction over the action [see 1.03], and a checklist for the plaintiff's next steps, including filing and serving the summons and complaint and preparing for the Rule 26(f) conference and initial disclosures [see 1.04]. The defendant's steps in answering and/or responding under Rule 12 are listed next, as well as preparing for the Rule 26(f) conference and initial disclosures [see 1.05], followed by a checklist for the defendant to remove the action from state to federal court [see 1.06]. This is followed by steps the plaintiff can take to reply to the defendant's response, including moving for a default judgment, defeating removal, and remanding to state court if appropriate [see 1.07].

Pretrial procedures are covered including case management steps for both parties [see 1.08], pretrial motions and steps initiated by the plaintiff such as summary judgment [see 1.09], and the defendant's response to these pretrial steps including setting aside a default, opposing summary judgment, and filing a cross-motion for summary judgment [see 1.10]. Additional pretrial actions initiated by the defendant are covered including moving for summary judgment and impleading a third party [see 1.11]. Finally, the plaintiff's response to pretrial motions initiated by the defendant is discussed, including responses to defenses and opposing summary judgment [see 1.12].

Warning:

Always check judges' individual standing orders and district courts' local rules to determine whether a specific or different procedure applies in a particular situation, particularly as to the timing of events.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureJurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
II. FIRST STEPS IN FILING OR RESPONDING TO A LAWSUIT

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.02

1.02 CHECKLIST: Steps to Take Before Filing a Lawsuit.

☐ Gather initial facts from potential client.

☐ Perform conflicts check.

Cross Reference:

Attorney conflict of interest rules, see 30 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 808, Conflicts of Interest (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

☐ Review costs and risks of representing client in litigation.

○ Can client afford to pay attorney fees and costs?

○ Is case strong enough to take on contingency fee basis?

○ Are you knowledgeable enough in federal law and procedure to competently proceed in federal court?

○ Are you knowledgeable enough in area of law to competently handle case?

○ Will case occupy too much time for you to afford to take it on a contingency fee basis?

- If contingency fee arrangement, is client able to pay out of pocket costs?
- Is client credible?
- Will client make a good witness?
- Has client been interviewed by other attorneys who would not take case?
- Has client been represented by another attorney? If so, determine reasons for change of counsel.
- How settled is the area of law on which plaintiff's claim is based?
- What are nature and extent of client's injuries and anticipated range of recovery versus time and expense associated with achieving a successful outcome?
- Is the basis for filing in federal court clear?

☐ Consider how representation will impact existing clients or developed practice niche (e.g., likelihood of need to take position that will be negatively perceived by other clients, such as representing plaintiff in Title VII employment action when practice traditionally has been management-oriented).

☐ Decide on fee arrangement with client:

- If hourly fee, try to obtain advance fee (or retainer) from client.
- If contingency fee, determine if client can pay costs as they are incurred.
- Prepare and have client execute retention letter.

Cross Reference:

Fee agreements, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Pretrial Civil Procedure, § 3.16.

☐ Identify potential claims for relief and applicable statutes of limitation, including:

- Any claim period if public entity is potential defendant.
- Any claim period if person who would be potential defendant is deceased.
- Any claim period for making a claim or providing notice in a relevant insurance policy or other contract.

- Any shortened period of limitation imposed by insurance policy or contract.

☐ Determine whether dispute is or may be within scope of an arbitration agreement [see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.74-2.82].

☐ Verify plaintiff's capacity to bring action [see Ch. 4, Determining Parties to the Action, 4.20 -4.40]:

- If entity, is entity qualified or suspended?
- If entity, is entity bankrupt?
- If plaintiff is transacting business under a fictitious name, has plaintiff filed fictitious business name statement?
- Is next friend or guardian ad litem required [see Fed R Civ P 17(c)]?
- Is there a statutorily created capacity to sue, such as under federal Civil Rights Act [see 42 USC § 1983]?

☐ Can attorney's fees be recovered from the opposing party?

- If contract is involved, check for attorney's fee clause.
- Determine if attorney's fees can be recovered from opposing party as pretrial sanctions [see Fed R Civ P 11, 26(g)].
- Determine if statutory attorney's fee award is available.

Cross Reference:

Availability of statutory attorney's fee award, see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 54.170 -54.174 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

☐ Investigate potential defendants [see Ch. 4, Determining Parties to the Action, 4.20 -4.40].

- Identify.
- Determine whether any are judgment-proof.
- If an entity, does entity have capacity to defend suit?

- If a public entity, are there sovereign immunity issues?

☐ Consider prospect of prompting defendant to countersue.

☐ In considering out-of-state defendants, understand the forum state's long-arm jurisdiction statute, as well as whether a relevant federal statute or rule provides for national service [see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.31-2.41].

☐ Further investigate facts of the case, including:

- Comprehensive interview with client.
- Thorough review and analysis of client documents, including:
  - ☐ Any correspondence between the parties.
  - ☐ Written statements made by the parties to third parties.
- Witness interviews.

☐ Do witnesses verify client's version of event?

☐ Will key witnesses be available to testify at trial?

- View publicly accessible sites.
- Gather publicly available documents.
- Ensure protection of tangible evidence in hands of third parties.
- If action cannot presently be brought, engage in prefiling discovery or take other steps to perpetuate testimony or preserve evidence [Fed R Civ P 27; see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.03-23.12].

☐ Verify claims for relief to be pursued.

- Review jury instructions and reported district court cases for claims for relief, and perform legal research to determine what proof is needed.

☐ Consider all potential affirmative defenses defendant may assert [see 1.05; see also Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8.10].

☐ Satisfy any claim prerequisites, such as:

- ○ Government claims.
- ○ Claims against decedents' estates.
- ○ Insurance claims.
- ○ Claims against bankrupt estates.
- ○ Exhaust any administrative remedies.

Cross Reference:

Claims requirements under Federal Tort Claims Act, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 105.26 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

☐ Determine if there is a reason the federal district court may decline jurisdiction [see 1.03; see also Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.03 et seq.].

☐ Identify forum [see 1.03; see also Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.48 et seq.].

- ○ Contractual arbitration:
  - ☐ To be pursued.
  - ☐ To be resisted.
- ○ Action in state or federal court:
  - ☐ In which county or federal district?
  - ☐ In which courthouse?
- ○ Existence of forum selection clause in contract or government policy.

☐ If the dispute involves an out-of-state defendant, consider [see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.31 et seq.]:

- ○ Whether the defendant's contacts with the state are systematic and continuous, supporting general personal jurisdiction.

- Whether the defendant's minimum contacts with the forum are purposeful, such that it is reasonable to expect the defendant to be hailed into court in that state, supporting specific jurisdiction.

☐ Identify any related cases [see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.26-2.30].

- Continuing obligation to advise court while case is pending.

☐ Draft summons and complaint [see Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint].

Warning:

Filing the signed complaint certifies that, among other things, to the best of the attorney's knowledge, information, and belief, the allegations and other factual contentions have evidentiary support, or are likely to have evidentiary support after a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery [Fed R Civ P 11(b)(3)]. A falsely certified complaint can result in imposition of sanctions under Rule 11 [Fed R Civ P 11(c); see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions].

☐ Fill out the civil cover sheet and cover page, if required by local rules [see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, 5.05].

☐ Determine if TRO should be requested to protect status quo [see Ch. 19, Preliminary Injunctions, TROs, and Other Provisional Remedies, 19.03[3], 19.09].

Timing:

File the TRO with the summons and complaint or anytime thereafter. A TRO granted without notice to the adverse party can be valid for up to 14 days [Fed R Civ P 65(b)].

☐ Determine whether seizure of person or property should be requested to secure satisfaction of judgment ultimately to be entered [Fed R Civ P 64; see Ch. 19, Preliminary Injunctions, TROs, and Other Provisional Remedies, 19.02[2], 19.37 -19.77].

Timing:

File request with summons and complaint or anytime thereafter [Fed R Civ P 64].

☐ If action concerns real property, consider filing notice of pendency of action in county recorder's office where property is situated.

Cross Reference:

California law on availability and procedure for lis pendens, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Pretrial Civil Procedure, Ch. 21, Lis Pendens.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
II. FIRST STEPS IN FILING OR RESPONDING TO A LAWSUIT

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.03

1.03 CHECKLIST: Determining Basis for Bringing Action in Federal Court.

☐ Determine if justiciability requirements are met [US Const, art III, § 2; see SEC v. Medical Comm. for Human Rights (1972) 404 US 403, 407, 92 S Ct 577, 30 L Ed2d 560].

- ○ There is a concrete, substantial case or controversy.
- ○ The parties have adverse legal interests.
- ○ The plaintiff has standing to sue.
- ○ The action is not moot.
- ○ The time is ripe for the court to consider the claim.
- ○ The action does not involve a political question between different government branches.

☐ Determine if the federal court will decline to exercise jurisdiction under the abstention doctrine to prevent federal interference with pending state proceedings [Hawaii Hous. Auth. v. Midkiff (1984) 467 US 229, 236, 104 S Ct 2321, 81 L Ed2d 186].

☐ Determine if there is Eleventh Amendment limitation to federal court jurisdiction [US Const, amend

XI; see Edelman v. Jordan (1974) 415 US 651, 668, 94 S Ct 1347, 39 L Ed2d 662].

○ The proceeding is an action against a state by one of its citizens or a citizen of another state.

○ The entity being sued is entitled to immunity.

○ Claims under federal statutes may override Eleventh Amendment immunity.

○ Congress may be able to override Eleventh Amendment immunity.

☐ Determine if federal court will decline jurisdiction in family law or probate case [Ankenbrandt v. Richards (1992) 504 US 689, 703, 112 S Ct 2206, 119 L Ed2d 468].

☐ Determine if federal question jurisdiction exists [28 USC § 1331].

○ The claim arises under the U.S. Constitution, statutes, or treaties, or under federal common law.

○ The federal element in a state law claim is important enough to justify federal jurisdiction.

○ The federal question can be determined from the face of the complaint.

○ A state law cause of action is preempted by federal law.

☐ Determine if diversity jurisdiction exists [28 USC § 1332].

○ The amount in controversy exceeds $75,000.

○ The citizenship of all plaintiffs is diverse from the citizenship of each defendant.

○ Determine the domicile of each party at the time the suit is filed.

Consider:

Diversity is determined by the domicile, not the residence, of each party [Kanter v. Warner-Lambert Co. (9th Cir 2001) 265 F3d 853, 857]. There are special factors to consider in the case of diversity jurisdiction involving corporations and partnerships, which may have offices, officers, directors, principals, and partners in different states. For example, corporations are deemed citizens of both their state of incorporation and the state where their principal place of business is located [28 USC § 1332(c); see United Computer Sys., Inc. v. AT&T Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 756, 763]. A general or limited partnership is deemed to have the citizenship of each of its general partners and limited partners [see Carden v. Arkoma Assocs. (1990) 494 US 185, 197, 110 S Ct 1015, 108 L Ed2d 157].

- Determine if any factors, such as status as class action or derivative action, affect diversity.

☐ Determine if basis for class action exists [Fed R Civ P 23].

☐ Determine if exclusive federal jurisdiction exists in one of following areas, among others:

- Admiralty jurisdiction [US Const, art III, § 2; 28 USC § 1333; Executive Jet Aviation, Inc. v. City of Cleveland (1972) 409 US 249, 268, 93 S Ct 493, 34 L Ed2d 454].
- Bankruptcy jurisdiction [28 USC § 1334].
- Antitrust jurisdiction [28 USC § 1337].
- Patent, copyright, and plant-protection jurisdiction [28 USC § 1338].
- Actions for environmental damage brought under CERCLA [42 USC § 9613(b)].
- Pension benefits actions arising under ERISA [29 USC § 1132].

Cross Reference:

Complete discussion of exclusive federal jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see § 2.08[2].

☐ Determine if concurrent federal jurisdiction exists in one of following principal areas of litigation:

- Civil rights actions [28 USC § 1343].
- Suits arising under act of Congress regulating interstate commerce or protecting trade and commerce against restraints and monopolies [28 USC § 1337].
- Suits arising under trademark laws [28 USC § 1338(b)].
- Suits arising under laws relating to post office [28 USC § 1339].
- Certain specific actions against United States [28 USC §§ 1346(a), (d), 1491] including tort claims [28 USC § 1346(b)].
- Pension benefits actions arising under ERISA [29 USC § 1132].

Cross Reference:

Complete discussion of concurrent federal jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see § 2.08[1].

☐ Determine basis for supplemental jurisdiction [see 28 USC § 1367; Owen Equip. & Erection Co. v. Kroger (1978) 437 US 365, 375-376, 98 S Ct 2396, 57 L Ed2d 274].

○ The supplemental claim is so related to the main claim as to be part of the same case or controversy.

○ In its discretion, the court may decline jurisdiction of supplemental claim if it is novel or predominant, or if the main claim has been dismissed.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of bases of supplemental federal court jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.26 -2.30.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJusticiabilityGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionJurisdictional SourcesConstitutional SourcesCivil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAbstentionCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsSovereign ImmunityState Immunity

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
II. FIRST STEPS IN FILING OR RESPONDING TO A LAWSUIT

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.04

1.04 CHECKLIST: Plaintiff's Next Steps Upon Filing Lawsuit.

☐ File complaint and have summons issued [see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, 5.24 -5.25].

Warning:

Particularly check local rules as to the details of filing and service.

Timing:

It is crucial to file the complaint within the applicable limitations period.

☐ Serve summons and complaint, generally within 120 days after filing the complaint [see Ch. 7, Service of Summons, 7.03 -7.07].

Warning:

Failure to meet this deadline, without court approval of an extension, can result in dismissal of the action [Fed R Civ P 4(m)].

☐ Consider whether voluntary mediation or arbitration could be beneficial.

☐ Be prepared to discuss possibility of court annexed mediation or other form of ADR [see Ch. 32, Court Annexed ADR; see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 16-8].

○ Check local rules for details on the court's ADR program for civil actions.

☐ Determine whether to consent to leave case with magistrate judge, if one is assigned to case on filing [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 3-3, 72-1].

☐ At least 21 days before a scheduling conference is held or a scheduling order is due under Fed R Civ P 16(b), prepare for and attend the initial discovery conference [Fed R Civ P 26(f); see Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures, 15.03-15.14].

☐ Within 14 days of initial discovery conference, make mandatory initial disclosures [Fed R Civ P 26(a); see Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures, 15.15-15.26].

☐ Prepare discovery plan and file with the court within 14 days after discovery conference [Fed R Civ P 26(a); see Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures, 15.17-15.26].

☐ Commence early discovery after Rule 26(f) conference.

Timing:

Except for perpetuation of testimony under Fed R Civ P 26 or mandatory initial disclosures, or except by agreement or order, a party may not seek discovery from any source before the parties have conferred as required by Fed R Civ P 26(f) [Fed R Civ P 26(d)]. To take an oral or written deposition, a party must first give written notice to every other party in the action [Fed R Civ P 30(b), 31(a)(3); see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.29].

☐ Determine if costs and attorney's fees can be recovered from opposing party for unsuccessful discovery motion [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5)].

☐ Determine if attorney's fees can be recovered because opposing party willfully abused judicial process [see 28 USC § 1927].

☐ If seeking jury trial, serve jury demand within 14 days after service of last pleading addressing the issues as to which a jury trial is demanded [Fed R Civ P 38(b); see Ch. 13, Demanding a Jury Trial, 13.05, 13.06].

☐ For the plaintiff, the "last pleading" will normally be the complaint, or if a crossclaim or counterclaim is filed, the reply.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofCertificatesCivil ProcedurePleading &

PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
II. FIRST STEPS IN FILING OR RESPONDING TO A LAWSUIT

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.05

1.05 CHECKLIST: Defendant's Answer and Initial Response Under Rule 12.

☐ Review complaint.

Timing:

Calendar time for response to complaint, generally 21 days after service of summons and complaint [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(1)(A)(i)].

☐ Gather additional initial facts from potential client.

☐ Perform conflicts check.

Cross Reference:

Attorney conflict of interest rules, see 30 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 808, Conflicts of Interest (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

☐ Review costs and risks of representing client in litigation.

○ Can client afford to pay attorney fees and costs?

○ Are you knowledgeable enough in federal law and procedure to competently proceed in federal court?

- Are you knowledgeable enough in area of law to competently handle case?
- Is client credible?
- Will client make a good witness?
- Has client been interviewed by other attorneys who would not take case?
- Has client been represented by another attorney? If so, determine reasons for change of counsel.
- How settled is the area of law on which plaintiff's claim is based?
- Is the basis for filing in federal court clear?

☐ Consider how representation will impact existing clients or developed practice niche.

☐ If contract is involved, check for attorney's fee clause.

☐ Decide on fee arrangement with client.

- If hourly fee, try to obtain advance fee (or retainer) from client.
- Prepare and have client execute retention letter.

Cross Reference:

Fee agreements, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Pretrial Civil Procedure, § 3.16.

☐ Determine whether defendant has the capacity to defend the action [see Ch. 4, Determining Parties to the Action, 4.20 -4.40].

- If entity, is entity suspended?
- Is guardian ad litem required?

☐ Determine whether dispute is or may be within scope of an arbitration agreement.

☐ Further investigate the facts of the case, including:

- Obtain all relevant documents in the client's possession, including:

- [ ] Any correspondence between the parties.
- [ ] Written statements made by the parties to others.
- [ ] Insurance policies.
- [ ] Electronically stored information.

- Witness interviews.
  - [ ] Do witnesses verify client's version of event?
  - [ ] Will key witnesses be available to testify at trial?
- View publicly accessible sites.
- Gather publicly available documents.
- Ensure protection of tangible evidence in hands of third parties.

Cross Reference:

Informal investigation and management of documents, see Ch. 21, Discovery Strategy and Planning, see § 21.05.

- [ ] After investigation, determine whether to implead any third party based on liability that is derivative of, or secondary to, that of defendant [Fed R Civ P 14; see Ch. 12, Third-Party Actions, 12.03 -12.10].
- [ ] Notify insurance carrier if there is any potential for coverage under any of client's insurance policies.
- [ ] If action was filed in state court, consider possible advantages of removal of the action to federal court [see 1.06].
  - Advantage from federal rules.
  - Advantage from local federal rules.
  - Easier access to interlocutory appeals in federal court.
  - Congested state court docket that will delay trial.
  - Different ADR procedures in federal court.

- Easier venue transfers in federal court.
- Favorable interpretation in federal court of unclear state law.
- Prospect of assignment to single judge for all purposes.
- Availability of limitation on punitive damages.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of removal, see Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court, see §§ 3.03 -3.15.

☐ On receiving pleading, determine when response is required [see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8 .05].

- If no period is specified by statute, defendant must normally serve an answer or Rule 12 motion within 21 days of service of the complaint [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(1)(A)(i)].
- If a statutory period is specified, respond within that period [see Fed R Civ P 12(a)(1)].
- If defendant is a federal agency or officer, or a foreign state, serve an answer or response within 60 days of service of the complaint [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(2), (3); 28 USC § 1608(d)].
- If defendant timely waived service of process on plaintiff's request, serve an answer or response within 60 days after the request for a waiver was sent [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(1)(A)(ii)].
- If responding to an amended complaint, respond within 14 days after amended complaint is served or within time remaining to respond to original complaint, whichever is longer [Fed R Civ P 15(a)(3)].
- If making a preanswer Rule 12 motion, serve the responsive pleading within 14 days of any of the following [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(4)]:

  ☐ Receiving notice that the court has denied the Rule 12 motion, denied it in part, or postponed its disposition until trial.

  ☐ Service of the more definite statement, if the court has granted a motion for a more definite statement.

  ☐ Service of the amended pleading, if instead of dismissing the complaint, the court permits the plaintiff to amend the pleading.

- Determine whether the time period is extended [Fed R Civ P 6(a), (d)].
  - ☐ If the pleading was served by mail, add three days to the applicable period.
  - ☐ If the pleading was served to the clerk of the court based on no known address, add three days to the applicable period.
  - ☐ If service is made by electronic or other means consented to in writing under Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(E) or (F), add three days to the applicable period.
  - ☐ If the time period ends on Saturday, Sunday, or a legal holiday, extend the time period to the first day that is not a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday.
  - ☐ If the period for responding is less than 11 days, Saturdays, Sundays, and legal holidays within that period are not counted as part of the period.
- If a response cannot be made within the prescribed time period, request the court to grant additional time for responding [Fed R Civ P 6(b); see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, 26.35].

☐ After reviewing complaint and summons, decide whether to file answer or to file Rule 12 motion, considering response periods above [see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8.03-8.05]. Rule 12 motions include:

- Motion to dismiss for [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)]:
  - ☐ Lack of subject matter jurisdiction.
  - ☐ Lack of personal jurisdiction.
  - ☐ Improper venue.
  - ☐ Insufficiency of process or service of process.
  - ☐ Failure to state a claim on which relief can be granted.

Trap:

In bringing a motion based on failure to state a claim under Rule 12(b)(6), if material outside the pleadings is presented, the moving party risks of having the motion converted into a motion for summary judgment under Rule 56. The danger in having that occur is that the moving party may then be precluded from bringing a motion for summary judgment later in the case when that party has assembled more evidence in support of the motion [Fed R Civ P 12(b)(6)].

☐ Failure to join a required party under Fed R Civ P 19.

○ Motion for judgment on the pleadings [see Fed R Civ P 12(c)].

○ Motion for more definite statement [see Fed R Civ P 12(e)].

○ Motion to strike [see Fed R Civ P 12(f)].

☐ Note that Rule 12(b) defenses (e.g., insufficiency of service of process) can be raised in the answer [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)].

☐ If asserting Rule 12 defenses by motion, join all available Rule 12 defenses in single motion [Fed R Civ P 12(g)]. Note that:

○ Failure to include some Rule 12 defense, or objection in a Rule 12 motion prevents later making that same defense or objection [Fed R Civ P 12(g), (h)(1)].

○ Lack of subject matter jurisdiction, failure to state a claim on which relief can be granted, failure to join an indispensable party, and failure to state a legal defense to a claim are so fundamental that they are not waived if omitted from a Rule 12(b) motion of other responsive pleading, and can be asserted at any time [Fed R Civ P 12(g), (h)(2), (3)].

○ Venue decisions are interlocutory orders and cannot normally be reviewed until the end of the action. In rare cases a writ of mandate may be effective for review [see 28 USC § 1651(a)].

☐ If complaint is so vague or ambiguous that defendant cannot reasonably be required to frame a responsive pleading from it, consider filing a Rule 12 motion for a more definite statement [Fed R Civ P 12(e)].

☐ If complaint contains an insufficient defense or any redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or scandalous matter, consider filing motion to strike [Fed R Civ P 12(f)].

☐ If Rule 12 motion to dismiss is denied, note that the denial is not considered final, and thus is not immediately appealable [Gulfstream Aerospace Corp. v. Mayacamas Corp. (1988) 485 US 271, 287, 108 S Ct 1133, 99 L Ed2d 296].

☐ Determine whether suitable alternative forum for trial exists, or whether contract in dispute between the parties contains forum selection clause directing use of different forum [see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.48-2.60]. If so:

○ Prepare and file motion to transfer to a district where the action might have been brought for the convenience of parties and witnesses [28 USC § 1404(a)].

○ Prepare and file motion to transfer to any district where the action could have been brought if venue is improper [28 USC § 1406(a)].

Timing:

Although there is no mention in the transfer statutes about the timing of the motion, it should be made early in the action to avoid waiver.

○ Prepare and file motion to coordinate or consolidate pretrial proceedings in complex case subject to multidistrict litigation [28 USC § 1407].

Timing:

These motions must be filed under the same timetable as Rule 12 motions, covered above.

☐ Request a hearing on the Rule 12 motion. The court must conduct a hearing on request, but may defer the hearing until trial [Fed R Civ P 12(i)].

☐ If Rule 12 motion is denied, prepare and file answer. If motion to strike part of complaint is granted, file answer to remaining portions of complaint [see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8 .23-8.26].

Timing:

If the court denies a Rule 12 motion or postpones its disposition until trial on the merits, the answer must be served within 14 days after notice of the court's action [see Fed R Civ P 12(a)(4)].

☐ Prepare answer [see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8 .06-8.13].

○ Review each allegation of complaint with defendant to determine which facts and claims are untrue.

○ If appropriate, make general denial, being mindful of Rule 11 certification, making attorney subject to sanctions for violation [Fed R Civ P 8(b), 11(b), (c)].

○ More commonly, make specific denials, because it is rare that every averment in the complaint, including jurisdiction, is subject to a general denial [Fed R Civ P 8(b)(3)].

Warning:

Note that averments in a complaint to which a response is required, other than the amount of damages, are admitted if not denied in the responsive pleading [Fed R Civ P 8(b)(6)].

○ Identify and include potential defenses and affirmative defenses including, among others, the following [Fed R Civ P 8(c)]:

☐ Failure to state a claim.

- ☐ Statute of limitations.
- ☐ Laches.
- ☐ Res judicata/collateral estoppel.
- ☐ Assumption of risk.
- ☐ Contributory or comparative fault.
- ☐ Actions of others.
- ☐ Unclean hands.
- ☐ Waiver.
- ☐ Estoppel.
- ☐ Immunity.
- ☐ Privilege.
- ☐ Statute of frauds.
- ☐ Accord and satisfaction.
- ☐ Rescission.
- ☐ Discharge.
- ☐ Release.
- ☐ Duress.

Warning:
Failure to plead an affirmative defense usually results in its waiver.

○ Determine whether any information collected from client constitutes a basis for counterclaim or crossclaim against any plaintiff or co-defendant [Fed R Civ P 13; see Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies, 11.03

-11.43].

☐ If so, file counterclaim against a plaintiff in a responsive pleading, generally the answer [Fed R Civ P 7, 13(a)-(e),].

Warning:

Compulsory and permissive counterclaims are subject to different pleading requirements, chiefly that compulsory claims must be asserted, or are lost [see Fed R Civ P 13(a), (b)].

☐ If so, include crossclaim against a co-defendant in the answer [Fed R Civ P 13(g)].

☐ If the defendant mistakenly designates a defense as a counterclaim or a counterclaim as a defense, the court may treat the pleading as if there had been a proper designation [Fed R Civ P 8(c)].

☐ File and serve answer, generally within 21 days of service of the complaint [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(1)(A)(i); see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8.13].

☐ After filing answer and pleadings are closed, determine whether to file Rule 12 motion for judgment on the pleadings because no material factual issue remains, and defendant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law [Fed R Civ P 12(c)].

○ If so, prepare and file motion within time period specified above.

○ If matters outside the pleadings are presented to, and not excluded by the court, the motion will be treated as a motion for summary judgment under Fed R Civ P 56 [Fed R Civ P 12(c)].

☐ Determine whether to consent to leave case with magistrate judge, if one is assigned to case [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 3-3, 72-1].

☐ At least 21 days before a scheduling conference is held or a scheduling order is due under Fed R Civ P 16(b), prepare for and attend the initial discovery conference [Fed R Civ P 26(f)].

Cross Reference:

Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures, §§ 15.03- 15 .14.

☐ Within 14 days of initial discovery conference, make mandatory initial disclosures [Fed R Civ P 26(a)].

☐ Prepare discovery plan and file with the court within 14 days after discovery conference [Fed R Civ P 26(a)].

☐ Within 14 days of initial discovery conference, make mandatory initial disclosures [Fed R Civ P 26(a)].

☐ Prepare discovery plan and file with the court within 14 days after discovery conference [Fed R Civ P 26(a)].

☐ Commence early discovery after Rule 26(f) conference [see Ch. 15, Rule 26(f) Conference and Initial Disclosures].

Timing:

Except for perpetuation of testimony under Fed R Civ P 27 or mandatory initial disclosures under Fed R Civ P 26(a), or except by agreement or order, a party may not seek discovery from any source before the parties have conferred as required by Fed R Civ P 26(f) [Fed R Civ P 26(d)]. To take an oral or written deposition, a party must first give written notice to every other party in the action [Fed R Civ P 30(b), 31(a)(3); see Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery, 23.29].

☐ Determine if costs and attorney's fees can be recovered from opposing party for unsuccessful discovery motion [see Fed R Civ P 37(a)(5); see Ch. 25, Motions to Compel and Discovery Sanctions, 25.16 -25.20].

☐ Determine if attorney's fees can be recovered because opposing party willfully abused judicial process [see 28 USC § 1927; see Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions, 34.03 -34.11].

☐ If seeking jury trial, serve jury demand within 14 days after service of last pleading addressing the issues as to which a jury trial is demanded [Fed R Civ P 38(b); see Ch. 13, Demanding a Jury Trial, 13.06].

Strategic Point

--Defendant: For the defendant, the "last pleading" will normally be the answer.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsDenialsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsFailures to State ClaimsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsMotions to DismissCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
II. FIRST STEPS IN FILING OR RESPONDING TO A LAWSUIT

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.06

1.06 CHECKLIST: Defendant's Steps to Remove Case to Federal Court.

☐ If plaintiff has filed the action in state court, determine whether removal to federal court is desirable [see 1.05].

☐ Determine whether removal of the action from state to federal court is possible. Consider the following [see Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court, 3.03 -3.15]:

- ○ Was the case originally filed in state court?
- ○ Is there federal question jurisdiction or diversity jurisdiction?
- ○ Will all defendants join in removal? If not, is the case a class action qualifying for removal by any defendant without the consent of all defendants [see 28 USC § 1453(b)]?
- ○ Can the petition for removal be timely filed?
- ○ Do specific removal statutes apply?
- ○ Is there a valid forum selection clause?
- ○ Have defendants already submitted to state court jurisdiction?

☐ Key test for removal is whether the case could have been brought in federal court originally [see 28 USC § 1441].

☐ Prepare and file notice of removal in the federal district court for the district and division in which the state action is pending [28 USC § 1446(a)].

○ Indicate that requirements for federal jurisdiction are met, based on one or more of the following [see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.03-2.25]:

☐ Federal question jurisdiction [28 USC § 1331].

☐ Diversity jurisdiction [28 USC § 1332].

☐ Special removal statute [28 USC § 1442 et seq.].

○ Sign notice [28 USC § 1446(a); Fed R Civ P 11].

Timing:

The notice of removal must be filed within 30 days of receipt of a pleading that demonstrates a basis for removal [28 USC § 1446(b)].

☐ Include copies of all papers, pleadings, and orders served on the removing defendant in the state court proceeding [28 USC § 1446(a)].

☐ Draft a notice of related cases, if applicable.

☐ Join all defendants in the notice of removal [Hanrick v. Hanrick (1894) 153 US 192, 197, 14 S Ct 835, 837, 38 L Ed 685].

Warning:

Failure to join all defendants in the notice of removal, and the failure of any defendant to join in the notice, precludes removal [28 USC § 1446(a); Chicago, Rock Island & Pac. Ry. v. Martin (1900) 178 US 245, 248, 20 S Ct 854, 44 L Ed 1055].

Exception:

Multi-state mass actions and class actions may be removable without the consent of all defendants [28 USC § 1453(b)]

☐ Provide notice of filing to all adverse parties [28 USC § 1446(d)].

☐ File notice of removal with state court clerk [28 USC § 1446(d)].

Cross Reference:

Procedure for removal, see Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court, see §§ 3.16 -3.20.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalElementsFederal VenueCivil ProcedureRemovalElementsRemovabilityCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
II. FIRST STEPS IN FILING OR RESPONDING TO A LAWSUIT

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.07

1.07 CHECKLIST: Plaintiff's Responses.

☐ Determine whether removal can be prevented by one of following [see Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court, 3.03[2]]:

- ○ Avoid raising any claims under federal law in complaint, to prevent federal question jurisdiction.
- ○ Join legitimate nondiverse local defendants to prevent diversity jurisdiction.
- ○ Demand less than $75,000 jurisdictional threshold amount in diversity case.
- ○ Serve defendant least likely to remove first and stagger service thereafter to other defendants.
- ○ If action is multi-state mass action or class action, file the action in state court of a state in which two-thirds or more of the proposed plaintiff class and the primary defendants are citizens [see 28 USC § 1332(d)(4)(B)].

☐ If plaintiff originally brought the action in state court and defendant removed it to federal court, if appropriate, prepare and file notice of motion for order remanding the removed action to state court on one of the following grounds [28 USC § 1447(c); see Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court, 3.23 -3.26]:

- Lack of subject matter jurisdiction.
- Error in removal procedure.
- District court must, or should exercise discretion to, decline jurisdiction over class action.

Timing:

Remand based on lack of subject matter jurisdiction may be brought at any time. Remand based on an error in the removal procedure must be brought within 30 days of the filing of the notice of removal [28 USC § 1447(c)]. Nonstatutory grounds for remand include abstention and interpretation of a forum selection clause [see Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court, 3.26[2]].

Warning:

Remand orders are generally not appealable [Bish v. Brady-Hamilton Stevedore Co. (9th Cir 1989), 880 F2d 1135, 1137].

Exceptions:

While remand orders are generally not appealable [see 28 USC § 1447(d)], two key exceptions exist. First, an order remanding a civil rights case is reviewable by appeal [28 USC § 1447(d); see 28 USC § 1443]. Second, an order granting or denying a motion to remand a qualified class action is appealable if the application is made to the court of appeals within ten days after entry of the order [see 28 USC § 1453(c)].

☐ Determine whether defendant is in default for having failed to plead or otherwise defend by serving an answer to a complaint or crossclaim, or a reply to a counterclaim within the applicable time period [Fed R Civ P 55(a); see Ch. 27, Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default, 27.04].

Timing:

Generally the defendant must have served the answer within 21 days after service of the summons and complaint (60 days if service was waived) [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(1)(A)]. The time for an answer to a crossclaim or a reply to a counterclaim is 21 days [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(1)(B)].

☐ Determine if opposing party is guilty of misconduct that warrants entry of default judgment as sanction [see Fed R Civ P 55(a)].

☐ Prepare and file written application requesting entry of default, attaching affidavits or declarations and other documents, as needed.

☐ To support entry of default, affidavits and declarations must show all of the following [Fed R Civ P 4, 55(a)]:

- Defaulting party was properly served with summons and complaint.

- Nondefaulting party has not been served with a responsive pleading or motion.
- Defaulting party's time to respond has expired.

Cross Reference:

Coverage of default, see Ch. 27, Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default, see §§ 27.03 -27.17.

☐ Plaintiff may respond to defendant's answer by [see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8 .23-8.29]:

- Filing and serving a motion for judgment on the pleadings [Fed R Civ P 12(c)].
- Filing and serving a motion for a more definite statement [Fed R Civ P 12(e)].
- Filing and serving a motion to strike part or all of the answer [Fed R Civ P 12(f)].

☐ Plaintiff may respond to defendant's Rule 12 motion by:

- Filing and serving opposition papers.
- Voluntarily dismissing the action and refiling it when the defect can be cured [Fed R Civ P 41(a); see Ch. 30, Voluntary Dismissal].
- Amending the complaint to correct the defect [Fed R Civ P 15(a); see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings, 9.03 -9.14].

☐ Consider requesting a hearing on the Rule 12 motion. The court must conduct a hearing on request, but may defer the hearing until trial [Fed R Civ P 12(i)].

☐ Plaintiff may respond to a crossclaim by [see Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies, 11.44 -11.51]:

- Filing and serving motion to dismiss [Fed R Civ P 12(b)].
- Raising Rule 12(b) defenses in answer [Fed R Civ P 12(b)].
- Raising all compulsory counterclaims.
- Moving to sever crossclaim [Fed R Civ P 13(i)].
- Filing and serving an answer to the crossclaim.

Timing:

Serve the answer to a pleading containing crossclaims within 21 days after being served [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(1)(B)].

☐ Plaintiff should respond to a counterclaim by [see Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies, 11.44-11.51]:

○ Replying only to counterclaims denominated as such (there is no requirement to reply to affirmative defenses) [Fed R Civ P 7(a)].

○ Limiting response to allegations contained in counterclaim [Fed R Civ P 7(a)].

○ Preserving jurisdictional defenses [Fed R Civ P 12(b)].

○ Raising compulsory counterclaims and including any additional claims [Fed R Civ P 13(b)].

○ Complying with pleading and service requirements [Fed R Civ P 8(c), Fed R Civ P 12(a), (b)].

Timing:

Serve the reply to a pleading containing counterclaims within 21 days after being served [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(1)(C)].

☐ Consider making an offer to compromise or a settlement offer [Fed R Civ P 68; see Ch. 31, Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment].

Timing:

The party defending against a claim may serve on the adverse party an offer of judgment at least 14 days before the date set for trial [Fed R Civ P 68(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalElementsFederal VenueCivil ProcedureRemovalElementsRemovabilityCivil ProcedureRemovalNonremovable ActionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsNoticesCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
III. PRETRIAL STEPS

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.08

1.08 CHECKLIST: Case Management Process.

☐ Federal courts generally take a relatively active role in case management compared to state courts [see Fed R Civ P 16]. Be prepared to work in a cooperative manner with the judge, clerk, and opposing counsel in the management of prosecution of the case [see Ch. 16, Case Management Conferences, 16.02].

Warning:

For case management procedures, always consult local district court rules and the assigned district judge's or magistrate judge's standing orders.

☐ Calendar date for pretrial case management conference [see Ch. 16, Case Management Conferences, 16.03].

☐ If desired, meet and confer with other parties before conference to discuss, among other things:

- ○ Whether to request jury trial.
- ○ Whether to request bifurcated trial.
- ○ Identity of any related cases.
- ○ Discovery plans (taking into account disclosures from Rule 26(f) conference).

- Scheduling of further case management conferences and motions dates.
- Setting of dates for trial, pretrial, and submission of pretrial materials.
- Whether action is subject to arbitration or mediation; if not, consider agreeing to submit action to mediation or arbitration [see Ch. 32, Court Annexed ADR].
  - Note that Alternative Dispute Resolution Act of 1998 [see 28 USC § 471 et seq.] requires every federal district court to devise and implement an ADR program for civil actions.
  - Check local rules to determine your court's procedures for court annexed ADR [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 16-8; see Ch. 32, Court Annexed ADR].

- Attend case management conference in person and be prepared to discuss and commit to positions on the issues listed in Fed R Civ P 16(c) [see Ch. 16, Case Management Conferences, 16.11].
  - In developing an overall case plan that will shape discussion at the conference, consider the following items [see Fed R Civ P 16(c)]:
    - Discovery schedule and any anticipated motions.
    - Stipulations on uncontested issues.
    - Facts needed to establish claims and defenses.
    - Discovery plans.
    - Key witnesses and documents.
    - Settlement possibilities.
- Review scheduling order, which may not be revised except on a showing of good cause, and calendar deadlines set by the order [see Fed R Civ P 16(b)].
- If scheduled, attend final pretrial conference to formulate trial plan, including a program to facilitate admission of the evidence [Fed R Civ P 16(e); see Ch. 17, Final Pretrial Conference, 17.03 -17.15].

Timing:

Any final pretrial conference must be held as close to the time of trial as possible [Fed R Civ P 16(e)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesCase ManagementCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesFinal Pretrial ConferencesCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesPretrial ConferencesCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesPretrial OrdersCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesScheduling Conferences

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
III. PRETRIAL STEPS

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.09

1.09 CHECKLIST: Pretrial Motions and Steps Initiated by Plaintiff.

☐ Consider moving for summary judgment if undisputed facts show that there is no defense to plaintiff's action or that a counterclaim (or affirmative defenses, in appropriate cases) filed by defendant lacks merit [Fed R Civ P 56; see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, 29.03 -29.13].

○ Consider moving for summary adjudication as to one or more causes of action to which there is no defense in the alternative in the summary judgment motion or as a separate motion.

○ Prepare affidavits and testimony, and be ready to attend the summary judgment hearing.

Timing:

The plaintiff may move for summary judgment "at any time" until 30 days after the close of all discovery [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(A)]. In fact, a plaintiff may move for summary judgment as early as the commencement of the action. However, if the motion seems premature, the court has the power to extend the time to respond [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1), Committee Note of 2009]. In addition, if a plaintiff's motion for summary judgment is filed before a responsive pleading is due from a party affected by the motion, the time for responding to the motion is extended from the normal 21 days after the motion is served to 21 days after the responsive pleading would otherwise be due [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(B); Fed R Civ P 56, Committee Note of 2009.] In practice, local rules and Rule 16 scheduling orders are more important than the permission to file the motion "at any time" or the "30 days after the close of discovery" deadline set out in Rule 56. Rule

56's timing provisions will not apply if "different time is set by local rule or the court orders otherwise" [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1); see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, 29.06].

☐ If defendant pleads affirmative defenses such as statute of limitations or res judicata, consider moving for separate trial of those defenses [see 1.05; see also Ch. 18, Consolidation and Separate Trials, 18.21 -18.35].

○ Intent to move for separate trials should be discussed in the case management conference [see Ch. 16, Case Management Conferences, 16.07].

☐ If separate trials of the claims or issues will further convenience, avoid prejudice, or be expeditious, consider moving for separate trials [Fed R Civ P 42(b); see Ch. 18, Consolidation and Separate Trials, 18.04, 18.21 et seq.].

○ Prepare and file motion and memorandum of points and authorities to establish that claim or issue should be separately tried [Fed R Civ P 42(b)].

Timing:

File the separate trial papers at the pretrial conference or case management conference [Fed R Civ P 16(a)].

○ Arrange hearing date, serve notice of the hearing, appear at the hearing, and prepare to draft the court's order.

☐ If multiple actions are pending before the court that involve a common question of law or fact, consider moving for consolidation of cases for all purposes or only for a joint hearing or trial of certain common issues [Fed R Civ P 42(a); see Ch. 18, Consolidation and Separate Trials, 18.02, 18.05 et seq.].

○ Prepare and file motion and memorandum of points and authorities [Fed R Civ P 42(a)].

Timing:

File the consolidation papers once the cases clearly indicate common issues, well before the cases are ready for trial.

○ Arrange hearing date on consolidation, serve notice of the hearing, appear at the hearing, and prepare to draft the court's order.

☐ If related cases are pending in other districts, consider:

○ If cases pending before other district courts can be transferred to a single court for the convenience of parties and witnesses and in the interest of justice [28 USC § 1404(a); see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.57].

○ Under multidistrict litigation procedure, if cases can be transferred to a single district for pretrial discovery and other pretrial matters [28 USC § 1407(a); see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.61-2.73].

☐ If needed or desired, amend complaint or answer to include crossclaim [Fed R Civ P 15(a); see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings, 9.03 -9.07].

○ If no responsive pleading is required, amendment is allowed once as matter of right within 21 days after serving responsive pleading [Fed R Civ P 15(a)(1)(A)].

○ If the pleading is one to which a responsive pleading is required, amendment is allowed 21 days after service of the responsive pleading, or 21 days after service of a motion under Fed R Civ P 12(b), (e), or (f), whichever is earlier [Fed R Civ P 15(a)(1)(B)].

○ Later amendments may be allowed by leave of court or consent of the adverse party [Fed R Civ P 15(a)(2)].

☐ If pleadings should be modified to reflect changes that occurred after a previous pleading, move to supplement complaint or answer to crossclaim [Fed R Civ P 15(d); see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings, 9.19 -9.21].

Timing:

The court may allow a party to supplement a pleading at any time [see Fed R Civ P 15(d)].

☐ Consider filing a motion for judgment on the pleadings if the complaint states a cause of action and the answer does not state facts sufficient to constitute a defense to the complaint [Fed R Civ P 12(c)].

Timing:

Motion for judgment on the pleadings may be filed at anytime, except that it cannot be filed at a time that will delay the trial [Fed R Civ P 12(c)].

Warning:

If matters outside the pleadings are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion will be treated as a motion for summary judgment under Fed R Civ P 56 [Fed R Civ P 12(c)].

☐ Move for continuance of trial date if necessary to reopen discovery or prepare new defenses [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)].

Timing:

A motion for continuance must be filed when necessity of continuance becomes reasonably apparent.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsLeave of CourtCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentMotions for Summary JudgmentGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConsolidation of

ActionsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate Trials

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
III. PRETRIAL STEPS

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.10

1.10 CHECKLIST: Defendant's Responses to Pretrial Motions and Steps Initiated by Plaintiff.

☐ If default judgment is entered against defendant, determine whether good cause exists to have it set aside by the court [Fed R Civ P 55(c); see Ch. 27, Defaults and Motions for Relief From Default, 27.18 -27.19].

Timing:

File the motion to set aside default within 10 days after entry of the default judgment [Fed R Civ P 60(b)].

☐ File and serve any responses to pleadings and motions made by plaintiff [see Fed R Civ P 12; see also Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, 26.37-26.43].

☐ If plaintiff moves to strike defendant's counterclaim, file and serve a memorandum of points and authorities in opposition to the motion [see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8.26; Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies, 11.44-11.51].

☐ If plaintiff answers the counterclaim, determine whether grounds exist for a motion to strike the answer [see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8 .26; Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies, 11.44-11.51].

○ File and serve motion to strike accordingly.

Timing:

A Rule 12 motion to strike must normally be served within 21 days of service of the prior pleading [Fed R Civ P 12(a)(1)(A)(i)].

☐ If plaintiff files a motion for summary judgment, Rule 56 requires filing opposition papers not less than seven days before the hearing, unless the court permits service at another time [Fed R Civ P 6(c), 56(c); see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, 29.14 -29.20]. In practice, judges' standing orders and local rules require much earlier filing, in some cases up to 35 days beforehand for the motion.

○ Consider filing a cross-motion for summary judgment [Fed R Civ P 56(a); see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, 29.30].

Timing:

The cross-motion can be filed "at any time" until 30 days after the close of all discovery [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(A)]. In practice, however, local rules and Rule 16 scheduling orders are more important than the permission to file the motion "at any time" or the "30 days after the close of discovery" deadline set out in Rule 56. Rule 56's timing provisions will not apply if "different time is set by local rule or the court orders otherwise" [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1); see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, 29.06].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultDefault JudgmentsCivil ProcedurePretrial JudgmentsDefaultRelief From DefaultCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
III. PRETRIAL STEPS

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.11

1.11 CHECKLIST: Additional Pretrial Motions and Steps That May Be Initiated by Defendant.

☐ Consider moving for summary judgment if undisputed facts show that defendant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law [Fed R Civ P 56(b); see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, 29.03 -29.13].

○ Prepare affidavits and testimony, and be ready to attend the summary judgment hearing.

Timing:

The defendant may move for summary judgment "at any time" until 30 days after the close of all discovery [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(A)]. However, if the motion seems premature, the court has the power to extend the time to respond [see Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1), Advisory Committee Note of 2009]. Further, Rule 56's timing provisions will not apply if "different time is set by local rule or the court orders otherwise" [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1); see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, 29.06].

☐ To avoid multiplicity of actions or inconsistent decisions, consider impleading a person not a party to the action who is or may be liable to defendant [Fed R Civ P 14(a); see Ch. 12, Third-Party Actions, 12.03 -12.16].

○ Defendant may also bring a new party into the action by a crossclaim [Fed R Civ P 13(g); see Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies, 11.26 -11.43].

Timing:

Leave of court is not required if the third-party complaint is filed not later than 10 days after serving the original answer. Otherwise leave on noticed motion is required [Fed R Civ P 14(a)(1)].

☐ If pleading affirmative defenses such as statute of limitations or res judicata, consider moving for separate trial of those defenses [Fed R Civ P 42(b); see Ch. 18, Consolidation and Separate Trials, 18.21 -18.35].

○ Prepare and file motion and memorandum of points and authorities to establish that claim or issue should separately tried [Fed R Civ P 42(b)].

Timing:

File the separate trial papers at the pretrial conference or case management conference [Fed R Civ P 16(a)].

○ Arrange hearing date, serve notice of the hearing, appear at the hearing, and prepare to draft the court's order.

☐ If multiple actions are pending before the court that involve a common question of law or fact, consider moving for consolidation of cases for all purposes or only for a joint hearing or trial of certain common issues [Fed R Civ P 42(a); see Ch. 18, Consolidation and Separate Trials, 18.05 -18.16].

○ Prepare and file motion and memorandum of points and authorities [Fed R Civ P 42(a)].

Timing:

File the consolidation papers once the cases clearly indicate common issues, well before the cases are ready for trial.

○ Arrange hearing date, serve notice of the hearing, appear at the hearing, and prepare to draft the court's order.

☐ If related cases are pending in other districts, consider:

○ Cases pending before other district courts can be transferred to a single court for the convenience of parties and witnesses and in the interest of justice [28 USC § 1404(a); see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.57].

○ Under multidistrict litigation procedure, cases can be transferred to a single district for pretrial discovery and other pretrial matters [28 USC § 1407(a); see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.61-2.73].

☐ If needed or desired, amend answer or counterclaim [Fed R Civ P 15(a); see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings, 9.03 -9.11].

○ If no responsive pleading is required, amendment is allowed once as matter of right within 21 days after serving it [Fed R Civ P 15(a)(1)(A)].

○ If the pleading is one to which a responsive pleading is required, amendment is allowed 21 days after service of the responsive pleading, or 21 days after service of a motion under Fed R Civ P 12(b), (e), or (f), whichever is earlier [Fed R Civ P 15(a)(1)(B)].

○ Later amendments may be allowed by leave of court or consent of the adverse party [Fed R Civ P 15(a)(2)].

☐ If pleadings should be modified to reflect changes that occurred after a previous pleading, move to supplement answer or counterclaim [Fed R Civ P 15(d); see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings, 9.19 -9.21].

Timing:

The court may allow a party to supplement a pleading at any time [see Fed R Civ P 15(d)].

☐ Consider filing a motion for judgment on the pleadings if the complaint does not state a cause of action [Fed R Civ P 12(c); see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8.27-8.29].

Timing:

Motion for judgment on the pleadings may be filed at anytime, except that it cannot be filed at a time that will delay the trial [Fed R Civ P 12(c)].

Warning:

If matters outside the pleadings are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion will be treated as a motion for summary judgment under Fed R Civ P 56 [Fed R Civ P 12(c)].

☐ If grounds exist for involuntary dismissal for failure to prosecute or to comply with the rules or a court order, prepare and file motion for dismissal [Fed R Civ P 41(b), (c)]. The court also has the inherent power to dismiss for failure to prosecute [Link v. Wabash R.R. Co. (1962) 370 US 626, 633, 82 S Ct 1386, 8 L Ed2d 734 ; see Ch. 28, Dismissal for Delay in Bringing to Trial, 28.03 -28.16].

Timing:

There is no set period for what is an unacceptable delay justifying involuntary dismissal, but courts have dismissed actions with delays as little as 10 months [see, e.g., Smith v. Plummer (ND Cal 1998) 1998 US Dist LEXIS 17131, at *3].

☐ Consider making an offer to compromise or a settlement offer [Fed R Civ P 68; see Ch. 31, Settlement Agreements and Offers of Judgment].

Timing:

The party defending against a claim may serve on the adverse party an offer of judgment at least 14 days before the date set for trial [Fed R Civ P 68(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAmended PleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentOppositionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConsolidation of ActionsCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersSeparate Trials

27 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 1 Litigation Milestones
CHAPTER 1 Litigation Milestone Checklists
III. PRETRIAL STEPS

1-1 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 1.12

1.12 CHECKLIST: Plaintiff's Responses to Pretrial Motions and Steps Initiated by Defendant.

☐ File and serve any responses to all defense motions at least 10 calendar days before the hearing scheduled on the motion unless otherwise indicated by applicable statute [see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, 26.41].

Timing:

There is no federal rule governing reply papers to motions. Check any applicable local rules and standing orders.

☐ If defendant files a motion for summary judgment, Rule 56 requires filing opposition papers not less than seven days before the hearing, unless the court permits service at another time [Fed R Civ P 6(c), 56(c); see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, 29.14 -29.20]. In practice, judges' standing orders and local rules require much earlier filing, in some cases up to 21 days beforehand for opposition papers.

○ Consider filing a cross-motion for summary judgment [Fed R Civ P 56(a); see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, 29.30].

Timing:

The cross-motion can be filed "at any time" until 30 days after the close of all discovery [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1)(A)]. In practice, however, local rules and Rule 16 scheduling orders are more important than the permission to file the motion "at any time" or the "30 days after the close of discovery" deadline set out in Rule 56. Rule 56's timing provisions will not apply if a "different time is set by local rule or the court orders otherwise" [Fed R Civ P 56(c)(1); see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment, 29.06].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureSummary JudgmentSupporting MaterialsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureSummary JudgmentTime LimitationsGovernmentsLegislationStatutes of LimitationsTime Limitations

28 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.syn

§ 2.syn Synopsis to Chapter 2: Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)

2.01 Scope.

2.02 Objective and Strategy.

2.03 CHECKLIST: Jurisdiction.

2.04 "Federal Question Jurisdiction" Defined.

2.05 Establishing Federal Question Jurisdiction.

2.05[1] Plaintiff Must Allege Jurisdiction.

2.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Jurisdictional Allegation.

2.05[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

2.05[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

2.05[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

2.05[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

2.05[3] Parties Cannot Confer Jurisdiction.

2.05[4] Defective Jurisdictional Allegations May Be Amended.

2.05[5] Jurisdiction Is Determined When Suit Is Commenced.

2.05[6] Party Invoking Federal Jurisdiction Has Burden of Proof.

2.06 Invoking Federal Question Jurisdiction.

2.06[1] Constitutional Challenges.

2.06[2] Claims Under Federal Statutes.

2.06[2][a] Statutes Creating Federal Question Causes of Action.

2.06[2][b] Statutes Creating Implied Right of Action.

2.06[3] Claims Under Administrative Acts and Regulations.

2.06[4] Claims Under Federal Common Law.

2.07 Determining Federal Question Jurisdiction.

2.07[1] Applying "Arising Under" Test.

2.07[1][a] Federal Law Creates Cause of Action.

2.07[1][b] Resolution of State Law Claim Requires Resolution of Substantial Issue of Federal Law.

2.07[1][c] Dismissal for Failing to Meet "Arising Under" Test.

2.07[2] Applying Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule.

2.07[2][a] Violation of Federal Law Must Be Alleged.

2.07[2][b] Declaratory Relief Plaintiff Must State That Anticipated Suit Arises Under Federal Law.

2.07[2][c] Artful Pleading Doctrine As Exception to Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule.

2.07[2][d] Complete Preemption As Exception to Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule.

2.07[3] Applying Federal Question Jurisdiction in Action Against Native Sovereign.

2.08 Distinguishing Concurrent and Exclusive Federal Jurisdiction.

2.08[1] Concurrent Jurisdiction With State Courts.

2.08[2] When Federal Forum Is Exclusive.

2.09 Challenging Federal Question Jurisdiction.

2.09[1] Methods for Challenge.

2.09[2] Generally Challenge May Be Made at Any Time.

2.09[3] LOCAL RULE: CD Cal Requirements.

2.09A CHECKLIST: Analyzing Diversity Jurisdiction.

2.10 Diverse Citizenship Is Required.

2.10[1] Diversity Statute Is Strictly Construed.

2.10[2] Complete Diversity Is Required in Most Cases.

2.10[3] Jurisdiction Is Determined When Suit Is Commenced.

2.10[4] Domestic Relations Exception.

2.10[5] Probate Exception.

2.10[6] Diversity Jurisdiction May Not Infringe on Native American Self-Government.

2.11 Citizenship of Named Parties Is Determinative.

2.12 Plaintiff Must Allege Jurisdiction.

2.13 Party Invoking Federal Jurisdiction Has Burden of Proof.

2.14 Parties Cannot Confer Jurisdiction.

2.15 Court May Drop Nondiverse, Dispensable Parties.

2.16 Joinder May Affect Diversity.

2.16[1] Joinder of Nondiverse Indispensable Party Requires Dismissal.

2.16[2] Improper or Collusive Joinder Barred.

2.16[3] Citizenship of Insurer When Insured Not Joined As Defendant.

2.17 Determining Citizenship of Individuals.

2.17[1] Citizenship Requires United States Citizenship and Domicile.

2.17[2] Determining United States Citizenship.

2.17[3] Determining Domicile.

2.17[3][a] Federal Law Determines Domicile.

2.17[3][b] State Citizenship Is Equivalent to State Domicile.

2.17[3][c] Residence Alone Is Insufficient.

2.17[4] Determining Citizenship of Particular Individuals.

2.18 Determining Citizenship of Corporations.

2.18[1] Citizens of State of Incorporation and Principal Place of Business.

2.18[2] Determining States of Incorporation.

2.18[3] Determining Principal Place of Business.

2.18[4] Citizenship of Alien Corporations.

2.18[5] Citizenship of Particular Corporate Entities.

2.19 Determining Citizenship of Noncorporate Entities.

2.19[1] Partnerships.

2.19[2] Other Noncorporate Entities.

2.20 Diversity Jurisdiction in Suits Involving Aliens.

2.20[1] Actions Where Parties Are Mixture of Citizens and Aliens.

2.20[2] Actions by or Against Foreign States.

2.20[3] Actions Between Aliens.

2.20[4] Citizenship of Permanent Resident Aliens.

2.20[5] Citizens of British Dependent Territories.

2.20[6] Law of Nation of Citizenship Determines Status.

2.21 Over $75,000 in Controversy Is Generally Required.

2.21[1] Amount Is Jurisdictional.

2.21[2] Federal Law Determines Amount in Controversy.

2.21[3] Amount Determined When Complaint Is Filed.

2.21[4] Jurisdictional Amount Does Not Include Costs and Interest.

2.21[5] Punitive Damages Are Part of Amount in Controversy.

2.21[6] Attorney's Fees Are Part of Amount in Controversy Only If Provided for in Contract or by Statute.

2.21[7] Suits Involving Equitable Relief.

2.21[8] Amount Is Determined Under Legal Certainty Test.

2.21[9] Evidence of Valid Defense or Counterclaim Does Not Defeat Diversity.

2.21[10] Party Asserting Jurisdiction Has Burden of Proof.

2.22 Costs May Be Awarded When Recovery Is Below Jurisdictional Minimum.

2.23 Claims May Be Aggregated.

2.23[1] Single Plaintiff--Single Defendant.

2.23[2] Single Plaintiff--Multiple Defendants.

2.23[3] Multiple Plaintiffs--Single Defendant.

2.23[4] Class Actions.

2.24 Minimal Diversity Required by Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act of 2002.

2.24A Minimal Diversity Required by Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.

2.24A[1] Complete Diversity Requirement Eliminated for Certain Class Actions When Amount in Controversy Exceeds $5 Million.

2.24A[2] Class Actions as to Which Minimal Diversity Does Not Apply.

2.24A[3] Exercise of Modified Class Action Diversity Jurisdiction on Removal.

2.24A[3][a] When Two-Thirds or More of Class Members Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed, District Court Must Decline Jurisdiction on Removal Under Certain Circumstances.

2.24A[3][b] When More Than One-Third of Class Members Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed, District Court May Decline Jurisdiction on Removal.

2.24A[4] Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 Eliminates Complete Diversity Requirement for Certain Mass Actions.

2.25 Challenging Diversity Jurisdiction.

2.25[1] Methods for Challenge.

2.25[2] Generally Challenge May Be Made at Any Time.

2.25[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

2.26 CHECKLIST: Supplemental Jurisdiction.

2.27 Federal Court May Have "Supplemental Jurisdiction" Over Other Claims.

2.27[1] Related Claims and Parties in Single Suit.

2.27[2] Supplemental Jurisdiction Is Generally Mandatory.

2.27[3] Statute of Limitations.

2.28 Limitations on Supplemental Jurisdiction.

2.28[1] Diversity Actions.

2.28[2] Court May Decline Supplemental Jurisdiction.

2.28[2][a] When Novel or Complex Issue of State Law Exists.

2.28[2][b] When Supplemental Claim Substantially Predominates.

2.28[2][c] When Federal Claim Is Dismissed.

2.28[2][d] Court May Decline Supplemental Jurisdiction Under Exceptional Circumstances.

2.29 Determining Whether Additional Claims Are Part of Same Case or Controversy.

2.29[1] "Common Nucleus" Standard.

2.29[2] Plaintiff May Join or Aggregate Claims.

2.29[3] Counterclaims and Crossclaims.

2.29[3][a] Jurisdiction Over Counterclaims.

2.29[3][b] Jurisdiction Over Crossclaims.

2.29[4] Federal Question Cases.

2.29[4][a] Federal Question Must Be Substantial.

2.29[4][b] State Claims May Be Remanded After Removal.

2.29[5] Claims That Constitute "Same Case or Controversy."

2.29[5][a] Single Injury With Alternate Theories of Recovery.

2.29[5][b] Single Act With Injuries to More Than One Person.

2.29[6] Single Injury With Multiple Causation Is Generally Not "Same Case or Controversy."

2.30 Determining Whether Supplemental Jurisdiction Exists Over Joined Parties.

2.30[1] Supplemental Jurisdiction May Apply.

2.30[2] Joinder of Parties to Counterclaim.

2.30[3] Impleaded Parties.

2.30[3][a] Supplemental Jurisdiction Over Defendant's Impleader Claims.

2.30[3][b] No Supplemental Jurisdiction Over Plaintiff's Claims Arising out of Defendant's Impleader or Counterclaim in Diversity Action.

2.30[4] Interplay of Supplemental Jurisdiction and Compulsory Joinder.

2.30[5] Interplay of Supplemental Jurisdiction and Permissive Joinder.

2.30[5][a] Federal Question Cases.

2.30[5][b] Diversity Cases.

2.30[6] Class Actions.

2.30[7] Intervention.

2.30[7][a] Claims by Intervening Plaintiffs.

2.30[7][b] Claims by Intervening Defendants.

2.30A CHECKLIST: Analyzing Personal Jurisdiction.

2.31 "Personal Jurisdiction" Defined.

2.31[1] Court Authority Over Parties.

2.31[2] Due Process Requirements.

2.31[3] Defendant May Waive Lack of Personal Jurisdiction.

2.31[4] Establishing Personal Jurisdiction in Patent Cases.

2.32 Jurisdiction Based on Presence.

2.33 Jurisdiction Based on Consent.

2.33[1] Appearance.

2.33[2] Forum Selection Clauses Are Ordinarily Enforced.

2.34 Jurisdiction Based on Domicile.

2.35 Jurisdiction Based on Minimum Contacts.

2.35[1] Factors Considered.

2.35[2] Fundamental Fairness Is Required.

2.35[3] Electronic Communications Issues.

2.36 Invoking General Jurisdiction.

2.36[1] General Jurisdiction Refers to All Claims.

2.36[2] Connections With Forum Must Be Continuous, Systematic, and Substantial.

2.36[3] Courts Are Reluctant to Assert General Jurisdiction Over Nonresident Defendants.

2.36[4] Exception for Personal Service in State.

2.36[5] Mere Purchasing Activity Does Not Support General Personal Jurisdiction.

2.36[6] Establishing General Jurisdiction in Website Cases.

2.37 Invoking Specific Jurisdiction.

2.37[1] When Claim Arises Directly From Defendant's Contacts With Forum.

2.37[2] Establishing Specific Jurisdiction in "Stream of Commerce" Cases.

2.37[3] Establishing Specific Jurisdiction in Website Cases.

2.37[4] Pendent Personal Jurisdiction May Require Defense of Claim for Which There Is No Independent Basis of Jurisdiction.

2.38 Determining Personal Jurisdiction Under California Long-Arm Statutes.

2.38[1] Due Process Test Applies.

2.38[2] Out-of-State Corporations May Consent to Jurisdiction.

2.39 Establishing Jurisdiction Over Property.

2.39[1] Property in State As Basis for Jurisdiction.

2.39[2] Types of Jurisdiction Over Property.

2.39[2][a] In Rem Jurisdiction.

2.39[2][b] Quasi in Rem Jurisdiction.

2.39[3] Enforcing a Sister-State Judgment.

2.39[4] Enforcing Judgments That Operate on Real Property.

2.40 Invoking Jurisdiction Through Service of Process.

2.40[1] Constitutional Limits.

2.40[1][a] Notice and Opportunity to Defend.

2.40[1][b] Statutory Compliance Required.

2.40[1][c] Standard for Adequate Notice.

2.40[2] Methods of Service of Process.

2.40[2][a] Service Under Rule 4.

2.40[2][b] Methods of Service Under California Law.

2.40[2][c] Serving Defendant in Foreign Country.

2.40[3] Territorial Limits of Effective Service.

2.40[3][a] Service Within 100 Miles of Federal Courthouse.

2.40[3][b] Nationwide Service of Process for Certain Claims.

2.40[3][c] Federal Question Cases and Nationwide Service.

2.40[4] Waiver of Service of Process.

2.40[4][a] Rule Applies Only to Individuals, Corporations, Partnerships, and Associations.

2.40[4][b] Requesting Waiver of Service.

2.40[4][c] Use Form 1A to Inform Defendant of Consequences of Compliance and Noncompliance.

2.40[4][d] Responding After Request for Waiver.

2.40[4][e] Waiver of Service Must Be Filed.

2.41 Challenging Personal Jurisdiction.

2.41[1] Procedures for Challenging Jurisdiction.

2.41[2] Opposing the Challenge.

2.41[3] Avoiding Waiver of Objection to Personal Jurisdiction.

2.41[4] Case May Be Transferred to Court Where Venue and Personal Jurisdiction Proper.

2.41A CHECKLIST: Analyzing Other Jurisdictional Issues.

2.42 Jurisdiction Over Cases and Controversies.

2.43 Standing.

2.43[1] "Standing" Defined.

2.43[2] Standing Is Determined When Suit Is Filed.

2.43[3] Constitutional Requirements.

2.43[3][a] Injury-in-Fact.

2.43[3][b] Injury Must Be Traceable to Defendant.

2.43[3][c] Plaintiff's Injury Must Be Redressable.

2.43[4] Prudential Aspects of Standing Inquiry.

2.43[4][a] Court Must Consider Three Prudential Concerns in Assessing Standing.

2.43[4][b] Association May Have Prudential Standing to Sue on Behalf of Its Members.

2.43[4][c] Third Party Standing to Assert Rights of Another Is Not Favored.

2.43[5] Raising Standing Issue.

2.43[5][a] Court May Raise Issue Sua Sponte.

2.43[5][b] Issue Can Be Raised by Defendant.

2.43[5][c] Issue Can Be Raised at Any Time.

2.43[6] Party Invoking Federal Jurisdiction Bears Burden of Proof.

2.44 Ripeness.

2.44[1] Ripeness Is Question of Timing.

2.44[2] Issues Must Be Fit for Judicial Review.

2.44[3] Court Must Determine If Withholding Judicial Review Will Impose Hardship.

2.44[4] Tension Between Declaratory Judgment Remedy and Ripeness Doctrine.

2.44[5] Raising Issue of Ripeness.

2.45 Mootness.

2.45[1] Mootness Occurs When Issues Are No Longer Live.

2.45[2] Exceptions to Mootness.

2.45[2][a] Acts That Are Capable of Repetition, Yet Will Evade Review.

2.45[2][b] Voluntary Cessation of Challenged Activity.

2.45[2][c] Past Acts Having Present, Future, or Collateral Consequences.

2.45[3] Counsel Must Inform Court of Change of Status.

2.45[4] Raising Mootness Issue.

2.46 Political Question Doctrine.

2.47 Abstention Doctrines.

2.47[1] Pullman Abstention: Avoiding Federal Constitutional Rulings.

2.47[2] Thibodeaux Abstention: Unclear State Law in Diversity Cases.

2.47[3] Burford Abstention: Avoiding Interference With Comprehensive State Administrative Procedures.

2.47[4] Colorado River Abstention: Concurrent State Proceedings.

2.47[5] Younger Abstention: Avoiding Interference With Pending State Proceedings.

2.47A First-to-File Rule.

2.48 CHECKLIST: Determining Venue.

2.49 Venue: Initial Considerations.

2.49[1] Federal Law Determines Venue.

2.49[2] Plaintiff Must File in Proper Forum.

2.49[3] Pleading Proper Venue.

2.49[3][a] Generally No Venue Allegation Is Required.

2.49[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

2.50 General Venue Statute Applies to Most Actions.

2.51 Determining Residence of Parties.

2.51[1] Residence Determined at Commencement of Action.

2.51[2] Individuals.

2.51[3] Aliens.

2.51[4] Public Officials.

2.51[5] Domestic Corporations.

2.51[5][a] Defendants.

2.51[5][b] Plaintiffs.

2.51[6] Unincorporated Associations.

2.52 Determining District Where Substantial Part of Events or Omissions Occurred.

2.53 Determining Venue for Class Actions.

2.54 Determining Venue in Special Cases.

2.54[1] Actions Removed to Federal Court.

2.54[2] Actions Against Aliens.

2.54[3] Actions Against United States, United States Agency, or United States Officials or Employees.

2.54[3][a] Venue Proper in Several Districts.

2.54[3][b] Residence Is Place of Official Duties.

2.54[3][c] Nationwide Service of Process.

2.54[3][d] Exceptions for Contract Cases.

2.54[3][e] Actions Under Federal Torts Claim Act.

2.54[4] Actions Against Foreign States.

2.54[5] Actions Against Closed Banks Administered by FDIC.

2.54[6] Interpleader Actions.

2.54[7] Copyright Actions.

2.54[8] Patent Actions.

2.54[9] Shareholder's Derivative Action.

2.54[10] Antitrust Actions.

2.54[11] Civil Rights Actions.

2.54[12] RICO Actions.

2.54[13] ERISA Actions.

2.54[14] Actions Under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934.

2.54[15] Multiparty, Multiforum Cases.

2.55 Improper Venue May Be Waived.

2.56 Enforcing Forum Selection Clauses.

2.56[1] Federal Law Generally Applies.

2.56[2] Forum Selection Clauses Are Ordinarily Enforceable.

2.56[3] Some Limitations on Enforceability Exist.

2.56[4] Comparing Mandatory and Permissive Forum Selection Clauses.

2.56[4][a] Mandatory Forum Selection Clauses.

2.56[4][b] Permissive Forum Selection Clause.

2.56[4][c] Dismissal Based on Forum Selection Clause.

2.57 Transferring Venue for Convenience.

2.57[1] Court May Transfer Action to Another Proper Venue.

2.57[2] Factors Considered.

2.57[3] Standing to Move for Convenience Transfer.

2.57[3][a] Defendant.

2.57[3][b] Plaintiff.

2.57[4] Time for Moving for Transfer.

2.57[5] Transferor Must Have Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

2.57[6] Transferee Court Must Have Proper Venue, Subject Matter Jurisdiction, and Personal Jurisdiction.

2.57[7] Party Seeking Transfer Has Burden of Proving Transferee Forum Is Proper.

2.57[8] Waiving Improper Venue Does Not Preclude Seeking Convenience Transfer.

2.57[9] Choice of Law After Convenience Transfer.

2.57[9][a] Diversity Cases.

2.57[9][b] Federal Question Cases.

2.57[9][c] Transfer Based on Forum Selection Clause.

2.57[10] Review of Transfer Order.

2.58 Challenging Improper Venue.

2.58[1] Objection Must Be Timely.

2.58[2] Object in Answer or Motion to Dismiss.

2.58[3] Standing to Object to Improper Venue.

2.58[3][a] Defendant.

2.58[3][b] Plaintiff.

2.58[4] Waiving Objection.

2.58[5] Dismissal Is Not Favored.

2.58[6] Requirements for Transferor Court.

2.58[6][a] Transferor Must Have Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

2.58[6][b] Transferor Need Not Have Personal Jurisdiction.

2.58[7] Requirements for Transferee Court.

2.58[7][a] Proper Venue Under Applicable Transfer Statutes.

2.58[7][b] Personal Jurisdiction Over Defendants Must Exist Independently.

2.59 Actions May Be Transferred to Courts With Exclusive Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

2.60 Dismissal Under Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens: Alternative Foreign Forum.

2.60[1] Procedure Is Used in Exceptional Circumstances.

2.60[1A] Procedure May Justify Dismissal Without Resolving Jurisdictional Issues.

2.60[2] Bringing Motion to Dismiss Under Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens.

2.60[2][a] Motion Must Be Brought in Reasonable Time.

2.60[2][b] Proving Dismissal Is Warranted.

2.60[2][c] Claims May Be Separated.

2.60[3] Determining Adequacy of Alternative Forum.

2.60[4] Determining Convenience of Parties: Public and Private Interests Must Be Balanced.

2.60[5] Deference Is Given to Plaintiff's Choice of Forum.

2.60[5][a] American Citizen or Resident As Plaintiff.

2.60[5][b] Foreign Plaintiff.

2.60[6] Exemptions for Special Venue Provisions.

2.60[7] Effect of Forum Selection Clauses.

2.61 CHECKLIST: Multidistrict Litigation.

2.62 Understanding Multidistrict Litigation Procedure.

2.62[1] Multidistrict Litigation Statute.

2.62[2] Transferring Actions.

2.62[3] Factors Considered in Determining Transferee District.

2.62[4] Claims May Be Separated.

2.62[5] Remanding Actions.

2.62[6] Reviewing Transfer Orders.

2.63 Practicing Before Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation.

2.63[1] Rules of Procedure.

2.63[2] Admission to Practice Before Panel and in Transferor District.

2.63[3] Filing Papers With Panel.

2.63[3][a] File in Washington, D.C.

2.63[3][b] Originals and Copies Must Be Filed.

2.63[3][c] Content and Format Must Adhere to Rule 7.1.

2.63[3][d] Computer Disk Must Be Filed and May Be Served.

2.63[3][e] Proof of Service.

2.63[4] Notice of Appearance Is Required Within 11 Days.

2.63[5] Action Must Be Requested by Written Motion.

2.63[6] Respond to Motion Within 20 Days.

2.63[7] Respond to Orders to Show Cause Within 20 Days.

2.63[8] Corporate Disclosure Statement Must Be Filed.

2.64 Applying for Extension of Time.

2.65 Hearings.

2.65[1] Scheduling.

2.65[2] Hearing Sessions and Oral Argument.

2.65[3] Appearances for Oral Argument.

2.66 Governing Substantive Law.

2.67 Effect of Transfer Order.

2.68 Transferring Tag-Along Actions.

2.69 Terminating Action.

2.70 Remanding Action.

2.70[1] Requesting Remand.

2.70[2] Severing Claims Before Remand.

2.70[3] Moving for Remand.

2.70[4] Respond to Order to Show Cause Within 20 Days.

2.70[5] Authority of Transferor Court After Remand.

2.71 Transferee Court Cannot Retain Action for Trial.

2.72 Conditional Remand Orders.

2.72[1] Opposing Conditional Remand Orders.

2.72[2] Timing of Opposition.

2.73 Designating Record After Remand Order.

2.74 CHECKLISTS: Analyzing Arbitration Requirements and Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) Options.

2.74[1] Initial Considerations.

2.74[2] Enforcing Arbitration Agreement.

2.74[3] Attacking Arbitration Agreement.

2.75 Options and Strategy.

2.75[1] Arbitration or Other ADR May Be Required or Available for Cases in Litigation.

2.75[2] Arbitration, Instead of Litigation, May Be Required by Existing Pre-Dispute Agreement.

2.75[3] Parties May Agree to Mediate or Arbitrate After Dispute Arises.

2.76 Judicial Review of Arbitration Decisions Is Limited.

2.77 Parties May Specify Rules for Conduct of Arbitration.

2.78 Determining Whether Dispute Is Arbitrable Under Existing Agreement.

2.78[1] State Contract Law Determines Whether Parties Agreed to Arbitrate.

2.78[2] Court, Not Arbitrator, Decides Arbitrability.

2.78[3] Question of Arbitrability Has Limited Scope.

2.78[4] Arbitrator, Not Court, Decides Procedural Questions Regarding Arbitration.

2.79 Federal Arbitration Act Provides Mechanism to Move Parties Into Arbitration.

2.79[1] FAA Establishes Policy Favoring Arbitration.

2.79[1A] FAA Does Not Necessarily Preempt California Law.

2.79[2] FAA Applies to Contracts Involving Interstate Commerce.

2.79[3] FAA Provides Procedural Rules for Court Proceedings Related to Arbitration.

2.79[4] Statutory Claims May Be Arbitrable Under FAA.

2.79[4][a] Claims Are Arbitrable in Absence of Contrary Congressional Intent.

2.79[4][b] Various Statutory Claims Held Arbitrable.

2.80 Enforcing Arbitration Agreement Within Scope of FAA.

2.80[1] Make Demand for Arbitration Pursuant to Agreement.

2.80[2] Move to Stay Pending Action, If Any.

2.80[2][a] Court Must Grant Stay If Issue Is Referable to Arbitration.

2.80[2][b] Order Refusing Stay Is Appealable; Order Granting Stay Is Not.

2.80[3] Move to Compel Arbitration, If Necessary.

2.80[3][a] Petition Must Be Made to Court That Would Otherwise Have Jurisdiction.

2.80[3][b] Court Must Order Arbitration If Agreement Is Not in Issue.

2.80[3][c] Court Must Determine Arbitrability of Dispute If Agreement Is in Issue.

2.80[3][d] Order Denying Petition Is Appealable; Order Granting Petition Is Not.

2.81 Attacking Arbitration Agreement.

2.81[1] Arbitration Agreements Must Be Evaluated Under State Contract Law.

2.81[2] Contract Defenses Are Available.

2.81[3] Court Determines Challenges to Existence or Validity of Arbitration Provisions.

2.81[4] Arbitrators Determine Other Challenges to Underlying Contract.

2.82 Waiving Right to Seek Arbitration.

2.83 CHECKLIST: Moving to Disqualify Judge.

2.84 Options and Strategy.

2.84[1] No Peremptory Challenges.

2.84[1A] Disqualification Is Possible Under Due Process Clause.

2.84[2] Disqualification Is Possible Under Two Statutory Provisions.

2.84[2][a] 28 USC § 144 Provides Procedure for Disqualification of District Court Judge or Magistrate Judge for Bias or Prejudice.

2.84[2][b] 28 USC § 455 Contains Recusal Provisions Applicable to All Federal Judges, Magistrate Judges, and Justices.

2.84[3] Determining Which Statute to Use When Grounds Exist Under Both.

2.85 Procedure to Disqualify Judge Under 28 USC § 144.

2.85[1] Party May Move to Disqualify Judge Because of Bias or Prejudice.

2.85[2] Motion Must Be Supported by Affidavit.

2.85[2][a] Affidavit Must Be Timely and Sufficient.

2.85[2][b] Affidavit Must State Facts and Reasons for Disqualification.

2.85[2][c] Each Party May File Only One Affidavit in Any Case.

2.85[3] Affidavit Must Be Accompanied by Certificate of Counsel.

2.85[4] Initial Determination of Sufficiency of Affidavit.

2.85[4][a] Challenged Judge May Make Initial Determination of Sufficiency.

2.85[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Disqualification of Magistrate Judge.

2.85[5] Procedure After Initial Determination of Sufficiency.

2.85[5][a] Motion Must Be Assigned to Another Judge for Hearing.

2.85[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Random Assignment of Disqualification Motion.

2.85[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Reference of Disqualification Request to Another Judge.

2.85[6] Effect of Insufficiency of Affidavit.

2.86 Circumstances When Recusal Is Required Under 28 USC § 455.

2.86[1] Judge's Impartiality Might Reasonably Be Questioned.

2.86[2] Judge Has Personal Bias or Prejudice.

2.86[3] Judge or Lawyer Associated With Judge's Private Law PracticeServed As Lawyer or Witness in Controversy.

2.86[4] Judge Participated in Matter While in Government Employment.

2.86[5] Judge, Spouse, or Minor Child Has Financial or Other Interest in Matter.

2.86[5][a] Disqualification Is Required for Interest As Either Individual or Fiduciary.

2.86[5][b] "Financial Interest" Means Legal or Equitable Interest.

2.86[5][c] Judge Has Responsibility to Inform Self of Financial Interests.

2.86[6] Judge or Judge's Relative Has Involvement in Proceeding.

2.87 If Judge Does Not Recuse Self, Party May Move for Disqualification.

2.88 Disqualification Under 28 USC § 455 Must Be Sought in Timely Manner.

2.89 Grounds for Disqualification Generally Cannot Be Waived.

2.90 Circumstances Under Which Judge May Divest Self of Interest to Avoid Disqualification.

2.91 Notice of Motion and Motion to Transfer Venue for Convenience.

2.92 Order Granting Motion for Transfer of Venue.

2.93 Motion for Multidistrict Litigation Treatment.

2.94 Notice of Motion and Motion to Disqualify Judge.

2.95 Local District Court Forms.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
I. STRATEGY

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.01

2.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Analyzing a federal court's subject matter jurisdiction over a case:
  - Federal question jurisdiction [see 2.04 -2.09].
  - Diversity jurisdiction [see 2.09A -2.25].
- Analyzing a case for supplemental jurisdiction [see 2.26 -2.30].
- Analyzing a case for personal jurisdiction [see 2.31 -2.41].
- Analyzing a case to determine standing, ripeness, and mootness [see 2.43 -2.45].
- Analyzing a case to determine applicability of the political question doctrine [see 2.46].
- Analyzing a case to determine whether federal court should abstain from hearing the case [see 2.47].
- Determining venue [see 2.48 -2.60; Forms 2.91, 2.92].
- Understanding Multidistrict litigation [see 2.61 -2.73; Form 2.93].
- Analyzing arbitration agreements and ADR Requirements [see 2.74 -2.82; Form 2.93].
- Moving to disqualify a judge [see 2.83 -2.90; Form 2.94].

Core Statutes:
28 USC §§ 1331, 1332, 1391, 1404- 1407, 1631 .

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJusticiabilityPolitical QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
I. STRATEGY

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.02

2.02 Objective and Strategy.

Every prospective case requires consideration of the available courts in which the action may be filed. All federal courts (except the U.S. Supreme Court) are courts of limited jurisdiction--creatures of statute, within constitutional guidelines--so there is nothing automatic about federal court jurisdiction or venue. Many actions that can be brought in federal court can be brought in state court as well. Therefore, a decision must be made as to the most advantageous forum. Depending on the nature of the dispute, and the number of prospective parties and their location, the decision may not be simple.

In small federal districts, if there is a choice between federal and state litigation, the choice may be a personal one. Plaintiff's counsel will likely know the federal judges in the district, at least by reputation and track record, so that a knowledgeable comparison can be made between federal and state judges for the purpose of the particular case. In large federal districts, the choice cannot practicably be made based on the identity of judges. Rather, the choice is typically made on an institutional basis: are there differences between the basic operations of the state and federal courts that influence an informed decision for a particular plaintiff's case?

Historically, the principal perceived difference between state and federal cases was the amount of time and attention a case would receive in the federal courts. District judges, generally accustomed to large cases, were able to give discovery regulation and motion practice the necessary attention, and typically brought a more sophisticated judicial approach to the issues. The federal procedures were more accommodating of the large or important case as well, with broad discovery the norm. In general, emergency litigation involving, for example, the need for prompt injunctions with expedited discovery and hearings could be accommodated in the federal courts far more readily than in the state courts. The availability of magistrate judges (and special masters), permitting a division of work, facilitated more efficient case movement.

These distinctions have been diluted as state courts have made a determined effort to become accommodating toward large cases. California has revised its discovery rules, often identical to the federal rules, which increasingly place restrictions on discovery.

Nevertheless, differences remain that lead many lawyers to endeavor to find federal jurisdiction, at least for the larger cases.

Specific advantages of bringing an action in federal court include the following:

- Assignment of a single judge to the case, if you like the judge.
- More predictability in timelines for the case.
- Wider jury venire.
- Dockets generally are less crowded.
- Greater likelihood of considered decisions on motions.
- For complex cases, the judge is likely to have more experience in certain areas of law.

Specific disadvantages of bringing an action in federal court include the following:

- Assignment of a single judge to the case, if you dislike the judge.
- Very little chance of disqualifying the judge.
- Federal court can be more expensive because of federal motion practice.
- The possibility of a less sympathetic court if the primary relief sought is based on state law.
- A case that involves claims against the same defendant that don't qualify for supplemental jurisdiction.
- A case that involves issues for which there is a helpful court of appeals case from the district in which a state court is located.
- Less favorable jury pool than in state court.

Investigating Judges Using Online Resources.

Many resources are available online for investigating judges. These resources can help you find information and cases pertaining to your assigned judge. For example, helpful resources at lexis.com include:

- Legal tab> Reference> Law> Judicial Staff Directory.
  - Sample Search: For biographical information on a judge currently sitting on a federal bench, use a NAME segment search: name (First Name/3 Last Name).
- Legal tab> Reference> Biographies> Biographies.
  - Sample Search: For biographical information on a particular judge, use a NAME segment search: name (First Name/3 Last Name).

- Legal tab> Federal Legal--U.S.> Federal Courts By Circuit > Federal Cases By Circuit> 9th Circuit--US Court of Appeals Cases & Bankruptcy Appellate Panel

  - Sample Search: For appellate decisions on a judge's rulings in a particular procedural setting or on a particular substantive topic, use the HISTORY segment with the judge's last name in this format plus words for finding the specific topic, for example: summary judgment and history (First Name/3 Last Name/3 j or judge or hon!).

- News & Business tab> Combined Sources> News, All (English, Full Text)

  - Sample Search: For news articles on a particular judge, try a simple search: First Name/3 Last Name.

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 101, Issues of Justiciability (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

15 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 102, Diversity Jurisdiction (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

15 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 103, Federal Question Jurisdiction (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

15 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 104, Specific Grants of Federal Question Jurisdiction (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

16 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 105, Other Subject Matter Jurisdiction Statutes (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

16 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 106, Supplemental Jurisdiction (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

16 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 108, Territorial Jurisdiction: Jurisdiction Over Persons and Property (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

17 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 110, Determination of Proper Venue (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

17 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 111, Change of Venue (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

17 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 112, Multidistrict Litigation (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 12:10 et seq. (Matthew Bender).

Cross Reference:

For Tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionJurisdictional SourcesStatutory SourcesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject

Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsLimited JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
A. Federal Question Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.03

2.03 CHECKLIST: Jurisdiction.

Consider the following subjects, relating to jurisdiction of the district court, before an action is filed. Similarly these subjects may be used to determine if there are areas in which to challenge the court's jurisdiction over an action that has been filed:

☐ Case or Controversy. Is there a case and controversy?

Discussion:
See § 2.42

☐ Standing. Does the plaintiff have standing to bring the action?

Discussion:
See § 2.43

☐ Ripeness. Is the case ripe for adjudication?

Discussion:
See § 2.44

☐ Mootness. Has the case become moot?

Discussion:
See § 2.45

☐ Federal Question Jurisdiction. Is there federal question jurisdiction?

- Does federal question appear on plaintiff's complaint?
- Under what particular statute, regulation, or constitutional provision does the action arise?
- Is the federal question substantial?
- If no federal question appears on plaintiff's complaint, are state law claims completely preempted by federal law?

Discussion:
See §§ 2.04 -2.09

☐ Diversity Jurisdiction. Is there diversity jurisdiction?

- What is the citizenship of the parties?
- Is there complete diversity?
- Is there diversity at the time of filing?
- Is there more than $75,000 in controversy?
- Is the case a multi-state class action or mass action that will be governed by the Class Actions Fairness Act?
- Has jurisdiction been properly alleged?

Discussion:
See §§ 2.09A -2.25

☐ Political Question Doctrine. Should the court decline jurisdiction because a political question is at issue?

Discussion:
See § 2.46

☐ Abstention. Should the court abstain from exercising jurisdiction because a concurrent state proceeding is pending?

Discussion:
See § 2.47

☐ Supplemental Jurisdiction. Are there claims over which the district court has, or needs to have, supplemental jurisdiction?

Discussion:
See § 2.26

☐ Personal Jurisdiction. Does the court have personal jurisdiction over all the parties?

- ○ Are the parties present in California?
- ○ Have the parties consented to federal court jurisdiction?
- ○ Where are the parties domiciled?
- ○ Does the defendant(s) have minimum contacts with state?
- ○ Is there general jurisdiction over defendants?
- ○ Is there specific jurisdiction over defendants?
- ○ Does the California long-arm statute provide personal jurisdiction over defendants?
- ○ Is there jurisdiction over the property that is the subject of the suit?

Discussion:
See §§ 2.31 -2.41

☐ Service. Can the parties be served?

- ○ How should service be accomplished?
- ○ Was service made on parties present in the state?

Discussion:
See § 2.40

☐ Objecting to Jurisdiction.

- ○ Federal question jurisdiction.
- ○ Diversity jurisdiction.

Discussion:
See §§ 2.09, 2.25

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsSubstantial QuestionsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsWell-Pleaded Complaint RuleCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAbstentionConstitutional LawThe JudiciaryCase or ControversyMootnessGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawThe JudiciaryCase or ControversyRipeness

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
A. Federal Question Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.04

2.04 "Federal Question Jurisdiction" Defined.

District courts have jurisdiction of all civil actions "arising under" the Constitution, laws, or treaties of the United States: so called federal question jurisdiction [US Const, art III, § 2; 28 USC § 1331]. The federal law under which a claim arises must be a direct and essential element of the plaintiff's claim for relief [see King County v. Rasmussen (9th Cir 2002) 299 F3d 1077, 1082 , cert. denied, 538 US 1057 (2003)].

For purposes of the general federal question jurisdiction statute, federal laws include:

- Federal statutes [see Murphey v. Lanier (9th Cir 2000) 204 F3d 911, 914].

- The acts and regulations of administrative agencies unless Congress has expressly exempted them from judicial review [see Califano v. Sanders (1977) 430 US 99, 105, 97 S Ct 980, 51 L Ed2d 192 (effect of elimination of jurisdictional amount requirement for federal question jurisdiction is to confer jurisdiction on federal courts to review agency action); see also Alexander v. Sandoval (2001) 532 US 275, 286-287, 121 S Ct 1511, 149 L Ed2d 517 (Congress's intent to create private right of action and remedy is determinative)].

- Federal common law [National Farmers Union Ins. Cos. v. Crow Tribe of Indians (1985) 471 US 845, 850, 105 S Ct 2447, 85 L Ed2d 818 (federal common law is law of United States for purposes of Section 1331); see Franchise Tax Bd. v. Construction Laborers Vacation Trust (1983) 463 US 1, 8-9, 103 S Ct 2841, 77 L Ed2d 420 (Section 1331 applies when federal law creates claim for relief)].

In the majority of federal question cases, federal statutes will be the source of the claim for relief.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsSubstantial QuestionsCivil

ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsWell-Pleaded Complaint Rule

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
A. Federal Question Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.05

2.05 Establishing Federal Question Jurisdiction.

2.05[1] Plaintiff Must Allege Jurisdiction. The plaintiff's complaint must contain "a short and plain statement" of the grounds on which the court's jurisdiction depends [Fed R Civ P 8(a)(1)]. A plaintiff seeking to invoke federal question jurisdiction must make reference to the specific federal law (e.g., constitutional provision or federal statute) under which relief is sought. If the plaintiff fails to plead adequate facts to support subject matter jurisdiction the complaint must be dismissed [see Fed R Civ P 8(a)].

A plaintiff may bring a federal question suit if either [see Christianson v. Colt Indus. Operating Corp. (1988) 486 US 800, 808, 108 S Ct 2166, 100 L Ed2d 811]:

- The claim for relief is created by federal law [see 2.07[1]].
- The claim for relief requires the resolution of a substantial question of federal law [see 2.07[2]].

In the Ninth Circuit a nonfrivolous assertion of a federal claim suffices to establish federal question jurisdiction, even if that claim is subsequently dismissed on the merits [see Cement Masons Health & Welfare Trust Fund v. Stone (9th Cir 1999) 197 F3d 1003, 1008 , cert. denied, 534 US 1104 (2002)].

Example:
An action for trademark infringement presents a federal question because a federal statute, the Lanham Trademark Act [15 USC § 1051 et seq.], is the source of the right asserted by the plaintiff [28 USC § 1338(b)]. However, there is no federal question jurisdiction over an ownership dispute that does not require the application of any federal law [Postal Instant Press v. Clark (9th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 256, 257].

Warning:
The rule requiring that a pleading stating a claim for relief contain this short and plain statement of the grounds for the court's jurisdiction applies to an original claim, counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party claim, unless the court already has jurisdiction and the claim needs no new grounds of jurisdiction to support it [Fed R Civ P 8(a)(1)].

2.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Jurisdictional Allegation.

2.05[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. In the Central District of California, the allegation of jurisdiction must be plainly stated in the first paragraph of a document invoking the court's jurisdiction [CD Cal Civ LR 8-1].

2.05[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. In the Eastern District of California, the allegation of jurisdiction must [ED Cal Civ LR 204]:

- Be the first allegation of any complaint, petition, counterclaim, crossclaim, or third party claim;
- Be styled "Jurisdiction";
- State the claimed statutory or other basis of federal jurisdiction; and
- State the facts supporting the jurisdictional claim.

2.05[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. In the Northern District of California, each complaint, petition, counterclaim, and crossclaim must include a separate paragraph entitled "Jurisdiction." The paragraph must identify the statutory or other basis for federal jurisdiction and the facts supporting such jurisdiction [ND Cal Civ LR 3-5(a)].

2.05[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. In the Southern District of California, a statement of jurisdiction, including a concise statement of the facts and statutory basis conferring federal jurisdiction, should appear in the second paragraph of the Pretrial Order [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(f.6.c)].

2.05[3] Parties Cannot Confer Jurisdiction. Parties to an action cannot confer jurisdiction on federal courts by stipulation or waiver. If a federal court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, that defect cannot be cured by an agreement between or among the parties that the case may be heard in that court [Insurance Corp. of Ireland v. Compagnie des Bauxites de Guinee (1982) 456 US 694, 702, 102 S Ct 2099, 72 L Ed2d 492]. Indeed, the absence of subject matter jurisdiction may be raised at any time, even after judgment [see Fed R Civ P 12(h)(3)].

2.05[4] Defective Jurisdictional Allegations May Be Amended. A defective allegation of jurisdiction may generally be amended at any stage of the proceedings unless the jurisdictional facts themselves are defective [28 USC § 1653; see Snell v. Cleveland, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 316 F3d 822, 825-828].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 103.32, 103.33 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.05[5] Jurisdiction Is Determined When Suit Is Commenced. The existence of federal question jurisdiction is determined as of the time the suit is commenced [Morongo Band of Mission Indians v. California State Bd. of Equalization (9th Cir 1988) 858 F2d 1376, 1380 , cert. denied, 488 US 1006 (1989)].

2.05[6] Party Invoking Federal Jurisdiction Has Burden of Proof. The party seeking to invoke federal jurisdiction carries the burden of establishing the existence of federal subject matter jurisdiction [see Gaus v. Miles, Inc. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 564, 567 ; but see Berry v. American Express Publ'g (CD Cal 2005) 381 F Supp2d 1118, 1123 (holding that in cases removed under 28 USC §§ 1332(d), 1453, pursuant to Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, the party seeking remand has the burden of proving that the federal court lacks jurisdiction)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsSubstantial QuestionsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsWell-Pleaded Complaint Rule

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
A. Federal Question Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.06

2.06 Invoking Federal Question Jurisdiction.

2.06[1] Constitutional Challenges. A party may invoke federal question jurisdiction by:

- Claiming that a statute is facially inconsistent with the US Constitution [see Clinton v. Babbitt (9th Cir 1999) 180 F3d 1081, 1086-1087 (Navajo Nation members living on Hopi lands sufficiently invoked federal question jurisdiction by alleging that proposed leases violated equal protection regardless of whether members stated claim on which relief could be granted)].

- Claiming that defendant's conduct violated plaintiff's constitutional rights [Presbyterian Church v. United States (9th Cir 1989) 870 F2d 518, 524 (federal jurisdiction over declaratory relief suit alleging violation of the First and Fourth Amendments); Church of Scientology Int'l v. Kolts (CD Cal 1994) 846 F Supp 873, 878 , disapproved on other grounds, Schnabel v. Lui (9th Cir 2002) 302 F3d 1023, 1034].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 103.32[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.06[2] Claims Under Federal Statutes.

2.06[2][a] Statutes Creating Federal Question Causes of Action. Most statutes creating federal question jurisdiction for specific types of actions are located in Title 28 of the United States Code. If the right to the action is limited to a certain class of persons, only those persons may invoke federal question jurisdiction [Franchise Tax Bd. v. Construction Laborers Vacation Trust (1983) 463 US 1, 27, 103 S Ct 2841, 77 L Ed2d 420].

Examples of specific federal question statutes include:

- Actions against foreign states (including political subdivisions and agencies and instrumentalities) pursuant to the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act [28 USC § 1330 (exclusive federal jurisdiction)].

- Admiralty cases (exclusive jurisdiction) [28 USC § 1333].

- Bankruptcy actions (exclusive federal jurisdiction) [28 USC § 1334].

- Suits arising under any act of Congress regulating interstate commerce or protecting trade and commerce against restraints and monopolies (concurrent jurisdiction) [28 USC § 1337].

- Suits arising under patent, copyright, and plant-protection laws (exclusive federal jurisdiction) [28 USC § 1338(a)].

- Suits arising under trademark laws (concurrent jurisdiction) [28 USC § 1338(b)].

- Suits arising under any laws relating to the postal service (concurrent jurisdiction) [28 USC § 1339].

- Actions involving the Internal Revenue Service (exclusive federal jurisdiction) [28 USC § 1340].

- Civil rights actions (concurrent jurisdiction) [28 USC § 1343].

- Certain specific actions against the United States (concurrent jurisdiction) [28 USC §§ 1346(a), (d), 1491], including tort claims (exclusive jurisdiction) [28 USC § 1346(b)]. Claims arising from injuries in foreign countries, regardless of whether the United States is involved in causing the injury, are excepted from the Federal Tort Claims Act waiver of sovereign immunity [28 USC § 2680(k); see Sosa v. Alvarez-Machain (2004) 542 US 692, 124 S Ct 2739, 159 L Ed2d 718, 741].

- Pension benefits actions arising under ERISA [29 USC § 1132; see Aetna Health Inc. v. Davila (2004) 542 US 200, 209, 124 S Ct 2488, 159 L Ed2d 312 (state-law cause of action for denial of benefits under ERISA-regulated plan is completely preempted by ERISA)].

- Employment discrimination actions arising under Title VII [42 USC § 2000e-5(f)].

- Actions for environmental damage brought under CERCLA [42 USC § 9613(b)].

- Actions to enforce an emission standard or limitation under the Clean Air Act [42 USC § 7604; see, e.g., Our Children's Earth Found. v. United States EPA (9th Cir 2003) 527 F3d 842, 846-847 , pet. for cert. filed August 21, 2008 (circuit court had exclusive jurisdiction to determine whether EPA discharged its non-discretionary duties under Clean Water Act)].

- Actions to enforce a regulation under the Safe Drinking Water Act [42 USC 300f-42 USC 300j; see United States v. Alisal Water Corp. (9th Cir 2005) 431 F3d 643, 651 , cert. denied, 547 US 1113 (2006)].

- Actions under the Magnuson-Moss Warranty Improvement Act [15 USC § 2310(d); see, e.g., Romo v. FFG Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2005) 397 F Supp2d 1237 (civil penalties available under state law can be considered in calculating amount in controversy required for subject matter jurisdiction under the Act).

Exceptions:

The Federal Arbitration Act alone is not a basis for subject matter jurisdiction when a petition is brought to confirm or vacate an arbitration award [see Garrett v. Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 7 F3d 882, 883]. An independent basis for federal jurisdiction is required for the court to hear a claim under the Act [Luong v. Circuit City Stores, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 368 F3d 1109, 1111 ; Peabody Coal Co. v. Navajo Nation (9th Cir 2004) 373 F3d 945, 952 n5]. For example, an independent basis is provided when a petition to vacate an arbitration award alleges that the award was rendered in manifest disregard of federal law: that allegation creates federal question subject matter jurisdiction [Luong v. Circuit City Stores, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 368 F3d 1109, 1112 ; Carter v. Health Net of Cal., Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 374 F3d 830, 838 ; see Greenberg v. Bear, Stearns & Co. (2d Cir 2000) 220 F3d 22, 27]. However, an action falling under the Convention on the Recognition and Enforcement of Foreign Arbitral Awards comprises a federal question [9 USC § 203]. An action removable based on the convention must "relate" to an arbitration agreement between the parties to the action, not just to an arbitration agreement concerning the subject matter of the action [see Atgames Holdings Ltd. v. Radica Games Ltd. (CD Cal 2005) 394 F Supp2d 1252, 1254-1256 ; see also Beiser v. Weyler (5th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 665, 670].

Also, the Declaratory Judgment Act alone does not confer subject matter jurisdiction; an independent basis for federal jurisdiction must be pleaded [see Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. v. Liberatore (9th Cir 2005) 408 F3d 1158, 1161].

By declaration of Congress, some types of actions are defined to "arise under" federal law without regard to the claim that is the subject of the suit, such as suits involving the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation and the Resolution Trust Corporation [see, e.g., FSLIC v. Ticktin (1989) 490 US 82, 83, 109 S Ct 1626, 104 L Ed2d 73].

Noncombatant foreign nationals held in federal custody anywhere that the United States exercises exclusive jurisdiction and control are covered by the federal habeas corpus statute [see 28 USC § 2241], as well as the general federal question statute and the Alien Tort Statute [see 28 USC §§ 1331, 1350]. Accordingly, federal district courts have federal question jurisdiction over these actions [Rasul v. Bush (2004) 542 US 466, 124 S Ct 2686, 159 L Ed2d 548, 563].

Exception:

Federal district courts only have jurisdiction over habeas corpus applications filed by aliens detained by the Department of Defense at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba to the extent provided by the Detainee Treatment Act of 2005 [see 28 USC § 2241(e); but see Hamdan v. Rumsfeld (2006) 548 US 557, 126 S Ct 2749, 165 L Ed 2d 723, 741-749 (Detainee Treatment Act does not strip federal courts' jurisdiction of cases pending on December 30, 2005, the date of Act's enactment)].

Cross References:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, § 103.32[2]; Ch. 104, Specific Grants of Federal Question Jurisdiction; 16 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 105, Other Subject Matter Jurisdiction Statutes (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.06[2][b] Statutes Creating Implied Right of Action. A federal statute may give rise to federal question jurisdiction by expressly or impliedly creating a right to a claim for relief. A private right of action may be implied from a federal statute if each of the following conditions are met [Cort v. Ash (1975) 422 US 66, 78, 95 S Ct 2080, 45 L Ed2d 26 ; see Opera Plaza Residential Parcel Homeowners Ass'n v. Hoang (9th Cir 2004) 376 F3d 831, 834-835]:

- The plaintiff is a member of the class for whose benefit the statute was enacted.
- Congress intended to create a private right of action.
- A private right of action is consistent with the underlying purpose of the legislative scheme.
- The claim for relief is not one traditionally delegated to state law and it would not be inappropriate to infer a claim for relief based solely on federal law.

The critical inquiry is Congressional intent: absent a clearly expressed Congressional intent both to create a private right of action and to create a private remedy, no such right of action may be implied [Alexander v. Sandoval (2001) 532 US 275, 286-287, 121 S Ct 1511, 149 L Ed2d 517].

Statutory standing is a type of prudential standing [Potter v. Hughes (9th Cir 2008) 546 F3d 1051, 1055].

Example:

Federal employees are not entitled under Title VII of the Civil Service Reform Act of 1978 to a private right of action against an employee union for breach of duty of fair representation because neither the language nor the structure of the Act show any congressional intent to provide such a private right of action. Although the duty is expressly recognized in the Act, the Act expressly provides an administrative remedy, but nothing more. The legislative history does not indicate that Congress contemplated direct judicial enforcement of the union's duty [Karahalios v. National Fed'n of Fed. Employees (1989) 489 US 527, 532-533, 109 S Ct 1282, 103 L Ed2d 539 ; see also Rivera v. Nibco, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 364 F3d 1057, 1067 , cert. denied, 544 U.S. 905 (2005)].

Strategic Point:

If an action cannot be removed to federal court on the basis of federal question jurisdiction because the applicable federal statute does not create a private right of action, a party may be able to invoke diversity jurisdiction to justify removal [see Webb v. Smart Document Solutions, LLC (9th Cir 2007) 499 F3d 1078, 1083 (removal was appropriate based on diversity jurisdiction, even though lack of private right of action to enforce HIPAA would have foreclosed claim based on federal question jurisdiction under 28 USC § 1331)].

Cross References.

Analysis of diversity jurisdiction, see § 2.09A et seq. Prudential standing, see § 2.43[4].

2.06[3] Claims Under Administrative Acts and Regulations. A plaintiff's claim may invoke federal question jurisdiction if the plaintiff is adversely affected by federal agency action in violation of the law [see 5 USC § 702; see also Abbott Labs. v. Gardner (1967) 387 US 136, 140, 87 S Ct 1507, 18 L Ed2d 681].

The Supreme Court has held that challenges to Medicare Act regulations must be made through the review channel provided under the Act, rather than through an independent federal question lawsuit [Shalala v. Illinois Council on Longterm Care, Inc. (2000) 529 US 1, 20-24, 120 S Ct 1084, 146 L Ed2d 1].

Federal question jurisdiction applies to the acts and regulations of administrative agencies unless Congress has specifically exempted them from judicial review [see Califano v. Sanders (1977) 430 US 99, 105, 97 S Ct 980, 51 L Ed2d 192]. There is a strong presumption that Congress intended judicial review of administrative actions unless a contrary intent is clear from the statute or legislative history [Bowenv. Michigan Acad. of Family Physicians (1986) 476 US 667, 670-674, 106 S Ct 2133, 90 L Ed2d 623 (Medicare regulations)]. When Congress intends that a statute be enforced through a private claim for relief, Congress also intends that regulations providing authoritative interpretations of that statute be subject to private enforcement [Alexander v. Sandoval (2001) 532 US 275, 284-289, 121 S Ct 1511, 149 L Ed2d 517].

Strategic Point:

If a federal statute does not create a private right of action, a party aggrieved by a federal agency's acts may pursue its remedies under the Administrative Procedure Act if both federal question jurisdiction [see San Carlos Apache Tribe v. United States (9th Cir 2005) 417 F3d 1091, 1099], and prudential standing [see Ashley Creek Phosphate Co. v. Norton (9th Cir 2005) 420 F3d 934, 939-940 , cert. denied, 126 S. Ct. 2967 (2006)] exist.

2.06[4] Claims Under Federal Common Law. Federal question jurisdiction is rarely invoked by alleging violation of federal common law. The instances in which federal jurisdiction may be premised on federal common law fall into essentially two categories [Texas Indus., Inc. v. Radcliff Materials, Inc. (1981) 451 US 630, 641, 101 S Ct 2061, 68 L Ed2d 500]:

- Cases in which a federal rule of decision is necessary to protect uniquely federal interests.
- Cases in which Congress has given the courts the power to develop substantive law.

Example:

A district court had jurisdiction over a non-Indian father's federal common law claim for relief challenging a tribal court's jurisdiction to decide a custody dispute over his daughter [Boozer v. Wilder (9th Cir 2004) 381 F3d 931, 935].

Unless a claim presents an issue requiring construction of an act of Congress or unless a distinctive policy or an act of Congress requires that federal principles control the disposition of the claim, there is no independent claim for federal question jurisdiction [see Patrickson v. Dole Food Co. (9th Cir 2001) 251 F3d 795, 799-803 , aff'd in part and cert. dismissed in part, 538 US 468 (2003)].

"Uniquely federal interests" are present if there is an overriding federal interest in the need for a uniform rule of decision, or if the controversy touches basic interests of federalism [Illinois v. City of Milwaukee (1972) 406 US 91, 105-106 n6, 92 S Ct 1385, 31 L Ed2d 712].

The vesting of jurisdiction does not give rise to authority to formulate federal common law; federal courts are not free to develop a common law [Texas Indus., Inc. v. Radcliff Materials, Inc. (1981) 451 US 630, 641, 101 S Ct 2061, 68 L Ed2d 500]. For example, a right of action for contribution is neither authorized nor implied by the antitrust laws, and none exists in federal common law [Texas Indus., Inc. v. Radcliff Materials, Inc. (1981) 451 US 630, 639, 101 S Ct 2061, 68 L Ed2d 500]. Federal courts may develop substantive rules of decision based on federal common law in the following narrow areas [Texas Indus., Inc. v. Radcliff Materials, Inc. (1981) 451 US 630, 641, 101 S Ct 2061, 68 L Ed2d 500]:

- Cases concerned with the rights and obligations of the United States.
- Interstate and international disputes implicating the conflicting rights of states or relations with foreign nations.
- Admiralty cases.

That a lawsuit involves a uniquely federal interest is insufficient to invoke federal common law jurisdiction; displacement of state law will only occur if a significant conflict exists between an identifiable federal policy or interest and the operation of state law, or the application of state law would frustrate specific objectives of federal legislation [Boyle v. United Techs. Corp. (1988) 487 US 500, 507, 108 S Ct 2510, 101 L Ed2d 442 (imposition of civil liability on defense contractors for government work involves uniquely federal interest as it directly affects terms of government contracts); see Wallis v. Pan Am. Petroleum Corp. (1966) 384 US 63, 68, 86 S Ct 1301, 16 L Ed2d 369 (guiding principal is significant conflict between some federal policy or interest and use of state law)].

Congress has given the courts the power to develop substantive law in suits under the Labor Management Relations Act and the Sherman Act [see Texas Indus., Inc. v. Radcliff Materials, Inc. (1981) 451 US 630, 642-643, 101 S Ct 2061, 68 L Ed2d 500].

When federal common law governs a case, that case necessarily presents a federal question within the subject matter jurisdiction of the federal court system just as if the case were controlled by federal statute [Battle v. Seibels Bruce Ins. Co. (4th Cir 2002) 288 F3d 596, 606 (federal question jurisdiction over flood insurance claims as policy was issued under national program and claims necessarily required resolution of substantial question of federal common law)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsSubstantial QuestionsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsWell-Pleaded Complaint RuleCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsExclusive JurisdictionCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsEnvironmental LawFederal & State InterrelationshipsFederal PreemptionTortsPublic Entity LiabilityLiabilityFederal Tort Claims ActGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
A. Federal Question Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.07

2.07 Determining Federal Question Jurisdiction.

2.07[1] Applying "Arising Under" Test.

2.07[1][a] Federal Law Creates Cause of Action. If the claim for relief is created by federal law, as it is in most federal question suits, the "arising under" test is satisfied [Merrell Dow Pharms., Inc. v. Thompson (1986) 478 US 804, 808, 106 S Ct 3229, 92 L Ed2d 650 ; see Millers Nat'l Ins. Co. v. Axel's Express, Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 851 F2d 267, 270-271 , cert. denied, 489 US 1012 (1989)]. Under the "arising under" test, any non-frivolous assertion of a federal claim suffices to establish federal question jurisdiction, even if that claim is later dismissed on the merits [Trustees of the Screen Actors Guild-Producers Pension & Health Plans v. NYCA, Inc. (9th Cir 2009) 572 F3d 771, 775].

Cross Reference:

Dismissal for failing to meet "arising under" test, see § 2.07[1][c].

2.07[1][b] Resolution of State Law Claim Requires Resolution of Substantial Issue of Federal Law. If state law creates the cause of action, the "arising under" test asks whether that cause of action poses a substantial federal question [Smith v. Kansas City Title & Trust Co. (1921) 255 US 180, 201, 41 S Ct 243, 65 L Ed 577 ; Wander v. Kaus (9th Cir 2002) 304 F3d 856, 858 (mere presence of federal issue in state cause of action insufficient); *Altavion, Inc. v. Konica-Minolta Sys. Lab., Inc. (ND Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 37768, at *13-17 (plaintiff's claims did not "arise under" federal patent law, even if patent law issues were necessary element of plaintiff's theory, because plaintiff's alternative law theory based on state trade secrets law was sufficient to support its claims)].

To determine when the federal element is deemed sufficiently substantial, federal courts examine congressional intent and the nature of the federal interest at stake [Merrell Dow Pharms., Inc. v. Thompson (1986) 478 US 804, 810, 813-814, 106 S Ct 3229, 92 L Ed2d 650].

For federal question jurisdiction to arise under a state law claim, the claim must necessarily raise a federal issue that is actually disputed and substantial. In addition, the federal court must be capable of addressing the question without disrupting "any congressionally approved balance of federal and state judicial responsibilities" [Grable & Sons Metal Prods. v. Darue Eng'g & Mfg. (2005) 545 US 308, 125 S Ct 2363, 162 L Ed2d 257, 264-265 ; see Shanks v. Dressel (9th Cir 2008) 540 F3d 1082, 1093-1094 (city municipal code did not create federal subject matter jurisdiction); Williston Basin Interstate Pipeline Co. v. An Exclusive Gas Storage Leasehold & Easement in the Cloverly Subterranean Geological Formation (9th Cir 2008) 524 F3d 1090, 1102 (state law negligence and conversion claims alleging defendant's gas production wells were causing loss of stored natural gas did not identify "a substantial question" of federal law, applying Grable & Sons)]. Finally, a federal cause of action is not a necessary condition for exercising jurisdiction over state-law claims that implicate significant federal issues [Grable & Sons Metal Prods. v. Darue Eng'g & Mfg. (2005) 545 US 308, 125 S Ct 2363, 162 L Ed2d 257, 266-267].

Example:

The Internal Revenue Service seized real property owned by plaintiff to satisfy a federal tax delinquency. After the sale of the property to defendant, plaintiff brought a quiet title action in state court claiming that defendant's title was invalid because plaintiff did not receive notice of the sale in the manner required by federal law. Defendant removed the case to district court as presenting a federal question because the title claim depended on an interpretation of federal tax law. The United States Supreme Court agreed with the district court and the Sixth Circuit that federal question jurisdiction was warranted [Grable & Sons Metal Prods. v. Darue Eng'g & Mfg. (2005) 545 US 308, 125 S Ct 2363, 162 L Ed2d 257, 265-268]:

- Whether plaintiff received the required notice was an essential element of his quiet title claim;
- The federal statute's meaning was actually disputed and presented a substantial issue of federal law;
- A quiet title action would rarely raise a federal issue, thus the exercise of jurisdiction would have a minimal impact on the balance of federal and state judicial responsibilities; and
- The fact that no quiet title action could be brought against defendant under federal law did not preclude the exercise of jurisdiction; the existence of a federal cause of action was not a prerequisite to the exercise of jurisdiction under the circumstances.

Strategic Point:

The Supreme Court has clarified Grable & Sons, observing that the case covers only a "special and small category" of federal question jurisdiction [Empire Healthchoice Assurance, Inc. v. McVeigh (2006) 547 US 677, 126 S Ct 2121, 165 L Ed2d 131, 149]. Federal issues posing pure questions of law whose resolution "would be controlling in numerous other cases" are more likely to qualify as substantial federal issues for purposes of federal question jurisdiction. Conversely, "situation-specific" federal issues are less likely to provide a basis for exercising jurisdiction over a state law claim [Empire Healthchoice Assurance, Inc. v. McVeigh (2006) 547 US 677, 126 S Ct 2121, 165 L Ed2d 131, 150 ; see, e.g., In re NSA Telcomms. Records Order Litig. (ND Cal 2007) 483 F Supp2d 934, 941-943 (plaintiffs' claims gave rise to federal jurisdiction under Grable's "embedded federal issue" doctrine based on application of state secrets privilege)].

2.07[1][c] Dismissal for Failing to Meet "Arising Under" Test. Dismissal for lack of substantiality is a dismissal for lack of subject matter jurisdiction. Dismissal for lack of subject matter jurisdiction is proper only when the claim is foreclosed by prior Supreme Court decisions, "clearly appears to be immaterial and made solely for the purpose of obtaining jurisdiction," is "wholly insubstantial and frivolous," or otherwise does not involve a federal controversy [Steel Co. v. Citizens for a Better Env't (1998) 523 US 83, 89, 118 S Ct 1003, 140 L Ed2d 210 (quoting Bell v. Hood (1946) 327 US 678, 682-683, 66 S Ct 773, 90 L Ed 939); see 28 USC §§ 1331, 1343].

Example:

Plaintiff's 42 USC § 1983 claim alleging that defendant city's towing its trailers for being parked in violation of a city ordinance violated its due process rights was so implausible that it did not present a federal question supporting subject matter jurisdiction [Lone Star Sec. & Video, Inc. v. City of L.A. (9th Cir 2009) 572 F3d 685, 692-693].

Because the inquiry goes to the merits of the allegations in the pleadings, the dismissal is equivalent to a dismissal for failure to state a claim on which relief may be granted. [see Bell v. Hood (1946) 327 US 678, 682, 66 S Ct 773, 90 L Ed 939 ("If the court ... exercise[s] its jurisdiction to determine that the allegations in the complaint do not state a ground for relief, then dismissal of the case would be on the merits, not for want of jurisdiction.")]. However, it is not a dismissal on the merits and therefore res judicata does not apply [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1); Bell v. Hood (1946) 327 US 678, 683, 66 S Ct 773, 90 L Ed 939].

Strategic Point:

When a claim is dismissed for lack of subject matter jurisdiction all supplemental claims must be dismissed because the court never had proper jurisdiction over the case [see Bell v. Hood (1946) 327 US 678, 683, 66 S Ct 773, 90 L Ed 939].

2.07[2] Applying Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule.

2.07[2][a] Violation of Federal Law Must Be Alleged. Not only must a claim arise under federal law [see 2.07[1]], the plaintiff must allege federal question jurisdiction and the specific federal law under which the claim arises must appear on the face of the plaintiff's well-pleaded complaint [see Aetna Health Inc. v. Davila (2004) 542US 200, 124 S Ct 2488, 159 L Ed2d 312, 326 ("[o]rdinarily, determining whether a particular case arises under federal law turns on the 'well-pleaded complaint' rule"); Ansley v. Ameriquest Mortgage Co. (9th Cir 2003) 340 F3d 858, 861 ("In scrutinizing a complaint in search of a federal question, a court applies the well-pleaded complaint rule"); Fax Telecommunicaciones, Inc. v. AT&T (2d Cir 1998) 138 F3d 479, 486].

A plaintiff may not rely on federal issues anticipated or raised in the defendant's answer to establish federal question jurisdiction [see Oklahoma Tax Comm'n v. Graham (1989) 489 US 838, 840-841, 109 S Ct 1519, 103 L Ed2d 924 ; see also Franchise Tax Bd. v. Construction Laborers Vacation Trust (1983) 463 US 1, 10-11, n9, 103 S Ct 2841, 77 L Ed2d 420 (federal defense insufficient)]. A defendant cannot create federal jurisdiction by inserting a federal question into the plaintiff's case [Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 399, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318 ; see Karambelas v. Hughes Aircraft Co. (9th Cir 1993) 992 F2d 971, 974-975]. A federal counterclaim is insufficient to establish federal question jurisdiction [Holmes Grp. v. Vornado Air Circulation Sys., Inc. (2002) 535 US 826, 122 S Ct 1889, 1894, 153 L Ed2d 13].

2.07[2][b] Declaratory Relief Plaintiff Must State That Anticipated Suit Arises Under Federal Law. The plaintiff in a declaratory relief action must state in his or her well-pleaded complaint that the underlying suit anticipated from the defendant is one that arises under federal law [see Fed R Civ P 57; Skelly Oil Co. v. Phillips Petroleum Co. (1950) 339 US 667, 673-674, 70 S Ct 876, 94 L Ed 1194 (federal declaratory judgment suits); Franchise Tax Bd. v. Construction Laborers Vacation Trust (1983) 463 US 1, 3-6, 103 S Ct 2841, 77 L Ed2d 420 (state declaratory judgment actions in state court); see also Mobil Oil Corp. v. City of Long Beach (9th Cir 1985) 772 F2d 534, 539-540 (federal issue did not constitute necessary element of declaratory-relief defendant's theoretical well-pleaded complaint for coercive relief under state law)].

Federal jurisdiction is proper if the underlying claim for relief arises under federal law and appears in plaintiff's well-pleaded complaint [see Morongo Band of Mission Indians v. California State Bd. of Equalization (9th Cir 1988) 858 F2d 1376, 1384-1386 , cert. denied, 488 US 1006 (1999) ; see also Northeast Fed. Credit Union v. Neves (1st Cir 1988) 837 F2d 531, 534-536].

2.07[2][c] Artful Pleading Doctrine As Exception to Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule. A plaintiff is free to forgo federal causes of action and only plead state law claims [see Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 398-399, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318]. However, a plaintiff cannot avoid federal court simply by omitting to plead a necessary federal question in the complaint; in such a case the necessary federal question will be deemed to be alleged in the complaint. This artful pleading doctrine operates as a corollary or exception to the well-pleaded complaint rule [Franchise Tax Bd. v. Construction Laborers Vacation Trust (1983) 463 US 1, 22, 103 S Ct 2841, 77 L Ed2d 420]. The Ninth Circuit limits the application of the artful pleading doctrine to situations in which federal law not only displaces state law but also confers a federal remedy [Hunter v. United Van Lines (9th Cir 1984) 746 F2d 635, 642-643 , cert. denied, 474 US 1014 (1985)].

2.07[2][d] Complete Preemption As Exception to Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule. A second corollary to the well-pleaded complaint rule is that a federal question will be found when Congress has so completely preempted an area of law such that any claims asserted in this area are necessarily federal in nature. Federal preemption is ordinarily a federal defense that does not give rise to federal question jurisdiction [see Franchise Tax Bd. v. Construction Laborers Vacation Trust (1983) 463 US 1, 21-22, 103 S Ct 2841, 77 L Ed2d 420]. However, in the few areas in which Congress has completely preempted state law, federal question jurisdiction exists even when the complaint asserts only state law claims [Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Taylor (1987) 481 US 58, 63-64, 107 S Ct 1542, 95 L Ed2d 55 (ordinary preemption insufficient); see Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 393, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318].

Complete preemption arises only in extraordinary situations. The test for complete preemption is "whether Congress clearly manifested an intent to convert state law claims into federal question claims" [Ansley v. Ameriquest Mortgage Co. (9th Cir 2003) 340 F3d 858, 862 ; *see Serrano v. Am. Airlines, Inc. (CD Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 40466, at *4-5 (collecting cases discussing distinction between jurisdictional complete preemption and ordinary preemption)]. The complete preemption exception is applied primarily under § 301 of the Labor Management Relations Act when a state law claim is based on a collective bargaining agreement [Valles v. Ivy Hill Corp. (9th Cir. 2005) 410 F3d 1071, 1075].

Distinguish:

Implied preemption is not the same thing as an implied federal claim. Implied preemption occurs when Congress has not expressly stated an intent to preempt state law in a statutory scheme, but its intent to have federal authority occupy the field can be implied from the extent of regulation [see, e.g., Schweiker v. Chilicky (1988) 487 US 412, 108 S Ct 2460, 101 L Ed2d 370 (extensive regulatory scheme for Social Security); Montalvo v. Spirit Airlines (9th Cir 2007) 508 F3d 464, 468 (comprehensiveness of federal air safety regulations demonstrated congressional intent to occupy entire field and thus preempt state regulation of air safety)]. An implied federal claim may be inferred from Congressional action, largely from the language of a statute, the statutory structure, or legislative history [Karahalios v. National Fed'n of Fed. Employees (1989) 489 US 527, 532-533, 109 S Ct 1282, 103 L Ed2d 539 ; see 2.06[2][a]].

Conflict preemption occurs when compliance with both state and federal law is impossible or when the state law is an obstacle to "the accomplishment and execution of the full purposes and objectives" of Congress [In re Cybernetic Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 252 F3d 1039, 1045-1046]. For conflict preemption to apply, a particular state statute need not be in conflict with federal law. Rather, causes of action relying on state common law may be preempted if they present obstacles to federal objectives [Bennett v. T-Mobile United States, Inc. (CD Cal 2008) 597 F Supp2d 1050, 1052 (conflict preemption barred plaintiff's claims of injury by electromagnetic radiation emanating from cell phones, because Congress and Federal Communications Commission have long regulated telecommunications industry generally, and emissions from cell phones specifically)].

Examples:

The National Labor Relations Act (NLRA) (29 USC § 151 et seq.) contains no express pre-emption provision, but "Congress implicitly mandated two types of pre-emption as necessary to implement federal labor policy" [Chamber of Commerce of U.S. v. Brown (2008) 554 US 60, 128 S Ct 2408, 171 L Ed2d 264, 271-272]. The first, the "Garmon pre-emption," prohibiting states from regulating activities that are arguably protected or prohibited by 29 USC § 157 (permitting employees to unionize) and 29 USC § 158 (prohibiting interference with that right), is intended to "preclude state interference with the National Labor Relations Board's interpretation and active enforcement" of the NLRA [see San Diego Bldg. Trades Council v. Garmon, 359 US 236, 244, 79 S Ct 773, 3 L Ed2d 775 (1959)]. The second, the "Machinists pre-emption," prohibiting state regulation of areas outside the four corners of the NLRA if Congress intended them "to be controlled by the free play of economic forces[,]" reflects congressional intent to occupy the field of labor dispute regulation [Machinists v. Wis. Employment Relations Comm'n (1976) 427 US 132, 140, 96 S Ct 2548, 49 L Ed2d 396 ; see, e.g., Chamber of Commerce of U.S. v. Brown, 554 US 60, 128 S Ct 2408, 171 L Ed2d 264, 271-272 (2008) (California statutes prohibiting several classes of employers that received state funds from using those funds to assist, promote, or deter union organizing were preempted by NLRA, because they regulated employer speech about union organizing)].

The Federal Aviation Act of 1958 (FAA) preempts the entire field of aviation safety through implied field preemption, because the FAA and its implementing regulations "establish complete and thorough safety standards for air travel, which are not subject to supplementation by ... state laws" [Montalvo v. Spirit Airlines (9th Cir 2007) 508 F3d 464, 468 ; cf. Martin v. Midwest Express Holdings, Inc. (9th Cir 2009) 555 F3d 806, 811-812 (FAA did not preempt airline passenger's personal injury claim alleging that airline's stairs were defectively designed)].

Cross References:

15 Moore's Federal Practice §§ 103.31, 103.33, 103.40 -103.47 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Form of notice of motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8.33.

2.07[3] Applying Federal Question Jurisdiction in Action Against Native Sovereign. The mere fact that the defendant is a Native sovereign does not raise a federal question. When suit is brought against a Native sovereign, an independent basis for federal jurisdiction must exist [Peabody Coal Co. v. Navajo Nation (9th Cir 2004) 373 F3d 945, 949 ; Gila River Indian Cmty. v. Henningson, Durham & Richardson (9th Cir 1980) 626 F2d 708, 714].

Example:

In an action challenging the validity of a contract with a Native sovereign, a federal question will exist if the contract's validity depends on the application of federal statutory or common law [see Peabody Coal Co. v. Navajo Nation (9th Cir 2004) 373 F3d 945, 949-951].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsSubstantial QuestionsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsWell-Pleaded Complaint RuleCivil

ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal Questions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
A. Federal Question Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.08

2.08 Distinguishing Concurrent and Exclusive Federal Jurisdiction.

2.08[1] Concurrent Jurisdiction With State Courts. In many cases, the jurisdiction exercised by the federal courts is concurrent with that of the state courts and the plaintiff may choose to proceed in either state or federal court [Gulf Offshore Co. v. Mobil Oil Corp. (1981) 453 US 473, 478, 101 S Ct 2870, 69 L Ed2d 784].

If the plaintiff chooses state court, the defendant may try to remove the case to federal court [see 28 USC § 1441].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of removal, see Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court.

2.08[2] When Federal Forum Is Exclusive. Examples of exclusive federal jurisdiction include:

- Admiralty and maritime [28 USC § 1333].
- Bankruptcy [28 USC § 1334].
- Patents and copyrights [28 USC § 1338].
- Actions against foreign states pursuant to the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act [28 USC § 1330].

Cross References:

Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court.

15 Moore's Federal Practice see §§ 103.31, 103.33, 103.40 -103.47 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionJurisdictional SourcesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsConcurrent JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsExclusive Jurisdiction

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
A. Federal Question Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.09

2.09 Challenging Federal Question Jurisdiction.

2.09[1] Methods for Challenge. Federal question jurisdiction may be challenged by any of the following:

- Motion for Rule 12(b) dismissal [Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1)].
- Answer [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(3)].
- Motion for relief from judgment [see Fed R Civ P 60(b)(6); see, e.g., Bank of Montreal v. Olafsson (6th Cir 1981) 648 F2d 1078, 1079 , cert. denied, 454 US 1084 (1981)].
- In a collateral proceeding, but only if the party did not appear in the underlying action and a default judgment was entered [see Chicot County Drainage Dist. v. Baxter State Bank (1940) 308 US 371, 378, 60 S Ct 317, 84 L Ed 329].

Warning:

The court may dismiss the action for lack of subject matter jurisdiction sua sponte [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(3); see, e.g., Scholastic Entm't, Inc. v. Fox Entm't Group, Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 336 F3d 982, 985].

Cross Reference:

Rule 12 dismissal, Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12.

2.09[2] Generally Challenge May Be Made at Any Time. Any party, including the party that invoked federal question jurisdiction, may bring a motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction at any time during the proceedings (including appellate proceedings) [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(3); see also American Fire & Cas. Co. v. Finn (1951) 341 US 6, 17-18, 71 S Ct 534, 95 L Ed 702 (superseded by statute on different grounds)].

2.09[3] LOCAL RULE: CD Cal Requirements. In the Central District of California, if some question of subject matter jurisdiction is raised by any party, that party must address the jurisdictional issue by motion to be heard before the Final Pretrial Conference [CD Cal Civ LR 16-2.1].

Cross Reference:

Form of notice of motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, § 8.33.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsSubstantial QuestionsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsWell-Pleaded Complaint RuleCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsFailures to State ClaimsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsMotions to DismissCivil ProcedureDismissalsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.09A

2.09A CHECKLIST: Analyzing Diversity Jurisdiction.

Consider the following subjects, relating to jurisdiction of the district court, before an action is filed. Similarly these subjects may be used to determine if there are areas in which to challenge the court's jurisdiction over an action that has been filed:

☐ Does the nature of the case require only minimal diversity?

Discussion:
See §§ 2.24, 2.24A

☐ Does the amount in controversy exceed $75,000?

Discussion:
See §§ 2.21, 2.23

☐ Is the citizenship of all plaintiffs diverse from that of any defendant?

- ○ Is a nondiverse party omitted from the complaint?
- ○ Are the parties aligned according to their real interests?
- ○ Determine the effect if an alien is a party?
- ○ Determine the effect if Does are parties? (e.g., if they will not defeat diversity)

Discussion:
See §§ 2.10, 2.11, 2.16, 2.20

☐ What is each party's domicile at the time of the suit, as determined by:

- ○ Current residence?
- ○ Voting registration?
- ○ Location of real and personal property?
- ○ Location of brokerage and bank accounts?
- ○ Location of spouse and family?
- ○ Place of employment or business?
- ○ Driver's license and auto registration?
- ○ Jurisdiction where taxes are paid?
- ○ Intent to remain?

Discussion:
See § 2.17

☐ If corporation is a party:

- ○ Where is it incorporated?
- ○ Where is its principal place of business?

Discussion:
See § 2.18

☐ What is the citizenship of each member of a limited partnership or unincorporated association?

Discussion:
See § 2.19

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity

JurisdictionAmount in ControversyGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionFamily Law & Probate Exceptions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.10

2.10 Diverse Citizenship Is Required.

2.10[1] Diversity Statute Is Strictly Construed. The diversity statute is strictly construed; any doubts about jurisdiction are resolved against the exercise of federal court jurisdiction [China Basin Props., Ltd. v. Allendale Mut. Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1992) 818 F Supp 1301, 1303].

A suit may be brought in federal court invoking diversity jurisdiction if the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and is between the following parties:

- Citizens of different states [28 USC § 1332(a)(1); see Mutuelles Unies v. Kroll & Linstrom (9th Cir 1992) 957 F2d 707, 712].
- Citizens of a state and citizens or subjects of a foreign state [28 USC § 1332(a)(2)].
- Citizens of different states with citizens or subjects of a foreign state as additional parties [28 USC § 1332(a)(3)].
- A foreign state as plaintiff and citizens of a state or different states [28 USC § 1332(a)(4)].

The term "states" for diversity purposes includes the United States territories, the District of Columbia, and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico [28 USC § 1332(e)].

Distinguish:
Neither the United States nor any individual state is a citizen of any state [Moor v. County of Alameda (1973) 411 US 693, 698, 93 S Ct 1785, 36 L Ed2d 596 ; see Morongo Band of Mission Indians v. California State Bd. of Equalization (9th Cir 1988) 858 F2d 1376, 1380-1382 , cert. denied, 488 US 1006 (1999) (no diversity jurisdiction over state agency that is state alter ego or over state officer in official capacity)].

Exception:

Special jurisdictional requirements apply to multistate class actions and mass actions. For further discussion see 2.24A.

Warning:

Shareholder derivative actions can present complicated identification issues [see Diaz v. Davis (In re Digimarc Corp. Derivative Litig.) (9th Cir 2008) 549 F3d 1223, 1234-1235 (corporation was improperly realigned as plaintiff for diversity purposes); 6 Moore's Federal Practice, § 26.41[10] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.)].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice §§ 102.10 -102.13 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.10[2] Complete Diversity Is Required in Most Cases. Diversity jurisdiction generally requires that all plaintiffs be from different states from all defendants [Strawbridge v. Curtiss (1806) 7 US (3 Cranch) 267, 267, 2 L Ed 435 ; see State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Tashire (1967) 386 US 523, 530-531, 87 S Ct 1199, 18 L Ed2d 270 ; Allstate Ins. Co. v. Hughes (9th Cir 2004) 358 F3d 1089, 1095 ("Diversity jurisdiction under § 1332 requires complete diversity of citizenship[;] each of the plaintiffs must be a citizen of a different state than each of the defendants")]. In general, diversity jurisdiction is determined as of the time the complaint is filed [Co-Efficient Energy Sys. v. CSL Indus., Inc. (9th Cir 1987) 812 F2d 556, 557].

Warning:

The Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act of 2002 [see 107 PL 273, § 11020, 116 Stat 1758 (effective Nov. 2, 2002)] provides special jurisdictional and procedural provisions for civil cases arising from accidents that result in at least 75 deaths [see 28 USC §§ 1369, 1391(g), 1441(e), (f), 1697, 1785]. The legislation contains modified requirements for diversity jurisdiction. For further discussion, see § 2.24.

The Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4] provides special jurisdictional and procedural provisions, including modified requirements for diversity jurisdiction, for certain class actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005, in which the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $5 million [see 28 USC § 1332(d)(2)]. For further discussion, see § 2.24A.

Subsequent changes in citizenship do not ordinarily affect jurisdiction [Faysound Ltd. v. United Coconut Chem. Inc. (9th Cir 1989) 878 F2d 290, 296]. However, if an amendment joins new parties, diversity must exist at the time of amendment [Lewis v. Lewis (9th Cir 1966) 358 F2d 495, 502 ; China Basin Props., Ltd. v. Allendale Mut. Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1992) 818 F Supp 1301, 1303].

If the court realigns the parties, the court must reassess diversity jurisdiction at that time. If there is no complete diversity after realignment, diversity jurisdiction is lost [City of Indianapolis v. Chase Nat'l Bank (1941) 314 US 63, 68, 62 S Ct 15, 86 L Ed 47]. However, subsequent events do not deprive a court of jurisdiction over parties who were properly aligned initially [Richmond Steel, Inc. v. Legal & Gen. Assurance Soc'y (DPR 1992) 799 F Supp 234, 239].

A federal court has discretion to drop a nondiverse party who is found not to be indispensable to the action under Rule 19 [Fed R Civ P 19, 21; see 2.15].

Consider:

Note that in a diversity action, a federal court lacks supplemental jurisdiction over certain claims if exercising supplemental jurisdiction over the claim would defeat diversity [28 USC § 1367(b); Owen

Equip. & Erection Co. v. Kroger (1978) 437 US 365, 373-377, 98 S Ct 2396, 57 L Ed2d 274 ; see § 2.28[1]].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 102.16, 102.20 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.10[3] Jurisdiction Is Determined When Suit Is Commenced. Generally, diversity jurisdiction is determined as of the time the complaint is filed. This is true regardless of the cost or difficulty it imposes [Grupo Dataflux v. Atlas Global Group, L.P. (2004) 541 US 567, 573-577, 124 S Ct 1920, 158 L Ed2d 866 (rejecting exception for cases that have already been tried); Co-Efficient Energy Sys. v. CSL Indus., Inc. (9th Cir 1987) 812 F2d 556, 557]. Subsequent changes in citizenship do not ordinarily affect jurisdiction [Faysound Ltd. v. United Coconut Chem. Inc. (9th Cir 1989) 878 F2d 290, 296], although exceptions exist when there is a change of parties, such as the addition of defendants in an amended complaint [see Lewis v. Lewis (9th Cir 1966) 358 F2d 495, 502], and in removal actions [see Caterpillar Inc. v. Lewis (1996) 519 US 61, 75, 117 S Ct 467, 136 L Ed2d 437].

A challenge to diversity jurisdiction is measured against the state of facts that existed at the time of filing, regardless of when the challenge is made [Grupo Dataflux v. Atlas Global Group, L.P. (2004) 541 US 567, 573-577, 124 S Ct 1920, 158 L Ed2d 866 (jurisdictional defect not cured when diversity existed at time of verdict through change in partnership's partners, but not at time of filing)].

In class actions subject to the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4], the citizenship of the members of the proposed plaintiff class is determined as of the date of filing of the complaint or amended complaint. However, if the initial pleading was not subject to federal jurisdiction, citizenship of the members of the proposed plaintiff class is determined as of the date of service by the plaintiffs of the amended pleading or other paper indicating the existence of federal jurisdiction [28 USC § 1332(d)(7)].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.16 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.10[4] Domestic Relations Exception. Federal courts have excepted domestic relations cases from diversity jurisdiction. Thus, federal courts lack jurisdiction over actions for the traditional family law remedies of divorce, support, and custody [Ankenbrandt v. Richards (1992) 504 US 689, 703-704, 112 S Ct 2206, 119 L Ed2d 468 ; see Thompson v. Thompson (9th Cir 1986) 798 F2d 1547, 1558 , aff'd, 484 US 174 (1988) ; see also Peterson v. Babbitt (9th Cir 1983) 708 F2d 465, 466 (jurisdiction should be declined when primary issue concerns status of parent and child or spouses)].

Although this exception has traditionally been narrowly defined [see Phillips, Nizer, Benjamin, Krim & Ballon v. Rosenstiel (2d Cir 1973) 490 F2d 509, 512-516], federal courts may be required to abstain in cases involving elements of the domestic relationship even if the parties are not seeking divorce, support, or child custody. Abstention is appropriate if the case presents "difficult questions of state law" bearing on policy problems of substantial import that transcend the result in the case [Ankenbrandt v. Richards (1992) 504 US 689, 704-705, 112 S Ct 2206, 119 L Ed2d 468].

The Ninth Circuit has held that the domestic relations exception applies only to cases in which jurisdiction is based on diversity [Atwood v. Fort Peck Tribal Court Assiniboine & Sioux Tribes (9th Cir 2008) 513 F3d 943, 947].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.91 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.10[5] Probate Exception. Federal courts may not exercise diversity jurisdiction to probate a will, administer an estate, or entertain an action that would interfere with pending probate proceedings in a state court or with the state court's control of property in its custody. In other words, federal courts may adjudicate property rights in estate property if the final judgment would not interfere with the state court's possession, except to the extent that the state court is bound by the judgment to recognize the right adjudicated by the federal court [Markham v. Allen (1946) 326 US 490, 494, 66 S Ct 296, 90 L Ed 256].

The probate exception is narrow and only applies if a matter is purely probate in nature, e.g., that the federal court is being asked directly to probate or annul a will or administer an estate, or is being asked to adjudicate the right to property that is in the custody of a state probate court. When a matter is otherwise within federal jurisdiction, federal courts are not barred from adjudicating that matter by the probate exception [Marshall v. Marshall (2006) 547 US 293, 126 S Ct 1735, 164 L Ed2d 480, 498].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.92 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.10[6] Diversity Jurisdiction May Not Infringe on Native American Self-Government. Diversity jurisdiction is precluded if its exercise would infringe on the right of Native American self-government [R.J. Williams Co. v. Fort Belknap Hous. Auth. (9th Cir 1983) 719 F2d 979, 982 & n2, cert. denied, 472 US 1016 (1985) ; see Iowa Mut. Ins. Co. v. LaPlante (1987) 480 US 9, 16-17, 107 S Ct 971, 94 L Ed2d 10].

Cross References:

Form of notice of motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, § 8.33.

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.23 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipBusiness EntitiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipIndividualsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionFamily Law & Probate Exceptions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.11

2.11 Citizenship of Named Parties Is Determinative.

The citizenship of all named parties is considered in determining the existence of diversity jurisdiction. The presence of unserved defendants is irrelevant [see Preaseau v. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir 1979) 591 F2d 74, 78-79 ; Republic W. Ins. Co. v. International Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1991) 765 F Supp 628, 629].

The citizenship of defendants sued under fictitious names, such as "Doe" defendants, is disregarded for diversity jurisdiction purposes [Soliman v. Philip Morris, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 311 F3d 966, 971]. However, this rule applies only to John Does as such, and not to subsequently named parties identifying one of those fictitious defendants [see Doleac v. Michalson (5th Cir 2001) 264 F3d 470, 475-477].

The citizenship of nominal and formal parties who have no interest in the suit is disregarded for purposes of determining diversity [Navarro Sav. Ass'n v. Lee (1980) 446 US 458, 460-461, 100 S Ct 1779, 64 L Ed2d 425 ; Prudential Real Estate Affiliates, Inc. v. PPR Realty, Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 204 F3d 867, 873]. A nominal or formal party has neither an interest in the result of the suit nor an actual interest in or control over the subject matter of the litigation [Prudential Real Estate Affiliates, Inc. v. PPR Realty, Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 204 F3d 867, 873].

Example:
A typical nominal defendant is a bank or trustee that has only a custodial claim to the property in issue [SEC v. Colello (9th Cir 1998) 139 F3d 674, 675-677 (nominal defendant joined to facilitate collection)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipBusiness EntitiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipIndividuals

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.12

2.12 Plaintiff Must Allege Jurisdiction.

A plaintiff invoking diversity jurisdiction must plead specifically the following [see Lew v. Moss (9th Cir 1986) 797 F2d 747, 750-751]:

- The citizenship of each of the parties to the action;
- The state of the principal place of business of any corporate parties; and
- The requisite amount in controversy.

Cross Reference:

Local rules pertaining to format of allegations, see § 2.05[2].

A plaintiff may amend the complaint to correct any defects or omissions in the allegations of jurisdiction [28 USC § 1653; see Snell v. Cleveland, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 316 F3d 822, 825-828]. However, a plaintiff may not amend the complaint when the defects are in the jurisdictional facts themselves [Newman-Green, Inc. v. Alfonzo-Larrain (1989) 490 US 826, 830-832, 109 S Ct 2218, 104 L Ed2d 893].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of amendment, see 15 Moore's Federal Practice, § 102.17 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipBusiness EntitiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipIndividuals

42 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.13

2.13 Party Invoking Federal Jurisdiction Has Burden of Proof.

The party seeking to invoke diversity jurisdiction bears the burden of proving that complete diversity existed when the action was filed [McNutt v. General Motors Acceptance Corp. of Ind., Inc. (1936) 298 US 178, 189, 56 S Ct 780, 80 L Ed 1135 ; Lew v. Moss (9th Cir 1986) 797 F2d 747, 751 ; China Basin Props., Ltd. v. Allendale Mut. Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1992) 818 F Supp 1301, 1303].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.14 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipBusiness EntitiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipIndividualsEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsBurdens of ProofGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.14

2.14 Parties Cannot Confer Jurisdiction.

Parties cannot establish jurisdiction by waiver, estoppel, or agreement [Holman v. Laulo-Rowe Agency (9th Cir 1993) 994 F2d 666, 668 n1 ; Richardson v. United States (9th Cir 1991) 943 F2d 1107, 1113].

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.15

2.15 Court May Drop Nondiverse, Dispensable Parties.

To preserve diversity, a federal court has discretion to drop a nondiverse party who is found not to be indispensable to the action under Rule 19, on motion by any party or sua sponte, at any stage in the proceedings on just terms [see Fed R Civ P 19, 21; see, e.g., Kirkland v. Legion Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 343 F3d 1135, 1142]. Further, appellate courts may dismiss a dispensable nondiverse party to preserve federal jurisdiction, although this power must be used sparingly, based on an assessment of possible prejudicial impact on any of the parties. If the presence of the nondiverse party produces a tactical advantage for any of the parties and a factual dispute arises, the court of appeals should remand the case to the district court, which is better suited to determine the existence of prejudice under the facts of the individual case. There is no per se rule, however, that the district court must make the initial determination in every case [see Newman-Green, Inc. v. Alfonzo-Larrain (1989) 490 US 826, 833, 837-838, 109 S Ct 2218, 104 L Ed2d 893].

Distinguish:

The presence of a nondiverse and not indispensable defendant intervenor does not destroy complete diversity and such an intervenor need not be dismissed from the case to preserve jurisdiction [Mattel, Inc. v. Bryant (9th Cir 2006) 446 F3d 1011, 1013].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.18 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.16

2.16 Joinder May Affect Diversity.

2.16[1] Joinder of Nondiverse Indispensable Party Requires Dismissal. If an indispensable party is joined pursuant to Rule 19 [Fed R Civ P 19(a)], and joinder destroys diversity, the court must dismiss the case [see ZB Holdings, Inc. v. White (SDNY 1992) 144 FRD 42, 46].

2.16[2] Improper or Collusive Joinder Barred. Federal district courts lack jurisdiction over a civil action in which any party, by assignment or otherwise, has been improperly or collusively made or joined in order to invoke the court's diversity jurisdiction [28 USC § 1359].

To establish diversity, a plaintiff-assignee must show both of the following:

- A real and substantial interest in the outcome of the litigation [see Attorneys Trust v. Videotape Computer Prods., Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 93 F3d 593, 596]; and

- That the transaction was made for a bona fide business purpose and not to obtain federal diversity jurisdiction [Dweck v. Japan CBM Corp. (9th Cir 1989) 877 F2d 790, 793].

Parties may not use collusive joinder for the purpose of destroying diversity [see Attorneys Trust v. Videotape Computer Prods., Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 93 F3d 593, 597-599 ; Mercado v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 340 F3d 824, 825-826 (discussing "fraudulent joinder")].

2.16[3] Citizenship of Insurer When Insured Not Joined As Defendant. In any direct action against an insurer in which the insured is not joined as a party-defendant (but could be) the insurer is deemed to be a citizen of the following states [28 USC § 1332(c)(1); see Searles v. Cincinnati Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1993) 998 F2d 728, 728-729]:

- The state of which the insured is a citizen;

- Any state in which the insurer is incorporated; and

- The state where the insurer has its principal place of business.

A direct action is one in which a party who suffered injuries or damage for which another is legally responsible is entitled to bring suit against the other's liability insurer without joining the insured or first obtaining a judgment against the legally responsible party [Searles v. Cincinnati Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1993) 998 F2d 728, 728-729].

The direct action statute, by its terms, does not apply to the following:

- A suit initiated by an insurer, even though the suit is initiated from an apparently defensive posture [Searles v. Cincinnati Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1993) 998 F2d 728, 728-729];

- A suit initiated by the insured against his or her insurer [Searles v. Cincinnati Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1993) 998 F2d 728, 728-729];

- A suit brought by an injured party against a tortfeasor's insurer based on the insurer's own wrongful conduct, such as alleged bad-faith failure to settle [Beckham v. Safeco Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir 1982) 691 F2d 898, 901-902], fraud, or negligent misrepresentation [Mezzetti v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (ND Cal 2004) 346 F Supp2d 1058, 1064];

- A suit against an insurer under Ins Code § 11580(b)(2) to collect on a judgment secured by the plaintiff against the insured [Mezzetti v. State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. Co. (ND Cal 2004) 346 F Supp2d 1058, 1062-1064].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of actions against insurer, see 15 Moore's Federal Practice, § 102.58 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipBusiness EntitiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipIndividualsCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCollusive JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable Parties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.17

2.17 Determining Citizenship of Individuals.

2.17[1] Citizenship Requires United States Citizenship and Domicile. A natural person is a citizen of a state within the meaning of the diversity statute, if that person is both a citizen of the United States and domiciled within that state [Kantor v. Wellesley Galleries, Ltd. (9th Cir 1983) 704 F2d 1088, 1090].

A citizen of a foreign state always has access to federal court in an action against an American citizen under 28 USC § 1332.

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 102.30 -102.37 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.17[2] Determining United States Citizenship. The following persons are deemed to be citizens of the United States [8 USC § 1401; see 2.20]:

- A person born in the United States and subject to its jurisdiction.
- A person born in the United States to a member of an Indian, Eskimo, Aleutian, or other aboriginal tribe.
- A person born outside of the United States and its outlying possessions of parents both of whom are citizens of the United States and one of whom has had a residence in the United States or one of its outlying possessions, before the birth of that person.
- A person born outside of the United States and its outlying possessions of parents one of whom is a citizen of the United States who has been physically present in the United States or one of its outlying possessions for a continuous period of one year before the birth of that person, and the other of whom is a national, but not a citizen of the United States.

- A person born in an outlying possession of the United States of parents one of whom is a citizen of the United States who has been physically present in the United States or one of its outlying possessions for a continuous period of one year at any time before that person's birth.

- A person of unknown parentage found in the United States while under the age of five years, until shown, before that person's attaining the age of 21, not to have been born in the United States.

- A person born outside the United States and its outlying possession of parents one of whom is an alien, and the other a citizen of the United States who, before that person's birth, was physically present in the United States or its outlying possessions for a total period not less than five years, at least two of which were after attaining the age of 14.

- A person born before noon (Eastern Standard Time) May 24, 1934, outside the jurisdiction of the United States of an alien father and a citizen mother who, before that person's birth, had resided in the United States.

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.33 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.17[3] Determining Domicile.

2.17[3][a] Federal Law Determines Domicile. In general, federal common law determines domicile for purposes of diversity jurisdiction [Kantor v. Wellesley Galleries, Ltd. (9th Cir 1983) 704 F2d 1088, 1090]. However, federal courts may look to state law for guidance [see Rishell v. Jane Phillips Episcopal Mem'l Med. Ctr. (10th Cir 1993) 12 F3d 171, 172]. The determination of a person's domicile is a mixed question of law and fact; if the application of the rule of law to the facts requires essentially a factual inquiry, the conclusion may not be set aside by an appellate court unless clearly erroneous [Lew v. Moss (9th Cir 1986) 797 F2d 747, 750-751].

2.17[3][b] State Citizenship Is Equivalent to State Domicile. For purposes of diversity jurisdiction, citizenship of a state is the equivalent of domicile in that state [Abbott v. United Venture Capital, Inc. (D Nev 1988) 718 F Supp 823, 826 ; Carter v. McConnel (D Nev 1983) 576 F Supp 556, 558]. Domicile means actual physical presence in a state with the intent to remain in the state indefinitely and make it home [McCormick v. Aderholt (11th Cir 2002) 293 F3d 1254, 1257-1258].

2.17[3][c] Residence Alone Is Insufficient. Domicile and residence are not necessarily synonymous for purposes of diversity. A citizen may have multiple residences but only one domicile. In determining which of a person's residences is his or her domicile, the court must focus on the intent of the party, which requires an examination of the entire course of a person's conduct [see Bair v. Peck (D Kan 1990) 738 F Supp 1354, 1356].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.34 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Federal courts examine the totality of the circumstances to determine domicile; no one factor controls [see Lew v. Moss (9th Cir 1986) 797 F2d 747, 749-750]. Factors evidencing an intent to remain in a new domicile include [Lew v. Moss (9th Cir 1986) 797 F2d 747, 749-750]:

- Voting registration and voting practices;

- Place of employment or business;

- Current residence;
- Location of real property;
- Location of spouse and family;
- Driver's license and automobile registration;
- Location of bank accounts;
- Payment of taxes;
- Union membership; and
- Location of social organizations with which affiliated.

Warning:

If a defendant asserts a change in domicile after the plaintiff has met the burden of showing the defendant's initial domicile, the burden shifts to the defendant to establish that the domicile had changed when the suit was filed [Lew v. Moss (9th Cir 1986) 797 F2d 747, 751].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 102.35, 102.36 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.17[4] Determining Citizenship of Particular Individuals. Estate Representatives. The legal representative of the estate of a decedent, an infant, or an incompetent is deemed to be a citizen of the state of citizenship of the principal [28 USC § 1332(c)(2)].

Receivers. If a party is represented by a court-appointed receiver, the citizenship of the receiver controls [New Alaska Dev. Corp. v. Guetschow (9th Cir 1989) 869 F2d 1298, 1301].

Fiduciaries. The citizenship of a fiduciary, rather than the beneficiary, generally controls [O'Brien v. Avco Corp. (2d Cir 1969) 425 F2d 1030, 1032].

Native Americans. Native Americans are citizens of the state in which they reside [Iowa Mut. Ins. Co. v. LaPlante (1987) 480 US 9, 17-18 n10, 107 S Ct 971, 94 L Ed2d 10].

Students. Students attending school in another state are generally regarded as only temporary residents of the state in which they are attending school; it is presumed that they retain their domicile at their former abode [see Hakkila v. Consolidated Edison Co. (SDNY 1990) 745 F Supp 988, 989-990].

Prison Inmates. A person incarcerated in prison in another state does not change domicile [Sullivan v. Freeman (7th Cir 1991) 944 F2d 334, 337 , cert. denied, 513 US 1060 (1991)].

Minors. Except in the case of an emancipated minor (which is determined by state law), domicile is first acquired at birth and is determined by the domicile of the parent or guardian on whom the child is dependent [Safeco Ins. Co. of Am. v. Mirczak (D Nev 1987) 662 F Supp 1155, 1157].

United States Citizens Domiciled Abroad. When a citizen is traveling or temporarily residing abroad with no intention to permanently change his or her existing domicile, the citizen's domicile is unchanged for purposes of diversity jurisdiction [see, e.g., Anderson v. Watt (1891) 138 US 694, 706, 11 S Ct 449, 34 L Ed 1078]. If an American citizen is domiciled abroad, he or she is not a citizen of any state and cannot sue or be sued in federal court based on diversity jurisdiction [Newman-Green, Inc. v. Alfonzo-Larrain (1989) 490 US 826, 830-832, 109 S Ct 2218, 104 L Ed2d 893 ; see Brady v. Brown (9th Cir 1995) 51 F3d 810, 815].

Foreign states. A foreign state always has access to federal court in an action against an American citizen [28 USC § 1332(a)(4)].

Permanent Residents. Aliens admitted to the United States for permanent residence are citizens of the state in which they are domiciled [28 USC § 1332(a)].

Persons With Dual Citizenship. A person who holds dual citizenship is considered an citizen of a state for diversity purposes [Mutuelles Unies v. Kroll & Linstrom (9th Cir 1992) 957 F2d 707, 711].

Naturalized Citizens. A naturalized citizen cannot assert his or her foreign citizenship for purposes of alienage jurisdiction [see Raphaelv. Hertzberg (CD Cal 1979) 470 F Supp 984, 986].

Military Personnel. Military personnel are presumed to retain their prior domicile unless they manifest their intent to change domicile [see Vitro v. Town of Carmel (SDNY 1977) 433 F Supp 1110, 1112].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.37 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAlienage JurisdictionCitizenshipCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipIndividualsImmigration LawCitizenshipCitizenship by Descent

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.18

2.18 Determining Citizenship of Corporations.

2.18[1] Citizens of State of Incorporation and Principal Place of Business. Corporations are deemed citizens of both their state of incorporation and the state where their principal place of business is located [28 USC § 1332(c); see United Computer Sys., Inc. v. AT&T Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 756, 763 ; but see Homestake Lead Co. v. Doe Run Res. Corp. (ND Cal 2003) 282 F Supp2d 1131, 1136-1137 (for inactive corporation, citizenship may revert only to state of incorporation)].

2.18[2] Determining States of Incorporation. A corporation is deemed a citizen of every state in which it is incorporated [see United Computer Sys., Inc. v. AT&T Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 756, 763].

If a state requires that a corporation incorporate in that state to do business there, the corporation will not be considered a citizen of that state for purposes of diversity jurisdiction; involuntary incorporation is disregarded [Rudisill v. Southern Ry. (WDNC 1976) 424 F Supp 1102, 1103-1104 , aff'd, 548 F2d 488 (4th Cir 1977) (citing Moore's; "a corporation [is] a citizen of every state in which it has been freely and actually incorporated")].

2.18[3] Determining Principal Place of Business. A corporation's principal place of business is its "nerve center," where its officers direct, control, and coordinate the corporation's activities [Hertz Corp. v. Friend (2010) -- US --, 130 S Ct 1181, 175 L Ed2d 1029, 1041] .

In practice, the "nerve center" should normally be "the place where the corporation maintains its headquarters--provided that the headquarters is the actual center of direction, control, and coordination, i.e., the 'nerve center,' and not simply an office where the corporation holds its board meetings" [Hertz Corp. v. Friend (2010) -- US --, 130 S Ct 1181, 175 L Ed2d 1029, 1041-1042] . For example, if the bulk of a company's business activities visible to the public take place in New Jersey, while its top officers direct those activities just across the river in New York, the "principal place of business" is New York [Hertz Corp. v. Friend (2010) -- US --, 130 S Ct 1181, 175 L Ed2d 1029, 1043-1044] . Parties may not manipulate jurisdiction by identifying a nerve center at a place where only a mailbox or bare office exists [Hertz Corp. v. Friend (2010) -- US --, 130 S Ct 1181, 175 L Ed2d 1029, 1044] .

This single test enunciated by the Supreme Court provides "administrative simplicity" [Hertz Corp. v. Friend (2010) -- US --, 130 S Ct 1181, 175 L Ed2d 1029, 1037] . Before Hertz, the Ninth Circuit's test looked to the state where the corporation's activity "is significantly larger," or "substantially predominates," then, if no such state can be identified, to the state where most of the corporation's executive and administrative functions take place [United Computer Sys., Inc. v. AT&T Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 756, 763] .

2.18[4] Citizenship of Alien Corporations. The rule for corporate citizenship [28 USC § 1332(c)(1)], applies to both foreign and domestic corporations. Therefore, an alien corporation's citizenship is in the country where it was incorporated and the location of its principal place of business [Nike, Inc. v. Comercial Iberica de Exclusivas Deportivas, S.A. (9th Cir 1994) 20 F3d 987, 990].

2.18[5] Citizenship of Particular Corporate Entities. Nonprofit Corporations. A nonprofit corporation is considered a corporation for diversity purposes. The citizenship of the nonprofit corporation is determined by the citizenship of the corporation if the corporation is the real party in interest [see Burton v. United States Olympic Comm. (CD Cal 1983) 574 F Supp 517, 521-522 ; see also Kuntz v. Lamar Corp. (9th Cir. 2004) 385 F3d 1177, 1182-1183 (non-profit cooperative incorporated under state law treated as corporation)]. However, if members have been wronged directly, an argument can be made that the members are considered the real parties in interest and their citizenship should be deemed relevant for diversity purposes [CCC Info. Servs., Inc. v. American Salvage Pool Ass'n (7th Cir 2000) 230 F3d 342, 345-347 ; National Ass'n of Realtors v. National Real Estate Ass'n (7th Cir 1990) 894 F2d 937, 940].

Defunct or Inactive Corporations. The Ninth Circuit has not determined the appropriate test to determine citizenship. However, the district courts have adopted the Fifth Circuit's facts and circumstances test [see, e.g., Patel v. Sugen, Inc. (ND Cal 2005) 354 F Supp2d 1098, 1112 ; Homestake Lead Co. v. Doe Run Res. Corp. (ND Cal 2003) 282 F Supp2d 1131, 1136-1137]. Under this test, if the corporation has been inactive for a substantial period of time, it is a citizen only in the state of incorporation. If the corporation has not been inactive for a substantial period of time, the place of its last business activity would be relevant to, but not dispositive of, the determination of the principal place of business [Harris v. Black Clawson Co. (5th Cir 1992) 961 F2d 547, 551].

Federally Chartered Corporations. A federally chartered corporation in which the United States owns half or more of the stock may sue or be sued in federal court under federal question jurisdiction [see 28 USC § 1349]. A federally chartered corporation in which the United States owns less than half the stock and is organized to conduct business or activities in more than one state generally is not a citizen of a state unless the activities of the corporation are confined to one particular state or if Congress has expressly provided for state citizenship [Burton v. United States Olympic Comm. (CD Cal 1983) 574 F Supp 517, 519 ; Engelmeyer v. Production Credit Ass'n of Midlands (DSD 1987) 652 F Supp 1235, 1236].

Incorporated Native American Tribes. A corporation created under tribal law is not a citizen of the state in which it was incorporated merely because its incorporation occurred within that state. A Native American corporation is only a citizen of its principal place of business [Cook v. AVI Casino Enterprises, Inc. (9th Cir 2008) 548 F3d 718, 724 ; see R.J. Williams Co. v. Fort Belknap Housing Auth. (9th Cir 1983) 719 F2d 979, 982 n 2 (Native American housing authority had its "principal place of business in Montana"); 25 USC § 477 (Indian Reorganization Act)].

Distinguish:

An Indian tribe or an unincorporated arm of a tribe is not a citizen of any state [American Vantage Cos. v. Table Mountain Rancheria (9th Cir 2002) 292 F3d 1091, 1098].

National Banking Associations. By statute, national banking associations are deemed citizens of states in which they are located [28 USC § 1348]. The Supreme Court has held that a national bank is a citizen only of the state in which it has its main office, as set forth in its articles of incorporation; it is not a citizen of every state in which it has branch operations [Wachovia Bank v. Schmidt (2006) 546 US 303, 317-319, 126 S Ct 941, 163 L Ed 2d 797].

Public Corporations. Public corporations are citizens of the state that created them. Multistate public corporations are citizens of each state in which they are incorporated [Oslick v. Port Auth. of N.Y. & N.J. (SDNY 1979) 83 FRD 494, 495-496].

Parent and Subsidiary Corporations. The subsidiary corporation maintains a separate corporate character and does not adopt the citizenship of its parent corporation unless the subsidiary is deemed to be the alter ego of the parent corporation [see U.S.I. Props. Corp. v. M.D. Constr. Co. (1st Cir 1988) 860 F2d 1, 7 , cert. denied sub nom. Compania de Desarrollo Cooperativo v. U.S.I. Props. Corp., 490 US 1065 (1989)]. Therefore, courts look to the state of incorporation and the principal place of business of the subsidiary itself [Danjaq, S.A. v. Pathe Communications Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 979 F2d 772, 776].

Merged Corporations. The citizenship of the surviving corporation ordinarily determines diversity [see Hoefferle Truck Sales, Inc. v. Divco-Wayne Corp. (7th Cir 1975) 523 F2d 543, 548].

Corporations Not in Good Standing. A corporation that has not remained in good standing in the state of its incorporation remains a citizen of that state as long as the state has not revoked its corporate charter [Smith v. Arundel Coop., Inc. (DDC 1987) 660 F Supp 912, 913]. If the charter has been revoked, the corporation may nevertheless remain a citizen of the state of incorporation if it retains the capacity to sue and be sued under state law [Wild v. Subscription Plus, Inc. (7th Cir 2002) 292 F3d 526, 528-529 , cert. denied, 537 US 1045 (2002)].

Cross References:

Form of notice of motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.33.

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 102.50 -102.56 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawCorporationsFormationPlace of IncorporationGeneral OverviewBusiness & Corporate LawCorporationsFormationPlace of IncorporationPrincipal OfficeCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipBusiness EntitiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipIndividuals

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.19

2.19 Determining Citizenship of Noncorporate Entities.

2.19[1] Partnerships. A general or limited partnership is deemed to have the citizenship of each of its general partners and limited partners [see Cosgrove v. Bartolotta (7th Cir 1998) 150 F3d 729, 731 ; see also Carden v. Arkoma Assocs. (1990) 494 US 185, 197, 110 S Ct 1015, 108 L Ed2d 157]. The citizenship of a limited liability partnership is determined by the citizenship of each of its partners [China Nuclear Energy Indus. Corp. v. Andersen, LLP (D Colo 1998) 11 F Supp2d1256, 1257-1258]. A partnership cannot invoke diversity jurisdiction if any partner who is a United States citizen is domiciled abroad, because that partner is not a citizen of any state [see Coudert Bros. v. Easyfind Int'l, Inc. (SDNY 1985) 601 F Supp 525, 526-527]. Diversity jurisdiction is lacking if a partner sues the partnership, because the partner's citizenship is counted on both sides of the case [Boulder Creek Co. v. Maruko, Inc. (CD Cal 1991) 772 F Supp 1150, 1153].

Distinguish:

While dismissal of a party can cure lack of diversity [see 2.15], withdrawal of partners cannot. The citizenship of a partnership is determined by the citizenship of the partners at the time of filing: a subsequent change in the composition of the partnership does not cure a failure of diversity [Grupo Dataflux v. Atlas Global Group, L.P. (2004) 541 US 567, 574-576, 124 S Ct 1920, 158 L Ed2d 866].

2.19[2] Other Noncorporate Entities. Limited Liability Companies. The citizenship of a limited liability company is determined by the citizenship of its members; therefore, the company is a citizen of every state of which its owners or members are citizens [Johnson v. Columbia Props. Anchorage, LP (9th Cir 2006) 437 F3d 894, 899].

Joint Ventures. The citizenship of a joint venture is the citizenship of each member, regardless of whether the member has an interest in the suit [Schiavone Constr. Co. v. City of New York (2d Cir 1996) 99 F3d 546, 548].

Unincorporated Associations. An unincorporated association is deemed to have the citizenship of each of its members [United Steelworkers of Am., AFL-CIO v. R.H. Bouligny, Inc. (1965) 382 US 145, 146-150, 86 S Ct 272, 15 L Ed2d 217].

Exception:

For purposes of the minimal diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4], an unincorporated association is deemed to be a citizen of the state where it has its principal place of business and the state under whose laws it is organized [28 USC § 1332(d)(10)].

Sociedad en Comandita. A Sociedad en Comandita is treated as a corporation for diversity purposes and is deemed to be a citizen of Puerto Rico only [see Carden v. Arkoma Assocs. (1990) 494 US 185, 189-190, 110 S Ct 1015, 108 L Ed2d 157].

States, State Agencies, and Local Governments. States and state agencies are not citizens of any state and therefore cannot invoke diversity jurisdiction [Postal Tel. Cable Co. v. State of Alabama (1894) 155 US 482, 487, 15 S Ct 192, 39 L Ed 231 ; U.S.I. Props. Corp. v. M.D. Constr. Co. (1st Cir 1988) 860 F2d 1, 7 , cert. denied sub nom. Compania de Desarrollo Coop. v. U.S.I. Props. Corp., 490 US 1065 (1989)]. Local governments and their agencies that are not simply the "arm or alter ego" of states are citizens of the states in which they are located [see Moor v. County of Alameda (1973) 411 US 693, 698, 93 S Ct 1785, 36 L Ed2d 596].

Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands. The commonwealth is a United States territory, and thus a state and not a citizen for diversity purposes [Dyack v. Commonwealth of N. Mariana Islands (9th Cir 2003) 317 F3d 1030, 1037].

Trusts. A trust is a citizen of the state where the trustee is a citizen [May Dep't Stores Co. v. Federal Ins. Co. (7th Cir 2002) 305 F3d 597, 599 (resisting efforts to base citizenship determination on functional considerations)]. Trustees of an express trust are entitled to bring diversity actions in their own names and on the basis of their own citizenship. A trustee is a real party to the controversy for purposes of diversity jurisdiction if the trustee possesses certain customary powers to hold, manage, and dispose of assets for the benefit of others [Navarro Sav. Ass'n v. Lee (1980) 446 US 458, 464, 100 S Ct 1779, 64 L Ed2d 425].

Unincorporated Native American Tribes. Unincorporated Native American tribes are not citizens of any state, and are not unincorporated associations for purposes of diversity jurisdiction. Neither an unincorporated Indian tribe operating a casino that was an unincorporated arm of the tribe nor the casino itself are citizens of a state for purposes of diversity jurisdiction [American Vantage v. Table Mountain Rancheria (9th Cir 2002) 292 F3d 1091, 1094-1098, 1100].

Cross References:

Form of notice of motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.33.

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.57 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Business & Corporate LawLimited PartnershipsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipBusiness EntitiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipIndividuals

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.20

2.20 Diversity Jurisdiction in Suits Involving Aliens.

2.20[1] Actions Where Parties Are Mixture of Citizens and Aliens. Diversity jurisdiction exists for actions between citizens of a state and citizens or subjects of a foreign state (alienage jurisdiction) [28 USC § 1332(a)(2)].

Diversity jurisdiction also exists for actions between citizens of different states and in which citizens or subjects of a foreign state are additional parties on both sides of the dispute [28 USC § 1332(a)(3); see Transure, Inc. v. Marsh & McLennan, Inc. (9th Cir 1985) 766 F2d 1297, 1299]. However, no diversity jurisdiction exists when an alien sues an alien and a citizen of another state; if the alien defendant is an indispensable party, the case must be dismissed [Cheng v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 708 F2d 1406, 1412 , cert. denied, 464 US 1017 (1983) ; see Allendale Mut. Ins. v. Bull Data Sys., Inc. (7th Cir 1993) 10 F3d 425, 427-428 (no jurisdiction when one side has only foreign parties and other is mixture of foreign and domestic parties)].

Distinguish:

Alienage jurisdiction is distinct from suits under the Alien Tort Claims Act [see 28 USC § 1350]. As to the latter, a violation of a well-defined norm of customary international law provides the basis for federal subject matter jurisdiction [see Sosa v. Alvarez-Machain (2004) 542 US 692, 124 S Ct 2739, 159 L Ed2d 718, 753-757 ; see also In re Estate of Ferdinand Marcos Human Rights Litig. (9th Cir 1994) 25 F3d 1467, 1474-1475].

2.20[2] Actions by or Against Foreign States. Diversity jurisdiction exists for actions between a foreign state, as plaintiff, and citizens of a state or different states [28 USC § 1332(a)(4); see 28 USC § 1603 ("foreign state" defined)].

Federal jurisdiction in actions brought against foreign states is governed exclusively by the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act [28 USC § 1330; see Republic of Austria v. Altmann (2004) 541 US 677, 691, 124 S Ct 2240, 159 L Ed2d 1 ; Moore v. United Kingdom (9th Cir 2004) 384 F3d 1079, 1082].

Unless an exception applies, a foreign state is presumptively immune [see Republic of Iraq v. Beaty (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 2183, 173 L Ed 2d 1193, 1204-1205 (National Defense Authorization Act, 28 USC § 1605A, authorized President to exempt Iraq from terrorism exception to foreign immunity)].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.72 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.20[3] Actions Between Aliens. Diversity jurisdiction does not exist for actions by foreign plaintiffs against foreign defendants [see 28 USC § 1332; Mutuelles Unies v. Kroll & Linstrom (9th Cir 1992) 957 F2d 707, 711 ; see also Verlinden B.V. v. Central Bank of Nigeria (1983) 461 US 480, 491-492, 103 S Ct 1962, 76 L Ed2d 81 (no alienage jurisdiction in suit between aliens); Van Der Steen v. Sygen Int'l, PLC, No. C 06-4966 CRB (ND Cal 2006) 464 F Supp2d 931, 936-937 (court declined to exercise jurisdiction in case solely between aliens, even though presence of citizen defendant might have conferred jurisdiction when case was removed)].

2.20[4] Citizenship of Permanent Resident Aliens. A permanent resident alien is deemed to be a citizen of his or her state of domicile for purposes of diversity jurisdiction [28 USC § 1332(a); see Arai v. Tachibana (D Haw 1991) 778 F Supp 1535, 1540].

2.20[5] Citizens of British Dependent Territories. A citizen of the Cayman Islands, a British dependent territory, is deemed a citizen of the United Kingdom and its colonies [see Wilson v. Humphreys (Cayman) Ltd. (7th Cir 1990) 916 F2d 1239, 1242 , cert. denied, 499 US 947 (1991)]. The Supreme Court has unanimously held that a corporation organized under the laws of the British Virgin Islands is a "citizen or subject of a foreign state" for purposes of alienage diversity jurisdiction [JPMorgan Chase Bank v. Traffic Stream (BVI) Infrastructure Ltd. (2002) 536 US 88, 91-93, 122 S Ct 2054, 153 L Ed2d 95].

2.20[6] Law of Nation of Citizenship Determines Status. In general, the determination of whether an individual is a foreign citizen for purposes of alienage jurisdiction is governed by the law of the nation in which citizenship is claimed [see Autocephalous Church v. Goldberg & Feldman Arts (7th Cir 1990) 917 F2d 278, 285].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAlienage JurisdictionCitizenshipCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAlienage JurisdictionJurisdictional RequirementsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipBusiness EntitiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipIndividuals

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.21

2.21 Over $75,000 in Controversy Is Generally Required.

2.21[1] Amount Is Jurisdictional. In addition to complete diversity of the parties, diversity jurisdiction generally requires that the amount in controversy exceed $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs [28 USC § 1332(b); see Valdez v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2004) 372 F3d 1115, 1116-1118].

The amount in controversy is a jurisdictional requirement and is not waivable by the parties [28 USC § 1332(b)].

Strategic Point:

Provided that the other elements of jurisdiction are present, such as complete diversity, and at least one named plaintiff satisfies the amount in controversy requirement, supplemental jurisdiction may be exercised over the claims of other plaintiffs in the same case even if those claims are for less than the jurisdictional amount [Exxon Mobil Corp. v. Allapattah Servs., Inc. (2005) 545 US 546, 549, 125 S Ct 2611, 162 L Ed2d 502].

Exception:

Special jurisdictional requirements apply to multistate class actions and mass actions. For further discussion see 2.24A.

Cross References:

Nature and scope of supplemental jurisdiction, see 2.26 -2.30. Form of notice of motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, § 8.33.

2.21[2] Federal Law Determines Amount in Controversy. Federal standards apply to determine whether the amount in controversy satisfies the jurisdictional requisite [Horton v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1961) 367 US 348, 352, 81 S Ct 1570, 6 L Ed2d 890].

Distinguish:

Federal courts look to state law to determine the nature and extent of damages [see Luckett v. Delta Airlines, Inc. (5th Cir 1999) 171 F3d 295, 298].

2.21[3] Amount Determined When Complaint Is Filed. The amount in controversy is determined as of the time the complaint is filed [Freeport-McMoRan, Inc. v. K N Energy (1991) 498 US 426, 428, 111 S Ct 858, 112 L Ed2d 951]. However, if a defendant asserts a compulsory counterclaim in its answer and alleges an insufficient amount in controversy, rather than moving to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, the counterclaim must be considered in determining the requisite amount in controversy [Spectacor Mgmt. Group v. Brown (3d Cir 1997) 131 F3d 120, 125 , cert. denied, 523 US 1120 (1998)].

Distinguish:

When a party seeks to vacate an arbitration award, the amount in controversy for diversity jurisdiction is measured by the amount in dispute in the underlying litigation between the parties, not the amount of the award [Theis Research, Inc. v. Brown & Bain (9th Cir 2004) 386 F3d 1180, 1181 , amended at 400 F3d 659 (9th Cir 2005)].

Federal courts have distinguished between subsequent events that change the amount in controversy and subsequent revelations that show, in fact, that the required amount was or was not in controversy at the commencement of the suit [see Coventry Sewage Assocs. v. Dworkin Realty Co. (1st Cir 1995) 71 F3d 1, 8]. Further, when alleged damages include state tax liability that has not been finally determined when the federal complaint is filed, a district court may consider the subsequent ruling of the state taxing authority in assessing the actual amount in controversy [Spielman v. Genzyme Corp. (1st Cir 2001) 251 F3d 1, 6 & n4].

Warning:

If a plaintiff who originally filed in federal court is finally adjudged to recover less than the jurisdictional minimum (computed without regard to any set-off or counterclaim to which the defendant may be entitled and exclusive of interests and costs), the trial court has discretion to both deny costs to the plaintiff and impose costs on the plaintiff [see 28 USC § 1332(b); see also Fischer v. First Chicago Capital Mkts., Inc. (7th Cir 1999) 195 F3d 279, 285]. Courts generally apply a bad-faith test [see Dr. Franklin Perkins Sch. v. Freeman (7th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 1503, 1525].

2.21[4] Jurisdictional Amount Does Not Include Costs and Interest. In general, the jurisdictional amount must be met exclusive of costs and interest [see 28 USC § 1332(b); see also State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. v. Narvaez (10th Cir 1998) 149 F3d 1269, 1270-1272].

The following costs are may be included:

- Costs associated with the defendant's allegedly wrongful conduct [Griffin v. Holmes (EDNC 1993) 843 F Supp 81, 84-85];

- Interest that is an underlying obligation and not solely attributable to a delay in payment or wrongful deprivation of funds [see, e.g., State Farm Mut. Auto. Ins. v. Narvaez (10th Cir 1998) 149 F3d 1269, 1270-1272].

Interest is includible if it is an integral part of the aggregate amount of damages claimed, or is itself a principal obligation, as opposed to being incidental or accessory to the principal amount demanded [see Edwards v. Bates County (1896) 163 US 269, 272, 16 S Ct 967, 41 L Ed 155 ; see also Brown v. Webster (1895) 156 US 328, 330, 15 S Ct 377, 39 L Ed 440]. For example, statutory damages imposed for failure to timely pay insurance claims as a coercive penalty to prompt settlement, often expressed in terms of interest, are included in the amount in controversy calculation to the extent that they have accrued as of the time of the filing of the federal suit [St. Paul Reinsurance Co. v. Greenberg (5th Cir 1998) 134 F3d 1250, 1254-1255].

2.21[5] Punitive Damages Are Part of Amount in Controversy. Punitive damages are properly aggregated as part of the amount in controversy [Marquardt v. United Airlines, Inc. (D Haw 1992) 781 F Supp 1487, 1490] if recoverable as a matter of applicable state law [Richmond v. Allstate Ins. Co. (SD Cal 1995) 897 F Supp 447, 450 ; see also Martinez v. Kirk Xpedx (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 12657, at *3 (determination of amount in controversy for complaint alleging FEHA violations could include punitive damages)].

Claims for punitive damages are subjected to closer scrutiny than claims for actual damages, particularly when the claim for punitive damages comprises the bulk of the amount in controversy [see Anthony v. Security Pac. Fin. Servs., Inc. (7th Cir 1996) 75 F3d 311, 315-318].

Whether a plaintiff has established the availability of punitive damages is a question of law for the court [D'Amato v. Rhode Island Hosp. Trust Nat'l Bank (DRI 1991) 772 F Supp 1322, 1325].

2.21[6] Attorney's Fees Are Part of Amount in Controversy Only If Provided for in Contract or by Statute. Attorney's fees do not constitute part of the matter in controversy unless the fees are provided for by contract or statute [Galt G/S v. JSS Scandinavia (9th Cir 1998) 142 F3d 1150, 1155-1156 ; see Goldberg v. CPC Int'l, Inc. (9th Cir 1982) 678 F2d 1365, 1367 , cert. denied, 459 US 945 (1982)].

If recoverable by statute or contract, attorney's fees are included in determining the amount in controversy regardless of whether the award is mandatory or discretionary [Galt G/S v. JSS Scandinavia (9th Cir 1998) 142 F3d 1150, 1155-1156 ; see also Martinez v. Kirk Xpedx (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 12657, at *3 (determination of amount in controversy for complaint alleging FEHA violations could include attorney's fees)].

2.21[7] Suits Involving Equitable Relief. In suits involving equitable relief, if the value of the thing to be accomplished is equal to the dollar minimum of the jurisdictional amount requirement to any party in the action, then jurisdiction will be found [McCauley v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir 2001) 264 F3d 952, 958 , cert. dismissed, 537 US 1 (2002) (the either party viewpoint rule is applied to determine the amount in controversy in actions for equitable relief by individuals, and in class action cases in which the plaintiffs' have a common and undivided interest in the injunctive relief)]. The plaintiffs' viewpoint rule is applied in class actions when the claims asserted for injunctive relief are separate and distinct [McCauley v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir 2001) 264 F3d 952, 963 , cert. dismissed, 537 US 1 (2002)].

Cross References:

Form of notice of motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.33.

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 102.101 -102.109 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.21[8] Amount Is Determined Under Legal Certainty Test. If the plaintiff has pleaded the amount in controversy in good faith and it does not appear to a legal certainty that the claim is really for less than the jurisdictional minimum, the amount claimed by the plaintiff controls [St. Paul Mercury Indem. Co. v. Red Cab Co. (1938) 303 US 283, 288-289, 58 S Ct 586, 82 L Ed 845 ; see Marquardt v. United Airlines, Inc. (D Haw 1992) 781 F Supp 1487, 1490].

Under the legal certainty rule, a strong, rebuttable presumption exists that the face of the complaint is a good-faith representation of the actual amount in controversy [see Singer v. State Farm Mut. Auto Ins. (9th Cir 1997) 116 F3d 373, 377].

The plaintiff need only establish that it does not appear to a legal certainty that the claim is below the jurisdictional minimum. Thus, under this standard, courts must be very confident that a party cannot recover the jurisdictional amount before dismissing the case for want of jurisdiction [Pachinger v. MGM Grand Hotel-Las Vegas, Inc. (9th Cir 1986) 802 F2d 362, 364 ; see, e.g., New York Life Ins. Co. v. Regelson-Blanck (ND Cal 2004) 2004 US Dist LEXIS 22153, at *16 (sum claimed by plaintiff did not control because it was alleged as means to obtain federal court jurisdiction)].

2.21[9] Evidence of Valid Defense or Counterclaim Does Not Defeat Diversity. The amount in controversy is determined without regard to any valid defense, counterclaim or offset, even if revealed in plaintiff's complaint [St. Paul Mercury Indem. Co. v. Red Cab Co. (1938) 303 US 283, 288-289, 58 S Ct 586, 82 L Ed 845].

2.21[10] Party Asserting Jurisdiction Has Burden of Proof. If the existence of the minimum jurisdictional amount is disputed, the burden of proof falls on the party seeking relief in the federal forum [see Gaus v. Miles, Inc. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 564, 567]. The burden of proof is by a preponderance of the evidence. Conclusory allegations as to the amount in controversy are insufficient to meet this burden [Valdez v Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2004) 372 F3d 1115, 1117 (allegation on "information and belief" did not prove jurisdictional amount for purposes of removal jurisdiction)].

Strategic Point:

The proponent of jurisdiction may introduce summary-judgment type evidence concerning the amount in controversy if the face of the complaint does not support jurisdiction [see Valdez v Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2004) 372 F3d 1115, 1117].

Distinguish: In cases removed under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4 (applicable to civil cases commenced on or after February 18, 2005)], at least one district court has held that the party seeking remand has the burden of proving that the federal court lacks jurisdiction [see Berry v. American Express Publ'g (CD Cal 2005) 381 F Supp2d 1118, 1123].

Cross References: For further discussion of proving the amount in controversy, see Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court, § 3.10[3][d]. For further discussion of the burden of proof when removal is contested, see Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court, § 3.28.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyChallengesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyDeterminationsEvidenceProcedural ConsiderationsBurdens of ProofAllocation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.22

2.22 Costs May Be Awarded When Recovery Is Below Jurisdictional Minimum.

If a plaintiff who originally filed in federal court is finally adjudged to be entitled to less than the jurisdictional minimum, computed without regard to set-offs or counterclaims and exclusive of interest and costs, the trial court may deny costs to the plaintiff and may impose costs on the plaintiff [28 USC § 1332(b); see Fischer v. First Chicago Capital Mkts., Inc. (7th Cir 1999) 195 F3d 279, 285].

Cross References:

Form of notice of motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.33.

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 102.106, 102.107 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyChallengesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyDeterminationsCivil ProcedureRemediesCosts & Attorney FeesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.23

2.23 Claims May Be Aggregated.

2.23[1] Single Plaintiff--Single Defendant. A single plaintiff may aggregate all claims, related or unrelated, that he or she has against a single defendant in calculating the amount in controversy, even if the claims were assigned to the plaintiff by a third party, unless the assignment was made collusively for the purpose of creating federal jurisdiction [Fed R Civ P 18(a); see Budget Rent-A-Car, Inc. v. Higashiguchi (9th Cir 1997) 109 F3d 1471, 1473-1474].

2.23[2] Single Plaintiff--Multiple Defendants. A plaintiff may not aggregate his or her claims against multiple defendants unless the claims against the defendants are common and undivided, such that the defendants' liability is properly characterized as joint and not several [Libby, McNeill, & Libby v. City Nat'l Bank (9th Cir 1978) 592 F2d 504, 509-510 ; see Snyder v. Harris (1969) 394 US 332, 335, 89 S Ct 1053, 22 L Ed2d 319].

2.23[3] Multiple Plaintiffs--Single Defendant. Plaintiffs may join to sue a common defendant but each plaintiff must establish that his or her claim against that defendant meets the jurisdictional minimum unless they are enforcing a single title or right in which they have a common and undivided interest [see Skokomish Indian Tribe v. France (9th Cir 1959) 269 F2d 555, 559 ; see also Smiley v. Citibank (S.D.), N.A. (CD Cal 1993) 863 F Supp 1156, 1163] or at least one named plaintiff satisfies the amount in controversy requirement and supplemental jurisdiction may be exercised over the claims of other plaintiffs [see Exxon Mobil Corp. v. Allapattah Servs., Inc. (2005) 545 US 546, 125 S Ct 2611, 162 L Ed2d 502, 515].

Cross Reference:

Nature and scope of supplemental jurisdiction, see §§ 2.26 -2.30.

2.23[4] Class Actions. In class actions subject to the minimal diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4], the claims of individual class members are aggregated to determine whether the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $5 million, exclusive of interest and costs, thereby triggering the modified diversity requirements [28 USC § 1332(d)(6)]. The amount in controversy may be satisfied either from the view of the aggregate value to the class members or to the defendants [Berry v. American Express Publ'g Corp. (CD Cal 2005) 381 F Supp2d 1118, 1123]. However, in other class actions, class members may not aggregate their claims [ see Tortola Rests., L.P. v. Kimberly-Clark Corp. (ND Cal 1997) 987 F Supp 1186, 1189-1190, 1190 n2 ; 109 PL 2, § 9, 199 Stat 4].

Cross References:

Actions subject to modified diversity requirements of Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see § 2.24A.

Form of notice of motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.33.

Aggregation of claims generally, see 15 Moore's Federal Practice, § 102.108 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Furthermore, if at least one named plaintiff satisfies the amount in controversy requirement, supplemental jurisdiction may be exercised over the claims of other plaintiffs in the class [see Exxon Mobil Corp. v. Allapattah Servs., Inc. (2005) 545 US 546, 549, 125 S Ct 2611, 162 L Ed2d 502].

Cross Reference:

Nature and scope of supplemental jurisdiction, see §§ 2.26 -2.30.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyChallengesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyDeterminations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.24

2.24 Minimal Diversity Required by Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act of 2002.

The Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act of 2002 [see PL No 107-273, 116 Stat 1758, § 11020 (effective Nov. 2, 2002)] provides special jurisdictional and procedural provisions for civil cases arising from accidents that result in at least 75 deaths [see 28 USC §§ 1369, 1391(g), 1441(e), (f), 1697, 1785]. When at least 75 natural persons have died in a single accident at a discrete location, district courts have original jurisdiction of any civil action involving minimal diversity between adverse parties that arises from the accident if any of the following are true [28 USC § 1369(a)]:

- A defendant resides in a state and a substantial part of the accident took place in another state or other location, regardless of whether that defendant is also a resident of the state where a substantial part of the accident took place.

- Any two defendants reside in different states, regardless of whether those defendants are also residents of the same state or states.

- Substantial parts of the accident took place in different states.

However, district courts must abstain from hearing any of the above-described civil actions when (1) the substantial majority of all plaintiffs are citizens of a single state of which the primary defendants are also citizens, and (2) the claims asserted will be governed primarily by the laws of that state [28 USC § 1369(b)].

For purposes of this statute, the following rules and definitions apply [28 USC § 1369(c)]. First, minimal diversity exists between adverse parties if any party is a citizen of a state and any adverse party is (1) a citizen of another state, (2) a citizen or subject of a foreign state, or (3) a foreign state [28 USC § 1369(c)(1); see 28 USC § 1603(a) (defining foreign state).] Second, a corporation is deemed to be a citizen of any state, and a citizen or subject of any foreign state, in which it is incorporated or has its principal place of business, and is deemed to be a resident of any state in which it is incorporated or licensed to do business or is doing business [28 USC § 1369(c)(2)]. The term injury means physical harm to a natural person, and includes physical damage to or destruction of tangible property, but only if a natural person has been physically harmed [28 USC § 1369(c)(3)]. The term accident means a sudden accident, or a natural event culminating in an accident, that results in death incurred at a discrete location by at least 75 natural persons [28

USC § 1369(c)(4)].

A civil action under this Act may be brought in any district in which any defendant resides, or in which a substantial part of the accident giving rise to the action took place [28 USC § 1391(g)].

An action may be removed if it (1) could have been brought in a federal district court under the Act or the defendant is a party to an action that is or could have been brought in a federal district court in whole or in part under the Act, and (2) it arises from the same accident as the state court action, even if that action could not have been originally brought in district court [28 USC § 1441(e)(1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyDeterminationsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionJurisdictional SourcesStatutory SourcesCivil ProcedureVenueMultiparty Litigation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.24A

2.24A Minimal Diversity Required by Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.

2.24A[1] Complete Diversity Requirement Eliminated for Certain Class Actions When Amount in Controversy Exceeds $5 Million. Under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 (CAFA) [see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4], a district court has original jurisdiction of certain class actions in which the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $5 million, exclusive of interest and costs, and diversity of citizenship exists between any member of a class of plaintiffs and any defendant [28 USC § 1332(d)(2); see also Lowdermilk v. U.S. Bank Nat'l Ass'n (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 994, 998 (when plaintiff has pled amount in controversy less than $5 million, party seeking removal must prove with "legal certainty" that CAFA's jurisdictional amount is met); Berry v. American Express Publ'g (CD Cal 2005) 381 F Supp2d 1118, 1123 (amount-in-controversy requirement may be satisfied either from view of aggregate value to class members or defendants)]. For this purpose, the claims of individual class members are aggregated to determine whether the amount in controversy exceeds $5 million [28 USC § 1332(d)(6)].

Cross References:

Proving amount in controversy, see § 3.10[3][d]. Removal in multi-defendant action under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see § 3.18[4][b].

2.24A[2] Class Actions as to Which Minimal Diversity Does Not Apply. The minimal diversity requirements of CAFA [28 USC § 1332(d)(2); see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4] do not apply when any of the following is true:

- The action was commenced before February 18, 2005 [109 PL 2, § 9, 199 Stat 4]. For purposes of CAFA retroactivity, "commenced" means the date the complaint is filed, not the date the case is removed [Bush v. Cheaptickets, Inc. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 683, 689 ; see also Pritchett v. Office Depot, Inc. (10th Cir 2005) 420 F3d 1090, 1094]. For purposes of determining CAFA's effective date, an action is commenced under California law when the original complaint in the action is filed, irrespective of any relation back analysis [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1016-1017 ; see McAtee v. Capital One, F.S.B. (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1143, 1148 (any amendment of original complaint does not change action's commencement date for purpose of CAFA's effective date)]. Further, an amendment to a cross-complaint in California state court (a counterclaim in federal court) does not commence an action under the CAFA as of the date of the amendment [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1015-1016].

- The amount in controversy is less than $5 million [28 USC § 1332(d)(2)].

- The primary defendants are states, state officials, or other governmental entities against whom relief is foreclosed [28 USC § 1332(d)(5)(A)].

- The number of members in all proposed plaintiff classes is less than 100 [28 USC § 1332(d)(5)(B)].

- The action solely involves a covered security [28 USC § 1332(d)(9)(A); see Davis v. Chase Bank U.S.A., N.A. (CD Cal2006) 453 F Supp2d 1205, 1209].

- The action solely relates to the internal affairs or governance of a corporation or other business entity and arises under the laws of the state of incorporation or organization [28 USC § 1332(d)(9)(B)].

- The action solely relates to the rights, duties, and obligations relating to or created by or under any security [28 USC § 1332(d)(9)(C)].

In addition, CAFA does not supersede the statutory bar against removal of cases arising under the Securities Act of 1933 (15 USC § 77v(a)) [Luther v. Countrywide Home Loans Servicing LP (9th Cir 2008) 533 F3d 1031, 1034 (reasoning that more specific statute controls over more general statute, even if general statute is enacted later)].

2.24A[3] Exercise of Modified Class Action Diversity Jurisdiction on Removal.

2.24A[3][a] When Two-Thirds or More of Class Members Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed, District Court Must Decline Jurisdiction on Removal Under Certain Circumstances. Even if a district court would have original jurisdiction over a class action originally filed in the district court, it must decline to exercise that jurisdiction on removal in specified circumstances when two-thirds or more of the members of all proposed plaintiff classes are citizens of the state in which the action was originally filed [28 USC § 1332(d)(4)].

Cross Reference:

When district court must decline jurisdiction on removal of class action, see Ch. 3, Removing a Case to Federal Court, § 3.26A[2].

2.24A[3][b] When More Than One-Third of Class Members Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed, District Court May Decline Jurisdiction on Removal. Even if a district court would have original jurisdiction over a class action originally filed in the district court, it may decline to exercise that jurisdiction on removal when more than one-third but less than two-thirds of the members of all proposed plaintiff classes are citizens of the state in which the action was originally filed [28 USC § 1332(d)(3)].

Cross Reference:

When district court may decline jurisdiction on removal of class action, see Ch. 3, Removing a Case to Federal Court, § 3.26A[1].

2.24A[4] Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 Eliminates Complete Diversity Requirement for Certain Mass Actions. The minimal diversity provisions of CAFA generally extend to "mass actions" [28 USC § 1332(b)(11)(A)]. A "mass action" is a civil action (other than a class action) in which the monetary relief claims of 100 or more persons will be jointly tried on the ground that their claims involve common questions of law or fact [28 USC § 1332(d)(11)(B)(i); see Tanoh v. Dow Chemical Co. (9th Cir 2009) 561 F3d 945, 953 (seven individual state court actions, each with fewer than 100 plaintiffs, could not be considered together for purposes of 100-person minimum required to create one "mass action" eligible for removal to federal court under CAFA)].

Exceptions:

None of the following may qualify as a mass action [28 USC § 1332(d)(11)(B)(ii)]:

- An action in which all claims arise from an event or occurrence in the state in which the action was filed and that allegedly resulted in injuries in that state or states contiguous to that state.
- An action in which the claims are joined on the motion of a defendant.
- An action authorized by a state statute in which all claims are asserted on behalf of the general public.
- An action in which claims were consolidated or coordinated solely for pretrial proceedings.

Distinguish:

In a mass action, unlike in a class action under CAFA, jurisdiction exists only over those plaintiffs whose claims satisfy the traditional jurisdictional amount requirements, that is $75,000 for each plaintiff [28 USC § 1332(d)(11)(B)(i); see 28 USC § 1332(a)].

Cross Reference:

Minimal jurisdiction required under Class Action Fairness Act, 15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.26 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyDeterminationsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionCitizenshipGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionJurisdictional SourcesStatutory SourcesCivil ProcedureClass ActionsClass Action Fairness ActCivil ProcedureClass ActionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
II. ANALYZING SUBJECT MATTER JURISDICTION
B. Diversity Jurisdiction

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.25

2.25 Challenging Diversity Jurisdiction.

2.25[1] Methods for Challenge. Diversity jurisdiction may be challenged by any of the following:

- Motion for Rule 12(b) dismissal [Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1)].
- Answer [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(3)].
- Motion for relief from judgment [see Fed R Civ P 60(b)(6); see, e.g., Bank of Montreal v. Olafsson (6th Cir 1981) 648 F2d 1078, 1079 , cert. denied, 454 US 1084 (1981)].
- A party may challenge subject matter jurisdiction in a collateral proceeding only if the party did not appear in the underlying action and a default judgment was entered [see Chicot County Drainage Dist. v. Baxter State Bank (1940) 308 US 371, 377-378, 60 S Ct 317, 84 L Ed 329].

Warning:

The court can question the amount in controversy sua sponte [see Matheson v. Progressive Specialty Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2003) 319 F3d 1089, 1091 (appellate court remanded, after removal and summary judgment, when record did not show the district court determined requisite amount in controversy)]. However, if the defendant does not challenge the amount in controversy, the court apparently does not have an independent duty to inquire into the sufficiency of the amount pleaded [see In re "Agent Orange" Prod. Liab. Litig. (2d Cir 1987) 818 F2d 145, 163].

2.25[2] Generally Challenge May Be Made at Any Time. Any party, including the party that invoked diversity jurisdiction, may bring a motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction at any time during the proceedings, including on appeal [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(3); see also American Fire & Cas. Co. v. Finn (1951) 341 US 6, 16-18, 71 S Ct 534, 95 L Ed 702 (superseded by statute on different grounds)].

Although the absence of diversity jurisdiction may be raised at any time, the standard shifts when the argument on appeal raises new factual bases for the lack of jurisdiction that were not developed in trial court. The failure to contest facts alleged on removal constitutes an admission of those facts. An appellate court will only remand for a determination of diversity if a substantial question concerning the plaintiff's citizenship exists on the face of the pleadings at the time of removal [Schnabel v. Lui (9th Cir 2002) 302 F3d 1023, 1031-1032].

Cross Reference:

Form of notice of motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.33.

2.25[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. In the Central District of California, if some question of subject matter jurisdiction is raised by any party, that party must address the jurisdictional issue by motion to be heard before the Final Pretrial Conference [CD Cal Civ LR 16-2.1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionAmount in ControversyChallengesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsFailures to State ClaimsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsMotions to Dismiss

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
III. ANALYZING SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.26

2.26 CHECKLIST: Supplemental Jurisdiction.

Counsel should consider the following factors relating to asserting supplemental jurisdiction in federal court:

☐ Supplemental Jurisdiction Over Parties. Ascertain whether supplemental jurisdiction exists over parties to suit.

Discussion:
See §§ 2.27, 2.30

☐ Supplemental Jurisdiction Over Claims. Ascertain whether supplemental jurisdiction exists over claims.

○ Are additional claims part of same case or controversy?

Discussion:
See §§ 2.27, 2.29

☐ Diversity and Joinder. If suit is within diversity jurisdiction, ascertain whether there are claims made under following joinder devices over which the exercise of supplemental jurisdiction would defeat diversity:

○ Claims by plaintiffs against persons made parties by impleading third parties, compulsory joinder, permissive joinder; and intervention.

○ Claims by persons proposed to be joined under Fed R Civ P 19.

○ Claims by persons seeking to intervene under Fed R Civ P 24.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 14, 19, 20, 24

Discussion:
See § 2.28[1]

☐ Discretionary Decline of Supplemental Jurisdiction. Ascertain whether the court should exercise its discretion and decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction?

Discussion:
See § 2.28[2]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionAncillary JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionPendent PartiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionSame Case & ControversyCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive Joinder

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
III. ANALYZING SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.27

2.27 Federal Court May Have "Supplemental Jurisdiction" Over Other Claims.

2.27[1] Related Claims and Parties in Single Suit. When a district court has proper jurisdiction over a civil action, it also has supplemental jurisdiction over all other claims that are so related to claims in the original action that they form part of the same case or controversy [see 28 USC § 1367(a); see also Trustees of Constr. Indus. & Laborers Health & Welf. Trust v. Desert Valley Landscape & Maint., Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 333 F3d 923, 925 , cert. denied, 540 US 1017 (2003) ; Mendoza v. Zirkle Fruit Co. (9th Cir 2002) 301 F3d 1163, 1174 (upholding constitutionality of supplemental jurisdiction)].

Nonfederal claims are part of the "same case or controversy" as the federal claims when they derive from a common nucleus of operative fact and are such that a plaintiff would ordinarily be expected to try them in the same proceeding [Finley v. United States (1989) 490 US 545, 549, 109 S Ct 2003, 104 L Ed2d 593 , superseded by statute on other grounds, quoting United Mine Workers v. Gibbs (1966) 383 US 715, 725, 86 S Ct 1130, 16 L Ed2d 218].

Cross Reference:

16 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 106.05 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.27[2] Supplemental Jurisdiction Is Generally Mandatory. Once it is determined that a supplemental claim is related to the claim within the court's original jurisdiction, such that they form the same case or controversy, supplemental jurisdiction over the related claim is mandatory. The court has some discretion to not hear a claim over which supplemental jurisdiction exists, if the claim falls within one of circumstances enumerated in 28 USC § 1367(c) [see Executive Software N. Am., Inc. v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1545, 1552-1555, 1556 ; see also 2.28[2]].

A federal court may not decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction on a ground not specified by statute [see Executive Software N. Am., Inc. v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1545, 1560 (error to decline jurisdiction on ground that retention of state claims would require substantial expenditure of judicial time and resources), overruled on other grounds by Cal. Dep't of Water Res. v. Powerex Corp. (9th Cir 2008) 533 F3d 1087, 1093].

2.27[3] Statute of Limitations. The statute of limitations on a state law claim is tolled while the claim is pending in federal court and for a period of 30 days after it is dismissed unless state law provides for a longer tolling period [28 USC § 1367(d)].

Cross References:

16 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 106.05 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Pretrial Civil Procedure, Ch. 4, Limitation of Actions.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionJurisdictional SourcesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionAncillary JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionPendent PartiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionSame Case & Controversy

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
III. ANALYZING SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.28

2.28 Limitations on Supplemental Jurisdiction.

2.28[1] Diversity Actions. In any diversity action, a federal court lacks supplemental jurisdiction over claims made under the following joinder devices if exercising supplemental jurisdiction over the claim would defeat diversity [28 USC § 1367(b); see Owen Equip. & Erection Co. v. Kroger (1978) 437 US 365, 373-377, 98 S Ct 2396, 57 L Ed2d 274]:

- Claims by plaintiffs against persons made parties by impleading third parties [Fed R Civ P 14], compulsory joinder [Fed R Civ P 19], permissive joinder [Fed R Civ P 20]; and intervention [Fed R Civ P 24].

- Claims by persons to be joined under Rule 19.

- Claims by persons seeking to intervene under Rule 24 [see Hallco Mfg. Co. v. Quaeck (D Or 1995) 161 FRD 98, 102].

Cross Reference:

16 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 106.05, 106.40 -106.47 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

However, as long as the complete diversity requirement remains satisfied and there are no other jurisdictional defects, a district court may exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the claims of other plaintiffs in the same case even if those claims are for less than the jurisdictional amount [Exxon Mobil Corp. v. Allapattah Servs., Inc. (2005) 545 US 546, 549, 125 S Ct 2611, 162 L Ed2d 502].

2.28[2] Court May Decline Supplemental Jurisdiction.

2.28[2][a] When Novel or Complex Issue of State Law Exists. A district court has discretion to decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over a claim if the claim raises a novel or complex issue of state law [28 USC § 1367(c)(1); see Dream Palace v. County of Maricopa (9th Cir 2004) 384 F3d 990, 1022 (no abuse of discretion in declining to exercise jurisdiction over delicate issues of state law involving balance of power between state and local authorities); Arpin v. Santa Clara Valley Transp. Agency (9th Cir 2001) 261 F3d 912, 926-927 (no abuse of discretion in declining to exercise jurisdiction over claim raising state law issues of first impression); see also San Pedro Hotel Co., Inc. v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir 1998) 159 F3d 470, 478 n12 (28 USC § 1367(c)(1) permits district court to decline supplemental jurisdiction over novel pendent state law claims)]. However, the fact that an issue is one of first impression regarding the interpretation of a state statute does not require a court to decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction if the issue is not "complex" [see Schwarm v. Craighead (ED Cal 2006) 233 FRD 655, 659].

2.28[2][b] When Supplemental Claim Substantially Predominates. A district court has discretion to decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over a claim that substantially predominates over the original claim [28 USC § 1367(c)(2)].

A state law claim predominates if [Acri v. Varian Assocs. (9th Cir 1997) 114 F3d 999, 1001 ; see Diven v. Amalgamated Transit Union Int'l (DC Cir 1994) 38 F3d 598, 602]:

- The supplemental claim is more complex than the federal claim.
- The supplemental claim requires more judicial resources to adjudicate than the federal claim.
- The supplemental claim is more salient in the case as a whole than the federal claim.
- There is a substantial quantity of evidence supporting the supplemental claim that would not be relevant to the federal claim [see Picard v. Bay Area Reg'l Transit Dist. (ND Cal 1993) 823 F Supp 1519, 1527 (although based on different legal theories, federal and state claims required virtually same evidentiary presentation at trial)].

Warning:

A district court lacks power to decline to exercise jurisdiction in a diversity case solely on the ground of the uncertainty of the state-law issue involved [see Meredith v. City of Winterhaven (1943) 320 US 228, 234, 64 S Ct 7, 88 L Ed 9 ; see also O'Connor v. Nevada (9th Cir 1994) 27 F3d 357, 362-363 , cert. denied, 514 US 1021 (1995)].

2.28[2][c] When Federal Claim Is Dismissed. If all federal claims against all defendants are dismissed on the merits before trial, the district court has the discretion to retain or dismiss any remaining supplemental claims [28 USC § 1367(c)(3); Foster v. Wilson (9th Cir 2008) 504 F3d 1046, 1051-1052 ("decision whether to continue to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over state law claims after all federal claims have been dismissed lies within the district court's discretion")]. The district court retains authority to hear supplemental claims (including state law claims), considering the factors set out in 28 USC § 1367(c), after dismissing the jurisdiction-conferring claim(s) only if it had original federal subject matter jurisdiction in the case. If such subject matter jurisdiction never existed, the court has no choice but to dismiss the action [Herman Family Revocable Trust v. Teddy Bear (9th Cir 2001) 254 F3d 802, 805-806].

All claims supported by original jurisdiction must be dismissed before a court may exercise its discretion to decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction [28 USC § 1367(c); Trustees of Constr. Indus. & Laborers Health & Welf. Trust v. Desert Valley Landscape & Maint., Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 333 F3d 923, 925-926 , cert. denied, 540 US 1017 (2003) (district court must first identify the dismissal that triggers the exercise of discretion, and then explain how declining jurisdiction serves the objectives of economy, convenience, and fairness to the parties and comity)].

A court may decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction at any stage of the litigation; the fact that a court had previously exercised supplemental jurisdiction does not bar it from exercising its discretion to relinquish that jurisdiction at a later time [In re Latex Glove Prods. Liab. Litig. (WD Wash 2005) 373 F Supp2d 1205, 1208].

Warning:

If the federal claim is dismissed for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, a district court has no discretion to retain the supplemental claims for adjudication and must dismiss the state law claims without prejudice [Herman Family Revocable Trust v. Teddy Bear (9th Cir 2001) 254 F3d 802, 805]. If the district court grants a default judgment on the federal claim, that judgment represents a determination that the federal claim was well-founded. As such, the district court lacks discretion to decline supplemental jurisdiction over the remaining claims [Trustees of Constr. Indus. & Laborers Health & Welf. Trust v. Desert Valley Landscape & Maint., Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 333 F3d 923, 926 , cert. denied, 540 US 1017 (2003) (dismissal was neither fair to parties nor efficient use of judicial resources and constituted an abuse of discretion)].

2.28[2][d] Court May Decline Supplemental Jurisdiction Under Exceptional Circumstances. A district court may decline to exercise supplemental jurisdiction if in exceptional circumstances there are other compelling reasons to do so [28 USC § 1367(c)(4)].

Declining supplemental jurisdiction on the grounds of "exceptional circumstances" should be the exception rather than the rule [Executive Software N. Am., Inc. v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1545, 1555-1560 , overruled on other grounds by Cal. Dep't of Water Res. v. Powerex Corp. (9th Cir 2008) 533 F3d 1087, 1093].

Example:

A district court properly declined to exercise its supplemental jurisdiction over claims that were the subject of a pending state court proceeding. The court found that rejection of supplemental jurisdiction in this situation was appropriate because it furthered the values of economy, convenience, fairness, and comity [Polaris Pool Sys. v. Letro Prods., Inc. (CD Cal 1995) 161 FRD 422, 425 (pending state court action "probably" constitutes exceptional circumstances under 1367(c)(4))].

When a district court declines to exercise supplemental jurisdiction, the court should set forth specific reasons explaining that decision [see Bahrampour v. Lampert (9th Cir 2004) 356 F3d 969, 979].

Cross Reference:

16 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 106.05, 106.60 -106.68 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionDiversity JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionAncillary JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionPendent PartiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionSame Case & ControversyCivil ProcedureDismissalsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
III. ANALYZING SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.29

2.29 Determining Whether Additional Claims Are Part of Same Case or Controversy.

2.29[1] "Common Nucleus" Standard. An additional claim is part of the original case or controversy if both of the following requirements are met [see United Mine Workers v. Gibbs (1966) 383 US 715, 725, 86 S Ct 1130, 16 L Ed2d 218 ; see also Trustees of Constr. Indus. & Laborers Health & Welf. Trust v. Desert Valley Landscape & Maint., Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 333 F3d 923, 925 , cert. denied, 540 US 1017 (2003) ; Mendoza v. Zirkle Fruit Co. (9th Cir 2002) 301 F3d 1163, 1173 (rejecting per se constitutional bar on supplemental jurisdiction over claims against new parties)]:

- The additional claim and the federal claims derive from a common nucleus of operative fact.

- The nonfederal claims are such that the plaintiff would ordinarily be expected to try them with the federal claims in one proceeding.

2.29[2] Plaintiff May Join or Aggregate Claims. A single plaintiff may join all claims against a single defendant in an action, whether or not those claims arise from a common nucleus of operative fact [Fed R Civ P 18(a)]. The plaintiff may aggregate these claims to reach the required amount in controversy [see Budget Rent-A-Car, Inc. v. Higashiguchi (9th Cir 1997) 109 F3d 1471, 1473-1474].

2.29[3] Counterclaims and Crossclaims.

2.29[3][a] Jurisdiction Over Counterclaims. Supplemental jurisdiction may be used by defendants to bring a counterclaim within a federal court's jurisdiction in either federal question or diversity actions. If the main claim is federal and the counterclaim arises under state law between nondiverse parties, supplemental jurisdiction nonetheless provides for jurisdiction over the defendant's counterclaim. If the main claim is a diversity action and defendant's counterclaim fails to meet the jurisdictional minimum for assertion of the diversity jurisdiction, supplemental jurisdiction provides for jurisdiction over the counterclaim [28 USC § 1367(a), (b); see also Fed R Civ P 13(a), (b)].

Strategic Point:

If a defendant's counterclaims are compulsory, supplemental jurisdiction exists and no further analysis is necessary. If, however, a defendant's counterclaims are permissive, the court must analyze whether supplemental jurisdiction exists over those claims under the "case or controversy" test and whether to exercise its discretion to exercise that jurisdiction [Sparrow v. Mazda Am. Credit (ED Cal 2005) 385 F Supp2d 1063, 1068-1071 ; Campos v. Western Dental Servs., Inc. (ND Cal 2005) 404 F Supp2d 1164, 1167-1170].

Cross Reference:

Distinguishing between compulsory and permissive counterclaims, Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies, see § 11.09.

2.29[3][b] Jurisdiction Over Crossclaims. Crossclaims against coparties asserted under Rule 13(g) may be asserted in either federal question or diversity actions. Crossclaims against coparties asserted in diversity actions are supported by supplemental jurisdiction whether or not the parties on the crossclaim are diverse [28 USC § 1367(a); see Meritor Sav. Bank v. Camelback Canyon Investors (D Ariz 1991) 783 F Supp 455, 456-457 ; see also Fed R Civ P 13(g)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of counterclaims and crossclaims, see Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies, §§ 11.11, 11.33.

2.29[4] Federal Question Cases.

2.29[4][a] Federal Question Must Be Substantial. In federal question cases, a court may exercise supplemental jurisdiction only if a sufficiently substantial federal claim supports the underlying jurisdiction [United Mine Workers v. Gibbs (1966) 383 US 715, 725, 86 SCt 1130, 16 L Ed2d 218 ; see Purgess v. Sharrock (2d Cir 1994) 33 F3d 134, 139].

2.29[4][b] State Claims May Be Remanded After Removal. Whenever a separate and independent claim or cause of action arising under federal question jurisdiction is joined with one or more otherwise nonremovable claims or causes of action, the entire case may be removed. The district court may determine all issues, or in its discretion, remand all matters in which state law predominates [28 USC § 1441(c)].

2.29[5] Claims That Constitute "Same Case or Controversy."

2.29[5][a] Single Injury With Alternate Theories of Recovery. If the same act or omission violates parallel federal and state laws, the common nucleus of operative facts is obvious and federal courts routinely exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the state law claims [see, e.g., Vreeland v. Ethan Allen, Inc. (SDNY 1993) 828 F Supp 14, 15].

2.29[5][b] Single Act With Injuries to More Than One Person. Claims for relief by different persons arising from an act or omission by the defendant constitute a single case or controversy. For example, a claim for relief for personal injury by one plaintiff and a claim for relief for loss of consortium by another stemming from the same act or omission by the defendant is the same case or controversy [see Arnold v. Kimberly Quality Care Nursing Serv. (MD Pa 1991) 762 F Supp 1182, 1186].

2.29[6] Single Injury With Multiple Causation Is Generally Not "Same Case or Controversy." The Ninth Circuit generally ignores the single-injury approach to the common nucleus standard with regard to multiple causation [Galt G/S v. Hapag-Lloyd AG (9th Cir 1995) 60 F3d 1370, 1374-1375].

Example:

In Galt G/S v. Hapag-Lloyd AG, the court found that a claim against transporters for damaging cargo in transit was not the same case or controversy as the transporters' indemnity claim against a retailer for improper storage, which was alleged to have actually caused the damage to cargo. The court found that the two occurrences were separated by the carriers' relinquishing control over the cargo, and that they were also remote from each other in time [Galt G/S v. Hapag-Lloyd AG (9th Cir 1995) 60 F3d 1370, 1374-1375].

Warning:

Federal courts disagree as to whether a single injury is a single case or controversy regardless of how many parties are alleged to have contributed to the injury and how unrelated to or remote from each other in time and place is their conduct [compare Sinclair v. Soniform, Inc. (3d Cir 1991) 935 F2d 599, 603 (claims against crew and manufacturers were part of same case or controversy since both sets of claims were based on same purported injuries stemming from same scuba diving incident) with Galt G/S v. Hapag-Lloyd AG (9th Cir 1995) 60 F3d 1370, 1374-1375].

Cross Reference:

16 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 106.20 -106.25, 106.41 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionFederal QuestionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionSame Case & ControversyCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
III. ANALYZING SUPPLEMENTAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.30

2.30 Determining Whether Supplemental Jurisdiction Exists Over Joined Parties.

2.30[1] Supplemental Jurisdiction May Apply. Supplemental jurisdiction may apply to claims that involve the joinder or intervention of additional parties through the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [28 USC § 1367(a)].

2.30[2] Joinder of Parties to Counterclaim. A defendant counterclaiming against the plaintiff may join additional parties to the counterclaim pursuant to Rule 13(h) [Fed R Civ P 13(h)]. These claims are supported by supplemental jurisdiction even if complete diversity would be destroyed, assuming they are part of the same case or controversy [see FDIC v. Bathgate (3d Cir 1994) 27 F3d 850, 874 n14].

Cross Reference:

Joinder, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, §§ 10.04 -10.09.

2.30[3] Impleaded Parties.

2.30[3][a] Supplemental Jurisdiction Over Defendant's Impleader Claims. Claims by defendants against impleaded third-party defendants are supported by supplemental jurisdiction without regard to whether an independent basis of jurisdiction exists, provided that the court has jurisdiction over the main claim between the original parties [28 USC § 1367(a); Estate of Bruce v. City of Middletown (SDNY 1992) 781 F Supp 1013, 1015].

Cross Reference:

Impleader, see Ch. 12, Third-Party Actions.

2.30[3][b] No Supplemental Jurisdiction Over Plaintiff's Claims Arising out of Defendant's Impleader or Counterclaim in Diversity Action. State law claims by plaintiffs against third-parties impleaded by defendants are not supported by supplemental jurisdiction if there is no complete diversity between plaintiffs and the impleaded third parties [28 USC § 1367(b)].

Supplemental jurisdiction does not exist over a plaintiff's Fed R Civ P 14 impleader claim for indemnity or contribution growing out of a counterclaim against the plaintiff unless complete diversity exists between the plaintiff and the impleaded third parties [28 USC § 1367(b); Chase Manhattan Bank N.A. v. Aldridge (SDNY 1995) 906 F Supp 866, 868-869 ; see also Owen Equip. & Erection Co. v. Kroger (1978) 437 US 365, 373-377, 98 S Ct 2396, 57 L Ed2d 274].

2.30[4] Interplay of Supplemental Jurisdiction and Compulsory Joinder. Rule 19, dealing with joinder of parties needed for "complete relief" or otherwise required for a "just adjudication," can not be used in diversity actions if the joinder would defeat complete diversity [28 USC § 1367(b); see Fed R Civ P 19; see also Krueger v. Cartwright (7th Cir 1993) 996 F2d 928, 933 n6]. Parties joined under Rule 19 may not then assert claims that would defeat diversity.

The court lacks original jurisdiction if the inability to join an indispensable party means that the action is subject to dismissal pursuant to Rule 19 [ZB Holdings, Inc. v. White (SDNY 1992) 144 FRD 42, 47].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Rule 19 joinder, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, §§ 10.04 -10.09.

2.30[5] Interplay of Supplemental Jurisdiction and Permissive Joinder.

2.30[5][a] Federal Question Cases. If the basis for original jurisdiction is a federal question, supplemental jurisdiction exists for all claims against parties joined under Fed R Civ P 20, the permissive joinder provision [28 USC § 1367(a)].

If one plaintiff asserts a federal claim against a defendant, a joined plaintiff's state law claim against that defendant is supported by supplemental jurisdiction without regard to the diversity of the parties provided the claim arises out of a common nucleus of operative fact [Palmer v. Hospital Auth. of Randolph County (11th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 1559, 1566-1569].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of permissive joinder, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, § 10.08.

2.30[5][b] Diversity Cases. No supplemental jurisdiction exists in diversity cases over claims by plaintiffs against persons permissively joined under Fed R Civ P 20 if the joinder destroys diversity [28 USC § 1367(b); see Borgeson v. Archer-Daniels Midland Co. (CD Cal 1995) 909 F Supp 709, 714-717].

2.30[6] Class Actions. The supplemental jurisdiction statute, 28 USC § 1367, overrules the traditional rule requiring each member of a class action invoking diversity jurisdiction to meet the jurisdictional minimum amount in controversy requirement. Nevertheless, at least one claim must meet the amount in controversy in diversity class actions to establish a cognizable claim to which the other claims are supplemental [Exxon Mobil Corp. v. Allapattah Servs., Inc. (2005) 545 US 546, 549, 125 S Ct 2611, 162 L Ed2d 502].

Cross Reference:

Jurisdictional requirements in class actions, see Ch. 20, Class Actions, § 20.12.

2.30[7] Intervention.

2.30[7][a] Claims by Intervening Plaintiffs. Claims against nondiverse parties asserted by persons seeking to intervene as plaintiffs are not supported by supplemental jurisdiction in a diversity action, even if intervention is by right under Fed R Civ P 24(a) [28 USC § 1367(b); see Fed R Civ P 24; see also Development Fin. Corp. v. Alpha Hous. & Health Care, Inc. (3d Cir 1995) 54 F3d 156, 159].

Cross Reference:

Ch. 14, Intervention.

2.30[7][b] Claims by Intervening Defendants. One may intervene as a defendant and then assert a counterclaim against a nondiverse plaintiff or a crossclaim against a nondiverse party [28 USC § 1367]. However, a party may not intervene as a defendant solely for the purpose of asserting a claim against a nondiverse plaintiff; the intervenor must be potentially liable to the plaintiff on the primary claim to be treated as a defendant to whom supplemental jurisdiction may apply under 28 USC § 1367(b) [see MCI Telecomms. Corp. v. Logan Group (ND Tex 1994) 848 F Supp 86, 88-89].

Cross References:

Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties.

Joinder of claims, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 106.40 -106.47 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionAncillary JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionPendent ClaimsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionPendent PartiesCivil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionSupplemental JurisdictionSame Case & ControversyCivil ProcedurePartiesInterventionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable PartiesCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive Joinder

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.30A

2.30A CHECKLIST: Analyzing Personal Jurisdiction.

Consider the following subjects, relating to jurisdiction of the district court, before an action is filed. Similarly these subjects may be used to determine if there are areas in which to challenge the court's jurisdiction over an action that has been filed:

☐ Presence: Ascertain whether parties are present in California.

Discussion:
See § 2.32

☐ Consent: Determine whether parties have consented to federal jurisdiction.

Discussion:
See § 2.33

☐ Domicile: Ascertain the domicile of the parties.

Discussion:
See § 2.34

☐ General Jurisdiction: Consider whether court may exercise jurisdiction over defendant based on any claim:

○ Have there been continuous, systematic, or substantial activities in the forum that permit the jurisdiction concerning acts unrelated to the forum?

○ Was nonresident defendant served with process within the forum state?

Authority:
Burnham v. Superior Court (1990) 495 US 604, 622-623, 110 S Ct 2105, 109 L Ed2d 631

Discussion: See § 2.36

☐ Specific Jurisdiction: Consider whether court may exercise jurisdiction based on claim arising directly from defendant's contacts with forum state:

○ Did nonresident defendant direct his or her activities or consummate some transaction with the forum or a resident of the forum?

○ Did nonresident perform act by which he or she purposefully availed himself or herself of the privileges of conducting activities in the forum state?

○ Did claim arise out of, relate to, or result from the defendant's forum-related activities?

○ Would the exercise of jurisdiction comport with fair play and substantial justice?

Authority:
Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs. v. Bell & Clements Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1122, 1129

Discussion: See § 2.37

☐ Long-Arm Statute: If applicable, ascertain whether California long-arm statute provides personal jurisdiction over defendants.

Authority:
CCP § 410.10; Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs. v. Bell & Clements Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1122, 1134-1136 .

Discussion: See § 2.38

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsConstitutional LimitsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsLong-Arm JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsMinimum ContactsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.31

2.31 "Personal Jurisdiction" Defined.

2.31[1] Court Authority Over Parties. Personal jurisdiction refers to the court's authority over the parties to an action and is required to render a judgment in personam [see Burnham v. Superior Court (1990) 495 US 604, 609-610, 110 S Ct 2105, 109 L Ed2d 631]. A judgment in personam requires a party to pay an opposing party a sum of money or take other actions to satisfy the judgment [Hanson v. Denckla (1958) 357 US 235, 246, n12, 78 S Ct 1228, 2 L Ed2d 1283].

A court without personal jurisdiction over the defendant is without authority to hear the dispute, if the dispute requires an in personam judgment for effective relief. If the court proceeds to hear such an action, its judgment is invalid and voidable [see World-Wide Volkswagen Corp. v. Woodson (1980) 444 US 286, 291, 100 S Ct 559, 62 L Ed2d 490].

Strategic Point:

The plaintiff bears the burden of establishing that the court has personal jurisdiction over the defendant. Until the court conducts an evidentiary hearing, the plaintiff need only make a prima facie showing of the court's jurisdiction. Unless contravened, the plaintiff's version of facts is taken as true, and conflicts between the facts stated in the affidavits must be resolved in the plaintiff's favor to determine whether a prima facie case exists for personal jurisdiction [Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs. v. Bell & Clements Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1122, 1129].

Cross Reference:

Jurisdiction checklist, see § 2.03.

2.31[2] Due Process Requirements. Before a person or entity may be subjected to a court's jurisdiction, due process requires the following [see International Shoe Co. v. Washington (1945) 326 US 310, 311, 66 S Ct 154, 90 L Ed 95 ; see also World-Wide Volkswagen Corp. v. Woodson (1980) 444 US 286, 291-292, 100 S Ct 559, 62 L Ed2d 490]:

- Basis: The person must have adequate connection with the state. If a basis exists, the person or property is amenable to jurisdiction.

- Process: In addition to basis, certain prescribed steps must be taken to subject a person to the court's authority. These prescribed steps are commonly called process. Service of process in accordance with statutory and due process requirements invokes jurisdiction.

2.31[3] Defendant May Waive Lack of Personal Jurisdiction. A defendant may waive a defective exercise of personal jurisdiction either expressly (for example, by consenting to jurisdiction), or impliedly (for example, by failing to object in a timely manner) [see Fed R Civ P 12(h)(1), (3); Insurance Corp. of Ireland v. Compagnie des Bauxites de Guinee (1982) 456 US 694, 703, 102 S Ct 2099, 72 L Ed2d 492]. A party waives any defense of lack of personal jurisdiction by failing to raise the defense in its first motion under Rule 12(b) [see Fed R Civ P 12(b), (h)(1)(A); Schnabel v. Lui (9th Cir 2002) 302 F3d 1023, 1033].

2.31[4] Establishing Personal Jurisdiction in Patent Cases. When the personal jurisdiction inquiry "is intimately involved with the substance of patent laws," the law of the federal circuit applies [Oakley, Inc. v. Jofa AB (CD Cal 2003) 287 F Supp2d 1111, 1113].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsConstitutional LimitsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsLong-Arm JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsMinimum ContactsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsGeneral Overview

63 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.32

2.32 Jurisdiction Based on Presence.

Courts can exercise personal jurisdiction over a nonresident defendant when the defendant is personally served with process while present in the forum state [Burnham v. Superior Court (1990) 495 US 604, 612, 619-622, 110 S Ct 2105, 109 L Ed2d 631 ; see Pennoyer v. Neff (1877) 95 US 714, 728, 733, 24 L Ed 565].

A challenge to jurisdiction based on due process grounds by a defendant who was personally served while physically present in the state will rarely, if ever, be successful [see Bourassa v. Desrochers (9th Cir 1991) 938 F2d 1056, 1057-1058].

Cross References:

Ch. 7, Service of Summons, 7.45-7.49.

Discussion of personal jurisdiction, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 108, Territorial Jurisdiction: Jurisdiction Over Persons and Property (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsConstitutional LimitsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal Delivery

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.33

2.33 Jurisdiction Based on Consent.

2.33[1] Appearance. A nonresident defendant who appears in an action without raising lack of personal jurisdiction is deemed to have consented to the court's jurisdiction [Goldey v. Morning News (1895) 156 US 518, 525, 15 S Ct 559, 39 L Ed 517].

The defendant's filing of a counterclaim constitutes consent to personal jurisdiction where the action is pending, and waives any objection to lack of service [Schnabel v. Lui (9th Cir 2002) 302 F3d 1023, 1037].

Distinguish:

The Ninth Circuit has held that a non-named party may intervene as of right under Rule 24(a) and contest the court's exercise of personam jurisdiction [see SEC v. Ross, 504 F3d 1130, 1148-1150 (9th Cir 2007)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of jurisdiction by consent, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 108.53 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.33[2] Forum Selection Clauses Are Ordinarily Enforced. In general, a defendant may consent by contract to the court's jurisdiction. A contractual forum selection clause requires parties to submit to jurisdiction in a designated court or in a court chosen by one of the parties for any action arising out of the contract [National Equip. Rental, Ltd. v. Szukhent (1964) 375 US 311, 315-316, 84 S Ct 411, 11 L Ed2d 354]. A forum selection clause is enforceable unless it is shown that to enforce it would be unreasonable or unjust or that some invalidity such as fraud or overreaching is attached to it [M/S Bremen v. Zapata Off-Shore Co. (1972) 407 US 1, 15, 92 S Ct 1907, 32 L Ed2d 513].

Clauses permitting a party to bring suit on a contract in a particular district court are broadly enforced in most courts and have been found to be enforceable even if the clause is part of boilerplate language in a form contract [Carnival Cruise Lines v. Shute (1991) 499 US 585, 589, 111 S Ct 1522, 113 L Ed2d 622 ; see CQL Original Prods., Inc. v. National Hockey League Players' Ass'n (1995) 39 CA4th 1347, 1355, 46 CR2d 412 (clause may be enforced if party had "the power to walk away from negotiations if displeased with the provision")].

Warning:

A forum selection clause should expressly select the agreed-on court as the chosen venue. For example, a defendant's motion to dismiss under Fed R Civ P 12(b)(3) or to transfer pursuant to 28 USC § 1406 to Utah federal court was denied, because the relevant clause in the agreement (titled "Controlling Law; Consent to Jurisdiction") did not expressly select the Utah District Court as the venue of choice [*Bomanite Corp. v. Newlook Int'l, Inc. (ED Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 31482, at *14-16].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsConsentCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsGeneral OverviewContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsForum Selection Clauses

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.34

2.34 Jurisdiction Based on Domicile.

A court has jurisdiction over persons domiciled within the forum state at the time the action is filed, even if the defendant is absent from the state [Milliken v. Meyer (1940) 311 US 457, 464, 61 S Ct 339, 85 L Ed 278].

A person's domicile is the state where the person has a permanent home, to which he or she has the intention of returning whenever absent [see Lew v. Moss (9th Cir 1986) 797 F2d 747, 750-751]. Although a person may have more than one residence, each person has only one domicile [see Milliken v. Meyer (1940) 311 US 457, 464, 61 S Ct 339, 85 L Ed 278].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of domicile, see § 2.17[3].

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.35

2.35 Jurisdiction Based on Minimum Contacts.

2.35[1] Factors Considered. Federal courts assess the following factors in determining whether a defendant has sufficient contacts with the forum for personal jurisdiction to be exercised over that defendant consistent with the Constitution [see Hanson v. Denckla (1958) 357 US 235, 251, 78 S Ct 1228, 2 L Ed2d 1283 ; World-Wide Volkswagen Corp. v. Woodson (1980) 444 US 286, 296-297, 100 S Ct 559, 62 L Ed2d 490 ; Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz (1985) 471 US 462, 473-474, 105 S Ct 2174, 85 L Ed2d 528]:

- Whether the defendant purposefully availed itself of the privileges and benefits of conducting activities within the forum [Ballard v. Savage (9th Cir 1995) 65 F3d 1495, 1498 (purposeful availment rule met if defendant took deliberate action within forum state or created continuing obligations to forum residents); see California Software, Inc. v. Reliability Research, Inc. (CD Cal 1986) 631 F Supp 1356, 1361 (when defendants expressly aim their conduct at resident of forum state, and injury results therefrom, defendants should anticipate answering for their conduct in that forum)].

- Whether the defendant's conduct in the forum are such that the defendant should reasonably anticipate being sued in the forum.

- Whether the defendant's business contacts with the forum are continuous and systematic.

Forum contacts include acts performed outside the forum state that have an effect within the forum, such as a single contract executed by mail with a forum resident or the issuance of an insurance policy to a forum resident [see McGee v. International Life Ins. Co. (1957) 355 US 220, 223, 78 S Ct 199, 2 L Ed2d 223 ; see also Lake v. Lake (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 1416, 1421 (if only one forum state contact, claim for relief must arise out of that particular purposeful contact)].

If forum contacts result from the acts of others and are unforeseen and unintended by the defendant, jurisdiction cannot be exercised [Hanson v. Denckla (1958) 357 US 235, 253, 78 S Ct 1228, 2 L Ed2d 1283 ; see Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz (1985) 471 US 462, 474-475, 105 S Ct 2174, 85 L Ed2d 528 ; see also Shute v. Carnival Cruise Lines (9th Cir 1990) 897 F2d 377, 381 , rev'd on other grounds, 499 US 585 (1991) (focus on defendant's affirmative conduct ensures that defendant is not haled into court based on random, fortuitous or attenuated contacts or the unilateral activities of third parties)].

A parent-subsidiary relationship alone is insufficient to attribute the subsidiary's contacts to the parent for jurisdictional purposes. However, a subsidiary's contacts may be imputed to the parent if the subsidiary is the parent's alter ego or general agent [Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs. v. Bell & Clements Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1122, 1134-1136].

Whether a person was acting as an agent for the nonresident defendant, sufficient for personal jurisdiction, or as an independent contractor, is determined by applicable state law [Ochoa v. J.B. Martin & Sons Farms, Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 287 F3d 1182, 1189].

2.35[2] Fundamental Fairness Is Required. If it can be established that the defendant had minimum contacts with the forum, the court must then decide whether it is fair to subject the defendant to litigation in the forum [see Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs. v. Bell & Clements Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1122, 1129 ; see also Core-Vent Corp. v. Nobel Indus. AB (9th Cir 1993) 11 F3d 1482, 1487-1488].

The Ninth Circuit weighs and balances the following factors in determining the fairness and reasonableness of the exercise of jurisdiction [Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs. v. Bell & Clements Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1122, 1132 ; see Core-Vent Corp. v. Nobel Indus. AB (9th Cir 1993) 11 F3d 1482, 1487-1488 ; World-Wide Volkswagen Corp. v. Woodson (1980) 444 US 286, 292, 100 S Ct 559, 62 L Ed2d 490]:

- The defendant's "purposeful" interjection into the forum state's affairs [see Insurance Co. of N. Am. v. Marina Salina Cruz (9th Cir 1981) 649 F2d 1266, 1271 (degree of interjection is factor in assessing reasonableness of jurisdiction)].

- The burden on the defendant to defend in the forum [see Asahi Metal Indus. Co. v. Superior Court (1987) 480 US 102, 114, 107 S Ct 1026, 94 L Ed2d 92].

- The extent of the conflict with the sovereignty of the defendant's state [see Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs. v. Bell & Clements Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1122, 1133 (litigation against alien creates higher but not insurmountable jurisdictional barrier than suit against sister state citizen)].

- The interests of the forum state in adjudicating the dispute [see Sinatra v. National Enquirer (9th Cir 1988) 854 F2d 1191, 1200].

- The most efficient judicial resolution of the controversy [see Caruth v. International Psychoanalytical Ass'n (9th Cir 1995) 59 F3d 126, 129 (inquiry focuses on location of evidence and witnesses)].

- The importance of the forum to the plaintiff's interest in convenient and effective relief [see Dole Food Co. v. Watts (9th Cir 2002) 303 F3d 1104, 1116 (factor not paramount)].

- The existence of an adequate alternative forum.

Strategic Point:

Once it is decided that the defendant purposefully established minimum contacts within a forum, the defendant must present a compelling case that the presence of other considerations makes the forum court's exercise of jurisdiction unreasonable [see Dole Food Co. v. Watts (9th Cir 2002) 303 F3d 1104, 1114-1116]. The case law appears split as to whether the plaintiff bears the burden of proving the unavailability of an alternative forum [see Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs. v. Bell & Clements Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1122, 1133-1134], or whether this factor is only considered after the defendants otherwise satisfy the burden of overcoming the presumption of reasonableness [see Dole Food Co. v. Watts (9th Cir 2002) 303 F3d 1104, 1116-1117].

2.35[3] Electronic Communications Issues. A California state court of appeals has held that a New York defendant who negotiated a business contract by e-mail and telephone communications with the California plaintiff was subject to personal jurisdiction in California, stating that "there is no reason why the requisite minimum contacts cannot be electronic" [Hall v. LaRonde (1997) 56 CA4th 1342, 1347, 66 CR2d 399]. Jurisdictionally sufficient harm was found in a suit challenging the scheme of registering domain names to extort money from corporations: although the trademark violations occurred in cyberspace, the scheme injured the defendant in the forum state where the corporation maintained its principal place of business [Panavision Int'l, L.P. v. Toeppen (9th Cir 1998) 141 F3d 1316, 1320-1322 & n2].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsLong-Arm JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsMinimum ContactsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.36

2.36 Invoking General Jurisdiction.

2.36[1] General Jurisdiction Refers to All Claims. General jurisdictionallows a court to exercise jurisdiction over a defendant based on any claim, including claims unrelated to the defendant's contacts with the state [Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz (1985) 471 US 462, 473 n15, 105 S Ct 2174, 85 L Ed2d 528 ; Helicopteros Nacionales de Colombia, S.A. v. Hall (1984) 466 US 408, 414 n9, 104 S Ct 1868, 80 L Ed2d 404].

Cross Reference:

General and specific jurisdiction, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 108.40 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.36[2] Connections With Forum Must Be Continuous, Systematic, and Substantial. A forum court may assert general jurisdiction over a nonresident defendant only when the defendant's connections with the forum are continuous, systematic, and substantial [Burnham v. Superior Court (1990) 495 US 604, 622, 110 S Ct 2105, 109 L Ed2d 631 ; see Lake v. Lake (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 1416, 1420].

2.36[3] Courts Are Reluctant to Assert General Jurisdiction Over Nonresident Defendants. Courts have been reluctant to assert general jurisdiction over nonresident defendants even when the contacts with the forum state are quite extensive [Perkins v. Benguet Consol. Mining Co. (1952) 342 US 437, 445-446, 72 S Ct 413, 96 L Ed 485, 63 Ohio Law Abs. 146 ; see Helicopteros Nacionales de Colombia, S.A. v. Hall (1984) 466 US 408, 417-419, 104 S Ct 1868, 80 L Ed2d 404]. The general jurisdiction threshold of "continuous and systematic" contacts typically requires the business defendant to have an office in the forum state, although lesser involvement with the forum state has been found sufficient for general jurisdiction [see Reed v. American Airlines, Inc. (1982) 197 Mont 34, 36, 640 P2d 912, 915 ("presence"); North Dakota v. Newberger (1980) 188 Mont 323, 328-329, 613 P2d 1002, 1005].

2.36[4] Exception for Personal Service in State. An important exception to the continuous and substantial contacts rule is the traditional rule allowing general jurisdiction over a transient individual if the defendant was served with process within the forum state. Proper service within the forum may be an adequate basis for general jurisdiction, even if the defendant has no other forum state contacts [Burnham v. Superior Court (1990) 495 US 604, 622-623, 110 S Ct 2105, 109 L Ed2d 631]. In a sense, questions of personal jurisdiction arise only when personal service within the state is not obtained.

2.36[5] Mere Purchasing Activity Does Not Support General Personal Jurisdiction. Purchases and incidental contacts within the forum state are not sufficient to satisfy the requirements of due process in a case not arising from the purchases, even if the purchasing activity is systematic and continuous [Helicopteros Nacionales de Colombia, S.A. v. Hall (1984) 466 US 408, 417-419, 104 S Ct 1868, 80 L Ed2d 404 ; see Lake v. Lake (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 1416, 1421].

Cross Reference:

General personal jurisdiction, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 108.41 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.36[6] Establishing General Jurisdiction in Website Cases. Although the fact that a company maintains a highly interactive website by itself may not be enough to establish general jurisdiction, the totality of the company's contacts with California may support general jurisdiction when, given the economic realities of its activities, the company "could reasonably anticipate being haled into court" in California [Corematrics, Inc. v. Atomic Park.com, LLC (ND Cal 2005) 370 F Supp2d 1013, 1021].

Example:

General jurisdiction in California existed over an Ohio-based e-tailer when its California sales were central to its business and it advertised to Californians, made a substantial portion (both in numbers and revenue) of its sales to Californians, made systematic and continuous sales to Californians, made substantial purchases from California, and stipulated to personal jurisdiction in California for some of its contracts with third parties [Corematrics, Inc. v. Atomic Park.com, LLC (ND Cal 2005) 370 F Supp2d 1013, 1021].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsConstitutional LimitsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsMinimum ContactsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.37

2.37 Invoking Specific Jurisdiction.

2.37[1] When Claim Arises Directly From Defendant's Contacts With Forum. A court may exercise specific jurisdiction when the defendant has few contacts, or even a single contact with the forum state, if the claim arises directly from the defendant's contacts within that state [see Burger King Corp. v. Rudzewicz (1985) 471 US 462, 472-473, 479, 105 S Ct 2174, 85 L Ed2d 528].

The Ninth Circuit uses a three-part test to determine specific jurisdiction [Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs. v. Bell & Clements Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1122, 1129 ; see Dole Food Co. v. Watts (9th Cir 2002) 303 F3d 1104, 1113-1115]:

- The nonresident defendant must purposefully direct his or her activities or consummate some transaction with the forum or a resident of the forum, or perform some act by which the defendant purposefully avails himself or herself of the privileges of conducting activities in forum state, thereby invoking the benefits and protections of the forum's laws.

- The claim must arise out of, relate to, or result from the defendant's forum-related activities.

- The exercise of jurisdiction must comport with fair play and substantial justice, that is, it must be reasonable [see Core-Vent Corp. v. Nobel Indus. A.B. (9th Cir 1993) 11 F3d 1482, 1487 (seven-factor test for determining whether asserting personal jurisdiction over defendant is reasonable); see, e.g., Doe v. Geller (ND Cal 2008) 533 F Supp2d 996, 1007-1011 (all seven factors suggested that jurisdiction would be unreasonable)].

Physical contact with the forum state is not required. Within the rubric of purposeful availment, personal jurisdiction may be exercised over a defendant whose only "contact" with the forum state is the "purposeful direction" of a foreign act having an effect in the forum state [Haisten v. Grass Valley Med. Reimbursement Fund Ltd. (9th Cir 1986) 784 F2d 1392, 1397]. If the defendant's intentional act is not expressly aimed at the forum state, there is no jurisdiction even if harm is ultimately caused in the forum state [see Pebble Beach Co. v. Caddy (9th Cir 2006) 453 F3d 1151, 1158

(no California jurisdiction over resident of Great Britain based on domain name and passive website not directed at California); Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co. (9th Cir 2004) 374 F3d 797, 807 (no California jurisdiction over Ohio car dealer who used movie star's picture in advertisement aimed at Ohio residents, even if dealer may have known movie star lived in California)].

Examples:

Personal jurisdiction could be exercised over a nonresident defendant in a copyright infringement suit when he "expressly aimed" his activities at the forum by using a forum resident's copyrighted material on his website [Brayton Purcell LLP v. Recordon & Recordon (9th Cir 2009) 575 F3d 981, 986-987]. This "individualized targeting" distinguished this case from Pebble Beach Co. v. Caddy (9th Cir 2006) 453 F3d 1151 and from Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co. (9th Cir 2004) 374 F3d 797 . In Pebble Beach, defendant, by merely registering and operating a passive informational website, "engaged in no 'individualized targeting' " [Brayton Purcell LLP v. Recordon & Recordon (9th Cir 2009) 575 F3d 981, 987 , quoting Pebble Beach Co. v. Caddy (9th Cir 2006) 453 F3d 1151, 1157]. In Schwarzenegger, defendant's use of Arnold Schwarzenegger's image in a local Ohio newspaper was insufficient to confer jurisdiction because the advertisement "was expressly aimed at Ohio rather than California." The court found no individual targeting because "[t]he Advertisement was never circulated in California, and ... [defendant] had no reason to believe that any Californians would see it" [Brayton Purcell LLP v. Recordon & Recordon (9th Cir 2009) 575 F3d 981, 987 , quoting Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co. (9th Cir 2004) 374 F3d 797, 807].

The "effects" test, applicable in intentional tort cases, requires that (1) the defendant allegedly committed an intentional act expressly aimed at the forum state that causes harm and (2) the defendant knows that the harm is likely to be suffered in the forum state [Dole Food Co. v. Watts (9th Cir 2002) 303 F3d 1104, 1111-1112 ; see Bancroft & Masters, Inc. v. Augusta Nat'l, Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 223 F3d 1082, 1087 ("express aiming" test met when defendant allegedly engaged in conduct targeted at a plaintiff whom defendant knew resided in forum state)]. It is unclear whether the "brunt of the harm" must be suffered in the forum state, or merely that some significant amount of harm have occurred there [Dole Food Co. v. Watts (9th Cir 2002) 303 F3d 1104, 1113-1114].

Examples:

Judgment creditor's conduct, which prevented judgment debtor from closing on a pending sale of his Arizona real property by recording an improper lien, demanding a sum in excess of that due under the judgment, and refusing to remove the lien, satisfied the "conduct aimed at the forum state," even though the creditor's contacts with Arizona were minimal [Menken v. Emm (9th Cir 2007) 503 F3d 1050, 1059-1061].

Jurisdictionally sufficient harm was found in a suit challenging the scheme of registering domain names to extort money from corporations: although the trademark violations occurred in cyberspace, the scheme injured the defendant in the forum state where the corporation maintained its principal place of business [Panavision Int'l, L.P. v. Toeppen (9th Cir 1998) 141 F3d 1316, 1320-1322 , & n2; see Dole Food Co. v. Watts (9th Cir 2002) 303 F3d 1104, 1114 (corporate managers were induced to approve injurious transactions in forum state)].

2.37[2] Establishing Specific Jurisdiction in "Stream of Commerce" Cases. A plurality of the Supreme Court has determined that the purposeful availment threshold is met when a manufacturer places a product in the stream of commerce with awareness of its ultimate sale in the forum state, even though the product reached the state through the independent, but foreseeable, conduct of others [Asahi Metal Indus. Co. v. Superior Court (1987) 480 US 102, 116-117, 107 S Ct 1026, 94 L Ed2d 92 ; see Buckeye Boiler Co. v. Superior Court (1969) 71 C2d 893, 902, 80 CR 113, 458 P2d 57 (it may suffice if manufacturer is aware that its products are regularly sold for use in forum state, even if particular defective product was not sold there)].

A second plurality of the Supreme Court has determined that additional conduct must be "purposefully directed" at the forum state. This additional conduct could include designing a product for the forum state market, advertising in the forum, providing consumer advice in the forum, or marketing a product through a distributor or sales-agent in the forum state [Asahi Metal Indus. Co. v. Superior Court (1987) 480 US 102, 112, 107 S Ct 1026, 94 L Ed2d 92]. In the Ninth Circuit, the question of what constitutes purposeful availment under a stream of commerce theory of personal jurisdiction appears to be an open question [compare Holland Am. Line, Inc. v. Wartsila N. Am., Inc. (9th Cir 2007) 485 F3d 450, 459-460 ("The placement of a product into the stream of commerce, without more, is not an act purposefully directed toward a forum state."), with Hedrick v. Daiko Shoji Co., Ltd. (9th Cir 1983) 715 F2d 1355, 1358 ("[a] manufacturer or supplier of a defective product who knew or should have known that a product would enter the stream of commerce can be subjected, consistently with due process, to a forum state's long-arm jurisdiction and be sued in the forum where the injury occurred")]. In the absence of clear direction from the Ninth Circuit, district courts in the circuit have taken different approaches [*see Lamm v. Bumbo (ND Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 39042, at *15-16 and n.1 (collecting cases)].

Cross Reference:

Specific personal jurisdiction, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 108.42 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.37[3] Establishing Specific Jurisdiction in Website Cases. The operation of a strictly passive website, in which the only contacts with the forum state consist of mere viewings of the website's content by those surfing the Internet, by itself, does not give rise to specific jurisdiction when the website is not directed at the forum state [Pebble Beach Co. v. Caddy (9th Cir 2006) 453 F3d 1151, 1158.] However, jurisdiction may be appropriate when the Internet conduct includes "something more" to show the party directed substantial activity toward the forum [Cybersell, Inc. v. Cybersell, Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 130 F3d 414, 418 (jurisdiction is more likely the greater the level of interactivity and commercial nature of the exchange of information that occurs with the forum state); *see Starlight Int'l, LTD. v. Lifeguard Health, LLC (ND Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 58927, at *14-16 (defendant company that made $ 2,559 in sales to California consumers via its website over 13 months, through approximately 20 transactions, was subject to specific jurisdiction)].

Selling a single item on eBay is not a substantial contact with the buyer's home state that will support specific jurisdiction [Boschetto v. Hansing (9th Cir 2008) 539 F3d 1011, 1016-1017]. However, when eBay is used to establish regular business with a remote forum, so that a finding of personal jurisdiction "comports with traditional notions of fair play and substantial justice," a defendant's use of eBay may be properly taken into account for purposes of establishing personal jurisdiction [Boschetto v. Hansing (9th Cir 2008) 539 F3d 1011, 1018-1019 (dicta)].

Example:

The sale of an antique car was merely a contract for the sale of a good, and was insufficient to create a substantial connection with California. The defendants did not create any ongoing obligations with the plaintiff in California. Performance of the contract did not require the defendants to engage in any substantial business in California. The plaintiff sent payment to Wisconsin, and arranged to pick up the car there. Accordingly, this single transaction for the sale of one item did not establish that the defendants purposefully availed themselves of the privilege of doing business in California. [Boschetto v. Hansing (9th Cir 2008) 539 F3d 1011, 1017-1019].

The scope and nature of the related contacts are key to this analysis. Factors for consideration include [Cybersell, Inc. v. Cybersell, Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 130 F3d 414, 419]:

- Whether the defendant encouraged residents of the forum state to engage in relevant contacts with the defendant.

- Whether there is evidence that the contacts constitute a continuous and substantial part of the defendant's business.

- Whether the defendant exchanged messages with forum residents or gained subscribers through its contacts.

- Whether the defendant otherwise purposefully availed itself of the privilege of doing business in the forum.

Cross Reference:

Specific personal jurisdiction, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 108.44 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.37[4] Pendent Personal Jurisdiction May Require Defense of Claim for Which There Is No Independent Basis of Jurisdiction. Once a basis for exercising personal jurisdiction over a defendant has been established, the doctrine of pendent personal jurisdiction may require the defendant to defend another claim for which there is no independent basis of jurisdiction. The pendent claim must arise out of the same set of operative facts as the claim over which the court does have personal jurisdiction. Whether to exercise pendent personal jurisdiction is within the discretion of the district court [CE Distribution, LLC v. New Sensor Corp. (9th Cir 2004) 380 F3d 1107, 1113-1114 ; Action Embroidery v. Atlantic Embroidery (9th Cir 2004) 368 F3d 1174, 1180-1181].

Example:

Court could exercise personal jurisdiction over a breach of contract claim although the "purposeful availment" test was not met when that breach of contract claim arose out of the same facts as the plaintiff's tortious interference with contract claim against the defendant for which the "effects test" was satisfied [CE Distribution, LLC v. New Sensor Corp. (9th Cir 2004) 380 F3d 1107, 1113].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsLong-Arm JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsMinimum ContactsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsPurposeful AvailmentCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.38

2.38 Determining Personal Jurisdiction Under California Long-Arm Statutes.

2.38[1] Due Process Test Applies. California's long arm statute [CCP § 410.10] allows courts to exercise personal jurisdiction over defendants to the extent permitted by the Due Process Clause of the Constitution [Harris Rutsky & Co. Ins. Servs. v. Bell & Clements Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1122, 1134-1136]. Thus, a federal court need only determine whether the assertion of personal jurisdiction violates the Due Process Clause [Brainerd v. Governors of the Univ. of Alberta (9th Cir 1989) 873 F2d 1257, 1258].

California state court practice provides no immunity from service for a nonresident who enters California, even if that entry is involuntary [Silverman v. Superior Court (1988) 203 CA3d 145, 149, 249 CR 724].

Cross Reference:

Long-arm statutes, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 108.60 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.38[2] Out-of-State Corporations May Consent to Jurisdiction. Out-of-state corporations often must consent to state court jurisdiction pursuant to "doing business statutes" in order to qualify to do business in a state not of their incorporation. Doing business statutes may be used as an alternative to long-arm statutes for asserting jurisdiction over foreign corporations [Saes Getters S.P.A. v. Aeronex, Inc. (SD Cal 2002) 219 F Supp2d 1081, 1087 ; see CCP § 410.10; see also Tillay v. Idaho Power Co. (ED Wash 1976) 425 F Supp 376, 379].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsConsentCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsLong-Arm JurisdictionCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Personam ActionsMinimum ContactsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.39

2.39 Establishing Jurisdiction Over Property.

2.39[1] Property in State As Basis for Jurisdiction. Property located within a state serves as a sufficient basis for jurisdiction in in rem or quasi in rem actions to determine interests in that property, or in actions where the property is the source of the underlying controversy between the plaintiff and the defendant. This type of judgment does not impose any personal obligation on the defendant [Shaffer v. Heitner (1977) 433 US 186, 207-208, 97 S Ct 2569, 53 L Ed2d 683].

Property-based jurisdiction is subject to the same constitutional due process standards that govern personal jurisdiction. The test is whether there is a constitutionally sufficient "relationship among the defendant, the forum, and the litigation" [Shaffer v. Heitner (1977) 433 US 186, 201, 97 S Ct 2569, 53 L Ed2d 683].

2.39[2] Types of Jurisdiction Over Property.

2.39[2][a] In Rem Jurisdiction. A judgment in rem affects the interests of all persons with respect to a designated property [Hanson v. Denckla (1958) 357 US 235, 246 n12, 78 S Ct 1228, 2 L Ed2d 1283].

2.39[2][b] Quasi in Rem Jurisdiction. In a quasi in rem action, the plaintiff seeks to assert jurisdiction over the interests of particular persons with respect to designated property. There are two types of quasi in rem jurisdiction [Hanson v. Denckla (1958) 357 US 235, 246 n12, 78 S Ct 1228, 2 L Ed2d 1283]: (1) a claim to the actual property, or (2) a claim (e.g., in contract or tort) against the property seeking to establish an interest in the defendant's property.

A minimum contacts connection between the property and the subject matter of the action is required [see Shaffer v. Heitner (1977) 433 US 186, 212, 97 S Ct 2569, 53 L Ed2d 683].

2.39[3] Enforcing a Sister-State Judgment. Presence of property in the forum state is a sufficient basis for jurisdiction in an action to enforce a sister-state judgment against the property, even if the defendant does not have other contacts with the forum state [Shaffer v. Heitner (1977) 433 US 186, 210 n36, 97 S Ct 2569, 53 L Ed2d 683].

2.39[4] Enforcing Judgments That Operate on Real Property. In rem jurisdiction may result in the transfer of land to the plaintiff, even if the defendant fails to obey the judgment. In an action for specific performance to convey real property, a court may enforce its decree by requiring the sheriff to act directly on the real property, by transferring interest or title in land [see State ex rel. Miller v. District Court (Mont 1947) 186 P2d 506, 510].

Cross Reference:

In rem jurisdiction, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 108.70 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsQuasi in Rem ActionsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsTrue in Rem Actions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.40

2.40 Invoking Jurisdiction Through Service of Process.

2.40[1] Constitutional Limits.

2.40[1][a] Notice and Opportunity to Defend. Due process requires adequate notice to the defendant of the action and an opportunity for the defendant to be heard. Even if a basis for jurisdiction exists, a judgment will be invalid if the defendant is not given adequate notice [see World-Wide Volkswagen Corp. v. Woodson (1980) 444 US 286, 297, 100 S Ct 559, 62 L Ed2d 490 ; Pennoyer v. Neff (1877) 95 US 714, 722-723, 24 L Ed 565].

2.40[1][b] Statutory Compliance Required. Due process requires compliance with the method of service provided by statute [Wuchter v. Pizzutti (1928) 276 US 13, 19, 24, 48 S Ct 259, 72 L Ed 446].

2.40[1][c] Standard for Adequate Notice. The method of notice must be reasonably certain to inform the defendant that he or she is being sued. If it is not possible to provide such notice, the chosen form of notice must be as likely as other feasible and customary forms of notice to notify the defendant [Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co. (1950) 339 US 306, 313-314, 70 S Ct 652, 94 L Ed 865].

Due process also requires that the defendant be afforded an opportunity to be heard. Therefore, notice must be given sufficiently in advance to enable the defendant to properly prepare a defensive pleading [see Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co. (1950) 339 US 306, 314, 70 S Ct 652, 94 L Ed 865].

Publication may be sufficient if the defendant cannot be found, and the plaintiff exercised due diligence in searching for the defendant [Mullane v. Central Hanover Bank & Trust Co. (1950) 339 US 306, 314-315, 70 S Ct 652, 94 L Ed 865]. However, notice by publication (or publication and posting) is inadequate in state condemnation proceedings when the property owner's name and address are known [Walker v. City of Hutchinson (1956) 352 US 112, 116, 77 S Ct 200, 1 L Ed2d 178 ; Schroeder v. City of New York (1962) 371 US 208, 213, 83 S Ct 279, 9 L Ed2d 255]. Publication and posting of property is insufficient notice to the mortgagee in a tax foreclosure sale [Mennonite Bd. of Missions v. Adams (1983) 462 US 791, 799-800, 103 S Ct 2706, 77 L Ed2d 180].

2.40[2] Methods of Service of Process.

2.40[2][a] Service Under Rule 4. Fed R Civ P 4 governs service of a summons and complaint in federal court. Service of process may be accomplished in suits within the United States by any of the following means [Fed R Civ P 4; see Ch. 7, Service of Summons]:

- Personal service on the defendant or authorized agent in the forum state [see, e.g., Fed R Civ P 4(c), (e)(2); see also Wuchter v. Pizzutti (1928) 276 US 13, 20-21, 48 S Ct 259, 72 L Ed 446].
- Leaving the process at the dwelling house of an individual defendant, with a person of suitable age and discretion residing there [see Fed R Civ P 4(e)(2)].
- Personal service outside the state on a domiciliary of the state [see Milliken v. Meyer (1940) 311 US 457, 463, 61 S Ct 339, 85 L Ed 278].
- Service pursuant to the law of the state in which the district court sits [Fed R Civ P 4(e)(1)].
- Service pursuant to the law of the state where service is effected [Fed R Civ P 4(e)(1)].

2.40[2][b] Methods of Service Under California Law. Mail service, posting, publication and other methods of service are available to a federal plaintiff only if provided for by the laws of the forum state [Fed R Civ P 4(e)(1)].

2.40[2][c] Serving Defendant in Foreign Country. Service of process may be accomplished on a foreign defendant by any of the following means [Fed R Civ P 4(f)]:

- Service by internationally agreed on methods, such as those prescribed by the Hague Convention.
- If the foreign country has not agreed on a method of service, then service may be made by personal delivery or any form of mail requiring a signed receipt, unless the foreign country bars those methods.
- If personal delivery or mail is prohibited by the foreign country's law, by any manner prescribed by the foreign country's law or directed by the foreign authority in response to a letter of request.
- Service directed by the court by any means not prohibited by international agreement.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of serving foreign defendants, see Ch. 7, Service of Summons, §§ 7.32 -7.42.

2.40[3] Territorial Limits of Effective Service.

2.40[3][a] Service Within 100 Miles of Federal Courthouse. Service on persons impleaded under Fed R Civ P 14 or joined under Fed R Civ P 19 is permitted in any district in the United States that is within 100 miles of the federal courthouse where the action is pending [Fed R Civ P 4(k)(1)(B)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of 100-mile service, see Ch. 7, Service of Summons, § 7.47.

2.40[3][b] Nationwide Service of Process for Certain Claims. Congress has authorized nationwide service of process in a variety of actions, including the following [see Fed R Civ P 4(k)(1)(C), (D)]:

- The Securities Exchange Act of 1934 [15 USC § 78aa].

- The Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) [29 USC § 1132(e)].
- The Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA) [42 USC § 9613(e)].
- The Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO) [18 USC § 1965].
- The Clayton Act [28 USC § 1391].
- Statutory impleader actions [see Fed R Civ P 14(a)].

Because causes of action subject to nationwide service of process are exclusively federal, the Ninth Circuit looks to the defendant's contacts with the nation as a whole [see Action Embroidery v. Atlantic Embroidery (9th Cir 2004) 368 F3d 1174, 1180 ; Go-Video, Inc. v. Akai Elec. Co. (9th Cir 1989) 885 F2d 1406, 1413].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of nationwide service, see Ch. 7, Service of Summons, § 7.48.

2.40[3][c] Federal Question Cases and Nationwide Service. Even absent a federal statute specifically authorizing nationwide service, defendants who are not subject to personal jurisdiction in any state court, but who have contacts with the United States as a whole, may be subject to personal jurisdiction in federal question cases [Fed R Civ P 4(k)(2)].

2.40[4] Waiver of Service of Process.

2.40[4][a] Rule Applies Only to Individuals, Corporations, Partnerships, and Associations. The waiver of service provisions of Fed R Civ P 4(d) apply only to individuals, corporations, and associations that are subject to service under Fed R Civ P 4(e), (f), or (h) [Fed R Civ P 4(d)(1)], including the following:

- Individuals within a judicial district of the United States [Fed R Civ P 4(e)].
- Individuals in a foreign country [Fed R Civ P 4(f)].
- Domestic and foreign corporations [Fed R Civ P 4(h)].
- Partnerships and unincorporated associations [Fed R Civ P 4(h)].

The waiver option does not apply to service on the following [Fed R Civ P 4(d)(1)]:

- Infants or incompetent persons (service governed by Fed R Civ P 4(g)).
- The United States, its agencies, corporations, or officers (service governed by Fed R Civ P 4(i)).
- Foreign, state, or local governments (service governed by Fed R Civ P 4(j)).

2.40[4][b] Requesting Waiver of Service. To initiate the waiver of service option, a plaintiff must notify the defendant that an action has been commenced, and request the defendant to waive service of process. The notice and request for waiver must be delivered in writing, by first-class mail or "other reliable means," such as overnight or express mail, fax, or messenger [Fed R Civ P 4(d)(1)(A), (G)]. It must also be accompanied by a copy of the complaint identifying the court where the action has been commenced, but need not be accompanied by a summons [Fed R Civ P

4(d)(1)(C)].

If the defendant is an individual, the notice of action and request for waiver must be addressed directly to the defendant. If the defendant is a corporation, partnership, or other unincorporated association, the notice and request for waiver must be addressed directly to an officer or agent [Fed R Civ P 4(d)(1)(A)(ii)].

The plaintiff must mail to the defendant a copy of the complaint, as well as two copies of the waiver, together with a prepaid means of compliance in writing [Fed R Civ P 4(d)(1)(C)]. Failure to include all necessary documents may invalidate the waiver of service of process [Fed R Civ P 4(d)(1)].

2.40[4][c] Use Form 1A to Inform Defendant of Consequences of Compliance and Noncompliance. A notice of action and request for waiver of service must inform the defendant of the consequences of compliance and failure to comply with the request. This notice must be by means of a text prescribed by Official Form 5 [Fed R Civ P 4(d)(1)(D); see Fed R Civ P, Official Form 5].

2.40[4][d] Responding After Request for Waiver. If the defendant signs the waiver of service, the defendant will have 60 days from the date of the request (90 days if outside the United States) within which to answer the complaint [Fed R Civ P 4(d)(3)].

Consequences of failing to sign the waiver of service are that (1) the defendant must respond to the complaint within 20 days after service of the summons and complaint, and (2) the court will impose the costs subsequently incurred in effecting service on the defendant, unless good cause for the failure is shown [Fed R Civ P 4(d)(1), 12(a)(1)(A)(i)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of waiver of service, see Ch. 7, Service of Summons, §§ 7.12 -7.19.

2.40[4][e] Waiver of Service Must Be Filed. The filing of an executed waiver of service supersedes the obligation to file proof of service with the clerk of the court. After the plaintiff files a waiver of service with the court, the action is treated by the court as if the defendant had been served formally and proof of service had been filed with the court [Fed R Civ P 4(d)(4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsConstitutional LimitsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsElectronic MeansCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessWaiversGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IV. ANALYZING PERSONAL JURISDICTION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.41

2.41 Challenging Personal Jurisdiction.

2.41[1] Procedures for Challenging Jurisdiction. Personal jurisdiction may be challenged as follows:

- Defendant may attack jurisdiction by filing a motion to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction over the person at beginning of action [Fed R Civ P 12(b)].

- Defendant may raise a jurisdictional defense in the answer [Fed R Civ P 12(b)].

- Defendant may allow plaintiff to obtain a default judgment by not appearing in the action, and then collaterally attack the default judgment for lack of jurisdiction [see Insurance Corp. of Ireland v. Compagnie des Bauxites de Guinee (1982) 456 US 694, 706, 102 S Ct 2099, 72 L Ed2d 492].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction, Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.18.

2.41[2] Opposing the Challenge. In response to a defendant's motion to dismiss for lack of personal jurisdiction under Fed R Civ P 12(b), the plaintiff must make a prima facie showing of proper jurisdiction by alleging facts that, if true, would support the court's exercise of personal jurisdiction over the defendant [see Mattel, Inc. v. Greiner & Hausser GmbH (9th Cir 2003) 354 F3d 857, 862]. Any conflicts over statements in affidavits are resolved in the plaintiff's favor [Schwarzenegger v. Fred Martin Motor Co. (9th Cir 2004) 374 F3d 797, 800].

2.41[3] Avoiding Waiver of Objection to Personal Jurisdiction. A defendant must raise an objection to personal jurisdiction, either by proper pre-pleading motion or in the initial responsive pleading, to avoid waiving the right to object. The jurisdiction objection is waived if either [see Fed R Civ P 12(b), (g), (h)(1); Insurance Corp. of Ireland v. Compagnie des Bauxites de Guinee (1982) 456 US 694, 704, 102 S Ct 2099, 72 L Ed2d 492]:

- Defendant makes a Fed R Civ P 12 motion but does not include an objection to personal jurisdiction.

- Defendant does not make a Fed R Civ P 12 motion, and fails to include the objection in the answer.

2.41[4] Case May Be Transferred to Court Where Venue and Personal Jurisdiction Proper. If the defendant makes a timely and successful objection to personal jurisdiction, it does not necessarily mean the action will be dismissed. A federal court lacking both personal jurisdiction and venue may transfer the case to a federal court where venue and personal jurisdiction would be proper [28 USC § 1406(a); Goldlawr, Inc. v. Heiman (1962) 369 US 463, 466, 82 S Ct 913, 8 L Ed2d 39].

A transfer to cure a lack of personal jurisdiction may also be made when venue is proper, and transfer, accordingly, is made under 28 USC § 1404(a) [see Corke v. Sameiet M.S. Song of Norway (2d Cir 1978) 572 F2d 77, 78-81]. The authority to transfer a case to cure a lack of jurisdiction is codified in 28 USC § 1631. Although some courts have interpreted the statute as applying only when subject matter jurisdiction is lacking, the language of the statute is certainly broad enough to permit its application in cases in which personal jurisdiction is lacking, and the Ninth Circuit has so interpreted the statute [see Nelson v. International Paint Co. (9th Cir 1983) 716 F2d 640, 643].

Strategic Point:

A motion to dismiss under Fed R Civ P 12 may be combined with an alternative motion to transfer venue [see 28 USC §§ 1404(a), 1406(a)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of challenging jurisdiction, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 108.143 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsConstitutional LimitsCivil ProcedureJurisdictionPersonal Jurisdiction & In Rem ActionsIn Rem ActionsChallengesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessWaiversGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
V. ANALYZING OTHER JURISDICTIONAL ISSUES

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.41A

2.41A CHECKLIST: Analyzing Other Jurisdictional Issues.

Consider the following subjects, relating to jurisdiction of the district court, before an action is filed. Similarly these subjects may be used to determine if there are areas in which to challenge the court's jurisdiction over an action that has been filed:

☐ Ascertain whether there is a case and controversy.

Discussion:
See § 2.42

☐ Ascertain whether plaintiff has standing to bring the action.

Discussion:
See § 2.43

☐ Ascertain whether the case is ripe for adjudication.

Discussion:
See § 2.44

☐ Ascertain whether the case has become moot.

Discussion:
See § 2.45

☐ Ascertain whether the court should decline jurisdiction because a political question is at issue.

Discussion:
See § 2.46

☐ Ascertain whether the court should abstain from exercising its jurisdiction.

Discussion:
See § 2.47

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJusticiabilityCase or Controversy RequirementsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityStandingGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJurisdictionJurisdictional SourcesGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawThe JudiciaryCase or ControversyMootnessGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawThe JudiciaryCase or ControversyRipeness

74 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
V. ANALYZING OTHER JURISDICTIONAL ISSUES

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.42

2.42 Jurisdiction Over Cases and Controversies.

Federal courts only have jurisdiction over actual cases and controversies; no federal subject matter jurisdiction exists absent a proper case or controversy [see US Const, art III, § 2; see Cardinal Chem. Co. v. Morton Int'l, Inc. (1993) 508 US 83, 99, 113 S Ct 1967, 124 L Ed2d 1]. This rule requires a tangible dispute between the parties before the court [see Church of Scientology v. United States (1992) 506 US 9, 12, 113 S Ct 447, 121 L Ed2d 313].

Article III requires that a plaintiff's claim be live not just when the action is commenced, but throughout the litigation, including while the case is on appeal [see Lewis v. Continental Bank Corp. (1990) 494 US 472, 477-478, 110 S Ct 1249, 108 L Ed2d 400].

The following are components of the case or controversy determination:

- Standing [see 2.43].
- Ripeness [see 2.44].
- Mootness [see 2.45].
- Political questions [see 2.46].

Cross Reference:

Case or Controversy, see 15 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 101.01 -101.07 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Constitutional LawThe JudiciaryCase or ControversyGeneral OverviewConstitutional LawThe JudiciaryCase or ControversyPolitical QuestionsConstitutional LawThe JudiciaryCase or ControversyRipeness

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
V. ANALYZING OTHER JURISDICTIONAL ISSUES

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.43

2.43 Standing.

2.43[1] "Standing" Defined. Standing addresses who may bring a suit. The question is whether the person whose standing is challenged is a proper party to request an adjudication of a particular issue [Flast v. Cohen (1968) 392 US 83, 99, 88 S Ct 1942, 20 L Ed2d 947]. The standing inquiry requires careful judicial examination of a complaint's allegations to ascertain whether the particular plaintiff is entitled to an adjudication of the particular claims asserted [Allen v. Wright (1984) 468 US 737, 750-752, 104 S Ct 3315, 82 L Ed2d 556].

To qualify as a plaintiff with standing to litigate, a person must show, first and foremost, an invasion of a legally protected interest, that is "concrete and particularized" and "actual or imminent" [Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife (1992) 504 US 555, 560, 112 S Ct 2130, 119 L Ed2d 351 ; see Jacobs v. Clark County Sch. Dist. (9th Cir 2008) 526 F3d 419, 425 (discussing "requisite personal interest" required for plaintiff to have standing); see also Vasquez v. Los Angeles Cty. (9th Cir 2008) 487 F3d 1246, 1250 (purpose of "injury in fact" requirement is to ensure that "there is an advocate with a sufficient personal concern to effectively litigate the matter")].

Examples:

Plaintiff's status as a federal taxpayer was too generalized and attenuated to confer standing to assert an Establishment Clause challenge to discretionary expenditures by the Executive Branch from general appropriations [Hein v. Freedom from Religion Found., Inc., (2007) 551 US 587, 127 S Ct 2553, 168 L Ed2d 424, 438-439].

EPA's steadfast refusal to regulate greenhouse gas emissions presented a risk of harm to Massachusetts that was both "actual" and "imminent" [Massachusetts v. Environmental Protection Agency (2007) 549 US 497, 127 S Ct 1438, 167 L Ed2d 248, 269-270].

Cross Reference:

Injury-in-fact, see 2.43[3][a].

Status as a real-party-in-interest under Fed R Civ P 17(a) at the time the lawsuit was filed does not, by itself, confer standing [see Davis v. Yageo Corp. (9th Cir 2007) 481 F3d 661, 678].

An interest shared generally with the public at large in the proper application of the Constitution and laws is insufficient [Arizonans for Official English v. Arizona (1997) 520 US 43, 64, 117 S Ct 1055, 137 L Ed2d 170].

Example:

Plaintiffs did not have standing because their injury as taxpayers was not "concrete and particularized but instead a grievance the taxpayer suffers in some indefinite way in common with people generally" [Daimler Chrysler Corp. v. Cuno (2006) 547 US 332, 126 S Ct 1854, 164 L Ed2d 589, 602-604 ; see Arakaki v. Lingle (9th Cir 2007) 477 F3d 1048, 1065].

Distinguish:

A municipality may have standing under Article III when it sues to protect its own "proprietary interests," even if those interests are congruent with those of its citizens [City of Sausalito v. O'Neill (9th Cir 2004) 386 F3d 1186, 1190].

A licensee may have standing if it has an exclusive license that amounts to a de facto assignment of property rights [Nova Wines, Inc. v. Adler Fels Winery LLC (ND Cal 2006) 467 F Supp2d 965, 973-974]. However, when the licensor reserves all property rights in the mark, the licensee has no standing [Nova Wines, Inc. v. Adler Fels Winery LLC (ND Cal 2007) 467 F Supp2d 965, 974 (winery lacked standing to bring claims based on "Marilyn Monroe" trademark because its license was non-exclusive and did not convey a property interest)].

Federal courts also recognize the concept of procedural standing. A plaintiff alleging procedural injury must show only that plaintiff has a procedural right that, if exercised, "could protect [plaintiff's] concrete interests" [Salmon Spawning & Recovery Alliance v. Gutierrez (9th Cir 2008) 545 F3d 1220, 1226 (conservation groups, challenging federal agencies' decision to enter into treaty between Canada and United States to manage salmon populations, had procedural standing to bring claim for relief under Endangered Species Act); see, e.g., Massachusetts v. Environmental Protection Agency (2007) 549 US 497, 127 S Ct 1438, 167 L Ed2d 248, 268 (petitioners had procedural standing to challenge EPA's denial of their petition to regulate greenhouse gas emissions from motor vehicles, because at least one petitioner state properly asserted concrete injury from potential further loss of its coastal land, both privately and state owned, from rising sea levels caused by climate change)].

Warning:

The procedural nature of the injury does not affect the requirement that the alleged injury be concrete [Summers v. Earth Island Inst. (2009) -- US --, 129 S Ct 1142, 173 L Ed 2d 1, 11 (environmental groups do not have standing to challenge U.S. Forest Service regulations absent live dispute over concrete application of those regulations].

Example:

In a case challenging the Forest Service's failure to subject a salvage sale of timber on Burnt Ridge, in the Sequoia National Forest, to the notice, comment, and appeal process contained in the Service's regulations implementing the Forest Service Decisionmaking and Appeals Reform Act, plaintiffs had standing to challenge the regulations as applied to the Burnt Ridge timber sale. The plaintiffs satisfied the injury-in-fact requirement with respect to that sale through affidavits establishing that a member of one of plaintiff organizations had repeatedly visited the site and had imminent plans to do so again, and that his interests in viewing the flora and fauna of the area would be harmed if the sale went forward without incorporating the ideas he would have suggested if the Forest Service had provided him an opportunity to comment. However, the parties' settlement of the Burnt Ridge controversy remedied that member's injury with regard to that project [Summers v. Earth Island Inst. (2009) -- US --, 129 S Ct 1142, 173 L Ed 2d 1, 8-9]. Once that controversy was settled, plaintiffs had no standing to challenge the U.S. Forest Service regulations, because they did not identify any other particular application of the regulations that threatened imminent and concrete harm to their members' interests [Summers v. Earth Island Inst. (2009) -- US --, 129 S Ct 1142, 173 L Ed 2d 1, 9-10].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of standing, see 15 Moore's Federal Practice, § 101.20 et seq. (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.43[2] Standing Is Determined When Suit Is Filed. Standing is determined as of the time that the suit is filed [Pederson v. Louisiana State Univ. (5th Cir 2000) 213 F3d 858, 870]. Whether a plaintiff has standing at the time of trial implicates the related doctrine of mootness [see 2.45]. The requisite personal interest that must exist at the commencement of the litigation (standing) must continue throughout its existence (mootness) [United States Parole Comm'n v. Geraghty (1980) 445 US 388, 397, 100 S Ct 1202, 63 L Ed2d 479 ; Jacobs v. Clark County Sch. Dist. (9th Cir 2008) 526 F3d 419, 425].

Distinguish:

State courts are not bound by the limitations of a case or controversy or other federal rules of justiciability even when they address issues of federal law [Virginia v. Hicks (2003) 539 US 113, 120, 123 S Ct 2191, 156 L Ed2d 148].

2.43[3] Constitutional Requirements.

2.43[3][a] Injury-in-Fact. The alleged injury must affect the plaintiff in a personal and individual way [Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife (1992) 504 US 555, 561, 112 S Ct 2130, 119 L Ed2d 351]. This injury must be "distinct and palpable" [Whitmore v. Arkansas (1990) 495 US 149, 155-156, 110 S Ct 1717, 109 L Ed2d 135 ; Idaho Conservation League v. Mumma (9th Cir 1992) 956 F2d 1508, 1514]. It must be real and immediate, not conjectural or hypothetical [Gratz v. Bollinger (2003) 539 US 244, 123 S Ct 2411, 156 L Ed2d 257 ; O'Shea v. Littleton (1974) 414 US 488, 494, 94 S Ct 669, 38 L Ed2d 674]. A purely ideological interest is insufficient to confer standing [see Diamond v. Charles (1986) 476 US 54, 67, 106 S Ct 1697, 90 L Ed2d 48 ; United States v. SCRAP (1973) 412 US 669, 687, 93 S Ct 2405, 37 L Ed2d 254]. In the Ninth Circuit, however, merely being ideologically offended, and therefore reluctant to visit public land where a perceived Establishment Clause violation is occurring, suffices to establish "injury-in-fact."

Examples:

Lesbian and agnostic parents had suffered an injury-in-fact sufficient to confer standing because they disagreed with Boy Scouts' religious and moral position and therefore avoided recreational park facilities used by Boy Scouts [Barnes-Wallace v. City of San Diego (9th Cir 2008) 530 F3d 776, 784-785].

Plaintiff, a practicing Roman Catholic who was ideologically offended by the government's decision to maintain a cross on public land, but not offended by the cross itself, had Article III standing because his opposition to the government's action led him to avoid the area where the cross was located [Buono v. Norton (9th Cir 2004) 371 F3d 543, 546-547] ; see also Salazar v. Buono (2010) -- US --, 130 S Ct 1803, 176 L Ed2d 634, 645 (having obtained a final judgment granting injunctive relief on his claims, plaintiff from Buono v. Norton had standing to ask the court to enforce the injunction by prohibiting the government from transferring the land on which the cross stood)].

Jewish War Veterans and four individual plaintiffs had standing to challenge the presence of a cross on federal property as part of a veterans' memorial, as an unconstitutional establishment of religion. Plaintiffs stopped coming to the site, because they felt offended or that the memorial did not represent them as non-Christians [Trunk v. City of San Diego (SD Cal 2008) 568 F Supp2d 1199, 1204-1205].

A plaintiff who only alleges a violation of others' rights does not have standing [Loritz v. United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit (9th Cir 2004) 382 F3d 990, 992 ; Schmier v. United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit (9th Cir 2002) 279 F3d 817, 821-822]. However, the required injury can exist solely by virtue of "statutes creating legal rights, the invasion of which creates standing" [Warth v. Seldin (1975) 422 US 490, 500, 95 S Ct 2197, 45 L Ed2d 343]. The standing question in these cases is whether the constitutional or statutory provision on which the claim rests can be understood as granting persons in the plaintiff's position a right to judicial relief [Warth v. Seldin (1975) 422 US 490, 500, 95 S Ct 2197, 45 L Ed2d 343 ; see, e.g., Fulfillment Servs. v. UPS (9th Cir 2008) 528 F3d 614, 619 (freight shipping company had standing to bring putative class action under Motor Carrier's Act, 49 USC § 14704, based on its allegations that motor carrier injured it by subjecting it to unlawful shipping rates)].

Examples:

A bank against which a Tribal Court rendered a monetary judgment and an option to purchase a parcel of land had standing to challenge the Tribal Court's jurisdiction in federal district court [Plains Commerce Bank v. Long Family Land & Cattle Co. (2008) 554 US 316, 128 S Ct 2709, 171 L Ed2d 457, 469-471]. The bank was injured by the Tribal Court's exercise of jurisdiction over the respondents' (members of an Indian tribe and their ranching company) discrimination claim with respect to both the damages award and the option to purchase [Plains Commerce Bank v. Long Family Land & Cattle Co. (2008) 554 US 316, 128 S Ct 2709, 171 L Ed2d 457, 470-471]. These injuries could be remedied by a ruling that the Tribal Court lacked jurisdiction and that its judgment on respondents' discrimination claim was null and void [Plains Commerce Bank v. Long Family Land & Cattle Co. (2008) 554 US 316, 128 S Ct 2709, 171 L Ed2d 457, 470-471].

A county attorney lacked standing to bring suit seeking a judgment that the special Spanish-speaking and Native American DUI courts instituted by the state superior court were unconstitutional, because the county attorney's "abstract outrage" at his obligation to participate in these programs was official, not personal [Thomas v. Mundell (9th Cir 2009) 572 F3d 756, 763)]. The alleged victims of the DUI offenders who participated in either "regular" DUI court or Spanish-speaking DUI court also lacked standing to bring suit seeking a judgment declaring the special DUI courts unconstitutional and enjoining their operation. The allegation that the victims had been "disadvantaged by ... having the case of the defendant who harmed them adjudicated in a racially separate DUI court system" described injuries too generalized and impersonal to generate standing [Thomas v. Mundell (9th Cir 2009) 572 F3d 756, 764)].

A physically disabled person who required use of a wheelchair sought injunctive relief under the Americans with Disabilities Act. Plaintiff had standing because her testimony plainly evidenced an intent to return to the area and that she would like to stay at an ADA compliant hotel. Because the district court focused on plaintiff's history of ADA litigation as a basis for questioning the sincerity of her intent to return to defendant hotel, the circuit court rejected its purported adverse credibility determination [D'Lil v. Best W. Encina Lodge Suites (9th Cir 2008) 538 F3d 1031, 1037-1039].

Plaintiff, associated with the Democratic party, had direct standing to bring an as-applied First Amendment challenge to the Department of Veteran Affairs (VA) regulation that prohibited him from registering voters within one of the VA facilities. When the group asked to register veterans, the VA turned back plaintiff personally. Therefore, the harm to plaintiff was "actual, concrete, and particularized." The VA also harmed plaintiff by barring him from registering voters [Preminger v. Peake (9th Cir 2008) 536 F3d 1000, 1006].

An Air Force reservist nurse suffered a cognizable injury sufficient to establish standing for her substantive due process and equal protection claims, based on her long term suspension on account of her sexual relationship with a civilian woman. She lost pay and points toward promotion and retirement benefits, and her suspension seriously harmed her chances of being promoted [Witt v. Dep't of the Air Force (9th Cir 2008) 527 F3d 806, 811-812].

A parents' organization had standing to challenge a system that assigned children to a school based in part on race, because the children were forced to compete in a race-based system that might prejudice them. The fact that the children might not actually be denied admission to a particular school based on their race, because they chose either an undersubscribed school or an oversubscribed school in which race was an advantage, did not negate the injury of being forced to compete for seats at certain high schools that used race as a deciding factor in some cases [Parents Involved in Cmty. Sch. v. Seattle Sch. Dist. No. 1 (2007) 551 US 701, 127 S Ct 2738, 168 L Ed2d 508, 522].

Employees' claims that they had been denied equal pay because of their race were sufficient, on a motion to dismiss, to establish the injury component of standing to sue defendant employer for race discrimination under 42 USC § 1981 for any compensation discrimination that occurred prior to a specified date [Williams v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 2008) 517 F3d 1120, 1127-1128]. However, an employee failed to demonstrate injury, and thus lacked standing to bring a § 1981 compensation claim against defendant, when she stated that she did not have any complaints about pay within the given job, as opposed to about pay as a function of promotions [Williams v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 2008) 517 F3d 1120, 1127 n. 4].

A union had standing to assert a violation of its own First Amendment rights. Allegations that the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) interfered with the union's ability to solicit membership and to communicate its message qualified as a "concrete and demonstrable" injury. The injury was fairly traceable to the TSA's decision to discipline and fire a baggage screener after he engaged in various union-related activities, thus depriving the union of an employee-organizer and conveying to other screeners the message that union activity would not be tolerated. The injury would likely be redressed if the union prevailed on the merits, particularly if the district court granted the union's request to enjoin the TSA from retaliating against plaintiff and other union members [AFGE Local 1 v. Stone (9th Cir 2007) 502 F3d 1027, 1032-1033].

Plaintiffs, participants in drug prescription plans, sued a pharmacy benefits management company, claiming that in addition to earning fees from the plan, the company secretly retained the difference between what it charged the plans for the drugs and what it paid suppliers. Plaintiffs asserted that they were harmed by high co-payments, and that a favorable resolution of the case would lead to a decrease in drug costs to the plans, which might in turn reduce their co-payments. The Ninth Circuit ruled the plaintiffs lacked standing because they could not demonstrate a redressable injury. Even if plaintiffs' suit were successful, the relief sought would not require the plans to decrease the co-payments, nor would an award to the plans for past overpayments inure to the benefit of participants [Glanton v. Advance PCS Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 465 F3d 1123, 1124-1125].

The mother of two public school students sued the National Science Foundation, among others, for providing funding for a website on evolution published by the University of California. The plaintiff claimed that the website endorsed, advanced, and proselytized religious beliefs in violation of the Establishment Clause. The district court ruled that the plaintiff lacked Article III standing because she suffered no injury in fact. The plaintiff alleged only psychological consequences produced by observation of conduct with which she disagreed. The plaintiff also did not allege that her contact with the views expressed on the website was "frequent and regular" or "unwelcome." These allegations amounted to nothing more than generalized grievances which do not constitute an injury in fact [(9th Cir 2008) 545 F3d 1126, 1133-1134 ; see Valley Forge Christian College v. Americans United for Separation of Church & State (1982) 454 US 464, 472, 102 S Ct 752, 70 L Ed2d 700].

The injury can be either economic or noneconomic [Indep. Living Ctr. of S. Cal., Inc. v. Shewry (9th Cir 2008) 543

F3d 1050, 1065 (petitioner independent pharmacies and health care providers participating in state's Medi-Cal program, that would be "directly injured by loss of gross income," had standing to seek to enjoin legislation reducing payments to medical service providers; petitioner individual Medi-Cal beneficiaries risked noneconomic injury, because proposed cuts would reduce "quality services, and access to quality services")]. For example, environmental harm is a nonecomonic injury [Association of Data Processing Serv. Orgs., Inc. v. Camp (1970) 397 US 150, 152, 90 S Ct 827, 25 L Ed2d 184 ; see United States v. SCRAP (1973) 412 US 669, 686-687, 93 S Ct 2405, 37 L Ed2d 254 ; see also Kootenai Tribe of Idaho v. Veneman (9th Cir 2002) 313 F3d 1094, 1112-1113 (geographic nexus between claims and land suffering environmental impact)]. A credible threat of environmental harm suffices to establish an injury-in-fact [Central Delta Water Agency v. United States (9th Cir 2002) 306 F3d 938, 949] when the plaintiff alleges that he or she uses the affected area and is a person for whom the aesthetic and recreational values of the area will be lessened by the challenged activity [Friends of the Earth, Inc. v. Laidlaw Envtl. Servs. (TOC), Inc. (2000) 528 US 167, 183, 120 S Ct 693, 145 L Ed2d 610]. Impairment of constitutional rights also constitutes a noneconomic injury that can support standing.

Example:

An insurance agent from California had standing to challenge a Nevada statute precluding out-of-state insurers from finalizing policies in Nevada without countersignature of a resident agent and payment of a commission. Because the Privilege and Immunities Clause guarantees that citizens of state A can do business in state B on substantial equity with citizens of state B, the agent suffered both economic and noneconomic injuries [see, e.g., Council of Ins. Agents & Brokers v. Molasky-Arman (9th Cir 2008) 522 F3d 925, 931].

A nonprofit community fair housing organization alleged a sufficient injury-in-fact for purposes of standing under the Fair Housing Act [see 42 USC § 3604] because the organization had drained its resources trying to counteract the defendant's violations, which frustrated its counseling services [Fair Hous. of Marin v. Combs (9th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 899, 904]. "Testers" also have standing under the Fair Housing Act [Smith v. Pac. Props. & Dev. Corp. (9th Cir 2004) 358 F3d 1097, 1104 , cert. denied, 543 US 869 (2004)].

To establish an injury in fact sufficient to confer standing to pursue injunctive relief, the plaintiff must demonstrate a real or immediate threat that the plaintiff will be wronged again [City of Los Angeles v. Lyons (1983) 461 US 95, 111, 103 S Ct 1660, 75 L Ed2d 675 ; see, e.g., Harris v. Stonecrest Care Auto Ctr. LLC (SD Cal 2005) 472 F Supp2d 1208, 1218-1219 (ADA plaintiff failed to establish likelihood of future injury)].

The plaintiff's obligation to turn the proceeds of its litigation over to a third party does not deprive that plaintiff of Article III standing that it otherwise enjoys [Sprint Communs. Co. v. APCC Servs. (2008) 554 US 269, 128 S Ct 2531, 171 L Ed2d 424, 429 (assignee's agreement to give all proceeds of litigation to assignor does not destroy assignee's standing to sue on assigned claim)]. The inquiry regarding redressability focuses on whether the injury that a plaintiff alleges is likely to be redressed through the litigation--"not on what the plaintiff ultimately intends to do with the money he recovers" [Sprint Communs. Co. v. APCC Servs. (2008) 554 US 269, 128 S Ct 2531, 171 L Ed2d 424, 438].

The plaintiff must establish standing for each challenge plaintiff wishes to bring and each form of relief plaintiff seeks [Friends of the Earth, Inc. v. Laidlaw Environmental Srvs. (TOC), Inc. (2000) 528 US 167, 180-181, 120 S Ct 693, 145 L Ed2d 610 ; Sacks v. Office of Foreign Assets Control (9th Cir 2006) 466 F3d 764, 771].

2.43[3][b] Injury Must Be Traceable to Defendant. Standing requires that there be a direct causal connection between plaintiff's asserted injury and defendant's challenged action [Allen v. Wright (1984) 468 US 737, 751, 104 S Ct 3315, 82 L Ed2d 556].

Example:

Activist organization, asserting a First Amendment challenge against a city ordinance that conditioned granting "special events" permits on purchasing insurance and agreeing to indemnify the city, established the "fairly traceable" element of standing by alleging that it had modified its behavior as result of the ordinance by declining to hold events in that city [Long Beach Area Peace Network v. City of Long Beach (9th Cir 2008) 522 F3d 1010, 1018].

2.43[3][c] Plaintiff's Injury Must Be Redressable. Plaintiff must demonstrate that its injury will likely be redressed by a favorable decision [Whitmore v. Arkansas (1990) 495 US 149, 155-156, 110 S Ct 1717, 109 L Ed2d 135 ; Paulsen v. CNF Inc. (9th Cir 2009) 559 F3d 1061, 1073-1075)].

2.43[4] Prudential Aspects of Standing Inquiry.

2.43[4][a] Court Must Consider Three Prudential Concerns in Assessing Standing. In deciding whether standing exists, a court must consider three prudential concerns in addition to the constitutional aspects of standing [Valley Forge Christian Coll. v. Americans United for Separation of Church & State, Inc. (1982) 454 US 464, 475, 102 S Ct 752, 70 L Ed2d 700]:

- First, whether the alleged injury to plaintiff falls within the "zone of interests" protected by the statute or constitutional provision at issue [Air Courier Conference of Am. v. American Postal Workers Union (1991) 498 US 517, 521, 111 S Ct 913, 112 L Ed2d 1125 ; see Desert Citizens Against Pollution v. Bisson (9th Cir 2000) 231 F3d 1172, 1179]. This prudential "zone of interest" test is not meant to be especially demanding and is satisfied unless the party's interests are so marginally related to the statute or inconsistent with its purposes that it is unreasonable to assume that Congress intended standing [see Clarke v. Securities Indus. Ass'n (1987) 479 US 388, 399, 107 S Ct 750, 93 L Ed2d 757 ; Thinket Ink Info. Res., Inc. v. Sun Microsystems, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 368 F3d 1053, 1059].

- Second, whether the complaint raises nothing more than abstract questions, amounting to generalized grievances that are more appropriately resolved by the legislative and executive branches [see National Wildlife Fed'n v. Burford (9th Cir 1989) 871 F2d 849, 852].

- Third, whether the plaintiff is asserting his or her own legal rights and interests, rather than those of third parties [Elk Grove Unified Sch. Dist. v. Newdow (2004) 542 US 1, 13-18, 124 S Ct 2301, 159 L Ed2d 98 ; United States v. Raines (1960) 362 US 17, 22, 80 S Ct 519, 4 L Ed2d 524 ; Doran v. 7-Eleven, Inc. (9th Cir 2008) 524 F3d 1034, 1046 (ADA plaintiff who had constitutional standing to bring claim for injunctive relief as result of at least one barrier at place of public accommodation also met requirements of prudential standing and could, in one suit, challenge all barriers in that public accommodation that were related to his or specific disability)]. For example, a noncustodial father who was barred under California law from suing as his child's "next friend" lacked prudential standing to bring a First Amendment challenge to a school board's policy requiring teacher-led recitation of the Pledge of Allegiance [see Elk Grove Unified Sch. Dist. v. Newdow (2004) 542 US 1, 13-18, 124 S Ct 2301, 159 L Ed2d 98]. And an assignee who claimed to be the lawful owner of a patent did not have prudential standing to be a party in a patent infringement action, because the assignee was not the sole owner of the patent. Only the party holding the exclusionary rights has sufficient injury in fact to meet the constitutional requirements for standing [Visioneer, Inc. v. KeyScan, Inc. (ND Cal 2009) 626 F Supp2d 1018, 1024-1025].

Prudential standing embodies judicially self-imposed limits on the exercise of federal jurisdiction [Elk Grove Unified Sch. Dist. v. Newdow (2004) 542 US 1, 11-12, 124 S Ct 2301, 159 L Ed2d 98]. The judiciary seeks to avoid deciding questions of broad social import if no individual rights would be vindicated, and to limit access to the federal courts to those litigants best suited to assert a particular claim [Phillips Petroleum Co. v. Shutts (1985) 472 US 797, 804, 105 S Ct 2965, 86 L Ed2d 628].

Prudential standing requirements are relaxed in First Amendment cases when the plaintiff raises an overbreadth challenge to a statute that regulates speech [see, e.g., ACLU of Nev. v. Heller (9th Cir 2004) 378 F3d 979, 983-985 ; Canatella v. California (9th Cir 2002) 304 F3d 843, 853 ; Humanitarian Law Project v. Ashcroft (CD Cal 2004) 309 F Supp2d 1185, 1197].

2.43[4][b] Association May Have Prudential Standing to Sue on Behalf of Its Members. An association has standing to sue on behalf of its members when [United States v. Comprehensive Drug Testing, Inc. (9th Cir 2007) 473 F3d 915, 926 ; see, e.g., Stormans, Inc. v. Selecky (9th Cir 2009) 571 F3d 960, 972-973 (pharmacy and two pharmacists had prudential standing to challenge new rules requiring pharmacies to deliver lawfully prescribed FDA-approved medications, including contraception medication); IBEW, AFL-CIO Local 1245 v. Citizens Telcoms. Co. (9th Cir 2008) 549 F3d 781, 788-789 (union had associational standing to compel arbitration on behalf of its current members)]:

- Its members would otherwise have standing to sue in their own right;
- The interests the association seeks to protect are germane to the organization's purpose; and
- Neither the claim asserted nor the relief requested requires the participation of individual members.

When the participation of an individual plaintiff in the litigation is required, the association lacks prudential standing [see, e.g., Molski v. Kahn Winery (CD Cal 2005) 381 F Supp2d 1209, 1210 ; Molski v. Mandarin Touch Restaurant (CD Cal 2005) 359 F Supp2d 924, 935-936].

Because shareholders usually lack standing to assert claims based on harm to a corporation, a for-profit corporation cannot usually satisfy the first requirement of associational standing [RK Ventures, Inc. v. City of Seattle (9th Cir 2002) 307 F3d 1045, 1047 ; see also Fleck & Assocs. v. City of Phoenix (9th Cir 2007) 471 F3d 1100, 1101-1102 (corporation operating gay men's social club lacked associational standing to bring action to vindicate customers' putative privacy rights, because suit was not germane to its organizational purpose, which was to make a profit)].

Distinguish:

A for-profit corporation's lack of associational standing is irrelevant if the corporation has standing on its own [see, e.g., Bains LLC v. Arco Prods. Co. (9th Cir 2005) 405 F3d 764, 770 (corporation with imputed racial identity had standing to sue for discrimination under 42 USC § 1981); Thinket Ink Info. Res., Inc. v. Sun Microsystems, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 368 F3d 1053, 1059 (same)].

2.43[4][c] Third Party Standing to Assert Rights of Another Is Not Favored. The circumstances under which a person will be deemed to have third party standing to assert the rights of another are very limited. The third party must demonstrate both a "close" relationship with the person who possesses the right and a "hindrance" to the possessor's ability to protect his or her own interests [Kowalski v. Tesmer (2004) 543 US 125, 129-130, 125 S Ct 564, 160 L Ed2d 519 ; Powers v. Ohio (1991) 499 US 400, 411, 111 S Ct 1364, 113 L Ed2d 411].

Examples:

Attorneys asserting that they had third-party standing to assert the rights of indigent defendants denied appellate counsel failed to demonstrate both a close relationship, as they had no relationship at all with merely hypothetical clients, and a hindrance, as the indigents could pursue their claims pro se [Kowalski v. Tesmer (2004) 543 US 125, 130-133, 125 S Ct 564, 160 L Ed2d 519].

An alien, seeking adjustment of her status to lawful permanent resident based on her marriage to a United States Citizen, lacked standing to pursue claims that requiring her husband to be domiciled in the United States in order to serve as her sponsor violated her husband's rights to due process and equal protection. There was no indication that her husband did not have the ability to protect his own interests [Kyung Park v. Holder (9th Cir 2009) 572 F3d 619, 625)].

2.43[5] Raising Standing Issue.

2.43[5][a] Court May Raise Issue Sua Sponte. Federal courts are under an independent obligation to examine their own jurisdiction, and standing is as important as any jurisdictional doctrine [see FW/PBS, Inc. v. City of Dallas (1990) 493 US 215, 231, 110 S Ct 596, 107 L Ed2d 603]. If the parties fail to raise the standing issue, it must be addressed sua sponte by the court at the trial or appellate stage of proceedings [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(3); see Bender v. Williamsport Area Sch. Dist. (1986) 475 US 534, 542, 106 S Ct 1326, 89 L Ed2d 501 ; D'Lil v. Best W. Encina Lodge & Suites (9th Cir 2008) 538 F3d 1031, 1035 ; Bernhardt v. County of Los Angeles (9th Cir 2001) 279 F3d 862, 868].

2.43[5][b] Issue Can Be Raised by Defendant. As an element of subject matter jurisdiction, the issue of standing may be raised by a motion to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction over the subject matter [Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1); see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12]. Standing may also be raised by a summary judgment motion [Fed R Civ P 56; see Lujan v. National Wildlife Fed'n (1990) 497 US 871, 889, 110 S Ct 3177, 111 L Ed2d 695].

In reviewing a Fed R Civ P 12(b) motion to dismiss on the pleadings, the court presumes that general allegations embrace those specific facts that are necessary to support the claim [see Lujan v. National Wildlife Fed'n (1990) 497 US 871, 889, 110 S Ct 3177, 111 L Ed2d 695]. In contrast, in reviewing a grant of summary judgment, the court need not accept the plaintiffs' alleged chain of events if they are unable to demonstrate competent evidence to support each link [Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife (1992) 504 US 555, 561, 112 S Ct 2130, 119 L Ed2d 351].

Cross Reference:

Raising standing issue, see 15 Moore's Federal Practice, § 101.30 et seq. (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.43[5][c] Issue Can Be Raised at Any Time. Because standing is an element of the case or controversy requirement, it cannot be waived. Thus, the standing issue may be raised at any point in the proceedings [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(3); see Valley Forge Christian Coll. v. Americans United for Separation of Church & State, Inc. (1982) 454 US 464, 475, 102 S Ct 752, 70 L Ed2d 700 ; see also Friery v. Los Angeles Unified School Dist. (9th Cir 2006) 448 F3d 1146, 1148-1149 (raised at "advanced stage" of litigation); Baranowicz v. Commissioner (9th Cir 2005) 432 F3d 972, 973-976 (raised on appeal)].

2.43[6] Party Invoking Federal Jurisdiction Bears Burden of Proof. The party invoking federal jurisdiction has the burden of establishing the elements of standing [Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife (1992) 504 US 555, 561, 112 S Ct 2130, 119 L Ed2d 351 ; Association of Data Processing Serv. Orgs., Inc. v. Camp (1970) 397 US 150, 152, 90 S Ct 827, 25 L Ed2d 184 ; see Los Angeles County Bar Ass'n v. Eu (9th Cir 1992) 979 F2d 697, 701]. To meet this burden, the litigant must clearly and specifically set forth facts sufficient to satisfy the Article III standing requirements [Whitmore v. Arkansas (1990) 495 US 149, 155-156, 110 S Ct 1717, 109 L Ed2d 135 ; see United States v. SCRAP (1973) 412 US 669, 688, 93 S Ct 2405, 37 L Ed2d 254 ("factual showing of perceptible harm" required); see also Mendoza v. Zirkle Fruit Co. (9th Cir 2002) 301 F3d 1163, 1172].

Standing cannot be inferred from the pleadings, but must affirmatively appear in the record [FW/PBS, Inc. v. City of Dallas (1990) 493 US 215, 231, 110 S Ct 596, 107 L Ed2d 603].

Cross References:

Objecting to subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.17.

Standing, 15 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 101.20 -101.62 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJusticiabilityStandingGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityStandingBurdens of ProofCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityStandingInjury in FactCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityStandingPersonal StakeCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityStandingThird Party Standing

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
V. ANALYZING OTHER JURISDICTIONAL ISSUES

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.44

2.44 Ripeness.

2.44[1] Ripeness Is Question of Timing. The ripeness doctrine concerns the timing of the suit [Anderson v. Green (1995) 513 US 557, 559, 115 S Ct 1059, 130 L Ed2d 1050 ; see Cardenas v. Anzai (9th Cir 2002) 311 F3d 929, 934]. Ripeness is assessed based on the facts as they exist at the present moment [W. Radio Servs. Co. v. Qwest (9th Cir 2008) 530 F3d 1186, 1205-1206]. Unless a case is ripe, a court cannot be assured that the facts have been sufficiently developed and the matter sufficiently concrete for the court to render a decision that will resolve the dispute and affect the parties' conduct; the ripeness doctrine therefore prevents the courts from becoming entangled in purely abstract or theoretical disagreements [Abbott Labs. v. Gardner (1967) 387 US 136, 148, 87 S Ct 1507, 18 L Ed2d 681 ; see, e.g., NRDC v. Abraham (9th Cir 2004) 388 F3d 701, 704-707].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of ripeness, see 15 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 101.70 -101.81 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.44[2] Issues Must Be Fit for Judicial Review. To constitute an actual case or controversy the issue involved must be "fit" for review [Abbott Labs. v. Gardner (1967) 387 US 136, 149, 87 S Ct 1507, 18 L Ed2d 681]. The critical question concerning fitness for review is whether the claim involves uncertain and contingent events that may not occur as anticipated, or that may never occur [see Bova v. City of Medford (9th Cir 2009) 564 F3d 1093, 1096 (reasoning that if contingent events do not occur, plaintiff will not have suffered injury that is concrete and particularized enough to establish first element of standing); Witt v. Dep't of the Air Force (9th Cir 2008) 527 F3d 806, 812-813 (procedural due process claim was not ripe for adjudication on court's records because injury plaintiff asserted "may or may not occur")]. The issue also raises concerns as to the finality of the issue presented for review, the definiteness of the threat of harm, and the extent to which resolution of the matter depends on facts not yet developed [see Ohio Forestry Ass'n, Inc. v. Sierra Club (1998) 523 US 726, 732-737, 118 S Ct 1665, 140 L Ed2d 921].

Examples:

A facial challenge to a National Park Service administrative regulation is not ripe for adjudication unless there is a concrete dispute between the challenging party and the agency that issued the regulation as to a particular concession contract [see National Park Hospitality Ass'n v. Department of Interior (2003)

538 US 803, 807-812, 123 S Ct 2026, 155 L Ed2d 1017].

Similarly, an as-applied challenge to a regional land use plan was not ripe absent allegations that the relevant agency had made an individual determination as to mitigation as applicable to the plaintiff's parcel [see Tahoe Sierra Pres. Council, Inc. v. Tahoe Reg'l Planning Agency (9th Cir 2003) 322 F3d 1064, 1085-1086].

Contract employees' challenge to the questionnaire that NASA required them to complete, based on NASA's requirement that "low risk" contract employees submit to in-depth background investigations, was ripe for review, because if the employees did not sign a waiver by a specified date, they would be deemed to have voluntarily resigned [Nelson v. NASA (9th Cir 2008) 530 F3d 865, 873-874]. However, their challenges to NASA's suitability determination based on this questionnaire was unripe and unfit for judicial review, because the record did not establish how the government intended to determine suitability [Nelson v. NASA (9th Cir 2008) 530 F3d 865, 873].

Pharmacists' claims challenging constitutionality of rules promulgated by the Washington State Board of Pharmacy requiring pharmacies to deliver lawfully prescribed FDA-approved medications, including contraception medication, particularly the "morning-after" pill, were ripe for review, because one pharmacist had been forced to leave her job and the other was in danger of being terminated [Stormans, Inc. v. Selecky (9th Cir 2009) 571 F3d 960, 974]. However, pharmacists' claims against the State Human Rights Commission, seeking declaratory and injunctive relief against enforcement of the rules promulgated by the State Board of Pharmacy were not ripe for review, because no enforcement action against the pharmacists was concrete or imminent or even threatened [Stormans, Inc. v. Selecky (9th Cir 2009) 571 F3d 960, 975].

A political action committee's challenge to provisions of the Alaska Code of Judicial Conduct that allegedly prevented judges from responding to the committee's questionnaire, which solicited the judges' views on legal and political issues, such as abortion and assisted suicide, was not ripe. Without a more fully developed factual record, including evidence of some real threat of enforcement, and without a showing that withholding federal adjudication would have imposed hardship on the committee, the district court should have declined jurisdiction for lack of a justiciable case or controversy [Alaska Right to Life v. Feldman (9th Cir 2007) 504 F3d 840, 848-851].

In determining the ripeness of a pre-enforcement challenge to a law, the court must examine whether the plaintiffs have articulated a "concrete plan" to violate the law in question, whether the prosecuting authorities have communicated a specific warning or threat to initiate proceedings, and the history of past prosecution or enforcement [Sacks v. Office of Foreign Assets Control (9th Cir 2006) 466 F3d 764, 773].

Examples:

Physicians' pre-enforcement challenge to Title VII policy guidelines issued by the Department of Health and Human Services (HHS), regarding access to HHS funded programs by limited English proficient persons, was not ripe for adjudication. Even though the physicians alleged they were spending money on language assistance and had altered their conduct because of the policy guidance, the HHS had "not threatened any direct action against" them [Colwell v. US Dep't of Health and Human Servs. (9th Cir 2009) 558 F3d 1112, 1126-1128].

Challenge brought by member of advocacy group opposed to sanctions in Iraq was not ripe for adjudication because the plaintiff did not face genuine threat of imminent prosecution and the government had declined for eight years to prosecute him for sending unlicensed donations of humanitarian medical supplies to Iraq [Sacks v. Office of Foreign Assets Control (9th Cir 2006) 466

F3d 764, 774].

2.44[3] Court Must Determine If Withholding Judicial Review Will Impose Hardship. In evaluating ripeness, courts will examine the hardship the parties would endure if consideration of the issue were withheld on grounds that the controversy was not ripe [see Ohio Forestry Ass'n, Inc. v. Sierra Club (1998) 523 US 726, 732-737, 118 S Ct 1665, 140 L Ed2d 921].

Mere uncertainty as to the validity of a regulation does not constitute hardship if it creates no adverse legal effects [National Park Hospitality Ass'n v. Department of Interior (2003) 538 US 803, 123 S Ct 2026, 155 L Ed2d 1017].

That is, hardship does not mean "just anything that makes life harder." It means hardship "of a legal kind," that imposes a "significant practical harm" on the plaintiff [Colwell v. US Dep't of Health and Human Servs. (9th Cir 2009) 558 F3d 1112, 1128 (postponing review of policy guidelines regarding access to Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) funded programs by limited English proficient persons did not impose hardship on plaintiff physicians "that is immediate, direct, and significant," because HHS had neither threatened direct action against them nor requested their compliance with those guidelines)].

2.44[4] Tension Between Declaratory Judgment Remedy and Ripeness Doctrine. As with any suit filed in federal court, federal declaratory judgment actions [28 USC § 2201] are limited by the case-or-controversy requirement in general and the ripeness doctrine in particular.

A case must present a "real and substantial controversy admitting of specific relief through a decree of conclusive character, as distinguished from an opinion advising what the law would be on a hypothetical state of facts" [North Carolina v. Rice (1971) 404 US 244, 246, 92 S Ct 402, 30 L Ed2d 413].

To ensure that a legitimate dispute exists between the parties in a declaratory judgment action, the parties must have adverse legal interests [Maryland Cas. Co. v. Pac. Coal & Oil Co. (1941) 312 US 270, 273, 61 S Ct 510, 85 L Ed 826 ; Principal Life Ins. Co. v. Robinson (9th Cir 2005) 394 F3d 665, 671]. An adversity of interest between the parties is a necessary element of an actual controversy. The harm need not have already been committed; a substantial threat of real and immediate harm is sufficient [Principal Life Ins. Co. v. Robinson (9th Cir 2005) 394 F3d 665, 671-672].

Example:

Plaintiffs challenged the validity of an order issued by the United States Department of Energy (DOE) which, together with its accompanying manual and implementation guide, provided a process for determining whether certain radioactive waste streams would not be considered "high-level" waste. The Ninth Circuit pointed out the DOE had not actually applied the order and its contemplated processes to any particular situation existing at any particular site. The court concluded the case was not ripe because (1) further factual development was necessary to avoid dealing with highly technical questions of chemistry and physics in the abstract, and (2) delayed review would not result in any cognizable hardship [NRDC v. Abraham (9th Cir 2004) 388 F3d 701, 704-707].

Even if an action for declaratory relief is ripe, the district court may still exercise its discretion to decline jurisdiction. In exercising this discretion, the court should avoid needless determination of state law issues, discourage forum shopping, and avoid duplicative litigation [see Principal Life Ins. Co. v. Robinson (9th Cir 2005) 394 F3d 665, 672 ; American States Ins. Co. v. Kearns (9th Cir 1994) 15 F3d 142, 143-145]. If the district court declines to exercise jurisdiction, the basis for that decision must be explained on the record [Government Employees Ins. Co. v. Dizol (9th Cir 1998) 133 F3d 1220, 1221].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of declaratory judgments, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 57, Declaratory Judgment

(Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.44[5] Raising Issue of Ripeness. The question of ripeness, like other challenges to a court's subject matter jurisdiction, can be raised as a motion to dismiss under Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1) [Fed R Civ P 12]. It is the burden of the complainant to allege facts demonstrating the propriety of invoking judicial resolution of the dispute [Renne v. Geary (1991) 501 US 312, 316, 111 S Ct 2331, 115 L Ed2d 288].

Federal courts can consider the question of ripeness sua sponte [Metropolitan Washington Airport Auth. v. Citizens For Abatement of Airport Noise (1991) 501 US 252, 265 n13, 111 S Ct 2298, 115 L Ed2d 236].

Cross References:

Objecting to subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.17.

Raising issue of ripeness, 15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 101.73 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJusticiabilityRipenessImminenceCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityRipenessRationaleCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityRipenessTests

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
V. ANALYZING OTHER JURISDICTIONAL ISSUES

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.45

2.45 Mootness.

2.45[1] Mootness Occurs When Issues Are No Longer Live. Mootness addresses the issue of standing throughout the litigation: the requisite personal interest required to establish standing at the outset of the action must continue during the entire time frame of the litigation [Arizonans for Official English v. Arizona (1997) 520 US 43, 68 n22, 117 S Ct 1055, 137 L Ed2d 170 ; Southern Oregon Barter Fair v. Jackson County (9th Cir 2004) 372 F3d 1128, 1133-1134].

Distinguish:

Standing is evaluated by the facts that existed when the complaint was filed; mootness inquiries require courts to look to changing circumstances that arise after the complaint is filed [ACLU v. Lomax (9th Cir 2006) 471 F3d 1010, 1016-1017].

A controversy ceases to be real or definite when the issues are no longer "live," or the parties lack a legally cognizable interest in the outcome [see Powell v. McCormack (1961) 395 US 486, 496, 89 S Ct 1944, 23 L Ed2d 491]. A case is also moot if the court will not be able to grant effective relief [see Center for Biological Diversity v. Marina Point Dev. Co. (9th Cir 2009) 566 F3d 794, 804 (delisting Bald Eagle from endangered species list rendered moot endangered species claim, because court could not grant effective relief); Center for Biological Diversity v. Lohn (9th Cir 2007) 511 F3d 960, 964 (environmental advocacy group's challenge to government agency's proposed ruling not to list specific whale species as endangered was mooted when agency reversed itself, and placed species on endangered species list)].

The circuit court may vacate the district court's judgment if the case becomes moot on appeal due to circumstances beyond the control of any of the parties or if the mootness results from the unilateral action of the party who prevailed in the district court [NASD Dispute Resolution v. Judicial Council (9th Cir 2007) 488 F3d 1065, 1069-1070 (vacatur of judgment is proper if appeal was mooted by court decisions in other cases rather than by parties' settlement)]. However, if a case becomes moot on appeal by reason of a settlement, the circuit court will vacate the district court's judgment only in exceptional circumstances, and the fact that the settlement agreement provides for vacatur does not constitute an exceptional circumstance for this purpose [U.S. Bancorp Mortgage Co. v. Bonner Mall Partnership (1994) 513 US 18, 26, 29, 115 S Ct 386, 130 L Ed2d 233 (case dismissed as moot after settlement but petitioner's motions to vacate judgment of circuit court denied); but see Alvarez v. Smith (2009) -- US -- , 130 S Ct 576, 175 L Ed2d 447, 454-455 (although settlement of state-court forfeiture proceedings mooted appeal of federal action challenging constitutionality of state-court proceedings, vacatur of lower federal court's judgment was appropriate because settlement did not involve agreement on issue contested in federal action or voluntary forfeiture of legal remedy sought in federal action)].

A court is not required to dismiss a live controversy as moot merely because it may become moot in the near future [Hunt v. Imperial Merchant Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2009) 560 F3d 1137, 1142].

Examples:

The following situations illustrate the application of the mootness doctrine:

- Issues no longer exist due to the passage of time [Flynt v. Weinberger (DC Cir 1985) 762 F2d 134, 135 (challenge to ban on press coverage declared moot when Grenada invasion came to an end)].

- Issues no longer exist due to intervening factual events [City News & Novelty, Inc. v. City of Waukesha (2001) 531 US 278, 121 S Ct 743, 148 L Ed2d 757, 762-763 ; but see San Francisco Baykeeper, Inc v. Tosco Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 309 F3d 1153, 1160 (change in ownership did not moot suit against factory as penalties against former owner would demonstrate cost of future violations)].

- Issues have been resolved in another forum [Powder River Basin Res. Council v. Babbitt (10th Cir 1995) 54 F3d 1477, 1484-1485 ; see NASD Dispute Resolution, Inc. v. Judicial Council (9th Cir 2007) 488 F3d 1065, 1068-1070 (appeal mooted by unrelated 9th Circuit and California Supreme Court decisions)].

- When deciding the issue would have no effect within the confines of the case itself [*Tur v. Youtube, Inc. (9th Cir 2009) 2009 US App LEXIS 8237, at 4 (voluntary dismissal of plaintiff's copyright infringement action rendered moot defendant's appeal from district court's denial of summary judgment in its favor, despite plaintiff's claims in pending putative class action against defendant)].

- Parties have voluntarily settled their dispute [S. California Painters & Allied Trades v. Rodin & Co., Inc. (9th Cir 2009) 558 F3d 1028, 1035-1036 (union's declaratory relief claim for damages against union contractor was moot, because contractor paid back union dues at issue under protest, but did not seek refund of payment); but see Zucker v. Occidental Petroleum Corp. (9th Cir 1999) 192 F3d 1323, 1329 , cert. denied, 529 US 1066 (2000) (no Article III case or controversy required for attorney's fee award that is ancillary to matter over which court retained equitable jurisdiction after settlement mooted underlying case)].

- Change in plaintiff's status [Arizonans for Official English v. Arizona (1997) 520 US 43, 117 S Ct 1055, 137 L Ed2d 170 (employee's resignation mooted claim that English only constitutional provision violated free speech); Mayfield v. Dalton (9th Cir 1997) 109 F3d 1423, 1425-1426 (marine's challenge to tissue sample policy mooted by discharge)].

- Change in defendant's status [see Commodity Futures Trading Comm'n v. Board of Trade (7th Cir 1983) 701 F2d 653, 656 (suit to void patent was mooted when patent sold during pendency of appeal and defendant no longer held title)].

- Change in statute or regulation [Friends of the Earth, Inc. v. Laidlaw Envtl. Servs. (TOC), Inc. (2000) 528 US 167, 189, 120 S Ct 693, 145 L Ed2d 610 (repeal of challenged statute makes it absolutely clear that allegedly wrongful behavior cannot be reasonably expected to recur); Lewis v. Continental

Bank Corp. (1990) 494 US 472, 478, 110 S Ct 1249, 108 L Ed2d 400 (stake represented by applicant rendered moot by amendment of law); Maldonado v. Morales (9th Cir 2009) 556 F3d 1037, 1042-1043 (amendment to California's Outdoor Advertising Act rendered moot billboard owner's claim that Act impermissibly favored commercial over non-commercial speech)].

An intervening event only moots a case if the plaintiff is wholly divested of all personal interest in the outcome of the case or the event completely eliminates the effect of the alleged violation and there is no reason to believe that future violations will recur [Park County Res. Council v. United States Dep't of Agric. (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 609, 614].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of mootness, see 15 Moore's Federal Practice, § 101.90 et seq. (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.45[2] Exceptions to Mootness.

2.45[2][a] Acts That Are Capable of Repetition, Yet Will Evade Review. Although a lawsuit may be technically moot, an exception to the mootness doctrine will be found if the defendant's conduct is capable of repetition, yet will evade review [Southern Oregon Barter Fair v. Jackson County (9th Cir 2004) 372 F3d 1128, 1133-1134]. This exception applies only if the claim of the same litigant will evade review [see Doe v. Madison Sch. Dist. No. 321 (9th Cir 1999) 177 F3d 789, 797-798 ; Phoenix Newspapers v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1998) 156 F3d 940, 945-946]. For this exception to apply, two elements must be present [see Davis v. FEC (2008) 554 US 724 128 S Ct 2759, 171 L Ed 2d 737, 749 ; Unabom Trial v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1999) 183 F3d 949, 950]:

- The challenged action is inherently too short in duration to be fully litigated before its cessation or expiration.

- There is a reasonable expectation that the plaintiff will again be subjected to the same action unless court intervention occurs.

Examples:

A notable example of this exception is Roe v. Wade: by the time the case reached the Supreme Court, the woman seeking to assert the right to abortion had already had her baby, factually mooting her constitutional challenge. The Court nevertheless reasoned that when "pregnancy is a significant fact in the litigation, the normal gestation period is so short that the pregnancy will come to term before the usual appellate process is complete. If that termination moots a case, pregnancy litigation seldom will survive much beyond the trial stage, and appellate review will be effectively denied. Our law should not be that rigid" [Roe v. Wade (1973) 410 US 113, 125, 93 S Ct 705, 35 L Ed2d 147].

Plaintiff's challenge to an election law is not rendered moot by the passing of an election [Federal Election Comm'n v. Wisconsin Right to Life, Inc. (2007) 551 US 449, 127 S Ct 2652, 168 L Ed2d 329, 341-342 ("as applied" challenge to statute that criminalized corporate sponsorship of federal electioneering communications could be heard after relevant election); Padilla v. Lever (9th Cir 2006) 463 F3d 1046, 1049 (en banc)].

A candidate's challenge to campaign financing laws fell within the "capable of repetition, yet evading review" exception. The candidate's claims could not be resolved before the election at issue, and he publicly expressed an intent to self-finance another bid for a seat in the House of Representatives [Davis v. FEC (2008) ___ US ___, 128 S Ct 2759, 71 L Ed 2d 737, 748-749].

This exception to mootness is narrow, applies only in exceptional circumstances, and only when the two factors are present [Unabom Trial v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1999) 183 F3d 949, 950].

2.45[2][b] Voluntary Cessation of Challenged Activity. The voluntary cessation of the defendant's challenged activity does not moot the controversy unless there is no reasonable possibility the conduct will resume [Parents Involved in Cmty. Sch. v. Seattle Sch. Dist. No. 1 (2007) 551 US 701, 127 S Ct 2738, 168 L Ed2d 508, 522 (school district's voluntary cessation of use of race in school assignments pending outcome of litigation did not moot case); Gluth v. Kangas (9th Cir 1991) 951 F2d 1504 , 1507-1508 (long history of denying access to law library; defendant offered no reasonable assurance that alleged violations would not recur); cf. Siskiyou Reg'l Educ. Project v. United States Forest Serv. (9th Cir 2009) 565 F3d 545, 559 (plaintiff's suit challenging Forest Service's directive requiring plan of operation for certain mining activity did not fall with exception for voluntary cessation of unlawful activity, because defendant's current policy was not to require plan, notwithstanding that defendant could change its policy in future); see also Buono v. Norton (9th Cir 2004) 371 F3d 543, 546 (mere voluntary cessation of allegedly illegal conduct does not moot case)].

Whether the voluntary cessation of activity by a defendant can provide a basis for dismissing a case on mootness grounds turns on two key questions [Adarand Constructors, Inc. v. Slater (2000) 528 US 216, 221-222, 120 S Ct 722, 145 L Ed2d 650 ; FTC v. Affordable Media, LLC (9th Cir 1999) 179 F3d 1228, 1237-1238]:

- Whether the defendant is free to return to its "old ways."
- Whether it is likely that the defendant will do so.

This test for mootness is stringent. Although an alleged victim can moot the need for injunctive relief by his or her own conduct, an alleged wrongdoer cannot so easily moot the need for injunctive relief [FTC v. Affordable Media, LLC (9th Cir 1999) 179 F3d 1228, 1237-1238].

2.45[2][c] Past Acts Having Present, Future, or Collateral Consequences. Although a change in circumstances, an intervening event, an amendment to legislation, or a revision in policy may moot a claim in terms of the court's inability to undo or grant effective relief as to past acts or conditions, a case is not moot (and judicial review is still available) if those past acts have present, future, or collateral consequences that may be judicially addressed [Spencer v. Kemna (1998) 523 US 1, 13, 118 S Ct 978, 140 L Ed2d 43 ; Super Tire Eng'g Co. v. McCorckle (1974) 416 US 115, 122, 94 S Ct 1694, 40 L Ed2d 1 ; Council of Ins. Agents & Brokers v. Molasky-Arman (9th Cir 2008) 522 F3d 925, 933 (California insurance agent's challenge to Nevada statute prohibiting nonresident agents from finalizing policies in Nevada without countersignature of resident agent was not moot, even though agent's employer had acquired Nevada-based agency with in-house agent who could countersign policies; statute's effect remained legally significant because it precluded nonresident agents from participating in Nevada market on equal terms with resident agents); EEOC v. Federal Express Corp. (9th Cir 2009) 558 F3d 842, 847-848 (employer's compliance with administrative subpoena in another case, which resulted in its providing EEOC with same information it sought to compel in case on appeal, did not moot appeal); Zegarra-Gomez v. INS (9th Cir 2003) 314 F3d 1124, 1127 (deportation did not moot case as alien continues to suffer actual collateral consequences from deportation); Washington v. Daley (9th Cir 1999) 173 F3d 1158, 1164-1165 ; cf. Center for Biological Diversity v. Lohn (9th Cir 2007) 511 F3d 960, 965 (party could not invoke exception for "collateral legal consequences" when suggested harm was "merely hypothetical or speculative"); see also Pacific Bell Telephone Co. v. linkLine Communs. Inc. (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1109, 1117, 172 L Ed2d 836 (case was not rendered moot by plaintiffs' agreement with dissent to Ninth Circuit court's decision in plaintiffs' favor after Supreme Court granted certiorari, because parties continued to seek different relief, and circuit conflict would remain if Court did not decide case on merits [Pacific Bell Telephone Co. v. linkLine Communs. Inc. (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1109, 1117, 172 L Ed2d 836].

2.45[3] Counsel Must Inform Court of Change of Status. It is the duty of counsel to bring to the federal court's attention, without delay, facts that may raise a question of mootness [Arizonans for Official English v. Arizona (1997) 520 US 43, 68 n23, 117 S Ct 1055, 137 L Ed2d 170].

2.45[4] Raising Mootness Issue. When a case becomes moot the court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over the action. As with other defects in subject matter jurisdiction, mootness may be raised at any stage of the litigation [In re Kurtzman (2d Cir 1999) 194 F3d 54, 58].

The question of mootness, like other challenges to a court's subject matter jurisdiction, may be treated as a motion to dismiss under Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1) [Fed R Civ P 12]. It is the burden of the complainant to allege facts demonstrating the appropriateness of invoking judicial resolution of the dispute [see Renne v. Geary (1991) 501 US 312, 316, 111 S Ct 2331, 115 L Ed2d 288].

Federal courts may raise the issue of mootness sua sponte [North Carolina v. Rice (1971) 404 US 244, 245, 92 S Ct 402, 30 L Ed2d 413].

Cross References:

Objecting to subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.17.

Raising issue at any time, 15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 101.92 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJusticiabilityMootnessEvading Review ExceptionCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityMootnessPublic Interest ExceptionCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityMootnessReal Controversy RequirementCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityMootnessVoluntary Cessation Exception

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
V. ANALYZING OTHER JURISDICTIONAL ISSUES

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.46

2.46 Political Question Doctrine.

The political question doctrine requires federal courts to abstain from the review of constitutional claims that are more amenable to resolution by other branches of the federal government than by a judgment on the merits [Baker v. Carr (1962) 369 US 186, 217, 82 S Ct 691, 7 L Ed2d 663].

The Supreme Court has explained that several formulations that vary according to context may describe a political question. Prominent on the surface of any case held to involve a political question, the Court found at least one of the following [Baker v. Carr (1962) 369 US 186, 217, 82 S Ct 691, 7 L Ed2d 663 ; see Nixon v. United States (1993) 506 US 224, 228, 113 S Ct 732, 122 L Ed2d 1]:

- A textually demonstrable constitutional commitment of the issue to a coordinate political department.

- A lack of judicially discoverable and manageable standards for resolving the issue.

- The impossibility of deciding the issue without an initial policy determination of a kind clearly more appropriate for nonjudicial discretion.

- The impossibility of a court's undertaking independent resolution of the issue without expressing lack of the respect due coordinate branches of government [see, e.g., Mujica v. Occidental Petroleum Corp. (CD Cal 2005) 381 F Supp2d 1164, 1193-1194].

- An unusual need for unquestioning adherence to a political decision already made [see, e.g., Mujica v. Occidental Petroleum Corp. (CD Cal 2005) 381 F Supp2d 1164, 1194 n5].

- The potentiality of embarrassment from multifarious pronouncements by various departments on one question.

Example:
The mere fact that a case may touch upon foreign relations and arise in a "politically charged" context does not necessarily preclude justiciability of particular claims on the basis of the political question doctrine. For example, in a case against the Vatican Bank involving losses allegedly suffered at the hands of a Nazi puppet regime in World War II, common law property claims for conversion, unjust enrichment, restitution, and accounting were allowed to proceed. Other claims stemming from slave labor were held to be related to human rights and the war and were precluded by the political question doctrine. The Ninth Circuit did, however, acknowledge that the plaintiffs faced looming procedural and substantive problems on issues such as class certification, discovery, and allocation [see Alperin v. Vatican Bank (9th Cir 2005) 410 F3d 532, 537-539].

In addressing the second formulation concerning judicially discoverable and manageable standards, the focus should be on whether the court is capable of granting real relief in a reasoned fashion and not on logistical problems [see, e.g., Alperin v. Vatican Bank (9th Cir 2005) 410 F3d 532, 553].

The question of political questions, like other challenges to a court's subject matter jurisdiction, may be treated as a motion to dismiss under Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1), or (b)(6) [Fed R Civ P 12].

Cross References:

Objecting to subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.17.

Political question doctrine, 15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 101.110 et seq. (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJusticiabilityPolitical QuestionsForeign AffairsCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityPolitical QuestionsNational SecurityCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityPolitical QuestionsSeparation of PowersCivil ProcedureJusticiabilityPolitical QuestionsTreaties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
V. ANALYZING OTHER JURISDICTIONAL ISSUES

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.47

2.47 Abstention Doctrines.

2.47[1] Pullman Abstention: Avoiding Federal Constitutional Rulings. Pullman abstention is appropriate when an uncertain question of state law exists in the case and that question of state law is susceptible of a construction that will either eliminate the need to decide the federal constitutional question altogether, or materially alter the way in which the federal court will view that issue [Harris County Comm'rs Court v. Moore (1975) 420 US 77, 84, 95 S Ct 870, 43 L Ed2d 32 ; see Railroad Comm'n of Texas v. Pullman Co. (1941) 312 US 496, 61 S Ct 643, 85 L Ed 971].

The Ninth Circuit applies a three-part test for Pullman abstention [see Spoklie v. State of Montana (9th Cir 2005) 411 F3d 1051, 1055 ; San Remo Hotel v. City & County of San Francisco (9th Cir 1998) 145 F3d 1095, 1104]:

> (1) The complaint must touch a sensitive area of social policy into which the federal courts should not enter unless there is no alternative to adjudication;
>
> (2) A definitive ruling on the state issue(s) by a state court must potentially obviate the need for constitutional adjudication by the federal court; and
>
> (3) The proper resolution of the possibly determinative state law issue must be uncertain.

The court has suggested that abstention is appropriate only when all three elements are present [see Smelt v. County of Orange (9th Cir 2006) 447 F3d 673, 679-681; Cinema Arts, Inc. v. County of Clark (9th Cir 1983) 722 F2d 579, 580].

The Ninth Circuit has identified several areas of sensitive social policy that may warrant Pullman abstention:

- State regulation of marriage [Smelt v. County of Orange (9th Cir 2006) 447 F3d 673, 679-681].
- A state court's role in interpreting unique state constitutional provisions [Brown v. Woodland Joint Unified Sch. Dist. (9th Cir 1994) 27 F3d 1373, 1375].

- State building codes [Cedar Shake & Shingle Bureau v. City of Los Angeles (9th Cir 1993) 997 F2d 620, 622].

- The operation of state detention facilities [Manney v. Cabell (9th Cir 1980) 654 F2d 1280, 1284].

- State election codes [Burdick v. Takushi (9th Cir 1988) 846 F2d 587, 589].

- Regulation of prostitution and sexually explicit films [Almodovar v. Reiner (9th Cir 1987) 832 F2d 1138, 1140].

- State custody and care of juveniles [L.H. v. Jamieson (9th Cir 1981) 643 F2d 1351, 1355].

- Regulation of public utilities energy resources [International Bhd. of Elec. Workers v. Public Serv. Comm'n (9th Cir 1980) 614 F2d 206, 212].

- Land use planning [Pearl Inv. Co. v. City & County of San Francisco (9th Cir 1985) 774 F2d 1460, 1461-1462 , cert. denied, 476 US 1170 (1986)].

- The location of a nuclear waste facility [United States v. Morros (9th Cir 2001) 268 F3d 695, 703-704].

Example:

Plaintiffs, the creator and users of an election website, sued the Secretary of State for California under 42 USC § 1983 after the Secretary threatened prosecution under California Election Code against a similar website. The plaintiffs' claims were based on First Amendment violations. Abstention was inappropriate because the first Pullman factor was not present. Abstention could have resulted in chilling the plaintiffs' future creation of a website. Although a new website would not have been created until 2004, it was not clear that the case would have been resolved prior to the 2004 election if the plaintiffs were sent to state court. Constitutional challenges based on the First Amendment right of free expression are the kinds of cases the federal courts are particularly well-suited to hear. That is why abstention is generally inappropriate when First Amendment rights are at stake [Porter v. Jones (9th Cir 2003) 319 F3d 483, 491-494].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Pullman abstention, see 17A Moore's Federal Practice, § 122.02 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.47[2] Thibodeaux Abstention: Unclear State Law in Diversity Cases. Thibodeaux abstention is appropriate when a diversity case presents difficult questions of state law bearing on policy problems of substantial public import whose importance transcends the result in the case [Louisiana Power & Light Co. v. City of Thibodaux (1959) 360 US 25, 26, 79 S Ct 1070, 3 L Ed2d 1058 ; see Colorado River Water Conservation Dist. v. United States (1976) 424 US 800, 814, 96 S Ct 1236, 47 L Ed2d 483].

Thibodeaux abstention is not appropriate if state law is certain [City of Tuscon v. US West Communications, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 1128, 1134].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Thibodeaux abstention, see 17A Moore's Federal Practice, § 122.03 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.47[3] Burford Abstention: Avoiding Interference With Comprehensive State Administrative Procedures. Burford abstention is designed to prevent federal courts from interfering with the proceedings or orders of state administrative agencies when timely and adequate state court review is available [see New Orleans Pub. Serv., Inc. v. Council of New Orleans (1989) 491 US 350, 361, 109 S Ct 2506, 105 L Ed2d 298 ; see also Burford v. Sun Oil Co. (1943) 319 US 315, 317-318, 63 S Ct 1098, 87 L Ed 1424].

The Ninth Circuit requires three elements to abstain under Burford [City of Tuscon v. U.S. West Communications, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 1128, 1132-1134]:

- The state has chosen to concentrate suits challenging the actions of the agency involved in a particular court.
- The federal issues cannot be easily separated from complex state law issues with respect to which state courts have special competence.
- Federal review might disrupt state efforts to establish a coherent policy.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Burford abstention, see 17A Moore's Federal Practice, § 122.04 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.47[4] Colorado River Abstention: Concurrent State Proceedings. A district court has discretion to abstain from exercising jurisdiction over an action when a concurrent state proceeding is pending based on "considerations of '[w]ise judicial administration, giving regard to conservation of judicial resources and comprehensive disposition of litigation' " [Colorado River Water Conservation Dist. v. United States (1976) 424 US 800, 817, 96 S Ct 1236, 47 L Ed2d 483].

Factors to consider in deciding whether a federal court may abstain in favor of a parallel state action are [Colorado River Water Conservation Dist. v. United States (1976) 424 US 800, 818, 96 S Ct 1236, 47 L Ed2d 483 ; Moses H. Cone Mem'l Hosp. v. Mercury Constr. Corp. (1983) 460 US 1, 23-26, 103 S Ct 927, 74 L Ed2d 765]:

- The assumption of jurisdiction over any res or property.
- The inconvenience of the federal forum.
- The desirability of avoiding piecemeal litigation.
- The order in which the concurrent forums obtained jurisdiction.
- The source of the applicable law.
- The adequacy of protections in the state court to protect the federal plaintiff's rights [see Intel Corp. v. Advanced Micro Devices, Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 12 F3d 908, 913 (substantial doubt as to whether state proceedings will resolve federal action precludes stay)].

No one factor is necessarily determinative [Colorado River Water Conservation Dist. v. United States (1976) 424 US 800, 818, 96 S Ct 1236, 47 L Ed2d 483]. Moreover, the weight to be given to any one factor may vary greatly from case to case, depending on the particular setting of the case [Moses H. Cone Mem'l Hosp. v. Mercury Constr. Corp. (1983) 460 US 1, 16, 103 S Ct 927, 74 L Ed2d 765]. A stay of proceedings based on the Colorado River doctrine is justified only in "exceptional circumstances" [Colorado River Water Conservation Dist. v. United States (1976) 424 US 800, 813, 96 S Ct 1236, 47 L Ed2d 483], which are exceedingly rare. The existence of a substantial doubt as to whether the state proceedings will resolve the federal action precludes Colorado River abstention [Smith v. Central Ariz. Water Conservation Dist. (9th Cir 2005) 418 F3d 1028, 1033].

Examples:

In proceedings in rem or quasi in rem, the forum first assuming custody of the property at issue has exclusive jurisdiction to proceed [Colorado River Water Conservation Dist. v. United States (1946) 424 US 800, 817, 819, 96 S Ct 1236, 47 L Ed2d 483]. A quiet title action is a proceeding in rem. Accordingly, under Colorado River, a district court was required to stay a federal quiet title action because the state court, in defendant's quiet title action, was the first court to exercise jurisdiction over the disputed property [40235 Washington Street Corp. v. Lusardi (9th Cir 1992) 976 F2d 587, 589].

Plaintiff sought to enjoin a state unlawful detainer action. The district court found it had a duty under Colorado River to abstain from interfering with the related state court proceedings, because the state action was filed before the federal action and, critically, was a quasi in rem action. Accordingly, the forum first assuming custody of the property had exclusive jurisdiction to proceed [Scherbenske v. Wachovia Mortgage, FSB (CD Cal 2009) 626 F Supp2d 1052, 1057-1058].

Consider:

Colorado River abstention may apply when concurrent proceedings are pending in a foreign court [see Mujica v. Occidental Petroleum Corp. (CD Cal 2005) 381 F Supp2d 1134, 1158-1160].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Colorado River abstention, see 17A Moore's Federal Practice, § 122.06 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.47[5] Younger Abstention: Avoiding Interference With Pending State Proceedings. Younger abstention is designed to prevent federal courts from exercising their jurisdiction over state criminal proceedings or other proceedings that are pending and that involve important state interests. Abstention is proper as long as adequate relief is available in the state proceedings [see Younger v. Harris, 401 U.S. 37, 91 S. Ct. 746, 27 L. Ed. 2d 669 (1971)].

The Ninth Circuit applies a four-part test to Younger abstention [see Middlesex County Ethics Committee v. Garden State Bar Ass'n (1982) 457 US 423, 432, 102 S Ct 2515, 73 L Ed2d 116 (applying first three elements required by Ninth Circuit); San Jose Silicon Valley Chamber of Commerce Political Action Committee v. City of San Jose (9th Cir 2008) 546 F3d 1087 (all Younger requirements were met and exception did not apply); AmerisourceBergen Corp. v. Roden (9th Cir 2007) 495 F3d 1143, 1148-1149 (clarifying that there is "a vital and indispensable fourth element" and that abstention under Younger is not proper unless all four elements are strictly satisfied)]:

- There must be ongoing state judicial proceedings.
- The ongoing state judicial proceedings must implicate important state interests.
- There must be an adequate opportunity in the state proceedings to raise federal questions.
- The court's action would enjoin, or have the practical effect of enjoining, ongoing state court proceedings.

Examples:

Abstention was not warranted when a ruling on the issue of damages, which was the relief plaintiff sought, would not enjoin or have the effect of enjoining the state court action, in which plaintiff sought reinstatement [*Huey v. City & County of San Francisco (ND Cal 2007) 2007 US Dist LEXIS 73732, at *8-10].

Younger abstention justified the district court's dismissal of a petition filed in federal district court, seeking a writ of administrative mandamus and challenging the constitutionality of a municipal rent ordinance. Although a state mandamus petition of nearly identical claims was filed three days after the filing in federal court, the state trial court had completed its proceedings and rendered a judgment [Equity Lifestyle Props. v. County of San Luis Obispo (9th Cir 2008) 548 F3d 1184, 1196-1197].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Younger abstention, see 17A Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 120.22, 122.05.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionJurisdictional SourcesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsAbstention

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
V. ANALYZING OTHER JURISDICTIONAL ISSUES

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.47A

2.47A First-to-File Rule.

The first-to file rule is a well-established doctrine that permits a district court to decline jurisdiction over an action when a complaint involving the same parties and issues already has been filed in another district [Pacesetter Sys., Inc. v. Medtronic, Inc. (9th Cir 1992) 678 F2d 93, 94-95 ; Inherent.com v. Martindale-Hubbell (ND Cal 2006) 420 F Supp2d 1093, 1097]. Application of the rule requires identity of the parties and issues. However, the two actions do not have to be identical for the rule to apply, provided they are "substantially similar" [Inherent.com v. Martindale-Hubbell (ND Cal 2006) 420 F Supp2d 1093, 1097]. A district court retains the discretion to depart from the rule when the filing of the first action shows bad faith or forum shopping, or when the first action was anticipatory [Alltrade, Inc. v. Uniweld Prods., Inc. (9th Cir 1991) 946 F2d 622, 628]. An action is "anticipatory" when it is an action for declaratory relief filed by a plaintiff with specific indications that a suit against it by the defendant is imminent and that is filed for the purpose of depriving that defendant of its choice of forum [Inherent.com v. Martindale-Hubbell (ND Cal 2006) 420 F Supp2d 1093, 1097-1098].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of first-to-file rule, see 17 Moore's Federal Practice, § 111.13[1][o][ii] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.48

2.48 CHECKLIST: Determining Venue.

Consider the following subjects, relating to the correct district court in which to file the action. Similarly, these questions may be used by counsel seeking to challenge venue.

☐ Is there a forum selection clause in a relevant contract?

Discussion:
See § 2.56

☐ What is the applicable venue statute?

Discussion:
See §§ 2.50, 2.54

☐ Where do the parties reside?

Discussion:
See § 2.51

☐ Where did a substantial part of the events or omissions at issue occur?

Discussion:
See § 2.52

☐ Is the suit proceeding as a class action?

Discussion:
See § 2.53

☐ Are there venue requirements for the particular type of action?

Discussion:
See § 2.54

☐ Can the action be transferred to another district court?

Discussion:
See § 2.58

☐ Is there a more convenient forum?

Discussion:
See § 2.57

☐ If venue is challenged:

- ○ Does the transferor court have subject matter jurisdiction?
- ○ Does the proposed transferee court:
  - ☐ Have proper venue under applicable transfer statutes?
  - ☐ Have independent personal jurisdiction over moving party?

Discussion:
See §§ 2.58[6], [7]

☐ Does another court have exclusive subject matter jurisdiction?

Discussion:
See § 2.59

☐ Does the doctrine of forum non conveniens apply?

Discussion:
See § 2.60

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueAgentsCivil ProcedureVenueCorporationsCivil ProcedureVenueForum Non Conveniens

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.49

2.49 Venue: Initial Considerations.

2.49[1] Federal Law Determines Venue. Venue involves determining the appropriate district court in which an action may be heard and is governed exclusively by federal law [Stewart Org'n, Inc. v. Ricoh Corp. (1988) 487 US 22, 28, 108 S Ct 2239, 101 L Ed2d 22]. Thus, federal law determines where the events occurred and the resolution of the convenience factors [District No. 1, Pac. Coast Dist. v. Alaska (9th Cir 1982) 682 F2d 797, 798].

2.49[2] Plaintiff Must File in Proper Forum. A plaintiff is not obligated to file an action in the most convenient forum, only in a proper forum [see Newton v. Thomason (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 1455, 1463-1464]. However, if the plaintiff chooses a relatively inconvenient forum, the action may be subject to a transfer to a more convenient forum pursuant to the change of venue statute [28 USC § 1404; see 2.57].

2.49[3] Pleading Proper Venue.

2.49[3][a] Generally No Venue Allegation Is Required. The plaintiff does not have to plead proper venue when filing in a particular district [see Ripperger v. A. C. Allyn & Co. (2d Cir 1940) 113 F2d 332, 334 , cert. denied, 311 US 695 (1940)].

If the defendant challenges venue, the plaintiff has the burden of proving that venue is proper [French Transit Ltd. v. Modern Coupon Sys., Inc. (SDNY 1994) 858 F Supp 22, 25].

2.49[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. In the Southern District of California, a concise statement of the facts and statutory basis conferring federal jurisdiction and venue should appear in the second paragraph of the Pretrial Order [SD Cal Civ LR 16.1(f.6.c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueAgentsCivil ProcedureVenueCorporationsCivil ProcedureVenueIndividual Defendants

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.50

2.50 General Venue Statute Applies to Most Actions.

The general venue statute governs venue of transitory actions "except as otherwise provided by law." Venue is appropriate in the following districts [28 USC § 1391(a), (c); see Arley v. United States Pac. Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1967) 379 F2d 183, 185]:

- Where any defendant resides if all defendants reside in the same state. The Ninth Circuit limits the term "all defendants" to indispensable parties under Fed R Civ P 19(b) [Anrig v. Ringsby United (9th Cir 1978) 603 F2d 1319, 1324].

- Where a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred, or a substantial part of property that is the subject of the action is situated.

- In an action based solely on diversity, if the first two rules leave an action without venue, then venue may be had where any defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction at the time the action is commenced.

- In an action not based solely on diversity without venue, if the first two rules leave an action without venue, then venue may be had where any defendant may be found. The phrase "where any defendant may be found" has been interpreted to mean where the defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction [see Varsic v. United States Dist. Court for Cent. Dist. of Cal. (9th Cir 1979) 607 F2d 245, 248].

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 110.02 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueAgentsCivil ProcedureVenueCorporationsCivil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable Parties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.51

2.51 Determining Residence of Parties.

2.51[1] Residence Determined at Commencement of Action. Residence is determined at the commencement of the action, not at the time of the events that gave rise to the claim [28 USC § 1391(c); see Hoffman v. Blaski (1960) 363 US 335, 342-343, 80 S Ct 1084, 4 L Ed2d 1254].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of residence, see 17 Moore's Federal Practice, § 110.03 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.51[2] Individuals. For purposes of venue, the residence of an individual is the same as the individual's permanent residence or legal domicile as used in determining diversity [Shaw v. Quincy Mining Co. (1892) 145 US 444, 449, 12 S Ct 935, 36 L Ed 768 ; see Cohen v. United States (9th Cir 1962) 297 F2d 760, 774].

2.51[3] Aliens. The residence of alien defendants for purposes of venue is irrelevant because actions against aliens can be brought in any district in which personal jurisdiction exists [28 USC § 1391(d)]. Thus, suits against aliens are free from venue restrictions and subject only to the requirements of personal jurisdiction and service of process [Brunette Mach. Works, Ltd., v. Kockum Indus., Inc. (1972) 406 US 706, 708, 92 S Ct 1936, 32 L Ed2d 428].

This rule applies to alien corporations as well as individuals [Brunette Mach. Works, Ltd., v. Kockum Indus., Inc. (1972) 406 US 706, 714, 92 S Ct 1936, 32 L Ed2d 428].

2.51[4] Public Officials. A civil action in which a defendant is an officer or employee of the United States or any of its agencies acting in an official capacity or under color of legal authority, or an agency of the United States, or the United States, may, except as otherwise provided by law, be brought in any judicial district in which [28 USC § 1391(e)]:

- A defendant in the action resides; or
- A substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred, or a substantial part of property that is the subject of the action is situated; or

- The plaintiff resides if no real property is involved in the action.

Only federal defendants count for purposes of venue under 28 USC § 1391(e) [High Sierra Hikers Ass'n v. United States Forest Serv. (ND Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 6628, at *6].

Merely maintaining an office in a judicial district does not make a federal agency a resident of that district for purposes of venue in a specific action [High Sierra Hikers Ass'n v. United States Forest Serv. (ND Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 6628, at *5 ; Schwarz v. I.R.S. (NDNY 1998) 998 F Supp 201, 203].

2.51[5] Domestic Corporations.

2.51[5][a] Defendants. A corporate defendant resides in any judicial district in which it is subject to personal jurisdiction at the time the action is commenced. If there is more than one judicial district in the state, a corporation is deemed to reside in any district in that state within which its contacts would be sufficient to subject it to personal jurisdiction if that district were a separate state. If there is no district that meets that criteria, it is deemed to reside in the district with which it has the most significant contacts [28 USC § 1391(c)].

2.51[5][b] Plaintiffs. A corporate plaintiff's residence for venue purposes is limited to the state or states of its incorporation [see Suttle v. Reich Bros. Constr. Co. (1948) 333 US 163, 166, 68 S Ct 587, 92 L Ed 614 ; see Data Disc, Inc. v. Systems Tech. Assocs., Inc. (9th Cir 1977) 557 F2d 1280, 1289]. This rule is in contrast to the rule for diversity jurisdiction, whereby a corporation is deemed to be a citizen of both the state of its incorporation and of its principal place of business [28 USC § 1332(c)(1); see 2.16].

2.51[6] Unincorporated Associations. Unincorporated associations are generally treated like corporations for purposes of determining proper venue [see Denver & Rio Grande W. R.R. v. Brotherhood of R.R. Trainmen (1967) 387 US 556, 562, 87 S Ct 1746, 18 L Ed2d 954 ; Decker Coal Co. v. Commonwealth Edison Co. (9th Cir 1986) 805 F2d 834, 841-842 (residence of joint venture between two corporations was joint venture's principal place of business)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueAgentsCivil ProcedureVenueCorporationsCivil ProcedureVenueIndividual Defendants

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.52

2.52 Determining District Where Substantial Part of Events or Omissions Occurred.

Venue is proper where a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred [28 USC § 1391(a)(2), (b)(2)]. The majority of the events need not have occurred in the district; the statute requires only that a substantial part of the events occurred in the district [Radical Products, Inc. v. Sundays Distrib. (WD Wash 1992) 821 F Supp 648, 650 (substantial part of events in trademark infringement case occurred in district where confusion between products would occur, even though product was not sold there)].

The determination of what constitutes a "substantial part" takes into consideration the purpose of the venue statute [see Myers v. Bennet Law Offices (9th Cir 2001) 238 F3d 1068, 1075-1076].

The court must focus on the activities of the defendant and not of the plaintiff for venue purposes [see PKWare, Inc. v. Meade (ED Wis 2000) 79 F Supp2d 1007, 1016-1017].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of substantial part of events or omissions, see 17 Moore's Federal Practice, § 110.04 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueAgentsCivil ProcedureVenueCorporationsCivil ProcedureVenueIndividual Defendants

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.53

2.53 Determining Venue for Class Actions.

In defendant class actions, venue is determined by the residence of the class representative. Thus, venue is proper if it is proper with respect to the named defendants without regard to unnamed class members [In re Gap Stores Sec. Litig. (ND Cal 1978) 79 FRD 283, 292].

Cross References:

Discussion of class actions, see Ch. 20, Class Actions.

Venue in class actions, 17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 110.07 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueAgentsCivil ProcedureVenueCorporationsCivil ProcedureVenueIndividual DefendantsCivil ProcedureClass ActionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.54

2.54 Determining Venue in Special Cases.

2.54[1] Actions Removed to Federal Court. The removal statute governs the venue of an action removed from state court to federal court. The statute provides that the action may be removed to the district court and division that encompasses the place where the action is pending [28 USC § 1441(a); Polizzi v. Cowles Magazines, Inc. (1953) 345 US 663, 665-666, 73 S Ct 900, 97 L Ed 1331].

Once an action has been removed to federal court, the action may be transferred to another district under the venue transfer statutes [Hollis v. Florida State Univ. (11th Cir 2001) 259 F3d 1295, 1300].

If new claims or defendants are added after removal, venue must be proper as to the added claims and defendants [see Freeman v. Bee Mach. Co. (1943) 319 US 448, 457, 63 S Ct 1146, 87 L Ed 1509].

In the absence of a controlling forum selection clause, a defendant's removal of an action waives or cures any objection the defendant may have to improper venue in the district to which it was removed [Polizzi v. Cowles Magazines, Inc. (1953) 345 US 663, 665-666, 73 S Ct 900, 97 L Ed 1331].

A contractual designation of forum cannot override the venue dictated by the removal statute [Kerobo v. Southwestern Clean Fuels, Corp. (6th Cir 2002) 285 F3d 531, 534-536].

Cross References:

Discussion of removal, see Ch. 3, Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court.

Venue in removal actions, 17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 110.08 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.54[2] Actions Against Aliens. An action against an alien may be brought in any district, provided that service of process is proper [Brunette Mach. Works, Ltd. v. Kockum Indus., Inc. (1972) 406 US 706, 708, 92 S Ct 1936, 32 L Ed2d 428]. The venue statute regarding aliens applies to alien corporations and individuals [Brunette Mach. Works, Ltd. v. Kockum Indus., Inc. (1972) 406 US 706, 714, 92 S Ct 1936, 32 L Ed2d 428].

2.54[3] Actions Against United States, United States Agency, or United States Officials or Employees.

2.54[3][a] Venue Proper in Several Districts. Venue is proper in an action against the United States, an agency of the United States, or an official or employee of the United States on a claim against such official or employee acting in his or her official capacity [28 USC § 1391(e); see Stafford v. Briggs (1980) 444 US 527, 534-535, 100 S Ct 774, 63 L Ed2d 1]:

- In any judicial district where a defendant in the action resides.
- In any judicial district where a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred, or a substantial part of property that is the subject of the action is situated.
- In any judicial district where the plaintiff resides if no real property is involved in the action.

This venue statute applies only to actions against the executive branch and does not apply to actions for damages that could be recovered against the official or employee personally [see Kreines v. United States (9th Cir 1994) 33 F3d 1105, 1108 , cert. denied, 513 US 1148 (1995)].

2.54[3][b] Residence Is Place of Official Duties. The residence of a defendant federal official for this purpose is deemed to be the place where he or she performs his or her official duties [see Rogers v. Civil Air Patrol (MD Ala 2001) 129 F Supp2d 1334, 1336-1338].

When venue is based on the plaintiff's residence, only one plaintiff needs to reside in the district in which the action is brought for venue to be proper [see Railway Labor Executives' Ass'n v. ICC (9th Cir 1991) 958 F2d 252, 256]. The residence of a corporate plaintiff is limited to the state or states of its incorporation [see Dual Mfg. and Eng'g, Inc. v. Burris Indus., Inc. (7th Cir 1976) 531 F2d 1382, 1385].

2.54[3][c] Nationwide Service of Process. Nationwide service of process by mail is permitted in an action against an officer or agent of the United States [28 USC § 1391(e)].

2.54[3][d] Exceptions for Contract Cases. Venue is proper for contract claims for amounts not exceeding $10,000 against the United States pursuant to 28 USC § 1346(a) in the district where plaintiff resides [28 USC § 1402(a)].

Contract claims for amounts exceeding $10,000 against the United States must be brought in the United States Court of Federal Claims [28 USC § 1491].

2.54[3][e] Actions Under Federal Torts Claim Act. An action under the Federal Torts Claim Act may be brought in the judicial district where [28 USC § 1402(b)]:

- The plaintiff resides; or
- The act or omission giving rise to the claim occurred.

2.54[4] Actions Against Foreign States. Venue for an action against a foreign state, its political subdivisions, agencies or instrumentalities may be [28 USC § 1391(f); U.S. Titan, Inc. v. Guangzhou Zhen Hua Shipping Co. (2d Cir 2001) 241 F3d 135, 153]:

- In any judicial district in which a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred, or a substantial part of property that is the subject of the action is situated;

- In any judicial district in which a vessel or cargo of a foreign state is situated in an action to enforce a maritime lien when it is based on a commercial activity of the foreign state;

- In any judicial district in which an agency or instrumentality is licensed to do business or is doing business, if the action is brought against the agency or instrumentality of a foreign state as defined in 28 USC § 1603(b); or

- In the United States District Court for the District of Columbia if the action is brought against a foreign state or political subdivision thereof.

2.54[5] Actions Against Closed Banks Administered by FDIC. Any action or proceeding against a national banking association for which the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has been appointed receiver, or against the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation as receiver, must be brought within the district in which the association's principal place of business is located [12 USC § 94].

2.54[6] Interpleader Actions. An action of interpleader [28 USC § 1335] may be brought in the judicial district in which one or more of the claimants reside [28 USC § 1397].

2.54[7] Copyright Actions. An action arising under federal statute relating to copyright may be brought in the judicial district in which [28 USC § 1400(a); see VE Holding Corp. v. Johnson Gas ApplianceCo. (Fed Cir 1990) 917 F2d 1574, 1584]:

- The defendant or his or her agent resides; or

- The defendant or his or her agent is subject to personal jurisdiction.

Under 28 USC § 1400(a), venue is proper in any judicial district in which the defendant would be amenable to personal jurisdiction if the district were a separate state [Columbia Pictures Television v. Krypton Broad. of Birmingham, Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 106 F3d 284, 288 , overruled on other grounds by Feltner v. Columbia Pictures Television (1998) 523 US 340, 118 S Ct 1279, 140 L Ed2d 438 ; Brayton Purcell LLP v. Recordon & Recordon (ND Cal 2005) 361 F Supp2d 1135, 1138].

Example:

Plaintiff law firm sued defendant law firm for copyright infringement based on the defendant having copied seven pages of plaintiff's website and incorporated the pages into its own website. Venue in the Northern District was proper when plaintiff (1) made a prima facie showing that defendant willfully infringed its copyrights and (2) alleged without dispute that defendant knew plaintiff's principal place of business was in the Northern District [Brayton Purcell LLP v. Recordon & Recordon (ND Cal 2005) 361 F Supp2d 1135, 1140-1143].

2.54[8] Patent Actions. An action for patent infringement may be brought in the judicial district where [28 USC § 1400(b)]:

- The defendant resides; or

- The defendant committed acts of infringement and has a regular and established place of business.

An action against a corporate infringer may be brought wherever personal jurisdiction may be obtained over the infringer [see 28 USC § 1391(c); see also Regents of Univ. of Cal. v. Eli Lilly & Co. (ND Cal 1990) 734 F Supp 911, 913].

An action to appeal the denial of a patent may be brought against the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in the district court for the District of Columbia [35 USC § 145]. An action to determine the priority of invention with respect to conflicting patents or applications need not involve the Director of Patents and is governed by the general venue statutes [35 USC §§ 146, 291].

2.54[9] Shareholder's Derivative Action. An action by a stockholder on behalf of his or her corporation may be brought in any judicial district in which the corporation might have sued the same defendants [28 USC § 1401].

2.54[10] Antitrust Actions. An antitrust action under the Clayton Act may be brought in any district where [15 USC §§ 15(a), 22]:

- The defendant resides;
- The defendant is found;
- The defendant has an agent; or
- A corporate defendant transacts business.

In addition, venue is proper in any district as provided by the general venue statute [see 28 USC § 1391; see also Go-Video, Inc. v. Akai Elec. Co. (9th Cir 1989) 885 F2d 1406, 1409].

2.54[11] Civil Rights Actions. The general venue statute is not applicable to actions under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 [see Johnson v. Payless Drug Stores NW, Inc. (9th Cir 1991) 950 F2d 586, 587-588].

An action under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 may be brought in any judicial district where the defendant is found, or where [42 USC § 2000e-5(f)(3); see Passantino v. Johnson & Johnson Consumers Prods., Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 212 F3d 493, 506]:

- The employment records relevant to an unlawful employment practice are maintained and administered; or
- The aggrieved person would have worked but for an alleged unlawful employment practice.

Venue is also proper "in any judicial district in the State in which the unlawful employment practice is alleged to have been committed" [42 USC § 2000e-5(f)(3) (emphasis added)]. Because of this special provision for state-wide venue, a plaintiff's choice of forum is entitled to greater deference before an intrastate transfer when venue is based on allegations of unlawful employment practices that occurred in the state, but not in the district where the suit was filed [Ellis v. Costco Wholesale Corp. (ND Cal 2005) 372 F Supp2d 530, 538].

If the defendant is not found in any of the listed districts, the action may be brought in the judicial district in which the principal office of the defendant is located [42 USC § 2000e-5(f)(3)].

2.54[12] RICO Actions. An action under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization Act (RICO) may be brought in any district in which the defendant [18 USC § 1965(a)]:

- Resides;
- Is found;
- Has an agent; or

- Transacts his or her affairs.

A corporation is "found" in a district for purposes of this venue provision if its officers and agents are present and carrying on the corporation's business within the district [see Luten Clarey Stern, Inc., v. Randolph & Hein, Inc. (SDNY 1991) 1991 US Dist. LEXIS 6123, at *2].

2.54[13] ERISA Actions. An action under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) may be brought in any district where [29 USC § 1370(c)]:

- The plan is administered;
- The violation occurred;
- The plan administrator resides or does business;
- Any plan asset is located; or
- Where the defendant resides or may be found.

The same test for corporate residence under the general venue statute applies to ERISA actions. Suit may be brought in any judicial district in which the corporation is subject to personal jurisdiction [see McCracken v. Automobile Club of S. Cal., Inc. (D Kan 1995) 891 F Supp 559, 562]. Jurisdiction over noncorporate defendants may be found where the defendant has minimum contacts sufficient to support personal jurisdiction [see Varsic v. United States Dist. Court for Cent. Dist of Cal. (9th Cir 1979) 607 F2d 245, 248-249].

2.54[14] Actions Under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934. An action under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 may be brought in any judicial district where the violation occurred; or where the defendant [15 USC § 78aa]:

- Is found;
- Is an inhabitant; or
- Transacts business.

2.54[15] Multiparty, Multiforum Cases. Multiparty, multiforum cases involving accidental death to at least 75 persons [see 28 USC § 1369(a)] may be brought in any district where [28 USC § 1369(g)]:

- Any defendant resides; or
- A substantial part of the accident occurred.

Cross Reference:

Actions under Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act, see § 2.24.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersJurisdictional TransfersCopyright LawCivil Infringement ActionsJurisdiction

& VenueVenueImmigration LawJudicial ReviewVenuePatent LawJurisdiction & ReviewPersonal Jurisdiction & VenueGeneral OverviewTortsProcedureCommencement & ProsecutionVenue

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.55

2.55 Improper Venue May Be Waived.

The right to object to improper venue is waived absent a sufficient and timely objection [see Fed R Civ P 12(h)(1); Libby, McNeill & Libby v. City Nat'l Bank (9th Cir 1978) 592 F2d 504, 510].

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 110.01 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAppealsReviewabilityPreservation for Review

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.56

2.56 Enforcing Forum Selection Clauses.

2.56[1] Federal Law Generally Applies. Federal law generally controls the interpretation of a forum selection clause because its enforceability is primarily a matter of venue [Manetti-Farrow, Inc. v. Gucci, Am., Inc. (9th Cir 1988) 858 F2d 509, 513]. If a forum selection clause is involved in a federal question case, the federal court will apply a federal rule of interpretation, or at most borrow from an analogous state rule [see Carnival Cruise Lines v. Shute (1991) 499 US 585, 590-594, 111 S Ct 1522, 113 L Ed2d 622].

2.56[2] Forum Selection Clauses Are Ordinarily Enforceable. Forum selection clauses requiring an action on a contract to be brought in a specific forum are prima facie valid and will ordinarily be enforced [M/S Bremen v. Zapata Off-Shore Co. (1972) 407 US 1, 8-20, 92 S Ct 1907, 32 L Ed2d 513 ; see Carnival Cruise Lines v. Shute (1991) 499 US 585, 590-594, 111 S Ct 1522, 113 L Ed2d 622 ; see also Zenger-Miller, Inc. v. Training Team, GmbH (ND Cal 1991) 757 F Supp 1062, 1066].

An action brought in a forum other than the one contractually agreed on may be dismissed [Carnival Cruise Lines v. Shute (1991) 499 US 585, 590-594, 111 S Ct 1522, 113 L Ed2d 622].

The party opposing the application of the forum selection clause bears a heavy burden of proof [M/S Bremen v. Zapata Off-Shore Co. (1972) 407 US 1, 18, 92 S Ct 1907, 32 L Ed2d 513 ; see, e.g., Batchelder v. Kawamoto (9th Cir 1998) 147 F3d 915, 919 (party must show that inclusion of forum clause was product of fraud or coercion)].

2.56[3] Some Limitations on Enforceability Exist. Forum selection clauses will not be enforced in any of the following circumstances:

- The clause is not fundamentally fair [Carnival Cruise Lines v. Shute (1991) 499 US 585, 590-595, 111 S Ct 1522, 113 L Ed2d 622 ; see, e.g., Batchelder v. Kawamoto (9th Cir 1998) 147 F3d 915, 919 (adhesion contract may be enforceable if not unreasonable or fundamentally unfair)].

- The clause was obtained through fraud or overreaching [Carnival Cruise Lines v. Shute (1991) 499 US 585, 590-594, 111 S Ct 1522, 113 L Ed2d 622 ; see, e.g., Batchelder v. Kawamoto (9th Cir 1998) 147 F3d 915, 919 (party must show that inclusion of forum clause was product of fraud or coercion)].

- The clause violates a strong public policy of the forum [M/S Bremen v. Zapata Off-Shore Co. (1972) 407 US 1, 15, 92 S Ct 1907, 32 L Ed2d 513 ; Jones v. GNC Franchising, Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 211 F3d 495, 497 ; see Swenson v. T-Mobile USA, Inc. (SD Cal 2006) 415 F Supp2d 1101, 1104-1005 (question is whether enforcement of forum selection clause itself will contravene strong public policy of the forum)].

- The clause is not enforceable under governing contractual law [see, e.g., Laxmi Invs., LLC v. Golf USA (9th Cir 1999) 193 F3d 1095, 1097 (clause not enforceable absent meeting of minds)].

- Enforcement of the clause would require litigation in a seriously inconvenient forum so as to deprive a party of a meaningful day in court [Carnival Cruise Lines v. Shute (1991) 499 US 585, 594, 111 S Ct 1522, 113 L Ed2d 622 ; see, e.g., Contraves Inc. v. McDonnell Douglas Corp. (MD Fla 1995) 889 F Supp 470, 472 (unfair inconvenience to nonparties, such as witnesses)].

2.56[4] Comparing Mandatory and Permissive Forum Selection Clauses.

2.56[4][a] Mandatory Forum Selection Clauses. A mandatory forum selection clause designates the exclusive forum in which an action on the contract must be brought [Docksider, Ltd. v. Sea Tech. Ltd. (9th Cir 1989) 875 F2d 762, 764].

Compared to a permissive forum selection clause, a challenge to venue of an action filed in the forum designated by a mandatory forum selection clause will not be successful unless the clause is fundamentally unfair [Carnival Cruise Lines v. Shute (1991) 499 US 585, 590-594, 111 S Ct 1522, 113 L Ed2d 622].

Cross Reference:

See § 2.56[4][b]].

2.56[4][b] Permissive Forum Selection Clause. A permissive forum selection clause provides that a particular forum will have jurisdiction for any action on the contract, but does not state that such jurisdiction is exclusive [see Hunt Wesson Foods, Inc. v. Supreme Oil Co. (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 75, 77].

Compared to a mandatory forum selection clause, an action brought in a forum designated in a permissive forum selection clause may be successfully challenged on the basis of convenience to the parties and witnesses [Hunt Wesson Foods, Inc. v. Supreme Oil Co. (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 75, 77].

Cross Reference:

See § 2.56[4][a].

2.56[4][c] Dismissal Based on Forum Selection Clause. Defendants may seek dismissal of a case that has been filed in a court not named in a forum selection clause by:

- Dismissal sought pursuant to a Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1) motion for lack of subject matter jurisdiction [see AVC Nederland B.V. v. Atrium Inv. P'ship (2d Cir 1984) 740 F2d 148, 152].

- Dismissal for improper venue under Fed R Civ P 12(b)(3) granted on the basis of a forum selection clause [Argueta v. Banco Mexicano, SA (9th Cir 1996) 87 F3d 320, 324].

Cross Reference:

Effect of forum selection clause, see 17 Moore's Federal Practice, § 111.04 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsForum Selection Clauses

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.57

2.57 Transferring Venue for Convenience.

2.57[1] Court May Transfer Action to Another Proper Venue. When a plaintiff brings an action in a district court with proper venue, the court may, upon proper motion, or consent, transfer the action to any other district (or division within a district) in which the action may have originally been brought provided the moving party establishes that the transfer promotes [28 USC § 1404(a), (b); see Van Dusen v. Barrack (1964) 376 US 612, 634, 84 S Ct 805, 11 L Ed2d 945]:

- The convenience of the parties and witnesses; and
- The interest of justice.

The court may also order such a transfer sua sponte [see Dudash v. Varnell Struck & Assocs. (ND Cal 2004) 2004 US Dist LEXIS 24872, at *12].

2.57[2] Factors Considered. When considering a Section 1404(a) convenience transfer motion, in addition to determining that the transferee court is one in which the action "might have been brought", the court must determine that transfer of the action will accomplish the following [28 USC § 1404(a)]:

- Enhance the convenience of the parties;
- Enhance the convenience of the witnesses; and

Strategic Point:

Determining the convenience of witnesses is not merely a "head count," but includes consideration of the importance of each witness--including non-party witnesses outside the scope of the court's subpoena power--and the geographic location of any witnesses likely to testify [Costco Wholesale Corp. v. Liberty Mutual Ins. Co. (SD Cal 2007) 472 F

Supp2d 1183, 1193-1194)]. Convenience of counsel is irrelevant to a Section 1404(a) analysis [Costco Wholesale Corp. v. Liberty Mutual Ins. Co. (SD Cal 2007) 472 F Supp2d 1183, 1195-1196].

- Be in the interest of justice.

In addition to these three factors expressly set forth in the transfer statute, the courts consider a variety of additional factors thought to have a bearing on the determination, including:

- The plaintiff's original choice of forum [Jones v. GNC Franchising, Inc. (9th Cir 2000) 211 F3d 495, 498 , cert. denied, 531 US 928 (2000) ; Decker Coal Co. v. Commonwealth Edison Co. (9th Cir 1986) 805 F2d 834, 843]; however, the plaintiff's choice is given less deference when it has little connection to the action [Saleh v. Titan Corp. (SD Cal 2005) 361 F Supp2d 1152, 1156-1157].

- Where the events at issue in the lawsuit ("the operative events") took place [Chedid v. Boardwalk Regency Corp. (ED Va 1991) 756 F Supp 941, 944 (transfer to site of accident)].

- The comparative availability of compulsory process to compel the attendance of unwilling witnesses [Saleh v. Titan Corp. (SD Cal 2005) 361 F Supp2d 1152, 1165-1166].

- The location of the physical evidence [In re Warrick (2d Cir 1995) 70 F3d 736, 741].

- The relative court congestion in the two forums [Parsons v. Chesapeake & O. Ry. Co. (1963) 375 US 71, 73, 84 S Ct 185, 186, 11 L Ed2d 137 (condition of transferor court's docket is legitimate consideration in transfer analysis)].

- The relative familiarity of the courts with the applicable law [see Amazon.com v. Cendant Corp. (WD Wash 2005) 404 F Supp2d 1256, 1261-1262 (when case involved complex technological issues, litigation of related case in Delaware weighed strongly in favor of transfer to that forum)

- Existence of forum selection clause [see Argueta v. Banco Mexicano, S.A. (9th Cir 1996) 87 F3d 320, 325].

No individual factor is determinative. The court has discretion to weigh each factor to reach a fair result, although plaintiff's choice of forum may be accorded significant weight [see Lou v. Belzberg (9th Cir 1987) 834 F2d 730, 739 , cert. denied, 485 US 993 (1988) (fortuitous choice given less weight; shareholder derivative action); Saleh v. Titan Corp. (SD Cal 2005) 361 F Supp2d 1152, 1159 (plaintiff's choice not entitled to deference when it had no substantial connection to class action and plaintiffs were foreign residents)], and the convenience of non-party witnesses is an important factor [Saleh v. Titan Corp. (SD Cal 2005) 361 F Supp2d 1152, 1165 (convenience of witnesses factor weighed heavily in favor of transfer)].

Cross Reference:

Factors considered, see 17 Moore's Federal Practice, § 111.13 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.57[3] Standing to Move for Convenience Transfer.

2.57[3][a] Defendant. The defendant's motion to transfer venue should establish, by declaration or affidavit, that the proposed transferee forum is more convenient based on the relevant factors and the specific facts of the case [see Anglo Am. Ins. Group, PLC v. Calfed, Inc. (SDNY 1996) 916 F Supp 1324, 1327].

Warning:

A court may, on its own motion, transfer an action based on convenience and interest of justice after giving the parties notice and an opportunity to be heard [see Ferens v. John Deere Co. (1990) 494 US 516, 530, 110 S Ct 1274, 108 L Ed2d 443].

2.57[3][b] Plaintiff. A plaintiff may move to change venue but may be required to show that circumstances have changed since the action was originally filed, or that the transfer is in the interest of justice [Ferens v. John Deere Co. (1990) 494 US 516, 524, 110 S Ct 1274, 108 L Ed2d 443].

2.57[4] Time for Moving for Transfer. The defendant should move for a transfer either before or with the answer. If the defendant becomes aware of circumstances supporting a convenience transfer after answering, he or she should move with reasonable promptness after factors supporting transfer become evident [Vaz Borralho v. Keydril Co. (5th Cir 1983) 696 F2d 379, 386-387]. Any delay should be explained.

No limit applies to restrict the time for bringing a motion for convenience transfer. A motion for convenience transfer will not be denied solely because it is filed after the pretrial phase is well under way [see United States Fid. & Guar. Co. v. Republic Drug Co. (EDNY 1992) 800 F Supp 1076, 1081]. However, delay is a factor in determining the propriety of transfer [see Moore v. Telfon Comms. Corp. (9th Cir 1978) 589 F2d 959, 968 (court properly considered six year delay in seeking transfer); see also Allen v. Scribner (9th Cir 1987) 812 F2d 426, 436-437].

Cross Reference:

Time for § 1404(a) motion to transfer, see 17 Moore's Federal Practice, § 111.17 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.57[5] Transferor Must Have Subject Matter Jurisdiction. To transfer an action under the convenience transfer statute, the transferor court must ordinarily have subject matter jurisdiction over the action [see Bacik v. Peek (ND Ohio 1993) 888 F Supp 1405, 1413]. A court may grant a transfer on the basis of convenience even if the original court does not have personal jurisdiction over the defendant [see Corke v. Sameiet M.S. Song of Norway (2d Cir 1978) 572 F2d 77, 80].

Strategic Point:

If the court lacks subject matter jurisdiction because a federal statute vests exclusive jurisdiction over a particular category of action or appeal in another federal court, transfer to that court may be available under another federal transfer statute [see 28 USC § 1631].

2.57[6] Transferee Court Must Have Proper Venue, Subject Matter Jurisdiction, and Personal Jurisdiction. The proposed transferee court must have proper venue under applicable venue statutes at the time the action was originally filed [see Hoffman v. Blaski (1960) 363 US 335, 343-344, 80 S Ct 1084, 4 L Ed2d 1254]. The transferee court must also have subject matter jurisdiction [see Packer v. Kaiser Found. Health Plan (DDC 1989) 728 F Supp 8, 11].

The transferee court's right to exercise personal jurisdiction must exist independently of the defendant's consent to jurisdiction as part of the transfer motion [Hoffman v. Blaski (1960) 363 US 335, 342-343, 80 S Ct 1084, 4 L Ed2d 1254 ; see Commercial Lighting Prods., Inc. v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1976) 537 F2d 1078].

2.57[7] Party Seeking Transfer Has Burden of Proving Transferee Forum Is Proper. The party seeking the transfer has the burden of proving that the action could have been brought originally in the transferee district [see Volkswagen de Mexico, S.A. v. Germanischer Lloyd (SDNY 1991) 768 F Supp 1023, 1029].

2.57[8] Waiving Improper Venue Does Not Preclude Seeking Convenience Transfer. The waiver of objections to improper venue does not preclude a defendant from moving for a convenience transfer [see Hoffman v. Blaski (1960) 363 US 335, 342-343, 80 S Ct 1084, 4 L Ed2d 1254 ; see also Haskel v. FPR Registry, Inc. (EDNY 1994) 862 F Supp 909, 915].

2.57[9] Choice of Law After Convenience Transfer.

2.57[9][a] Diversity Cases. Following a transfer for convenience pursuant to 28 USC § 1404(a) in a diversity case, the transferee court must ordinarily apply the law of the state of the transferor court, including applicable choice of law rules [Van Dusen v. Barrack (1964) 376 US 612, 627, 84 S Ct 805, 11 L Ed2d 945 ; see Ferens v. John Deere Co. (1990) 494 US 516, 524-527, 110 S Ct 1274, 108 L Ed2d 443 ; see also International Bus. Mach. Corp. v. Bajorek (9th Cir 1999) 191 F3d 1033, 1037]. However, if the transferor court (after a convenience transfer in a diversity case) lacked personal jurisdiction over the defendant, the transferee court must apply the law of the state of the transferee court [see Muldoon v. Tropitone Furniture Co. (9th Cir 1993) 1 F3d 964, 967].

2.57[9][b] Federal Question Cases. Following a transfer for convenience pursuant to 28 USC § 1404(a) in a federal question case, the transferee court ordinarily applies the law as interpreted by its own circuit [Wilborn v. Department of Health & Human Servs. (9th Cir 1994) 49 F3d 597, 600 (after § 1404(a) transfer, transferee court is bound only by its circuit's precedent); see Newton v. Thomason (9th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 1455, 1460 (transferee court should apply own circuit precedent to federal claim under Lanham Act, not precedent that transferor court would have applied)].

2.57[9][c] Transfer Based on Forum Selection Clause. Following a transfer for convenience pursuant to 28 USC § 1404(a) based on a forum selection clause, the transferee court should apply the law of the state in which it sits if the law of the state of the transferor court would have required dismissal of the action on the basis of the forum selection clause; however, if the transferor state would not have dismissed the action, the transferee court must apply the law of the transferor state [Caribbean Wholesales & Serv. Corp. v. US JVC Corp. (SDNY 1994) 855 F Supp 627, 631].

2.57[10] Review of Transfer Order. Review of a district court's decision to transfer a case, either within its own circuit or to a district court in another circuit, must be sought in the circuit of the transferor district court. If a case is transferred from an out-of-circuit district court, review is not available in the circuit of the transferee court [Posnanski v. Gibney (9th Cir 2005) 421 F3d 977, 979].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersConvenience TransfersCivil ProcedureVenueForum Non ConveniensCivil ProcedureVenueMotions to TransferConvenience of PartiesCivil ProcedureVenueMotions to TransferConvenience of Witnesses

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.58

2.58 Challenging Improper Venue.

2.58[1] Objection Must Be Timely. A defendant must object to improper venue in a timely and sufficient manner and must not act in a way that might be considered an implicit waiver and submission to the jurisdiction of the court [see 28 USC § 1406(b); King v. Russell (9th Cir 1992) 963 F2d 1301, 1305-1306 , cert. denied, 507 US 913 (1993)].

2.58[2] Object in Answer or Motion to Dismiss. Improper venue can be asserted as a defense in an answer or raised in a motion to dismiss [Fed R Civ P 12(b)(3)]. If venue is improper, the court must either dismiss or, in the interests of justice, transfer the case to a district having proper venue [see 28 USC § 1406(a)].

Most courts hold that the plaintiff bears the burden of establishing proper venue; a prima facie showing of proper venue is sufficient to defeat a motion to dismiss [Nissan Motor Co. v. Nissan Computer Corp. (CD Cal 2000) 89 F Supp2d 1154, 1161 , aff'd, 246 F3d 675 (9th Cir. 2000)]

Cross Reference:

Improper venue, raising defenses, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, § 8.19.

If the defense of improper venue was not available when the first responsive pleading was filed, no waiver occurs and the defendant may raise the defense when it becomes available [see Engel v. CBS, Inc. (CD Cal 1995) 886 F Supp 728, 730].

When objecting to improper venue the defendant must specify the grounds for the objection [see, e.g., Albany Ins. Co. v. Almacenadora Somex, S.A. (5th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 907, 909-910].

2.58[3] Standing to Object to Improper Venue.

2.58[3][a] Defendant. Any defendant has standing to object to improper venue. One defendant may not move to dismiss or transfer an action on the ground that venue is improper as to a second defendant unless the second defendant is an indispensable party, in which case the court should dismiss or transfer the entire action [see Camp v. Gress (1919) 250 US 308, 316, 39 S Ct 478, 63 L Ed 997 ; King v. Russell (9th Cir 1992) 963 F2d 1301, 1305-1306 , cert.

denied, 507 US 913 (1993) ; Anrig v. Ringsby United (9th Cir 1978) 603 F2d 1319, 1324].

Warning:

The court may on its own motion dismiss or transfer the action after giving the parties notice and an opportunity to be heard [see Costlow v. Weeks (9th Cir 1986) 790 F2d 1486, 1488]. The court may transfer an action even if the defendant only moves to dismiss the action for lack of proper venue [Concession Consultants, Inc. v. Mirisch (2d Cir 1966) 355 F2d 369, 371 n3]. However, the court may not dismiss an action once the defendant has waived objection to improper venue [Concession Consultants, Inc. v. Mirisch (2d Cir 1966) 355 F2d 369, 371].

2.58[3][b] Plaintiff. In general, a plaintiff waives his or her objection to improper venue when he or she files suit [Olberding v. Illinois Cent. Ry. (1953) 346 US 338, 340, 74 S Ct 83, 98 L Ed 39]. If a plaintiff in good faith mistakenly brings an action in a forum without proper venue, the plaintiff may move to transfer the action [Manley v. Engram (11th Cir 1985) 755 F2d 1463, 1467-1471].

2.58[4] Waiving Objection. A defendant may waive the right to object to improper venue in the following ways [see 28 USC § 1406(b); Fed R Civ P 12(h)]:

- By failing to object in the initial response to the complaint [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(1); see King v. Russell (9th Cir 1992) 963 F2d 1301, 1305 , cert. denied, 507 US 913 (1993) ; but see Engel v. CBS, Inc. (CD Cal 1995) 886 F Supp 728, 730 (no waiver if improper venue defense unavailable when first response to pleading due)].

- By implicitly submitting to the jurisdiction of the court; for example, by making a motion other than one to dismiss [see Manchester Knitted Fashions v. Amalgamated Cotton Garment & Allied Indus. Fund (1st Cir 1992) 967 F2d 688, 691].

- By defaulting [see, e.g., Hoffman v. Blaski (1960) 363 US 335, 343, 80 S Ct 1084, 4 L Ed2d 1254]

Filing a counterclaim and participating in discovery does not constitute an abandonment of an objection to venue raised in the defendant's answer [Rogen v. Memry Corp. (SDNY 1995) 886 F Supp 393, 396].

Waiver of improper venue does not preclude a subsequent motion for a convenience transfer [28 USC § 1404(a)].

2.58[5] Dismissal Is Not Favored. If a plaintiff brings an action in a district or division that is improper under the applicable venue statutes, the court must, on proper motion, either [28 USC § 1406(a); see Johnson v. Payless Drug Stores NW, Inc. (9th Cir 1991) 950 F2d 586, 587-588]:

- Dismiss the action.

- Transfer the action to a proper district or division if the transfer is in the interest of justice.

Dismissal pursuant to 28 USC § 1406(a), which is without prejudice, is not favored by the courts [see, e.g., Friedman v. Revenue Mgmt. of N.Y., Inc. (SDNY 1993) 839 F Supp 203, 206]. When an action is brought in a district where venue is improper, the court may transfer the action to a district where it could have originally been brought, even if the defendant has moved for a dismissal and not a transfer [28 USC § 1406(a); see Minnette v. Time Warner (2d Cir 1993) 997 F2d 1023, 1026].

The court may dismiss without prejudice if transfer is not in the interests of justice [see, e.g., King v. Russell (9th Cir 1992) 963 F2d 1301, 1304 , cert. denied, 507 US 913 (1993) (plaintiff harassing defendant with litigation in remote forum); Wood v. Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce, Inc. (9th Cir 1983) 705 F2d 1515, 1523 , cert. denied, 465 US 1081 (1984) (forum shopping)].

2.58[6] Requirements for Transferor Court.

2.58[6][a] Transferor Must Have Subject Matter Jurisdiction. A court generally does not have the authority to transfer an action under 28 USC § 1406(a) if the court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over the action, and must dismiss the action [Grand Blanc Educ. Ass'n v. Grand Blanc Bd. of Educ. (6th Cir 1980) 624 F2d 47, 49].

If the lack of subject matter jurisdiction is because a federal statute vests exclusive jurisdiction in a specified court, transfer to that court may be available under 28 USC § 1631. For further discussion, see 2.61.

2.58[6][b] Transferor Need Not Have Personal Jurisdiction. When the district court where the action was originally filed lacks personal jurisdiction over the defendants, the court may still transfer the action to a proper forum under Section 1406(a) [Goldlawr, Inc. v. Heiman (1962) 369 US 463, 466, 82 S Ct 913, 8 L Ed2d 39 ; see Cameron v. Thornburgh (DC Cir 1993) 983 F2d 253, 257].

2.58[7] Requirements for Transferee Court.

2.58[7][a] Proper Venue Under Applicable Transfer Statutes. The requirements for jurisdiction in the transferee court must be satisfied at the time that the action was originally filed, unless it is an action against multiple defendants and the claims involving those for whom the requirements were not met at the time of the original filing have either been settled or dismissed [Hoffman v. Blaski (1960) 363 US 335, 342-343, 80 S Ct 1084, 4 L Ed2d 1254].

If one or more defendants for whom venue would be improper in the transferee district are only indirectly connected to the action, the court may sever the action as to those defendants and transfer the remainder of the action unless it would cause the same issues to be litigated in two places [see Wyndham Assocs. v. Bintliff (2d Cir 1968) 398 F2d 614, 618 , cert. denied, 393 US 977 (1968) ; Sunbelt Corp. v. Noble, Denton & Assocs., Inc. (3d Cir 1993) 5 F3d 28, 33-34].

2.58[7][b] Personal Jurisdiction Over Defendants Must Exist Independently. Proper venue and personal jurisdiction over the defendants must exist independently in the transferee court [see Volkswagen de Mexico, S.A. v. Germanischer Lloyd (SDNY 1991) 768 F Supp 1023, 1028-1029].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersImproper Venue TransfersCivil ProcedureVenueMotions to TransferInterests of Justice

92 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.59

2.59 Actions May Be Transferred to Courts With Exclusive Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

An action mistakenly filed in a federal court without subject matter jurisdiction may be transferred [28 USC § 1631; Christianson v. Colt Indus. Operating Corp. (1988) 486 US 800, 818, 108 S Ct 2166, 100 L Ed2d 811 ; Miller v. Hambrick (9th Cir 1990) 905 F2d 259, 262]. This includes actions filed in District Court rather than in Bankruptcy Court, the Court of Federal Claims, or the Federal Circuit.

There is a split of authority as to whether Section 1631 permits transfer for other purposes. The Ninth Circuit has held that Section 1631 transfer is proper when the court lacked personal jurisdiction [Miller v. Hambrick (9th Cir 1990) 905 F2d 259, 262], proper venue [see International Bhd. of Elec. Workers v. I.C.C. (7th Cir 1987) 832 F2d 91, 92], or in rem admiralty jurisdiction [United States v. American River Transp. Inc. (CD Ill 1993) 150 FRD 587, 591].

The transfer must be in the interests of justice, such as when the expiration of the statute of limitations precludes refiling [Martin v. Nickels & Dimes, Inc. (D Haw 1992) 804 F Supp 83, 85-86].

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 111.50 -111.55 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionJurisdiction Over ActionsExclusive JurisdictionCivil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VI. ANALYZING VENUE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.60

2.60 Dismissal Under Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens: Alternative Foreign Forum.

2.60[1] Procedure Is Used in Exceptional Circumstances. Forum non conveniens is a common law doctrine that permits a court to dismiss an action that is properly before it if both of the following requirements are met [American Dredging Co. v. Miller (1994) 510 US 443, 447-448, 114 S Ct 981, 127 L Ed2d 285 ; Dole Food Co. v. Watts (9th Cir 2002) 303 F3d 1104, 1118-1120]:

- An adequate alternative forum exists in another country.
- The balance of the relevant private and public interest factors favors dismissal

Forum non conveniens is "an exceptional tool to be employed sparingly, [not a] ... doctrine that compels plaintiffs to choose the optimal forum for their claim." [Ravelo Monegro v. Rosa (9th Cir 2000) 211 F3d 509, 514].

If no adequate alternative forum exists, the court has no discretion to dismiss the action [Ceramic Corp. of Am. v. Inka Mar. Corp. (9th Cir 1993) 1 F3d 947, 949 ; Murray v. British Broad. Corp. (2d Cir 1996) 81 F3d 287, 292].

A federal treaty may preclude the doctrine of forum non conveniens [see, e.g., Hosaka v. United Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 305 F3d 989, 994 (Warsaw Convention provides exclusive remedy for passengers injured in international travel)]. A treaty may also require greater deference to a foreign plaintiff's choice of forum [see, e.g., Ioannidis/Riga v. M/V Sea Concert (D Or 2001) 132 F Supp2d 847, 861-862]. See 2.60[5][b] (deference to foreign plaintiff's choice of forum).

2.60[1A] Procedure May Justify Dismissal Without Resolving Jurisdictional Issues. A district court may dismiss an action based on forum non conveniens without resolving whether it has subject matter jurisdiction or personal jurisdiction, if the court determines, based on "considerations of convenience, fairness, and judicial economy," that a foreign tribunal is the more suitable arbiter of the merits of the case. [Sinochem Int'l Co. v. Malaysia Int'l Shipping Corp. (2007) 549 US 422, 127 S Ct 1184, 167 L Ed2d 15, 22, 26].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of forum non conveniens, see 17 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 111.70 -111.78 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.60[2] Bringing Motion to Dismiss Under Doctrine of Forum Non Conveniens.

2.60[2][a] Motion Must Be Brought in Reasonable Time. A motion for dismissal on the grounds of forum non conveniens should be made within a reasonable time after the defendant becomes aware of the facts that form the basis for the motion [see Lony v. E.I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. (3d Cir 1991) 935 F2d 604, 607].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of forum non conveniens, see 17 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 111.90 -111.91 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.60[2][b] Proving Dismissal Is Warranted. The party moving to dismiss based on forum non conveniens bears the burden of establishing [American Dredging Co. v. Miller (1994) 510 US 443, 447-448, 114 S Ct 981, 127 L Ed2d 285 ; Dole Food Co. v. Watts (9th Cir 2002) 303 F3d 1104, 1118-1120 ; Creative Tech., Ltd. v. Aztech Sys. PTE, Ltd. (9th Cir 1995) 61 F3d 696, 699]:

- That an adequate alternative forum exists.
- That the balance of the relevant private and public interest factors favors dismissal.

Strategic Point:

This showing must overcome the great deference afforded plaintiffs because a showing of convenience by a party who has sued in his or her home forum will usually outweigh the inconvenience the defendant may have shown [Contact Lumber Co. v. P.T. Moges Shipping Co. (9th Cir 1990) 918 F2d 1446, 1449].

The applicable standard is whether the defendant has made a clear showing of facts that establish such oppression and vexation of the defendant as to be out of proportion to the plaintiff's convenience [see Cheng v. Boeing Co. (9th Cir 1983) 708 F2d 1406, 1410 , cert. denied, 464 US 1017 (1983)].

2.60[2][c] Claims May Be Separated. Although infrequently exercised, district courts have the authority to retain some claims and dismiss others pursuant to a motion for dismissal based on forum non conveniens [see Scottish Air Int'l, Inc. v. British Caledonian Group, PLC (2d Cir 1996) 81 F3d 1224, 1234-1235].

2.60[3] Determining Adequacy of Alternative Forum. Even if particular causes of action or certain desirable remedies are not available in a foreign forum, that forum will usually be adequate so long as: (1) it permits litigation of the subject matter and provides adequate procedural safeguards, and (2) the remedy available in the alternative forum is not so inadequate as to constitute no remedy at all [Ceramic Corp. of Am. v. Inka Mar. Corp (9th Cir 1993) 1 F3d 947, 949].

A foreign forum may be found to be adequate even if:

- The alternative forum has less favorable substantive law [Piper Aircraft Co. v. Reyno (1981) 454 US 235, 254 n22, 102 S Ct 252, 70 L Ed2d 419 ; see Gonzalez v. Chrysler Corp. (5th Cir 2002) 301 F3d 377, 380-383 , cert. denied, 538 US 1012 (2003)].
- The alternative forum has less favorable procedural law [Piper Aircraft Co. v. Reyno (1981) 454

US 235, 254 n18, 102 S Ct 252, 70 L Ed2d 419 (stricter standards for treatment of claim for relief; less generous standard for award of attorney's fees); see Lockman Found. v. Evangelical Alliance Mission (9th Cir 1991) 930 F2d 764, 768 (lack of jury trial and different discovery procedures)].

- The array of remedies in the alternative forum is less than in the federal forum [Creative Tech., Ltd. v. Aztech Sys. PTE, Ltd. (9th Cir 1995) 61 F3d 696, 703 ; see, e.g., In re Air Crash Over the Taiwan Strait on May 25, 2002 (CD Cal 2004) 331 F Supp2d 1176, 1184-1185 (lack of strict product liability as claim for relief did not render Taiwan an inadequate forum)].

A foreign forum may be found to be inadequate if:

- The litigation cannot proceed [Piper Aircraft Co. v. Reyno (1981) 454 US 235, 254 n22, 102 S Ct 252, 70 L Ed2d 419 ; see Mercier v. Sheraton Int'l Inc. (1st Cir 1992) 981 F2d 1345, 1350 , cert. denied, 508 US 912 (1993)].

- The defendant is not amenable to service of process in the alternative forum, though the defendant can remedy this by submitting to personal jurisdiction [see Leetsch v. Freedman (9th Cir 2001) 260 F3d 1100, 1103-1104 ; see also Dole Food Co. v. Watts (9th Cir 2002) 303 F3d 1104, 1118-1119].

- No remedy is available to the plaintiff [see El-Fadl v. Central Bank of Jordan (DC Cir 1996) 75 F3d 668, 677-678 (absolute bar); see also Ceramic Corp. of Am. v. Inka Mar. Corp. (9th Cir 1993) 1 F3d 947, 949-950 (automatic dismissal in foreign court)].

- The plaintiff fears retaliation if he or she goes to the alternative forum [see Mujica v. Occidental Petroleum Corp. (CD Cal 2005) 381 F Supp2d 1134, 1143].

- Egregious litigation delays exist in the alternative forum's judicial system [see, e.g., Bhatnagar v. Surrendra Overseas Ltd. (3d Cir 1995) 52 F3d 1220, 1227-1229].

- The plaintiff is unable to join a necessary third party in the alternative forum [see In re Air Crash Disaster Near New Orleans (5th Cir 1987) 821 F2d 1147, 1168 , vacated and remanded on other grounds sub nom. Pan Am. World Airways, Inc. v. Lopez (1989) 490 US 1032, 109 S Ct 1928, 104 L Ed2d 400].

A foreign forum is rarely inadequate [Tuazon v. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. (9th Cir 2006) 433 F3d 1163, 1178-1180; Lueck v. Sundstrand Corp. (9th Cir 2001) 236 F3d 1137, 1143]. When the court has doubts about the adequacy of the foreign forum, the court should condition dismissal on the foreign court's acceptance of the case [Leetsch v. Freedman (9th Cir 2001) 260 F3d 1100, 1103-1104].

2.60[4] Determining Convenience of Parties: Public and Private Interests Must Be Balanced. Once the adequacy of an alternative foreign forum has been established, the court must balance the private and public interests to determine whether the convenience of the parties and the ends of justice would best be served by dismissing the action [Lueck v. Sundstrand Corp. (9th Cir 2001) 236 F3d 1137, 1145-1147].

The private interest factors that the court must weigh in considering whether to dismiss an action on forum non conveniens grounds include the following [see Creative Tech., Ltd. v. Aztech Sys. PTE, Ltd. (9th Cir 1995) 61 F3d 696, 703]:

- The relative ease of access to sources of proof [see Creative Tech., Ltd. v. Aztech Sys. PTE, Ltd. (9th Cir 1995) 61 F3d 696, 703 ; In re Air Crash Over the Taiwan Strait on May 25, 2002 (CD Cal 2004) 331 F Supp2d 1176, 1194-1197].

- The relative ability of the forums to compel the attendance of significant unwilling witnesses at trial [see, e.g., Mujica v. Occidental Petroleum Corp. (CD Cal 2005) 381 F Supp2d 1134, 1150-1152 ; In re Air Crash over the Taiwan Strait on May 25, 2002 (CD Cal 2004) 331 F Supp2d 1176, 1197-1200].

- The defendant's inability to implead a necessary third party [see Allstate Life Ins. Co. v. Linter Group, Ltd. (2d Cir 1993) 994 F2d 996, 1002 , cert. denied, 510 US 945 (1993)].

- The relative cost of obtaining the presence of willing witnesses [see Blanco v. Banco Indus. de Venezuela, S.A. (2d Cir 1993) 997 F2d 974, 982].

- The financial hardship to the plaintiff from having to bring the action in the alternative forum [Murray v. British Broad. Corp. (2d Cir 1996) 81 F3d 287, 292-293 ; but see In re Air Crash Over the Taiwan Strait on May 25, 2002 (CD Cal 2004) 331 F Supp2d 1176, 1201 (potential cost of translation services, unavailability of pretrial discovery and alternative dispute resolution services, and scarcity of contingent fee representation outweighed by ease of access to proof, amenability of witnesses to compulsory process, and lower cost of bringing willing witnesses to trial)].

- The location of the defendant's assets affecting the ability of the plaintiff to enforce a judgment [see Baumgart v. Fairchild Aircraft Corp. (5th Cir 1993) 981 F2d 824, 836 n13 , cert. denied, 508 US 973 (1993)].

The public interest factors that the court must weigh in considering whether to dismiss an action on forum non conveniens grounds include the following [see Piper Aircraft Co. v. Reyno (1981) 454 US 235, 241, 102 S Ct 252, 70 L Ed2d 419 ; see also Creative Tech., Ltd. v. Aztech Sys. PTE, Ltd. (9th Cir 1995) 61 F3d 696, 703]:

- The congestion of the district court contemplating dismissal [see Piper Aircraft Co. v. Reyno (1981) 454 US 235, 241, 102 S Ct 252, 70 L Ed2d 419].

- The interest in resolving a local controversy in a local forum and the burden of jury duty upon those citizens with less of an interest [see Creative Tech., Ltd. v. Aztech Sys. PTE, Ltd. (9th Cir 1995) 61 F3d 696, 704 ; In re Air Crash Over the Taiwan Strait on May 25, 2002 (CD Cal 2004) 331 F Supp2d 1176, 1203-1204 (jurisdiction most closely associated with crash in Taiwan of aircraft operated by Taiwanese airline is Taiwan)].

- The likelihood that the district court will have to apply foreign law [Scottish Air Int'l, Inc. v. British Caledonian Group, PLC (2d Cir 1996) 81 F3d 1224, 1234-1235].

2.60[5] Deference Is Given to Plaintiff's Choice of Forum.

2.60[5][a] American Citizen or Resident As Plaintiff. When the plaintiff is an American citizen or resident, federal courts give the plaintiff's choice of forum significant deference [Tuazon v. R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. (9th Cir 2006) 433 F3d 1163, 1178].

2.60[5][b] Foreign Plaintiff. A court ordinarily gives a foreign plaintiff less deference when determining whether to dismiss an action based on forum non conveniens grounds [see Ravelo Monegro v. Rosa (9th Cir 2000) 211 F3d 509, 513-514 , cert. denied, 531 US 1112 (2001)]. This rule is based on an assumption that a United States forum is not the most convenient forum for a foreign plaintiff [Piper Aircraft Co. v. Reyno (1981) 454 US 235, 255-256, 102 S Ct 252, 70 L Ed2d 419].

To successfully move for a forum non conveniens dismissal, the defendant must overcome the presumption in favor of the plaintiff's choice of forum [see Creative Tech., Ltd. v. Aztech Sys. PTE, Ltd. (9th Cir 1995) 61 F3d 696, 698-699 ; see also R. Maganlal & Co. v. M.G. Chem. Co. (2d Cir 1991) 942 F2d 164, 168].

2.60[6] Exemptions for Special Venue Provisions. The doctrine of forum non conveniens does not apply to actions arising under certain federal statutes that have special venue provisions, if there is some indication that Congress intended to reject the application of the doctrine with respect to those actions [see Creative Tech., Ltd. v. Aztech Sys. PTE, Ltd. (9th Cir 1995) 61 F3d 696, 700].

2.60[7] Effect of Forum Selection Clauses. When an action is brought in a United States district court contrary to a mandatory forum selection clause, normal forum non conveniens analysis does not apply. Rather, the forum selection clause ordinarily controls, absent a strong showing that it should not be enforced [M/S Bremen v. Zapata Off-Shore Co. (1972) 407 US 1, 15, 92 S Ct 1907, 32 L Ed2d 513].

When the forum selection clause is permissive, regular forum non conveniens analysis applies [Blanco v. Banco Indus. de Venezuela, S.A. (2d Cir 1993) 997 F2d 974, 979-980].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueForum Non Conveniens

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.61

2.61 CHECKLIST: Multidistrict Litigation.

The following checklist serves as a guide for determining whether the Multidistrict Litigation statute applies to a particular action. If the statute applies, the checklist helps determine which procedure must be followed. Thorough review of the Multidistrict Litigation Rules is essential.

☐ Determine whether the statute applies. The multidistrict litigation statute authorizes the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation to transfer to a single district court for coordination and consolidation the pretrial proceedings of civil actions pending in different judicial districts if:

- ○ The actions involve one or more common questions of fact;
- ○ Transfer would provide for the convenience of the parties and witnesses; and
- ○ Transfer would promote the just and efficient conduct of the actions.

Discussion:
See § 2.62

☐ Review the Multidistrict Litigation Rules thoroughly, particularly with respect to:

- ○ Form of papers and proof of service.
- ○ All requests for action by written motions.
- ○ Hearings.

- ○ Tag-Along actions.
- ○ Remands.

Discussion:
See §§ 2.63, 2.65, 2.68, 2.70, 2.73

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict LitigationCivil ProcedureVenueMultiparty LitigationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConsolidation of Actions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.62

2.62 Understanding Multidistrict Litigation Procedure.

2.62[1] Multidistrict Litigation Statute. The Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation is authorized to transfer to a single district court for coordination and consolidation the pretrial proceedings of civil actions pending in different judicial districts if all of the following requirements are met [28 USC § 1407; see In re Cessna Aircraft Distributorship Antitrust Litig. (JPML 1978) 460 F Supp 159, 161-162 ; In re Women's Clothing Antitrust Litig. (JPML 1978) 455 F Supp 1388, 1390-1391]:

- The proceedings involve one or more common questions of fact [see In re Aircraft Accident at Barrow (JPML 1979) 474 F Supp 996, 999 ; In re Mutual Fund Sales Antitrust Litig. (JPML 1973) 361 F Supp 638, 640].

- Transfer would provide for the convenience of the parties and witnesses [see In re Vernitron Sec. Litig. (JPML 1978) 462 F Supp 391, 393-394].

- Transfer would promote the just and efficient conduct of the actions [see In re Food Lion, Inc. (4th Cir 1996) 73 F3d 528, 532 ; In re Air Crash Disaster Near Chicago (JPML 1979) 476 F Supp 445, 447].

Strategic Point:

For purposes of transfer under the Multidistrict Litigation statute, the term "civil action" is given the broadest interpretation and encompasses any action that is not a criminal action, is pending in federal district court, and is a suit of a civil nature [In re Cintas Corp. Overtime Pay Arbitration Litigation (JPML 2006) 444 F Supp2d 1353, 1355 (motions to compel arbitration were "civil actions" subject to transfer)].

A transferee court may not hear the trial of a case that has been transferred to it for "coordinated or consolidated" pretrial proceedings by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation. Specifically, a transferee court lacks authority to entertain a 28 USC § 1404(a) transfer motion to keep the case for trial [Lexecon v. Milberg, Weiss, Bershad, Hynes & Lerach (1998) 523 US 26, 40-41, 118 S Ct 956, 140 L Ed2d 62].

2.62[2] Transferring Actions. A transfer proceeding may be initiated by a motion filed with the panel or by the panel itself [28 USC § 1407(c)]. After notice to the affected parties, a hearing is held to determine whether a transfer should be ordered [28 USC § 1407(c)].

A case may be transferred only if the transferor court has subject-matter jurisdiction over the action [see Glasstech, Inc. v. AB Kyro OY (Fed Cir 1985) 769 F2d 1574, 1576-1577].

The panel may transfer to any district, despite personal jurisdiction objections [28 USC § 1407; see In re Ivy (2d Cir 1990) 901 F2d 7, 9]. Transfer to any district is permissible and does not violate the due process minimum contacts test because the question is whether the parties had minimum contacts within the United States as a whole [see Omni Capital Int'l, Ltd. v. Rudolf Wolff & Co. (1987) 484 US 97, 111, 108 S Ct 404, 98 L Ed2d 415].

2.62[3] Factors Considered in Determining Transferee District. In determining the district to which the actions should be transferred, the panel may assess the following factors:

- The defendants' common location [see In re "Factor VIII or IX Concentrate Blood Prods." Liab. Litig. (JPML 1993) 853 F Supp 454, 455].

- The location of documents and witnesses necessary to the actions [see In re Air Crash Disaster Near Coolidge, Ariz. on May 6, 1971 (JPML 1973) 362 F Supp 572, 573].

- The centrality of the location for the convenience of the parties and witnesses [see In re Wheat Farmers Antitrust Class Action Litig. (JPML1973) 366 F Supp 1087, 1088].

- The district in which the broader-based and earliest actions were filed [see In re Regents of the Univ. of Cal. (Fed Cir 1992) 964 F2d 1128, 1136].

- The district that has the most cases pending [see In re Republic National-Realty Equities Sec. Litig. (JPML 1974) 382 F Supp 1403, 1407].

- The district in which a significant defendant has a bankruptcy pending [see In re American Continental Corp./Lincoln Sav. & Loan Sec. Litig. (JPML 1990) 130 FRD 475, 476].

- The congestion of the potential transferee forum's docket [see In re Peruvian Rd. Litig. (JPML 1974) 380 F Supp 796, 798].

- Which judge or judges are most familiar with the issues involved [see In re Plywood Antitrust Litig. (JPML 1974) 376 F Supp 1405, 1407].

As few as two cases may warrant transfer under the multidistrict litigation transfer statute. However, when the number of cases proposed to be transferred is relatively small, an important factor in determining whether to transfer is the complexity of the issues involved [see In re Clark Oil & Ref. Corp. Antitrust Litig. (JPML 1973) 364 F Supp 458, 458 ; In re Ortho Pharm. "Lippes Loop" Prods. Liab. Litig. (JPML 1979) 447 F Supp 1073, 1074 ; In re Magic Marker Sec. Litig. (JPML 1979) 470 F Supp 862, 865].

2.62[4] Claims May Be Separated. The panel has the authority to separate any claim, crossclaim, counterclaim or third-party claim from the rest of the action and remand the separate part [28 USC § 1407(a); see In re 1980 Decennial

Census Adjustment Litig. (JPML 1981) 506 F Supp 648, 650-651 ; In re Uranium Indus. Antitrust Litig. (JPML 1979) 466 F Supp 958, 964]. The panel has no authority to separate issues [see In re A.H. Robbins Co. "Dalkon Shield" IUD Prod. Liab. Litig. (JPML 1985) 610 F Supp 1099, 1101].

2.62[5] Remanding Actions. The panel must transfer to the transferor court actions that have not been terminated in the transferee court at or before the pre-trial proceedings are concluded [28 USC § 1407(a)].

A transferee court may not hear the trial of a case that has been transferred to it for "coordinated or consolidated" pretrial proceedings by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation [Lexecon v. Milberg Weiss Bershad Hynes & Lerach (1998) 523 US 26, 40-41, 118 S Ct 956, 140 L Ed2d 62].

2.62[6] Reviewing Transfer Orders. A transfer order issued by the Panel is reviewable only by extraordinary writ issued by the court of appeals. An order denying transfer is not appealable [28 USC § 1407(e); see 28 USC § 1651(a); see, e.g., In re New York City Mun. Sec. Litig. (2d Cir 1978) 572 F2d 49, 51].

A petition for writ of mandamus to review an order of the panel must be filed in the court of appeals having jurisdiction over the district in which the hearing on transfer is to be held [28 USC § 1407(e)].

Cross References:

Form of motion for multidistrict litigation treatment, see § 2.93.

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 112.02, 112.04 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict LitigationCivil ProcedureVenueMultiparty Litigation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.63

2.63 Practicing Before Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation.

2.63[1] Rules of Procedure. The panel has prescribed its own rules of procedure [28 USC § 1407(f); Multidistrict R 1.1-16.1].

2.63[2] Admission to Practice Before Panel and in Transferor District. Every member in good standing of the Bar of any district court may practice law before the panel. Further, any attorney of record in any action transferred to another district may continue to represent his or her client in any district court to which the action is transferred [Multidistrict Rule 1.4].

2.63[3] Filing Papers With Panel.

2.63[3][a] File in Washington, D.C. Papers filed with the panel must be filed with the Clerk of the Panel at Clerk of the Panel, Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation, Thurgood Marshall Federal Judiciary Building, One Columbus Circle, N.E., Room G-255, North Lobby, Washington, D.C. 20002-8004 [Multidistrict Rule 5.11].

2.63[3][b] Originals and Copies Must Be Filed. An original and four copies of all papers must be submitted for filing with the Clerk of the Panel except only the original of the following documents need be filed [Multidistrict Rule 5.12(a)]:

- Proof of service.
- Notice of appearance.
- Status notice.
- Notice of opposition.
- Notice of related action.

- Application for an extension of time.
- Notice of presentation or waiver of oral argument.

The text of Rule 5.12(a) actually requires 11 copies, not four, but pursuant to an order filed April 19, 2005, Rule 5.12(a) was "partially suspended insofar as papers submitted for filing requiring an original and eleven copies shall be reduced to four copies along with an original."

When only an original document needs to be filed, the document may be faxed to the panel office with the prior approval of the Clerk [Multidistrict Rule 5.12(d)].

A copy of a motion for transfer filed with the panel must also be filed in each district court that will be affected by the motion. Copies of a motion for remand must be filed in the transferee district court in which any action affected by the motion is pending [Multidistrict Rule 5.12(c)].

2.63[3][c] Content and Format Must Adhere to Rule 7.1. Rule 7.1 prescribes the content and format of pleadings, including a limit of 20 pages for each brief [Multidistrict Rule 7.1].

2.63[3][d] Computer Disk Must Be Filed and May Be Served. Whenever an original paper and 11 copies are required to be submitted for filing to the Clerk of the Panel pursuant to Multidistrict Rule 5.12(a), and when a party is represented by counsel, one copy of that paper must also be submitted on a 31/2 inch disk in WordPerfect for Windows [Multidistrict Rule 5.13(a), (b)].

The disk must contain the entire paper exclusive of computer non-generated exhibits, and the disk label must include [Multidistrict Rule 5.13(a)]:

- "MDL #_____".
- An abbreviated version of the MDL descriptive title, or other appropriate descriptive title, if not yet designated by the panel.
- The identity of the type of paper being filed.
- The name of the counsel who signed the paper.
- The first named represented party on the paper.

Counsel may serve copies of the disk on the parties; however, a paper copy must also be served with the disk. The proof of service must indicate service of the paper in both paper and electronic format [Multidistrict Rule 5.13(b), (c)].

A party may be relieved from the requirement of filing an electronic version of the paper by submitting a written application for a waiver, in a timely manner in advance of submission of the paper. Any party seeking a waiver must certify to one of the following in the application [Multidistrict Rule 5.13(d)]:

- That compliance with the Rule would impose undue hardship.
- That the text of the paper is not available on disk.
- That other unusual circumstances preclude compliance with the requirement.

2.63[3][e] Proof of Service. All filed papers must include a proof of previous or simultaneous service on all other parties in all actions involved in the litigation and must be made as provided in Fed R Civ P 5 and 6 [Multidistrict Rules 5.12(a), 5.2(a)].

The proof of service must indicate the following [Multidistrict Rule 5.2(a)]:

- The complete name and address of each person served.
- The party represented by that person.
- Why any person a party named in a constituent complaint was not served.

If a party is not represented by counsel, the proof of service must indicate the name of the party and the party's last known address. Copies of the proof of service must be sent to each person included within the proof of service [Multidistrict Rule 5.2(a)].

The proof of service pertaining to a motion to transfer must certify that copies have been mailed or delivered to each district court in which an action is pending that will be affected by the motion. The proof of service pertaining to a motion for remand must certify that a copy of the motion has been mailed or otherwise delivered to the transferee district court in which any action affected by the motion is pending [Multidistrict Rule 5.2(b)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of service, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, §§ 5.15 -5.23.

2.63[4] Notice of Appearance Is Required Within 11 Days. Within 11 days of the filing of a motion to transfer, an order to show cause, or a conditional transfer order, each party or designated attorney must file a written notice of appearance. The notice must state the name and address of the attorney designated to receive service of all papers relating to the practice before the panel. Only one attorney may be designated by each party [Multidistrict Rule 5.2(c)].

Based on the notices of appearance, the Clerk will prepare a Panel Service List that must be used for service of all papers thereafter [Multidistrict Rule 5.2(d)].

Cross References:

Form of motion for multidistrict litigation treatment, see § 2.93.

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 112.03 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.63[5] Action Must Be Requested by Written Motion. All requests for action by the panel must be made by written motion. Every motion must be accompanied by [Multidistrict Rule 7.2(a)]:

- A brief supporting the motion and setting forth:
- The background of the litigation.
- The factual and legal contentions of the movant in concisely stated separate portions of the brief with citations of applicable authority.
- A schedule setting forth:
- The complete, unshortened name of each action involved.

- The district court in which the action is pending.
- The civil action number of each action.
- The name of the judge assigned each action, if known.

Cross Reference:

Format and content requirements, see § 2.63[3][c].

2.63[6] Respond to Motion Within 20 Days. Once a motion is filed with the panel, all other parties must file a response within 20 days. If a party does not respond to the motion, that party is deemed to have acquiesced to the action requested in the motion [Multidistrict Rule 7.2(c)]. Within 5 days after the end of the 20-day response period, the moving party may file a single brief in reply to any opposition [Multidistrict Rule 7.2(d)].

Responses to allegations must be made in numbered paragraphs corresponding to the number of the paragraph of the motion to which the responsive paragraph is directed. Each responsive paragraph must admit or deny wholly or in part the allegation of the motion and contain the respondent's version of the subject matter when the allegation is not wholly admitted [Multidistrict Rule 7.1(b)].

2.63[7] Respond to Orders to Show Cause Within 20 Days. When the panel initiates transfer proceedings, the Clerk will serve a show cause order on all parties involved directing them to show cause why the action or actions should not be transferred for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings [Multidistrict Rule 7.3(a)].

Any party or counsel served with an order to show cause must notify the panel of any other federal district court actions related to the litigation encompassed by the show cause order. This notification must be made for additional actions pending at the time of the issuance of the show cause order, and whenever new actions are filed [Multidistrict Rule 7.3(a)].

Any party may file a response to the show cause order within 20 days of filing unless the order provides otherwise. Failure to respond is treated as a party's acquiescence to the action contemplated in the order [Multidistrict Rule 7.3(b)].

2.63[8] Corporate Disclosure Statement Must Be Filed. Any nongovernmental corporate party to a matter before the panel must file a statement identifying all its parent corporations and listing any publicly held company that owns 10 percent or more of the party's stock [Multidistrict Rule 5.3(a)]. The statement must be filed within 11 days of the filing of a motion to transfer or remand, an order to show cause, or a motion to vacate a conditional transfer order or a conditional remand order [Multidistrict Rule 5.3(b)].

Once a party files a corporate disclosure statement, the party must update the statement to reflect any change in the information on the statement within 11 days of the filing of any subsequent motion to transfer or remand, order to show cause, or motion to vacate a conditional transfer order or a conditional remand order [Multidistrict Rule 5.3(c)].

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 112.03 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict LitigationCivil ProcedureVenueMultiparty Litigation

97 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.64

2.64 Applying for Extension of Time.

An application to extend the time to file a pleading or perform an act required by the Rules of the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation must [Multidistrict Rule 6.2]:

- Be in writing.
- Request a specific number of additional days.

The Clerk of the Panel will evaluate the application [Multidistrict Rule 6.2]:

- In relation to the impact on the panel's calendar.
- On the basis of the reasons set forth in support of the application.

Only in exceptional circumstances will an extension of time be granted to file a notice of opposition to either a conditional transfer order or a conditional remand order [Multidistrict Rule 6.2; see 2.92].

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 112.03[7] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict LitigationCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsTime LimitationsExtensions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.65

2.65 Hearings.

2.65[1] Scheduling. Whenever an action to transfer cases for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings, or to remand previously transferred cases, is being contemplated, the panel will specify the time, place and subject matter for a hearing and notify counsel of all parties involved [28 USC § 1407(c); Multidistrict Rule 16.1(a)].

2.65[2] Hearing Sessions and Oral Argument. Each party filing a motion or a response to a motion or order of the panel under Multidistrict Rules 7.2, 7.3, 7.4 or 7.6 may file a separate statement with the motion or response setting forth reasons why oral argument should, or should not, be heard [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(b)]. These statements are limited to one page [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(b)].

No transfer or remand determination regarding any action pending in the district court will be made by the panel without a hearing if any party timely opposes the transfer or remand unless the panel determines that either of the following is true [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(c)]:

- The dispositive issues have been authoritatively decided.

- The facts and legal arguments are adequately presented in the briefs and the record, and the decisional process would not be significantly aided by oral argument.

Unless the panel orders to the contrary, all other matters, such as a motion for reconsideration, will be considered and determined on the basis of the papers filed [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(c)].

If oral argument is scheduled, the Clerk of the Panel may require counsel for all parties who wish to make or waive oral argument to file and serve notice to that effect within a stated time in conformity with Multidistrict Rules 5.12 and 5.2 [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(d); see Multidistrict Rules 5.12, 5.2]. Failure to file and serve the notice is deemed a waiver [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(d)]. If oral argument is scheduled but not attended by a party, the matter will not be rescheduled and that party's position will be treated as if submitted on the papers [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(d)].

2.65[3] Appearances for Oral Argument. Except for leave by the panel on a showing of good cause, only parties that have filed a motion or written response to a motion will be allowed to appear and present oral argument [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(e)].

All counsel supporting transfer or remand and all counsel opposing transfer or remand must confer separately before the hearing to organize their arguments and select representatives to present all views without duplication [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(f)].

Unless otherwise ordered by the panel, a maximum of 20 minutes is allotted for oral argument in each matter. The time will be equally divided between the varying view points [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(g)].

Hearings at which oral testimony is presented are discouraged; oral testimony is received only on notice, motion, and order of the panel [Multidistrict Rule 16.1(h)].

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 112.03[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict LitigationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.66

2.66 Governing Substantive Law.

In multidistrict litigation that has been transferred to a central forum for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings, the transferee court must apply the substantive state law of the transferor district including its choice of law rules [see In re Lou Levy & Sons Fashions (2d Cir 1993) 988 F2d 311, 313].

In general, when a transferred claim arises under federal law the transferee court will apply the law of the transferee forum [see In re Korean Air Lines Disaster of Sept. 1, 1983 (DC Cir 1987) 829 F2d 1171, 1176 , aff'd on other grounds sub nom. Chan v. Korean Air Lines, 490 US 122 (1989)].

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 112.07[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict LitigationCivil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsChoice of LawForum & Place

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.67

2.67 Effect of Transfer Order.

A transfer (or remand) order is effective once it is filed with the transferee district court [Multidistrict Rule 1.5].

After transfer, the transferor court is divested of jurisdiction to decide pending matters [see In re Plumbing Fixture Cases (JPML 1968) 298 F Supp 484, 495 ; see also In re Joint E. & S. Dists. Asbestos Litig. (EDNY, SDNY 1993) 152 FRD 15, 17]. The transferee judge may modify, expand, or vacate prior orders issued by the transferor courts and has authority to decide all pretrial motions [see In re Plumbing Fixture Cases (JPML 1968) 298 F Supp 484, 489 ; In re TMJ Implants Prods. Liab. Litig. (D Minn 1995) 872 F Supp 1019, 1024].

Distinguish:

After the filing of a motion to transfer an action before the panel, but before an order issues, the district court in which the action is pending retains its jurisdiction to decide pretrial motions [Multidistrict Rule 1.5]. The district court has the discretion either to stay the action while the motion to transfer is pending or to reach the merits of the motion. For example, in deciding whether to reach the merits of a motion to remand, the court can first consider whether the jurisdictional issue appears factually or legally difficult. If it does, the court can determine whether identical or similar jurisdictional issues have been raised in other cases that have been or may be transferred. If both requirements are satisfied, a stay should issue [see Strong v. Merck & Co. (ND Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 2413, at *6-*9 ; Conroy v. Fresh Del Monte Produce, Inc. (ND Cal 2004) 325 F Supp2d 1049, 1053].

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see §§ 112.04, 112.06 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict Litigation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.68

2.68 Transferring Tag-Along Actions.

A "tag-along action" is a civil action pending in a district court and involving common questions of fact with actions previously transferred under the multidistrict litigation statute [Multidistrict Rule 1.1; see also Multidistrict Rules 7.4, 7.5].

Whether the panel will transfer a tag-along action depends on whether the requirements for transfer under the multidistrict litigation statute are met. Because the panel has already made a determination to transfer actions involving "common questions of fact," it is likely that the panel will transfer the tag-along action [see In re General Motors Class E Stock Buyout Sec. Litig. (JPML 1988) 696 F Supp 1546, 1546-1547 ; In re Stirling Homex Corp. Sec. Litig. (JPML 1977) 442 F Supp 547, 548-550].

Strategic Point:

Parties opposing the transfer of a claimed tag-along action may argue that an action is not suitable for transfer because the case is far along in discovery or that their case raises questions that are sufficiently distinct from those in the transferred actions [see In re Four Seasons Sec. Laws Litig. (JPML 1973) 362 F Supp 574, 575].

Cross References:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 112.03[5] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict Litigation

102 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.69

2.69 Terminating Action.

The transferee judge has the authority to decide all pretrial motions, including motions that may be dispositive of an action [see In re "Agent Orange" Prod. Liab. Litig. (EDNY 1984) 597 F Supp 740, 751-752 , aff'd in part, rev'd in part on other grounds, 818 F2d 145 (2d Cir 1987) , cert. denied, 484 US 1004 (1987)]. Actions terminated in the transferee court are not remanded to the transferor court. In this situation, the clerk of the transferee court notifies the panel of the termination and retains the original files and records unless otherwise directed [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict Litigation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.70

2.70 Remanding Action.

2.70[1] Requesting Remand. The panel will consider remand of each transferred action or any separable claim, crossclaim, counterclaim, or third-party claim at or before the conclusion of coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(c)]:

- On motion of any party.
- At the suggestion of the transferee district court.
- On the panel's own initiative, by either:
- Entry of an order to show cause;
- A conditional remand order; or
- Other appropriate order.

The panel will remand an action before the completion of all pretrial proceedings only on a showing of good cause [In re South Cent. States Bakery Prods. Antitrust Litig. (JPML 1978) 462 F Supp 388, 390 ; see In re Integrated Res., Inc. Real Estate Ltd. P'ship Sec. Litig. (SDNY 1994) 851 F Supp 556, 562].

The panel is ordinarily reluctant to order remand absent a suggestion of remand from the transferee district court [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(d)].

2.70[2] Severing Claims Before Remand. The panel may sever and remand claims, crossclaims, counterclaims or third-party claims in the interest of judicial economy [see, e.g., In re IBM Peripheral EDP Devices Antitrust Litig. (JPML 1976) 407 F Supp 254, 255].

2.70[3] Moving for Remand. If remand is sought by motion of a party, the motion must be accompanied by an affidavit reciting the following [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(d)]:

- Whether the moving party has requested a suggestion of remand from the transferee district court; how the court responded to any request; and if no request was made, why.

- Whether all common discovery and other pretrial proceedings have been completed in the action sought to be remanded, and, if not, what remains to be done.

- Whether all orders of the transferee district court have been satisfactorily complied with, and, if not, what remains to be done.

- A copy of the transferee district court's final pretrial order, if that order has been entered.

2.70[4] Respond to Order to Show Cause Within 20 Days. When an order to show cause why an action or actions should not be remanded is entered, any party may file a response within 20 days of the filing of the order unless otherwise provided for in the order. Any party may file a reply brief limited to new matters within five days of the filing of a party's response to the order to show cause. The failure to respond to an order to show cause is treated as acquiescence to the remand [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(e)].

2.70[5] Authority of Transferor Court After Remand. After remand, the transferor judge has complete control of the action from the point of remand forward. However, the transferor judge is not permitted to modify orders issued by the transferee judge [see In re Food Lion, Inc. (4th Cir 1996) 73 F3d 528, 532-533 ; see also 28 USC § 1407].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict LitigationCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesPretrial Orders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.71

2.71 Transferee Court Cannot Retain Action for Trial.

A transferee court may not hear the trial of a case that has been transferred to it for "coordinated or consolidated" pretrial proceedings by the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation. Specifically, a transferee court lacks authority to entertain a 28 USC § 1404(a) transfer motion to keep the case for trial. Congress would have to amend the statute if it determined that multidistrict litigation cases should be consolidated for trial [Lexecon v. Milberg Weiss Bershad Hynes & Lerach (1998) 523 US 26, 40-41, 118 S Ct 956, 140 L Ed2d 62].

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 112.03[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict Litigation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.72

2.72 Conditional Remand Orders.

2.72[1] Opposing Conditional Remand Orders. When the panel has been advised by the transferee district judge or otherwise that the pretrial proceedings are concluded or that remand is otherwise appropriate, the panel will issue a conditional remand order [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(f)(i)]. A conditional remand order does not become effective until filed with the transferee court [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(f)(iv)].

The Clerk must serve the order on each party, but wait 15 days to file the order with the transferee court to allow each party an opportunity to file a notice of opposition [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(f)(iii)].

If the Clerk receives a notice of opposition within the 15 days, the Clerk will not file the conditional remand order until further order of the panel [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(f)(ii)].

2.72[2] Timing of Opposition. On receipt of a conditional remand order, a party opposing remand must act within the following limits:

- 15 days from the issuance of the order to file a notice of opposition [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(f)(ii)].

- 15 days from the filing of its notice of opposition to file a motion to vacate the conditional remand order and supporting brief [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(f)(iii)].

If the opposing party fails to file a timely motion to vacate, the failure is treated as a withdrawal of the opposition and the Clerk will file the conditional remand order with the transferee district court [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(f)(iii)].

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 112.03[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict LitigationCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime Limitations

106 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VII. ANALYZING MULTIDISTRICT LITIGATION

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.73

2.73 Designating Record After Remand Order.

When the parties receive a remand order from the Clerk, the parties must provide the clerk of the transferee court with the following [Multidistrict Rule 7.6(g)]:

- A designation of the contents of the record to be remanded, composed of those parts of the files and records necessary for all proceedings to be conducted following remand.

- Copies of any pleading or other matter filed to enable the clerk to comply with the order to remand.

Cross Reference:

17 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 112.03[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueFederal Venue TransfersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureVenueMultidistrict Litigation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VIII. ANALYZING ARBITRATION REQUIREMENTS AND ADR OPTIONS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.74

2.74 CHECKLISTS: Analyzing Arbitration Requirements and Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADR) Options.

2.74[1] Initial Considerations.

☐ Determine if parties have entered into a pre-dispute arbitration agreement, either as part of an underlying contract between them or as a separate document.

Discussion:
See § 2.75[2]

☐ If action concerning dispute has been filed in district court, and no pre-dispute arbitration agreement exists, review court annexed ADR options required or available for cases in litigation in the particular district.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 651-658

Discussion:
See § 2.75[1]; Ch. 32, Court Annexed ADR

☐ If parties do not have pre-dispute arbitration agreement, consider contacting opposing party to agree to mediate or arbitrate dispute.

Discussion:
See § 2.75[3]

☐ If parties have pre-dispute arbitration agreement, or are considering agreeing to arbitrate dispute:

○ Determine whether agreement is within scope of Federal Arbitration Act (FAA); and ○ Consider impact of FAA on decision to arbitrate dispute.

Authority:
9 USC §§ 1-16

Discussion:
See § 2.79

☐ If agreement is within scope of FAA:

○ Determine if particular dispute is arbitrable under existing agreement, including potential statutory claims, if any; and ○ Consider whether court involvement may be required to determine arbitrability.

Discussion:
See §§ 2.78, 2.79

2.74[2] Enforcing Arbitration Agreement.

☐ If court action is not pending, and arbitration of dispute pursuant to parties' agreement is desired, make demand for arbitration, in accordance with provisions of agreement.

Discussion:
See §§ 2.77, 2.80[1]

☐ If court action concerning arbitrable dispute is pending, move to stay court action.

Authority:
9 USC § 3

Discussion:
See § 2.80[2]

☐ If court action concerning arbitrable dispute is pending, or opposing party does not comply with demand for arbitration, move to compel arbitration.

Authority:
9 USC § 4

Discussion:
See § 2.80[3]

2.74[3] Attacking Arbitration Agreement.

☐ If opposing party is requesting court to enforce arbitration agreement, consider available contract law defenses, distinguishing between defenses that may be raised against the underlying contract and defenses that affect the arbitration provision itself.

Discussion:
See § 2.81

☐ To avoid arbitration of dispute, oppose enforcement of agreement by court on grounds that:

○ The entire contract between the parties that contains the arbitration agreement is void under state contract law; or

○ The arbitration provision itself is unenforceable under state contract law.

Discussion:
See § 2.81[3]

☐ If arbitration agreement appears enforceable, determine whether argument can be made to court that opposing party waived the right to seek arbitration by showing:

○ Opposing party had knowledge of existing right to compel arbitration;

○ Opposing party engaged in actions inconsistent with that existing right; and ○ Party asserting existence of waiver suffered prejudice because of the waiving party's inconsistent acts.

Authority:
United Computer Sys., Inc. v. AT&T Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 756, 765

Discussion:
See § 2.82

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsFederal Arbitration ActGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VIII. ANALYZING ARBITRATION REQUIREMENTS AND ADR OPTIONS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.75

2.75 Options and Strategy.

2.75[1] Arbitration or Other ADR May Be Required or Available for Cases in Litigation. Federal district courts are required to devise, implement, and administer an alternative dispute resolution (ADR) program to be used in civil actions [28 USC §§ 651-658]. As a result, a civil suit filed in any of the district courts may be subject to referral for some type of ADR process during the course of litigation.

Each district in California has developed its own ADR program, which may include arbitration, early neutral evaluation, mediation, or settlement conferences.

Finding and Investigating ADR Practitioners Using Online Resources:

Many resources are available online for finding and investigating potential arbitrators, mediators, and neutrals. For example, helpful resources at lexis.com include:

- Legal tab> Reference> Biographies> Biographies.
  - Sample Search: To find biographical information about a particular ADR practitioner, try this NAME segment search of the Biographies file: name (First Name/3 Last Name)
- News & Business tab> Combined Sources> News, All (English, Full Text)
  - Sample Search: To find news articles about an ADR practitioner, search the News, All (English, Full Text) file using this format: First Name/3 Last Name

Cross References:

Discussion of court annexed ADR programs in the four California federal districts, see Ch. 32, Court

Annexed ADR.

Detailed discussion of advantages and limitations of various ADR procedures, 3 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 16.53 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.75[2] Arbitration, Instead of Litigation, May Be Required by Existing Pre-Dispute Agreement. Parties may agree, often as part of an underlying contract, to submit any disputes that might arise between them to arbitration instead of litigation [see Wolsey, Ltd. v. Foodmaker, Inc. (9th Cir 1998) 144 F3d 1205, 1208]. An agreement may provide for either binding arbitration, which results in a final decision without court litigation, or nonbinding arbitration, which attempts to resolve the dispute before going to court [see Wolsey, Ltd. v. Foodmaker, Inc. (9th Cir 1998) 144 F3d 1205, 1208].

If the parties to a dispute are also parties to a contract, counsel should review the contract to determine the existence and scope of any arbitration provision, and the arbitral forum to be used, if specified.

2.75[3] Parties May Agree to Mediate or Arbitrate After Dispute Arises. Arbitration is a dispute resolution process designed, at least in theory, to respond to the wishes of the parties more flexibly and expeditiously than the federal courts' uniform rules of procedure allow [Kyocera Corp. v. Prudential-Bache Trade Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 341 F3d 987, 988].

If no pre-dispute arbitration agreement exists between parties, the parties may nonetheless agree to mediate or arbitrate after a dispute has arisen [see General Motors Corp. v. Pamela Equities Corp. (5th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 242, 246].

Strategic Point:

Although seemingly more expeditious and less costly than filing a court action, a post-dispute agreement to engage in ADR, without court involvement, also has the potential for abuse by an opponent seeking delay. Any post-dispute agreement should be carefully drafted to address issues such as the potential running of the statute of limitations. In addition, there can be enforcement problems, without court involvement, if one party backs out.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VIII. ANALYZING ARBITRATION REQUIREMENTS AND ADR OPTIONS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.76

2.76 Judicial Review of Arbitration Decisions Is Limited.

Arbitration is intended to be simpler, speedier, and more flexible than litigation [see Kyocera Corp. v. Prudential-Bache Trade Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 341 F3d 987, 998]. When the parties seek expedited judicial review of an arbitration award under the Federal Arbitration Act [see 2.79], the Act provides the exclusive grounds for vacatur, modification, or correction of the award, regardless of the parties' agreement to the contrary [Hall St. Assocs. v. Mattel, Inc. (2008) 552 US 576, 128 S Ct 1396, 170 L Ed2d 254, 263-265 ; Kyocera Corp. v. Prudential-Bache Trade Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 341 F3d 987, 1000 ; see 9 USC §§ 10, 11 (grounds for modification or vacatur of arbitration award)].

Strategic Points:

Although the Federal Arbitration Act does not permit the parties to expand the scope of review by agreement [Hall St. Assocs. v. Mattel, Inc. (2008) 552 US 576, 128 S. Ct. 1396, 170 L. Ed. 2d 254, 263-265], federal law does not preclude "more searching review based on authority outside the [federal] statute," including state statutory or common law [Hall St. Assocs. v. Mattel, Inc. (2008) 552 US 576, 128 S Ct 1396, 170 L Ed2d 254, 266 ; see, e.g., Comedy Club, Inc. v. Improv West Assocs. (9th Cir 2009) 553 F3d 1277, 1281 (arbitrator's "manifest disregard of the law" remains valid ground for vacatur of arbitration award under Federal Arbitration Act, 9 USC § 10(a)(4)]. It also remains an open question whether the district court can specify the scope of review when it orders arbitration [see Hall St. Assocs. v. Mattel, Inc. (2008) 552 US 576, 128 S Ct 1396, 170 L Ed2d 254, 266-268].

The Federal Arbitration Act alone does not provide a basis for subject matter jurisdiction. A litigant seeking federal court review of an arbitration award must specify in the petition an independent basis for federal jurisdiction [Luong v. Circuit City Stores, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 368 F3d 1109, 1111]. For example, an independent basis is provided when a petition to vacate an arbitration award alleges that the award was rendered in "manifest disregard of federal law" [Luong v. Circuit City Stores, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 368 F3d 1109, 1112 ; see Greenberg v. Bear, Stearns & Co. (2d Cir 2000) 220 F3d 22, 27 , cert. denied, 531 US 1075 (2001)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionJudicial ReviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionValidity of ADR Methods

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VIII. ANALYZING ARBITRATION REQUIREMENTS AND ADR OPTIONS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.77

2.77 Parties May Specify Rules for Conduct of Arbitration.

Commercial arbitration agreements are enforced according to their terms and according to the intentions of the parties [First Options of Chicago, Inc. v. Kaplan (1995) 514 US 938, 947, 115 S Ct 1920, 131 L Ed2d 985]. The parties may specify in the agreement the rules under which the arbitration will be conducted [Volt Info. Scis., Inc. v. Board of Trs. (1989) 489 US 468, 479, 109 S Ct 1248, 103 L Ed2d 488].

Example:

The rules of the American Arbitration Association (AAA) were incorporated into the parties' arbitration agreement. The rules gave the arbitrators broad discretion to allocate fees and expenses among the parties. When one party became unable to pay its pro-rata share of the administrative fees, it was within the arbitrators' discretion, under the rules, to require the other party to advance the administrative fees before allowing the arbitration to proceed [Lifescan, Inc. v. Premier Diabetic Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 363 F3d 1010, 1012].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsFederal Arbitration ActArbitration Agreements

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VIII. ANALYZING ARBITRATION REQUIREMENTS AND ADR OPTIONS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.78

2.78 Determining Whether Dispute Is Arbitrable Under Existing Agreement.

2.78[1] State Contract Law Determines Whether Parties Agreed to Arbitrate. Arbitration is a matter of contract, and a party cannot be required to submit to arbitration any dispute that he or she has not agreed to arbitrate [Steelworkers v. Warrior & Gulf Navigation Co. (1960) 363 US 574, 582, 80 S Ct 1347, 4 L Ed2d 1409].

When determining the existence and validity of an agreement to arbitrate, federal courts apply ordinary state-law principles that govern the formation of contracts [First Options of Chicago, Inc. v. Kaplan (1995) 514 US 938, 944, 115 S Ct 1920, 131 L Ed2d 985].

Consider:

General contract and agency principles (e.g., incorporation by reference, assumption, agency, veil-piercing/alter ego, and estoppel) apply in determining the enforcement of an arbitration agreement by or against nonsignatories [Comer v. Micor, Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 436 F3d 1098, 1101]. The Ninth Circuit has extended the concept of equitable estoppel of third parties in the arbitration context only in two narrowly defined circumstances [see Mundi v. Union Sec. Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2009) 555 F3d 1042, 1046 (credit life insurer that was not signatory to arbitration clause in loan agreement signed by insured borrower and by lender could not compel insured's widow, on equitable estoppel grounds, to arbitrate her claim that insurer had engaged in bad faith action by refusing to pay policy proceeds to lender on insured's death)]. First, a nonsignatory may be held to an arbitration clause when the nonsignatory "knowingly exploits the agreement containing the arbitration clause despite having never signed the agreement" [Comer v. Micor, Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 436 F3d 1098, 1102]. Second, a signatory may be required to arbitrate a claim brought by a nonsignatory "because of the close relationship between the entities involved, as well as the relationship of the alleged wrongs to the nonsignatory's obligations and duties in the contract and the fact that the claims were intertwined with the underlying contractual obligations" [Comer v. Micor, Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 436 F3d 1098, 1102].

Cross Reference:

Formation of enforceable contract under California law, see 13 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 140, Contracts (Matthew Bender).

2.78[2] Court, Not Arbitrator, Decides Arbitrability. The question of arbitrability of a dispute is an issue for judicial determination unless the parties clearly and unmistakably provide otherwise [AT&T Techs., Inc. v. Communications Workers (1986) 475 US 643, 649, 106 S Ct 1415, 89 L Ed2d 648].

When a party seeks to compel an arbitration, the court has two roles [Simula, Inc. v. Autoliv, Inc. (9th Cir 1999) 175 F3d 716, 719-721]:

- To determine whether a valid agreement to arbitrate exists.
- If a valid agreement exists, to decide whether the agreement encompasses the dispute at issue.

Consider:

The precise language of the arbitration provision determines whether the agreement encompasses the dispute at issue.

Examples:

- The phrase "claims arising in connection with this agreement" included any dispute having its genesis in the contract, including claims based on statute or tort [Simula, Inc. v. Autoliv, Inc. (9th Cir 1999) 175 F3d 716, 720-725].
- The phrase "claims arising out of" or "claims arising under" without reference to "claims relating to the agreement" covered only disputes relating to the interpretation and performance of the contract itself [Tracer Research Corp. v. National Envtl. Servs. Co. (9th Cir 1994) 42 F3d 1292, 1295].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of compelling arbitration, see § 2.80[3].

2.78[3] Question of Arbitrability Has Limited Scope. The phrase "question of arbitrability" is applicable only in the kind of narrow circumstance where [Howsam v. Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc. (2002) 537 US 79, 83-84, 123 S Ct 588, 154 L Ed2d 491]:

- Contracting parties would likely have expected a court to have decided the gateway matter;
- The parties are not likely to have thought that they had agreed that an arbitrator would do so; and
- Reference of the gateway dispute to the court avoids the risk of forcing parties to arbitrate a matter that they may well not have agreed to arbitrate.

Questions that do not fit within the narrow class of "arbitrability" questions are to be decided by the arbitrator, not the court [Green Tree Fin. Corp. v. Bazzle (2003) 539 US 444, 123 S Ct 2402, 156 L Ed2d 414, 421-424].

2.78[4] Arbitrator, Not Court, Decides Procedural Questions Regarding Arbitration. Procedural questions that grow out of a dispute and bear on its final disposition are presumptively for the arbitrator to decide [Howsam v. Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc. (2002) 537 US 79, 84, 123 S Ct 588, 154 L Ed2d 491]. Thus, the arbitrator, not the court, should decide issues of whether prerequisites such as time limits, notice, laches, estoppel, and other conditions precedent to an obligation to arbitrate have been met [see Howsam v. Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc. (2002) 537 US 79,

85, 123 S Ct 588, 154 L Ed2d 491].

Examples:

- The question of whether a dispute was time-barred under the National Association of Securities Dealers Code of Arbitration Procedure was presumptively a matter for the arbitrator, not the court, to decide [Howsam v. Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc. (2002) 537 US 79, 84-85, 123 S Ct 588, 154 L Ed2d 491].

- Whether a contract permitted class arbitrations concerned neither validity of the arbitration clause nor its applicability to the underlying dispute. The question was therefore not for the court to decide [Green Tree Fin. Corp. v. Bazzle (2003) 539 US 444, 123 S Ct 2402, 156 L Ed2d 414, 421-424].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsArbitrabilityCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsFederal Arbitration ActArbitration AgreementsContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsArbitration Clauses

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VIII. ANALYZING ARBITRATION REQUIREMENTS AND ADR OPTIONS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.79

2.79 Federal Arbitration Act Provides Mechanism to Move Parties Into Arbitration.

2.79[1] FAA Establishes Policy Favoring Arbitration. The purpose of the Federal Arbitration Act (FAA) [9 USC §§ 1-16] is to encourage arbitration and to move the parties to an arbitrable dispute out of court and into arbitration [Southland Corp. v. Keating (1984) 465 US 1, 7, 104 S Ct 852, 79 L Ed2d 1 ; Moses H. Cone Mem'l Hosp. v. Mercury Constr. Corp. (1983) 460 US 1, 22, 103 S Ct 927, 74 L Ed2d 765]. The FAA manifests a federal policy favoring arbitration [Gilmer v. Interstate/Johnson Lane Corp. (1991) 500 US 20, 24, 111 S Ct 1647, 114 L Ed2d 26 ; see, e.g., 14 Penn Plaza LLC v. Pyett (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1456, 173 L Ed2d 398, 420 (collective-bargaining agreement provision that clearly and unmistakably requires union members to arbitrate claims asserted under Age Discrimination in Employment Act is enforceable as matter of federal law)].

The FAA was enacted to overrule the judiciary's long-standing refusal to enforce agreements to arbitrate and to place such agreements on the same footing as other contracts [Gilmer v. Interstate/Johnson Lane Corp. (1991) 500 US 20, 24, 111 S Ct 1647, 114 L Ed2d 26 ; Volt Info. Scis., Inc. v. Board of Trs. (1989) 489 US 468, 474, 109 S Ct 1248, 103 L Ed2d 488].

2.79[1A] FAA Does Not Necessarily Preempt California Law. The FAA does not preempt state law if the state law arose to govern issues concerning the validity, revocability, and enforceability of contracts generally [see Shroyer v. New Cingular Wireless Servs. (9th Cir 2007) 498 F3d 976, 987 (expressly and conclusively rejecting argument that California law is preempted by FAA)]. However, the FAA preempts state law that specifically applies to arbitration agreements [Perry v. Thomas (1987) 482 US 483, 493, n 9, 107 S Ct 2520 ; 96 L Ed2d 426 ("state-law principle that takes its meaning precisely from the fact that a contract to arbitrate is at issue" is preempted by FAA)].

2.79[2] FAA Applies to Contracts Involving Interstate Commerce. The FAA provides that a written arbitration agreement in a maritime transaction or a contract involving interstate commerce, whether entered into prior to or after a dispute between the parties arises, is valid, irrevocable, and enforceable, except upon such grounds as exist at law or equity for the revocation of any contract [9 USC § 2].

2.79[3] FAA Provides Procedural Rules for Court Proceedings Related to Arbitration. The FAA provides procedural rules for the proceedings in federal court to:

- Stay a pending suit involving an issue referable to arbitration under an arbitration agreement [9 USC § 3].

- Petition for an order compelling arbitration pursuant to an arbitration agreement [9 USC § 4].

- Apply for appointment of an arbitrator [9 USC § 5].

- Apply to confirm, vacate, modify, or correct an arbitration award [9 USC §§ 9, 10, 11].

The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure apply only to the extent that matters of procedure are not provided for under the FAA [Fed R Civ P 81(a)(6)(B)].

2.79[4] Statutory Claims May Be Arbitrable Under FAA.

2.79[4][a] Claims Are Arbitrable in Absence of Contrary Congressional Intent. Arbitration agreements are enforceable under the FAA even where statutory claims are asserted, unless there is a clear Congressional intent to preclude arbitration [Shearson/American Express, Inc. v. McMahon (1987) 482 US 220, 227, 107 S Ct 2332, 96 L Ed2d 185].

2.79[4][b] Various Statutory Claims Held Arbitrable. Claims under various federal statutes have been found arbitrable under the FAA, pursuant to an enforceable arbitration agreement between the parties, including:

- Sherman Act, 15 USC § 1 et seq. [Mitsubishi Motors Corp. v. Soler Chrysler-Plymouth, Inc. (1985) 473 US 614, 640, 105 S Ct 3346, 87 L Ed2d 444].

- Section 10(b) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, 15 USC § 78j(b) [Shearson/American Express, Inc. v. McMahon (1987) 482 US 220, 238, 107 S Ct 2332, 96 L Ed2d 185].

- Section 12(2) of the Securities Act of 1933, 15 USC § 77l(a)(2) [Rodriguez de Quijas v. Shearson/American Express, Inc. (1989) 490 US 477, 485, 109 S Ct 1917, 104 L Ed2d 526].

- Racketeering Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO), 18 USC § 1961 et seq. [Shearson/American Express, Inc. v. McMahon (1987) 482 US 220, 238-239, 107 S Ct 2332, 96 L Ed2d 185].

- Age Discrimination in Employment Act (ADEA), 29 USC § 621 et seq. [14 Penn Plaza LLC v. Pyett (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1456, 173 L Ed2d 398, 420 ; Gilmer v. Interstate/Johnson Lane Corp.(1991) 500 US 20, 26-27, 111 S Ct 1647, 114 L Ed2d 26].

- Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, 42 USC § 2000e et seq. [EEOC v. Luce, Forward, Hamilton & Scripps (9th Cir 2003) 345 F3d 742, 747-753].

- Fair Labor Standards Act, 29 USC § 201 et seq. [Kuehner v. Dickinson & Co. (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 316, 319-320].

- Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA), 29 USC § 1001 et seq. [Fabian Fin. Servs. v. The Kurt H. Volk, Inc. Profit Sharing Plan (CD Cal 1991) 768 F Supp 728, 733-734].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsArbitrabilityCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsFederal Arbitration ActArbitration Agreements

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VIII. ANALYZING ARBITRATION REQUIREMENTS AND ADR OPTIONS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.80

2.80 Enforcing Arbitration Agreement Within Scope of FAA.

2.80[1] Make Demand for Arbitration Pursuant to Agreement. A party seeking to enforce an arbitration agreement should make a demand for arbitration in accordance with the terms of the agreement. The method of making the demand may be stated in the agreement or in the rules of the arbitration service provider specified in the agreement. Any rules specified in the agreement should be reviewed for requirements such as form of the demand, time limitations, and forum fee deposits.

2.80[2] Move to Stay Pending Action, If Any.

2.80[2][a] Court Must Grant Stay If Issue Is Referable to Arbitration. If any suit or proceeding is brought on any issue referable to arbitration under an arbitration agreement, a party may move to stay the trial of the action until an arbitration has been had in accordance with the terms of the agreement [9 USC § 3].

If the court is satisfied that the issue involved in the suit or proceeding is referable to arbitration, the court must stay the pending action, providing the applicant for the stay is not in default in proceeding with the arbitration [9 USC § 3].

2.80[2][b] Order Refusing Stay Is Appealable; Order Granting Stay Is Not. An order refusing to stay the trial of an action until an arbitration has been had in accordance with the terms of the parties' agreement is appealable [9 USC § 16(a)(1)(A)].

Generally, an appeal cannot be taken from an interlocutory order granting the stay of an action to permit an arbitration in accordance with the parties' agreement [9 USC § 16(b)(1); see 28 USC § 1292(b) (circumstances when appeal may be taken from interlocutory orders not otherwise appealable)].

Cross References:

Application of final judgment rule to arbitration orders, see 19 Moore's Federal Practice, § 202.11[7].
Review of interlocutory order concerning arbitration proceedings, see 19 Moore's Federal Practice, § 203.12 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.80[3] Move to Compel Arbitration, If Necessary.

2.80[3][a] Petition Must Be Made to Court That Would Otherwise Have Jurisdiction. If one party to a dispute fails, neglects, or refuses to arbitrate in accordance with a written arbitration agreement, the other party may petition for an order directing that the arbitration proceed in the manner provided for in the agreement [9 USC § 4].

Warning:

The FAA does not create an independent basis for federal subject matter jurisdiction [Southland Corp. v. Keating (1984) 465 US 1, 16, fn. 9, 104 S Ct 852, 79 L Ed2d 1]. The petition must be brought in state court unless the matter is already pending in a federal court having subject matter jurisdiction, or an independent basis for federal jurisdiction, such as diversity of citizenship, exists [Moses H. Cone Mem'l Hosp. v. Mercury Constr. Corp. (1983) 460 US 1, 25, n32, 103 S Ct 927, 74 L Ed2d 765].

A district court, in deciding whether it have subject-matter jurisdiction over a petition to compel arbitration under the FAA [9 USC § 4] may "look through" the petition to the underlying substantive controversy to determine whether the substantive conflict between the parties arises under federal law. However, the court may not look past a state-law complaint over which the court does not have jurisdiction to base jurisdiction on a completely preempted counterclaim [Vaden v. Discover Bank (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1262, 173 L Ed2d 206, 218-219 ("Nor can federal jurisdiction rest upon an actual or anticipated counterclaim.")].

Distinguish:

If a complaint purports to rely on state law but in actuality is governed by law that is exclusively federal, then that complaint will still arise under federal law despite not appearing to do so on its face. This is referred to as the "complete preemption doctrine" [see Vaden v. Discover Bank (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1262, 173 L Ed2d 206, 219].

Example:

Petitioner credit cardholder sought certiorari review of a circuit court decision affirming the district court's grant of respondent bank's petition under 9 USC § 4 to compel arbitration of the cardholder's counterclaims that were raised in the bank's state court action seeking to collect on the cardholder's debt.

The Supreme Court held that a federal court could "look through" a petition to compel arbitration to determine whether it was predicated on a controversy that "arose under" federal law. However, the Court held that, in keeping with the well-pleaded complaint rule, a federal court could not entertain a petition to compel arbitration based on the contents of a counterclaim when the whole controversy between the parties did not qualify for federal-court adjudication. Therefore, the bank's state-law claim on the credit card debt could not be litigated in federal court; and the bank's petition to compel arbitration was dismissed. [Vaden v. Discover Bank (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1262, 173 L Ed2d 206, 218-219].

Cross Reference:

Complete preemption, see § 2.07[2][d].

A petition in federal court must be filed in the district which, if not for the arbitration agreement, would have jurisdiction in a civil action or in admiralty of the subject matter of a suit arising out of the controversy between the parties [9 USC § 4]. Service must be made in the manner provided by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [9 USC § 4]. The opposing party must be given five days' notice in writing of the petition [9 USC § 4].

Cross Reference:

Service of papers under Federal Rules, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, 5.15 -5.23.

2.80[3][b] Court Must Order Arbitration If Agreement Is Not in Issue. If, after the hearing on the petition, the court is satisfied that the making of the arbitration agreement or the failure to comply is not in issue, the court must order the parties to proceed to arbitration in accordance with the agreement [9 USC § 4]. The hearing and proceedings, under the arbitration agreement, must be within the district in which the petition is filed [9 USC § 4].

2.80[3][c] Court Must Determine Arbitrability of Dispute If Agreement Is in Issue. If the making of the arbitration agreement or the failure, neglect, or refusal to perform the agreement is in issue, the court must proceed summarily to the trial of the matter [9 USC § 4].

Except in cases of admiralty, the party in default may demand a jury trial of the issue [9 USC § 4]. If the jury finds that no agreement in writing for arbitration was made or that there is no default as to such agreement, the proceeding must be dismissed [9 USC § 4]. If the jury finds that an agreement in writing for arbitration was made or that there is a default, the court must summarily order the parties to proceed with the arbitration in accordance with the agreement [9 USC § 4].

2.80[3][d] Order Denying Petition Is Appealable; Order Granting Petition Is Not. An order denying a petition to compel arbitration in accordance with the parties' agreement is appealable [9 USC § 16(a)(1)(B)].

Generally, an appeal cannot be taken from an interlocutory order directing an arbitration to proceed in accordance with the parties' agreement [9 USC § 16(b)(2); see 28 USC § 1292(b) (circumstances when appeal may be taken from interlocutory orders not otherwise appealable)].

Example:

An employee filed a state court action for wrongful termination. The employer removed the action to federal court and moved to compel arbitration. Two different arbitration provisions directed arbitration in two different forums. The district court determined that the agreement providing for one forum was not properly executed, but the other arbitration provision was enforceable. The district court therefore ordered arbitration, albeit not in the "first-choice" forum requested by the employer. The order, which denied arbitration in the "first-choice" forum, was not appealable because it compelled arbitration in the alternative forum [Bushley v. Credit Suisse First Boston (9th Cir 2004) 360 F3d 1149, 1153-1154].

Cross References:

Application of final judgment rule to arbitration orders, see 19 Moore's Federal Practice, § 202.11[7].
Review of interlocutory order concerning arbitration proceedings, see 19 Moore's Federal Practice, § 203.12 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsArbitrabilityCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsFederal Arbitration ActArbitration AgreementsCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsFederal Arbitration ActCoverage & Exceptions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VIII. ANALYZING ARBITRATION REQUIREMENTS AND ADR OPTIONS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.81

2.81 Attacking Arbitration Agreement.

2.81[1] Arbitration Agreements Must Be Evaluated Under State Contract Law. The FAA provides that written arbitration agreements are valid, irrevocable, and enforceable, except on such grounds as exist at law or equity for the revocation of any contract [9 USC § 2].

The court must apply ordinary state law principles that govern the formation of contracts to determine the validity of an arbitration agreement [Ingle v. Circuit City Stores, Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1165, 1170]. State law cannot impose requirements on arbitration agreements that are not required for other contracts [see Doctor's Assocs., Inc. v. Casarotto (1996) 517 US 681, 687, 116 S Ct 1652, 134 L Ed2d 902].

2.81[2] Contract Defenses Are Available. An arbitration agreement is evaluated as any other contract, and generally applicable contract defenses, such as fraud, duress, or unconscionability may render the agreement unenforceable [Doctor's Assocs., Inc. v. Casarotto (1996) 517 US 681, 687, 116 S Ct 1652, 134 L Ed2d 902].

Cross References:

Contract defenses under California law, see 13 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 140, Contracts and 17 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 215, Duress, Menace, Fraud, Undue Influence, and Mistake (Matthew Bender).

2.81[3] Court Determines Challenges to Existence or Validity of Arbitration Provisions. When contract defenses are raised that challenge the existence or validity of an arbitration agreement, the court must decide the issue [see 9 USC §§ 2, 4; Nagrampa v. Mailcoups, Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 469 F3d 1257, 1264 (en banc) (validity of franchise agreement's arbitration clause, under California law, was for federal court, and not arbitrator, to resolve)].

Example:

An employee was required to sign an arbitration agreement before the employer would consider her employment application. The court evaluated the validity of the arbitration agreement under California state law principles of procedural and substantive unconscionability. The agreement was adhesive and permeated with oppressive and one-sided provisions with respect to coverage of claims, the statute of limitations, class claims, a filing fee, cost-splitting, remedies, and the employer's unilateral power to terminate or modify the agreement. The court concluded that the agreement was wholly unenforceable [Ingle v. Circuit City Stores, Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 328 F3d 1165, 1180 ; see also Geoffroy v. Washington Mutual Bank (SD Cal 2007) 484 F Supp2d 1115, 1121-1123 (bank's signature card arbitration provision was adhesive agreement that was procedurally and substantively unconscionable)].

If the arbitration agreement is part of an underlying contract, the court determines defenses asserting that:

- The contract between the parties, which includes the arbitration provision, is void [Three Valleys Mun. Water Dist. v. E.F. Hutton (9th Cir 1991) 925 F2d 1136, 1140-1141]; or

Example:
Plaintiffs claimed that a contract containing an arbitration provision was void because the signatory to the contract did not have the authority to bind his principals. The issue was for the court to decide [Three Valleys Mun. Water Dist. v. E.F. Hutton (9th Cir 1991) 925 F2d 1136, 1140-1141].

- A contract exists between the parties, but the arbitration provision itself is unenforceable [Prima Paint Corp. v. Flood & Conklin Mfg. Co. (1967) 388 US 395, 403-404, 87 S Ct 1801, 18 L Ed2d 1270].

Example:
Plaintiff subcontractors claimed that contractor's agreements with them were a fraudulent scheme to avoid making full payment for their work. Plaintiffs claimed that arbitration provisions in the contract were part of the fraud, because they required arbitration in another state. The issue of the enforceability of the arbitration provision was for the court to decide. If the court found that the arbitration provisions were unenforceable because of fraud, the dispute could not be subject to arbitration [Moseley v. Electronic & Missile Facilities, Inc. (1963) 374 US 167, 170-171, 83 S Ct 1815, 10 L Ed2d 818].

2.81[4] Arbitrators Determine Other Challenges to Underlying Contract. When a party seeks to enforce an arbitration agreement, a challenge to the validity of the contract as a whole, and not the arbitration clause, is for the arbitrator to decide, regardless of whether the challenge is brought in state or federal court [Buckeye Check Cashing, Inc. v. Cardegna (2006) 546 US 440, 448, 126 S Ct 1204, 163 L Ed2d 1038 ; Prima Paint Corp. v. Flood & Conklin Mfg. Co. (1967) 388 US 395, 402-404, 87 S Ct 1801, 18 L Ed2d 1270].

This rule also applies when a state statute refers a dispute initially to an administrative forum rather than a court [Preston v. Ferrer (2008) 552 US 346, 128 S Ct 978, 169 L Ed 2d 917, 929].

Example:
A California attorney invoked the arbitration provision in his contract with a judge, who appeared as "Judge Alex" on a television network program. The attorney sought management fees that he was allegedly owed under the contract. The judge responded by filing a petition with the California Labor Commission, alleging that the contract was invalid and unenforceable under the California Talent Agencies Act (TAA) [Cal Lab Code § 1700 et seq.] because Preston had acted as a talent agent without the license required by the TAA. However, the administrative nature of the TAA proceedings did not change the analysis. "When parties agree to arbitrate all questions arising under a contract, the FAA supersedes state laws lodging primary jurisdiction in another forum, whether judicial or administrative" [Preston v. Ferrer (2008) 552 US 346, 128 S Ct 978, 169 L Ed 2d 917, 923].

Thus, courts may not consider challenges to a contract's validity or enforceability as defenses against arbitration [Prima Paint Corp. v. Flood & Conklin Mfg. Co. (1967) 388 US 395, 404, 87 S Ct 1801, 18 L Ed2d 1270]. An arbitration clause may thus be enforced even though the rest of the contract is later held to be invalid [Buckeye Check Cashing, Inc. v. Cardegna (2006) 546 US 440, 448 . 126 S Ct 1204, 163 L Ed2d 1038 ; Republic of Nicaragua v. Standard Fruit Co. (9th Cir 1991) 937 F2d 469, 476].

Example:

A party brought an action in court, seeking to rescind a contract on the ground of fraud in the inducement and to stay an arbitration, brought by the other party, pursuant to an arbitration provision in the contract. Because the fraud claim went only to the underlying contract, and not to the arbitration provision, the rescission issue was for the arbitrators to decide [Prima Paint Corp. v. Flood & Conklin Mfg. Co. (1967) 388 US 395, 402-404, 87 S Ct 1801, 18 L Ed2d 1270].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsArbitrabilityCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsFederal Arbitration ActArbitration AgreementsCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsFederal Arbitration ActCoverage & Exceptions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
VIII. ANALYZING ARBITRATION REQUIREMENTS AND ADR OPTIONS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.82

2.82 Waiving Right to Seek Arbitration.

Either party to an arbitration agreement can waive its right to seek arbitration [Britton v. Co-op Banking Group (9th Cir 1990) 916 F2d 1405, 1412-1413]. Although the waiver may be express or implied, merely engaging in action inconsistent with an arbitration provision does not, in itself, constitute waiver [ATSA of Cal., Inc. v. Continental Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 172, 175].

Example:

Party that filed pleadings and engaged in discovery before seeking arbitration did not waive its right to arbitration when the opposing party was unable to show that it was prejudiced by any of the actions that may have been inconsistent with arbitration [ATSA of Cal., Inc. v. Continental Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 172, 175].

Arbitration rights are subject to constructive waiver only if [United Computer Sys., Inc. v. AT&T Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 756, 765]:

- The waiving party had knowledge of an existing right to compel arbitration;
- The waiving party engaged in actions inconsistent with that existing right; and
- The opposing party suffered prejudice because of the waiving party's inconsistent acts.

Example:

The first two conditions for a waiver of right to arbitration were satisfied when a party filed a state court complaint requesting declaratory judgment with respect to parties' rights and obligations under the arbitration clause and requesting a jury trial and $16 million in damages. Filing of the lawsuit rather than paying an administrative fee to the AAA to commence arbitration was also inconsistent with terms of arbitration clause. However, third condition was not satisfied. Opposing party was unable to show prejudice, despite its claim that it had incurred substantial costs in litigation, because the request for damages and jury trial never got past the pleading stage [United Computer Sys., Inc. v. AT&T Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 756, 765].

Distinguish--Breach of Contract:

Under California contract law, a party who breaches the arbitration agreement by, for example, refusing to participate in a properly initiated arbitration, cannot later enforce the arbitration agreement because of that breach. In response to a motion to compel arbitration, the party who initially sought arbitration but then was forced to litigate need not show that the elements of constructive waiver of the right to arbitrate have been satisfied [see, e.g., Brown v. Dillard's, Inc. (9th Cir 2005) 430 F3d 1004, 1010-1013].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsArbitrabilityCivil ProcedureAlternative Dispute ResolutionArbitrationsWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IX. MOVING TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.83

2.83 CHECKLIST: Moving to Disqualify Judge.

☐ Determine ground(s) for disqualification of judge, if any:

○ Judge has personal bias or prejudice either against the party seeking disqualification or in favor of any adverse party.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 144, 455(b)(1)

Discussion:
See §§ 2.85[1], 2.86[2]

○ Judge's impartiality might reasonably be questioned.

Authority:
28 USC § 455(a)

Discussion:
See § 2.86[1]

○ Judge or lawyer associated with judge's private law practice was involved in the matter under any of the following circumstances:

☐ In private practice, the judge served as a lawyer in the matter in controversy;

☐ A lawyer with whom the judge previously practiced law served, during their association, as a lawyer concerning the matter; or

☐ The judge or such lawyer has been a material witness concerning the matter in controversy.

Authority:
28 USC § 455(b)(2)

Discussion:
See § 2.86[3]

○ Judge, while in government employment and in such capacity:

☐ Participated as counsel, adviser or material witness concerning the proceeding; or ☐ Expressed an opinion concerning the merits of the particular case in controversy.

Authority:
28 USC § 455(b)(3)

Discussion:
See § 2.86[4]

○ Judge, individually or as a fiduciary, or judge's spouse or minor child residing in judge's household:

☐ Has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding; or

☐ Has any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding.

Authority:
28 USC § 455(b)(4)

Discussion:
See § 2.86[5]

○ Judge or judge's spouse, or person within third degree of relationship to either, or spouse of such person:

☐ Is a party to the proceeding, or an officer, director, or trustee of a party [28 USC § 455(b)(5)(i)];

☐ Is acting as a lawyer in the proceeding [28 USC § 455(b)(5)(ii)];

☐ Is known by the judge to have an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding [28 USC § 455(b)(5)(iii)]; or

☐ Is to the judge's knowledge likely to be a material witness in the proceeding [28 USC § 455(b)(5)(iv)].

Authority:
28 USC § 455(b)(5)

Discussion:
See § 2.86[6]

☐ Determine appropriate procedure to raise issue of disqualification:

○ By filing affidavit and motion pursuant to 28 USC § 144 to disqualify district court judge because of bias or prejudice.

Authority:
28 USC § 144

Discussion:
See § 2.84[2][a]

○ By raising issue of disqualification, without or without filing formal motion, for ground(s) specified in 28 USC § 455.

Authority:
28 USC § 455

Discussion:
See § 2.84[2][b]

☐ If moving to disqualify judge because of bias or prejudice pursuant to 28 USC § 144, prepare and file timely motion with:

○ Affidavit stating facts and reasons for disqualification.

○ Certificate of counsel.

Authority:
28 USC § 144

Discussion:
See §§ 2.85[2], [3]

Form:
See § 2.94

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

☐ If seeking recusal of judge pursuant to 28 USC § 455, raise issue of disqualification in timely manner by oral or written suggestion to court, if appropriate under the circumstances.

Authority:
28 USC § 455

Discussion:
See §§ 2.87, 2.88

☐ If seeking recusal of judge pursuant to 28 USC § 455, and formal motion is appropriate under the circumstances, or judge fails to recuse himself or herself after oral or written suggestion, prepare and file motion for disqualification.

Authority:
28 USC § 455

Discussion:
See § 2.87

Form:
See § 2.94

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsFederal JudgesCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsAppearance of PartialityCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsRule of NecessityCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IX. MOVING TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.84

2.84 Options and Strategy.

2.84[1] No Peremptory Challenges. Under California law, a state court judge may be disqualified either for cause [CCP § 170.1] or by peremptory challenge [CCP § 170.6]. In federal court, a judge may be disqualified only for cause, under either 28 USC § 144 or 455.

Judge's Perspective:

Disqualification of a judge in federal court is not a common event. There obviously can be risks if the disqualification is not handled in a courteous way and with good cause. Unlike in state court, disqualification is not viewed as a common occurrence by federal judges, and so it needs to be well thought out and done with diplomacy.

Investigating Judges Using Online Resources.

Many resources are available online for investigating judges. These resources can help you find information and cases pertaining to your assigned judge. For example, helpful resources at lexis.com include:

- Legal tab> Reference> Law> Judicial Staff Directory.
  - Sample Search: For biographical information on a judge currently sitting on a federal bench, use a NAME segment search: name (First Name/3 Last Name).
- Legal tab> Reference> Biographies> Biographies.
  - Sample Search: For biographical information on a particular judge, use a NAME segment search: name (First Name/3 Last Name).

- Legal tab> Federal Legal--U.S.> Federal Courts By Circuit> Federal Cases by Circuit> 9th Circuit--US Court of Appeals Cases & Bankruptcy Appellate Panel.

  - Sample Search: For appellate decisions on a judge's rulings in a particular procedural setting or on a particular substantive topic, use the HISTORY segment with the judge's last name in this format plus words for finding the specific topic, for example: summary judgment and history (First Name/3 Last Name/3 j or judge or hon!).

- News & Business tab> Combined Sources> News, All (English, Full Text).

  - Sample Search: For news articles on a particular judge, try a simple search: First Name/3 Last Name.

2.84[1A] Disqualification Is Possible Under Due Process Clause. The Due Process Clause incorporates the common law rule that a judge must recuse himself or herself when the judge has a direct, personal, substantial pecuniary interest in a case [Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co. (2009) ___ U.S. ___, 129 S Ct 2252, 173 L Ed2d 1208, 1217]. The common-law rule, however, did not require disqualification for personal bias or prejudice; those matters were left to statutes or codes of judicial conduct [Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co. (2009) ___ U.S. ___ 129 S Ct 2252, 173 L Ed2d 1208, 1217].

Example:
Disqualification for personal bias or prejudice under 28 USC § 455(b)(1), see § 2.86[2].

However, the Supreme Court has identified additional circumstances that, as an objective matter, require recusal under the Due Process Clause:

- When a judge has an indirect financial interest in a case [Tumey v. Ohio (1927) 273 US 510, 523, 47 S Ct 437, 71 L Ed 749 ; see, e.g., Ward v. Monroeville (1972) 409 US 57, 60, 93 S Ct 80, 34 L Ed2d 267].

- In the context of criminal contempt proceedings [In re Murchison (1955) 349 US 133, 137, 75 S Ct 623, 99 L Ed 942].

- When a person with a personal stake in a particular case has a significant and disproportionate influence, while the case is pending, in the election of the judge to the court that would decide the case [Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co. (2009) 129 S Ct 2252, 173 L Ed2d 1208, 1223-1224].

Absent a finding of actual bias, the court's inquiry is objective. The court asks not whether the judge is actually, subjectively biased, but whether the average judge in his or her position is "likely" to be neutral, or whether there is an unconstitutional "potential for bias" [Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co. (2009) ___ U.S. ___ 129 S Ct 2252, 173 L Ed2d 1208, 1221].

2.84[2] Disqualification Is Possible Under Two Statutory Provisions.

2.84[2][a] 28 USC § 144 Provides Procedure for Disqualification of District Court Judge or Magistrate Judge for Bias or Prejudice. 28 USC § 144 provides that a party may move for disqualification of a judge on the ground of personal bias or prejudice [28 USC § 144]. The statute applies only to district court judges and magistrate judges and provides only one ground for disqualification [28 USC § 144].

Cross References:

Discussion of grounds for disqualification common to both statutes and determination of which statute to use, see 2.84[3]. Discussion of procedure for disqualification under 28 USC § 144, see 2.85. Discussion of use of broader recusal statute to disqualify judge, see §§ 2.84[2][b], 2.86 -2.90.

2.84[2][b] 28 USC § 455 Contains Recusal Provisions Applicable to All Federal Judges, Magistrate Judges, and Justices. 28 USC § 455 is a recusal statute that applies to any justice, judge, or magistrate judge of the United States in any proceeding [28 USC § 455(a)].

For purposes of 28 USC § 455, "proceeding" includes pretrial, trial, appellate review, or other stages of litigation [28 USC § 455(d)(1)].

Although 28 USC § 455 specifies numerous circumstances when recusal is required, it does not contain a procedure for enforcement of its provisions. The statute is deemed to be self-enforcing on the part of the judge [United States v. Sibla (9th Cir 1980) 624 F2d 864, 867-868].

Nevertheless, if a judge does not recuse himself as required by 28 USC § 455, a party may move for disqualification on the grounds specified in that statute [In re Bernard (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 842, 843].

Cross References:

Discussion of grounds for disqualification common to both statutes and determination of which statute to use, see 2.84[3]. Discussion of grounds for recusal under 28 USC § 455, see 2.86. Discussion of moving for disqualification pursuant to 28 USC § 455, see § 2.87.

2.84[3] Determining Which Statute to Use When Grounds Exist Under Both. Both 28 USC §§ 144 and 455 provide for disqualification or recusal of a district court judge on the grounds of personal bias or prejudice [see 28 USC §§ 144, 455(b)(1)]. The test for disqualification based on personal bias or prejudice is the same under both statutes [United States v. Conforte (9th Cir 1980) 624 F2d 869, 880]. The party seeking disqualification must do so in a timely manner under either statute [Molina v. Rison (9th Cir 1989) 886 F2d 1124, 1131 ; see 2.85[2][a], 2.88].

Proceeding under 28 USC § 455 may give the party seeking disqualification the opportunity to raise the issue without a formal motion. If, under the circumstances of the case, there is a possibility that the judge would recuse himself or herself, the party seeking disqualification may raise the issue of bias or prejudice informally by an oral or written suggestion without filing a formal motion. The party may then move for disqualification if the judge fails to recuse himself or herself [In re Bernard (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 842, 843].

However, a motion to disqualify a judge pursuant to 28 USC § 455 may be heard by the challenged judge, unless a local rule provides for assignment of the motion to another judge for hearing [In re Bernard (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 842, 843]. If a motion is necessary, the party seeking disqualification should consider filing a motion for disqualification under 28 USC § 144, if possible, because the statute requires that the motion be heard by a judge other than the judge being challenged [28 USC § 144]. Raising the issue of disqualification pursuant to 28 USC § 144 requires filing a motion and affidavit [28 USC § 144].

The party seeking disqualification should also consider whether any of the grounds specified under 28 USC § 455(b)(2)-(5) exist, in addition to the alleged personal bias or prejudice. A motion for disqualification on the grounds of personal bias or prejudice must be supported by specific facts and reasons for the belief that such bias or prejudice exists [Berger v. United States (1921) 255 US 22, 33-34, 41 S Ct 230, 65 L Ed 481 ; Grimes v. United States (9th Cir 1968) 396 F2d 331, 333].

If grounds for recusal exist as specified in 28 USC § 455(b)(2)-(5), because the judge or a relative of the judge has some financial or other interest, or involvement or prior involvement in the matter, disqualification is mandatory, even without any evidence of actual bias [see Mangini v. United States (9th Cir 2003) 314 F3d 1158, 1161].

Cross References:

Discussion of procedure for disqualification under 28 USC § 144, see § 2.85. Discussion of use of 28 USC § 455 to disqualify judge, see §§ 2.84[2][b], 2.86 -2.90.

12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 63, Inability of a Judge to Proceed (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsFederal JudgesCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsAppearance of PartialityCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsFinancial InterestsCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsPersonal BiasCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IX. MOVING TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.85

2.85 Procedure to Disqualify Judge Under 28 USC § 144.

2.85[1] Party May Move to Disqualify Judge Because of Bias or Prejudice. A party to any proceeding in district court may move to disqualify the judge before whom the proceeding is pending on the ground that the judge has a personal bias or prejudice either against the moving party or in favor of any adverse party [28 USC § 144].

The test for disqualification based on personal bias or prejudice is the same under both 28 USC §§ 144 and 455(b)(1) [United States v. Conforte (9th Cir 1980) 624 F2d 869, 880].

To constitute grounds for disqualification, the personal bias or prejudice generally must stem from an extrajudicial source [Liteky v. United States (1994) 510 US 540, 544-545, 114 S Ct 1147, 127 L Ed2d 474 ; *Pesnell v. Arsenault (9th Cir 2008) 2008 US App LEXIS 19552, at *12-13 (no abuse of discretion in denying plaintiff's recusal motion when he did not argue that presiding judge should be disqualified based on Liteky standard of "bias developed outside a judicial proceeding")]. Adverse judicial rulings alone do not constitute a valid basis for disqualification based on alleged bias or prejudice [Liteky v. United States (1994) 510 US 540, 556, 114 S Ct 1147, 127 L Ed2d 474].

Cross References:

Discussion of 28 USC § 455(b)(1), see 2.86[2].

Nature and scope of impartiality requirement, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, § 63.20. "Extrajudicial source" factor, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, § 63.21 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.85[2] Motion Must Be Supported by Affidavit.

2.85[2][a] Affidavit Must Be Timely and Sufficient. A party asserting bias of a district judge under 28 USC § 144 must file an affidavit raising the issue, accompanied by a certificate of counsel stating that the affidavit is made in good faith. The affidavit must be "timely" [28 USC § 144; Molina v. Rison (9th Cir 1989) 886 F2d 1124, 1131].

Although 28 USC § 144 provides that the affidavit must be filed not less than 10 days before the beginning of the term at which the proceeding is to be heard, that specific requirement has no effect because terms of court have been abolished [see 28 USC § 138].

Timing:

There is no specific "timely" period to be satisfied under 28 USC § 144 [Tenants & Owners in Opposition to Redevelopment (ND Cal 1972) 338 F Supp 29, 32]. Nevertheless, a motion for disqualification should be filed with reasonable promptness after the ground for the motion is ascertained [Preston v. United States (9th Cir 1991) 923 F2d 731, 733].

Example--Timely Filing:

While reading some documents filed in connection with a pending motion, a judge realized that a company in which he owned stock, although not a party to the lawsuit, would be affected by the outcome of the litigation. The court then gave each of the parties an opportunity to file an affidavit to disqualify the judge under 28 USC § 144. The case had been pending for over six months. Under the circumstances, the plaintiff's affidavit was timely filed [California v. Kleppe (CD Cal 1977) 431 F Supp 1344, 1348].

Example--Untimely Filing:

A pro se plaintiff moved to disqualify the presiding judge 16 months after the alleged grounds for disqualification arose to avoid dismissal of his case on the merits. The motion to disqualify was not timely [Wood v. McEwen (9th Cir 1981) 644 F2d 797, 802].

2.85[2][b] Affidavit Must State Facts and Reasons for Disqualification. The affidavit must state the facts and reasons for the belief that the bias or prejudice exists [28 USC § 144]. The affidavit must be definite as to time, place, and incidents [Berger v. United States (1921) 255 US 22, 33-34, 41 S Ct 230, 65 L Ed 481 ; Grimes v. United States (9th Cir 1968) 396 F2d 331, 333].

Example:

On appeal, the defendant in a class action for securities fraud argued that the district judge should have disqualified himself because he had voluntarily withdrawn from a partially related criminal trial, allegedly on the ground that he had already held the defendant in contempt in a related civil proceeding. The fact of the prior contempt ruling had long been known to the defendant, and he had failed to file an affidavit under 28 USC § 144 in the district court specifying the facts showing bias or prejudice. Without an affidavit containing specific allegations, neither the prior adverse rulings of the judge nor his participation in a related or prior proceeding was sufficient to require disqualification [Davis v. Fendler (9th Cir 1981) 650 F2d 1154, 1163].

2.85[2][c] Each Party May File Only One Affidavit in Any Case. A party may file only one affidavit in any case [28 USC § 144].

2.85[3] Affidavit Must Be Accompanied by Certificate of Counsel. The affidavit must be accompanied by a certificate of counsel of record stating that it is made in good faith [28 USC § 144].

2.85[4] Initial Determination of Sufficiency of Affidavit.

2.85[4][a] Challenged Judge May Make Initial Determination of Sufficiency. The challenged judge may only review the affidavit to determine if it is legally sufficient, that is, timely filed and stating facts and reasons indicating bias or prejudice [United States v. Montecalvo (9th Cir 1976) 545 F2d 684, 685]. The judge against whom the affidavit is filed cannot determine the truth or falsity of the facts stated in the affidavit [United States v. Montecalvo (9th Cir 1976) 545 F2d 684, 685].

2.85[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Disqualification of Magistrate Judge. In the Central

District of California, a motion to disqualify a magistrate judge pursuant to 28 USC § 144 or 455 must be made to the assigned district judge. If no district judge has been assigned, the matter must be handled by the appropriate duty district judge. A copy of the motion must be submitted to the assigned magistrate judge. The magistrate judge cannot proceed with the matter until the motion has been determined. If the district judge denies the motion, the case must proceed as originally assigned. If the district judge grants the motion, the case must be returned to the clerk for assignment to a different magistrate judge [CD Cal Civ LR 72-5].

2.85[5] Procedure After Initial Determination of Sufficiency.

2.85[5][a] Motion Must Be Assigned to Another Judge for Hearing. A judge other than the challenged judged must be assigned to hear the motion for disqualification [28 USC § 144].

2.85[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Random Assignment of Disqualification Motion. In the Central District of California, whenever a motion is made to disqualify a judge in any civil case, the motion is transferred to the clerk for random assignment to another judge. If the motion is granted, the case is returned to the clerk for random assignment in the same manner as the original case assignment [CD Cal Gen Order 224, 4.0].

2.85[5][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Reference of Disqualification Request to Another Judge. In the Northern District of California, whenever an affidavit of bias or prejudice directed at a judge of the court is filed pursuant to 28 USC § 144, and the judge has determined not to recuse himself or herself and found that the affidavit is neither legally insufficient nor interposed for delay, the judge must refer the request for disqualification to the clerk for random assignment to another judge [ND Cal Civ LR 3-15].

2.85[6] Effect of Insufficiency of Affidavit. If the challenged judge determines that the affidavit is insufficient, the motion for disqualification is denied. The matter remains pending before the challenged judge, but the party seeking disqualification can seek immediate appellate review by a filing a petition for a writ of mandamus [see In re Cement Antitrust Litig. (9th Cir 1982) 673 F2d 1020, 1025].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsFederal JudgesCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsAppearance of PartialityCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsFinancial InterestsCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsPersonal BiasCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IX. MOVING TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.86

2.86 Circumstances When Recusal Is Required Under 28 USC § 455.

2.86[1] Judge's Impartiality Might Reasonably Be Questioned. A judge must disqualify himself or herself in any proceeding in which his or her impartiality might reasonably be questioned [28 USC § 455(a); see Focus Media, Inc. v. NBC (9th Cir 2004) 378 F3d 916, 929]. For purposes of 28 USC § 455, "proceeding" includes pretrial, trial, appellate review, or other stages of litigation [28 USC § 455(d)(1)].

The purpose of this requirement is to avoid even the appearance of partiality [Liljeberg v. Health Servs. Acquisition Corp. (1988) 486 US 847, 860, 108 S Ct 2194, 100 L Ed2d 855]. Recusal is required even when a judge lacks actual knowledge of the facts indicating his or her interest or bias in the case if a reasonable person, knowing all the circumstances, would expect that the judge would have actual knowledge [Liljeberg v. Health Servs. Acquisition Corp. (1988) 486 US 847, 860-861, 108 S Ct 2194, 100 L Ed2d 855]. An objective test is employed. The question is whether a reasonable person with knowledge of all the facts would perceive a significant risk that the judge will resolve the case on a basis other than the merits [Clemens v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 2005) 428 F3d 1175, 1178], with the reasonable person being a "well-informed, thoughtful observer," as opposed to a "hypersensitive or unduly suspicious person" [Clemens v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 2005) 428 F3d 1175, 1178 , citing In re Mason (7th Cir 1990) 916 F2d 384, 386]. Matters not ordinarily sufficient to require recusal under 28 USC § 455(a) include [Clemens v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 2005) 428 F3d 1175, 1178-1179 ; see Nichols v. Alley (10th Cir 1995) 71 F3d 347, 351]:

- Rumor, speculation, beliefs, conclusions, innuendo, suspicion, opinion, and similar non-factual matters.
- Previous expression of an opinion on a point of law.
- Prior adverse rulings in the proceeding.
- Familiarity with a party or the proceeding.

- Baseless personal attacks on or suits against the judge by a party.

- Media reports such as quotes attributed to the judge or others which purport to be factual but are in fact false or materially inaccurate or misleading.

- Threats or other attempts to intimidate the judge.

Cross Reference:

Nature and scope of impartiality requirement, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, § 63.20 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.86[2] Judge Has Personal Bias or Prejudice. A judge must disqualify himself or herself if he or she has a personal bias or prejudice concerning a party, or personal knowledge of disputed evidentiary facts concerning the proceeding [28 USC § 455(b)(1)].

The "personal bias or prejudice" test for disqualification is the same under both 28 USC §§ 144 and 455(b)(1) [United States v. Conforte (9th Cir 1980) 624 F2d 869, 880].

To constitute grounds for disqualification, the personal bias or prejudice generally must stem from an extrajudicial source, not from conduct or rulings made during the course of the proceeding [Liteky v. United States (1994) 510 US 540, 544-545, 114 S Ct 1147, 127 L Ed2d 474 ; Focus Media, Inc. v. NBC (9th Cir 2004) 378 F3d 916, 930].

Example:

Plaintiffs alleged that at the pretrial conference the judge stated that he had seen better cases before and that the case did not impress him. The judge also chided plaintiffs' counsel and threatened him with contempt for pursuing a line of questioning that counsel had been told not to pursue. In response to the plaintiffs' motion for judgment n.o.v., the judge said he was not overly impressed with the plaintiffs' case on liability. Although the appellate court characterized the judge's conduct as "heavy-handed" and "regrettable," it did not constitute prejudicial misconduct or grounds for recusal [Pau v. Yosemite Park & Curry Co. (9th Cir 1991) 928 F2d 880, 885].

Partiality that develops during the course of the proceedings can be the basis of recusal only when the judge displays a deep-seated favoritism for or antagonism against a party that would render fair judgment impossible [Bayliss v. Barnhart (9th Cir 2005) 427 F3d 1211, 1215-1216 ; F.J. Hanshaw Enters. v. Emerald River Dev., Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 244 F3d 1128, 1145]. Clashes between the court and counsel do not, in themselves, constitute a basis for disqualification [Bayliss v. Barnhart (9th Cir 2005) 427 F3d 1211, 1215-1216 (ALJ's statements attributing misconduct to plaintiff's counsel were not so extreme as to show ALJ could not render fair judgment); Focus Media, Inc. v. NBC (9th Cir 2004) 378 F3d 916, 931 ; In re Spirtos (Bankr CD Cal 2003) 298 BR 425, 431].

Cross Reference:

"Extrajudicial source" factor, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, § 63.21 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.86[3] Judge or Lawyer Associated With Judge's Private Law PracticeServed As Lawyer or Witness in Controversy. A judge must disqualify himself or herself if [28 USC § 455(b)(2)]:

- In private practice, the judge served as a lawyer in the matter in controversy;

- A lawyer with whom the judge previously practiced law served, during their association, as a lawyer concerning the matter; or

- The judge or such lawyer has been a material witness concerning the matter in controversy.

Cross Reference:

Prior involvement with matter in controversy as basis for disqualification, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, § 63.30 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.86[4] Judge Participated in Matter While in Government Employment. A judge must disqualify himself or herself if he or she served in governmental employment and in such capacity [28 USC § 455(b)(3)]:

- Participated as counsel, adviser, or material witness concerning the proceeding; or

- Expressed an opinion concerning the merits of the particular case in controversy.

Cross Reference:

Prior involvement with matter in controversy while serving in governmental employment as basis for disqualification, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, § 63.30[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.86[5] Judge, Spouse, or Minor Child Has Financial or Other Interest in Matter.

2.86[5][a] Disqualification Is Required for Interest As Either Individual or Fiduciary. A judge must disqualify himself or herself if the judge, individually or as a fiduciary, or the judge's spouse or minor child residing in the judge's household [28 USC § 455(b)(4)]:

- Has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding; or

- Has any other interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding.

"Fiduciary" includes such relationships as executor, administrator, trustee, and guardian [28 USC § 455(d)(3)].

Consider:

To assist the district judge in determining the existence of any disqualifying financial interest, Fed R Civ P 7.1 requires corporate parties to make certain disclosures. Any nongovernmental corporate party to an action or proceeding in a district court must file two copies of a statement that either (1) identifies any parent corporation and any publicly held corporation that owns 10 percent or more of the party's stock, or (2) states that there is no such corporation. The two copies of the disclosure statement must be filed with the party's first appearance, pleading, petition, motion, response, or other request addressed to the court. In addition, the party must promptly file a supplemental disclosure statement whenever there is any change in the required information [Fed R Civ P 7.1].

2.86[5][b] "Financial Interest" Means Legal or Equitable Interest. "Financial interest" means ownership of a legal or equitable interest, however small, or a relationship as director, adviser, or other active participant in the affairs of a party [28 USC § 455(d)(4)].

Exceptions:

- Ownership in a mutual or common investment fund that holds securities is not a "financial interest" in such securities unless the judge participates in the management of the fund [28 USC § 455(d)(4)(i)].

- An office in an educational, religious, charitable, fraternal, or civic organization is not a "financial interest" in securities held by the organization [28 USC § 455(d)(4)(ii)].

- The proprietary interest of a policyholder in a mutual insurance company, of a depositor in a mutual savings association, or a similar proprietary interest, is a "financial interest" in the organization only if the outcome of the proceeding could substantially affect the value of the interest [28 USC § 455(d)(4)(iii)].

- Ownership of government securities is a "financial interest" in the issuer only if the outcome of the proceeding could substantially affect the value of the securities [28 USC § 455(d)(4)(iv)].

Cross Reference:

Financial interest defined, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, § 63.31[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2.86[5][c] Judge Has Responsibility to Inform Self of Financial Interests. A judge must inform himself or herself about his or her personal and fiduciary financial interest, and must make a reasonable effort to inform himself or herself about the personal financial interests of his or her spouse and minor children residing in his or her household [28 USC § 455(c)].

2.86[6] Judge or Judge's Relative Has Involvement in Proceeding. A judge must disqualify himself or herself if the judge or judge's spouse, or a person within the third degree of relationship to either of them, or the spouse of such a person:

- Is a party to the proceeding, or an officer, director, or trustee of a party [28 USC § 455(b)(5)(i)];

- Is acting as a lawyer in the proceeding [28 USC § 455(b)(5)(ii)];

- Is known by the judge to have an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding [28 USC § 455(b)(5)(iii)]; or

- Is to the judge's knowledge likely to be a material witness in the proceeding [28 USC § 455(b)(5)(iv)].

Exception:

The "rule of necessity" is an exception to the requirement of disqualification under 28 USC § 455(b)(5)(i). Under the rule of necessity, a judge is not disqualified to try a case because of a personal interest in the matter at issue if the case cannot be heard otherwise [United States v. Will (1980) 449 US 200, 213, 101 S Ct 471, 66 L Ed 2d 392; Ignacio v. Judges of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit (9th Cir 2006) 453 F3d 1160, 1163-1165 (rule of necessity applied when plaintiff indiscriminately sued all judges of Ninth Circuit)].

The degree of relationship is calculated according to the civil law system [28 USC § 455(d)(2)].

If the judge or judge's relative has such involvement in the proceeding, disqualification is required, even absent any evidence of actual bias [Mangini v. United States (9th Cir 2003) 314 F3d 1158, 1161].

Example:

Disqualification of a judge was mandatory when the judge's brother-in-law was a lawyer with the law firm representing a party, and the brother-in-law had communicated on behalf of the firm with an expert witness in the case. The brother-in-law was the spouse of the judge's sister, a person within the third degree of relationship to the judge, and his involvement in the case constituted professional work, not mere clerical tasks [Mangini v. United States (9th Cir 2003) 314 F3d 1158, 1161].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsFederal JudgesCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsAppearance of PartialityCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsFinancial InterestsCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsPersonal BiasCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IX. MOVING TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.87

2.87 If Judge Does Not Recuse Self, Party May Move for Disqualification.

Although the statute does not specify a procedure for disqualification, a party may move for disqualification pursuant to 28 USC § 455 if a judge fails to recuse himself or herself [In re Bernard (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 842, 843].

Strategic Point--Moving Party:

A motion to disqualify a judge pursuant to 28 USC § 455 may be heard by the challenged judge, unless a local rule provides for assignment of the motion to another judge for hearing [In re Bernard (9th Cir 1994) 31 F3d 842, 843]. If a motion is necessary, the party seeking disqualification should consider filing a motion for disqualification under 28 USC § 144, if possible, because the statute requires that the motion be heard by a judge other than the judge being challenged [28 USC § 144].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of motion pursuant to 28 USC § 144, see § 2.85.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsFederal JudgesCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsAppearance of PartialityCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsFinancial InterestsCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsPersonal BiasCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IX. MOVING TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.88

2.88 Disqualification Under 28 USC § 455 Must Be Sought in Timely Manner.

There is no "per se" rule as to what constitutes a timely motion under 28 USC § 455 [Preston v. United States (9th Cir 1991) 923 F2d 731, 733]. However, the party seeking recusal must file a motion with reasonable promptness after the ground for the motion is ascertained [Preston v. United States (9th Cir 1991) 923 F2d 731, 733].

Example:

The plaintiffs filed a motion for recusal 18 months after the case was transferred to the judge. Plaintiffs did not claim actual bias. Plaintiffs based the motion on 28 USC §§ 455(a) and (b)(2), alleging that before being appointed to the bench, the judge had been "of counsel" to a law firm which represented an entity that would be affected by the outcome of the case. Plaintiffs also alleged that they did not learn of the association until 10 days before the motion was filed. Under the circumstances, the motion was timely [Preston v. United States (9th Cir 1991) 923 F2d 731, 733-734].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsAppearance of PartialityCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsFinancial InterestsCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsPersonal BiasCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IX. MOVING TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.89

2.89 Grounds for Disqualification Generally Cannot Be Waived.

No judge may accept from the parties to the proceeding a waiver of any ground for disqualification enumerated under 28 USC § 455(b) [28 USC § 455(e)]. When the ground for disqualification arises only under 28 USC § 455(a), waiver may be accepted, if it is preceded by a full disclosure on the record of the basis for disqualification [28 USC § 455(e)].

Cross References:

Discussion of grounds for disqualification under 28 USC § 455(b), see 2.86[2] -[6]. Discussion of ground for disqualification under 28 USC § 455(a), see § 2.86[1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsAppearance of PartialityCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsFinancial InterestsCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsPersonal BiasCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsWaivers

123 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
IX. MOVING TO DISQUALIFY JUDGE

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.90

2.90 Circumstances Under Which Judge May Divest Self of Interest to Avoid Disqualification.

If a judge to whom a matter has been assigned would be disqualified, after substantial judicial time has been devoted to the matter, because of the appearance or discovery, after the matter was assigned to him or her, that he or she individually or as a fiduciary, or his or her spouse or minor child residing in his or her household, has a financial interest in a party (other than an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome), disqualification is not required if the judge, spouse or minor child, as the case may be, divests himself or herself of the interest that the provides the grounds for disqualification [28 USC § 455(f)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsAppearance of PartialityCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsFinancial InterestsCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsPersonal BiasCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
X. FORMS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.91

2.91 Notice of Motion and Motion to Transfer Venue for Convenience.

[attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____
[attorney's street address]
_____
[city, state, and zip code]
_____
[phone number]
_____
[fax number]
_____
[attorney's e-mail address]
_____
Attorney for [party's status and name]
_____

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

[name] _____ _____ _____	)))))	Civil Action No. _____ _____ NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO

___,	)	TRANSFER VENUE FOR CONVENIENCE
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	Date of Hearing:
[name]	)	_____
_____		_____
_____		Time of Hearing:
_____		_____
___,		_____
Defendant		Courtroom No.
		_____
		_____

_____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on [date] _____ at [time of day] _____, or as soon thereafter as counsel may be heard, [party's status and name] _____ will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at [address of court] _____, Courtroom [courtroom number] _____, for an order:

(1) Pursuant to 28 USC § 1404(a), transferring this action to the United States District Court for the _____ [name of district, if any, e.g., Central] District of _____ [state in which district located, e.g., California] on the grounds that the transfer will be in the interest of justice, and this alternative venue will be more convenient for the witnesses and parties to this action; and

(2) Granting DEFENDANT, _____ [party, e.g., Mary Jones] any and all other incidental relief as may be appropriate.

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of [name] _____, [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.

Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

[signature of attorney] _____

[typed or printed name of attorney] _____

[firm name, if applicable] _____

Attorney for [party's status and name] _____

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1404

Timing:
See § 2.57[4]

Discussion:
See § 2.57

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.92

2.92 Order Granting Motion for Transfer of Venue.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

[name] _____ _____ _____ ___, Plaintiff vs. [name] _____ _____ _____ ___, Defendant _____	))))))) 	Civil Action No. _____ _____ ORDER GRANTING MOTION FOR TRANSFER OF VENUE

In consideration of the motion of DEFENDANT,

_____ [party, e.g., Mary Jones] seeking transfer of this action to the United States District Court for the [name of district, if any] _____ District of [state in which district located] _____, the court has considered the motion and any response, the arguments of counsel in those papers [optional: and at oral argument], and all pleadings and other papers on file in this action, and has concluded that transfer of this action to that venue would be in the interest of justice and for the convenience of the parties and witnesses. Therefore,

IT IS ORDERED that the motion of DEFENDANT, _____ [party, e.g., Mary Jones] to transfer this action to the United States District Court for the [name of district, if any] _____ District of [state in which district located] _____ is GRANTED.

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that this action be removed from the docket of this Court and transferred to the United States District Court for the [name of district, if any] _____ District of [state in which district located] _____ for any and all further proceedings.

[date] _____

[signature of District Judge] _____

[typed or printed name of District Judge] _____

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1404

Discussion:
See § 2.57

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
X. FORMS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.93

2.93 Motion for Multidistrict Litigation Treatment.

Notice of Motion and Motion for Multidistrict Litigation Treatment.

Before the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation:

_____

	)
	)	MDL Docket No.
In re	)	_____
_____	)	_____
_____	)
_____
___
_____

[Insert descriptive title of case]

[Party designation and name of moving party] _____ in the civil action entitled [caption of action in district court] _____ pending in the United States District Court for the [name of district, if any] _____ District of [state in which district located] _____, requests that the action, along with the other civil actions listed in the accompanying schedule, be accorded multidistrict litigation treatment. In support of this motion, the movant states:

1. _____ [Allege, in separately numbered paragraphs (Multidistrict Rule 7.1(a)), the factual allegations justifying multidistrict litigation treatment of the cases to be transferred, including (28 USC § 1407):

(1) Specifying the common questions of fact;

(2) Explaining how transfer would be in the interests of convenience of the parties and witnesses, or would promote the just and efficient conduct of the action].

This motion is based on the accompanying Brief and Schedule of Cases dated [date] _____, and on all of the pleadings and papers on file in the actions to be given multidistrict litigation treatment.

Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

[signature of attorney] _____

[typed or printed name of attorney] _____

[firm name, if applicable] _____

Attorney for [party's status and name] _____

[Attach suporting brief and schedule of cases.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1407; Multidistrict Rules 5.11, 5.12, 5.13, 5.2, 7.1, 7.2

Multidistrict Litigation Procedure:
See § 2.62

Filing Papers with Panel:
See § 2.63

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
X. FORMS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.94

2.94 Notice of Motion and Motion to Disqualify Judge.

Motion to Disqualify Judge.
[attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____
[attorney's street address]
_____
[city, state, and zip code]
_____
[phone number]
_____
[fax number]
_____
[attorney's e-mail address]
_____
Attorney for [party's status and name]
_____
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

[name] _____ _____ _____	))))))	Civil Action No. _____ _____ NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO DIS-

___,	)	QUALIFY JUDGE
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	Date of Hearing:
[name]	)	_____
_____		_____
_____		Time of Hearing:
_____		_____
___,		_____
Defendant		Courtroom No.
		_____
		_____

_____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on [date] _____ at [time of day] _____, or as soon thereafter as counsel may be heard, [party's status and name] _____ will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at [address of court] _____, Courtroom [courtroom number] _____, for an order, pursuant to _____ [28 USC § 144 or specify subsection of 28 USC § 455, e.g., 28 USC § 455(b)(1)] to disqualify the Honorable Judge [name] _____ in this case.

[EITHER]

The Honorable Judge [name] _____ should be disqualified because he/she has a personal bias or prejudice against _____ [moving party, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones].

As more fully explained in the Affidavit of [name] _____ filed with this motion, the Honorable Judge [name] _____ has [state facts indicating bias or prejudice] _____.

[AND/OR]

The Honorable Judge [name] _____ should be disqualified because his/her impartiality might reasonably be questioned.

As more fully explained in the Affidavit of [name] _____ filed with this motion, the Honorable

Judge [name] _____ has [state facts indicating reasons impartiality might be questioned]

_____

[AND/OR]

The Honorable Judge [name] _____ should be disqualified because _____ [while in private practice, he/she served as a lawyer in the matter in controversy or a lawyer with whom the judge previously practiced law served, during their association, as a lawyer concerning the matter in controversy or the judge has been a material witness concerning the matter in controversy or a lawyer with whom the judge previously practiced law has been a material witness concerning the matter in controversy].

As more fully explained in the Affidavit of [name] _____ filed with this motion, [state facts in support of grounds for motion]

_____

[AND/OR]

The Honorable Judge [name] _____ should be disqualified because he/she served in governmental employment and in such capacity

_____

[participated in the particular matter in controversy or expressed an opinion concerning the merits of the particular matter in controversy].

As more fully explained in the Affidavit of [name] _____ filed with this motion, [state facts in support of grounds for motion]

_____

[AND/OR]

The Honorable Judge [name] _____ should be disqualified because _____ [he/she individually or he/she, as a fiduciary, or his/her spouse or his/her minor child residing in his/her household] has

_____

[a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or a financial interest in a party to the proceeding or an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding].

As more fully explained in the Affidavit of [name] _____ filed with this motion, [state facts in support of grounds for motion]

_____

[AND/OR]

The Honorable Judge [name] _____ should be disqualified because _____ [he/she or his/her spouse or specify person within third degree of relationship to judge or judge's spouse, or the spouse of such person] is a(n) _____ [party to the proceeding or officer of a party to the proceeding or director of a party to the proceeding or trustee of a party to the proceeding].

As more fully explained in the Affidavit of [name] _____ filed with this motion, [state facts in support of grounds for motion]

_____

[AND/OR]

The Honorable Judge [name] _____ should be disqualified because

_____

[he/she or his/her spouse or specify person within third degree of relationship to judge or judge's spouse, or the spouse of such person] is acting as a lawyer in the proceeding.

As more fully explained in the Affidavit of [name] _____ filed with this motion, [state facts in support of grounds for motion]

_____

[AND/OR]

The Honorable Judge [name] _____ should be disqualified because

_____

[he/she or his/her spouse or specify person within third degree of relationship to judge or judge's spouse, or the spouse of such person] has an interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding.

As more fully explained in the Affidavit of [name] _____ filed with this motion, [state facts in support of grounds for motion]

_____

[AND/OR]

The Honorable Judge [name] _____ should be disqualified because _____ [he/she or his/her spouse or specify person within third degree of relationship to judge or judge's spouse, or the spouse of such person] is likely to be a material witness in the proceeding.

[CONTINUE]

This motion is timely made in that [state facts indicating that motion is being filed with reasonable promptness after ground(s) for motion was/were ascertained]

_____

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of [name] _____, [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Certificate of Counsel,] [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of] Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.

Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

[signature of attorney] _____

[typed or printed name of attorney] _____

[firm name, if applicable] _____

Attorney for [party's status and name] _____

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 144, 455

Disqualification of Judge Under 28 USC § 144:
See § 2.85

Disqualification of Judge Under 28 USC § 455:
See § 2.86 -2.88

Timing:
See § 2.85[2][a], 2.88

Related Form of Affidavit of Bias or Prejudice:
See 11 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 63:50 (Matthew Bender)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 2 Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue)
X. FORMS

1-2 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 2.95

2.95 Local District Court Forms.

Local district court forms relating to matters addressed in this chapter are listed below.

Central District

Settlement Procedure Selection: Notice Request and Order (ADR-01)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Click here to view image.

Stipulation Regarding Selection of Attorney Settlement Officer (ADR-02)

Click here to view image.

Attorney Settlement Officer Proceeding Report (ADR-03)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

ADR Pilot Program Questionnaire (ADR-09)

Click here to view image.

Statement of Consent to Proceed Before a United States Magistrate Judge Pursuant to Title 28 USC § 636(c) (CIV-11)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Eastern District

Notice, Consent, and Order of Reference--Exercise of Jurisdiction by a United States Magistrate Judge (AO 85)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Notice of Availability of VDRP

Stip and Order

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY OF VOLUNTARY DISPUTE RESOLUTION

Pursuant to the findings and directives of Congress in 28 U.S.C. §§ 651 et seq., and in recognition of the economic burdens and delay in the resolution of disputes that can be imposed by full formal litigation, Local Rule 271 governs the referral of certain actions to the Voluntary Dispute Resolution Program ("VDRP") at the election of parties. Plaintiff or removing party is to provide all other parties with copies of the notice at the time service is effected or, for parties already served, no more than fourteen (14) days after receiving notice from the Court. After filing of the original complaint or removal action, any party who causes a new party to be joined in the action shall promptly serve a copy of the notice on the new party.

It is the Court's intention that the VDRP shall allow the participants to take advantage of a wide variety of alternative dispute resolution methods. These methods may include, but are not limited to, mediation, negotiation, early neutral evaluation and settlement facilitation. The specific method or methods employed will be determined by the Neutral and the parties.

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that pursuant to Local Rule 271, this Local Rule applies to all civil actions pending before any District Judge or Magistrate Judge in this District except that actions in the following categories are exempt from presumptive inclusion: (i) prisoner petitions and actions, including habeas corpus petitions, (ii) actions in which one of the parties is appearing pro se, (iii) voting rights actions, (iv) social security actions, (v) deportation actions, (vi) Freedom of Information Act actions, and (vii) actions involving the constitutionality of federal, state or local statutes or ordinances. The fact that a case falls in a category that is exempt from presumptive applicability of this Local Rule neither (1) precludes the parties to such a case from agreeing to participate in an Alternative Dispute Resolution ("ADR") process, nor (2) deprives the Court of authority to compel participation in an appropriate ADR proceeding.

Parties may elect Voluntary Dispute Resolution with the Court indicating that all parties to the action agree to submit the action to VDRP pursuant to Local Rule 271. Actions may not be assigned to VDRP over the objection of a party. (Copy of sample stipulation attached hereto.) At the time of filing, a copy of the stipulation shall be provided to the

VDRP Administrator designated below:

Linda Martinez, Administrator
Voluntary Dispute Resolution Program
United States District Court
501 I Street, Suite 4-200
Sacramento, CA 95814
(916) 930-4280

Click here to view image.

Stipulation and Order to Elect Referral of Action to Voluntary Dispute Resolution (VDRP) Pursuant to Local Rule 271

Click here to view image.

Northern District

Notice of Need for ADR Phone Conference

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Stipulation and (Proposed) Order Selecting ADR Process

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Consent to Proceed before a Magistrate Judge

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Declination to Proceed before a Magistrate Judge and Request for Reassignment

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Southern District

Consent to Exercise of Jurisdiction by a United States Magistrate Judge and Order of Reference

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Cross Reference:

Automated HotDocs(R) and PDF versions of these forms may be accessed and filled in from the online version of this publication, and are also available at www.LexisOne.com/forms.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.syn

§ 3.syn Synopsis to Chapter 3: Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court

3.01 Scope.

3.02 Objective and Strategy.

3.03 CHECKLISTS: Initial Considerations for Defendants and Plaintiffs Relating to Removal.

3.03[1] Defendant's Checklist: Evaluating Case for Removal.

3.03[2] Plaintiff's Checklist: Determining Whether Removal May Be Prevented.

3.04 Removal Allows Defendant to Transfer Case From State to Federal Court.

3.04[1] Removal Available If Case Could Have Been Brought in Federal Court.

3.04[2] Several Key Restrictions Apply Under General Removal Statute.

3.04[3] Special Removal Statutes Allow for Removal in Other Special Circumstances.

3.05 Removal Can Be Based on Either Federal Question or Diversity Jurisdiction.

3.05[1] Federal Question Cases.

3.05[2] Diversity Cases: Resident Defendant Bars Removal in Most Cases.

3.06 Right of Removal Can Be Waived.

3.06[1] Waiver by Untimely Removal.

3.06[2] Waiver by Forum Selection Clauses.

3.06[2][a] Forum Selection Clauses Are Enforceable.

3.06[2][b] Waiver Must Be Clear and Unequivocal.

3.06[2][c] Party Asserting Waiver Will Have Burden of Proof.

3.06[2][d] Effect on Other Defendants.

3.06[2][e] Standard of Review Is Abuse of Discretion.

3.06[3] Waiver by Submitting to State Court Jurisdiction.

3.07 Action Must Be Originally Filed in State Court.

3.08 Removability Is Determined When Removal Notice Is Filed.

3.09 Case May Be Subject to Removal If District Court Has Original Federal Question Jurisdiction.

3.09[1] Federal Question Actions Are Removable by Defendant.

3.09[2] Analyzing Federal Question Jurisdiction.

3.09[2][a] Action Must Arise Under Federal Law.

3.09[2][b] Applying Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule.

3.09[2][c] Removing Claim Over Which State Court Did Not Have Jurisdiction Is Permissible.

3.09[2][d] Removing Case Based on Federal Defense Impermissible.

3.09[2][e] Removing Case Based on Defendant's Federal Question Counterclaim Impermissible.

3.09[3] Removing Entire Case Based on Federal Question Claim.

3.09[3][a] Based on Supplemental Jurisdiction.

3.09[3][b] Based on Section 1441(c).

3.09[3][c] Comparing Removal Based on Supplemental Jurisdiction and Removal Based on Section 1441(c).

3.09[4] Removing Cases Entirely Preempted by Federal Law.

3.09[4][a] When Exclusive Federal Remedy Exists.

3.09[4][b] Determining Whether Claim Arises Under Labor Management Relations Act.

3.09[4][c] Determining Whether Claim Arises Under Employee Retirement Income Security Act.

3.10 Case May Be Subject to Removal If District Court Has Original Diversity Jurisdiction.

3.10[1] Removing on Basis of Diversity Jurisdiction.

3.10[1][a] Case Must Meet Amount in Controversy and Diversity of Citizenship Requirements.

3.10[1][b] Removal Not Permitted If Any Defendant Is Citizen of State in Which Action Is Filed.

3.10[1][c] Removal Not Permitted in Domestic Relations Cases.

3.10[1][d] Removal Not Permitted in Probate Cases.

3.10[2] Satisfying Complete Diversity Requirement.

3.10[2][a] Consider Citizenship of All Named Defendants.

3.10[2][b] Timing of Determination of Diversity.

3.10[2][c] Proving Diversity.

3.10[3] Satisfying Amount in Controversy Requirement.

3.10[3][a] Amount in Controversy Must Exceed $75,000 in Most Cases.

3.10[3][b] Application of "Either Viewpoint" Rule to Ascertain Amount in Controversy.

3.10[3][c] Timing of Determination of Amount in Controversy.

3.10[3][d] Proving Amount in Controversy.

3.10[4] Minimal Diversity Under Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act of 2002.

3.10[4][a] "Minimal Diversity" Rule Confers Original Federal Court Jurisdiction in Civil Cases Arising From Catastrophic Accidents.

3.10[4][b] Removal in Minimal Diversity Cases.

3.10[5] Minimal Diversity Under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.

3.11 Determining Who Can Remove.

3.11[1] Right of Removal Generally Limited.

3.11[1][a] Defendants.

3.11[1][b] Plaintiff May Not Remove As Defendant.

3.11[1][c] Third-Party Defendants.

3.11[1][d] Defendant Intervenor.

3.11[2] Statutory Right of Specific Plaintiffs to Remove.

3.12 All Defendants Must Join in Notice of Removal in Most Cases.

3.12[1] Except in Qualified Class Action, All Defendants Must Join in Notice of Removal.

3.12[2] Failure of Defendants to Join Defeats Removal.

3.12[3] Failure of All Defendants to Join Is Waivable Defect.

3.12[4] In Special Cases, Not All Defendants Need Join.

3.13 Special Removal Statutes Permit Removal in Certain Types of Cases, or by Certain Types of Parties.

3.13[1] Actions Brought Against Federal Agencies and Officers.

3.13[1][a] Who May Remove Action.

3.13[1][b] Original Federal Jurisdiction Not Required Apart From Statute.

3.13[1][c] Federal Official Defendant.

3.13[1][d] "Under Color of Office" Requirement.

3.13[1][e] Entire Action Removed.

3.13[1][f] Retaining Case After Dismissal of Federal Agency or Officer.

3.13[2] Actions Brought Against Members of Armed Forces.

3.13[3] Civil Rights Actions.

3.13[3][a] Defendants in Certain Civil Rights Cases May Remove.

3.13[3][b] Enforcement of Civil Rights.

3.13[3][c] Acts Under Color of Authority Derived From Civil Rights Laws.

3.13[4] Civil Actions Against Foreign States.

3.13[4][a] Foreign State May Remove Case.

3.13[4][b] Timing for Removal.

3.13[5] Foreclosure Actions Against United States.

3.13[6] Resolution Trust Corporation Cases.

3.13[6][a] Scope of Removal.

3.13[6][b] Time for Removal.

3.13[6][c] Venue.

3.13[6][d] Appeal of Remand.

3.13[7] Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Cases.

3.13[7][a] Scope of Removal.

3.13[7][b] Time for Removal.

3.13[7][c] Appeal of Remand.

3.13[8] Claims Related to Bankruptcy Cases.

3.13[8][a] Any Party May Remove Related Claims.

3.13[8][b] Exception for Proceeding Before Tax Court or Civil Action to Enforce Police or Regulatory Power of Government Unit.

3.13[8][c] Exception for Mandatory Abstention.

3.13[8][d] Party Seeking Removal Must Serve and File Verified Notice.

3.13[8][e] Timing of Notice If Bankruptcy Action Filed Before Civil Action.

3.13[8][f] Timing of Notice If Civil Action Filed Before Bankruptcy Action.

3.13[8][g] Party May File Verified Statement After Notice of Removal.

3.13[8][h] District Court Has Discretion to Remand.

3.13[9] Fair Labor Standards Act.

3.14 Some Types of Actions Are Statutorily Nonremovable.

3.15 Removal by State Can Waive Sovereign Immunity.

3.16 CHECKLIST: Drafting and Filing Notice of Removal.

3.17 Notice of Removal Is Filed in District and Division Where State Action Is Pending.

3.18 Preparing Notice of Removal.

3.18[1] Contents of Notice.

3.18[1][a] Statement of Grounds.

3.18[1][b] Federal Question Cases.

3.18[1][c] Diversity Cases.

3.18[1][d] Special Statute Cases.

3.18[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Additional Statements Required to Be Served and Filed Under Local Rules.

3.18[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

3.18[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

3.18[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

3.18[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

3.18[3] Signing Pursuant to Rule 11 Required.

3.18[4] Joining of All Served Defendants Required.

3.18[4][a] All Defendants Must Consent.

3.18[4][b] Exception for Defendants With Independent Right of Removal and Defendants in Qualified Class Actions.

3.19 Notice Must Be Filed in Appropriate Court.

3.19[1] Filing in District Where State Court Action Is Pending.

3.19[2] Filing State Court Papers.

3.19[3] Noticing Adverse Parties and Filing Notice With State Court.

3.19[4] Effect of Filing Notice.

3.19[5] Removal to Wrong District Does Not Deprive District Court of Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

3.19[6] Amending Notice of Removal.

3.19[7] Filing Fee.

3.20 Notice of Removal Must Be Timely Filed.

3.20[1] File Notice Within 30 Days of Receipt of Papers Indicating Removability.

3.20[2] Formal Service Required When Case Initially Removable.

3.20[3] Multiple Defendants Present Special Problems.

3.20[4] Removal May Be Based on Subsequent Pleadings and Other Papers.

3.20[4][a] Voluntary Acts of Plaintiff After Initial Pleading May Make Case Subject to Removal.

3.20[4][b] Thirty-Day Period Triggered by Paper Indicating That Case Is Removable.

3.20[4][c] One-Year Limit in Diversity Cases Other Than Qualified Class Actions.

3.20[5] Removing After State Court Judgment.

3.21 Federal District Court Advances Case After Removal Notice Filed in State Court.

3.21[1] Jurisdiction Shifts to Federal Court.

3.21[2] State Court Orders Remain in Effect Until Modified.

3.21[3] Federal Rules Govern Procedural Issues.

3.21[4] In Diversity Case, State Law Governs Substantive Issues.

3.21[5] Second Answer Need Not Be Prepared and Filed.

3.21[6] Renewed Jury Demand Not Ordinarily Required.

3.21[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: Requesting Jury Trial After Removal.

3.21[7][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

3.21[7][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal, ND Cal, and SD Cal Requirements--No Specific Rule.

3.21[8] Subsequent Transfer of Removed Case.

3.22 All State Court Proceedings Before Removal Remain in Effect.

3.23 CHECKLIST: Moving for Remand

3.24 Plaintiff May Seek Remand by Joining Additional Defendants to Destroy Federal Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

3.24[1] Use of Joinder to Destroy Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

3.24[2] Court Has Discretion to Deny or Permit Joinder.

3.25 Procedure for Remand May Be Initiated by Judge or by Party.

3.25[1] Sua Sponte Remand by Court.

3.25[2] Motion by Party.

3.26 Grounds for Motion to Remand Include Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction, Procedurally Defective Removal, Abstention, and Provision in Forum Selection Clause.

3.26[1] Statutory Grounds.

3.26[2] Nonstatutory Grounds.

3.26[3] Crowded Docket Is Not a Proper Ground for Remand.

3.26[4] Futility Exception May Provide Ground for Refusal to Remand.

3.26A Additional Grounds for Remand of Class Action Subject to Modified Diversity Requirements of Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.

3.26A[1] District Court May Decline Jurisdiction When More Than One-Third, But Less Than Two-Thirds, of Plaintiffs Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed.

3.26A[2] In Some Cases, District Court Must Decline Jurisdiction When More Than Two-Thirds of Plaintiffs Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed.

3.27 Timing of Motion to Remand Depends on Motion Grounds.

3.27[1] Motion Based on Jurisdictional Defects May Be Made at Any Time.

3.27[2] Motion Based on Procedural Defects Must Be Made Within 30 Days.

3.27[3] Waiver of Objection.

3.28 Burden of Proof When Removal is Contested.

3.29 Moving for Costs and Attorney's Fees.

3.30 Effect of Post-Removal Changes in Case.

3.30[1] Federal Claims Dismissed, State Claims Remaining.

3.30[2] Only Third-Party Claims Remain.

3.30[3] Post-Removal Reduction in Amount in Controversy Cannot Deprive Federal Court of Jurisdiction.

3.30[4] Addition of Parties.

3.31 Remand Shifts Jurisdiction to State Court.

3.32 Reconsideration After Remand Order.

3.33 Appellate Review of Remand Order.

3.33[1] Orders Denying Remand.

3.33[2] Orders Granting Remand.

3.33[2][a] Remand Based on Procedural Defect or Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction Is Not Reviewable.

3.33[2][b] Remand Based on Joinder of Non-Diverse Defendants Is Not Reviewable.

3.33[2][c] Remand Based on Substantive Decision Apart From Jurisdictional Issue Is Subject to Review.

3.33[2][d] Remand Based on Discretionary Decline of Jurisdiction Is Subject to Review.

3.33[2][e] Remand Based on Events Occurring After Time of Removal Is Subject to Review.

3.33[3] Standard of Review Is De Novo.

3.34 Notice of Removal.

3.34A Notice of Removal of Class Action Under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.

3.35 Notice to Adverse Parties of Filing of Notice of Removal.

3.36 Declaration of Filing Notice of Removal in State Court.

3.37 Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Remanding Removed Action to State Court.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
I. STRATEGY

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.01

3.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Objectives and strategy for removal [see 3.02].
- Analyzing a case to determine whether it is removable [see 3.03 -3.15].
- Removing a case [see 3.16 -3.21].
- Remanding a case [see 3.23 -3.33].

Core Statutes: 28 USC §§ 1441-1447.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
I. STRATEGY

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.02

3.02 Objective and Strategy.

In a state court civil action, the case's potential for removal will often be an important consideration for the parties. The basic test for removal is whether the case could have been originally brought in federal court [see 28 USC § 1441]. Counsel must evaluate each case in light of the two basic categories of federal court jurisdiction: federal question jurisdiction and jurisdiction based on diversity of citizenship.

When the defendant resides or is otherwise located outside of the state where the action is brought, the prospect of removal takes on added importance. Strategically, the defendant may seek to eliminate a "home court advantage" sometimes associated with state court. An out-of-state defendant may also seek to transfer the case to a federal venue in another locality, which requires that the defendant first remove, and then rely on federal transfer statutes.

Failure to comply with the strict statutory deadlines may result in waiver of removal rights, so timing should be a key concern for any party seeking removal [see 3.06, 3.20].

Parties will want to consider how removal will affect the timing of the case disposition. Differences between state and federal practice may affect the pace of the proceedings. Also, the relative congestion of federal and state court dockets may be a consideration, particularly for defendants who seek a speedy disposition.

Strategic Point--Defendant:

It may take longer to get a trial date in the federal courts, However, the motion calendars in the federal courts are less crowded, and the federal judges have more law clerk support. Also, the federal courts may be better prepared and able to handle complex pretrial motions.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue).

For Tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalElementsFederal VenueCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.03

3.03 CHECKLISTS: Initial Considerations for Defendants and Plaintiffs Relating to Removal.

3.03[1] Defendant's Checklist: Evaluating Case for Removal.

☐ Ascertain whether removal would be desirable for the client.

○ Federal rules. Are the procedures or evidentiary rules available in federal court more advantageous to the client?

○ Erie Doctrine. Under the Erie doctrine, certain federal rules are applied, rather than their state counterparts, when hearing a state claim based on diversity jurisdiction. A defendant should investigate whether any such procedural differences would be significant to the case.

○ Local practice. Consider advantages and disadvantages of federal local practice.

○ Familiarity. Litigants often choose the forum where they are more comfortable or more experienced. Conversely, a defendant may consider whether the federal forum would be a more difficult venue for plaintiff's counsel.

○ Jury trials. In some cases, it is more likely that a matter could be tried to a jury in federal court than it would in state court.

○ Jury pools. The populations within federal districts, particularly large districts, are often demographically distinct from those in the encompassed state districts. Defendants contemplating a jury trial should consider whether the federal jury pool is likely to be more favorable to the case than its state counterpart.

- Jury unanimity. Federal civil juries must be unanimous, while state juries need only reach a three-fourths verdict in California state courts. Consider whether this point might favor the plaintiff or the defendant.

- Interlocutory appeals. The right to seek interlocutory appeals may differ in federal and state courts.

- Docket congestion. Consider relative congestion in state and federal court civil dockets.

- Geography. The federal courthouse may be more convenient to the defendant or to defense counsel.

- Alternative dispute resolution. Consider relative availability of mandatory alternative dispute resolution procedures.

- Transfer. Consider availability within federal court system to seek transfer to more convenient forum in different state.

- Assignment of single judge. A single assigned judge in federal court may mean more familiarity with the case, greater speed to trial, etc., than the various duty judges who may be involved with a case in state court.

- Peremptory challenge of judge. In state court, litigants are entitled to a single peremptory challenge against the assigned judge. In federal court, judges may only be disqualified for cause, which is a very difficult standard to meet.

- Judge's interpretation of law. If state law has not been clearly defined by the state courts, consider whether federal courts have previously interpreted the state law and whether that interpretation is favorable compared to the likely interpretation by a state court judge.

- Remand. Check to ensure that grounds for remand are nonexistent or minimal.

☐ Ascertain whether removal is possible:

- Was case originally filed in state court?

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1441(a), 1446(a)

Discussion:

See § 3.07

○ Is there federal question jurisdiction?

Authority:
28 USC § 1441

Discussion:
See § 3.09

○ Is there diversity jurisdiction?

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1332, 1441

Discussion:
See § 3.10

○ If other than a qualified class action, will all defendants join?

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1446(b), 1453(b)

Discussion:
See § 3.12

○ Can removal notice be timely filed?

Authority:
28 USC § 1446(b)

Discussion:
See §§ 3.06, 3.20

○ Do particular removal statutes apply?

Discussion:
See § 3.13

○ Is there a valid forum selection clause?

Authority:
Pelleport Investors, Inc. v. Budco Quality Theatres, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 273, 279-280

Discussion:
See § 3.06[2]

○ Have defendants already submitted to state court jurisdiction?

Discussion:
See § 3.06[3]

3.03[2] Plaintiff's Checklist: Determining Whether Removal May Be Prevented.

☐ A state court plaintiff may strategically choose to prevent removal by doing the following:

○ Avoiding federal law claims. Allege only state statutes and avoid raising in complaint any claims arising under federal law. If claims are in area of arguable preemption by federal statute, complaint should allege that claims are outside the statute's preemptive scope.

○ Choosing defendants strategically. Join legitimate nondiverse or local defendants. If using Doe defendants, plaintiff should conduct discovery to identify and serve unnamed defendants, whose presence will then be considered for diversity purposes.

○ Limiting demand for damages. If case other than a qualified class action would depend on diversity of parties for federal jurisdiction, demand less than $75,000.

○ Serving defendants strategically. Serve defendant least likely to remove first and stagger service thereafter to other defendants.

Authority: 28 USC §§ 1331, 1332, 1441, 1446

Discussion: See §§ 3.09, 3.10, 3.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalElementsFederal VenueCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.04

3.04 Removal Allows Defendant to Transfer Case From State to Federal Court.

3.04[1] Removal Available If Case Could Have Been Brought in Federal Court. Removal statutes permit defendants to transfer an action originally filed in state court to the federal district court for the district and division in which the state action is pending. Defendants may invoke removal jurisdiction only when the case could have originally been brought in federal court. Removal is usually accomplished under the general removal statute, which provides for removal based on federal question or diversity jurisdiction [28 USC § 1441].

3.04[2] Several Key Restrictions Apply Under General Removal Statute. The general removal statute includes the following restrictions on removal [28 USC § 1441]:

- Only civil actions brought in state court may be removed.
- The district courts must have original jurisdiction over the action.
- Only the defendant or all defendants may remove.
- The action must be removed to the federal district court for the district and division in which the state action is pending.

3.04[3] Special Removal Statutes Allow for Removal in Other Special Circumstances. Removal is also available under certain special circumstances specified in other statutes [see 28 USC §§ 1441-1445; see also 3.13].

Warning:

Because removal statutes are construed strictly, counsel must ensure that all statutory requirements are met, whatever type of removal is chosen [see 28 USC §§ 1441-1447; see also Hofler v. Aetna US Health Care, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 296 F3d 764, 767 (quoting Ethridge v. Harbor House Rest. (9th Cir 1988) 861 F2d 1389, 1393)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalElementsFederal VenueCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.05

3.05 Removal Can Be Based on Either Federal Question or Diversity Jurisdiction.

3.05[1] Federal Question Cases. A federal question action based on a claim or right arising under the Constitution, treaties, or laws of the United States is removable without regard to the citizenship or residence of the parties, or the amount in controversy [see 28 USC §§ 1331, 1441(b)]. The federal law under which a claim arises must be a direct and essential element of the plaintiff's claim for relief [see King County v. Rasmussen (9th Cir 2002) 299 F3d 1077, 1082 , cert. denied, 538 US 1057 (2003)].

When a federal question action is joined with one or more otherwise non-removable claims or causes of action, the entire case may be removed. The district court may determine all issues in the case, or may exercise its discretion to remand all matters in which state law predominates [28 USC § 1441(c)].

Cross References:

Determination of whether court has federal question jurisdiction, see § 3.09. General discussion of federal question jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), §§ 2.03 -2.09.

3.05[2] Diversity Cases: Resident Defendant Bars Removal in Most Cases. A diversity action is usually removable only if both the following are true [28 USC § 1441(b)]:

- Complete diversity exists between the parties.
- None of the parties in interest properly joined and served as defendant is a citizen of the state where the action is pending.

However, complete diversity is not required in class actions or mass actions governed by the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [see 28 USC § 1332(d)]. Note that the Class Action Fairness Act applies to civil actions "commenced" on or after February 18, 2005, and for purposes of CAFA retroactivity, "commenced" means the date the complaint is filed, not the date the case is removed [Bush v. Cheaptickets, Inc. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 683, 689 ; see also Pritchett v. Office Depot, Inc. (10th Cir 2005) 420 F3d 1090, 1094]. For purposes of determining CAFA's effective date, an action is commenced under California law when the original complaint in the action is filed, irrespective of any relation back analysis [Progressive W.Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1016-1017 ; see McAtee v. Capital One, F.S.B. (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1143, 1148 (any amendment of original complaint does not change action's commencement date for purpose of CAFA's effective date)]. Further, an amendment to a cross-complaint in California state court (a counterclaim in federal court) does not commence an action under the CAFA as of the date of the amendment [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1015-1016].

Cross References:

Determination of whether court has diversity jurisdiction, see § 3.10. Removal in multi-defendant action under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see § 3.18[4][b]. General discussion of diversity jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), §§ 2.10 -2.25. Discussion of minimal diversity required under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), § 2.24A.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalElementsFederal VenueCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.06

3.06 Right of Removal Can Be Waived.

3.06[1] Waiver by Untimely Removal. A defendant may waive the right to remove an action by failing to file a removal notice within the statutory time limit [see 28 USC § 1441(b)].

Timing:

A defendant must act quickly to preserve removal rights. The general time limit is 30 days after defendant's receipt of the initial pleading, or 30 days after the defendant's receipt of any other paper indicating that the case has become removable [28 USC § 1446(b)].

Cross Reference:

Time limits for removal, see § 3.20.

3.06[2] Waiver by Forum Selection Clauses.

3.06[2][a] Forum Selection Clauses Are Enforceable. A defendant may contractually waive the right to remove a case in a forum selection clause [see Pelleport Investors, Inc. v. Budco Quality Theatres, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 273, 279-280].

Domestic and international forum selection clauses are prima facie valid and enforceable unless found to be unjust or unreasonable, or obtained by fraud or overreaching [see Pelleport Investors, Inc. v. Budco Quality Theatres, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 273, 279-280].

3.06[2][b] Waiver Must Be Clear and Unequivocal. The waiver must be clear and unequivocal and contain language mandating a particular forum as the exclusive forum to resolve disputes [see Northern Cal. Dist. Council of Laborers v. Pittsburg-Des Moines Steel Co. (9th Cir 1995) 69 F3d 1034, 1036-1038].

Distinguish:

Language conferring jurisdiction on a state court is more in the nature of a geographic limitation and does not constitute waiver [see Hunt Wesson Foods, Inc. v. Supreme Oil Co. (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 75, 76-78].

3.06[2][c] Party Asserting Waiver Will Have Burden of Proof. The party asserting waiver has the burden of proof on all material provisions of the waiver agreement [Ferrari, Alvarez, Olsen & Ottoboni v. Home Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1991) 940 F2d 550, 553].

3.06[2][d] Effect on Other Defendants. If a defendant waives the right to remove through a forum selection clause, other defendants who are not parties to the agreement may be barred from removing the action when removal must be joined by all defendants [see 3.12].

3.06[2][e] Standard of Review Is Abuse of Discretion. The Ninth Circuit reviews a district court's refusal to enforce a forum selection clause under an abuse of discretion standard, rather than a de novo standard [Pelleport Investors, Inc. v. Budco Quality Theatres, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 273, 280 n4].

3.06[3] Waiver by Submitting to State Court Jurisdiction. A defendant may waive the right to remove an action by taking actions in the state court that clearly and unequivocally manifest submission to state court jurisdiction (and the abandonment of the right to a federal forum) once it appears that the case is removable [see RTC v. Bayside Developers (9th Cir 1994) 43 F3d 1230, 1236 ; see also Akin v. Ashland Chem. Co. (10th Cir 1998) 156 F3d 1030, 1036 , cert. denied, 526 US 1112 (1998)].

Distinguish:

Merely filing a responsive pleading does not invoke the state court's jurisdiction so as to constitute a waiver of the right to remove. A defensive action to avoid the automatic entry of an adverse judgment does not manifest an intent to litigate in state court, and accordingly, does not waive the right to remove [Acosta v. Direct Merchants Bank (SD Cal 2002) 207 F Supp2d 1129, 1132 (citing Moore's); see California Republican Party v. Mercier (CD Cal 1986) 652 F Supp 928, 931]. Likewise, neither filing form interrogatories nor requesting an extension of time to respond to discovery constitutes litigation on the merits [Foley v. Allied Interstate, Inc. (CD Cal 2004) 312 F Supp2d 1279, 1284].

The following have been found to constitute voluntary participation in state court proceedings seeking affirmative relief, waiving the right to remove:

- Filing a permissive cross-complaint [see Acosta v. Direct Merchants Bank (SD Cal 2002) 207 F Supp2d 1129, 1132 (citing Moore's)].

  Distinguish:

  Filing a permissive cross-complaint will not waive removal if it was not "unequivocally apparent" that the action was removable at the time the cross-complaint was filed [Mattel, Inc. v. Bryant (CD Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 3568, at *20 (citing Moore's)].

- Filing a third-party complaint [see California Republican Party v. Mercier (CD Cal 1986) 652 F Supp 928, 931].

- Seeking a continuance without notifying the plaintiff or the state court of an intention to remove the case in the interim [see Chicago Title & Trust Co. v. Whitney Stores, Inc. (ND Ill 1984) 583 F Supp 575, 577].

- Moving in state court to compel arbitration [McKinnon v. Doctor's Assocs., Inc. (ED Mich 1991) 769 F Supp 216, 220].

Distinguish:

A defendant may file an answer in state court, raise affirmative defenses, and seek removal if removal is otherwise timely [see Brown v. Sasser (MD Ala 2000) 128 F Supp2d 1345, 1347-1348].

Cross Reference:

Defendant's waiver of right to remove, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.18 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalElementsFederal VenueCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

136 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.07

3.07 Action Must Be Originally Filed in State Court.

Only civil actions originally filed in state court and pending in state court may be removed [28 USC §§ 1441(a), 1446(a)].

The term state includes the District of Columbia, and the term state court includes the superior court of the District of Columbia [28 USC § 1451].

For purposes of removal, the term state court does not include Native American tribal courts [Becenti v. Vigil (10th Cir 1990) 902 F2d 777, 780].

The Ninth Circuit has adopted a black letter rule based on the plain language of the general removal statute and holds that even a court-like proceeding conducted by a state administrative agency is not subject to removal [Oregon Bureau of Labor & Indus. ex rel. Richardson v. US W. Communications Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 288 F3d 414, 417-420].

Distinguish:

The United States Supreme Court has held that a case may be removed if it (1) contains claims that local administrative action violates federal law and also (2) contains state law claims for deferential on-the-record review of administrative findings [City of Chicago v. International Coll. of Surgeons (1997) 522 US 156, 168-172, 118 S Ct 523, 139 L Ed2d 525 ; see BNSF Ry. Co. v. O'Dea (9th Cir 2009) 572 F3d 785, 791 (district courts have diversity jurisdiction to review state and local agency administrative decisions, either on the record or de novo, when those appeals are in state trial courts)].

Proceedings that are merely collateral to an action pending in state court may not be removed if the underlying claim is litigated in state court [Armistead v. C&M Transp., Inc. (1st Cir 1995) 49 F3d 43, 46].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.08

3.08 Removability Is Determined When Removal Notice Is Filed.

Removal jurisdiction in a federal question case is determined by the complaint as of the time that the removal notice is filed [see O'Halloran v. University of Washington (9th Cir 1988) 856 F2d 1375, 1378-1379]. A post-removal amendment to the complaint has no significance in determining removal jurisdiction [Williams v. Costco Wholesale Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 471 F3d 975, 976 ; Abada v. Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 300 F3d 1112, 1116-1117], even when the amendment adds federal claims [Deutsch v. Turner Corp. (9th Cir 2003) 324 F3d 692, 718-719, n22].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.09

3.09 Case May Be Subject to Removal If District Court Has Original Federal Question Jurisdiction.

3.09[1] Federal Question Actions Are Removable by Defendant. If the plaintiff initiates a federal question action in state court, the defendant may remove the case to federal court [28 USC § 1441(a); see Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 392 n6, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318 ; see also 28 USC § 1331].

Federal question actions are removable without regard to the citizenship or residence of the parties (or the amount in controversy) [see 28 USC § 1441(b)].

Cross References:

Discussion of federal question jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), §§ 2.03 -2.09.

Removal in federal question cases, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.14[3].

3.09[2] Analyzing Federal Question Jurisdiction.

3.09[2][a] Action Must Arise Under Federal Law. The district courts have original jurisdiction of civil actions arising under the Constitution, treaties, or laws of the United States [US Const, art III, § 2; see 28 USC § 1331; see also Wayne v. DHL Worldwide Express (9th Cir 2002) 294 F3d 1179, 1183-1185]. The federal law under which a claim arises must be a direct and essential element of the plaintiff's claim for relief [see King County v. Rasmussen (9th Cir 2002) 299 F3d 1077, 1082 , cert. denied, 538 US 1057 (2003)].

Federal question jurisdiction extends to cases in which either of the following is true [see Mobil Oil Corp. v. City of Long Beach (9th Cir 1985) 772 F2d 534, 538-540]:

- Federal law creates the claim for relief;
- Plaintiff's right to relief depends on the resolution of a substantial issue of federal law.

For federal question jurisdiction to arise under a state law claim, that state law claim must necessarily raise a federal issue that is actually disputed and substantial and the federal court must be able to address the question without disrupting "any congressionally approved balance of federal and state judicial responsibilities" [Grable & Sons Metal Prods. v. Darue Eng'g & Mfg. (2005) 545 US 308, 314, 125 S Ct 2363, 162 L Ed2d 257]. A federal cause of action is not a necessary condition for exercising jurisdiction over state-law claims that implicate significant federal issues [Grable & Sons Metal Prods. v. Darue Eng'g & Mfg. (2005) 545 US 308, 316, 125 S Ct 2363, 162 L Ed2d 257].

3.09[2][b] Applying Well-Pleaded Complaint Rule. Under the well-pleaded complaint rule, federal question jurisdiction exists only when a federal question is presented on the face of the plaintiff's well-pleaded complaint [Aetna Health Inc. v. Davila (2004) 542 US 200, 207, 124 S Ct 2488, 159 L Ed2d 312 ; Beneficial Nat'l Bank v. Anderson (2003) 539 US 1, 6, 123 S Ct 2058, 156 L Ed2d 1 ; Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 392-393, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318 ; see Abada v. Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 300 F3d 1112, 1116-1119].

The artful pleading doctrine, an exception or corollary to the well-pleaded complaint rule, provides that a plaintiff may not defeat removal by omitting to plead necessary federal questions. If a court finds that a plaintiff has "artfully pleaded" claims, removal is proper even if no federal question appears on the face of the complaint [Rivet v. Regions Bank (1998) 522 US 470, 475, 118 S Ct 921, 139 L Ed2d 912 ; see California ex rel. Lockyer v. Dynegy, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 375 F3d 831, 838-843 ; Balcorta v. Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. (9th Cir 2000) 208 F3d 1102, 1107]. The Ninth Circuit limits the application of the artful pleading doctrine to situations in which federal law not only displaces state law but also confers a federal remedy [Hunter v. United Van Lines (9th Cir 1984) 746 F2d 635, 642-643 , cert. denied, 474 US 1014 (1985)].

3.09[2][c] Removing Claim Over Which State Court Did Not Have Jurisdiction Is Permissible. A federal district court may adjudicate any claim in an action removed by a defendant, even if the state court where the action was filed lacked subject matter jurisdiction over the claim [28 USC § 1441(b)].

3.09[2][d] Removing Case Based on Federal Defense Impermissible. A case may not be removed to federal court on the basis of a federal defense, including the defense of preemption, even if that defense is anticipated in the plaintiff's complaint, and even when both parties concede that the federal defense is the only question in issue [Beneficial Nat'l Bank v. Anderson (2003) 539 US 1, 6, 123 S Ct 2058, 156 L Ed2d 1 ; Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 398-399, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318 ; Franchise Tax Bd. v. Construction Laborers Vacation Trust (1983) 463 US 1, 10, 103 S Ct 2841, 77 L Ed2d 420 ; see Abada v. Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 300 F3d 1112, 1116-1119].

Example--Federal Defense of Claim Preclusion:

Removal may not be predicated on a defendant's assertion that a prior federal judgment disposed of the entire matter and thus bars plaintiffs from later pursuing a state-law based case [Rivet v. Regions Bank (1998) 522 US 470, 472, 118 S Ct 921, 139 L Ed2d 912].

Distinguish:

If a federal defense is applicable, it can be asserted in the state proceedings [Rivet v. Regions Bank (1998) 522 US 470, 472, 118 S Ct 921, 139 L Ed2d 912].

3.09[2][e] Removing Case Based on Defendant's Federal Question Counterclaim Impermissible. A defendant may not remove a case solely based on a federal question counterclaim or cross-complaint [Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 399, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318].

3.09[3] Removing Entire Case Based on Federal Question Claim.

3.09[3][a] Based on Supplemental Jurisdiction. If a removable claim presents a federal question and is part of a case including related state law claims, the entire case may ordinarily be removed based on the court's supplemental jurisdiction [28 USC §§ 1367, 1441(c); see Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 393, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318].

When a defendant removes a case in which the plaintiff has alleged transactionally related state and federal claims or causes of action and the federal claims are resolved or dismissed, the district court retains discretion to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the remaining state law claims [28 USC § 1367(c)(3); Carlsbad Tech. v. HIF Bio (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1862, 173 L Ed2d 843, 849-850] .

Cross References

Effect of post removal changes in the case, see § 3.30. Nature and scope of supplemental jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), §§ 2.26 -2.30.

3.09[3][b] Based on Section 1441(c). Whenever a separate and independent federal question claim or cause of action is joined with claims or causes of action that are otherwise not removable, the entire case may be removed. The district court has discretion to determine all issues or to remand all issues in which state law predominates [28 USC § 1441(c)].

To be separate and independent, the asserted claims must have arisen from different sets of acts that are not transactionally related [American Fire & Cas. Co. v. Finn (1951) 341 US 6, 12-14, 71 S Ct 534, 95 L Ed 702 ; see Eyak Native Village v. Exxon Corp. (9th Cir 1994) 25 F3d 773, 781-782 , cert. denied, 513 US 943 (1994)].

3.09[3][c] Comparing Removal Based on Supplemental Jurisdiction and Removal Based on Section 1441(c). Certain procedural requirements for removal turn on whether the additional defendants are supplemental parties or parties to a separate and independent claim under 28 USC § 1441(c) as follows [see Port of New York Auth. v. Eastern Airlines, Inc. (EDNY 1966) 259 F Supp 142, 145]:

Basis of Removal	Defendants Who Must Join in Removal Notice	Timing of Removal Notice
1441(c)	Only defendants named in federal question claim	Within 30 days after complaint first received by a federal question defendant
Supplemental jurisdiction	All defendants	Within 30 days after complaint first received by any defendant

3.09[4] Removing Cases Entirely Preempted by Federal Law.

3.09[4][a] When Exclusive Federal Remedy Exists. When Congress provides for an exclusive federal remedy, federal courts will usually have exclusive jurisdiction. An action may be removed if the asserted claim has been completely preempted by federal law, even if no federal claim for relief appears on the face of the complaint [see Aetna Health Inc. v. Davila (2004) 542 US 200, 207-208, 124 S Ct 2488, 159 L Ed2d 312 ; Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 393, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318 ; see also California ex rel. Lockyer v. Dynegy, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 375 F3d 831, 838-843]. The complete preemption doctrine operates as a corollary to the well-pleaded complaint rule, and may permit removal even when the state remedy sought by the plaintiff is not available in federal court [Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 391 n4, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318].

Complete preemption occurs only when Congress intends not only to preempt a certain amount of state law, but also intends to transfer jurisdiction of the subject matter from state to federal court [see Metropolitan Life Ins. Co. v. Taylor (1987) 481 US 58, 66-67, 107 S Ct 1542, 95 L Ed2d 55]. In other words, Congress must clearly manifest an intent to convert state-law claims into federal question claims [Holman v. Laulo-Rowe Agency (9th Cir 1993) 994 F2d

666, 668]. Complete preemption occurs only when the federal statute has "extraordinary preemptive power", a conclusion that courts reach reluctantly [Hofler v. Aetna US Health Care, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 296 F3d 764, 767 ; see, e.g., Ange v. Templer (ND Cal 2006) 418 F Supp2d 1169, 1173 ("Internet is not a talisman bestowing federal jurisdiction")].

The complete preemption doctrine has been applied primarily in cases arising under the following federal statutes [Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 393, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318]:

- The Labor Management Relations Act (LMRA) [see Textile Workers Union v. Lincoln Mills (1957) 353 US 448, 456-457, 77 S Ct 912, 1 L Ed2d 972 ; Dahl v. Rosenfeld (9th Cir 2003) 316 F3d 1074, 1078 ; see also 29 USC § 185; 3.09[4][b]].

- The Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) [Aetna Health Inc. v. Davila (2004) 542 US 200, 213-214, 124 S Ct 2488, 159 L Ed2d 312 ; Toumajian v. Frailey (9th Cir 1998) 135 F3d 648, 654-655 ; see Clorox Co. v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1985) 779 F2d 517, 521 ; see also 29 USC § 1144; 3.09[4][c]].

However, the Supreme Court has held that the National Bank Act completely preempts state-law usury claims [Beneficial Nat'l Bank v. Anderson (2003) 539 US 1, 123 S Ct 2058, 156 L Ed2d 1 ; see also Cross-Country Bank v. Klussman (ND Cal 2004) 2004 US Dist LEXIS 7835, at *10-*11 ; 12 USC §§ 85, 86].

The Ninth Circuit has held that state law claims based on the illegal copying of copyrighted material are completely preempted by the Copyright Act [see Dielsi v. Falk (CDCal 1996) 916 F Supp 985, 991-993 (conversion of television script); see also 17 USC § 301]. Likewise, state law claims to enforce obligations that squarely fall within the exclusive jurisdiction provision of the Natural Gas Act are completely preempted [California ex rel. Lockyer v. Dynegy, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 375 F3d 831, 838-843], as are state law tort actions for damages predicated upon the filing of an involuntary bankruptcy petition [In re Miles (9th Cir 2005) 430 F3d 1083, 1091-1092].

The following statutes do not create a basis for federal jurisdiction under the complete preemption doctrine:

- The Airline Deregulation Act [Wayne v. DHL Worldwide Express (9th Cir 2002) 294 F3d 1179, 1184 ; see also 49 USC § 41713].

- The Federal Crop Insurance Act [Holman v. Laulo-Rowe Agency (9th Cir 1993) 994 F2d 666, 668-669 ; see also 7 USC §§ 1501-1524].

- The Federal Medicare program [Hofler v. Aetna US Health Care, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 296 F3d 764, 768].

- The Federal Communications Act [Enns v. NOS Communs. (In re NOS Communs.) (9th Cir 2007) 495 F3d 1052, 1058-1059 (Federal Communications Act, 47 USC § 151 et seq., does not completely preempt state-law claims concerning billing for telecommunications services)].

- The Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FDCA) [Wyeth v. Levine (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1187, 173 L Ed2d 51, 61 (Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act, 21 USC § 301 et seq., provides that state law would only be invalidated on "direct and positive conflict" with FDCA); Riegel v. Medtronic, Inc. (2008) 552 US 312, 128 S Ct 999, 169 L Ed2d 892, 914 (collecting state cases)].

- The Railway Labor Act (RLA), 45 USC § 151 et seq. [Moore-Thomas v. Alaska Airlines, Inc. (9th Cir 2009) 553 F3d 1241, 1243, 1246 (resolving intra-circuit conflict about whether RLA completely preempts state law claims)].

- The Securities Litigation Uniform Standards Act of 1998 (SLUSA), 15 USC § 77p(b) [Madden v. Cowen Co. (9th Cir 2009) 556 F3d 786, 790 (SLUSA precludes rather than preempts state law claims, because it does not displace state law claims with federal law, but makes some state law claims nonactionable through class action device in federal as well as state court)].

3.09[4][b] Determining Whether Claim Arises Under Labor Management Relations Act. An action arises under LMRA when a state law claim is substantially dependent on the interpretation of a collective bargaining agreement [Caterpillar, Inc. v. Williams (1987) 482 US 386, 394-395, 107 S Ct 2425, 96 L Ed2d 318].

The following actions have been held to not be preempted because they did not require the interpretation of a collective bargaining agreement:

- State law privacy claims based on the secret videotaping of unionized employees [see Cramer v. Consolidated Freightways, Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 255 F3d 683, 689-694].

- An employee's state law reasonable accommodation claim. The claim was not preempted because the employee did not need to rely on the provisions of the collective bargaining agreement to enforce the parallel, independent, and more extensive reasonable accommodation duties established by state law [Humble v. Boeing (9th Cir 2002) 305 F3d 1004, 1008-1012].

- An employee's claim that he was not paid premium wage rates for overtime work. The claim was based entirely on state law; the issue was not how the overtime rates were calculated but whether the result of the calculation complies with California law [Gregory v. SCIE, LLC (9th Cir 2003) 317 F3d 1050, 1052-1054].

3.09[4][c] Determining Whether Claim Arises Under Employee Retirement Income Security Act. Any state law relating to an employee benefit plan as described by ERISA is preempted [29 USC § 1144(a)].

A plaintiff's complaint is deemed to state a federal ERISA case if one or more of the plaintiff's claims is characterized as seeking [see Aetna Health Inc. v. Davila (2004) 542 US 200, 221, 124 S Ct 2488, 159 L Ed2d 312 ; Toumajian v. Frailey (9th Cir 1998) 135 F3d 648, 654-655]:

- To recover benefits due under the terms of an ERISA plan [see, e.g., Cleghorn v. Blue Shield (9th Cir 2005) 408 F3d 1222, 1225-1227];

- To enforce rights under the terms of an ERISA plan; or

- To clarify rights to future benefits under the terms of an ERISA plan.

In short, ERISA preempts any claims relating to the administration of benefits, considered a fiduciary act, under a plan regulated by ERISA [Aetna Health Inc. v. Davila (2004) 542 US 200, 218, 221, 124 S Ct 2488, 159 L Ed2d 312].

ERISA preemption of state laws is broad [Aetna Health Inc. v. Davila (2004) 542 US 200, 209, 124 S Ct 2488, 159 L Ed2d 312 ("the ERISA civil enforcement mechanism is one of those provisions with such 'extraordinary preemptive power' that it 'converts an ordinary state common law complaint into a federal claim' ")]. ERISA preempts a state law claim that can reasonably be characterized as a claim under ERISA's civil enforcement provisions [Toumajian v. Frailey (9th Cir 1998) 135 F3d 648, 654-655]. Under Ninth Circuit precedent, confirmed by the Supreme Court, a state law claim is preempted only if it encroaches on relationships regulated by ERISA [Geweke Ford v. St. Joseph's Omni

Preferred Care, Inc. (9th Cir 1997) 130 F3d 1355, 1358-1359]. ERISA's comprehensive legislative scheme includes an integrated system of procedures for enforcement, and is essential to accomplish Congress's purpose of creating a comprehensive statute for the regulation of employee benefit plans. Any state law cause of action that duplicates, supplements, or supplants the ERISA civil enforcement remedy conflicts with congressional intent and is preempted [Aetna Health Inc. v. Davila (2004) 542 US 200, 209, 124 S Ct 2488, 159 L Ed2d 312]. If a plaintiff's claims are outside ERISA's civil enforcement provision, the complete preemption argument fails and the district court lacks subject matter jurisdiction [Buster v. Greisen (9th Cir 1997) 104 F3d 1186, 1188-1189 , cert. denied, 522 US 981 (1997)].

ERISA does not preempt state law suits based on the following:

- The alleged tort of negligent misrepresentation brought by a third-party health provider against an ERISA plan administrator [The Meadows v. Employers Health Ins. (9th Cir 1995) 47 F3d 1006, 1011 ; see Buster v. Greisen (9th Cir 1997) 104 F3d 1186, 1188 , cert. denied, 522 US 981 (1997)].

- The allegation that accountants were negligent in establishing and administering a pension plan [Toumajian v. Frailey (9th Cir 1998) 135 F3d 648, 654-655].

- The alleged tort of invasion of privacy by private investigators hired by the plan administrator [Dishman v. UNUM Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2001) 269 F3d 974, 983-984].

- The underlying negligence constituting medical maltreatment by a person who can be deemed to be a treating physician or the physician's employer [Aetna Health Inc. v. Davila (2004) 542 US 200, 221, 124 S Ct 2488, 159 L Ed2d 312 ; see Pegram v. Herdrich (2000) 530 US 211, 120 S Ct 2143, 147 L Ed2d 164].

- A breach of contract claim brought by an insurer against an insured for reimbursement of benefits [Providence Health Plan v. McDowell (9th Cir 2004) 385 F3d 1168, 1172-1173 ; Carpenters Health & Welfare Trust v. Vonderharr (9th Cir 2004) 384 F3d 667, 672].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.10

3.10 Case May Be Subject to Removal If District Court Has Original Diversity Jurisdiction.

3.10[1] Removing on Basis of Diversity Jurisdiction.

3.10[1][a] Case Must Meet Amount in Controversy and Diversity of Citizenship Requirements. A defendant may be able to remove a case if the case could have originally been brought in federal court on the basis of diversity jurisdiction [28 USC § 1441(a); see Mutuelles Unies v. Kroll & Linstrom (9th Cir 1992) 957 F2d 707, 712].

A district court has diversity jurisdiction over any civil action in which the amount in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and the action is between [28 USC § 1332(a)]:

- Citizens of different states [see Mutuelles Unies v. Kroll & Linstrom (9th Cir 1992) 957 F2d 707, 712].
- Citizens of a state and citizens or subjects of a foreign state [see 28 USC § 1603(a)].
- Citizens of different states, with foreign citizens or subjects as additional parties.
- A foreign state as plaintiff and citizens of a state or different states as defendants.

Under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4], a district court also has diversity jurisdiction over certain class actions in which the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $5 million, exclusive of interest and costs, and diversity of citizenship exists between any member of a class of plaintiffs and any defendant [28 USC § 1332(d)(2)]. Note that the Class Action Fairness Act applies to civil actions "commenced" on or after February 18, 2005, and for purposes of CAFA retroactivity, "commenced" means the date the complaint is filed, not the date the case is removed [Bush v. Cheaptickets, Inc. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 683, 689 ; see also Pritchett v. Office Depot, Inc. (10th Cir 2005) 420 F3d 1090, 1094]. For purposes of determining CAFA's effective date, an action is commenced under California law when the original complaint in the action is filed, irrespective of any relation back analysis [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1016-1017 ; see McAtee v. Capital One, F.S.B. (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1143, 1148 (any amendment of original complaint does not change action's commencement date for purpose of CAFA's effective date)]. Further, an amendment to a cross-complaint in California state court (a counterclaim in federal court) does not commence an action under the CAFA as of the date of the amendment [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1015-1016].

Cross References:

Discussion of diversity jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), §§ 2.10 -2.25.

Removal in diversity of citizenship cases, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.14[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

3.10[1][b] Removal Not Permitted If Any Defendant Is Citizen of State in Which Action Is Filed. Removal based on general diversity jurisdiction is permissible only if none of the parties in interest properly joined and served as defendants is a citizen of the state in which the action is filed [28 USC § 1441(b)].

Exception:

A qualified class action may be removed without regard to whether any defendant is a citizen of the state in which the action is brought [28 USC § 1453(b) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)]. For discussion of the minimal diversity required under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), § 2.24A.

Strategic Point--Defendant:

The forum defendant rule contained in 28 USC § 1441(b) is procedural, not jurisdictional. Therefore, a violation of the forum defendant rule is a waivable defect if not objected to within 30 days and cannot form the basis for a district court's sua sponte remand order [Lively v. Wild Oats Mkts., Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 456 F3d 933, 935-936].

3.10[1][c] Removal Not Permitted in Domestic Relations Cases. Diversity jurisdiction does not apply to domestic relations cases. This exception is narrow and encompasses only cases involving the issuance of a divorce, alimony (spousal support) or child custody [Ankenbrandt v. Richards (1992) 504 US 689, 707-717, 112 S Ct 2206, 119 L Ed2d 468 ; see Peterson v. Babbitt (9th Cir 1983) 708 F2d 465, 466 (jurisdiction should be declined when primary issue concerns status of parent and child or spouses)].

3.10[1][d] Removal Not Permitted in Probate Cases. Federal courts lack diversity jurisdiction over probate cases and may not probate a will or administer an estate [Markham v. Allen (1946) 326 US 490, 494, 66 S Ct 296, 90 L Ed 256].

3.10[2] Satisfying Complete Diversity Requirement.

3.10[2][a] Consider Citizenship of All Named Defendants. The citizenship of all named defendants is relevant for purposes of diversity jurisdiction.

A named defendant does not have to negate the existence of a potential defendant whose presence would destroy diversity. If an entity is neither named nor joined as a defendant, it cannot be deemed a real party in interest whose presence would destroy diversity [Lincoln Prop. Co. v. Roche (2005) 546 US 81, 84, 126 S Ct 606, 163 L Ed 2d 415]. That some defendants have not been served is irrelevant [see Preaseau v. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir 1979) 591 F2d 74, 78-79 ; Republic W. Ins. Co. v. International Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1991) 765 F Supp 628, 629]. The determination of citizenship for diversity purposes is governed by federal rather than state law [see Rockwell Int'l Credit Corp. v. United States Aircraft Ins. Group (9th Cir 1987) 823 F2d 302, 304 , overruled on other grounds, Partington v. Gedan (9th Cir 1991) 923 F2d 686].

The citizenship of defendants sued under fictitious names, such as "Doe" defendants, is disregarded for diversity jurisdiction purposes [28 USC § 1441(a); Soliman v. Philip Morris, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 311 F3d 966, 971].

Intervention as of right under Fed R Civ P 24(a)(2) [see 14.06, 14.07] by a non-diverse party does not destroy diversity jurisdiction unless the intervenor was an indispensable party under Fed R Civ P 19(b) [see 4.46[2]] when the plaintiff filed the complaint [see Mattel, Inc. v. Bryant (CD Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 3568, at *30-*37].

The citizenship of nominal, sham, or fraudulently joined defendants is irrelevant for diversity jurisdiction purposes [see Pullman Co. v. Jenkins (1939) 305 US 534, 537, 59 S Ct 347, 83 L Ed 334 ; see also Morris v. Princess Cruises, Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 236 F3d 1061, 1066-1067].

A defendant seeking to establish that another, nondiverse defendant has been fraudulently joined must show one or both of the following [see Morris v. Princess Cruises, Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 236 F3d 1061, 1066-1067 ; see also Ritchey v. Upjohn Drug Co. (9th Cir 1998) 139 F3d 1313, 1316-1318 , cert. denied, 525 US 963 (1998)]:

- No possibility exists that the plaintiff will be able to establish a cause of action against the nondiverse defendant in state court;
- The plaintiff's pleadings of jurisdictional facts constitute outright fraud.

Strategic Points--Defendant:

Named defendants have no obligation to disclose the identity of Doe defendants before discovery [see Newcombe v. Adolf Coors Co. (9th Cir 1998) 157 F3d 686, 690-691] or to negate the existence of a potential defendant whose presence would destroy diversity [see Lincoln Prop. Co. v. Roche (2005) 546 US 81, 84, 126 S Ct 606, 163 L Ed 2d 415]. Further, defendants should move for an order under Fed R Civ P 12(b)(6) to dismiss the suit against any sham parties to eliminate the duty to serve those parties with copies of all process.

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

Plaintiffs should conduct discovery to identify and serve unnamed defendants as soon as practicable to ensure that the identification of any diversity destroying defendant is known before the defendant seeks removal [see Lincoln Prop. Co. v. Roche (2005) 546 US 81, 86, 94, 126 S Ct 606, 163 L Ed 2d 415].

Warning:

Alleging fraudulent joinder can potentially damage a defendant's case. Sanctions may be imposed for improper removal if the co-defendant is not fraudulently joined; the plaintiff's case may be strengthened by a finding of some possibility of recovery; and the removal may delay the resolution of a weak case in state court.

3.10[2][b] Timing of Determination of Diversity. For removal purposes, diversity of citizenship must be shown to exist at both of the following times [see Pullman Co. v. Jenkins (1939) 305 US 534, 538, 59 S Ct 347, 83 L Ed 334 ; see also Dolch v. United Cal. Bank (9th Cir 1983) 702 F2d 178, 181]:

- At the time that the lawsuit is commenced;

- At the time of removal.

If complete diversity exists between all named plaintiffs and all named defendants at the time of removal, the fact that complete diversity would not exist if some other entity had been named as a defendant does not prevent removal [see Lincoln Prop. Co. v. Roche (2005) 546 US 81, 84, 126 S Ct 606, 163 L Ed 2d 415]. The plaintiff can, however, attempt to join additional defendants after removal under 28 USC § 1447(e) to destroy diversity and have the case remanded bearing in mind that a change in citizenship following removal does not divest the federal district court of jurisdiction. The joinder of a defendant who is a resident of the forum state after removal also does not divest the federal district court of jurisdiction if complete diversity remains [Spencer v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 2004) 393 F3d 867, 870]. However, the addition of a nondiverse party after removal may require remand [see 28 USC § 1447(e); Yniques v. Cabral (9th Cir 1993) 985 F2d 1031, 1035-1036 , overruled on other grounds, McDowell v. Calderon (9th Cir 1999) 197 F3d 1253, 1255].

Cross Reference:

Joinder of additional defendants to destroy subject matter jurisdiction, see § 3.24.

The Supreme Court has crafted a narrow exception to this timing rule. If a case is improperly removed but the jurisdictional requirements are satisfied by the time the judgment is entered, the judgment is valid [Caterpillar, Inc. v. Lewis (1996) 519 US 61, 73-77, 117 S Ct 467, 136 L Ed2d 437].

Cross Reference:

Dropping nondiverse defendant after case is filed, see § 3.20[4][a].

3.10[2][c] Proving Diversity. A defendant seeking removal based on diversity jurisdiction has the burden of establishing diversity [Rockwell Int'l Credit Corp. v. United States Aircraft Ins. Group (9th Cir 1987) 823 F2d 302, 304 , overruled on other grounds, Partington v. Gedan (9th Cir 1991) 923 F2d 686].

A case is removable on diversity grounds if the initial pleading setting forth the claim for relief alleges facts indicating diversity [see 28 USC § 1446(b)]. Only the citizenship of named defendants is relevant. A named defendant does not need to negate the existence of a potential defendant whose presence would destroy diversity [Lincoln Prop. Co. v. Roche (2005) 546 US 81, 84, 126 S Ct 606, 163 L Ed 2d 415].

If the initial complaint does not disclose the citizenship of the parties, the case is not removable unless the defendant can prove the existence of diversity. A defendant may rely on amending pleadings, motions, orders, or other papers that indicate diversity to support allegations of diversity jurisdiction [see 28 USC § 1446(b)]. A defendant is also entitled to present facts showing joinder is fraudulent, including facts outside the complaint [Ritchey v. Upjohn Drug Co. (9th Cir 1998) 139 F3d 1313, 1318 , cert. denied, 525 US 963 (1998) ; Meisel v. Allstate Indem. Co. (ED Cal 2005) 357 F Supp2d 1222, 1226].

Strategic Point:

The view that the first 30-day period for removal applies when the initial pleading provides a "clue" as to removability [see Kaneshiro v. North Am. Co. for Life & Health Ins. (D Haw 1980) 496 F Supp 452, 460], has been rejected by the 9th Circuit: no duty is imposed on potential movants to investigate potential reasons for removal [Harris v. Bankers Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 689, 695-696].

Example:

Corporate defendants met their burden by submitting affidavits of knowledgeable company officials specifying the state of incorporation and providing statistics showing the number of corporate employees, income, sales, and the location of top management [United Computer Sys., Inc. v. AT&T Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 756, 763].

Cross Reference:

For further discussion of satisfying the complete diversity requirement, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), § 2.10[2].

3.10[3] Satisfying Amount in Controversy Requirement.

3.10[3][a] Amount in Controversy Must Exceed $75,000 in Most Cases. To support diversity jurisdiction, the amount in controversy must usually exceed $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs [28 USC § 1332(a)]. The test to determine the amount in controversy is not the sum that is ultimately awarded to the plaintiff, but the sum that is demanded by the plaintiff when the complaint is filed [St. Paul Mercury Indem. Co. v. Red Cab Co. (1938) 303 US 283, 289-290, 58 S Ct 586, 82 L Ed 845 ; see Chabner v. United of Omaha Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2000) 225 F3d 1042, 1046 n3 ; *see also US Bank Nat'l Ass'n v. Belle (SD Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 41014, at 5 (plaintiff's claim in complaint filed in state court, not combined claims of both parties, must exceed $75,000)].

Exception:

In multistate class actions for which the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 requires minimal, rather than complete, diversity [see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4], the matter in controversy must exceed the sum or value of $5 million, exclusive of interest and costs [28 USC § 1332(d)(2)]. Claims of individual class members are aggregated to determine whether this jurisdictional amount is met [28 USC § 1332(d)(6)]. When the plaintiff has pled an amount in controversy less than $5 million, the defendant seeking removal must prove with "legal certainty" that CAFA's jurisdictional amount is met [Lowdermilk v. U.S. Bank Nat'l Ass'n (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 994, 998]. Note that the Class Action Fairness Act applies to civil actions "commenced" on or after February 18, 2005, and for purposes of CAFA retroactivity, "commenced" means the date the complaint is filed, not the date the case is removed [Bush v. Cheaptickets, Inc. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 683, 689 ; see also Pritchett v. Office Depot, Inc. (10th Cir 2005) 420 F3d 1090, 1094]. For purposes of determining CAFA's effective date, an action is commenced under California law when the original complaint in the action is filed, irrespective of any relation back analysis [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1016-1017 ; see McAtee v. Capital One, F.S.B. (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1143, 1148 (any amendment of original complaint does not change action's commencement date for purpose of CAFA's effective date)]. Further, an amendment to a cross-complaint in California state court (a counterclaim in federal court) does not commence an action under the CAFA as of the date of the amendment [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1015-1016].

Strategic Point--Defendant

If the other elements of jurisdiction are present, such as complete diversity, and at least one named plaintiff satisfies the amount in controversy requirement, the entire case may be removable. Supplemental jurisdiction can be exercised over the claims of other plaintiffs in the case, even if those claims are for less than the jurisdictional amount [see Exxon Mobil Corp. v. Allapattah Servs., Inc. (2005) 545 US 546, 549, 125 S Ct 2611, 162 L Ed2d 502].

Cross Reference:

Nature and scope of supplemental jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue),

§§ 2.26 -2.30.

Although federal law determines the amount in controversy, federal courts look to state law in a diversity case to determine the nature and amount of damages [Horton v. Liberty Mut. Ins. Co. (1961) 367 US 348, 352-353, 81 S Ct 1570, 6 L Ed2d 890].

3.10[3][b] Application of "Either Viewpoint" Rule to Ascertain Amount in Controversy. Under the "either viewpoint" rule, the test for determining the amount in controversy is the pecuniary result to either party that the judgment would directly produce [McCauley v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir 2001) 264 F3d 952, 958].

Example:

When the value of a plaintiff's potential recovery is below the jurisdictional amount, but the potential cost to the defendant of complying with the injunction exceeds that amount, it is the latter that represents the amount in controversy for jurisdictional purposes [McCauley v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir 2001) 264 F3d 952, 958].

The Ninth Circuit will apply the "either viewpoint" rule to determine the amount in controversy in actions for equitable relief by individuals, and in class action cases in which the plaintiffs have a common and undivided interest in the injunctive relief [McCauley v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir 2001) 264 F3d 952, 959].

Distinguish:

When a plaintiff asserts separate and distinct claims for injunctive relief in a class action, the test is the cost to the defendants of an injunction running in favor of the plaintiff [McCauley v. Ford Motor Co. (9th Cir 2001) 264 F3d 952, 959].

Strategic Point:

Defense counsel should conduct a reasonable, good-faith investigation as to the amount in controversy before seeking removal, to avoid exposure to potential Rule 11 sanctions [see Fed R Civ P 11; Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions]. Counsel should consider requesting a stipulation from the plaintiff that damages do not exceed the jurisdictional minimum.

3.10[3][c] Timing of Determination of Amount in Controversy. The amount in controversy is determined based on the plaintiff's complaint at the time that the notice of removal is filed [see Pullman Co. v. Jenkins (1939) 305 US 534, 537, 59 S Ct 347, 83 L Ed 334 ; see also Gaus v. Miles, Inc. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 564, 566].

Warning:

After an action has been removed, a plaintiff cannot defeat diversity jurisdiction by voluntarily reducing his or her claim below the jurisdictional amount [St. Paul Mercury Indem. Co. v. Red Cab Co. (1938) 303 US 283, 292, 58 S Ct 586, 82 L Ed 845 ; Strong v. Merck & Co. (ND Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 2413, at *13].

3.10[3][d] Proving Amount in Controversy. A defendant seeking removal based on diversity jurisdiction bears the burden of proving the amount in controversy by a preponderance of the evidence [see Sanchez v. Monumental Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 398 , 403-404; Gaus v. Miles, Inc. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 564, 566-567]. The defendant may prove that the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000 in one of two ways [*Piazza v. EMPI, Inc. (ED Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 28136, at *40-41] :

- By demonstrating that it is facially apparent that the claims are likely above $75,000; or

- By setting forth the facts in controversy--"preferably in the removal petition, but sometimes by affidavit"--that support a finding of the requisite amount.

The burden of proving the amount in controversy remains on the defendant in a case removed under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 (CAFA) [see Abrego v. Dow Chem. Co. (9th Cir 2006) 443 F3d 676, 685 ; see also Serrano v. 180 Connect, Inc. (9th Cir 2007) 478 F3d 1018, 1019 (proponent of federal jurisdiction bears the burden of proving CAFA removal jurisdiction, while party seeking remand bears burden of proving exceptions)]. When plaintiff fails to plead a specific amount of damages, the defendant "must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the amount in controversy requirement has been met" [Abrego v. Dow Chem. Co. (9th Cir 2006) 443 F3d 676, 683 ; see Lowdermilk v. U.S. Bank Nat'l Ass'n (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 994, 998 (when the plaintiff does not specify an amount of damages in class action lawsuit, for removal purposes "Defendant must prove by a preponderance of the evidence that the damages claimed exceed $5,000,000")]. If the complaint alleges damages in excess of the amount-in-controversy requirement, that requirement is presumptively satisfied unless "it appears to a 'legal certainty' that the claim is actually for less than the jurisdictional minimum" [Abrego v. Dow Chem. Co. (9th Cir 2006) 443 F3d 676, 683 n.8]. When the plaintiff has pled damages less than the jurisdictional amount, the defendant must prove with "legal certainty" that CAFA's jurisdictional amount is met in order to remove the case under the CAFA [see Lowdermilk v. U.S. Bank Nat'l Ass'n (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 994, 998 ; *see, e.g., Nelson v. Bic USA, Inc. (SD Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 27366, at *11-12 (applying "legal certainty" standard, rather than preponderance of evidence standard, in deciding amount in controversy when plaintiff expressly specified class damages to be $1,000 less than CAFA jurisdictional threshold, but noting that defendant was entitled to attempt to show that actual amount placed in controversy exceeded jurisdictional amount)].

Removal is proper if it is facially apparent from the complaint that the amount in controversy exceeds the jurisdictional minimum. If the claim appears to have been made in good faith, then the sum claimed by the plaintiff controls for removal purposes unless it is apparent, to a legal certainty, that the plaintiff cannot recover the amount claimed [Singer v. State Farm Mut. Auto Ins. (9th Cir 1997) 116 F3d 373, 375 ; see St. Paul Mercury Indem. Co. v. Red Cab Co. (1938) 303 US 283, 288-290, 58 S Ct 586, 82 L Ed 845]. A removing defendant has a heavy burden in rebutting this presumption [see Boyer v. Snap-on Tools Corp. (3d Cir 1990) 913 F2d 108, 110-112 , cert. denied, 498 US 1085 (1991)].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

Federal jurisdiction can generally be avoided by suing for less than the jurisdictional amount.

If the jurisdictional amount is not alleged in the complaint or is not facially apparent, federal courts look to the removal notice and may require post-removal evidence relevant to the amount in controversy at the time of removal to determine whether the case is removable [Singer v. State Farm Mut. Auto Ins. (9th Cir 1997) 116 F3d 373, 377 ; see Kroske v. U.S. Bank Corp. (9th Cir 2005) 432 F3d 976, 980 (district court properly considered plaintiff's interrogatory responses and emotional distress damage awards in similar cases in determining amount in controversy); Valdez v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2004) 372 F3d 1115, 1117 (in determining amount in controversy, court may consider facts, removal notice, and any "summary-judgment-type evidence relevant to the amount in controversy at the time of removal")]. 28 USC § 1446(b) provides that "if the case stated by the initial pleading is not removable, a notice of removal may be filed within thirty days after receipt by the defendant, through service or otherwise, of a copy of an amended pleading, motion, order or other paper from which it may first be ascertained that the case is one which or has become removable." The "paper in the case" rule requires that only official documents filed in the underlying state court matter be used as a basis for removal, and not documents filed in other cases [*Hudson v. Pinkerton Sec. Servs. (ND Cal 2004) 2004 US Dist. LEXIS 19491, at *8-11 ; Phillips v. Allstate Ins. Co. (CD Cal 1989) 702 F Supp 1466, 1468-1469 ("Almost without exception, [courts] have held that the paper required in [section] 1446 must be a part of the underlying suit rather than an outside development in removal jurisdiction")].

Example:

In a class action alleging that wireless subscribers in California suffered losses as a result of incurring unauthorized charges in their cellular telephone bills from, or on behalf of, defendant, defendant could not rely on a declaration submitted by plaintiff's class counsel as part of a separate action brought against a different defendant to meet its burden of showing the amount in controversy [Walker v. Motricity Inc. (ND Cal 2009) 627 F Supp2d 1137, 1142] .

The notice of removal must allege underlying facts supporting federal jurisdiction; conclusory allegations are insufficient [Valdez v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2004) 372 F3d 1115, 1117 ; Gaus v. Miles, Inc. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 564, 566-567]. Allegations on information and belief do not constitute proof by a preponderance of the evidence [Valdez v. Allstate Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2004) 372 F3d 1115, 1117].

Under California law, in a complaint for actual or punitive damages for personal injury or wrongful death, the amount of damages sought may not be stated [CCP § 425.10(b)]. Therefore, to remove a California personal injury case, the defendant must make a showing by a preponderance of the evidence produced that the amount in controversy exceeds the jurisdictional amount [Singer v. State Farm Mut. Auto Ins. (9th Cir 1997) 116 F3d 373, 376].

Strategic Point--Defendant:

Under California law, in a personal injury case, the defendant may at any time request a statement of damages [see CCP § 425.11]. First serve a request for a statement of damages. If the plaintiff alleges more than the jurisdictional amount, then file your notice of removal [see 28 USC § 1446(b) (notice of removal to be filed within 30 days after date on which defendant receives a copy of a pleading, motion, order, or other paper from which it may be first ascertained that case has become removable)].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

To avoid removal of your personal injury case, allege less than the jurisdictional amount of damages in your statement of damages.

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of satisfying the amount in controversy requirement, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), § 2.21.

3.10[4] Minimal Diversity Under Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act of 2002.

3.10[4][a] "Minimal Diversity" Rule Confers Original Federal Court Jurisdiction in Civil Cases Arising From Catastrophic Accidents. The Multiparty, Multiforum Trial Jurisdiction Act of 2002 [see 107 PL 273, § 11020, 116 Stat 1758, 1829 (effective Nov. 2, 2002)] provides for original jurisdiction of certain civil actions involving minimal diversity between adverse parties when at least 75 natural persons have died in a single accident at a discrete location [28 USC § 1369(a)].

Cross Reference:

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.25 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

3.10[4][b] Removal in Minimal Diversity Cases. Notwithstanding the general rules on diversity-jurisdiction-based removal [28 USC § 1441(b); see 3.10], a defendant in a state-court civil action may remove an action to federal district court if either [28 USC § 1441(e)(1)]:

- The action could have been brought under the district court's minimal diversity jurisdiction provision [28 USC § 1369]; or

- The defendant is a party to an action that is or could have been brought under the district court's minimal diversity jurisdiction, even if the action could not have been brought in a district court as an original matter.

Cross Reference:

Removal under Section 1441(e), see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.11[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

The action is removable if it arises from the same accident as the state court action, even if it could not have been originally brought in district court. If an action is removable, it must be removed to the district court for the district and division embracing the place where the action is pending [28 USC § 1441(e)(1)].

3.10[5] Minimal Diversity Under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005. Under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4], a district court has diversity jurisdiction over certain multistate class actions in which the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $5 million, exclusive of interest and costs, and diversity of citizenship exists between any member of a class of plaintiffs and any defendant [28 USC § 1332(d)(2)]. A defendant in a qualifying class action filed in state court may remove that action to federal district court without regard to whether any defendant is a citizen of the state in which the action is brought [28 USC § 1453(b)]. Note that the Class Action Fairness Act applies to civil actions "commenced" on or after February 18, 2005, and for purposes of CAFA retroactivity, "commenced" means the date the complaint is filed, not the date the case is removed [Bush v. Cheaptickets, Inc. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 683, 689 ; see also Pritchett v. Office Depot, Inc. (10th Cir 2005) 420 F3d 1090, 1094]. For purposes of determining CAFA's effective date, an action is commenced under California law when the original complaint in the action is filed, irrespective of any relation back analysis [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1016-1017 ; see McAtee v. Capital One, F.S.B. (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1143, 1148 (any amendment of original complaint does not change action's commencement date for purpose of CAFA's effective date)]. Further, an amendment to a cross-complaint in California state court (a counterclaim in federal court) does not commence an action under the CAFA as of the date of the amendment [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1015-1016].

Cross References:

Discussion of minimal diversity required under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), § 2.24A.

15 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 102.26 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.11

3.11 Determining Who Can Remove.

3.11[1] Right of Removal Generally Limited.

3.11[1][a] Defendants. Under the general removal statute, only defendants may remove a civil action from a state to a federal court for the district and division within which the action is pending [28 USC §§ 1441(a), 1446(a)].

3.11[1][b] Plaintiff May Not Remove As Defendant. Federal law determines whether a party is a defendant, prevailing over a state court's characterization or alignment of the parties [Chicago, Rock Island & Pac. R.R. Co. v. Stude (1954) 346 US 574, 580, 74 S Ct 290, 98 L Ed 317].

District courts will not recharacterize a plaintiff as a defendant for removal purposes, even if state law characterizes the plaintiff as defendant under the following circumstances [Shamrock Oil & Gas Corp. v. Sheets (1941) 313 US 100, 107, 61 S Ct 868, 85 L Ed 1214]:

- When the plaintiff is defending a counterclaim (cross-complaint).
- When the plaintiff is defending against a crossclaim by a co-plaintiff.

The Class Action Fairness Act (CAFA) of 2005 [see 109 PL 2, 119 Stat 12] does not create an exception to the longstanding rule that a plaintiff/cross-defendant could not remove an action to federal court [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1017-1018].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of minimal diversity requirement under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), 2.24A.

3.11[1][c] Third-Party Defendants. Whether a third-party defendant has the power to remove cases to federal court is an unsettled issue in the Ninth Circuit [see O'Halloran v. Univ. of Wash., (9th Cir 1988) 856 F2d 1375, 1381 ; Bonner v. Fuji Photo Film (ND Cal 2006) 461 F Supp2d 1112, 1116]. However, the trend in the circuit's courts appears to be that third-party defendants may not remove under 28 USC § 1441(a) or (c) [see, e.g., Bonner v. Fuji Photo Film (ND Cal 2006) 461 F Supp2d 1112, 1116 n. 1 ; *Ciolino v. Ryan (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 11639, at *9-*10, 21 (although the Ninth Circuit has not yet addressed the "interesting question" of whether third-party defendants can remove under § 1441(a), weight of authority suggests that they cannot; additionally, court refuses to depart from the "nearly overwhelming body of authority" that § 1441(c) does not give a third-party defendant the right to remove)]. One district court has sanctioned removal by third-party defendants, but only if the removal is based on a cause of action in the third-party complaint that is "separate and independent" from the other claims in the case [see Southland Corp. v. Estridge (CD Cal 1978) 456 F Supp 1296, 1301].

Strategic Point:

Special removal statutes [see § 3.13] may provide an independent basis for a third-party defendant to remove the case [see California v. Keating (9th Cir 1993) 986 F2d 346, 348].

Cross References:

Discussion of third-party actions generally, see Ch. 12, Third-Party Actions.

Removal by third-party defendants, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.11[1][b][iv] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

3.11[1][d] Defendant Intervenor. An action may be removable by an intervening defendant if the following other removal requirements are met [Hopkins Erecting Co. v. Briarwood Apartments (ED Ky 1981) 517 F Supp 243, 248 (citing Moore's)]:

- The original action would have been removable;
- The time for removing the action has not expired [see 3.17];
- The original defendants join in the notice of removal, or may be disregarded for removal purposes [see 3.10].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of intervention generally, see Ch. 14, Intervention.

Removal by defendant intervenor, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.11[1][b][v] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

3.11[2] Statutory Right of Specific Plaintiffs to Remove. The general removal statute does not permit plaintiffs to remove an action that they filed in state court [28 USC § 1441(a); Shamrock Oil & Gas Corp. v. Sheets (1941) 313 US 100, 107, 61 S Ct 868, 85 L Ed 1214].

However, special removal statutes permit certain plaintiffs to remove state court actions under specified circumstances, such as the following:

- The Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC) is the plaintiff seeking removal [12 USC § 1441a(l)(3); see 3.13[6]];
- The Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) is the plaintiff seeking removal [12 USC § 1819(b)(2)(B); see 3.13[7]];

- The district court has jurisdiction under 28 USC § 1334 (bankruptcy-related proceedings) [28 USC § 1452(a); see 3.13[8]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalElementsProper TransferorsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.12

3.12 All Defendants Must Join in Notice of Removal in Most Cases.

3.12[1] Except in Qualified Class Action, All Defendants Must Join in Notice of Removal. All defendants must usually join in the notice of removal [28 USC § 1446(b)]. An exception exists for class actions that qualify for minimal diversity jurisdiction; in such a class action, any defendant may remove the action without the consent of all other defendants [28 USC § 1453(b) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)].

3.12[2] Failure of Defendants to Join Defeats Removal. When defendants must join in the notice of removal, the failure of one defendant to join in the removal notice constitutes a procedural defect that precludes removal [28 USC § 1446(b); see Wisconsin Dep't of Corrs. v. Schacht (1998) 524 US 381, 393, 118 S Ct 2047, 141 L Ed2d 364 (citing Chicago, Rock Island & Pac. R.R. Co. v. Stude (1954) 346 US 574, 580, 74 S Ct 290, 98 L Ed 317); see also Parrino v. FHP, Inc. (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 699, 703 , cert. denied, 525 US 1001 (1998)].

If the first served defendants fail to remove a state court action within 30 days, later served defendants cannot remove. Defendants served after removal may either accept the federal forum or move to remand [28 USC § 1446(b); see McAnally Enters., Inc. v. McAnally (CD Cal 2000) 107 F Supp2d 1223, 1226-1228 (adopting majority "first-served" rule)].

Cross Reference:

Defendants' option to remove, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.11[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.); see also § 3.20[3].

It appears that in the Ninth Circuit, third-party defendants may not remove under 28 USC § 1441(a) or (c) [see, e.g., Bonner v. Fuji Photo Film (ND Cal 2006) 461 F Supp2d 1112, 1116 n. 1 ; Ciolino v. Ryan (ND Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 11639, at *9-*10, *21].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of removal by third-party defendants, see 3.11[1][c].

3.12[3] Failure of All Defendants to Join Is Waivable Defect. The failure of all defendants to join the removal notice is a procedural defect that is deemed waived unless objected to within 30 days [Parrino v. FHP, Inc. (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 699, 703 , cert. denied, 525 US 1001 (1998)].

Example:

A defendant's failure to join in a removal notice until almost two months after service of the complaint was curable by joinder. Because the defect was cured before entry of judgment, reversal and remand were not warranted [Parrino v. FHP, Inc. (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 699, 703 , cert. denied, 525 US 1001 (1998)].

3.12[4] In Special Cases, Not All Defendants Need Join. The requirement that all defendants join the removal notice has several exceptions.

- Unserved defendants. Any defendant who was not served with state court process need not join in the removal notice [Salveson v. Western States Bankcard Ass'n (9th Cir 1984) 731 F2d 1423, 1429].

- Improperly served defendants. Improperly served defendants need not join in the removal notice [Salveson v. Western States Bankcard Ass'n (9th Cir 1984) 731 F2d 1423, 1429].

- Nominal parties. Nominal or formal parties, being neither necessary nor indispensable, are not required to join in the removal notice [see Navarro Sav. Ass'n v. Lee (1980) 446 US 458, 461, 100 S Ct 1779, 64 L Ed2d 425].

- Statutory removal. If removal is based on specific statutory authorization, only the statutorily authorized defendants must join in the removal notice [Ely Valley Mines, Inc. v. Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. (9th Cir 1981) 644 F2d 1310, 1314-1315 (federal officer removal)].

In all cases, the removal notice must expressly explain the absence or nonjoinder of any codefendants [P.P. Farmers' Elevator Co. v. Farmers Elevator Mut. Ins. Co. (7th Cir 1968) 395 F2d 546, 548 (citing Moore's)].

Strategic Point:

With regard to statutory removal, the presence of an independent basis for removal, such as federal question jurisdiction, does not require that all defendants join in the removal notice [Akin v. Ashland Chem. Co. (10th Cir 1998) 156 F3d 1030, 1034-1035 , cert. denied, 526 US 1112 (1998)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisCases Involving Federal OfficersCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalElementsProper TransferorsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.13

3.13 Special Removal Statutes Permit Removal in Certain Types of Cases, or by Certain Types of Parties.

3.13[1] Actions Brought Against Federal Agencies and Officers.

3.13[1][a] Who May Remove Action. A civil action brought in state court against any of the following types of defendants may be removed by the defendant to the federal district court in the district and division where the action is pending:

- The United States or any of its agencies or officers sued in an official or individual capacity for any act under color of law of that office [28 USC § 1442(a)(1)];
- A property holder whose title is derived from an officer of the United States, when the state court action or prosecution affects the validity of any law of the United States [28 USC § 1442(a)(2)];
- Any officer of the courts of the United States, for any act under color of office or in the performance of his or her duties [28 USC § 1442(a)(3)];
- Any officer of either the House of Representatives or the Senate, for any act in the discharge of official duties [28 USC § 1442(a)(4)].

3.13[1][b] Original Federal Jurisdiction Not Required Apart From Statute. The statutory authorization for federal officer removal is independent of general removal procedures and does not require that the federal court have original federal jurisdiction apart from the statute [Mesa v. California (1989) 489 US 121, 124-125, 128, 134-138, 109 S Ct 959, 103 L Ed2d 99 ; see Fung v. Abex Corp. (ND Cal 1992) 816 F Supp 569, 572-573 ; see also Mir v. Fosburg (9th Cir 1980) 646 F2d 342, 344].

28 USC § 1442, unlike 28 USC § 1441, allows removal to federal court even if the action could not have been commenced in federal court. However, according to the Ninth Circuit, § 1442 merely allows the federal government to remove a case to federal district court; it does not determine whether the court has jurisdiction to hear it [State Eng'r v. S. Fork Band of the Te-Moak Tribe of W. Shoshone Indians of Nev. (9th Cir 2003) 339 F3d 804, 809]. Therefore, if there are specific jurisdictional bars elsewhere that prevent a district court from asserting jurisdiction, the general removal provision cannot overcome the jurisdictional defect [State Eng'r v. S. Fork Band of the Te-Moak Tribe of W. Shoshone Indians of Nev. (9th Cir 2003) 339 F3d 804, 809].

3.13[1][c] Federal Official Defendant. To remove a state court case, a federal official defendant must do all of the following [Mesa v. California (1989) 489 US 121, 124-125, 128, 134-136, 109 S Ct 959, 103 L Ed2d 99]:

- Establish that he or she is a federal officer or was acting under the direction of a federal officer;
- Raise a colorable federal defense to the plaintiff's claims;
- Show a causal nexus between the acts performed under color of office and the plaintiff's claims.

A defendant seeking to remove on the basis that he or she was acting under the direction of a federal officer must show that a federal officer had direct and detailed control over the defendant. Federal contractors sued for acts on behalf of a federal agency can establish that they acted under the direction of a federal officer for removal purposes under this statute [see Durham v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 445 F3d 1247, 1250-1251].

Whether a defendant is a person acting under a federal officer is a mixed question of law and fact [International Primate Prot. League v. Tulane Educ. Fund (1991) 500 US 72, 86-89, 111 S Ct 1700, 114 L Ed2d 134].

A private party may qualify for federal officer removal under certain circumstances. In the context of the federal officer removal statute, "acting under" must refer to a relationship that involves "acting in a certain capacity, considered in relation to one holding a superior position or office." Typically, the relationship involves "subjection, guidance, or control." In addition, the private person's action must involve an effort to help carry out the duties of the federal superior [Watson v. Philip Morris Cos. (2007) 551 US 142, 127 S Ct 2301, 168 L Ed2d 42, 49-50] .

Example:

A tobacco company defendant was not entitled to remove a case involving its testing of cigarettes for tar and nicotine merely because the Federal Trade Commission mandated the testing, dictated the testing method, and monitored and supervised the testing. Simply complying with the law does not give a private person the right to remove a case under 28 USC § 1442. Compelling an industry to engage in a particular act suggests regulation, not the delegation or direction that would justify removal [Watson v. Philip Morris Cos. (2007) 551 US 142, 127 S Ct 2301, 168 L Ed2d 42, 53] .

The Ninth Circuit uses a four factor test to determine if a private party qualifies for federal officer removal [see Durham v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 445 F3d 1247, 1251]:

- Its actions were taken under the direction of a federal officer.
- The party has a federal defense to the plaintiff's claims.
- The party can demonstrate a causal nexus between the plaintiff's claims and the acts allegedly performed by the defendant under orders of a federal officer.
- The party can demonstrate that it is a "person" within the meaning of 28 USC § 1442 (in the Ninth Circuit, "person" includes a corporation).

A court-appointed bankruptcy trustee is deemed an officer of the court for removal purposes [see In re Serrato (9th Cir 1997) 117 F3d 427, 428].

The Ninth Circuit permits federal officers to remove an action in which they are merely stakeholders or garnishees [see Nationwide Investors v. Miller (9th Cir 1986) 793 F2d 1044, 1046-1047].

Strategic Point--Defendant:

Removal as a federal officer defendant under 28 USC § 1442(a)(1) has three distinct advantages. First, not all defendants need join in the removal notice [see 13.12[4]]. Second, although removal statutes are generally strictly construed with any doubt as to the right of removal resolved in favor of remanding to state court, when federal officers and their agents seek removal under 28 USC § 1442(1), that statute is interpreted broadly in favor of removal [see Durham v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 445 F3d 1247, 1252]. Third, the defendant's 30 days to remove begins when the plaintiff discloses sufficient facts for federal officer removal, even if the defendant was previously aware of a different basis for removal [Durham v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 445 F3d 1247, 1253].

Cross Reference:

Federal officer removal, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.15[1].

3.13[1][d] "Under Color of Office" Requirement. "Under Color of Office" requires both of the following [Willingham v. Morgan (1969) 395 US 402, 405-407, 89 S Ct 1813, 23 L Ed2d 396]:

- The federal-official defendant claimed to be acting under federal authority to enforce federal law.
- A causal connection exists between the federal-official defendant's act and the state court lawsuit.

3.13[1][e] Entire Action Removed. In general, when a federal official removes a case, the entire case is removed, even if the action involves claims that are not otherwise removable [see Dillon v. Mississippi Military Dep't (5th Cir 1994) 23 F3d 915, 918-919].

3.13[1][f] Retaining Case After Dismissal of Federal Agency or Officer. A district court has discretion to retain jurisdiction and adjudicate a case following the dismissal of the federal officer or agency that initially removed the case [Nebraska v. Bentson (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 676, 678]. Courts will ordinarily remand the case absent compelling reasons to retain the case [see District of Columbia v. Merit Systems Prot. Bd. (DC Cir 1985) 762 F2d 129, 133].

3.13[2] Actions Brought Against Members of Armed Forces. A member of the armed forces may remove a case based on acts committed under color of office or concerning which he or she claims any right, title, or authority under federal law respecting the armed forces or under the law of war [28 USC § 1442a].

The scope of removal jurisdiction under this statutory authority is similar to that of federal officer and agency removal [see 3.13[1]].

3.13[3] Civil Rights Actions.

3.13[3][a] Defendants in Certain Civil Rights Cases May Remove. Removal in certain civil rights cases is permissible to protect persons against state actions instituted to hamper the enforcement of federal civil rights laws [Greenberg v. Veteran (2d Cir 1989) 889 F2d 418, 421-422].

The following civil actions or criminal prosecutions may be removed [28 USC § 1443]:

- Actions in which the defendant is denied or cannot enforce his or her civil rights in state court [see 3.13[3][b]].

- Actions in which the defendant is being sued for an act he or she committed under color of authority derived from a law providing for equal rights, or for refusing to do an act on the ground that it would be inconsistent with that law [see 3.13[3][c]].

Consider:

Removal under this restrictive basis is increasingly unusual. If the complaint underlying the state court action alleges violations of rights under federal civil rights laws, the case may be removable under the general removal statute, relying on federal question jurisdiction [see 28 USC § 1441(a); Harris v. Birmingham Bd. of Educ. (11th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 1525, 1526-1527].

3.13[3][b] Enforcement of Civil Rights. A defendant who is denied or cannot enforce his or her civil rights in state court may remove a state civil or criminal action in restricted circumstances [28 USC § 1443(1); City of Greenwood v. Peacock (1966) 384 US 808, 824-828, 86 S Ct 1800, 16 L Ed2d 944].

To support removal, the defendant must show the following [Georgia v. Rachel (1966) 384 US 780, 790-792, 86 S Ct 1783, 16 L Ed2d 925 ; Hewitt v. City of Stanton (9th Cir 1986) 798 F2d 1230, 1233]:

- The right allegedly denied the defendant arises under a federal law providing for specific civil rights stated in terms of racial equality.

- The defendant is denied or cannot enforce the specified federal rights in the state court.

Removal is unavailable if the defendant did not rely on the federal civil rights law in committing the act, or if the defendant's conduct is not protected by the federal law [see City of Greenwood v. Peacock (1966) 384 US 808, 824-828, 86 S Ct 1800, 16 L Ed2d 944].

3.13[3][c] Acts Under Color of Authority Derived From Civil Rights Laws. A defendant sued for performing acts under color of authority derived from any civil rights laws, or charged with refusing to perform an act because it would be inconsistent with civil rights laws, may remove a state civil or criminal action to federal court in restricted circumstances [28 USC § 1443(2); Greenberg v. Veteran (2d Cir 1989) 889 F2d 418, 421].

Removal on this basis is restricted to federal laws providing civil rights defined in terms of racial equality [City of Greenwood v. Peacock (1966) 384 US 808, 826-828, 86 S Ct 1800, 16 L Ed2d 944].

A federal officer or agent is only permitted to remove on this basis if the defendant is sued for performing official duties in violation of federal civil rights laws [City of Greenwood v. Peacock (1966) 384 US 808, 826-828, 86 S Ct 1800, 16 L Ed2d 944].

A state officer or agent is only permitted to remove on this basis if the defendant is sued for refusing to act in violation of federal civil rights laws [see White v. Wellington (2d Cir 1980) 627 F2d 582, 586].

Cross Reference:

Removal of civil rights cases, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.15[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

3.13[4] Civil Actions Against Foreign States.

3.13[4][a] Foreign State May Remove Case. Any civil action brought in a state court against a foreign state may be removed by the foreign state to the district court for the district and division embracing the location where the action is pending [28 USC § 1441(d)]. Removal by a foreign state encompasses the entire action, including otherwise nonremovable claims [see Chuidian v. Philippine Nat'l Bank (9th Cir 1990) 912 F2d 1095, 1098-1099 , aff'd on other grounds, 976 F2d 561 (9th Cir 1992)].

In multiple-defendant actions, a foreign state may remove the entire action without the consent or joinder of other defendants [Chuidian v. Philippine Nat'l Bank (9th Cir 1990) 912 F2d 1095, 1098-1099 , aff'd on other grounds, 976 F2d 561 (9th Cir 1992)].

A defendant who is the alter ego of a foreign state, or an organ of a foreign state under the Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act, may be entitled to remove [see EIE Guam Corp. v. Long Term Credit Bank of Japan, Ltd. (9th Cir 2003) 322 F3d 635, 639-649 , cert. denied, 540 US 1003 (2003) ; see also Sugar Corp. of Puerto Rico v. Environeering, Inc. (DPR 1981) 520 F Supp 996, 998-999]. However, indirect or tiered majority ownership by a foreign state is insufficient to qualify an entity as a foreign state entitled to removal [Gates v. Victor Fine Foods (9th Cir 1995) 54 F3d 1457, 1462 , cert. denied, 516 US 869 (1995)].

After removal, the action must be tried without a jury, even if aright to a jury trial existed in state court [28 USC § 1441(d)].

3.13[4][b] Timing for Removal. The foreign state must file the removal notice within 30 days after receiving a copy of the initial pleading. The 30-day period may be extended for cause shown [28 USC §§ 1441(d), 1446(b)].

Factors to be evaluated in considering an extension include the purpose of the removal statute, the extent of any prior activity of the defendant in state court, the likelihood of prejudice to the parties, and the relative equities [Refco, Inc. v. Galadari (SDNY 1991) 755 F Supp 79, 83-84].

Cross Reference:

Removal of civil actions against foreign states, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.15[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

3.13[5] Foreclosure Actions Against United States. A state court action brought against the United States seeking to quiet title to, foreclose a mortgage or other lien on, or partition or condemn real or personal property on which the United States claims a mortgage or other lien may be removed by the United States [28 USC § 1444; see 28 USC § 2410; see also Hood v. United States (9th Cir 1958) 256 F2d 522, 525].

28 USC § 2410 waives the federal government's immunity so that private parties can secure the government's presence in court when necessary to quiet title or resolve the priority of liens or mortgages. This waiver is narrowly construed, and only applies when the issue concerns the priority of an existing government mortgage or other security interest [Hussain v. Boston Old Colony Ins. Co. (5th Cir 2002) 311 F3d 623, 629-630]. However, the waiver is read more expansively when the priority of a government lien is in dispute and the issue is whether the statute applies to the type of relief sought [see United States v. Coson (9th Cir 1961) 286 F2d 453, 457].

In foreclosure suits involving multiple defendants, the United States may remove the entire action without the consent or joinder of the other defendants [see Chrysler First Fin. Servs. Corp. v. Greenfield (SD Fla 1991) 753 F Supp 939, 941].

3.13[6] Resolution Trust Corporation Cases.

3.13[6][a] Scope of Removal. The Resolution Trust Corporation (RTC) is expressly authorized to remove any state court actions, suits, or proceedings in which the RTC is a party [12 USC § 1441a(l)(3)]. If the RTC is a party, the entire case is deemed to arise under federal law and the district courts have original federal question jurisdiction over every claim in the entire action [12 USC § 1441a(l)(1); Brockman v. Merabank (9th Cir 1994) 40 F3d 1013, 1015-1016 ; see California v. Keating (9th Cir 1993) 986 F2d 346, 348-349]. Therefore, district courts have no discretion to remand claims, even after the RTC settles or is dismissed from the case [Brockman v. Merabank (9th Cir 1994) 40 F3d

1013, 1015-1017].

The RTC is deemed substituted into the case on the filing of a copy of the order appointing the RTC as conservator or receiver, or on the filing of another pleading that informs the court of the appointment [see RTC v. Bayside Developers (9th Cir 1994) 43 F3d 1230, 1236 , as amended, 1994 US App LEXIS 34619 (9th Cir 1995) ; see also McCarthy Western Constructors, Inc. v. Phoenix Resort Corp. (9th Cir 1991) 951 F2d 1137, 1140-1141 (removal notice filed in state court adequately informs court)].

3.13[6][b] Time for Removal. The RTC must remove either [see 12 USC § 1441a(l)(3)]:

- Within 30 days after the RTC is served as a party in any capacity; or
- Within 90 days after being substituted as a party.

However, courts have permitted the RTC to remove at any stage in the proceedings before the judgment becomes final, even when the case is on appeal, as long as the state appellate proceedings have not been exhausted [see RTC v. Bayside Developers (9th Cir 1994) 43 F3d 1230, 1236-1237 , as amended, 1994 US App LEXIS 34619 (9th Cir 1995) ; see also RTC v. BVS Dev., Inc. (9th Cir 1994) 42 F3d 1206, 1211 (RTC removal from state appellate court)].

3.13[6][c] Venue. The RTC may remove to any of the following districts [12 USC § 1441a(l)(3); see Hellon & Assoc., Inc. v. Phoenix Resort Corp. (9th Cir 1992) 958 F2d 295, 298]:

- The district in which the state action is pending.
- The District of Columbia district court.
- If the case arises out of RTC actions relating to an institution for which a receiver has been appointed, the district encompassing the institution's principal place of business.

A district court may transfer venue for the convenience of the parties [see 28 USC § 1404; see also Piekarski v. Home Owners Sav. Bank (DDC 1990) 743 F Supp 38, 43].

3.13[6][d] Appeal of Remand. If the case is remanded, the RTC may seek appellate review of the remand [12 USC § 1441a(l)(3)(C)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of removal in RTC cases, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.15[6] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

3.13[7] Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation Cases.

3.13[7][a] Scope of Removal. In general, all civil actions involving the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation (FDIC) in any capacity are deemed to arise under the laws of the United States [12 USC § 1819(b)(2)(A)].

The FDIC is expressly authorized to remove any action, suit, or proceeding filed in state court against the FDIC, or in which the FDIC is a substituted as a party, except in any of the following circumstances [12 USC § 1819(b)(2)(B), (D)]:

- The FDIC is acting in its capacity as a receiver of a state insured depository institution by the exclusive appointment by state authorities, and is a party other than a plaintiff.
- The case involves only the preclosing rights against the state insured depository institution or obligations owing to depositors, creditors, or stockholders by that institution.

- The case involves the interpretation of only state law.

3.13[7][b] Time for Removal. The FDIC must remove the action within 90 days after the date the action is filed against the FDIC or the FDIC is substituted as a party [12 USC § 1819(b)(2)(B)].

3.13[7][c] Appeal of Remand. If the case is remanded, the FDIC may seek appellate review of the remand [12 USC § 1819(b)(2)(C)].

3.13[8] Claims Related to Bankruptcy Cases.

3.13[8][a] Any Party May Remove Related Claims. Any party to a state court claim or cause of action that falls within bankruptcy jurisdiction may remove that claim or cause of action (but not the entire civil action unless the district court has independent jurisdiction over the other claims) to the district court where the related bankruptcy action is pending [28 USC § 1452(a); see 28 USC § 1334(b)].

All civil proceedings arising under the Bankruptcy Code and all claims and causes of action arising in or related to bankruptcy proceedings fall within bankruptcy jurisdiction [28 USC § 1334(b)]. Federal courts broadly define when a lawsuit is related to a bankruptcy case [In re Fietz (9th Cir 1988) 852 F2d 455, 457]. A lawsuit is related to a bankruptcy case when the outcome of the lawsuit could conceivably affect an estate being administered in bankruptcy [see In re Dow Corning (6th Cir 1996) 86 F3d 482, 489-495 , cert. denied, 519 US 1071 (1997)].

3.13[8][b] Exception for Proceeding Before Tax Court or Civil Action to Enforce Police or Regulatory Power of Government Unit. The rule permitting parties to remove civil actions arising under the Bankruptcy Code, or arising in or related to cases under the Bankruptcy Code, does not apply to [28 USC § 1452(a)]:

- A proceeding before the United States tax court; or

- A civil action by a governmental unit to enforce that unit's police or regulatory power [see, e.g., City & County of San Francisco v. PG & E Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 433 F3d 1115].

3.13[8][c] Exception for Mandatory Abstention. A federal court must abstain from exercising its jurisdiction, on timely motion by any party, if all of the following are shown [28 USC § 1334(c)(2)]:

- The state court action is based on a state law claim or cause of action;

- That claim or cause of action is related to a bankruptcy core proceeding (as defined in 28 USC § 157(b)(2));

- Federal courts would not have jurisdiction but for the bankruptcy claim;

- The matter can be adjudicated in a timely manner in a state court of appropriate jurisdiction.

Mandatory abstention does not apply unless there is a parallel state court proceeding [In re Lazar (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 967, 981-982 , cert. denied, 534 US 992 (2001)]. Further, mandatory abstention does not apply to personal injury or wrongful death claims against the debtor; however, in the mass tort context, mandatory abstention does apply to personal injury or wrongful death claims against non-debtor co-defendants even if these defendants have contribution claims against the debtor [28 USC § 157(b)(4), (5); see, e.g., In re Dow Corning (6th Cir 1996) 86 F3d 482, 489-495 , cert. denied, 519 US 1071 (1997)].

3.13[8][d] Party Seeking Removal Must Serve and File Verified Notice. The party seeking removal must file a verified notice, in the bankruptcy court in the district where the civil action is pending, containing the following [Fed R Bankr P 9027(a)]:

- A short, plain statement of the facts that entitle the party to remove;
- A statement of whether the proceeding is a core or noncore proceeding (as defined in 28 USC § 157(b)(2)); and if the proceeding is noncore, whether the applicant consents to the entry of final orders by the bankruptcy judge;
- A copy of all process and pleadings in the action.

Promptly after filing the notice with the district court, the party seeking removal must serve a copy of the notice on all parties and on the state court [Fed R Bankr P 9027(b), (c)].

3.13[8][e] Timing of Notice If Bankruptcy Action Filed Before Civil Action. The time for filing a removal notice depends on whether the bankruptcy or civil action was filed first. If the bankruptcy action was filed first, the notice must be filed before the earlier of [Fed R Bankr P 9027(a)(3)]:

- Thirty days after receipt of the initial pleading that contains a civil claim or cause of action that the party seeks to remove; or
- Thirty days after receipt of the summons, if the initial pleading for the civil claim or cause of action was filed with the court but not served with the summons.

3.13[8][f] Timing of Notice If Civil Action Filed Before Bankruptcy Action. If the civil action was filed first, the notice must be filed before the latest of [Fed R Bankr P 9027(a)(2)]:

- Ninety days after the order for relief in the bankruptcy action; or
- Thirty days after the order terminating the stay, providing that the civil action was stayed under the Bankruptcy Code; or
- In a Chapter 11 reorganization, 30 days after a trustee is qualified, but no more than 180 days after the order for relief.

3.13[8][g] Party May File Verified Statement After Notice of Removal. Any party who has filed a pleading in connection with the removed claim or cause of action may file a verified statement within 10 days of the filing of the removal notice with the district court that must [Fed R Bankr P 9027(e)(3)]:

- Admit or deny any allegation in the removal notice as to whether the proceeding is core or noncore;
- Give or withhold consent to the entry of final orders by the bankruptcy judge in noncore proceedings.

3.13[8][h] District Court Has Discretion to Remand. After removal, the district court has broad discretion to remand the removed claim or cause of action based on any equitable ground [28 USC § 1452(b)].

The factors that the court will consider in determining whether to remand include [see In re Dow Corning (6th Cir 1996) 86 F3d 482, 489-495 , cert. denied, 519 US 1071 (1996) ; see also In re Lazar (9th Cir 2001) 237 F3d 967, 981-982 , cert. denied, 534 US 992 (2001)]:

- Whether remand would prevent duplication or uneconomical use of judicial resources;
- The effect of the remand on the administration of the bankruptcy estate;
- Whether the case involves questions of state law better addressed by a state court;
- Comity and judicial economy;
- Prejudice to involuntarily removed parties;
- The effect of bifurcating the action, including whether remand will increase or decrease possibility of inconsistent results;
- The predominance of state law issues and nondebtor parties;
- The expertise of the court in which the action originated.

Cross Reference:

Removal and remand of bankruptcy cases, Collier on Bankruptcy, see § 3.07 (Matthew Bender 15th ed.).

3.13[9] Fair Labor Standards Act. Actions under the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA) are removable [Breuer v. Jim's Concrete of Brevard, Inc. (2003) 538 US 691, 694-700, 123 S Ct 1882, 155 L Ed2d 923].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisCases Involving Federal OfficersCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.14

3.14 Some Types of Actions Are Statutorily Nonremovable.

The following actions are not removable to federal court:

- Actions against railroads. A civil action against a railroad, or its receivers or trustees, arising under the Federal Employer's Liability Act (FELA) [28 USC § 1445(a)];

- Actions against common carriers. A civil action against a common carrier, or its receivers or trustees, to recover damages for delay, loss or injury of shipments arising under federal statutes regulating carriers [see 49 USC §§ 11706, 14706] unless the amount in controversy exceeds $10,000, exclusive of interest and costs [28 USC § 1445(b)];

- Workers' compensation actions. A civil action in any state court arising under that state's workers' compensation laws [28 USC § 1445(c)]. Workers' compensation laws are defined as statutorily created insurance systems entitling employees to specified benefits for work-related injuries without regard to fault; federal law determined whether an action arises under state workers' compensation laws [see Arthur v. E.I. DuPont de Nemours & Co. (4th Cir 1995) 58 F3d 121, 125]. This bar has been deemed procedural and subject to waiver [Vasquez v. North County Transit Dist. (9th Cir 2002) 292 F3d 1049, 1060-1062 (citing Moore's)];

- Securities claims. A civil action based on claims arising under the Securities Act of 1933 [15 USC § 77v(a); see Emrich v. Touche Ross & Co. (9th Cir 1988) 846 F2d 1190].

Cross Reference:

Types of nonremovable actions, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.17 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalNonremovable ActionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil

ProcedureRemovalWaivers

144 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
II. ANALYZING CASE FOR REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.15

3.15 Removal by State Can Waive Sovereign Immunity.

A state's act of removing a lawsuit from state court to federal court waives its Eleventh Amendment immunity, at least in the context of state law claims to which the state has explicitly waived sovereign immunity from state court proceedings [Lapides v. Board of Regents (2002) 535 US 613, 623-624, 122 S Ct 1640, 152 L Ed2d 806 ; see US Const, amend XI].

Interpreting the Lapides case, the Ninth Circuit has held that a state that removes a case to federal court waives its Eleventh Amendment immunity as to all claims in the case, including federal law claims and claims asserted after removal [Embury v. King (9th Cir 2004) 361 F3d 562, 566].

A state also waives its sovereign immunity from state law claims by joining a co-defendant's motion to remove the case to federal court [Bank of Lake Tahoe v. Bank of Am. (9th Cir 2003) 318 F3d 914, 916-917].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawSovereign ImmunityCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalWaiversConstitutional LawState AutonomyWaiverGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.16

3.16 CHECKLIST: Drafting and Filing Notice of Removal.

☐ Draft notice of removal. Include short and plain statement of the grounds for removal [see 3.18[1][a]].

○ Federal question cases. In cases removed based on federal question jurisdiction, allege that the case arises under federal law and identify the statutory basis for the claim [see 3.18[1][b]].

○ Diversity cases. In cases removed based on diversity jurisdiction, allege [see 3.18[1][c]]:

☐ Diversity:

○ Complete diversity of citizenship at the time the case was filed in state court and at the time of removal; if nondiverse state-court defendants were dismissed or abandoned before the filing of the removal notice, the notice need only allege diversity as of the time of filing the removal notice and explain why diversity is not being alleged at the time of filing the complaint.

○ In qualified class action, diversity of citizenship between any member of plaintiff class and any defendant.

☐ Facts showing that the amount in controversy requirement is met.

○ Special statute cases. In cases removed based on a special removal statute, identify the special removal statute and allege the jurisdictional facts supporting removal under that statute.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1441, 1446

Discussion:
See § 3.18[1][d]

Forms:
See §§ 3.34, 3.34A

☐ Draft Notice of Related Cases, or Administrative Motion to Consider Whether Cases Should Be Related, and, if applicable, Notice of Pendency of Other Actions or Proceedings. Follow requirements as provided by local district court rules.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 83-1.3.1, 83-1.4, 83-1.4.1; ED Cal Gen LR 123(b); ND Cal Civ LR 3-12, 3-13; SD Cal Civ LR 40.1(e)

Discussion:
See § 3.18[2]

☐ Join all defendants in notice of removal. All defendants served with summons in an action must join in the notice of removal.

Authority:
Hewitt v. City of Stanton (9th Cir 1986) 798 F2d 1230, 1232

Discussion:
See § 3.18[4]

☐ File notice of removal and attachments in federal court. The notice of removal must be filed in the federal district court in the district and for the division in which the state court action is pending, together with the statutory filing fee.

○ File notice of removal with a copy of all process, pleadings, and orders served on the removing defendant in the action.

Timing:

Make sure notice is filed within 30 days after the earlier of the following:

☐ The date when the defendant receives, through service or otherwise, a copy of the initial pleading setting forth the claim for relief on which the action or proceeding is based (if that initial pleading shows the basis for removal);

☐ The date on which the first defendant receives a copy of a pleading, motion, or order from which it first may be ascertained that the case has become removable.

Timing:
In diversity cases, file notice no more than one year after original complaint was filed, unless case is qualified class action in which case one-year limit does not apply.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1446, 1453

Discussion:
See §§ 3.19[1], 3.20

☐ Provide notice of filing to adverse parties. Promptly after filing a notice of removal, the defendant or defendants must give separate written notice of the filing to all adverse parties.

Authority:
28 USC § 1446(d)

Discussion:
See § 3.19[3]

☐ File notice of removal with state court clerk. Promptly after filing a notice of removal, the defendant or defendants must file a copy of each notice of removal with the clerk of the state court where the case was originally filed.

Authority:
28 USC § 1446(d)

Discussion:
See § 3.19[3]

☐ Make any amendments to notice within statutorily mandated timeframe. A notice of removal may be freely amended as follows:

○ Within the original 30-day notice period;

○ After the 30-day notice period if the amendment corrects defective allegations of jurisdiction, but not to add a new basis for removal jurisdiction.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1446(b), 1653

Discussion:
See § 3.19[6]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsTime LimitationsCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
III. REMOVING CASE

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.17

3.17 Notice of Removal Is Filed in District and Division Where State Action Is Pending.

A defendant seeking to remove an action from state court must file a notice of removal in the federal district court for the district and division within which the state action is pending [28 USC § 1446(a)].

Venue principles applying to actions originally filed in federal courts do not apply to removed actions. It is irrelevant that venue would not have been proper under the general venue statute in the district to which a case is properly removed [28 USC § 1391; see Polizzi v. Cowles Magazines, Inc. (1953) 345 US 663, 665, 73 S Ct 900, 97 L Ed 1331 ; see also Nishimoto v. Federman-Bachrach & Assoc. (9th Cir 1990) 903 F2d 709, 714 n11].

Cross References:

Checklist, see 3.16. Form of notice, see § 3.34.

16 Moore's Federal Practice, see § 107.13 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsNoticesCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
III. REMOVING CASE

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.18

3.18 Preparing Notice of Removal.

3.18[1] Contents of Notice.

3.18[1][a] Statement of Grounds. The notice of removal must contain a short and plain statement of the grounds for removal [28 USC § 1446(a); see Fed R Civ P 8(a); Lupo v. Human Affairs Int'l, Inc. (2d Cir 1994) 28 F3d 269, 274].

The defendant must plainly indicate that the requirements for federal jurisdiction are met based on one or more of the following:

- Federal question jurisdiction [see 28 USC § 1331; see 3.09].
- Diversity jurisdiction [see 28 USC § 1332; see 3.10].
- Jurisdiction based on special removal statutes [see, e.g., 28 USC §§ 1442-1444; see 3.13].

3.18[1][b] Federal Question Cases. In a case removed based on federal question jurisdiction, the removal notice must allege that the case arises under federal law and identify the statutory basis for the claim [see 28 USC § 1441(b)].

3.18[1][c] Diversity Cases. In a case removed based on diversity jurisdiction, the removal notice must allege the following:

- Satisfaction of diversity, i.e., either complete diversity of citizenship when the case was filed in state court and at the time of removal [see 28 USC §§ 1332(a), 1441(a)], or diversity of citizenship between a member of the plaintiff class and any defendant in a qualified class action [see 28 USC § 1332(d) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)].
- Facts showing that the requisite amount in controversy is met [see Gaus v. Miles, Inc. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 564, 566-567].

If nondiverse state court defendants are voluntarily dismissed or abandoned before the filing of the removal notice, the notice need only allege diversity as of the filing of the removal notice, but must explain why diversity is not being alleged as of the time of filing the complaint [see Adams v. Lederle Lab. (WD Mo 1983) 569 F Supp 234, 243].

Warning:

Conclusory allegations as to the amount in controversy are insufficient to establish removal jurisdiction [Gaus v. Miles, Inc. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 564, 566-567]. The defendant must establish that the requisite jurisdictional amount is satisfied by a preponderance of the evidence [Sanchez v. Monumental Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 398, 403-404].

3.18[1][d] Special Statute Cases. In a case removed on the basis of a special removal statute, the notice must allege the special removal statute and the requisite jurisdictional facts supporting removal under that statute.

3.18[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Additional Statements Required to Be Served and Filed Under Local Rules.

3.18[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. When a removal notice is filed with the clerk, or as soon as known thereafter, the removing party must also file and serve a Notice of Related Cases on all parties who have appeared. The notice must state, among other requirements, whether the removed action and any action previously filed or currently pending in the Central District arise from the same or substantially identical transactions, occurrences, or events [CD Cal Civ LR 83-1.3.1; see CD Cal Civ LR 83-1.3.1.1].

Whenever a party knows or learns that a civil action filed or removed to the Central District involves all or a material part of the same subject matter and all or substantially all of the same parties as another action that is pending in any other federal or state court, the party's attorney must file a Notice of Pendency of Other Actions or Proceedings with the removal notice [see CD Cal Civ LR 83-1.4]. This duty continues throughout the time that the case is before the Central District [CD Cal Civil LR 83-1.4.1].

3.18[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Whenever counsel has reason to believe that an action or proceeding on file or about to be filed is related to another action on file (whether or not dismissed or otherwise terminated), counsel must promptly file and serve on all known parties to each related action or proceeding a Notice of Related Cases [ED Cal Gen LR 123(b)].

3.18[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Whenever a party knows or learns that an action filed in or removed to the Northern District is (or the party believes that the action may be) related to an action that is or was pending in the Northern District [see ND Cal Civ LR 3-12(a)], the party must promptly file in the earliest-filed case an Administrative Motion to Consider Whether Cases Should Be Related [ND Cal Civ LR 3-12(b)]. The motion must comply with ND Cal Civ LR 7-11 [ND Cal Civ LR 3-12(b)], and contain the title and case number of each apparently related case and a brief statement of the relationship of the actions showing why they are substantially related [ND Cal Civ LR 3-12(d)]. A copy together with proof of service must be served on all known parties to each apparently related action, and a copy must be lodged with the assigned judge in each apparently related case [ND Cal Civ LR 3-12(b)]. Any response, in opposition to or support of the motion, must be filed in the earliest filed case, comply with ND Cal Civ LR 7-11, specifically address whether the cases are related, be served on all parties, and be lodged with all judges identified in the motion. If the motion identifies more than two potentially related cases, and a party contends that not all of those cases are related, the response must address whether any of the cases are related to each other [ND Cal Civ LR 3-12(e)]. When a judge believes a case pending before that judge is related to another case, the judge may refer the case to a judge assigned to the earliest-filed case to consider whether the cases are related, and send a copy of the referral to all parties to all affected cases. The parties may then file a response. A judge may also order the parties to file a motion to consider whether the cases are related [ND Cal Civ LR 3-12(c)].

Whenever a party knows or learns that an action filed or removed to the Northern District involves all or a material part of the same subject matter and all or substantially all of the same parties as another action that is pending in any other federal or state court, the party must promptly file a Notice of Pendency of Other Action or Proceeding with the court and serve a copy of the notice on all opposing parties in the pending action [ND Cal Civ LR 3-13(a)]. Any party may serve and file a statement supporting or opposing the notice within 14 days after service of the notice [ND Cal Civ LR 3-13(c)].

3.18[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Whenever counsel has reason to believe that an action or proceeding on file or about to be filed is related to another pending action or proceeding in state or federal court, whether pending, dismissed or otherwise terminated, counsel must promptly file and serve on all known parties to each related action or proceeding a Notice of Related Case. This duty is continuing, and applies even after the file date whenever counsel learns of a related action or proceeding [SD Cal Civ LR 40.1(e)].

3.18[3] Signing Pursuant to Rule 11 Required. The notice of removal must be signed pursuant to Rule 11 [28 USC § 1446(a); see Fed R Civ P 11].

Rule 11 authorizes the imposition of sanctions if papers are filedcontaining statements that are not well grounded in fact and warranted by law [Fed R Civ P 11].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Rule 11, see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions.

3.18[4] Joining of All Served Defendants Required.

3.18[4][a] All Defendants Must Consent. All defendants served with summons in an action must join in the notice of removal [see Hewitt v. City of Stanton (9th Cir 1986) 798 F2d 1230, 1232].

All joining defendants need not actually sign the initial notice of removal, provided that the unsigned defendants subsequently file written statements stating that they agree to removal within the statutory time for removal [see Roe v. O'Donohue (7th Cir 1994) 38 F3d 298, 301].

Warning:

A mere statement by the initial removing defendant that the other defendants consent to, or do not oppose, removal does not satisfy this requirement [see Roe v. O'Donohue (7th Cir 1994) 38 F3d 298, 301].

3.18[4][b] Exception for Defendants With Independent Right of Removal and Defendants in Qualified Class Actions. A defendant with an independent right of removal, such as a federal agency or officer, may remove the entire case without the consent of other defendants [see, e.g., 28 USC § 1442(a)(1); see also Ely Valley Mines, Inc. v. Hartford Accident & Indem. Co. (9th Cir 1981) 644 F2d 1310, 1314-1315].

Any defendant in a multistate class action that meets the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 may remove the action without the consent of all defendants [28 USC § 1453(b); Abrego v. The Dow Chemical Co. (9th Cir 2006) 443 F3d 676, 681)] .

Any one defendant under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 may remove the entire action, including claims against all defendants, regardless of whether another defendant fails to join in removal or has filed an untimely notice of removal [United Steel v. Shell Oil Co. (9th Cir 2008) 549 F3d 1204, 1208 (defendant employer's timely removal of union's class action covered action as a whole under CAFA, including claims against co-defendant employer)].

Note that the Class Action Fairness Act applies to civil actions "commenced" on or after February 18, 2005, and for purposes of CAFA retroactivity, "commenced" means the date the complaint is filed, not the date the case is removed [Bush v. Cheaptickets, Inc. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 683, 689 ; see also Pritchett v. Office Depot, Inc. (10th Cir 2005) 420 F3d 1090, 1094] . For purposes of determining CAFA's effective date, an action is commenced under California law when the original complaint in the action is filed, irrespective of any relation back analysis [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1016-1017 ; see McAtee v. Capital One, F.S.B. (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1143, 1148 (any amendment of original complaint does not change action's commencement date for purpose of CAFA's effective date)]. Further, an amendment to a cross-complaint in California state court (a counterclaim in federal court) does not commence an action under the CAFA as of the date of the amendment [Progressive W. Ins. Co. v. Preciado (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 1014, 1015-1016] .

Cross References:

Checklist, see § 3.16. Form of notice, see § 3.34.

Discussion of minimal diversity required under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see § 2.24A.

Procedures for removal, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.30[1], [2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsNoticesCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
III. REMOVING CASE

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.19

3.19 Notice Must Be Filed in Appropriate Court.

3.19[1] Filing in District Where State Court Action Is Pending. File the notice of removal in the federal district court in the district and for the division in which the state court action is pending [28 USC § 1446(a); Fed R Civ P 8(a)].

3.19[2] Filing State Court Papers. File the notice with a copy of all process, pleadings, and orders served on the removing defendant in the action [28 USC § 1446(a)].

3.19[3] Noticing Adverse Parties and Filing Notice With State Court. Promptly after filing a notice of removal, give separate written notice of the filing to all adverse parties and file a copy of each notice with the clerk of the state court where the case was filed [28 USC § 1446(d)].

3.19[4] Effect of Filing Notice. Removal is effected once the copy of the removal notice served on adverse parties is filed with the court. Once the case is removed, the state court may not proceed unless and until the case is remanded [28 USC § 1446(d); see Arango v. Guzman Travel Advisors Corp. (5th Cir 1980) 621 F2d 1371, 1375 n4 (citing Moore's)].

3.19[5] Removal to Wrong District Does Not Deprive District Court of Subject Matter Jurisdiction. Removal of a case to the wrong district court is a procedural defect that does not deprive the district court of subject matter jurisdiction [see Peterson v. BMI Refractories (11th Cir 1997) 124 F3d 1386, 1388-1394].

3.19[6] Amending Notice of Removal. A notice of removal may be freely amended as follows:

- Within the original 30-day notice period [see 28 USC 1446(b); see 3.20]; or

- After the 30-day period if the amendment corrects defective allegations of jurisdiction, but not to add a new basis for removal jurisdiction [see 28 USC § 1653; Arco Envtl. Remediation, L.L.C. v. Department of Health & Envtl. Quality (9th Cir 2000) 213 F3d 1108, 1117].

3.19[7] Filing Fee. A statutory filing fee must accompany the filing of the notice [see 28 USC § 1914(a)].

Cross References:

Checklist, see 3.16. Form of notice, see 3.35. Form, Declaration of Filing of Notice of Removal in State Court, § 3.36.

Removal procedure, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.30 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsNoticesCivil ProcedureRemovalWaivers

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
III. REMOVING CASE

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.20

3.20 Notice of Removal Must Be Timely Filed.

3.20[1] File Notice Within 30 Days of Receipt of Papers Indicating Removability. File the notice of removal within 30 days after the earlier of the following [28 USC § 1446(b)]:

- The date on which you receive, through service or otherwise, a copy of the initial pleading setting forth the claim for relief on which the action or proceeding is based, if that initial pleading shows the basis for removal;

- The date on which you receive a copy of a pleading, motion, order, or other paper from which it may be first ascertained that the case has become removable, but in no event more than one year after the original complaint was filed in a diversity case.

If the complaint is initially removable, the defendant must remove within 30 days. If subsequent events reveal the existence of diversity jurisdiction after the complaint has been served, a defendant must remove within 30 days after it has ascertained the basis for removal. In addition, removal must take place within one year of the commencement of the action [Johnson v. America Online, Inc. (ND Cal 2003) 280 F Supp2d 1018, 1027].

Exception:
The one-year limit does not apply if the case is a multistate class action subject to the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [28 USC § 1453(b) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)].

Strategic Point:

A case is removable when "examination of the four corners of the applicable pleadings" reveals a basis for removal. There is no duty to make further inquiry and the defendant's subjective knowledge is irrelevant [Harris v. Bankers Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 689, 694]. The Ninth Circuit has rejected the view that a duty is imposed on potential movants to investigate potential reasons for removal

[Harris v. Bankers Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 689, 695].

Subsequent notices of removal are not barred. If an action is remanded following an initial removal because of a lack of subject matter jurisdiction, a second notice of removal may be filed if events subsequent to the remand demonstrate jurisdiction [see Mattel, Inc. v. Bryant (CD Cal 2005) 2005 US Dist LEXIS 3568, at *14-*16].

3.20[2] Formal Service Required When Case Initially Removable. If the case is removable based on an initial pleading, formal service is required to begin the 30-day removal period [Murphy Bros., Inc. v. Michetti Pipe Stringing, Inc. (1999) 526 US 344, 347-349, 119 S Ct 1322, 143 L Ed2d 448].

3.20[3] Multiple Defendants Present Special Problems. District courts in the Ninth Circuit are split on whether the 30-day removal period begins for all defendants when service is effected on any defendant (the "first-served" rule) or whether each defendant has 30 days from date it was served (the "last served" rule) [cf. McAnally Enterprises Corp. v. McAnally (CD Cal 2000) 107 F Supp2d 1223, 1227-1229 (applying first served regardless of whether second defendant is served later or is added later); Varney v. Johns-Manville Corp. (ND Cal. 1987) 653 F Supp 839, 840 (adopting first-served rule) with Drew v. Equifax Information Servs. (ND Cal May 4, 2007) 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 35586, at *3 n.1 (following trend in ND Cal and applying last served rule); Bonner v. Fuji Photo Film (ND Cal 2006) 461 F Supp2d 1112, 1117-1118 (strongly reaffirming last-served rule, quoting Moore's); Ford v. New United Motors Mfg. Inc (ND Cal 1994) 857 F Supp 707, 710]. While the Ninth Circuit has expressed no opinion to date "on the propriety of either rule" [United Comp. Sys. v. AT&T Corp. (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 756, 763 n 4], the movement in other districts, inside and outside the Ninth Circuit, is towards the later-served rule [see Coleman v. Assurant, Inc. (D Nev 2007) 463 F Supp2d 1164, 1168].

Exception:

In a class action subject to the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, any defendant may remove the action without the consent of all defendants [28 USC § 1453(b) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)]. Because there is no unanimity requirement in such a case, the failure of the first-served defendant to file a removal notice within 30 days of service would not preclude a subsequently served defendant from removing the action. A timely notice of removal by one defendant under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 removes the entire action, including claims against all defendants, regardless of whether another defendant fails to join in removal or has filed an untimely notice of removal [United Steel v. Shell Oil Co. (9th Cir 2008) 549 F3d 1204, 1208] .

Warning:

There is a growing trend outside the Ninth Circuit against the unanimity rule with multiple defendants. These circuits permit later-served defendants 30 days from the date of service of the complaint to file a removal notice with the unanimous consent of their codefendants, even though the first-served co-defendants did not file a removal notice within 30 days [see, e.g., Brierly v. Alusuisse Flexible Packaging, Inc. (6th Cir 1999) 184 F3d 527, 532-533 , cert. denied, 528 US 1076 (1999) (citing Moore's); Marano Enters. v. Z-Teca Restaurants, L.P. (8th Cir 2001) 254 F3d 753, 755-757* ; see also Coleman v. Assurant, Inc. (D Nev 2007) 463 F Supp2d 1164, 1168 (collecting cases)].

3.20[4] Removal May Be Based on Subsequent Pleadings and Other Papers.

3.20[4][a] Voluntary Acts of Plaintiff After Initial Pleading May Make Case Subject to Removal. When a case is not removable based on the plaintiff's initial pleading, it may become removable at a later date if the plaintiff voluntarily acts to create federal jurisdiction by:

- Dismissing any nondiverse defendants [28 USC § 1446, Commentary on 1988 Revision of Section

1446; see California v. Keating (9th Cir 1993) 986 F2d 346, 348-349].

- Changing his or her citizenship, thereby creating diversity [see De Bry v. Transamerica Corp. (10th Cir 1979) 601 F2d 480, 486-488 (citing Moore's)].

- Increasing the amount of damages prayed for, thereby satisfying the jurisdictional minimum [Tokarz v. Texaco Pipeline, Inc. (ND Ill 1993) 856 F Supp 403, 404 n2].

- Amending the complaint to include a claim based on federal law [see Leffall v. Dallas Indep. Sch. Dist. (5th Cir 1994) 28 F3d 521, 525-526].

Warning:

Because the plaintiff is the master of the complaint, only the plaintiff's voluntary changes can make a case removable [Self v. General Motors Corp. (9th Cir 1978) 588 F2d 655, 656-659].

3.20[4][b] Thirty-Day Period Triggered by Paper Indicating That Case Is Removable. If a case is not initially removable, the 30-day period during which the defendant must file the removal notice begins to run when the defendant receives a copy of an amended pleading, motion, order, or other paper from which it may be ascertained that the case is removable [28 USC § 1446(b)]. Other paper is any other document that is part and parcel of the state court proceedings and that has its origin and existence by virtue of state court processes [Phillips v. Allstate Ins. Co. (CD Cal 1989) 702 F Supp 1466, 1468-1469 (only papers filed in case trigger removal period)]. Thus, other paper may include the following:

- Correspondence between the parties [Cohn v. Petsmart, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 281 F3d 837, 840 (demand letter for $100,000); Carter v. Building Material & Constr. Teamster's Union (ND Cal 1996) 928 F Supp 997, 998-1000 (receipt of courtesy copies of summons and complaint with letter inviting settlement discussions in lieu of filing)].

- Discovery depositions [Riggs v. Continental Baking Co. (ND Cal 1988) 678 F Supp 236, 238].

- Answers to written interrogatories [Durham v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 445 F3d 1247, 1251 .

To constitute other paper, the paper must give the defendant notice of the grounds of removal. There is no requirement that the paper reveal an alteration in the facts supporting federal jurisdiction. For example, a defendant may remove a case when its discovery of the grounds of federal jurisdiction is belated because the facts disclosing those grounds were inadequately or mistakenly stated in the complaint [Harris v. Bankers Life & Cas. Co. (9th Cir 2005) 425 F3d 689, 695-696 ; see Lovern v. General Motors Corp. (4th Cir 1997) 121 F3d 160, 162].

Strategic Point--Federal Officer Removal:

Under 28 USC § 1442(1), a federal officer defendant's 30 days to remove begins when the plaintiff discloses sufficient facts for federal officer removal, even if the defendant was previously aware of a different basis for removal [Durham v. Lockheed Martin Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 445 F3d 1247, 1253].

3.20[4][c] One-Year Limit in Diversity Cases Other Than Qualified Class Actions. An action may not be removed more than one year after the original complaint was filed in diversity cases, even if diversity is voluntarily created by the plaintiff [28 USC § 1446(b)].

Exception:

The one-year limit does not apply in a multistate class action case governed by the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [28 USC§ 1453(b) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)].

Cross Reference:

One-year limitation in diversity cases, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.30[3][a][iii] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

3.20[5] Removing After State Court Judgment. A case may be removed after judgment has been entered by a state court but before the case is finally determined through the state appellate process, provided that other applicable time limitations are met [see, e.g., RTC v. Bayside Developers (9th Cir 1994) 43 F3d 1230, 1236-1237 (removal proper when judgment subject to appellate review in state courts, at any point before highest state court enters final judgment)].

Cross References:

Checklist, see 3.16. Form of notice, see 3.35. Form of declaration, see § 3.36.

Effect of prior state court orders on removal, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.31[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsNoticesCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsTime Limitations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
III. REMOVING CASE

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.21

3.21 Federal District Court Advances Case After Removal Notice Filed in State Court.

3.21[1] Jurisdiction Shifts to Federal Court. Once a copy of the notice of removal is filed with the clerk of the state court in which the action is pending, jurisdiction to advance the case lies with the federal district court. The state court is divested of jurisdiction and must stop all proceedings unless and until the case is remanded [28 USC § 1446(d)].

3.21[2] State Court Orders Remain in Effect Until Modified. The district court takes the case on removal exactly as the case stood in state court before removal. All state court pleadings, discovery, orders, and proceedings are presumed valid [see Salveson v. Western States Bankcard Ass'n (ND Cal 1981) 525 F Supp 566, 578 , aff'd in part, rev'd in part, 731 F2d 1423 (9th Cir 1984) ; see also Miller v. Steloff (SDNY 1988) 686 F Supp 91, 93].

State court rulings remain in effect until modified or supplanted by the federal court [see Granny Goose Foods, Inc. v. Brotherhood of Teamsters (1974) 415 US 423, 437, 94 S Ct 1113, 39 L Ed2d 435 ; see also Nealey v. Transportacion Maritima Mexicana, S.A. (9th Cir 1980) 662 F2d 1275]. The district court has the same authority to reconsider interlocutory orders as the state court [Preaseau v. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. (9th Cir 1979) 591 F2d 74, 78-79].

Circumstances that may warrant reconsideration of state court decisions include the following:

- When a procedural issue determined in state court is subsequently governed by a Federal Rule of Civil Procedure [see Redfield v. Continental Cas. Co. (7th Cir 1987) 818 F2d 596, 605];

- When a decision in state court is clearly erroneous [see Quinn v. Aetna Life & Cas. Co. (2d Cir 1980) 616 F2d 38, 40].

3.21[3] Federal Rules Govern Procedural Issues. The Federal Rules of Civil Procedure govern all procedural issues after removal, including service of process on unserved or improperly served defendants [Fed R Civ P 81(c); 28 USC § 1448; Willy v. Coastal Corp. (1992) 503 US 131, 134-135, 112 S Ct 1076, 117 L Ed2d 280 ; Nealey v. Transportacion Maritima Mexicana, S.A. (9th Cir 1980) 662 F2d 1275, 1279-1282].

3.21[4] In Diversity Case, State Law Governs Substantive Issues. If the case was removed based on diversity jurisdiction, the law of the state (including choice of law provisions) in which the action was originally filed governs substantive issues [Erie R.R. Co. v. Tompkins (1938) 304 US 64, 78, 58 S Ct 817, 82 L Ed 1188].

3.21[5] Second Answer Need Not Be Prepared and Filed. The defendant is not required to file another answer if an answer has been filed in state court [Fed R Civ P 81(c)(2)].

3.21[6] Renewed Jury Demand Not Ordinarily Required. Under the Federal Rules, if either party formally requested a jury in state court before removal, that request need not be renewed in federal court [Fed R Civ P 81(c)(3)(A); see Mondor v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1990) 910 F2d 585, 586]. If a case is removed from a state that does not require an express jury demand, no demand is required in federal court unless the district court specifically requests an express jury demand [Fed R Civ P 81(c)(3)(A)].

3.21[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: Requesting Jury Trial After Removal.

3.21[7][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. In removed cases in which a jury trial was not demanded in state court and the matter is not at-issue at the time of removal, the demand for jury trial must be filed within 10 days after service of the last responsive pleading addressed to an issue triable by right by right by a jury. If the matter is at issue at the time of removal, the jury demand must be filed (1) within 10 days after the filing of the notice of removal if the demand is made by the removing party, or (2) within 10 days service of filing of the notice of removal if the demand is made by a party other than the removing party [CD Cal Civ LR 38-2].

3.21[7][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal, ND Cal, and SD Cal Requirements--No Specific Rule. The local rules for the Eastern, Northern, and Southern Districts of California contain no express rule regarding jury demand after removal; therefore, the provisions of Fed R Civ P 81(c) apply [see 3.21[4]].

Cross Reference:

Demanding a jury, see Ch. 13, Demanding a Jury Trial, see § 13.04[6][b].

3.21[8] Subsequent Transfer of Removed Case. If a case is removed to the wrong district or division, the court may dismiss the case or transfer it to the proper district [28 USC §§ 1404(a), 1406(a); see Kreimerman v. Casa Veerkamp, S.A. de C.V. (5th Cir 1994) 22 F3d 634, 644-645 , cert. denied, 513 US 1016 (1994)].

After proper removal, a case may be transferred to another district for the convenience of the parties and the witnesses [see 28 USC § 1404(a); see also Hollis v. Florida State Univ. (11th Cir 2001) 259 F3d 1295, 1300 (citing Moore's)].

Cross References:

Transfer to another district, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.57 -2.59

Change of venue generally, see 17 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 111, Change of Venue (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalBasisDiversity of CitizenshipCivil ProcedureRemovalBasisFederal QuestionsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsNoticesCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsTime Limitations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
III. REMOVING CASE

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.22

3.22 All State Court Proceedings Before Removal Remain in Effect.

All state court injunctions and orders, as well as other state court proceedings occurring before removal, remain in effect after removal until dissolved or modified by the district court. Similarly, all bonds, undertakings, or security given by a party before removal remain valid and effectual following removal [28 USC § 1450].

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.23

3.23 CHECKLIST: Moving for Remand

☐ Ascertain whether client would benefit from case being remanded to state court.

☐ Ascertain whether there is a basis for remand.

- ○ Lack of subject matter jurisdiction.
  - ☐ Consider joining a nondiverse party to destroy federal subject matter jurisdiction based on diversity.

    Warning:
    If you seek to join nondiverse parties after removal, the court has discretion to deny joinder and retain the action [28 USC § 1447(e)].

☐ If appropriate, given expected dollar value of case, consider amending complaint to reduce damages below $75,000 to destroy diversity jurisdiction.

☐ Multistate class action removed on basis of minimal diversity: If case is multistate class action that was removed based on minimal diversity, consider grounds for challenging removal:

- ○ Discretionary declination of jurisdiction: If more than one-third, but fewer than two-thirds, of members of all proposed plaintiff classes in the aggregate and the primary defendants are citizens of the state in which the action was originally filed, district court may decline jurisdiction.

○ Mandatory declination of jurisdiction: If more than two-thirds of members of all proposed plaintiff classes in the aggregate are citizens of the state in which the action was originally filed, district court may be required to decline jurisdiction.

○ Procedural defect in removal, e.g.:

☐ Defendant's failure to file notice of removal in time permitted by 28 USC § 1446(b);

☐ Failure by all defendants to join in or assent to removal.

○ Abstention.

○ Forum selection clause.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1332(d)(3), (4), 1447(c); Quackenbush v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1996) 517 US 706, 714-715, 116 S Ct 1712, 135 L Ed2d 1 ; Pelleport Investors, Inc. v. Budco Quality Theatres, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 273, 279-280].

Discussion:
See §§ 3.24, 3.26, 3.26A

Timing:
If grounds for remand exist, determine when motion must be filed.

○ Motion based on jurisdictional defect can be made at any time.

○ Motion based on procedural defect must be made within 30 days of filing of removal notice.

Authority:
28 USC § 1447(c)

Discussion:
See § 3.27

☐ Prepare motion for order remanding removed action to state court.

○ Clearly state basis for motion.

○ Include request for costs and attorney's fees incurred as result of removal.

○ Timely file and serve motion.

Authority:
28 USC § 1447

Discussion:
3.26, 3.27, 3.29

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Form:
See § 3.37

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.24

3.24 Plaintiff May Seek Remand by Joining Additional Defendants to Destroy Federal Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

3.24[1] Use of Joinder to Destroy Subject Matter Jurisdiction. A plaintiff seeking to have a removed case remanded to the state forum that he or she previously selected may attempt to join additional defendants in order to destroy federal subject matter jurisdiction based on diversity [28 USC § 1447(e)]. If the district court permits the joinder, and federal subject matter jurisdiction in the case is thereby destroyed, the district court will remand the case to state court [28 USC § 1447(c); see, e.g., Vu v. Ortho-Mcneil Pharmaceutical, Inc. (ND Cal 2009) 602 F Supp2d 1151, 1153 (fraudulent joinder "is a term of art" used to describe non-diverse defendant who has been joined to action solely to defeat federal diversity jurisdiction)].

Judge's Perspective:
If the attempt fails, the plaintiff may have generated a lack of credibility with the judge. Most judges don't appreciate it when either side tries to manipulate jurisdiction.

3.24[2] Court Has Discretion to Deny or Permit Joinder. If the plaintiff seeks to join additional defendants whose presence would destroy subject matter jurisdiction after removal, the district court may either [28 USC § 1447(e)]:

- Deny joinder; or
- Permit joinder and remand the action.

In determining whether to permit joinder, the court will consider the following factors:

- The application of Fed R Civ P 19, governing joinder of persons [see Lopez v. General Motors Corp. (9th Cir 1983) 697 F2d 1328, 1332 ; see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties].
- The plaintiff's motive for seeking joinder of a nondiverse defendant [see Yniques v. Cabral (9th Cir 1993) 985 F2d 1031, 1035 , disapproved on other grounds, McDowell v. Calderon (9th Cir 1999) 197

F3d 1253, 1255].

- Whether a delay in seeking joinder is unexplained or unjustifiable [see Lopez v. General Motors Corp. (9th Cir 1983) 697 F2d 1328, 1332].

- Whether the statute of limitations would bar an action against the new defendant in state court if joinder is denied [Carnegie-Mellon Univ. v. Cohill (1988) 484 US 343, 351-354, 108 S Ct 614, 98 L Ed2d 720].

- The relative strength of the claim [see Goodman v. Travelers Ins. Co. (ND Cal 1983) 561 F Supp 1111, 1113].

- Whether the plaintiff will be significantly injured if the amendment is disallowed [Mayes v. Rapoport (4th Cir 1999) 198 F3d 457, 462-463].

- Any other factor bearing on the equities [Mayes v. Rapoport (4th Cir 1999) 198 F3d 457, 462-463].

Cross References:

Procedure for amending pleadings, see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings, see §§ 9.03 -9.11.

Addition of nondiverse parties, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.41[2][d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Judge's Perspective:

The judge has much discretion here, and judges differ widely. Sometimes, the courts are influenced by how heavy the docket is. But generally, most judges conform to the guideline that if jurisdiction exists, the case should stay in federal court. But it does happen that judges will empathize with a plaintiff's choice of forum and try to balance the equities.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsJurisdictional DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.25

3.25 Procedure for Remand May Be Initiated by Judge or by Party.

3.25[1] Sua Sponte Remand by Court. A removed action may be remanded sua sponte by the court [see 28 USC § 1447(c)].

Circuit courts are split on whether a district court may sua sponte remand a case based on a procedural defect, as opposed to lack of subject matter jurisdiction. The Ninth Circuit permits such a remand within the 30-day remand period [Maniar v. FDIC (9th Cir 1992) 979 F2d 782, 785-786].

Distinguish:
Outside of the Ninth Circuit, the predominant view disallows sua sponte procedural remands [see, e.g., Page v. City of Southfield (6th Cir 1995) 45 F3d 128, 132-134].

3.25[2] Motion by Party. A removed action may be remanded on motion by any of the parties [see 28 USC § 1447(c)]. Remand is ordinarily sought by plaintiffs.

Warning:
A removing defendant who subsequently moves for remand may be subject to sanctions for improper removal [see Napoleon Hardwoods, Inc. v. Professionally Designed Benefits, Inc. (7th Cir 1993) 984 F2d 821, 822 ; see 3.26].

Cross References:
Form of notice of motion and motion, see § 3.37.

Remand following removal, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.41[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsJurisdictional DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.26

3.26 Grounds for Motion to Remand Include Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction, Procedurally Defective Removal, Abstention, and Provision in Forum Selection Clause.

3.26[1] Statutory Grounds. The key statutory grounds for remand are [28 USC § 1447(c)]:

- Lack of subject matter jurisdiction, including both diversity jurisdiction and federal question jurisdiction; and
- Procedurally defective removal.

3.26[2] Nonstatutory Grounds. Nonstatutory grounds for remand include:

- Abstention [see Quackenbush v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1996) 517 US 706, 714-715, 116 S Ct 1712, 135 L Ed2d 1].
- Enforcement of a forum selection clause [see Pelleport Investors, Inc. v. Budco Quality Theatres, Inc. (9th Cir 1984) 741 F2d 273, 279-280 ; Comerica Bank v. Whitehall Specialties, Inc. (CD Cal 2004) 352 F Supp2d 1077, 1080].

3.26[3] Crowded Docket Is Not a Proper Ground for Remand. A federal court may not remand a removed case over which the court would otherwise have jurisdiction solely because of a crowded court docket [Thermtron Prods., Inc. v. Hermansdorfer (1976) 423 US 336, 351, 96 S Ct 584, 46 L Ed2d 542 , overruled on other grounds by Quackenbush v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1996) 517 US 706, 714-715, 116 S Ct 1712, 135 L Ed2d 1] .

3.26[4] Futility Exception May Provide Ground for Refusal to Remand. A court may refuse to remand a case of uncertain federal jurisdiction based on the futility exception, such as when the state court would dismiss the claims with prejudice [Deutsch v. Turner Corp. (9th Cir 2003) 324 F3d 692, 718-719, n22].

Cross Reference:

Grounds for remand, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 107.41, 107.44[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsJurisdictional DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewContracts LawContract Conditions & ProvisionsForum Selection Clauses

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.26A

3.26A Additional Grounds for Remand of Class Action Subject to Modified Diversity Requirements of Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.

3.26A[1] District Court May Decline Jurisdiction When More Than One-Third, But Less Than Two-Thirds, of Plaintiffs Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed. A district court may decline to exercise jurisdiction over a class action that meets the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 in the interests of justice when more than one-third but fewer than two-thirds of themembers of all proposed plaintiff classes in the aggregate and the primary defendants are citizens of the state in which the action was originally filed. In deciding whether to decline to exercise its jurisdiction, the district court must consider whether [28 USC § 1332(d)(3) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)]:

- The claims asserted involve matters of national or interstate interest.
- The claims asserted will be governed by the laws of the state in which the action was originally filed or by the laws of other states.
- The class action was pleaded in a manner that sought to avoid federal jurisdiction.
- The action was brought in a forum with a distinct nexus with the class members, the alleged harm, or the defendants.
- The number of citizens of the state in which the action was originally filed in all proposed plaintiff classes is substantially larger than the number of citizens from any other state, and the citizenship of other members is dispersed among a substantial number of states.
- During the three-year period before the action was filed, any other class action asserting the same or similar claims on behalf of the same or other persons has been filed.

3.26A[2] In Some Cases, District Court Must Decline Jurisdiction When More Than Two-Thirds of Plaintiffs Are Citizens of State Where Action Was Originally Filed. A district court must decline to exercise jurisdiction over a class action that meets the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 when two-thirds or more of the members of all proposed plaintiff classes in the aggregate and the primary defendants are citizens of the state where the action was originally filed [28 USC § 1332(d)(4)(B) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)]. A district court also must decline to exercise jurisdiction over such a class action when [28 USC § 1332(d)(4)(A) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)]:

- More than two-thirds or more of the members of all proposed plaintiff classes in the aggregate are citizens of the state where the action was originally filed;

- During the three-year period before the action was filed, no other class action asserting the same or similar factual allegations against any of the defendants on behalf of the same persons has been filed;

- Principal injuries resulting from the alleged conduct or any related conduct of each defendant were incurred in the state where the action was originally filed; and

- At least one defendant is a citizen of the state where the action was originally filed, is one from whom significant relief is sought by members of the plaintiff class, and is one whose alleged conduct forms a significant basis for the claims asserted.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of class actions subject to the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see § 2.24A.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsJurisdictional DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureClass ActionsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.27

3.27 Timing of Motion to Remand Depends on Motion Grounds.

3.27[1] Motion Based on Jurisdictional Defects May Be Made at Any Time. A motion for remand based on lack of subject matter jurisdiction may be made at any time by either the court or any of the parties [see 28 USC § 1447(c); *Jordan v. Potter (SD Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 56325, at 6 (§ 1447(c)'s 30-day limitation did not apply because plaintiff moved to remand on jurisdictional grounds)].

A federal district court must remand a case whenever it appears before final judgment that the court lacks subject matter jurisdiction over the case [28 USC § 1447(c); see Parker, PPA v. Della Rocco (2d Cir 2001) 252 F3d 663, 666-667].

3.27[2] Motion Based on Procedural Defects Must Be Made Within 30 Days. A motion for remand based on procedural defects must be made within 30 days of the filing of the removal notice or the defect is deemed waived [28 USC § 1447(c); Northern Cal. Dist. Council of Laborers v. Pittsburg-Des Moines Steel Co. (9th Cir 1995) 69 F3d 1034, 1036-1038].

Example:

Plaintiff's failure to move for remand within 30 days of removal waived any procedural defects in the removal, and defendant's failure to remove within the one-year time limit in 28 USC § 1446(b) was a procedural--not a jurisdictional--defect [Jackson v. Wal-Mart Stores, Inc. (ND Cal 2008) 588 F Supp2d 1085, 1086-1087 ; but see Perez v. General Packer, Inc. (CD Cal 1992) 790 F Supp 1464, 1471 ("the one-year rule [in § 1446(b)] is a jurisdictional rule and its violation a jurisdictional defect")].

The 30-day period runs from the day that the removal notice was filed, not from the date that the plaintiff was served with the notice, and is not extended if the notice is served by mail [28 USC § 1447(c); see Pavone v. Mississippi Riverboat Amusement Corp. (5th Cir 1994) 52 F3d 560, 566 ; In re Edward Jones Holders Litig. (CD Cal 2006) 453 F Supp2d 1210, 1212-1213].

3.27[3] Waiver of Objection. If a motion to remand based on procedural defect is filed after the 30-day period and the defendant does not raise the issue of untimeliness, the defect of untimeliness is waived and remand is permissible [Student A. v. Metcho (ND Cal 1989) 710 F Supp 267, 269].

Cross Reference:

Time for making motion for remand, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.41[1][d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsJurisdictional DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsTime Limitations

158 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.28

3.28 Burden of Proof When Removal is Contested.

Once a plaintiff files a motion for remand, the defendant must prove that the basis for removal was proper [see Gaus v. Miles, Inc. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 564, 566 ; see also B., Inc. v. Miller Brewing Co. (5th Cir 1981) 663 F2d 545, 547-550].

Depending on the claims in the complaint, the Ninth Circuit has identified "at least three different burdens of proof that might be placed on a removing defendant" attempting to prove federal jurisdictional requirements have been met [Guglielmino v. McKee Foods Corp. (9th Cir 2007) 506 F3d 696, 699] . First, when a state court complaint "alleges on its face an amount in controversy sufficient to meet the federal jurisdictional threshold," then the requirement is "presumptively satisfied" unless plaintiff can show "to a legal certainty" they cannot actually recover that amount [Guglielmino v. McKee Foods Corp. (9th Cir 2007) 506 F3d 696, 699 (citing Sanchez v. Monumental Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 398, 402)] . Second, when the amount in controversy is "unclear or ambiguous" on the face of the state court complaint, defendant must show by a "preponderance of the evidence" that the amount in controversy exceeds the jurisdictional amount [Guglielmino v. McKee Foods Corp. (9th Cir 2007) 506 F3d 696, 699 (citing Sanchez v. Monumental Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1996) 102 F3d 398, 404)] . This standard also applies to state court complaints that do not specify a particular amount in controversy and are removed subject to Class Action Fairness Act (CAFA) [Guglielmino v. McKee Foods Corp. (9th Cir 2007) 506 F3d 696, 699 (citing Abrego v. Dow Chem. Co. (9th Cir 2006) 443 F3d 676, 683)] . Third, in the CAFA context, when a state court complaint affirmatively alleges an amount in controversy less than the jurisdictional threshold, defendants must prove "with legal certainty" that the jurisdictional threshold under CAFA is met [Guglielmino v. McKee Foods Corp. (9th Cir 2007) 506 F3d 696, 699 (citing Lowdermilk v. U.S. Bank Nat'l Ass'n (9th Cir 2007) 479 F3d 994, 994)] . However, the party seeking remand bears the burden of proving exceptions to CAFA removal jurisdiction [Serrano v. 180 Connect, Inc. (9th Cir 2007) 478 F3d 1018, 1021] .

Cross Reference:

For discussion of additional grounds for removal for cases brought under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see § 3.26A.

In general, when ruling on a motion to remand, the court looks to the plaintiff's complaint, as it is stated at the time of removal, and the defendant's notice of removal to determine the propriety of removal [see Miller v. Grgurich (9th Cir 1985) 763 F2d 372, 373].

In the Ninth Circuit, it is considered perfectly appropriate for a plaintiff to seek remand by amending the complaint to remove the federal claims following removal [see Baddie v. Berkeley Farms, Inc. (9th Cir 1995) 64 F3d 487, 491 (nothing manipulative about decision to drop federal claims, and there would be little to be gained in judicial economy by forcing plaintiffs to abandon their federal causes of action before filing in state court); Chow v. Hirsch (ND Cal 1999) 1999 US Dist LEXIS 3010, at *12-*13 (not improper for plaintiff to make a strategic decision to concentrate on state law claims in an attempt to have them heard in state court); see also Payne v. Parkchester N. Condos (SDNY 2001) 134 F Supp2d 582, 584-585 (noting split of authority on this point and discussing both rationales)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsJurisdictional DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.29

3.29 Moving for Costs and Attorney's Fees.

Counsel who has succeeded in remanding a case to state court may move for attorney's fees, costs (including filing fees, process service fees, and similar fees), and any actual expenses incurred as a result of the removal [28 USC § 1447(c); see Gotro v. R & B Realty Group (9th Cir 1995) 69 F3d 1485, 1486-1488].

There is no presumption in favor of an award of attorney's fees. Absent unusual circumstances, attorney's fees may be awarded only when the removing party lacked an objectively reasonable basis for seeking removal; if such an objectively reasonable basis existed, attorney's fees may not be awarded. The district court does, however, have discretion to depart from this rule in unusual circumstances [Martin v. Franklin Capital Corp. (2005) 546 US 132, 126 S Ct 704, 163 L Ed 2d 547, 555-556].

An award of costs and attorney's fees for improper removal is reviewable under an abuse of discretion standard [see Martin v. Franklin Capital Corp. (2005) 546 US 132, 126 S Ct 704, 163 L Ed 2d 547, 555-556 ; see, e.g., Patel v. Del Taco, Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 446 F3d 996, 999-1000].

Cross Reference:

Award of costs and attorney's fees, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.41[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.30

3.30 Effect of Post-Removal Changes in Case.

3.30[1] Federal Claims Dismissed, State Claims Remaining. When state law claims are removed based on supplemental jurisdiction in conjunction with a federal question claim and the federal claim is resolved or dismissed, the district court retains discretion to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over the remaining state law claims [28 USC § 1367(c)(3); Carlsbad Tech. v. HIF Bio (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct , 1862, 173 L Ed2d 843, 849-850 ; Executive Software N. Am., Inc. v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1994) 24 F3d 1545, 1548-1550 , overruled on other grounds by Cal. Dep't of Water Res. v. Powerex Corp. (9th Cir 2008) 533 F3d 1087, 1093] .

If the federal question is eliminated relatively soon after removal, it is ordinarily preferable to remand the case rather than dismiss the case [Carnegie-Mellon Univ. v. Cohill (1988) 484 US 343, 357, 108 S Ct 614, 98 L Ed2d 720 ; Baddie v. Berkeley Farms, Inc. (9th Cir 1995) 64 F3d 487, 490-491].

The district court's decision on retaining jurisdiction of state claims is reviewed for abuse of discretion [see Carlsbad Tech. v. HIF Bio (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1862, 173 L Ed2d 843, 849-850 ("[T]the [district] court's exercise of its discretion under § 1367(c) is not a jurisdictional matter. Thus, the court's determination may be reviewed for abuse of discretion, but may not be raised at any time as a jurisdictional defect."); Harrell v. 20th Century Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1991) 934 F2d 203, 205].

3.30[2] Only Third-Party Claims Remain. The district court retains jurisdiction over surviving third-party claims if the following claims are settled:

- The federal claim on which jurisdiction is based [Dery v. Wyer (2d Cir 1959) 265 F2d 804, 808].

- The main claim on which diversity jurisdiction depends [Hill v. Rolleri (9th Cir 1980) 615 F2d 886, 888-889].

3.30[3] Post-Removal Reduction in Amount in Controversy Cannot Deprive Federal Court of Jurisdiction. If the plaintiff voluntarily reduces the amount in controversy below the jurisdictional minimum after removal, the district court retains jurisdiction [St. Paul Mercury Indem. Co. v. Red Cab Co. (1938) 303 US 283, 290-292, 58 S Ct

586, 82L Ed 845 ; see Hill v. Rolleri (9th Cir 1980) 615 F2d 886, 888-889].

3.30[4] Addition of Parties. If the plaintiff seeks to join nondiverse parties after removal, the district court has discretion to either [28 USC § 1447(e)]:

- Deny joinder and retain action or;
- Permit joinder and remand.

The joinder of a nondiverse party after removal destroys diversity jurisdiction. A district court may retain jurisdiction if the case could have originally been filed in federal court under an independent basis for federal jurisdiction [Morris v. Princess Cruises, Inc. (9th Cir 2001) 236 F3d 1061, 1066-1067].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsJurisdictional DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral Overview

161 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.31

3.31 Remand Shifts Jurisdiction to State Court.

Once a certified copy of a remand order is mailed to the state court, the district court is divested of jurisdiction and the state court has jurisdiction to proceed with the case [28 USC § 1447(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsJurisdictional DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.32

3.32 Reconsideration After Remand Order.

Once a district court certifies a remand order to the state court, the district court is divested of jurisdiction and may take no further action on the case [28 USC § 1447(c); Seedman v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1988) 837 F2d 413, 414].

When a remand order is based on a defect in removal procedure or a lack of subject matter jurisdiction, district courts are barred from reconsidering the order following certification [see 28 USC § 1447(d); Seedman v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1988) 837 F2d 413, 414]. However, the district court may correct any errors before certifying the remand to state court [Bucy v. Nevada Const. Co. (9th Cir 1942) 125 F2d 213, 217-218].

When a remand order is based on nonstatutory grounds, the district court may reconsider the order until the state court receives a certified copy of the remand order [Seedman v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1988) 837 F2d 413, 414].

The Ninth Circuit has suggested that only the certification of a statutory remand order to state court divests federal courts of jurisdiction [see Seedman v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1988) 837 F2d 413, 414].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsJurisdictional DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
IV. MOVING FOR REMAND TO STATE COURT AFTER REMOVAL

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.33

3.33 Appellate Review of Remand Order.

3.33[1] Orders Denying Remand. The denial of a motion to remand is not a final order and is ordinarily not subject to immediate appellate review. Appellate review is generally deferred until a final judgment or other appealable order is entered [see O'Halloran v. University of Washington (9th Cir 1988) 856 F2d 1375, 1378-1379].

Example:

If an appeal from the denial of remand is joined with an appeal from an order granting or denying a preliminary injunction, an appellate court may review the denial of remand without waiting for final judgment or certification [O'Halloran v. University of Washington (9th Cir 1988) 856 F2d 1375, 1378-1379 ; Takeda v. Northwestern Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1985) 765 F2d 815, 818 (reviewing refusal to remand with propriety of a preliminary injunction appropriate to prevent waste of judicial resources)].

Exception:

A court of appeals may accept an appeal from a district court order denying remand of a class action subject to the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005. A party seeking to appeal such an order must comply with the requirements of Fed R App P 5 [Amalgamated Transit Union Local 1309 v. Laidlaw Transit Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 435 F3d 1140, 1145]. The application for review must be made within ten court days after the entry of the order [28 USC § 1453(c)(1) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005); see Amalgamated Transit Union Local 1309 v. Laidlaw Transit Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 435 F3d 1140, 1145-1146 (noting drafting error in statute)]. The court of appeals must render a decision within 60 days (70 days if an extension of time for good cause is granted) of the date on which the appeal is filed [28 USC § 1453(c)(2),(3) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)]. For discussion of class actions subject to the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see § 2.24A.

Assuming that an order denying remand is reviewable before final judgment, the mechanism for review is limited to appeal, despite earlier circuit case law that indicated that mandamus was the proper procedure in certain circumstances [

Cal. Dep't of Water Res. v. Powerex Corp. (9th Cir 2008) 533 F3d 1087, 1093-1096 (district court's discretionary decision to decline supplemental jurisdiction is properly challenged pursuant to appeal, rather than in petition for writ of mandamus; "We conclude that Moses H. Cone should guide our review or remands to state court, and, on the authority of Quackenbush, we override circuit precedents that instruct otherwise."); see Quackenbush v. Allstate Insurance Co. (1996) 517 US 706, 709, 116 S Ct 1712, 135 L Ed2d 1 (1996) (finding abstention-based remand is appealable under 28 USC § 1291); Moses H. Cone Mem'l Hosp. v. Mercury Constr. Corp. (1983) 460 US 1, 8 n.6, 103 S Ct 927, 74 L Ed2d 765 ("a court of appeals has no occasion to engage in extraordinary review by mandamus 'in aid of [its] jurisdictio[n],' 28 U.S.C. § 1651, when it can exercise the same review by a contemporaneous ordinary appeal")].

If a judge issuing an order denying remand believes that the order involves a controlling question of law as to which substantial grounds exist for a difference of opinion and an immediate appeal would materially advance the ultimate termination of the litigation, the judge may certify the order for immediate appellate review [28 USC § 1292(b)].

3.33[2] Orders Granting Remand.

3.33[2][a] Remand Based on Procedural Defect or Lack of Subject Matter Jurisdiction Is Not Reviewable. Remand orders based on a lack of subject matter jurisdiction or a defect in removal procedure are not reviewable on appeal or otherwise [Quackenbush v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1996) 517 US 706, 711-712, 116 S Ct 1712, 135 L Ed 2d 1 (decided under 1988 version of 28 USC § 1447(c))], even if the remand is erroneous [28 USC § 1447(d); Thermtron Prods., Inc. v. Hermansdorfer (1976) 423 US 336, 343, 96 S Ct 584, 46 L Ed2d 542 , overruled on other grounds by Quackenbush v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1996) 517 US 706, 714-715, 116 S Ct 1712, 135 L Ed2d 1 ; Seedman v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 1988) 837 F2d 413, 414 (sua sponte remand based on untimely removal cannot be vacated even if based on clerical error)].

Exceptions:

An order remanding a case to state court pursuant to 28 USC § 1443 is reviewable on appeal [28 USC § 1447(d)]. Section 1443 removal is available in certain types of civil rights cases [see 3.13[3]].

An order remanding pendent state law claims on discretionary grounds is not pursuant to 28 USC § 1447(c), and therefore is a reviewable order [Cal. Dep't of Water Res. v. Powerex Corp. (9th Cir 2008) 533 F3d 1087, 1091]. Further, a remand based on declining to exercise supplemental jurisdiction over state-law claims under 28 USC § 1367(c) is not a remand for lack of subject-matter jurisdiction and therefore is not barred from appellate review by 28 USC § 1447(c), (d). The district court's decision whether to exercise its statutory supplemental jurisdiction over the state-law claims (see 28 USC § 1367(a), (c)) after dismissing every claim over which it has original jurisdiction is purely discretionary [Carlsbad Tech. v. HIF Bio (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1862, 173 L Ed2d 843, 849-850 (court's determination may be reviewed for abuse of discretion, but may not be raised as jurisdictional defect)].

A court of appeals may accept an appeal from a district court order granting remand of a class action subject to the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005. The application for review must be made within seven court days after the entry of the order [28 USC § 1453(c)(1) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005); see Amalgamated Transit Union Local 1309 v. Laidlaw Transit Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 435 F3d 1140, 1145-1146 (noting drafting error in statute)], and a party seeking to appeal such an order must comply with the requirements of Fed R App P 5 [Amalgamated Transit Union Local 1309 v. Laidlaw Transit Servs., Inc. (9th Cir 2006) 435 F3d 1140, 1145]. The court of appeals must render a decision within 60 days (70 days if an extension of time for good cause is granted) of the date on which the appeal is filed [28 USC § 1453(c)(2),(3) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)]. For discussion of class actions subject to the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see § 2.24A.

An order remanding a case removed under the Federal Employees Liability Reform and Tort Compensation Act of 1988 (Westfall Act), 28 USC § 2679(d)(2), is reviewable on appeal. The Westfall Act's provision for removal based on the Attorney General's scope-of employment certification, 28 USC § 2679(d)(2), prevails over 28 USC § 1447(d)'s general prohibition on appellate review of remand orders [Osborn v. Haley (2007) 549 US 225, 127 S Ct 881, 166 L Ed2d 819, 839 (Attorney General's certification that federal employee sued for wrongful or negligent conduct was acting within scope of his office conclusively establishes federal forum's jurisdiction and precludes remand to state court based on appellate court's disagreement with AG's scope-of-employment determination)].

The bar to appellate review of remand orders based on lack of subject matter jurisdiction applies even if the case were properly removed in the first instance, that is, even if jurisdiction existed at the time of removal [Powerex Corp. v. Reliant Energy Servs. (2007) 551 US 224, 127 S Ct 2411, 168 L Ed2d 112, 121 (when district court remands properly removed case because it nonetheless lacks subject matter jurisdiction, remand is covered by 28 USC § 1447(c) and thus shielded from review by 28 USC § 1447(d))]. Further, appellate review of the district court's characterization of its remand as based on lack of subject-matter jurisdiction is limited to confirming that the characterization was "colorable" [Powerex Corp. v. Reliant Energy Servs. (2007) 551 US 224, 127 S Ct. 2411, 168 L Ed2d 112, 122] .

The bar against appellate review of remands applies not only to remands under the general removal statute, but also to remands made in cases removed under any other statute as well [see Things Remembered, Inc. v. Petrarca (1995) 516 US 124, 128, 116 S Ct 494, 133 L Ed2d 461 ; see also Powerex Corp. v. Reliant Energy Servs. (2007) 551 US 224, 127 S Ct 2411, 168 L Ed2d 112, 125 (order remanding case removed under Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act of 1976 is not appealable); Kircher v. Putnam Funds Trust (2006) 547 US 633, 648, 126 S Ct 2145, 165 L Ed 2d 92 (order remanding case removed under Securities Litigation Uniform Standards Act of 1998 (SLUSA) is not appealable); FISLIC v. Frumenti Dev. Corp. (9th Cir 1988) 857 F2d 665, 669].

3.33[2][b] Remand Based on Joinder of Non-Diverse Defendants Is Not Reviewable. The bar against appellate review of remands applies when remand results from the joinder of non-diverse defendants under 28 USC § 1447(e) [Stevens v. Brink's Home Sec., Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 378 F3d 944, 948-949 ; see 3.24].

3.33[2][c] Remand Based on Substantive Decision Apart From Jurisdictional Issue Is Subject to Review. Remands based on a substantive decision apart from the jurisdictional issue are subject to review [Pelleport Investors, Inc. v. Budco Quality Theatres, Inc. (9th Cir. 1984) 741 F2d 273, 276-277 (section 1447(d) does not foreclose review of remanding district court's substantive determination on enforceability of forum selection clause)].

Distinguish:

If resolving the substantive legal question is necessary to determine jurisdiction, this exception does not apply [Lyons v. Alaska Teamsters Employer Serv. Corp. (9th Cir 1999) 188 F3d 1170, 1173, n3 (finding that ERISA did not preempt action and jurisdictional finding not reviewable)].

3.33[2][d] Remand Based on Discretionary Decline of Jurisdiction Is Subject to Review. A remand based on a district court's discretionary decline of jurisdiction is not insulated from appellate review [Quackenbush v. Allstate Ins. Co. (1996) 517 US 706, 711-712, 116 S Ct 1712, 1720, 135 L Ed2d 1 ; City of Tuscon v. US West Communications, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 1128, 1131].

Exception:

A district court's discretionary decline of jurisdiction over a class action subject to the modified diversity requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 is specifically subject to appellate review [see 28 USC § 1453(c) (applicable to civil actions commenced on or after February 18, 2005)].

3.33[2][e] Remand Based on Events Occurring After Time of Removal Is Subject to Review. When a district court bases its remand decision not on a lack of subject matter jurisdiction at the time of the removal itself, but on a lack of subject matter jurisdiction due to later occurring events, 28 USC § 1447(c) does not apply, and the restriction on appellate review in 28 USC § 1447(d) does not apply either [Reddam v. KPMG LLP (9th Cir 2006) 457 F3d 1054, 1058-1059 (district court expressly declared that it had jurisdiction at time of removal; court's subsequent remand based on arbitrator's post-removal refusal to arbitrate subject to appellate review)].

3.33[3] Standard of Review Is De Novo. Because the grant or denial of remand is a question of federal subject matter jurisdiction and statutory construction, appellate review is de novo [see Cantrell v. Great Republic Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1989) 873 F2d 1249, 1252-1255].

Cross Reference:

Appellate review of remand order, see 16 Moore's Federal Practice, § 107.44 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsAppellate ReviewCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsJurisdictional DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsMotions for RemandCivil ProcedureRemovalPostremoval RemandsProcedural DefectsCivil ProcedureRemovalProceedingsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
V. FORMS

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.34

3.34 Notice of Removal.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	NOTICE OF REMOVAL
	)
	)

To the Clerk of the United States District Court for the _____ District of _____ [state in which district located]:

DEFENDANT, _____ [name, e.g., Mary Jones], files this Notice of Removal under 28 USC §§ 1441, 1446 and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 81(c).

STATEMENT OF FACTS ENTITLING DEFENDANT TO REMOVAL

1. The action pending in the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the _____ [county or city and county] of _____, entitled _____ [state caption of action in state court], Docket No. _____ [insert docket or case designation assigned by state court] was commenced on _____ [date].

2. Copies of the pleadings and other papers served on the removing defendants in the above-described action are appended to this Notice of Removal as required by 28 USC § 1446.

[If removal is based on presence of federal question:]

3. As the appended record demonstrates, the action pending in the state court is a civil action within the original federal question jurisdiction of the federal district courts under _____ [specify statutory basis for original federal question jurisdiction over action, e.g., 28 USC § 1331 or one of the many specific grants of federal question jurisdiction. If only a separate and independent claim is within federal jurisdiction under § 1331, so state].

4. Because the state court action is one within the federal question jurisdiction of the federal district courts, the action is removable to federal court without regard to the citizenship of the parties under 28 USC § 1441 (a), (b). [Alternatively, if removal is based on the presence of separate and independent claim cognizable under 28 USC § 1331, state that entire case is removable as provided in 28 USC § 1441(c).]

[OR, if removal is based on diversity jurisdiction:]

3. As the appended record demonstrates, the action pending in the state court is a civil action within the original diversity jurisdiction of the federal district courts under 28 USC § 1332(a) because there is complete diversity of citizenship between the litigants, and the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000.

a. CITIZENSHIP. _____ [Party designation and name of state court plaintiff] is a citizen of the State of _____ [allege citizenship of plaintiff; for an individual, identify state of domicile; for a corporation, identify both state of incorporation and state of principal place of business, e.g., Delaware, its State of incorporation, and of California, its principal place of business], while _____ [party designation and name of defendant seeking removal] is a citizen of the State of _____ [allege citizenship of defendant; for an individual, identify state of domicile; for a corporation, identify both state of incorporation and state of principal place of business, e.g., Texas, which is both its State of incorporation and its principal place of business].

[Optional, add if presence of nondiverse defendant should be ignored based on fraudulent joinder:]

The complaint also names _____ [name of codefendant] who is a citizen of the same state as the plaintiff. However, the citizenship of this defendant should be disregarded for purpose of determining removal jurisdiction based on the fact that no possibility exists that the plaintiff can establish liability against this defendant for the following reasons: _____ [specify].

[CONTINUE]

[Optional, add if removal based on changes after complaint filed:]

When this state-court complaint was originally filed, complete diversity was lacking because _____ [specify, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith and Defendant Mary Jones were citizens of the same state]. On _____ [date], complete diversity was created as a result of _____ [specify, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith's voluntary settlement and dismissal of the nondiverse defendant].

[CONTINUE]

b. AMOUNT IN CONTROVERSY. The amount in controversy in the action exceeds $75,000 exclusive of interest and costs in that _____ [allege facts sufficient to show that the amount in controversy exceeds the $75,000 jurisdictional minimum].

c. SERVICE OF PROCESS. _____ [For each party served in action, state date that service of process was made.]

4. Because the state court action is one within the diversity jurisdiction of the federal district courts, the action is removable to federal court under 28 USC § 1441(a) and (b) because no defendant is a citizen of the State of California.

[OR, if removal is based on special removal statute:]

3. As the appended record demonstrates, _____ [state circumstances bringing case within special removal statute, e.g., the action pending in the state court is a civil action brought against a foreign state].

4. The state court action therefore is removable to the federal district court under _____ [specify special removal statute relied on, e.g., 28 USC § 1441(d)].

[CONTINUE]

5. Removal to this district court is proper under 28 USC § 1441(a) because the _____ [specify state court in which action is pending] is geographically located within this court's district. [If removal is under a special removal statute that permits removal to a district other than that encompassing the state court, state that removal to the particular district is proper under that statute.]

6. Removal is timely under 28 USC § 1446(b) because this Notice of Removal is filed within 30 days of _____ [specify event triggering right of removal, e.g., service of process of complaint stating claim within federal jurisdiction, or, dismissal of sole nondiverse defendant]. _____ [If removal is based on diversity, add: Removal is also timely because this Notice of Removal is filed not more than one year after the action was commenced in the state court.]

7. Removal is proper under 28 USC § 1446(b) because _____ [state facts necessary to show that all defendants who must consent to decision to remove have done so, e.g., all defendants have joined in this Notice of Removal, or those defendants who have not joined in this Notice of Removal have not been served with process or are mere nominal parties not required to join].

_____ [date]
Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [name and designation of party]

[Each served defendant must join in notice of removal; therefore, if there are multiple defendants, add a signature block for the attorney for each defendant.]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1441, 1446

Timing:
See § 3.20

Drafting Notice:
See § 3.18

Related Form of Notice to Adverse Parties:
See § 3.35

Related Declaration:
See § 3.36

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.34A

3.34A Notice of Removal of Class Action Under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address)]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
on behalf of _____	)
[himself or herself] and all others similarly situated,	)
Plaintiffs	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)	NOTICE OF REMOVAL
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)
	)
	)

To the Clerk of the United States District Court for the _____ District of _____ [state in which district located]:

DEFENDANT, _____ [name], files this Notice of Removal under 28 USC §§ 1441, 1446, 1453 and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 81(c).

STATEMENT OF FACTS ENTITLING DEFENDANT TO REMOVAL

1. The action pending in the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the _____ [county or city and county] of _____, entitled _____ [state caption of action in state court], Docket No. _____ [insert docket or case designation assigned by state court] was commenced on _____ [date].

2. Copies of the pleadings and other papers served on the removing defendant in the above-described action are appended to this Notice of Removal as required by 28 USC § 1446.

3. As the appended record demonstrates, the action pending in the state court is a civil action within the original diversity jurisdiction of the federal district courts under 28 USC § 1332(d) because there is diversity of citizenship between a member of the class of plaintiffs and a defendant, and the amount in controversy exceeds $5,000,000.

a. CITIZENSHIP. _____ [name of state court plaintiff] is a member of the plaintiff class and is a citizen of the State of _____ [allege citizenship of plaintiff; for an individual, identify state of domicile; for a corporation, identify both state of incorporation and state of principal place of business, e.g., Delaware, its State of incorporation, and of California, its principal place of business], while defendant _____ [name of defendant seeking removal] is a citizen of the State of _____ [allege citizenship of defendant; for an individual, identify state of domicile; for a corporation, identify both state of incorporation and state of principal place of business, e.g., Texas, which is both its State of incorporation and its principal place of business].

b. AMOUNT IN CONTROVERSY. The amount in controversy in the action exceeds $5,000,000 exclusive of interest and costs in that _____ [allege facts sufficient to show that the amount in controversy exceeds the $5,000,000 jurisdictional minimum].

c. SERVICE OF PROCESS. _____ [For each party served in action, state date that service of process was made.]

d. NUMBER OF MEMBERS OF ALL PROPOSED PLAINTIFF CLASSES. The class of unnamed plaintiffs exceeds 100 in number within the meaning of 28 USC § 1332(d)(5)(B).

e. PRIMARY DEFENDANT. The primary defendant is not a State, State official, or other governmental entity within the meaning of 28 USC § 1332(d)(5)(A).

4. Because the state court action is one within the diversity jurisdiction of the federal district courts under 28 USC § 1332(d), the action is removable to federal court under 28 USC § 1453 regardless of whether any defendant is a citizen of California.

5. Removal to this district court is proper under 28 USC § 1441(a) because the _____ [specify state court in which action is pending] is geographically located within this court's district.

6. Removal is timely under 28 USC § 1446(b) because this Notice of Removal is filed within 30 days of _____ [specify event triggering right of removal, e.g., service of process of complaint stating claim within federal jurisdiction].

7. Because the state court action is one within the diversity jurisdiction of the federal district courts under 28 USC § 1332(d), the action is removable to federal court under 28 USC § 1453 by defendant _____ [name of defendant seeking removal] without the consent of other defendants.

[Optional]

8. Removal by one defendant under 28 USC § 1453(b) removes the entire action, including claims against all defendants [United Steel v. Shell Oil Co. (9th Cir 2008) 549 F3d 1204, 1208] .

_____ [date]

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [name and designation of party]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1332, 1441, 1446, 1453

Timing:
See § 3.20

Drafting Notice:
See § 3.18

Related Form of Notice to Adverse Parties:
See § 3.35

Related Declaration:
See § 3.36

Forms for Removal and Remand in Large Multistate Class Actions:
See 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 23:200-23:206 (Matthew Bender)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
V. FORMS

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.35

3.35 Notice to Adverse Parties of Filing of Notice of Removal.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	NOTICE TO ADVERSE PARTIES
	)	OF FILING OF NOTICE OF REMOVAL
	)

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice under the provisions of 28 USC § 1446(d) that on _____ [date],

_____ [party filing removal notice, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones] filed with the Clerk of this Court at the United States Courthouse, located at _____ [address of court], the attached Notice of Removal to accomplish the removal of the action pending in the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the _____ [county or city and county] of _____, entitled _____ [state caption of action in state court], Docket No. _____ [insert docket or case designation assigned by state court], commenced on _____ [date of commencement of state action], to the United States District Court for the _____ [specify district] District of California. A copy of the Notice of Removal also has been filed with the Clerk of the _____ [specify state court in which action is pending]. Under 28 USC §§ 1441, 1446 and Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 81(c), this action now will be placed on the docket of this District Court for further proceedings.

_____ [date]

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [name and designation of party]

NOTES.

Authority:

28 USC § 1446

Notice to Adverse Parties:

See § 3.19[3]

Timing:

See § 3.20

167 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
V. FORMS

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.36

3.36 Declaration of Filing Notice of Removal in State Court.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)
Defendant	)	DECLARATION OF FILING NOTICE OF RE-)	MOVAL IN STATE COURT
	)

I, _____ [name of declarant], declare as follows:

1. I am the _____ [identify declarant, e.g., attorney of record for Defendant John Smith] in this action.

2. On _____ [date of filing notice of removal in state court], as required by 28 USC § 1446(d), I filed with the Clerk of the Superior Court of the State of California in and for the _____ [county or city and county] of _____, a copy of the Notice of Removal filed in this court on _____ [date] in order to provide notice to that court of the removal of this action.

I declare under penalty of perjury _____ [if executed outside the United States or its territories, insert: under the laws of the United States of America] that the foregoing is true and correct.

Executed on _____ [date].

_____ [signature of declarant]

_____ [typed name]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1446

Related Forms of Notice of Removal:
See §§ 3.34, 3.34A

168 of 168 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 3 Removing a State Court Case to Federal Court
V. FORMS

1-3 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 3.37

3.37 Notice of Motion and Motion for Order Remanding Removed Action to State Court.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

	)
	)	Civil Action No. _____
_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION FOR OR-
vs.	)	DER REMANDING REMOVED ACTION TO
_____ [name],	)	STATE COURT
Defendant	)
	)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No. _____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as counsel may be heard, _____ [specify moving party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse, located at _____ [address of court], Courtroom _____ [number], for an order:

(a) pursuant to 28 USC § 1447(c), remanding this action to the _____ [specify state court from which action was removed] on the ground that _____ [state basis of motion, e.g., the District Court is without jurisdiction over the action, or the removal of the action was untimely or the removal of the action was otherwise procedurally defective];

(b) pursuant to 28 USC § 1447(c), awarding costs and attorney's fees to _____ [specify moving party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] for the expenses incurred as a result of the removal; and

(c) granting _____ [specify moving party, e.g., Plaintiff John Smith] such other incidental relief as may be appropriate.

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,
_____ [signature of attorney]
_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]
_____ [firm name, if applicable]
Attorney for_____[party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC § 1447

Grounds for Motion:
See § 3.26

Timing of Motion:
See § 3.27

1 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.syn

§ 4.syn Synopsis to Chapter 4: Determining Parties to the Action

4.01 Scope.

4.02 Objective and Strategy.

4.03 CHECKLIST: Applying Permissive Party Joinder Rule.

4.04 Selecting Initial Parties to Action.

4.04[1] Federal Rules Encourage Liberal Joinder of Parties and Claims.

4.04[2] Three-Part Test for Joinder of Plaintiffs.

4.04[3] Three-Part Test for Joinder of Defendants.

4.04[4] Each Party Must Meet Minimum Qualifications.

4.05 No Numerical Limits on Permissive Joinder of Parties.

4.05[1] Practical Considerations May Limit Ability to Join All Parties.

4.05[2] Practical Difficulties May Be Compounded by Rule That Each Joined Party May Join All Available Claims Against Opponents.

4.05[3] Court May Order Separate Trials to Resolve Problems Created by Excessive Joinder of Parties and Claims.

4.05[4] Parties May Opt for Representative Proceeding, Such as Class Action, Rather Than Joining All Parties.

4.06 Limitations on Joinder of United States As Defendant.

4.06[1] Sovereign Immunity Prohibits Claims Against United States Except to Extent United States Waives Immunity.

4.06[2] United States Has Made Limited, Statutory Waivers of Immunity.

4.06[2][a] Tucker Act Waives Immunity for Monetary Actions Not Sounding in Tort.

4.06[2][b] Tort Claims Act Waives Immunity, But Requires Administrative Claims to Precede Suits.

4.07 Motion Procedures for Objecting to Misjoinder of Parties.

4.07[1] Party May Object to Party Joinder by Motion; Court May Address Joinder Sua Sponte.

4.07[2] Party May Bring Motion to Drop Party.

4.07[3] Party May Bring Motion to Sever.

4.08 Remedies for Misjoinder of Parties.

4.08[1] Misjoinder of Parties Is Not Ground for Dismissal.

4.08[2] Court May Order Severance.

4.08[3] Court May Drop or Add Parties at Any Time.

4.09 CHECKLIST: Assuring Action Brought by Real Party in Interest.

4.10 CHECKLIST: Raising Objections to Real Party Status.

4.11 Real-Party-in-Interest Requirement Calls for Particular Kind of Standing.

4.11[1] Actions Must Be Prosecuted by Real Party in Interest, Legal Owner of Claim.

4.11[2] Requirement Overlaps With General Standing Requirement.

4.11[3] Plaintiff's Failure to Meet Requirement May Be Waived by Failure to Object.

4.12 Executor, Administrator, Guardian, and Statutory Representative May Sue As Real Party in Interest.

4.13 United States May Litigate As Real Party Representative.

4.14 United States Is Real Party in Interest With Respect to Claims Regarding United States Properties or Interests.

4.15 Determining Real Party Status in Assigned Claims.

4.15[1] Assignee Acquiring Fully Assigned Claim Is Real Party.

4.15[2] Assignee May Be Real Party in Interest Even When Assignor Receives Some Benefit of Litigation.

4.15[3] Assignments for Purpose of Creating Diversity Jurisdiction Are Ineffective for That Purpose.

4.15[4] Assigning Claims Against United States.

4.15[4][a] Assignment of Claims Act Generally Prohibits Assignment of Matured Claims Against United States.

4.15[4][b] Anti-Assignment Act Generally Prohibits Assignments of Rights Under Contracts With United States.

4.16 Procedures for Raising Objections to Real Party Status.

4.16[1] Defendant May Assert Affirmative Defense.

4.16[2] Court May Raise Lack of Real Party in Interest.

4.16[3] Defendant May Bring Motion Addressing Real Party Status.

4.17 Bringing Motion to Compel Joinder of Real Party in Interest.

4.18 Bringing Motion to Drop Party As Not Real Party in Interest.

4.19 Dismissing Action for Real Party Defect.

4.19[1] Dismissal Is Not Usual Remedy for Lack of Real Party in Interest.

4.19[2] Courts Are Generally Lenient in Allowing Cure.

4.19[2][a] Courts Favor Offering Opportunity to Cure Defect.

4.19[2][b] If Curing Defect Is Impossible, Court May Immediately Dismiss.

4.19[2][c] If Failure to Prosecute in Name of Real Party Is Not Honest Mistake, Court May Immediately Dismiss.

4.19[3] Ratification As Cure Requires Ratifying Party to Authorize Action and to Agree to Be Bound by Result.

4.19[4] Joinder or Substitution of Real Party Cures Defect.

4.19[5] Ratification, Joinder, Substitution Relate Back to Original Complaint.

4.19[6] Dismissal Proper After Reasonable Time Passes and Defect Not Cured.

4.20 CHECKLIST: Determining Which State's Laws Govern Capacity to Sue and Be Sued.

4.21 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Minor Under California Law.

4.22 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Incompetent Under California Law.

4.23 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Decedent's Representative Under California Law.

4.24 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Business Entities Under California Law.

4.25 CHECKLIST: Challenging Plaintiff's Lack of Capacity.

4.26 Capacity to Sue and Be Sued in Federal Court Depends on State Law.

4.27 Pleading Capacity Is Not Required, Except When Required to Plead Jurisdiction.

4.28 Determining Capacity of Individual Litigant.

4.28[1] Individuals Have Capacity to Sue or Be Sued Unless They Are Under Disability.

4.28[2] Determining Capacity of Minors Under California Law.

4.28[2][a] Minor Must Sue Through Guardian or Guardian Ad Litem.

4.28[2][b] Minor Has Capacity to Be Sued, but Court Will Appoint Guardian.

4.28[2][c] Emancipated Minor Has Full Capacity, Even Without Guardian.

4.28[2][d] Minor 12 Years Old or Older Has Capacity to Seek or Defend Against Harassment and Violence Injunctions.

4.28[2][e] Neither Minors Nor Guardians May Appear Pro Se.

4.28[3] Determining Capacity of Incompetent Persons Under California Law.

4.28[3][a] Incompetent Must Sue Through Conservator or Guardian Ad Litem.

4.28[3][b] Incompetent Has Capacity to Be Sued in Many Cases, but Court Will Appoint Guardian.

4.29 Determining Capacity of Decedents and Decedents' Representatives Under California Law.

4.29[1] Personal Representative or Successor in Interest May Bring Decedent's Cause of Action.

4.29[2] Cause of Action Against Decedent May Be Asserted Against Personal Representative or Successor in Interest.

4.29[3] Estate Itself May Not Be Party.

4.30 Determining Capacity of Public Corporations.

4.30[1] Capacity of Corporation Determined by Law of State Where Organized.

4.30[2] Determining Capacity of California Corporations.

4.30[2][a] California Corporations Have Same Capacity as Natural Persons.

4.30[2][b] Dissolved California Corporations Have Limited Capacity.

4.30[2][c] Merged Corporation Loses Right to Bring Suit.

4.30[2][d] California Corporation's Rights to Sue and Defend Suits May Be Suspended by Failure to File or Pay Tax.

4.31 Determining Capacity of Partnerships, Associations, and Sole Proprietorships.

4.31[1] Capacity of Partnerships and Associations Determined by Law of State Where District Court Sits.

4.31[2] In California, Partnership May Sue or Be Sued in Partnership Name.

4.31[2][a] Partnership Name Suits Permitted, but Strategic Considerations May Make Partners Advisable Additional Parties.

4.31[2][b] Compliance With Fictitious Name Statute May Be Prerequisite to Partnership Name Suit.

4.31[3] In California, Unincorporated Association May Sue and Be Sued Under Common Name.

4.31[4] In California, Sole Proprietorship Does Not Have Existence Separate From Owner.

4.32 Determining Capacity of Limited Liability Entities.

4.32[1] Capacity of Limited Liability Entities Determined by Law of State Where District Court Sits.

4.32[2] In California, Limited Liability Company May Sue or Be Sued.

4.32[3] In California, Limited Partnerships and Limited Liability Partnerships Have Same Capacity to Sue and Be Sued As General Partnerships.

4.33 Determining Capacity of Nationally Chartered Corporations.

4.33[1] Federally Chartered Corporation.

4.33[2] Corporation Chartered by District of Columbia.

4.34 Determining Capacity of State and Local Public Entities.

4.34[1] Capacities of State and Local Public Entities Determined by Law of State Where District Court Sits.

4.34[2] State of California and California "Public Entities" Have Capacity to Sue and Be Sued.

4.34[3] State Public Entities May Be Sued Only to Extent They Have Waived Immunity.

4.34[4] Liability of California and California Public Agencies Is Subject to Numerous Statutory Limits.

4.34[5] Administrative Claim May Be Prerequisite to Suit.

4.34[6] Eleventh Amendment Immunity May Preclude Suit.

4.35 Determining Capacity of Representatives Litigating State-Law Claims.

4.36 Challenging Capacity Defect.

4.36[1] Capacity Defect Should Be Raised in Responsive Pleadings.

4.36[2] Capacity Defect May Be Raised by Motion to Dismiss.

4.37 Determining Proper Representatives for Persons Lacking Legal Capacity.

4.37[1] Previously Appointed Representative May Sue for or Defend Minor or Incompetent.

4.37[2] Minor or Incompetent May Sue by Next Friend or Guardian Ad Litem.

4.37[3] Court May Appoint Guardian Ad Litem for Minor or Incompetent Who Has Been Sued.

4.37[4] Court Must Hold Incompetency Hearing for Persons Not Previously Adjudged Incompetent.

4.38 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Actions Involving Minors and Incompetents.

4.38[1] Court Must Approve Settlement or Compromise.

4.38[2] Court Sets Attorney's Fees.

4.38[3] All Monies Paid to Minor or Incompetent Placed in Blocked Account.

4.39 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Actions Involving Minors and Incompetents.

4.39[1] Appointment of Representative or Guardian.

4.39[2] Court Approval Required for Settlement or Compromise.

4.39[3] Disclosure of Attorney's Interest Required.

4.39[4] Court Holds Full Hearing on Proposed Compromise.

4.39[5] Disbursement of Monies or Property Made According to State Law.

4.40 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal--Actions Involving Minors or Incompetents.

4.40[1] Court Order Required for Settlement or Compromise.

4.40[2] Disbursement of Monies or Property Made According to State Law.

4.40[2][a] California Law Applicable for California Resident.

4.40[2][b] Certified Copy of Guardianship Letters Must Be Filed With Clerk.

4.40[2][c] Ex Parte Petition for Review and Approval Must Be Submitted.

4.40[2][d] Approval of Settlement by Magistrate Judge.

4.40[2][e] Submission of Proposed Order.

4.40[2][f] Rules for Distribution, Withdrawals, and Disbursements.

4.41 CHECKLIST: Applying Compulsory Joinder Rule.

4.42 Objective and Strategy: Compulsory Joinder Limits Plaintiff's Ability to Shape Litigation.

4.42[1] Absent Persons With Interest in Subject of Litigation Must Be Protected.

4.42[2] Court Should Assure That Judgment Provides Complete, Effective Relief to Parties.

4.42[3] Compulsory Joinder Rule Limits Power of Plaintiff to Determine Parties to Lawsuit.

4.43 Certain Unjoined Persons or Entities Are Considered "Required Parties."

4.43[1] Person Whose Absence Will Prevent Complete Relief to Existing Parties Is Required Party.

4.43[2] Absent Person Who Has Interest in Subject of Action That May Be Prejudiced by Judgment Is Required Party.

4.43[2][a] Absent Person Must Have Interest in Litigation.

4.43[2][b] Absent Person May Waive Interest.

4.43[2][c] Absent Person's Interest Must Be Legally Protectable, but Need Not Be Property Interest.

4.43[2][d] Absent Person's Interest May Be Adequately Represented by Existing Party.

4.43[3] Absent Person Who Has Interest in Subject Matter of Action and Might Bring Subsequent Action Resulting in Multiple or Inconsistent Obligations for Existing Party Is Required Party.

4.43[3][a] Absent Person's Interest in Litigation May Threaten Inconsistent Obligations for Existing Party.

4.43[3][b] Only Possibility of Inconsistent Obligations, Not Inconsistent Adjudications, Establishes Required Party Status.

4.43[4] Whenever Any of the Three Tests Are Satisfied, Absent Person Is Required Party.

4.44 Claimant's Pleading Must Address All Parties Required to Resolve Claim.

4.45 Court Will Order Joinder of Any Required Party.

4.45[1] Joinder Required When Feasible.

4.45[2] Required Party Plaintiff Who Refuses to Join May Be Made Defendant or Involuntary Plaintiff.

4.45[3] If Joined Party Properly Objects to Venue, That Party Must Be Dismissed.

4.46 Determining Whether Required Party Who Cannot Be Joined Is Indispensable.

4.46[1] If Joinder of Required Party Is Not Feasible, Court Must Determine If Action May Proceed or Must Be Dismissed.

4.46[2] Court Considers Several Factors in Determining Whether Action May Proceed in Absence of Required Party.

4.46[2][a] Determination Is Fact Sensitive.

4.46[2][b] Extent of Prejudice Is a Factor.

4.46[2][c] Protective Provisions in Judgment Are a Factor.

4.46[2][d] Ability to Provide Adequate and Meaningful Relief Is a Factor.

4.46[2][e] Consequence to Plaintiff of Dismissal Is a Factor.

4.47 Application of Compulsory Joinder Rules to Indian Tribes.

4.47[1] Indian Tribes' Sovereign Immunity Prevents Joinder.

4.47[2] In Ninth Circuit, Tribes' Sovereign Immunity Does Not Extend to Suits by United States.

4.47[3] When Indian Tribe Is Required Party, Dismissal Does Not Automatically Result From Inability to Join Tribe As Party.

4.48 Exceptions to and Limits on Compulsory Joinder Rule.

4.48[1] Exception for Actions Enforcing Public Rights.

4.48[1][a] Little Need for Compulsory Joinder Rules in Public Rights Cases.

4.48[1][b] Exception Limited to Cases That Transcend Private Interests of Litigants.

4.48[1][c] Exception Limited to Cases Where Absent Third Parties Are Left Free to Assert Legal Rights.

4.48[2] Compulsory Joinder Is Subject to Class Actions Rule.

4.49 Raising Failure to Join Required or Indispensable Party.

4.49[1] Absence of Required Party Should Be Pleaded As Defense.

4.49[2] Defendant May Bring Motion to Dismiss If Indispensable Party Is Not Joined.

4.49[3] Party May Bring Motion to Compel Joinder.

4.49[4] Party May Bring Motion to Add Parties.

4.49[5] Failure to Assert Absence of Indispensable Party by Way of Motion or in Pleadings Does Not Waive Objection.

4.50 Curing Absence of Required Party.

4.50[1] If Joinder Is Feasible, Joinder Cures Party Defect.

4.50[2] Absentee May Be Joined by Devices Other Than Motion for Joinder.

4.50[2][a] Absentee May Join Voluntarily Through Intervention.

4.50[2][b] Existing Claimants May Amend Pleadings.

4.50[2][c] Parties Defending Claim May Bring in Required Party Through Impleader.

4.51 Absentees Not Bound by Judgment.

4.52 CHECKLIST: Interpleading Conflicting Claims.

4.53 Options and Strategies for Interpleading Conflicting Claims.

4.53[1] Purpose of Interpleader Is to Settle Conflicting Claims to Stake.

4.53[2] "Stakeholder" Plaintiff May Sue All Who Claim Interest in Stake.

4.53[3] Defendant Faced With Multiple Liability May Also Assert Interpleader.

4.54 Interpleader Requires Conflicting Claims to Specific Fund or Property.

4.54[1] Claims Must Be Against Specific Fund or Property.

4.54[2] Claims Must Be Adverse to Each Other.

4.54[3] So Long As Claims Are Adverse, They Need Not Arise From Common Origin or Title.

4.55 Stakeholder May Initiate "Statutory" or "Rule" Interpleader Proceedings.

4.55[1] Distinction Between "Statutory" and "Rule" Interpleader.

4.55[2] Two Types of Interpleader Supplement Rather Than Displace Each Other.

4.55[3] Party Must Establish Right to Interpleader Under One Authorization or the Other.

4.56 Subject Matter Jurisdiction Requirements for Interpleader.

4.56[1] Statutory Interpleader Actions.

4.56[1][a] Special Jurisdiction Standards Apply in Statutory Interpleader Actions.

4.56[1][b] Minimal Amount in Controversy.

4.56[1][c] Minimal Diversity Among Claimants.

4.56[2] Rule Interpleader Actions.

4.56[2][a] Normal Jurisdiction Standards Apply in Rule Interpleader Actions.

4.56[2][b] Federal Question Jurisdiction.

4.56[2][c] Diversity of Citizenship.

4.56[2][d] Special Statutory Grant of Jurisdiction.

4.57 Service of Process in Interpleader Actions.

4.57[1] Special Nationwide Service of Process Authorization for Statutory Interpleader Actions.

4.57[2] Normal Service of Process Limits in Rule Interpleader Actions.

4.58 Venue in Interpleader Actions.

4.58[1] Special Venue Provisions for Statutory Interpleader Actions.

4.58[2] Normal Venue Provisions for Rule Interpleader Actions.

4.59 First Stage of Interpleader Proceedings: Obtaining Ruling on Propriety of Interpleader.

4.59[1] Depositing Disputed Property With Court.

4.59[1][a] Deposit Mandatory in Statutory Interpleader Actions.

4.59[1][b] Deposit Optional in Rule Interpleader Actions.

4.59[2] Enjoining Independent Actions Seeking Share of Stake.

4.59[2][a] Statute Authorizes Injunction in Statutory Interpleader Cases.

4.59[2][b] General Equitable Authorization for Injunction in Rule Interpleader Cases.

4.59[2][c] Injunction Limited to Claims Against Stake.

4.59[2][d] Injunction Is Discretionary; Court May Defer to State Court Proceedings.

4.59[3] Seeking Discharge for Stakeholder.

4.59[3][a] Disinterested Stakeholder Normally Entitled to Discharge.

4.59[3][b] Stakeholder Who Claims Interest or Denies Liability Must Not Be Discharged.

4.59[4] Seeking Costs and Attorney's Fees on Discharge of Stakeholder.

4.59[4][a] Court Has Discretion to Award Fees.

4.59[4][b] Award Appropriate Only for Stakeholder Who Has Acted Equitably and Promptly.

4.59[4][c] Amount of Fee Award Should Be Modest.

4.60 Second Stage of Proceedings: Ordinary Pretrial and Trial of Conflicting Claims.

4.61 Complaint for Interpleader.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
I. STRATEGY

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.01

4.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Permissive joinder of parties [see 4.03 -4.08].
- Joinder of claims and remedies under Fed R Civ P 18 [see 4.05[2]].
- Misjoinder and nonjoinder of parties under Fed R Civ P 21 [see 4.08].
- Real parties in interest under Fed R Civ P 17(a) [see 4.09 -4.19].
- Capacity to sue and be sued [see 4.20 -4.40].
- Compulsory joinder under Fed R Civ P 19 [see 4.41 -4.51].
- Interpleader [see 4.52 -4.60; Form: 4.61].

Core Rules:
Fed R Civ P 17-22.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderMisjoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJoinder of Claims & RemediesClaimsCivil ProcedureJoinder of Claims & RemediesRemedies

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
I. STRATEGY

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.02

4.02 Objective and Strategy.

A plaintiff's initial selection of the proper parties for the suit is one of the most critical, and often overlooked or underappreciated factors shaping the litigation itself and its possible result. Although defendants may add additional parties by moving to compel joinder under Rule 19 [see Fed R Civ P 19(a)], and by bringing third-party claims against non-parties [see Fed R Civ P 14(a)], those rights are limited. A plaintiff has primary responsibility for selecting the proper parties. The plaintiff's initial choice may have profound consequences if the court's jurisdiction depends on diversity of citizenship [see 28 USC § 1332]. The plaintiff's choice may also affect venue [see 28 USC § 1391].

The plaintiff must consider whether all the required parties plaintiff are present. Plaintiff must have the standing to seek the relief that is the object of the litigation. The plaintiff must also be the "real party in interest" [see Fed R Civ P 17(a)].

The plaintiff also has the initial responsibility to sue the proper defendants. The plaintiff must sue all of the defendants who are liable for and who have the ability to provide the relief sought. Failure to join necessary parties who are also indispensable parties may result in the dismissal of the action [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(7), 19(b)]. In addition, an unsuccessful attempt to obtain a judgment against the wrong parties may distort the litigation, resulting in an unfavorable judgment that may have issue or claim preclusion consequences for any subsequent suit against the proper parties.

On the other hand, the plaintiff may not sue any and all persons who might conceivably be liable. The presence of too many unnecessary defendants makes the lawsuit cumbersome and may delay its resolution. Furthermore, suing a defendant without a reasonable legal and factual investigation into that defendant's potential liability may result in sanctions, even if suing such a defendant does not amount to malicious prosecution [see 28 USC § 1927; Fed R Civ P 11(b), (c)].

Investigating Potential Parties Using Online Resources:

Investigation of existing and potential adversaries (and perhaps allied parties) who may have been parties in other litigation can be greatly facilitated by information and leads from online resources. For example, helpful resources at lexis.com include:

- Legal tab> Cases-U.S.> Federal & State Court Cases-After 1944, Combined

  - Sample Search: To learn about other litigation in which the person or entity was a party, try a NAME segment search of the case law: name (First Name/3 Last Name).

- Public Records tab> Find Filings> Civil & Criminal Filings and Regulatory Actions> Combined State Civil Filings

  - Sample Search: To learn about other litigation in state courts in which the person or entity is a party, try a NAME segment search of the docket filings: name (First Name/3 Last Name).

- Public Records tab> Find Filings> Civil & Criminal Filings and Regulatory Actions> Combined U.S. District Courts> U.S. District Courts, Civil Filings (Full Docket)

  - Sample Search: To learn about other litigation in federal courts in which the person or entity is a party, try a name search of the docket filings.

- News & Business> Company & Financial> Company Profiles & Directories> Individual Publications> LexisNexis(R) Corporate AffiliationsTM

  - Sample Searches: Determine Corporate parent/subsidiary relationships, including Directors and Officers by searching the Directory of Corporate Affiliations online. A product search may be performed, such as search: brand/business(Tylenol). A company search follows this format: company(lexisnexis).

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

4 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 17, Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity; Public Officers; Ch. 18, Joinder of Claims; Ch. 19, Required Joinder of Parties; Ch. 20, Permissive Joinder of Parties; Ch. 21, Misjoinder and Nonjoinder of Parties; Ch. 22, Interpleader (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 17, Plaintiff and Defendant; Capacity; Public Officers; Rule 18, Joinder of Claims; Rule 19, Required Joinder of Parties; Rule 20, Permissive Joinder of Parties; Rule 21, Misjoinder and Nonjoinder of Parties; Rule 22, Interpleader (Matthew Bender).

Cross References:

For related topical coverage, see the following chapters:

- Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12.
- Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings.
- Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties.
- Ch. 12, Third-Party Actions.

- Ch. 14, Intervention.
- Ch. 18, Consolidation and Separate Trials.
- Ch. 20, Class Actions.

For Tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderMisjoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJoinder of Claims & RemediesClaimsCivil ProcedureJoinder of Claims & RemediesRemedies

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
II. STRUCTURING LITIGATION THROUGH PERMISSIVE JOINDER OF PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.03

4.03 CHECKLIST: Applying Permissive Party Joinder Rule.

☐ Attempt to create most economical and efficient proceeding by joining all possible parties in single proceeding.

☐ If the parties in question are plaintiffs, make sure proposed plaintiffs:

- ○ Assert right to relief jointly, severally, or in the alternative.
- ○ Assert claims that arise out of same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences.
- ○ Have claims that raise question of law or fact common to all proposed plaintiffs.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 20(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 4.04[1], [2]

☐ If the parties in question are defendants, make sure proposed defendants:

- ○ Will be liable jointly, severally, or in the alternative.

○ Are responding to claims arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions or occurrences.

○ Have liabilities that present question of law or fact common to all proposed defendants.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 20(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 4.04[1], [3]

☐ Consider practical difficulties raised by joining parties to action, including whether:

○ Additional parties will delay resolution of proceedings.

○ Additional parties will join additional claims, further expanding suit.

○ Scope of suit will include so many claims and parties that it will become confusing to jury.

○ Scope of suit will include so many claims and parties that discovery becomes too cumbersome and expensive.

○ Court may negate efficiencies of joinder by ordering separate trial.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 18, 20(b)

Discussion:
See § 4.05

☐ Consider jurisdictional limitations on joinder of parties, including:

○ Joinder of opposing party who is citizen of same state will destroy subject matter jurisdiction in those cases founded on diversity of jurisdiction.

○ Governmental defendants may have sovereign immunity or related defenses, including:

☐ Sovereign immunity defense of United States;

☐ Waiver of sovereign immunity by United States may be conditioned on filing of administrative claim prior to initiating lawsuit;

☐ Sovereign immunity defense of State of California;

☐ Administrative claim prerequisite for suits against State of California, and all California governmental entities, even when sovereign immunity waived;

☐ State of California's Eleventh Amendment immunity from money damage suits in federal court;

☐ Limits on suits against foreign governments and foreign governmental entities imposed by Foreign Sovereign Immunities Act.

Authority:
US Const, amend XI; 28 USC §§ 1330, 1332, 1346, 1602 et seq., 2671 et seq.; Gov Code § 900 et seq.

Discussion:
See §§ 4.06, 4.34

☐ Consider venue issues.

Authority:
28 USC § 1391 et seq.

Discussion:
Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), §§ 2.48- 2.60.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
II. STRUCTURING LITIGATION THROUGH PERMISSIVE JOINDER OF PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.04

4.04 Selecting Initial Parties to Action.

4.04[1] Federal Rules Encourage Liberal Joinder of Parties and Claims. Plaintiffs are granted broad discretion to determine the structure of their actions. Subject to jurisdictional constraints, the federal rules encourage plaintiffs to bring all interested parties together in a single action [United Mine Workers v. Gibbs (1966) 383 US 715, 724, 86 S Ct 1130, 16 L Ed2d 218 ("joinder of claims, parties, and remedies is strongly encouraged"); see Fed R Civ P 20(a)].

4.04[2] Three-Part Test for Joinder of Plaintiffs. Various plaintiffs may be joined together in a single action if all of the following are true [Fed R Civ P 20(a)]:

- The plaintiffs claim relief against the defendant or defendants jointly, severally, or in the alternative;
- The plaintiffs' claims arise out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions and occurrences; and
- There is at least one question of fact or law common to all of the plaintiffs that will arise in the action.

Every plaintiff need not be interested in obtaining all requested relief. If joinder is proper under the three-part test, the action may proceed and the court may render judgment for one or more plaintiffs according to each plaintiff's rights to relief [Fed R Civ P 20(a)(1)].

4.04[3] Three-Part Test for Joinder of Defendants. Various defendants (and, in admiralty actions, any vessels, cargo, or other property subject to in rem jurisdiction) may be joined together in a single action if all of the following are true [Fed R Civ P 20(a)]:

- A right to relief is asserted against all defendants jointly, severally, or in the alternative;
- The plantiffs' claims arise out of the same transaction, occurrence, or series of transactions and occurrences; and

- There is at least one question of fact or law common to all of the defendants that will arise in the action.

Every defendant need not be interested in defending against all requested relief. If joinder is proper under the three-part test, the action may proceed and the court may render judgment against one or more defendants according to each defendant's liabilities [Fed R Civ P 20(a)(3)].

4.04[4] Each Party Must Meet Minimum Qualifications. Even if joinder of a party would otherwise meet the appropriate three-part test, the Federal Rules limit who may and may not be a party. Under the Rules, every party must meet certain minimum qualifications, such as capacity to sue or be sued, and each party bringing an action must be the real party in interest [see Fed R Civ P 17(a), (b)].

Cross References:

Determining real parties in interest status, see §§ 4.09 -4.19; assessing capacity of named parties, see § 4.20 -4.40.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJoinder of Claims & RemediesLiberal Joinder

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
II. STRUCTURING LITIGATION THROUGH PERMISSIVE JOINDER OF PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.05

4.05 No Numerical Limits on Permissive Joinder of Parties.

4.05[1] Practical Considerations May Limit Ability to Join All Parties. There is no numerical limit on the number of parties plaintiff or defendant that a plaintiff may join in an action, provided that each joined party meets the appropriate three-part test for permissive joinder [see Fed R Civ P 20(a) ("Persons may join ... "; "Persons may be joined ... ")].

Consider:

At some point, joinder of all plaintiffs or defendants reaches the limits of practicality. It may become impossible, or economically unworkable, to effect service on a multitude of defendants, or to depose all of the parties, or even to conduct an effective pretrial conference, let alone a trial. Plaintiffs in such a situation may want to consider filing their claims as a class action, which allows for an efficient adjudication of numerous claims.

Cross References:

Discussion of separate trials, see Ch. 18, Consolidation and Separate Trials. Discussion of class actions, see Ch. 20, Class Actions.

4.05[2] Practical Difficulties May Be Compounded by Rule That Each Joined Party May Join All Available Claims Against Opponents. Once properly joined, parties may join as many claims, legal, equitable, or maritime, as they have against a defending party. There are no procedural restrictions on the number or type of claims a party may assert in a single case [see Fed R Civ P 18(a)]. Furthermore, even if a claim is valid or cognizable only after another claim has been prosecuted to a conclusion, the two claims may be joined in a single action even though the court will grant relief in that action only in accordance with the relative substantive rights of the parties [Fed R Civ P 18(b)].

Example:

A plaintiff may join a claim for money and a claim to have set aside a conveyance fraudulent as to that plaintiff, without first having obtained a judgment establishing the claim for money [Fed R Civ P 18(b)].

Thus it is not only the sheer number of parties that may render joinder legally permissible but impractical. Each joined party may add additional, unrelated claims to the action, making the action less manageable.

4.05[3] Court May Order Separate Trials to Resolve Problems Created by Excessive Joinder of Parties and Claims. If legally proper joinder results, as a practical matter, in embarrassment, undue delay, or expense, the court may grant a separate trial, or make any other, similar order [Fed R Civ P 20(b)]. There are no fixed standards as to when a separate trial is proper. The matter is left to the discretion of the court [see, e.g., Hanley v. First Investors Corp. (ED Tex 1993) 151 FRD 76, 80, n6 ("decision balances convenience and judicial economy with the competing concerns of prejudice and juror confusion")].

Courts also have authority to bifurcate a trial for convenience or to avoid prejudice [Fed R Civ P 42(b)]. Bifurcated trials of liability and damages issues are the most common example of bifurcation orders, but virtually any issue or issues may be bifurcated or tried separately [see, e.g., Davis & Cox v. Summa Corp. (9th Cir 1985) 751 F2d 1507, 1517 (counterclaim for legal malpractice bifurcated from original claim for attorney's fees)]. Bifurcation is forbidden only when it would interfere with a party's right to a jury trial [Fed R Civ P 42(b)].

Cross Reference:

Separate trials under Rule 42(b), see Ch. 18, Consolidation and Separate Trials, § 18.21 -18.38.

4.05[4] Parties May Opt for Representative Proceeding, Such as Class Action, Rather Than Joining All Parties. The Federal Rules recognize a number of forms of representative actions, in which a few representative parties litigate on behalf of a much larger group. The most obvious form of representative action is the class action, which was specifically designed to permit representative plaintiffs or defendants to litigate on behalf of those similarly situated when "the class is so numerous that joinder of all members is impracticable" [see Fed R Civ P 23(a); see also Fed R Civ P 23(b), (c) (standards for when class actions are permitted and when they may be certified as class actions)].

The Federal Rules also recognize representative actions in a couple of specialized situations. Corporate shareholder litigation asserting the rights of the corporation need not be asserted individually by each shareholder. Rule 23.1 recognizes a form of representative action, the shareholder derivative action, in these situations [see Fed R Civ P 23.1]. Similarly, each member of an unincorporated association need not be joined as a party in a suit brought by or against such an association. Rule 23.2 sets the terms on which the action may be prosecuted or defended by a few representative parties on behalf of all members of the association [see Fed R Civ P 23.2].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of class actions, see Ch. 20, Class Actions.

Discussion of actions under Rules 23.1 and 23.2, see 5 Moore's Federal Practice, Chs. 23.1, Derivative Actions, 23.2, Actions Relating to Unincorporated Associations (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJoinder of Claims & RemediesLiberal Joinder

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
II. STRUCTURING LITIGATION THROUGH PERMISSIVE JOINDER OF PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.06

4.06 Limitations on Joinder of United States As Defendant.

4.06[1] Sovereign Immunity Prohibits Claims Against United States Except to Extent United States Waives Immunity. Absent waiver, sovereign immunity protects the United States from being joined as a defendant, even if joinder would satisfy permissive party joinder requirements [see United States v. Shaw (1940) 309 US 495, 500-501, 60 S Ct 659, 84 L Ed 888].

4.06[2] United States Has Made Limited, Statutory Waivers of Immunity.

4.06[2][a] Tucker Act Waives Immunity for Monetary Actions Not Sounding in Tort. Pursuant to the Tucker Act, the United States has waived its sovereign immunity in monetary actions not sounding in tort [see 28 USC §§ 1346(a), 1491(a)]. District courts have original jurisdiction, concurrent with the United States Court of Federal Claims, of the following types of claims [28 USC § 1346(a)]:

- Any civil action against the United States for the recovery of any internal-revenue tax alleged to have been erroneously or illegally assessed or collected, or any penalty claimed to have been collected without authority or any sum alleged to have been excessive or in any manner wrongfully collected under the internal-revenue laws.

- Any civil action or claim against the United States, not exceed-ing $10,000 in amount, founded either on the Constitution, any Act of Congress, or any regulation of an executive department.

- Any civil action or claim against the United States based on any express or implied contract with the United States.

- Any civil action or claim against the United States for liquidated or unliquidated damages in cases not sounding in tort.

Exception--Procurement Contract Cases:
The district courts do not have jurisdiction of any civil action or claim against the United States founded on any express or implied contract with the United States or for liquidated or unliquidated damages in cases not sounding in tort that are subject to administrative claim resolution procedures set out in the Contract Disputes Act of 1978 [28 USC § 1346(a)(2); see 41 USC §§ 607(g)(1), 609(a)(1) (relevant sections of Contract Disputes Act)].

4.06[2][b] Tort Claims Act Waives Immunity, But Requires Administrative Claims to Precede Suits. The United States has waived sovereign immunity for tort claims. Generally speaking, the United States is liable for tort claims "in the same manner and to the same extent as a private individual under like circumstances" [28 USC § 2674]. There are, however, a few significant differences in the liability of the United States as compared with private individuals [28 USC § 2674]:

- The United States is never liable for punitive damages. If the claim is for wrongful death, and if the controlling state law allows only punitive damages for wrongful death, the United States is still not liable for punitive damages. The state law is preempted, and the United States is liable for compensatory damages only.

- The United States is never liable in tort for prejudgment interest.

- If the United States is liable on account of the conduct of United States agent or officer, and if that agent or officer has judicial or legislative immunity from liability, the United States is immune to the same extent as its agent or officer. The same is true for employees of the Tennessee Valley Authority: the United States shares any immunity that TVA employees may have.

Before the United States may be sued for a tort claim, the plaintiff must submit an administrative claim to the appropriate federal agency. The right to sue the United States in federal court for tort claims arises only after the agency denies the claim or fails to rule on the claim within six months after it is filed [28 USC § 2675(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable PartiesCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive JoinderPublic Contracts LawGovernmental ImmunitiesConsent to be SuedPublic Contracts LawGovernmental ImmunitiesSovereign ImmunityTortsPublic Entity LiabilityImmunityJudicial Immunity

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
II. STRUCTURING LITIGATION THROUGH PERMISSIVE JOINDER OF PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.07

4.07 Motion Procedures for Objecting to Misjoinder of Parties.

4.07[1] Party May Object to Party Joinder by Motion; Court May Address Joinder Sua Sponte. A party may object to misjoinder of parties by means of a motion. The court also may address misjoinder of parties sua sponte. There is no deadline on addressing party joinder. Subject to a pretrial order setting a deadline for addressing such matters or for filing motions generally [see Fed R Civ P 16], a party may make a motion or a court may make an order on party joinder matters "at any time" [see Fed R Civ P 21].

Cross Reference:

Dropping a party, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, see §§ 10.10 -10.14.

4.07[2] Party May Bring Motion to Drop Party. Rule 21 expressly contemplates a court order dropping or adding parties [see Fed R Civ P 21]. A motion to add parties is probably suitable only for a violation of the compulsory joinder rule [see Fed R Civ P 19(a)]. If an opposing party has improperly joined a party under the permissive joinder rule [see Fed R Civ P 20], however, a motion to drop the improperly joined party appears to be the motion contemplated by Rule 21.

Cross References:

Dropping a party by motion, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, see § 10.11[2][a].

Form of motion to drop some defendants as not proper parties in a civil rights action, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 21:31 (Matthew Bender).

4.07[3] Party May Bring Motion to Sever. Rule 21 authorizes a court to sever claims by or against improperly joined parties into a separate action. This is an alternative to an order simply dropping an improperly joined party, and is available so long as no substantial rights will be prejudiced by the severance [Fed R Civ P 21]. Therefore, if a separate action is an appropriate remedy for improper permissive joinder, an opposing party may bring a motion to sever the parties on the ground of misjoinder [see, e.g., Coughlin v. Rogers (9th Cir 1997) 130 F3d 1348, 1349 (motion to sever plaintiffs on ground of misjoinder)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of severance of claims, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, see § 10.14.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable PartiesCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderMisjoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive Joinder

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
II. STRUCTURING LITIGATION THROUGH PERMISSIVE JOINDER OF PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.08

4.08 Remedies for Misjoinder of Parties.

4.08[1] Misjoinder of Parties Is Not Ground for Dismissal. Misjoinder of parties is not a ground for dismissal of an action [Fed R Civ P 21].

Distinguish:

If a party has failed to join an indispensable party (that is, a party whose joinder is required by the compulsory joinder rule), the court may dismiss the action [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(7), 19(b)].

Cross Reference:

Applying compulsory joinder rule, see §§ 4.41 -4.51.

4.08[2] Court May Order Severance. If a defendant has been joined improperly, one of the steps that the court may take is to sever the claims by or against that party, so that these claims may be prosecuted a separate action [Fed R Civ P 21].

Distinguish--Severance and Separate Trials:

Although the terms are often used interchangeably, orders for separate trials or bifurcation of issues [see Fed R Civ P 20(b), 42(b)] differ from orders of severance. There is only one action when a court orders separate or bifurcated trials. Usually, a party may appeal only from the final judgment in the case as a whole [see 28 USC § 1291]. In contrast, an order of severance creates an entirely separate action for the severed claim. There is an appealable final judgment in both the original action dealing with the remaining claims and a separate appealable judgment in the new, severed action [see, e.g., United States v. O'Neil (5th Cir 1983) 709 F2d 361, 366-368 ; In re Paris Air Crash of March 3, 1974 (CD Cal 1975) 69 FRD 310, 318].

4.08[3] Court May Drop or Add Parties at Any Time. Parties may move to drop or add parties, or the court may drop or add parties on its own motion, at any time. In doing so, however, the court may impose "just terms" [Fed R Civ P 21].

Cross Reference:

Procedure for adding and dropping parties, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCollusive JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable PartiesCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderMisjoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderPermissive Joinder

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.09

4.09 CHECKLIST: Assuring Action Brought by Real Party in Interest.

☐ Ensure that person who sues is person who owns claim or property in dispute.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 17(a)

Discussion:
See § 4.11[1]

☐ If representative signed contract, bring action in name of representative, rather than ultimate beneficiary, if representative is one of the following:

- ○ Executor.
- ○ Administrator.
- ○ Guardian.
- ○ Bailee.
- ○ Trustee of an express trust.
- ○ Party with whom or in whose name a contract has been made for the benefit of another.

○ A party so authorized by statute to sue on claim for benefit of another.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 17(a)

Discussion:
See § 4.12

☐ If federal statute authorizes United States to enforce claims, rights, or benefits owing to another, bring action in the name of the United States, making sure that complaint clearly alleges statutory right.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 17(a)

Discussion:
See § 4.13

☐ If claim or right has been validly assigned, bring action in name of assignee rather than assignor, making sure that complaint clearly alleges fact of assignment of a claim.

Authority:
See Fed R Civ P 17(a), Committee Note of 1966

Discussion:
See § 4.15

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.10

4.10 CHECKLIST: Raising Objections to Real Party Status.

☐ Assert plaintiff's failure to qualify as real party in interest by pleading affirmative defense in responsive pleadings.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 8(c)

Discussion:
See § 4.16[1]

☐ In addition to, or as alternative to, pleading affirmative defense, move to dismiss an action for plaintiff's failure to prosecute in name of the real party in interest.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 12(b)(6); U-Haul Int'l, Inc. v. Jartran, Inc. (9th Cir 1986) 793 F2d 1034, 1037

Discussion:
See §§ 4.16[3], 4.17 -4.19

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.11

4.11 Real-Party-in-Interest Requirement Calls for Particular Kind of Standing.

4.11[1] Actions Must Be Prosecuted by Real Party in Interest, Legal Owner of Claim. Actions must be prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest [Fed R Civ P 17(a)]. This means that the only persons who may assert claims in federal court actions are the legal owners of the claims asserted [see, e.g., United Healthcare Corp. v. American Trade Ins. Co. (8th Cir 1996) 88 F3d 563, 569 ("rule requires that the party who brings an action actually possess, under the substantive law, the right sought to be enforced")].

4.11[2] Requirement Overlaps With General Standing Requirement. The general standing requirement for persons asserting claims in federal courts is established by the "case and controversy" requirement of the United States Constitution [see US Const, art III, § 2]. Article III standing requires that the plaintiff have a personal stake in the litigation--that is, the plaintiff must have suffered some real or substantial injury [see, e.g., United States v. City & County of San Francisco (9th Cir 1992) 979 F2d 169, 171]. In addition, the injury suffered by the plaintiff must be traceable to the conduct of the defendant that is complained of, and the injury must have the potential to be remedied by a judgment of the court [see, e.g., Central Ariz. Water Conservation Dist. v. EPA (9th Cir 1993) 990 F2d 1531, 1538 , cert. denied, 510 US 828 (1993)].

The real-party-in-interest requirement addresses the same basic concern as the Article III standing requirement, requiring that the plaintiff have a personal stake in the controversy. In addition, the real-party-in-interest requirement requires a legal entitlement to assert the claim in question [see, e.g., Elk Grove Unified Sch. Dist. v. Newdow (2004) 542 US 1, 15-18, 124 S Ct 2301, 159 L Ed2d 98 (noncustodial father barred under state law from suing as child's next friend lacked standing to challenge school board policy); Whelan v. Abell (DC Cir 1992) 953 F2d 663, 672 , cert. denied sub nom. Toomey v. Whelan, 506 US 906 (1992) (shareholder of corporation may or may not have sufficient injury to satisfy Article III standing, but law may give right to sue to corporation rather than to shareholders)].

4.11[3] Plaintiff's Failure to Meet Requirement May Be Waived by Failure to Object. Failure to raise a timely objection to a real-party-in-interest violation constitutes a waiver of the objection [United States v. Callahan (9th Cir 1989) 884 F2d 1180, 1183 n4 , cert. denied sub nom. Esto, Inc. v. Callahan, 493 US 1094 (1990) (defendant/crossclaimant could not raise objection for first time on appeal)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJusticiabilityStandingGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.12

4.12 Executor, Administrator, Guardian, and Statutory Representative May Sue As Real Party in Interest.

The following representative parties may sue in their own names [Fed R Civ P 17(a)]:

- Executors.
- Administrators.
- Guardians.
- Bailees.
- Trustees of an express trust.
- Parties with whom or in whose name a contract has been made for the benefit of another.
- Parties statutorily authorized to sue in their own names.

These representative parties need not join the ultimate beneficiaries as parties, even though they might ultimately benefit from or be bound by the judgment in the action [Fed R Civ P 17(a); see, e.g., Board of Natural Resources v. Brown (9th Cir 1993) 992 F2d 937, 942 (suit by trustees for federal land-grant trusts and Washington State school districts)].

Example--Decedents' Estates:
A suit on behalf of a decedent's estate must be brought by the estate's trustee, administrator or executor as the real party in interest [Estate of Migliaccio v. Midland Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (CD Cal 2006) 436 F Supp2d 1095, 1100-1101].

Example--Trustees:
A trustee of an express trust may sue, or be sued, as a real party in interest. The trust beneficiaries need not be joined [see Navarro Sav. Ass'n v. Lee (1980) 446 US 458, 465, 100 S Ct 1779, 64 L Ed2d 425].

Example--Labor Unions:

A labor union may sue and defend on behalf of the group of employees it represents [see 29 USC § 185(b) (Labor Management Relations Act)]. Typically, unions act as real parties in actions involving collective-bargaining agreements [see 11 USC § 1114(c)(1) (in bankruptcy proceedings, labor union may act as real party regarding retiree benefits under collective bargaining agreement); see also United Steelworkers of Am. v. Rawson (1990) 495 US 362, 368-369, 110 S Ct 1904, 109 L Ed2d 362].

Example--Bankruptcy Proceedings:

Bankruptcy trustees may sue or defend as real parties in interest on behalf of the bankruptcy estate [see Fed R Bankr P 6009 (permitting trustee to litigate on behalf of bankruptcy estate)]. A party in interest, including the debtor, the trustee, a creditors' committee, an equity security holders' committee, a creditor, an equity security holder, or any indenture trustee, may raise any objections and may appear and be heard on any issue in a case under 11 USC § 1101 et seq. (reorganization in bankruptcy) [11 USC § 1109(b)].

Example--Employers in Workers' Compensation Cases:

In certain narrowly defined circumstances, employers are the real parties in interest in cases involving their employees [see 33 USC § 933(b) (in action against third parties, for limited time, employers may be real parties under Longshoremen's and Harbor Workers' Compensation Act)].

Cross Reference:

Representative as authorized to sue on behalf of another, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 17.10[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrusteesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.13

4.13 United States May Litigate As Real Party Representative.

When a United States statute so provides, an action for the use or benefit of another must be brought in the name of the United States [Fed R Civ P 17(a)]. For example, Miller Act actions brought on behalf of laborers on or materials suppliers to public works projects must be brought in the name of the United States [see 40 USC § 3133(b)(3)(A) ("A civil action ... must be brought ... in the name of the United States for the use of the person bringing the action")].

Similarly, private individuals may prosecute "qui tam" actions on behalf of the United States against those who have submitted "false claims" against the United States. The United States and the private individual split the proceeds if the action is successful [see 31 USC §§ 3729, 3730]. The statutes are clear, however, that such a private qui tam action must "be brought in the name of the [United States] Government" [31 USC § 3730(b)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Actions required to be captioned in name of United States, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 17.10[3][e] (Matthew Bender 3d ed).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

15 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.14

4.14 United States Is Real Party in Interest With Respect to Claims Regarding United States Properties or Interests.

Rule 17(a), discussed above, providing for the United States to appear as the real party in interest in a representative capacity when a statute so authorizes, does not limit the situations in which the United States is the real party in interest. The United States is the real party in interest, regardless of any authorizing statute, as to claims regarding United States properties or interests [United States v. Weyerhaeuser Co. (D Or 1991) 765 F Supp 643, 646].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.15

4.15 Determining Real Party Status in Assigned Claims.

4.15[1] Assignee Acquiring Fully Assigned Claim Is Real Party. The assignee of a claim validly assigned becomes the real party in interest with respect to that claim. The assignee may sue in its own name without joining the assignor who has given up all rights in the claim [see Fed R Civ P 17(a), Committee Note of 1966].

4.15[2] Assignee May Be Real Party in Interest Even When Assignor Receives Some Benefit of Litigation. An assignment of a claim may be valid to make the assignee the real party in interest with respect to that claim even when the assignor has retained an interest. An assignment of a claim does not become invalid or fail to make the assignee the real party even when the assignor makes the assignment in anticipation of litigation and intends to receive some benefits of the litigation in return for the assignment [see Klamath-Lake Pharm. Ass'n v. Klamath Med. Serv. Bureau (9th Cir 1983) 701 F2d 1276, 1282 (assigned antitrust claims eventually ruled to be invalid)].

Example:

A group of individual pharmacists may transfer individual antitrust claims to their trade association with the understanding that the trade association will return benefits to the individual pharmacists if the litigation of the claims is successful. The trade association becomes the real party in interest as the result of such an assignment [see Klamath-Lake Pharm. Ass'n v. Klamath Med. Serv. Bureau (9th Cir 1983) 701 F2d 1276, 1282 (assigned antitrust claims eventually ruled to be invalid)].

4.15[3] Assignments for Purpose of Creating Diversity Jurisdiction Are Ineffective for That Purpose. As assignment may be effective to change the real party in interest in a case; but the citizenship of the assignee may be ignored in determining diversity of citizenship if the assignment was collusive and made for the purpose of establishing jurisdiction. Diversity jurisdiction may not be established through assignment of a claim [28 USC § 1359].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of requirements for diversity jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.10 -2.25.

Courts have set out a number of factors in deciding whether an assignment is improper or collusive. Among these factors are [see Attorneys Trust v. Videotape Computer Prods., Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 93 F3d 593, 595-596]:

- Were there good business reasons for the assignment?
- Did the assignee have a prior interest in the item or was the assignment timed to coincide with commencement of litigation?
- Was any consideration given by the assignee?
- Was the assignment partial or complete?
- Was there an admission that the motive was to create jurisdiction?

Broadly speaking, if an assignment is entire, not partial, there is a good chance that the court will find it proper. If the assignment is truly absolute and complete, courts will rarely be concerned about motive. On the other hand, if an assignment is partial, the court is more likely to find that it is an improper or collusive transfer, because the prior owner still has an interest [see Attorneys Trust v. Videotape Computer Prods., Inc. (9th Cir 1996) 93 F3d 593, 595-596].

Furthermore, diversity-creating transfers between related corporate entities will raise a presumption that the transfer is collusive. These assignments will not create diversity jurisdiction unless the assignor and assignee rebut the presumption with proof of a legitimate business reason that justifies the assignment regardless of jurisdictional considerations [Nike, Inc. v. Comercial Iberica de Exclusivas Deportivas, S.A. (9th Cir 1994) 20 F3d 987, 992 ; Yokeno v. Mafnas (9th Cir 1992) 973 F2d 803, 811].

4.15[4] Assigning Claims Against United States.

4.15[4][a] Assignment of Claims Act Generally Prohibits Assignment of Matured Claims Against United States. The Assignment of Claims Act generally prohibits assignment of claims against the United States [see 31 USC § 3727; see, e.g., Cadwalder v. United States (9th Cir 1995) 45 F3d 297, 298]. Consequently, the assignee of a claim against the United States frequently is not the real party in interest.

4.15[4][b] Anti-Assignment Act Generally Prohibits Assignments of Rights Under Contracts With United States. A party to a contract with the United States may not assign any rights under that contract, at least not without the express consent of the United States [41 USC § 15 (Anti-Assignment Act)]. Therefore, even if claims under the contract are not mature at the time of the assignment, and even if the claim arises after the assignment, the assignee does not become the real party in interest on a claim arising under an improperly assigned contract.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

17 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.16

4.16 Procedures for Raising Objections to Real Party Status.

4.16[1] Defendant May Assert Affirmative Defense. A defendant may object to the plaintiff's failure to prosecute in the name of the real party as an affirmative defense in its responsive pleadings [see Fed R Civ P 8(c)].

Cross References:

Assertion of affirmative defenses, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.10.

Provision in answer alleging that plaintiff not real party in interest, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 17:20 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4.16[2] Court May Raise Lack of Real Party in Interest. Rule 17 does not expressly authorize courts to raise real party objections [see Fed R Civ P 17(a); Hartmann v. Prudential Ins. Co. of Am. (7th Cir 1993) 9 F3d 1207, 1214]. Nonetheless, the majority of courts that have considered the question have authorized courts to act sua sponte [see, e.g., Weissman v. Weener (7th Cir 1993) 12 F3d 84, 85-86 ; see also Tse-Ming Cheung v. Youth Orchestra Found. of Buffalo (2d Cir 1990) 906 F2d 59, 61]. Courts should have this option under their authority "to secure the just, speedy, and inexpensive determination of every action and proceeding" [see Fed R Civ P 1].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of courts acting sua sponte on real party objections, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 17.12[2][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4.16[3] Defendant May Bring Motion Addressing Real Party Status. In lieu of, or in addition to, pleading an affirmative defense, a defendant may bring a motion to compel the existing plaintiffs to join a real party in interest [see Fed R Civ P 19(a), 21]. A defendant may bring a motion to drop an existing plaintiff who is not a real party in interest [see Fed R Civ P 21].

Although dismissal is not available initially as a remedy for lack of real-party-in-interest status, if the real-party-in-interest defect has been raised in a clear and timely fashion, and if the plaintiff refuses to remedy that defect, a motion to dismiss [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1), (6)] or for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 56] may be appropriate.

Cross References:

Motion to compel joinder, see 4.17. Motion to drop party, see 4.18. Motion to dismiss, see 4.19. Discussion of adding and dropping parties, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, see §§ 10.04 -10.14. Discussion of summary judgment motions, see Ch. 29, Summary Judgment.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

18 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.17

4.17 Bringing Motion to Compel Joinder of Real Party in Interest.

A real party in interest is a person whose absence leaves the defendant "subject to a substantial risk of incurring double, multiple, or otherwise inconsistent obligations" [Fed R Civ P 19(a)(1)(B)(ii)]. A court must order the joinder of such persons whenever it is feasible [Fed R Civ P 19(a)]. Therefore, it is appropriate for a defendant to move under Rules 19 and 21 to compel the existing plaintiff to join the real party in interest [see Fed R Civ P 19(a), 21].

Strategic Point--Early Motion Avoids Waiver.

A motion to compel joinder is preferable to merely pleading the absence of the real party in interest as an affirmative defense. A motion has the potential to compel a ruling on the issue at an early stage in the proceedings. If the party asserting the absence of the real party in interest from the litigation waits too long, the objection to the absence of the real party in interest may be waived [see, e.g., Whelan v. Abell (DC Cir 1992) 953 F2d 663, 672].

Cross References:

Adding persons as parties to existing action, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, 10.04 -10.09.

Motion by defendant to bring in additional plaintiff, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 21:25. Motion to substitute real party in interest, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 17:3. Motion to join insurer as real party in interest, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 17:4. Order granting motion to substitute real party in interest, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 17:31 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.18

4.18 Bringing Motion to Drop Party As Not Real Party in Interest.

The presence of a plaintiff who is not a real party in interest adds nothing to the litigation except undue confusion and complications, and potential delay and expense. Assuming that the real party in interest is present, it should be possible to move under for an order "dropping" the unnecessary parties from the action [see Fed R Civ P 21 ("Parties may be dropped ... by order of the court on motion of any party"); see also Elk Grove Unified Sch. Dist. v. Newdow (2004) 542 US 1, 124 S Ct 2301, 159 L Ed2d 98, 111-113 (noncustodial father barred under state law from suing as child's next friend had no standing to challenge school board policy)].

Consider:

The only conceivable grounds for "dropping" the non-real-party plaintiff is that the non-real-party plaintiff is asserting a claim on which he, she, or it is not entitled to relief. In most cases, it will be more efficient to simply bring the motion as a motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6) [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(6)]. On the other hand, motions to dismiss are generally limited to matters appearing on the face of the complaint. Submitting extensive affidavits or declarations runs the risk of turning a simple motion to dismiss into a full-blown summary judgment motion [see Fed R Civ P 12(d) ("If ... matters outside the pleadings are presented to and not excluded by the court, the motion must be treated as one for summary judgment under Rule 56")]. Therefore, a Rule 21 motion might have procedural advantages when facts beyond the pleading must be presented for the court to rule on the question.

Strategic Point--Early Motion Avoids Waiver:

Even if a motion to drop is not the most appropriate form of motion that can be filed, it is preferable to merely pleading the non-real-party status of certain plaintiff's as an affirmative defense. A motion has the potential to compel a ruling on the issue at an early stage in the proceedings. If the party asserting the non-real-party status of certain plaintiffs waits too long to litigate this issue, the objection to the absence of the real party in interest may be waived [see, e.g., Whelan v. Abell (DC Cir 1992) 953 F2d 663, 672].

Cross References:

Bringing a Rule 12(b)(6) motion, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.21. Dropping parties, Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, §§ 10.10 -10.14.

Motion to drop some plaintiffs as not real parties in interest, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 21:30 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

20 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
III. DETERMINING REAL PARTY IN INTEREST STATUS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.19

4.19 Dismissing Action for Real Party Defect.

4.19[1] Dismissal Is Not Usual Remedy for Lack of Real Party in Interest. A court will not dismiss an action simply because it is not prosecuted in the name of the real party in interest. Instead, after an "objection" to the absence of the real party in interest, the court will grant the plaintiffs a "reasonable" amount of time. Within the reasonable amount of time allowed, the existing plaintiffs must cure the problem either by securing ratification from the real party in interest of commencement of the action by the current plaintiff or by joinder or substitution of the real party in interest [Fed R Civ P 17(a); see, e.g., U-Haul Int'l, Inc. v. Jartran, Inc. (9th Cir 1986) 793 F2d 1034, 1040].

Cross References:

Failure to prosecute in name of real party as not grounds for immediate dismissal, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 17.12[1] (Matthew Bender 3d).

Conditional dismissal order--action dismissed unless real party ratifies or is joined, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 17:30 (Matthew Bender).

4.19[2] Courts Are Generally Lenient in Allowing Cure.

4.19[2][a] Courts Favor Offering Opportunity to Cure Defect. Courts favor allowing real party defect cures [see Dunmore v. U.S. (9th Cir 2004) 358 F3d 1107, 1112-1113 ; Capobianco v. Trew (9th Cir BAP 2000) 248 BR 833, 839 ; Fed R Civ P 17(a), Committee Note of 1966]. The opportunity to cure the defect within a reasonable period avoids forfeitures [see, e.g., Goodman v. United States (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 1048, 1053].

4.19[2][b] If Curing Defect Is Impossible, Court May Immediately Dismiss. Rule 17(a)'s admonition to refrain from dismissals until there has been an opportunity to cure does not apply when it is apparent that it is impossible to cure a real party defect. For example, if correcting the real party defect by joining or substituting the real party would destroy diversity jurisdiction, the action should be dismissed immediately for a futile "cure" [see, e.g., Naartex Consulting Corp. v. Watt (DC Cir 1983) 722 F2d 779, 794-795 , cert. denied, 467 US 1210 (1984)].

4.19[2][c] If Failure to Prosecute in Name of Real Party Is Not Honest Mistake, Court May Immediately

Dismiss. When the failure to prosecute in the name of the real party in interest is not an honest mistake, the court retains its discretion to simply dismiss and not give an opportunity for a cure [see United States ex rel. Wulff v. CMA, Inc. (9th Cir 1989) 890 F2d 1070, 1074].

Example:

One plaintiff who knew it was not the real party in interest (because it knew it had not yet obtained an assignment of the claim in question) deliberately filed an action in its own name anyway in an attempt to toll the statute of limitations on the claim. The court concluded that a suit commenced by a stranger to the claim was not effective to toll limitations on the claim. This problem could not be "cured" later by obtaining an assignment of the claim after the fact. Rule 17(a)'s requirement for a reasonable opportunity to effect a cure for was not permitted to delay the dismissal of this action [United States ex rel. Wulff v. CMA, Inc. (9th Cir 1989) 890 F2d 1070, 1074].

4.19[3] Ratification As Cure Requires Ratifying Party to Authorize Action and to Agree to Be Bound by Result. A failure to prosecute an action in the name of the real party in interest may be cured if the real party in interest "ratifies" the prosecution of the action by the current plaintiff [Fed R Civ P 17(a)]. In this context, a proper ratification requires the real party in interest to [Mutuelles Unies v. Kroll & Linstrom (9th Cir 1992) 957 F2d 707, 712]:

- Authorize continuation of the action by the current plaintiff; and
- Agree to be bound by the result of the lawsuit.

The better practice is that the ratification be reflected in a written, signed document that is filed with the court [see, e.g., ICON Group, Inc. v. Mahogany Run Dev. Co. (3d Cir 1987) 829 F2d 473, 478 ; Clarkson Co. v. Rockwell Int'l Corp. (ND Cal 1977) 441 F Supp 792, 797].

4.19[4] Joinder or Substitution of Real Party Cures Defect. Failure to prosecute an action in the name of the real party in interest may be cured if the current plaintiff joins the real party in interest or substitutes the real party in interest as plaintiff in his or her stead [Fed R Civ P 17(a)].

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

As a practical matter, cure by joinder will be most effective when the existing plaintiff is also at least a part owner of the claims being asserted or when the absent real party in interest agrees to join the action voluntarily.

Theoretically, as a necessary party, the court may order the joinder of the real party in interest even if the real party refuses to do so voluntarily. The court may name the reluctant real party as a defendant or an involuntary plaintiff [see Fed R Civ P 19(a)].

Consider:

When a party has initiated an action with no legal right to do so, most courts will not permit that party to compel the real party to litigate a claim involuntarily.

Cross References:

Substitution of parties, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, see §§ 10.15 -10.22.

Motion to substitute real party in interest, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 17:3. Motion to join insurer as real party in interest, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 17:4 (Matthew Bender).

4.19[5] Ratification, Joinder, Substitution Relate Back to Original Complaint. The ratification, joinder, or substitution has the same effect as if the action had been commenced in the name of the real party in interest [Fed R Civ P 17(a); see, e.g., Goodman v. United States (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 1048, 1054 (in wrongful death suit, substitution of surviving spouse in place of estate of deceased was treated as if action was originally filed by proper party)]. Consequently, for statute of limitations purposes, the cure of the real-party-in-interest defect is an amendment of a pleading that "relates back" to the date of the original complaint [see Fed R Civ P 15(c)(1)(B)].

A real party in interest can join, be substituted for, or ratify the filing by the existing plaintiff in order to take advantage of this relation-back rule and thus preserve the claim from the statute of limitations [see, e.g., Mutuelles Unies v. Kroll & Linstrom (9th Cir 1992) 957 F2d 707, 712 (if real party ratifies action by existing plaintiff in order to preserve claim from statute of limit)].

Exception--Action Deliberately Filed by Person Who Knows He or She Is Not Real Party in Interest:

When there is no good faith mistake by plaintiff as to the proper real party in interest, the original filing will not toll the statute of limitations. There will be no valid claim to relate back to, and the failure to state a valid claim cannot be "cured" by a subsequent joinder, substitution, or ratification of the real party in interest [United States ex rel. Wulff v. CMA, Inc. (9th Cir 1989) 890 F2d 1070, 1074-1075 ; see, e.g., Feist v. Consolidated Freightways Corp. (ED Pa 1999) 100 F Supp2d 273, 275-276 , aff'd mem., 216 F3d 1075 (3d Cir 2000) (bankrupt plaintiff brought action knowing that claim belonged to bankruptcy trustee); Lans v. Gateway 2000, Inc. (DDC 1999) 84 F Supp2d 112, 117-123 , aff'd on other grounds sub nom. Lans v. Digital Equip. Corp., 252 F3d 1320 (Fed Cir 2001) (individual brought patent action knowing that he had assigned patent to his company)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of relation back of amendments, see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings, see §§ 9.12 -9.14.

4.19[6] Dismissal Proper After Reasonable Time Passes and Defect Not Cured. If the real party defect has been called to the plaintiff's attention by means of a timely "objection," and if a reasonable time has passed without a cure of the real party defect, the court should dismiss the action [see Fed R Civ P 17(a)]. A plaintiff who is not a real party in interest is asserting a claim that belongs to someone else. In these circumstances, the plaintiff fails to state a claim on which the court may grant the plaintiff relief [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(6); see, e.g., U-Haul Int'l, Inc. v. Jartran, Inc. (9th Cir 1986) 793 F2d 1034, 1037].

If the plaintiff has not cured the real party defect because joinder or substitution of the real party destroys diversity subject-matter jurisdiction, a defendant may move to dismiss on the additional grounds of lack of subject-matter jurisdiction [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(1)]. A motion to dismiss for lack of jurisdiction may be asserted at any stage in the proceedings [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(3)].

Cross References:

Motion to dismiss for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see § 8.17.

Motion to dismiss on ground that plaintiff is not real party in interest, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 17:1 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsMotions to DismissCivil ProcedurePartiesReal

Parties in InterestGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestAssigneesCivil ProcedurePartiesReal Parties in InterestSubrogees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.20

4.20 CHECKLIST: Determining Which State's Laws Govern Capacity to Sue and Be Sued.

☐ Determine the capacity of an individual to sue or be sued (other than an individual who sues or is sued in a representative capacity) under the law of the individual's domicile.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 17(b)

Discussion:
See § 4.28[1]

☐ Determine the capacity of a corporation to sue or be sued according to the law under which it was organized.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 17(b)

Discussion:
See § 4.30

☐ Determine the capacity of parties other than individuals or corporations under the law of the state in which the district court is held, with two exceptions:

○ Partnerships or unincorporated associations not permitted to sue or be sued in their own names under law of forum state may sue or be sued in the partnership or association name when litigation concerns a substantive right created by federal statutes or by the United States Constitution.

- Receivers appointed by federal courts have the capacity specified in 28 USC §§ 754, 959(a), regardless of law of forum state.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 17(b)

Discussion:
See §§ 4.26; 4.29, 4.31 -4.35

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentatives

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.21

4.21 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Minor Under California Law.

☐ Determine age of proposed plaintiff or defendant.

☐ If proposed plaintiff is less than 18 years of age, determine whether the minor has capacity to sue because:

○ The minor is emancipated.

○ The minor is suing for injunctive relief or protective orders relating to harassment or workplace or family violence.

Authority:
CCP § 372(b)(1); Fam Code §§ 6500, 7000 et seq.

Discussion:
See §§ 4.28[2][c], [d]

☐ If proposed minor plaintiff lacks capacity, determine whether the minor has a guardian of his or her estate, or if a guardian ad litem has already been appointed.

☐ If proposed minor plaintiff lacks capacity and has no guardian, seek appointment of a guardian ad litem.

Authority:
CCP §§ 372(a), 373(a); Fam Code § 6601

Discussion:
See § 4.28[2][a]

☐ If proposed defendant is less than 18 years of age, determine whether minor may be held liable for relief sought, noting that:

○ Minors are generally liable for their torts, but not for punitive damages unless, at time of act, minor was capable of appreciating wrongfulness or his or her actions.

○ Minors are generally liable for their contractual obligations, but minor may disaffirm contractual obligations except when:

☐ Statute expressly authorizes contracts by minors.

☐ Contract was for necessities of life for minor or minor's family.

Authority:
Fam Code §§ 6500, 6600, 6700 et seq.

Discussion:
See § 4.28[2][b]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentatives

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.22

4.22 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Incompetent Under California Law.

☐ Analyze whether proposed plaintiff is incompetent, considering whether:

- ○ Proposed plaintiff has been ruled incompetent; or
- ○ Proposed plaintiff is substantially unable to manage his or her financial resources or resist fraud or undue influence.

Authority:
CC § 39(b)

Discussion:
See § 4.28[3][a]

☐ If proposed plaintiff is incompetent, determine whether a conservator of the estate or a guardian ad litem has been appointed.

- ○ If guardian or conservator has been appointed, bring action through guardian or conservator.
- ○ If guardian or conservator has not been appointed to date, seek appointment of a guardian ad litem.

Authority:
CCP § 372(a)

Discussion:
See § 4.28[3][a]

☐ Analyze whether proposed defendant is incompetent by considering whether:

○ Proposed defendant has been ruled incompetent; or

○ Proposed defendant is substantially unable to manage his or her financial resources or resist fraud or undue influence.

Authority:
CC § 39(b)

Discussion:
See § 4.28[3][a]

☐ If proposed defendant is incompetent, determine whether he or she may be held liable for relief sought in action, considering:

○ Persons entirely without understanding cannot make contracts or conveyances, but can be held liable for reasonable value of necessities of life for incompetent or incompetent's family.

○ Persons who have been subject to conservatorship may make not contracts or conveyances until they have been restored to capacity.

○ Persons who are of unsound mind, but not subject to a conservatorship and not entirely without understanding may make contracts or conveyances, but those contracts or conveyances are subject to rescission.

○ Persons of unsound mind are liable for torts committed, but not for exemplary damages unless, at the time of the tortious actions, the person in question was capable of knowing that his or her actions were wrongful.

Authority:
CC §§ 39-41

Discussion:
See § 4.28[3][b]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.23

4.23 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Decedent's Representative Under California Law.

☐ If decedent had a claim that existed as of his or her death and if that claim survives death, bring the action in the name of:

- ○ The decedent's personal representative; or
- ○ If no representative has been appointed, the decedent's successor in interest.

☐ Understand distinction between survival action and wrongful death action:

Authority:
CCP §§ 377.30, 377.60, 377.62

Discussion:
See § 4.29[1]

☐ If plaintiff had a claim against a defendant who has died, and if the claim survives the death of the defendant, bring the action against:

- ○ The decedent's personal representative; or
- ○ To the extent permitted by statute, the decedent's successor in interest.

Prerequisite--Claim Filing:

Actions may not be brought against the representative until the plaintiff complies with the provisions of the California Probate Code and files a claim against the estate. The filing and rejection of such a claim by the estate is a prerequisite to suit.

Authority:

CCP § 377.40; Prob Code § 9351

Discussion:

See § 4.29[2]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.24

4.24 CHECKLIST: Determining Capacity of Business Entities Under California Law.

☐ If proposed party is corporation:

○ Determine whether proposed party is California corporation so that it may sue and be sued to same extent as natural person.

Authority:
Corp Code §§ 105, 207; see CCP § 17

Discussion:
See § 4.30[2]

○ If the corporation has been dissolved, confirm that the action is within the scope of winding up the corporate affairs.

Authority:
Corp Code § 2010

Discussion:
See § 4.30[2][b]

○ If the corporation has been merged, confirm that the action is brought in the name of the surviving corporation.

Authority:
J.C. Peacock, Inc. v. Hasko (1960) 184 CA2d 142, 150, 7 CR 490

Discussion:
See § 4.30[2][c]

☐ If proposed party is partnership:

○ For proposed partnership plaintiff, consider whether suit in partnership name seeks to enforce account or contract right and, if so, assure that suit is possible by assuring compliance with the fictitious business name statute.

Prerequisite to Capacity of Partnership--Fictitious Business Name Statute Compliance: Partnerships may sue or be sued in the partnership name. A partnership may not seek to collect an account or sue on a contract made in its name, however, unless the partnership has complied with the fictitious business name statute.

Authority:
B&P Code § 17918; CCP § 369.5(a); Corp Code § 16307(a)

Discussion:
See § 4.31

○ For proposed partnership defendant (other than limited liability partnership), determine whether to sue:

☐ Partnership itself, as entity;

☐ Individual partners;

☐ Both individual partners and partnership itself.

Authority:
CCP § 369.5(b); Corp Code §§ 16306(a), 16307

Discussion:
See § 4.31

☐ If proposed party is unincorporated association, confirm, that unincorporated association may maintain action on account or contract made in association's name by assuring that business (or assignee of business) has complied with fictitious business name filing requirements.

Prerequisite to Capacity of Association--Fictitious Business Name Statute Compliance: Unincorporated associations may sue or be sued in their common name. An unincorporated association may not seek to collect an account or sue on a contract made in its name, however, unless the partnership has complied with the fictitious business name statute.

Authority:

B&P Code § 17918; CCP § 369.5(a)

Discussion:
See § 4.31[3]

☐ If proposed party is business run as a sole proprietorship, owner is the proper party.

Authority: Burger v. Kuimelis (ND Cal 2004) 325 F Supp2d 1026, 1033 ; Providence Washington Ins. Co. v Valley Forge Ins. Co. (1996) 42 CA4th 1194, 1199-1200, 50 CR2d 192

Discussion: See § 4.31[4]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.25

4.25 CHECKLIST: Challenging Plaintiff's Lack of Capacity.

☐ If complaint alleges facts positively asserting plaintiff's capacity, specifically deny those facts.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 8(b)

Discussion:
See § 4.36[1]

☐ Regardless of whether complaint positively asserts plaintiff's capacity, allege lack of capacity as affirmative defense.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 8(c), 12(b)

Discussion:
See § 4.36[1]

☐ Consider raising capacity defect by motion, including:

○ Motion to dismiss for failure to state claim.

○ Motion to compel joinder or substitution of proper parties.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 12(b)(6), 19, 21; Thomas v. Humfield (5th Cir 1990) 916 F2d 1032, 1033

Discussion:
See § 4.36[2]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrusteesCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.26

4.26 Capacity to Sue and Be Sued in Federal Court Depends on State Law.

Capacity to sue or be sued concerns a litigant's legal authority or power to litigate [see generally American Nat'l Red Cross v. S.G. (1992) 505 US 247, 248, 112 S Ct 2465, 120 L Ed2d 201 (Court considered whether Red Cross' charter provision of power to sue and be sued conferred basis for federal court jurisdiction as well as capacity)].

Rule 17(b) makes state law the general determinant in matters of capacity to sue and be sued in federal court. Rule 17(b) explains which state's law applies to which types of parties, and specifies only a few exceptions in which state laws on capacity are ignored [see Fed R Civ P 17(b)].

Example--Minors and Incompetents:
Most states, including California, have statutes prohibiting minors and incompetents from suing in state court. Such statutes typically require that minors and incompetents sue through a guardian [see, e.g., CCP § 372 et seq.]. These capacity statutes apply in federal court actions [see Fed R Civ P 17(b)].

Example--Deceased Persons:
Most states, including California, have statutes prohibiting state court suits from being brought directly against deceased persons. Such statutes typically require claims against deceased persons to be brought against the representative of the deceased or his or her successor in interest [see, e.g., CCP § 377.40]. These capacity statutes apply in federal court actions [see Fed R Civ P 17(b)].

Exceptions:
Circumstances in which capacity to sue or be sued does not depend on state law include:

- Partnerships and Associations Suing on Federal Claims. A partnership or other unincorporated association may sue or be sued in its common name for purposes of enforcing (for or against it) a substantive right existing under the Constitution or laws of the United States. In these cases it is irrelevant that a partnership or association might lack capacity to sue or be sued under state law [Fed R Civ P 17(b)].

- Receivers Appointed by Federal Courts. A receiver appointed by a federal court has the capacity to sue or be sued in a court of the United States as provided by 28 USC § 754 (receivers in possession of property located in more than one judicial district) and 28 USC § 959(a) (receivers sued for their acts or transactions concerning receivership property).

- Prisoner Civil Rights Suits. Prisoners who lack capacity under state laws may still pursue civil rights suits in federal court [see, e.g., McCollum v. Mayfield (ND Cal 1955) 130 F Supp 112, 116]

- Actions Under FAA. Federal Arbitration Act cases [see 9 USC § 1 et seq.] may be litigated by persons or entities who lack capacity under state law [see, e.g., O & Y Landmark Assoc. v. Nordheimer (DDC 1989) 725 F Supp 578, 581 (partnership that lacked capacity to sue under state law could sue to enforce FAA rights)].

- Enemy Aliens. During wartime, the Trading With the Enemy Act limits the capacity of nonresident enemies to bring suit in any court, state or federal [see 50 USC App § 7(b) (Trading With the Enemy Act)]. This is true even if war was declared after the filing of the action [Ex parte Colonna (1942) 314 US 510, 511, 62 S Ct 373, 86 L Ed 379]. The Act does not limit the capacity to defend suits brought in courts [see 50 USC App § 7(b)].

Cross Reference:

Rule 17 as prescribing which law governs litigant's capacity, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 17.20 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

28 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.27

4.27 Pleading Capacity Is Not Required, Except When Required to Plead Jurisdiction.

The plaintiff's complaint need not include allegations in the complaint specifically asserting the plaintiff's capacity to sue or the defendant's capacity to be sued. If any party is an organization, the plaintiff's complaint need not address the legal existence of that organization. All of these matters will be presumed [see Fed R Civ P 9(a)]. If the defendant has objections to the capacity of any party, the defendant must raise those objections by pleading or by motion, or the objections are waived [see Fed R Civ P 8(b), (c), 12(b),(h); see, e.g., E.R. Squibb & Sons, Inc. v. Accident & Cas. Ins. Co. (2d Cir 1998) 160 F3d 925, 935-936].

Exception:

There is one, limited exception to the general rule that a plaintiff's complaint need not include allegations as to the capacity or legal existence of the parties. Every federal court complaint must contain a statement of the basis for the court's jurisdiction [Fed R Civ P 8(a)(1)]. If the court's jurisdiction depends on some fact that establishes the capacity or legal existence of the parties, this fact must be pleaded despite the general rule excusing pleading of capacity [Fed R Civ P 9(a)].

Cross Reference:

Required allegations in complaints, see Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, see §§ 6.07 -6.09.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.28

4.28 Determining Capacity of Individual Litigant.

4.28[1] Individuals Have Capacity to Sue or Be Sued Unless They Are Under Disability. The capacity of an individual to sue or be sued in federal courts, other than an individual suing or being sued in a representative capacity, is determined by the law of the individual's domicile [Fed R Civ P 17(b)]. California law presumes that adult individuals may sue or be sued, and provides exceptions only for minors and incompetent persons [see CCP § 372]. Since the time that the original California Codes were enacted in 1872, California law has rejected the common-law disabilities of married women [see CCP §§ 370, 372].

Individuals who conduct business under a fictitious name [see B&P Code § 17900(a) (definition of "fictitious business name")] may have an obstacle to suing on business-related claims. Failure to file and publish a fictitious name statement, as required by the statutes governing fictitious business names [see B&P Code §§ 17910, 17915, 17917], suspends the right of the business to bring any action on any contract made, or transaction had, in the fictitious business name in any court of California until the fictitious business name statement has been executed, filed, and published [B&P Code § 17918].

4.28[2] Determining Capacity of Minors Under California Law.

4.28[2][a] Minor Must Sue Through Guardian or Guardian Ad Litem. Under California law, any person under 18 years of age is a "minor" [Fam Code § 6500]. A minor may enforce his or her legal rights by civil action or other legal proceedings in the same manner as an adult, except that a guardian must conduct the action or proceeding [Fam Code § 6601]. A party who is a minor must appear either by a guardian of his or her estate [see Prob Code § 1500 et seq.], or by a guardian ad litem appointed by the court in which the action is pending or by a judge of that court [see CCP § 372(a)].

4.28[2][b] Minor Has Capacity to Be Sued, but Court Will Appoint Guardian. A plaintiff may sue a minor for a tort in the minor's own name. Minors are liable for their torts. Minors are not liable for punitive damages unless there is a showing that the minor was capable of appreciating the wrongfulness of his or her actions at the time the actions were taken [Fam Code § 6600], but there is no obstacle to suing a minor for compensatory damages.

In most cases, a plaintiff may also sue a minor on a contractual obligation. Minors are generally liable for contractual obligations [Fam Code § 6700].

Exceptions--When Plaintiff May Not Sue Minor on Contractual Obligation:

Contracts made by minors attempting to delegate power, attempting to transfer real property, or attempting to transfer personal property not in the immediate possession of the minor are never enforceable [Fam Code § 6701].

Drawback:

Even when a contract obligation is nominally enforceable, suing minors for contractual obligations may be unproductive. Minors may disaffirm contractual obligations [Fam Code § 6710]. There are only two exceptions to the ability to disaffirm. A minor may not disaffirm a contract if a statute authorizes minors to make the type of contract in question [Fam Code § 6711]. In the absence of a statute, the only type of contract that a minor may not disaffirm is a contract made for the reasonable value of necessities of life furnished to a minor or the minor's family [Fam Code § 6712].

To the extent just described, a minor, at least technically, has the capacity to be sued. The plaintiff has no responsibility to seek a guardian of the minor's estate or to seek a guardian ad litem before bringing suit. Nonetheless, the court will allow a minor to appear and defend only through a guardian and will appoint a guardian ad litem for that purpose, if needed [see CCP § 372(a) ("When a minor ... is a party, that person shall appear either by a guardian or conservator of the estate or by a guardian ad litem appointed by the court in which the action or proceeding is pending")].

4.28[2][c] Emancipated Minor Has Full Capacity, Even Without Guardian. A person who would otherwise be a minor is considered to be over the age of majority for all purposes, including the capacity to sue and be sued in his or her own name [Fam Code § 7050(e)(4)], if he or she is "emancipated" [see Fam Code § 7050 et seq.]. A minor becomes emancipated by satisfying one or more of the following conditions [Fam Code § 7002]:

- The minor has entered into a valid marriage;
- The minor is on active duty with the armed forces; or
- The minor has received a court order under the procedures authorized in the California Family Code for a court to issue a "declaration of emancipation" [see Fam Code § 7110 et seq.].

4.28[2][d] Minor 12 Years Old or Older Has Capacity to Seek or Defend Against Harassment and Violence Injunctions. A minor 12 years of age or older may appear without a guardian, counsel, or guardian ad litem to request or oppose a request for the following [see CCP § 372(b)(1)]:

- An injunction or temporary restraining order, or both, to prohibit harassment [see CCP § 527.6];
- An injunction or temporary restraining order, or both, against violence or a credible threat of violence in the workplace [see CCP § 527.8];
- A protective order pursuant to the Domestic Violence Prevention Act [see Fam Code § 6200 et seq.]; or
- A protective order in connection with proceedings under the Uniform Parentage Act [see Fam Code §§ 7710, 7720].

Even though a minor has full capacity in these matters, the court may appoint a guardian ad litem to assist the minor [CCP § 372(b)(1)].

4.28[2][e] Neither Minors Nor Guardians May Appear Pro Se. A minor may not appear pro se because, as explained above, he or she must appear through a guardian [see CCP § 372(a)].

A guardian appears and sues or defends as a representative. Therefore, a guardian may not appear pro se, and must always retain a lawyer [see Johns v. County of San Diego (9th Cir 1997) 114 F3d 874, 876].

4.28[3] Determining Capacity of Incompetent Persons Under California Law.

4.28[3][a] Incompetent Must Sue Through Conservator or Guardian Ad Litem. Under California law, an incompetent person is one who is "substantially unable to manage his or her financial resources or resist fraud or undue influence" [see CC § 39(b) (such persons are subject to presumption that they are of unsound mind); Prob Code § 1801(b) (such persons are subject to conservatorship for their estates)]. Incompetents lack capacity to sue. An incompetent must sue through his or her conservator, if one has been appointed. The court must appoint a guardian ad litem for an incompetent if there is no conservator [see CCP § 372(a)].

4.28[3][b] Incompetent Has Capacity to Be Sued in Many Cases, but Court Will Appoint Guardian. A plaintiff may sue an incompetent person in tort. A person "of unsound mind," regardless of the degree of mental impairment, is civilly liable for his or her torts. The incompetent person is not liable for punitive damages, however, unless there is a showing that, at the time of the tortious conduct, the incompetent was capable of knowing that his or her actions were wrongful [CC § 41].

A plaintiff may also sue an incompetent on contract obligations in some circumstances. A person who is "entirely without understanding" cannot make a valid contract of any kind. At most, he or she is liable in quantum meruit for the reasonable value of necessities of life furnished to the incompetent or his or her family [CC § 38]. Similarly, if a person has been formally adjudicated as incompetent and subjected to a conservatorship by court order [see Prob Code § 1800 et seq.], the conservatee cannot make valid contracts [CC § 40]. The only enforceable contracts that a conservatee may make are contracts for the reasonable value of the necessities of life for the conservatee, his or her spouse and minor children, or his or her domestic partner [see Prob Code § 1871(d)].

An adult person of unsound mind who is not entirely without understanding, and who has not been the subject of a judicial decree, has the power to make contracts and may be sued on them [see CC § 39(a)]. However, suing on these contractual obligations may not be productive. These contracts are subject to rescission [CC § 39(a); see CC § 1688 et seq. (grounds for and conditions of recission of contracts generally)].

To the extent just described, an incompetent person, at least technically, has the capacity to be sued. The plaintiff has no responsibility to seek a conservator for the incompetent's estate or to seek a guardian ad litem before bringing suit. Nonetheless, the court will allow the incompetent to appear and defend only through a conservator and, if one has not been appointed, the court will appoint a guardian ad litem for that purpose [CCP § 372(a) ("When ... an incompetent person, or a person for whom a conservator has been appointed, is a party, that person shall appear either by a guardian or conservator of the estate or by a guardian ad litem appointed by the court in which the action or proceeding is pending")].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.29

4.29 Determining Capacity of Decedents and Decedents' Representatives Under California Law.

4.29[1] Personal Representative or Successor in Interest May Bring Decedent's Cause of Action. All of a decedent's property, including a cause of action that survives the decedent's death [see CCP § 377.30], passes to the devisees of the decedent's last will. If there is no will, the property passes to the decedent's heirs at law [Prob Code § 7000]. The decedent's personal representative may commence an action on a cause of action that survives the decedent's death. If there is no personal representative, the decedent's successor in interest may commence the action [see CCP § 377.30].

An action commenced on a cause of action that survives the decedent's death is called a "survival action." This action is limited to claims that the decedent could have asserted had he or she not died, and it does not include "wrongful death" claims. Wrongful death claims are those owned by the decedent's heirs or surviving domestic partner. These claims seek recovery for the losses suffered by the heirs or the surviving domestic partner as a result of the death. Therefore, a wrongful death claim is owned by the surviving heirs or surviving domestic partner of the deceased, and must be brought directly by them and not by the decedent's personal representative [CCP § 377.60]. Nonetheless, it is common to consolidate survival and wrongful death actions in a single proceeding, despite the fact that the plaintiffs in each action differ [see CCP § 377.62].

4.29[2] Cause of Action Against Decedent May Be Asserted Against Personal Representative or Successor in Interest. A plaintiff may assert a cause of action against the decedent that survives the decedent's death by asserting the cause of action against the decedent's personal representative or, to the extent permitted by statute, against the decedent's successor in interest [see CCP § 377.40]. However, the plaintiff may not commence the action until the plaintiff timely files a probate claim against the decedent's estate [Prob Code § 9351; see Prob Code § 9000 et seq. (creditor claims procedures)].

4.29[3] Estate Itself May Not Be Party. Under California law, an estate is not an entity and may not be a party to an action. It is neither a natural nor an artificial person. It is merely a name to indicate the sum total of the assets and liabilities of a decedent, an incompetent, or a bankrupt [see Tanner v. Estate of Best (1940) 40 CA2d 442, 445, 104 P2d 1084 ; see also Goodman v. United States (9th Cir 2002) 298 F3d 1048, 1054 (bringing suit in name of estate was error, although substituting proper party, which related back to date of filing of original complaint, was permitted)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.30

4.30 Determining Capacity of Public Corporations.

4.30[1] Capacity of Corporation Determined by Law of State Where Organized. The capacity of a corporation to sue or be sued is be determined by the law of the state where the corporation was organized [Fed R Civ P 17(b)(2) see, e.g., Louisiana-Pac. Corp. v. ASARCO, Inc. (9th Cir 1993) 5 F3d 431, 434 ; Levin Metals Corp. v. Parr-Richmond Terminal Co. (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 1448, 1451].

Exception--Statute May Provide for Suit Regardless of Capacity.
Federal statutes can authorize suits regardless of the capacity of a corporation under state law. For example, corporations lacking capacity under state law may nevertheless be prosecuted for violations of federal hazardous waste regulations [see, e.g., 42 USC § 9607(a) (CERCLA)].

Distinguish--Corporation Suing in Representative Capacity:
The rule that the law of the state of organization governs capacity to sue and be sued applies when a corporation is suing to assert its own rights. It does not apply to a corporation suing as a representative of another. When a party, either individual or corporate, sues in a representative capacity, the law of the state in which the federal district court sits determines capacity to sue or be sued [Zee Med. Distrib. Ass'n, Inc. v. Zee Med., Inc. (ND Cal 1998) 23 F Supp2d 1151, 1153-1154].

Investigating Potential Parties Using Online Resources:

Investigation of existing and potential corporate adversaries (and perhaps allied parties) can be greatly facilitated by information and leads from online resources. For example, helpful resources at lexis.com include:

- News & Business tab>Company & Financial>Company Profiles & Directories>Individual Publications> LexisNexis(R) Corporate AffiliationsTM
  - Sample Search: To determine corporate parent/subsidiary relationships, including directors and officers, search the Directory of Corporate Affiliations online. A product search may be performed, such as search: brand/business(Tylenol) A company search follows this format: company(lexisnexis).

Cross References:

Capacity of party suing as representative, see § 4.35.

Capacity of corporation to litigate on its own behalf, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 17.26[1] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4.30[2] Determining Capacity of California Corporations.

4.30[2][a] California Corporations Have Same Capacity as Natural Persons. Because a corporation is considered a person and (in most cases) has the powers of a natural person under California law, it has the same capacity to sue and be sued in any court as does a natural person [Corp Code § 105; see CCP § 17; Corp Code § 207].

Cross References:

Capacity of corporations under California law, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Pretrial Civil Procedure, § 5.14.

Allegations of corporate capacity under California law, see 3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used (Matthew Bender).

4.30[2][b] Dissolved California Corporations Have Limited Capacity. A dissolved corporation has a capacity to sue and defend, and otherwise continues to exist, but only for the limited purpose of winding up its affairs [see Corp Code § 2010(a)]. An action or proceeding to which a corporation is a party does not abate on account of the dissolution of the corporation or the proceedings for winding up and dissolution [Corp Code § 2010(b)].

California law permits suits against a former corporation's shareholders only if the claim asserted in the suit arose prior to dissolution [Corp Code § 2011(a); see, e.g., Levin Metals Corp. v. Parr-Richmond Terminal Co. (9th Cir 1987) 817 F2d 1448, 1451 (suit dismissed because statute creating cause of action not enacted until after dissolution, even if harm caused during period corporation existed)].

Cross Reference:

Form of stipulation to substitute stockholders as defendants in place of dissolved corporation, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 17:42 (Matthew Bender).

4.30[2][c] Merged Corporation Loses Right to Bring Suit. A merged corporation loses its corporate existence and may not bring suit in its former, pre-merger, name [see J.C. Peacock, Inc. v. Hasko (1960) 184 CA2d 142, 150, 7 CR 490]. However, when a statutory merger becomes effective, the surviving corporation automatically succeeds, without further transfer, to all the rights and property of the disappearing corporation [see Corp Code § 1107(a)].

4.30[2][d] California Corporation's Rights to Sue and Defend Suits May Be Suspended by Failure to File or Pay Tax. A California corporation's rights, powers, and privileges, including its ability to sue or defend suits, are suspended for failure to pay corporate taxes [see R&T Code § 23301]. The suspension is not automatic, however. The suspension takes effect only when the Franchise Tax Board transmits the name of the tax-delinquent corporation to the Secretary of State [see R&T Code § 23302]. If this has not been done, the corporation will continue to have the capacity to sue and defend, even though the corporation may, in fact, have failed to pay its taxes [see Ogden Martin Sys. v. San Bernardino (9th Cir 1991) 932 F2d 1284, 1290 ; Mediterranean Exps., Inc. v. Superior Court (1981) 119 CA3d 605, 615, 617-618, 174 CR 169].

A similar suspension may occur for the failure to file a tax return as applies for the failure to actually pay corporate taxes. Except for the purpose of filing an application for exempt status, or amending the articles of incorporation as necessary either to perfect the application or to set forth a new name, and subject to R&T Code § 23301.6 (suspension or forfeiture of powers of foreign taxpayer for failure to file return), the corporate powers, rights, and privileges of a California corporation may be suspended if the taxpayer fails to file a tax return required by Corporation Tax Code [see R&T Code § 23301.5].

A similar suspension may occur for the failure to file annual informational statement. A California corporation must file initial and annual statements setting out information about, among other things, its officers, directors, and business practices [see Corp Code § 1502]. Failure to file this statement will result ultimately in the suspension of corporate rights, powers, and privileges [see Corp Code § 2205]. A corporation suspended for failure to file this statement is disabled from participating in any litigation activities to the same extent as a corporation suspended for failure to pay taxes under R&T Code § 23301 [Palm Valley Homeowners Ass'n v. Design MTC (2000) 85 CA4th 553, 560, 102 CR2d 350].

Tax suspensions are not permanent. It would be error to immediately dismiss an action filed by a suspended corporation or to immediately enter a default against it. Although the action or defense is abated when a California corporation's capacity is suspended, a California corporation may revive its capacity and should be given a reasonable opportunity to do so. For example, a California corporation may pay its taxes, and the appropriate penalties, and when it does so, it will be restored to full capacity [R&T Code § 23305a]. The restoration is without prejudice to any claims or defenses that have arisen in the interim, however [see Electronic Equip. Express, Inc. v. Donald H. Seiler & Co. (1981) 122 CA3d 834, 843, 176 CR 239].

Example:

If a corporation's claim becomes barred by limitations while the suspension is in place, the revivor does not remedy this defense to the previously suspended corporation's claim [see Electronic Equip. Express, Inc. v. Donald H. Seiler & Co. (1981) 122 CA3d 834, 843, 176 CR 239].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.31

4.31 Determining Capacity of Partnerships, Associations, and Sole Proprietorships.

4.31[1] Capacity of Partnerships and Associations Determined by Law of State Where District Court Sits. Capacity of partnerships and associations to sue or be sued is determined by the law of the state in which the district court is held [Fed R Civ P 17(b)(3)].

If, under the relevant state law, a partnership or unincorporated association lacks capacity to sue or be sued, it still may sue or be sued in its common name for the purpose of enforcing (for or against it) a substantive right existing under the Constitution or laws of the United States [Fed R Civ P 17(b)(3)(A)]. This provision is moot for the federal district court located in California because, as discussed below, California law permits partnerships and associations to sue and be sued in their own names.

Cross Reference:

Capacity of partnerships and unincorporated associations, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 17.26[4] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4.31[2] In California, Partnership May Sue or Be Sued in Partnership Name.

4.31[2][a] Partnership Name Suits Permitted, but Strategic Considerations May Make Partners Advisable Additional Parties. Any partnership may sue or be sued in the name that it has assumed or by which it is known [CCP § 369.5(a); Corp Code § 16307(a)]. However, there are a number of reasons for a plaintiff to sue both the partnership and individual partners:

- To acquire jurisdiction over a partnership, a plaintiff must designate the partnership as a defendant. Naming only the individual partners in the complaint is insufficient [Epstein v. Frank (1981) 125 CA3d 111, 119-120, 177 CR 831 ; Hildebrand v. Stonecrest Corp. (1959) 174 CA2d 158, 169, 344 P2d 378].

- A judgment against a partnership is not automatically a judgment against individual partners, even though partners are jointly and severally liable for all obligations of a general partnership. Therefore, because individual partners may be made parties in such actions, it may be strategically advantageous to name individual partners and obtain a judgment against them at the same time as obtaining a judgment against the partnership. Judgments against individual partners for partnership debts do not automatically reach the nonpartnership assets of individual partners until partnership assets prove insufficient. However, at this point, it may be convenient to have a judgment against individual partners already established [see CCP § 369.5(b); Corp Code §§ 16306(a), 16307].

There are also very practical reasons not to join individual partners as parties. Joinder of individual partners makes sense when the number of partners is small and when there is a risk that the partnership may be unable to respond to a judgment (or might make itself unable to respond to a judgment) in the case. Joinder of all of the individual partners may be counterproductive when the number of individual partners is large. A large number of parties is sure to complicate the litigation, particularly if the basis for federal court jurisdiction is diversity of citizenship. Furthermore, when there is no real risk that the partnership assets will be insufficient to satisfy a possible judgment in the case, a plaintiff must always consider that suing individual partners does make the suit more "personal," which can create a more entrenched defensive posture.

4.31[2][b] Compliance With Fictitious Name Statute May Be Prerequisite to Partnership Name Suit. A partnership that is transacting business under a fictitious business name may not maintain any action on or on account of any contract made, or transaction had, in the fictitious business name in any state court until a fictitious business name statement has been executed, filed, and published [B&P Code § 17918].

Cross Reference:

Capacity of partnerships under California law, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Pretrial Civil Procedure, § 5.13.

4.31[3] In California, Unincorporated Association May Sue and Be Sued Under Common Name. In California, unincorporated associations, whether or not organized for profit, are treated like general partnerships to the extent that they may sue and be sued in the name they have assumed or by which they are known [see CCP § 369.5(a)]. However, as with general partnerships, compliance with the fictitious business name statute may be a prerequisite to maintaining a suit in the association's name [see B&P Code § 17918].

Although a corporation retains limited capacity to sue and be sued after dissolution, an unincorporated association ceases to exist completely when it is dissolved. It may not sue and may not even be named as a defendant [see Oliver v. Swiss Club Tell (1963) 222 CA2d 528, 537, 35 CR 324].

Cross Reference:

Capacity of unincorporated association, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Pretrial Civil Procedure, § 5.16.

4.31[4] In California, Sole Proprietorship Does Not Have Existence Separate From Owner. In California, a sole proprietorship is not an entity legally separate from its owner [Providence Washington Ins. Co. v. Valley Forge Ins. Co. (1996) 42 CA4th 1194, 1199-1200, 50 CR2d 192]; the use of a fictitious business name does not create a separate legal entity [Pinkerton's, Inc. v. Superior Court (1997) 49 CA4th 1342, 1348, 57 CR2d 356]. A sole proprietorship, therefore, lacks the capacity to sue or be sued separately from the owner [see Burger v. Kuimelis (ND Cal 2004) 325 F Supp2d 1026, 1033]. The pleading may indicate that the owner does business under a fictitious business name, e.g., "JANE DOE dba JD INSURANCE SERVICES."

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.32

4.32 Determining Capacity of Limited Liability Entities.

4.32[1] Capacity of Limited Liability Entities Determined by Law of State Where District Court Sits. Capacity of limited liability companies, limited liability partnerships, and limited partnerships to sue or be sued is determined by the law of the state in which the district court is held [Fed R Civ P 17(b)(3)].

4.32[2] In California, Limited Liability Company May Sue or Be Sued. A California limited liability company may sue or be sued, to the same extent as any other entity [Corp Code § 17003(b)]. However, both foreign and domestic limited liability companies are similar to corporations in that they are subject to suspension of their capacity to sue and be sued for any failure the pay the required taxes imposed by the State of California on such entities [see R&T Code § 23305.5].

4.32[3] In California, Limited Partnerships and Limited Liability Partnerships Have Same Capacity to Sue and Be Sued As General Partnerships. California Limited Liability Partnerships have the same capacity to sue and be sued as general partnerships because they are governed by the same laws as are general partnerships [see Corp Code § 16111]. The same is true of limited partnerships. General partners in a limited liability partnership are treated similarly to partners in a general partnership [see Corp Code § 15643]. The law governing the capacity of a partnership to sue and be sued [see CCP § 369.5(a); Corp Code § 16307(a)], also applies to limited partnerships [see Corp Code §§ 15722, 16111].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of capacity of partnerships, see § 4.31.

Distinguish:

The principal differences between general partnerships on one hand, and limited partnerships and limited liability partnerships on the other, concern the propriety of joining partners as additional parties in actions by or against limited partnerships or limited liability partnerships:

- As noted, general partners in a limited partnership are treated just like limited partners in a general partnership [see Corp Code § 15643]. Limited partners, however, are not individually liable for partnership obligations and, therefore, are not proper parties to suits against limited partnerships. The only exceptions are for limited partners who are named as general partners in the partnership's registration certificate or limited partners who, contrary to their purported status as limited partners, participate in the control of the business [see Corp Code § 15632].

- Individual partners only rarely need to be made parties to suits against limited liability partnerships unless the individual partner in question is a tortfeasor. Individual partners in limited liability partnerships, unlike partners in a general partnership, are not personally liable for the debts, obligations, or liabilities of the partnership [Corp Code § 16306(c)].

Cross References:

Capacity of limited liability companies, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Pretrial Civil Procedure, § 5.15.

Allegations of limited liability company's capacity under California law, see 3 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 20, Allegations Commonly Used (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.33

4.33 Determining Capacity of Nationally Chartered Corporations.

4.33[1] Federally Chartered Corporation. The capacity of a corporation created by federal statute or chartered by another federal corporation is governed by the law under which it was organized [see American Nat'l Red Cross v. S.G. (1992) 505 US 247, 258-260, 112 S Ct 2465, 120 L Ed2d 201]. In the absence of a restriction in the charter, capacity of these corporations is presumed in federal court [see Keifer & Keifer v. Reconstruction Fin. Corp. (1939) 306 US 381, 394-396, 59 S Ct 516, 83 L Ed 784].

Cross Reference:

Capacity of governmental corporations, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 17.26[3] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4.33[2] Corporation Chartered by District of Columbia. The District of Columbia is treated as a state, so a government corporation formed under the general corporation law of the District of Columbia has the same capacity as any other corporation formed under that law [see Sloan Shipyards Corp. v. United States Shipping Bd. Emergency Fleet Corp. (1922) 258 US 549, 570, 42 S Ct 386, 66 L Ed 762].

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.34

4.34 Determining Capacity of State and Local Public Entities.

4.34[1] Capacities of State and Local Public Entities Determined by Law of State Where District Court Sits. The capacity of states and local public entities to sue and be sued depends on the law of the state in which the district court is held [see Fed R Civ P 17(b)(3)].

4.34[2] State of California and California "Public Entities" Have Capacity to Sue and Be Sued. By statute, the State of California and "public entities" in California may sue and be sued [Gov Code § 945]. The statutory definition of "public entity" includes the State of California itself, the Regents of the University of California, a county, city, district public authority, public agency, and any other political subdivision or public corporation in California [Gov Code § 811.2].

Distinguish--Not All Public Agencies Are "Public Entities":

A local government agency may lack the capacity to sue or be sued. For example, although the County of Los Angeles is a "public entity" with the capacity to sue and be sued, the Sheriff's Department of Los Angeles County is not. Furthermore, a complaint against the county for actions of an agency such as the Sheriff's Department must sufficiently show why the county is liable for the actions of the agency, and not just state conclusory allegations [see Garcia v. County of Los Angeles (CD Cal 1984) 588 F Supp 700, 707 (motion to dismiss granted, with leave to amend to show liability of county for actions of Sheriff's Department as agent)].

4.34[3] State Public Entities May Be Sued Only to Extent They Have Waived Immunity. The State of California has sovereign immunity, and it has imposed immunity from suit on its political subdivisions and agencies by statute. Therefore, California and California public agencies may be sued only to the extent that they have waived immunity [see Gov Code § 814 et seq.].

4.34[4] Liability of California and California Public Agencies Is Subject to Numerous Statutory Limits. State statutes may limit the liability of the State of California and its public agencies. For example, a public entity is never liable for any damages caused by the issuance, refusal to issue, suspension, or revocation of a license [Gov Code § 818.4]. Also, even if California or a California public agency is liable for compensatory damages, it is never liable for punitive damages [Gov Code § 818].

Warning:

The nature, extent, and circumstances under which liability may be imposed on the State of California and its public agencies is a matter of statute [Gov Code § 815]. Review the California Tort Claims Act [Gov Code § 810 et seq.] before bringing suit against a California public entity.

Cross Reference:

Statutory limits on public entity's liability, see 40 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers (Matthew Bender).

4.34[5] Administrative Claim May Be Prerequisite to Suit. For most types of claims, neither the State of California nor a California public entity may be sued unless and until an administrative claim specified in Gov Code § 900 et seq. is presented to and ruled on by the State or public entity [see Gov Code § 900 et seq.]. There are statutory exceptions to the claims requirements for certain types of claims [see Gov Code § 905]. In addition, the courts have recognized a few non-statutory exceptions. For example, a plaintiff may pursue a civil rights actions under 42 USC § 1983 without first filing an administrative claim [Williams v. Horvath (1976) 16 C3d 834, 837-842, 129 CR 453]. Similarly, a plaintiff may pursue a claim for employment discrimination under the California Fair Employment and Housing Act [see Gov Code § 12900 et seq.] without first filing an administrative claim under Gov Code § 900 et seq. [see, e.g., Garcia v. Los Angeles Unified Sch. Dist. (1985) 173 CA3d 701, 710-711, 219 CR 544 (FEHA procedures have other administrative prerequisites that serve same purpose)].

Cross Reference:

Claims requirements, see 40 California Forms of Pleading and Practice, Ch. 464, Public Entities and Officers (Matthew Bender).

4.34[6] Eleventh Amendment Immunity May Preclude Suit. The State of California's capacity to be sued in California state courts is not a waiver of its Eleventh Amendment protection from money damage suits in federal courts. The Eleventh Amendment limits the judicial power of federal courts over states [see US Const, amend XI].

Courts have consistently interpreted the Eleventh Amendment to preclude suits directly against a state in federal court [Edelman v. Jordan (1974) 415 US 651, 662-663, 94 S Ct 1347, 39 L Ed2d 662]. The Eleventh Amendment does permit suits against state officers for injunctive relief, but not for damages [Ex parte Young (1908) 209 US 123, 150-160, 28 S Ct 441, 52 L Ed 714]. Suits against state officers for conduct in the officer's official or representative capacity are deemed to be against the state itself, and are barred by the Eleventh Amendment [Ex parte New York (1921) 256 US 490, 500-501, 41 S Ct 588, 65 L Ed 1057].

Exception:

The only exception to Eleventh Amendment immunity occurs when a federal statute deliberately and expressly authorizes a recovery of damages against a state and the statute is enacted pursuant to Congress's power to enforce the US Const, amend XIV [Seminole Tribe v. Florida (1996) 517 US 44, 55, 116 S Ct 1114, 134 L Ed2d 252]. For example, Congress has authorized federal court damage actions against states for violations of the Family and Medical Leave Act [Nevada Dep't of Human Res. v. Hibbs (2003) 538 US 721, 725, 123 S Ct 1972, 155 L Ed2d 953]. And Congress has specified that states do not have sovereign immunity under the Government Employee Rights Act, 42 USC § 2000e-16a [Dellmuth v. Muth (1989) 491 US 223, 230, 109 S Ct 2397, 105 L Ed2d 181 ; Alaska v. EEOC (9th Cir 2009) 564 F3d 1062, 1068-1069 (state sovereign immunity was not a defense in employment discrimination action brought by state employees)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Eleventh Amendment, 17A Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 123, Access to Courts: Eleventh Amendment and State Sovereign Immunity (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureFederal & State InterrelationshipsSovereign ImmunityGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrusteesTortsPublic Entity LiabilityImmunityGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.35

4.35 Determining Capacity of Representatives Litigating State-Law Claims.

The capacity of a party litigating a state-law claim on behalf of another is governed by the law of the state in which the district court is held [see Fed R Civ P 17(b)].

Example--Corporations Acting As Fiduciaries:

Corporations often serve in representative capacities as trustees or guardians. The capacity of a corporation litigating on behalf of another is determined by the law of the forum state, even though the capacity of a corporation to sue and be sued is normally determined by the law of the state in which it was organized [Fed R Civ P 17(b)]. The general rule for corporate capacity (the rule that capacity is determined by the state of organization) only applies when the suit is on behalf of or against the corporation in its own right. If a corporation is a party as a representative of the rights and obligations of other persons, the "default" provision of the rule (the rule that capacity is determined by the law of the state in which the court sits) applies [Zee Med. Distrib. Ass'n, Inc. v. Zee Med., Inc. (ND Cal 1998) 23 F Supp2d 1151, 1153-1154 (corporation suing on behalf of its members, rather than suing for its own rights)].

Example--State Officers:

The capacity of a state representative litigating a state law claim on behalf of a governmental body is determined by the law of the state in which the court sits [see, e.g., Moore v. Mitchell (1930) 281 US 18, 24, 50 S Ct 175, 74 L Ed 673].

Cross Reference:

Capacity of party suing on behalf of another, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 17.22 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.36

4.36 Challenging Capacity Defect.

4.36[1] Capacity Defect Should Be Raised in Responsive Pleadings. Because the plaintiff will rarely need to plead the capacity of any party to the suit [see Fed R Civ P 9(a)(1) ("a pleading need not allege ... a party's capacity to sue or be sued [or] a party's authority to sue or be sued in representative capacity")], it is unlikely that the plaintiff will do so. However, if the plaintiff has affirmatively pleaded the capacity of any party and a responding party disagrees with the facts pleaded, the answer must specifically deny the allegations of capacity [see Fed R Civ P 8(b), 12(b)] or the allegations will be admitted [Fed R Civ P 8(b)(6)].

Even if a denial-of-capacity allegation is not required, and in addition to a denial-of-capacity allegation if one is made, a responding party disputing the capacity of another party to sue or be sued should plead any lack of capacity affirmatively, as an affirmative defense. A lack of capacity might well be categorized as a matter of "avoidance" within the meaning of Rule 8(c) and, therefore, it needs to be pleaded [see Fed R Civ P 8(c)]. Affirmative defenses that are not raised in a responsive pleading or in a motion to dismiss may be waived [see, e.g., Venters v. City of Delphi (7th Cir 1997) 123 F3d 956, 968 (limitations defense waived by failure to plead it)].

Regardless of whether its is labeled an affirmative defense or otherwise, Rule 9(a) explicitly requires that when a party desires to raise an issue either as to the legal existence of a party or an issue as to the capacity any party to sue or be sued (or to sue or be sued in a representative capacity), the party desiring to raise the issue must do so "by a specific denial, which must state any supporting facts that are peculiarly within the party's knowledge" [Fed R Civ P 9(a)(2)]. Thus, a party wishing to object to the capacity of a party must make an affirmative-defense-like pleading, and must, in fact, plead the objection more specifically than is required for most affirmative defenses [cf. Zotos v. Lindbergh Sch. Dist. (8th Cir 1997) 121 F3d 356, 360 (limitations defense may be pleaded generally, without any specific details)].

Warning :

Failure to make the required "specific denial" as to any objections to a party's capacity waives those objections [see, e.g., Summers v. Interstate Tractor & Equip Co (9th Cir 1972) 466 F2d 42, 50].

Cross Reference:

Drafting answer, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, §§ 8.06- 8 .13.

4.36[2] Capacity Defect May Be Raised by Motion to Dismiss. In lieu of or in addition to pleading capacity defects, defendants may object to plaintiff's lack of capacity in a motion to dismiss for failure to a state claim on which relief may be granted [see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(6); see, e.g., Thomas v. Humfield (5th Cir 1990) 916 F2d 1032, 1033 (district court dismissed some defendants for plaintiff's failure to serve summons and other defendants for plaintiff's failure to state claim)].

Cross References:

Motion to dismiss under Rule 12(b)(6), see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, 8 .21. Noticed motion procedure, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice.

Forms of motion to dismiss for lack of capacity to sue, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, § 17:40. Form of motion to dismiss for lack of capacity to be sued, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice, Form 17:41 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.37

4.37 Determining Proper Representatives for Persons Lacking Legal Capacity.

4.37[1] Previously Appointed Representative May Sue for or Defend Minor or Incompetent. Whenever a minor or incompetent person already has a duly appointed representative, such as a general guardian, committee, conservator, or other like fiduciary, the representative may sue or defend on behalf of the minor or incompetent person [Fed R Civ P 17(c)].

4.37[2] Minor or Incompetent May Sue by Next Friend or Guardian Ad Litem. A minor or incompetent person who does not have a duly appointed representative may sue by a next friend or by a guardian ad litem appointed by the court in which the action is pending for the purpose of representing the minor or incompetent [Fed R Civ P 17(c)(2)].

4.37[3] Court May Appoint Guardian Ad Litem for Minor or Incompetent Who Has Been Sued. If a minor or incompetent is sued, the court must appoint a guardian ad litem or take other steps needed for the protection of the minor or incompetent [Fed R Civ P 17(c); see United States v. 30. 64 Acres of Land (9th Cir 1986) 795 F2d 796, 805].

4.37[4] Court Must Hold Incompetency Hearing for Persons Not Previously Adjudged Incompetent. Before appointing a guardian ad litem on the basis of a party's incompetence, federal courts must hold a competency hearing for persons not previously adjudged incompetent. Because representation by a guardian ad litem deprives a party of the right to control the litigation, due process requires some type of hearing. Representation by a guardian ad litem does not prevent the party's day in court, however, so a full adversary hearing is not required [see Thomas v. Humfield (5th Cir 1990) 916 F2d 1032, 1034].

A federal court does not have to follow all of the procedures that a state court might follow in determining competency. In particular, in considering whether a party is mentally competent, the federal court need not follow state mental competency procedures. Minimal due process must be granted, which usually requires notice and a hearing of some kind, but nothing else [Thomas v. Humfield (5th Cir 1990) 916 F2d 1032, 1034].

Cross Reference:

Motion for appointment of guardian ad litem, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 17:50 et seq. (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.38

4.38 LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Actions Involving Minors and Incompetents.

4.38[1] Court Must Approve Settlement or Compromise. The Central District forbids the parties in an action involving a minor or incompetent from settling or dismissing an action without court approval [CD Cal Civ LR 83-5.1]. The procedures for seeking court approval follow, as far as is practicable, California state court procedures for approval of compromises and dismissals of actions involving minors or incompetents [see CD Cal Civ LR 83-5.2; see also CCP § 372; Cal Rule Ct, Rule 3.1384 (state court procedures)].

4.38[2] Court Sets Attorney's Fees. In all actions involving a claim of minor or incompetent, the court will set the amount of fees payable to the minor's or incompetent's attorney. This applies regardless of whether the case is resolved by settlement or judgment after trial [CD Cal Civ LR 83-5.3].

4.38[3] All Monies Paid to Minor or Incompetent Placed in Blocked Account. All monies or other property paid to a minor or incompetent must be paid into the registry of the court and deposited by the clerk of the court into an interest-bearing account. The court may order payment of the money into some other form of blocked account, however [CD Cal Civ LR 83-5.4].

All monies or property deposited in this fashion may be disbursed only in accordance with a court order [CD Cal Civ LR 83-5.5]. The procedure for seeking a disbursal order is the same as followed in California state courts. In fact, the Central District has expressly adopted the California Probate Code provisions for disbursal applications made by California residents and foreign nationals. Disbursal applications by residents of other states must follow similar, local law [CD Cal Civ LR 83-5.5.1; see Prob Code § 3600 et seq. (California procedures for disbursement of funds paid to minors or persons with specified disabilities pursuant to judgment)].

Warning:

The California Probate Code provisions for disbursement of funds have been amended to replace the term "incompetent person" with "person with a disability." A "person with a disability" includes a person for whom a conservator may be appointed, a person with a developmental disability, and persons meeting specified federal definitions of disability [Prob Code § 3603 ("person with a disability" defined); see Prob Code § 3600 et seq.].

Before a guardian, conservator, or custodian of a minor or incompetent receives and funds or property, the guardian, conservator, or custodian must [CD Cal Civ LR 83-5.6]:

- File certified copies of a state court order appointing the guardian, conservator, or custodian; and
- File a certificate by the state court attesting that the guardian, conservator, or custodian has filed a surety bond in a sum at least equal to the amount of money or value of property to be disbursed.

The certificate of bond requirement may be excused if the guardian or custodian is a corporate guardian authorized by state law to so act [CD Cal Civ LR 83-5.6.1].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.39

4.39 LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Actions Involving Minors and Incompetents.

4.39[1] Appointment of Representative or Guardian. The Eastern District requires the attorney representing a minor or incompetent person to either present appropriate evidence of the appointment of a representative for the minor or incompetent person under state law or to make a motion for the appointment of a guardian ad litem by the court. An attorney representing a minor or incompetent plaintiff must do so at the commencement of the action. An attorney representing a minor or incompetent defendant must do so at the time of the initial appearance in the action [ED Cal Civ LR 202(a)].

4.39[2] Court Approval Required for Settlement or Compromise. No claim by or against a minor or incompetent person may be settled or compromised absent a court order approving the settlement or compromise [ED Cal Civ LR 202(b)].

When the minor or incompetent is being represented by a representative appointed pursuant to state law, the settlement or compromise must first be approved by the state court having jurisdiction over the personal representative. State court approval is proved by filing a copy of the state court order and all supporting and opposing documents with the court considering approval of the settlement or compromise. The only exception to prior state court approval is when the action is one over which federal courts have exclusive jurisdiction [ED Cal Civ LR 202(b)(1)].

In actions in which the minor or incompetent is not being represented by a representative appointed pursuant to state law, the parties must file a motion for an order of approval of the proposed settlement or compromise. The motion will be calendared for a hearing. The motion must, at the very least, disclose [ED Cal Civ LR 202(b)(2)]:

- The age and sex of the minor or incompetent;
- The nature of the causes of action to be settled or compromised;
- The facts and circumstances out of which the causes of action arose, including the time, place, and persons involved;

- The manner in which the compromise amount or other consideration was determined; and

- Whatever additional information may be required to enable the court to determine the fairness of the settlement or compromise.

If the action involves a personal injury claim, additional requirements apply. The motion seeking approval of a proposed settlement or compromise must disclose [ED Cal Civ LR 202(b)(2)]:

- The nature and extent of the injury with sufficient particularity to inform the court whether the injury is temporary or permanent; and

- If reports of physicians or other similar experts have been prepared, copies of those reports.

The court may also require the filing of experts' reports, even when none have previously been prepared. The court may order the parties to secure additional experts' reports, if that is appropriate under the circumstances. Reports protected by an evidentiary privilege may be submitted in a sealed condition to be reviewed by the court in camera, with notice of submission to all parties [ED Cal Civ LR 202(b)(2)].

4.39[3] Disclosure of Attorney's Interest Required. When the minor or incompetent is represented by an attorney, an action may not be settled or compromised until the attorney discloses [ED Cal Civ LR 202(c)]:

- By whom he or she was formally employed;

- The terms under which he or she was employed;

- Whether the attorney became involved in the application at the instance of the party against whom the causes of action are asserted, directly or indirectly;

- Whether the attorney has any relationship to an opposing party; and

- Whether the attorney has received or expects to receive any compensation and, if so, from whom, and the amount.

4.39[4] Court Holds Full Hearing on Proposed Compromise. In the Eastern District, a hearing on a proposed compromise or settlement of claim involving a minor or incompetent is never excused and is never pro forma. The following persons must be present at the hearing unless the court excuses their presence for good cause shown [ED Cal Civ LR 202(d)]:

- The representative of the minor or incompetent; and

- The minor or incompetent himself or herself.

In addition to the material submitted with the motion, the Court may require the testimony of any appropriate expert, as well as the submission of other evidence relating to the application [ED Cal Civ LR 202(d)].

4.39[5] Disbursement of Monies or Property Made According to State Law. Whenever money or property is recovered on behalf of a minor or incompetent, the money or property will be disbursed [ED Cal Civ LR 202(e)]:

- To the representative of the minor or incompetent, pursuant to state law on a showing that the representative is, in fact, the duly qualified representative under state law; or

- In another manner permitted by state law;

- Pursuant to some other order that the court deems proper for the protection of the minor or incompetent person.

Warning:

The California Probate Code provisions for disbursement of funds have been amended to replace the term "incompetent person" with "person with a disability." A "person with a disability" includes a person for whom a conservator may be appointed, a person with a developmental disability, and persons meeting specified federal definitions of disability [Prob Code § 3603 ("person with a disability" defined); see Prob Code § 3600 et seq.].

Applications for orders authorizing interim disbursements will be heard by the appropriate state court judge or by the assigned magistrate judge [ED Cal Civ LR 202(f); see ED Cal Mag LR 302(c)(14)]. If a state court judge makes an order concerning interim disbursements, the party seeking the disbursement must file a copy of the order with the clerk, with an additional copy to the assigned magistrate judge. The magistrate judge will review the state court order in the same manner that a district judge or magistrate judge would review a state court order approving a settlement or compromise [ED Cal Civ LR 202(f); see ED Cal Civ LR 202(b)(1) (review of state court order approving settlement or compromise)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
IV. ASSESSING CAPACITY OF NAMED PARTIES

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.40

4.40 LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal--Actions Involving Minors or Incompetents.

4.40[1] Court Order Required for Settlement or Compromise. In the Southern District, no action by or on behalf of a minor or incompetent may be settled, compromised, voluntarily discontinued, dismissed, or terminated without a court order or judgment. All settlements and compromises must be reviewed by a magistrate judge before any order of approval will issue. The parties may, with district judge approval, consent to magistrate judge jurisdiction under 28 USC § 636(c) for entry of an order approving the entire settlement or compromise [SD Cal Civ LR 17.1(a)].

4.40[2] Disbursement of Monies or Property Made According to State Law.

4.40[2][a] California Law Applicable for California Resident. Money or property recovered by a minor or incompetent who is a California resident is not paid directly to the minor or incompetent. The money or property will be paid and disbursed in accordance with the requirements of California law on the subject [SD Cal Civ LR 17.1(b.1)]. In essence, this means that it will be paid only to a duly appointed guardian or conservator of the estate of the minor or incompetent or, if there is no guardian or conservator, deposited with the county treasurer, or placed in a special needs trust or in some other form of blocked account [see generally Prob Code § 3600 et seq.].

Distinguish:

If the minor or incompetent is not a California resident, disbursement will be made under the restrictions of the relevant state law that are similar to those of California law [SD Cal Civ LR 17.1(b.1)].

Warning:

The California Probate Code provisions for disbursement of funds have been amended to replace the term "incompetent person" with "person with a disability." A "person with a disability" includes a person for whom a conservator may be appointed, a person with a developmental disability, and persons meeting specified federal definitions of disability [Prob Code § 3603 ("person with a disability" defined); see Prob Code § 3600 et seq.].

4.40[2][b] Certified Copy of Guardianship Letters Must Be Filed With Clerk. Disbursements to the guardian may not be made until a certified copy of guardianship letters and a state court certificate are filed with the clerk. The certificate must verify that the guardian has filed a surety bond in an amount to be determined by the court [SD Cal Civ LR 17.1(b.2)].

4.40[2][c] Ex Parte Petition for Review and Approval Must Be Submitted. Before the court approves any settlement or judgment that calls for money or property to be disbursed to a trust for a minor or an incompetent, the party requesting approval of a settlement or disbursement of money or property to the trust must submit a copy of the trust documents to a magistrate judge on an ex parte petition for review and approval. The ex parte petition for approval of the terms of the trust should [SD Cal Civ LR 17.1(b.4.a)]:

- Identify the petitioner;
- Describe the terms and total amount of the settlement and the amount to go into the trust;
- Explain the circumstances giving rise to the settlement or judgment, and a general description of the plaintiff's injuries and needs;
- Suggest the amount of bond;
- Make the allegations required by California law if the trust is a "special needs trust" under California law [see Prob Code § 3604(b)]; and
- Set out any other information that may be required for the court's approval.

4.40[2][d] Approval of Settlement by Magistrate Judge. If the minor or incompetent is a resident of some other state, the magistrate judge may require approval of the form of the documents by an appropriate state judge in the jurisdiction where the minor or incompetent resides. The parties may also consent to magistrate judge jurisdiction to approve the entire settlement under 28 USC § 636(c). When the parties consent to magistrate judge jurisdiction to approve the entire settlement, the approval of the trust documents and the settlement may be consolidated in one properly noticed hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 17.1(b.3)].

4.40[2][e] Submission of Proposed Order. Prior to approval of trust terms, the attorney for the petitioner must submit a proposed order that complies with all requirements of the Local Rules of the Southern District and California law [i.e., Prob Code § 3600 et seq.]. The proposed order must include [SD Cal Civ LR 17.1(b.4.b.i), (b.4.b.ii)]:

- An order for the appropriate bond; and
- An order that the first accounting, if required, be filed within one year of the establishment of the trust with the San Diego Superior Court. If the recipient of the money or property is not a California resident, the accounting shall be made to the appropriate court in the jurisdiction where the minor or incompetent resides.

If the proposed order is for the approval of the terms of a "special needs trust," the proposed order must also include [SD Cal Civ LR 17.1(b.4.b.iii)]:

- A statement that the petitioner will provide proof that all liens have been satisfied prior to the establishment of the trust by the court;
- A statement that the "court makes no specific finding or order with respect to whether the special needs trust for the benefit of _____ [petitioner's name] satisfies or complies with applicable federal laws or regulations";

- All of the terms of the proposed trust, which must be fully set out in the text of the order itself and not merely as an attachment; and

- A direction to the parties to proceed with settlement approval hearings or the entry of judgment as appropriate.

4.40[2][f] Rules for Distribution, Withdrawals, and Disbursements. Even if the trust document is approved, distribution to the trust is still contingent on filing a copy of the executed trust document, as approved by the court, along with the trustee's certification that any court-ordered surety bond is in force [SD Cal Civ LR 17.1(b.4.c)].

After distribution of property or money to the approved trust, any withdrawals or disbursements from the trust must be made in accordance with the procedures and applicable laws of the relevant state [SD Cal Civ LR 17.1(b.4)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesAgentsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesExecutorsCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesGuardiansCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesRepresentativesCivil ProcedurePartiesCapacity of PartiesTrustees

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.41

4.41 CHECKLIST: Applying Compulsory Joinder Rule.

☐ Determine whether absent person or entity is required party by applying either of following two tests:

○ Does the court have the power or ability to grant complete relief among those already parties, in the absence of the person or entity under consideration?

○ Does the absent person or entity claim an interest relating to the subject of the action and, if so:

☐ Is the absent person or entity so situated that the disposition of the action in his, her, or its absence may, a practical matter, impair or impede the person's or entity's ability to protect that interest? or

☐ Is the absent person or entity so situated that the disposition of the action in his, her, or its absence may leave any of the existing parties subject to a substantial risk of incurring double, multiple, or otherwise inconsistent obligations by reason of the claimed interest?

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 19(a)(1)(A), (B)

Discussion:
See § 4.43

☐ For each claim asserted in pleadings:

- ○ State name of each required person or entity who has not been joined as a party; and
- ○ Allege reasons why required person or entity has not been joined.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 19(c)

Discussion:
See § 4.44

☐ Analyze whether court may compel joinder of required party by considering:

- ○ Whether absent person or entity is subject to service of process;
- ○ Whether absent person or entity may be subjected to the personal jurisdiction of the court in which the action is pending;
- ○ Whether joinder of absent person will destroy basis for court's subject matter jurisdiction by, for example, destroying complete diversity of citizenship; and
- ○ Whether absent person or entity will have valid objection to venue of suit that will lead to dismissal, even if joined.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 19(a)

Discussion:
See § 4.46[1]

☐ If absent person or entity is required party and if absent person or entity may be joined, party should analyze whether to make motion to amend pleadings, to add parties, or to compel joinder, considering:

- ○ Judgment will not bind absent persons or entities.
- ○ Whether judgment that does not bind absent persons or entities will be prejudicial or force future litigation.
- ○ Whether judgment that does not bind absent persons or parties will actually lead to risk of inconsistent obligations imposed in future litigations.
- ○ Whether separate litigation involving absent persons or entities will actually be preferable and render present suit quicker and less expensive.

○ Whether court will raise question of absent persons or entities even if parties fail to make motion to effect joinder.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 19(a), (b)

Discussion:
See §§ 4.45, 4.51

☐ If absent person or entity is required party, but may not be joined, consider whether court may proceed with action, considering extent to which:

○ Judgment rendered without joinder of absent person or entity will prejudice absent person or entity.

○ Judgment rendered without joinder of absent person or entity will prejudice those already parties.

○ Prejudice to absent person or entity, or to those already parties, might be lessened or avoided by:

☐ Protective provisions in the judgment;

☐ Shaping of relief; or

☐ Other protective court orders.

○ Judgment rendered without joinder of absent person or entity will be adequate.

○ Plaintiff will have adequate remedy if present action is dismissed.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 19(b)

Discussion:
See § 4.46[2]

☐ Analyze whether to make motion to dismiss for failure to join indispensable party by marshaling arguments against possibility that court may proceed with case without joinder of absent persons or entities.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 19(b)

Discussion:
See § 4.46[2]

Standard Procedure Checklist:

Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.12

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable Parties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.42

4.42 Objective and Strategy: Compulsory Joinder Limits Plaintiff's Ability to Shape Litigation.

4.42[1] Absent Persons With Interest in Subject of Litigation Must Be Protected. The compulsory joinder rule, Rule 19, is designed to assure that all persons with an interest in the subject matter of an action are joined as parties, at least to the extent needed to protect the interests of persons or entities that, for one reason or another, have not been initially joined in the action [see Fed R Civ P 19(a); see also Carroll v. Nakatani (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 934, 945].

4.42[2] Court Should Assure That Judgment Provides Complete, Effective Relief to Parties. In addition to protecting the interests of persons or entities absent from the action, the compulsory joinder rule, Rule 19, assures that any judgment rendered in the action provides complete and effective relief to the parties. In this context, complete and effective relief means a judgment that prevents multiple and repetitive lawsuits [see Fed R Civ P 19, Committee Note of 1966; see, e.g., Control Components, Inc. v. Atlantic Richfield Co. (CD Cal 1977) 439 F Supp 654, 656].

4.42[3] Compulsory Joinder Rule Limits Power of Plaintiff to Determine Parties to Lawsuit. The compulsory joinder rule limits the power of plaintiffs to determine who will and will not be parties in lawsuits they institute. It does so in order to serve: (1) the interests of the present defendants; (2) the interests of potential but absent plaintiffs and defendants; and (3) the social interest in the orderly, expeditious administration of justice [see U-Haul Int'l, Inc. v. Jartran, Inc. (9th Cir 1986) 793 F2d 1034, 1039].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory Joinder

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.43

4.43 Certain Unjoined Persons or Entities Are Considered "Required Parties."

4.43[1] Person Whose Absence Will Prevent Complete Relief to Existing Parties Is Required Party. The court will order joinder of a person or entity when, in the person's entity's absence, the court may not grant complete relief to those already parties to the action [Fed R Civ P 19(a)(1)(A)]. The "complete relief" clause of Rule 19(a) addresses the court's and the parties' interest in comprehensive resolution of a controversy and the desire to avoid multiple lawsuits regarding the same claim [see Altmann v. Republic of Austria (CD Cal 2001) 142 F Supp2d 1187, 1210 , aff'd, 317 F3d 954 (9th Cir 2002) , aff'd on other grounds, 541 US 677, 124 S Ct 2240, 159 L Ed2d 1 (2004) ; Northrop Corp. v. McDonnell Douglas Corp. (9th Cir 1983) 705 F2d 1030, 1043 , cert. denied, 464 US 849 (1983)].

The plaintiff's inability to state a direct cause of action against the party sought to be joined does not prevent joinder when joinder is necessary to effect complete relief between the parties [EEOC v. Peabody W. Coal Co. (9th Cir 2005) 400 F3d 774, 781].

Distinguish:

Complete relief does not mean all relief that the court might grant if all permissible persons and entities were to be joined. In this context, complete relief addresses only the relief that the court may grant "between the persons already parties, not as between a party and the absent person whose joinder is sought" [see Altmann v. Republic of Austria (CD Cal 2001) 142 F Supp2d 1187, 1210 , aff'd, 317 F3d 954 (9th Cir 2002) , aff'd on other grounds, 541 US 677, 124 S Ct 2240, 159 L Ed2d 1 (2004)]. The effect a decision may have on the absent party is not material in determining whether the court may grant relief that is "complete" [see Sanguinetti v. Viewlogic Sys. (ND Cal 1996) 1996 US Dist LEXIS 1219, at *8]. In this context, the court is concerned only that, as among those already parties, the relief that it grants is "complete," or "meaningful," and not "hollow" [see Fed R Civ P 19, Committee Note of 1966; Disabled Rights Action Comm. v. Las Vegas Events, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 375 F3d 861, 879-880].

4.43[2] Absent Person Who Has Interest in Subject of Action That May Be Prejudiced by Judgment Is Required Party.

4.43[2][a] Absent Person Must Have Interest in Litigation. A person or entity is a required party if he, she, or it claims an interest relating to the subject of the action and is so situated that the disposition of the action in the person's absence may, as a practical matter, impair or impede his, her, or its ability to protect that interest [Fed R Civ P 19(a)(1)(B)(i); see, e.g., Cachil Dehe Band of Wintun Indians v. California (9th Cir 2008) 547 F3d 962, 976 (Indian tribe, party to compact with California, could proceed to litigate size of total license pool without joining other compacting tribes, because those tribes had no protectable interest in size of license pool); *Dalrada Fin. Corp. v. All Staffing, Inc. (SD Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 54297, at *9-11 (fact that that defendants may have mistakenly sent W-2 information sought by plaintiff to third parties did not support mandatory joinder of those parties, because their possession of this potentially relevant evidence had no bearing on obligations defendants allegedly owed to plaintiff)]. The interest must be more than a financial stake and more than speculation about a future event [Makah Indian Tribe v. Verity (9th Cir 1990) 910 F2d 555, 558].

Example--Action Concerning Validity of Contract:

In an action concerning the validity of a contract, all of the parties to the contract will have rights that may be affected by the judgment in the case. All of the parties are, therefore, required parties [see Wilbur v. Locke (9th Cir 2005) 423 F3d 1101, 1114 (all parties to contract are necessary in litigation seeking to "decimate" that contract); Northrop Corp. v. McDonnell Douglas Corp. (9th Cir 1983) 705 F2d 1030, 1044 (strangers to contract are rarely necessary parties)].

Distinguish--Action With Possible Future Effect on Contract:

All parties to a contract are not required parties merely because the action may have some future effect on performance by a party [see Disabled Rights Action Comm. v. Las Vegas Events, Inc. (9th Cir 2004) 375 F3d 861, 881-882 (arena owner not necessary party in action seeking to enjoin production companies from staging rodeo at arena without complying with ADA)].

4.43[2][b] Absent Person May Waive Interest. Because required party status is contingent on an initial requirement that the absent party claim a legally protected interest relating to the subject matter of the action [United States v. Bowen (9th Cir 1999) 172 F3d 682, 689 ; Northrop Corp. v. McDonnell Douglas Corp. (9th Cir 1983) 705 F2d 1030, 1043], facts may prove that an absent person's theoretical interest does not, in fact, exist.

A party who is aware of an action and who chooses not to join in it, need not be considered a required party because the absent person's actions show that he, she, or it does not claim an interest in the litigation [see Blumberg v. Gates (CD Cal 2001) 204 FRD 453, 455-456 ; see, e.g., Altmann v. Republic of Austria (CD Cal 2001) 142 F Supp2d 1187, 1211 , aff'd, 317 F3d 954 (9th Cir 2002) , aff'd on other grounds, 541 US 677, 124 S Ct 2240, 159 L Ed2d 1 (2004)].

4.43[2][c] Absent Person's Interest Must Be Legally Protectable, but Need Not Be Property Interest. The rule does not require that the absent person's interest in the subject matter of the action amount to a property right in the due process sense. The rule requires only an "interest" that will be impaired by the litigation "as a practical matter" [see Fed R Civ P 19(a)(1)(B)(i); see American Greyhound Racing, Inc. v. Hull (9th Cir 2002) 305 F3d 1015, 1023-1024 ("[i]t is the party's claim of a protectable interest that makes its presence necessary") (emphasis in original)].

4.43[2][d] Absent Person's Interest May Be Adequately Represented by Existing Party. In determining whether a party's ability to protect its interest will be impaired or impeded, a court may conclude that the interests of the absent parties will be adequately protected or represented by an existing party [see, e.g., Washington v. Daley (9th Cir 1999) 173 F3d 1158, 1167 ; Southwest Ctr. for Biological Diversity v. Babbitt (9th Cir 1998) 150 F3d 1152, 1153-1154].

Courts will consider the following factors [see Shermoen v. United States (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 1312, 1318 , cert. denied, 509 US 903 (1993)]:

- Whether the interests of a present party to the suit are such that it will undoubtedly make all of the absent party's arguments;

- Whether the existing party is capable of and willing to make such arguments; and

- Whether the absent party would offer any necessary element to the proceedings that the existing party would neglect to offer.

4.43[3] Absent Person Who Has Interest in Subject Matter of Action and Might Bring Subsequent Action Resulting in Multiple or Inconsistent Obligations for Existing Party Is Required Party.

4.43[3][a] Absent Person's Interest in Litigation May Threaten Inconsistent Obligations for Existing Party. A person or entity is a required party if he, she, or it claims an interest relating to the subject of the action and is so situated that the disposition of the action in the person's absence may leave any current party subject to a substantial risk of incurring double, multiple, or otherwise inconsistent obligations by reason of the claimed interest [Fed R Civ P 19(a)(1)(B)(ii)].

Example:

The risk that a nonjoined person's absence might create inconsistent obligations for existing parties arises in cases involving the allocation of a limited fund in which absent parties may claim an interest [see, e.g., United States ex rel. Morongo Band of Mission Indians v. Rose (9th Cir 1994) 34 F3d 901, 908 ; Makah Indian Tribe v. Verity (9th Cir 1990) 910 F2d 555, 559].

4.43[3][b] Only Possibility of Inconsistent Obligations, Not Inconsistent Adjudications, Establishes Required Party Status. In this context, "incon-sistent obligations" occur only when a party is unable to comply with one court's order without breaching another court's order concerning the same incident. In contrast, the fact that a party may be subject to "inconsistent adjudications" does not establish that the absent person is a necessary party. A party may be subject to a series of suits arising out the same occurrence or transaction. The fact that the defendant may obtain different results in different cases does not establish that absent persons are required parties. Only a substantial possibility of inconsistent obligations, not inconsistent adjudications, shows that absent persons are required parties [see, e.g., Blumberg v. Gates (CD Cal 2001) 204 FRD 453, 455 ; see also Altmann v. Republic of Austria (CD Cal 2001) 142 F Supp2d 1187, 1212-1213 , aff'd, 317 F3d 954 (9th Cir 2002) , aff'd on other grounds, 541 US 677, 124 S Ct 2240, 159 L Ed2d 1 (2004)].

Example:

An absent tortfeasor who is jointly and severally liable to the plaintiff is not considered required in an action between plaintiff and another tortfeasor [see, e.g., Temple v. Synthes Corp. (1990) 498 US 5, 7, 111 S Ct 315, 112 L Ed2d 263].

4.43[4] Whenever Any of the Three Tests Are Satisfied, Absent Person Is Required Party. As noted above, there are three definitions of a "required party" [Fed R Civ P 19(a)]:

- A person in whose absence complete relief cannot be accorded among those already parties [see 4.43[1]]; or

- A person who claims an interest relating to the subject of the action and is so situated that the disposition of the action in the person's absence may:

  - As a practical matter impair or impede the person's ability to protect that interest [see 4.43[2]]; or

  - Leave any of the persons already parties subject to a substantial risk of incurring double, multiple, or otherwise inconsistent obligations by reason of the claimed interest [see 4.43[3]].

Rule 19 phrases these three definitions of a "required party" in the disjunctive [see Fed R Civ P 19(a)]. Thus an absent person is a required party if he, she, or it meets any one of the three definitions [see, e.g., Yellowstone County v. Pease (9th Cir 1996) 96 F3d 1169, 1172 , cert. denied, 520 US 1209 (1997)].

The inquiry under Rule 19 is "a practical one and fact specific" [Washington v. Daley (9th Cir 1999) 173 F3d 1158, 1165]. Thus, the question of whether an absent person is a required party under Rule 19 must be made in light of the particular circumstances of each case [Northern Alaska Envtl. Ctr. v. Hodel (9th Cir 1986) 803 F2d 466, 468].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderNecessary Parties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.44

4.44 Claimant's Pleading Must Address All Parties Required to Resolve Claim.

Any pleading that asserts a claim for relief must [Fed R Civ P 19(c)]:

- State the names, if known to the pleader, of any persons or entities not joined as parties who meet any one of the definitions of a required party; and

- State the reasons why the plaintiff failed to join each required party who has not been joined.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderNecessary Parties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.45

4.45 Court Will Order Joinder of Any Required Party.

4.45[1] Joinder Required When Feasible. If an absent person or entity meets one of the definitions of a "required party," and if joinder is feasible, Rule 19 requires the court to order the absent person or entity joined as a party [Fed R Civ P 19(a)(2); Sanguinetti v. Viewlogic Sys. (ND Cal 1996) 1996 US Dist LEXIS 1219, at *8]. Joinder is required whenever [Fed R Civ P 19(a)(1)]:

- The absent person is subject to service of process; and
- Joinder of the absent person will not deprive the court of jurisdiction over the subject matter of the action.

4.45[2] Required Party Plaintiff Who Refuses to Join May Be Made Defendant or Involuntary Plaintiff. If the person should join as a plaintiff but refuses to do so, the person may be made a defendant or, in a proper case, an involuntary plaintiff [Fed R Civ P 19(a)(2)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of methods for raising failure to join necessary or indispensable party, see § 4.49.

4.45[3] If Joined Party Properly Objects to Venue, That Party Must Be Dismissed. If the absent person or entity joined as a required party objects to venue, and if joinder of that required party would render the venue of the action improper, the court must then dismiss the otherwise required party [Fed R Civ P 19(a)(3) see Fed R Civ P 12(b)(3) (objecting to venue in responsive pleading or motion)].

Drawback:

If the action proceeds in the absence of the dismissed party, the dismissed party will not be bound by results of the suit [see Martin v. Wilks (1989) 490 US 755, 761-762, 109 S Ct 2180, 104 L Ed2d 835 ; see also 4.45].

Cross Reference:

Objecting to venue, Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see § 2.58.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderNecessary Parties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.46

4.46 Determining Whether Required Party Who Cannot Be Joined Is Indispensable.

4.46[1] If Joinder of Required Party Is Not Feasible, Court Must Determine If Action May Proceed or Must Be Dismissed. Even if an absent person or entity meets one of the definitions of a required party, it may not be feasible to join that absent person or entity as a party. Rule 19(a) lists three reasons why joinder may not be feasible [see Fed R Civ P 19(a)]:

- Because the absent person or entity is beyond the range of process, so that the he, she, or it may not be served with service of process;

- Because the court's subject matter jurisdiction is founded on diversity of citizenship, and the absent person or entity is a citizen of the same state as an opposing party, so that joinder would destroy complete diversity of citizenship between all plaintiffs and all defendants;

- Because the absent person or entity has a legitimate objection to venue so that the court would, under the terms of Rule 19(a), be required to dismiss the required party.

Other reasons may preclude joinder of a required party [see, e.g., Republic of the Philippines v. Pimentel (2008) 553 US 851, 128 S Ct 2180, 171 L Ed2d 131, 144-145 (foreign sovereign entities were entitled to immunity); Wilbur v. Locke (9th Cir 2005) 423 F3d 1101, 1114 (Indian tribe that was party to contract had sovereign immunity)].

Example:

When sovereign immunity is asserted, and the claims of the sovereign are not frivolous, the court must order dismissal of the action when there is a potential for injury to the interests of the absent sovereign. In a case in which a person asserts frivolous claims, a court may have leeway under both Fed R Civ P 19(a)(1), defining required parties, and Fed R Civ P 19(b), addressing when a suit may go forward nonetheless, to disregard the frivolous claim [Republic of the Philippines v. Pimentel (2008) 553 US 851, 128 S Ct 2180, 171 L Ed2d 131, 144-146 (action should have been dismissed)].

Whenever it is not feasible to join an absent person or entity that would otherwise be considered a required party, the court must determine whether, "in equity and good conscience," the action should proceed among the parties before it, or whether it should be dismissed, the absent person being thus regarded as indispensable [Fed R Civ P 19(b); see Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc. v. ENC Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 464 F3d 885, 890-891].

4.46[2] Court Considers Several Factors in Determining Whether Action May Proceed in Absence of Required Party.

4.46[2][a] Determination Is Fact Sensitive. The determination as to whether the action must proceed or must be dismissed because the absentee is "indispensable" is fact-sensitive [see Republic of the Philippines v. Pimentel (2008) 553 US 851, 128 S Ct 2180, 171 L Ed2d 131, 149-150 ; Kescoli v. Babbitt (9th Cir 1996) 101 F3d 1304, 1309 ; Makah Indian Tribe v. Verity (9th Cir 1990) 910 F2d 555, 558].

The four factors discussed below [see 4.46[2][b] -[e]] are the factors specifically enumerated in Rule 19(b) [see Fed R Civ P 19(b)]. These factors are not exclusive. Courts may consider all the circumstances surrounding the litigation [Fed R Civ P 19, Committee Note of 1966; see Virginia Surety Co. v. Northrop Grumman Corp. (9th Cir 1998) 144 F3d 1243, 1247].

4.46[2][b] Extent of Prejudice Is a Factor. The first factor that the court will consider is the extent to which any judgment rendered in the person's absence might be prejudicial to the absent person or to those already parties [Fed R Civ P 19(b)(1)]. The prejudice that the court considers must be tangible. A mere theoretical possibility of prejudice will not result in a conclusion that the absent person is so "indispensable" that the action must be dismissed [see Provident Tradesmens Bank & Trust Co. v. Patterson (1968) 390 US 102, 124-125, 88 S Ct 733, 19 L Ed2d 936]. The prejudice factor largely duplicates the considerations that made the absent person a necessary party (i.e., a protectable interest in the subject matter of the action that will be impaired or impeded by the party's absence or that may subject existing party to inconsistent obligations) [see American Greyhound Racing, Inc. v. Hull (9th Cir 2002) 305 F3d 1015, 1024-1025].

4.46[2][c] Protective Provisions in Judgment Are a Factor. The second factor that the court will consider is the extent to which the court might avoid prejudice to the absentee or the existing parties by protective provisions in the judgment, by the shaping of relief, or other measures [Fed R Civ P 19(b)(2); see, e.g., Northrop Corp. v. McDonnell Douglas Corp. (9th Cir 1983) 705 F2d 1030, 1046].

Example--Limiting Relief to Money Damages:

Rather than rescind a contract in which an absentee may have an interest, the court may limit the relief in the case to monetary damages [see, e.g., Campbell v. Triangle Corp. (ED Pa 1972) 56 FRD 480, 482].

Example--Requiring Posting of Security:

If a fund is in dispute, the court may order the parties to retain or post security in an amount sufficient to cover the claim of the absentee [see Provident Tradesmens Bank & Trust Co. v. Patterson (1968) 390 US 102, 115 , 88 S Ct 733, 19 L Ed2d 936].

4.46[2][d] Ability to Provide Adequate and Meaningful Relief Is a Factor. The third factor that the court will consider is whether a judgment rendered in the person's absence will be adequate [Fed R Civ P 19(b)(3)]. This factor also overlaps with the factors considered in determining whether the absentee is a required party. The inability of the court to provide complete relief among current parties is one of the defining characteristics of a required party [Fed R Civ P 19(a)].

This factor is also, in effect, the other side of the coin of the second factor [see 4.46[2][c]]. If, in order to avoid prejudice, the court must so shape and limit its judgment it may not provide the existing parties any meaningful relief, and the judgment may not resolve any significant aspects of the controversy. Thus, this factor addresses the public stake in settling disputes as a whole, rather than piecemeal, whenever possible [see Republic of the Philippines v. Pimentel

(2008) 553 US 851, 128 S Ct 2180, 171 L Ed2d 131, 148-149 ; Provident Tradesmens Bank & Trust Co. v. Patterson (1968) 390 US 102, 111, 88 S Ct 733, 19 L Ed2d 936].

4.46[2][e] Consequence to Plaintiff of Dismissal Is a Factor. The fourth factor that the court must consider is whether the plaintiff will have an adequate remedy if the action is dismissed for nonjoinder [Fed R Civ P 19(b)(4)].

Example:

If a state court can join all of the required parties, there is no reason to try to shape or limit relief in a federal court proceeding. The federal court action should be dismissed in favor of an action in a more suitable forum [see, e.g., Aguilar v. Los Angeles County (9th Cir 1985) 751 F2d 1089, 1094 , cert. denied, 471 US 1125 (1985)].

An alternative forum may not exist if the plaintiff's refiling in the other forum will be fruitless because the action will be barred by the statute of limitations. In this respect, state law may provide a savings or tolling clause that recognizes the prior federal court filing, and thus preserves the action from dismissal on limitations grounds [see Jenkins v. Reneau (6th Cir 1983) 697 F2d 160, 163]. In most cases, if there is no alternative forum for the plaintiff, this will weigh heavily against dismissal. However, no single factor is dispositive. An action may be dismissed for failure to join an indispensable party even if the plaintiff lacks any other forum in which to bring the action [see, e.g., Presidential Comm'n on Good Gov't v. United States Dist. Court (9th Cir 2002) 309 F3d 1143, 1152-1153].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable PartiesCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderNecessary Parties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.47

4.47 Application of Compulsory Joinder Rules to Indian Tribes.

4.47[1] Indian Tribes' Sovereign Immunity Prevents Joinder. As a general rule, Indian tribes enjoy sovereign immunity from private lawsuits [see Santa Clara Pueblo v. Martinez (1978) 436 US 49, 58, 98 S Ct 1670, 56 L Ed2d 106 ; EEOC v. Karuk Tribe Hous. Auth. (9th Cir 2001) 260 F3d 1071, 1075]. Thus, even when Indian tribes are required parties, it is not feasible to join them unless they waive their immunity. Any waiver of sovereign immunity must be unequivocal, and may not be implied [Kescoli v. Babbitt (9th Cir 1996) 101 F3d 1304, 1310 (tribe's participation in administrative proceeding does not waive tribal immunity in action filed by another party seeking review of agency's decision)].

4.47[2] In Ninth Circuit, Tribes' Sovereign Immunity Does Not Extend to Suits by United States. In the Ninth Circuit, a tribe's sovereign immunity does not extend to suits brought by the federal government [EEOC v. Peabody W. Coal Co. (9th Cir 2005) 400 F3d 774, 781 ; Dawavendewa v. Salt River Project Agric. Improvement & Power Dist. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1150, 1162-1163 , cert. denied, 537 US 820 (2002)]. Therefore, in a suit brought by the United States, if an Indian tribe is an required party, the court must order joinder as it would for any other required party whose joinder is feasible [see Fed R Civ P 19(a)].

4.47[3] When Indian Tribe Is Required Party, Dismissal Does Not Automatically Result From Inability to Join Tribe As Party. At least in the Ninth Circuit, when an Indian tribe is a required party, the tribe's sovereign immunity may foreclose the possibility of joinder, but not any possibility that an action could proceed in the absence of the tribe. In the Ninth Circuit, the court must engage in the balancing test, weighing the same sorts of factors as it would for any other required party in determining whether to proceed with the action with the current parties or to dismiss for lack of an indispensable party [see, e.g., American Greyhound Racing, Inc. v. Hull (9th Cir 2002) 305 F3d 1015, 1025 ; Stock West Corp. v. Lujan (9th Cir 1993) 982 F2d 1389, 1398 ; Taylor v. BIA (SD Cal 2004) 325 F Supp2d 1117, 1121].

With regard to the fourth factor (whether the plaintiff will have an adequate remedy if the action is dismissed for nonjoinder) [see 4.46[2][e]], however, the Ninth Circuit has regularly held that the tribal interest in immunity outweighs the lack of an alternative remedy or forum for the plaintiffs [see Wilbur v. Locke (9th Cir 2005) 423 F3d 1101, 1115 ; Dawavendewa v. Salt River Project Agric. Improvement & Power Dist. (9th Cir 2002) 276 F3d 1150, 1162 , cert. denied, 537 US 820 (2002) ; Taylor v. BIA (SD Cal 2004) 325 F Supp2d 1117, 1122].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Administrative LawSovereign ImmunityCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderNecessary Parties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.48

4.48 Exceptions to and Limits on Compulsory Joinder Rule.

4.48[1] Exception for Actions Enforcing Public Rights.

4.48[1][a] Little Need for Compulsory Joinder Rules in Public Rights Cases. The need to join a required party or face possible dismissal if joinder is not possible is limited in actions seeking to protect or enforce "public rights" [see American Greyhound Racing, Inc. v. Hull (9th Cir 2002) 305 F3d 1015, 1025]. In cases in which private citizens challenge governmental conduct in order to protect or enforce public rights, the representative status of the parties means that there is little scope or need for the traditional rules governing the compulsory joinder of parties [see, e.g., National Licorice Co. v. NLRB (1940) 309 US 350, 363, 60 S Ct 569, 84 L Ed 799 ; Kettle Range Conservation Group v. United States (9th Cir 1998) 150 F3d 1083, 1087].

4.48[1][b] Exception Limited to Cases That Transcend Private Interests of Litigants. To qualify for the "public rights" exception, the litigation must transcend the private interests of the litigants and seek to vindicate a public right [Kescoli v. Babbitt (9th Cir 1996) 101 F3d 1304, 1311 ; American Greyhound Racing, Inc. v. Hull (9th Cir 2002) 305 F3d 1015, 1026 (public-rights exception did not apply when litigation by racetrack owners was aimed directly at Indian tribes and their gaming, rather than affecting them incidentally)].

4.48[1][c] Exception Limited to Cases Where Absent Third Parties Are Left Free to Assert Legal Rights. The exception may apply only when absent third parties are left free to assert whatever legal rights they might have acquired [National Licorice Co. v. NLRB (1940) 309 US 350, 366, 60 S Ct 569, 84 L Ed 799 ; Kettle Range Conservation Group v. United States (9th Cir 1998) 150 F3d 1083, 1087].

Example:

The public-rights exception will apply when the litigation seeks only control of governmental conduct, and does not interfere with contractual or other legal rights that absent third parties may have obtained from the government [see, e.g., Conner v. Burford (9th Cir 1988) 848 F2d 1441, 1460 ; accord Makah Indian Tribe v. Verity (9th Cir 1990) 910 F2d 555, 559, n6].

The public-rights exception will never apply in a case in which a court's ruling might destroy an absentee's legal entitlement [see, e.g., Shermoen v. United States (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 1312, 1319].

4.48[2] Compulsory Joinder Is Subject to Class Actions Rule. Rule 19, which requires joinder of all required parties, and dismissal of actions when unjoinable required parties are indispensable, is not designed for actions that are representative in nature. The point of a class action is that certain present, joined parties will represent all the members of a class of person who are similarly situated. Proceeding in the absence of joining each class member is permitted because class actions are permitted only when class membership is so numerous that individual joinder is impracticable [see Fed R Civ P 23(a), (b)]. Because compulsory joinder would be meaningless in class actions in which only a few parties represent the interest of an entire class, Rule 19 explicitly states that its requirements are "subject to" the provisions of the class actions rule, Rule 23 [Fed R Civ P 19(d)]. Thus, in a class action, a court may order compulsory joinder of parties under Rule 19 only to the extent that it does not conflict with the class action provisions [see, e.g., Shimkus v. Gersten Cos. (9th Cir 1987) 816 F2d 1318, 1321].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of class actions, see Ch. 20, Class Actions.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderNecessary PartiesCivil ProcedureClass ActionsVoluntary Dismissals

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.49

4.49 Raising Failure to Join Required or Indispensable Party.

4.49[1] Absence of Required Party Should Be Pleaded As Defense. Failure to join a required party should usually be raised by motion [see § 4.49[2]]. However, in the absence of a motion, or in addition to a motion, a party also should plead an opponent's failure to join a required party in order to preserve that "defense" from a possible claim of waiver. It is not clear whether an opponent's failure to join a "required" party whose joinder is feasible [see Fed R Civ P 19(a)] constitutes a matter of "avoidance or affirmative defense" within the meaning of Rule 8(c) [see Fed R Civ P 8(c)]. However, Rule 12(h)(2) strongly implies that an opponent's failure to join an indispensable party [see Fed R Civ P 19(b)] is a "defense" that normally should be pleaded. Rule 12(h)(1) sets out the normal rule that defenses that may be made the subject of a Rule 12(b) motion are waived unless raised by motion or included in a responsive pleading [see Fed R Civ P 12(h)(1)]. Rule 12(h)(2) creates an exception to the normal waiver rule of Rule 12(h)(1), providing that a plaintiff's failure to join a required party is not waived by the defendant's failure to make a Rule 12(b) motion or plead it [see Fed R Civ P 12(h)(2)]. Therefore, this implies that the cautious practitioner should treat the absence of required or indispensable parties as a "defense," and plead it whenever it is not raised by motion, or even in addition to raising it by motion.

4.49[2] Defendant May Bring Motion to Dismiss If Indispensable Party Is Not Joined. A defendant may move to dismiss an action on the ground that the plaintiff has failed to join a party required to be joined under Rule 19 [Fed R Civ P 12(b)(7)].

Distinguish--Dismissal Available When "Indispensable," As Opposed to "Required," Parties Not Joined.
Rule 19 requires the joinder of "required" parties [see Fed R Civ P 19(a)], but dismissal is not the proper or usual remedy for the mere failure to join a required party [see Fed R Civ P 21]. If it is feasible to join an absent required party, the court may simply order the joinder [see Fed R Civ P 19(a), 21]. However, when an absent required party is considered indispensable (i.e., when it would not be equitable to proceed in his, her, or its absence) [see Fed R Civ P 19(b)], the nonjoinder will justify dismissal [see Shermoen v. United States (9th Cir 1992) 982 F2d 1312, 1317-1318 ; Sanguinetti v. Viewlogic Sys. (ND Cal 1996) 1996 US Dist LEXIS 1219, at *6].

Timing:

The district court has discretion to consider the timeliness of a dismissal if it appears that the defendant is interposing its dismissal request for its own defensive purposes, rather than to protect the absent party's interests [Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. v. National Bank of Coops. (9th Cir 1996) 103 F3d 888, 896 ; Fed R Civ P 19, Committee Note of 1966 ("when the moving party is seeking dismissal in order to protect himself against a later suit by the absent person and is not seeking vicariously to protect the absent person against a prejudicial judgment ..., his undue delay in making the motion can properly be counted against him as a reason for denying the motion"); see also Provident Tradesmens Bank & Trust Co. v. Patterson (1968) 390 US 102, 116, 88 S Ct 733, 19 L Ed2d 936 (appellate court should not "throw away a valid judgment just because it did not theoretically settle the whole controversy")].

4.49[3] Party May Bring Motion to Compel Joinder. A party may raise an opposing party's failure to join a required party in a motion for an order to compel joinder [Fed R Civ P 19(a) (if person who is "required" party has not been joined, "the court must order that the person be made a party")].

When joinder of the absentee is feasible, a motion to dismiss for failure to join a party may be treated like an implied motion to compel joinder [see Sanguinetti v. Viewlogic Sys. (ND Cal 1996) 1996 US Dist LEXIS 1219, at *7].

4.49[4] Party May Bring Motion to Add Parties. Although this procedure is used infrequently, any party may move to add parties, including required and indispensable parties [Fed R Civ P 21 "On motion or on its own, the court may at any time, on just terms, add or drop a party")].

Cross Reference:

Adding parties, see Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, see §§ 10.04 -10.09.

4.49[5] Failure to Assert Absence of Indispensable Party by Way of Motion or in Pleadings Does Not Waive Objection. If an unjoinable required party may be considered indispensable, that is a defense to the claim. However, unlike ordinary defenses, a party does not waive this defense by the failure to plead it or assert it in a motion. The failure to join an indispensable party may be raised at any time, including at trial on the merits [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(2)]. The absence of an indispensable party is sufficiently important that it may be raised at any stage of the proceed-ings, even sua sponte or on appeal [see Provident Tradesmens Bank & Trust Co. v. Patterson (1968) 390 US 102, 111, 88 S Ct 733, 19 L Ed2d 936 ; McCowen v. Jamieson (9th Cir 1984) 724 F2d 1421, 1424].

Strategic Point:

Although the absence of an indispensable party may be raised at any time, it is preferable to raise it in a timely fashion, preferably in a pre-answer motion under Rule 12(b) [see § 4.49[2]].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeDefenses, Demurrers & ObjectionsAffirmative DefensesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable PartiesCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderNecessary Parties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.50

4.50 Curing Absence of Required Party.

4.50[1] If Joinder Is Feasible, Joinder Cures Party Defect. A failure to join a required party whose joinder is feasible is not grounds for dismissal. Parties will be given an opportunity to join a required absentee [see Fed R Civ P 21]. The court may cure the failure to join a required party by ordering the joinder of a required party either on motion or sua sponte [see Fed R Civ P 19(a), 21].

4.50[2] Absentee May Be Joined by Devices Other Than Motion for Joinder.

4.50[2][a] Absentee May Join Voluntarily Through Intervention. The absentee who has an interest in the subject matter of the action that may be prejudiced by a judgment in the action is not at the mercy of the existing parties to the action. A party with an interest in the litigation may intervene of right if that interest may be impaired and will not be adequately protected by the existing parties [see Fed R Civ P 24(a)].

Cross Reference:

Intervention by required party, see Ch. 14, Intervention. Party as not compelled to intervene, see § 14.02[2][a]. Intervention of right, see § 14.07.

4.50[2][b] Existing Claimants May Amend Pleadings. Rather than move to join the absentee, the party asserting the claim to which the absentee is a required party may move to amend a pleading to add the party. Motions to amend are highly favored and will be granted unless the amendment is futile or causes prejudice to an opposing party [see Fed R Civ P 15(a)(2) ("The court should freely give leave when justice so requires")].

Cross Reference:

Amending pleadings to join required party, see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings, see §§ 9.05, 9.14[3], 9.21[1].

4.50[2][c] Parties Defending Claim May Bring in Required Party Through Impleader. Parties defending a claim to which the absentee is a required party may be able to prevent prejudice to their interests by joining the absentee through impleader. A defendant may bring in an absentee who is or may be liable to the defendant for all or part of the defendant's liability on the plaintiff's claim [see Fed R Civ P 14(a)]. A plaintiff facing a counterclaim may implead an absentee on similar grounds [see Fed R Civ P 14(b)].

Cross Reference:

Impleading an absent party, see Ch. 12, Third-Party Actions, see §§ 12.02 -12.10.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable PartiesCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderNecessary Parties

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
V. APPLYING COMPULSORY JOINDER RULE

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.51

4.51 Absentees Not Bound by Judgment.

If the action proceeds in the absence of a required party, the absentee is not bound by the results of the suit. They do not suffer claim preclusion (res judicata) or issue preclusion (collateral estoppel), even if they knew of the suit and could have intervened [see Martin v. Wilks (1989) 490 US 755, 761-762, 109 S Ct 2180, 104 L Ed2d 835 ; Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Smith, Inc. v. ENC Corp. (9th Cir 2006) 464 F3d 885, 893-894].

Cross Reference:

Claim preclusion as binding only parties in prior action and those in privity with them, see 18 Moore's Federal Practice, § 131.40 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesJoinderGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderCompulsory JoinderCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderIndispensable PartiesCivil ProcedurePartiesJoinderNecessary PartiesCivil ProcedureJudgmentsPreclusion & Effect of JudgmentsRes Judicata

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
VI. USING INTERPLEADER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTING CLAIMS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.52

4.52 CHECKLIST: Interpleading Conflicting Claims.

☐ Determine whether interpleader would be useful, considering:

○ Whether potential plaintiff (or defendant facing counterclaim or crossclaim) holds money or property; and

○ Whether more than one person or entity is asserting conflicting claims to money or property held by the potential plaintiff.

Authority:
28 USC § 1335; Fed R Civ P 22

Discussion:
See § 4.53

☐ Assess the value of money or property held by the potential plaintiff (or defendant facing counterclaim or crossclaim).

☐ Confirm that claims or potential claims against money or property held by potential plaintiff are:

○ Truly adverse to property or rights held by potential plaintiff; and ○ Truly adverse to each other.

Authority:
28 USC § 1335(b); Fed R Civ P 22

Discussion:
See § 4.54

☐ Analyze whether interpleader of claimants or potential claimants should proceed under interpleader statutes or Rule 22, noting that:

○ Statutory interpleader has a minimal amount-in-controversy requirement, while rule interpleader requires traditional jurisdictional basis such as federal question or complete diversity of citizenship and a $75,001 minimum amount in controversy.

Authority:
28 USC § 1335(a); Fed R Civ P 22

Discussion:
See §§ 4.55, 4.56

○ Statutory interpleader requires diversity of citizenship between any two conflicting claimants, while rule interpleader requires either federal question or complete diversity of citizenship between all plaintiffs and all defendants.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1331, 1332, 1335(a)(1); Fed R Civ P 22

Discussion:
See §§ 4.55, 4.56

○ Statutory interpleader permits nationwide service of process, while rule interpleader requires service of process under Rule 4, which is usually subject to narrow territorial limits.

Authority:
28 USC § 2361; Fed R Civ P 4, 22

Discussion:
See §§ 4.55, 4.57

○ Statutory interpleader has special venue rule permitting action where any claimant resides, while venue in rule interpleader is governed by normal venue rules for all civil actions.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1391, 1397; Fed R Civ P 22

Discussion:
See §§ 4.55, 4.58

☐ Draft interpleader complaint and serve process on all potential claimants.

Standard Procedure Checklist:
Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, see § 6.03

Form:
See § 4.61

☐ Consider deposit of money or property in dispute with court, noting that:

- ○ Deposit with court is mandatory in statutory interpleader cases.
- ○ Deposit with court is voluntary or subject to court order in rule interpleader cases.

Authority:
28 USC § 1335(a)(2); Fed R Civ P 22

Discussion:
See § 4.59[1]

☐ Preclude independent actions undertaken or threatened by interpleader claimants by pursuing:

- ○ TRO and preliminary injunctions prior to judgment in interpleader case.
- ○ Permanent injunction as part of relief in interpleader action.

Authority:
28 USC § 2361

Discussion:
See § 4.59[2]

☐ If entire "stake" is deposited with court and liability for entire stake is conceded, consider moving for discharge, leaving adverse claimants to litigate among themselves.

Discussion:
See § 4.59[3]

☐ If stakeholder has deposited entire "stake," makes no claim to any part of "stake," and seeks discharge, consider seeking discretionary award of attorney's fees as well, noting:

- ○ Award is purely discretionary.
- ○ Award is appropriate only for plaintiff who is innocent stakeholder who played no part in creating dispute.
- ○ Award is appropriate only for stakeholder who assisted parties by interpleading disputed money or property promptly.

○ Award is limited strictly to reasonable amount needed to put property and disputing claimants properly before court.

Authority:
28 USC § 1335; Fed R Civ P 22

Discussion:
See §§ 4.59[3], [4]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRequirementsCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRule InterpleadersCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersStatutory Interpleaders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
VI. USING INTERPLEADER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTING CLAIMS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.53

4.53 Options and Strategies for Interpleading Conflicting Claims.

4.53[1] Purpose of Interpleader Is to Settle Conflicting Claims to Stake. Interpleader is a procedural device used by parties who are stakeholders. Parties in possession of money or property need not litigate competing claims to the money or property piecemeal. This may subject the stakeholder to conflicting or multiple liabilities. Instead, interpleader allows the party in possession of the disputed money or property to join, or interplead, all competing claimants in a single action, forcing them to determine who and to what extent each claimant has a valid claim to the money or property [see 28 USC § 1335; Fed R Civ P 22; see also State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Tashire (1967) 386 US 523, 534-535, 87 S Ct 1199, 18 L Ed2d 270 ; Minnesota Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Ensley (9th Cir 1999) 174 F3d 977, 980 ; Bianchi v. Walker (9th Cir 1998) 163 F3d 564, 569 , cert. denied, 528 US 814 (1999)].

4.53[2] "Stakeholder" Plaintiff May Sue All Who Claim Interest in Stake. A stakeholder forces all competing claimants to resolve their claims is by suing all claimants [see, e.g., Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of N. Am. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 1261, 1263 (multiple claimants to insurance benefits)]. This suit may take several forms [see Texas v. Florida (1939) 306 US 398, 406-407, 59 S Ct 563, 83 L Ed 817]:

- "True" or "strict" interpleader. In "true" or "strict" interpleader, the "stakeholder" is purely that. The stakeholder makes no claim against any part of the money or property in dispute. The stakeholder brings the competing claimants into court by initiating the suit, deposits the disputed money or property with the court, gets discharged of any further liability to the claimants, and lets the claimants litigate among themselves.

- Proceedings "in the nature of interpleader." Under modern practice, interpleader is not limited to "true" or "strict" interpleader. In proceedings "in the nature of" interpleader, the stakeholder may be one of the competing claimants. Nonetheless, the stakeholder may initiate an interpleader suit against all competing claimants and force the claims to be resolved in a single action. In actions other than "strict" or "true" interpleader, the extent to which the stakeholder may be compelled to deposit the disputed money or property with the court (or post a bond in lieu of a deposit) depends, to some extent, on whether the stakeholder initiates "statutory" or "rule" interpleader [compare 28 USC § 1335 with Fed R Civ P 22].

Cross References:

Distinctions between "statutory" and "rule" interpleader, see §§ 4.55 -4.58. Form of complaint in interpleader, see § 4.61. Preparing a complaint, see Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint.

4.53[3] Defendant Faced With Multiple Liability May Also Assert Interpleader. Usually, a person faced with conflicting claims to a stake initiates interpleader as a plaintiff. However, a defendant exposed to similar liability may obtain interpleader by way of crossclaim or counterclaim [Fed R Civ P 22(a)(2) see, e.g., Bianchi v. Walker (9th Cir 1998) 163 F3d 564, 569].

Cross Reference:

Answer to complaint for money with counterclaim for interpleader, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 22:20 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRequirementsCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRule InterpleadersCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersStatutory Interpleaders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
VI. USING INTERPLEADER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTING CLAIMS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.54

4.54 Interpleader Requires Conflicting Claims to Specific Fund or Property.

4.54[1] Claims Must Be Against Specific Fund or Property. Interpleader lies only when there is some specific "stake." Interpleader is not, for example, a substitute for bankruptcy proceedings. A tortfeasor may not claim that it has only a fixed amount of money, deposit that amount of money with the court, and force all persons with tort claims to litigate in a single action [see Farmers Irrigating Ditch & Reservoir Co. v. Kane (10th Cir 1988) 845 F2d 229, 232]. Claims against the general assets of a party, rather than specific, identifiable property, are not properly resolved by means of interpleader [Murphy v. Travelers Ins. Co. (5th Cir 1976) 534 F2d 1155, 1159].

4.54[2] Claims Must Be Adverse to Each Other. Interpleader lies only to resolve competing claims against a specific fund or property, claims that may result in conflicting liabilities [see 28 USC § 1335(a)(1) ("adverse claimants ... may claim entitlement to money or property); Fed R Civ P 22(a)(1) ("claims that may expose a plaintiff to double or multiple liability" for same money or property)]. Interpleader's protection against double or multiple liability is protection only against double or multiple liability that is unjustifiable because the plaintiff has but a single obligation. If the plaintiff could legally and properly be found liable to all of the defendants, there is no basis for interpleader [Bradley v. Kochenash (2d Cir 1995) 44 F3d 166, 168].

Cross Reference:

Requirement that claims be adverse to stake and to each other, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 22.03[1][d] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4.54[3] So Long As Claims Are Adverse, They Need Not Arise From Common Origin or Title. A defendant in an interpleader action may not object to interpleader on the ground that the claims of the several claimants or the titles on which their claims depend do not have a common origin or are not identical but are adverse to and independent of one another [28 USC § 1335(b); Fed R Civ P 22(a)(1)(A)]. Nor may a defendant in an interpleader action deny that the claims in dispute are not adverse merely because the plaintiff denies liability in whole or in part to any or all of the claimants [Fed R Civ P 22(a)(1)(B)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRequirementsCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRule InterpleadersCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersStatutory Interpleaders

56 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
VI. USING INTERPLEADER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTING CLAIMS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.55

4.55 Stakeholder May Initiate "Statutory" or "Rule" Interpleader Proceedings.

4.55[1] Distinction Between "Statutory" and "Rule" Interpleader. A stakeholder may seek interpleader under two distinct authorizations [see, e.g., Texas v. Florida (1939) 306 US 398, 406-407, 59 S Ct 563, 83 L Ed 817]:

- "Statutory" interpleader [see 28 USC §§ 1335, 1397, 2361].
- "Rule" interpleader [see Fed R Civ P 22].

4.55[2] Two Types of Interpleader Supplement Rather Than Displace Each Other. Both statutory and rule interpleader exist simultaneously. Neither supersedes or displaces the other. Rule 22 explicitly states that it does not limit permissive joinder under Rule 20 and that it does not supersede or limit the remedy provided by the interpleader statutes [Fed R Civ P 22(b); see 28 USC §§ 1335, 1397, 2361 (interpleader statutes)]. Rule 22 has, in fact, been interpreted to incorporate the remedies provided under the federal interpleader statutes and other statutes [see Nevada Eighty-Eight, Inc. v. Title Ins. Co. of Minn. (D Nev 1990) 753 F Supp 1516, 1528].

4.55[3] Party Must Establish Right to Interpleader Under One Authorization or the Other. A party must establish the right to interpleader proceedings under either statutory or rule interpleader. Although the purpose and outcome of the two procedures is identical, there are, as explained below, significant differences in the requirements for establishing subject matter jurisdiction, service of process, and venue under each authorization for interpleader proceedings [see, e.g., Commercial Union Ins. Co. v. United States (DC Cir 1993) 999 F2d 581, 584]. Therefore, a party must establish subject matter jurisdiction, select venue, and serve process consistently under one authorization or the other.

However, a party's pleadings do not constitute an irrevocable and binding choice as to whether the action will proceed under statutory or rule interpleader. Even if the complaint asserts the wrong basis for jurisdiction, the court will retain jurisdiction of the action if the complaint can be construed to confer jurisdiction under either statutory or rule interpleader [see Truck-a-Tune v. Re (D Conn 1993) 856 F Supp 77, 80 , aff'd on other grounds, 23 F3d 60 (2d Cir 1994)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRequirementsCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRule InterpleadersCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersStatutory Interpleaders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
VI. USING INTERPLEADER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTING CLAIMS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.56

4.56 Subject Matter Jurisdiction Requirements for Interpleader.

4.56[1] Statutory Interpleader Actions.

4.56[1][a] Special Jurisdiction Standards Apply in Statutory Interpleader Actions. Subject matter jurisdiction for statutory interpleader has several unique features. The court has subject matter jurisdiction in a statutory interpleader action under criteria of minimal amount of controversy [see 4.56[1][b]] and minimal diversity among claimants [see 4.56[1][c]].

4.56[1][b] Minimal Amount in Controversy. For subject matter jurisdiction in a statutory interpleader action, the stakeholder must have custody or possession of money or property valued at $500 or more, or must have issued a note, bond, certificate, policy of insurance, or other instrument valued at $500 or more, or must have provided for the delivery or payment or the loan of money or property valued at $500 or more, or have given a written or unwritten obligation in the amount of $500 [28 USC § 1335(a)].

4.56[1][c] Minimal Diversity Among Claimants. For subject matter jurisdiction in a statutory interpleader action there must be diversity of citizenship. However, unlike in other civil cases founded on diversity of citizenship, complete diversity of citizenship between all plaintiffs and defendants is not required [cf. 28 USC § 1332]. Instead, in a statutory interpleader action, there is diversity of citizenship if there are two or more adverse claimants to the money or property in dispute that are citizens of different states [28 USC § 1335(a)(1); see Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of N. Am. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 1261, 1265]. The citizenship of other claimants may be disregarded if any two claimants are diverse [Mt. Hawley Ins. Co. v. FSLIC (CD Cal 1987) 695 F Supp 469, 472 , citing State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Tashire (1967) 386 US 523, 530, 87 S Ct 1199, 18 L Ed2d 270].

There is authority suggesting that diversity could be established absent diversity among defendants, if an interested stakeholder and one or more of the defendant/claimants were diverse [see Mt. Hawley Ins. Co. v. FSLIC (CD Cal 1987) 695 F Supp 469, 473 , citing Treinies v. Sunshine Mining Co. (1939) 308 US 66, 70-72, 60 S Ct 44, 84 L Ed 85 (court should examine citizenship of parties between whom there was a real controversy regarding entitlement to stake)].

The adverse claimants may be those with potential, as well as actual, claims [see Minnesota Mut. Life Ins. Co. v. Ensley (9th Cir 1999) 174 F3d 977, 980]. However, only defendants who have been served may be counted for jurisdictional purposes. A party cannot create diversity by naming as a defendant a party who is not in fact brought into the lawsuit by service of process [see Cripps v. Life Ins. Co. of N. Am. (9th Cir 1992) 980 F2d 1261, 1266].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of jurisdiction for statutory interpleader, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 22.04[2][b] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4.56[2] Rule Interpleader Actions.

4.56[2][a] Normal Jurisdiction Standards Apply in Rule Interpleader Actions. Rule 22 does not independently confer subject matter jurisdic-tion [see Fed R Civ P 82 (federal rules do not extend or limit jurisdiction of district courts)]. Therefore, for a district court to have subject matter jurisdiction of a Rule 22 interpleader action, the plaintiff must establish one of the traditional, statutory bases for jurisdiction [see, e.g., Gelfgren v. Republic Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1982) 680 F2d 79, 81 ; Stockton Christian Life Ctr. v. United States (ED Cal 2001) 172 F Supp2d 1292, 1294]. These may include federal question jurisdiction [see 4.56[2][b]], diversity of citizenship [see 4.56[2][c]] or a special statutory grant of jurisdiction [see 4.56[2][d]].

4.56[2][b] Federal Question Jurisdiction. The district courts have jurisdiction over actions over civil actions arising under the laws or Constitution of the United States [28 USC § 1331]. In most civil actions, the federal question must be apparent from the face of the complaint, and may not depend on a defense that might be asserted by a defendant [see Rivet v. Regions Bank (1998) 522 US 470, 475, 118 S Ct 921, 139 L Ed2d 912].

In an rule interpleader action, the principal dispute is between defendants. Therefore, district courts do have jurisdiction over rule interpleader actions that do not state a federal question on the face of a well pleaded complaint, provided that the stakeholder's right to relief necessarily depends on the resolution of a substantial question of federal law [see Commercial Nat'l Bank v. Demos (7th Cir 1994) 18 F3d 485, 488 , citing Morongo Band of Mission Indians v. California State Bd. of Equalization (9th Cir 1988) 858 F2d 1376 ; see also Chilkat Indian Village v. Johnson (9th Cir 1989) 870 F2d 1469, 1474].

Cross References:

Jurisdiction based on federal question jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.03 -2.09.

4.56[2][c] Diversity of Citizenship. District courts have jurisdiction over actions in which there is complete diversity of citizenship between all plaintiffs on the one hand and all defendants on the other, and the amount in controversy exceeds the sum of $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs [28 USC § 1332(a)].

When the nominal "plaintiff," the stakeholder, has no interest in the proceedings and is discharged after depositing the disputed money or property with the court, the citizenship of this nominal "plaintiff" controls. Diversity jurisdiction is not lost even when the plaintiff stakeholder is discharged from the litigation [see, e.g., Leimbach v. Allen (4th Cir 1992) 976 F2d 912, 917 , cert. denied, 507 US 935 (1993)].

Cross References:

Jurisdiction based on diversity of citizenship, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.10 -2.25.

Discussion of jurisdiction for rule interpleader, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 22.04[2][a] (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

4.56[2][d] Special Statutory Grant of Jurisdiction. Numerous federal statutes grant district courts exclusive or concurrent subject matter jurisdiction in particular types of cases. Interpleader jurisdiction may be established through application of these jurisdictional statutes. For example, district courts have jurisdiction of actions under ERISA and interpleader is a cognizable action under ERISA [see Aetna Life Ins. Co. v. Bayona (9th Cir 2000) 223 F3d 1030, 1034].

Cross References:

Jurisdiction based on federal statutory grant, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 104.40 -104.56 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureJurisdictionSubject Matter JurisdictionGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRequirementsCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRule InterpleadersCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersStatutory Interpleaders

58 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
VI. USING INTERPLEADER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTING CLAIMS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.57

4.57 Service of Process in Interpleader Actions.

4.57[1] Special Nationwide Service of Process Authorization for Statutory Interpleader Actions. In statutory interpleader actions, a district court may issue its process for service on all claimants anywhere in the United States [28 USC § 2361]. This is considered a substantial advantage for statutory interpleader actions [see, e.g., Perkins State Bank v. Connolly (5th Cir 1980) 632 F2d 1306, 1310-1311].

Service of process under this statute establishes the court's personal jurisdiction over the claimants even if they do not have minimum contacts with the forum where the action is proceeding. However, the personal jurisdiction so established is strictly limited. Nationwide service of process established personal jurisdiction only for claims concerning the money or property interpleaded. Thus, courts will not exercise personal jurisdiction over claimants on related claims that might be asserted by way of crossclaim [see, e.g., Gaines v. Sunray Oil Co. (8th Cir 1976) 539 F2d 1136, 1142 ; Hagan v. Central Ave. Dairy (9th Cir 1950) 180 F2d 502, 503-504 ; Carolina Cas. Ins. Co. v. Mares (ED Va 1993) 826 F Supp 149, 154].

4.57[2] Normal Service of Process Limits in Rule Interpleader Actions. There is no provision in Rule 22 providing for nationwide service of process [see Fed R Civ P 22]. Thus rule interpleader actions are limited by the standard personal jurisdiction and service of process rules [see Fed R Civ P 4].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of requirements for service of summons, see Ch. 7, Service of Summons.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRequirementsCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRule InterpleadersCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersStatutory Interpleaders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
VI. USING INTERPLEADER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTING CLAIMS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.58

4.58 Venue in Interpleader Actions.

4.58[1] Special Venue Provisions for Statutory Interpleader Actions. Venue for a statutory interpleader action lies in the judicial district in which one or more of the claimants reside [28 USC § 1397]. In some respects, this is easier to satisfy than the normal venue rules for actions in which jurisdiction is founded on diversity of citizenship or on a federal question. The judicial district in which any single claimant resides is a proper venue. On the other hand, the statutory interpleader venue provision does not provide any alternative venues, such as venue in the district where the claim arose or where the property in dispute is located. Such alternatives are available under the normal venue rules [see 28 USC § 1391(a), (b)].

4.58[2] Normal Venue Provisions for Rule Interpleader Actions. Rule 22 does not provide special venue rules for interpleader actions [see Fed R Civ P 22]. It could not do so, in any event, because the federal rules may not create or alter statutory provisions governing jurisdiction or venue [see Fed R Civ P 82]. Therefore, because jurisdiction in most rule interpleader cases will be founded on diversity of citizenship or a federal question, venue will be proper in [28 USC § 1391(a), (b)]:

- A judicial district in which any defendant resides, if all defendants reside in the same state;
- A judicial district in which a substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim occurred, or where a substantial part of the property in dispute is located; or
- A judicial district in which any defendant is subject to personal jurisdiction, or in which any defendant "may be found" for non-diversity cases, if, but only if, neither of the first two venue alternatives is available.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of venue rules, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.48 -2.60.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureVenueGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRequirementsCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRule InterpleadersCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersStatutory Interpleaders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
VI. USING INTERPLEADER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTING CLAIMS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.59

4.59 First Stage of Interpleader Proceedings: Obtaining Ruling on Propriety of Interpleader.

4.59[1] Depositing Disputed Property With Court.

4.59[1][a] Deposit Mandatory in Statutory Interpleader Actions. In order to invoke the statutory interpleader jurisdiction, the plaintiff must deposit the disputed money or property into the registry of the court [28 USC § 1335(a)(2); see Fed R Civ P 67 (procedural provisions governing deposits in court)].

Cross References:

Deposit in court, see Ch. 19, Preliminary Injunctions, TROs, and Other Provisional Remedies, see §§ 19.139 -19.156.

Motion to permit deposit into registry of court, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 22:40 (Matthew Bender).

The only alternative to a deposit is for the stakeholder to post a bond, payable to the clerk of the court, in the amount and with whatever sureties that the court or judge may deem proper. The bond must be conditioned on the compliance by the plaintiff with the future order or judgment of the court with respect to the subject matter of the controversy [28 USC § 1335(a)(2)]. The court may not waive this requirement or proceed with statutory interpleader in the absence of the required deposit or bond [see, e.g., In re Sinking of the M/V Ukola (1st Cir 1986) 806 F2d 1, 5 (deposit requirement is jurisdictional)].

Cross Reference:

Form of bond in lieu of deposit, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 22:42 (Matthew Bender).

The amount of the required deposit or bond is the amount in dispute [Unigard Mut. Ins. Co. v. Abbott (9th Cir 1984) 732 F2d 1414, 1418]. Most courts agree that this means that the amount of the deposit is the maximum that the claimants contend they could recover from the money or property in the stakeholder's possession [see, e.g., National Union Fire Ins. Co. v. Ambassador Group, Inc. (EDNY 1988) 691 F Supp 618, 621]; although the stakeholder may never be required to deposit or post a bond for more than the available assets in the stakeholder's possession [Ashton v. Josephine Bay & C. Michael Paul Found., Inc. (2d Cir 1990) 918 F2d 1065, 1070]. Furthermore, the stakeholder need not deposit any funds or post bond for the amount set out in a counterclaim [see Wayzata Bank & Trust Co. v. A & B Farms (8th Cir 1988) 855 F2d 590, 593].

If the money or property is actually deposited with the court, the money or property will be invested in an interest-bearing account or instrument [Fed R Civ P 67]. Therefore, if the plaintiff posts a bond in lieu of depositing the money or property, the court may set the amount of the bond to include projected interest, or may award interest against the stakeholder as part of the final judgment, in order to prevent unjust enrichment of a stakeholder who did not make a deposit of the disputed money or property [see, e.g., Unigard Mut. Ins. Co. v. Abbott (9th Cir 1984) 732 F2d 1414, 1419].

4.59[1][b] Deposit Optional in Rule Interpleader Actions. Rule interpleader does not require the plaintiff to deposit the stake with the court [see Fed R Civ P 22; see also Gelfgren v. Republic Nat'l Life Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1982) 680 F2d 79, 81-82 (in contrast to statutory interpleader, "a deposit is not a jurisdictional requirement to rule 22(1) interpleader")]. Nonetheless, the stakeholder or any claimant may make a noticed motion requesting an order authorizing such a deposit [see Fed R Civ P 67]. In the Eastern District, leave of court to make a deposit is automatically granted "in all interpleader actions" by virtue of a local rule [ED Cal Gen LR 150(a)].

Cross Reference:

Deposit in court, see Ch. 19, Preliminary Injunctions, TROs, and Other Provisional Remedies, see §§ 19.139 -19.156.

A deposit made in a rule interpleader action is usually equal to the amount in controversy. The amount in controversy, however, is determined by the stakeholder, rather than by the claimants [see, e.g., Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. v. Eckman (D Del 1983) 555 F Supp 775, 778].

4.59[2] Enjoining Independent Actions Seeking Share of Stake.

4.59[2][a] Statute Authorizes Injunction in Statutory Interpleader Cases. As a matter of statute, a district court hearing a statutory interpleader action may restrain the claimants from filing or proceeding with any other state or federal court case affecting the money or property in dispute in the interpleader action (at least until further order of the court) [28 USC § 2361]. The "Anti-Injunction Act," which otherwise precludes federal courts from enjoining state court proceedings, does not bar injunctions in statutory interpleader actions. There is an exception to the Anti-Injunction Act for injunctions expressly authorized by federal statute, and the injunction authorization in the interpleader statutes falls within this exception [see 28 USC § 2283 (Anti-Injunction Act)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Anti-Injunction act, see Ch. 19, Preliminary Injunctions, TROs, and Other Provisional Remedies, see § 19.16.

4.59[2][b] General Equitable Authorization for Injunction in Rule Interpleader Cases. Rule 22 provides no express authorization for an injunction of other proceedings [see Fed R Civ P 22], and the courts that have considered the question have concluded that the statutory provision for interpleader injunctions [see 28 USC § 2361] applies only in statutory interpleader actions [see, e.g., U.S. Indus., Inc. v. Laborde (DPR 1992) 794 F Supp 454, 459]. Nevertheless, courts have concluded that, even in rule interpleader actions, they have general equitable powers to enjoin other proceedings seeking control of the disputed money or property [see, e.g., General Ry. Signal Co. v. Corcoran (7th Cir 1991) 921 F2d 700, 707].

The biggest obstacle to injunctions against state court proceedings is the Anti-Injunction Act [see 28 USC § 2283]. That statute, which otherwise precludes federal court from enjoining state court proceedings, does contain two exception for injunctions needed (1) "in aid of" or to preserve federal court jurisdiction or (2) to effectuate federal court judgments [28 USC § 2283]. Permitting independent litigation by interpleader claimants during the pendency of the interpleader proceeding would defeat the very purpose of the interpleader proceedings [see, e.g., Geler v. National Westminster Bank (SDNY 1991) 763 F Supp 722, 728]. Therefore, courts have allowed injunctions against state court proceedings on the grounds that the injunctions are need to preserve federal court jurisdiction [see, e.g., General Ry. Signal Co. v. Corcoran (7th Cir 1991) 921 F2d 700, 707] and to effectuate federal court judgments [see Truck-a-Tune v. Re (D Conn 1993) 856 F Supp 77, 81, n10 , aff'd on other grounds, 23 F3d 60 (2d Cir 1994)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Anti-Injunction act, see Ch. 19, Preliminary Injunctions, TROs, and Other Provisional Remedies, see § 19.16.

4.59[2][c] Injunction Limited to Claims Against Stake. The court's power to enjoin other proceedings is limited to claims asserted against the money or property in dispute (the "stake"). An injunction may not be asserted against a claim addressed at some other right or property [State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Tashire (1967) 386 US 523, 533, 87 S Ct 1199, 18 L Ed2d 270].

4.59[2][d] Injunction Is Discretionary; Court May Defer to State Court Proceedings. Injunctions are equitable remedies and are always a matter of discretion, rather than of right. Even in statutory interpleader, where there is a statutory authorization for an injunction, the grant of an injunction is discretionary [see 28 USC § 2361 ("district court may ... enter its order restraining ... [emphasis added])].

Furthermore, the court need not give precedence to a federal interpleader proceeding. Even if a district court has jurisdiction over an interpleader proceeding, it may abstain from exercising that jurisdiction by staying the proceeding when an already existing action obviates the need for the interpleader proceeding [see, e.g., United States Fire Ins. Co. v. Asbestospray, Inc. (3d Cir 1999) 182 F3d 201, 211 ("federal courts should defer to parallel state proceedings that pre-date the interpleader, especially where, as here, the proceedings have resulted in judgments (or settlements in principle)"); NY Life Distribs., Inc. v. Adherence Group, Inc. (3d Cir 1995) 72 F3d 371, 379 , cert. denied sub nom. Gerasolo v. Adherence Group Inc., 517 US 1209 (1996) ("district courts have traditionally assumed that they possess broad equitable discretion to decline jurisdiction over a statutory interpleader lawsuit where in their view there is a pending state proceeding that obviates the need for the federal action")].

4.59[3] Seeking Discharge for Stakeholder.

4.59[3][a] Disinterested Stakeholder Normally Entitled to Discharge. As noted above, in "true" or "strict" interpleader proceedings, the stakeholder claims no interest in the money or property at stake in the action. Therefore, if a truly disinterested stakeholder deposits the disputed money or property with the court, the stakeholder should be dismissed from the action and discharged from liability at that stage of the proceedings, before the court adjudicates the merits of the disputed claims to the money or property [see Commercial Nat'l Bank v. Demos (7th Cir 1994) 18 F3d 485, 487]. Although not strictly required in every case, the stakeholder will usually bring a motion for discharge in order to bring this issue to the attention of the court.

A court need not delay or deny dismissal and discharge for a truly disinterested stakeholder, unless the stakeholder has some independent ground of liability to one or more of the claimants or unless the stakeholder has failed to deposit the property with the court or comply with some other prerequisite to interpleader jurisdiction. The only reasons that a court might normally consider denying or even delaying dismissal and discharge to a truly disinterested stakeholder arise when the court concludes that the stakeholder has acted in bad faith in some way, including failing to bring the interpleader action in a timely manner [see Mendez v. Teachers Ins. & Annuity Ass'n & Coll. Ret. Equities Fund (2d Cir 1992) 982 F2d 783, 787].

Cross Reference:

Motion to discharge plaintiff in interpleader action, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 22:50 (Matthew Bender).

4.59[3][b] Stakeholder Who Claims Interest or Denies Liability Must Not Be Discharged. In interpleader proceedings other than "true" or "strict" liability proceedings, the stakeholder claims an interest in the money or property in dispute, or denies liability to pay all or a part of the stake to one of more of the claimants. In these proceedings, the stakeholder must remain to litigate the merits of the claims to the money or property that constitute the stake, and should not be dismissed or discharged, even if the stakeholder has deposited the entire stake with the court [see, e.g., Texas v. Florida (1939) 306 US 398, 406-407, 59 S Ct 563, 83 L Ed 817].

4.59[4] Seeking Costs and Attorney's Fees on Discharge of Stakeholder.

4.59[4][a] Court Has Discretion to Award Fees. Neither the interpleader statutes nor the interpleader rule authorize an award of fees to a stakeholder who has been discharged [see 28 USC §§ 1335, 1397, 2361; Fed R Civ P 22]. Nonetheless, traditional equity practice, and modern federal practice, permits such an award in both statutory and rule interpleader (provided the stakeholder qualifies for discharge because the stakeholder claims no interest in the stake and has deposited it promptly with the court). No party has a right to such an award, however. The grant of an award of attorney's fees is completely discretionary [see, e.g., Chase Manhattan Bank v. Mandalay Shores Coop. Hous. Ass'n (11th Cir 1994) 21 F3d 380, 382-383].

4.59[4][b] Award Appropriate Only for Stakeholder Who Has Acted Equitably and Promptly. An award of attorney's fees is appropriate only if the discharged stakeholder has acted equitably and promptly. Any suggestion of bad faith on the part of the stakeholder is sufficient grounds to deny an award [see, e.g., Emcasco Ins. Co. v. Davis (WD Ark 1990) 753 F Supp 1458, 1464-1465 (insurer improperly resorted to interpleader in attempt to avoid duty to defend insured); Nationwide Mut. Ins. Co. v. Eckman (D Del 1983) 555 F Supp 775, 782 (insurer unduly delayed seeking interpleader)].

Some courts have denied fees to insurers seeking interpleader on the ground that fees paid to determine the proper recipient of insurance proceeds are properly chargeable to the insurer as a normal cost of doing business [see, e.g., Sun Life Assurance Co. v. Thomas (WD Mich 1990) 735 F Supp 730, 733]. Not all courts accept this reasoning, however [see, e.g., Transamerica Premier Ins. Co. v. Growney (10th Cir 1995) 1995 US App 31836, at *4-*5 (unreported appellate case; generally not citable)].

4.59[4][c] Amount of Fee Award Should Be Modest. The costs and fees awarded to a disinterested stakeholder should not be substantial. The award is made at an early stage in the proceedings, after the stakeholder has done little more than file and serve a pleading, deposited the disputed money or property with the court, and made a motion for discharge. There is rarely justification for a substantial fee award because the stakeholder should not have been required to conduct complex legal research, participate in discovery, or prepare for trial in any way [see, e.g., Johnson v. Electrolux Corp. (D Conn 1991) 763 F Supp 1181, 1189].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRequirementsCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRule InterpleadersCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersStatutory Interpleaders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
VI. USING INTERPLEADER TO RESOLVE CONFLICTING CLAIMS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.60

4.60 Second Stage of Proceedings: Ordinary Pretrial and Trial of Conflicting Claims.

After a court determines, in the first stage of litigation, that interpleader is proper and, if appropriate, discharges the stakeholder, interpleader proceedings reach a second stage that is similar to any other civil litigation in federal court. The goal of the second stage is adjudication or settlement of the merits of the conflicting claims to the stake and the distribution of the stake to the competing claimants accordingly [see, e.g., Truck-a-Tune v. Re (D Conn 1993) 856 F Supp 77, 79]. Because the interpleader proceedings have eliminated the race to the courthouse, the court's power to distribute the stake to the claimants is not limited to all-or-nothing determinations. The court may award proportional shares when appropriate [see, e.g., Commercial Union Ins. Co. v. United States (DC Cir 1993) 999 F2d 581, 588-589].

Unlike the preliminary, equitable determinations made in the first stage of the proceedings, the competing claimants may assert a right to a jury trial concerning their rights to the stake whenever a jury trial is permitted for the types of claims being asserted [see, e.g., Hyde Props. v. McCoy (6th Cir 1974) 507 F2d 301, 305]. Of course, a claimant's right to a jury trial depends on the claimant's assertion of that right in a timely and proper manner.

Cross References:

Availability of jury trial, see Ch. 13, Demanding a Jury Trial, see § 13.04[2].

Discussion of litigation of entitlement to res or property, see 4 Moore's Federal Practice, § 22.03[2] (Matthew Bender 3d ed).

Form of decree or order after trial in interpleader, see 5 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 22:70, 22:71 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRequirementsCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersRule InterpleadersCivil ProcedurePartiesInterpleadersStatutory Interpleaders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 2 First Steps
CHAPTER 4 Determining Parties to the Action
VII. FORMS

1-4 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 4.61

4.61 Complaint for Interpleader.

Tom Doe (California Bar number 987654)
100 North Main St., Suite 200
Farallon City, California 90000
Phone: 555-555-5555
Fax: 555-555-5556
E-mail address: tomdoe@uvwxyz.net
Attorney for Plaintiff John Smith

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

John Smith, Plaintiff,	)	NO. _____
vs.	)
Mary Jones, Defendant.	)	COMPLAINT FOR INTERPLEADER
	)	JURISDICTION
	)
	)

[Alternative One. Statutory interpleader]

1. This court has jurisdiction of this interpleader action under 28 USC § 1335(a):

a. The interpleader stake described below is in the _____ [possession or custody] of plaintiff.

b. The interpleader stake described below has a value of $500 or more.

2. Several claimants have or might assert claims to the interpleader stake and at least two of those claimants are of diverse citizenship under 28 USC § 1332:

a. _____ [Identify claimant, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones is an individual who is a resident of the State of California].

b. _____ [Identify claimant, e.g., Defendant ABC Corporation is a corporation organized and operating under the laws of the State of Oregon, with its principal place of business in Portland, Oregon].

3. Plaintiff _____ [has deposited or will move the court for leave to deposit and intends to deposit] the interpleader stake in the registry of the court as required by 28 USC § 1335(a)(2).

[Alternative Two. Rule interpleader]

1. This interpleader proceeding is commenced under the provisions of Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 22.

2. The parties to this action are:

a. _____ [Identify plaintiff, e.g., Plaintiff XYZ Corporation is a corporation organized and operating under the laws of the State of California with its principal place of business in Farallon City, California].

b. _____ [Identify first claimant, e.g., Defendant Mary Jones is an individual residing in and a citizen of the State of Nevada].

c. _____ [Identify second claimaint, e.g., Defendant Susan Johnson is an individual residing in and a citizen of the State of Utah].

3. This court has subject matter jurisdiction over this interpleader proceeding because _____ [grounds for jurisdiction, e.g., there is complete diversity of citizenship between plaintiff and all defendants, and the amount in controversy in this action exceeds the sum of $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs].

[CONTINUE]

THE INTERPLEADER STAKE AND ADVERSE CLAIMS

4. This property is within plaintiff's possession or control: _____ [describe fund or other property at issue, including valuation of fund or property].

5. The following persons claim all or a portion of this property:

a. _____ [Identify claimant] asserts entitlement to _____ [identify claim, e.g., $95,000, with interest from June 1, 2004] on the grounds that _____ [state basis for claim].

b. _____ [Identify claimant] asserts entitlement to _____ [identify claim, e.g., $135,000, with interest from June 1, 2004] on the grounds that _____ [state basis for claim].

[Alternative One. Strict interpleader]

6. Plaintiff asserts no interest or claim of any kind in the property described above, and has no interest in which claimant receives all or any portion of the property described above.

[Alternative Two. Action in nature of interpleader]

7. Plaintiff contends that plaintiff is entitled to _____ [specify, e.g., custodial and management fees in the sum of $10,000] and asserts that plaintiff's claim is superior in right to any of the claims of the defendants.

[CONTINUE]

8. The claims asserted by the defendants are adverse to each other and to the property described above. Plaintiff could not satisfy the defendants' claims without incurring double or multiple liabilities, so that equity should permit the plaintiff to interplead this property and have this court resolve the true ownership and distribution of the property described above.

DEMAND FOR JUDGMENT

Plaintiff prays that:

A. This court permit plaintiff to interplead the "stake" or property described in this complaint and have the court resolve all competing claims to that property.

B. This court enjoin the defendants from commencing or pursuing any other action in any other court to pursue a claim for the stake or property described in this complaint.

[Alternative One. True interpleader]

C. This court dismiss and discharge plaintiff from any and all further liability to the defendants with respect to the stake or property described in this complaint, and that the plaintiff be awarded its costs and reasonable attorney's fees in the amount of $_____.

[Alternative Two. Action in nature of interpleader]

C. This court award plaintiff its share of the stake or property described in this complaint in a sum not less than $_____ and deny liability to defendant[s] accordingly.

[CONTINUE]

D. This court grant plaintiff any and all other relief to which plaintiff may be entitled.

_____ [date]

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____

[Comply with any format requirements for complaints under local rules; see Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint.]

NOTES.

Authority:
28 USC §§ 1335, 1397, 2361; Fed R Civ P 22

Using Interpleader to Resolve Conflicting Claims:
See §§ 4.52 -4.60

Drafting Complaint:
See Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, see §§ 6.01 -6.17.

Preparing Summons:
See Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, see §§ 6.18 -6.21.

Service of Summons:
See Ch. 7, Service of Process

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.syn

§ 5.syn Synopsis to Chapter 5: Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers

5.01 Scope.

5.02 Objective and Strategy.

5.03 CHECKLIST: Formatting Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

5.04 Formatting Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

5.04[1] Formatting Rules Apply to Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

5.04[2] Local Rules Should Be Consulted.

5.04[3] Individual Judge's Standing Orders Should Be Consulted.

5.05 Formatting Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page.

5.05[1] Federal Rules Silent on Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page.

5.05[2] Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page Used for Court Administration.

5.05[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page.

5.05[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.05[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.05[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.05[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.06 LOCAL PRACTICE: Formatting Heading.

5.06[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.06[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.06[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.06[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.07 Formatting Caption.

5.07[1] Name of Court.

5.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Name of Court.

5.07[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.07[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.07[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.07[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.07[3] Title of Action.

5.07[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Title of Action.

5.07[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.07[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.07[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.07[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.07[5] Docket Number.

5.07[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Docket Number.

5.07[6][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.07[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.07[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.07[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.07[7] Designation.

5.07[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: Designation.

5.07[8][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.07[8][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.07[8][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.07[8][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.08 Formatting Body of Pleading.

5.08[1] Body of Pleading.

5.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Body of Pleading.

5.08[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.08[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.08[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.08[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.09 Formatting Body of Motion.

5.09[1] Body of Motion.

5.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Body of Motion.

5.09[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.09[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.09[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.10 Formatting Signature Block.

5.10[1] Signature Is Required.

5.10[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Signature Block.

5.10[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.10[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.10[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.10[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.10[3] Electronic or Facsimile Signature May Be Allowed or Required.

5.10[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Electronic or Facsimile Signature.

5.10[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.10[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.10[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.10[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.11 Determining Page Limitations for Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

5.11[1] Federal Rules Do Not Set Page Limitations.

5.11[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Page Limitations.

5.11[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.11[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.11[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.11[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.12 Formatting Exhibits.

5.12[1] Exhibits May Be Attached.

5.12[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Exhibits.

5.12[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.12[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: Eastern District Requirements.

5.12[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.12[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.12A Privacy Protection for Filings Made With the Court

[1] Certain Personal Information Must Be Redacted From Filings.

[2] Certain Information Is Exempt From Redaction Requirement.

5.13 General Formatting Requirements for All Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

5.13[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.13[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.13[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.13[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.14 Clerk May Not Reject Improperly Formatted Papers.

5.15 CHECKLIST: Serving Pleadings, Motions, And Other Papers.

5.16 Determining Who Must Receive Service.

5.17 Serving Pleadings.

5.17[1] Serving Complaint or Initial Pleading.

5.17[2] Serving Pleading After Original Complaint.

5.17[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Serving Pleadings.

5.17[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.17[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.17[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.17[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.18 Serving Written Motions.

5.18[1] Written Motions Must Be Served.

5.18[2] Supporting or Opposing Papers Must Be Served With Written Motions.

5.18[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Serving Written Motions and Supporting or Opposing Papers.

5.18[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.18[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.18[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.18[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.19 Serving Discovery Papers.

5.19[1] Service on Each Party Required.

5.19[2] Court May Waive Service of Discovery Papers.

5.20 Serving Other Papers.

5.21 Serving Orders.

5.22 Permissible Methods of Service.

5.22[1] Service by Hand Delivery.

5.22[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Service by Hand Delivery.

5.22[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: Central District Requirements.

5.22[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.22[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.22[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.22[3] Service by U.S. Mail.

5.22[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Service by U.S. Mail.

5.22[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.22[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.22[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.22[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.22[5] Service by Alternate Delivery Methods, Including Electronic Service.

5.22[5][a] Consent to Alternative Delivery Methods.

5.22[5][b] Completing Alternative Forms of Service.

5.22[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Service by Alternative Delivery Methods, Including Electronic Service.

5.22[6][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.22[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.22[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.22[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.22[7] Service by Leaving Paper With Clerk of Court.

5.22[8] Waiver of Service.

5.22[9] LOCAL PRACTICE: Waiver of Service.

5.22[9][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.22[9][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.22[9][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.22[9][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.23 Proof of Service.

5.23[1] Rule 5 Requires Proof of Service.

5.23[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Proof of Service.

5.23[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.23[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.23[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.23[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.24 CHECKLIST: Filing Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

5.25 General Filing Requirements.

5.25[1] Requirements Under the Federal Rules.

5.25[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: General Filing Requirements.

5.25[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.25[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.25[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.25[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.26 LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing Requirements for Motions.

5.26[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.26[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.26[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.26[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.27 Filing Requirements for Discovery Material.

5.27[1] Filing Not Permitted Until Papers Used in Proceeding or Court Has Ordered Filing.

5.27[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing Requirements for Discovery Matters.

5.27[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.27[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.27[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.27[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.27A LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Time of Filing.

5.27A[1] Electronic Filing Is Complete When Attorney Receives System-Generated Notice.

5.27A[2] Document Is Deemed Filed on Particular Day If Filed Before Midnight.

5.27A[3] Internet Filings May Be Made 24 Hours a Day.

5.27A[4] Portable Electronic Media May Be Submitted During Business Hours.

5.27A[5] Filing Is Permitted on Next Business Day Following Technical Failure of Court's Site.

5.28 Filing Corporate Disclosure Statement.

5.28[1] Rule 7.1 Requires Corporate Disclosure Statement.

5.28[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Identifying Interested Parties.

5.28[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.28[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.28[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.28[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.29 CHECKLIST: Electronic or Facsimile Filing of Pleadings and Motions.

5.30 Local Rules May Permit or Require Electronic or Facsimile Filing.

5.31 LOCAL PRACTICE: Electronic or Facsimile Filing of Pleadings and Motions.

5.31[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

5.31[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

5.31[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

5.31[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

5.32 Caption With Heading.

5.33 Signature Block.

5.34 Corporate Disclosure Statement.

5.35 Central District of California, Notice of Interested Parties.

5.36 Northern District of California, Certification of Interested Entities or Persons.

5.37 Certificate of Service.

5.38 Certificate of Service by U.S. Mail.

5.39 Consent to Electronic Service.

5.40 Notice of Motion and Motion to Dispense With Service of Pleadings.

5.41 Order Dispensing With Service of Pleadings.

5.42 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Filing of Papers.

5.43 Order Compelling Filing of Papers.

5.44 Local District Court Forms.

64 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
I. STRATEGY

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.01

5.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Formatting pleadings, motions, and other papers [see 5.03 -5.14; Form: 5.32].
- Serving pleadings, motions, and other papers [see 5.15 -5.23; Forms: 5.37 -5.41].
- Filing pleadings, motions, and other papers [see 5.24 -5.28; Forms: 5.39, 5.40].
- Electronic or Facsimile Filing [see 5.29 -5.31].

Core Rules:
Fed R Civ P 5, 7, 7.1, 10.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsElectronic MeansCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuanceCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessTime LimitationsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
I. STRATEGY

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.02

5.02 Objective and Strategy.

Pleadings consist of the complaint, the answer, a reply to a counterclaim, an answer to a crossclaim, a third-party complaint, and a third-party answer [Fed R Civ P 7(a)]. Motions are applications to the court for orders, which must be made in writing unless made during a hearing or at trial [Fed R Civ P 7(b)]. All pleadings and motions, along with other papers (such as briefs, affidavits, and exhibits, etc.), have formal requirements. The Federal Rules and the local rules require that these documents meet certain standards in their appearance, the manner in which they are served, and how they are filed with the court. In addition, individual judges may have their own standing orders regarding pleadings, motions, and other papers.

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

1 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 5, Serving and Filing Pleadings and Other Papers (Matthew Bender).

1 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 7, Pleadings Allowed; Form of Motions and Other Papers; Rule 7.1 Disclosure Statement (Matthew Bender).

4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 10, Form of Pleadings (Matthew Bender).

1 Federal Litigation Guide, Ch. 6, Voluntary Dismissals and Dismissals for Failure to Prosecute; Ch. 7, Injunctions (Matthew Bender).

2 Federal Litigation Guide, Ch. 23, Discovery of Experts (Matthew Bender).

1 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 5, Service and Filing of Pleadings and Other Papers (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 7, Pleadings Allowed; Form of Motions and Other Papers; Ch. 7.1, Disclosure Statement; Ch. 10, Form of Pleadings; Ch. 11, Signing Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers; Representations to the Court; Sanctions (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

1 Moore's Manual: Federal Practice and Procedure, Ch. 10, Plaintiff's Pleadings (Matthew Bender).

Cross Reference:

For tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.03

5.03 CHECKLIST: Formatting Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

☐ Identify official forms and consider using as guide to drafting pleadings, motions, and other papers.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 84

Discussion:
See § 5.04

Forms:
See § 5.44; Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Forms 10-61

☐ Review format requirements for pleadings under local rules of court.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 83(a)

Discussion:
See §§ 5.04 -5.14

Forms:
See §§ 5.32 -5.43

☐ Review formatting requirements, including:

○ Essential components of pleading, motion, or other paper:

- [ ] Heading.
- [ ] Caption.
- [ ] Designation.
- [ ] Signature and signature block.
- [ ] Body of document.
  - ○ Separate numbered paragraphs.
  - ○ Separate counts.
- [ ] Page limitations.
- [ ] General document requirements:
  - ○ Type of paper.
  - ○ Margins, spacing, lines per page.
  - ○ Quotations.
  - ○ Typeface and fonts.
  - ○ Pagination.
  - ○ Footers.
  - ○ Prepunched holes.
  - ○ Binding.
  - ○ Citation to authorities.

○ Format of exhibits and attachments:

- [ ] Size limitations.

☐ Legibility.

☐ Pagination.

☐ Fastening.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5, 7, 10, 11

Discussion:
See §§ 5.06 -5.13

☐ Prepare civil cover sheet or cover page.

Authority:
CD Cal Civ LR 3-1; ED Cal Civ LR 200; ND Cal Civ LR 3-2(a); SD Cal Civ LR 3.1

Discussion:
See § 5.05

Form:
See § 5.44

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.04

5.04 Formatting Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

5.04[1] Formatting Rules Apply to Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers. Pleadings consist of the complaint, the answer, a reply to a counterclaim, an answer to a crossclaim, a third-party complaint, and a third-party answer [Fed R Civ P 7(a)]. Motions are applications to the court for orders, which must be made in writing unless made during a hearing or at trial [Fed R Civ P 7(b)]. The formal requirements concerning the form of pleadings also apply to motions and other papers, though only to the format [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(2); see, e.g., Swanson v. United States (9th Cir 1996) 87 F3d 339, 345 (reach of Fed R Civ P 10(c) provision permitting the adoption by reference of material cannot be extended by Rule 7(b)(2) to include adoption of substantive material in other papers)].

The official forms contained in the Appendix of Forms to the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure serve as suggestions for drafting pleadings and other papers [Fed R Civ P 84].

In addition, the United States District Courts offer their own forms or require certain forms to be used. These forms may be obtained by the clerk's office or by downloading them from each court's website:

- United States District Court for the Central District of California: www.cacd.uscourts.gov.
- United States District Court for the Eastern District of California: www.caed.uscourts.gov.
- United States District Court for the Northern District of California: www.cand.uscourts.gov.
- United States District Court for the Southern District of California: www.casd.uscourts.gov.

Cross References:

See § 5.44.

5.04[2] Local Rules Should Be Consulted. Local rules of the district courts need to be consulted because they often impose additional and specific requirements over the Federal Rules. These local rules should be consulted before drafting any pleadings, motions, or papers.

5.04[3] Individual Judge's Standing Orders Should Be Consulted. Some individual judges may have standing orders, which set forth the particular requirements to be followed in cases pending before them. Counsel should inquire about standing orders, especially regarding the following:

- Courtesy copies.
- Page limits.
- Table of contents.
- Form of stipulations.
- Electronic copies.
- Fax submissions.

Consider:

District court judges have broad discretion to depart from local rules, including service requirements, if it makes sense to do so and substantial rights are not at stake [Nunley v. Los Angeles (9th Cir 1995) 52 F3d 792, 795]. Normally, a party must make an appropriate application for any departure. If a particular judge routinely deviates from an otherwise applicable rule requirement, the deviation should be published in the judge's standing order.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.05

5.05 Formatting Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page.

5.05[1] Federal Rules Silent on Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page. The Federal Rules are silent as to a cover page but all the local rules set some requirements. In addition, individual judges' standing orders should be consulted [see 5.04[3]].

5.05[2] Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page Used for Court Administration. The sheet is usually available from the court clerk or may be downloaded from the court's website (see also 5.44). The information is for the benefit of the clerk and the administration of the court's caseload, and is not served on opposing parties [CD Cal Civ LR 3-1; ED Cal Civ LR 200; ND Cal Civ LR 3-2(a); SD Cal Civ LR 3.1; see Wall v. National R.R. Passenger Corp. (9th Cir 1983) 718 F2d 906, 909 ; Richmond, F. & P.R. Co. v. Intermodal Servs., Inc. (ED Va 1981) 508 F Supp 804, 807 (civil cover sheets neither pleading nor motion and not part of filed court papers)].

5.05[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Civil Cover Sheet and Cover Page.

5.05[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. All civil actions presented to the clerk for filing must be accompanied by a Civil Cover Sheet, in duplicate, completed, and signed by the attorney or party representing the matter. For matters pursuant to 28 USC § 1338 jurisdiction (regarding patents, plant variety protection, copyrights and trademarks), the clerk must be provided at the time of filing with the original and two copies of the required notice to the Patent and Trademark Office in patent, plant variety protection and trademarkmatters and the original and four copies of the required notice in copyright matters. The clerk has available the copies of the Civil Cover Sheet and the required forms of notice to the Patent and Trademark Office [CD Cal Civ LR 3-1].

Warning:

Counsel who are aware of an earlier filed related case must also file a Notice of Related Case [CD Cal Civ LR 83-1.3].

5.05[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Every complaint, amended complaint, or other document initiating a civil action must be accompanied by a completed civil cover sheet, on a form available from the Clerk and on the court's web site. The civil sheet requirement is for administrative purposes only and matters appearing only on the civil cover sheet have no cognizable effect in the action [ED Cal Civ LR 200].

Warning:

Counsel who are aware of an earlier-filed related case must also file a Notice of Related Case [ED Cal Gen LR 123].

Cross References:

A copy of the Eastern District's Civil Cover Sheet (CV-71) may be downloaded from the court's web site: www.caed.uscourts.gov. See also § 5.44.

Cross References:

A copy of the Eastern District's Civil Cover Sheet (JS-44) may be downloaded from the court's web site: www.caed.uscourts.gov. See also § 5.44.

Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, see § 6.20.

5.05[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Every complaint, petition, or other paper initiating a civil action must be filed with a completed civil cover sheet on a form approved by the Court [ND Cal Civ LR 3-2(a)].

Warning:

Counsel who are aware of an earlier filed related case must also file an Administrative Motion to Consider Whether Cases Should Be Related or Notice of Pendency of Other Action or Proceeding [ND Cal Civ LR 3-12, 3-13].

Cross References:

A copy of the Northern District's Civil Cover Sheet (JS-44) may be downloaded from the court's web site: www.cand.uscourts.gov. See also § 5.44.

Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, see § 6.20.

5.05[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. For administrative purposes only, every complaint, petition, or other paper initiating a civil action or proceeding must be accompanied by a completed civil cover sheet. Immediately below the docket number, one or more of the following categories most nearly descriptive of the subject matter of the action or proceeding, must be indicated [SD Cal Civ LR 3.1]:

- Admiralty-Maritime claims (except Jones Act);
- Antitrust;
- Contract;
- Copyright/Trademark/Unfair Competition;
- Patent;
- Labor Relations;
- Tax;

- Tort/Personal Injury (including Jones Act)/Property Damage/Fraud/Other (specify);
- Government Collection/Forfeiture/Penalty;
- Civil Rights;
- Land Condemnation;
- Habeas Corpus;
- Review of Administrative Action;
- Federal Securities; and
- Miscellaneous (specify).

For each motion and any opposition and reply to a motion, there must be a cover page, with the space opposite the caption below the case number, indicating the name of the judicial office, the courtroom number, and the date and time of the hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.4)].

- Name of the judicial officer;
- Courtroom number; and
- Date and time of the hearing.

Cross References:

A copy of the Southern District's Civil Cover Sheet (JS-44) may be downloaded from the court's web site: www.casd.uscourts.gov. See also, § 5.44.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.06

5.06 LOCAL PRACTICE: Formatting Heading.

5.06[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. On the first page of any pleading, motion, or other paper, beginning on line 1 at the left margin, set forth the name, California bar number, (or, when the attorney is a registered legal service attorney appearing pursuant to CD Cal Civ LR 83-2.3.5, the bar number and jurisdiction where the attorney is admitted to practice), office address (or residence address if no office is maintained), the telephone and facsimile numbers, and the e-mail address of the attorney or a party appearing pro se. The e-mail address must be placed immediately beneath the name of the attorney. Immediately beneath, identify the party on whose behalf the document is filed. This information must be single-spaced and must be presented for each attorney or pro se party who joins in the presentation of the document [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(a)].

The space between lines 1 and 7 to the right of center of the page must be left blank for use by the court clerk [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(b)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.32 for entire caption, including heading.

5.06[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The name, address, telephone number, and the California State Bar membership number of all counsel and the specific identification of the party represented by name and interest in the litigation must appear in the upper left-hand corner of the first page of the pleading, motion, or other paper. In a multiparty representation, however, reference may be made to the signature page for the complete list of parties represented [ED Cal Gen LR 131(a)].

If multiple attorneys from a single law firm, organization, public entity, agency, or department are listed as counsel, one of the listed attorneys must be designated as counsel for service. That designation may be made in the heading of the complaint, or by filing and serving a document entitled "Designation of Counsel for Service," stating the name, address, and telephone number of the designated counsel for service, and signed by that counsel [ED Cal Gen LR 182(c)(1)]. If no designation of counsel for service has been made, the clerk of the court may select the attorney for service from the heading on the first page of the initial document or from the signature block [ED Cal Gen LR 182(c)(2)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.32 for entire caption, including heading.

5.06[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. In the upper left-hand corner of the first page of the each paper presented for filing, the name, address, telephone number, facsimile ("fax") telephone number, e-mail address, and state bar number of the attorney presented the paper for filing must appear (a pro se party must comply with the name, address, telephone number, facsimile number, and e-mail address requirements). This information must be accompanied by the name of the party represented and that party's status in the litigation. In multi-party actions or proceedings, reference may be made to the signature page for the complete list of parties represented [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.32 for entire caption, including heading.

5.06[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. On the first page of every pleading, motion, or other paper, the name, address, and telephone number of the attorney appearing for a party or of an individual appearing pro se, must be printed or typewritten in the space to the left of the page's center and beginning at line one. Attorneys appearing for a party must also include their California State Bar Number. The space to the right of the of the page's center must be reserved for the clerk's filing stamp [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.1)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.32 for entire caption, including heading.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePartiesSelf-RepresentationPleading Standards

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.07

5.07 Formatting Caption.

5.07[1] Name of Court. Every pleading, motion, or other paper must contain a caption, which includes the name of the court, the title of the action, the file number, and a designation of the type of pleading or paper [Fed R Civ P 10(a)]. The court is the district court in which the pleading is initially filed or the action is pending [28 USC § 1391], unless the case has been transferred by the Court [see 28 USC § 1404(a)], or a motion to change venue was granted [28 USC § 1404(b)], or the case was transferred temporarily from one district court to another by the judicial panel on multi-district litigation [28 USC § 1407(a)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.32 for entire caption.

5.07[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Name of Court.

5.07[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The name of the court must be centered on or below line 8 of the first page of the every pleading, motion, or other document [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(c)].

5.07[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The title of the court must appear on every pleading, motion, or other paper, following the counsel identification, beginning on the eighth line of the first page, unless additional space is required for counsel identification [ED Cal Gen LR 133(g)].

5.07[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The title of the court, along with the appropriate division or location, must appear on the first page of each pleading, motion, or other paper, beginning on the eighth line of the page, unless additional space is required for counsel identification [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(3)(A)]. In consolidated cases under Fed R Civ P 42, the caption of each paper must denote the lead case number above all the consolidated case numbers but duplicated originals are not required for associated cases [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(b)].

5.07[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The title of the court must begin at or below line 8 of the first page of every pleading, motion, or other paper [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.2)].

5.07[3] Title of Action. The caption of every pleading must contain the title of the action [Fed R Civ P 10(a)]. This applies to motions and other papers requiring captions [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(2)]. In initial pleadings, the names of all parties must be included in the caption [cf. Yeseta v. Baima (9th Cir 1988) 837 F2d 380, 383 (sufficient identification in body of complaint)]. Initial pleadings consist of:

- Complaint [Fed R Civ P 10(a)].
- Third-Party Complaint [Fed R Civ P 14(a)].
- Motion and accompanying pleading requesting intervention [Fed R Civ P 24(c); Ferdik v. Bonzelet (9th Cir 1992) 963 F2d 1258, 1261-1262].

In all other pleadings, motions, and other papers, it is sufficient to state the name of the first party on each side with an appropriate indication of other parties, such as "et al." [Fed R Civ P 10(a)].

In special circumstances, a fictitious name may be used by an individual plaintiff to proceed anonymously to protect privacy interests or to avoid physical harm, as long as the court is assured that the plaintiff is a real and aggrieved party [Doe v. Advanced Textile Corp. (9th Cir 2000) 214 F3d 1058, 1067-1068].

A plaintiff may proceed under a pseudonym only "when nondisclosure of the party's identity is necessary to protect a person from harassment, injury, ridicule, or personal embarrassment" [American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Comm. v. Ridge (CD Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 25100, at *23-*24]. Courts have permitted plaintiffs to use pseudonyms (1) when identification creates a risk of retaliatory physical or mental harm; (2) when anonymity is necessary to protect privacy in a sensitive and highly personal manner; and (3) when the anonymous party is compelled to admit his or her intention to engage in illegal conduct, creating a risk of criminal prosecution [American-Arab Anti-Discrimination Comm. v. Ridge (CD Cal 2003) 2003 US Dist LEXIS 25100, at *24].

A defendant may be named fictitiously as "John Doe" if the plaintiff cannot ascertain the name of the defendant at the time of the filing [see, e.g., Gillespie v. Civiletti (9th Cir. 1980) 629 F2d 637, 642 (court allowed complaint against unnamed police officer defendants when discovery would likely disclose defendants' true identities)].

Cross References:

Forms, see § 5.32 for entire caption. Discussion on the use of fictitious names, see Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, see § 6.06[4].

5.07[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Title of Action.

5.07[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The names of the parties must be single-spaced and placed below the title of the court, to the left of center. If the parties are too numerous to fit on the first page of the initial pleading, the names may be continued on successive pages in the same space. In all documents following the initial pleadings, only the first-named parties on each side need to appear [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(d)].

5.07[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The title of the action must appear following attorney identification and the title of the court [ED Cal Gen LR 133(g)].

5.07[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The title of the action must appear on the first page of the paper presented for filing and should appear on the left side below the name of the court [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(3)(B)].

5.07[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The title of the action must appear on the first page of every document, below and to the left of the title of the court. If the parties are too numerous for all to be named on the first page, the names of the parties may be carried onto the successive pages [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.3)].

5.07[5] Docket Number. The caption of every pleading must set forth the "file number" of the case [Fed R Civ P 10(a)]. This applies to motions and other papers requiring captions [Fed R Civ P 7(b)(2)]. The number is often called the docket number, index number, or case number. When the initial pleading is filed, the clerk of the court will assign a docket number to the case. In federal civil cases, these numbers are assigned consecutively [Fed R Civ P 79(a)]. In initial pleadings, the caption should be prepared to leave a space in which the court clerk can stamp or indicate the docket number of the action. Because local rules may regulate the assignment of file numbers, the numbers may vary among the district courts [see Fed R Civ P 83(a)].

5.07[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Docket Number.

5.07[6][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The docket number of the case must be placed to the right of the center of the page and immediately opposite the names of the parties. Immediately below the docket number must be a concise description of the nature of the document, followed by the time and place of the hearing on the matter to which the paper is addressed [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(e)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.32 for entire caption.

5.07[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The file number of the action, followed by the initials of the judge and Magistrate Judge to whom it is currently assigned, must appear on the initial page for each document following the attorney identification and court title [ED Cal Gen LR 133(g)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.32 for entire caption.

5.07[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The case number of the action must appear followed by the initials of the assigned district judge or magistrate judge and if applicable, the initials of the magistrate judge to whom the action is referred for discovery or other pretrial activity [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(3)(C)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.32 for entire caption.

5.07[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. In the space to the right of center, the number of the action, a brief designation of the document's nature, mention of any notice of motion or affidavits or memorandum in support, and a demand for jury trial, if any, must appear [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.3)].

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.32 for entire caption.

5.07[7] Designation. The caption of a pleading must contain a designation as found in Fed R Civ P 7(a) [Fed R Civ P 10(a)]. A motion or other paper with a caption must also contain a designation such as "motion," "affidavit," etc. [Fed R Civ P 10(a); Fed R Civ P 7(b)(2)]. Pleadings are designated in the federal courts as follows [Fed R Civ P 7(a)]:

- Complaint.
- Answer to a complaint.
- Answer to a counterclaim.

- Answer to a crossclaim.
- Third-party complaint.
- Third-party answer.

Local rules have format requirements as to how pleadings, motions, and other documents must be designated.

5.07[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: Designation.

5.07[8][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Immediately below the docket number must appear a concise description of the nature of the document (notice of motion, memorandum in support or opposition, etc.). Immediately below the description must appear the date and time of any hearing on the matter to which the paper is addressed [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(e)]. A complaint or petition must state the nature of the action or proceeding [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(f)]. A class action must be designated as a class action [CD Cal Civ LR 23-1].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of class actions requirements, see Ch. 20, Class Actions, see §§ 2.08 -2.13.

5.07[8][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. For initial pleadings in admiralty and maritime, the designation "In Admiralty" must follow the name of the court [ED Cal Adm LR 510(a)]. If one or more claims at law are presented, the initial pleading must be designated "At law and In admiralty" [ED Cal Adm LR 510(a)].

5.07[8][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Each paper (except exhibits) filed with the court must bear a footer on the lower margin of each page stating the title of the paper ("Complaint," etc.) or some clear and concise abbreviation of it [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(c)(3)].

A complaint or Notice of Removal Action seeking review of federal agency determinations in immigration cases, Privacy Act cases, or Administrative Procedure Act cases must include, under the title of the document, whichever is applicable, either "Immigration Case," "Privacy Act Case," or "Administrative Procedure Act Case" [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(4)]. In United States debt collection cases, the first page of the complaint must identify the action by using the words "Debt Collection Case" [ND Cal Civ LR 16-6(a)].

A complaint, counterclaim or crossclaim sought to be maintained in a class action must bear the legend "Class Action" on the first page below the title below the title describing the paper as a complaint, counterclaim, or crossclaim [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(5)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of class actions requirements, see Ch. 20, Class Actions, see §§ 2.08 -2.13.

5.07[8][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. In the space to the right of center, a brief designation of the document's nature must appear following the title of the court and the title of the action [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.3)].

For each motion and any opposition and reply to a motion, there must be a cover page, with the space opposite the caption below the case number, indicating the name of the judicial office, the courtroom number, and the date and time of the hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.4)].

Cross References:

Form of the entire caption, see § 5.32. Forms of all types of designations, see 4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 10:1-10:30 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsRule Application & Interpretation

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.08

5.08 Formatting Body of Pleading.

5.08[1] Body of Pleading. The body of the pleading contains the averments of the claim or defense. The requirements of the averments are as follows [Fed R Civ P 10(b)]:

- Must be made in separate, numbered paragraphs [see Gonzales v. Wing (NDNY 1996) 167 FRD 352, 355 , aff'd, 1997 US App LEXIS 12289 (2d Cir 1997)].
- Contents of each numbered paragraph must be limited to a statement of a single set of circumstances.
- Each claim founded on a separate transaction or occurrence must be made in a separate count, whenever a separate count would facilitate clear presentation.
- Each defense, other than a denial, founded on a separate transaction or occurrence, must be stated as a separate defense, whenever a separation would facilitate clear presentation [see also Bautista v. Los Angeles County (9th Cir 2000) 216 F3d 837, 840 (quoting Moore's)].

Consider:

Even if separate counts are not required, using them is often desirable. A claim can be set our either as a "count" or as a "claim for relief." Separate claims or counts are used routinely to separately state claims that are based on different legal theories as well as on separate transactions. If more than one transaction or occurrence is involved, each would be stated by transaction and by theory of recovery. Pleadings will serve the purpose of sharpening and limiting issues only if claims based on one theory of recovery are set forth separately from those based on another theory of recovery [see, e.g., Windsor v. Federal Executive Agency (MD Tenn 1983) 614 F Supp 1255, 1258 , aff'd without opinion, 767 F2d 923 (6th Cir 1985)]. If a single count or claim is based on more than one transaction, a court might grant a motion to require that each claim based on on a separate transaction be separately pleaded, particularly if it is confusing.

Failure to comply with the technical requirements of Fed R Civ P 10(b) does not necessary serve as a basis for dismissal, especially if technical deficiencies can be remedied easily [Amous v. Trustmark Nat'l Bank (ND Miss 2000)

195 FRD 607, 609 ; Benschoter v. Hardy (ED Mich 2001) 202 FRD 216, 219].

5.08[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Body of Pleading.

5.08[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The Central District has no specific local rule governing the format of the body of a pleading.

5.08[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The Eastern District has no specific local rule governing the format of the body of a pleading.

5.08[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The Northern District has no specific local rule governing the format of the body of a pleading.

5.08[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Averments in any pleading seeking relief must be made in numbered paragraphs, each of which must be limited, as far as is practicable, to a statement of a single set of circumstances. Responsive pleadings must contain numbered paragraphs, each of which corresponds to the paragraph to which it is directed [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(k)].

Cross References:

General requirements for pleadings (papers, fonts, margins, etc.), see § 5.13. Discussion of page limitations, see § 5.11.

For applicable motions, see 4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 10:50- 10:53 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.09

5.09 Formatting Body of Motion.

5.09[1] Body of Motion. There are no formal formatting requirements in the Federal Rules for motions. However, the body of a motion must [Fed R Civ P 7(b)]:

- Be in writing, unless made during hearing or trial.
- State the grounds with particularity.
- Set forth the relief or order sought.

5.09[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Body of Motion.

5.09[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. In all cases not listed as exempt in Local Rule 16-11, and except in connection with discovery motions (which are governed by LR 27-1 through 37-4), and except in connection with applications for temporary restraining orders, counsel contemplating the filing of any motion must first contact opposing counsel to discuss thoroughly, preferably in person, the substance of the contemplated motion and any potential resolution. If the parties are unable to reach a resolution that eliminates the necessity for a hearing, counsel for the moving party must include in the notice of motion a statement to the following effect [CD Cal Civ LR 7-3]: "This motion is made following the conference of counsel pursuant to L.R. 7-3 which took place on (date)."

The notice of motion must contain a concise statement of the relief or court action that the movant seeks [CD Cal Civ LR 7-4]. There must be served and filed with the notice of motion (a) a brief but complete supporting memorandum and the points and authorities on which the moving party may rely; and (b) the evidence on which the moving party will rely in support of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 7-5].

5.09[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The Eastern District has no specific local rule governing the format of the body of a motion.

5.09[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The motion must be filed in one document, not exceeding 25 pages in length [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)]. In the first paragraph of the motion, there must be notice of the motion, including date and time of the hearing [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(2)]. In the second paragraph, there must be a concise statement of what relief or action the movant seeks [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(3)]. The succeeding paragraphs must contain points and authorities in support of the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)(4); ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(a)]. Every motion must be accompanied by an affidavit or a declaration [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(d); ND Cal Civ LR 7-5(b)], along with a proposed order unless excused by the judge who will hear the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(c)].

Example:

The affidavit or declaration should have the appropriate references to the record. Moreover, extracts from depositions, interrogatory answers, requests for admissions, and other evidentiary matters must be appropriately authenticated by an affidavit or declaration [Republic W. Ins. Co. v. Fireman's Fund Ins. Co. (ND Cal 2003) 241 F Supp2d 1090, 1095].

5.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Each motion or other request for ruling by the court must be accompanied by a separate motion and notice of motion and another separate document captioned "Memorandum of Points and Authorities in support of [the motion]." When appropriate, a separate statement of material facts must be supplied [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(f.1)].

Cross References:

General requirements for pleadings (papers, fonts, margins, etc.), see 5.13. Discussion of page limitations, see 5.11. Discussion of pretrial motion requirements, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see §§ 26.12 -26.36.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.10

5.10 Formatting Signature Block.

5.10[1] Signature Is Required. Every pleading, written motion, and other paper must be signed by at least one attorney of record in the attorney's individual name, or by the party if not represented by counsel [Fed R Civ P 11(a); see Giebelhous v. Spindrift Yachts (9th Cir 1991) 938 F2d 962, 966 (signature is more than simply a typewritten name)]. The filed document must bear the original signature [Perea v. California (ED Cal 2000) 2000 US Dist LEXIS 22528, at *2]. Each paper must state the signer's address, e-mail address, and telephone number [Fed R Civ P 11(a)], so if that information is not in the heading, it must appear in the signature block.

Warning:

An unsigned pleading, motion, or other paper may be stricken if the omission is not promptly corrected after being called to the attention of the person whose signature is required [Fed R Civ P 11(a)].

The signature on a pleading, motion, or other paper certifies among other things, that to the best of the signer's knowledge, information, and belief, formed after a reasonable inquiry, that (1) the document is not being presented for any improper purpose; (2) the claims, defenses, other legal contentions are warranted by existing law or by a nonfrivolous argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law or the establishment of new law; (3) its allegations or defenses and facts are supported by the evidence; and (4) the denials of factual contentions are warranted on the evidence, or if specifically identified, are reasonably bases on a lack of information and belief [Fed R Civ P 11(b)].

5.10[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Signature Block.

5.10[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. All documents, except declarations, must be signed by the attorney for the party or by the party appearing pro se. The name of the person signing the pleading, motion, or other paper, must be typed below the signature line [CD Cal Civ LR 11-1]. If the person signing the document is a member of a law firm, the firm's name should also be indicated [CD Cal Civ LR 83-2.5.2].

5.10[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The name of the person signing the pleading, motion, or other paper must be clearly typed below the signature line [ED Cal Gen LR 131(b)].

5.10[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The Northern District has no specific local rule governing the formatting of the signature block.

5.10[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The name of the person signing the pleading, motion, or other paper must be clearly typed below the signature line [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.5)].

Cross References:

Form of signature block, see § 5.33. Discussion of the consequences of signing a complaint, see Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, 6.14[4]. Coverage of sanctions, see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions and Ch. 34, Other Sanction Provisions.

5.10[3] Electronic or Facsimile Signature May Be Allowed or Required. A district court, by local rule, may permit or require pleadings, motions, and other papers to be filed, signed, or verified by electronic means. A local rule may require electronic filing only if it allows for reasonable exceptions [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(3)].

5.10[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Electronic or Facsimile Signature.

5.10[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Documents may not be transmitted by facsimile directly to the clerk for filing but copies of facsimile documents are accepted for filing, provided that they are legible. The original of any faxed document, including the original signature of the attorney, party, or declarant, must be maintained by the filing party until the conclusion of the case, including any applicable appeal period, subject to being produced on order of the court [CD Cal Civ LR 11-2].

5.10[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

Appearance of electronic signature. If a document is submitted via portable electronic media, signatures must appear either as a facsimile of the original in a scanned document placed on portable electronic media, or on a separate, scanned signature page if the document was published to.pdf and then placed on portable electronic media. If the signature is submitted on a separate scanned page, the docket will reflect the submission of the signature page [ED Cal Gen LR 131(b)]. Documents that are normally signed by more than one attorney may be prepared by obtaining approval from any other attorney to state that the other attorney has authorized submission of the document on his or her behalf. The submitting attorney must place the other attorney's signature on the electronic filing by using "/s/ counsel's name (as authorized on _____ date)." Alternatively, the submitting attorney may obtain the original signatures from all attorneys who are filing the document, scan the signature page(s) only and file it as an attachment to the document with an explanation on the signature page of the filed document [ED Cal Gen LR 131(e)].

Attorney's electronic signature. Anything filed using an attorney's name, login and password will be deemed to have been signed by that attorney [ED Cal Gen LR 131(c)]. An objection to the authenticity of an attorney's electronic signature generally must be made within 21 days of receipt of a notice of electronic filing, but may be made at a later time for good cause shown by an attorney exercising due diligence [ED Cal Gen LR 131(d)].

Non-attorney's electronic signature. When a document, such as an affidavit, must be signed by one not an attorney of record in the case, it may be submitted in electronic format bearing a "/s/" and the person's name on the signature line along with a statement that the submitting attorney has a signed original, e.g., "/s/ John Smith (original signature retained by attorney Mary Doe)." The submitting attorney has the duty to then maintain the original. This procedure may also be followed when a hybrid electronic/paper document is filed, i.e., the conventionally served document may also contain an annotated signature in lieu of the original [ED Cal Gen LR 131(f)].

Warning:

A Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system took effect in the Eastern District on January 3, 2005. Unless specifically excused, electronic filing of all documents is mandatory for attorneys [see ED Cal Gen LR 133(a)]. A user's manual is available for download on the district's web site: www.caed.uscourts.gov.

Facsimile signatures. An image of an original manual signature appearing on a facsimile copy filed with the court in accordance with local rule constitutes an original signature for all purposes [ED Cal Gen LR 133(e)(1)].

Warning:

Do not fax documents directly to the clerk's office or chambers without an express order to do so. Documents faxed to the clerk or to chambers will not be filed, lodged, received, returned, or acknowledged absent an express order of the court [ED Cal Gen LR 133(e)(4)].

5.10[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. In lieu of filing an original document under ND Cal Civ LR 5-1(a), a party or a party's agent may file with the court a facsimile copy of the original document. For purposes of the rule, the image of the original manual signature appearing on the fax copy filed pursuant to the rule will constitute an original signature for all court purposes [ND Cal Civ LR 5-2].

Under Fed R Civ P 5(e), the clerk will accept in certain actions documents filed, signed, or verified by electronic means that are consistent with General Order No. 45 ("Electronic Case Filing"), found at the court's website: www.cand.uscourts.gov [ND Cal Civ LR 5-4]. In cases subject to the Electronic Case Filing rules, all papers must be served electronically [ND Cal Civ LR 5-5(b); see also General Order No. 45].

5.10[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

Facsimile signature. The image of the original manual signature on a facsimile copy constitutes an original signature for all court purposes. The original signed document may not be substituted except by court order. The original signed document must be maintained by the attorney of record for a period of no less than the maximum allowable time to complete the appellate process. On request, the original document must be provided to other parties for review [SD Cal Civ LR 5.3(d)]. The party sending a facsimile must maintain a transmission record from the fax machine sending the fax stating the telephone number of the receiving machine, the number of pages sent, the transmission time, and an indication of errors in transmission [SD Cal Civ LR 5.3(e)].

Electronic signature of registered user. The attorney's user log-in and password required to electronically file documents serves as that attorney's signature. The name of the attorney must be preceded by an "s/" and typed in the space where the signature would otherwise appear [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 2(f)(1)].

Non-registered signatories. If an original document requires the signature of a non-registered signatory, the filing party must scan and electronically file the document and must retain the original document for five years from the date the document is signed, or for one year after all time periods for appeal have expired, whichever is greater. The original paper document must be provided to the court on request [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 2(f)(2)].

Cross Reference:

Coverage of electronic or facsimile filing, see §§ 5.29 -5.31.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.11

5.11 Determining Page Limitations for Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

5.11[1] Federal Rules Do Not Set Page Limitations. The Federal Rules do not establish page limitations for pleadings, motions, or other papers. However, the local rules do set some page limitations. In addition, individual judges' standing orders should be consulted [see 5.04[3]].

5.11[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Page Limitations.

5.11[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. No brief may exceed 25 pages in length, excluding indices and exhibits, unless permitted by order of the judge [CD Cal Civ LR 11-6]. Any memorandum of points and authorities or any brief exceeding 10 pages, excluding exhibits, must be accompanied by an indexed table of contents setting forth headings or subheadings contained in the body of the brief and by an indexed table of cases, statutes, rules, and other authorities cited in the brief [CD Cal Civ LR 11-8]. Appendices may not include any matters that properly belong in the body of the memorandum or brief [CD Cal Civ LR 11-7].

5.11[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Briefs exceeding 15 pages in length must be accompanied by an indexed table of contents related to the heading or subheadings and by an indexed table of statutes, rules, ordinances, cases, and other authorities cited [ED Cal Gen LR 133(k)].

5.11[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. A motion must be a "one filed document" not exceeding 25 pages in length [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b)]. Briefs or memoranda filed with opposition papers may not exceed 25 pages of text and the reply brief or memorandum may not exceed 15 pages of text. The only exception is on the court's express order, made on the party's request, which must be made before the due date [ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(b)].

5.11[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Briefs or memoranda in support of or in opposition to a motion may not exceed 25 pages in length without leave of the judge who will hear the motion. No reply memorandum may exceed 10 pages without leave of the judge. Briefs and memoranda exceeding 10 pages must contain a table of contents and a table of authorities cited [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(h); see also Nunley v. Los Angeles (9th Cir 1995) 52 F3d 792, 795 (opposition memorandum failed to include table of contents)].

Warning:

Page limitations should not be considered as establishing minimum limits. Counsel should consider the length of the paper in relation to the nature of the issues addressed.

Cross References:

Motion requirements, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see §§ 26.12 -26.36.

See also 1 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 7:222 (Matthew Bender).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.12

5.12 Formatting Exhibits.

5.12[1] Exhibits May Be Attached. Statements in a pleading may be adopted by reference in a different part of the same pleading or in another pleading or in any motion [Fed R Civ P 10(c)]. The rule is permissive in nature; there is no requirement to attach documents [Hirata Corp. v. J.B. Oxford & Co. (SD Ind 2000) 193 FRD 589]. Certain written instruments attached to pleadings may be considered part of the pleading [Fed R Civ P 10(c)]. Generally, affidavits and declarations are not allowed as pleading exhibits unless they form the basis of the complaint [see United States v. Ritchie (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 903, 908].

When evaluating a motion to dismiss, a court may consider documents attached to the complaint [Fed R Civ P 10(c); see also Norm Thompson Outfitters, Inc. v. Starcrest Prods. (D Or 2004) 2004 US Dist LEXIS 8383, at *3].

Even if a document is not attached to a complaint, it may be incorporated by reference into a complaint if the plaintiff refers extensively to the document or the document forms the basis of the plaintiff's claim, and a defendant may offers these documents in a motion to dismiss [see, e.g., Van Buskirk v. CNN (9th Cir 2002) 284 F3d 977, 980 ("Under the 'incorporation by reference' rule of this Circuit, a court may look beyond the pleadings without converting the Rule 12(b)(6) motion into one for summary judgment"); United States v. Ritchie (9th Cir 2003) 342 F3d 903, 908].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of motions to dismiss, see Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, see §§ 8.14 -8.22.

Judicial determination of the effect of an exhibit prevails over the pleader's denomination of the exhibit [Ott v. Home Sav. & Loan Ass'n (9th Cir 1958) 265 F2d 643, 646 n1].

5.12[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Exhibits.

5.12[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Nonpaper physical exhibits may not be attached to any document. A nonpaper physical exhibit must be placed in a secure container identified by the case name and number, and the name, address and telephone number of the submitting party, and lodged with a separately filed Notice of Lodging [CD Cal Civ LR 11-5.1]. CM/ECF users must first file electronically a Notice of Manual Filing setting forth the reason(s) why the exhibit cannot be filed electronically and present the Notice of Electronic Filing with the exhibits to be lodged [CD Cal Civ LR 11-5.1]. A paper exhibit, unless compliance is impracticable, must be scanned and electronically filed with the document to which it relates and must be numbered at the bottom of each page consecutively to the principal document [CD Cal Civ LR 11-5.2]. The exhibit number must be placed immediately above or below the page number on each page of the exhibit. Exhibits must be tabbed in sequential order [CD Cal Civ LR 11-5.3]. Exhibits must not exceed 8 1/2 x 11 inches in size and should be scanned and electronically filed whenever practicable. Exhibits that are too large to scan shall be folded in such a manner as not to exceed an 8 1/2 x 11 inch sheet, and filed as paper exhibits. CM/ECF users must file electronically a Notice of Manual Filing setting forth the reason(s) why the exhibit cannot be filed electronically and present the Notice of Electronic Filing with the exhibits to be filed or lodged [CD Cal Civ LR 11-5.4]. An exhibit smaller than 81/2 x 11 inches must be attached to an 81/2 x 11 inch sheet [CD Cal Civ LR 11-5.5].

5.12[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: Eastern District Requirements. Unless otherwise permitted or required to be filed in paper format by local rule, all pretrial exhibits must be submitted in electronic format [ED Cal Gen LR 138(c)(1)]. Absent special circumstances, exhibits that are black and white documents should be scanned in black and white with a scanner configured at 200 dots per inch, if possible. Documents in color in their original form, such as photographs, may be scanned in color [ED Cal Gen LR 138(c)(2)].

Warning:

If many color exhibits will be filed, you must seek special procedures for filing at the time of the scheduling conference or from the court at a reasonable time before the due date of the filing. Special filing procedures for color exhibits may include an exemption from the usual electronic size of a filed document or filing in paper [ED Cal Gen LR 138(c)(2)].

While there is no presumptive page limit on exhibits submitted in electronic format, voluminous scanned attachments and exhibits may have to be divided into separate attachments. Current size limits for documents submitted through CM/ECF can be found through the Court Information link on the Court's CM/ECF Welcome Page [ED Cal Gen LR 138(c)(1)].

When submission of exhibits must be in paper format due to exceptional circumstances, the attorney must apply to the court for an exemption from the electronic submission requirement. The application must be filed no later than seven days before the filing is due. If the application is granted and exhibits are submitted in paper form, the exhibits must be filed and served and the attorney must also electronically file a one-page.pdf document entitled "Notice of attachment" which refers to the electronically filed document related to the exhibits, states that the exhibits are being filed in paper, and specifies the date of the order permitting filing in paper. Finally, the attorney must also file a CD-ROM or other appropriate media containing the filed exhibits for the clerk's office use [ED Cal Gen LR 138(d)].

5.12[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The Northern District has no specific local rule governing the format of exhibits.

5.12[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

Paper filing. Unless compliance is impracticable, exhibits must be paged in consecutive numerical order, and each page must show the exhibit number either immediately above or below the page number. Unless the physical nature of the exhibit render it impracticable, exhibits must be attached to the documents to which they belong and must be readable without detaching the exhibits from the accompanying document. Each document containing exhibits must have, as a cover page to the exhibits, a table of contents indicating the page number of each of the succeeding exhibits. If exhibits are tabbed, the tabs must be at the bottom and not at the sides [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(e)].

Cross Reference:

4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Form 10:73 (Matthew Bender).

Electronic filing. Exhibits must be submitted electronically as attachments. Exhibits over a certain length must be submitted in multiple segments. Each document containing exhibits must have, as a cover page to the exhibits, a table of contents indicating the page number of each of the succeeding exhibits. A party may seek leave for the non-electronic filing of exhibits which are not convertible to electronic form [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 2(k)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.12A

5.12A Privacy Protection for Filings Made With the Court

[1] Certain Personal Information Must Be Redacted From Filings. In compliance with the E-Government Act of 2002 and Fed R Civ P 5.2, federal courts must make electronic filings--as well as paper filings that are scanned into electronic form--available online through the courts' websites. However, electronic filing and storage create privacy concerns, since court filings frequently contain personal information such as social-security or bank account numbers.

Unless the court orders otherwise, filings that contain an individual's social-security number, taxpayer identification number, date of birth, the name of an individual known to be a minor, or a financial-account number, may include only [Fed R Civ P 5.2(a)]:

- the last four digits of a social-security number or taxpayer identification number;
- the year of an individual's birth;
- the minor's initials; and
- the last four digits of the financial-account number.

The court may issue a protective order requiring redaction of additional information or limiting remote electronic access to a particular filing [Fed R Civ P 5.2(e)].

The redaction requirement applies to both electronic and paper filings, and includes trial exhibits filed with the court [Fed R Civ P 5.2, Advisory Committee Note of 2007]. The court may order that a filing be made under seal without redaction [Fed R Civ P 5.2(d)]. A party also has the option of filing an unredacted copy under seal; the copy must be kept as part of the court record [Fed R Civ P 5.2(f)].

A redacted filing may be filed together with a reference list that identifies and specifies a unique identifier for each item [Fed R Civ P 5.2(g)]. The list is filed under seal and may be identified as of right.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of redaction requirement, see Vol. 1, Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 5.2.02 -5.2.06 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

[2] Certain Information Is Exempt From Redaction Requirement. The redaction requirement does not apply to the following information [Fed R Civ P 5.2(b)]:

- a financial-account number that identifies the subject property in a forfeiture proceeding;
- the official record of an administrative, agency, or state-court proceeding;
- the record of a court or tribunal proceeding that was not subject to the redaction requirement when originally filed;
- social-security appeals and immigration cases [see Fed R Civ P 5.2(c)], or filings under seal [Fed R Civ P 5.2(d)];
- a pro se filing in a habeas corpus action.

A party waives Rule 5.2 protection by filing his or her own information without redaction and not under seal [Fed R Civ P 5.2(h)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of exceptions to redaction requirement, see Vol. 1, Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 5.2.02 -5.2.06 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.13

5.13 General Formatting Requirements for All Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

5.13[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

Paper. All pleadings, motions, and other papers, must be submitted on opaque, unglazed, white paper (includes recycled paper) not less than 13-point weight. The paper must be 81/2 by 11 inches, numbered on the left margin with no more than 28 lines per page. Only one side of the paper may be used. The lines of each page must be double spaced and numbered consecutively with line 1 beginning at least one inch below the top edge of the paper [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.2].

Pagination. All documents must be numbered consecutively at the bottom of each page [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.3].

Typeface. A proportionally spaced type face or a monospaced typeface may be used. A proportionally spaced face must be 14-point or larger unless the court orders otherwise. A monospaced face may not contain more than 101/2 characters per inch [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.1.1].

Printing. All pleadings, motions, and other papers, including exhibits, presented for filing with the court, must be typewritten or printed, or prepared by a photocopying or other duplicating process that will produce clear and permanent copies equally legible to printing, in black or dark blue ink [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.1].

Original and Copies. The original must be labeled as the original and consist entirely of the original pages, except as otherwise allowed by the local rules (such as exhibits that consist of copies). All copies are to be clearly identified as such. [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.4].

Pre-Punching, Riders, and Backing of Documents. All documents presented for filing or lodging in paper format, and mandatory chambers copies of electronic case filings, must be prepunched with two normal-size holes (approximately 1/4" diameter), centered 23/4 inches apart, 1/2 to 5/8 inches from the top edge of the document. All pages must be firmly bound at the top and backed. The backing may not extend more than one inch below the pages bound and must have the short title of the document typed in the lower right-hand corner [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.5].

Spacing. The typing or printing on the document must be double spaced, including citations and quotations [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.6]. However, footnotes may be single spaced [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.6.1], as may real property descriptions [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.6.2], and corporate surety bonds on printed forms if they comply generally with the space requirements of the rule [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.6.3].

Quotations. Quotations from cited cases or other authorities more than one sentence in length must be clearly indented not less than 5 spaces nor more than 20 spaces [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.7].

Citation to authorities:

- All citations to Acts of Congress must include a parallel citation to the United States Code by title and section [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.9.1].

- All citations to regulations must include a citation to the Code of Federal Regulations by title and section, and the date of the promulgation of the regulation [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.9.2].

- The initial citation of any United States Supreme Court case must include parallel citations to the United States Reports, Lawyer's Edition, and Supreme Court Reporter. Federal Reporter, Federal Supplement, or Federal Rules Decisions citations must be used when available. Initial state court citations must include both the official reports and any regional reporter published, but California parallel citations may be limited to the official reports and California Reporter [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.9.3].

Redaction of personal data identifiers. Except as specifically excluded by rule from this requirement, parties must refrain from including, or when inclusion is necessary, partially redact the following personal data identifiers from all documents, exhibits, and attachments filed with the court [CD Cal Civ LR 79-5.4]:

- If an individual's social security number must be included, only the last four digits of that number should be used.

- If a minor child must be mentioned, only the initials of that child should be used.

- If an individual's date of birth must be included, only the year should be used.

- If a financial account is relevant, it should be identified by name or type of account and the financial institution where maintained, and only the last four digits of the account number should be indicated.

Exception--Social Security Cases and Specified Documents:

All social security cases are excluded from the redaction requirement. In addition, all of the following documents are not to be included in the public case file and are excluded from the redaction requirement: unexecuted summonses or warrants, supporting applications, and affidavits; pretrial bail reports; presentence investigation reports; statements of reasons in the judgment of conviction; juvenile records; documents containing identifying information about jurors or potential jurors; financial affidavits filed in seeking representation pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act; ex parte requests for authorization of investigative, expert, or other services pursuant to the Criminal Justice Act, and sealed documents [CD Cal Civ LR 79-5.4].

When a party must file a document containing any of the listed personal data identifiers, that filing must comply with one of the three following methods of protecting that sensitive and private information [CD Cal Civ LR 79-5.4]:

- A redacted version of the document excluding those identifiers may be filed.

- A redacted version of the document with unique identifiers (e.g., A, B, C) used in place of the personal data identifiers, along with a reference list filed under seal that indicates the correspondence between the unique identifiers and the personal data identifiers may be filed.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Central District requirements for filing document under seal, see § 22.44[2][a].

If a redacted version is filed, counsel must maintain the unredacted document, exhibit, or attachment in his or her office pending further order of the court or resolution of the action, including appeal, if any. Counsel must, at the request of opposing counsel or parties, provide a copy of the complete document [CD Cal Civ LR 79-5.4].

Warning:

The responsibility for redacting or placing under seal any document, exhibit, or attachment that contains a personal data identifier rests solely with counsel and the parties. This responsibility extends to court forms. Counsel must carefully review any such document, exhibit, or attachment: a failure to redact or place under seal as required may subject counsel and client to the full disciplinary power of the court [CD Cal Civ LR 79-5.4].

5.13[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

Electronically filed documents. Documents electronically filed must be created and formatted to comply in appearance and presentation, both in an electronic format and when printed, with the requirements for conventionally filed paper documents [ED Cal Gen LR 130(a); see ED Cal Gen LR 130(b) (requirements for conventionally filed documents)].

Paper. All documents presented for conventional filing must be on white, unglazed opaque paper of good quality with numbered lines in the left margin, 81/2 by 11 inches in size. All documents must be flat and unfolded (except when necessary for presentation of exhibits) [ED Cal Gen LR 130(a), (b)].

Printing. Matter contained in documents must be presented by typewriting, printing, photographic, or offset reproduction, or other clearly legible process, without erasures or interlining that materially defaces the document [ED Cal Gen LR 130(a), (b)].

Double-Spacing. Documents must be double-spaced except for the identification of counsel, title of the action, category headings, footnotes, quotations, exhibits, and descriptions of real property [ED Cal Gen LR 130(a), (c)].

Quotations. Quotations of more than 50 words must be indented [ED Cal Gen LR 130(a), (c)].

Pagination. Each page of a document must be numbered consecutively at the bottom and contain a brief description of the document on the same line [ED Cal Gen LR 130(a), (d)].

Binding; Prepunching. All documents presented for conventional filing must be bound at the top left corner and prepunched with two holes (approximately 1/4" diameter), centered 23/4" apart, 1/2 to 5/8" from the top edge of the document [ED Cal Gen LR 130(b)].

Citation to authorities. The local rules require citations in papers as follows [ED Cal Gen LR 133(i)]:

- Citation of federal cases must be to the United States Supreme Court Reports, Federal Reports, Federal Supplement, or Federal Rules Decisions, if so reported, and must indicate the court and the year of decision.

- Citations to federal statutes must be to the United States Code, if so codified.

- Citations to federal administrative rules must be to the Code of Federal Regulations, if so codified, or to the Federal Register, if published in it.

- Citations to California cases must be to the official California Reports.

- Citation of other state cases must be to the National Reporter System, showing state and year of decision.

- Other parallel citations may be added. If a case, statutory, or regulatory authority is relied on that has not been reported, published, or codified in any of the foregoing references, or that is not available through Lexis/Westlaw, a copy of that authority must be appended to the brief or other document in which it is cited. The requirement includes, but is not limited to, the Statutes at Large, the Public laws of the United States, the California Administrative Code, administrative regulations not contained in the Code of Federal Regulations or the Federal Register, and decisions and other matters published in specialized reporter services.

Redaction of personal data identifiers. Parties must omit, or when inclusion is necessary, partially redact the following personal data identifiers from all pleadings, documents, and exhibits, whether filed electronically or in paper, unless the court orders otherwise [ED Cal Gen LR 140(a)]:

- If a minor child is mentioned, use only the initials of the child when federal or state law require the use of initials or when the specific identity of the minor is not necessary to the case or document.

- Financial accounts should be identified by name or type of account and the financial institution where maintained but only the last four digits of the account number should be included.

- Only the last four digits of an individual's social security number should be used.

- For date of birth, only the year should be used.

Information must also be redacted when federal law requires redaction [ED Cal Gen LR 140(a)(vi)]. If the court orders, a reference list may be filed with a filing that contains redacted information. The reference list identifies each item of redacted information and specifies an appropriate identifier that uniquely corresponds to each redacted item. The reference list must be filed under seal [ED Cal Gen LR 140(c)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Eastern District requirements for filing document under seal, see § 22.44[2][d].

5.13[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

Paper. All papers presented for filing (except for reporter transcripts), must be on top-centered, two-hole punched, 81/2 inch by 11 inch white opaque paper of original or recycled bond quality with numbered lines, and must be flat, unfolded (unless necessary for the presentation of exhibits), without back or cover, and firmly bound at the top [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(c)(1)].

Double-spacing; lines per line. Text must be on one side only and must be double spaced with no more than 28 lines per page, except for the identification of counsel, title of the case, footnotes, and quotations [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(c)(2)].

Typeface and size. Typewritten text may be no less than standard pica or 12-point type in the Courier font or equivalent, spaced 10 characters per horizontal inch. Printed text produced on a computer or word processor may be proportionally spaced, provided the type may not be smaller than 12-point standard font (e.g., Times New Roman). The text of footnotes and quotations must also conform to these font requirements [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(c)(2)].

Footer. Each paper (except exhibits) filed with the court must bear a footer on the lower margin of each page stating the title of the paper ("Complaint," etc.) or some clear and concise abbreviation of it. Once the court assigns a case number to the action, the case number must be included in the footer [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(c)(3)].

Citation to authorities. Unless the assigned judge directs otherwise, all papers must include [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(d)]:

- A parallel citation to the United States Code by title, section, and date if there is a citation to an Act of Congress.
- A citation to the Code of Federal Regulations by title and sections, and the date of the promulgation of the regulation, if there is a city to a U.S. regulation.
- A citation to the a U.S. Reports, Lawyer's Edition, or Supreme Court Reporter must be used if available. For cases not yet available in those formats but available electronically, the citation must indicate the database, year, and any screen or page numbers, if assigned.
- A citation to other federal court reporters (Federal Reporter, Federal Supplement, or Federal Rules Decisions) unless an alternative reporting service is widely available. For cases not yet available in those formats but available electronically, the citation must indicate the database, year, and any screen or page numbers, if assigned.
- A citation to either a state court reporter or an official regional reporting services. For cases not available in those formats but available electronically, the citation must indicate the database, year, and any screen or page numbers, if assigned.

Some citations prohibited. Any order or opinion designated as "NOT FOR CITATION," under LR 7-13 or similar rule of any other issuing court, may not be cited, either in written submission or oral argument, unless relevant under the doctrines of law of the case, res judicata, or collateral estoppel [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(e); ND Cal Civ LR 7-14].

Redaction of personal data identifiers. Parties must refrain from including, or must redact when inclusion is necessary, the following personal data identifiers from all pleadings and other papers filed in the public file in civil actions, including exhibits, whether filed electronically or in paper, unless otherwise ordered by the court [ND Cal Civ LR 3-17(a)(1)]:

- If an individual's social security number must be included, only the last four digits of that number should be used.
- If a minor child is mentioned, only the initials of the child should be used.
- If an individual's date of birth must be included, only the year should be used.

- If financial account numbers are relevant, only the last four digits of those numbers should be included.

A party wishing to file a document containing any of these personal data identifiers may file an unredacted document or a reference list under seal pursuant to ND Cal Gen Order 62, pending revision of ND Cal Civ LR 79-5. The reference list must contain the complete personal data identifiers and the redacted identifiers used in their place in the public filing. The unredacted document or reference list which will be retained by the court as part of the record. A redacted copy must be filed for the public file [ND Cal Civ LR 3-17(d)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Northern District requirements for filing document under seal, see § 22.44[2][b].

5.13[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

Paper. Documents filed in paper format must be flat and unfolded, without backing sheet, typed on one side of the document, or prepared by means of a duplicating process on opaque, unglazed white paper, and must be letter size.

Printing; Fonts. Printed text, produced on a word processor or other computer, may be proportionally spaced, provided the type is no smaller than 12-point standard font (e.g., Times New Roman). The text of footnotes and quotations must also conform to these font requirements [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(a)].

Double-Spacing; One side of page. Each document must be double spaced on one side of the document [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(a)].

No Interlineations. There must not be any erasures or interlineations on the document unless they are noted by the clerk or judge by marginal initials at the time of filing [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(c)].

Quotations. Quotations in excess of three lines must be indented and single spaced [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(a)].

Binding; Prepunching. All documents presented for filing in paper format must be firmly bound at the top and prepunched with two normal-size holes (approximately 1/4" diameter), centered 23/4" apart, 1/2 to 5/8" from the top edge of the document [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(d)].

Citations. When citing Acts of Congress, the corresponding United States Code citations must be cited. When regulations are cited, the appropriate citations to the Code of Federal Regulations, including code number, page, section, and the date of the regulation's promulgation, must be included [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(l)].

Compliance. Unless a waiver is first obtained from the court, the clerk will not file any document that does not comply with the requirements of the local rules. The document will be endorsed as "lodged" until approved by the court [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(f)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

78 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
II. FORMATTING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.14

5.14 Clerk May Not Reject Improperly Formatted Papers.

The clerk may not refuse to file a paper solely because it is not presented in proper form as required by the Federal rules or by any local rule or practice [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(4); see Fed R Civ P 83(a)(2), (b)]. Fed R Civ P 5(d)(4) mandates that the clerk accept documents despite technical violation [McClellon v. Lone Star Gas Co. (5th Cir 1995) 66 F3d 98, 101 ; Dielsi v. Falk (CD Cal 1996) 916 F Supp 985, 990].

Warning:

Keep in mind, however, that the court may reject papers on this basis, or sanction counsel for failing to follow format requirements.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCounterclaimsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsCross-ClaimsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
III. SERVING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.15

5.15 CHECKLIST: Serving Pleadings, Motions, And Other Papers.

☐ Determine if service is required.

○ If the court lacks personal jurisdiction over a party, service of the summons and complaint or of an initial pleading on a new party to be added to the action is governed by Fed R Civ P 4. These pleadings are:

☐ Complaints;

☐ Counterclaims against the plaintiff and a new party to be served on the new party;

☐ Crossclaims against a new party;

☐ Amended complaints asserting a claim against a party over whom the court has no jurisdiction;

☐ Amended complaints against a party who is in default for failure to appear, if the amendments to the complaint add new or additional claims for relief against the party in default.

○ After personal jurisdiction is established by service of summons and complaint, service must be made on each of parties for these pleadings:

☐ Answers and amended answers;

☐ Complaints in joinder;

☐ Crossclaims against parties in the proceedings;

☐ Amended complaints that contain no new or additional claims for relief against a party who has previously appears, unless the party is in default (if in default, amended complaint must be served as required by Fed R Civ P 4).

☐ For seizure actions, service on person having custody or possession of property at the time of its seizure, if no person is named as a defendant.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 4, 5(a), 13(a), (g)

Discussion:
See § 5.17

☐ Determine who must receive service of pleadings, motions, and other papers. Service must be made on:

○ Party if not represented by counsel.

○ Attorney for a represented party unless the court orders service on the party.

○ Attorney of record for class action.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(b)

Discussion:
See § 5.16

☐ Determine when written motion must be served and who must be served.

○ Every written motion must be served on each party, except:

☐ Motions that may be heard ex parte.

☐ With regard to parties who are in default for failure to appear.

○ Affidavits in support of or opposition to the motion must also be served on each party.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5

Discussion:
See § 5.18

☐ Determine what discovery papers must be served on parties.

○ Every discovery paper required to be served on a party must be served on all parties who have made an appearance.

○ Service is required for:

☐ Notice to take deposition before filing action.

☐ Notice to take deposition on oral examination.

☐ Deposition on written questions.

☐ Interrogatories.

☐ Answers to interrogatories.

☐ Requests for production of documents, electronically stored information, and things.

☐ Written responses to requests for production of documents, electronically stored information, and things.

☐ Requests for entry on land for inspection and other purposes.

☐ Requests for admissions.

☐ Responses to requests for admission.

○ Court may waive service if there are numerous parties.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5, 27(a)(2), 30(b), 31(a)(3), 33(a), (b)(2), 34(a)(1), (a)(2), 34(b), 36(a)

Discussion:
See § 5.19

☐ Determine what other papers must be served on all parties. Except for those parties in default for failure to appear, all parties must be served:

- ○ Written notices.
- ○ Appearances.
- ○ Demands.
- ○ Offers of judgment.
- ○ Designations of record on appeal.
- ○ Trial memoranda.
- ○ Settlement offers.
- ○ Writs of garnishment.
- ○ Grand jury investigations.
- ○ Affidavits in support of motion.
- ○ Substitutions of parties due to death of a party.
- ○ Federal disclosure statements, if important to proceedings.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5, 6(c), 10, 25(a), 38(b)

Discussion:
See § 5.20

☐ Determine who must be served with orders.

- ○ Every order required by its terms to be served on a party must be served on all parties.
- ○ An order does not need to be served on a party in default for failure to appear.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(a)

Discussion:

See § 5.21

☐ Decide on a permissible method of service.

○ Service by hand delivery may be made by:

☐ Handing papers to the attorney or to the party if pro se.

☐ Leaving papers at the attorney's office or pro se party's office with a clerk or other person in charge of the office.

☐ If no one is in charge, leaving papers in a conspicuous place in the office.

☐ If office is closed or the person to be served has no office, leaving the paper at the person's dwelling house or usual place of abode with someone of suitable age and discretion residing there.

○ Service by U.S. Mail may be made by:

☐ Mailing a copy of the paper to the attorney or the pro se party at the last known address for the attorney or the pro se party.

☐ Service is complete when the document is placed in the custody of the U.S. Postal Service or dropped into a post office box.

☐ Nonreceipt or nonacceptance of the paper has no effect on validity of service.

☐ If nonreceipt can be proved, court has discretion to extend any applicable response period pertaining to the served paper.

○ Service may be made by alternative delivery methods (including electronic service) if:

☐ Person being served has provided written consent to alternative method of delivery (including electronic service).

☐ Local rule authorizes court's transmission facility to make service and if party consents in writing to the alternative method.

○ Service by leaving paper with clerk of court may be made if attorney's address or the party's address is unknown.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 5(b)

Discussion:
See §§ 5.22[1] -[7]

☐ Determine possibility of service being waived.

○ If there is a large number of defendants, court, on motion or its own initiative, may order that:

☐ Service of the pleadings and replies of the defendants do not need to be made as between the defendants.

☐ Any crossclaims, counterclaims, or matter constituting avoidance or affirmative defense contained in a crossclaim, or counterclaim will be denied or avoided by all other parties and the filing of the pleading and service on the plaintiff constitutes notice to all parties.

○ If party was not served with a particular paper but appears and contests issues raised in that paper, service may perhaps be waived by court order if the party later raises lack of service.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(a), (c)

Discussion:
See § 5.22[8]

☐ Timely file certificate of service with court.

○ Except for discovery and mandatory disclosure papers, all papers following the complaint that are required to be served must be filed with the court, along with a certificate of service, within reasonable period of time.

○ Certificate of service, at a minimum, must contain:

☐ Date of service;

☐ Manner of service; and

☐ Certificate by the serving party that service of the pleading or paper was made.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(d)

Discussion:
See § 5.23

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuance

80 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
III. SERVING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.16

5.16 Determining Who Must Receive Service.

Fed R Civ P 5 requires service on all parties [Fed R Civ P 5(b); see, e.g., Buchanan v. Sherrill (10th Cir 1995) 51 F3d 227, 228 ; Lehman v. Kornblau (EDNY 2001) 206 FRD 345, 346-347, aff'd sub nom. Lehman v. Doe (2d Cir 2003) 2003 US App LEXIS 9809 , cert. denied, 540 US 1219 (2004) (rule does not apply to nonparties)]. In general, the following must receive service of pleadings, motions, and other papers:

- Pro se party. If a party is not represented by an attorney, service must be made directly on the pro se party [see Fed R Civ 5(b)].

- Party represented by counsel. If a party is represented by an attorney, service of all pleadings and papers other than the summons and complaint must be directed to the party's attorney, unless the court orders otherwise [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(1); McKinney v. Waterman S.S. Corp. (1st Cir 1991) 925 F2d 1, 5 ; cf. Irwin v. Department of Veterans Affairs (1990) 498 US 89, 93, 111 S Ct 453, 112 L Ed2d 435 (no material difference between service received by attorney or by attorney's office)].

- Party represented by multiple counsel. Service on any one of the counsel constitutes valid service [see Buchanan v. Sherrill (10th Cir 1995) 51 F3d 227, 228].

- Class actions. Service must be made on the attorney of record [see United States v. Pend Oreille Pub. Util. Dist. No. 1 (9th Cir 1994) 28 F3d 1544, 1553 , cert. denied, 514 US 1015 (1995)].

Warning:

Deadlines for filing are not met by service without filing [Galerie v. M & T Bank Corp. (NDNY 1998) 183 FRD 363, 364 (serving pleadings on adversaries does not satisfy filing or filing deadlines)]. For filing requirements, see 5.24 -5.30.

Cross Reference:

Ch. 7, Service of Summons.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
III. SERVING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.17

5.17 Serving Pleadings.

5.17[1] Serving Complaint or Initial Pleading. Service of the summons and complaint or of an initial pleading on a new party to be added to the action is governed by Fed R Civ P 4, which applies when the court lacks personal jurisdiction over a party [Fed R Civ P 4]. Rule 4 pleadings are:

- Complaints;
- Counterclaims against the plaintiff and a new party, which must be served on the new party [see Fed R Civ P 13(a)];
- Crossclaims against a new party [see Fed R Civ P 13(g)];
- Amended complaints asserting a claim against a party over whom the court has no jurisdiction [see Fed R Civ P 5(a)];
- Amended complaints against a party who is in default for failure to appear, if the amendments to the complaint add new or additional claims for relief against the party in default [Fed R Civ P 5(a)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of service of summons and Fed R Civ P 4, see Ch. 7, Service of Summons.

5.17[2] Serving Pleading After Original Complaint. After personal jurisdiction is established by service of the summons and complaint, service of subsequent pleadings must be served on each of the parties [Fed R Civ P 5(a)].

These pleadings are:

- Answers and amended answers;

- Complaints in joinder;
- Crossclaims against parties in the proceedings;
- Amended complaints that contain no new or additional claims for relief against a party who has previously appeared, unless party is in default.

An amended complaint may be served under Fed R Civ P 5 in the same manner as any other pleading if the original complaint is properly served and the defendants appeared in the first instance [Employee Painters' Trust v. Ethan Enters. (9th Cir 2007) 480 F3d 993, 995-996]. However, if the party is in default for failure to appear and the pleadings assert new or additional claims for relief, then an amended complaint must be served under Fed R Civ P 4 [Fed R Civ P 5(a)].

Exception:
The court may dispense with service on all parties if there are numerous defendants [Fed R Civ P 5(a)].

In an action begun by seizure of property, in which no person needs to be or is named as a defendant, any service required to be made before the filing of an answer, claim, or appearance must be made on the person having custody or possession of the property at the time of its seizure [Fed R Civ P 5(a)].

5.17[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Serving Pleadings.

5.17[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Complaints (including third-party complaints, counterclaims, and crossclaims) and other initiating documents in civil cases must be served in the traditional manner on paper rather than electronically [CD Cal Civ LR 3-2]. All manually filed civil initiating documents must be e-mailed in PDF format within 24 hours to the civil intake mailbox for the appropriate Court Division [CD Cal Civ LR 3-2].

Except as otherwise provided by court order or if required by federal treaties or statutes, process may not be presented to the United States Marshal for service [CD Cal Civ LR 4-2].

Exception:
The Marshal must serve process on behalf of the government, or an officer or agency of the government [CD Cal Civ LR 4-3].

5.17[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Unless a party expressly waives service, copies of all documents submitted to the court must be served on all parties to the action, except that no service need be made on parties in default for failure to appear unless the paper involved asserts new or additional claims for relief against the defaulting parties [ED Cal Gen LR 135(d)].

Under the Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system which took effect in the Eastern District on January 3, 2005, and which is generally mandatory for attorneys, conventional service is required when a party is in pro propria persona, or when counsel has not consented to electronic service [ED Cal Gen LR 135(b)]. Otherwise, service of electronic documents, including pleadings other than the complaint, is by the "Notice of Electronic Filing" [see ED Cal Gen LR 135(a)]. There is no electronic service of a complaint [ED Cal Gen LR 135(g)(1)]. A user's manual for the CM/ECF system is available for download on the district's web site: www.caed.uscourts.gov.

Cross Reference:
Discussion of electronic service, see § 5.22[6][b].

5.17[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The ND Cal has no specific local rule governing the serving of pleadings.

5.17[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Service of an amended complaint, counterclaim, crossclaim, or third-party complaint, must be made on each new party to the litigation, whether or not multiple parties are represented by a single attorney. Service of all other pleadings authorized by Fed R Civ P 5 is complete when served on the attorney for a party. If an attorney represents multiple parties, service of one copy of a pleading, other than an amended complaint, an amended counterclaim, or an amended third-party complaint, constitutes service on all parties represented by that attorney, unless the court orders otherwise [SD Cal Civ LR 4.1(d); see Fed R Civ P 5].

Cross References:

Service on defendants of different capacities, see Ch. 7, Service of Summons, §§ 7.27 -7.31. Further discussion of serving the summons and complaint, see Ch. 6, Drafting the Summons and Complaint, § 6.19. See also Ch. 8, Answers and Responsive Motions Under Rule 12, § 8.13; Ch. 11, Counterclaims, Crossclaims, and Replies, §§ 11.21, 11.39, 11.51; Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings, § 9.11[2].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
III. SERVING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.18

5.18 Serving Written Motions.

5.18[1] Written Motions Must Be Served. Every written motion, except for one that may be heard ex parte, must be served on each of the parties who have appeared in the proceeding, except for those in default for failure to appear [Fed R Civ P 5(a)].

5.18[2] Supporting or Opposing Papers Must Be Served With Written Motions. Affidavits supporting or opposing a motion must also be served on each party in accordance with Fed R Civ P 5.

5.18[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Serving Written Motions and Supporting or Opposing Papers.

5.18[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Unless otherwise provided by rule or court order, every motion must be presented by written notice of motion. The notice of motion must be filed with the clerk and served on each of the parties electronically or, if excepted from electronic filing, either by deposit in the mail or by personal service [CD Cal Civ LR 6-1].

Timing--Notice of Motion and Moving Papers:

If mailed, the notice of motion must be served not later than 31 days before the Motion Day designated in the notice. If served personally, or electronically, the notice of motion must be served not later than 28 days before the Motion Day designated in the notice. The Court may order a shorter time [CD Cal Civ LR 6-1; see also CD Cal Civ LR 78-1 (Motion Days)].

5.18[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Except as otherwise provided by the local rules, or as ordered or allowed by the district court, all motions must be noticed on the motion calendar of the assigned judge or magistrate judge. The moving party must file with the clerk a notice of motion, motion, accompanying briefs, affidavits, if appropriate, and copies of all documentary evidence that the moving party intends to submit in support of the motion [ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)].

Motions that are defectively noticed must be filed, but not set for hearing. The clerk must immediately notify the moving party of the defective notice and of the next available dates and time for proper notice and the moving party must file and serve a new notice of motion setting forth a proper time and date [ED Cal Civ LR 230(b)].

Timing--Opposition:

Opposition to the granting of a motion must be in writing and must be filed in duplicate with the clerk not less than 14 days before the hearing date. Opposition must be accompanied by proof of personal service on opposing counsel not less that 14 days before the (noticed or continued) hearing date. A responding party who has no opposition to the granting of the motion must serve and file a statement to that effect, specifically designating the motion in question. A party who opposes a motion must timely file its opposition in order to be entitled to be heard in opposition to the motion at oral arguments [ED Cal Civ LR 230(c); see ED Cal Gen LR 135].

Timing--Reply:

Not less than seven days before the date of hearing, the moving party may serve and file a reply to any opposition filed by a responding party [ED Cal Civ LR 230(d)].

Any counter-motion or other motion that a party may desire to make that is related to the general subject matter of the original motion must be served and filed with the clerk in the manner and on the date prescribed for the filing of opposition. If a counter-motion or other related motion is filed, the court may continue the hearing on the original and all related motions so as to give all parties reasonable opportunity to serve and file oppositions and replies to all pending motions [ED Cal Civ LR 230(e)].

Motions include all motions, applications, petitions, or other requests made to the Court for orders or other judicial activity [ED Cal Gen LR 101].

Under the Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system which took effect in the Eastern District on January 3, 2005, and is generally mandatory for attorneys, conventional service is required for the complaint [see ED Cal Gen LR 135(g)(1)], or when a party is in pro propria persona, or when counsel has not consented to electronic service [ED Cal Gen LR 135(b)]. Otherwise, service of electronic documents, including motions, is by the "Notice of Electronic Filing" [see ED Cal Gen LR 135(a)]. A user's manual for the CM/ECF system is available for download on the district's web site: www.caed.uscourts.gov.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of electronic service, see § 5.22[6][b].

5.18[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Except as otherwise ordered or permitted by the assigned judge or by the local rules, all motions (except those made during the course of a trial or hearing) must be filed, served, and noticed in writing on the motion calendar of the assigned judge for hearing not less than 35 days after service of the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(a)].

Factual contentions made in support or opposition to the motion must be supported by an affidavit or declaration and by appropriate references to the record. Extracts from depositions, interrogatories, answers, requests for admission and other evidentiary matters must be appropriately authenticated by an affidavit or declaration [ND Cal Civ LR 7-5].

An affidavit or declaration must contain only facts, must conform as much as possible to the requirements of Fed R Civ P 56(e), and must avoid conclusions and arguments [ND Cal Civ LR 7-5(b); Reiffin v. Microsoft Corp. (ND Cal 2003) 270 F Supp2d 1132, 1144 (court may strike all or part of declaration that fails to comply)].

Any opposition to a motion must be served and filed not less than 21 days before the hearing date [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(a)]. The opposition may include a proposed order, affidavits, or declarations, as well as a brief or memorandum under ND Cal Civ LR 7-4. Briefs or memoranda under ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(b) may not exceed 25 pages of text [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(a)].

If the party against whom the motion is directed does not oppose the motion, that party must file with the court a Statement of Nonopposition within the time for filing and serving any opposition [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(b)].

Any reply to an opposition must be served and filed by the moving party not less than 14 days before the hearing date. The reply may include affidavits or declarations, as well as a supplemental brief or memorandum under ND Cal Civ LR 7-4. Under ND Cal Civ LR 7-4(b), the reply brief or memorandum may not exceed 15 pages of text [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(c)].

5.18[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. A "motion" includes all motions, applications, petitions, or other requests made for judicial action [SD Cal Civ LR 1.1(e.16)], including orders to show cause [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(a)]. Motions are determined on the moving papers and oral argument, but a judge may, in his or her discretion, decide a motion without oral argument [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(d.1)].

Unless the court shortens the 28-day rule as otherwise specified in SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.6) (Social Security cases), any notice of motion, application or notice of other matter requiring the court's ruling, plus all necessary supporting documents, will require a minimum filing date of 28 days before the date for which the matter is noticed [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e)].

Example:

The notice of motion and supporting documents for a motion to be heard on a Monday must be filed and served no later than the fourth Monday before the Monday hearing. If the fourth Monday before the Monday hearing is a holiday, however, then the notice of motion and supporting documents are due five Fridays before the hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1)].

Timing--Opposition:

Except as otherwise specified in SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1), each party opposing a motion, application, or order to show cause, must file that opposition or statement of nonopposition with the clerk and serve the movant or the movant's attorney no later than 14 calendar days before the noticed hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.2)].

Example:

For a motion to be heard on a Monday, the opposition papers must be filed and served no later than two Mondays before the noticed hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.2)].

Except as otherwise specified in SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1), any reply memorandum must be filed and served not later than seven days before the date for which the matter is noticed [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.3)].

Example:

For a Monday hearing, the reply papers must be filed and served no later than by the Monday before the hearing. If the Monday before the Monday hearing is a holiday, however, then the reply papers would be due two Fridays before the hearing [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.3)].

For those parties not required or authorized by the court to file and serve motions and oppositions electronically using the Case Management/Electronic Filing System, unless otherwise provided by order of the court, the 60-day, 28-day, and 14-day periods of notice set forth in SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1), SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.2), and SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.6) are increased for purposes of mail service on opposing parties or counsel by three days. The extension of time for service does not extend court filing deadlines, and Fed R Civ P 6(d), which extends the time within which an act may or must be done, does not apply to the notice periods for service of motions and opposition by mail under the local rule [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.4)].

Cross References:

Discussion of electronic filing, see § 5.31[4]. Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, see § 26.23.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsAnswersCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsTime LimitationsExtensionsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
III. SERVING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.19

5.19 Serving Discovery Papers.

5.19[1] Service on Each Party Required. Every discovery paper required to be served on a party must be served on all parties who have made an appearance in the proceeding, unless the court orders otherwise [Fed R Civ P 5(a)]. The federal rules require the following discovery papers to be served:

- Notice to take deposition before action is filed [Fed R Civ P 27(a)(2)];
- Notice to take deposition on oral examination [Fed R Civ P 30(b)(1)];
- Deposition on written questions [Fed R Civ P 31(a)(3)];
- Interrogatories [Fed R Civ P 33(a)];
- Answers to interrogatories [Fed R Civ P 33(b)(2)];
- Requests for production of documents, electronically stored information, and things [Fed R Civ P 34(a)(1)];
- Written responses to requests for production of documents, electronically stored information, and things [Fed R Civ P 34(b)];
- Requests for entry on land for inspection and other purposes [Fed R Civ P 34(a)(2)];
- Requests for admissions [Fed R Civ P 36(a)];
- Responses to requests for admission [Fed R Civ P 36(a)].

Although not required, service of subpoenas issued with regard to discovery are frequently served on all counsel.

Cross References:

Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion; Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery.

5.19[2] Court May Waive Service of Discovery Papers. Service of every paper relating discovery is required to be served on every party unless the court otherwise orders [Fed R Civ P 5(a)].

Cross References:

Ch. 22, Regulation of Discovery by Stipulation or Motion; Ch. 23, Methods of Discovery.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuanceCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessTime LimitationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryGeneral Overview

84 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
III. SERVING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.20

5.20 Serving Other Papers.

Under Rule 5(a), the following must be served on all parties, except for those parties in default for failure to appear [Fed R Civ P 5(a)]:

- Written notices [see, e.g., Smiga v. Dean Witter Reynolds, Inc. (2d Cir 1995) 766 F2d 698, 702 , cert. denied, 475 US 1067 (1986)].
- Appearances.
- Demands [see Fed R Civ P 38(b)].
- Offers of judgment [see Fed R Civ P 68].
- Designations of record on appeal [see Fed R App P 10].
- "Similar papers," examples of which include:
  - Trial memoranda [see In re Segal (EDNY 1994) 163 BR 677, 679].
  - Offer to Allow Judgment under Fed R Civ P 68 [see Magnuson v. Video Yesteryear (9th Cir 1996) 85 F3d 1424, 1429].
  - Writ of garnishment [NLRB v. E.D.P. Med. Computer Sys. (2d Cir 1993) 6 F3d 951, 957].
  - Substitution of parties due to death of a party [Fed R Civ P 25(a)].
  - Death certificates, if important to proceedings [United States v. Miller Bros.

Constr. Co. (10th Cir 1974) 505 F2d 1031, 1034].

- Federal disclosure statements, if important to proceedings [Burton v. G.A.C. Fin. Co. (5th Cir 1976) 525 F2d 961, 963].

Cross Reference:

Service of motion papers, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.23.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofCertificatesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuanceCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessTime LimitationsGeneral Overview

85 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
III. SERVING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.21

5.21 Serving Orders.

Every order required by its terms to be served on a party must be served on all parties, except for those in default for failure to appear [Fed R Civ P 5(a)]. An "order" is considered any directive by the court other than a judgment, including oral, telephonic, written, and electronic directives [see, e.g., ED Cal Gen LR 101].

Cross Reference:

Preparing orders, see Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.55.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuanceCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessTime LimitationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePretrial MattersConferencesPretrial Orders

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
III. SERVING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.22

5.22 Permissible Methods of Service.

5.22[1] Service by Hand Delivery. The following methods are proper for service by hand delivery [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)]:

- Handing the papers to the attorney, or the party, if unrepresented;
- Leaving the papers at the attorney's office or if the party is unrepresented, at the party's office, with a clerk or other person in charge of the office [see Irwin v. Department of Veterans Affairs (1990) 498 US 89, 93, 111 S Ct 453, 112 L Ed2d 435 (no material difference between service on attorney or on attorney's office)];
- If no one is in charge, leaving the papers in a conspicuous place in the office;
- If the office is closed or the person to be served has no office, leaving the paper at the person's dwelling house or usual place of abode with some person of suitable age and discretion residing there.

Cross References:

Form of certificate of service, see § 5.37.

5.22[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Service by Hand Delivery.

5.22[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: Central District Requirements. The Central District has no specific local rule governing service by hand delivery.

5.22[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Service of all documents authorized to be served in accordance with Fed R Civ P 5 is complete when served on the attorney for the party, if the party has appeared and is represented by an attorney. If an attorney represents multiple parties, service of one copy on the attorney constitutes service on all parties represented by the attorney, unless the court orders otherwise. If multiple attorneys represent the same party or parties, service must be made on all attorneys, unless the court orders otherwise [ED Cal Gen LR 135(b)].

Under the Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system which took effect in the Eastern District on January 3, 2005, and which is generally mandatory for attorneys, conventional service, including service by hand delivery, is required only for the complaint [see ED Cal Gen LR 135(g)(1)], or when a party is in pro propria persona, when counsel has not consented to electronic service [ED Cal Gen LR 135(b)]. Otherwise, service of electronic documents is by the "Notice of Electronic Filing" [see ED Cal Gen LR 135(a)]. A user's manual for the CM/ECF system is available for download on the district's web site: www.caed.uscourts.gov.

Cross References:

Discussion of electronic service, see § 5.22[6][b]. Form of certificate of service, see § 5.37.

5.22[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Under the local rules or by court order, whenever a pleading or other paper must be served on the attorney or on the party by a certain date or time, the serving party may comply by actually hand delivering the pleading or paper within the meaning of Fed R Civ P 5(b) on or before the deadline. Delivery to a party may be made by private or commercial delivery service or electronically, such as by electronic mail or facsimile transmission [ND Cal Civ LR 5-5(b)].

Cross Reference:

Form of certificate of service, see § 5.37.

5.22[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. With regard to serving motions, unless otherwise provided by order of the court, the 60-day, 28-day, and 14-day periods of notice set forth in SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.1), (e.2), and (e.6) are increased for purposes of mail service on opposing parties or counsel by three days [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.4)].

Warning:

The extension of time for service does not extend court filing deadlines [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.4)]. Further, Fed R Civ P 6(d), extending the time within which an act may or must be done, does not apply to the notice period for service of motions and oppositions by mail under the local rule [SD Cal Civ LR 7.1(e.4)].

5.22[3] Service by U.S. Mail. Service by U.S. Mail is made by mailing a copy of the paper to the attorney or the pro se party at the last known address for the attorney or party [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(C); see Irwin v. Department of Veterans Affairs (1990) 498 US 89, 93, 111 S Ct 453, 112 L Ed2d 435 (no material difference between service on attorney or on attorney's office)].

Service is complete when the document is placed in the custody of the U.S. Postal Service or dropped into a post office box, not at the time of receipt. Nonreceipt or nonacceptance of the papers has no effect on the validity of the service [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(C)].

Example:

An answer placed in a mailbox on the service deadline date is timely served, even though the envelope is not postmarked until the next day, and received until two days later [Greene v. WCI Holdings Corp. (2d Cir 1998) 136 F3d 313, 315 , cert. denied, 525 US 983 (1998)].

If nonreceipt can be proved, it is within the court's discretion to extend any applicable response period pertaining to the served paper [Fed R Civ P 6(b)].

Distinguish:

Service by mail means service by the U.S. Postal Service. It does not include mail service by a private delivery company [see, e.g., Magnuson v. Video Yesteryear (9th Cir 1996) 85 F3d 1424, 1431-1432]. Note, however, that local rules may allow service by private delivery or fax [see, e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 5-5(a)(1) (delivery to a party may be made by private or commercial delivery service)]. See 5.22[5].

5.22[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: Service by U.S. Mail.

5.22[4][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The Central District has no specific local rule governing service by U.S. Mail.

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.38, Certificate of Service by U.S. Mail.

5.22[4][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The Eastern District has no specific local rule governing service by U.S. Mail.

Cross Reference:

Form, see § 5.38, Certificate of Service by U.S. Mail.

Under the Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system which took effect in the Eastern District on January 3, 2005, and which is generally mandatory for attorneys, conventional service, including service by U.S. Mail, is required only for the complaint [see ED Cal Gen LR 135(g)(1)], or when a party is in pro propria persona, or when counsel has not consented to electronic service [ED Cal Gen LR 135(b)]. Otherwise, service of electronic documents is by the "Notice of Electronic Filing" [see ED Cal Gen LR 135(a)]. A user's manual for the CM/ECF system is available for download on the district's web site: www.caed.uscourts.gov.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of electronic service, see § 5.22[6][b].

5.22[4][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Under the local rules or by court order, whenever a pleading or other paper must be served on the attorney for a party or on the party by a certain date or time, the serving party may comply by mailing the pleading or paper three days before the deadline. Service by mail may not be used if a local rule requires delivery of a pleading or paper [ND Cal Civ LR 5-5(a)(2)].

Cross Reference:

Form of certificate of summons by U.S. Mail, see § 5.38.

5.22[4][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The SD Cal has no specific local rule governing service by U.S. Mail.

Cross Reference:

Form of certificate of summons by U.S. Mail, see § 5.38.

5.22[5] Service by Alternate Delivery Methods, Including Electronic Service.

5.22[5][a] Consent to Alternative Delivery Methods. If the person being served has provided written consent to an alternative method of delivery, including electronic means, service may be made by that method of delivery. Service by fax is not valid, however, without written consent, and a fax will not be deemed service by mail or personal delivery [see, e.g., Salley v. Board of Governors, Univ. of N. Carolina (MDNC 1991) 136 FRD 417]. If authorized by local rule and consented to in writing, a party may make service through the court's transmission facilities [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(3)].

5.22[5][b] Completing Alternative Forms of Service. Service by electronic means is complete on transmission [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(E)]. If the party making service by electronic means learns that the attempted service did not reach the person to be served, however, service is not complete [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(E)]. Service by other consented means is complete when the person making service delivers the copy to the agency designated to make delivery [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(F)].

5.22[6] LOCAL PRACTICE: Service by Alternative Delivery Methods, Including Electronic Service.

5.22[6][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. When a document is filed electronically, a Notice of Electronic Filing (NEF) is automatically generated by the Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) system and sent by e-mail to all attorneys in the case who are registered as CM/ECF Users and have consented to electronic service. Service by this electronic NEF constitutes service under the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure for all attorneys who have consented to electronic service. Attorneys not registered for the CM/ECF system or who did not consent to electronic service must be served as otherwise provided by the Federal Rules. Documents excluded from electronic filing by General Order of the Court must be served using traditional means of service in the manner prescribed for such service in the Federal Rules [CD Cal Civ LR 5-3.3; see CD Cal Gen Order 08-02].

Example:

The district court abused its discretion in dismissing plaintiff's action for lack of prosecution, in the Central District of California in which CD Cal Civ LR 5-4 did not authorize service by electronic means except when the judge specifically designated the case as part of the experimental filing program. Plaintiff's counsel was notified of a show cause hearing only by email, the case was not part of the experimental program, and neither plaintiff or his counsel had consented to electronic service [Calderon v. IBEW Local 47 (9th Cir 2007) 508 F3d 883, 884].

Cross References:

Discussion of electronic filing of pleadings and motions, see § 5.31[1]. Discussion of attorney registration for electronic filing, see § 5.31[2].

5.22[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Electronic service of attorney-filed documents. Under the Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system which took effect in the Eastern District on January 3, 2005, and which is generally mandatory for attorneys, conventional service, including service by U.S. Mail, is required only for the complaint [see ED Cal Gen LR 135(g)(1)], or when a party is in pro propria persona, or when counsel has not consented to electronic service [ED Cal Gen LR 135(b)]. Otherwise, service of electronic documents is by the "Notice of Electronic Filing" [see ED Cal Gen LR 135(a)]. A user's manual for the CM/ECF system is available for download on the district's web site: www.caed.uscourts.gov.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of attorney registration for electronic filing, see § 5.31[2].

Electronic service through the "Notice of Electronic Filing." The "Notice of Electronic Filing" is a notice automatically generated by the CM/ECF system at the time a document is filed with the system. When counsel have consented to electronic service, that notice constitutes automatic service of the document on all who have consented. The notice sets forth the time of filing, the name of the parties and counsel filing the document, the type of document, the text of the docket entry, the names of the parties and/or attorneys receiving the notice, and an electronic link ("hyperlink") to the filed document that allows recipients to retrieve the document automatically [ED Cal Gen LR 135(a)].

Warning:

There is no electronic service of the summons and complaint. Service of the complaint must be made by conventional means [ED Cal Gen LR 135(g)(1)].

Attorney consents to electronic service unless he or she opts out in registration form. Attorney registration is mandated for the CM/ECF system. Unless the attorney opts out by making that designation on the registration form, filing the registration form is consent to receive and make service electronically and a waiver of the right to receive and make service by personal service or first class mail [ED Cal Gen LR 135(g)(1)]. Although the Eastern District does not require attorneys to serve or accept electronic service, the court strongly encourages the use of the practice [ED Cal Gen LR 135(g)(2)].

5.22[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Whenever a pleading or other paper must be served on an attorney or party, delivery to a party may be made by private or commercial delivery service or electronically, such as by facsimile transmission or electronic mail [ND Cal Civ LR 5-5(a)(1)].

In cases subject to the local rules or general orders regarding electronic case filing, all pleadings and papers must be electronically served in accordance with those local rules or general orders [ND Cal Civ LR 5-5(b); see General Order No. 45 "Electronic Case Filing," available from the court's website: www.cand.uscourts.gov].

5.22[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The Southern District has no specific local rule governing service by alternative delivery methods, including electronic service.

Cross References:

Form of consent to electronic service, see § 5.39. Discussion of electronic filing, see §§ 5.29 -5.31.

5.22[7] Service by Leaving Paper With Clerk of Court. If the attorney's address or the party's address is unknown, service may be made by leaving the paper with the clerk of the court [Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(D)]. However, because all pleadings, written motions, and other papers must be signed by the attorney of record or the party and must include the signer's address [Fed R Civ P 11(a)], this provision will rarely apply.

Cross Reference:

Form Certificate of Service see § 5.37.

5.22[8] Waiver of Service. If a party was not served with a particular paper but appears and contests issues raised in that paper, the court may perhaps waive the service requirement because of actual notice if the party later claims insufficient service. However, actual notice alone does not suffice, and a party must advance some other compelling circumstance, in addition to actual notice, in order for the court to excuse noncompliance with Rule 5 [Magnuson v. Video Yesteryear (9th Cir 1996) 85 F3d 1424, 1431-1432 ; In re Horizon Cruises Litig. (SDNY 2002) 2002 US Dist LEXIS 8679, at *5].

If there is an unusually large number of defendants, the court, on a motion or of its own initiative, may order any or all of the following [Fed R Civ P 5(c)]:

- Service of the pleadings and replies of the defendants need not be made as between the defendants.

- Any crossclaims, counterclaim, or matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense contained in a crossclaim or counterclaim will be denied or avoided by all other parties and the filing of the pleading and service on the plaintiff constitutes due notice to all parties.

5.22[9] LOCAL PRACTICE: Waiver of Service.

5.22[9][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The Central District has no specific local rule governing waiver of service.

5.22[9][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. Copies of all documents submitted to the court must be served on all parties to the action, unless a party expressly waives service [ED Cal Gen LR 135(d)].

5.22[9][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The Northern District has no specific local rule governing waiver of service.

5.22[9][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The Southern District has no specific local rule governing waiver of service.

Cross References:

Form of motion to dispense with service of pleadings, see § 5.40. Form of order dispensing with service of pleadings, see § 5.41.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuanceCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessTime LimitationsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
III. SERVING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.23

5.23 Proof of Service.

5.23[1] Rule 5 Requires Proof of Service. Except for discovery and mandatory disclosure papers [see 5.27], all papers following the complaint that are required to be served must be filed with the court, along with a certificate of service. The certificate of service must be filed within a reasonable time after service [Fed R Civ P 5(d)]. Though the federal rule does not provide specific requirements for the certificate of service, at a minimum the certificate should contain the following [Fed R Civ P 5(d)]:

- Date of service [Bowers v. E.J. Rose Mfg. Co (9th Cir 1945) 149 F2d 612, 614 , cert. denied, 326 US 753 (1945)];
- Manner of service; and
- Certificate by the serving party that service of the pleading or paper was made.

Warning:

Marking a letter at the bottom with a mere "cc" does not satisfy the proof of service requirement [Schwartz v. Marketing Publ'g Co. (D Conn 1994) 153 FRD 16, 20].

5.23[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Proof of Service.

5.23[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Proof of service must be made by declaration of the person accomplishing the service. The declaration must include the following information [CD Cal Civ LR 5-3.1]:

- The day and manner of service;
- Each person served and/or each entity served;
- The title of each document served; and

- The method of service employed (e.g., personal, mail, substituted, etc.).

If the proof of service or acknowledgment of service is attached to the original document, it must be attached as the last page of the document [CD Cal Civ LR 5-3.2].

5.23[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. When a document is electronically filed, the Notice of Electronic Filing will list the parties who have received it [ED Cal Gen LR 135(a)]. If an attorney has not opted out of electronic service, the Notice of Electronic Filing is automatic service of the document and no separate proof of service is required [see ED Cal Gen LR 135].

Cross References:

Discussion of electronic service, see § 5.22[6][b]. Discussion of electronic filing requirements, see § 5.31[2].

When service of any pleading, notice, or other paper document required to be served is made, proof of the service must be endorsed on or affixed to the original of the document when it is lodged or filed. Except for ex parte matters, a document may not be submitted for filing unless it is accompanied by proof of service. The proof of service must include the date, manner, and place of service [ED Cal Gen LR 135(d)].

Cross References:

Form of certificate of service, see § 5.37. Form of certificate of service by U.S. Mail, see § 5.38.

5.23[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Whenever any pleading or other paper presented for filing is required (or permitted by any rule or other provision of law) to be served on any party or person, it must bear or have attached to it either (1) an acknowledgment of service by the person served or (2) a certificate of service stating the date, place, and manner of service and the names, street address or electronic address of the persons served, certified by the person who made service, under 28 USC § 1746 [ND Cal Civ LR 5-6(a)].

Failure to provide an acknowledgment or certificate of service is not a ground for the clerk to refuse to file a paper or pleading. However, any document may be disregarded by the judge if an adverse party timely objects on the ground of lack of service [ND Cal Civ LR 5-6(b)].

Exception:

Under General Order No. 45, found at the court's website: www.cand.uscourts.gov, parties are not required to include a certificate or acknowledgment of service on registered ECF users when a document is filed electronically. Notification to those parties will be provided by the court's electronic filing system [see 5.29 -5.31].

Following service, the original signed copy of the certificate must be filed with the court. A proof of service that is not attached to the document served must have a separate cover page [see § 5.05].

Cross References:

Form of certificate of service, see § 5.37. Form of certificate of service by U.S. Mail, see § 5.38.

5.23[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Proof of service of all papers required or permitted to be served, other than those for which a particular method of proof is prescribed in the federal rules, must be filed in the clerk's office promptly and in any event before action is to be taken by the court or by the parties. The proof of service must show the day and manner of service and may be (1) written acknowledgment of service, on the original of the copy served, by the attorney or person in charge of his office receiving a copy of it; (2) by certificate of a member of the bar of the court; (3) by affidavit of the person who mailed or otherwise served the papers; or (4) by any other proof satisfactory to the court [SD Cal Civ LR 5.2].

If an affidavit of mailing or of service is attached to the original pleading, it must be attached underneath so that the character of the pleading is easily discernible [SD Cal Civ LR 5.2].

Failure to make the proof of service required does not affect the validity of the service. The court may at any time allow the proof of service to be amended or supplied unless it clearly appears that to do so would result in material prejudice to the substantial rights of any party [SD Cal Civ LR 5.2].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsElectronic MeansCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofCertificatesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuance

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
IV. FILING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.24

5.24 CHECKLIST: Filing Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers.

☐ All papers following complaint, required to be served on parties, must be filed with court.

- ○ Must be filed with a certificate of service.
- ○ Must be done within reasonable time after service.

☐ Check local rules to see if filing may or must be done electronically.

☐ Check local rules to see if additional copies need to be filed.

☐ Check local rules for filing outside of court's office hours (drop box filing).

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(d); 28 USC § 1914 (filing fees)

Discussion:
See § 5.25

☐ Motions, including applications, petitions, and other requests, must be in writing unless made during a hearing.

☐ Check local rules for the following motion requirements:

- Memorandum in support of motion and points and authorities.
- Deadlines for filing.
- Acceptable dates and times for hearing motions.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7

Discussion:
See § 5.26

☐ Prepare corporate disclosure statement for nongovernmental corporate parties stating either:

- Identifies parent corporation and any publicly held corporation that owns 10 percent or more of its stock.
- Indicates that there is not a parent corporation nor any publicly held corporation that owns 10 percent or more of its stock.

☐ Check local rules for proper format.

☐ File corporate disclosure statement with corporate party's first appearance, pleading, petition, motion, response, or other request.

☐ File supplemental statement if there are any subsequent changes.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7.1

Discussion:
See § 5.28

Forms:
See §§ 5.34 -5.36

☐ Discovery materials may not be filed until used in proceeding or if court orders filing. These include:

- Initial disclosure under Fed R Civ P 26(a)(1).
- Expert disclosures under Fed R Civ P 26(a)(2).
- Depositions.

- Interrogatories and answers to interrogatories.
- Requests for documents or to permit entry on land and responses to those requests.
- Requests for admissions and answers to those requests.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(d), 26(a)

Discussion:
See § 5.27

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsRule Application & InterpretationCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsElectronic MeansCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofCertificatesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuance

89 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
IV. FILING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.25

5.25 General Filing Requirements.

5.25[1] Requirements Under the Federal Rules. Except for discovery and mandatory disclosure papers [see 5.27], all papers after the complaint, required to be served on a party, must be filed with the court, along with a certificate of service. Filing must be within a reasonable time after service [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(1); see 28 USC § 1914 (filing fees)].

5.25[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: General Filing Requirements.

5.25[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Complaints (including third-party complaints, counterclaims, and crossclaims) and other initiating documents in civil cases must be filed, in duplicate, fees paid [CD Cal Civ LR 3-2]. All manually filed civil initiating documents must be e-mailed in PDF format within 24 hours to the civil intake mailbox for the appropriate Court Division [CD Cal Civ LR 3-2].

In those categories designated by General Order of the court, the clerk will accept in certain actions documents filed by electronic means. Documents filed properly by electronic means constitute written documents [CD Cal Civ LR 5-4; see 5.29 -5.31].

5.25[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. "Filed" means delivered into the custody of the clerk and accepted by the clerk for inclusion in the official records of the action. Documents are filed whether they are conventionally filed in paper or electronically filed [ED Cal Gen LR 101].

Complaint filings by attorneys in all civil actions must be performed electronically [ED Cal Gen LR 121(d); see 5.29 -5.31].

Except as expressly authorized in advance by the court, all documents presented for filing or lodging must be delivered to the clerk along with the required filing fee. The clerk will, when appropriate, deliver the documents to the judge or magistrate judge after docketing. Original documents to be filed or lodged may not be mailed to the chambers of a judge. If a particular document is to be brought to the immediate attention of the judge or magistrate judge assigned to the action, a copy may be mailed or otherwise delivered to the chambers, but the original must be presented to the clerk.

All documents delivered to the clerk for filing or lodging in the pending action must be presented to the clerk at the office where the action is pending. Documents submitted for filing in a pending action at an incorrect office will not be accepted [ED Cal Gen LR 133(d)(1); see ED Cal Gen LR 120, 121].

One additional legible conformed copy of all documents to be filed or lodged must be delivered to the clerk, for the court's use. However, in actions to be heard by a district court composed of three judges, three additional legible conformed copies of a brief and supporting documents must be delivered to the clerk. [ED Cal Gen LR 133(d)(2)].

Warning:

A Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system took effect in the Eastern District on January 3, 2005. Unless specifically excused, electronic filing of all documents is mandatory for attorneys [see ED Cal Gen LR 133(a)]. The clerk's office will not refuse to file a paper document proffered by an attorney but will scan it and notify the court that the document was filed in an improper format. An order to show cause may be issued regarding an attorney's disregard for the requirement to utilize electronic filing [see ED Cal Gen LR 133(d)(3)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of electronic filing requirements, see § 5.31[2].

5.25[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. "File" means delivery to and acceptance by the clerk of a document that is approved for filing and that will be included in the official files of the court and noted in the docket of the case. Under urgent circumstances and for good cause shown, judges may accept documents for filing [ND Cal Civ LR 1-5(e)].

Except for a drop-box filing or a facsimile filing [see 5.30], the original of any document required to be filed by the federal or local rules, together with a certificate of service, must be delivered to the office of the clerk during regular business hours in the courthouse in which the chambers of the judge to whom the action has been assigned is located. Filing by electronic means under ND Cal Civ LR 5-4 may be required in certain actions. The clerk will provide notification of any such requirement [ND Cal Civ LR 5-1(a); see 5.29 -5.31].

An extra copy of the document filed must be marked by counsel as the copy for "Chambers," and must be submitted at the same time to the office of the clerk in the courthouse in which the chambers are located. No chambers copy of electronically filed documents need be filed unless otherwise ordered by the assigned judge. If the matter has been assigned to a magistrate judge for hearing, an additional copy designated for delivery to the magistrate judge must be delivered to the office of the clerk in the courthouse in which the chambers of the magistrate judge are located [ND Cal Civ LR 5-1(b)].

Warning:

If the matter has been assigned to the Eureka venue, the extra copy must be mailed to the Eureka Magistrate Judge, P.O. Box 1306, Eureka California 95502 [ND Cal Civ LR 5-1(b)].

Certain documents may be filed after regular hours by depositing them in a drop-box [ND Cal Civ LR 5-1(a); see ND Cal Civ LR 5-3]. The court will maintain drop boxes at each division of the clerk's office, and the clerk will regulate the hours during which materials may be filed through the use of a drop box [ND Cal Civ LR 5-3(b)]. Most documents to be filed may be deposited in a clerk's office drop box, subject to the following ND Cal Civ LR 5-3(a)]:

- Any papers in support of or in opposition to a matter scheduled for hearing within seven days of filing may not be filed through use of a drop box;

- Initial pleadings or petitions to be filed before the assignment of a judge may be deposited for filing in a drop box at any courthouse of the district, with any applicable fee included in the form of a check;

- Except for documents in support of or in opposition to a matter scheduled for hearing within seven calendar days of filing, after regular hours of the clerk's office, a document to be filed under ND Cal Civ LR 5-1(a) may be filed by deposit in the clerk's office drop box at the courthouse in which the chambers of the assigned judge are located.

Before deposit of a document for filing in a drop box, the back side of the last page of the document must be stamped "Received" using the device available at the drop box. The document will be marked by the clerk as "Filed" on the same date indicated by the "Received" stamp, unless the "Received" date is a weekend or court holiday, in which case it will be marked as "Filed" on the first day following the weekend or court holiday. If the back side of the last page of the document has not been stamped "Received" with the device available at the drop box, the clerk will mark the document as "Filed" on the day the clerk emptied the drop box of the document [ND Cal Civ LR 5-5(c)].

5.25[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. "File" means the delivery to and acceptance by the clerk or the court clerk of a document that will be noted in the docket [SD Cal Civ LR 1.1(e.13); see SD Cal Civ LR 4.5 (fee schedule)].

Cross References:

Form of motion to compel filing of papers, see § 5.42. Form of order compelling filing of papers, see § 5.43.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsPersonal DeliveryCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsService Upon AgentsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofCertificatesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsIssuanceCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessTime LimitationsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
IV. FILING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.26

5.26 LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing Requirements for Motions.

5.26[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Each motion served and filed must include with the filing a brief but complete memorandum in support of the motion and the points and authorities on which the moving party will rely, along with evidence on which the moving party will rely in support of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 7-5].

The court may decline to consider a motion unless it meets the requirements of CD Cal Civ LR 7-4-7-8. On the first page of the notice of motion and every other document filed in connection with any motion, there must be included, under the title of the document, the date and time of the motion hearing and the name of the judicial officer before whom the motion has been noticed. The notice of motion must contain a concise statement of the relief or court action the moving party seeks [CD Cal Civ LR 7-4].

The court may decline to consider any memorandum or other paper not filed within the deadline set by order or local rule. Failure to file any required paper or to file it within the deadline, may be deemed consent to the granting or denial of the motion [CD Cal Civ LR 7-12]. A party filing any document in support of, or in opposition to, any motion noticed for hearing, after the time for filing it has expired, is subject to the sanctions of CD Cal Civ LR 83-7 and the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [CD Cal Civ LR 7-13].

Cross References:

General filing requirements, see §§ 5.13[1]; 5.25. See also §§ 5.08; 5.09; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.23.

5.26[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. "Motion" includes all motions, applications, petitions, or other requests made to the court for orders or other judicial activity [ED Cal Gen LR 101].

Warning:

A Case Management/Electronic Case Files (CM/ECF) docketing and filing system took effect in the Eastern District on January 3, 2005. Unless specifically excused, electronic filing of all documents is mandatory for attorneys [see ED Cal Gen LR 133(a)]. A user's manual is available for download on the district's web site: www.caed.uscourts.gov.

Cross References:

General filing requirements, see §§ 5.13[2], 5.25[2][b]. Discussion of electronic filing requirements, see § 5.31[2]. See also §§ 5.08; 5.09; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.23.

5.26[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Except as otherwise ordered or permitted by the assigned judge or by the local rules, and except for motions made during the course of a trial or a hearing, all motions must be filed, served, and noticed in writing on the motion calendar of the assigned judge for hearing not less than 35 days after service of the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(a)].

Any opposition to a motion must be served and filed not less than 21 days before the hearing date [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(a)]. The opposition may include a proposed order, affidavits, declarations, as well as a brief or memorandum under ND Cal Civ LR 7-4. If the party against whom the motion is directed does not oppose the motion, that party must file with the court a Statement of Nonopposition within the time for filing and serving any opposition [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3].

Any reply to an opposition must be served and filed by the moving party not less than 14 days before the hearing date. The reply may include affidavits or declarations, as well as a supplemental brief or memorandum under ND Cal Civ LR 7-4 [ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(c)].

Except for cases for which the court has issued a temporary restraining order, a party who has filed a motion may file a notice continuing the originally noticed hearing date for that motion to a later date if no opposition has been filed and the notice of continuance is filed before the date on which the opposition is due under ND Cal Civ LR 7-3(a) [ND Cal Civ LR 7-7(a)].

After an opposition to a motion has been filed, the noticed hearing date may be continued to a subsequent date as follows [ND Cal Civ LR 7-7(b)]:

- When the parties affected by the motion have not previously stipulated to continue the hearing date, unless the hearing date has been specially set by the judge, the parties affected by the motion may stipulate in writing pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 6-1(a) to continue the hearing date; or

- On order of the assigned judge, either on the court's own motion or pursuant to ND Cal Civ LR 56-1, to permit a party time to respond to papers filed under Fed R Civ P 56(c).

Within seven days after service of an opposition, the moving party may file and serve a notice of withdrawal of the motion. On the filing of a timely withdrawal, the motion will be taken off the calendar. If there is no timely filing of withdrawal, the court may proceed to decide the motion [ND Cal Civ LR 7-7(e)].

Cross References:

General filing requirements, see § 5.25[2][c]. See also §§ 5.08; 5.09; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.23.

5.26[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. "Motion" includes all motions, applications, petitions, or other requests made for judicial action [SD Cal Civ LR 1.1(e.16)].

Cross References:

General filing requirements, see § 5.25[2][d]. See also §§ 5.08; 5.09; Ch. 26, Pretrial Motion Practice, § 26.23.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeSupporting MemorandaCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeTime Limitations

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
IV. FILING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.27

5.27 Filing Requirements for Discovery Material.

5.27[1] Filing Not Permitted Until Papers Used in Proceeding or Court Has Ordered Filing. Discovery materials must not be filed with the court until they are used in the proceeding or if the court orders the filing. Only those papers after the complaint that are required to be served on a party are filed with the court [Fed R Civ P 5(d); In re NASDAQ Market-Makers Antitrust Litig. (SDNY 1996) 164 FRD 346, 351]. Materials subject to this filing prohibition include [Fed R Civ P 5(d)]:

- Initial disclosures under Fed R Civ P 26(a)(1).
- Expert disclosures under Fed R Civ P 26(a)(2).
- Depositions.
- Interrogatories and answers to interrogatories.
- Requests for documents or to permit entry on land, and responses to those requests.
- Requests for admission, and answers to those requests.

5.27[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Filing Requirements for Discovery Matters.

5.27[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. If a discovery request or response is required for use in a proceeding, only that part of the document that is in issue shall be filed. All these discovery documents must be held by the attorney pending use for the period specified in CD Cal Civ LR 79-3 for the retention of exhibits, unless otherwise ordered by the court. Discovery documents lodged with the court for a motion or for a trial that are not used must be returned by the clerk to the party lodging the document at the conclusion of the motion or trial [CD Cal Civ LR 26-2; see CD Cal Civ LR 26-3 et seq. for exhibits in discovery, including numbering and designation].

5.27[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

Depositions. Depositions taken orally or by written question, subpoenas and notices, proofs of service, and related documents are not to be filed with the clerk unless and until there is a proceeding in which the document or proof of service is at issue. Depositions are not filed through the Case Management/Electronic Case Filing system. Before or on the filing of a document making reference to a deposition, counsel relying on the deposition must ensure that a courtesy hard copy of the original of the entire deposition has been submitted to the clerk for use in chambers. Alternatively, counsel may submit an electronic copy of the deposition (in lieu of the courtesy paper copy) to the email box of the judge or magistrate judge, and concurrently email or transmit the deposition to all other parties [ED Cal Gen LR 133(j); ED Cal Civ LR 250.1(a); see Fed R Civ P 30(f)].

Interrogatories. Interrogatories, responses, and their proofs of service may not be filed with the clerk unless and until there is a proceeding in which the interrogatories or proof of service is at issue. If required in a proceeding, only that part of the set of interrogatories and answers that is in issue shall be filed [ED Cal Civ LR 250.2(c)].

Production of documents. Requests for production of documents, responses, and their proofs of service may not be filed with the clerk unless and until there is a proceeding in which the request, response, or proof of service is at issue. When required in a proceeding, only that part of the request for production, response, or proof of service that is at issue may be filed [ED Cal Civ LR 250.3(c)].

Requests for admission. Requests for admission, responses, and proofs of service may not be filed with the clerk unless and until there is a proceeding in which the document or proof of service is at issue. When required in a proceeding, only that part of the request for admission and response that is in issue may be filed [ED Cal Civ LR 250.4(c)].

Subpoenas duces tecum. Subpoenas duces tecum, responses and proofs of service may not be filed with the clerk unless and until there is a proceeding in which the request, response, or proof of service is at issue. When required in a proceeding, only that part of the subpoena duces tecum, response, or proof of service that is in issue may be filed [ED Cal Civ LR 250.5(d)].

5.27[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The party propounding interrogatories, requests for production of documents, or requests for admission must retain the original of the discovery request and the original response. That party becomes the custodian of the materials. Fed R Civ P 30(f) identifies the custodian of the original transcript or recording of a deposition [ND Cal Civ LR 26-1].

5.27[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

Certificate of Compliance. At the time of filing any motion with respect to Fed R Civ P 26-37, counsel for the moving party must serve and file a certificate of compliance with SD Cal Civ LR 26.1 (parties have met and conferred concerning all disputes) [SD Cal Civ LR 26.1(b)].

Interrogatories. Unless the filing is ordered by the court on motion of a party or on its own motion, interrogatories, requests for interrogatories, requests for production and the answers to them do not need to be filed unless and until they are used in the proceedings [SD Cal Civ LR 33.1(c)].

Requests for admissions. Unless the filing is ordered by the court on motion of a party or on its own motion, requests for admissions and requests for production and the answers to them do not need to be filed unless and until they are used in the proceedings [SD Cal Civ LR 36.1(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsAdmissionsResponsesCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsInterrogatoriesGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsOral DepositionsCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsRequests for Production & InspectionCivil ProcedureDiscoveryMethodsWritten Depositions

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
IV. FILING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.27A

5.27A LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal--Time of Filing.

5.27A[1] Electronic Filing Is Complete When Attorney Receives System-Generated Notice. A document filed electronically is not considered filed until the filing attorney receives a system-generated "Notice of Electronic Filing" [ED Cal Gen LR 134(a)].

Warning:

E-mailing a document to the clerk's office or the court is not "filing" [ED Cal Gen LR 134(a)].

Distinguish:

When permitted, a paper filing is complete on presentation to the clerk's office [ED Cal Gen LR 134(a)].

5.27A[2] Document Is Deemed Filed on Particular Day If Filed Before Midnight. A document will generally be deemed filed on a particular day if filed before midnight (Pacific Time) on that business day. However, if the time of day at which the document is filed is of the essence, the court may order that a document be filed by a time certain [ED Cal Gen LR 134(b)].

5.27A[3] Internet Filings May Be Made 24 Hours a Day. Filings via the Internet may be made 24 hours a day [ED Cal Gen LR 134(b)]. However, documents, including motions for temporary restraining orders, filed electronically after normal business hours will not be reviewed by the court until the next business day at the earliest [ED Cal Gen LR 134(d)].

5.27A[4] Portable Electronic Media May Be Submitted During Business Hours. Portable electronic media may be submitted over the counter at the clerk's office only during the clerk's business hours [ED Cal Gen LR 134(b); see ED Cal Gen LR 177].

5.27A[5] Filing Is Permitted on Next Business Day Following Technical Failure of Court's Site. The Eastern District Electronic Case Files site will be deemed to have been subject to a technical failure on a given day if the site is unable to accept filings continuously or intermittently over the course of any period of time greater than two hours after 2:00 p.m. on a given day [ED Cal Gen LR 134(c)].

Consider:

Electronic media may be filed with the clerk's office during a time of technical failure [ED Cal Gen LR 134(c)].

A party may file on the next business day following a technical failure that is announced on the Eastern District web site. If the failure was not announced on the web site, the party must file the document as promptly as possible and seek appropriate relief from the court [ED Cal Gen LR 134(c)(1)]. However, service must still be completed in a timely manner even if filing is impossible due to a technical failure. The document must be served directly on all parties by email, overnight delivery, or other expeditious means [ED Cal Gen LR 134(c)(2)]

Distinguish:

Technical problems on the attorney's end are not a "technical failure" that will excuse an untimely filing. If the document cannot be filed electronically due to a technical problem on the attorney's end, the document must be filed electronically from another computer or in portable electronic media format at the clerk's office. If electronic filing is not possible in any form, the attorney may file a paper document with the clerk; the cover page must state that electronic filing was not possible due to technical reasons. The document must then be filed electronically as soon as possible [ED Cal Gen LR 134(c)(3)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsElectronic MeansCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofCertificatesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessTime LimitationsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
IV. FILING PLEADINGS, MOTIONS, AND OTHER PAPERS.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.28

5.28 Filing Corporate Disclosure Statement.

5.28[1] Rule 7.1 Requires Corporate Disclosure Statement. To enable judges to make informed decisions concerning possible disqualifications based on financial interest, all nongovernmental corporate parties must file two copies of a statement that either [Fed R Civ P 7.1(a)]:

- Identifies any parent corporation and any publicly held corporation that owns 10 percent or more of its stock; or

- Indicates that there is not a parent corporation nor any publicly held corporation that owns 10 percent or more of its stock.

The corporate disclosure statement must be filed with the corporate party's first appearance, pleading, petition, motion, response, or other request addressed to the court [Fed R Civ P 7.1(b)]. In addition, corporate parties must file a supplemental statement updating any changes in the disclosure information [Fed R Civ P 7.1(b)].

Cross References:

Forms, see §§ 5.34 -5.36.

See also 1 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Forms 7.1:2, 7.1:3 (Matthew Bender).

5.28[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Identifying Interested Parties.

5.28[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. To enable the court to evaluate possible disqualification or recusal, counsel for all non-governmental parties must file with their first appearance an original and two copies of a Notice of Interested Parties, which must list all persons, associations of persons, firms, partnerships, and corporations (including parent corporations) that may have a direct, pecuniary interest in the outcome of the case, including any insurance carrier that may be liable in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, for a judgment that may be entered in the action, or for the cost of defense [CD Cal Civ LR 7.1-1]. Counsel is under a continuing obligation to file an amended certification if any material change occurs in the status of interested parties (for example, through merger or acquisition, or change in carrier) which may be liable for any part of a judgment [CD Cal Civ LR 7.1-1].

Cross References:

Form of notice of interested parties, see §§ 5.35, 5.44. Form of corporate disclosure statement, see § 5.34.

5.28[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The ED Cal has no specific local rule governing corporate or interested parties disclosure statements.

Cross Reference:

Form of corporate disclosure statement, see § 5.34.

5.28[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. Each party to any civil proceeding must file a "Certification of Interested Entities or Persons" so that judges may evaluate any need for disqualification or recusal early in the course of any case. The requirement does not apply to any governmental entity or its agencies [ND Cal Civ LR 3-16(a)].

On making a first appearance in any proceeding before the court, a party must file the "Certification of Interested Entities or Persons" with the clerk of the court [ND Cal Civ LR 3-16(b)].

The certification must disclose any persons, associations of persons, firms, partnerships, corporations (including parent corporations), or other entities other than the parties themselves known by the party to have either a financial interest of any kind in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to the proceeding or any other kind of interest that could be substantially affected by the outcome of the proceeding [ND Cal Civ LR 3-16(b)(1)]. The terms "proceeding" and "financial interest" have the meaning assigned by 28 USC § 455(d)(1), (3), and (4) [ND Cal Civ LR 3-16(b)(2)].

If a party has no disclosure to make, that party must make a certification stating that no interest is known other than that of the named parties to the action [ND Cal Civ LR 3-16(b)(3)].

The certification of Interested Entities of Persons must take the form set forth in ND Cal Civ LR 3-16(c). Certification must be included as a distinct section at the end of the complaint, answer, or other initial pleading [ND Cal Civ LR 3-16(c)].

Cross References:

Form of certification of interested entities or persons, see § 5.36. Form of corporate disclosure statement, see § 5.34.

5.28[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Any non-governmental corporate party to an action in the Southern District must file a statement identifying all its parent corporations and listing any publicly held company that owns 10 percent or more of the party's stock. A party must file a separate statement entitled "Notice of Party With Financial Interest" with its initial appearance in the court and must supplement the statement within a reasonable time of any change in the information [SD Cal Civ LR 40.2].

Cross Reference:

Form of corporate disclosure statement, see § 5.34.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:

Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofCertificatesCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessTime LimitationsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedureJudicial OfficersJudgesDisqualifications & RecusalsGroundsFinancial Interests

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
V. ELECTRONIC OR FACSIMILE FILING

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.29

5.29 CHECKLIST: Electronic or Facsimile Filing of Pleadings and Motions.

☐ Check local rules and general orders to see if electronic or facsimile filing is allowed or required in court or in type of case.

☐ Check local rules regarding electronic signatures.

☐ Locate fax filing agency if use of agent is required.

☐ Retain original signed document for period of no less than maximum allowable time to complete appellate process.

☐ Maintain transmission record indicating:

- ○ Telephone number of receiving machine.
- ○ Number of pages sent.
- ○ Transmission time.
- ○ Indication of errors in transmission.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 5(d)(3)

Discussion:

See §§ 5.30, 5.31

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsElectronic MeansCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofCertificatesLegal EthicsProfessional ConductElectronic Communications

95 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
V. ELECTRONIC OR FACSIMILE FILING

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.30

5.30 Local Rules May Permit or Require Electronic or Facsimile Filing.

Filing by facsimile or other electronic means may be allowed or required by local rule. A local rule may require electronic filing only if it allows for reasonable exceptions. The means of filing must be consistent with technical standards, if any, that the Judicial Conference of the United States establishes. A paper filed by electronic means in compliance with local rule constitutes a written paper [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(3)].

Example:

In the Northern District of California, "electronic filing" refers to the process of logging in to the court web site and completing a transaction that includes the uploading of the document comprising the filing to the court's system. Sending a document by email does not constitute an electronic filing [ND Cal Gen Order 45].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsElectronic MeansLegal EthicsProfessional ConductElectronic Communications

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
V. ELECTRONIC OR FACSIMILE FILING

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.31

5.31 LOCAL PRACTICE: Electronic or Facsimile Filing of Pleadings and Motions.

5.31[1] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The Central District has authorized electronic filing of pleadings and papers. The home page for the District's electronic case filing system is at http://support.cacd.uscourts.gov/. The General Order governing electronic case filing, CD Gen Order 08-02, is at http://support.cacd.uscourts.gov/GeneralOrder/08-02.pdf. CD Gen Order 08-02 has been amended relating to mandatory chamber paper copies, effective 12/9/2008, by CD Gen Order 08-11, available at http://www.cacd.uscourts.gov/CACD/GenOrders.nsf/0/82A731FFF2D2CE4C8825751C00597489.

5.31[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

Electronic filing mandatory for attorneys unless excused. In the Eastern District, electronic filing is mandatory for attorneys unless it is specifically excused by the court or by local rule [ED Cal Gen LR 133(a)]. In exceptional circumstances and for specific documents, an attorney may apply for permission to file paper documents [ED Cal Gen LR 133(b)(1)]. The application must be submitted as a stipulation [see ED Cal Gen LR 143], or if a stipulation cannot be obtained, as a written motion. Points and authorities are not required and no argument or hearing will normally be held. The application can also be made in scheduling conference and pretrial conference statements when the need is foreseen [ED Cal Gen LR 133(b)(3)]. The decision whether or not to permit paper filing is in the sole discretion of the assigned judge or magistrate judge [ED Cal Gen LR 133(b)(1)].

Distinguish:

Parties appearing in propria persona must file paper documents unless they have been given court permission to file electronically [ED Cal Gen LR 133(a), (b)(2)]. All paper filings by a party appearing in propria persona will be scanned by the clerk's office and the electronic record will become the official court record [ED Cal Gen LR 133(a), (b)(3)].

Exception:

Documents filed under seal should not be filed electronically. Instead, the attorney must electronically file a "Notice of Filing Sealed Document" designated as accompanying the relevant document [ED Cal Gen LR 141(c)].

Cross Reference:

Eastern District requirements for filing document under seal, see § 22.44[2][d].

Courtesy paper copies must be provided to chambers for documents exceeding certain length. If an electronically filed document, excluding attachments or exhibits, exceeds 25 pages, the submitting attorney must provide a courtesy paper copy to chambers. A courtesy paper copy must also be provided for attachments or exhibits that total in excess of 50 pages. The courtesy paper copy must be prominently labeled as such in capital letters on its face sheet and must be mailed or otherwise sent to the appropriate courtroom deputy clerk no later than the next business day following the electronic filing [see ED Cal Gen LR 133(f)].

Attorney registration for electronic filing required. All attorneys who wish to file documents in the Eastern District must be admitted to practice or admitted to appear pro hac vice. Admission to practice requires that the attorney complete an e-filing registration form and receive a username and password. Completion of the registration form permits electronic filing of documents, and unless the attorney opts out, authorizes acceptance of electronic service. This court-issued username and password will constitute the attorney's electronic signature [ED Cal Gen LR 135(g)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of attorney's electronic signature, see § 5.10[4][b]. Discussion of electronic service, see § 5.22[6][b].

Attorney registration for PACER required. All attorneys who wish to file documents in the Eastern District must register for PACER. PACER is the vehicle which permits access to images of the electronically filed documents maintained in the court record [ED Cal Gen LR 135(g)].

Cross References:

Discussion of electronic or facsimile signatures, see § 5.10[4][b]. Discussion of when electronic filing is complete, see § 5.27A[1].

5.31[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The clerk will accept in certain actions, documents filed, signed, or verified by electronic means that are consistent with General Order No. 45, "Electronic Case Filing," found at the court's website: www.cand.uscourts.gov. A document filed by electronic means in compliance with the local rule constitutes a written document for purposes of applying the local rules and the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure. The clerk will provide notification in any case in which documents must be filed electronically [ND Cal Civ LR 5-4; see also General Order No. 45].

Warning:

Some cases are not subject to electronic filing. Check General Order No. 45.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of electronic or facsimile signatures, see § 5.10[4][c].

Any document filed electronically must comply with the requirements for redaction of personal data identifiers [ND Cal Civ LR 3-17].

Cross Reference:

Northern District requirements for redaction of personal data identifiers, see § 5.13[3].

5.31[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

Fax filing. A fax filing agency will file all fax-transmitted pleadings on behalf of the parties or their counsel. No document may be transmitted directly to the clerk by fax for filing; any document transmitted directly to the clerk by fax for filing will be rejected and not filed [SD Cal Civ LR 5.3(a)].

The fax filing agency is not an agent of the court but rather acts as the agent for the filing party. A document will be deemed to be filed when it is submitted by the fax filing agency, received in the clerk's office, and filed by the clerk. Mere transmission to or receipt by the fax filing agency will not be construed as filing [SD Cal Civ LR 5.3(a.1)].

The fax filing agency must meet all the technical requirements under SD Cal Civ LR 5.1 [SD Cal Civ LR 5.3(a.2)]. Only plain paper (no thermal paper) facsimile machines may be used. All documents must be on 81/2 x 11-inch bond. All copies must be clear, clean, and legible, and comply with SD Cal Civ LR 5.1 [SD Cal Civ LR 5.3(c)].

Counsel or the parties using a fax filing agency must ensure that additional copies necessary for filing will be reproduced by the fax filing agency, and any applicable filing fees are submitted at the time of filing [SD Cal Civ LR 5.3(a.3)].

The image of the original manual signature on the fax copy will constitute an original signature for all court purposes. The original signed document may not be substituted except by court order. The original signed document must be maintained by the attorney of record or the party originating the document, for a period of no less than the maximum allowable time to complete the appellate process. On request, the original document must be provided to other parties for review [SD Cal Civ LR 5.3(d)].

The sending party must maintain a transmission record should fax filing later becomes an issue. Such a record consists of a document printed by the sending facsimile machine stating the telephone number of the receiving machine, the number of pages sent, the transmission time, and an indication of errors in transmission [SD Cal Civ LR 5.3(e)].

Attorney registration for electronic filing required. As of November 1, 2006, in the Southern District, registration in the electronic case filing system is mandatory for attorneys unless leave is granted on good cause shown to file and serve paper documents [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 1(f)].

Distinguish:

Unless otherwise ordered by the court, pro se litigants must submit documents for filing in legible, paper form for scanning and electronic filing by the clerk's office. A party appearing pro se may seek leave to file documents electronically [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 2(a)].

Documents other than case-initiating documents and sealed documents must be filed electronically. A complaint, notice of removal, or cover sheet must be filed in paper format at the clerk's office [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 2(c), (p)]. Ex parte documents for which no notice is required should be filed in paper format under seal [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 2(i)]; all sealed documents must be filed and served in paper format [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 2(j), (p)]. All other documents must be filed by registered users electronically except as otherwise provided in the rules or ordered by the court [SD Cal Civ LR 5.4(a); SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 1(b)].

Courtesy paper copies must be provided to chambers for documents exceeding 20 pages. If an electronically filed document exceeds 20 pages, including attachments and exhibits, the submitting attorney must provide the court with a courtesy paper copy [SD Cal Electronic Case Filing Admin Policies & Procedures Manual 2(e)].

Cross References:

SD Cal requirements for general formatting, see § 5.13[4]. Discussion of electronic or facsimile signatures, see § 5.10[4][d].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeMotion PracticeContent & FormCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessMethodsElectronic MeansCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessProofCertificatesLegal EthicsProfessional ConductElectronic Communications

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
VI. FORMS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.32

5.32 Caption With Heading.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	COMPLAINT
Defendant	)
	)
	)

_____

Complaint

NOTES.

Authority:

Fed R Civ P 7, 8, 10

Drafting Heading:
See § 5.06

Drafting Caption:
See § 5.07

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
VI. FORMS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.33

5.33 Signature Block.

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys for _____ [party and party status]

_____ [street address]

_____ [city, state, and zip code]

_____ [phone number]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 10, 11

Drafting Signature Block:
See § 5.10

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.34

5.34 Corporate Disclosure Statement.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	CORPORATE DISCLOSURE
Defendant	)	STATEMENT
	)	(Fed R Civ P 7.1)
	)

_____

Corporate Disclosure Statement

_____ [Name of party] certifies that it is a nongovernmental corporation organized and existing under the laws of the State of _____, with its principal place of business in _____ [city, state]. _____ [Name of party] submits the following statement of its corporate interests and affiliations as required by Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 7.1 [and Local Rule _____], for the use of the judges of this Court:

1. _____ [Name of party]_____[is/is not] a publicly-held corporation or other publicly-held entity.

2. _____ [Name of party] does not have any parent corporation.

3. No publicly-held corporation owns 10 percent or more of _____ [name of party]'s stock.
Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys for _____ [party and party status]

_____ [street address]

_____ [city, state, and zip code]

_____ [phone number]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7.1

Drafting Heading:
See § 5.06

Drafting Caption:
See § 5.07

Drafting Corporate Disclosure Statement:
See § 5.28

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.35

5.35 Central District of California, Notice of Interested Parties.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE CENTRAL DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	NOTICE OF
_____ [name],	)	INTERESTED PARTIES
Defendant	)	(Fed R Civ P 7.1
	)	CD Cal Civ LR 7.1)
	)

_____

Notice of Interested Parties

The undersigned, counsel of record for _____ [name of party], certifies that the following listed parties may have a direct, pecuniary interest in the outcome of this case. These representations are made to enable the Court to evaluate possible disqualification or recusal.

_____ [List names of all such parties and identify their connection and interest].
Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys of Record for

_____ [party and party status]

_____ [street address]

_____ [city, state, and zip code]

_____ [phone number]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7.1; CD Cal Civ LR 7.1

Drafting Heading:
See § 5.06

Drafting Caption:
See § 5.07

Drafting Disclosure Statement:
See § 5.28[2][a]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.36

5.36 Northern District of California, Certification of Interested Entities or Persons.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE NORTHERN DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)	Civil Action No. _____
Plaintiff	)
vs.	)	CERTIFICATION OF
_____ [name],	)	INTERESTED ENTITIES
Defendant	)	OR PERSONS
	)	(FED R CIV P 7.1
	)	ND CAL CIV LR 3-16)
	)

_____

Certification of Interested Entities or Persons

[Alternative One. Interest to be certified]

As required by Northern District of California Civil Local Rule 3-16, the undersigned certifies that the following listed persons, associations of persons, firms, partnerships, corporations (including parent corporations), or other entities (1) have a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to this proceeding or (2) have a nonfinancial interest in that subject matter or in a party that could be substantially affected by the outcome of this proceeding: _____ [list names and identify their connection and interest].

[Alternative Two. No interest to be certified]

As required by Northern District of California Civil Local Rule 3-16, the undersigned certifies that as of this date, other than the named parties, there is no association of persons, firm, partnership, corporation (including parent corporation), or other entity that (1) has a financial interest in the subject matter in controversy or in a party to this proceeding or (2) has a nonfinancial interest in that subject matter or in a party that could be substantially affected by the outcome of this proceeding.
Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys of Record for _____

[party and party status]

_____ [street address]

_____ [city, state, and zip code]

_____ [phone number]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 7.1; ND Cal Civ LR 3-16

Drafting Heading:
See § 5.06

Drafting Caption:
See § 5.07

Drafting Disclosure Statement:
See § 5.28[2][c]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
VI. FORMS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.37

5.37 Certificate of Service.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE
Defendant	)	FED R CIV P 5(d)
	)
	)

_____

Certificate of Service

I certify that a true and correct copy of the attached _____ [describe document served, e.g., Motion and Notice of Motion for Summary Judgment, together with all attachments, exhibits, and supporting papers], _____ was

[Alternative One. Delivered to attorney for party personally] hand delivered to _____ [name of attorney] the attorney for _____ [name of party] in this matter at _____ [street address, city, state] on _____ [date of service].

[Alternative Two. Delivered to another person at office of attorney for party] hand delivered to the office of _____ [name of attorney], the attorney for _____ [name of party] in this matter, at _____ [street address, city, state] on _____ [date of service]. The papers were left with _____ [the receptionist or the person who appeared to be in charge or a person who identified _____ (himself/herself) as the _____ (clerk or associate) of _____ (name of attorney)].

[Alternative Three. Delivered to office of attorney for party and left in conspicuous place]

hand delivered to the office of _____ [name of attorney], the attorney for _____ [name of party] in this matter, at _____ [street address, city, state] on _____ [date of service]. At the time of delivery, there appeared to be no one in charge, and the papers were left in a conspicuous place, in particular, _____ [specify, e.g., the top of the receptionist's desk or in a box in the front of the office specially marked: "For delivery or service of papers"].

[Alternative Four. Delivered to attorney for party by leaving at residence] hand delivered to the _____ [dwelling house or usual place of abode] of _____ [name of attorney], the attorney for _____ [name of party] in this matter, at _____ [street address, city, state] on _____ [date of service]. At the time of delivery, _____ [name of attorney] was not at home and the papers were left with a _____ [name], a person of suitable age and discretion who resided there. Service was made at the residence of _____ [name of attorney] because _____ [(his or her) office was closed or (he or she) has no office].

[Alternative Five. Delivered to party]

hand delivered to _____ [name of party] in this matter, at _____ [street address, city, state] on _____ [date of service]. Service was made directly on _____ [name of party] because _____ [he/she _____ has no attorney of record in this matter or the court has ordered that service be made directly on _____ (name of party) and not on the attorney].

[Alternative Six. Delivered to another person at office of party] hand delivered to the office of _____ [name of party], at _____ [ street address, city, state] on _____ [date of service]. The papers were left with _____ [the receptionist or the person who appeared to be in charge]. Service was made directly on _____ [name of party] because _____ [he/she has no attorney of record in this matter or the court has ordered that service be made directly on _____ (name of party) and not on the attorney].

[Alternative Seven. Delivered to office of party and left in conspicuous place]

hand delivered to the office of _____ [name of party], at _____ [street address, city, state] on _____ [date of service]. At the time of delivery, there appeared to be no one in charge, and the papers were left in a conspicuous place, in particular, _____ [specify, e.g., the top of the receptionist's desk or in a box in the front of the office specially marked: "For emergency deliveries"]. Service was made directly on _____ [name of party] because _____ [he/she has no attorney of record in this matter or the court has ordered that service be made directly on _____ (name of party) and not on the attorney].

[Alternative Eight. Delivered to party by leaving at residence] hand delivered to the _____ [dwelling house or usual place of abode] of _____ [name of party], at _____ [street address, city, state] on _____ [date of service]. At the time of delivery, _____ [name of party] was not at home and the papers were left with _____ [name], a person of suitable age and discretion who resided there. Service was made at the residence of _____ [name of party] because _____ [his/her office was closed or he/she has no office]. Service was made directly on _____ [name of party] because _____ [he/she has no attorney of record in this matter or the court has ordered that service be made directly on _____ (name of party) and not on the attorney].

[Alternative Nine.
Delivered to clerk of court because address for party or attorney not available] hand delivered to the clerk of this court because _____ [explain in detail why no address for party or attorney can be found, e.g., the plaintiff in this case has never had an attorney, appears to have disappeared, cannot be served at the address listed in the papers filed with this court, and cannot be located by any means known to me].

[Optional. Add to make certificate declaration under penalty of perjury]

I declare under penalty of perjury that all of the statements made in this Certificate of Service are true and correct and that if called to testify as a witness in this matter, I could and would competently testify to each of the facts set forth in the Certificate.
Dated: _____

_____ [firm name]

By: _____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

Attorneys of Record for _____

[party and party status]

_____ [street address]

_____ [city, state, and zip code]

_____ [phone number]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5

Serving Pleadings:
See §§ 5.17 -5.22

Filing Proof of Service:
See § 5.23

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.38

5.38 Certificate of Service by U.S. Mail.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	CERTIFICATE OF SERVICE
Defendant	)	BY U.S. MAIL
	)	FED R CIV P 5(b), (d)
	)

_____

Certificate of Service by U.S. Mail

I certify that, before 5:00 p.m. on _____ [date of mailing], I placed a true and correct copy of the attached _____ [describe document served, e.g., Motion and Notice of Motion for Summary Judgment, together with all attachments, exhibits, and supporting papers], in the United States mail, in a properly-addressed envelope, with first class postage duly paid and affixed to the envelopes, and with the envelopes addressed to:

1. _____ [Name of attorney]
Attorney for _____
_____ [Address];

2. _____ [Name of attorney]
Attorney for _____
_____ [Address];

3. _____ [Name of unrepresented party]
_____ [Address].

[Optional. Add to make certificate declaration under penalty of perjury]

I declare under penalty of perjury that all of the statements made in this Certificate of Service are true and correct and that if called to testify as a witness in this matter, I could and would competently testify to each of the facts set forth in the Certificate.

[Conclude form as follows]

This Certificate was executed on _____ [date] at _____ [city, state].

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

[Optional: Attorney for _____ (name and party status)]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5

Service by U.S. Mail:
See §§ 5.22[3], [4]

Filing Proof of Service:
See § 5.23

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
VI. FORMS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.39

5.39 Consent to Electronic Service.

CONSENT TO SERVICE BY ELECTRONIC MEANS
Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(D)

As counsel of record for _____ [name of party] in the case of _____ [short title], Action No. _____, proceeding in the United States District Court for the _____ District of California, I consent, in writing, to service of papers on me by electronic means. My signature below signifies that I make this written consent as required by Rule 5(b)(2)(D) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

In particular I consent to have papers served on me by _____ [method of electronic service, e.g., attachments to an e-mail or posting of the documents on the _____ (name) website or by fax or appropriate method or methods]. Under this consent, service on _____ [name of party] is complete only if the documents in question are transmitted to _____ [e-mail address, website, fax number, or whatever electronic address is appropriate]. [Optional, use to specify format requirements, e.g., Further, the documents in question must be _____ (in PDF format or attached as word processor files in _____ [Corel WordPerfect or Microsoft Word or other word processor program] in version _____ or higher)].

This consent commences on _____ [date] and extends to _____ [all papers in this action or all papers in connection with the pending motion for summary judgment or all papers dealing with discovery or whatever scope of consent is appropriate] until revoked by me, in writing.

_____ [signature]

_____ [typed name]

[Optional: Attorney for _____ (name and party status)]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5(b)(2)(E)

Serving by Electronic Means:
See § 5.22[5]. See also §§ 5.29, 5.30 (Electronic Filing)

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.40

5.40 Notice of Motion and Motion to Dispense With Service of Pleadings.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name], Plaintiff vs. _____ [name], Defendant	)	Civil Action No. _____
	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO DISPENSE WITH SERVICE OF PLEADINGS Fed R Civ P 5(c)
	)	Date of Hearing: _____
	)	Time of Hearing: _____
	)	Courtroom No: _____

_____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for the following:

(a) Pursuant to Rule 5(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure an order (1) that service of the pleadings on the defendants and replies to those pleadings, if any, need not be made as between the defendants; (2) that any crossclaim, counterclaim, or matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense be deemed denied or avoided by all other parties; and (3) that the filing of any of these types of pleadings and service of these defensive pleadings on the plaintiff shall constitute notice to all of the other parties.

(b) An order granting further relief as may be appropriate.

This motion is made on the ground that it is expressly authorized by Rule 5(c) if there is an unusually large number of defendants in the case. In this case, there are _____ [number, e.g., 16] defendants. _____ [Specify facts supporting motion, e.g., All of these defendants are filing stock defensive pleadings, all are naming each other in crossclaims for contribution, all are counterclaiming against the plaintiff, and all are asserting numerous but standard affirmative defenses]. A marathon of pleadings, service of pleadings, responses, and service of responses would not be helpful or productive and would impose a great burden on all of the parties to this action. All of the issues joined by the pleadings may be settled more economically and efficiently in a pretrial order made after the parties have had an opportunity to define the available evidence and the actual contentions that will be asserted at trial.]

_____ [Name of party] will, as required by Rule 5(c), promptly serve a copy of any order made by the court on all of the other parties to this action. _____ [Name of party] will serve a copy of this order on all parties by mail to the offices of the respective attorneys of record unless this court finds that some other form of notice should be given.

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

[If required by local rule (e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 7-3), include statement re prior conference of counsel.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5

Waiving Service:
See § 5.22[8]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.41

5.41 Order Dispensing With Service of Pleadings.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	ORDER DISPENSING WITH
Defendant	)	SERVICE OF PLEADINGS
	)	Fed R Civ P 5(c)
	)

_____

Order Dispensing With Service of Pleadings

The motion of _____ [name of moving party] came on regularly for hearing on _____ [date]. _____ [Name of moving party] sought, as authorized by Rule 5(c) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, an order dispensing with service of defensive pleadings among the defendants, an order deeming all crossclaims, counterclaims, and affirmative defenses denied, and an order deeming filing with the court and service on the plaintiff as service on all defendants. The court has considered the motion, the authorities cited, and the argument of counsel and, being fully advised,

IT IS ORDERED that:

1. Service of the pleadings of the defendants and replies to those pleadings, if any, need not be made as between the defendants.

2. Any crossclaim, counterclaim, or matter constituting an avoidance or affirmative defense is deemed denied or avoided by all other parties, including the plaintiff.

3. The filing of any of these types of pleadings and service of these defensive pleadings on the plaintiff shall constitute notice of it to all of the other parties.

4. _____ [Name of moving party] shall serve a copy of this order on all parties to this action, by mail, to the offices of the respective attorneys of record for the parties as authorized by Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Rule 5(b) and will do so forthwith.

5. _____ [Name of moving party] shall file a copy of this Order with a Certificate of Service attached that shows compliance with paragraph 4 of this Order no later than _____ [date].
Dated: _____

_____ [signature of judge]

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5

Waiving Service:
See § 5.22[8]

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.42

5.42 Notice of Motion and Motion to Compel Filing of Papers.

_____ [attorney's name and California Bar number]
_____ [attorney's street address]
_____ [city, state, and zip code]
_____ [phone number]
_____ [fax number]
_____ [attorney's e-mail address]
Attorney for _____ [party's status and name]
UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	NOTICE OF MOTION AND MOTION TO COM-
Defendant	)	PEL
	)	FILING OF SERVED PAPERS
	)	Fed R Civ P 5(d)

_____

TO ALL PARTIES AND THEIR ATTORNEYS OF RECORD:

Please take notice that on _____ [date] at _____ [time of day], or as soon thereafter as the parties may be heard, _____ [party's status and name] will move this Court, at the United States Courthouse located at _____ [address], Courtroom _____ [courtroom number], for the following:

(1) Pursuant to Rule 5(d) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [and Local Rule _____ (number)] an order compelling _____ [name of opponent] to file with the court the _____ [name of paper, e.g., Response to Requests for Admission] that it served on _____ [date], and to have this _____ [e.g., Response to Requests for Admission] stricken if he/she fails to file it with the court by _____ [date].

(2) An order granting further relief as may be appropriate.

The grounds for the motion are that _____ [name of opponent] has an obligation to file all papers that were served on the parties, and to do so within a reasonable time. _____ [Name of moving party] would be prejudiced if the _____ [e.g., Response to Requests for Admission] is not filed with the court because _____ [state facts showing moving party's interest in having paper filed, e.g., he seeks to have the _____ Court of _____ take judicial notice of this document in a related case and, under the governing evidentiary rule, a court may take judicial notice of the contents of the document only if it is filed with a court of record].

Before bringing this motion, _____ [name of moving party] contacted counsel for _____ [name of opponent] and asked him/her to file the document as required by Rule 5(d) but, to date, he/she has failed or refused to do so.

[If required by local rule (e.g., ND Cal Civ LR 7-2(b), 7-4), include supporting points and authorities in the same document as the notice of motion and motion; otherwise, present points and authorities in a separate memorandum.]

This motion is based on this Notice of Motion and Motion, the accompanying _____ [affidavit or declaration] of _____ [name], [add, if appropriate: the accompanying Memorandum of Points and Authorities,] and the pleadings and papers on file in this action.
Dated: _____

Respectfully submitted,

_____ [signature of attorney]

_____ [typed or printed name of attorney]

_____ [firm name, if applicable]

Attorney for _____[party's status and name]

[Attach any supporting affidavits or declarations and exhibits to those affidavits or declarations.]

[Attach certificate of service.]

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5

Filings Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers:
See §§ 5.24, 5.25 -5.27

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.43

5.43 Order Compelling Filing of Papers.

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE _____ DISTRICT OF CALIFORNIA
_____ DIVISION

_____ [name],	)
Plaintiff	)	Civil Action No. _____
vs.	)
_____ [name],	)	ORDER COMPELLING
Defendant	)	FILING OF SERVED PAPERS
	)	FED R CIV P 5(d)
	)

_____

ORDER COMPELLING FILING OF PAPER

The motion of _____ [name of moving party] came on regularly for hearing on _____ [date]. _____ [Name of moving party] sought, as authorized by Rule 5(d) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, to compel _____ [name of opponent] to file _____ [name of document, e g., the Response to Requests for Admissions] that was served on _____ [name of moving party] with the court but that, contrary to the requirements of Rule 5(d), has not been filed with the court within a reasonable time.

_____ [Name of moving party] asks that this court order that the _____ [e.g., Response to Request for Admissions] be filed with the court by _____ [date] or be ordered stricken. The court has reviewed the motion, the authorities cited, and the argument of counsel and, being fully advised,

IT IS ORDERED that:

1. _____ [Name of opponent] will file the _____ [e.g., Response to Request for Admissions] previously served on _____ [name of moving party] on _____ [date of service].

2. The _____ [e.g., Response to Request for Admissions] must be filed with the court no later than _____ [date] or the paper will be deemed stricken, _____ [name of opponent] will be forever barred from filing any _____ [e.g., Response to Request for Admissions], and _____ [specify consequences of having paper stricken, e.g., the matters set out in the Request for Admissions will be deemed admitted for the purposes of this action].
Dated: _____

_____ [signature of judge]

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT JUDGE

NOTES.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 5

Filings Pleadings, Motions, and Other Papers:
See §§ 5.24 -5.27

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 5 Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers
VI. FORMS

1-5 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 5.44

5.44 Local District Court Forms.

Local district court forms relating to matters addressed in this chapter are listed below.

Central District

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Certification and Notice of Interested Parties (CV-30)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Proof of Service--Acknowledgment of Service (CV-40)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Waiver of Service of Documents from the Clerk (G-86)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Eastern District

Civil Cover Sheet (JS-44)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Northern District

Civil Cover Sheet (JS 44)

Click here to view image.

Southern District

Civil Cover Sheet (JS-44)

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Declaration of Service

Click here to view image.

Go to Interactive Fillable Form.
Download HotDocs(R) Player at www.hotdocs.com/downloads/player/latest

Cross Reference:

Automated HotDocs(R) and PDF versions of these forms may be accessed and filled in from the online version of this publication, and are also available at www.LexisOne.com/forms.

110 of 144 DOCUMENTS

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.syn

§ 6.syn Synopsis to Chapter 6: Drafting the Summons and Complaint

6.01 Scope.

6.02 Objective and Strategy.

6.03 CHECKLIST: Preparing Complaint.

6.04 Standards for Pleading Must Be Followed.

6.04[1] Notice Pleading Requirements.

6.04[1][a] Essential Elements Must Appear in Complaint.

6.04[1][b] Fair Notice of Claim Must Be Provided.

6.04[1][c] Extraneous Material Must Be Omitted.

6.04[1][d] Special Pleading Requirements Must Be Satisfied.

6.04[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Court-Supplied Complaint Forms.

6.04[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Format Requirements for Pleadings.

6.04[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.04[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.04[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.04[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.04[4] Avoid Consequences of Failure to Comply With Pleading Requirements.

6.04[4][a] Clerk Will Accept for Filing Complaint That Violates Format Requirements.

6.04[4][b] Court Has Power to Dismiss or Make Other Orders.

6.05 Heading of Complaint Must Identify Attorney and Plaintiff and Comply With Local Rule Requirements.

6.05[1] Attorney and Plaintiff Must Be Identified.

6.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Heading of Complaint.

6.05[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.05[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.05[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.05[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.06 Caption Must Meet Specific Format Requirements.

6.06[1] Name of Court Must Be Identified.

6.06[1][a] District and Division Must Be Specified.

6.06[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.06[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.06[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.06[1][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.06[2] Title of Action Must Be Provided.

6.06[2][a] Parties Must Be Named in Title of Action.

6.06[2][b] Requirement That All Parties Be Named Is Construed Liberally.

6.06[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.06[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.06[2][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.06[3] Use of Fictitious Name for Plaintiff Is Restricted.

6.06[3][a] Plaintiff Must Obtain Leave of Court to Use Fictitious Name.

6.06[3][b] Plaintiff's Real Name May Be Disclosed to Defendant but Kept Under Seal.

6.06[3][c] Use of Fictitious Name Is Generally Against Public Policy.

6.06[3][d] Privacy Interest May Justify Anonymous Proceeding.

6.06[3][e] Factors to Consider When Plaintiff Seeks to Plead Anonymously.

6.06[3][f] Examples of Sufficient Privacy Concerns.

6.06[3][g] Examples of Insufficient Privacy Concerns.

6.06[4] Using Fictitious Name for Defendant.

6.06[4][a] "Doe" Pleading Is Used to Sue Unknown Defendant.

6.06[4][b] Effect on Diversity Jurisdiction.

6.06[4][c] Use of Doe Pleading to Avoid Bar of Statute of Limitations on State-Law Claim.

6.06[4][d] Use of Doe Pleading to Avoid Bar of Statute of Limitations on Federal Claim.

6.06[4][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.06[5] File Number of Action Must Be Included.

6.06[5][a] Caption Should Provide Space for File Number.

6.06[5][b] Court Clerk Will Assign File Number.

6.06[6] Pleading Must Be Designated As Complaint.

6.06[6][a] Identify Document As Complaint.

6.06[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.06[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.06[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.06[6][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.06[7] Jury Demand Must Be Included.

6.06[7][a] Endorse Jury Demand on Complaint.

6.06[7][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.06[7][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.06[7][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.06[7][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.06[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: Indicating Three-Judge Court.

6.06[8][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.06[8][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.07 Jurisdictional Allegations Must Be in Short and Plain Statement.

6.07[1] Subject Matter Jurisdiction Must Be Alleged.

6.07[1][a] Setting Forth Basis of Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

6.07[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.07[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.07[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.07[1][e] Model Jurisdictional Allegations May Be Considered.

6.07[2] Federal Question Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.

6.07[2][a] Allege Facts to Support General Federal Question Jurisdiction.

6.07[2][b] Include Reference to Federal Law Underlying Claim.

6.07[2][c] Plead Jurisdiction Under Specific Statutory Grant of Federal Question Jurisdiction.

6.07[3] Diversity Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.

6.07[3][a] Determine Whether General Diversity Jurisdiction Is Available.

6.07[3][b] Special Diversity Jurisdiction Is Available in Mass Tort Litigation and Certain Class Actions.

6.07[3][c] Citizenship and Amount in Controversy Must Be Averred.

6.07[3][d] Complete Diversity of Citizenship Must Be Established for Most Actions.

6.07[3][e] Pleading Citizenship of Individuals.

6.07[3][f] Pleading Citizenship of Corporations.

6.07[3][g] Pleading Citizenship of Partnerships and Unincorporated Associations.

6.07[3][h] Pleading Citizenship of Political Subdivisions and Other Entities.

6.07[3][i] In General Diversity Case, Pleading Must Allege That Amount in Controversy Exceeds $75,000.

6.07[4] Admiralty or Maritime Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.

6.07[5] Supplemental Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.

6.07[5][a] Determination of Whether Supplemental Jurisdiction Is Available.

6.07[5][b] Sufficient Facts Must Be Alleged to Establish Supplemental Jurisdiction.

6.07[6] Satisfying Justiciability Requirements.

6.07[6][a] Justiciability Is Generally Not an Issue in Actions Alleging Actual Injury to Plaintiff.

6.07[6][b] Plaintiff in Declaratory Relief Action Must Establish Justiciability.

6.07[6][c] In Declaratory Relief Action, Complaint Must Allege Existence of Case or Controversy.

6.07[6][d] In Declaratory Relief Action, Complaint Must Allege Plaintiff's Standing.

6.07[7] Allegations of Personal Jurisdiction and Venue Are Not Required.

6.07[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal--Intradistrict Assignment.

6.08 Allegations Concerning Party Status May Be Included.

6.08[1] Alleging Parties' Capacity, Authority, or Legal Existence Is Necessary Under Specific Circumstances.

6.08[2] Situations in Which Capacity Should Be Alleged.

6.08[2][a] Allege Capacity If Necessary to Establish Diversity Jurisdiction.

6.08[2][b] Allege Capacity If Necessary to Establish Federal Question Jurisdiction.

6.08[2][c] Allege Individual Capacity of State Officer in Civil Rights Action.

6.08[3] Capacity, Authority, or Legal Existence of Party May Be Challenged by Negative Averment.

6.08[4] Determining Capacity, Authority, or Legal Existence.

6.08[5] Alleging Plaintiff's Status in Shareholder Derivative Action.

6.08[6] Drafting Class Action Allegations.

6.08[6][a] Allege Required Elements.

6.08[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.08[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.08[7] Identifying Necessary Parties Who Have Not Been Joined or Identified.

6.09 Short and Plain Statement of Each Claim Must Be Included in Complaint.

6.09[1] Drafting Short, Plain Statement of Claim.

6.09[1][a] Short, Plain Statement of Claim Must Be Included.

6.09[1][b] Sufficient Facts Must Be Alleged to Put Defendant on Notice of Claim.

6.09[1][c] Pleading Evidentiary Facts Ordinarily Is Not Required.

6.09[1][d] Facts May Be Alleged on Information and Belief.

6.09[1][e] Complaint Need Not State Legal Theory.

6.09[1][f] Alternative and Inconsistent Legal Theories May Be Presented.

6.09[1][g] Setting Forth Legal Theory Does Not Limit Relief.

6.09[1][h] Complaint Need Not Negate Affirmative Defenses.

6.09[1][i] Allegations May Be Adopted by Reference.

6.09[1][j] Statements in Exhibit May Be Adopted by Reference.

6.09[1][k] Unattached Written Document May Be Adopted by Reference.

6.09[2] Dividing Statement of Claim Into Paragraphs.

6.09[2][a] Each Paragraph Must Be Numbered.

6.09[2][b] Each Paragraph Must Be Limited to Single Set of Circumstances.

6.09[2][c] Compound Allegations Must Be Avoided.

6.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Class Action Allegations.

6.09[3] Pleading Separate Counts.

6.09[3][a] Separate Count May Be Pleaded for Each Claim Founded on Separate Transaction or Occurrence.

6.09[3][b] Separate Counts May Be Necessary When Not All Claims Apply to All Parties.

6.09[3][c] Single Count May Be Used When Sole Claim Applies to All Parties.

6.09[3][d] Defendant's Options If Complaint Does Not Allege Separate Counts.

6.10 Claims May Be Joined.

6.10[1] All of Plaintiff's Claims May Be Joined Against Proper Defendant.

6.10[2] Claims May Be Joined to Original Claim.

6.10[2][a] Claims of One Plaintiff.

6.10[2][b] Claims of Multiple Plaintiffs.

6.10[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Copyright, Patent, or Trademark Claims of Multiple Plaintiffs.

6.10[3] Contingent Claim May Be Joined to Principal Claim.

6.10[4] Alternative, Hypothetical, and Inconsistent Claims May Be Joined.

6.10[5] Determining Whether to Omit Claims.

6.10[5][a] Procedural Rules Do Not Require Joinder.

6.10[5][b] Joining Claims to Avoid Claim Preclusion in Subsequent Suit.

6.10[6] Subject Matter Jurisdiction and Venue Must Be Proper for Each Claim.

6.10[6][a] Verify That All Claims Are Within Court's Subject Matter Jurisdiction.

6.10[6][b] Verify That Venue Is Proper for Each Claim.

6.10[7] Each Defendant Must Be Properly Joined.

6.10[8] Joining Claims Involving United States.

6.10[8][a] Sovereign Immunity Limits Assertion of Claims Against United States.

6.10[8][b] Tucker Act Effectively Limits Joinder of Claims Against United States.

6.10[8][c] Free Joinder of Claims Asserted by United States.

6.10[9] Joined Claims May Be Segregated.

6.10[9][a] Court May Order Separate Trials of Properly Joined Claims or Issues.

6.10[9][b] Dismissal or Severance of Improperly Joined Claims.

6.11 Certain Matters Must Be Specially Pleaded.

6.11[1] Pleading Special Capacity of Party.

6.11[2] Pleading Fraud or Mistake.

6.11[2][a] Fraud and Mistake Must Be Alleged With Particularity.

6.11[2][b] Particular Circumstances of Fraud Must Be Alleged.

6.11[2][c] Each Defendant's Participation in Fraud Must Be Described.

6.11[2][d] Substantive Elements of Fraud Must Be Alleged.

6.11[2][e] Fraud Is Alleged on Information and Belief When Details Are Inaccessible.

6.11[2][f] Particularity in Pleading Mixed Claims.

6.11[2][g] Consequences of Failure to Comply With Particularity Requirement.

6.11[3] Pleading Conditions of Mind.

6.11[3][a] Averring Conditions of Mind Generally.

6.11[3][b] Making General Averment of Scienter in Fraud Claim.

6.11[3][c] Defendant's Motion for More Definite Statement.

6.11[4] Alleging Fraud Under Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995.

6.11[4][a] Pleading Securities Fraud Is Subject to Special Statutory Requirements.

6.11[4][b] Alleging That Particular Statement Is Misleading.

6.11[4][c] Making Allegations on Information and Belief.

6.11[4][d] Alleging Scienter With Particularity.

6.11[4][e] Alleging Loss Causation.

6.11[5] Pleading Conditions Precedent.

6.11[5][a] Make General Averment of Performance or Occurrence of Condition Precedent.

6.11[5][b] Make Specific Denial of Performance or Occurrence of Condition Precedent.

6.11[6] Pleading Official Document or Act.

6.11[7] Pleading Judgment.

6.11[8] Alleging Time and Place.

6.11[8][a] Make Averments of Time and Place With Precision.

6.11[8][b] Determine Whether Averments of Time and Place Are Necessary.

6.11[8][c] Consequences of Insufficient Averments of Time and Place.

6.11[9] Pleading Special Damages.

6.11[9][a] Specifically State Items of Special Damages.

6.11[9][b] Special Damages Defined.

6.11[9][c] Alleging Special Damages for Certain Libel Claims.

6.11[9][d] Drafting Special Damages Allegation.

6.11[9][e] Consequences of Failure to Plead Special Damages.

6.11[10] Pleading Admiralty and Maritime Claims.

6.11[10][a] Electing to Invoke Admiralty and Maritime Jurisdiction.

6.11[10][b] Procedural Consequences of Pleading Admiralty or Maritime Claim.

6.11[10][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Admiralty Requirements.

6.11[11] Pleading Copyright Infringement.

6.11[12] Making Necessary Allegations in Shareholder Derivative Action.

6.11[12][a] Determine Whether Action Is Derivative Action.

6.11[12][b] Required Allegations.

6.11[13] Alleging Specific Facts in Support of Request for Ex Parte Temporary Restraining Order.

6.11[14] LOCAL PRACTICE: Special Pleading Requirements.

6.11[14][a] CD Cal Requirements: Notice of Interested Parties.

6.11[14][b] ED Cal Requirements: Social Security Number in Certain Actions.

6.11[14][c] ND Cal Requirements: Certification of Interested Persons.

6.11[14][d] SD Cal Requirements: Three-Judge Court.

6.12 Complaint Must Include Prayer Demanding Relief.

6.12[1] Demanding Relief.

6.12[1][a] State Demand for Relief in Complaint.

6.12[1][b] Making General Demand for Relief.

6.12[1][c] Demanding Alternative or Multiple Forms of Relief.

6.12[2] Effect of Demand for Relief.

6.12[2][a] In Non-Default Case, Demand Does Not Limit Actual Award.

6.12[2][b] In Default Case, Actual Award May Not Exceed Demand.

6.12[2][c] Demand That Seeks Only Equitable Relief Prevents Jury Trial.

6.13 Complaint May Include Jury Demand.

6.13[1] Preserving Right to Jury Trial.

6.13[2] Jury Demand May Be Endorsed on Face of Complaint.

6.13[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Jury Demand.

6.13[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.13[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.13[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.13[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.13[4] Indicating Jury Demand on Civil Cover Sheet Is Insufficient.

6.13[5] Specifying Issues for Jury Trial.

6.14 Complaint Must Be Signed.

6.14[1] Complying With Signature Requirement.

6.14[1][a] Sign Original Complaint.

6.14[1][b] Omit Signature From Unfiled Copies.

6.14[1][c] Courts May Allow or Require Electronic Filing, Signing, and Verification by Electronic Means.

6.14[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Complaints Covered in Electronic Case Filing Program.

6.14[1][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Complaints Not Covered in Electronic Case Filing Program.

6.14[1][f] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Complaints Not Covered in Electronic Case Filing Program.

6.14[2] Determining Proper Person to Sign Complaint.

6.14[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Additional Signature Requirements.

6.14[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.14[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.14[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.14[4] Signing Complaint Makes Implicit Certifications to Court.

6.14[4][a] Elements of Certification Under Rule 11.

6.14[4][b] Signing in Violation of Implicit Certifications May Result in Sanctions.

§ 6.14[4][c] Complaint Must Not Be Filed for Improper Purpose.

6.14[4][d] None of Plaintiff's Claims May Be Frivolous.

6.14[5] Inquiry Must Precede Signing.

6.14[5][a] Reasonable Investigation Is Required.

6.14[5][b] Investigation Evaluated Under Objective Standard.

6.14[5][c] Attorney May Rely on Statements of Client.

6.14[5][d] Failure to Make Inquiry May Result in Sanctions.

6.15 Verification of Complaint May Be Required.

6.15[1] Verification Is Unnecessary Unless Specifically Required by Rule or Statute.

6.15[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Request for Temporary Receiver.

6.15[3] Signing Verification Makes Same Certifications to Court As Signature on Complaint.

6.15[4] Appropriate Individual Must Sign Verification.

6.15[5] Direct Knowledge Is Not Required.

6.15[6] Verification of Complaint Does Not Impose Obligation on Defendant to Verify Answer.

6.16 Exhibits May Be Attached.

6.16[1] Plaintiff May Attach Written Instrument to Complaint.

6.16[2] Exhibit Will Be Treated As Part of Complaint.

6.16[3] Plaintiff May Controvert Statements Contained in Exhibit.

6.16[4] Plaintiff May Refer to Written Instrument Without Attaching It.

6.16[5] LOCAL PRACTICE: Attaching Exhibits.

6.16[5][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.16[5][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.17 Copies of Complaint Should Be Prepared for Service and Other Purposes.

6.17[1] Prepare Extra Copies of Complaint for Service.

6.17[2] Prepare Extra Copies of Complaint for Miscellaneous Purposes.

6.17[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Copies of Complaint.

6.17[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.17[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.17[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.17[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.18 CHECKLIST: Preparing Summons and Other Documents Necessary at Commencement of Action.

6.19 Summons Generally Must Be Served With Complaint, Unless Service Waived.

6.19[1] Summons Generally Must Be Served With Complaint.

6.19[2] Service of Summons May Be Waived.

6.19[2][a] Cost of Service May Be Avoided.

6.19[2][b] Situations When Waiver Not Available.

6.19[2][c] Costs May Be Assessed Against Defendant Who Refuses to Waive Service.

6.19[2][d] Time for Response to Complaint Increases If Defendant Waives Service.

6.19[2][e] Plaintiff May Use Official Form to Request Waiver of Service.

6.19[3] Drafting Summons.

6.19[3][a] All Elements of Summons Must Be Included.

6.19[3][b] Plaintiff May Use Official Form.

6.19[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Mandatory Use of Court-Supplied Form.

6.19[4] Prepare Summons for Each Defendant.

6.19[5] Obtain Issuance of Summons by Court Clerk.

6.19[6] Effect of Errors in Summons.

6.20 Civil Cover Sheet Is Required Under Local Rules.

6.20[1] Function of Civil Cover Sheet.

6.20[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Civil Cover Sheets.

6.20[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.20[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.20[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.20[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.21 Other Documents May Be Required to Accompany Complaint.

6.21[1] Preparing Corporate Disclosure Statement.

6.21[1][a] Determine Whether Plaintiff Must File Disclosure Statement.

6.21[1][b] Filing of Disclosure Statement.

6.21[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Identifying Interested Parties.

6.21[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.21[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.21[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Designating Related Cases.

6.21[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Notice of Related Cases.

6.21[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Notice of Pendency of Other Actions or Proceedings.

6.21[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Notice of Related Cases.

6.21[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Administrative Motion to Consider Whether Cases Should Be Related.

6.21[3][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Notice of Pendency of Other Action or Proceeding.

6.21[3][f] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements--Notice of Related Case.

6.21[4] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Preparing Designation of Counsel for Service.

6.21[5] Establishing or Securing Representation of Minor or Incompetent.

6.21[6] Applying for Leave to Proceed in Forma Pauperis.

6.21[6][a] Court Permission Required.

6.21[6][b] Affidavit Required.

6.21[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.21[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.21[6][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

6.21[7] LOCAL PRACTICE: Application to File Complaint Under Seal.

6.21[7][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.21[7][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.21[8] Application for Temporary Restraining Order.

6.21[8][a] Application Must Be Supported by Affidavit or Verified Complaint.

6.21[8][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

6.21[8][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.21[8][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.21[9] Notice of Claim of Unconstitutionality.

6.21[9][a] Court Required to Notify Appropriate Authority.

6.21[9][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

6.21[9][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

6.21[10] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements--Notice of Requirement of Three-Judge Court.

6.21[11] Additional Documents in Class Action Subject to Private Securities Litigation Reform Act.

6.21[11][a] Certification by Potential Lead Plaintiff.

6.21[11][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Certification by Potential Class Counsel.

6.21[11][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements--Electronic Copy of Complaint.

6.21[12] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements--Filing Required Notice in Patent, Plant Variety Protection, Trademark, or Copyright Case.

6.22 Sample Format of Complaint.

6.23 Allegations of Federal Question Jurisdiction.

6.24 Allegations of General Diversity Jurisdiction.

6.25 Statement of Supplemental Jurisdiction.

6.26 Statement of Claim Based on State Common Law: Contract Breach.

6.27 Statement of Claim Based on Federal Statute: Copyright Infringement.

6.28 Allegation of Securities Fraud.

6.29 Allegation of Performance or Occurrence of Conditions Precedent.

6.30 Allegation of Nonperformance of Conditions Precedent.

6.31 Demand for Judgment (Prayer).

6.32 Verification of Complaint.

6.33 Summons.

6.34 Local District Court Forms.

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
I. STRATEGY

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.01

6.01 Scope.

This chapter covers:

- Preparation of the complaint [see 6.03 -6.17; Forms: 6.22 -6.32].
- Preparation of the summons [see 6.18, 6.19; Form: 6.33].
- Preparation of other documents necessary at the commencement of an action [see 6.18, 6.20, 6.21].

Core Rules:
Fed R Civ P 3, 4, 8(a), (d), (e), 9, 10, 11(a), (b).

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessSummonsGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
I. STRATEGY

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.02

6.02 Objective and Strategy.

The complaint is the pleading by which a party who initiates a civil action seeks affirmative relief. It puts the defendant on notice of the plaintiff's claim so as to enable the defendant to answer and prepare for trial [Fed R Civ P 8(a); McKeever v. Block (9th Cir 1991) 932 F2d 795, 798]. Filing the complaint with the court commences the action [Fed R Civ P 3].

Decision Point--Whether or Not to Rush to File:

There are important considerations in deciding whether to use a complaint strategically before filing it. One the one hand, showing the defendant the complaint before filing it in appropriate cases can have a positive effect. Informally mailing a factually rich complaint, based on a strong claim, to the prospective defendant may precipitate settlement. Also, a defendant who does not want adverse publicity may be more likely to settle before the complaint is filed, so that plaintiff could benefit from delaying filing until it is clear that there will be no possibility of settlement before the period of limitation runs. In a more general sense, if there is a good chance that providing a copy of the complaint in advance can have the effect of resolving the case, the risk may be worthwhile. If there is little risk that the potential defendant will initiate an action of its own, and if the complaint presents a strong position for the plaintiff, it may be a very useful strategy.

On the other hand, there can be great risk involved in providing a copy of the complaint to the potential defendant before filing. If the claims asserted by the plaintiff are not particularly strong, the weaknesses in the plaintiff's position may become more apparent and have a negative effect on reaching a pre-litigation settlement. Further, if there is any possibility that the defendant will attempt to preempt the filing of the complaint by initiating an action beforehand in a different jurisdiction, it is unwise to provide the copy before filing. In addition, when the parties have reached an impasse in negotiations, providing a copy of the complaint before it is filed gives the defendant substantially more time to prepare a defense and possible crossclaims. The plaintiff can achieve the same objective by delaying service until settlement possibilities have been exhausted.

If you do not need to file the complaint to comply with the statute of limitations or to obtain a provisional remedy, such as preliminary injunctive relief or attachment, it may be useful to delay for an appropriate time to develop the case fully without opening yourself to discovery, and allow time for settlement negotiations. In all cases, it is important to take the time necessary to develop appropriate legal theories and to draft a complaint that will withstand challenge.

The summons is essentially an order, issued by the clerk of the court, summoning the defendant to appear in the case and respond to the complaint. The summons, which must be prepared by the plaintiff, sets forth the time for responding and includes a warning that a failure to respond will result in the entry of a default judgment against the defendant [Fed R Civ P 4(a), (b)]. Service of the summons (accompanied by a copy of the complaint) is the usual manner in which the court obtains personal jurisdiction over the defendant [see Fed R Civ P 4(k); Omni Capital Int'l, Ltd. v. Rudolf Wolff & Co. (1987) 484 US 97, 104, 108 S Ct 404, 98 L Ed2d 415]. As a cost-saving alternative, the court's jurisdiction over the defendant will be established if the defendant waives service of the summons [Fed R Civ P 4(d), (k)].

Detailed Discussion/Forms:

1 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 4, Summons (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

2 Moore's Federal Practice, Chs. 8, 9, 10, 11 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

1 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 4, Summons (Matthew Bender).

1-3 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rule 8, General Rule of Pleading (Matthew Bender).

4 Bender's Federal Practice Forms, Rules 9-11 (Matthew Bender).

Cross References:

Discussion of Rule 4 requirements for service of summons, see Ch. 7, Service of Summons. Discussion of amending and supplementing pleadings, see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Complaints.

For tips on updating case law and expanding your research with additional resources, see How to Use Lexis.com With This Publication at the front of this volume.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticeService of ProcessGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
II. PREPARING COMPLAINT

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.03

6.03 CHECKLIST: Preparing Complaint.

☐ Consider using official forms for complaint or as guide to drafting complaint.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 84

Discussion:
See § 6.04[2]

Forms:
Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Forms 10-15, 17-21, 61

☐ Review format requirements for pleadings under local rules of court.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 83(a); CD Cal Civ LR 11-3; ED Cal Gen LR 130, 133; ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(c); SD Cal Civ LR 5.1

Discussion:
See § 6.04[3]

☐ Draft heading of complaint:

○ Start heading at top left corner of first page of complaint.

- ○ Identify attorney and plaintiff.
- ○ Include additional information and follow format prescribed by local rules.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 83(a); CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8; ED Cal Gen LR 131(a), 182(c); ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a), 11-3(e); SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.1)

Discussion:
See § 6.05

Form:
See § 6.22

☐ Draft caption, including:

- ○ Name of court.
- ○ Title of action, listing all parties, including fictitiously named parties if appropriate.
- ○ Space for file number of action.
- ○ Designation of complaint as such.
- ○ Endorsement of jury demand, if appropriate.
- ○ Additional information required by local rules.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 10(a), 38(b)

Discussion:
See § 6.06

Form:
See § 6.22

☐ Draft allegation of subject matter jurisdiction, such as:

- ○ Allegation of federal question jurisdiction.
- ○ Allegation of diversity jurisdiction.
- ○ Allegation of admiralty or maritime jurisdiction.

- ○ Allegation of supplemental jurisdiction.
- ○ Allegations showing plaintiff's standing and existence of justiciable case or controversy.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 8(a)

Discussion:
See § 6.07

Forms:
See §§ 6.23, 6.24, 6.25

☐ Draft party allegations as appropriate, such as:

- ○ Allegations of parties' capacity, if necessary to establish subject matter jurisdiction.
- ○ Allegations of plaintiff's status in shareholder derivative action.
- ○ Class action allegations.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 9(a), 17(b)

Discussion:
See § 6.08

☐ Draft statement of claim or claims.

- ○ In most cases, prepare short, plain statement of each claim.
- ○ Present each claim in numbered paragraphs, limiting each paragraph to single set of circumstances.
- ○ Present each claim as separate count to facilitate clarity.
- ○ Comply with special pleading requirements imposed by statute or by rules (including local rules), such as in:
  - ☐ Allegations of fraud or mistake.
  - ☐ Allegations of special damages.
  - ☐ Securities fraud class actions.

- ☐ Shareholder derivative actions.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 8(a), (d), 9, 10(b), (c), 18, 23.1

Discussion:
See §§ 6.09 -6.11

Forms:
See §§ 6.26 -6.30

☐ Draft prayer, demanding judgment for relief plaintiff seeks, including following as applicable:

- ○ Damages.
- ○ Punitive damages.
- ○ Interest.
- ○ Equitable relief, such as:
  - ☐ Temporary restraining order.
  - ☐ Preliminary injunction.
  - ☐ Permanent injunction.
  - ☐ Specific performance.
  - ☐ Declaratory relief.
  - ☐ Provisional remedies, such as appointment of receiver.
- ○ Costs of suit.
- ○ Attorney's fees, if applicable.
- ○ Other relief deemed proper by court.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 8(a)

Discussion:

See § 6.12

Forms:
See §§ 6.22, 6.31

☐ Draft jury demand, if jury is desired and if demand is required in body of complaint by local rules.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 38(b), (c)

Discussion:
See § 6.13

☐ Have complaint signed.

- ○ Before signing, have signer make reasonable investigation of facts and law to ascertain that:
  - ☐ Complaint is being presented for proper purpose.
  - ☐ Complaint is warranted by law and supported by facts.
- ○ Have plaintiff's attorney sign, unless plaintiff is unrepresented, in which case plaintiff must sign.
- ○ State signer's address and telephone number below signature.
- ○ Include additional information and follow format prescribed by local rules.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 11(a), (b)

Discussion:
See § 6.14

Form:
See § 6.22

☐ If required by rule or statute, prepare verification of complaint.

- ○ If required, prepare verification stating that plaintiff knows or believes facts stated in complaint to be true.
- ○ Prepare signature block for verification that complies with requirements for signatures generally.
- ○ Have plaintiff make reasonable investigation of facts and law before signing.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 11(a), (b)

Discussion:
See § 6.15

Form:
See § 6.32

☐ Attach exhibits, if any, to complaint.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 10(c)

Discussion:
See § 6.16

☐ Prepare additional copies of complaint as needed for service, filing, and office use.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 4(c)(1)

Discussion:
See § 6.17

☐ Review complaint for conformity to general pleading requirements, including:

- ○ Essential components of complaint:
  - ☐ Heading.
  - ☐ Caption.
  - ☐ Jurisdictional allegation.
  - ☐ Statement of claim.
  - ☐ Demand for judgment.
  - ☐ Signature.
- ○ Requirement that complaint provide defendant with fair notice of plaintiff's claim.
- ○ Need to omit redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or scandalous material from complaint.

- Possibility that special pleading requirements may apply.

Authority:
Fed R Civ P 3, 7(a), 8(a), (d), 9, 10(a), 11(a), 12(f)

Discussion:
See § 6.04[1]

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticeGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
II. PREPARING COMPLAINT

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.04

6.04 Standards for Pleading Must Be Followed.

6.04[1] Notice Pleading Requirements.

6.04[1][a] Essential Elements Must Appear in Complaint. To commence a civil action in federal district court on behalf of a plaintiff, you must file a complaint [Fed R Civ P 3] containing all of the following:

- A heading that identifies you as the attorney representing the plaintiff [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(a); ED Cal Gen LR 131(a); ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(1); SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.1); see 6.05].

- A caption that sets forth the name of the court, the title of the action, the file number of the action, and a designation of the pleading as a complaint [Fed R Civ P 7(a), 10(a); see 6.06].

- A short and plain statement of the grounds on which the court's jurisdiction depends [Fed R Civ P 8(a); see 6.07].

- A short and plain statement of each claim, showing that the plaintiff is entitled to relief [Fed R Civ P 8(a); see 6.09 -6.11].

- A demand for judgment for the relief the plaintiff seeks [Fed R Civ P 8(a); see 6.12].

- Your signature [Fed R Civ P 11(a); see 6.14].

Cross Reference:

Sample form of complaint, see § 6.22.

6.04[1][b] Fair Notice of Claim Must Be Provided. Under the "notice pleading" requirements of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, the complaint need not set out in detail the facts on which a claim for relief is based, but it must give the court and the defendant fair notice of the claims asserted [Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly (2007) 550

US 544, 127 S Ct 1955, 167 L Ed2d 929, 940-941 (complaint would not survive motion to dismiss without some factual context sufficient to state claim to relief that was "plausible on its face")].

No technical forms of pleading are required [Fed R Civ P 8(d)(1)].

6.04[1][c] Extraneous Material Must Be Omitted. The complaint should not include any matters that are redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or scandalous [Fed R Civ P 12(f)].

6.04[1][d] Special Pleading Requirements Must Be Satisfied. Depending on the particular kind of claim asserted, the general pleading rules may be supplemented by specific requirements imposed by federal statutes, the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, applicable state law, and local court rules and standing orders.

Example--Application of Federal Statutory Requirements for Alleging Securities Fraud:
The 1995 Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 (PSLRA) requires that a complaint alleging securities fraud specify each statement alleged to have been misleading and the reasons the statement is misleading. If an allegation regarding the statement or omission is made on information and belief, the complaint must also state with particularity all the facts on which that belief is formed [15 USC § 78u-4(b)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of special pleading requirements under the PSLRA, see § 6.11[4]].

Example--Application of FRCP Pleading Requirement for Shareholder Derivative Actions:
In a shareholder derivative action, the complaint must state, among other things, that the action is not a collusive one to confer jurisdiction on the federal court [Fed R Civ P 23.1].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of special pleading requirements in shareholder derivative actions, see § 6.11[12].

Example--Application of State Law Re Fictitiously Named Defendants in Diversity Case:
The Ninth Circuit has found that the California statute allowing a complaint to sue fictitiously named defendants [see CCP § 474] is a part of the substantive state law to be applied in federal court, under the Erie doctrine, when a federal court is sitting in diversity [Lindley v. General Elec. Co. (9th Cir 1986) 780 F2d 797, 800-801].

Cross References:

Discussion of the use of fictitious names for defendants, see 6.06[4]. Discussion of special pleading requirements, see § 6.11.

6.04[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Court-Supplied Complaint Forms. District courts may provide optional or mandatory forms for use in certain actions [see, e.g., SD Cal Civ LR 8.2(a) (civil rights complaint for use by prisoner)]. Such forms may be downloaded from the court's websites:

- United States District Court for the Central District of California: www.cacd.uscourts.gov.
- United States District Court for the Eastern District of California: www.caed.uscourts.gov.
- United States District Court for the Northern District of California: www.cand.uscourts.gov.
- United States District Court for the Southern District of California: www.casd.uscourts.gov.

6.04[3] LOCAL PRACTICE: Format Requirements for Pleadings.

6.04[3][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements.

Printing: All documents presented for filing or lodging, including all exhibits, must be typewritten or printed, or prepared by a photocopying or other process that produces clear and permanent copies equally legible to printing, in black or dark blue ink [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.1].

Typeface: A proportionally spaced or monospaced typeface may be used. A proportionally spaced typeface must be 14-point or larger unless the court orders otherwise. A monospaced typeface may not contain more than 10.5 characters per inch [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.1.1].

Paper: Documents presented to the clerk must be prepared on opaque, unglazed, white paper (which may be recycled paper) not less that 13-pound weight. The paper must be 81/2 x 11 inches, numbered on the left margin with not more than 28 lines per page. Only one side of the paper may be used. The lines on each page must be double-spaced and numbered consecutively, with line 1 beginning at least one inch below the top edge of the paper [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.2].

Page Numbering: The pages of the all documents presented to the clerk must be numbered consecutively, with the page numbers appearing at the bottom of each page [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.3].

Original and Copies: The originals of all documents presented to the clerk must be labeled as the original, and copies must be clearly identified as copies. The original must consist entirely of the original pages, except as otherwise allowed by the local rules (such as exhibits that consist of copies) [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.4].

Pre-Punching, Riders, and Backing of Documents: All documents presented for filing or lodging in paper format, and mandatory chambers copies of electronic case filings, must be pre-punched with two normal-sized holes (approximately 1/4 inches in diameter), centered 23/4 inches apart, 1/2 to 5/8 inches from the top edge of the document. All pages must be firmly bound at the top and backed. The backing may not extend more than one inch below the pages bound and must have the short title of the document typed in the lower right-hand corner [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.5].

Spacing: The typing or printing generally must be double-spaced, including citations and quotations [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.6]. However, footnotes and descriptions of real property may be single-spaced [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.6.1, 11-3.6.2].

Quotations: A quotation from a cited case or other authority more than one sentence in length must be clearly indented not less than 5 spaces and not more than 20 spaces [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.7].

Electronic filing: Documents filed electronically must be submitted in pdf format [CD Gen Order 08-02(IV)(C)]. The parties must refrain from including and/or redact when inclusion is necessary, the following personal data identifiers: social security numbers, names of minor children, dates of birth, financial account numbers, and home addresses [see CD Gen Order 08-02(IV)(E)-(H)].

Cross Reference: Discussion of electronic filing pilot project in the Central District, see Ch. 5, Formatting, Serving, and Filing Papers, 5.31[1].

6.04[3][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements.

Electronic filing: Complaint filings by attorneys in all civil actions must be performed electronically [ED Cal Gen LR 121(d); see 5.29 -5.31]. Documents electronically filed must be created and formatted to comply in appearance and presentation, both in an electronic format and when printed, with the requirements for conventionally filed paper documents [ED Cal Gen LR 130(a)].

Cross Reference:

Eastern District requirements for electronic filings, see § 5.31[2].

Paper: Documents presented for conventional filing or lodging must be on white, unglazed, opaque paper of good quality with numbered lines in the left margin, 81/2 x 11 inches in size [ED Cal Gen LR 130(a), (b)].

Format of Documents: Documents presented for conventional filing must be flat, unfolded (except as necessary for the presentation of exhibits), firmly bound at the top left corner, and pre-punched with two holes (approximately 1/4 inch in diameter) centered 23/4 inches apart, 1/2 to 5/8 inches from the top edge of the document [ED Cal Gen LR 130(a), (b)].

Printing: Matters contained in a document must be presented by typewriting, printing, photographic or offset reproduction, or other clearly legible process, without erasures or interlining that materially defaces the document, and must appear on one side of each sheet only [ED Cal Gen LR 130(a), (b)].

Spacing: Documents must be double-spaced except for the identification of counsel, title of the action, category headings, footnotes, quotations, exhibits and descriptions of real property [ED Cal Gen LR 130(c)].

Quotations: Quotations of more than 50 words must be indented. Each page must be numbered consecutively at the bottom and provide a brief description of the document on the same line [ED Cal Gen LR 130(d)].

References to Parties by Name: If there are more than two parties, any reference to a party in the body of the complaint must include the name (which may be abbreviated) of the particular party [ED Cal Gen LR 133(h)].

6.04[3][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements.

Paper: The complaint (and all other documents presented for filing) must be on top-centered, two-hole punched, 81/2 x 11-inch white opaque paper of original or recycled bond quality, with numbered lines. The complaint must be flat, unfolded (except as necessary for the presentation of exhibits), without back or cover, and firmly bound at the top [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(c)(1)].

Written Text: Text must appear on one side of the pages only and must be double-spaced with no more than 28 lines per page, except for the identification of counsel, title of the case, footnotes, and quotations. Typewritten text may be no less than standard pica or 12-point type in the Courier font or equivalent, spaced 10 characters per horizontal inch. Printed text, produced on a word processor or other computer, may be proportionally spaced, provided that the type may not be smaller than 12-point standard font (e.g., Times New Roman). The text of footnotes and quotations must also conform to these font requirements [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(c)(2)].

Identification of Paper: Except for exhibits, the lower margin of each page of the complaint must bear a footer stating "Complaint" [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(c)(3)].

Redaction of Personal Data Identifiers: Any document filed in the public file, whether filed electronically or in paper, must comply with the requirements for redaction of personal data identifiers [ND Cal Civ LR 3-17].

Cross Reference:

Northern District requirements for redaction of personal data identifiers, see § 5.13[3].

6.04[3][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements.

Legibility and Interlineations: The complaint (and each document filed), including exhibits as practical, must be in English, plainly written, or typed in double space on one side of the document, line numbered in the left margin, and letter size. Documents filed in paper format must be flat and unfolded, without backing sheet, double spaced on one side of the paper or printed or prepared by means of a duplicating process on opaque, unglazed white paper. Quotations in excess of three lines must be indented and single spaced. Printed text, produced on a word processor or computer, may be proportionally spaced, provided the type is no smaller than 12-point standard font (e.g., Times New Roman). The text of footnotes and quotations must also conform to these font requirements [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(a)]. The complaint must not contain any erasures or interlineations unless they are noted by the clerk or judge by marginal initials at the time of filing [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(c)].

Prepunching and Attachments: The complaint and other documents presented for filing must be pre-punched with two normal-size holes (approximately 1/4-inch diameter), centered 23/4 inches apart, 1/2 to 5/8 inches from the top edge of the document. No page should have any attachment affixed to it. All pages must be firmly bound at the top [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(d)].

Paragraphing: Averments in the complaint must be made in numbered paragraphs, each of which must be limited, as far as is practicable, to a statement of a single set of circumstances [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(k)].

Compliance: Unless a waiver is first obtained from the court, the clerk will not file a complaint or other document that does not comply with the foregoing requirements. A noncomplying document will be endorsed "lodged" until approved by the court [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(f)].

Warning:

This provision appears to be overridden by Fed R Civ P 5(e), which does not permit a clerk to refuse filing solely because of improper format [see Marshall v. Gates (9th Cir 1995) 44 F3d 722, 725 ; see also 6.04[4][a]].

6.04[4] Avoid Consequences of Failure to Comply With Pleading Requirements.

6.04[4][a] Clerk Will Accept for Filing Complaint That Violates Format Requirements. The court clerk may not refuse to accept for filing any complaint or other paper presented for filing solely because it is not presented in proper form as required by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure or by local rules or practices [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(4); see Fed R Civ P 83(a)(2), (b)].

Example:

An improperly formatted complaint offered for filing on the last day before the statute of limitations expires will be timely, because the clerk must accept it for filing despite the improper format [Fed R Civ P 5(d)(4)].

6.04[4][b] Court Has Power to Dismiss or Make Other Orders. If a complaint fails to comply with the pleading requirements, the court has the power to [Fed R Civ P 12(e), (f), 41(b)]:

- Order a more definite statement;
- Strike redundant, immaterial, impertinent, or scandalous matter; or
- Dismiss the complaint.

A dismissal of the complaint for failure to comply with pleading requirements will usually be without prejudice, so that the plaintiff will have an opportunity to amend the complaint [see, e.g., McHenry v. Renne (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 1172, 1178].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
II. PREPARING COMPLAINT

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.05

6.05 Heading of Complaint Must Identify Attorney and Plaintiff and Comply With Local Rule Requirements.

6.05[1] Attorney and Plaintiff Must Be Identified. The first page of the complaint should begin with a heading that identifies the attorney who will present the complaint for filing. The heading should also identify the plaintiff or plaintiffs represented by the attorney. Local rules specify the format and contents of the heading.

6.05[2] LOCAL PRACTICE: Heading of Complaint.

6.05[2][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. On the first page of the complaint, beginning on line 1 at the left margin, state the name, California bar number, (or, when the attorney is a registered legal service attorney appearing pursuant to CD Cal Civ LR 83-2.3.5, the bar number and jurisdiction where the attorney is admitted to practice), office address (or residence address if no office is maintained), telephone number, facsimile number, and e-mail address of the attorney or pro se plaintiff. The e-mail address must be placed immediately beneath the name of the attorney. Immediately beneath, identify the party on whose behalf the complaint is filed. This information must be single-spaced and must be presented for each attorney or pro se party who joins in presenting the complaint [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(a)].

The space between lines 1 and 7 to the right of center of the page must be left blank for use by the court clerk [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(b)].

6.05[2][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The name, address, telephone number, and the California State Bar membership number of all counsel (or of a pro se plaintiff) and the specific identification of the party represented by name and interest in the litigation (e.g., "plaintiff Smith") must appear in the upper left-hand corner of the first page the complaint. However, if multiple parties are represented, this heading may refer to the signature page for a complete list of parties represented [ED Cal Gen LR 131(a)].

If multiple attorneys from a single law firm, organization, public entity, agency or department are listed as counsel, one of the listed attorneys must be designated as counsel for service. That designation may be made in the heading of the complaint, or by filing and serving a document entitled "Designation of Counsel for Service," stating the name, address, and telephone number of the designated counsel for service, and signed by that counsel [ED Cal Gen LR 182(c)(1)]. If no designation of counsel for service has been made, the court clerk may select the attorney for service from the heading on the first page of the complaint or from the signature block [ED Cal Gen LR 182(c)(2)].

6.05[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The upper left-hand corner of the first page of the complaint must state the name, address, telephone number, facsimile ("fax") telephone number, e-mail address, and state bar number of the attorney presenting the complaint for filing. This information must be accompanied by the name of the plaintiff as well as that party's status as plaintiff. In a multiparty action, reference may be made to the signature page for the complete list of parties represented. If the plaintiff is proceeding pro se, the name, address, telephone number, fax telephone number, and e-mail address of the plaintiff must appear in the upper left-hand corner of the first page of the complaint [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(1)].

If the plaintiff's attorney is proceeding pro hac vice, the identification of the attorney must specify that the attorney's appearance is "pro hac vice" [ND Cal Civ LR 11-3(e)], and must be followed by the name, address, telephone and state bar number of local co-counsel [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(2)].

6.05[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. On the first page of the complaint, the name, address and telephone number of the attorney appearing for the plaintiff (or of a pro se plaintiff) must be printed or typewritten in the space to the left of the page's center and beginning at line 1. An attorney appearing for the plaintiff must also include his or her California State Bar Number. This information may be single-spaced. The space to the right of the page's center must be reserved for the clerk's filing stamp [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.1)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
II. PREPARING COMPLAINT

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.06

6.06 Caption Must Meet Specific Format Requirements.

6.06[1] Name of Court Must Be Identified.

6.06[1][a] District and Division Must Be Specified. The complaint must contain a caption that names the court in which the complaint will be filed [Fed R Civ P 10(a)]. If the district court in which the complaint will be filed has divisions, the caption should state the division [Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 1].

The court's name should be centered on the first page of the complaint [see, e.g., Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 1].

6.06[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The court's name must be centered on or below line 8 of the first page of the complaint [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(c)].

6.06[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. The court's title must appear on the eighth line of the first page of the complaint, following the counsel identification, unless additional space is required for identification [ED Cal Gen LR 133(g)].

6.06[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The court's title, including the appropriate division or location, must appear on the eighth line of the first page of each paper presented for filing with the court, unless additional space is required for counsel identification [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(3)(A)].

Consider:
Although ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(3)(A) provides that "each paper presented for filing" must set forth this information, in fact when a complaint is presented for filing, a division and location has not yet been assigned. Accordingly, this information is not normally included on the initial complaint. However, after assignment to a specific judge, the division in which the judge is located should be included as the division following the name of the court, in subsequent papers presented for filing, and filed with the clerk in that location.

6.06[1][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. The court's title must begin at or below line 8 of the first page of the complaint [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.2)].

6.06[2] Title of Action Must Be Provided.

6.06[2][a] Parties Must Be Named in Title of Action. The caption of the complaint must state the action's title, which must include the names of all the parties [Fed R Civ P 10(a); Ferdik v. Bonzelet (9th Cir 1992) 963 F2d 1258, 1261-1262].

Distinguish:

In subsequent pleadings it is sufficient to state the first party's name on each side with an appropriate indication of the existence of other parties, such as "et al." ("and others") [Fed R Civ P 10(a); see CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(d)].

The action's title should appear on the left side of the first page of the complaint, below the court's name [see ED Cal Gen LR 133(g); ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(3)(B)].

6.06[2][b] Requirement That All Parties Be Named Is Construed Liberally. Courts liberally interpret the requirement that all parties be named in the caption of the complaint [Yeseta v. Baima (9th Cir 1988) 837 F2d 380, 382-383].

Example:

Failure to name a defendant in the caption does not prevent the action from proceeding against that defendant, if the body of the complaint makes it clear that the plaintiff intended to sue that defendant [Yeseta v. Baima (9th Cir 1988) 837 F2d 380, 382-383].

Warning:

The court may dismiss an action or a claim if a party is not sufficiently identified to permit the necessary service of process [see Ferdik v. Bonzelet (9th Cir 1992) 963 F2d 1258, 1261-1262].

6.06[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The parties' names must be single-spaced and placed below the court's title, to the left of center. If the parties are too numerous to fit on the first page of the complaint, the names may be continued on successive pages in the same space [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(d)].

6.06[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. If there are more than two parties, any reference to a party in the body of the complaint must include the name (which may be abbreviated) of the particular party [ED Cal Gen LR 133(h)].

6.06[2][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Below and to the left of the court's title, the title of the action must be inserted. If the parties are too numerous for all to be named on the first page, the parties' names may be carried onto successive pages [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.3)].

The complaint must be entitled as an adversary proceeding naming at least one defendant, unless it is a Petition for Limitation of Liability under Fed R Civ P, Supplemental Rules for Certain Admiralty and Maritime Claims, Rule F. The clerk will refuse to file a complaint that does not comply with this requirement [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(g)]. SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(g) appears to be in tension with Fed R Civ P 5(d)(4) [see 6.04[4][a]] to the extent that the body of the complaint identifies an adversary proceeding, and therefore is probably unenforceable. However, the failure to identify a particular person as a defendant in the caption of the complaint may not qualify as a "format" error [see Marshall v. Gates (9th Cir 1995) 44 F3d 722, 725 (courts are obliged to construe local rules so that they do not conflict with the federal rules)].

6.06[3] Use of Fictitious Name for Plaintiff Is Restricted.

6.06[3][a] Plaintiff Must Obtain Leave of Court to Use Fictitious Name. A plaintiff seeking to proceed under a fictitious name must request permission from the court to do so. Absent permission, the court lacks jurisdiction over the fictitiously named plaintiff [W.N.J. v. Yocom (10th Cir 2001) 257 F3d 1171, 1172 ; National Commodity & Barter Ass'n v. Gibbs (10th Cir 1989) 886 F2d 1240, 1245].

6.06[3][b] Plaintiff's Real Name May Be Disclosed to Defendant but Kept Under Seal. If the court grants the plaintiff permission to proceed under a fictitious name, it is often with the requirement that the real name of plaintiffs be disclosed to the defendant and the court but kept under seal thereafter [W.N.J. v. Yocom (10th Cir 2001) 257 F3d 1171, 1172 ; Doe v. Lepley (D Nev 1999) 185 FRD 605, 606-607 ; Doe v. Rostker (ND Cal 1981) 89 FRD 158, 161].

6.06[3][c] Use of Fictitious Name Is Generally Against Public Policy. The use of fictitious names by plaintiffs is against the public's legitimate interest in knowing the facts of a lawsuit, including the parties' names [Fed R Civ P 17(a); Doe v. Advanced Textile Corp. (9th Cir 2000) 214 F3d 1058, 1067-1068].

6.06[3][d] Privacy Interest May Justify Anonymous Proceeding. In special circumstances, the court may make an exception to the policy favoring disclosure, allowing a plaintiff to proceed anonymously to protect a person from harassment, injury, ridicule or personal embarrassment [Doe v. Advanced Textile Corp. (9th Cir 2000) 214 F3d 1058, 1067-1068 ; United States v. Doe (9th Cir 1981) 655 F2d 920, 922 n1].

6.06[3][e] Factors to Consider When Plaintiff Seeks to Plead Anonymously. In deciding whether to allow a plaintiff to plead anonymously, the court generally employs a balancing test to decide if the plaintiff has a substantial privacy interest outweighing the presumption of openness in judicial proceedings [Doe v. Goldman (D Nev 1996) 169 FRD 138, 139-140].

If a pseudonym is used to shield the anonymous plaintiff from retaliation, the district court should determine the need for anonymity by evaluating the following factors [Doe v. Advanced Textile Corp. (9th Cir 2000) 214 F3d 1058, 1068]:

- The severity of the threatened harm.
- The reasonableness of the anonymous party's fears.
- The plaintiff's vulnerability to such retaliation.
- Prejudice to the defendant, and whether proceedings may be structured so as to mitigate that prejudice.
- Whether the public's interest in the case would be best served by requiring that the litigants reveal their identities.

6.06[3][f] Examples of Sufficient Privacy Concerns. Privacy concerns have been held sufficient to allow plaintiffs to proceed anonymously in cases involving the following matters:

- Birth control [see, e.g., Poe v. Ullman (1961) 367 US 497, 498 n1, 81 S Ct 1752, 6 L Ed2d 989].
- Abortion [see, e.g., Roe v. Wade (1973) 410 US 113, 120 n4, 93 S Ct 705, 35 L Ed2d 147].
- Homosexuality [see, e.g., Webster v. Doe (1988) 486 US 592, 595, 108 S Ct 2047, 100 L Ed2d 632].
- Mental illness [see, e.g., Doe v. Colautti (3d Cir 1979) 592 F2d 704, 705].

- Reasonable fear of retaliatory physical or mental harm, such as employer reprisals [Doe v. Advanced Textile Corp. (9th Cir 2000) 214 F3d 1058, 1068].

- Risk of possible criminal liability stemming from disclosure of a party's identity [see Doe v. Advanced Textile Corp. (9th Cir 2000) 214 F3d 1058, 1068].

6.06[3][g] Examples of Insufficient Privacy Concerns. If only "personal embarrassment" or some "social stigma" will result from disclosure of the plaintiff's identity, or if the plaintiff's fear of reprisals is only speculative, the court will not allow the plaintiff to proceed under a fictitious name [see Doe v. Frank (11th Cir 1992) 951 F2d 320, 324]. For example, permission to proceed anonymously has been denied in the following cases:

- A physician facing state professional disciplinary proceedings arising from complaints of sexual and other improprieties may not anonymously pursue a federal court case to enjoin those proceedings, because the public's right to know outweighs the plaintiff's privacy concerns [Coe v. United States Dist. Court (10th Cir 1982) 676 F2d 411, 418].

- The fear of retaliation or other reprisal against plaintiffs challenging Selective Service guidelines was insufficient to allow them to proceed anonymously, as the fear was "speculative" [Doe v. Rostker (ND Cal 1981) 89 FRD 158, 162].

6.06[4] Using Fictitious Name for Defendant.

6.06[4][a] "Doe" Pleading Is Used to Sue Unknown Defendant. If the plaintiff cannot ascertain a defendant's real identity, the complaint may name the defendant by using a fictitious name or other descriptive term, such as "John Doe." In general, the use of fictitious names for defendants is disfavored, but may be appropriate in unusual cases where the identity of the alleged defendant is not known before filing the complaint [Gillespie v. Civiletti (9th Cir 1980) 629 F2d 637, 642-643].

The use of a fictitious name for a defendant in the title of a case can be supported by a paragraph in the body of the complaint stating both of the following:

- The plaintiff is using a fictitious name for the defendant because the plaintiff has been unable to ascertain the defendant's true identity.

- The plaintiff will amend the complaint to add the defendant's true name once the defendant's identity is discovered [see Fed R Civ P 15(a)].

6.06[4][b] Effect on Diversity Jurisdiction. If a case is removed from state court to federal district court based on general diversity of citizenship jurisdiction, the citizenship of defendants sued under fictitious names is to be disregarded, and becomes relevant only if and when the plaintiff seeks leave to substitute a named defendant [28 USC §§ 1441(a), 1447(e); Soliman v. Philip Morris, Inc. (9th Cir 2002) 311 F3d 966, 971]. The general diversity statute does not address the issue [28 USC § 1332], and the Ninth Circuit has not recently considered whether the presence of a Doe defendant (whose citizenship presumably cannot be established) in a complaint filed in federal district court precludes the complete diversity of citizenship necessary for diversity jurisdiction.

However, before the amendments to the removal statute that made clear that the citizenship of defendants sued under fictitious names is to be disregarded, the Ninth Circuit ruled that the presence of fictitious "Does" in an original federal diversity action destroys complete diversity [see Garter-Bare Co. v. Munsingwear, Inc. (9th Cir 1980) 650 F2d 975, 981 (citing Molnar v. National Broadcasting Co. (9th Cir 1956) 231 F2d 684, 687-688 and Fifty Assocs. v. Prudential Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1970) 446 F2d 1187, 1190]. These cases were decided before the amendment of the removal statute to exclude fictitious names in determining diversity, but presumably still apply to the generic diversity statute.

Consider:

It is difficult to imagine how a plaintiff or defendant could establish diversity jurisdiction when the citizenship of one of the parties is unknown.

6.06[4][c] Use of Doe Pleading to Avoid Bar of Statute of Limitations on State-Law Claim. A plaintiff who uses a Doe appellation to sue an unknown defendant may amend the complaint to add the defendant's true name once the proper identity of the defendant is determined [see Fed R Civ P 15(a)]. If, after the expiration of the statute of limitations, a complaint is amended to add the true name of a defendant who was originally sued as a "Doe," the claim against the defendant will be barred unless the amendment "relates back" to the time of filing the original complaint. An amendment to a state-law claim will relate back only if permitted by the state law that provides the statute of limitations applicable to the action [Fed R Civ P 15(c)(1)(A)]. California law does permit such relation back, if the plaintiff was ignorant of the facts giving rise to the cause of action against the defendant when the complaint was filed [CCP § 474; General Motors Corp. v. Superior Court (1996) 48 CA4th 580, 593-594, 55 CR2d 871].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of the relation back doctrine under California law, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Pretrial Civil Procedure, see § 4.44.

6.06[4][d] Use of Doe Pleading to Avoid Bar of Statute of Limitations on Federal Claim. If the complaint uses Doe pleading to prevent the running of the statute of limitations on a federal claim, a subsequent amendment of the complaint to add the true name of the defendant will relate back to the time of the original filing only if all of the following circumstances exist [Fed R Civ P 15(c)(1)(B), (C)]:

- The claim asserted in the amended complaint arose out of the conduct, transaction, or occurrence described in the original complaint.

- Within 120 days after filing the amendment, the defendant named in the amendment has received notice of the action so as not to be prejudiced in maintaining a defense on the merits [see Fed R Civ P 4(m)].

- Within 120 days after filing the amendment, the defendant named in the amendment knew or should have known that he or she would have been named in the complaint earlier but for a mistake concerning identification [see Fed R Civ P 4(m)].

Warning:

Most federal courts have held that an amended federal claim that otherwise meets the foregoing requirements will relate back only if there was a mistaken identification of the defendant by the plaintiff, but not if the identity of the defendant was unknown to the claimant at the time of the initial filing [Butler v. Robar Enters., Inc. (CD Cal 2002) 208 FRD 621, 623-624 ; see, e.g., Wayne v. Jarvis (11th Cir 1999) 197 F3d 1098, 1102-1104 ; Jacobsen v. Osborne (5th Cir 1998) 133 F3d 315, 321 ; Delgado-Brunet v. Clark (7th Cir 1996) 93 F3d 339, 344 ; Barrow v. Wethersfield Police Dep't (2d Cir 1995) 66 F3d 466, 470 ; Wilson v. United States (1st Cir 1994) 23 F3d 559, 563].

6.06[4][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The complaint may not include more than 10 fictitiously named parties [CD Cal Civ LR 19-1].

6.06[5] File Number of Action Must Be Included.

6.06[5][a] Caption Should Provide Space for File Number. The caption of every pleading must state the case's file number (also called a docket number or case number) [Fed R Civ P 10(a)]. Because the original complaint will be prepared before the court clerk assigns a file number, the caption of the complaint should include a space in which the court clerk can stamp or otherwise indicate the file number of the action [Fed R Civ P 10(a)].

The space for the file number should be provided next to the title of the action, on the right side of the first page of the complaint [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(e); see ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(3)(C); SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.3)].

Distinguish:

Although Fed R Civ P 10(a) refers to "file number," the local rules of district courts, and common local practice, may be to use other, similar terms such as "case number," "docket number," or "number of the action" [see CD Cal Civ LR11-3.8(e); see ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(3)(C); SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.3)].

6.06[5][b] Court Clerk Will Assign File Number. When the complaint is filed, the court clerk will assign a file number. Civil actions are assigned consecutive file numbers [Fed R Civ P 79(a)(1)]. Because local rules may regulate the assignment of file numbers, the format of, and information contained in, the numbers may vary among the district courts [see Fed R Civ P 83(a)].

6.06[6] Pleading Must Be Designated As Complaint.

6.06[6][a] Identify Document As Complaint. The caption of the complaint must identify the pleading as a "complaint," which is one of the allowable pleadings [Fed R Civ P 10(a); see Fed R Civ P 7(a)].

The designation of the pleading as a complaint is usually placed to the right of the title of the action, or at the bottom of the caption, just above the body of the complaint [see ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(3)(D)].

Example:

A designation such as "Complaint" or "Complaint for Breach of Contract" is sufficient unless local rules require a more specific designation.

6.06[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. Immediately below the space for the file number (docket number), insert a concise description of the nature of the document and the proceeding [CD Cal Civ LR 11-3.8(e), (f)]. Presumably, a designation such as "Complaint for Breach of Contract" is usually sufficient. If the action is a class action, the designation should include the words "Class Action" [CD Cal Civ LR 23-1].

6.06[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. If the plaintiff elects to proceed under the court's admiralty and maritime jurisdiction, the complaint must state "In Admiralty" following the court's name, in addition to the necessary statement identifying the claim as an admiralty or maritime claim in the body of the complaint [ED Cal Adm LR 510(a)]. If the complaint also contains one or more claims at law, it must state "At Law and In Admiralty" following the court's name [ED Cal Adm LR 510(a)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of the election to proceed under the court's admiralty and maritime jurisdiction, as well as the allegations required in the body of the complaint, see § 6.11[10].

6.06[6][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. A complaint seeking review of a federal agency determination in an immigration case, Privacy Act case, or Administrative Procedure Act case must include, under the title of the complaint, whichever of the following is applicable: "Immigration Case," "Privacy Act Case," or "Administrative Procedure Act Case" [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(4)].

A complaint by the United States asserting a claim under the Federal Debt Collection Procedures Act [28 USC § 3001 et seq.] must identify the action by using the words "Debt Collection Case" on the first page of the complaint [ND Cal Civ LR 16-6(a)].

If the action is sought to be maintained as a class action, the complaint must bear the legend "Class Action" on its first page below the title describing the paper as a complaint [ND Cal Civ LR 3-4(a)(5)].

6.06[6][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. Immediately below the docket number, the complaint must be designated as such [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.3)] and must state a category from among the following that most nearly describes the action's subject matter [SD Cal Civ LR 3.1]:

- Admiralty-Maritime Claims (except Jones Act).
- Antitrust.
- Contract.
- Copyright/Trademark/Unfair Competition.
- Patent.
- Labor Relations.
- Tax.
- Tort/Personal Injury (including Jones Act)/Property Damage Fraud/Other [specify].
- Government Collection/Forfeiture/Penalty.
- Civil Rights.
- Land Condemnation.
- Habeas Corpus.
- Review of Administrative Action.
- Federal Securities.
- Miscellaneous [specify].

If the action is sought to be maintained as a class action, the complaint must also bear the legend "Class Action" below the docket number [SD Cal Civ LR 23.1(a)].

6.06[7] Jury Demand Must Be Included.

6.06[7][a] Endorse Jury Demand on Complaint. A demand for a trial by jury may be endorsed on the complaint [Fed R Civ P 38(b)].

Example:

The usual method of endorsing the demand on the complaint is to place a notation such as "Jury Demanded" on the first page of the complaint [see Gargiulo v. Delsole (2d Cir 1985) 769 F2d 77, 78-79

]. Local rules may require a separate demand in the body of the complaint, in addition to the endorsement [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 38-1; ND Cal Civ LR 3-6(a)].

Cross Reference:

Further coverage of jury demands, see § 6.13.

6.06[7][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. If a jury demand is included in the complaint, the caption of the complaint must contain the words "Demand for Jury Trial." The demand itself must be stated at the end of the complaint and be signed by the attorney for the plaintiff [CD Cal Civ LR 38-1].

6.06[7][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. A jury demand made in the complaint must appear immediately following the title of the complaint. Alternatively, a jury demand may be made in any other document permitted by Fed Civ P 38(b) [ED Cal Civ LR 201].

6.06[7][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. If the jury demand is included in the complaint, the caption of the complaint must state "Demand for Jury Trial." immediately following the designation of the pleading as a complaint. The demand itself must be stated at the end of the complaint and be signed by the plaintiff's attorney [ND Cal Civ LR 3-6(a)].

6.06[7][e] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. If a jury is demanded, the words "Demand for Jury Trial" must appear on the first page of the complaint, to the right of center, across from the title of the action and following the designation of the document as the complaint [SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(j.3), 38.1].

6.06[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: Indicating Three-Judge Court.

6.06[8][a] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. If the plaintiff contends that the case requires hearing by a three-judge court [see 28 USC § 2284], type the words "Three-Judge Court" immediately below the space for the file number (docket number) [CD Cal Civ LR 8-2].

6.06[8][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. If the plaintiff contends that the case requires hearing by a three-judge court [see 28 USC § 2284], type the words "Three-Judge District Court Requested," or their equivalent, immediately following the title of the complaint [SD Cal Civ LR 9.2(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
II. PREPARING COMPLAINT

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.07

6.07 Jurisdictional Allegations Must Be in Short and Plain Statement.

6.07[1] Subject Matter Jurisdiction Must Be Alleged.

6.07[1][a] Setting Forth Basis of Subject Matter Jurisdiction. A complaint must contain a short and plain statement of the grounds on which the court's subject matter jurisdiction depends [see Fed R Civ P 8(a)].

The jurisdictional statement is usually made in the first paragraph of the body of the complaint [see, e.g., CD Cal Civ LR 8-1; ED Cal Civ LR 204]. The statement must state the basis for federal question jurisdiction or diversity jurisdiction [see 28 USC § 1330 et seq.].

Warning:

The parties may not waive lack of subject matter jurisdiction. The court will sua sponte dismiss an action whenever it appears that subject matter jurisdiction is lacking [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(3)]. In this respect, a lack of subject matter jurisdiction differs from defects such as a lack of personal jurisdiction, improper venue, or insufficiency of process or service of process, which the parties can waive [see Fed R Civ P 12(h)(1)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of subject matter jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.03 -2.30.

6.07[1][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. The statutory or other basis for the court's jurisdiction must be plainly stated in the first paragraph of the complaint [CD Cal Civ LR 8-1].

6.07[1][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: ED Cal Requirements. An allegation of jurisdiction must appear as the first allegation of the complaint, and it must meet all the following requirements [ED Cal Civ LR 204]:

- It must be styled "Jurisdiction."

- It must state the claimed statutory or other basis of federal jurisdiction.

- It must state the facts supporting the jurisdictional claim.

6.07[1][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal Requirements. The complaint must include a separate paragraph, entitled "Jurisdiction," that identifies the statutory or other basis for federal jurisdiction and the facts supporting such jurisdiction [ND Cal Civ LR 3-5(a)].

6.07[1][e] Model Jurisdictional Allegations May Be Considered. Official Form 2 provides model allegations of subject matter jurisdiction, one for diversity, one for federal question, one for statutory jurisdiction, and one for admiralty or maritime jurisdiction [see Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7].

6.07[2] Federal Question Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.

6.07[2][a] Allege Facts to Support General Federal Question Jurisdiction. To establish that the district court has general federal question jurisdiction over a claim, the well-pleaded facts of the complaint must establish that the claim itself is grounded in federal law [see Pan Am. Corp. v. Superior Court (1961) 366 US 656, 663, 81 S Ct 1303, 6 L Ed2d 584 ; see Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7(b)].

Warning:

A complaint must allege that the claim for relief itself arises under federal law. Allegations that an anticipated defense is grounded in federal law are not adequate to establish federal question jurisdiction [Rivet v. Regions Bank (1998) 522 US 470, 475, 118 S Ct 921, 139 L Ed2d 912].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of federal question jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.03 -2.09.

6.07[2][b] Include Reference to Federal Law Underlying Claim. It is good practice to include a specific reference to the section of the Constitution, federal statute, or treaty that supplies the basis for the claim [see Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7(b)]. If federal common law is pleaded as the basis for federal question jurisdiction, a reference to the relevant case and a description of its holding presumably would suffice.

Failure to cite the federal law on which the plaintiff's claim is based is not fatal to the complaint, so long as the facts alleged sufficiently demonstrate the basis for jurisdiction [Schlesinger v. Councilman (1975) 420 US 738, 742-745 n5 & 9, 95 S Ct 1300, 43 L Ed 2d 591]. The court may allow an amendment to the complaint to add the necessary allegations [28 USC § 1653].

6.07[2][c] Plead Jurisdiction Under Specific Statutory Grant of Federal Question Jurisdiction. If jurisdiction is founded on a special jurisdictional statute, reference to the statute should be made in the first paragraph of the complaint, and specific factual averments should be made in the body of the complaint demonstrating that the statute applies [Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7(b)].

Examples:

Following are some of the cases in which specific statutes confer federal question jurisdiction:

- Actions to enforce orders of the Surface Transportation Board (formerly the Interstate Commerce Commission) [28 USC § 1336].

- Actions arising under antitrust statutes [28 USC § 1337].
- Actions arising under patent, copyright, and trademark law [28 USC § 1338].
- Postal matters [28 USC § 1339].
- Federal tax matters [28 USC § 1340].
- Civil rights actions [28 USC § 1343].
- Actions against the United States [28 USC § 1346].
- Claims under the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) [29 USC § 1132(e)].
- Actions under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organization Act (RICO) [18 USC § 1965(a)].
- Actions under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 [15 USC § 78aa].

6.07[3] Diversity Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.

6.07[3][a] Determine Whether General Diversity Jurisdiction Is Available. In general, a federal district court may exercise diversity jurisdiction over a civil action if the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs, and if any of the following applies [28 USC § 1332(a)]:

- The matter in controversy is between citizens of different states.
- The matter in controversy is between citizens of a state and citizens or subjects of a foreign state.
- The matter in controversy is between citizens of different states and in which citizens or subjects of a foreign state are additional parties.
- The matter in controversy is between a foreign state [see 28 USC § 1603(a) as plaintiff and citizens of a state or of different states.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of diversity jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.10 -2.25.

6.07[3][b] Special Diversity Jurisdiction Is Available in Mass Tort Litigation and Certain Class Actions. A federal district court has original jurisdiction of a civil action that arises from a single accident in which any two adverse parties are of diverse citizenship, if at least 75 natural persons died in the accident at a discrete location, and if any of the following circumstances exists [28 USC § 1369(a)]:

- A defendant resides in one state, and a substantial part of the accident took place in another state or other location, regardless of whether that defendant is also a resident of the state where a substantial part of the accident took place.
- Any two defendants reside in different states, regardless of whether those defendants are also residents of the same state or states.

- Substantial parts of the accident took place in different states.

Exception:

The court has discretion to abstain from hearing the action if the substantial majority of all plaintiffs are citizens of the state of which the primary defendants are also citizens, and the claims asserted will be governed primarily by the laws of that state [28 USC § 1369(b)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of diversity jurisdiction in mass tort cases, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see § 2.24.

A federal district court also has original jurisdiction of certain class actions in which the matter in controversy exceeds the sum or value of $5 million, exclusive of interest and costs, and in which diversity of citizenship exists between any member of a plaintiff class and any defendant [28 USC § 1332(d)(2)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of diversity jurisdiction under Class Action Fairness Act of 2005, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see § 2.24A.

6.07[3][c] Citizenship and Amount in Controversy Must Be Averred. A claim alleging jurisdiction based on diversity of citizenship must contain averments of the parties' citizenship and the amount in controversy [Fifty Assocs. v. Prudential Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1970) 446 F2d 1187, 1190 ; see Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7(a)]. A failure to refer to the diversity statute is not fatal if the facts necessary to establish diversity jurisdiction are pleaded [Scheuer v. Rhodes (1974) 416 US 232, 234 n2, 94 S Ct 1683, 40 L Ed2d 90].

The better practice is to allege specifically both the citizenship of the parties and the amount in controversy, even if express citation or reference is made to the diversity statute [see Fifty Assocs. v. Prudential Ins. Co. (9th Cir 1970) 446 F2d 1187, 1190]. However, it appears that for jurisdictional purposes, it is sufficient to allege the amount in controversy by stating that, exclusive of interest and costs, the matter in controversy exceeds the sum specified by 28 USC § 1332, the general diversity statute [see Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7(a)].

6.07[3][d] Complete Diversity of Citizenship Must Be Established for Most Actions. Because complete diversity of citizenship is required to establish general diversity jurisdiction, a complaint alleging general diversity jurisdiction must aver that every plaintiff is of diverse citizenship from every defendant [see Strawbridge v. Curtiss (1806) 7 US 267, 267, 2 L Ed 435].

Exception--Interpleader Action:

An interpleader action requires only minimal diversity. Thus, a complaint in an interpleader action may establish diversity of citizenship by alleging that two or more defendants are of diverse citizenship from one another [28 USC § 1335(a); see State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. Tashire (1967) 386 US 523, 530-531, 87 S Ct 1199, 18 L Ed2d 270 ; see also Ch. 4, Determining Parties to the Action, 4.56].

Exception--Mass Tort Litigation:

Complete diversity need not be alleged in a mass tort action that qualifies for special diversity jurisdiction. The complaint may establish diversity jurisdiction by alleging the following [28 USC § 1369(a)]:

- The citizenship of at least two adverse parties who are of diverse citizenship.

- At least 75 natural persons died in the underlying accident at a discrete location.
- Either:
  - ○ A defendant resides in one state, and a substantial part of the accident took place in another state or other location.
  - ○ Any two defendants reside in different states.
  - ○ Substantial parts of the accident took place in different states.

Exception--Class Actions:

Complete diversity need not be alleged in a class action that qualifies for minimal diversity jurisdiction under the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005. The complaint may establish diversity jurisdiction by alleging a matter in controversy that exceeds the sum or value of $5 million, exclusive of interests and costs, and diversity of citizenship between any member of a plaintiff class and any defendant [28 USC § 1332(d)(2)].

6.07[3][e] Pleading Citizenship of Individuals. An allegation of citizenship of an individual should state that the individual is a citizen of a specified state, of the District of Columbia, of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, or of a specified United States territory [see Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7(a); see also 28 USC § 1332(e)].

For purposes of diversity jurisdiction, an alien admitted to the United States for permanent residence is deemed a citizen of the state in which he or she is domiciled [28 USC § 1332(a)].

6.07[3][f] Pleading Citizenship of Corporations. An allegation of citizenship of a corporation should allege the state in which it is incorporated and the state in which it has its principal place of business, because a corporation is deemed a citizen of both of those states [28 USC § 1332(c)(1)].

Exception:

In a direct action against a liability insurer, if the insured is not joined as a defendant, the insurer is deemed a citizen of the state of which the insured is a citizen, in addition to the state in which the insurer is incorporated and the state in which it has its principal place of business [28 USC § 1332(c)(1)].

6.07[3][g] Pleading Citizenship of Partnerships and Unincorporated Associations. An allegation of citizenship of a partnership or unincorporated association should specify the particular states of citizenship of each partner or member. Partnerships and unincorporated associations lack their own citizenship for purposes of the general diversity statute. Instead, the citizenship of a partnership or unincorporated association is dependent on the citizenship of each of the individual members of the association [Carden v. Arkoma Assocs. (1990) 494 US 185, 195-196, 110 S Ct 1015, 108 L Ed2d 157].

Exception:

In multistate class actions subject to the modified jurisdictional requirements of the Class Action Fairness Act of 2005 [see 109 PL 2, 199 Stat 4], an unincorporated association is deemed to be a citizen of the state where it has its principal place of business and the state under whose laws it is organized [28 USC § 1332(d)(10)].

6.07[3][h] Pleading Citizenship of Political Subdivisions and Other Entities. A municipal corporation, a county, or any other political subdivision of a state is a citizen of the state in which it is located, unless it is simply an arm or the alter ego of the state [see Moor v. County of Alameda (1973) 411 US 693, 717, 93 S Ct 1785, 36 L Ed2d 596].

Distinguish:

Unlike its political subdivisions, a state (including an arm or alter ego of the state) is not a "citizen" for purposes of general diversity jurisdiction [Moor v. County of Alameda (1973) 411 US 693, 717, 93 S Ct 1785, 36 L Ed2d 596].

6.07[3][i] In General Diversity Case, Pleading Must Allege That Amount in Controversy Exceeds $75,000. A pleading relying on general diversity jurisdiction must allege that the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000, exclusive of interest and costs. Detailed explanations usually are not required [28 USC § 1332(a); Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7(a)].

Example:

It appears that for jurisdictional purposes, it is sufficient to allege the amount in controversy by stating that, exclusive of interest and costs, the matter in controversy exceeds the sum specified by 28 USC § 1332, the general diversity statute [see Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7(a)].

Warning:

A defendant, or the court sua sponte, may challenge the plaintiff's allegation of the jurisdictional amount. Whether the amount in controversy exceeds $75,000 is usually determined from the perspective and pleading of the party invoking jurisdiction, and the amount is determined as of the time subject matter jurisdiction is first invoked. In general, all that is required is a good-faith allegation that the amount in controversy exceeds the jurisdictional amount, and dismissal will not be warranted unless it appears "to a legal certainty" that the claim is for less than the jurisdiction amount [St. Paul Mercury Indem. Co. v. Red Cab Co. (1938) 303 US 283, 288, 58 S Ct 586, 82 L Ed 845].

6.07[4] Admiralty or Maritime Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable. In pleading a claim under admiralty and maritime jurisdiction [see 28 USC § 1333], allegations of fact demonstrating the applicability of admiralty or maritime authority are required. For example, a party seeking to invoke federal admiralty jurisdiction over a tort claim must allege facts that satisfy both the conditions of location and of connection with maritime activity [Grubart v. Great Lakes Dredge & Dock Co. (1995) 513 US 527, 534, 115 S Ct 1043, 130 L Ed2d 1024 ; see, e.g., Ramirez v. Butler (ND Cal 2004) 319 F Supp2d 1034, 1038 (admiralty jurisdiction did not lie over suit alleging conversion of noncommercial sailboat because there was no potential for disruptive impact on maritime commerce)].

To invoke general admiralty or maritime jurisdiction, the first paragraph of the complaint should refer to admiralty or maritime authority, and support should be more fully developed in the body of the complaint [Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7(c)]. To invoke the distinctively maritime procedures referred to in Fed R Civ P 9(h), the first paragraph of the complaint should add the following or its substantial equivalent: "This is an admiralty or maritime claim within the meaning of Rule 9(h)" [Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 7(c)].

Cross Reference:

Further coverage of the pleading of admiralty or maritime claims, see § 6.11[10].

6.07[5] Supplemental Jurisdiction Must Be Pleaded, If Applicable.

6.07[5][a] Determination of Whether Supplemental Jurisdiction Is Available. Generally, in a case in which a federal district court has original jurisdiction, it may also exercise supplemental jurisdiction over other claims that are so related to claims in the action within the court's original jurisdiction that they form part of the same case or controversy under Article III of the Constitution [28 USC § 1367(a)].

Exceptions:

If the court's original jurisdiction over a case is based on diversity of citizenship, supplemental jurisdiction is not available for claims that would bring in defendants whose joinder would be inconsistent with the requirements for diversity jurisdiction [28 USC § 1367(b); see 28 USC § 1332]. Also, even if the district court has supplemental jurisdiction over a claim, it may decline to exercise that jurisdiction if any of the following conditions exists [28 USC § 1367(c)]:

- The claim raises a novel or complex issue of state law.
- The claim substantially predominates over the claim or claims over which the court has original jurisdiction.
- The court has dismissed all claims over which it has original jurisdiction.
- In exceptional circumstances, there are other compelling reasons for declining jurisdiction.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of supplemental jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.26 -2.30.

6.07[5][b] Sufficient Facts Must Be Alleged to Establish Supplemental Jurisdiction. To establish that two claims form part of the same case under Article III for purposes of supplemental jurisdiction, the plaintiff must plead and prove facts sufficient to support a finding that the claims have a common nucleus of operative facts [see United Mine Workers v. Gibbs (1966) 383 US 715, 725, 86 S Ct 1130, 16 L Ed2d 218 ; Kuba v. 1-A Agric. Ass'n (9th Cir 2004) 387 F3d 850, 855 ; Trustees of Constr. Indus. & Laborers Health & Welf. Trust v. Desert Valley Landscape & Maint., Inc. (9th Cir 2003) 333 F3d 923, 925].

6.07[6] Satisfying Justiciability Requirements.

6.07[6][a] Justiciability Is Generally Not an Issue in Actions Alleging Actual Injury to Plaintiff. The federal courts' subject matter jurisdiction is limited by the "case or controversy" and standing requirements imposed by Article III of the Constitution [Lewis v. Continental Bank Corp. (1990) 494 US 472, 477, 110 S Ct 1249, 108 L Ed2d 400 ; see also US Const, art III]. In most kinds of actions, these justiciability requirements are not usually a concern, because allegations of actual injury suffered by the plaintiff are sufficient to establish the existence of an actual controversy and the plaintiff's standing to seek redress [see Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife (1992) 504 US 555, 561, 112 S Ct 2130, 119 L Ed2d 351].

A representative plaintiff in an action under B&P Code 17200 does not have standing under Article III because the plaintiff has suffered no actual injury, but rather is seeking redress for injuries suffered by others as a private attorney general [e.g., Lee v. American Nat'l Ins. Co. (9th Cir 2001) 260 F3d 997, 1001-1002].

6.07[6][b] Plaintiff in Declaratory Relief Action Must Establish Justiciability. To avoid dismissal for lack of subject matter jurisdiction, a complaint seeking declaratory relief must allege facts sufficient to establish both of the following [Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife (1992) 504 US 555, 560, 112 S Ct 2130, 119 L Ed2d 351]:

- A case or controversy that is ripe for judicial review [see 6.07[6][c]].
- The plaintiff's standing to seek judicial resolution of the controversy [see 6.07[6][d]].

6.07[6][c] In Declaratory Relief Action, Complaint Must Allege Existence of Case or Controversy. To allege an actual case or controversy, the complaint must allege an immediate danger of the plaintiff sustaining an injury as a result of the defendant's conduct [Maryland Cas. Co. v. Pacific Coal & Oil Co. (1941) 312 US 270, 273, 61 S Ct 510, 85 L Ed 826 ; Principal Life Ins. Co. v. Robinson (9th Cir 2005) 394 F3d 665, 671].

In most declarative relief actions, therefore, the allegations necessary to establish the plaintiff's standing will also suffice to establish the existence of a case or controversy [see 6.07[6][d]].

6.07[6][d] In Declaratory Relief Action, Complaint Must Allege Plaintiff's Standing. To establish the plaintiff's standing to sue for declaratory relief, the plaintiff must plead and prove all of the following [Lujan v. Defenders of Wildlife (1992) 504 US 555, 560, 112 S Ct 2130, 119 L Ed2d 351]:

- The plaintiff has suffered an actual injury, or there is a realistic, imminent danger that the plaintiff will suffer a distinct and palpable injury that is real and not conjectural [see Allen v. Wright (1984) 468 US 737, 751, 104 S Ct 3315, 82 L Ed2d 556 ; Idaho Conservation League v. Mumma (9th Cir 1992) 956 F2d 1508, 1514].

- The injury is fairly traceable to the allegedly unlawful conduct of the defendant.

- The injury is likely to be addressed by a declaration of the parties' rights and liabilities.

Cross Reference:

Detailed discussion of declaratory relief, see 12 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 57, Declaratory Judgment (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

6.07[7] Allegations of Personal Jurisdiction and Venue Are Not Required. A complaint need not include allegations of personal jurisdiction or venue. A defense based on a lack of personal jurisdiction or improper venue will be waived unless the defendant makes a timely objection by motion or in a responsive pleading [Fed R Civ P 12(h)(1)].

Although a statement of venue is not required, most attorneys will include in the complaint a statement of the grounds for venue, along with descriptions of the citizenship and residence of all parties.

Cross Reference:

Discussion of personal jurisdiction and venue, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.31 -2.41.

6.07[8] LOCAL PRACTICE: ND Cal--Intradistrict Assignment. The complaint must include a paragraph, entitled "Intradistrict Assignment," that identifies any basis for assignment to a particular location or division of the district court [ND Cal Civ LR 3-5(b); see ND Cal Civ LR 3-2(c)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
II. PREPARING COMPLAINT

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.08

6.08 Allegations Concerning Party Status May Be Included.

6.08[1] Alleging Parties' Capacity, Authority, or Legal Existence Is Necessary Under Specific Circumstances. A complaint need not aver a party's capacity to sue or be sued, or the authority of a party to sue or be sued in a representative capacity, or the legal existence of an organized association of persons that is made a party, except to the extent required to show the jurisdiction of the court or as required by other rules [Fed R Civ P 9(a)].

Although specific allegations are usually unnecessary, a complaint often contains allegations of capacity, authority, or legal existence because such allegations facilitate stating a claim in a short and plain manner as required by the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure [see Fed R Civ P 8(a)].

6.08[2] Situations in Which Capacity Should Be Alleged.

6.08[2][a] Allege Capacity If Necessary to Establish Diversity Jurisdiction. The complaint may need to allege capacity, authority, or legal existence when federal jurisdiction is based on diversity of citizenship. In determining whether diversity jurisdiction exists, the citizenship of nominal or formal parties, such as the legal representative of a decedent's estate, an infant, or an incompetent, generally is deemed to be the same as that of the decedent, infant, or incompetent [28 USC § 1332(c)].

However, if a party is a trustee of an active trust, the trustee will be considered the real party in interest for diversity purposes [Navarro Sav. Ass'n v. Lee (1980) 446 US 458, 464-465, 100 S Ct 1779, 64 L Ed2d 425].

In a class action, the capacity of the representative of the class should be alleged, because the citizenship of the class representative controls for diversity jurisdiction purposes [Supreme Tribe of Ben Hur v. Cauble (1921) 255 US 356, 366, 41 S Ct 338, 65 L Ed 673].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of diversity jurisdiction, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.10 -2.25.

6.08[2][b] Allege Capacity If Necessary to Establish Federal Question Jurisdiction. An allegation of capacity, authority, or legal existence might be necessary to establish federal question jurisdiction, if required by the federal statute under which the claim for relief arises.

Example:

Certain actions brought pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act (ERISA) are within the exclusive jurisdiction of the federal district courts if brought by a participant, beneficiary, or fiduciary [29 USC § 1132(e)(1)]. In order to allege federal jurisdiction in such a case, the complaint must contain specific allegations that the plaintiff is suing as a participant, beneficiary, or fiduciary [see Grand Union Co. v. Food Employers Labor Relations Ass'n (DC Cir 1987) 808 F2d 66, 71].

6.08[2][c] Allege Individual Capacity of State Officer in Civil Rights Action. Under the Eleventh Amendment, a state's sovereign immunity protects a state officer sued for damages in an official capacity, but not if the official is sued in an individual capacity or if the suit seeks equitable relief. The Ninth Circuit has ruled that in asserting a civil rights claim against a state official, the complaint need not allege the defendant's capacity, because the district court may look beyond the pleadings to determine the capacity in which the defendant is being sued [Price v. Akaka (9th Cir 1990) 928 F2d 824, 828]. As a practical matter, however, the Supreme Court has stated that it is obviously preferable for a civil rights claimant to be specific in the complaint about the capacity in which the defendant is being sued, in order to avoid ambiguity [Hafer v. Melo (1991) 502 US 21, 24 n, 112 S Ct 358, 116 L Ed 2d 301*].

6.08[3] Capacity, Authority, or Legal Existence of Party May Be Challenged by Negative Averment. If the plaintiff wishes to raise an issue as to the legal existence of any party, or the capacity of any party to sue or be sued, or the authority of a party to sue or be sued in a representative capacity, the plaintiff must do so by specific negative averment, which must include any supporting particulars that are peculiarly within the plaintiff's knowledge [Fed R Civ P 9(a)].

6.08[4] Determining Capacity, Authority, or Legal Existence. Capacity, authority to sue or be sued in federal civil actions, and questions of a party's legal existence are usually determined by state law. The capacity of an individual, other than one acting in a representative capacity, is determined by the law of his or her domicile. The capacity of a corporation to sue or be sued is determined by the law under which it was organized [Fed R Civ P 17(b)(1), (2)].

In all other cases in federal district court in California, capacity to sue or be sued is determined by California state law, with the following two exceptions [Fed R Civ P 17(b)(3)]:

- A partnership or other unincorporated association, if it has no capacity to sue or be sued under state law, may sue or be sued in its common name for the purpose of enforcing for or against it in a substantive right existing under the Constitution or laws of the United States.

Consider:

This exception appears to have little relevance in California district courts, inasmuch as California law specifically states that general partnerships and unincorporated associations have the capacity to sue and be sued in their own names [CCP § 369.5(a); Corp Code § 16307(a)].

- The capacity of a receiver appointed by a court of the United States to sue or be sued in a court of the United States is governed by federal law [28 USC §§ 754, 959(a)].

Cross References:

Discussion of determining capacity of parties, see Ch. 4, Determining Parties to the Action, 4.20 -4.40.

Discussion of capacity of parties under California law, see Matthew Bender(R) Practice Guide: California Pretrial Civil Procedure, see §§ 5.08 -5.17.

6.08[5] Alleging Plaintiff's Status in Shareholder Derivative Action. In a shareholder derivative suit, the complaint must contain specific allegations, including that the plaintiff was a shareholder or member at the time of the transaction on which the complaint is based, or that the plaintiff's shares thereafter devolved by operation of law [Fed R Civ P 23.1].

6.08[6] Drafting Class Action Allegations.

6.08[6][a] Allege Required Elements. For a class action to proceed, the class must be numerous, members of the class must have legal and factual issues in common, the claims and defenses of the class representatives must be typical, and the class representatives must adequately protect the interests of the class [Fed R Civ P 23(a)]. A class action complaint must allege all of the required elements and basic underlying facts [Gillibeau v. City of Richmond (9th Cir 1969) 417 F2d 426, 432].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of elements of class actions, see Ch. 20, Class Actions, see § 20.06.

6.08[6][b] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal Requirements. If the action is a class action, the complaint must contain a separate section entitled "Class Action Allegations" containing the following [CD Cal Civ LR 23-2]:

- A reference to the portion or portions of Fed R Civ P 23 under which the plaintiff contends the action is maintainable as a class action [CD Cal Civ LR 23-2.1].

- Appropriate allegations justifying the action's proceeding as a class action, including the following [CD Cal Civ LR 23-2.2]:

  - The definition of the proposed class.

  - The size or approximate size of the proposed class.

  - The adequacy of representation by the class representative or representatives.

  - The commonality of questions of law and fact.

  - The typicality of the claims or defenses of the class representative or representatives.

  - If proceeding under Fed R Civ P 23(b)(3), allegations to support the necessary findings that common questions of law or fact predominate and that a class action is superior to other available methods of adjudicating the case.

  - The nature of notice to the proposed class that is required or contemplated.

6.08[6][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: SD Cal Requirements. A class action complaint must include a statement describing the class or classes on behalf of which the action is sought to be maintained [SD Cal Civ LR 23.1(b)].

6.08[7] Identifying Necessary Parties Who Have Not Been Joined or Identified. The complaint must state the names, if known to the plaintiff, of persons who are required to be joined but who have not been joined. The complaint must also explain the reasons that such persons have not been joined in the action [Fed R Civ P 19(c); see Fed R Civ P 19(a)].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
II. PREPARING COMPLAINT

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.09

6.09 Short and Plain Statement of Each Claim Must Be Included in Complaint.

6.09[1] Drafting Short, Plain Statement of Claim.

6.09[1][a] Short, Plain Statement of Claim Must Be Included. A complaint must include a short and plain statement of each claim showing that the plaintiff is entitled to relief [Fed R Civ P 8(a)]. Each averment in support of the claim must be simple, concise, and direct [Fed R Civ P 8(d)(1)].

Warning:

The Ninth Circuit has held that a district court abused its discretion by dismissing a first amended complaint with prejudice solely because it was 68 pages long, rather than imposing less drastic measures, such as striking surplusage. Although the complaint set out excessive factual detail, it was otherwise coherent, organized, and stated legally viable claims [Hearns v. San Bernardino Police Dept. (9th Cir 2008) 530 F3d 1124, 1127 ; *cf. Grosz v. Lassen Cmty. College Dist. (ED Cal 2008) 2008 US Dist LEXIS 64494, at *6-7 (court dismissed case with prejudice and without further leave to amend, after plaintiffs, who were given three opportunities and clear and detailed guidance, failed to correct deficiencies in their complaint)].

However, the better practice is to ensure that the complaint simply states who is being sued, for what relief, and on what facts and theory, with enough detail to guide discovery. Overelaborate and argumentative pleadings may be dismissed for violation of the requirement of a short and plain statement of a claim [McHenry v. Renne (9th Cir 1996) 84 F3d 1172, 1177-1178, 1180 ; Jacobson v. Schwarzenegger (CD Cal 2005) 226 FRD 395, 397-398].

Fact-pleading jurisdictions such as California require greater specificity in pleading that is required by the notice pleading in the federal rules. A federal complaint must merely place the defendant on notice of the claims against the defendant without necessarily detailing the facts on which the claim is based [see Fed R Civ P 8(a)]. The Ninth Circuit does not impose a heightened pleading standard in the absence of "an explicit requirement in a statute or federal rule" [Fed R Civ P 8(a)(1); Doe v. Holy See (9th Cir) 557

F3d 1066, 1074 (in evaluating assertions of subject-matter jurisdiction based on exception to foreign sovereign immunity, court applies same notice pleading requirements that apply to any other assertion of subject-matter jurisdiction and look only for a "short and plain statement" of basis for jurisdiction)]. In contrast, California fact pleading requires the plaintiff to plead the facts constituting the cause of action [see CCP § 425.10].

6.09[1][b] Sufficient Facts Must Be Alleged to Put Defendant on Notice of Claim. The Supreme Court has traditionally held that a party is not required to specifically plead the elements of a claim [see Swierkiewicz v. Sorema, N.A. (2002) 534 US 506, 512, 122 S Ct 992, 152 L Ed2d 1] .

More recently, however, the Court required a plaintiff to plead factual allegations relevant to "loss causation," an element of a securities fraud claim [Dura Pharms., Inc. v. Broudo (2005) 544 US 336, 346-348, 125 S Ct 1627, 161 L Ed2d 577] .

In an antitrust class action brought under the Sherman Act, the Supreme Court ruled that the complaint could not survive a motion to dismiss without some factual context suggesting an agreement in restraint of trade, sufficient to state a claim to relief that was "plausible on its face" [Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly (2007) 550 US 544, 127 S Ct 1955, 167 L Ed2d 929, 949 (2007) (plaintiff's allegations of conspiracy were not "plausible" so complaint was properly dismissed for failure to state claim)]. The Court reiterated the traditional Rule 8 "short and plain statement" standard, and also noted that on a motion to dismiss, the district court must accept as true all the factual allegations in the complaint. However, the Court went on to say that, while a complaint does not need detailed factual allegations, a plaintiff's obligation to provide the grounds of its entitlement to relief requires more than labels and conclusions, and a formulaic recitation of the elements of a cause of action will not do, and the allegations must be enough to raise a right to relief above the speculative level. The Court stated that its decision does not require heightened fact pleading of specifics. Rather the Court interpreted the basic Rule 8 notice standard as requiring enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face [Bell Atlantic Corp. v. Twombly (2007) 550 US 544, 127 S Ct 1955, 167 L Ed2d 929, 940 ; see Ashcroft v. Iqbal (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1937, 173 L Ed2d 868, 885 (petitioner's conclusory legal allegations, unsupported by factual allegations, did not comply with Rule 8 under Twombly); al- Kidd v. Ashcroft (9th Cir 2009) 580 F.3d 949, 977 (plaintiffs pled "enough facts to state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face"; specific allegations demonstrated that defendant Attorney General purposefully used material witness statute to detain suspects whom he wished to investigate and detain preventatively, and that plaintiffs were subjected to this policy); Rick-Mik Enterprises, Inc. v. Equilon Enters., LLC (9th Cir 2008) 532 F3d 963, 970-971 (in antitrust action against gasoline station franchisor, allegations of "tying arrangement" involving purchase of franchise and credit card services were insufficient to state claim for relief)]. These pleading requirements are not limited to the antitrust context [Ashcroft v. Iqbal (2009) ___ US ___, 129 S Ct 1937, 173 L Ed2d 868, 887-888 (Rule 8 pleading requirements as interpreted by Twombly apply "in all civil actions")].

6.09[1][c] Pleading Evidentiary Facts Ordinarily Is Not Required. Pleading evidentiary facts may be seen as a violation of the short-and-plain-statement requirement. However, if the pleading of evidence is harmless or if it assists in providing fair notice of the claim, it will be tolerated [see Salahuddin v. Cuomo (2d Cir 1988) 861 F2d 40, 43 (citing Moore's)]. Moreover, as to certain matters the rules or applicable law mandate the pleading of factual details [see, e.g., Fed R Civ P 9].

Example--Facts Required for Civil Rights Claim:

Conclusory allegations, unsupported by facts, are insufficient to state a claim under the Civil Rights Act. The plaintiff must allege with at least some degree of particularity overt acts of the defendants that support the plaintiff's claim [Jones v. Community Redevelopment Agency (9th Cir 1984) 733 F2d 646, 649].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of pleading special matters, see § 6.11.

Detailed information on a claim may be developed during such pretrial procedures as discovery and depositions, pretrial conferences, and motions for a more definite statement or for summary judgment [see Swierkiewicz v. Sorema N.A. (2002) 534 US 506, 512-514, 122 S Ct 992, 152 L Ed2d 1 ; see also Fed R Civ P 12(e), 16, 26 -37, 56]. Therefore, a complaint will not ordinarily be dismissed because it lacks detailed averments of the claim for relief [see Bodine Produce, Inc. v. United Farm Workers Org. Comm. (9th Cir 1974) 494 F2d 541, 561-562].

Strategic Points--Plaintiff:

Even if detailed pleading is not required, in some cases there may be advantages to describing fully the factual basis for the allegations, for one or more of the following reasons [but see 6.09[1][a] (complaint must include short and plain statement of each claim, without overelaborate or argumentative pleading)]:

- Presenting the "whole picture" in the complaint may convince the judge that the plaintiff is fully disclosing his or her case, rather than hoping for a surprise or forcing the defendant through tangled discovery proceedings.

- Detailed pleading may avert a motion for sanctions based on an alleged failure to perform a reasonable investigation of the case prior to filing the complaint [see Fed R Civ P 11(c)].

- Detailed pleading in the original complaint may avert a dispute over whether a subsequent amendment relates to the same transaction for purposes of the statute of limitations [see Fed R Civ P 15(c)(1)].

- Detailed pleading may facilitate discovery. Generally, unsupervised discovery is restricted to matters that are relevant to the "claim or defense" of any party, although for good cause, the court may order discovery of any matter relevant to the "subject matter" involved in the action [Fed R Civ P 26(b)(1)]. Thus, the pleadings define the scope of discovery that is available without advance court approval. Therefore, a cautious plaintiff may feel that more elaborate statements of claims are necessary in order to ensure that a full range of unsupervised discovery will be available.

Warning:

One potential danger in pleading unnecessary material is that it provides more of a basis for a motion to dismiss the complaint.

Cross References:

Discussion of the duty to perform a reasonable investigation prior to filing the complaint, see 6.14[5]. Discussion of sanctions under Rule 11 based on a failure to investigate before filing the complaint, see Ch. 33, Rule 11 Sanctions, 33.04[3]. Discussion of the amendment of pleadings, see Ch. 9, Amending and Supplementing Pleadings, see §§ 9.03 -9.11.

6.09[1][d] Facts May Be Alleged on Information and Belief. After making reasonable inquiry, a plaintiff may aver facts that he or she believes to be true, but that lack evidentiary support at the time the complaint is filed. Such allegations must be specifically identified in the complaint as likely to have evidentiary support after a reasonable opportunity for further investigation or discovery [Fed R Civ P 11(b)(3)]. Generally, however, such averments on information and belief are allowed only if the facts that would support the allegations are within the defendant's knowledge or control [see Tuchman v. DSC Communications Corp. (5th Cir 1994) 14 F3d 1061, 1068].

6.09[1][e] Complaint Need Not State Legal Theory. The complaint need not state any legal theory justifying the relief sought on the facts alleged, as long as it contains sufficient factual averments to show that the plaintiff may be entitled to some relief [American Timber & Trading Co., v. First Nat'l Bank (9th Cir 1982) 690 F2d 781, 786 (citing Moore's)]. The statement of a claim need not even specify under which law it arises [Ghebreselassie v. Coleman Sec. Serv. (9th Cir 1987) 829 F2d 892, 895]. In any case, it is always essential to state facts sufficient to meet the essential elements of a claim. The complaint should state the nature of the claim (such as breach of contract, negligence, etc.), and specify an applicable statute, if appropriate.

Distinguish:

Although the complaint need not specify the law underlying a claim as part of the statement of the claim, it may be necessary to specify the law in order to establish the subject matter jurisdiction of the court [Fed R Civ P 8(a); Ghebreselassie v. Coleman Sec. Serv. (9th Cir 1987) 829 F2d 892, 895].

6.09[1][f] Alternative and Inconsistent Legal Theories May Be Presented. A complaint may simultaneously state several alternative and inconsistent theories of recovery on a claim [Fed R Civ P 8(d)(2), (3), 18(a); Molsbergen v. United States (9th Cir 1985) 757 F2d 1016, 1019].

6.09[1][g] Setting Forth Legal Theory Does Not Limit Relief. If a complaint does state a legal theory, any relief ultimately granted by the court usually is not limited strictly to that theory. Except for a judgment rendered by default, a final judgment must grant the relief a party is entitled to, regardless of the relief demanded in the party's pleading [see Fed R Civ P 54(c)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of Rule 54(c), see 10 Moore's Federal Practice, §§ 54.70 -54.72 (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

6.09[1][h] Complaint Need Not Negate Affirmative Defenses. The complaint ordinarily need not allege facts to negate an anticipated affirmative defense that the defendant might assert in the answer. Such affirmative defenses are automatically taken as denied [see Fed R Civ P 8(d)]. However, if the complaint pleads facts that tend to establish an affirmative defense, the complaint should allege any additional facts that negate the apparent defense, so as to avoid dismissal [see Tregenza v. Great Am. Communications Co. (7th Cir 1993) 12 F3d 717, 718]. Certain affirmative defenses, such as a claim that is barred by limitations on the face of the complaint, do not require negating.

6.09[1][i] Allegations May Be Adopted by Reference. Any statement in a complaint may be adopted by reference in a different part of the complaint or in any subsequent pleading or motion [Fed R Civ P 10(c)]. To facilitate such references, all averments of a claim must be made in numbered paragraphs [Fed R Civ P 10(b), (c)].

6.09[1][j] Statements in Exhibit May Be Adopted by Reference. Because an exhibit to the complaint is treated as a part of the complaint for all purposes, statements in the exhibit may be adopted by reference in the body of the complaint [see Fed R Civ P 10(c)].

6.09[1][k] Unattached Written Document May Be Adopted by Reference. Even if a written instrument is not formally attached to the complaint, the instrument may be treated as incorporated by the complaint if there is a clear and definite reference to the instrument in the complaint [see Parrino v. FHP, Inc. (9th Cir 1998) 146 F3d 699, 705-706 ; Cortec Indus., Inc. v. Sum Holding, L.P. (2d Cir 1991) 949 F2d 42, 47].

Decision Point--Attaching Document to Complaint:

It is important to keep in mind when deciding whether to attach an agreement or other document to a complaint that it can be used against the plaintiff. A plaintiff may characterize an agreement in a favorable manner, but if the actual words of the agreement do not support that characterization or if other terms preclude relief, a motion to dismiss for failure to state a claim may be granted. In addition, even if a plaintiff does not attach the document relied on, a defendant may request judicial notice of the document if it is specifically mentioned in the complaint and relied on for relief. Defendants frequently seek judicial notice of written documents to contradict the allegations of the complaint or to show that there are other provisions of the document that demonstrate the plaintiff has no claim. Although there are advantages to attaching an important document, if the document contains any information that could be destructive to the plaintiff's claim, it is risky to attach it.

6.09[2] Dividing Statement of Claim Into Paragraphs.

6.09[2][a] Each Paragraph Must Be Numbered. All averments of a claim must be made in numbered paragraphs, so that particular paragraphs may be referred to in other paragraphs of the complaint and in succeeding pleadings and motions [Fed R Civ P 10(b), (c); SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(k)].

6.09[2][b] Each Paragraph Must Be Limited to Single Set of Circumstances. The contents of each paragraph must be limited as far as practicable to a statement of a single set of circumstances [Fed R Civ P 10(c); SD Cal Civ LR 5.1(k)].

Examples:

When pleading injuries, the varying harms to both person and business caused by a single act or series of related acts can be combined in a single paragraph. Thus, in an auto accident case, a plaintiff can plead in one paragraph all injuries resulting from the defendant's negligent operation of a motor vehicle, including physical injuries, loss of earnings or business opportunities, pain and suffering, and expenses for medical attention and hospitalization, because these injuries all arose from a single set of circumstances [see Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 11; see also Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Forms 13, 14]. Similarly, when pleading the bases for a defendant's liability, varying wrongs, even if inconsistent, can be combined by the plaintiff in a single paragraph. Thus, in an automobile accident case, a plaintiff can plead in one paragraph that a defendant drove a car "willfully or recklessly or negligently," because these actions constitute a single set of circumstances [see Fed R Civ P Appendix of Forms, Form 12].

Separate paragraphs may be useful even when there is only a single claim, if many facts or more than a single ground to support the claim are stated in the complaint [O'Donnell v. Elgin, J. & E. Ry. (1949) 338 US 384, 392, 70 S Ct 200, 94 L Ed 187 (quoting Moore's)].

6.09[2][c] Compound Allegations Must Be Avoided. In making allegations on critical issues, ensure that each element is alleged in a separate sentence or paragraph. If the complaint is carefully drafted to avoid compound statements, it may force the defendant into making key admissions in the answer.

Strategic Point--Plaintiff:

If a sentence in the complaint is compound, the defendant will have an easy "out" in answering. The defendant can deny the allegation in its totality, even if only one of the compound elements is untrue. On the other hand, if the compound allegation is replaced by two simple sentences, the defendant's answer must admit or deny each allegation separately [see Fed R Civ P 8(b)].

6.09[2][d] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Class Action Allegations. If the action is a class action, the complaint must contain a separate section entitled "Class Action Allegations" [CD Cal Civ LR 23-2; see CD Cal Civ LR 23-2.1, 23-2.2].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of the information that must be stated in the "Class Action Allegations" section, see §

6.08[6][b].

6.09[3] Pleading Separate Counts.

6.09[3][a] Separate Count May Be Pleaded for Each Claim Founded on Separate Transaction or Occurrence. Each claim founded on a separate transaction or occurrence must be stated in a separate count, if separation facilitates the clear presentation of the matters stated [Fed R Civ P 10(b)]. Thus, separate counts are required if necessary to enable the defendant to frame a responsive pleading or to enable the court and the other parties to understand the claims [Bautista v. Los Angeles County (9th Cir 2000) 216 F3d 837, 840 (quoting Moore's)].

6.09[3][b] Separate Counts May Be Necessary When Not All Claims Apply to All Parties. Separate counts may be required if there are multiple plaintiffs asserting various claims, to indicate which claims are asserted by which plaintiffs [Bautista v. Los Angeles County (9th Cir 2000) 216 F3d 837, 840-841 (quoting Moore's)]. Similarly, if there are multiple defendants, separate counts may be required in order to clearly indicate which claims are asserted against which defendants [see Bautista v. Los Angeles County (9th Cir 2000) 216 F3d 837, 840-841 (quoting Moore's)].

6.09[3][c] Single Count May Be Used When Sole Claim Applies to All Parties. If all plaintiffs plead an identical claim that would impose joint liability on all defendants, separate counts may not be required, regardless of the number of parties. In such a case, there may be only one transaction or occurrence or one claim involved [see Fed R Civ P 10(b)].

6.09[3][d] Defendant's Options If Complaint Does Not Allege Separate Counts. The defendant may obtain detailed information on a claim during pretrial procedures such as discovery and depositions, pretrial conferences, and motions for a more definite statement or for summary judgment [see Fed R Civ P 12(e), 16, 26- 37, 56] . Failure to comply with the separate-count requirement will generally result in dismissal of the complaint with leave to replead the claims in separate counts [see Bautista v. Los Angeles County (9th Cir 2000) 216 F3d 837, 840-841].

The objective of the requirement of separate counts is clarity in pleading; thus, the failure to state multiple claims in separate counts does not deprive the district court of jurisdiction [Mechanical Contractors Ass'n of Am., Inc. v. Mechanical Contractors Ass'n of N. Cal., Inc. (9th Cir 1965) 342 F2d 393, 398]. Moreover, because separate counts are required only when "a separation facilitates the clear presentation of the matters set forth" [see Fed R Civ P 10(b)], a failure to use separate counts may be tolerated if it causes no uncertainty.

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirements

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
II. PREPARING COMPLAINT

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.10

6.10 Claims May Be Joined.

6.10[1] All of Plaintiff's Claims May Be Joined Against Proper Defendant. A plaintiff asserting a claim for relief in the complaint may join, either as independent or as alternate claims, as many claims--legal, equitable, or maritime--as the plaintiff has against any defendant [Fed R Civ P 18(a)]. Thus, the plaintiff may join alternative and inconsistent claims [Fed R Civ P 8(d)(2), (3)].

Exceptions:

Limitations on federal subject matter jurisdiction and other doctrines may preclude joinder [see 6.10[6] -[8]].

6.10[2] Claims May Be Joined to Original Claim.

6.10[2][a] Claims of One Plaintiff. The plaintiff may join to the original claim any other claims he or she has against the defendant [Fed R Civ P 18(a)].

6.10[2][b] Claims of Multiple Plaintiffs. In general, multiple plaintiffs may join in one complaint all transactionally related claims that any plaintiff has against any defendant [see Fed R Civ P 20(a)].

6.10[2][c] LOCAL PRACTICE: CD Cal--Copyright, Patent, or Trademark Claims of Multiple Plaintiffs. A complaint must not contain claims by different owners claiming violations of different copyrights, patents or trademarks, unless the complaint is accompanied by a declaration of counsel setting forth grounds showing that joinder will advance the interests of justice and avoid a multiplicity of actions [CD Cal Civ LR 19-2].

6.10[3] Contingent Claim May Be Joined to Principal Claim. The plaintiff may join principal and contingent claims in a single complaint, even though technically the contingent claim does not accrue until resolution of the principal claim [Fed R Civ P 18(b)].

Example:

A plaintiff may sue a debtor to recover a money judgment, and in the same complaint the plaintiff may join a claim against a third party to whom the debtor has conveyed property, asserting that the conveyance is in fraud of creditors [Fed R Civ P 18(b)].

6.10[4] Alternative, Hypothetical, and Inconsistent Claims May Be Joined. The complaint may include two or more statements of a claim alternatively or hypothetically, either in one count or in separate counts. If two or more statements are made in the alternative and one of them if made independently would be sufficient, the complaint is not made insufficient by the insufficiency of one or more of the alternative statements [Fed R Civ P 8(d)(2); Molsbergen v. United States (9th Cir 1985) 757 F2d 1016, 1019].

6.10[5] Determining Whether to Omit Claims.

6.10[5][a] Procedural Rules Do Not Require Joinder. The joinder of claims is permissive, not compulsory [Fed R Civ P 18(a)]. Thus, nothing in the procedural rules requires a plaintiff to assert all claims against a defendant in one action [see Headley v. Bacon (8th Cir 1987) 828 F2d 1272, 1275].

6.10[5][b] Joining Claims to Avoid Claim Preclusion in Subsequent Suit. The doctrine of claim preclusion, or res judicata, may effectively require a plaintiff to assert all transactionally related claims in a single case. The doctrine of claim preclusion generally precludes a plaintiff from suing the same defendant twice on the same claim. Therefore, a plaintiff must be careful to join all transactionally related claims in a single case [Lytle v. Household Mfg., Inc. (1990) 494 US 545, 552, 110 S Ct 1331, 108 L Ed2d 504].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of claim preclusion doctrine, see 18 Moore's Federal Practice, Ch. 131, Claim Preclusion and Res Judicata (Matthew Bender 3d ed.).

6.10[6] Subject Matter Jurisdiction and Venue Must Be Proper for Each Claim.

6.10[6][a] Verify That All Claims Are Within Court's Subject Matter Jurisdiction. Neither the claim-joinder rule nor any of the other Federal Rules of Civil Procedure can expand the jurisdiction of federal courts [Fed R Civ P 82]. Therefore, although the procedural rules permit unrestricted joinder of claims as a matter of pleading, the court must have a basis of subject matter jurisdiction for each joined claim [see Fed R Civ P 18(a); see also United Mine Workers v. Gibbs (1966) 383 US 715, 725 n13, 86 S Ct 1130, 16 L Ed2d 218].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of subject matter jurisdiction requirements, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.03 -2.30.

6.10[6][b] Verify That Venue Is Proper for Each Claim. Neither the claim-joinder rule nor any of the other Federal Rules of Civil Procedure can affect the venue provisions governing actions in the federal courts [Fed R Civ P 82]. Therefore, although the procedural rules permit unrestricted joinder of claims as a matter of pleading, venue must be proper as to each claim [see Fed R Civ P 18(a); see also 28 USC § 1391(a)(1), (2), (b)(1), (2)].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of venue requirements, see Ch. 2, Determining Forum (Jurisdiction and Venue), see §§ 2.48 -2.60.

6.10[7] Each Defendant Must Be Properly Joined. The plaintiff may not join claims against a person who has not properly been brought into the case under the various party joinder provisions [see Fed R Civ P 18(a); see also Fed R Civ P 13(h), 14, 19, 20, 22, 24].

Cross Reference:

Discussion of party joinder requirements, see Ch. 4, Determining Parties to the Action, 4.03 -4.29, 4.41 -4.51; Ch. 10, Adding, Dropping, and Substituting Parties, see §§ 10.04 -10.09.

6.10[8] Joining Claims Involving United States.

6.10[8][a] Sovereign Immunity Limits Assertion of Claims Against United States. A claim against the United States is permitted only if the government has expressly waived its sovereign immunity. The joinder provisions of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure cannot change this rule [United States v. Shaw (1940) 309 US 495, 500-501, 60 S Ct 659, 84 L Ed 888].

Examples:

For example, the United States has waived its sovereign immunity in the following kinds of actions:

- Monetary actions based on torts, under the Federal Tort Claims Act [28 USC § 1346(b)].
- Monetary actions not sounding in tort, under the Tucker Act [28 USC §§ 1346(a), 1491].

Although it is generally true that suit by a sovereign does not effect a waiver as to counterclaims against that sovereign [see, e.g., Nassau Smelting & Refining Works, Ltd. v. United States (1924) 266 US 101, 106-107, 45 S Ct 25, 69 L Ed 190 ; United States v. Finn (9th Cir 1956) 239 F2d 679, 682-683], case law has developed a key exception. Despite the doctrine of sovereign immunity, and even in the absence of express statutory authority, a defendant may recover on a counterclaim (or setoff) to the amount of the underlying claim [see United States v. United States Fid. & Guar. Co. (1940) 309 US 506, 511, 60 S Ct 653, 84 L Ed 894 ; United States v. Agnew (9th Cir 1970), 423 F2d 513, 514]. However, affirmative monetary relief is not available.

6.10[8][b] Tucker Act Effectively Limits Joinder of Claims Against United States. The Tucker Act provides that district courts have original jurisdiction, concurrent with that of the Court of Federal Claims, over any civil non-tort action against the United States, not exceeding $10,000, that has its basis in federal law or any express or implied contract with the United States. The Court of Federal Claims has exclusive jurisdiction over such claims exceeding $10,000 [28 USC §§ 1346(a), 1491].

Although the Tucker Act contains no express restrictions on joinder of claims, its limits on the district court's jurisdiction may effectively restrict joinder. Thus, a plaintiff cannot join a tort claim with a Tucker Act claim in excess of $10,000, because the district court has exclusive jurisdiction of the tort claim, while the Court of Federal Claims has exclusive jurisdiction of the Tucker Act claim [28 USC § 1346(b)(1); see 28 USC §§ 1346(a), 1491(a)].

6.10[8][c] Free Joinder of Claims Asserted by United States. When the United States is the plaintiff, there is no issue of sovereign immunity, for the simple reason that no one is asserting liability against the government. Like other plaintiffs, the United States may take advantage of unrestricted joinder of claims [United States v. 93. 970 Acres of Land (1959) 360 US 328, 332, 79 S Ct 1193, 3 L Ed2d 1275 ; see Fed R Civ P 18(a)].

6.10[9] Joined Claims May Be Segregated.

6.10[9][a] Court May Order Separate Trials of Properly Joined Claims or Issues. The court has discretion to order separate trials of claims or issues that have been properly joined in the same complaint [see Fed R Civ P 20(b), 42(b)].

6.10[9][b] Dismissal or Severance of Improperly Joined Claims. If a claim is asserted against a party that cannot be joined in the case under the party joinder provisions, the court may dismiss the misjoined party without dismissing the remainder of the action. Alternatively, the court may order that the claim against the misjoined party be severed from the case and pursued in a separate action [Fed R Civ P 21].

Legal Topics:

For related research and practice materials, see the following legal topics:
Civil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsGeneral OverviewCivil ProcedurePleading & PracticePleadingsComplaintsRequirementsCivil ProcedureJoinder of Claims & RemediesGeneral Overview

Matthew Bender Practice Guide: Federal Pretrial Civil Procedure in California
Kendall, Seeborg, Shartsis, Smith

Copyright 2010, Matthew Bender & Company, Inc., a member of the LexisNexis Group.

Unit 3 Pleading Stage
CHAPTER 6 Drafting the Summons and Complaint
II. PREPARING COMPLAINT

1-6 MB Practice Guide: Fed Pretrial Civ Proc in CA 6.11

6.11 Certain Matters Must Be Specially Pleaded.

6.11[1] Pleading Special Capacity of Party. It is not necessary for a complaint to aver the capacity of a party to sue or be sued, or the authority of a party to sue or be sued in a representative capacity, or the legal existence of an organized association of persons that is made a party, except to the extent required to show the jurisdiction of the court or as required by other rules [Fed R Civ P 9(a)].

If the plaintiff desires to raise an issue as to the legal existence of any party, or the capacity of any party to sue or be sued, or the authority of a party to sue or be sued in a representative capacity, the plaintiff party must do so by specific negative averment that includes such supporting particulars as are peculiarly within the plaintiff's knowledge [Fed R Civ P 9(a)].

Cross Reference:

Further discussion of pleading the parties' capacity, see 6.08. General discussion of capacity, see Ch. 4, Determining Parties to Action, see §§ 4.20 -4.40.

6.11[2] Pleading Fraud or Mistake.

6.11[2][a] Fraud and Mistake Must Be Alleged With Particularity. In all averments of fraud or mistake, the circumstances constituting the fraud or mistake must be stated with particularity [Fed R Civ P 9(b)]. This heightened pleading requirement allows the fraud-action defendant to "prepare an adequate answer from the allegations" [Odom v. Microsoft Corp. (9th Cir 2007) 486 F3d 541, 553 ; see, e.g., In re Gilead Sciences Sec. Litig. (9th Cir 2008) 536 F3d 1049, 1056 (investors sufficiently pleaded loss causation); Berson v. Applied Signal Tech., Inc. (9th Cir 2008) 527 F3d 982, 989-990 (investors' complaint offered sufficient detail "to give defendants ample notice of [their] loss causation theory, and to give us some assurance that the theory has a basis in fact")]. Thus, although mere conclusory allegations of fraud will not suffice, statements of the time, place, and nature of the alleged fraudulent activities are sufficient to meet the particularity requirement [Bosse v. Crowell, Collier & MacMillan (9th Cir 1977) 565 F2d 602, 611].

Distinguish:

The element of scienter--the defendant's intent to defraud--usually may be pleaded generally [Fed R Civ

P 9(b); see 6.11[3]].

